WRECK AT GAIL -- Three people were killed and three injured when a propane truck slid into the rear of a tank truck and toppled over, spewing flames into a construction office (left) in Gail. And Three Injured...

Three Perish In Accident At Gail

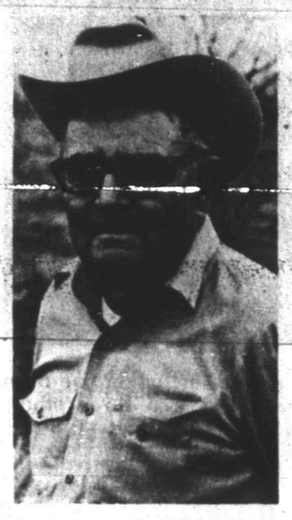
By JOHN DUNNAM

GAIL—Three people perished, including Dewey Everett, a long time resident of Snyder, in a fiery explosion here Friday afternoon, when a propane truck crashed into the side of a tank truck parked beside the office of Flint's Construction Company, located about 200 yards east of the Borden County Courthouse.

Also killed were the driver of the propane truck, John Arthur Warren, 33, of Abilene, and a passenger, believed to have been his wife, Joyce Warren, 39.

Three Gail residents were injured in the 3:40 p.m. accident.

Borden County Sheriff Norman (Slick) Sneed said the truck left U. S. Highway 180 in a skid and hit the rear end of the unoccupied empty water tank truck and then flipped over and burst into flames some three feet in front of the pre-fab construction office, which had only one door.



DEWEY EVERETT

Everett, 82, who was inside the building, was trapped and was unable to escape the flames. Mrs. Fannie Lee Flint escaped when she was pitched through a rear window by O.L. Lane, an employee of the company, who then fled the burning building himself. Both received burns and were given first aid at the scene.

More seriously injured was Leno Deleon, driver of the water tank truck, who was entering the building when the explosion occurred. He was taken to Medical Arts Hospital in Lamesa by private vehicle. Warren and his wife were dead at the scene.

The truck driven by Warren belonged to Fraley Butane of Abilene.

Investigators beheve the accident occurred when the propane truck traveling east on U. S.180 swerved to the left to avoid another truck owned by Flint Construction, which, according to driver Lee Alexander, was preparing to make a left turn but stopped in the right lane of traffic when he saw the butane truck approaching from behind.

The truck left the pavement, barely missing two gas pumps, and skidded into the back of the tank truck. It then rolled on its

Sheriff Sees Truck Sliding

By JOHN DUNNAM

"I was standing here in my office, waiting on a customer when I happened to look out the window and saw the truck go skidding by on all its tires," said Norman (Slick) Sneed, sheriff of Borden County since 1965. "I said 'There's about to be a terrible accident!' and ran out the door."

He was referring to Friday's fatal crash of a propane truck that claimed the lives of three people, one of the worst disasters in his memory to hit Gail, population about 150, located 32 miles west of Snyder. The accident happened about 200 yards from his courthouse window.

Investigators believe the truck was swerving to miss another truck at the intersection, when driver John Warren of Abilene lost control and went sliding into the rear of an empty water truck parked beside Flint's Construction Co. The truck flipped and came to a rest a few feet from the front door of the construction office. The propane burst into flames and Warren and his passenger, believed to be his wife, were killed. The fire immediately spread to the small building. There were three people inside and only one exit, the front door.

Q.—When is the city going to distribute the remainder of the new sanitation containers it has stacked at the city yards on 37th St.?

A.—They will be put into service as soon as two other trucks with equipment to handle them arrive, says John Gayle, city manager. The trucks are now being outfitted and should be delivered here soon. At present, only two of four trucks with the proper equipment for handling the new containers are on hand, and the containers already distributed keep them busy.

Weekend update

Peace Called 'Precarious'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr., concerned about possible Soviet military intervention in Poland, says outstanding differences between the United States and the Soviet Union have "brought the state of world peace to a very precarious level."

Haig said also Friday that he and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin will begin talks soon that could lead to a summit meeting between President Reagan and Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev. But he said that unless the Soviets act soon to improve the political climate, a summit is unlikely for some time.

Search For Killer Resumes

ATLANTA (AP) — The desperate search for Atlanta's child killer, fueled by $1.5 million in federal funds and a visit from Vice President George Bush, resumes today as hundreds of volunteers investigate a new disappearance.

On Friday, a 22nd name was added to the list of black children slain and missing during the past 20 months. Twenty bodies have been found.

President Reagan announced in Washington the allocation of $1.5 million for the investigation.

Absentee Voting To Begin Monday

Absentee voting begins Monday in city and school elections.

In Snyder, the only contested races are for two places on the school board, and the two rural schools of the county also have contested races.

Absentee voting for the school posts will be held in the business offices of the respective school districts, and absentee voting in the city election will be at the Snyder City Hall.

The election day is set for Saturday, April 4.

Candidates for Place 6 on the Snyder School Board are Roy McQueen, Charles Freeman and Vera Stansell. Seeking Place 7 on the Snyder School Board are Joseph D. Hinton and Dr. Paul A. Thompson. The two incumbents, who are not seeking re-election, are Bill Eiland and Ted Crenwelge.

Ira Independent School District has four candidates for three places on the board of trustees. The candidates are Donnie Dunn and Tommy Sterling, incumbents, and Jim Wilson and Robert (Bob) Barbee.

Three candidates are seeking two places on the Hermleigh Independent School District's board. They are Jay Roemisch, Allen Kuss and Jimmy Hudgins.

Snyder City Council candidates include Gale McPherson for Place 1, Ed Thrift for Place 2, John Wilson for Place 3, David Holt for Place 5 and Rod Waller for Place 6.

McPherson is seeking the post now held by Dr. John Best and Wilson is seeking the place now held by Dr. Joe Reaves. Neither of those two incumbents is seeking re-election. Holt is seeking re-election, while Thrift and Waller are candidates for unexpired terms left vacant when Bryce Booker and Jerry Webb moved from the city.

Housing Survey Response Good

A survey on rental housing for the elderly has produced surprising response, the Snyder Chamber of Commerce reported at the end of the week.

Purpose of the survey is to determine whether there is significant interest among the elderly here in a rental housing facility exclusively for their age group.

Bill Warner, chamber manager, said approximately 1,000 questionnaires were sent out to a mailing list, and 296, or nearly 30 percent, had responded.

Of this number, 154 expressed interest in rental housing for the elderly.

The survey also provided other information, which the chamber hopes to use in determining whether an attempt should be made to develop a housing project for the elderly here.

Of the 154 who indicated an interest, 132 were over 62 years old. Seventy-three were single women, while 72 represented married couples and only five were single men.

There were 128 who indicated that they own their present living quarters, but would consider moving to a facility built especially for the elderly if certain conditions were met.

Ninety of them expressed a preference for a two-bedroom apartment, while 40 preferred a one-bedroom apartment, 12 would be contented with a one-bedroom unit and four wanted an efficiency apartment.

Only 35 expressed interest in maintaining their own yard, but 50 indicated that they would like to have their own flower garden.

Warner said chamber officials were somewhat surprised, not only at the over-all response in the survey, but also in the percentage that indicated an interest in such a housing project.

SNYDER TEMPERATURES: High Friday, 65 degrees; low, 42 degrees; reading at 7 a. m. Saturday, 46 degrees; precipitation, none; total precipitation for 1981 to date, 1.57.

WEST TEXAS: Scattered rain and a few thunderstorms. Partly cloudy Sunday. Highs near 60 Panhandle to mid 70s Big Bend. Lows 30s except mid 40s Big Bend.

TABULATING SURVEY DATA—Murray Anne Ray, left, Snyder Chamber of Commerce secretary, and Dee Wenetschlaeger, Board of County Development secretary, tabulate information acquired by the chamber in a survey on housing for the elderly. Early Morning Blaze Claims 19 In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — A smoky pre-dawn fire swept the upper floors of a four-story apartment building on the North Side early today, killing 19 people and injuring 12 others, authorities said.

Police said that although it appeared all rooms in the building had smoke detectors, many did not function properly. "Some were without batteries," said Edward Altman, a deputy district fire chief.

The latest bodies were found in a fourth-floor hallway and on a stairway, he said, while most of the others were found in rooms.

"Everybody panicked," said Michael Vest, 23, an unemployed welder who had lived on the building's fourth floor.

He said he had gone down to the first floor a short time before the fire broke out and got some soup from a vending machine. Vest said he returned to his room and a short time later smelled smoke.

"I went to ring the buzzer (fire alarm) in the hallway, but it didn't go off," he said. "About two minutes later, all the lights and the electricity went off."

"People were panicking and smoke was everywhere," Vest said.

He said he escaped by breaking out a window and going down a fire ladder.

A spokesman at Weiss Memorial Hospital said 18 victims had been pronounced dead there just before the latest body was found.

A short time before two other bodies were discovered, Fire Commissioner William Blair, who was on the scene, said, "We're not sure how many victims there are."

Snyder High Students Win Four Awards

AUSTIN—Snyder High School journalism students won four awards at the Interscholastic League Press Conference. The winners were announced here Friday night.

Prentice Curry of Snyder won first place for a photograph of a boys' basketball game and second place for a photograph of a girls' basketball game published in the SHS 1980 yearbook, Tiger's Lair.

Chip May of SHS, placed second with a sports column on Grant Teaff, former Snuder High athlete who is now head football coach at Baylor University.

Pam Gray of SHS placed third with a sports column on Joyce Elrod, SHS varsity volleyball coach.

The SHS journalism instructor and publications advisor is JoAnn Cotton.

We hear a lot about El Salvador these days, and it makes people nervous because some see the conditions in that Central American country as a replica of Vietnam at the outset of U. S. intervention there.

Indeed, the situation there and U. S. response to it does look almost like a carbon copy of early-day Vietnam.

Civilian advisors have been sent down. Extra foreign aid funds have been appropriated, and, during the past few days, it was announced that some Special Forces personnel (Green Berets) were going to El Salvador to train their personnel in the use of American equipment.

Most Americans hope that nothing else will be considered, or even requested.

A close-hand observer and overseer of the Vietnam activity is credited with some observations that should be remembered in Washington as it deals with the El Salvador problem. Cyrus Vance, former secretary of state, noted that a democracy cannot be imposed on a country from outside; a big power may not be able to defeat a small force of ill-equipped natives on their own ground; a government without popular support is doomed, and a country must have support of allies if it intervenes successfully in the affairs of another country.

Washington will do well to remember this.

City Manager John Gayle had an explanation ready when he was questioned after complaining of aches and pains.

When Mrs. Gayle suggested that they plan more activities together, he thought she hand in mind a picnic, or watching a game on television together.

Instead, it was western dancing.

"Have you ever tried the Cotton-Eye Joe?" he asked.

Skunks are plentiful this spring, we are told. So, we clipped these instructions for trapping them:

A common garbage can makes a good skunk trap. Place it in an area frequented by skunks, with the lid removed. Bait it with old hamburger, sardines or other foods that attract the animals. Lean a board against the garbage can for a skunk ramp. After he jumps in to eat the bait, he will not be able to escape. Then you can put the lid back on the can and take it to a place where the skunk can be destroyed. They say skunks seldom release their perfume in a dark, enclosed space. However, we have seen no guarantee of this. If one should release his scent in the trap, we suppose you could destroy can and all.

