Rain gauges have had a workout around this area the past few weeks, resulting in one of those unusual situations in which a lot of farmers wish the rains would stop——at least temporarily. But that is what crops need now——a lot of hot sunshine and no more rain.

You can get into a lot of arguments about rainfall measurements. In the first place, rains have a way of varying drastically over relatively small areas. In town the totals may be different block by block and out in the country the figures from section to section may be widely separated.

Then, there are the varying types of rain gauges. We heard a report after one of our recent rains about two gauges with readings more than half an inch apart on the same lot——one on the opposite side of a house from the other. The unofficial gauges that are popular throughout the county——those shaped like a test tube, may vary considerably, depending upon the amount of wind which accompanies a rain.

There has not been much argument on this subject recently. Snyder and Scurry County have been getting plenty of rain, no matter whose gauge you use.

Speaking of the weather, a scientist who came to this country from Kyushu Island is experimenting with machine-made tornadoes in an effort to provide a method for reducing destruction caused by these storms, which are the most violent known to man. Working under a grant provided by the National Aeronatuics and Space Administration, Dr. T. Theodore Fujita already has learned some interesting facts, some of which refute earlier theories concerning tornadoes.

For example, he says his research indicates that tornadoes are born when thunderstorm clouds have a "pause" in their growth. Previously, it was believed that tornadoes happened during a period of rapid cloud growth. Also, one of the "freak" characteristics of tornadoes may have been explained by Dr. Fujita's research. Puzzled by the fact that a tornado may completely level one house and leave another beside it virtually unscathed, he discovered evidence that there probably are several smaller funnels dancing around inside the base of each main tornado funnel, leaving an erratic path of destruction.

He became interested in tornadoes because one hit Kyushu in 1948. But he already has learned that tornadoes in the United States are much stronger than those in Japan.

The nation may well be able to meet its armed forces requirements without a draft, according to a Readers Digest article which analyzes a survey of youth which produced some surprising revelations. They say a Gallup poll shows that a majority of the young people in all political groupings would approve a law requiring a year of service to the nation from every man and that about four of every 10 would choose military service over such things as conservation, hospital work or the Peace Corps.

Moreover, in a popularity poll which listed 11 internationally-known individuals, Billy Graham was rated highest by the youth over Senators Muskie, Kennedy and Humphrey, President Nixon, Fidel Castro, John Lindsay, Gen. Westmoreland, Spiro Agnew, Ralph Nader and George Wallace. Castro was on the bottom of the list. Those polled were aged 16 to 29 and the results were completely unexpected.—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 5, the 249th day of 1972. There are 117 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1774, the first Continental Congress assembled at Carpenter's Hall in Philadelphia.

On this date:

In 1670, William Penn was arrested for holding a Quaker meeting in Grace Church Street in London.

In 1905, the Treaty of Portsmouth, N.H., ended the Russo-Japanese War.

In 1914, during World War I, German forces captured the French city of Rheims.

In 1939, the United States proclaimed neutrality in World War II.

In 1945, the American flag was raised on Wake Island after Japanese forces surrendered.

In 1963, three white schools scheduled for integration in Birmingham, Ala., were closed on orders of Gov. George C. Wallace.

Ten years ago: At the United Nations, 31 nations pledged $86 million in cash and commodities in the first cooperative attempt to relieve hunger in poor nations.

Five years ago: The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission said the United States was trying to develop pure fusion nuclear weapons which would have no fallout and still was trying to develop a neutron bomb.

One year ago: The John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington put on its first public performance-a preview of Leonard Bernstein's new "Mass."

First Time In History

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Writer

MUNICH (AP) — Terror brought the Olympic Games to at least a temporary halt today.

Arab commandos invaded the quarters of the Israeli team, killing two Jews and taking others hostage.

German police prepared to shoot it out with the invaders.

Coach Moshe Weinberg and another Israeli were shot dead when the terrorists, armed with submachine guns, climbed the fence of Olympic Village and burst into the Israelis' apartment in predawn darkness.

Some Israelis escaped but between about a dozen—the figures varied in conflicting official reports—were held hostage.

The Arabs—five men with charcoal-blackened faces—announced the rest of the Israelis would be shot if 200 Arab terrorists held in Israel were not released.

One deadline passed, then another.

The games went on for several hours, then were suspended. All athletes were invited to a memorial service Wednesday morning. A spokesman for the organizing committee said he was not sure whether the games would continue after the memorial.

An official announcement said:

"The Olympic peace was broken by a murderous attack by criminal terrorists. The entire civilized world condemns this barbaric act with disgust.

"In respect for the victims and in anxiety over the fate of the still-held hostages, The events of this afternoon will be suspended. The competitions under way will be completed.

"The International Olympic Committee and the Olympic Committee (of West Germany) will participate, together with the Olympic participants, in a memorial service for the victims tomorrow at 10 o'clock in the Olympic Stadium. This service should make clear the Olympic idea is stronger than terror and violence."

The terrorists' original deadline for a meeting of their demands was noon, later extended to 2 p.m. and 5 p.m., the last equivalent to noon EDT.

This deadline also passed.

The Arabs evidently had boxes of explosives to use in efforts to enforce their demands.

Mark Spitz, who won a record seven gold medals in the games, flew home. Spitz, a Jew, was moved out of the village to a Munich hotel as a safety precaution, but later decided to return to the United States.

The second Israeli shot dead in the attack was not officially identified.

A police lieutenant told AP correspondent Will Grimsley there was a plan to storm the Israeli headquarters if the 5 p.m. deadline passed without resolution of the issues. Army tanks were pulled up in front of the building.

The police lieutenant said 38 police volunteers were ready to carry out the plan of attack.

Small groups of demonstrators inside and outside the Olympic Village called for the games to be halted.

About 50 young people marched among the milling crowds outside the village with banners reading "Stop sport."

They sang in English "We Shall Overcome," the song of the U.S. civil rights movement in the 1960s.

The song was heard coming from groups of athletes inside the village, too.

Railroad, Radar Stations Attacked By US Jets

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force jets attacked North Vietnam's northwest railroad to China Monday and destroyed two radar stations used to direct surface-to-air missiles at American planes, the U.S. Command announced today.

On the ground, North Vietnamese forces mounted their third attack since last Friday against South Vietnamese bases in the central highlands. The Saigon command said the assault was beaten back and claimed 130 North Vietnamese were killed, 100 of them by air strikes. Government losses were five killed and 13 wounded, the command said.

The U.S. Command reported that American jet fighter-bombers carried out more than 220 strikes across North Vietnam Monday, with the northwest railroad and the radar stations the major targets.

The pre-dawn North Vietnamese attack in the central highlands hit the Bau Can base camp, about 12 miles southwest of Pleiku city. The position, manned by about 100 government militiamen, was first shelled then attacked by infantrymen.

Lt. Col. Do Viet, a spokesman for the Saigon command, noted increasing North Vietnamese pressure within a 25-mile radius of Pleiku City, the capital of the Central Highlands.

Viet said, however, the objectives of the North Vietnamese were not immediately clear. He said he did not know whether Pleiku City would be a target.

U.S. B52 Bombers have stepped up their attacks in Pleiku province in recent days and they flew nine more strikes today against North Vietnamese troop concentrations and staging areas 15 and 18 miles southwest of Pleiku city.

On Monday, North Vietnamese forces overran a ranger border camp 23 miles west of Pleiku and sent the Montagnard tribesmen defending the camp fleeing in all directions. Scores are still missing.

On other fronts in the northern and southern sectors of South Vietnam, battles remained generally stalemated, but with slow progress reported on the government side.

Military sources told Associated Press Correspondent Richard Blystone at Landing Zone Baldy that South Vietnamese infantrymen had pushed into Firebase Ross in the Que Son valley south of Da Nang and occupied the western portion of the strongpoint which fell to the North Vietnamese Aug. 19.

Fighting was reported at scattered points from northeast of An Loc city southward along Highway 13 to the district town of Ben Cat, 25 miles north of Saigon.

Tax Office To Move Into Its New Quarters

The Scurry County Tax office will be closed Wednesday and Thursday to enable the staff to move into its new quarters in the courthouse.

Don Adams, tax assessor-collector, said that it is possible that the office will be able to handle some business late Thursday, but they will be devoting full time to moving all day Wednesday and most of the day Thursday.

The tax office, which has been located in the Hugh Boren Insurance Agency Building on the northwest corner of the square while the courthouse was being remodelled is the last county office to return to the courthouse following the completion of the remodelling project.

The County Clerk's office has just moved in and is now unpacking and arranging its files and equipment in its new quarters.

Holiday Traffic Claims 554

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic accidents around the nation claimed 554 lives during the Labor Day weekend.

The National Safety Council had estimated in advance a highway death toll between 580 and 680 for the period from 6 p.m. local time Friday to midnight Monday.

The 1971 Labor Day weekend traffic toll was 616.

Emergence Of Caveman Delayed

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — The emergence of French scientist Michel Siffre from the cave where he has spent six months was delayed today by the absence of the chief of the expedition.

Persons at the cave entrance said the expedition leader, Gerard Cappa, had gone to a nearby ranch and had not returned by the expected 11 a.m. (CDT) return above earth of Siffre.

There was no immediate inidcation of when Siffre would emerge.

