Gunman Sought After McKinney Officer Is Fatally Shot

Young Bandit's Gun Blazes Out From Taxicab

Marion Taylor, Motorcycle Patrolman Is Victim; Taxi Had Been Commandeered

(By The Associated Press)

MCKINNEY, March 2. — Marion Taylor, McKinney motorcycle patrolman, was shot and killed here tonight by an unidentified gunman who fired at him from the rear of a taxicab.

The gunman escaped, but a large posse of officers, aided by bloodhounds, quickly gathered to hunt him down.

Taylor, about 32, spotted a Dallas taxicab in the southern part of McKinney and followed it through town.

Shot Three Times

He halted it on highway 75 north, and when he opened the door to question its occupants, he was shot three times through the heart.

The assailant jumped from the machine and ran across a field of plowed ground toward railroad tracks east of the highway. It was believed possible he was hiding in the bottoms of the Trinity river's east fork.

Taylor lived but a few minutes after he was received at a hospital.

Cab Was Commandeered

Henry Lee Jackson, driver for the Nichols Bros. Cab company of Dallas, said the gunman commandeered his car in Dallas, and, with a gun at the driver's back, ordered Jackson to drive north.

Dissatisfied with the cab's speed, he forced Jackson to halt and remove a governor from the engine.

Jackson said that when they reached McKinney, Taylor apparently noticed his signals and trailed the car.

Taylor managed to fire a shot before collapsing. A bullet hole was found in the right hand corner of

OFFICER KILLS MAN

SAN ANTONIO, March 2. (AP)—A man tentatively identified as Alfred Woodell of Denver, Colo., was killed today by a deputy sheriff who claimed he fired after Woodell knocked him down and then appeared to reach toward a hip pocket.

Deputy Sheriff Albert C. Stahl said that when he arrested Woodell, the latter knocked Stahl to one knee.

Kidnaped Youngster Writes 'Dad' Begging Him To Pay Ransom; Third Note Sent

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., March 2. — A note in the schoolboy handwriting of 12-year-old kidnaped Peter Levine, begging "dad" to pay out the $60,000 ransom demanded, turned up today as the father sadly continued his fruitless efforts to communicate with the abductors.

"Dear dad," he wrote, "please give these men the money. I have a bad cold. Peter."

This, the boy's first known communication with his father, was scrawled on the back of a third ransom letter, reported on good authority to have been found on a vacant lot adjoining the synagogue of Rabbi Abraham Nowak, and in its very restraint had a throat-catching quality.

Rabbi Nowak first declined to discuss this latest ransom demand, which instructed the father, Murray Levine, a Fifth Avenue New York Lawyer, to drop a package of bank notes of $10, $20, $50 and $100 denominations at the base of a

Search On In Snow-Covered Peaks Of California Section For Missing Airliner; Feared Down In Crash

(By The Associated Press)

FRESNO, Calif., March 2. — A rapidly growing rescue expedition, its leaders privately pessimistic, searched the snow-covered mountains east of here today for a big skyliner which became trapped in a fierce storm and vanished during the night with nine persons aboard.

Despite storm conditions and soggy terrain, at least four planes and a small army of foot searchers deployed over a wide area around Huntington and Shaver lakes, 35 miles northeast of here where the liner was believed to have crashed.

Mysterious radio voices picked up in Oakland and a report that the plane had been sighted under conditions indicating little injury to its occupants, heartened searchers for a time, but neither apparently had any connection with the missing ship.

The big plane, a Transcontinental and Western Air liner, left San Francisco last night for Albuquerque with six passengers and a crew of three.

Headed For Los Angeles

Because a storm was coming in from the south, the plane headed toward Los Angeles instead of Las Vegas, Nev., its regular course. It met the storm over the Tehachapi mountains, the natural dividing line between northern and southern California.

Pilot John D. Graves, receiving directions to hunt an emergency landing, turned back toward the north.

Apparently the plane hovered over the Fresno area for an hour or more and then began making widening circles as the storm crowded it gradually eastward, into the craggy peaks of the Sierra Nevada.

"Land Crash" Reported

Many persons reported sighting a plane, presumably the distressed ship, to the east of Fresno. A highway crew at Shaver lake reported hearing "a loud crash" and though it might be a clue to the plane's fate.

Aboard the luxurious $105,000, skyliner were passengers Tracy Dirlam and Mary Lou Dirlam, Stanford university students; Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Waits of San Francisco; Victor Krause of Lincoln, Nebr., and H. N. Salisbury, TWA pilot on leave.

The crew consisted of Graves, First Officer C. W. Wallace of Tucson, Ariz., and Stewardess Martha M. Wilson, of Philadelphia.

Heroes Of Texas Are Honored

(By The Associated Press)

OLD - WASHINGTON - ON - THE-BRAZOS, Tex., March 2.—At the old blacksmith shop where Texas pioneers severed the first link of the chain that bound them to Mexico 102 years ago, Texans met today to commemorate the act.

The governor of Texas, high church dignitaries and descendants of the signers of the document that proclaimed Texas free, extolled the 58 patriots who came here to the banks of the Brazos river and signed their names to the declaration of independence.

Thousands At Site

Thousands stood on the sloping hills of the site, now a state park, and heard Governor James V. Allred describe their achievement as the most far reaching step in the expansion of the United States.

The ceremony today was dedicated to General Sam Houston, first president of Texas, whom Governor Allred fondly termed "the man who came back."

A military field mass with the Rev. James F. O'Brien, C.S.C. of Austin, as celebrant, and Most Rev. Christopher E. Byrne, D. D. bishop of Galveston, delivering the sermon, was held during the morning. Band concerts by neighboring musicians and a 500-voiced choir of school children participated.

Allred Reviews History

Governor Allred reviewed the history of General Houston as a governor of Tennessee, congressman, commander in chief of the Texas army, president of the republic, governor of Texas and United States senator from the Lone Star state.

The 10,000 persons attending the ceremony today made up the second largest crowd in the history of the event. The largest was in 1936 when an estimated 40,000 came to honor the Texas heroes.

House Starts On Tax Bill Today

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 2.—House leaders, expecting stubborn resistance to any form of "gag rule," decided today to throw the tax revision bill open to amendments from the floor.

That will permit advocates of outright repeal of the undistributed profits and capital gains levies to put the house on record on those taxes.

The pending revision bill, sponsored by Democrats of the ways and means committee, calls merely for modification of the two taxes.

Debate Starts Today

Reporting the bill to the house, where debate will begin tomorrow, the committee Democrats said it ought to provide "a very substantial stimulation to business."

Opponents, chiefly Republicans, insisted it would continue repressive taxes on business and impose a new "penalty" levy—on large-income corporations controlled by a family or by from two to ten individuals.

Principle Of Tax "Sound"

The majority members of the ways and means committee, while admitting there were grounds for complaints against the undistributed profits tax, said there was exaggeration of hardships and that the principle of the tax was "sound."

Modification of the capital gains tax, they suggested, will benefit persons making long-term investments and encourage transactions prevented by the present tax system.

Pershing So Improved Officers Plan To Leave His Bedside

TUCSON, Ariz., March 2. (AP)—General John J. Pershing, who once boasted cavalry officers were so tough "the only way to get rid of one is to shoot him," showed so much improvement today his physicians talked of a protracted period of convalescence and return to "a reasonable state of health."

One of the doctors, Lt. Col. S. U. Marietta, who was ordered here by the war department February 22, announced plans to return by train tomorrow to his post at San Antonio.

Maj. Gen. Herbert J. Brees, commander of the Eighth Corps area, San Antonio, also made plans to leave.

Oklahoma's Pensions Dropped By Board

WASHINGTON, March 2. (AP) — The Social Security board dropped Oklahoma's old age pensioners from the federal payroll today, charging "flagrant misuse of public funds" in administration of the state's pension plan.

The board's decision followed reports from its investigators that Oklahoma pension checks had been issued to dead men and that an incomplete audit showed $685,000 had been paid out irregularly.

The federal government has paid half the pensions, and the state contributed the other half. The board said the state had enough money on hand to take over the whole load this month, at least.

As soon as the federal board is satisfied the state is complying with the Social Security act, the federal government will resume payments, it was announced.

Grand Champion Calf Sells For 36 Cents At Sweetwater Show

SWEETWATER, March 2. (AP)—The grand champion calf at the Nolan-Fisher County Boys' livestock show, property of Kenneth Lewis of Sweetwater, sold at auction here today to P. M. Ashley of Sweetwater for a price of 36 cents per pound.

The reserve champion, shown by T. L. Carter, jr., of Roby, was entered in the coming San Angelo show, and did not sell.

The grand champion lamb, owned by John Simpson, jr., of Sweetwater, brought eight cents a pound from S. S. Schultz of Sweetwater.

Planters Gin company of Roby paid thirty-six cents a pound for the grand champion hog, shown by Marion Hughey of Roby.

McCraw Flings Announcement At Committee

Attorney General Says All His Affairs Opened; Is Questioned For Two Hours By Holbrook

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 2. — Attorney General William McCraw flung his long-awaited announcement for governor today in the teeth of state senators who had been investigating him.

Appearing voluntarily before the senate's general investigating committee, he said in effect that all his business affairs, state and private, were open to their inspection, then utilized the occasion to make formal announcement for the governorship.

DALLAS MAN WARNS

AUSTIN, March 2. (AP)—Doran John Marcus Haesly of Dallas, candidate for governor, listened in today on the senate committee investigation and at the conclusion spoke a word of warning and advice.

"McCraw, Thompson and Allred will destroy each other," he said. "I wish they would desist and support me."

Questioned Two Hours

That was not the only surprise at the well-attended hearing. Instead of letting McCraw go after he had made his brief statement, T. J. Holbrook of Galveston, dean of the senate and head of the investigation, kept him there for two hours to answer a variety of questions.

The attorney general testified that Carl L. Estes, Longview publisher supporting him for governor, once paid the trade-in difference on a new automobile for him. Estes also put up the trade-in difference of $5,000 for an airplane which they own jointly, he said.

Is "Warm, Personal Friend"

The Longview man, he explained, is a "warm, personal friend."

"I own a plane jointly with Estes," McCraw said in answer to one of Holbrook's questions. "I got $3,500 for my old one and Carl paid the wifference, about $5,000 for the new one. We own and use it jointly."

Asked if he thought it "good public policy" to accept funds from friends, McCraw answered:

"I don't know anything wrong with it. Carl Estes has never directly or indirectly asked a favor of me, asked an appointment or attempted to influence an opinion."

Large Crowd Attracted

The large crowd attracted to the senate chamber by the prospective appearance of Mr. and Mrs. McCraw remained to listen to the sometimes sharp exchanges between the gubernatorial candidate and the veteran senator.

McCraw testified Tom C. Clark, his last law partner in private practice, paid him $10,000 as his share of the outstanding fees when they dissolved partnership but he had received no other moneys from Clark directly or indirectly.

Asked why he did not preserve complete records of the payments made by Clark in pursuance to their partnership dissolution agreement McCraw told Holbrook that "I was dealing with a boy I had known since childhood."

The committee made little if any headway in its attempts to look at records of the bank accounts of Clark and the former law firm of McCraw and Clark.

"I have no objection to your inspecting the law firm account," Mc-

Lamesa To Vote On School Bonds Today

LAMESA, March 2. (Special)—A steady increase in enrollment in Lamesa public schools this year has led to a ballot Thursday on an $83,000 bond issue for construction of a new primary and a general physical education building.

Supt. V. Z. Rogers noted that the enrollment had reached a new high with a total of 1,614 scholastics in all the schools. The high school has 535 students and the elementary grades 1,079.

The election was called by the Lamesa school district.

Tech Faculty And Students Plant 20,000 Trees, Shrubs

By TOM MILLER
Avalanche Staff Writer

APPROXIMATELY 1,000 Texas Technological college students and faculty members were in jovial mood as they joined hands Wednesday afternoon to plant an estimated 20,000 trees and 1,000 shrubs on the college campus.

Colorfully dressed co-eds took turns at picks and shovels alongside male students in digging holes for plants. The campus had been staked before planting activities began.

Freshmen "Jump The Gun"

Freshmen students, under direction of Richard Flowers, "jumped the gun" to start working 15 minutes before the scheduled time at 1:30 o'clock. Supplications to "Allah" accompanied planting of each tree by the first-year students.

Ceremonies were lacking, sole purpose of the Arbor day program being to cover the campus with trees, it was explained. Dr. Bradford Knapp attended opening work on horseback, but soon relinquished his horse. His physician had ordered him to return to bed, he said.

Coffee, Doughnuts Served

Trees were supplied crews by wagons, trucks and automobiles. A chuckwagon supplied workers with coffee and doughnuts during progress of the work. Coffee was brewed in open kettles.

Areas bordering the gymnasium on the north, agricultural barns on the west, and Nineteenth street and College avenue on the south and east were set in trees.

Windbreakers were planted around tennis courts, west of the engineering building, north of the men's dormitory, and along part of Nineteenth street.

Fifteen Varieties Planted

Trees planted included Russian Olive, Chinese elm, American elm, Russian mulberry, green ash, red bud, Carolina poplar, Arizona cypress, Siberian pea, honey locust, Spanish locust, alanhus, hackberry, apricot and jujube.

O. B. Howell, horticulture professor and general supervisor of the work was elated by response of students and faculty members in making the program a success. Response in numer of students participating was above expectations, he said.

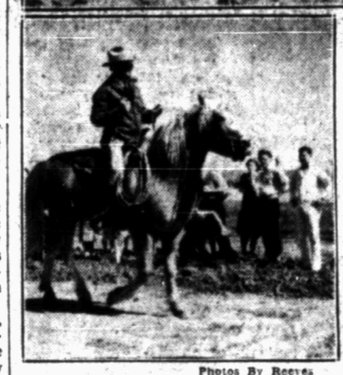

Other supervisors were W. T. Gaston, business manager; Ray L. Chappelle, head professor of agricultural education; and J. H. Grimsley, superintendent of buildings and grounds.

Seven Veterans On Tech Campus Are In Line For Pensions If Trees Were Eligible For Such; Lonely Sentinels As School Opened

By OPAL McMAHON
Avalanche Staff Writer

Seven veterans out on Texas Technological college campus would deserve pensions—if trees were eligible for pensions.

They were the only vegetation that reared above the prairie west of town when the college site was purchased. They and three other trees which since have died stood as lonely centinels while the first buildings went up, and when directors planned for and visualized campus beautification including thousands of other trees.

Number Increased To 25,000

The dream of those directors was realized to a large extent when approximately 20,000 trees and 1,000 shrubs were planted on the campus Wednesday, increasing the number to in the neighborhood of 25,000, with the exception of these in the nursery.

Much planting discussed in first years of the college was not completed because of lack of funds, and scarcity of Chinese elms. The college obtained all Chinese elms available in the country in 1926.

Dean Reviews History

Dean A. H. Leidigh, who has been dean of the agricultural division since the college opened, reviewed tree planting history.

When the college opened, directors asked Fritz Hensel, now head of the department of landscape architecture at Texas A. M. college, to draw landscaping plans. A tree planting project in 1926 conformed with Hensel's plans.