Here's another tidbit we came across recently that may surprise those who claim the quality of life is declining: The fastest growing age group in the American population today is made up of persons over 70. Somebody must be doing something right.

side and struck a parked pickup truck before stopping a few feet in front of the only door of the construction firm's office building.

Propane spilling from the truck burst into flame almost immediately, witnesses said. Cole Herring, who was attending Borden County School a quarter of a mile away, said he heard the blast.

Firefighters responded from Gail, Lamesa, O'Donnell and Fluvanna. Ambulances were dispatched from Snyder and Lamesa. The dead were transported to Bell-Seale Funeral Home in Snyder, where arrangements were pending Saturday morning for the two persons in the propane truck.

Funeral services for Everett were set for 2 p. m. today (Sunday) at the First United Methodist Church in Snyder. The Rev. David Robertson will officiate, and burial will be in the Gail Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

A native of Coryell County, he had lived in Borden and Scurry Counties most of his life. He was a well-known rancher and dirt contractor. He was named the outstanding conservation rancher in the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District in 1967.

He is survived by his wife, Fay, of the home; a daughter, Dewey Fay Miller; three sons, W. D. Everett Jr., Jess Everett and Donnie Everett; a foster son, Roland Hamilton; and two brothers, Roy Everett of O'Donnell and Glynn Everett of Oceanside, Calif.

Pallbearers will be Brent Murphy, Don Wills, Jerry Springer, Norman Sneed, W. C. Hart, Ed Rinehart, Bill Zimmerman and Billy Ray Browning.

when O.L. Lane threw her through the back window. He also got out himself, but they were both burned a little. Mrs. Flint kept saying, 'You know I wouldn't have got out of there if he (Lane) hadn't thrown me out.'"

Dewey Everett of Snyder was not so lucky. He was in the restroom of the small pre-fab building when the accident occurred and was dead at the scene. Everett, 82, was a former longtime resident of Borden County and well respected in the area.

Also injured was Gail resident Lena DeLeon, who was walking to the building at the time of the accident. He was the driver of the parked water truck.

Sneed said the owner of the construction company, Bill Flint, had left the building with an employee only minutes before and saw the smoke from the fire in his rearview mirror.

"If they hadn't left, they would have likely been in that building too."

An ambulance and several persons trained by Emergency Medical Service personnel, who were attending a track meet at near-by Borden High School, helped render aid at the scene.

Balk At Last Minute Stymies Release Plan

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — A last-minute balk by Libya today jeopardized a plan to free more than 100 hostages held by hijackers aboard a Pakistani jetliner, a Pakistani spokesman said. The reversal left a planeload of exchange prisoners airborne over the Mediterranean awaiting clearance to land somewhere else, sources here said.

The Pakistani spokesman said Libya had reversed itself and would not permit the landing of the political prisoners freed by Pakistan or accept three hijackers who hold the hostages — including three Americans — at the Damascus international airport. The spokesman said Pakistan's envoy to Tripoli had quoted the Libyan foreign minister as saying Libya had "reconsidered."

The plane's arrival in Tripoli was to have resulted in freedom for the hostages.

The freed prisoners, who numbered 51 or 54 according to conflicting reports en route to Libya from the northern Syrian city of Aleppo when Pakistan announced that the government of Moammar Khadafy had reversed its decision.

Syrian sources at Damascus airport said the plane carrying the freed dissidents had been half-an-hour's flying time away from the Libyan capital and was circling until it was given clearance to land somewhere.

Bus Wreck Claims 3

FORT STOCKTON, Texas (AP) — Three teenagers were killed and eight were injured — three of them seriously — when a bus carrying them to a track meet veered off a highway early Saturday, authorities said.

Thirteen Van Horn High School students and three adults were aboard the bus when it went out of control about 7 a.m. while drivers were exchanging seats, authorities said.

A Texas Department of Public Safety spokesman said the bus hit a piece of heavy construction equipment and split open about 21 miles west of this West Texas town.

The three students who were killed apparently were sitting at the back of the bus, which struck the construction equipment.

The Culberson County Independent School District bus was en route to Iraan for a track meet.

The names of the dead were not released pending notification of relatives.

Boxed Youth's Appeal Refused

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The State Board of Education refused Saturday, without comment, to consider an appeal of a Brownsville boy who wants an air-conditioned classroom instead of a plexiglass box.

The ruling upheld upheld a previous decision by the state commissioner of education after a hearing held by the Texas Education Agency.

The parents of Raul Espino Jr., asked the Brownsville school board to air condition the first-grader's entire classroom instead of furnishing the air-conditioned plexiglass box. The board refused.

The boy was injured in a car accident as an infant and cannot control his body temperature. He cannot walk but crawls using shoulder muscles and his elbows. He is described as an above-average pupil scholastically by teachers.

Records of the hearing show Raul is confined to the box as much as 75 percent of the time, which his parents contend is too restrictive.

The hearing officer, James P. Williams Jr., said there was evidence the boy was naturally developing resistance to respiratory infections and may some day develop greater tolerance to high and low temperatures. Williams said there was no evidence presented that a fully air-conditioned classroom would better enable Raul to learn to adapt to change of environments or would help his educational progress.

The 50-star U.S. flag was raised officially for the first time on July 4, 1960.

HERSHEL HINSHAW

Hershel's Hints

THERE ARE THREE TIMES A YEAR TO PREVENT CERTAIN WEEDS FROM GERMINATING BY PUTTING DOWN A PRE-EMERGENCE HERBACIDE.

1. In the Eary Fall
This application should prevent about 34 different kinds of weeds from germinating including winter rye.

2. About January First to February.
This application should prevent early spring weeds that will begin to germinate in February and March. (Such as dandilions, careless weeds, plaintain, clover, foxtail, henbit, etc.)

3. About March 15th. (such as now)
This is the time to use a pre-emergence herbacide to prevent late germinating weeds such as crabgrass, grassburrs, Johnson grass seed, etc. (These late germinating weeds begin germinating when the ground begins to warm up.)

IT SHOULD BE REMEMBERED THAT THE EFFECTIVENESS OF A PRE-EMERGENCE HERBACIDE IS ABOUT 60 DAYS. THESE HERBACIDES SHOULD BE USED ONLY ON BERMUDA GRASS AND ST. AUGUSTINE.

Strong Farms In Consumers Best Interests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary John R. Block says that while farmers and consumers are partners, farmers shouldn't be asked to produce food at a loss.

"In the long run, a strong farm economy is in the consumer's best interest," Block said in testimony Wednesday before the House Budget Committee.

Block said the administration's legislative program "will help assure adequate supplies of food at reasonable prices to the consumer, with a fair return for the farmers."

Bid For Freedom Shortlived

A prisoner in the Scurry County Jail escaped Friday and was apprehended about 45 minutes later in north Snyder.

David Soto Guerrero, jailed on an arson charge and a jail trusty, was reported missing about 10:41 a.m. He was picked shortly by a unit of the Snyder police department in the 1100 block of 13th Street.

Snyder police received three theft reports Friday. Betty Evans, an employee of Snyder Pawn Shop, reported the theft of a gun from the store's display case. Value was set at $120.

Tommy Parks also reported to police the theft of six stereo tapes from his auto while parked at the Cinema Theatres. The incident was reported at 9:11 p.m., and in addition, the seats on his vehicle were ripped.

The third theft was reported at 11:46 p.m. by Rose Butler at the Texaco Truck Stop. There a male subject left the station without paying for $28.74 in gasoline.

Police officers also recovered a stolen pistol while taking the theft report at the Snyder Pawn Shop. There, a male subject came in to sell a Colt .45 pistol. A routine check of the pistol revealed that it was stolen in San Angelo. The subject, however, had purchased the gun from another pawn shop and had a valid purchase receipt.

Officers also worked two minor traffic accidents. The first occurred at 11:50 a.m. Friday at the intersection of 37th and College. A pickup driven by Jimmy Nail of Dunn was in collision with a truck towing a mobile home. The truck was driven by Fred Tidwell of Alamogordo, N. M.

The second mishap occurred at 12:58 p.m. in the 1900 block of Coleman. A vehicle driven by David Klotz of 2782 Sunset was in collision with a legally parked auto owned by Shirley Kelley of 1906 Coleman.

Too many lessons?

By Karen Blaker, Ph.D.

DEAR DR. BLAKER — My 10-year-old daughter is interested in so many activities that she badgers me constantly to let her take lessons after school.

She has gymnastics on Monday, piano on Tuesday, calligraphy on Wednesday and horseback-riding on Thursday. Friday is free, but she takes tap dancing on Saturday and flute on Sunday.

All of these lessons are very expensive. Money is no object, however, because we are secure financially.

Should I be worried about how she is spending her afternoons?

DEAR READER — You might ask yourself whether your daughter's interest in these activities is the only motivating factor behind her rather rigid schedule.

She might be trying to keep up with her friends. Or she might be trying to spend as much time as possible away from home. Could it be that she rarely sees you except when you are driving her to lessons?

Go ahead with the lessons if you decide that your daughter merely enjoys the stimulation. But remember that she is losing out on the experience of structuring her time and learning on her own.

Those skills cannot be taught in some class later in life.

DEAR DR. BLAKER — My wife is very upset because our 12-year-old son is 5 pounds overweight.

She is always cooking nonfattening foods for him. And she keeps a chart of his weight on the refrigerator door.

She says that a weight problem now will mean a lifelong preoccupation with food and scales. She doesn't want that to happen to him.

Is her approach a good one?

DEAR READER — My first question is whether her worrying stems from a doctor's evaluation of your son's physical condition or from her own idea of what he should weigh.

And my second question concerns the amount of importance she has attached to the hoped-for weight loss.

This focus on weight may make your son wonder whether he is loved for himself or merely for what he looks like.

Unfortunately, this concern can lead to a lifelong tendency to continue the behavior that bothers other people as a test of whether one is really loved.

Tell your wife to free your son from this weight-conscious regimen. Give him more unconditional love, and he probably won't need as much food.

Key Farm Leaders Make Plans For National Agriculture Day

By DON KENDALL AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary John R. Block and key farm leaders in Congress will be participating in an open house commemorating National Agriculture Day next week.

Robert Lanphier III, head of the Agriculture Day Foundation, said Friday the "Congressional Open House" March 19 will be but one of a nationwide series of state and local festivities that will be held.

"The stage is set for the kind of observance that will give the millions of Americans who live in the cities and suburbs a much better understanding of the vital role agriculture plays in our nation's economy," Lanphier said.

"It's essential that the American people understand that their economic future is linked directly and substantially to the health of our agricultural production and distribution system."

An annual Agriculture Day has been promoted by farm and agribusiness interests since 1973 but has not been an "official" national observance until now. Congress passed a joint resolution last Oct. 9 designating March 19 as National Agriculture Day.