The scientist's wife, Nathalie, was almost in tears at the delay. She was dressed in a bright orange sweater and green pants and her auburn hair was trimmed short.

Surrounding the cave entrance were about 30 persons, including Renigald de Warren, the French consul at Houston, and the official's wife and daughter.

Farm Tour Thursday

The Annual Scurry County Farm Tour will be held Thursday, from 8 a.m. until noon. Anyone interested in agriculture is encouraged to attend. The four Agricultural Agencies in the county, ASCS, FHA, SCS and Extension Service, have included a wide variety of management practices that are applicable to Scurry County agriculture. These include cotton and grain sorghum variety tests, parallel terraces, root plowing and reseeding, farm housing and ownership loans, rural water supply systems, weed control, fertilizer deomnstration.

Buses, provided by the Snyder Public Schools, will load on the parking lot in front of the ASCS Office at 8 a.m. The Snyder Chamber of Commerce is providing bus insurance. The morning coffee break will be at the Dunn Community Center. At noon a meal will be served at the Towle Park Barn for $1 per person. The Soil Conservation Board of Supervisors is arranging for the meal.

This will be a good opportunity to see a large portion of the county's agriculture situation as well as view many management practices being used by producers, farm leaders said.

Hackney Rites Set Wednesday

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Former state welfare commissioner Burton G. Hackney, who saw Texas' welfare program through 4½ critical years, died Monday night after being rushed to a local hospital.

Funeral services are scheduled for Wednesday morning at a local funeral home with burial in Lubbock.

Hackney, 65, resigned as welfare commissioner June 15, 1971 to become associate director of the governor's office of comprehensive health planning. Earlier that year he had missed about a month of work after suffering what was diagnosed as a "coronary insufficiency."

He became commissioner on Dec. 4, 1966, succeeding the late John Winters. It was an unusual step, because at the time Hackney was chairman of the three-man State Board of Public Welfare, which set policy for the Welfare Department. Hackney has been board chairman for eight years and had served a total of 12 years on the board.

A graduate of Texas Tech University in Lubbock, Hackney practiced law in Brownfield for 32 years before coming to Austin as welfare commissioner. He also spent about 2½ years as an Air Force legal officer during World War II.

During his years as commissioner the Welfare Department was faced with crisis after crisis as federal court decisions opened the welfare rolls to tens of thousands of additional Texans.

The burgeoning Aid to Families with Dependent Children rolls brought the department to the brink of a welfare cut in 1970, forestalled only by a $13.5 million fund transfer by Gov. Preston Smith.

Teachers Strike In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Public school teachers in the nation's fourth largest city went out on strike today, refusing to give up what the School Board says is the shortest high school working day in the nation.

Affected are 13,000 teachers, 5,000 paraprofessional union members and 285,000 pupils, who are due to begin classes Thursday.

The teachers were to report for work today.

Bargainers for both sides agreed that the key dispute centers on the board's demand that secondary level teachers extend their work day from five hours to five hours, 40 minutes.

The board, $82 million in debt, has offered raises of $330 a year to the 5,000 city teachers now at top scale, but also has asked that other salaries be frozen and that 485 positions be phased out by adjustments in class size in an effort to save $11 million.

The teachers, in a list of 400 demands, have asked for pay raises averaging 34 per cent on their scale that now ranges from $8,900 for a beginner to $17,000 for a veteran with a Ph.D.

Jack Soloff, negotiator for the board, said, "Senior high school teachers in Philadelphia have the shortest day of any in the United States ... I feel the problem we face with the PFT (Philadelphia Federation of Teachers) crystalizes around this one issue."

Senate Set To Vote On Award

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Back at work after a two-week break, the Senate prepared today to vote on granting a cash award to families of policemen and firemen killed on duty, while the House was set to decide on financing the antipoverty program.

Returning following the recess for the Republican National Convention and Labor Day, senators were scheduled to vote on a bill to provide $50,000 tax-free for the family of any policeman, fireman or other public safety officer killed in the line of duty.

House members slated action today on a compromise bill authorizing $4.8 billion for a two-year extension of the antipoverty program.

Congressional leaders are shooting for adjournment by the end of the month, but it is likely the session will spill over into October because of a number of controversial issues still to be resolved.

The first measure to be voted on by the Senate provides, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1967, for a $50,000 federal payment to the widow or other dependents of public safety officers killed while on duty.

In addition to policemen and firemen, this would include prison guards, national guardsmen and members of the armed forces assigned to maintain civil peace.

An almost-unbroken rise in police killings in the last decade led the administration to request the legislation. Justice Department records list 126 policemen killed in line of duty during 1971, compared to 37 a decade earlier.

The bill also would provide for a payment of $25,000 to an officer for the loss of a foot or a hand or blindness in one eye, and $50,000 for double dismemberment. None of the payments would be subject to federal income taxes.

Another bill to be voted on by the Senate is designed to take the profit out of cargo thefts by authorizing treble-damage suits and other antitrust-type remedies by victims.

A coat wearer tries, but can't change her spots

By Abigail Van Buren

(c) 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago an aunt died and left me a lovely leopard coat. It's about 35 years old, but looks like new. It was recently restyled, is in excellent condition, has a lovely new lining, and fits me perfectly.

My problem? You guessed it. I am completely in accord with the conservation of this animal as well as all the others in jeopardy, so I would feel terribly guilty wearing the coat—even tho it was purchased long before the animal was in danger of extinction—or any measures had been taken to protect it.

I have stored it for three summers now without wearing it once. I don't think it would sell because of the current situation. If you were I, would you wear it? If not, have you any suggestions as to what I should do with it? Sign me "SPOTS BEFORE MY EYES"

DEAR SPOTS: If I were you, I would not wear it because even tho you have no reason to feel "guilty" you would be so concerned about what people might think, you wouldn't enjoy wearing it. You might consider giving it to a charity and taking a tax deduction on it. Someone, somewhere would wear it with pleasure without feeling self-conscious.

DEAR ABBY: My parents divorced when I was 4. My mother remarried a wonderful man when I was 12. I have always kept in contact with my natural father, and my stepfather was more of an acting father than my real father. I love them both very much.

My problem is this: I am now planning my wedding and I don't know who should give me away. Both men would be proud to do so, but I know each would be very hurt and disappointed if he weren't chosen.

I don't want to elope, so please don't suggest that as a solution. Would it be "kosher" to walk down the aisle with a father on each arm? DE

DEAR DE: Why not? My father [rest his soul] walked down the aisle with a DAUGHTER on each arm!

DEAR ABBY: That marvelous letter about the two salesmen who share the same mistress five days a week is stuck up on my wall in front of my typewriter.

The lady, it seems, wants to report what she gets [the money, that is] for tax purposes, but it would cost her an extra $1,518 a year.

She should check with her accountant. I think she can report her income as a gift. That way she pays only a gift tax on it, which is nominal, and no tax on the first $30,000.

The other possibility is that they consider a third partner, for weekends, which, they say, the girl has off anyway.

This situation reminds me of my law school days—back in the mid-'30s, when we were all broke, and also girlless. Five of us once considered such an arrangement, only we couldn't find a girl who would live on $1.08 a week.

Historical note: One of us is now a judge in Southern California, another is senior counsel for a major state agency, one has a very successful private law practice, one [the brightest one] was killed in World War II, and I am managing editor of a legal magazine.

I'm not sure what this proves, except maybe that rich is better? ANONYMOUS, PLEASE, IN SAN FRANCISCO

James Robert Heard pleaded guilty in county court Friday to a charge of driving while intoxicated. He received a $100 fine plus court costs and a 30-day jail term. The jail term was probated for six months. The offense occurred last Friday.

New Fires Erupt In Forests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

New fires erupting over the Labor Day weekend brought the total of lightning-set fires in the 10 national forest in Northern California to more than 700, the U.S. Forest Service reports.

Spokesman Jerry Gause said the total for the 17 national forests in the state for the past eight days was just under 1,000, with the Klamath National Forest and Plumas National Forest hardest hit.

Altogether the weekend produced 145 fires in the Klamath National Forest, with most contained quickly but one stubborn blaze expanding to 120 acres in very steep [illegible] Creek west of Yreka and another persistent fire near Happy Camp.

Plumas National Forest was not far behind, with 129 fires reported over the weekend. Gause said most lightning storms are accompanied by rain squalls which either douse the fire or slow it down—but that much of the lightning the past week has been dry, with little or no rain, and that the strikes take place mostly in high and relatively inaccessible areas.

A total of 98 smoke jumpers have been used to parachute to the isolated blazes, he said, and helicopters have been used increasingly to get men into areas where land vehicles cannot take them.

No structures have been reported involved in the fires.

McGovern Flying In Style

ASSOCIATED Press Writer

SEATTLE (AP) — Sen. George McGovern has his Democratic presidential campaign flying in style now with two special jetliners which are costing more than $70,000 per week.

The South Dakota senator will be traveling between now and the Nov. 7 election in the Dakota Queen II, a Boeing 727 that's been equipped with a small lounge, a workroom and air-to-ground telephones.

The Dakota Queen II, named after the B24 bomber McGovern piloted in Europe in World War II, will be used by the candidate, most of his staff, the Secret Service and a press contingent of about 30.

An identical 727, still unnamed, will serve as the main press plane and will carry some overflow staff and Secret Service agents.