Approximately a dozen student employes were employed each day for about a month in planting less

Picture On Life Of Sam Houston To Be Filmed By Coast Studio

BRENHAM, March 2. (AP)—Governor James V. Allred said here tonight he had been informed the Republican Pictures corporation would produce a film dealing with the life of General Sam Houston, first president of the Republic of Texas.

"I understand representatives of the studio are now in Texas," Governor Allred said. "I have read the scenario and find it remarkably accurate. I'm glad they plan to make the picture for I know of no man whose life is more interesting or inspirational, than General Houston."

Lubbock Youngster Thinks His Dad May Be In Rush

(By The Associated Press)

ABILENE, March 2.—A potential Frank Buck was being taken back to Lubbock alive tonight.

He is John A. Robert, jr., 14-year-old high school freshman. Because of difficulties with his principal over a history notebook, he forsook his pursuit of an education this week, and he ded for Stephenville — "to hunt rabbits," he said. A rifle, disassembled, was carried under his sweater as he hitched rides.

This evening on the outskirts of Abilene he made the mistake of thumbing a polic car. By short wave radio Abilene officers notified Lubbock police of the capture. The latter relayed the message to John's father.

Night Sergeant Virgil Waldrop told the boy that he would have his name in a story in the morning edition of the Abilene Reporter-News. "If the highway patrol boys see my dad on his way down here, the paper will have a story on both of us," the quick-tongued lad replied.

Testimony at the trial was that the shooting followed an argument over a dog. Birchfield pleaded self defense.

Marine Fleet To Aid Navy Asked

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The navy's defense program calls for a merchant marine fleet of 40 fast passenger ships, it was learned today. At least 16 of them would be available at all times on the Pacific coast.

Captain Royal E. Ingersoll, chief of the naval war plans, said the navy would like to have the 16 ships ready for immediate conversion into hospital and troop ships in event of "an emergency."

In a letter to Representative Welch (R-Calif), Ingersoll said in order to insure availability of these ships on the Pacific coast at all times, there ought to be a total of 40 of them in the merchant service.

Welsh said Ingersoll had told him earlier there were not more than three or four ships of the desired type now operating on the West Coast.

Two Are Indicted For Forgery At Waco; Admit Getting $1,400

WACO, March 2. (AP)—The McLennan county grand jury today indicted Frank E. Garrett and Eddie Cooper on charges of forgery.

Garrett who had aliases of George Delaney and Ed. M. Durfee, was charged with forgery and passing and forgery and attempt at passing. Cooper was charged with forgery and passing.

Police Chief C. C. Maxey said Garrett had admitted forging of approximately $1,400 in 17 Texas and New Mexico towns.

Score Believed Drowned; Rains Swell Streams

Estimated Seven To Fifteen Are Dumped Into Swirling River As Bridge In City Collapses

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, March 2. — A score of persons were believed to have lost their lives today in the climax of a four-day storm that enveloped southern California and spread swirling flood waters over wide areas.

Six were known to be dead. Long Beach police estimated seven to fifteen were hurled

TWENTY-SIX COUNTED DEAD

LOS ANGELES, March 2. (AP)—Twenty-six reported dead, thousands homeless and southern California virtually isolated was the toll today of the heaviest rainstorm ever recorded in these parts. Ten thousand persons were evacuated.

Flood waters swirled through farmland areas of half a hundred communities from Ventura to San Juan Capistrano and from the Sierra Madre mountains to the sea.

the Pacific ocean shortly before darkness when a footbridge collapsed at the mouth of Los Angeles river.

Numerous Areas Inundated

Other drownings at scattered points were reported tonight as rushing torrents tore away bridges, swept down streets into homes and stores and inundated numerous populated sections.

Three of the estimated seven to fifteen persons who were plunged into the raging Los Angeles river from a 300-foot pedestrian bridge as they watched the swirling waters were rescued tonight.

Elderly Man Rescued

Admiral Claude Bloch told Long Beach police tonight an elderly man, whose name was not given, was rescued by a shore boat of the battleship Utah three miles at sea. He had grasped a timber from the collapsing bridge and was catapulted into the ocean by a river moving at the rate of 25,000 second feet.

In Seaside hospital at Long Beach were Lloyd Folkstead, 26, and William Munholland, 48, of Long Beach, suffering from exposure after they were picked up by naval shore boats.

Center Of Span Buckles

Eyewitnesses told varying stories of the number dropped into the river when the center of the bridge buckled and then dropped after pilings gave away.

Most of them agreed a woman and small boy and two or three enlisted men of the navy were among those who were engulfed when the bridge collapsed.

H. D. Mershon said there was a sharp warning crack and the crowd watching the river in its race to the sea rushed for the approaches. Then

TIMELY REPORTS

SOME times we run across a club reporter who can't undestand the importance of turning her story in to the society desk while it is still timely. The longer we stay in this interesting work the more we are convinced women don't carg about the timeliness of a report, just so it gets printed.

For an illustration we call your attention to the February issue of the Texas Federation News that arrived Wednesday and contains a story of a Christmas tree and program fostered by the Bear Creek Study club. It seems six months since the Yule season and it has been two months by the calendar. Somehow we weren't interested in reading of Santa at the beginning of Lent.

ONE MAN'S ANSWERS

A FEW weeks ago we ran a test for husbands and recent mail brought a clever answer from W. E. Robinson of Spur. While it is too long to copy in full we have selected certain parts that might appeal to masculine readers. From now on it's Mr. Robinson's statements:

"I don't flirt with the hatcheck girl when my wife's around.

"My wife is too keen to be stupid.

"I am mild-voiced, even when my wife broke my swagger stick a long time ago.

"Sometimes my wife holds my coat, account of my arthritis, notably around pay day. I am paid twice a month.

"One time I made a special trip to New Orleans and made enough on the races to dress the entire family up. I went to a leading department store and had an expert select two new imported silk patterns. My wife gave one to her sister and in about two weeks I met the colored wash lady wearing the other. I says, 'never again!' I've never bought my wife a rag she would wear to a dog fight.

"My wife doesn't smoke, too old-fashioned I suppose. She usually sits on the kitchen stool and talks while I eat.

"My wife has a very efficient system. I earn the check and turn it over to her and she has access to our joint checking account. I make more than she can spend.

"The black sheep are all in my family. I can get along with her mother better than I can with my wife.

"I would be worth more to my wife dead than alive. I carry double indemnity insurance.

"I have made myself hump—backed bringing my wife gifts which most generally she stows away in the attic and other places where I never see them again. Sometimes they were in the nature of peace offerings but I try to remember between times, but to save my soul I can't remember her birthday.

"My wife is the best pal I have ever had and we have been together 19 years come next June. I suppose we both deserve credit in a way for standing each other that long. If she should see this in print probably I can square myself. Discretion is said to be the best part of valor, but in a rare instance such as this I figure an old boy ought to take a chance, even if he does lose."

Thank you for answering the questionnaire Mr. Robinson. Judging from your list we'd say you rate rather high as a devoted husband.

MIND YOUR MANNERS

TEST your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. At what hour does a hostess usually invite guests for lunch?

Do women usually keep their hats on while guests at a luncheon?

3. Is a formal dinner ever given before 7 o'clock?

4. When cigarettes are on the dinner table, should they be in open-top containers?

5. Is it correct to serve sugar with after-dinner coffee?

What would you do if—

You have an unexpected house guest who arrives at dinner time when you are expecting to have only a "snack" for the family that night?—

(a) Take him to a restaurant for dinner?

(b) Explain briefly and include him in the "snack"?

(c) Apologize for the delay and attempt to prepare a dinner?

Answers

1. One or one-thirty.

2. Yes, except in a small group of intimate friends.

3. Not unless guests are going to the theater or some place afterward.

4. Yes.

5. Yes.

Best "What Would You Do" solution—(b) or (a).

Two receptions honoring three distinguished guests in the city and a dinner celebrating the eighth anniversary of the founding of D. F. D. social club were of interest to several hundred members of college groups and town folk Wednesday night.

Immediately following the Tech Artists Course's presentation of Harold Bauer, pianist, in concert at Lubbock High school was a reception honoring Mr. Bauer in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Mills, 2627 Twenty-second street. Guests were received by the hosts, honor guests and members of the Artists Course committee.

In McMillan Home

Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Thompson Seton of Santa Fe, N. M., were honored at a reception given by Ko Shari club from 8:30 until 10 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McMillan, 2121 Thirteenth street.

Dr. and Mrs. Seton, who will present a program at Tech convocation this morning, entertained members of Ko Shari club at their home in Santa Fe last year.

Guests were received by Mrs. McMillan, a patroness of the club, the Setons, Dr. W. C. Holden and Misses Dorothy Rylander, Lorene Childers and Doris Jobe.

Special guests were Dr. and Mrs. Bradford Knapp, Mrs. Mary W. Doak, Miss Margaret W. Weeks, Miss Martye Poindexter. Messrs. and Mesdames J. M. Gordon, J. G. Allen, O. V. Adams, Cecil Horne, W. L. Stangel, C. V. Bullen, W. P. Clement and W. T. Gaston. The guest list included members of the convocation committe, all faculty members, patronesses of the club and their husbands.

Misses Queenelle Sawyer and Dorothy Walker presided at the refreshment table. Other members of the club and pledges assisted in the house party.

Birthday Observed

D.F.D. club, the youngest women's social organization on the Tech campus, celebrated its brithday with a 6 o'clock dinner at the Hilton hotel.

Miss Linda Treadwell, president, was toastmistress. Mrs. Garland Davis, charter member, spoke on organization and history of the club.

During the dinner hour, the club trio, composed of Misses Virginia Knapp, Merle Haynes, and Ina Bacon, sang. The pledge trio, Misses Lenora Shaffer, Maxine Wheatley and Elizabeth Stallings sang songs composed by D.F.D. pledges.

The special guest list included Mrs. Lonnie Langston, and the following alumnae: Mesdames Wilburn Morris, Dayle Vannoy, Lloyd Zellner, Ray Farmer, Kenneth Rollo, Benton Teal, Harold Humphries, Lester Jones, Bowlden Johnson, and Misses Molly Davis, Janet Barnett, Josephine Powell and Geraldine Wicker.

Two P-TA Units Will Meet At Schools For Programs

Two parent-teacher association units will have meetings this afternoon. The K. Carter P.-T. A. will meet at 3:15 o'clock at the school for a musical program, Founders' Day observance and program by pupils of Misses Pearl Jackson, Nell Montague and Lena Belle Brown.

Central Ward P.-T. A. will meet at 3:10 o'clock at the school for a Founders' Day program conducted by Mrs. H. P. Godeke.

Candlelight Ritual Is Held By Junior YWCA Society

New members were initiated into the Girl Reserves, a junior Y. W. C. A. organization, in a candlelight service at Seaman hall Tuesday night. During the ritual, the candidates were seaed in a triangle while other members were heated along the sides of the room.

The hall was decorated with fern and sweet peas.

Soft music during the ceremony was played on the piano by Virginia Belle Gamble. At the close, the entire group sang "Following the Gleam." Advisory members were honor guests.

One hundred six persons attended.

For "Raw" Throat
Gargle With The Antiseptic That Wins Standard Laboratory Tests by 9.3 to 1

The minute your throat feels dry and raw, gargle with the antiseptic that kills cold germs fast! Use Zonite. It's 9.3 times more active—by standard laboratory tests—than any other popular, non-poisonous antiseptic.

Zonite gives relief in 3 ways: (1) kills all kinds of cold germs—at contact! (2) soothes dry, raw throat! (3) increases normal flow of natural, healthful fluids!

Start now—gargle with Zonite as directed. You'll feel relief after the first gargle!

Women Graduates Elect Officers

The Tech Council of Women Graduates, meeting Tuesday night in the college home economics building, elected the following officers:

Miss Magdalen Dederick, chairman; Mrs. Yancey Price, vice-chairman; Miss Lois Mangum, recording secretary; Mrs. T. A. Rogers, corresponding secretary; Miss Elaine Goodwin, treasurer; and Miss Eleanor Jungman, reporter.

Miss Vivian Johnson, head of the home economics education department, spoke on cooperation of the council with the college.

Next meeting of the council will be the second Tuesday in April. Robert I. Lockard, assistant professor of architecture and allied arts, will give a talk on art.

New officers will be installed in May.

Secret Of Cake Success Is Told Becton Club Women

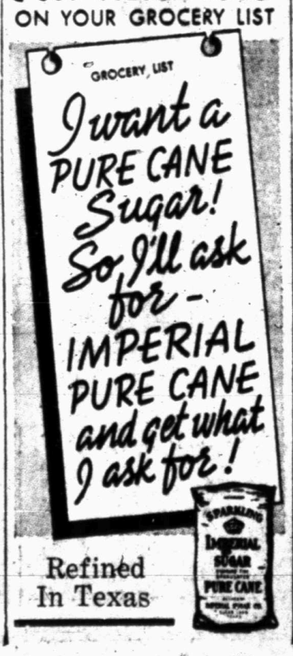

"The secret of success in making angel cake is in the mixing," Miss Clara Pratt, Lubbock county home demonstration agent, told Becton club women Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Ray Ferguson.

"If half the sugar is sifted with the flour, it is easier to add to beaten eggs," the agent said. "The sugar and flour should be folded with long, parallel strokes in order that air cells may not be broken," she explained.

The club voted to accept the county home demonstration council's budget and contributed $7.50 toward raising the needed money.

Mesdames T. T. Teal and J. W. Grace were received as members and Miss Verna Mae Shelley was a guest. Others attending were Mesdames Harmon Handley, Joe Becton, John King, John Joiner, E. L. Tarver, J. O. Day, jr., Aaron DuBose, B. B. Foreman, F. H. Bolen, Ernest Shelley, Ernest Shelley, jr., W. M. Bolton, W. H. Nelson, Joe Pool, B. B. Powell, G. R. Sell, Lon Lincecum and Dewey Ervin.

CHEST COLDS

Relieve Their Misery This Proved Way

WHEN there's a cold to treat—especially if it's a chest cold—that's no time to experiment. Relieve the misery with the treatment that has been doubly proved for you.

Here's What To Do: It's best to stay in bed and get lots of rest. Eat lightly, drink plenty of water, and keep elimination regular. And use your dependable Vicks VapoRub without delay.

VapoRub has been proved by everyday use in more homes than any other medication of its kind—further proved by the largest clinical tests ever made on colds. (Full details in every VapoRub package.) Only Vicks give you proof like this.

VapoRub is direct external treatment. No "dosing"—no stomach upsets. Just massage it on throat, chest, and back. Then—to make its long-continued double action last even longer—spread a thick layer on the chest and cover with a warmed cloth.

No Long Waiting for Relief to Begin...

Almost before you finish rubbing, you begin to feel warm and comfortable as VapoRub goes to work direct through the skin like a poultice. At the same time its medicated vapors, released by the warmth of the body, are carried direct to the irritated air-passages with every breath.

This double action loosens phlegm—relieves irritation and coughing—helps break local congestion. And long after restful sleep comes, VapoRub keeps on working.