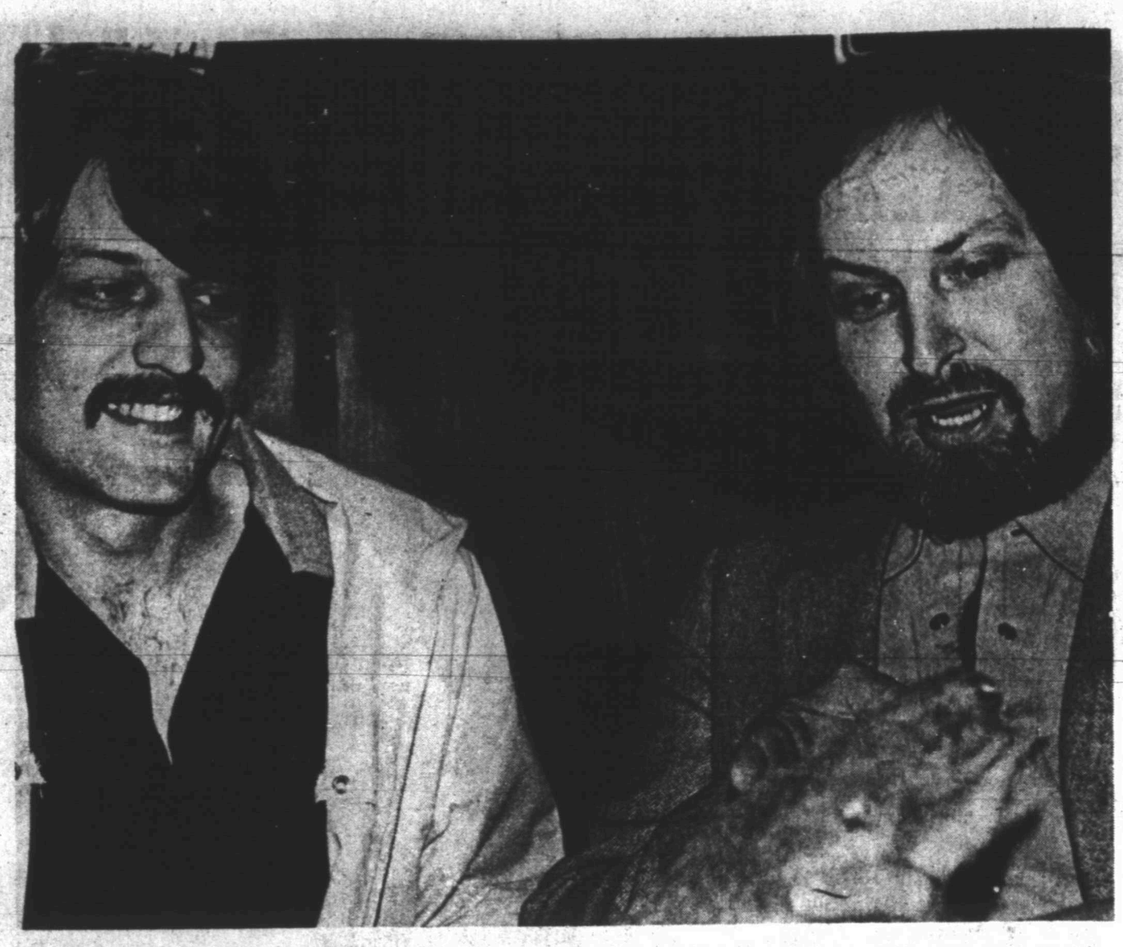
President Reagan issued a proclamation calling "upon the people of the United States to observe this day with appropriate ceremonies and activities."

Lanphier said some 45 states are expected to issue official proclamations for March 19 observances.

Local activities are being coordinated by volunteers from "all segments of the food production chain who have joined together to present their story to top decision-makers, the news media and urban audiences," he said.

Projects include farm tours; displays of livestock, commodities and equipment; and special school classes.

One light year — the distance light travels in a year at the rate of 186,282 miles per second — is almost 6 trillion miles.



HICKS AND STAMPLEY—Robby Hicks of Snyder cuts up with recording star Joe Stampley of the the duo, Moe Bandy and Joe Stampley. Hicks, a 1973 graduate of Snyder High School, wrote one of the songs, Honky Tonk Queen, featured on their new album, Hey Moe, Hey Joe. Hicks also performs with a local band called Amos. Bandy and Stampley were selected Vocal Duo of 1980 by the Country Music Association.

Plenty Of Advice Offered For Human Resource Position

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements is seeking a new member for the Board of Human Resources, but two legislators on opposite ends of the political spectrum say he should reappoint the rancher whose stormy six-year term is over.

Clements has said, however, he won't reappoint Chairman Hilmar Moore, who became controversial because of his comments about sterilizing welfare mothers.

The governor is expected to name a new board member within a month. His file includes recommendations to appoint a senator's wife, the retired director of a home for unwed mothers and a former bank chairman.

However, Reps. Paul Elizondo and Tom DeLay say Moore, a Richmond rancher, is best for the job.

"My legislative district includes a large number of severely economically disadvantaged individuals," said Elizondo, D-San Antonio. "The Department of Human Resources provides many of them with assistance without which life would be unbearably harsh."

Elizondo called Moore "competent and compassionate."

DeLay, R-Simonton, said Moore — a constituent — has "done an outstanding service" for the state.

"Hilmar Moore is the sort of individual that brings common sense to some very difficult decisions. He is basically conservative, so he is able to watch the taxpayer's money," DeLay told the governor.

Allen Clark, Clements' special assistant, recommended James Keay, a vice chairman of the Republic of Texas Corp. and former chairman of the Republic National Bank in Dallas.

"He is a heavyweight businessman and sensitive guy," Clark said in a memo. "He probably has the time (to serve) due to some restructuring of upper Republic management."

Sen. Betty Andujar, R-Fort Worth, recommended Ruby Lee Piester. Mrs. Andujar said Mrs. Piester planned to retire as director of the Edna Gladney Home in Fort Worth, which houses unwed mothers and arranges adoptions.

Louis Gibson, chairman of the Texas Statewide Health Coordinating Council, recommended Helen Farabee, wife of Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls. Mrs. Farabee chairs a special Senate committee on delivery of human services.

Clements also has heard from non-Texans. The president of a California construction company was impressed by Moore's appearance on a television talk show.

Scouts Conquer Caprock

Snyder Boy Scouts from Troops 27 and 107 embarked on a three-day adventure to the Caprock area north of Fluvanna earlier this month. Their mission was to learn the basics of an outdoor skill known as rappeling.

Under the leadership of scout masters, Joel Hamlett, Ronnie Beaver and assistant scout master, David Shifflett, the boys challenged the 100 foot cliffs with little else than sturdy rope and even sturdier nerves.

"The scouts approached the cliffs with mixed emotions, both anticipation and horror, later to emerge with smiles that expressed the jubilation of David's victory over Goliath," said vistiting Eagle Scout Dwain Donaway of Odessa who was instructor for scouts and scout leaders during the weekend of March 6-8.

Rappeling, which some say is the second fastest way to the bottom and much preferrable to the first, is accomplished by anchoring a rope to the top of the cliff and with the proper combination of rigging, lowering one's self safely down the side of a cliff, building, etc.

With competent instruction and proper equipment, it is considered a safe sport and has been gaining in popularity in recent years.

Rappeling has practical applications in military operations, mountain climbing and rescue efforts.

LONG WAY DOWN—Darren Jackson, Boy Scout from Troop 107 makes his way to the bottom of the treacherous cliff. Visiting instructor, Dwain Donaway of Odessa, an Eagle Scout, said the boys approached the cliffs with mixed emotions—anticipation and horror—but emerged later with smiles of jubilation and victory. Museum Shop Open

The gift shop in the Scurry County Museum has received several new items especially suitable for Easter and invites shoppers to come browse.

The museum is on the campus of Western Texas College and is open each weekday as well as from 1-5 on Sunday afternoons. The gift shop features locally-made items along with books of special interest about the Southwest, colorful "sun catchers" for window decoration, maps of Scurry County, and postcards. A rock tumbler is in operation and polished rocks are for sale in the shop.

Members of the Scurry County Museum Association receive a 10 percent discount on all items purchased in the gift shop. Membership in the Association is open the year around and new members are always welcome, Sharon Sutton, museum director, says.

Calligraphy Course

A beginning course in calligraphy will be taught by Donna Holt through the Continuing Education department of Western Texas College.

The six-week course will begin April 2 and end May 7, with classes meeting from 7-10 p.m. on Thursdays. Tuition will be $20 per person and students will need to purchase a textbook costing $8.35 and other supplies.

Just exactly what is calligraphy? It is actually "the art of beautiful writing or elegant penmanship," Mrs. Holt says. The word comes from two Greek words kalos, meaning beautiful, and grapho, meaning to write.

"The connotation of calligraphy is much more," the instructor explains. "Calligraphy not only traces the history of man with words, but also traces his ability to express himself using an art form. To those of us who attempt the calligraphic styles of writing, visions of ancient Greece, the Roman empire, knights in shining armor, and cloistered scribes are ever present. At least nine different styles of writing were used in specific times of history."

The course at WTC will take an overall look at calligraphy with an emphasis on the Basic Italic or Chancery Cursive style. Ideas for the practical use of calligraphy will be explored, such as preparing invitations, personalized stationery, and gifts. No previous experience is required, Mrs. Holt emphasizes.

Persons wishing to reserve space in the class are to call the Continuing Education office at 573-8511, extension 240.

Minimum enrollment for the class is 10, with a limit of 25.

Due To Continue For Years...

Pipe Line Construction Record Seen

HOUSTON (AP) — Another worldwide record for pipe line construction is expected this year and a new survey indicates the high pace will continue in the years ahead.

Pipe Line Industry magazine, in its annual outlook report, forecasts 41,454 miles of new line will be built this year, a 12 percent increase over 1980.

The estimate includes 12,340 miles in the United States and Canada, up 18 percent, and 29,114 miles, up 9 percent, for other areas. The survey did not include Russia, China, Iran and Iraq.

Looking at the long range, however, Pipe Line Industry said it appears an incredible number of large diameter, long distance pipe line projects will start construction between 1981 and 1990.

The outlook report lists 14 proposed projects with pricetags ranging from $2.3 billion to $23 billion. The projects would carry gaseous, liquid, and solid hydrocarbons to major consuming areas.

"This is a staggering total of nearly 30,000 miles of long distance pipe lines estimated to cost more than $100 billion waiting for government decisions," the report said.

"About twice that many miles and capital outlays will be required for hundreds of other pipe line projects that will be announced between now and 1990."

Pipe Line Industry said that, at first sight, it appears that if all the huge projects are approved there will be an unprecedented clamor for capital, pipe line contractors, trained manpower and equipment.

"In fact, there is no way some of the projects can start until the 1990s," the reported added.

"The equalizing factor is 'if all the projects are approved.' They won't be because of lack of capital, government indecision, and political expediency. In any event, the 1980s will be exciting, challenging and profitable for pipeliners."

The 14 projects include a 4,800-mile United States-Canada gas transmission line at $23 billion, more than 7,000 miles of U.S. coal slurry lines at $15 billion, and $8 billion to $12 billion for a 3,000-mile gas system from Canada's Arctic Islands to Canadian and U.S. eastern markets.