Floydada Woman Hurt In Mishap

Mrs. Annie George Webb, 71, Floydada, sustained minor injuries in a two car collision at the East Traffic Circle at 2:03 p.m. Sunday. She was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by private vehicle.

City Police said she was driving a 1968 Model Oldsmobile that was in collision with a 1967 Model Chevrolet operated by George Bledes Rocha, Route 2. Damage to each vehicle was considerable.

Boren Rites At Lamesa

Funeral service was held at 10 a.m. Monday at Lamesa for B.J. Boren, former Snyder resident. Mr. Boren, 42, died at 11:30 p.m. Saturday. He had been in the lumber business in Lamesa for several years.

He was a graduate of Snyder High School and of Texas Tech.

Surviving are his wife, Mildred; a daughter, Carolyn Boren; two sons, David and James Boren; his mother, Mrs. Eddythe Boren of Snyder; his father, Billy Boren of Clovis, N.M., and a sister, Mrs. Fletcher Green of Arlington.

Club Sponsors 'Be Late' Day

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Proscrastinators' Club of America claims it's unnecessary to be on time. And to prove it, the club will sponsor a Be Late for Something Day here Wednesday.

Highlight of the event will be a day-old cake sale.

The club isn't saying if the event will start on time.

Judge Thinks War Illegal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas says he is "inclined to think" the Vietnam war is unconstitutional.

Asked during a CBS interview about his personal feelings on the legality of the war, the 73-year-old Douglas said:

"Well, as you read the Constitution, it says that Congress has the power to declare war. And it doesn't say Congress and-or the president, or the Congress and-or the president and-or the Supreme Court. It just says Congress shall have power to declare war."

Douglas has referred in the past to the war as "aggressive" and has indicated his desire to give a platform to those who have charged it is unconstitutional.

The interview is scheduled for broadcast Wednesday at 8 p.m. EDT.

Dole Finds 7 More Violations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman Robert J. Dole says he has found seven more violations of political finance laws by Sen. George McGovern's presidential campaign.

Sen. Dole, R-Kan., last week alleged several other violations by the Democrats, and Monday said, "These further apparent violations confirm my belief that McGovern is playing fast and loose with the election laws and deceiving the American public ..."

But McGovern's national political director, Frank Mankiewicz, replied that Dole's accusations were "contemptible and totally lacking in substance."

President Nixon's campaign finances already are under investigation after the General Accounting Office declared on Aug. 26 that there were "apparent and possible" violations involving GOP campaign funds.

The GAO also is looking into McGovern campaign finances.

Dole said one apparent violation is a contribution of at least $50,000 by Playboy magazine publisher Hugh Hefner, which, Dole said, was divided into several $2,500 individual contributions so Hefner could avoid payment of federal taxes.

Expect Soviet Ships In Mediterranean

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials predict the Soviet Union will send helicopter carriers and more intelligence-gathering ships into the Mediterranean to make up for the forced withdrawal of Russian reconnaissance planes from Egypt.

TU16 reconnaissance bombers flying from Egyptian bases had been used by the Russians to keep watch on movements of the U.S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean. These planes reportedly returned to Russia several weeks ago after Egyptian President Anwar Sadat ordered Soviet advisers and technicians out of his country.

Most of an estimated 15,000 to 18,000 Russian military men then in Egypt are reported to have left. But the Soviet navy still is using three Egyptian ports.

Pentagon intelligence authorities say the Russians still are adjusting to changes and the possibility that the Soviet navy eventually may have to move its base of Mediterranean operations.

"Reconnaissance will be a problem for them now," said one Pentagon expert.

To deal with this problem, officials said, the Russians probably will augment the 50 or so Soviet naval vessels in the Mediterranean with one or both of the Soviet Union's helicopter carriers, the Moskva and the Leningrad. Choppers from these vessels could then patrol in sight of U.S. warships.

The Moskva and Leningrad normally are based in the Black Sea.

In addition to helicopters, Pentagon officials said, the Soviet navy may add to the four or five AG1 intelligence ships usually in the Mediterranean. AG1s, which look much like trawlers, are equipped with sophisticated electronic gear for surveillance and monitoring radio traffic.

Meanwhile, U.S. intelligence sources said Soviet repair ships, submarine tenders, oilers and other auxiliaries still are moored in Alexandria, Mersa Matruh and Port Said. And Russian warships are being served in those Egyptian ports as before.

Departure from Port Said of a Soviet naval amphibious group in mid-August prompted some analysts to expect a Russian naval withdrawal from Egyptian ports. However, intelligence authorities say that amphibious group has returned to Port Said.

Senior U.S. naval officials say Syria is about the only country around the rim of the Mediterranean which might provide port facilities to the Russian navy if it finally is ousted from Egypt. But while Syria has received considerable military aid from Russia, the Syrian government is said to be none too eager to provide naval bases for the Soviet Union.

OIL HELPS TEXAS SCHOOLS MAKE THE GRADE
Our schools use hundreds of things that are made from oil: desk tops and fiberglass seats, educational films, tapes and records, paint, ink . . . even the erasers on pencils.
But most of all, schools use energy. For heat, light and transportation.
75% of all our energy comes from oil and natural gas (including 40% of our electricity).
But today, we're using these petroleum fuels faster than we are finding them. That's why America faces an Energy Gap.
We're your local oil companies. Working to bridge the growing Energy Gap. Because it's as simple as A-B-C . . . a country that runs on oil can't afford to run short.

Dr. Clinton To Speak At Meet

The Altrurian Club will begin its club year with a breakfast at Martha Ann Woman's Club at 9 a.m. Friday, Sept. 8.

Guest speaker will be Dr. Robert L. Clinton Jr., president of Western Texas College.

Dr. Clinton received his doctor of education degree from Texas Tech University in 1962 and has had advanced graduate study at the University of Colorado, the University of Illinois and the University of Texas.

Miss Johnson Helps Teach Deaf Children To Speak

By BOB COOPER
Associated Press Writer

DANVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The child is totally deaf. And he can't speak either because he doesn't know speech exists. He's never heard it. Your job—teach him to talk.

"You should start when the child is very young, making him aware there is some communication going on," Louise Johnson, a teacher at the Maryland School for the Deaf, says.

The mother, the center of any child's world in early years, is the best teacher, Miss Johnson points out, because it is easiest to keep the child's attention focused on her—and strict attention is essential if the child is ever to speak.

"Every child—even the deaf child—babbles at the beginning, but the deaf child drops off after a while because he is getting no hearing feedback," she explains, adding, "unless a hearing aid can give him some hearing feedback, he can just forget how to make sound."

Here to teach two courses at Centre College for those who want to teach the deaf to speak, Miss Johnson told her class, which included teachers from the Kentucky School for the Deaf, that by holding a child's hand against your throat—or his own—you can make him aware of voice sounds "using the bare hand to feel the vibrations of the voice."

"Then you can begin by using, say, an apple—an object that they are familiar with—using your voice to say 'apple' and trying to have them say something back.

"They won't say apple right away, but if and when you get anything like an effort to imitate by using their voice, you encourage them greatly and they begin to realize you want them to do that."

From there, the road to clear speech is a long one, she says, fraught with frustration and often complicated by misunderstanding parents or ignorant people with whom the child might come into contact.

"Most of the time, we can understand the children we teach," Miss Johnson explains, "but if you were to come to our school, you probably wouldn't be able to understand some of them because you're not used to listening to the deaf. Our goal is to have one of these children go downtown and ask for a milkshake so that the person in the store can understand him."

Among themselves, she says, deaf children communicate mostly with sign language, since it is much easier and faster. To use lip reading one of the two would have to be able to talk clearly.

"Most schools for the deaf teach total communication though," Miss Johnson notes. "They use sign language with lip reading and speech—anything you can communicate with—anything to get a point across."

"We try to give these children enough speech so they can choose. If they want to remain in the deaf community, they can do so, but they also can communicate with the hearing community."

One particular stumbling block, Miss Johnson points out, involves deaf children of deaf parents. If sign language is the only communication at home, they may give up learning to speak aloud.

Miss Johnson says there is a theory that any child must hear a word 1,000 times "before that child can use that word meaningfully. You can teach a child to say 'mama,' but to express a thought with that word, he must associate it in his mind with the person it represents.

"Deaf children often don't get any of that in early years and if they come to school at age 6, just consider what they've lost," she notes.

After communication is established between teacher and student, Miss Johnson says, the deaf child is taught to say things in sentences—"not just 'apple' if he wants one, but 'I want an apple.'

"They gradually begin to say it that way. They'll say 'paper' and you reply, 'say a sentence.' They'll think a minute and then put it in sentence form that they've learned.

"Gradually, we enlarge on these forms. For some it is slow; for others faster, but if they use the skills at home, too, they can get some feedback and are encouraged by it.

"But we don't use the term 'deaf-mute' anymore because we feel a mute person is merely one who has never been taught to speak."

Women May Soon Grow Their Own Cosmetics

By AP Newsfeatures

Before long we may all be "growing" cosmetics in pots in the living room or in the backyard.

True, you may wait a while for your very own tree or bushes to bear fruit, but meanwhile you can experiment with some fruity recipes as the experts explore the possibilities of natural beauty.