'Fiendish' Perpetrator Of Amarillo Bombing Sought; Officers Advance Theory

Sales Of Nitro Being Checked

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, March 2. — Officers worked on a theory today that a minor disagreement caused the planting of a bomb which exploded yesterday, killing Louis A. Keck, 52-year-old Amarillo automobile dealer.

The investigation shifted to Borger, where officers went without announcing details. Earlier they had re-examined wreckage of Keck's blast-torn car, and questioned residents of the fashionable neighborhood where the early morning explosion occurred.

Dies Without Making Statement

Keck, with flesh blown from his face, chest and legs, and his lungs injured, died last night without making a statement. The explosion occurred as he stepped on the starter of his automobile.

Officers theorized that Keck had an enemy who placed the bomb in the engine of the car or hired a thug to plant it. They considered a rumor an unidentified man was seen near the Keck garage on the foggy night preceding the blast.

Sales of nitroglycerin were checked carefully. Tex Thornton, explosives expert, said he believed the bomb was made of that explosive.

To Delay Grand Judy

A grand jury investigation probably will be delayed until more information on the case is uncovered, District Attorney Bob Underwood said today as the jury reconvened.

Late today the automobile dealers of Amarillo pooled $275 to be added to the reward, raising the total to $1,275 in rewards now offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible. Gov. James V. Allred yesterday posted $500 and a similar amount was put up by the Amarillo Globe-News.

No Clues Announced

Sheriff Bill Adams, a personal friend of Keck, said officers had no clues that could be announced, but said, "this fiendish person will be tracked down."

Adams said Keck recently obtained a permit to carry a pistol after threats on his life.

Arrangements for funeral services were held up pending arrival of relatives from Erie, Pa.

The following officers were elected at an organization meeting of a young adult class of the First Methodist church Tuesday night in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Jack M. Lewis, 1310 Avenue N:

President, Ed Hambright; vice-president, Mrs. Charles C. Watson; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Albert Symes.

Mrs. Paul Laverty will teach the class for awhile.

After the election, games were played and refreshments were served by Mrs. Lewis to Messrs. and Mesdames Elmer Haas, Symes, Noble Champlin, Laverty, Mesdames Martha Morgan, M. T. Hill, Hambright, Watson, Misses Sylvia Ainsworth, Mary Wilson and Virginia McLean.

New Sinclair Lewis Book Is Reviewed At Literary Meet

"Prodigal Parents," Sinclair Lewis' latest book, was reviewed by Mrs. R. S. Rodgers at a meeting of the Tuesday Night Readers' group in the home of Mrs. T. R. Prideaux, 3133 Nineteenth street, Tuesday night. Dr. Bessie League was co-hostess with Mrs. Prideaux.

'Agreement' In Elections Bared

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, March 2.—Testimony that James Pendergast had provided money to pay Republicans in "an agreement" to countenance a "big pad"—padded Democratic registration rolls—was written into Kansas City's eleventh vote fraud trial records today.

The federal court jury also heard that a Democratic worker said the T. J. (Boss) Pendergast Democratic organization had contributed to G.O.P. campaign funds in return for acceptance of "ghost votes."

First Time In Records

It was the first time a Pendergast's name had been written into the records at any of the fraud trials.

The testimony came from Mrs. Elva O'Byrne, Republican committee-woman, who pleaded guilty to vote fraud conspiracy and became a government witness. Eight other Republicans and Democrats are on trial.

Mrs. O'Byrne testified that at a conference with Democratic workers she and Lester L. Aulgur, Republican committeeman, received $100 each not to challenge "padded Democratic registration." She said Aulgur told Mrs. Frances S. Ryan, Democratic committeewoman "we (Republicans) needed some money to pay our workers for their dinners. . . .

Wards To Get Money

"And Matt Devoe spoke up and said each ward was to get $500 Republican campaign money for their ward that day" from the Democratic organization.

Devoe is a Pendergast party worker in the twelfth ward. Has not been charged. Mrs. Ryan is a co-defendant in this trial. Aulgur is charged separately.

Mrs. O'Byrne said the meeting was in the office of Mrs. Ryan, superintendent of the Jackson county parental school and known as Kansas City's only woman "ward boss."

The witness said Mrs. Ryan told her and Aulgur "I had a hard time getting this money ($200); I had to make two trips to see Jimmy Pendergast."

James Pendergast, T. J.'s nephew, directed the Pendergast organization through the 1936 elections, when his uncle was critically ill in New York.

Mrs. O'Byrne, mother of three girls between 12 and 20 years old and wife of a packing company employe, further testified:

"Mrs. Ryan said to me that Jimmy Pendergast had told them to give the Republicans 2,500 votes in the twelfth ward and we had given them only between 1,300 and 1,400. She said he said he didn't like it but that she could tell by his actions he was more than pleased."

Mrs. O'Byrne told the jury Mrs. Ryan also paid her and Aulgur $20 each for replacing Republican judges objectionable to the Democrats with other Republicans "who would not do too much investigating of the pads" (padded Democratic) registration rolls."

Continuation Of Active Building In March Is Indicated In City

Indications Wednesday were that March would see a continuation of the steady progress in building which has characterized January and February.

Four building permits were issued by City Building Inspector Jim Reid authorizing construction and repairs estimated to cost $3,500.

The two-day total for March climbed to $15,166.32. The aggregate for the week was boosted to $33,248.82 and for the year to $316,278.07.

Bids To Be Given On Colony Tour

Invitations to approximately 75 Lubbock persons to attend a barbecue at and a tour of the Ropesville Community project at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon will be distributed today, according to information from headquarters of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

The invitations bear the signature of R. C. Hopping, president of the chamber.

"To Inform Citizens"

The Friday meeting is "to inform citizens of this section of the progress that has been made in a two-year period since founding of the project."

The tour will begin at 4:30 o'clock and will be completed by 6:30 when the barbecue will be served. A brief program will start at 7:30 o'clock that night.

Embraces 16,000 Acres

The Ropesville community farms project embraces 16,000 acres and when the present development work is completed will furnish homes for 80 tenant farmers, said James P. Williams, manager.

"West Texas is justly proud of the progress that has been made on the project" he said. "We believe the people of the state should know something of the manner in which it is handled. They should also be acquainted with some of the things which are planned for the future."

The program will be the "Firs' Annual Ropesville Project Field Day and Barbecue."

A program of noted speakers has been arranged.

New Orleans Is Spent City On Wednesday As Mardi Gras Ends

NEW ORLEANS, March 2. (AP) — New Orleans was a spent city today.

Many of its half-million inhabitants and a generous number of visitors awoke with sharp headaches and dim memories of what may be jotted down as the grandest Mardi Gras since a band of gay young blades inaugurated the custom a century ago.

The peal of St. Louis cathedral's huge bells at midnight ended one of the greatest mass flings a city ever indulged in and opened the lenten season.

FOR A CHEMICAL WAR... chemical weapons is theory developed by Chemical Warfare service which recently demonstrated war implements in Maryland. Above, soldiers load Livens projectors preparatory to laying down smoke screen for maneuvers. Projectors are discharged by electricity.

SO EXCLUSIVE IS CLUB to which "polo widows" of 10-goal polo players belong that Mrs. Cecil Smith (left) and Mrs. Stewart Iglehart, whose husbands play with Old Westbury, are almost whole club. There are only three players of 10-goal caliber in nation. Tommy Hitchcock is in this class.

NEIGHBORLY VISIT to Sonora and the Arizona border will be paid soon by Pres. Lazaro Cardenas of Mexico whose six-point program for the Yaqui Indians includes irrigation projects, schools, loans, health supervision.

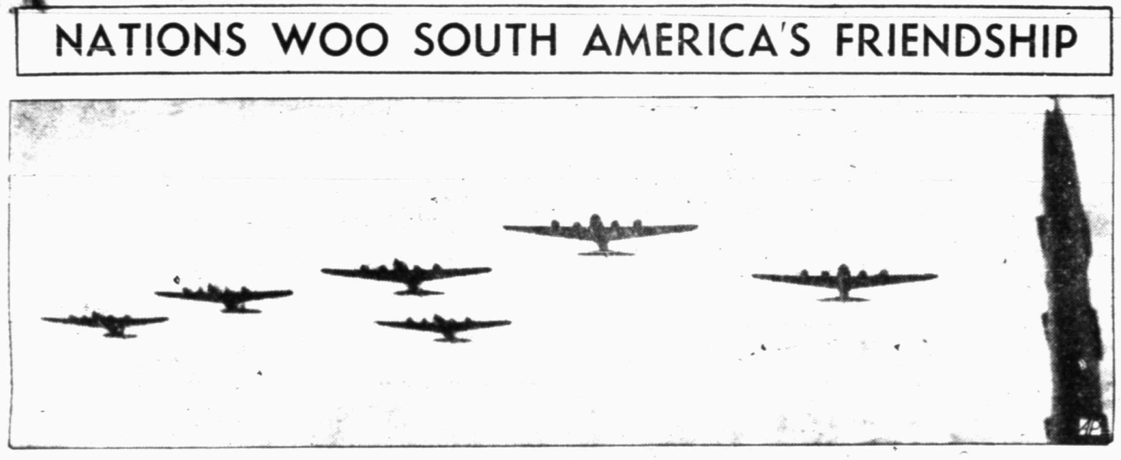

FRIEND TO DOGS AS WELL AS MAN is "Pal," a police dog in Memphis, who adopted a litter of pointer pups when the mother died. The pups were three days old when orphaned.

NATIONS WOO SOUTH AMERICA'S FRIENDSHIP

THE MONROE DOCTRINE OF 1823 IS GOOD ENOUGH FOR 1938 decides the U. S., increasingly conscious of European influences developing in South America through radio, propaganda, trans-oceanic plane trips. As a recent "good will" gesture, the U. S. dispatched six "flying fortresses" like these to inauguration of Argentina president, Roberto Ortiz.

TO BOOM TRAVEL AND TRADE between U. S. and South America three Panama-Pacific liners—the Pennsylvania (above), Virginia and California, recently on California to New York route—are slated for service to east coast ports of South America under ownership of U. S. Maritime commission.

MORE THAN BROTHERLY LOVE is believed back of recent trans-Atlantic flight of three Italian planes landed at Rio de Janeiro by Bruno Mussolini, son of Italy's Il Duce. Soon after arrival, Bruno (right) autographed a greeting to the more than a million Italian residents in Brazil.

HIGH AND MIGHTY wail of tiny Chinese mite—one of the thousands of refugees being cared for at Hangchow, China—reassured Eugene A. Turner of Atlanta, Ga., who is a Y.M.C.A. worker in the war area. American relief workers and money are supporting a number of refugees.

NEW BROOM SWEEPS CLEAN has slightly different meaning in Nanking, China, where Chinese civilians have been conscripted into street-sweeping gangs. Cleanliness of the city was among steps enforced when Japanese soldiers took over Nanking and put conquered Chinese under military rule.

ROME HAILED coup by Getulio Vargas setting up dictatorship in Brazil. He later said his rule meant "neither Communism nor Fascism."

COLONIZATION WAS BANNED by Monroe doctrine, but 115 years ago radio as a step toward colonization was unknown. Advocate of friendship through air, as well as by land and sea, is Secretary of State Cordell Hull seen with Former Panama president, Arias.

HIS FAITH in Democracy as a political principle was affirmed by Roberto Ortiz at his inauguration as president of the Argentine republic.

AMBITION to be a trainer took 13-year-old Marjorie Nichols of San Antonio, Tex., into man's field. She's an "exercise boy" at Santa Anita.

THEY'VE 'BEEN WORKING ON THE RAILROAD,' and these Japanese soldiers busy repairing Shanghai-Nanking railroad line along which troop shipment is heaviest seem to be enjoying their job. The movement of soldiers recently drew comment from China's Generalissimo, Chiang Kai-shek, who said that "although Japan has mobilized more than a million soldiers . . . her influence is confined to a few cities, her troops dare not go beyond communication lines."

ppeal Is To Be aken By Smith

ppeal will be taken from a special mission's evaluation of damages rge E. Smith will suffer through demnation by the city of land he s near where Texas avenue will extended to join Avenue H, he d.

xas avenue will be opened from dead end at Twenty-sixth street near thirtieth street.

Work Is Progressing

n the meantime, the city will be bled to proceed with construction the street.

he commission, composed of er Q. Pierce, jr., Glen Hess and Garrison, informed Durwood radley, city attorney, and Ben ra, counsel for Smith, it had ated Smith's loss in having art of his property divided by Texas right-of-way at $200.

Had Asked $2,500

hat represented the price the had proposed to pay. Smith asked $2,500.

mith said he would appeal to nty court, where he may pre- his case before a jury if he cts. Successive appeal procedure uld be to the court of civil ap- als for the seventh district, at arillo, and thence to the state preme court.

Smith, representing through wit- ses at a public hearing before e commission Saturday that he uld financially lose heavily even ough $2,500 were paid him by e city for the right-of-way, had reed to pay the city $2,500 if it uld not separate his implement any building at 2608 Avenue from a repair shop on the back gular section of his lot.

Expenses Would Mount

e said the city's action would e him to unload freight cars quipment on the small trian- section of his lot, where his ng dock lies, then load such ment on trucks so as to trans- it across the highway to his rehouse, at an estimated expense $10 a car.

"The fact we unloaded approx- ately 80 cars last year and will ndle at least 100 this year, hav- handled about 35 so far this will present at a glance how ch I will lose," he said.

"Then there are other points. I ll have to stand a heavy assess- nt for paving of a road that es nothing but damage me; I ll not have room enough to place ysical equipment where I need to carry on my business; I had anned to extend my main build- g, but I don't have room enough w; crossing the highway from loading dock to the ware- use will result in my having to ve heavy and long machine units oss a highway designed to carry traffic, which would mean me slowness and liability of sion.

Not Trying To Dig City

I am not trying to dig the city; I were I would not have offer- to pay the city $2,500 rather accept that amount for the perty.

The crux of the situation is ev- body on Texas avenue will be nefitted by the street, because sing property evaluations, ex- pt for me. I just happen to be on spot where I will suffer tremen- us damage that will increase arly, in case my South Plains stribution business over a 75 or -mile radius increases."

Smith said he would advise Ku- a, "to proceed at once with ap- al action."

Nineteen NYA youths at Black- nd experiment station near Tem- recently constructed nearly 200 of concrete walk and steps.

Spring Concert Tour Is Mapped By Band

D. O. Wiley, Texas Technological college band director, yesterday announced a partial list of towns which the band will visit on its fourth annual tour to begin March 14.

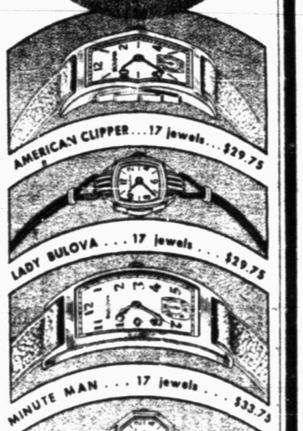

The band will present concerts in the following towns under auspices of the high schools: Tulia, Hereford, Amarillo, Panhandle, Pampa, Borger, Stinnett, McLean, and Spur. It also will play at West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon.