At present, the report said, more than 119,000 miles of line are under construction, planned or awaiting start outside the United States and Canada. The total includes 67,889 miles of gas lines, 31,938 miles of crude line, and 16,174 for products.

The report said Europe's energy requirements are being met to an increasing degree with natural gas.

"As gas use grows, so does the pace of natural gas pipe line construction," the report continued.

"As a result, natural gas projects dominate the pipe line construction picture in Europe and, based on present indications, the trend is not likely to slow down in the foreseeable future."

Pipe Line Industry said lines under way, planned or proposed in Europe and the Soviet Union total 63,369 miles.

"More than 20,100 miles of the European total are now under construction, awaiting start or planned," the report said.

"The major portion of this work, 17,088 miles, is concentrated in Norway, Denmark, West Germany, France, Italy, Spain and onshore-offshore United Kingdom. Over 9,000 miles of this total will be in Denmark, which has an ambitious program to make natural gas available to some 272 municipalities."

The report said major U.S. projects not yet acted on by federal and state agencies include three proposals to move gas from the very active Anadarko Basin and Rocky Mountain Overthrust Belt areas to markets. The Overthrust projects involve 850 and 650-mile proposals, the Anadarko project a 635-mile line.

Other projects not expected to start this year include the 1,500-mile Northern Tier oil pipe line to move Alaskan crude from the West Coast to inland refineries.

The outlook said the Soviet Union has about 41,300 miles planned.

"Although the final figures for the five-year plan are not out yet, it is known the Soviets are planning several 56-inch lines up to 2,000 miles in length. One 56-inch line will reach 3,100 miles from Siberia to West Germany."

Your Birthday

March 15, 1981

Enterprises or involvements which you have this coming year that cater to the public's needs should prove quite fortunate for you. Search for the right opening — then fill it.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Others find you appealing and attractive to begin with. Today, your luster will have even more sheen, especially with members of the opposite sex. Find out more about what's in store for you for the year following your birthday by sending for your Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This is likely to be a more enjoyable day if you while away hours with your family instead of participating in activities with outsiders.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Try to get out and move around a bit today rather than plop in the easy chair to watch TV. Visiting old friends would be a good idea.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Even though you may feel like getting away from the workaday world today, you'd be wise to follow through on situations which could either boost your career or add to your income.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Try to divide your time today equally between pleasurable pursuits and that which you feel to be productive. You can somehow fit both into your schedule.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You are lucky in situations today where you have a chance to take something that another has already started and add your personal touches to it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You have a unique talent today for putting deals together between people who don't quite know how to tie the loose ends together themselves.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be flexible today where your goals are concerned. Your original plans could get stymied. Hang loose. You'll come up with even brighter alternatives.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Not only are your ideas rather ingenious today. More importantly you'll figure out ways to put them to immediate profitable uses.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Later in the day you'll be able to express your independence, but earlier it could prove more to your benefit to involve yourself in joint ventures.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't dodge difficult decisions today. You're able to think better on your feet than you may give yourself credit for.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Relax and enjoy yourself today, but also keep a weather eye peeled for ways to add to your income. Something out of the ordinary may pop up.

Seniors To Observe St. Patrick's Day

Tuesday is St. Patrick's Day, and Sue Sewell will help senior citizens observe the occasion with a program of Irish songs, starting at 11:30 a. m. in the Senior Center.

Lunch is served in the center at noon each weekday and all county residents 60 years of age and older are invited to come to the center for the nutritious meal. Pre-noon programs are featured on many days, and Thursday's program will be a comic skit emphasizing the need for good nutrition. This skit will be presented by Virginia Whitson.

Games take the morning spotlight in the center each Wednesday, with play planned from 10 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. Everybody is invited to gather in the dining room for a sing-along at 11:30 a. m. on Friday mornings. A daily exercise class meets from 11:15 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. under the direction of Haskell Beard.

Senior Citizen bowlers meet at Snyder Lanes at 9:15 a. m. each Wednesday morning and they are looking forward to the first Senior Center-sponsored tournament on March 25.

Senior citizens interested in participating in activities of the center are invited to visit the facility, located at 2603 Ave. M. The center is open each weekday from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. and has an evening recreation period from 6 p. m. to 8:30 p. m. each Thursday.

Reception Honors Artist Of Month

A reception honoring the Scurry County Artist of the Month for March, Lu Bright, will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the Scurry County Museum at Western Texas College.

An exhibit of Mrs. Bright's paintings will be featured in the museum through April 17.

Selection of a Scurry County Artist of the Month is a project of the museum and the Snyder Palette Club.

Mrs. Bright began painting as a student at Abilene Christian University and continued painting as a hobby during a career as an elementary school teacher. She has now retired from teaching. She is a charter member of the Palette Club.

The Scurry County Museum is open from 1-5 o'clock on Sunday afternoons and each weekday. There is no admission charge.

Visitors may also see Francisco Goya's "Disasters of War" series, on loan from the Blaffer Foundation of Houston, and tour historical exhibits in the museum's gallery.

Marathon Run Set April 4

Runners who would like to enter the first annual Western Texas College Mini-Marathon on April 4 are to register Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday at First National Bank.

The event is being sponsored by the WTC chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and the bank, with proceeds to go to the FCA for a spring banquet and other projects.

Sign-up hours are 12 noon to 5:30 p.m. each day.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Chris Johnson, FCA president, at 573-9634 after 6 p.m.

Financial & tax planning

"THE GOVERNMENT GETS HALF!"
(Not Necessarily)

We have heard it said numerous times, "When I sell my property, the government gets half of the sales price." If yhour property qualifies for the preferred, long-term capital gains treatment, you will pay substantially less than half, perhaps more like 8 to 10 percent of the sales price.

To measure the tax consequences of the sale of any property, you need to know the "basis" of the property.

Since "basis" is the key to all income tax concerns and affects every taxpayer in this country, it deserves to be explained. The term "basis" refers to the figures used as a starting point upon which gain or loss is simply the difference between the amount you receive and the amount you paid, (adjusted for any depreciation deducations taken and additions to the property).

You may nave acquired your property by gift or inheritance. If received by gift during the lifetime of the donor you will use his basis. If you inherited the property, you are entitled to use as your basis the "fair market value" as stated in the estate.

A typical sale may look like this. The property was purchased in 1960 for $20,000 and no depreciation has been taken, nor have any additions been made. The property is sold in 1980 for $70,00 resulting in a gain of $50,000. If this property otherwise qualifies for long-term capital gain treatment, only 40 percent of the gain is taxable. If your income tax bracket is 30 percent, your resulting federal income taxes would be $6,000 ($50,000 X 40 percent X 30 percent).

Other income tax considerations, such as income averaging, operating losses, capital loss carryovers and the new alternative minimum tax (a tax on excess capital gains) can have a significant effect on your final tax determination.

We encourage you to hire professional assistance before entering into sales of property.

Desperate about gas problem

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am desperate for a solution to my problem of severe gas. I'd like to go out and look for a new romantic interest in my life but am really deterred and hesitant because of this gas. Just going out to mingle socially with anyone, friend or not, is so humiliating I find it hard to go out. I end up alone at home, sad, lonely, disgusted and depressed.

A year ago I had X-rays of my stomach and colon and the doctor said I have four diverticula but otherwise I am healthy. He suggested I eat bran. I do but it causes gas. I have a milk allergy so I avoid milk and milk products and the gas foods such as cabbage and beans. I've tried a high-fiber diet but it irritates my colon. Please, Dr. Lamb, if you have any suggestions please help me.

DEAR READER — It is not an easy problem or I wouldn't get so many letters from people having trouble with gas. The first step is having a medical examination because some people have organisms such as giardiasis that can cause gas. And various medical problems can contribute to gas formation.

Part of your problem is your colon. We all have gas. It is impossible to eat or drink without swallowing air, which must pass. It usually does, unnoticed by all, but if your colon clamps down causing the gas to be trapped you feel distended. Undigested food that ferments and swallowed air are the chief sources of gas in the colon and stomach.

Try drinking fluids through a straw to avoid swallowing air. Hold an eraser between your teeth to help break the habit. This and other measures are discussed in The Health Letter number 6-8, Controlling Gaseousness, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Bran is good for most people but it does cause gas, as do cereals that contain bran. You might try a bulk expander such as Metamucil to accomplish the same thing and avoid the gas problem. And carbohydrates cause gas, particularly in middle age and beyond. Avoid the starchy foods such as bread and potatoes. Finally, depression and emotional tension can be a factor. You may need some counseling to get that area of your life adjusted for the best results.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My doctor tells me I should have a pacemaker in the near future. I'm a male, 67 years. Will it eliminate spells of heart irregularity or fibrillation and a slow pulse?

DEAR READER — In most instances the main function of a pacemaker is to prevent the heart from slowing so much that it is ineffective as a pump. It won't always stop an occasional extra beat.

If you mean atrial fibrillation, the rapid irregular beating of the upper chambers of the heart, that may continue but you won't be aware of it.

Individuals who have spells of very slow heart rate may pass out or even have convulsions from lack of blood flow to the brain. These episodes are dangerous and may allow the heart rhythm to change to dangerous irregularities. The pacemaker in these situations can be life saving.

WTC Summer Schedule Set

Summer classes at Western Texas College will begin on May 29 and end on July 24, Dr. Duane Hood, Dean of Student Services, has announced.

Registration will be held on May 28.

Copies of the schedule are available in the Administration Building, or information can be obtained by calling the Student Services office at 573-8511, extension 394.

Both day and evening classes are on the new schedule.

Spring Break Begins Friday

Classes at Western Texas College will recess at 1 p.m. Friday as the spring break begins.

Dormitories will close at 2 o'clock on Friday and remain closed until 2 p.m. on March 29. Classes will be resumed at 8 a.m. on March 30.

Offices on the campus will be closed only on March 26-27. The Scurry County Museum, located on the WTC campus, will also be closed on March 26-27.

Taint Of Doggie Odor Removed

NEW YORK (AP) — Is your dog shunned on the street by other dogs? Do you secretly fear your 3-year-old toy poodle will wind up an old maid? Do other people's dogs seem to be having all the fun?

If you have answered yes to but one question, it's a sign. Your dog may be suffering the heartbreak of ... doggie odor.

Worry no more. Monsieur Chien, the French perfume for dogs, is almost here. If you have the right address, that is.

"We hope to have it in the test markets by June," says the British-accented Jennifer Adler. "You know, New York's Madison Avenue, Chicago's Miracle Mile on Michigan Boulevard, Los Angeles' Rodeo Drive, Southampton. Places like that."

And if this new product is snapped up in these marts of affluence, it just might be playing in the boondocks in time for your 1981 Christmas gift-giving.

You might also meet Mycroft, an English bulldog named after Sherlock Holmes' smarter elder brother. Mycroft is vice president and chairman of the board of The Gray Consulting Group of New York and London, the folks bringing us this new necessity.

Mycroft, it should be noted, is descended from a line that includes 11 international champions, including his father, grandfather and a first cousin. Alas, Mycroft lacked the chutzpah to be a show dog.

Despite his placid personality and a rather unfortunate tendency to hyperventilate, which, in turn, produces a most unfortunate slobber, Mycroft does admirably as a huckster.