For example, the avocado is full of vitamins, minerals and natural oils, say the California avocado people, who provide the following beauty recipes that make use of the peel and pulp:

Facial Cleanser: Beat egg yolk until it is light and frothy, add a half-cup of milk and the mashed half of a ripe peeled avocado. If you don't have a blender, beat the mixture with a fork until you have a thin cream of lotion-like consistency. Apply with squares of cotton. The formula is perishable so it should be made every other day and stored between uses.

Grainy Cleanser: Peel and mash one-half of a ripe avocado and mix it with a half cup of fine-grind cornmeal. Wash your face and apply the avocado-meal paste to the trouble spots. Gently rub mixture on skin for a few minutes. Remove with a damp washcloth and flood with a cold splash of skin tonic, witch hazel or a fruit wash.

Eye Treatment: Peel an avocado, remove pit and slice a half avocado into quarter-inch crescents. Lie down with a crescent or two under each eye for 20 minutes.

Dry Skin Mask: Beat yolk of egg until it is frothy, add mashed pulp of a half avocado, blending it. Cleanse face before using mask. Spread mixture over face and neck. Relax for about 20 minutes. Remove with clear, tepid water. Follow by a rinse of cold water (or mild lotion).

Oily Skin Mask: Put white of egg, teaspoon of lemon juice and mashed pulp of half avocado into blender. Blend for a few seconds. Cleanse well to remove oil from face and neck. Apply mask evenly. Relax for 20 minutes. Remove with tepid water and follow with ice cold astringent.

Scalp Treatment: In a warmish bowl, beat an egg yolk slightly with a wire sauce whisk, add a small amount from a half-cup of olive, sesame, almond, safflower or soybean oil. Beat mixture. Add mashed pulp of half an avocado until blended, add the additional oil, a teaspoon at a time, beating after each addition. Add lemon juice. Beat again to blend it well. (If refrigerated this will keep for a few days.) Saturate hair strands with the mixture. Leave it on head for a half hour or overnight (wrap head to protect bed linens). Shampoo with tepid water, using your favorite shampoo to remove. You may need to shampoo twice. Use treatment once a week at first, then monthly when hair's condition improves.

The Peel: Scrape pulp out of peel until it feels sandy. The slightly abrasive peel may be rubbed on feet, hands or other rough skin spots.

It may also be used as a moisturizer. Using it in upward strokes, lightly massage your face with the inside of the peel. Let the oil remain on your skin for 15 minutes or all night, if you are going to bed.

VEGETABLE-FRUIT SALAD
1 Bartlett pear, cubed
1½ tablespoons lemon juice
1½ cups torn iceberg lettuce
1½ cups torn spinach
1 nectarine, sliced
½ cup thinly sliced cucumber
¼ cup broken walnuts
¼ cup salad oil
1 tablespoon cider vinegar
1½ teaspoons honey
¼ teaspoon salt

Mix pear cubes with lemon juice. Place lettuce, spinach, nectarine slices, cucumber and walnuts in a salad bowl. Drain lemon juice from pears into a small jar; add oil, vinegar, honey and salt; cover tightly and shake. Add dressing and pears to salad bowl and toss. Makes 4 servings.

Add drained canned clams to fritter batter, drop into deep hot fat and fry until browned. Be sure to drain the clam fritters on absorbent paper.

French Ballet To Be Performed

NEW YORK (AP) — The Ballet-Theatre Contemporain of France will perform in the United States next November, the first French dance company to visit here since Roland Petit brought a company in 1954 and 1958.

Mme. Francoise Adret, director of the four-year-old company, made the announcement at the French Cultural Services office that the company of 33 dancers will appear in New York, New Orleans, Miami and Atlanta. Mme. Adret said, "If we have a success, we will come back to more cities next year."

The company was formed under Andre Malreaux, minister of culture, with the idea of export in mind, and is supported by the French government. It is the largest contemporary ballet troupe in France and the only one to dance works by a number of choreographers. Art in stage decorations and music also are important to the company and all are modern.

Revived Rail Excursions Are Growing Rapidly

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The old-fashioned railroad excursion has not only been revived but it is growing like crazy.

"We sell out almost every seat on every excursion," says a spokesman for Amtrak, the government's operating arm for passenger rail traffic. "The only thing keeping us from selling more is a lack of cars."

Amtrak offers a wide variety of tours, from a one-day, New York to Washington jaunt for half the usual fare to a 15-day Chicago-Los Angeles trip. The western one has a return via San Francisco and Reno and costs about 20 per cent less than the regular rail fare.

The longer tours are generally offered by Amtrak in cooperation with a regular tour firm. The tour firms arrange for meals, hotels and sightseeing buses, while Amtrak furnishes the trains. The tours are sold for an all-inclusive price which makes it difficult to say just how much is for rail passage and how much for the other features.

However, one recent traveler discovered that he could spend $618 for two people for a trip from New York to Los Angeles and back on the regular trains. But a longer trip, fares only, on an excursion ticket was only $584 for two. This called for a 9-day trip via Chicago, Denver, San Francisco and Los Angeles but did not include hotels and meals along the way.

Another Amtrak innovation is a rail tour to Florida, including a rental car for seven days. The compact car is included with the purchase of three train tickets, while four tickets will get a full-size car for the same one-week period. The car can be picked up at any of five Florida cities and returned at any of the others.

Unlike the old railroad excursions, many of the longer ones can be started on any day.

However, some of the family plans to Florida must be used only during the week, to take advantage of the lower price for a wife and children. Also, the rates on some routes are higher than one others: for instance, sleeping cars called "slumber coaches" are available on coach fares on some railroads, while other roads require a higher fare for the use of sleeping cars. In both cases, the sleeping car space is charged extra.

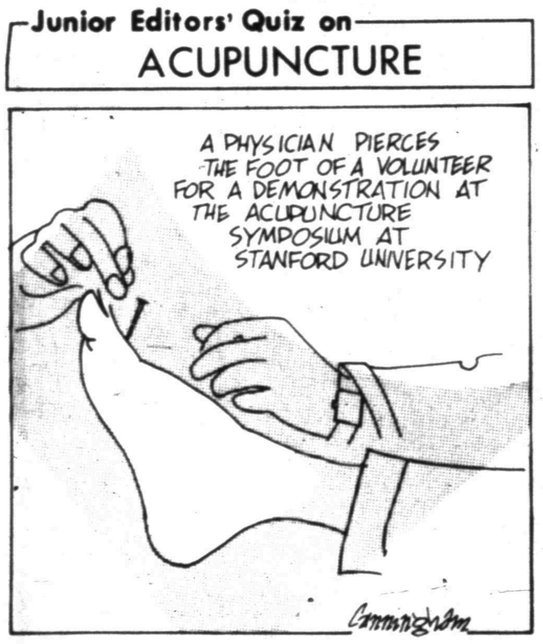

For instance, the sleeping car fare (not excursion) from New Orleans to Los Angeles, 2,033 miles, is $128.35. This is on one of the higher-priced lines. But the similar fare from Chicago to Los Angeles, 200 miles longer, is $5 cheaper at $123.

Amtrak says the problem with cars is "our refurbishing program."

"As soon as one comes out of the shop after being fixed up," the spokesman said, "another one goes in. That means we never have any increase in the fleet."

Some of the larger tour firms have solved this problem by buying and maintaining their own cars or even whole trains. They just pay Amtrak a mileage rate for hauling the cars.

Junior Editors' Quiz on ACUPUNCTURE

QUESTION: What is acupuncture?

* * *

ANSWER: Acupuncture is a medical technique used in China for about 5,000 years. Chinese doctors twirl needles that are inserted into the body at specific points. The practice of acupuncture is a method of treating many ills where pain is involved. It is claimed to be effective in the treatment of chronic ills such as headaches and arthritis.

Recently, the Chinese have been using acupuncture as an anaesthetic in performing operations. Since 1966, Chinese surgeons have performed 400,000 operations with acupuncture anaesthesia. They say there is less risk in this form of anaesthesia and that it helps avoid post-operative complications. Scientists are still trying to determine how this procedure works. It is thought that pain is deadened through a connection with the central nervous system.

The American Medical Association has shown great interest in this technique. Last fall, E. Grey Diamond, Dr. Paul Dudley White and others visited China and were impressed by acupuncture. They advised American doctors to seriously investigate the procedure. Doctors from institutions such as Harvard and Boston University plan to visit Taiwan and mainland China to learn the procedure.

Mail Brings Facts To Columnist

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Half of all Americans have lost their teeth by the time they are 65. The biting force of teeth declines from 300 pounds a square inch among the young to only 50 pounds in the elderly.

One thing you don't have to worry about a shortage of is salt. If the salt from the oceans and seas were removed and spread evenly over the surface of the earth, the National Geographic Society says, it would form a lawyer more than 500 feet deep.

Does the realization that about one out of every four Americans is unbalanced make you stop and think? Think of your three closest friends. If they seem okay, then you're the one.

Quotable notables: "Dentopedalogy is the science of opening your mouth and putting your foot in it. I've been practicing it for years."—Philip, Duke of Edinburgh.

Oh, say, can you see: More than a tenth of the states do not test the color vision of motorists, half do not check depth perception, and more than three-fifths do not check side vision.

Science and medicine are two fields not yet well integrated. Only one black is a member of the National Academy of Science, and from 1876 to 1969 only 614 black Americans received a Ph.D. in science. About one white in 560 gets a medical doctor's degree, but only one black in 3,800 does.

Laugh of the week: Did you hear about the fellow who gave up smoking for his health and started chewing toothpicks? He got the Dutch elm disease.

Worth remembering: "The trouble with some girls who have everything is that it all settles in one place."

Folklore: A girl who refuses to be kissed under the mistletoe will die an old maid. A falling picture is an omen of ill luck. If you throw eggshells into a fire, the hens will stop laying. Newlyweds will have peace and good luck in a new home if before they enter it someone puts a Bible in it and also stocks the cupboard with some salt and oatmeal.

It was Walter Bagehot who observed, "An inability to stay quiet is one of the most conspicuous ailings of mankind."

Rock Fans Leave Bull Island

BULL ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — After three days of rock music, little food, rain and chilly temperatures, 275,000 rock music fans began pouring out of this 900-acre peninsula in the Wabash River Monday.

The music continued Monday night, but promoters estimated only 25,000 to 40,000 fans remained on foggy Bull Island. The promoters predicted the concert would last until dawn so most of the scheduled bands could play. They included the Doors, Faces, Nazareth and Fleetwood Mac.

The only access, and exit, to the almost-island was a small road from Posey County, Ind. Traffic was bumper to bumper as most of the fans left the rock site, but Indiana State Police said they were able to handle traffic by routing it directly onto the four-lane Interstate 64 that cuts across southern Indiana and Illinois.

A major traffic jam had been expected because cars were abandoned on roads and highways as far as 10 miles from the island as the fans kept arriving throughout the weekend. Parking at the site was nonexistent, and the festival drew nearly five times the number expected by the promoters.

A calf elk, weighing 25-40 pounds at birth, begins to follow its mother within three or four days after being born in late May or early June.

Art Thieves Used Skylight

MONTREAL (AP) — The three men who stole $2 million worth of art treasures from the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts got in through a section of the skylight that had been under repair, a museum spokesman said.

"The alarm was only partially functioning," said Bill Bantey, the museum's public relations director, after the robbery early Monday. "If they had gone through an different section of the skylight, the alarm would have gone off."

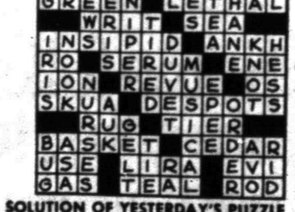

The alarm did go off when the robbers opened a door to take out the first part of their booty. They fled, leaving behind 18 other paintings they had stacked.

"They left behind far more important works of art than they took," said Bantey.

The 18 paintings stolen included a Rembrandt landscape valued at $1 million and works by Courbet, Daumier, Delacroix and Gainesborough. The masked men also took 39 pieces of jewelry and figurines.

Richey To Meet Laver

By CAUSEWELL VAUGHAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Pam Teeguarden was tickled and Roscoe Tanner was jubilant, but the old pro, Fred Stolle, was anything but enthused.

All three knocked off top-seeded players during the sixth day of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships Monday, but Stolle, the Australian who won the men's singles in 1966 and was runner up in 1964, has seen it all before.

Stolle, 33, beat fifth-seeded John Newcombe, 7-6, 6-4, 5-7, 7-6, as Tanner, of Lookout Mountain, Tenn., ousted seventh-seeded Tom Okker of The Netherlands, 6-4, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3, and Miss Teeguarden rolled by the women's second seed, Evonne Goolagong of Australia, 7-5, 6-1.

More seeded players will be eliminated today when top-seeded defending champ Stan Smith of Sea Pines, S.C., meets Andres Gimeno of Spain, seeded 14th, and Arthur Ashe of Miami, seeded sixth, meets doubles teammate Bob Lutz of Sausalito, Calif, seeded 13th.

The most exciting match of the day pits 1969 winner and third seed Rod Laver of Australia against Cliff Richey of Sarasota, Fla., seeded 11th. Both players won tough five-set matches their last time out.

Stolle sipped beer after his match and told newsmen his victory was a lucky one. He and Newcombe met in the 1966 finals with Stolle winning the crown after five sets.

"I'm just glad it didn't go five sets today. The way Newk was starting to play I'm sure I would've lost the fifth set," Stolle said.

Miss Teeguarden, from Los Angeles, was ecstatic about her triumph over Miss Goolagong, the 1971 Wimbledon champion. Down 3-5 in games in the first set with Miss Goolagong serving two set points, Miss Teeguarden, ranked 18th by the USLTA, reeled off the first of two five-game streaks to take the set and a 1-0 lead in the second set.

Tanner, ranked eighth nationally, simply overpowered Okker. The Stanford University senior served up 21 aces in the match and later said he was "very happy" with the way he's been playing.

Spitz Wins 7th Gold Medal!

By BOB JOHNSON
Associated Press Sports Editor

MUNICH (AP) — It was a gloriously climactic day for America's aquakids, what with Mark Spitz' magnificent seventh and triumphs by Mike Burton, Karen Moe and Melissa Belote—but the lustre of all that U.S. gold was tarnished by the spectre of doping charges.

Rick DeMont, an asthmatic 16-year-old from San Rafael, Calif., who had already won the 400-meter freestyle last Friday, was ready to go for gold and improve his own world record in the gruelling 1,500 meters.

But only minutes before the race, DeMont was "medically ejected" for having taken Ephedrine, an asthma medication. It's presence was discovered in a routine urine test after his victory in the 400.

"I can't say anything," DeMont said, fighting—and failing—to hold back the tears. "I put it all on my forms. I did everything anybody asked. I have nothing else to say."

With DeMont out of the race, Burton of Sacramento, Calif., streaked to victory, shattering DeMont's record with a clocking of 15:52.58.

"I'm sorry Rick wasn't in the race," said Burton, who finished nearly six seconds ahead of Australian Graham Windeatt, "and I'm not saying I would have beaten him ...."

The ejection from the 1,500 was not, however, the major letdown faced by DeMont. He faced possible loss of his 400 gold as well. The International Olympic Committee's Executive Committee and U.S. swimming officials were meeting overnight and a decision was expected early today.

The German word for the spectacular water hole here is "Schwimmhalle," but it could just as properly be called the "Spitzhalle."

The 22-year-old torpedo from Carmichael, Calif., an Indiana University dental student, owns it outright. Seven times he got into the water and seven times he came out a world record-breaking winner.

The finale on Monday was in the 400-meter medley relay. Ahead of him, backstroker Mike Stamm of San Diego and breaststroke specialist John Bruce of Sunnyvale, Calif., gave the American team the barest of leads over East Germany.

Then Spitz hit the water for his 100-meter butterfly leg—and by the time freestyle anchorman Jerry Heidenreich took over for the final 100, the U.S. kids had an unbeatable 12 or 13-foot lead. The quartest was clocked in a world-record 3:48.16, beating out silver-winning East Germany and third-place Canada.

Miss Moe, of Santa Clara, Calif., led a 1-2-3 U.S. sweep in the women's 200-meter butterfly with her world-record mark of 2:15.57. Lynn Colella of Seattle took the silver and Ellie Daniel of Elkins Park, Pa., the bronze.

Miss Belote, of Springfield, Va., who earlier had won the 100-meter backstroke, became a double gold medalist with her 200 backstroke triumph in 2:19.19, also a world record. Susie Atwood of Long Beach, Calif., was second ahead of Donna Marie Gurr of Canada.

If all this "U.S. swimmers swept ..." and "new world record ..." business seems repetitive, it is. The U.S. men, for example, grabbed 10 of the 18 golds available and took eight silvers and eight bronzes. And the women won eight of 14 golds, plus five silvers and four bronzes. In all, world marks were set in 23 of 29 events and no record from Mexico City's 1968 Games—not one—was left intact.

U.S. men should be so fortunate on the track. They got aced out again Monday in a race which, for decades, virtually had a "made in America" stamp on it.

Valery Borzov, who earlier won the 100-meter dash, became the first non-American to sweep the sprints as he won the 200 meters in 19.99 seconds, beating Larry Black of Miami to the wire by a fifth of a second.

Despite being second best, Black was not impressed by Borzov. "To me he's a clown," he said. "He's always running and looking around to see who's near him. If he can run and win that way, all right. But the day's going to come when he's going to look around too much."

Kip Keino, a favorite to repeat as champion in the 1,500 meters, won the 3,000-meter steeplechase, an event he tried for the first time just four months ago. And 16-year-old West German Ulrika Meyfarth thrilled the "hometown" crowd in the 80,000-seat stadium by winning the women's high jump.

In men's 10-meter platform diving, Richard Rydze of Pittsburgh, fifth going into the final three dives, rallied to win a silver medal behind Italy's Klaus DiBiasi, the first male diver ever to win a medal in three Olympic Games.

"Fantastic!" shouted U.S. polo team Capt. Gary Sheerer of Menlo Park, Calif., after he and his mates captured the bronze, the first time in 40 years a U.S. squad has managed any medal in the event.

The California-recruited team did it with a 6-5 victory over Italy. Traditional rivals Russia and Hungary brawled to a 3-3 tie with the Soviets getting the gold.

In boxing, middleweight Marvin Johnson of Indianapolis scored an easy victory over Ewald Jarmer of West Germany and light welterweight Ray Seales of Tacoma, Wash., scored two knockdowns against Ireland's James Montague en route to a unanimous decision.

But light flyweight Davey Armstrong of Tacoma had neither the strength nor inexperience to cope with Enrique Rodriguez of Spain and lost a unanimous decision.

Bobick Loses

MUNICH (AP) — Cuban heavyweight Teofilo Stevenson scored a technical knockout in the third round today over Duane Bobick of Bowlus, Minn., ending the United States' eight-year domination of Olympic heavyweight boxing.

The referee stopped the fight with 1:26 remaining.

In 1926 when professional tennis made its debut in New York's Madison Square Garden, Al Schacht and Nick Altrock put on a clown act. Schacht pantomimed Suzanne Lenglen, French tennis ace.

Tiger Preview Slated Tonight

The Tiger varsity football team will be introduced to members of the public at Tiger stadium beginning at 7:30 p.m. today.

Coach Maurice (Mo) Hodges will make the introductions. He also will introduce his staff and have the Tigers appear in the formations they will use this season.

Dave Harlin, Jr., president of the Tiger Booster Club, reminded football fans that the Booster Club will have memberships on sale tonight at the rate of $5 per person or $1 for wives.

Arkansas Hogs Are Rated 4th

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — "Your damn polls don't mean a thing until the season's over. Quote me exactly on that!"

That's Nebraska Coach Bob Devaney's message to poll takers and newsmen—especially those who call him at night.

Devaney was asked his reaction to the first Associated Press preseason poll, released over the weekend, in which his Cornhuskers, who are shooting for an unprecedented third straight national title, are ranked No. 1.

Devaney was contacted by telephone at his home late Monday night. Efforts to reach him earlier in the evening proved futile. Devaney told a reporter he "picked a helluva time to call," and then gave his opinion of polls in general.

The latest Devaney reaction to the way his team is shaping up in general came earlier Monday, after he had finished evaluating films of a scrimmage held Saturday.

"I think we over-praised our defense," he said. "They weren't as good as we had thought."

Nebraska's top offensive and defensive units trounced a scout team, which was running UCLA formations, 39-7. As Devaney saw it, "for the amount of experience and the time they've been together, they (the scout team) did too good a job of running plays against our defense."

The Huskers face their big test against another currently ranked team when they meet No. 2 Colorado Nov. 4. Nebraska faces No. 6 Oklahoma on Thanksgiving Day. All three schools are in the strong Big Eight Conference and could finish 1-2-3 in the final balloting.

The initial poll has Ohio State No. 3 followed by Arkansas and Penn State.

Alabama, soundly defeated by Devaney's proteges in last year's Orange Bowl game, was ranked seventh, followed by Southern Cal, Washington, Michigan, Louisiana State, Arizona State, Notre Dame, Texas, Tennessee, Mississippi, Georgia, Purdue, Florida State, and Stanford.

The Top Twenty teams, with first-place votes in parentheses, last season's records and total points. Points based on 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8, etc.

Lee Trevino Wins Hartford Playoff

By JOHN ARMSTRONG

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Lee Trevino has not done well in two previous shots at the World Series of Golf, but he goes into this weekend's big showdown with the momentum of a tournament victory and "my game together."

Trevino warmed up for his Akron, Ohio, tourney against Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and Gay Brewer by winning the $25,000 first prize in the Greater Hartford Open in a one-hole playoff with Lee Elder.

"I have the momentum," said Trevino. "I'm in the best shape I've ever been in. My legs are strong. I'm hitting the ball farther than ever before. I've got my game together."

Trevino had to drop a 12-foot birdie putt on the 72nd hole to get into the playoff with Elder and then sink a dramatic 16-footer on the first sudden-death hole to win the $125,000 Hartford tournament.

Elder, attempting to score his first tour victory and thus become the first black to qualify for the prestigious Masters Golf Tournament, could have won in regulation had his five-foot birdie putt on the 72nd hole not hung on the lip.

"You wonder what you have to do to win," said a dejected Elder, who won $14,300.

Trevino said he felt like "a heel" for taking the victory away from Elder.

"I know how much this means to him, with the Masters and all," said Trevino. "I felt good that I had won, and then bad. But I wouldn't let my wife beat me if I could help it."

Both Elder and Trevino wouldn't have been in a playoff had it not been for the disaster that struck tour sophomore Ralph Johnston of Garden City, N.Y., on the fourth to the last hole.

Johnston, a co-leader with Curtis Sifford after 54 holes, scored a four-under-par 31 on the front nine and birdied the 14th to take a three stroke lead.

Economic Stabilization Questions and Answers

Internal Revenue Service

This column of questions and answers on the President's Economic Stabilization Program is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue service and is published as a public service. The column answers questions most frequently asked about wages and prices.

Q. Do the new regulations on food products impose a freeze on food prices?

A. No. Food prices are not frozen. The new regulations control prices for certain unprocessed food items, after sale by the producer, in the same manner as prices of other items. These regulations establish controls at the retail and wholesale level over previously exempt, unprocessed agricultural products of the type consumed in their original form. These products include fresh vegetables, fresh fruits, eggs and raw seafood. The regulations do not change the pattern of controls over processed food products.

Q. I earn $2.25 an hour. Can my employer give me a 25-cent increase without worrying about the Pay Board guidelines?

A. Yes. Wage increases for individuals earning less than $2.75 are exempt from economic stabilization controls as of July 15, 1972.

Q. Do you have a booklet that tells landlords what information they must include in a notice to a tenant of a rent increase?

A. Yes. IRS Publication S-3019, "Rent Guidelines," and the supplement to this booklet, Publication S-3044, as well as Publication S--3026, "Rent Violations," explain in uncomplicated terms the rules for making permissible rent increases, including what information a landlord must include in a tenant's notice of rent increase. For your free copy, write the Internal Revenue district office nearest you.

Q. I own a Category II firm and am required to file quarterly profit margin reports with the Price Commission. I am worried that my profit margin is approaching the base period level. Can I file more frequent profit margin reports in order to avoid an inadvertent violation?

A. Yes. A businessman may choose or be required to make more frequent reports if he has increased prices and his anticipated profit margin is close to the base period level or if his volume is exceeding his forecast.

Q. Can a tenant do anything when his landlord asks for an exception from rent controls?

A. Yes. A tenant may provide the Internal Revenue Service with information he feels is pertinent to the exception request. The landlord also must provide a written notice to the tenants stating the details of the exception request and stating that the tenant may also provide information to the IRS within 15 days after the notice's date. The tenant must submit his information in writing.

Q. I know that the catch-up exception to the Pay Board's 5.5 percent standard is limited to 7 percent. Are there any limitations on this exception?

A. Yes. The catch-up exception allows employees who were getting less than a 7 percent increase in each year of their employment contract or, in cases where there is no employment contract, in each of the preceding 3 years, to have the difference between such two sums added to the 5.5 percent standard. Generally, the exception applies only to employee units whose straight-time hourly pay rates are $3.00 or less. However, if a successor contract succeeds a contract expiring on or before June 30, 1972, and is entered into on or after July 1, 1972, the exception may be claimed without regard to the $3.00 limitation.

Nixon, McGovern Relaxed, Confident

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both President Nixon and challenger George S. McGovern appeared relaxed and confident today as they faced the main stretch in their presidential campaigns.

Nixon, who was in San Clemente, Calif., for the Labor Day holiday, planned to travel to San Francisco today to meet with his Citizens Advisory Committee on Environmental Quality. He was to fly to Washington afterward.

McGovern carried his Democratic campaign into Seattle, Portland, Ore., and Los Angeles, while his running mate, Sargent Shriver, was in Boston and planned other stops at Portland, Maine; Springfield, Mass., and Albany, N.Y.

Labor Day is the traditional starting time for the presidential campaign which ends with the election on Nov. 7, although the campaigning actually started much earlier.

Nixon's trip to San Francisco was described as non-political, and there were no public appearances planned. He was to meet aboard a ferryboat with the environmental group to discuss a proposal for a Golden Gate National Recreation Area in California.

In Seattle, McGovern urged federal help to create 25,000 jobs at the Boeing Co., whose aircraft production operations here have been severely curtailed by lack of work. He proposed cleaner and quieter engines for commercial jets.

He criticized a statement by AFL-CIO President George Meany that McGovern is an "apologist" for Communist bloc countries. He said Meany's statement was "total nonsense" and added, "I don't think the American people believe it."

McGovern said in remarks prepared for Portland that the Nixon administration has ignored problems of the elderly. He called for a minimum monthly Social Security payment of $150 for aged, blind and disabled Americans. He also advocated a complete pension reform program and national health insurance.

McGovern planned to spend tonight in Los Angeles.

Shriver, talking with newsmen in Syracuse, N.Y., and in Boston, Monday, implied that former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans were "apparently involved" in the alleged bugging of Democratic National headquarters in Washington.

He said he concluded this from what he described as the insistence of federal judges on questioning them.

Prison Uprising Quelled

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — A five-hour uprising by 16 convicts at the Vroom Building of Trenton State Prison ended peacefully early today after state officials agreed to listen to inmate grievances.

The settlement was reached in negotiations between leaders of the rebellion and Robert L. Clifford, director of the state Department of Institutions and Agencies.

Clifford remained outside the building, talking to the inmates through a wiremesh window.

The disruption began at 8:40 p.m. as a pair of inmates, who had been treated at the prison hospital for wasp stings, were being returned to their cells, according to a department spokesman.

The inmates assaulted the two guards who were escorting them, he said, and were joined by the 14 other prisoners on the first floor, all out of their cells for a recreation period.

The two guard suffered head lacerations. They were treated and dismissed.

The inmates then went on a brief rampage, breaking the floor's television set, shattering lights and ripping apart their bedding.

At one point, the spokesman said, they broke into an office where riot gear was stored and grabbed batons and cans of mace. The weapons were surrendered when the rebellion subsided.

As part of the settlement, William Schirmann, news director of Radio Station WHWH in Princeton, N.J., was to be allowed to listen to, and tape record, the prisoners' grievances on the third floor of the Vroom Building after the transfer from the first floor.

The transfer was ordered because of damage to the first floor during the rebellion, officials said.

Last June the state began using the building to house prisoners considered "incorrigible." Previously it was used to confine the criminally insane.

Ted Williams closed out his long and colorful major league career for the Boston Red Sox by hitting a home run off Baltimore's Jack Fisher at Fenway Park on September 28, 1960.

Prowlers Hunted

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — Peace officers from several counties joined in a manhunt today for prowlers with whom a constable traded gunfire after surprising them in a small food store at Gordonville on Lake Texoma.

Authorities reported Constable C. W. Pierce was wounded in the face he exchanged bullets with the fleeing burglars. They estimated more than a dozen shots were fired after he surprised three men in the store about 3:40 a.m.

A bullet-punctuated chase with deputy sheriff Don Teague of Grayson County in pursuit led southward on U.S. 377 through Whitesboro, Collinville, Pilot Point, Tioga and Aubrey before the fugitives turned west on U.S. 380 and wrecked their car about 4:10 a.m.

The manhunt, in which more than two dozen officers took up the search, followed.

Officers advised by radio after daylight that a farmer had routed two men from a barn and eputies were trying to pin them down.

The Grayson County sheriff's office reported, meanwhile that a deputy had picked up a youth a short distance from the burglarized store. The youth was quoted as saying two men fled in his car, forcing him at knife point to leap from the vehicle as it roared away at high speed. He was held for questioning.

Mayor Robbed

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mayor William Donald Schaefer got a first-hand look at crime in Baltimore when a youth ripped the watch off his wrist while he was stopped in his car at a traffic light.

The incident occurred Monday night while the mayor was driving his private car near his West Baltimore home. Schaefer, who was not hurt, gave chase to a youthful suspect and was later joined by a patrolman, but no arrest was made.

Rube Marquard in 1912 set a record that still stands. He won 19 straight games for the New York Giants. Steve Carlton of Philadelphia won 18 in a row this year then lost to Atlanta 2-1 on Aug. 22.

Beauty Adds Bit Of Salt

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Sugar and spice and everything nice-that's what most Miss America contestants are made of.

There's a bit of salt in this year's Miss Vermont, who has made a few pronouncements not usually heard in the honeyed world of beauty queens.

"I can't believe I'm here. I can't believe it," said the New Englander, Kathy Hebert, at Monday's registration. "This is not the real me. If I were to be my real self, I'd be here in hot socks, jeans, T-shirt, no bra and with my hair hanging loose and natural."

Miss Hebert, a hazel-eyed ash blonde who was dressed in a floral print long gown says she believes in astrology "and my sign says I'm schizophrenic."

She entered the competition solely for scholarship money to help finance her study in fashion designing at Pratt Institute in Brooklyn, N.Y., she said.

"I'm anti-Nixon; 'I've demonstrated against the war: I supported Jane Fonda, and believe in premarital sex,'" she said without pause.

Miss Hebert, a guitarist-folk singer, thinks she has a good shot at winning the talent category of the pageant but not the swimsuit competition. She measures 36-25-38 and weighs 135.

That's 25 pounds less than she weighed last year.

"I weighed 170 pounds in 1971 when I first entered the Miss Vermont pageant and blew the whole thing because of my weight," she said.

Miss America 1973 will be chosen Saturday, following several days of competition and rehearsals.

Crowning the winner will be Laurie Lee Shaefer, Miss America 1972.

Bobby Has Money

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — "Bobby has a check for his prize," says an aide to Bobby Fischer, the new world chess champion. "He'll probably cash it and spend it all. But he'll need a wheelbarrow to take it away in."

Fischer's entourage left Reykjavik Monday, leaving behind the American chess genius and his $78,125 in prize money from the Icelandic Chess Federation.

Fischer and Boris Spassky, the Russian champion Fischer defeated, are also splitting $122,500 in prize money put up by [illegible] Slater.

Fischer's share from Slater is $76,562.50, making his total purse $154,687.50. Spassky's loser's purse came to $82,812.50 counting the $45,937.50 he will get from Slater.

Fischer plans to stay in Reykjavik for at least a week. Spassky plans to return to Moscow on Thursday.

Houston Cabby Is Slain

HOUSTON (AP) — A park patrolman found the body of a slain taxi driver in the trunk of his cab early today, police reported.

They said the cabby, Alonzo B. Anderson, 68, had been shot and his vehicle abandoned in Hermann Park.

Anderson, a driver for Yellow Cab, had been reported missing early Monday. Officers said robbery apparently was the motive for the slaying.

Raza Unida Observer Stabbed To Death

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A former Colorado legislator who was "observing" the first Raza Unida party national convention here was stabbed to death Monday across the Mexican border in Juarez, police reported.

He was Frank R. Anaya, 32, and he served one term in the Colorado House of Representatives in 1964 after being elected at the minimum age of 25.

Anaya also was a former staff member at the University of Colorado.

He was the second Colorado member of Raza Unida to meet violent death near or en route to the first national assembly of the Mexican American party. Last week, Ricardo Falcon of Boulder was shot to death in a dispute at a New Mexico gas station, prompting charges at the convention of mishandling the case by New Mexico authorities.

Anaya was stabbed 15 times in the chest and upper extremities, officials said, and was dead on arrival at Juarez General Hospital.

Covered with blood, he staggered into a cafe in what authorities called the red light district of Juarez early Monday and pleaded for help in English, according to U. S. consul Gerald McLaughlin. He died before telling anyone what happened, McLaughlin said.

Police said they took his photograph into nearby bars to determine why he was stabbed.

Robbery was discounted as a motive, officers said, since $60 was found in one of his pockets.

Rodolfo "Corky" Gonzales of Denver, heading the Colorado delegation at the party convention, said Anaya had registered for the meeting but had not participated in any of the delegation's caucuses.

"If he did not attend any of the sessions, he is just an observer and not an official delegate," Gonzales said.

Anaya served only one term in the Colorado Legislature, representing Denver District 7. He lost a primary battle in 1968 after being relegated to the second line of the ballot, largely through the efforts of Gonzales, with whom he feuded.

Anaya had urged Mexican-Americans to stay within the political party system and not follow Gonzalez, who broke with the Democratic party to organize the Crusade for Justice in Colorado and helped found La Raza Unida.

Since his legislative term, Anaya was involved in a number of activities and was with the Educational Opportunities program at the University of Colorado, working with the United Mexican-American Students.

Edith Sure Of Fair Trial

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Edith Irving said when formally being taken into custody: "I surrender because I hope and believe that I will be given a fair trial."

Mrs. Irving, who entered a Zurich jail Monday, is charged in connection with a $650,000 fraud stemming the Howard Hughes autobiography hoax of her writer-husband, Clifford Irving.

Authorities say that under the complex Swiss system the formal indictment on fraud, forgery and counterfeiting charges may not be drawn up until next year. They added, however, that the two months she served in the United States in connection with the case would be deducted from her sentence if convicted here.

Clifford Irving is serving a 2½-year term in the Lewisburg (Pa.) Federal Penitentiary for his part in the scheme.

George Pompidou Going To China

PARIS (AP) — President Georges Pompidou has announced that he will make an official trip to China at the invitation of the Peking government.

Speaking to French journalists at Elysee Palace, his official residence, Pompidou declined Monday to say specifically when he would make the trip. But he said it would be in the near future.

Texas Festival Opens Thursday

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The state's rich ethnic and cultural background goes on display this week at the first Texas Folklife Festival, an extravaganza of fun and food.

It took four years to organize the celebration, which opens Thursday afternoon at the University of Texas Institute of Texan Cultures on the grounds of HemisFair '68.

Visitors will be able to sample exotic food from 31 different concessions, or compete in watermelon seed spitting contests, or try their hand at arts and crafts.

For those who want to relax, they can sprawl on the grassy slopes of the Institute grounds for entertainment under the stars.

More than 1,000 Texans from 84 cities will cover the institute's 13½ acres for the four-day celebration to show how Texans of all origins have fun.

Twenty ethnic groups will participate, ranging from Chinese to Mexican-Americans. Samples of entertainment will be provided by 19 area festivals and annual events across the state, such as the Texas Jazz Festival of Corpus Christi, Port Arthur's Texas Champion Crawfish Races, and the Czech Polka Festival of Ennis.

Indian art will be produced by artists and craftsmen from the Alabama-Coushatta tribes at Livingston and the Tiguas of Ysleta at El Paso.

Continuous entertainment will be offered by more than 260 performers and about 280 dancers. Jazz groups and bagpipers will be among the many musicians.

The historic past will come alive with an Indian village, a frontier long house raising, a Texas Longhorn exhibit and a frontier toyland. Spicy Texas chili and "son-of-a-gun stew" will be served from chuck wagons.

Arts and crafts will range from Western to Chinese portraiture, from pioneer knife forging to intricate miniature furniture made of tin cans.

The festival will be open from 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. Thursday and Friday, and 1 p.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12.

A spot check indicated Monday that there are still plenty of reservations available at local lodging facilities.

Telethon Nets $9.2 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — The Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon for muscular dystrophy received pledges for more than $9.2 million during 20 hours on the air.

The telethon, which began at 10:30 p.m. Sunday, originated live on WNEW-TV in New York City and was aired nationally.

While dozens of celebrities performed inside a hotel for the benefit of Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, about two dozen demonstrators, some in wheelchairs, paraded outside, accusing the association of exploiting clients.

The demonstrators charged the association with failing to hire the disabled or allow them to sit on policy boards and with exploiting them in advertising.

Many of the protestors were former members of the Queens chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, which had its charter revoked last April for alleged violations of the association's bylaws.

A small burn, such as one caused by touching some hot object, may be treated by applying petroleum jelly, or a paste made of baking-soda and water, and bandaging with sterile gauze.

Newsday Breaks Tradition

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP) — Long Island's Newsday, the nation's largest suburban newspaper, announced today it is ceasing endorsements of presidential or other political candidates in order "to maintain our independence."

The newspaper, in an editorial by president and publisher William Attwood, expressed the hope that other newspapers would join Newsday "in breaking with an obsolete tradition and asserting its political independence right through election day."

Although it will not make a choice between President Nixon and Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., Newsday said, "We will take stands on the issues that emerge in this and future political campaigns and on the performance of the candidates."

Bargain Hunting Tourists Stranded

MOSCOW (AP) — Bargain-hunting foreign tourists have discovered that cheap tickets on the Soviet airline can mean cheap service and even imprisonment in a Moscow hotel when the line runs out of plane seats.

About 100 travelers from the United States, Britain, Japan, West Germany and other countries had that experience over the weekend.

U.S. and British consular officials who went to the airline hotel Monday were told that the Americans and British among those stranded had finally taken a flight to London.

There was no official Soviet statement on the situation.

The passengers had all bought tickets on Aeroflot, the Soviet government airline, and were supposed to change planes in Moscow. Since they were not stopping over in the Soviet capital, they had been issued no Soviet entry visas. But when they arrived in Moscow, they found that Aeroflot had sold too many tickets and no seats were available for them for several days on outgoing flights.

Soviet visas usually take weeks to get, so the stranded passengers were put under guard on the four top floors of the transit hotel run by Aeroflot. Some were kept there from Friday to Monday, or longer.

Entrances to the floors were locked, and Soviet officials made room checks. The foreigners were not allowed to make or receive telephone calls, but some finally managed to notify their embassies. They were taken to the hotel restaurant in shifts.

Aeroflot refused to put the travelers on foreign airlines with space available because the Soviet line would have had to reimburse the Western lines in hard currencies and paid the standard fares.

One stranded passenger said he paid only $475 for a $1,760 round trip ticket from New York to Tehran and return.

The answer is up to you

This year Texans can elect a governor we can all be proud of, Hank Grover. The alternative is Dolph Briscoe, the man whose fumbling, flip-flop performance at the Democratic National Convention has discredited him in the eyes of most Texans.

"Flip-Flop Dolph"

We remember how Briscoe said he would support Jackson, then switched and voted for Wallace. And then—even before the votes had been tallied — he turned around and voted for George McGovern, the pied piper of radicalism.

Bud Matthews of Dallas, the Wallace floor manager, summed it up neatly: "Briscoe's remarks amounted to the same old story ...do one thing and say another." Roy Orr bewailed the "loss of control of the National Party to radicals." And a Democratic state legislator described Briscoe's performance as "wishy-washy." One major Houston paper reported that the "outpouring of anger" at Briscoe's flip-flopping "was so strong that Briscoe turned red in the face, began sweating profusely, and managed only to sputter in protest."

The befuddled Briscoe blurted out the depressing truth: "It is obvious," he said, "we don't have a very strong voice here." Since he was the "leader" of the Texas delegation it was obvious—even pathetic. And reporters began joking about a new dance "The Briscoe—First you step on everybody's toes, and then you stick your foot in your mouth."

Hank Grover— A Fighter for Texas

Well, it's also pretty obvious that most Texans don't want this kind of man to be their next governor. The sad thing is that many don't even realize they have a choice. They do. His name is Hank Grover. He's young, lean, tough and honest. He's not in anybody's hip pocket. For the past 12 years (while Briscoe has been overseeing his million acres of ranchland and his banking interests) Hank Grover has been in the state legislature—fighting for the things Texas believes in. Fighting for a better deal for all Texans.

Hank Grover is a fourth generation Texan—one of his ancestors fought at the Battle of San Jacinto. He loves this State and its people. He is dedicated to the goal of restoring it to greatness. He has fought for honesty in state government. He voted against considering the Sharpstown banking legislation. He has fought against racially inspired busing schemes. He has fought against higher taxes and battled with the big spenders. He has consistently led the fight in the State Senate against increased welfare spending.

We need your help—now

Hank Grover will be one of the greatest governors in the history of this great state. There's only one hitch. Not enough Texans know about him. But we can change all that if we can raise the money to get him on television. If Hank Grover can get his message across, he'll win.

We ask those of you who know him to help him right now. More than 40,000 Texans voted for him in the run-off. If each of you believes in him enough to send us $5 immediately, we can start getting Hank Grover on tv in the next few days. Is that too much to pay for good government?

It won't be easy

There are people who sneer that the voters of this state will vote for the Democratic candidate no matter who he is. We can wipe off that sneer. We can prove them wrong.

It won't be easy. But when have Texans ever been put off because the going was rough? Governor Grover?—Yes! Texas can do it!

Please clip the coupon below and enclose with check or money order.

Yes! I want to help Hank Grover get his message across to my fellow-Texans. I enclose my maximum contribution of...

EXPERIENCED DEALER—Bill Bowlin, owner and operator of Bill's Tire and Auto, 2403 Twenty-fifth Street, is shown here balancing a tire on a customer's car. Bill has over 25 years experience in the tire business and recently took over the dealership for Firestone, Nationwide and Hercules tires as well as B.F. Goodrich. For quality tires at reasonable prices just dial 573-9027 or visit Bill in his shop at 2403 Twenty-fifth Street.

Bill's Tire And Auto Branches Out With 3 Additional Brands

Bill's Tire and Auto, 2403 Twenty-fifth Street, is branching out. Owned and operated by Bill Bowlin for the past seven years, the firm now handles Firestone, Nationwide and Hercules tires as well as B.F. Goodrich tires.

"I'm the dealer for all of these tires now," said Bill. He has over 25 years experience in the tire business.

Bill is particularly proud of his radial tires. There are three types of radial tires by B.F. Goodrich—the cushioned steel belted tire, the fabric tire, and the radial T-A tire.

B.F. Goodrich has the world's first radial tire with cushioned steel. It's the Lifesaver radial steel R-S from B.F. Goodrich. It's unique because it's a steel belted radial tire that has what no steel-belted radial has ever offered before—comfort. B.F. Goodrich's exclusive cushioned steel construction has a tough steel belt cushioned between double layers of Dynacon rayon cord. It has strength and durability yet is cushioned for a quiet, comfortable ride—a luxury ride never before possible on a steel-belted radial.

The fabric tire has a rayon body with a rayon cord belt. The radial T-A comes in the 60 series and it was developed for high-performance cars. It is the only street tire approved by the racing Association.

We'll be glad to give you a good deal on any of the tires that we carry," Bowlin said.

Bill's Tire and Auto honors Master Charge cards and Bank Americards. The firm has been in operation at its Twenty-fifth Street location for the past couple of years.

"We also do all types of repairs," Bill pointed out. The firm is open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. five days a week and from 8 a.m. until 1 p.m. on Saturdays. Three full-time employes are always on duty, and they will be glad to assist you any way they can.

The employes are just like Bill. They all take pride in their work. They make sure that radial tires are perfectly round and perfectly balanced before the customer leaves the store with them. Using a high-speed spin balance, Bill can balance the tire, wheel, hub and brake drum as a unit. Thus you can drive in and have your tires balanced without taking them off the car.

Bill also balances truck tires from the smallest size up to the size of 1100x22. If you have trouble with the balance of other type tires, Bill has an Amermac Truing machine to make a perfectly round tire and wheel assembly.

"That's what I call customizing the tire to the rim," Bill said.

ENDING POPULATION EXPLOSION—You can end the roach population explosion in your home easily with Johnston's No-Roach. A single female cockroach gives birth to an average of 14 youngsters per day. So, you know if you see one roach, one ant, one spider, there's bound to be a lot of relatives near by. No-Roach is effective against all crawling insects and it stays effective for months. Just brush it on cabinets, baseboards, door sills, window frames—wherever there is insect traffic, and then forget about bugs for months.