Three required 1938 contest numbers for Texas bands and one selective contest number have been recorded by the H. N. White company branch office at Abilene and are to be available to directors. The Tech band played for the recording Sunday. The numbers are Beatrice and Benedict (Berloiz), Class A required number; Morning Prayer (Tschaikowsky) Class D required number; Narrator (Buchtel), Junior High required number; and Wanderer's Call (Guentzel), Class B selective number.

Cardinal "If" Club Mobilizes Three Dozen Potential Stars

Medwick, Mize Only Certain Job Holders

(By The Associated Press)

ST PETERSBURG, Fla., March 2—Only two positions seemed secure as the St Louis Cardinals went through their baptismal workout of 1938 today.

Left field, Joe Medwick's baillwick, is one. First base, Johnny Mize's berth, is the other.

No major league club has so many "ifs" as the Cardinals. No club is trying so many men "out of position." There's outfielder Don Padgett back of the plate, Outfielder Teddy Moore at third, Third Baseman Don Gutteridge at short and Shortstop Jimmy Brown at second. Mike Ryba—the one-man ball team—never knows where he's going to wind up.

How About Diz?

Still opening day may find Brown or Stu Martin at second; Jimmy Webb at Short, Joe Stripp, Gutteridge, Arthur Garibaldi or somebody else in right and Mickey Owen catching.

Besides all that, there's Dizzy Dean. How's his sore arm? Paul Dean? Is he through or just starting again? If Dizzy fails to open against the Pirates April 19, Bob Weiland probably will receive the call.

For all this laboratory work the Cards have mobilized more than three dozen players including 13 pitchers, four catchers 10 infielders and 10 outfielders.

RAIN HALTS CUBS

AVALON, Calif., March 2. (AP)—Manager Charles Grimm fretted here today as rain kept his Chicago Cubs from practice for the third time in the seven days they have been in camp.

Grimm has been stressing improved fielding of his pitchers and has launched a campaign for another starting hurler. He regards Al Epperly, rangy 19 years old right hander from Moline, Ill., in the Three Eye League as a possibility despite the youngster's brief experience. Epperly has played professional baseball only two years.

BEE PITCHERS AT BAT

ERADENTON, Fla., March 2. (AP)—Manager Casey Stengel introduced something new to the Boston Bees training routine today when he capitulated to the repeated clamorings of the pitching staff and allowed the hurlers to indulge in an orgy of batting.

The moundsmen teed off throughout the morning session.

ROWE MAY "CUT LOOSE"

MIAMI, Fla., March 2. (AP)—Linwood L. (Schoolboy) Rowe, lanky pitcher for the Detroit Tigers, paid a pop-call on an osteopath here today and was told to cut loose with his hurling arm.

Dr. Cecil Ferguson said he had not expected a visit from the big moundsman but made a routine check of the arm in which ligaments were torn early last season. It was in good condition, he stated.

ATHLETICS PITCHER ARRIVES

LAKE CHARLES, La., March 2. (AP)—Harry Keller, one of the Athletics' star pitchers, breezed into camp today.

Mack added seven more exhibition games to the A's spring card. The game with Beaumont of the Texas League and Toledo of the American Association give the Athletics a 43-game spring schedule.

CASTLEMAN MUST REPORT

BATON ROUGE, La., March 2.—Manager Bill Terry laid down the law to his missing right-hand pitcher, Clyde Castleman, for the last time today as the New York Giants went through a four-hour drill.

Terry advised Castleman that he had better report to the spring training camp immediately.

Castleman, at his home in Donelson, Tenn., recently informed Terry he wanted to train there by his own methods. He has been convalescing from an operation.

NO GEHRIG YET

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 2. (AP)—Lou Gehrig's father and mother watched the New York Yankees work out today, but they didn't know when the world champions' iron-man first baseman was coming south to join his teammates in spring practice.

John Revolta Sets Pace In Florida

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 2. (AP)—Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., turned in a card of 35-34—69 to lead the field in the opening round of the annual St. Petersburg Open Golf tournament today.

Revolta is one stroke ahead of Harry Cooper of Chicopee, Mass., defending champion; Ben Hogan, Fort Worth, and Harold (Jug) McSpadden of Wichester, Mass., who are tied for second place with cards of 70.

MARTIN TO PILOT PORKERS

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., March 2. (AP)—The University of Arkansas basketball team next year will be captained by Nell Martin of Texarkana, a junior who plays forward.

Teammates elected him last night at a banquet given the squad by Coach Glen Rose. They named Leslie Hagood, Fort Worth, sub-captain. Hagood plays center.

New Fields In Sport . . .

By GARDNER SOULE
Sports Editor, AP Feature Service

LOCALES	CREATORS	NEW SPORTS
CORAL GABLES, FLA.	GIRLS IN BATHING SUITS	"Crolf"—golf with croquet wickets around each hole; ball must go through wicket to hole in.
PINEHURST, N. C.	YOUNG BOYS AND GIRLS	A sack race—you ride horseback down the field; climb into a sack, hop back leading your mount.
CORAL GABLES, FLA.	FEMININE "SWIMMING STARS"	A relay race—you swim pools length in a nightgown; next swimmer then puts on the wet nightgown, etc.
DETROIT	C. MACGILLIVRAY, LAWRENCE SCHOOL	Four-man basketball, to aid small schools, open up the game, encourage team work.
VIENNA	DALTHER MARSEILLE, PSYCHOLOGIST	Five-suit bridge, to produce more slams, add surprises. New suit is called "leaf."
LOS ANGELES	CY BREEN	Loop tennis—played with sticks and wooden rings. Object is to catch rings on sticks.
WINCHESTER, MASS.	BEGINNING GIRL SKIERS	"Skiing"—by sitting down on waiters' trays.
LONDON	PROMOTERS OF GREYHOUND RACES	Cheetah racing—the jungle cats run 55 m.p.h., lose the greyhounds.

A Little Guy Named Sande Is Out To Beat Favored Pompoon, Etc., In Santa Anita

LOS ANGELES, March 2. (AP)—Far be it from anyone's mind to spread confusion, but Pompoon, Seabiscuit and Aneroid are not the only horses billed to run in the $100,000 race classic at Santa Anita Saturday.

A little guy named Earl Sande has a pair of likely looking candidates in Sceneshifter and Stagehand, and has them trained with the very idea of knocking over such big shots as the trio named above.

Stagehand upset a select gathering of favorites in the recent $50,000 Santa Anita derby—Tiger and Sir Ralegth, for instance—and Sceneshifter is rated an even better chance of belittling the older stake horses, if Stagehand doesn't.

He's Out To Win

Major Austin C. Taylor, wealthy Canadian sportsman, has Whichcee in at a mere 110 pounds, and he didn't sign Harry Richards to ride him just because he thought a crack jockey would look well in the Taylor silks.

Nor did Richards take Whichcee simply as a whim. He chose Rosemont last year and Rosy did right well for him in the $100,000 battle—by winning.

Taylor has Indian Broom, too, and many believe the Broom has another great race left in him; as good or better than the third he ran in the big race last year.

Tech Boxing Enters Finals Tonight

Four kayos in six settos—that's the story of Wednesday night's independent loop eliminations in Texas Tech's intramural fight test.

Finals in both independent and social loops will be held tonight at Texas Tech gym. Inter-circuit money fights tentatively are carded for Saturday night, March 12 according to Lewis "Doc" Spears, intramural director.

Pete Nachlinger, Golden Glove lightweight, took a technical kayo over John Berger, Main Street team, in the first frame to advance to the final. Nachlinger is fighting under North Plains colors. Jess L. Beene, welterweigh' fighting for Los Ratos, kayoed Roy Armstrong, Main Street, in the first round.

In the middleweight class, Henry Meredith, North Plains, defeated Wade Davis, Main Street, when referee Milton Coffey stopped the scrap at the end of the second stanza. Clifton Babb, Dorm Fish, fighting in the same class, dropped for the full count in the second round before the slashing attack of Brad Gilbert, Los Ratos boxer.

Wayne Pharr, North Plains lightheavy, made it unconditional victory for his team by taking that squad's fourth win of the evening when he decisioned J. H. Singleton, Los Ratos. Frank Green, Main Street, concluded the prelim card by outpointing Ox Wilson, Los Ratos, in the only heavyweight bout staged.

Jane Cothran Jameson Beats Patty Berg In Florida Go

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 2. (AP)—Mrs. Jane Cothran Jameson of West Palm Beach halted Patty Berg's victorious march across Southern golf tournaments today when she eliminated the Minneapolis girl 2 and 1 in the first round of the Florida East Coast women's championship.

The red-haired Patty, top favorite and yesterday's medalist, was cut down by machine-like firing from Mrs. Jameson's clubs. Patty's own game went to pieces on the last nine.

Kathryn Hemphill, Columbia, S. C., defending champion, looked impressive in her 7 and 6 victory over Virginia Norton of Chicago.

Tomorrow Miss Hemphill meets Jean Bauer, Providence, R. I., who eliminated Mary Morrison of Hershey, Pa., 6 and 4.

Sampson In Mat Win

Dandy Dick applied his "Sampson special" twice last night, held it for a total of 7 minutes, 3 seconds, to win the main event of Sled Allen's wrestling show from noisy Bob Cummings in straight falls.

The second fall was over almost as soon as it started. Sampson had won the first after 42 minutes of more or less even-tempered grappling, although he had to hold his "special" leglock on Cummings for seven minutes before the latter gave it up. Bob's lower body resembled a pretzel, and it was several minutes before he cuold recover.

As the second fall started, Sampson applied a couple of brutal anchored body blocks, then fitted himself into the inverted stake hold, from which no local opponent has ever escaped, and it was over in less than a half minute.

Except for Cummings' vocal exercises and occasional handclapping by the fans, the first fall was quiet and modest. Sampson let Cummings take the lead most of the way, and fought defensively until toward the last, when he seemed to tire of it all and really go to work.

Clingman In Draw

Cummings' ability to "take it" is his best point in wrestling.

A bloody preliminary, opening the show, went to Gorilla Pogi, over Tex Hager of Oregon. It lasted 16 minutes, the Gorilla winning with a body brace after both had bled profusely from the face, results of rather rough play.

Otis Clingman, making his farewell appearance here before taking off for the northern part of the country, fiddled around with the grimacing Bill Venable for the full 30 minutes. Venable, who can put on all the facial expressions and do all the groaning and grunting known to the profession got rough a time or two, but Clingman's ire never was aroused to the boiling point.

Frenship And Meadow Cagers To End Season Friday Night

Frenship boys and girls will complete their basketball season Friday night at Meadow with the Meadow cage quints.

In games Tuesday night, the girls won 36 to 9 and the boys 30 to 27 from Cooper. To make it a complete sweep, Frenship faculty won over Cooper faculty, 31 to 11. The faculty members have not lost a start this year, having canned five wins.

Ritchie Remains Undefeated In Golden Gloves

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, March 2.—Babe Ritchie, Lubbock heavyweight, remained the only Texan tonight to survive the first three nights of firing in the Golden Gloves tournament. Ritchie, in his second fight of the night, outpointed Virgin Clark, Chicago negro.

Ritchie did the more effective hitting, although neither inflicted serious damage.

Carl Hilger, one of Texas' most promising amateurs, went out of the tournament tonight when he dropped his fourth-round contest by decision to Cornelius Young, Chicago middleweight.

Hilger had won his third round match by trimming Glen Potter of Bloomington, Ill., in three rounds.

Babe Ritchie, remained in the running by outpointing Emanuel Murray of St. Louis.

Art Dorrell, Texas welterweight, was eliminated in a close decision defeat at the hands of James Burke of South Bend, Ind.

Dorrell was at least even through most of the fight, but appeared to slow down in the last round.

The Lone Star state lost another chance for a title when Beanor Garland, of Burkburnett its lightheavyweight, was forced to default to Louis Jackson of Kansas City because of a hand injury suffered last night.

Garland was eager to fight, but a tournament physician refused to approve him.

Mal Elward Named Head Grid Coach At Purdue University

LAFAYETTE, Ind., March 2. (AP)—Mal Elward, into whose hands Purdue university's football fortunes fell last year after illness laid low head Coach Noble E. Kizer, today was appointed head coach of the Boilermakers.

The appointment was announced by President Edward C. Elliott, who said Kizer, now convalescing at Tucson, Ariz., had asked to be relieved as coach. Kizer will continue as athletic director.

Elward, a teammate of the late Knute Rockne at Notre Dame, is rated in coaching circles as one of the game's keenest technicians.

SABIN ADVANCES

NEW YORK, March 2. (AP)—Continuing his quest for the first board court "triple" in three years, Wayne Sabin of Hollywood, Calif., today stroked his way into the men's doubles quarter-finals and the mixed doubles semi-finals of the National indoor tennis championships.

New Type Of Worker Is Being Taken On WPA Rolls In City

Lubbock WPA office reported yesterday increase in persons who have never been on the rolls before, but who now are seeking work on governmen' projects.

This type of applicant is known as a "referral" in WPA regulations. The number of persons asking for work is greater now than in the previous history of the district office here.

Increase, it was explained, is due to the large number of tenant farmers who have been replaced by tractors or by consolidation of farms under one management. Having lost their location, and unable to secure another place, they move to town and then seek work through the WPA.

Little Work Offered

"Back in the old days," commented J. O. Jones, pioneer South Plains resident, "a farmer coming to town to live, could get some hauling to do, or some work of that kind. With the auto delivery, he does not have a chance to do any hauling. There is so little work in a town for him to do that he cannot find much."

Particularly in the larger wheat producing counties has the number of farmers and others seeking WPA work shown an increase.

On the other hand, the number of former WPA roll workers who left to enter private employment last fall and who are asking a place on the rolls, is less at this season than last year. This is credited to the fact that there is an increase in general activities at this season over a year ago.

Slaton Bows To Loyola At El Paso

EL PASO, March 2. (AP)—Loyola university won the championship of the Southwestern basketball tournament here tonight by defeating the strong Slaton Oilers 47-42 in a neck-and-neck contest.

Consolation honors were won by Stephen F. Austin, which tripped the New Mexico State Teachers, 64-37.

Slaton momentarily disgrunted the Loyola crew early in the title session with a Razzberry attack and circus antics, but the Los Angeles team plowed ahead to lead 20-17 at the half. Loyola was tied but twice in the rip-roaring second half.

Foxx Believes Bob Feller Will Go On To Heights

MIAMI, Fla., March 2. (AP)—Jimmie Foxx, Boston Red Sox slugger, said today he believed Bob Feller's wildness was an asset and he wouldn't be surprised if the young Cleveland pitcher won 25 games this year.

"I don't think he has the speed Walter Johnson had, or Lefty Grove," Foxx said, "but that fast ball of Feller's is alive. I' darts up there. That's why the kid is so good. You've got to be loose up there at the plate or he will knock your head off.

"He has a dandy curve ball too. The way he is now, with that jump on his fast one, his big curve and his wildness, he is tough."

Strangely, Jimmie believes control might handicap Feller.