"He likes the attention," avers Ms. Adler. "He particularly likes to be up on a table. He thinks he's back in the show ring."

Meet Pecos In Tourney Finals...

Tigers Batter Seminole in Six, 11-1

MONAHANS – Coach Albert Lewis' Snyder Tigers moved into Saturday's championship game of the Monahans Tournament, blasting Seminole 11-1 here Friday night. The Tigers, 3-4 on the season, were to take on Pecos at 7 p.m.

Snyder got a top pitching effort from Gerald Don Hicks, who struck out 12 Indians over six innings before the game was terminated due to the 10-run rule. Hicks, 1-1, allowed only four Seminole batters aboard; two on hits and two on balls.

The Tigers went in front in the first stanza, taking a 2-0 lead as Perry Echols singled and Mike Roemisch doubled him to third. Echols scored on a passed ball and Tony Degrate later knocked Roemisch in with a single.

Neither team scored again until the fourth, when Snyder picked up three more runs. Curtis Gafford walked, Brent Roemisch singled and Jesse Hernandez bunted to load the bases. Seminole hurler Kenneth Lowrie struck out the next two batters, but he walked three more in succession for a 5-0 Tiger advantage.

Seminole garnered its only run in the top of the sixth when Hicks walked one batter and another hit a scoring double.

Snyder came back to seal the game with three runs in the fifth and three in the sixth. Brent Roemisch and Hernandez both drew walks and Neil Evans followed up with a three-run homer for an 8-1 lead. In the sixth, Snyder scored one run on a fielder's choice and a double by John Wilson brought in the final two.

Lowrie took the loss, giving up 9 hits and 5 walks. He struck out 6.

Lewis praised the efforts of Hicks and the fielding, which suffered no errors in the game. He also noted that Degrate was to get the mound duty Saturday against Pecos if the veteran's shoulder was better. If not, he said he would go with Hernandez. Tommy Gressett, another Tiger pitcher, is with the team but apparently has the flu.

In other games Friday, Pecos earned its championship berth by defeating Andrews 5-1, and in the consolation bracket, Alpine beat Kermit 7-4 and Fort Stockton slapped Monahans 9-6.

Saturday's games were to have Kermit against Monahans at 11, Andrews against Seminole at at 1:30 (third place), Kermit against Fort Stockton at 4 (consolation); and Snyder against Pecos at 7 (championship).

Lamesa Leading Fourth Annual Snyder Classic

Lamesa I , led by low rounders Sam Hansard and Wesley Bruce, held a seven stroke advantage here, going into Saturday's final stretch of the Snyder Classic Golf Tournament.

The Tornadoes' No. 1 squad fired a first-day 313 to claim the lead over Andrews, 320. Snyder No. 1 was third with a 343 count, followed by Colorado City at 344, and Pecos and Lamesa No. 2 at 347 each. Snyder No. 2 was seventh with a 405 and Seminole brought up the finish with a 414 total.

Hansard and Bruce were leading for medalist with scores of 75 and 76 respectively. Also in the running were Andrews' Brad Boynton and Colorado City's Trey Womack with 77s.

Low man for Snyder was Jay Eiland with an 82. Other Snyder I players and scores included Devin Donelson with a 99, Joe League with an 87, Jim League with an 88 and Barry Blackmon with an 86.

Snyder II scores included Kris Seale with an 88, Steve Gressett 100, Steve Neeley 109, John Sullivan 108 and Lawrence McCown 149.

Saturday's 18 holes were to begin with a 9:30 a.m. shotgun start.

Board To Meet Monday At Coaches' Request

A called executive session of the Scurry County Junior College District Board of Trustees will be held at 7 p.m. Monday in the conference room of the Western Texas College administration building.

The meeting has been scheduled at the request of men's basketball coach, Larry Dunaway.

Rumors indicating Dunaway had been relieved of his position at WTC were determined to be unfounded, and in an interview with the coach last week he said he had no plans to leave.

The University of Oregon won the first NCAA postseason basketball tournament in 1939.

UAB Slams Western Kentucky...

Minor Upsets In NCAA

by The Associated Press

Three years ago, the University of Alabama-Birmingham didn't even have a basketball program.

Now, they're bouncing around in the thick of the NCAA playoffs.

The virtually new-born Blazers advanced to the second round with a surprisingly easy 93-68 victory over Western Kentucky in the Mideast Regionals Friday night.

Glenn Marcus scored 22 points for Gene Bartow's up-and-coming team, as the Blazers earned a berth against eighth-ranked Kentucky in Sunday's game at Tuscaloosa, Ala.

The Blazers' victory followed a Mideast opener in which Boston College edged Ball State 93-90.

In first-round action in the West Regionals at El Paso, Tex., Pittsburgh defeated Idaho 70-69 in overtime and Northeastern nipped Fresno State 55-53.

In the East at Charlotte, N.C., Villanova routed Houston 90-72 after Virginia Commonwealth put down Long Island University 85-69. In the Midwest at Wichita, Kan., Kansas edged Mississippi 69-66 and Wichita State routed Southern University 95-70.

Dwan Chandler and John Bagley each scored four points in the final 98 seconds as Boston College overcame a late seven-point deficit and downed Ball State 93-90. Bagley scored a team-leading 19 points for the Eagles, who will meet 11th-ranked Wake Forest Sunday.

Dwayne Wallace banked in a 10-foot jump shot with three seconds left in overtime to give Pittsburgh a 70-69 victory over Idaho. Pittsburgh earned the right to meet sixth-ranked North Carolina in the second round Sunday.

Chip Rucker hit a layup with four seconds left to give Northeastern its upset over Fresno State and a berth in Sunday's second round against 14th-ranked Utah.

Led by Alex Bradley's 22 points, Villanova raced past Houston's Southwest champions and headed for a second-round showdown with Virginia.

Kenny Stancell scored 22 points as Virginia Commonwealth whipped LIU and earned a shot Sunday at 15th-ranked Tennessee. The Rams held a 17-point lead, 55-38, at the 12:03 mark of the second half before holding off the Blackbirds.

Darnell Valentine scored 15 points and Johnny Crawford tossed in two free throws with 22 seconds remaining to lift Kansas over Mississippi. Cliff Levingston and Antoine Carr combined for 42 points to help Wichita State whip Southern. Kansas meets Arizona State and Wichita State takes on Iowa Sunday.

Second-round play in the NCAA tournament begins with doubleheaders at four sites today.

In the East Regional at Providence, R.I., it's Brigham Young against UCLA and James Madison vs. Notre Dame. In the Mideast at Dayton, Ohio, St.Joseph's, Pa. faces DePaul and Maryland meets Indiana. In the Midwest at Austin, Tex., it's Lamar vs. Louisiana State and Arkansas against Louisville. In the West at Los Angeles, Kansas State meets Oregon State and Wyoming tackles Illinois.

Plans For Next Year Going Well

Cushing Pleased With 80-81 Dusters Progress

Coach Joe Cushing was pleased with progress made during the 1980-81 season with the Dusters program, but naturally plans for a better year when WTC hoop action opens again next fall.

"Of course we would have liked to gone farther, but I'm pleased with what we accomplished this year," said the coach, who completed his third year here with a 25-7 record. "For the first time since 1975, the Dusters won a first-round regional game. To quote Bum Phillips, last year we knocked on the door, this year we pounded on it - and I won't say we're going to break it down - but next year we hope to walk through it," he grinned.

"I think we're in line for one of the best recruiting years we've ever had as a result of the efforts of Shari (Teal), Linda (Holubec), Jenni (Anderson) and others. It's been a culmination of things that have gotten us where we are, and they've helped not only on the court, but by telling other girls about our program. I hate to see them go", he said of the three and Stella Bickley, the Dusters' four sophomores. "These were the first girls I actually recruited myself at WTC and as such they'll always have a special place that will be awfully hard to fill."

As a team, the Dusters averaged 39.1 percent from the floor and 68 percent from the line, 72 points, 42.5 rebounds and had 566 assists, 696 turnovers, 470 steals and 228 blocked shots.

"This has been our best year rebounding the ball," pointed out Cushing. "We did a good job on the boards. I can only remember two or maybe three games where we were outrebounded all season. We'd like to cut down the amount of turnovers, but its not a great amount when you consider we're basically a running team. What seems strange to me is we shot almost 70 percent from the freethrow line and only 39 from the floor. We've definately got to improve in that area of the game."

Key personnel for the Dusters included, among others, sophomores Shari Teal and Linda Holubec and freshman Valerie Wells. Teal, a two-time all-conference player who added all-region honors this year, broke 11 records and set three new marks this season. She currently holds or shares 16 Dusters records. For 1980-81, the 6-1 New Deal native averaged 16.4 points and 10.6 rebounds. She shot 41 percent from the floor and 77 from the line, had 36 assists, 59 turnovers, 39 steals and 80 blocked shots.

Teal was named all-tournament in all of the five meets she participated in during her two-year stint, including Most Valuable Player in the Northern Oklahoma Tournament this year. She will play in the junior college All-Star Game, April 10 in Waco. A team captain, she also boasts a 3.59 grade point average.

Holubec, from Paint Rock, was the second leading scorer on the team, averaging 15.5 points before missing the final eight games of the season with a knee injury. Shooting 42 percent from the field and 75 from the line, Holubec averaged 6.5 rebounds and had 67 assists, 72 turnovers, 61 steals and 13 blocked shots.

Also a co-captain this year, she was named second team All-Conference both years at WTC and was all-tournament twice. He holds a 4.0 grade point average.

One of the players leading the way for next year will undoubtedly be Valerie Wells, a 5-11 standout from Amarillo. Wells also earned all-tourney honors this year, and was named to the All-Region V tournament team. The Dusters' top floor shooter percentage-wise at 53.4, she averaged 13.4 points and 9.4 rebounds. She hit 68 percent from the charity line, and had 32 assists, 65 turnovers, 73 steals and 53 blocked shots.

Tulsa Pops Foe, 81-71

TULSA, Okla. (AP) - Phil Spradling's outside shooting and Greg Stewart's muscle inside sparked Tulsa to an 81-71 victory over Pan American in a National Invitation Tournament first-round game Friday night.

Tulsa broke away from a 53-53 tie midway through the second half, and built a lead of 12 points before Coach Nolan Richardson pulled his starters for good.

Tulsa, 22-7, hosts Texas-El Paso in the second round of the tourney Monday night. Pan American ends its season at 18-11.

Spradling finished with 17 points, while Stewart added 15. David Brown scored 14 points and Mike Anderson 12 for Tulsa.

Center Kenneth Green led all scorers with 22 points for the Broncs. Reuben Cole tossed in 17 and Mike Carroll had 14 points.

The victory, before a record Tulsa home crowd of 10,575, gave the Hurricane their all-time best record. It also makes Tulsa the NCAA's most improved Division I team in Richardson's first year. Tulsa was 8-19 last year.

In another NIT game played Friday, Syracuse got 26 points from To Bruin as the Orangemen edged Marquette 88-81 before a crowd of 20,123 at its Carrier Dome.

West Virginia wasted a number of opportunities, but managed to outlast Penn, 67-64 in the only other tilt. The winners missed three key free throws in the final minute but overcame a 4-point deficit after blowing a 16-point lead.

The second round begins Sunday with Dayton at Purdue and Toledo at Michigan. On Monday, Minnesota is at Connecticut, South Alabama at Georgia, Texas-El Paso at Tulsa, Alabama at Duke, West Virginia at Temple and Holy Cross at Syracuse.

Bass Club Notes Awards; Plans Upcoming Tourney

Snyder Bass Club announced tournament winners at its monthly meeting, held Thursday night at West Texas State Bank.

Winning the club's first tournament of the year was Ken Gard, who hauled in three fish weighing 13 points, one ounce. Second was Bill Collier with a 10-1 string, followed by Ronnie Parsons, 9-4.

Rick Howard placed fourth with his catch of 8-13; Don Parsons fifth, 6-8; David Plunkett sixth, 4-11; Jack Hickman seventh, H.W. Cargile eighth and Earl Perser ninth.

Big Bass of the Tournament and the month was a six-pound, one-ounce bass caught by Howard.

The club will hold its next tournament March 21 and 22 at Oak Creek Lake. Members may pre-register at Tape Town.

Anyone interested in joining or learning more about the Snyder Bass Club should inquire at Tape Town.

Horses Rescued From New York's 'Torture Trail'

TICONDEROGA, N.Y. (AP) — The auction of 57 ponies and horses rescued on upstate New York's "Torture Trail" was a bittersweet moment for animal lovers. They saved the animals, but had to outbid horsemeat buyers to do it.

Interstate 87, the Adirondack Northway, is the major Northeast corridor for transporting horses to Canada for slaughter. Horsemeat is sold to European and Asian markets, where as a delicacy it sells for more than $7 a pound.

The Northway gained its nickname — "Torture Trail" — not because animals were being transported to slaughter, but because they were being treated cruelly along the way.

Dr. Robert Lopez, a veterinarian and member of the North Country Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, says he became aware of the problem in 1973, when State Police apprehended the driver of a tractor-trailer van stuffed with 35 full-grown horses. The truck was designed to hold 20.

When Lopez arrived on the scene, several horses "were down," victims of neglect, freezing temperatures, exhaustion and starvation.

He believes thousands of horses are subjected to abuse traveling the "Torture Trail" to Canada each year, although there is no official estimate.

The state of Delaware has only three counties, Kent, New Castle and Sussex.

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

SECTION B SUN., MAR. 15, 1981

Stanfield Plans To Aid Clean-Up

Two students from June Brock's fifth grade class at Stanfield Elementary attended the most recent meeting of the Alpha Study Club to give a talk on what they plan to do as a group and as individuals in the "Put the Sparkle Into Sparkle City" campaign.

Angie Traylor and Wade Spencer told the study club's attending members that they plan to invite city officials to speak to their class about environmental control and pollution. They are also planning creative writing to produce skits about the clean-up campaign.

They said they will get a wagon or cart and help clean up their own blocks and alleys and that they will volunteer to help older citizens clean their properties.

The class is also planning to develop a classroom mural to display in the front hallway of the school building.

Traylor and Spencer say they will write to Scholastic Newstime magazine to tell them of their project with the hope that they will publish something about Snyder's clean-up campaign in future editions.

COST-PER-WEARING—A KEY IN BUYING

"Cost-per-wearing" will stretch clothing dollars if you pay attention to it.

It's like figuring cost-per-serving in food buying.

To find the cost-per-wearing of a garment, just divide the number of times you'll wear it into the purchase price.

Here's an example: you've found a sweater on sale for $20, you buy it, then don't like it, so you wear it twice.

Its cost-per-wearing is $10 — expensive for most people's budgets, even if it was on sale.

On the other hand, say you buy a seemingly expensive all-weather coat for $100 and wear it four times a week in six months.

Its cost-per-wearing is only $1 — a very reasonable cost-per-wearing.

Also, if the coat lasts two years, the cost-per-wearing would be 50 cents, or for three years, just 33 cents.

Remember, a bargain is never a bargain unless it fits a need.

When buying clothing, consider color, pattern, comfort and need.

For wardrobe basics that get lots of wear, buy the best quality you can afford.

Of course, when high-quality basics actually have sale prices, they can mean a great savings and a really wise investment.

Miles Standish was put in charge of the Pilgrim's militia at Plymouth, Mass., in 1621.

APRIL VOWS PLANNED—L.D. and Shirley Alls announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Lynette Alls, to Marvin Butler, son of Granville and Rose Butler. An April 17 wedding is planned at the 37th Street Church of Christ.

BRIDGE

Some general principles

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Almost everyone knows that in defending against no trump you should attack in a long suit in the hope of setting up winners. In defending against suit contracts, the same principle applies although not with equal force. Just bear in mind that if you do attack dummy's long suits you may well develop low card winners for declarer. When you attack short suits with your side's long ones, you can only develop your own low cards.

In general, try to avoid opening new suits. The late Hal Sims once said, "Every time you break a new suit from declarer's left you lose half a trick on the average."

Leading through declarer and up to dummy's weakness is far better. You probably tend to gain when you do that.

In signalling strength, signal with the highest card you can spare, but never signal with a card that may be an important winner if you hang on to it.

Remember what the bidding has been. As soon as you see the dummy, add your and dummy's high card points to what declarer has shown and try to figure how many HCP your partner can hold. Then see if you can figure out the exact cards those points may represent.

Try to count everyone's distribution if you can and make it a point to protect jacks, tens or even nines when it appears that they are important.

Then, while this may seem far-fetched and is hard to understand, don't throw low cards from nothing when it seems that declarer may have to work on that suit later on.

As an example: Dummy shows king-jack-ten in a side suit. You hold 4-3-2. Don't throw one or two of those cards away carelessly. If your partner happens to hold the queen, you may be showing declarer where it is. Let him guess--don't draw a diagram for him.

Of course there is the converse. If you are declarer and have to find a queen, beware the ingenuous discard of a deuce. Maybe that player holds her ladyship.

Union Extension Club Meets

Union Extension Homemakers heard a program on "Quick Casseroles" given by Janet Spence in her home March 9.

A new member, Roxanne Stoker joined the club.

Members at the meeting were Brenda Lee, Wanda Stipe, Mrs. Spence, Virginia Bloom, Kathy Hall and Ann Uptergrove. Guests were Donna Tate and Mrs. Davis.

The next meeting will be April 13 in the home of Brenda Lee.

Old coffee grounds used as a mulch for house plants will add nitrogen to the soil.

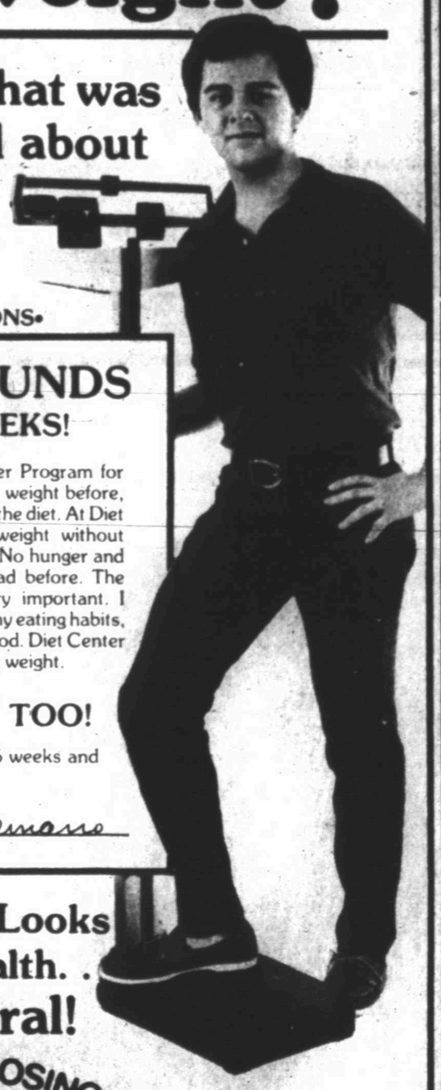
Overweight?
So was I, but that was before I heard about Diet Center!
Diet Center is America's FASTEST GROWING WEIGHT LOSS PROGRAM
•NOW OVER 1000 LOCATIONS•



I LOST 33 POUNDS IN JUST 7 WEEKS!

I succeeded on the Diet Center Program for two reasons. I had tried to lose weight before, but when I got hungry I went off the diet. At Diet Center, I was able to lose weight without hunger. It was amazing to me! No hunger and more energy than I've ever had before. The daily counseling was also very important. I learned how to take charge of my eating habits, lose weight and keep it off for good. Diet Center is truly the natural way to lose weight.

YOU CAN DO IT TOO!

Lose 17 to 25 pounds in just 6 weeks and learn how to keep it off!

In Doubt? Do It

In doubt about using interfacing in a certain area of a garment?

Then do use it. Your garment will look better and wear longer, advises Becky Saunders, a clothing specialist.

New Officers Elected At Ira

New 1981-82 officers for the Ira PTA were elected by acclamation recently during a meeting at the school gym.

New officers are Mrs. James Brown, president; Mrs. Larry Richards, vice-president; Mrs. Billy Box, secretary; Mrs. Jimmy Wilson, treasurer.

Plans were scheduled to be made for a Teacher Appreciation Day and Lou Crowder was named chairman of that project.

An announcement was made by Mrs. Donnie Dunn about the Legislative Bulletin on alcohol and drugs. She asked the unit members to write to their representatives about the subject.

A play, "Something Rotten On My Bookmark," was presented by the fifth and sixth grades.

What's Right In 'Right Of Way'?

MANALAPAN, N.J. (AP) — Margaret Davison cried as she watched bulldozers rip apart the house her parents struggled to build 30 years ago in this diverse community of old farms and new residential developments.

Almost seven years have past, but she still cries over the loss of her girlhood home — leveled because it stood in the right-of-way of a new highway project that probably will never be constructed.

Government arguments about the greater good of society taking precedence over an individual's wishes mean little to a woman who blistered her hands using a drill press to help her parents build the house from the ground up after World War II.

"It hurt us. But if the government was actually going to build the roadway, then taking our land would have served some purpose," she says. "But no road will ever be built there. This is just plain foolishness.

"Thank God my parents were dead before the New Jersey Turnpike Authority came around," she says, sobbing and crying as she talks.

The authority finally declared the Alfred E. Driscoll Expressway project dormant last year after almost a decade of planning, legal battles and land acquisitions that totalled $17 million. Now the authority is preparing to put the lands up for public sale, reneging on a promise to give the former owners first option to buy.

"I don't want it now," Mrs. Davison says. "That land was our homestead."

Even if Mrs. Davison and her neighbors wanted the property, they probably couldn't afford it.

Land values have increased significantly in the past seven years and some parcels have doubled or tripled in value since the authority purchased 100 tracts of land from some 30 or 40 owners along a 38-mile strip from Toms River to North Brunswick.

And the initial buy-back offer was retracted by the authority, which decided instead to seek top dollar for the land at a public auction.

Cost estimates escalated from $315 million to $475 million over the years for the project, which would have linked the turnpike with the Garden State Parkway and eased traffic congestion on Routes 1 and 18.

The project finally was shelved, primarily because Gov. Brenden T. Byrne opposed the roadway for economic and environmental reasons.

Less than 15 percent of the right of way had been acquired when the project was pronounced dead, say Turnpike Authority lawyers.

Judge Justice Doesn't Balk At Controversy

TYLER, Texas (AP) — Welcome to Tyler, rose capital of the world, home of the Apache Belles and the lair of a legal lion named William Wayne Justice.

Make that Federal Judge William Wayne Justice.

Or Willie Wayne Injustice, as some call him, though rarely to his face.

"One does not go out of his way to rile a federal judge, and certainly not Willie Wayne," said a Tyler attorney.

"He's a tough old S.O.B.," agreed another, "but smart and fair and honest."

By virtue of two recent rulings, Justice triggered the ire of a bunch of Texans, including prison officials, politicians and more than a few educators.

The first edict suggested that the state's bilingual education program was a sham. The second portrayed the prison system as one step removed from barbaric.

Both, he ruled, were unconstitutional.

Those were not his only controversial decisions, merely his latest.

Worse, some say, his proposed remedies will cost millions of tax dollars. Educating Mexican-Americans, even legal ones, is not high on the priority list of most Texas taxpayers.

Nor are many concerned about prison conditions, however sordid.

In his own defense, Justice says...nothing. He says the U.S. Constitution speaks for itself, and for him.

To the chagrin of his critics, and two or three grumpy reporters, Justice refuses to comment on his judicial decisions, or anything else for that matter.

At least not publicly.

Long ago, before his self-imposed gag rule, he said he viewed his judicial role in terms of "enforcing the law the way it is written, whether I like it or not."

Asked once by the Texas Observer if he ever considered the financial burden a decision might place on the state, he replied:

"Well, I won't say that it doesn't enter into my calculations. But what are human rights worth? I would consider that that ought to be the paramount objective of our society — to see that human rights are preserved.

"Any expenditure directed toward that would appear to be justified. I'm speaking in general terms. I realize there are limitations on what governments can spend..."

Who, then, is this man that Texas Monthly calls "the real governor of Texas?" And why is he doing these things that so upset so many people?

The Houston Chronicle recently posed this rhetorical question:

"Does he believe he sits at the right hand of God, as his critics mockingly suggest? Or is he the anointed champion of the poor and oppressed, as his advocates insist?"

Probably neither, but it should be pointed out right off that he is hardly the judicial ogre that some contend. A visitor to his office detected no horns or fangs.

Not once did he bite and only a couple of times even growled.

He has, however, been called everything from kooky to capricious, including aloof and arrogant and insensitive. Even Satanic.

Of the above, a friend said, only one is correct: "He is kinda kooky..."

Although he talks freely to reporters, he permits none to quote him. He abhors jogging, but runs six miles every other day, rain or shine.

Almost the epitome of power, he is not pretentious or pompous and in fact appears largely unimpressed with his awesome influence.

He relishes cigarettes and cigars, but has touched neither in years. Never one to spurn good whiskey, he contents himself now with an occasional social beverage.

At 61, he is lean and healthy, courtly, hawkishly handsome, an earthy, engaging storyteller who laughs as easily at his own foibles as those of others.

He is not insensitive to criticism, he once admitted, but decided long ago that it goes with the territory.

"I get a certain degree of wry amusement out of it," he said at the time.

Justice grew up in nearby Athens, the son of a crafty, eloquent, showy and widely respected country lawyer named Will Justice, who young Wayne admired immensely.

The elder Justice had a bit of Cherokee in his bloodlines. The younger Justice also inherited his mother's Norwegian fairness and light hair.

After law school at the University of Texas, and a military stint, he returned to practice law with his father, a close friend and philosophical ally of liberal leader Ralph Yarborough.

poisons act quickly

The tragedy is repeated over and over. It may not happen to anyone in your family, or even in your town but nationwide it occurs with monotonous regularity. A child is screaming and coughing. Its mother runs to the garage to find the child in spasms or experiencing great difficulty in breathing. Or maybe he has fallen unconscious to a floor near a pan where his father was washing greasy auto parts with gasoline.

Poisoning in such cases increases dramatically in the spring and summer. According to Michael Ellis, director of the Texas State Poison Center in Galveston, those two seasons of the year always bring an increase in the number of ingestions of gasoline and other petroleum distillates.

During 1980, the Poison Center was contacted over 19,000 times for general information about preventing poisoning.

"The poison inquiries are primarily about children," Ellis elaborated. "In fact, about 70 percent of our calls involve the child who is five years old or younger. This is the prime age for small objects found down low to go directly to the mouth."

What about the child who drinks gasoline? "Gasoline and other petroleum distillates such as furniture polishes, lamp oils, lighter fluids and etc., present us with considerable problems," Ellis noted. "If these products get into the lung of the child, the lung can be coated with the liquid and asphyxiation and death over a period of several days occurs all too frequently. And there isn't much we can do about the situation.

Although the ingestion of foreign substances occurs quite frequently in a young child, luckily, true poisonings do not occur nearly as frequently.

"Rushing a patient to the hospital emergency room after they have ingested a foreign substance, is not the best approach to the problem," Ellis said. "About 85 percent of the time the patient can be treated at home and not require medical attention." Ellis suggests the Poison Center be called first, and then let it help in determining whether medical attention is necessary.

"In this way, the patient is traumatized to a minimal degree if no medical attention is required," Ellis says.

The telephone number to the Poison Center (1-713-765-1420) is a very important number to keep handy. It is answered 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Remember, children act, fast, so do poisons.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The secret of getting along with others is to never deny, never contradict and sometimes forget."

Tiger sports fans can now concentrate on track and baseball, as the Tigers Tuesday night were eliminated from the post-season playoffs by an impressive and tall Canynon team.

We won't belabor the basketball season, but it was one of the best that we can remember. A couple of weeks ago we talked in this space about the Tigers and Coach George Byerly, and if anything our respect and admiration for these guys are even greater.

The squad has every right to be proud of its accomplishments, and we fans certainly got our money's worth this season.

Down 13 points and then have a chance to take a final shot and win the bi-district game is in itself amazing. This team will long be remembered for the close ones.

Wedding stories are an important part of a newspaper, but except for close friends and families, one wedding may seem very similar to another.

Well, there is always someone willing to try something just a little different. A friend of ours to the north received a rather unusual wedding report recently.

This particular wedding report indicated that "due to dead batteries" there will be no photos of the event available. After reading the writeup, disappointment was great because the photos would have been most interesting.

The wedding took place on a very cold day in January, out in the woods. The bride and groom wore matching blue western jeans, shirts and boots.

On a pillow carried by the best man was not a ring, but a western hat. They were bound together by his hat. Later, after warning the JP not to be afraid, several guns came out and a hangman's noose was around the groom's neck.

The bride had made her own bouquet of dried broom weeds, mistletoe and cedar sprigs with three large blue cattails and plastic flowers with light and blue ribbons for streamers.

Music was provided by an 8-track stereo. Music included the Hawaiian Wedding Song by Elvis Presley. The radio station was called and one request made for Late Date. A cooperative disk jockey also played several other love songs.

The reception was held outside near a huge camp fire, and dancing was done on an open air dance floor nearby.

And the cake? It was a small, medium and large pizza formed in three tiers.

Hors d'oeuvres were 30 pounds of barbecue ribs.

The only single adult present, naturally, caught the bride's bouquet.

Variety, of course, is what makes the world go around. Despite the rather unorothodox ceremony, the records reveal they are indeed married. Their children and grandchildren will have a lot of fun looking at the wedding book.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Postal Service sources report that postal workers may stage a nationwide strike this summer.

The postal union, whose three-year contract expires in June, is said to have "unofficially" notified the Postal Service that a job action will occur if a new contract is not agreed upon by July 21. Neither the union nor the Postal Service will comment officially on whether a bargaining deadline has been set.

Labor Secretary Ray Donovan is out as the administration's chief emissary to organized labor after his disastrous performance at the winter meeting of the AFL-CIO executive council. He had been dispatched to the Florida gathering to woo union support for President Reagan's economic program.

Donovan began to stumble almost immediately after his arrival with a large entourage. At a question-and-answer session with the union leaders, he quickly demonstrated his unfamiliarity with what many of them consider to be organized labor's greatest problems. Neither did he show much understanding of the ramifications on labor of the president's proposed budget cuts.

Then, in an act of political insensitivity, he attended a lunch honoring longshoremen's leader Teddy Gleason at the very hour that a Senate committee was hearing testimony linking Gleason to dockside labor racketeering.

The trip was capped by Donovan's announcement after a meeting with the council that at least half of its members supported the budget cuts. This outraged most council members, who had told Donovan in no uncertain terms what they thought of Reagan's proposals — which was not much.

Many of the labor leaders later went out of their way to tell reporters that Donovan was the most poorly prepared and poorly staffed labor secretary in their memory.

Future contacts with the unions will most likely be handled by Robert Bonitati, who was recently appointed White House labor liaison. Bonitati was an aide to Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker and more recently was the political director of the Air Line Pilots Association.

Bonitati is liked and respected by organized labor and has many contacts in its higher reaches. He is already taking the lead in lining up union support for Reagan's budget proposals.

The appointment of Bonitati has already paid a dividend for the Reagan administration.

The Air Line Pilots Association is pressing for government action on a number of grievances involving what the pilots call "air safety." The pilots are displeased with the Federal Aviation Administration, with the safety of many U.S. airports and especially with recent government decisions to permit cockpit crews of two instead of the current three in the next generation of commercial aircraft.

Airlines and plane manufacturers maintain that the new jetliners, which will start coming off the assembly lines in the mid-1980s, are so highly automated they will not need flight engineers.

The pilots were considering an early March work stoppage to publicize their demands. But after a White House meeting arranged by Bonitati and the promise of a presidential panel to study the safety issues, the pilots agreed to forget about the work stoppage, at least for the time being.

Many traditional status symbols disappeared from the White House during the egalitarian Carter years. Now they are back.

You can again tell who's who by whether he is picked up in the morning by a White House car, or by whether he has a coveted parking space on the small street between the White House and the Old Executive Office Building, or by whether he has a government-supplied color television in his office.

Under President Carter, almost everyone could eat in the White House mess. Now access has been limited to the top 200 or so staffers and their guests. In addition, the mess has been divided into two sections, one of which is reserved for the very high-ups.

But one status symbol has remained from the Carter administration: access to the White House tennis court. At one time Carter himself decided who could use the court. Aides say that Reagan will not get involved in assigning court times but that access will be limited.

the electric company

The Electric Company.

You and I grew up considering the electric Company "indispensable," "indestructible."

The Electric Company -- we were sure -- was a pillar of financial strength which could never fail.

It's not and it can.

Irvin Bupp is a Harvard Business School professor who specializes in utilities and their financing.

He recently told the Wall Street Journal that "some utilities are eating themselves up," are "threatened with bankruptcy."

How can this be?

After all, all they have to do to stay in business is to sell bonds or to charge you and me more for their product; we have no place else to turn for it.

It's not quite like that.

Especially since record high interest rates have thrown the bond market into chaos, many electric companies no longer generate enough cash earnings to pay their common-stock dividends.

They are having to finance payouts out of depreciation or with borrowing or by issuing stock.

Understand, no operating utility has ever gone bankrupt. Yet, despite all the built-in protections against that exigency, some people inside and outside the industry are beginning to concede that it could happen.

Utility analyst for Argus Research, John Attalienti, says, "Many utilities are walking a real financial tightrope."

Utility executives plead for higher utility rates but the American public has seen its electric bills multiply in recent years and does not understand that though we were buying a kilowatt of electricity for five cents in 1929 -- in most cities, we still are.

The two-bit haircut has gone to $14...

But the five-cent kilowatt of electricity still costs five cents.

The "bigger bills" result from our increased uses of electricity.

It seems to cost more because we use so much more of it -- for air conditioners and deep freezers, clothes dryers and dishwashers, radios and TV and electric mixers and so on . . .

Where the average household in 1929 used 576 kilowatt hours of power -- today the average is more than 10,000 hours!

Yet despite increased fuel costs, increased construction and labor costs -- and inflation -- electric utilities have become so efficient that in most cities they could still charge you per kilowatt hour -- the same five cents as in 1929.

But then came the escalation in the price of gas and oil -- the primary fuels for making electricity. That hurt!

Nuclear energy is being brought on line -- but only after feuding, fussing and fighting with timid people and paranoid bureaucrats -- making those installations astronomically costly.

One nuclear power plant in Michigan that should have cost $350 million is going to cost more than $3 billion!

More than anything else the Electric Company needs you and me to comprehend their problem so we will not worsen it.

To The Daily News:

To all contributors to the 100 Club of the American Heart Association--

As most of you know, I was chosen chairman of the 100 Club for the American Heart Association fund raising drive in Scurry County. I would like to give thanks to my five captains, Carman McCown, Bill Lemens, Joe D. Fowler, Don West and Phil Guerry and their good workers for making it a success. I would like to write a personal "thank you" to each and everyone who worked with the drive, but because I don't know each of you, I am afraid that I might overlook someone.

This drive meant so much to me because if it had not been for research, I would not be here today. Anyone who was not contacted and would like to make a donation, please call me at 573-9773, or 573-8514, and I would love to come by and pick it up. If you prefer, you may mail it to George Gann, Western Texas College, Snyder, TX., 79549.

My thanks to each of you.

The bill allows funds for county roads to be distributed to Texas counties again. The funds, derived from state motor fuels sales tax, were cut off in 1979 because the distribution agency was abolished under the Texas Sunset Act. SB 151 establishes the state treasurer as the distributor for the funds. The fund receives $7.3 million annually, and Scurry county will receive $72,491.79 in October for fiscal year 1981 and two preceding years.

Salvadorans Find Way To U.S.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — As American military advisors prepare for assignments in El Salvador, residents of the war-ravaged country steadily flee 1,500 miles north to Texas in hopes of joining Salvadoran alien communities throughout the United States.

Immigration officials say the Lower Rio Grande Valley is a major crossing point for Salvadorans. Their destinations usually are Houston, New York, Washington and other large cities.

"There has been a substantial increase in Salvadorans entering this area. It's been almost continuously increasing in the last year and a half," said Hal Bouldin, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization service in Harlingen.

Almost one in seven Salvadoran aliens apprehended nationally are found in the Valley and surrounding counties.

Many waive the right to request asylum and agree to return. But others fight to stay for fear of persecution and even death at home, officials said.

U.S. Border Patrol agents recently captured 55 Salvadorans who paid $350 apiece to be smuggled in boats across the Rio Grande from Mexico and taken in the back of a rented truck to Houston. The group was found 12 miles from this border city.

Statistics on Salvadorans apprehended by the Border Patrol mirror conditions in the Central American country.

In 1978, the patrol caught 711 Salvadorans in the McAllen sector that includes the border counties of Starr, Hidalgo and Cameron.

A military coup in El Salvador overthrew the Romero government in 1979.

Local apprehensions of Salvadoran illegal aliens more than doubled that year to 1,567, said James Selbe, acting Border Patrol chief in McAllen. The number increased to 1,754 last year.

Immigration officials in Laredo and El Paso also report increases but nothing near the Valley figures.

"I think geography is a reason but apparently they (Salvadorans) have better contacts down there than they do here," said Delbert Guy, acting chief of the Border Patrol in Laredo.

The El Paso sector, which includes the New Mexico-Mexico border, apprehended 181 Salvadorans in 1978, 274 in 1979 and 606 in 1980.

National records show 8,937 Salvadoran illegal aliens were apprehended in the year ending Sept. 30, 1978. The figure rose to 11,392 during fiscal year 1979.

Almost 90 percent of the 1 million illegal aliens apprehended annually are Mexican nationals. For each alien caught, another two or three go undetected, officials esstimate.

Estimates of the number of Salvadoran refugees living in the United States range up to 500,000.

Unlike Mexican illegal aliens who often travel alone, Salvadorans almost always come in groups and do not stay near the border, Bouldin said.

"There is no substantial alien population in the border area other than Mexican. For that reason they don't come to the border with the capability of assimilating into the local community," he said.

Panel Announced

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Speaker Bill Clayton announced his selections Tuesday for the Special Task Force on Bilingual Education in Texas Public Schools.

They are Kay Bell, Texas City; Tony Bonilla, Corpus Christi, and David Escobar, El Paso.

Other members will be named by Gov. Bill Clements and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

Clayton said Reps. Hamp Atkinson, D-New Boston, chairman of the House Public Education Committee, and Matt Garcia, D-San Antonio, sponsor of a bill on bilingual education, also will be members of the task force.

"It's worth a try!"

Alien Children Often Far Behind In School

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Until two months ago, 9-year-old Julio had never held a pencil, used scissors or been to school.

He still has trouble writing, cutting paper and speaking English.

Julio is one of 750 undocumented children enrolled in local schools for this first time this year under a federal judge's order.

He is one of a smaller number who had never been to school, even in Mexico.

Before his family moved to this border city six months ago, he worked on a large ranch carrying firewood and doing odd jobs. The nearest school was more than 10 miles away across often impassable roads in Matamoros.

Along with 26 other youngsters, Julio is in a special program for children who lack basic skills in either English or Spanish.

"These youngsters at first went into regular, bilingual classrooms. But problems emerged very clearly when teachers found the children had no (language) skills," said Cesar Cisneros. director of elementary education for the Brownsville Independent School District.

"You can imagine the frustrations of teachers trying to conduct a regular class when there's one who can't hold a pencil."

The district set up special classes in January at three elementary schools and plans to start the program in two more when teachers are available. The bulk of illegal aliens entering school for the first time are in regular, bilingual classrooms.

At Cromack Elementary School, Blanca Betancourt teaches eight pupils, aged 9 to 13, in the special program.

"It's unbelievable what can happen when a child doesn't get an education," she said. "I never realized there were children with no schooling at all."

Her classroom is similar to a one-room schoolhouse. A girl who normally would be in the second grade sits in front of a boy whose peers are in the seventh.

"I've found it very difficult with the wide age-range and maturity of the children," she said.

Suicide Threats More Than Just Empty Words

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1981 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday at work I overheard a young, well-educated co-worker (I'll call her Judy) talking to a fellow employee. She said, "My mother is having this middle-age menopause depression. This morning she threatened to kill herself, so I calmly said, 'Mom, in case you've forgotten where the gun is, it's under the pillow on Dad's side of the bed. The gun is loaded, so why don't you quit talking about it and go ahead and kill yourself?'" Then Judy went on to say, "You know, people who keep threatening to commit suicide never do. Sure enough, a few hours later, Mom called me at work to apologize for threatening to kill herself."

I was shocked. Maybe Judy handled the situation properly because her mother didn't kill herself, but I've heard that a suicide threat is a cry for help and should never be taken lightly. Who is right?

BETHLEHEM, PA.

DEAR BETHLEHEM: You are. Judy repeated a common misconception. My experts in the field of suicide prevention say that no threat of suicide should be taken lightly — that statistically the likelihood of suicide increases every time a person goes untreated after attempting suicide or threatening to. Judy's mother needs help.

DEAR ABBY: This could be classified as a stupid question, but it has been bugging me. I am 15 years old. A few weeks ago I read an article in the newspaper. It was an interview with a gigolo. He told how much he enjoyed his work and said it was a wonderful way to make a living.

As I was reading this article, a thought suddenly occurred to me. If what hookers do is against the law, then why isn't what gigolos do against the law? It is practically the same thing.

JUST WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: First, the only "stupid questions" are those that aren't asked for fear of appearing stupid.

What hookers do is vastly different from what gigolos do. A "hooker" is a female prostitute who solicits men for the purpose of selling them sexual favors.

A gigolo is a male who is available for a fee to escort a woman wherever she wants to go. Sexual favors are not included.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I don't know why, but whenever I get a compliment I feel embarrassed and don't know what to say, so I put myself down. For example, if someone says, "My, that's a pretty dress," I say something like, "Oh, this old rag. It's two years old."

How should I handle a compliment without appearing conceited?

SHY IN EVANSVILLE, IND.

DEAR SHY: Smile, say "Thank you," and shut up.

DEAR ABBY: Want to know the quickest way to get a thank-you after spending hard-earned money on just the right gift for ill-mannered people? It's easy. My mother dreamed up this great technique, and I have been practicing it ever since.

After waiting one month for an acknowledgment, telephone the store where the gift was purchased and ask them to put a tracer on it. (Most stores are very cooperative, and will promptly call or write a letter asking if the gift was ever received.)

It's amazing how soon you will get a thank-you! Who cares if they're embarrassed? They could use a lesson.

New Approaches In Cancer Study

NEW YORK (AP) — The new and revolutionary techniques of molecular biology, along with other new approaches, should play a major role in the research on cancer in the 1980s.

Recombinant DNA and "smart" man-made antibodies, as well as vaccines and vitamins, will be the focus of researchers.

"These are the most important areas I'd put money into," says Dr. Frank J. Rauscher Jr., senior vice president for research of the American Cancer Society and former director of the National Cancer Institute.

Rauscher has some say in where the money goes, both through direct allocation of Cancer Society research grants and through the art of persuading congressional committees that fund federal efforts.

The new emphasis will mark a change in approach. Earlier efforts aimed at finding a single virus that might cause, say, breast cancer. It was this work, fruitless to date, that drew much attention during the 1970s.

Now, much research is being done to determine what specific protein sites on the shell or coat of the virus actually have the cancer-causing effect, rather than the whole virus. Viruses are still implicated, but in a much more complicated fashion.

"You're going to see a whole new area of research called risk assessment and chemoprevention," Rauscher predicts. "That'll be the big one in the next 10 years. Recognizing that we're not going to do away with the automobiles and brake linings, what will we to do allow people to live in an environment that will continue to be contaminated regardless of what we do?

"So we're asking the questions," he continues. For example, "Are there vaccines out there, naturally occurring chemical substances which, if taken in our diet or as a pill, can prevent the development of cancer? ... And I think the answer already is 'yes, we can do that.' It's worked in animal systems, so much so that it's being tried in people right now."

The research, though, would take at least a decade, and any widespread use of vaccines would be even farther off, he adds.