"When Feller gets better control," he said, "he will not be so hard to hit. Hitters can stand in there if they know the pitcher's not going to be firing at their heads or feet. Of course Feller might be smart enough not to let us know he's got good control."

Foxx believes National League batting averages are going to fall off this year, especially those of hitters who don't depend on power. He recently spent some time in the laboratory, testing the new ball.

"It's just a bit slower," he said. "You can notice it most on the ground balls. I think it will be a big help to the infielders."

Anton Cage Tourney Begins Tonight; 8 Teams Listed

ANTON, March . (Special)—Competition gets underway at 7 o'clock Thursday night in the annual Anton invitation basketball tournament for independent teams, with games continuing each night until the championship is determined Saturday night.

Eight teams are listed in the race. Coach Paul Nixon of Anton High announced, with the Hub Clothiers of Lubbock considered one of the favorites, along with the Texas Tech freshmen.

In the first game tomorrow night, Whitharral meets Anton High; Littlefield CCC team plays Shallowater at 8 o'clock, the Tech freshmen meet Abernathy at 9 and Hub Clothiers clash with Meadow at 10.

Consolations and second round of play starts at 7 o'clock Friday evening. Final consolation game will be at 9 o'clock Saturday night, following the championship semi-finals. Final game is to start at 10.

Mrs. Thord Dockray Named Leader Of Texas Exes Here

An informal dinner was held by the University of Texas Ex-Students and Alumni association in the Lubbock hotel Wednesday night. Officers for next year were elected and several attendants made impromptu speeches.

Mrs. Thord Dockray wes elected president to succeed A. V. Weaver, jr., J. I. Kilpatrick was elected vice-president and Mrs. Richard L. Douglas secretary-treasurer.

Brief talks tracing the growth of the university from its opening in 1883 with 225 students to more than 10,000 students in the present year were delivered.

Plans are being made by some members of the organization to attend the annual Roundup at the university of the organization to attend the annual Roundup at the university April 8 and 9.

Southern Californians Are Humiliated; Rain Almost Spoils Snowy Skijump

LOS ANGELES, March 2. (AP)—Los Angeles' first ski-jumping contest over a man-made course was proclaimed a success in every way today—except for the weather.

Postponed once because of rain, the meet was held in Memorial Coliseum last night, with 20,000 spectators present.

There for a thrill, the throng got one with the first jump. Si Brand of the Mount Lassen, Calif., ski club, pitched over head first as he hit the lower slide, and was carried from the field on a stretcher, not seriously injured.

Soon after Birger Ruud, Norway Olympic games champion, made a winning leap of 15 feet, a dr[illegible] broke over the Coliseum and skiers in subsequent jumps [illegible] more for form than distance.

Extent Of Business Recession Has Increased Republican Hopes For Comeback

Coalition Move Is Dampened

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 2. — The extent to which the business recession has increased Republican hopes of making a substantial comeback this year and in 1940 was sharply emphasized at the Chicago meeting of the party program commission headed by Dr. Glenn Frank.

Despite Dr. Frank's admonition to his group that political strategy and maneuvering was the business of the regular campaign organizations, not of the commission, the notion of a coalition between Republicans and anti-New Deal Democrats got a mention at Chicago. But the non-office holding younger Republicans who make up the Frank committee of 217 rejected any idea of hyphenating the party label or otherwise departing from a strictly Republican platform and ticket.

Inspired By Demo Bolt

That was in accord with views of the great majority of Republican office holders in Washington. They have consistently cold-shouldered the coalition suggestions made by Senator Vandenberg of Michigan and others. Those suggestions were inspired very largely by the Democratic bolt from President Roosevelt's leadership during the court bill fight in the senate.

Since then the recession has developed. The Republican program group at Chicago appeared to nail the Republican label to its flagstaff for keeps when it put the recession and its causes first on its policy study agenda.

Realignment "Inevitable"

Dr. Frank expressed the view of the group as to coalition when he said that sooner or later "those who think alike about a political and economic basis upon which to proceed will have to act alike as well as think alike." He viewed a political realignment as "inevitable" but presumably what he had in mind was a realignment under old, not new, party labels.

The program commission may or may not have a major influence on the next national Republican platform. No time schedule for completion of its policy report to the national committee is laid down. That point was neatly side-stepped by national committee managers when the commission was authorized. Influential Republican office holders in Washington had opposed anything smacking of an off-year national convention to write a new party platform.

A partial report by the commission on the recession's causes and cures, stepping out in the midst of the campaigning this year, would have a different look to party office seekers. The sweeping "audit" of all new deal policies for which Dr. Frank has called could provide valuable campaign material for Republican stump speakers, although Dr. Frank indicated his commission's work would be completed without respect to the 1938 elections.

Ten More Firms Sign Up Total Of 112 Persons For Safety Class

Ten more firms had signed a total of 112 persons to attend a safety school sponsored by the Lubbock Safety council beginning Monday at Texas Technological college, said O. B. Conley, president, yesterday.

Signatures were secured at the Rotary club luncheon yesterday. Other clubs will be visited.

Firms and number of drivers included: Lydick Roofing Co., three; Lubbock City Bus Co., 14; Texas-New Mexico Utilities Co., 16; Harrold Griffith Furniture Co., one; Peoples Ice Co., 10; Weiss Motor Co., three; Guy L. McAfee, three; Kuykendall Chevrolet Co., 55; Ribble Floral Co., two; Grollman's, eight.

T. C. Root and Dr. Karl Ashburn, professors in economics and business administration at Texas Technological college, will speak to Simmons university students a Abilene March 18. One will speak at a general convocation and the other at a meeting of business administration students.

Roy Cozart, operator of City Gab company here, has acquired the City Cab company at San Angelo and will operate that concern in future, although maintaining headquarters in Lubbock, he announced Wednesday. Cozart was in the taxicab business in Wichita Falls and Big Spring 16 years before coming to Lubbock.

"The Mail Must Go Through" will be the subject discussed at tonight's meeting of a revival in progress at the Four Square Gospel church at 1606 Avenue Q, according to announcement Wednesday. Friday night's program, to be dedicated to young people, will be built on the subject of "Why Young People Are Not Christians." A musical program also will be presented that night. The Saturday night subject will be "Is It Scriptural to Pray for the Sick?"

H. Harbanga of Abernathy sold 42 cows Tuesday at Kansas City Mo. Averaging 958 pounds each, the animals brought $5.35 per hundred.

Largest month's business in the mixing and distribution of poisoned grain in the U. S. biological survey mixing plant here was reported for February by J. Edwin Barker, in charge of the office. During the month 64,000 pounds of poisoned grain was mixed and shipped out. Of the amount, 40,000 pounds was sent to seven or eight East Texas counties where pocket gopher control work is under way. Remainder was distributed in this section and over West Texas mostly, for prairie dog control. Ranchers, for the most part, sought control of damage by dogs in their pastures.

Newell Russell, 28, of Childress Wednesday was charged with theft of a suit of men's clothing valued at $20 from Montgomery Ward and Co., the complaint having been filed in the county court of Judge J. J. Dillard. The complaint was sworn to by Grady Harrist, deputy sheriff, and had been prepared by the county attorney's office. Arrest was by Jess Hardy of the police department early Wednesday.

By order of his physician, President Bradford Knapp of Texas Technological college went to bed for a rest late Wednesday. Nervous exhaustion apparently brought on the need for a rest, it was said at his home. He had filled many out-of-town speech engagements recently in addition to his work at the college and had not been feeling well several days. His condition was considered satisfactory and Mrs. Knapp expressed belief rest would serve as a remedy. Dr. Knapp took part in Arbor day activities only about 30 minutes Wednesday.

A man who had not been reported arrested at midnight was charged with forgery of an $8 check on a Lubbock bank and which bore the allegedly forged signature of R. C. Richardson. A. B. Ohlenbusch swore to the charge before Burton S. Burks, district attorney. The complaint was filed with Walter Davies, justice of peace.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Rorgers of 1319 Nineteenth street are parents of a son weighing 6 pounds 11 1-2 ounces born at 11:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at West Texas hospital.

A son weighing 6 pounds 6 ounces was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Tribble of White Deer at 12:48 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at West Texas hospital.

Thomas Gamblin of 512 Avenue Q Wednesday reported to police the theft of a bicycle with a Western Union tag on it. Late that night the vehicle had not been reported found, officers said.

Dr. Doyle D. Jackson of Texas Technological college is to speak tonight at a meeting of Dickens county teachers, school trustees and others in Dickens. Meeting will be in the school auditorium.

Weldon F. Johnson of Levelland, an attorney, was in Lubbock Wednesday in conjunction with court business.

Mrs. G. T. Woulard and daughter Mrs. R. A. Lamb are in Austin, where another daughter of Mrs. Woulard underwent surgery Monday. Lamb accompanied them. The Austin daughter is recovering normally, said Woulard.

Dewey Reed, manager of Amarillo field office of the social security board, will be at the chamber of commerce from 8:30 a. m. until today to interview those desiring information concerning the social security act or who may have claims in that connection, he advised the chamber of commerce late Wednesday.

A recording machine valued at $237 has been purchased by the speech department and Sock and Buskin club at Texas Technological college for use by speech students and in the defective speech clinic sponsored by the speech department. Students will have opportunity to study their voices in recording of speeches and parts of plays.

SAILOR IS DROWNED

HOUSTON, March 2. (AP) — Two sailors on the SS Olympic, a tanker berthed at the Shell refinery docks in Deer Park, fell from a gangplank leading to the ship early today, one of them drowning and the other being pulled from the water by a dock worker.

Axel Carlson, 38, of Fall River, Mass., drowned. His body was recovered. An inquest verdict of accidental death by drowning was returned.

Irvin Hadaway, the other sailor, who lives in New York, was able to grab a long wire, lowered to him as he struggled in the water.

Laws To Handicap Kidnapers

THE kidnaping of a New York child emphasizes once more that laws should be enacted or that something should be done which would make it impossible for the kidnaper to paralyze the law for even one second of time.

In the New York case, as in other kidnapings, officers stood aside for the moment so that the parents might negotiate for the release of their child. It is easy to understand why the parent should want that condition to prevail, because nothing means so much to them as the welfare of their boy. It is easy also to understand why the individual officer might delay in pressing the search because otherwise he naturally would feel that some of the blood was on his hands if harm came to the child.

But in these tragic cases, the sorrow stricken parents cannot be the judge. They would be unworthy of parenthood if their heart permitted them to think of anything other than their own child. They cannot be expected to consider, in their own grief, that acquiescence to their wishes may encourage other kidnapings.

It is terrifying to think that a "hard-boiled" attitude of insistence that the law be enforced might endanger one child. But brutal as the statement may seem, it is better that the one child should be endanggered than it would be to approve a course of action which might encourage the kidnaping of dozens of other children.

WHEN a kidnaper commits an atrocity of that kind, he does it with the expectation that consideration for the safety of the child will paralyze the search for him long enough to let him hide his trail. He relies, too, on that paralysis to enable him to collect his ransom and then to protect him in his flight until he reaches the place he deems to be one of security to himself.

The criminal should have no such protection. The hunt should start and continue in full cry from the moment the crime is discovered. It should be made as nearly impossible as law will permit for him to collect his ransom. The officer of the law should not be permitted to let his heart dictate against his better judgment.

That attitude might mean most heart-rending tragedy for one child for one family. But it would tend to protect unnumbered others from similar calamity.

It simply is one of those terrifyingly unfortunate cases when consideration of the few must be submerged to the welfare of the many.

The Civil Service Election

REGRETTABLE it is indeed that technicalities of the law may forbid the planned election here April 5 on a proposal to place city employes under civil service.

The city attorney says the legal time requirement between the issuance of call and the holding of such an election makes April 5 an impossible date for the poll so far as the law is concerned. Certainly he should know what he is talking about, and certainly the citizens will want the election, whenever it is held, to be valid.

The important point is that an election should be held with as little delay as necessary. Citizens should be given the opportunity to take the city payroll out of politics as quickly as possible.

While The Morning Avalanche, as its readers know, is impatient in its hopes for civil service, it believes citizens will be content to wait a little while longer if that will tend to insure that the job, when done, is done properly.

With Our Contemporaries

"You have heard of people getting sore because they got a raw deal from someone, but we are fussing because we did not get a raw deal," A. E. Richards explains in the Meadow Star. "If you go to a store and get a dozen of what are supposed to be fresh eggs, and then find that one of them is hard boiled, you know what we are talking about."

The One-Minute Sermon

A good name is better than precious ointment; and the day of death than the day of one's birth.

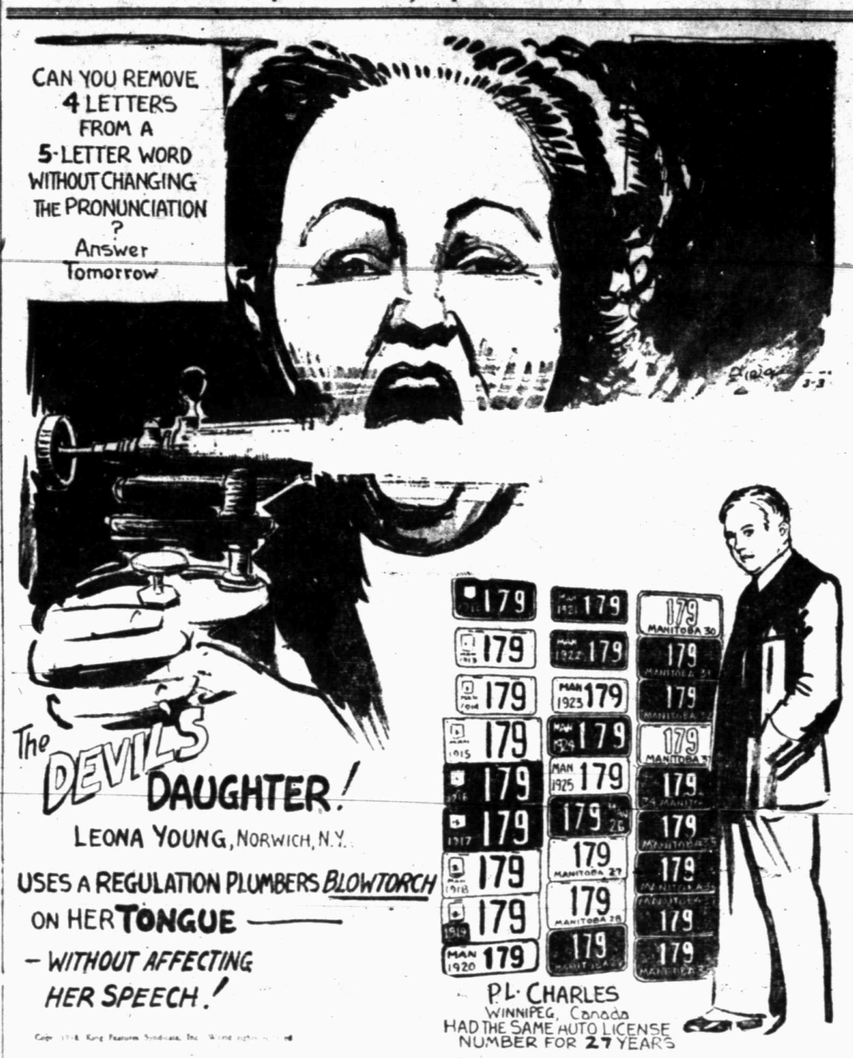

It is better to go to the house of mourning, that to go to the house of feasting; for that is the end of all men; and the living will lay it to his heart.

Sorrow is better than laughter: for by sadness of the countenance the heart is made better.

The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning; but the heart of fools is in the house of mirth.

It is better to hear the rebuke of wise, than for a man to hear the song of fools.—Ecclesiastes 7, 1 through 5.

Empire For A Lady

By Alan LeMay
C. By The Associated Press

SYNOPSIS: Carrying a gun-cargo for Rajah Mantusen, we encounter a Dyak revolt against the Malays on Sumantang island. Mantusen blames my uncle, James Clyde, and is holding him prisoner until I (Paul Thorne) can bring our fortified ship, the Linkang, up-river to aid the Malays. Christine Forrester, a young English girl, is behind the war, and supplying the Dyak guns. She refuses to call off her sharpshooters so I can rescue Clyde, and even worse, then Linkang cannot cross the bar. I must have her yawl, the Avon.

Chapter 19

Christine's Answer

"Then," I told Christine, "there's no hope for Clyde."

"We must make hope. You must go to Mantusen and find some way to persuade him to accept my terms. It's the only chance there is."

"There's one other," I said.

I told her now what I thought the other chance was—that although the Linkang could not be taken into the river, the Avon perhaps could.

I explained to her at long length just how I could kedge the Avon up the Siderong perhaps to that second turn which commanded the stockades.

"Give me my chance," I begged her. "I know the Dyak tribes could take me if they thought they could; but there's a possibility that they'll run from the sound of the heavy guns. There are still enough Malays left to carry the stockades, once I smash down some of the walls."

I went on with a lot more, talking hard, talking for my life. I fell silent at last because the girl said nothing, so that in the end I simply ran down.

The mass of orchids behind Christine was swaying a little, making plain how utterly motionless she sat. I noticed now the strange unsettling quality of her stillness. There was a long silence, and eventually it became unendurable.

"In the name of heaven, say something!"

She stood up then, and moved slowly to the rail, her rope-soled shoes perfectly silent on the deck. She stood looking across at the moon-silvered loom of Sumantang; and her profile was as quiet as if she had been looking at some sleeping flower garden in English shires.

"The ginger crop is heavy this year." Her voice was remote, as if she had been able to move herself miles away. "Whenever there's an off-shore wind you can smell those blossoms."

Part of me was deeply moved by that frail, valiant defiance of all the unknown fates hovering over Sumantang. But she had given me my answer, too.

"You mean, then, you'll do nothing at all to help Clyde?"

Her words were very quiet. "My father lifted these people into this revolt. He trained them, and encouraged them, and — loved them. Yet you want me to betray them, as completely and as treacherously as any people were ever betrayed."

The Final Word

I stood silent for a little while; then, in desperation, tried one thing more.

"The Linkang has a cargo," I said. "We don't have any of the usual trade goods; but we have guns—any number of guns. Suppose we offer the Linkang's cargo or arms in place of the Mantusen loot. You seem to know the Dyaks better than I do; but it looks to me as if we might be able to buy them off yet, with all those guns."

Her voice still had that toneless effect of great distance. "We have guns," she said. "We have all the guns we need."

I stared at her for a long time. "You speak a civilized language," I said at last. "And you look—well, it can't matter to you how you look to me. And yet you can speak of a mass of vermin-crawling head-hunters—and say 'we.'"

What stopped me then must have been the sight of her hands clenched upon the rail. There wasn't anything else in her posture to suggest tenseness. But even in that indirect light her knuckles shone very white. I could see the veins along the backs of her hands.

"There isn't any way we can talk to each other," I finished lamely.

"No," she said.

"It's final that you aren't going to do anything to help us."

"No," she answered me; I could hardly hear her words. "I think I know what I am going to do."

I waited, while for a moment she bit her lips.

"I'm going to send my brother to Mantusen in the morning," she said.

"With that first insane proposition?"

"Yes."

Preparation

I didn't argue; there wasn't anything more to say. I went back to my ship. But I knew now what I was going to do.

Her brother's fever would probably have cleared up enough by morning so that it would not save him from making the pull into the Siderong. I could have volunteered to go instead, with that message, like a fool.

Or I could have gone ahead and landed my guns, in an attempt to smash the Dyaks stockades from a hill position. But that would have amounted to the murder of my own crew.

I saw now only one other way.

At no time, did I have any confidence in my plan. I did not see then, and I do not see yet, how I could have accomplished anything except to get a lot of my people hurt.

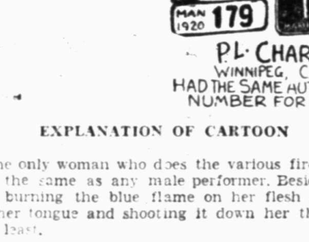

Blair was violently opposed to my goings on. I settled him by agreeing that he should stay with the Linkang, and that the whole activity should be mine, and mine alone.

Laborously, because of the advisibility of working without showing any light, I dismounted the long swivel the Linkang carried in the waist, the bow-gun, and two of the rocket guns. I lowered the longboat, and got the tube of the swivel into it, using our cargo sling. I tried adding two of the rocket tubes, but this was too much, and I had to take them out. I put them with the gun mountings on the cases of ammunition, ready to load promptly when we could get back to them.

High tide seemed probable for shortly after three in the morning. I decided to go into action two hours before that, in order to make ready for crossing the barrier of the Siderong delta.

I intended to capture the Avon!

Will Paul's plan work, tomorrow?

'Childhood Of Hiawatha' Will Be Dramatized By Dupre Unit

Dupre students will attend an assembly at which a musical dramatization of "Childhood of Hiawatha" will be presented at 11 o'clock this morning in Senior High school auditorium. The dramatization will be presented by pupils of Mrs. Vada Spence, assisted by six pupils of Miss Claudine Cook, under direction of Mrs. Spence.

An Indian poem is to be read by children from Miss Cook's room. They are: Norma Grace Reid, Dennis Patterson, Milton Butler, George Brewer, Charles Guy, jr., and Townsend Field.

Besides the musical dramatization a song and dance will be given on the program. Children from Mrs. Spence's room appearing on the program are: Brodie Adair, Oscar James Andrews, J. C. Baldree, Charles Box, William Christianson, Charles Davis, Jackie Davis, Wayne Diebel, John Eastwood, Alan Everest, Durwood Flanagan, Owen Hamilton, Leon Hill, Lynn Huckabay, James Hutton, J. T. Jones, Victor Lytle, Charles McGee, Cameron McKinnon, Dickie Pirtle, Charles Taylor, Lloyd Thompson, Pat Wallace, Leroy Waldrop, Bishop Wadsworth, Paul Williams, Tinker Williams, Clyde Wise, Sylva Bogart, Ruby Brewer, Ethel Hinsley, Wynette Ketchum, Dorothy Pollard, Reba Mae Rawls, Frances Selman, Bonnie Jean Stephens, and Dolores Webb.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

AN elaborate bulletin outlining methods for evading federal taxes and circulated by Herbert Hoover's university—Leland Stanford—provoked scorching denunciation by Treasruy experts at private hearings of the House Ways and Means committee. It was the second time within a week that Hooverites' attitude on this touchy subject drew administration fire.

The Stanford brochure was submitted to committeemen in photostatic form after a copy had fallen into official hands. The foreword explains the underlying idea: "It is not the purpose here to discuss the sentimental, social or educational reasons for making such gifts (to the university). It is rather a discussion of the effect upon the donor of such gifts in terms of taxes."

In text-book style the document sets forth tables showing mathematically how wealthy alumni can actually reduce payments of income or gift duties by contributing to the institution. It recommends especially that owners of stock which has increased in value escape the capital gains levy by making bequests in the shape of securities. More detailed information, the bulletin says, may be obtained from the university controller. Henry Morgenthau shudders lest other educators copy the idea.

EVIDENCE: Publication of tax committee proceedings some weeks hence will disclose that Messrs. Roosevelt and Morgenthau have not forgotten or forgiven the wealthy men they have inveighed against as robbing Uncle Sam. Official testimony was pitched in the same indignant tone that the Secretary used in his famous letter assailing these "immoralities."

The men appeared to have abandoned their campaign as a result of the unfavorable reaction on Capitol Hill and elsewhere, including F. D. R.'s own statement that he had once utilized these same devices to reduce taxes on a New York farm. Actually, however, Treasury statisticians were given the special assignment of digging up more damaging evidence against individuals and firms which set up foreign companies, incorporated their yachts and deducted high living outlays as business expenses.

Committee members confide that the indictments assumed more formidable proportions when quietly marshalled by Morgenthau experts than when tossed into newspaper headlines. For one thing, with Republicans barred from these private sessions, there was no rebuttal by the victims of the administration's attack.

EXTERIOR: Harold Ickes is a stubborn and intense fellow, but he never gets out of presidential bonds knowingly. Those who suggest that he angered Mr. Roosevelt or Secretary Hull with his radio bombardment of dictators don't know the inside story.

It was deliberately planned by the White House, and it had the full approval of the men in command of foreign affairs. Though it seemed to be in questionable diplomatic taste, inasmuch as Ickes sided with Eden after the latter had been forced out of the Chamberlain ministry, it was presumably Washington's method of informing Great Britain that the U. S. was deeply concerned over the shift in British alignments on the continent.

Deeper motives may have prompted the speech. It was entirely satisfactory to the British Broadcasting company, although that corporation usually cooperates closely with the home government on major problems. The only change suggested by their American representative was the paragraph explaining that Mr. Ickes was talking as a private citizen, not as a Roosevelt spokesman. Note: Now they're calling Harold "Secretary of the Exterior."

NEUTRAL: National Chairman Farley's absence from Washington during political powwows that may influence 1940 lineups piques the curiosity of party bigwigs. They suspect that "Jim" deliberately walked out in accord with his strategy of playing a "lone hand."

Evidence of his sideline attitude in dangerous squabbles is accumulating. He kept away from the tea and cocktail party which uncovered the McNutt candidacy at the capital, though he thoughtfully sent regrets. He was expected to be on hand, but failed to show up for the latest inflation of the Jackson boom—the Young New York Democrats' dinner. Smartest coup, perhaps, was his ostentatious neutrality in the Pennsylvania disputes involving Governor Earle, Senator Guffey, C. I. O.-er Lewis. He apparently wants no part of that mess.

The Postmaster-General's friends are beginning to believe he meant it when, before his sudden departure for Florida, he said: "I'm going to be just as neutral as I possibly can." He realizes that 1938 alliances and enmities will freeze the lines for the next presidential contest.

LIBERAL: Justice Stanley F. Reed recently furnished an insight into his social and economic philosophy that heartened New Dealers. In his first speech since ascending the Supreme court bench — barely noticed by the press — he reiterated the views President Roosevelt has expounded.

The newest jurist emphasized the need for "socialization" and "federalization" of the government, and the embodiment of these aims in law. He used a homely but startling simile to dramatize his point. "The food you have just eaten," he told his audience, "has crossed more state lines than the founding fathers ever dreamed of." It was almost a paraphrase of Mr. Roosevelt's famous horse-and-buggy lecture.

Mr. Reed's hearers carefully scanned the face of Justice Roberts during his colleague's address for some sign of his reaction. They may have imagined it, but the man who joined with the Chief Justice in swinging the majority to a liberal viewpoint seemed to approve. He applauded, anyway, and it was more than perfunctory handclapping.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

ONE important angle on the critical 1940 presidential campaign should be noted now. The powerful national Democratic organization heads up to James A. Farley — not to Franklin D. Roosevelt. The cleavage between the two is therefore of major importance.

Despite Mr. Roosevelt's continued popularity, he might have serious difficulty perpetuating his control of the Democratic party — especially through a handpicked "crown prince" — if "the machine" refused to back him up. There is reason to believe that he is aware of this weakness in his strategic position. Exceptionally informed New Yorkers report that the President has been quietly working on backstage plans to build up a rival political organization of his own to match the Farley setup. He is said to have counted on Harry Hopkins to head it, with many former Farley lieutenants under him, but Hopkins' ill health has knocked this idea into a cocked hat.

The situation is shaping towards a titanic tug-of-war inside the Democratic party. The Kentucky primary fight between Senator Alben Barkley and Governor "Happy" Chandler for the former's seat will be a significant test of backstage strength between the President and the man most responsible for his election in 1932.

PRESERVE: Railway labor unions are becoming privately alarmed about the acute financial difficulties of their employers. They realize that a crisis is approaching fast.

The plan to consolidate competing systems in order to save the railroads for private ownership—favored in influential government circles—doesn't appeal to them at all. They know too well what no government or railroad official has dared to admit publicly — that the resultant economies would be entirely at their expense. To ward this off, they are beginning to stir up a demand to have the government take the railroads over.

Their object is to preserve all existing jobs under government ownership, and they are not concerned about the probability that taxpayers would be saddled with a tremendous added burden. A New York critic caustically comments: "They want the railroads maintained as an extension of the W. P. A. on a union wage scale."

(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

"He proved a one-book man," says a critic. Well, aren't they all? The prolific ones just write the same book over with variations.

Side Glances---By George Clark

"Go ask my wife if she will please stop bidding and give someone else a chance to buy this junk."

The Plainsman Says:

That Girl on Broadway says a man's house is his wife's castle.

PERHAPS you are one of those who has begun the annual, nerve-wracking business of making out an income tax return.

If you're not, don't feel so chipper, because you'll probably be making one out a year from now, if plans of Senator Robert LaFollette and others go through. They hope to widen the bracket to catch a few additional millions of men in the income tax net and, with the government needing money like it does, their plans may be crowned with success.

While it is hard to pay an income tax, just be glad you are not in the class with 61 millionaires in the nation.

Those 61 will pay more income tax than 2,500,000 other American individuals who are now within the taxable earning brackets.

At least, there were 61 of 'em last year.

IT sounds unreasonable, Mr. Ripley, but never-the-less 'tis true that 61 men who earned more than a million smackers during 1936 paid, in 1937, a total of $77,138,000. Two and one-half millions of the rest of us paid $66,282,000 on our 1936 incomes.

Thus the much maligned rich guys, whether willingly or not, chipped in considerable dough to make the Washington mare go.

Here are some figures:

The 1937 income tax payments found those 61 guys who made more than a million apiece in 1936 paying 71 per cent of their net incomes, after deductions.

They found 2,500,000 of the rest of us paying 2.1 per cent to Uncle Sammy—also after deductions.

It doesn't sound possible, but it happened.

A LOT of readers will say that anybody who makes more than $1,000,000 in a year ought to have to pay 71 per cent of it to the government.

Maybe they're right. The Plainsman isn't arguing on that score.

But the fact remains that they did pay that much, hence their earning abilities are worth more to the nation than the puny earning abilities of those of us who were in the 2,500,000 taxpayer group.

Maybe, as the New Dealers would have you believe, it is iniquitous to be able to make a lot of money.

Maybe the oft-prattled of "forgotten man" represents all the sweetness and light in this fair land of ours and those who can—and do—shift for themselves to such an extent as to make money are boogey-men, devils in human form and altogether loathesome.

But those old meanies sure do come in handy around tax-paying time.

They sure do!

That Man on Avenue Q says the reason a large number of people dread death is because they're afraid there's no future to it.

THERE are two sides to every question and it is neither possible nor entirely desirable that all of us see any question in exactly the same light.

For these reasons there probably will be many a vote cast here on April 5 against institution of civil service for the great majority of municipal employes of Lubbock.

The Plainsman, however, makes bold to forecast that the great majority of our citizens who study, beforehand, the system of civil service and who have no axes to grind at City hall will vote in favor of the new measure approved in city commission meeting Monday night.

By institution of civil service, the citizens of this community will make sure that most municipal employment will be given on merit, rather than as political pie, and then that the jobs will be held on the merit basis, alone, instead of through a system of political favoritism.

HERE is a brief explanation of the way civil service works most places where it is used. Lubbock adopts the measure, the handling of it may not be exact this way, but will, in general, coincide.

Let's say there is a water department clerkship to be filled.

A public announcement of civil service examinations covering the position will be made, giving time, date, hour, place, etc.

At the appointed time and place the examination will be given all comers eligible to hold the position in question. Then examinations will be graded and results approved by the civil service commission. Under rules previously set down, the best fitted person as far as examination can reveal will get the job.

Let us suppose that John Blank won, by merit, the water department clerkship.

And let us further suppose that John was better in his examination than he turns out to be in his actual work.

After a trial period, upon petition of his superior and investigation by the sideline service commission, another examination may be called and the place refilled.

Such situations, however, are very rare where civil service is in effect. Usually the best man in the examination is the best man for the job, since the examination is written to apply to work to be done.

JUST because a man gets a job via civil service does not give him a life's lease on his position.

Periodically, all employes must stand examinations and investigation and if their records—as the individually write them—are not "up to snuff" they make way for some one who can — or will — do better.

Thus civil service does away with political pie in the form of jobs; does away with inefficiency in personnel and it permits the public's business to be carried on in semblance of the same efficiency that it applied to private business.

Also, the system eliminates the tearing up of a city's organization every time there is a change in administration majority.

Civil service may, of course, be nullified by a civil service commission made up of individuals who are "politically minded" and who will permit the principle to be violated in exchange for political favors.

Members of such a commission should be men who are not personally interested in politics; who have never been in public office or candidates for public office, and who are automatically taken from the commission if, at any time during their membership, they become active in a local campaign.

In other words, membership on a civil service commission should be a civic service, unpaid for and of the highest quality.

Then, under a commission of that kind, civil service will work—and it does work in many an American city.

THE PLAINSMAN has been suggesting civil service for Lubbock for several years.

He said less than two years ago that the present City commission was largely composed of men who could institute civil service if they wanted to.

This column is glad to see the matter called to a vote and salute the commission's membership which voted unanimously for the special election in the matter.

It doesn't make any personal difference to The Plainsman whether we have civil service in Lubbock, or not.

He's got a job; never expects to work for the city; has no kin-folk or friends who would be benefitted by civil service.

Knowledge of civil service in other communities convinces him that it's best for any city — and what's best for any city is none too good for Lubbock.

That's our position in the matter and if the majority should oppose civil service, it'll be no skin off our nose!

More Prizes To Be Given Here

Chamber of commerce officials released information yesterday, as copy is prepared for the catalogue to be printed for the South Plains Junior Fat Stock show here April 4, 5 and 6, that cash prizes to be awarded in the annual event will be increased.

Efforts will be made, it was added, to have the catalogues available for distribution late this week or early next. They will be sent to the county farm agents and vocational agriculture teachers in the 39 West Texas and Eastern New Mexico counties invited to participate in the event.

Fifteen Prizes Awarded

Typical of the increased value of the awards as shown in copy for the catalogue, are those in the baby beef division. In that division will be two classes, one for individual entries under 850 pounds and the other for those above that weight. This year, 15 prizes will be awarded in each of those divisions. Last year 10 were given. This year the individual awards will range from a first of $15 to seven low prizes of $5 each. Last year, the first prize was $12 and the low prize $4. This year the aggregate for each of the two beef divisions will be $112.50. Last year it was $71.

20 Per Cent Posted

Of the total, 20 per cent has been posted on behalf of the American Hereford association of Kansas City by J. Kinzer, secretary.

Increases also will be made in pig and lamb divisions although the exact distribution of those prizes has not announced.

Dr. L. Chappelle, head professor of agricultural education at Texas technological college, is superintendent of the beef division, Jason Hutton, county farm agent at Farwell is assistant superintendent, and Dr. Stangel, head professor of animal husbandry at Tech, will be judge.

State Committee Refuses To Grant Bridges A Hearing

WASHINGTON, March 2. (AP)—The senate commerce committee refused today to grant a hearing to Harry Bridges, West coast maritime labor leader, until the labor department has acted on deportation proceedings pending against him. He has been called communistic.

Feeling Best In Ten Years Since Gly-Cas

Even Wonderful Relief From Gas, Bloating; Kidneys, Bowels Regulated; Feels Like A Different Person

"Too much praise cannot be given any medicine with the merit of this one," Gly-Cas," said Miss Sadie Pacheco, 117 E. Pacific Ave., Albuquerque, New Mexico. "For the last years I had been made miserable with terrible gas pains after eating. My bowels would not function properly and my system filled with poisons. My kidneys were disordered and the pain I suffered in my back was most unbearable. I could not enjoy a good night's sleep, because of the frequent night risings, and I began to lose weight, had no pep or energy and my work about the house became an impossibility. Various medicines failed completely in my case and it was not until I began using Gly-Cas that I noticed any favorable results at all.

"Gly-Cas removed the poisons from my system almost at once," continued Miss Pacheco. "Soon I was eating the foods I had been denied for years, without any ill effects afterwards. My kidneys have become regulated, sleep good, and strength and energy has been restored. I have gained ten pounds in weight in just a short time and really feel better than I have in ten years—and to think—a single medicine, Gly-Cas, did this for me after all else had failed.

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by all the leading drug stores in surrounding towns. Adv.

TARZAN THE MAGNIFICENT No. 40 — By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Tarzan's plan was clear in his mind. He would kill Woora. It was only just that the brutal magician should die, in retribution for the many deaths he had caused. Besides, Tarzan judged that with Woora gone, he might persuade the Zuli to help him against Mafka.

From the window frame the mighty Jungle Lord tore one of the stout wooden bars. This was his only weapon for his daring adventure. He stepped to the window. The guardian leopard had quieted down. "He sleeps," the apeman said; then he threw a leg over the sill.

"You're not going down there!" Lord exclaimed. "Why not? It's the only avenue to Woora, and the leopard sleeps." "Yes, but he will not be asleep long." "I do not expect him to be. I only ask him to stay asleep until I am squarely on my feet below."

"It's suicide!" Lord pleaded. "Perhaps," Tarzan answered coolly; "but let's wait and see." He threw his other leg over the sill, then turned on his belly. Cautiously, silently, he slipped down until he hung from the sill by one hand. Lord watched fearfully.

NOTICE OF BANKRUPT'S PETITION FOR DISCHARGE
In the district court of the United States for the northern district of Texas. In the matter of Rudolph Matas Moorhead, bankrupt. No. 475 in bankruptcy. Office of Referee, Lubbock, Texas, March 2, 1938.
Notice is hereby given that Rudolph Matas Moorhead of the County of Terry and district aforesaid, did, on the 1st day of March, 1938 file in the Clerk's office of said Court, at Lubbock, a petition setting up that he has been heretofore duly adjudged a bankrupt under the act of Congress approved July 1, 1898; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the orders of the Court touching his bankruptcy, and praying for a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate in bankruptcy, save such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.
On considering the above mentioned petition, it is ordered that any creditor who has proved his claim, and other parties in interest, if they desire to oppose the discharge prayed for in said petition, shall, on or before the 2nd day of April, 1938, file with the Clerk of U. S. Court, for the Lubbock Divison of said district, a notice in writing of their opposition to a discharge in the above entitled cause.
W. D. GIRAND,
Reference in Bankruptcy.

SHERIFF'S SALE
The State of Texas; County of Lubbock.
Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain order of sale issued out of the Honorable 99th District Court of Lubbock county, on the 11th day of February, 1938, by U. Brown, Clerk of said 99th District Court for the sum of Six Hundred Eighty-one and 22-100 (681.22) Dollars and costs of suit, under a judgment, in favor of J. T. Krueger, J. T. Hutchinson, M. C. Overton and the Lubbock Sanitarium, a private corporation in a certain cause in said Court, No. 6978 and styled J. T. Krueger, J. T. Hutchinson, M. C. Overton and the Lubbock Sanitarium, a private corporation vs. W. R. Thompson, A. R. Thompson and R. W. Thompson, jointly and severally, placed in my hands for service, I, Tom Abel as Sheriff of Lubbock county, Texas, did, on the 2nd day of March, 1938, levy on certain real estate, situated in Lubbock county, Texas, described as follows, to-wit:
Lot No. Sixteen (16) of the Ora Vista Subdivision of Block No. Fifty-eight (58), of the Wheelock Second Addition to the town of Lubbock, Lubbock county, Texas, and levied upon as the property of W. R. Thompson, A. R. Thompson and R. W. Thompson and that on the first Tuesday in April, 1938, the same being the 5th day of said month, at the Court House door of Lubbock county, in the city of Lubbock, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., by virtue of said levy and said order of sale I will sell said above described real estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said W. R. Thompson, A. R. Thompson and R. W. Thompson.
And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, a newspaper published in Lubbock county.
Witness my hand, this 2nd day of March, 1938.
TOM ABEL,
Sheriff, Lubbock County, Texas.
By VERLIE SHEARER, Deputy.

STOCKS CARRIED DOWN
NEW YORK, March 2 (AP)—Light selling carried most stocks downstream today in a slow market.
Would-be buyers waited for news from Washington and tangible indications of a spring business upturn.
Transactions dropped to only 406,315 shares from 534,140 in the previous session.
Steel observers reported signs of seasonal improvement but actual figures revealed little change in the industrial production pace. A widening margin of loss compared with last year was shown in latest weekly power output.
All groups, including rails, were represented in the drift toward lower prices. The Associated Press composite price of 60 stocks was down .5 of a point at 45.3.

Harold Bauer Is Presented In Final Tech Artists Program

Harold Bauer, aptly described as one of the master pianists of the world, was presented in concert Wednesday night at Senior High school auditorium as the final number on the current Tech Artist course season.
Bauer was fortunate in selecting compositions familiar to his audience made up mainly of college students and faculty members with only a scattering of town folk.
A new experiment with the lights in the auditorium, putting the audience in twilight, proved beneficial both to listeners and performers.
The responsive audience rose as the pianist appeared for his first group and clamored enthusiastically for encores which he gave only after his final series.

Acadian girls, exiles in Louisiana from their native Nova Scotia, were frequently mothers of as many as 4 children by the time they reached the age of 20.

SHERIFF'S SALE
The State of Texas; County of Lubbock.
Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain order of sale issued out of the Honorable 99th District Court of Lubbock county, on the 11th day of February, 1938, by U. Brown, Clerk of said 99th District Court for the sum of Six Hundred Eighty-one and 22-100 (681.22) Dollars and costs of suit, under a judgment, in favor of J. T. Krueger, J. T. Hutchinson, M. C. Overton and the Lubbock Sanitarium, a private corporation in a certain cause in said Court, No. 6978 and styled J. T. Krueger, J. T. Hutchinson, M. C. Overton and the Lubbock Sanitarium, a private corporation vs. W. R. Thompson, A. R. Thompson and R. W. Thompson, jointly and severally, placed in my hands for service, I, Tom Abel as Sheriff of Lubbock county, Texas, did, on the 2nd day of March, 1938, levy on certain real estate, situated in Lubbock county, Texas, described as follows, to-wit:
Lot No. Sixteen (16) of the Ora Vista Subdivision of Block No. Fifty-eight (58), of the Wheelock Second Addition to the town of Lubbock, Lubbock county, Texas, and levied upon as the property of W. R. Thompson, A. R. Thompson and R. W. Thompson and that on the first Tuesday in April, 1938, the same being the 5th day of said month, at the Court House door of Lubbock county, in the city of Lubbock, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., by virtue of said levy and said order of sale I will sell said above described real estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said W. R. Thompson, A. R. Thompson and R. W. Thompson.
And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, a newspaper published in Lubbock county.
Witness my hand, this 2nd day of March, 1938.
TOM ABEL,
Sheriff, Lubbock County, Texas.
By VERLIE SHEARER, Deputy.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT
NEW ORLEANS, March 2. (AP)—Cotton prices rallied after opening lower here today and closed steady, net four points higher to one lower.
The initial decline of 10 points was on adjustment of this market with the New York exchange, which remained open yesterday, while New Orleans was closed for the Mardi Gras holiday.
Foreign markets were easier.
At the highs of the day active months were 75 cents a bale above the opening lows. The close was near the top with March at 9.27-bid to 9.28-asked, May at 9.32, July at 9.38, Oct. at 9.46, Dec. at 9.48 and Jan. at 9.49.

NEW YORK REPORT
NEW YORK, March 2. (AP)—Early rallies in cotton of about 75 cents to $1.00 a bale today were partly lost in the later trading under a little realizing. May, which had advanced from 9.07@9.27, closed at 9.18 with final prices 6 to 8 points net higher.
The market opened unchanged to 3 points lower. Prices displayed a steady undertone in quiet trading during the morning with local offerings rather easily absorbed. During the noon hour early sellers rebought but above 9¼ cents for May, selling was resumed. Scarcity of contracts was attributed to very limited southern and foreign offerings.

AVERAGE PRICE
NEW ORLEANS, March 2. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at seven Southern spot markets was 9.33 cents a pound, average for the past thirty market days 8.88 cents a pound.

than one-seventh of the number of trees planted Wednesday in one-half day.
Between 600 and 700 trees were purchased in Lubbock, and the college, Marvin Warlick, then superintendent of buildings and grounds, and the city Parent-Teacher association purchased 100 in Lubbock. The 100 were planted on the east side of College Avenue, south side of what is now Junior High school, and a few around Dupre school.

Avenue Planted In 1926

In the spring of 1926, trees were planted along on the campus along College avenue, Nineteenth street for about one-fourth mile, and north side of the campus, extending northward from the administration bordering two drives and from the dairy building to engineering building.
In the spring of 1928, C. D. McGehee, now city parks superintendent, was student supervisor of planting of trees in the Arboretum, an area extending from in front of the president's home to the Broadway entrance and in vicinity of buildings on the campus.
C. H. Mahoney, then horticulture professor, and now with Maryland Agricultural college, had a large part in beautification in opening years.
J. H. Grimsley, succeeded Warlick, now business manager of a hospital in Eugene, Ore., as superintendent of buildings and grounds in the summer of 1928.
Three American elms and four ash trees which were on the land purchased as the college site still remain, said Grimsley. Three cottonwoods have died. The ash trees are located near the small building near the campus entrance in which photography is taught and which once was a combination garage and servants' quarters. The elms are in front of the women's dormitory and once stood near a residence.

Grains . .

CHICAGO REPORT
CHICAGO, March 2. (AP)—Notwithstanding transient upturns due to some Kansas dust storm reports, Chicago wheat values ranged lower today and ended at fractional losses.
Most importing countries avoided purchasing wheat from the United States. The sole conspicuous exception was Mexico, which bought 370,000 bushels to be shipped all rail from Kansas City.
Domestic crop advices were in general auspicious, and forecasts pointed to likelihood of moisture throughout the greater part of the domestic grain belt. The Southwest in particular noted satisfactory moisture prospects.
At the close, Chicago wheat futures were ¾ to ¾ under yesterday's finish. May 93⅛@93¼, July 88⅛@88¼, corn unchanged to slightly higher, May 59⅜, July 60⅜@60⅝, oats unchanged to ¼ off, rye showing ¼ to ⅞ setback and provisions varying from 7 cents decline to an advance of 2 cents.

FORT WORTH REPORT
FORT WORTH, March 2. (AP)—Demand for grain was moderate here today. Estimated receipts: wheat 4 cars, corn 1, and sorghums 4.
Wheat, No. 1 soft red winter 1.09¾@1.10¾; No. 1 hard 1.11¼@1.12¼.
Barley No. 2 nom. 65½@67½.
Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo per 100 lbs. nom. 1.07@1.09; No. 2 white kaffir nom. 1.01@1.03.

Kidnaping Case

street light pole in New York City Bronx.
The note, written in capital letters on what seemed tohave been a cheap toy dial typewriter, was found Monday, and despite passage of two days since, nothing was known of any successful contact, past or prospective, between the father and the kidnapers.
It implied that the conspirators were angry at supposed police activity in the case—Levine had asked them to stand aside and they had agreed to do so—and said in effect:
"Now give us some sign that they (the authorities) are out of it before we deal with you further."
Levine, continuing his secluded watch in his $30,000 home here, was understood to be considering a third public appeal, by radio, to "those who may be holding my boy."
Again he expressed hope that the authorities would leave him with an entirely free hand to negotiate; again he denied there had been any substantial progress.
To date, two methods for payment of the ransom have been suggested. In a communication disclosed yesterday, the kidnapers were represented as having put forward a melodramatic scheme by which Levine emissaries were to make marks with green chalk upon a New York City elevated train pillar as a signal the family was ready to pay.

Herbert Aduddell, Jr., Hurt When Struck By Automobile

Herbert Aduddell, jr., 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Aduddell of 1105 Third street and a carrier boy for the Avalanche-Journal, suffered serious, possibly critical injuries when struck by an automobile in the 2700-block Avenue H about 7:45 o'clock Wednesday night.
The boy suffered a fractured right arm, fractured left leg, concussion, and a laceration of the right leg, attaches of the Lubbock sanitarium said. After the accident, the boy was rushed to the sanitarium by A. D. Falls of Acuff Tourist camp and J. M. Pierce of 2118 Thirty-fourth street.
The machine which assertedly struck the boy, who was riding a bicycle, was driven by Joe Lowrimore of 1912 Avenue N, according to information obtained from police headquarters. Investigating officers were Aubrie Cummings and Melvin Alvey of the police department and George Stringer, special officer.
Lowrimore voluntarily went to police headquarters to report the accident and officers quoted him as saying the boy started across the street in front of him and that he (Lowrimore) was unable to avoid the accident.

McCraw States His Candidacy

Craw said, "and Clark's refusal to permit you to do so is embarrassing to me. But I no more control Clark than I control members of this committee."
McCraw said he again would ask Clark to turn over the bank records but that Clark previously had made it clear that he did not propose to expose his purely private affairs to the world. Clark now is an assistant United States attorney general.

Statement Warmly Applauded

McCraw asked permission to come before the committee after subpoenas were issued at Dallas last week for his account and that of his wife. Mrs. McCraw came with him to the hearing but the senators showed no inclination to question her.
McCraw's brief statement containing his announcement for governor was warmly applauded.
"I'm not going to wait on the blooming of the dogwoods," he said. "The press may note that I expect to be a candidate for governor and you may be sure my candidacy won't be based on the shortcomings of some one else."

Speaks In Firm Voice

McCraw spoke in a firm voice except when he referred to his wife.
"I brought my wife here this morning," he said huskily. "It's an embarrassing thing. But if you have any questions to ask her, she's here.
"Never in my life have I made war on any woman. I trust that this committee or none other ever again will make war on the overdrawn bank account of a housewife."
Later when Holbrook asked McCraw if he claimed any "superiority" regarding the sanctity of womanhood the attorney general answered:
"No, and I would just as soon you drop that subject, if you don't mind."

Hill's Brother On Staff

McCraw pointed out that a brother of Sen. Joe L. Hill of Henderson, his most persistent critic among the committeemen, worked in the attorney general's office.
"Considering that fact," McCraw said, "the simplest-minded man in the world surely would know that I have nothing to conceal."
McCraw's statement to the inquisitors was delayed by talks of the various committeemen. These emphasized the friction that has developed since Holbrook and Hill steered the investigation into the McCraw-Clark channel.
"In the people's mind," said Sen. R. A. Weinert of Seguin, "this committee has degenerated into a political body to feather someone's political nest. I know that's not true but that's what the people think."

Public Changes Mind

"You and Hill have rendered a valuable service in your investigation of the land office. But in the past week or ten days, the public mind has changed about this committee."
The Seguin senator said the committee's effectiveness had been destroyed and the body should adjourn until after the political campaigns. He might receive majority support for his motion after the witnesses summoned for appearance here this week in connection with the land office investigation are heard.
In a 30-minute speech, Holbrook again disclaimed any political motive in subpoening bank accounts of Mr. and Mrs. McCraw and permitting long questioning of Clark at Dallas last week.

Ought To Be Stopped

"If Tom Clark, Bill Smith, or any other man," Holbrook said, "by reason of his close connection or business relations with a public official of this state has grown rich, it's high time for the people to know about it, even to the minutest details. It is a practice that ought to be stopped. . . .
"If the evidence presented to me is true, Bill McCraw should take the blame, whether he profited by it or merely was imposed on. It is bad for the people, either way. If, after every detail is revealed, and no blame could be attached I would be the last person to condemn him and the first to commend him. . . .

Should Be Public Trust

"To my way of thinking, a public office should ever remain a public trust, and no man or woman who holds such a trust should refuse to yield up every fact and circumstance which might in any way subject him to criticism. That is the only way to disarm criticism."
Sen. Wilbourne B. Collie of Eastland said he had not challenged Holbrook's authority to issue a subpoena for Mrs. McCraw's bank account but opposed its issuance and any public airing of purely private affairs of private citizens. He indicated he would join in Weinert's motion to adjourn the investigators until the political campaigns were over.
After McCraw left the stand the investigation of oil leasing and vacancy action of Land Commissioner William H. McDonald was resumed.
Royce Stout, special counsel for Governor Allred in the investigation, asked McDonald to check his records and determine later whether L. F. Brothers of Houston had not paid $3,922 cash in addition to royalty considerations for Gulf coast tracts on which unsuccessful bidders had offered $117,953 cash and lower royalties.
He then turned to an examination of bank deposits made by the land commissioner, prefacing that with a question whether McDonald had made more money since his examination than at any other time.
"Before you were nominated did you ever deposit a $2,500 check and retain $1,500 currency at one time?" Stout asked.
"I don't recall."
"Did you ever deposit $1,000 in currency in ten $100 bills?"
"I don't remember."
"You have done both since you were nominated, haven't you?"
"If my bank account shows I did, I did."
McDonald said his bank account was open to inspection and that he had made no money that he should not have made.
An earlier witness was W. C. Campbell, president of the Eastland National bank, who left with the committee all ledger sheets and deposit slips regarding McDonald's account in that bank.
Senator Stone suggested the committee go into executive session after Campbell was sworn in but withdrew his suggestion when McDonald protested. He explained he had requested the bank to furnish any and all information about his account.
Campbell was asked only one question. He testified his bank at no time had accepted a time deposit from any person.

Other Witnesses Heard

Other witnesses during the afternoon included H. Massey, a Schulenburg attorney, who testified action by the land office had never been detrimental to his clients in a land vacancy matter; J. H. Walker, former land commissioner, who said he relinquished the office to McDonald after the attorney

Program Is Mapped For Museum Session Here

Affair Will Be Held March 18

Program for the ninth annual meeting of West Texas Museum association March 18 at Texas Technological college was announced by President H. L. Allen late Wednesday as having been completed.

Two sessions will be held, the first at 4 p. m. in the museum building on Tech campus and the second at a dinner in the lounge in the girl's dormitory at 6:15 p. m.

To Notify 700 Persons

Formal announcement of the completion of the program will be mailed today and Friday to association members and to approximately 700 others who have displayed interest in perpetuation of those things of historic interest to the disappearing frontier.

Speakers on the program will include those who are recognized nationally as outstanding authorities on their subjects, Allen said.

They include, with their subjects:

Afternoon Program

"Preparation and Maintenance of Natural History Exhibit," Donald W. Douglass, instructor in biology at Texas Technological college and widely known as an authority on birds.

"Utilization of Farm Waste," R. C. Goodwin, head professor of chemistry and chemical engineering at Tech.

"Activities and Plans of the Panhandle Plains Museum," L. F. Sheffy, curator of Panhandle Plains museum at Canyon.

"Report of Activities of Texas Tech Art Institute," F. A. Kleinschmidt, head professor of archaeology and allied arts at Tech.

Dinner Program

"Future Possibilities of the West Texas Museum," Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Tech.

"Utilization of Mineral Salts of the South Plains," representative of the Arizona Chemical company.

Plate charge for the dinner will be 50 cents, Allen announced.

Barrier To Vote In City Is Cited

Legal barrier to holding an election April 5 on the proposal to place city employes under civil service were cited Wednesday by City Attorney Durwood H. Bradley.

The law, as cited by the city attorney, requires a certain time-taking procedure when an election is held on a proposal to amend the city charter, as would be necessary in the case of city civil service for Lubbock.

Notice Is Required

Those requirements, he added, will not permit the holding of the poll as soon as April 5, the date for the regular city election when a mayor and two city commissioners are to be named.

His interpretation of the law is Bradley said, that the city commission must give at least 20 days notice of its intent to consider for passage the ordinance calling an election on a proposal to amend the city charter. The call then must be advertised for at least 30 days before the election, he added.

50 Days Necessary

Thus, it was explained, at least 50 days would be required by law between the first call and the holding of the election.

Texans Wiping Out Delinquent Tax Bills, Sheppard Reports

AUSTIN, March 2 (AP) — Texans are digging into their pockets and wiping out delinquent tax bills, a report by Comptroller George R. Sheppard indicated today.

Five years ago nearly 30 per cent of all ad valorem imposts were delinquent while last year the amount slumped to 12.72 per cent, he reported.

VALLEY TEACHERS ELECT

McALLEN, March 2 (AP)—The Rio Grande Valley Educational association today completed reorganization under the new constitution of the Texas State Teacher association.

E. C. Dodd, Brownsville, was elected president; Sam Hendrix, La Joya, and Alma Prentiss, San Benito, vice-presidents; V. H. Tomlinson, Harlingen, secretary, and R. L. Lyon, Edinburg, treasurer.

Final Ginnings Data To Be Given Soon

A. L. King, census taker, announced yesterday that final figures on cotton ginnings for Lubbock county had been taken and forwarded to the bureau of the census at Washington, where they will be released about March 10.

Included in the figures, he added, were estimates of ginners as to the amount of cotton they will gin during the remainder of the season. Estimates ranged from only a few bales to more than two hundred.

Thirty of the 35 gins in the county are still operating. They are, for the most part, operating only a day or so a week. There are two or three that will have a considerable amount to gin.

In the county are three "double gins," at Wolfforth, Monroe and Acuff. M. T. Daniel owns the gin at Wolfforth, the second unit of which was not installed until late in the season; W. O. Fortenberry owns the Monroe gin and he also added his second unit after the season began. At Acuff the Farmers Cooperative owns two plants.

Lubbock To Be Represented In Grain Rate Hearing At Dallas

When the interstate commerce commission and Texas railroad commission conduct hearings Monday in Dallas Lubbock will be represented. Texas railroads will urge increased freight rates approval on coarse grains shipped intra-state.

Coarse grains were described as being such commodities as maize, sorghums, corn and the like.

The carriers, according to information to the chamber, have asked the interstate commission to compel the state commission to authorize an increase in rates on coarse grains to a level with that of wheat. Present rates on coarse grain are approximately three and one-half cents per 100 pounds less than on wheat.

Joining the Lubbock chamber and numerous other delegations from throughout the state in the protest will be Lubbock Grain exchange, probably by George Roach, president.

Postal Receipts Show Gain In February; 23.5 Per Cent Higher

Lubbock postoffice's February net postal receipts totaled $15,528.76, an increase of 23.5 per cent over last year's February total of $12,567.12, Postmaster Amos Howard announced Wednesday.

Receipts for the first two months of 1938 were $32,247.17, compared to $25,621.42. The increase, $6,625.71, was 25.8 per cent over last year. January increase was slightly over 28 per cent.

MISTRIAL IS DECLARED

HOUSTON, March 2. (AP)—District Judge Whit Boyd today declared a mistrial in the case of W. L. Smith, 44, Louisiana ex-convict, charged with murder in connection with the slaying of J. C. Stiff, elderly grocer here on July 30.

The jury retired at 4:15 p. m. yesterday and Judge Boyd ordered the jury dismissed at 10 a. m. today when a deadlock was reported.

The Mailing of This COUPON May Be THE BEGINNING OF A GREAT BLESSING for YOURSELF and YOUR WHOLE FAMILY!

IF YOU earn around $100.00 per month and are the head of your family then these new types of policies were made for you, because

NOW—for the first time—you can get exactly the amount of protection you want for each person in your family, at a cost you can afford to pay, and on a basis that you can afford to pay it.

NOW—for the first time—you can get this protection in a way that pays full cash benefits in the event of the death of any person so insured in your family and yet gives you full cash borrowing value on one policy.

NOW—for the first time—you can get a low cost, easy-to-pay policy that is "term"; "20-year-pay"; or "ordinary life", as your judgment decides—and yet enables you to take from as little as $100.00 protection per person in your household up to as much as your income justifies you in taking.

NOW—you can do for your family what formerly only people of larger means could do when buying protection in policies of "old line, legal reserve" life insurance companies.

A Great Opportunity for Agents!
Never before has a soundly financed, long established, old line legal reserve life insurance company offered policies giving such ideal protection to policyholders at such low cost, on such an easy-to-pay basis and with protection ranging from $100.00 upwards covering even infants in a family. This remarkable value should make a tremendous appeal. Those policies were designed to do just this and to make thousands of friends for United Fidelity agents—friends who in later life should buy additional United Fidelity protection. For policy and agency facts, write:
