CANNOT 'BE AT THE MERCY OF' MIDDLE EAST FUEL PRODUCERS

Nixon Maps Eight-Point Energy Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, asserting the United States cannot be "at the mercy of" Mideast oil producers, announced an eight-point energy development program Saturday that includes easing of clean air standards.

Nixon, giving reporters a rundown on results of a two-hour conference he had with his energy policy advisers, took a generally optimistic view and specifically ruled out talk of an energy crisis.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS

"Short-term we face a problem," said Nixon, citing probable shortages of heating oil this winter.

"But long-term, and this is the important thing for us to remember, the prospects for adequate energy for the United States are excellent."

The nation's energy resources can and will be fully developed, he said, because "no industrial nation must be in the position of being at the mercy of any other nation by having its energy supply suddenly cut off."

Citing the Arab oil-producing countries which are threatening to use petroleum as a club to force a change in American policy toward Israel, Nixon said: "We are going to do the very best we can to work out problems with the Mideastern countries."

HIGHEST URGENCY

The President said administrative action will be taken to liberalize current restrictions on the sulphur content of oil used industrially.

Arguing this would increase supplies of heating oil, Nixon said "unless those standards are relaxed, we could have a very serious problem this winter."

The four pending bills Nixon said should be passed as a matter of the "highest urgency" would authorize building of the Alaska pipeline, the development of deep-water tanker ports, deregulation of natural gas at the wellhead and would encourage widespread strip-mining of coal, particularly in the West.

NUCLEAR POWER

In addition, Nixon said he will take administrative action to relax emission standards, develop the Elk Hills naval oil reserve in California, step up sharply the development of nuclear power and finance research on extracting vast coal reserves "in a way that is not too destructive to the environment."

John A. Love, director of the White House energy policy office, estimated the United States could become relatively self-sufficient in energy resources in three to five years but said even then some oil would probably be imported from the Western Hemisphere and perhaps some from the Middle East.

Nixon said the United States "would prefer to continue to import oil, petroleum products, from the Mideast, from Venezuela, Canada, from other countries," but is "keenly aware" that some producers might "take an unfriendly attitude" and cut off supplies.

The President and Love said that easing of clean air standards will require the cooperation of some states where legislatures have fixed maximum emission rates higher than those currently favored by the administration.

RETAIL PRICES

Nixon reported Love will meet next week with governors of the states concerned.

Love told reporters the Cost of Living Council has developed a formula that will result in increased retail prices for heating oil this winter, a result of imports of higher-cost foreign oil.

Charles J. DiBona, Nixon's special consultant for energy matters, forecast a price increase of about two cents a gallon.

Love estimated that relaxation of clean air regulations might free 200,000 to 400,000 barrels of heating oil daily.

He said heating oil imports will run 500,000 to 600,000 barrels a day if winter temperatures are normal but could soar to a million barrels daily if a severe winter develops.

RATIONING OUT?

In response to a question, Love, the former Republican governor of Colorado, acknowledged the administration is "working on contingency planning" of possible rationing of energy supplies should that be needed. He did not talk as if rationing was likely, however.

Nixon invoked the name of Russell Train, chairman of the Council on Environmental Quality, in support of strip mining legislation and increased use of nuclear power.

The President said Train believes the administration's strip mining bill, if properly administered, "is one that can be consistent with our environmental goals."

Nixon said "there are many old wives' tales and horror stories" about nuclear plants but that Train "came down on the side of going forward with the program, the development of nuclear power."

IN COLORADO CITY

Jail Three Kidnap Suspects

COLORADO CITY — Alert city police Saturday afternoon nabbed a stolen car with three men wanted in Tyler and Columbus, Ga., in connection with the kidnaping of James O. Hoover, 55, Columbus stockbroker.

The men were jailed in Colorado City by Roy Calhoon and W. R. (Peat) Upshaw after they stopped them on IS 20.

The police refused to release the names of the prisoners until Sunday morning when they expected the arrival of Tyler law officials to file charges.

Upshaw indicated they were being held at this point for using a stolen credit card.

Hoover was kidnaped in Georgia and left for dead outside Tyler, shot five times with a .22 caliber revolver. His watch, wallet, credit cards and car were missing.

Officers said Hoover was apparently shot and dumped out along a road about 10 miles northwest of Tyler about 5:30 a.m. They said he managed to crawl about a quarter of a mile to a trailer home on a poultry farm which was occupied by a Bill Wideman.

Chief Sheriff's deputy in Tyler, Jake Massey, said that Hoover had been shot once in the head and at least four times in the upper torso. He is reported in stable condition in a Tyler hospital.

Five Gunmen Surrender To Kuwait Authorities

KUWAIT (AP) — Five Arab gunmen, unnerved by a heavy show of force, surrendered to Kuwaiti authorities Saturday evening and handed over their hostages unharmed after four days of erratic threats to kill them.

The gunmen and their four Saudi Arabian captives walked quietly out of the Kuwait Airlines Boeing 707 where they had been holed up. Poised around the plane were more than 100 police and a dozen armored cars.

Kuwaiti authorities had threatened to storm the plane and shoot it out with the gunmen who had been making threats and demands since they invaded the Saudi Embassy in Paris on Wednesday.

EXHAUSTED

The gunmen, who looked drawn and exhausted, were tied with leather thongs and whisked by way of a back road to a nearby military camp. A government spokesman said they would be detained for the night and an official inquiry would begin on Sunday.

The hostages, who were reported healthy, were taken to a government rest house for the night, officials said.

The surrender began when troops led by the assistant minister of the interior, Sheik Abdul Latif al-Suweini, surrounded the plane and with a bullhorn told the gunmen: "Surrender or we will storm the plane."

After a tense 30-minute standoff at the lonely northeast corner of the airport where the plane had been parked since Friday morning, one of the four hostages left the plane.

TRUST

Another 15 minutes passed. Then one of the gunmen called out, "We trust the pledge of safe conduct given us by the Iraqi ambassador in Paris."

HOUSTON YOUTHS BURIED IN GEORGIA

Mass Slayings Mixup

HOUSTON (AP) — Sources here said Saturday two victims of the Houston mass murders mistakenly identified as brothers and buried in Georgia actually are two Houston youths.

Harris County authorities were making arrangements to return the bodies to Houston.

The two bodies buried Aug. 18 in Alpharetta, Ga. originally were identified as Donald Waldrop, 15, and his brother, Jerry Lynn, 13. They were among 27 bodies of teen-age boys and youths found in Houston and two other areas last month after the mass slayings came to light.

STILL IN MORGUE

However, Dr. Joseph A. Jachimczyk, Harris County medical examiner, said Friday the bodies buried in Georgia were misidentified on the basis of information furnished by Waldrop and that the bodies of the Waldrop brothers are still in the morgue here.

Jachimczyk said "dental and other post-morten X-rays and photos" received recently "positively identify the two boys buried in Georgia as different kids and identify two others here as the Waldrop boys."

An official in the Harris County district attorney's office said the bodies in the Georgia grave are David Hilligiest, 13, and Gregory Malley Winkle, 16, both of the Houston Heights area.

Jachimczyk declined to officially identify the two bodies in Georgia until all relatives were notified. The district attorney source said the parents were notified Friday.

Little Inflow Into Lakes

Although three to four inches of rain blanketed a good part of the watershed within the past three days, Lake J. B. Thomas and Lake E. V. Spence, received little inflow.

Lake Spence had picked up only an inch Saturday morning, less than what fell on the lake itself. Lake Thomas lost ground, although it also received one to two inches. Beals Creek, flowing into the river above Lake Spence, was up seven feet.

The slow, steady character of the rain, coupled with heavy vegetation, probably accounted for maximum penetration and thus minimum runoff.

Reviewing the . . .

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

When a freakish 90 mph storm streaked in from the northeast a couple of months ago, most of us figured that was about as bad as we would ever have — at least from that unlikely direction. We were wrong. Tuesday evening winds gauged at 110 mph (and they may have been 120-30 at the center) sliced in an almost perfectly straight line from northeast to southwest (opposite the conventional tornado pattern) and left two children dead, about 20 persons injured, a couple of million dollars in damage. Victims were two young children of Mr. and Mrs. Hobert Stevens — Lisa Andrews, 3, and Wendi Stevens, 5 months. He was registering at HCJC when the storm struck, and she couldn't find the babies in the wreckage of their home on Jonesboro Road. Officers, firemen, doctors, hospitals, guardsmen, etc. performed a heroic service during the emergency.

* * * *

About a score of mobile homes was demolished; probably three score damaged in varying degree. Downtown plate glass windows were shattered at many points. On the western exit to the city, some residences were damaged extensively, and Webb AFB had a few planes to break their chains and bang into others.

* * * *

Despite the tragedy and damage, there was a brighter side. The rain (which followed mostly on Thursday and Friday) helped much more than it hurt. Although late, it will likely mean many tiny bolls, which might have been shed, will now mature — and the payoff is in weight. Small fruit on cotton which had started to wilt likely will be shed during recovery. Any new cotton to Watergate Tab To Top $4 Million?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Investigating the Watergate scandal has cost the American taxpayer more than $1 million and is likely to run up a tab of $4 million or $5 million before the case is closed.

The two agencies created specifically to look into the matter are the Senate Watergate committee, established by Senate resolution last February, and the Watergate Special Prosecution Force headed by Archibald Cox.

In addition, several prosecutors' offices and grand juries around the country and various congressional committees have probed aspects of the hydra-headed scandal.

By far the largest cost item for both of the special Watergate investigations has been payment of salaries to the many lawyers and staff workers who have swarmed to Washington for a piece of the action.

Carolyn Andrade, administrative assistant to the Senate panel, said the latest records show the committee has paid $383,000 in staff salaries for nearly 90 workers and $7,465 in fringe benefits. Chief counsel Samuel Dash, the highest-paid member of the staff, makes $35,904 a year, and the salaries of more than 20 lawyers and professional investigators range from $11,000 to $34,000.

Cox's office, in operation only three months, has paid out $138,000 for a still growing staff of about 80. John Barker, a spokesman for the prosecution force, said the salaries for 38 lawyers on the staff range from $14,000 to a high of $38,000 paid Cox.

Lower-and middle-level employes on Cox's staff are eligible for overtime if they work more than 40 hours a week, which many do. The Senate doesn't pay its employes any overtime.

BINGO BUCKS STRETCH DRIVE

It's time for the stretch drive in the Herald's newspaper Bingo Contest.

Today begins the last month, and if you share in the $50 weekly prizes, you'll need to get with it this week and the rest of the month. Your merchants have supplies of free cards, and you can check these against the numbers on Bingo Bugs in The Herald.

Just cross out the numbers, and when you have completed your card, cash in for a piece of those Bingo Bucks as more than a score of local people have. Remember — time's getting short.

WARMER

Forecast is clear to partly cloudy through Monday. Warmer today. High today in upper 80s, low tonight, mid 60s and high on Monday, near 90. Winds from the south at 5-15 miles per hour.

Jaycees Plan Awards Today

Jaycees were to continue a three-day area 1-C conference today at the Ramada Inn with a prayer breakfast at 8 a.m. followed by a general assembly at 9 a.m. Clinics will follow and an awards luncheon at 11:30 a.m. today concludes the event.

State president John Thompson of Huntsville spoke to the group Saturday night on the importance of increasing membership and extending new chapters to the area.

Representatives from Big San Angelo, Snyder, Albany, San Angelo, Snyder Albany, Stanton and Colorado City attended the dinner here Saturday night.

Abilene will host the district meeting on March 1-3. Among the dignitaries present other than Thompson were National direction Milt Saltzman of Pampa, National Director Huck Downs of San Angelo and State vice presidents Fred Simpson, Big Spring; Leroy Roach, Abilene and Royce Burrows, San Angelo.

Dawson County Fair Dedicated

LAMESA — The oldest continuous county fair in West Texas will open Sept. 12 in Lamesa and continue through the 15th.

This year's fair is dedicated to the memory of the late Andrew Essary, who taught vocational agriculture in Lamesa schools for 22 years and was a vital part of the fair.

D. V. Phipps is president of the fair this year. The traditional exhibits will again be augmented by a horse show.

Establish Agency Shop Committee

The Odessa Central Labor Union has established a standing agency shop committee, according to D. L. Willis president of the labor organization.

The purpose of this committee will be to visit with community groups to explain the agency shop. Presently, the law requires unions to represent members and non-members alike under a collective bargaining agreement. Only the members pay anything to the union for its cost to obtain benefits — the non-members pay nothing, said Willis.

Passage of legislation is sought to permit both members and non-members alike to pay a service fee, not to exceed union dues, to the union as the service agency shop, he added.

Any civic or educational group desiring a speaker to talk to the agency shop should contact D. L. Willis at 682-2700 in Midland.

'Highballing' To Toyah With Casey At Throttle

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first part of a two-part series about the Texas and Pacific Railway trip from Big Spring to El Paso.

By JOHN EDWARDS

Big Spring's oldest engineer, E. C. Casey, is in control of the Texas & Pacific's newest engine as we left Big Spring at 10:35 a.m. one Friday bound for El Paso.

Engine 791, purchased for more than one-quarter million dollars two weeks earlier, delivers 3,000 horsepower. Behind it, four other engines contributed a total of 10,000 more horsepower to pull what is now 5,500 tons of train and cargo across plains and through mountains.

Back-up engines are controlled remotely and automatically in response to controls in the lead unit.

Train CE (Chicago to El Paso)-22 is transporting lead, zinc, coke, clay, paper, furniture, merchandise, automobiles and beer.

"I guess you gentlemen know the rule of the day," Homer Latta, road foreman of engines, asks the engineer and head brakeman, G. T. Gilmore.

Rule 2, one of many designed to keep crews acquainted with operating and safety procedures, was read out loud.

'HIGH-BALL'

Train orders, which authorized the journey and outlined restrictions specified for this trip, are reviewed.

Air brakes for the cars are checked, and we begin rolling out of Big Spring.

Ahead, a work crew foreman waves a yellow flag — Highball. CE-22 glides past and the section crew watches for "hot boxes" or faulty wheel bearings or anything loose and dragging.

Green light shows in the signal in the distance. "Clear signal," Gilmore calls out. "Clear signal," Casey replies. TP 791 continues to gain speed. T&P trains must follow speed limits like cars, maximum on TP tracks being 60 miles per hour.

Gilmore looks for "hot boxes" again as the train makes a curve around a salt lake, leaving Big Spring in the horizon. "All dark," Gilmore said. Casey repeats the message to his companion.

BEER AT PEGASUS

Stanton nears, and horns moan out warning over the hum of the engine. Agent Kenneth Goolsby stands outside the depot to inspect the passing train.

A blast of air hurts our ears when Casey slows the train. The throaty horns sound.

"791 West coming into Midland," Gilmore announces over the radio.

"Coming into Midland?", a woman confirms. "Thank you."

Near Midland, at the Pegasus sighting, a car load of beer is backed up to a Coors building and uncoupled.

Gilmore uncouples and couples cars next at Solo, a railroad designation for a place or sighting near Odessa. TP 791 leaves loads of clay, lumber, asphalt and fencing material. Connected to the train are two empty tanks, three cars of scrap iron and four cars of liquified petroleum gas.

DOMINO CHAMP

Skating through West Texas, Casey talks about getting on the TP payroll as fireman of a steam engine burning crude oil.

That was on March 20, 1927. In 1941, he became an engineer. "I never did run a coal burner. I've run an oil burner. I've had wrecks. Had lot's of derailments. Borrowed money to live on while I was broke," Casey says, smiling.

Back then, one steam engine pulled an average of 55 or 60 cars. He remembers a pusher engine used to get up the hill near Baird.

Several diesel-electric engines move 70 to 125 cars now.

With 46 years experience, Casey tops the seniority list. "I don't make any more money than those other fellows (engineers) do," Casey adds.

"I figure on working as long as I feel like," Casey said.

Latta says Casey is the champion domino player at Toyah. Big Spring and El Paso crews spend nights here between trips back and forth.

"They sure have some hot domino games down there," Latta adds.

WILDLIFE

Until five years ago, Gilmore says they saw antelope west of Pyote on every trip. Once they saw a wild turkey near Penwell. At night, coyotes and wildcats emerge in the empty country.

Gilmore carries a .22 revolver to kill rattlers.

TP trains hit cattle blocking the right of way once in a while. Trains cannot stop fast, I am later to learn.

The horn is blowing outside Barstow. Still, a new model auto crosses less than 100 yards away, and the engineer nods at me, disgusted at the chance taken by the driver.

Natural gas wells clutter the desolate landscape. Near Pecos, cantalopes are seen. They are one of few cultivated crops seen on the journey.

Toyah and watches show 2:55 p.m. Big Spring crews get off. For the first time, we see C. R. Rhodes, who is conductor or "captain of the ship," and P.S. Liner, a brakeman. They were riding in the caboose one mile behind us.

Next: Rolling to El Paso.

GOING TO SECOND HOMES — Big Spring crew members step off Texas and Pacific 791 at Toyah. Both El Paso and Big Spring crews spend nights at this small West Texas town between trips east and west. E. C. Casey, engineer, climbs down while G. T. Gilmore, brakeman, (top left) waits. Homer E. Latta, road foreman of engines, stretches before meeting the El Paso crew. Not shown are C. R. Rhodes, conductor, and P. S. Liner, brakeman, who rode in the caboose.

Garden City Bond Issue Approved

GARDEN CITY — The school bond issue here was approved Saturday by property owners by a 146 to 89 majority, according to School Supt. Donn Stringer. Non-property owners voted in favor 28-15.

The issue was for $450,000 for the purpose of building a new elementary school, updating gymnasium and cafeteria facilities and improvements at the high school.

Stringer said construction will probably begin early next year and it should be ready by September, 1974.

DEATHS

Cpl. Hawkins

POST — Services for Cpl. James Louis Hawkins, 23, will be held at 3 p.m., today in the Church of the Nazarene here. Burial will follow in Terrace Cemetery, at which time military graveside rites will be conducted.

Hawkins was killed in an automobile accident near Honolulu, Hawaii, Monday. Born in Waco, he had been in the Marine Corps since 1970.

Survivors include his grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. David H. Hawkins, Big Spring.

C. D. Griffin

Cecil David Griffin, 59, died at 2 p.m. Thursday in a Big Spring hospital.

Services were held at 10 a.m. in the Sheppard Funeral Home chapel in Crane with burial in Crane Memorial Gardens.

He was born May 26, 1914 in Pilot Point. He was married to Mary Francis Darnall Feb. 3, 1939 in Duncan, Okla. He ha lived in Crane for 28 years and was a lease operator. He was also owner of the Griffin Construction Co. and was a member of the Lions Club, the Chamber of Commerce and the Crane County Historical Society.

Survivors include his wife; one daughter, Mrs. John Wilcox of Del Rio; one son, David Griffin of Crane; four sisters, Mrs. Mildred Rose of Grandfalls, Mrs. Ben Parks of Kermit, Mrs. Leon Cowart of Irving and Mrs. Hershal Boyd of St. Jo and two grandchildren.

Raymond Key

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel for Raymond Key, 56, who died at 1:25 p.m. Friday in a local hospital.

The Rev. C. R. Perry, Phillips Memorial Baptist Church will officiate. Burial will be in Mt. Olive Cemetery.

Born Aug. 1, 1916 in Snyder, he married Frances McIntosh, Sept. 25, 1937 in Big Spring. He moved to Big Spring from Colorado City in 1935.

He was a mechanic all of his life and worked most recently for Dewey Ray in Big Spring. He was a member of the Phillips Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Frances; one son, Charles Key, Tulsa, Okla.; three daughters, Mrs. Patricia Johnson, Sweetwater, Mrs. Linda Bigar, Pecos; and Mrs. Jaunice Anderson, Meridian, Miss.

Other survivors includes his mother, Mrs. C. A. Key, Big Spring and two sisters, Mrs. Jewel Adams, Durango, Colo., and Mrs. Maxine Zant, Vealmoor, and 10 grandchildren.

Pallbearers include Clyde Gunnels, Jim Barkley, H. B. Stanaland, Fred Jones, Cecil Mason, Vern Bigar, Dewey Ray and D. H. Soles.

Co-Op Confab Draws Crowd

An estimated 1,500 persons attended the annual membership barbecue for Cap Rock Electric Co-Op Inc., on the Stanton Sigh School football field Saturday night.

Last year, the annual meeting became quite crowded inside the building when members from a 13 county area attended. This year, the big feed was moved to the football field.

Glenn Cantrell, Big Spring, presided as chairman of the board. The group also held a brief get together preceding the meeting.

Other members of the board of directors include Edgar Phillips, Paul Adams and Neal Fryar, Big Spring, Alfred Schwartz, St. Lawrence; Raymond Pribla and Ray Russell of Stanton and Dewight McDonald, Midland.

Manager James Eiland also had a part on the program with a welcome extended to members from all 13 counties. Door prizes of electrical appliances are also presented at the event.

$20,000 Rig Parts Found

Sheriff A. N. Standard reported recovery of almost all of the parts of a pulling unit stolen in Howard County last May.

Standard, along with the Scurry County sheriff, Ector County Sheriff and a Texas Ranger went to Odessa Saturday to obtain the missing rig parts.

Total value of the rig was around $20,000. It was stripped last May 28 near Luther on the L. D. Rutledge rig operated by Brooks Well Service Company.

Recovered, according to Standard, were blocks and hooks, elevator bales, and almost the complete unit — minus a few small tools.

The item will be taken to the next grand jury, subject to approval of the district attorney.

School Board To Mull Taxes

A routine school board meeting Monday at 5:15 p.m. in the board of education room will see the board accept resignations of personnel and employ new personnel for the coming school year.

They will also review the tax roll for the coming year and study school enrollment and pupil distribution. Reports will include an analysis of collections of the tax department, a report on Southwestern Appraisal Company Inc. and a delinquent tax report.

Senior Citizens Plan To Form Chapter Friday

A covered dish luncheon will be held in the Fellowship Hall at the First United Methodist Church at 10 a.m., Friday, at which time preliminary steps will be taken toward the organization of a chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons.

All retired persons living in Howard County have an open invitation to be in attendance.

An area vice president of the association, Joseph T. Buckingham, will attend the meeting. Others expected are Thelma Newman, assistant state director of the organization, who will lecture on the advantages of having and becoming members of an organization for senior citizens.

Coffee and tea will be provided for the covered dish luncheon.

Mrs. Marshall E. Brown, secretary of the Howard County Council on Aging and a Senior Citizens Volunteer Program worker, is helping with organizational plans.

Garrison Will Ask Re-Election

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison, a defendant in a federal conspiracy trial, has announced he will seek re-election.

Rev. Hildebrand Is Assigned To Midland Church

The Rev. Caleb Hildebrand, pastor of the Wesley United Methodist Church in Big Spring and a civic leader during his five years in Big Spring, has been assigned to St. Mark's United Methodist Church in Midland effective Oct. 1.

The announcement was made Friday by Bishop Alsie Carlson, Bishop of the United Methodist Northwest Texas and New Mexico area.

The Rev. Robert D. Ford of Post will replace the Rev. Hildebrand at Wesley. The Rev. and Mrs. Ford have two daughters, Diane, 5 and Sara, 3, and have served four years in Post.

The Rev. Hildebrand has been active in civic and service work in Big Spring, having helped each year with the Bible Fund drive and serving as chairman this year. He has served on the board of the Westside Center and was instrumental in its beginnings and also was active in the American Business Men's club here.

The distrilt superintendent, O. A. McBrayer, also announced that the Bishop has named the Rev. Fred Witta Jr., of Eureka Springs, Ark., to fill the pastorate at both Kentwood Methodist in Big Spring and Garden City Methodist.

The Rev. Melvin Mathis left Kentwood recently and Dr. C. A. Hollomb retired in Garden City in June and moved to Big Spring.

Guilty Pleas By Three Men

Guilty pleas heard in 118th District Court included two on driving while intoxicated and one for burglary Friday.

Jimmy Paul Allen pled guilty to a burglary charge and was assessed a six year probated sentence and released.

Leonard Lee Hodnett and Lee Edward Castle both pled guilty to DWI. Both paid fines of $50 and costs and were sentenced probated sentences of 30 days to six months.

Joel David Taylor was jailed Friday on a DWI charge.

Retirement Talk

A representative of the Railroad Retirement board will be at Room 242 in the Federal Building, Fifth and Main, Thursday from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

THEFTS

Kent station reported changing all locks after keys stolen. Damage: $25.

Capt. David Smith, 3618 Hamilton reported stolen boys ten speed bike. Value: $95.

YOUTH TALENT FEATURED AT CHURCH — Starting with an hour's program at 3 p.m., and continuing each evening through next Sunday, the Airport Baptist Church at 1208 Frazier Street is sponsoring a youth talent program, at which time youngsters from the ages of 12 through 22 will be encouraged to take part, if they sing or play an instrument. Only religious music will be played. Half a dozen of those who will participate are pictured here. They are, from the left, Evelyn Wheeler, Mary Ann White, Louise Burgess, Sandy Booth, Judy Fulger and Jeri Booth. The evening programs get under at 6:30 p.m. Revival services, featuring the Rev. Ray Cunningham of the Vincent Baptist Church, will do the preaching. The programs take place outside the church. Arthur Thomas is the minister at Airport Baptist Church.

Equal Opportunity For Local Eskimos

By MARJ CARPENTER

Over at City Hall and in the County Courthouse, reports are being filled out for the equal employment opportunity commission on a form referred to as State and Local Government information. This excludes school systems and educational institutions.

The report is as big as a piece of poster board and is surrounded by computer holes and includes multiple copies.

Federal law requires that such records and reports be made available no later than Oct. 31. Witches and goblins may not be the only ones up late on Oct. 31 from the looks of the reports, referred to by the federal government as EEO-4.

Cities and counties and special districts must file one for each function listed on page 1.

CLASSIFY EVERYONE

These include financial administration, streets and highways, public welfare, police protection, fire protection, natural resources, hospitals and sanitoriums, health, housing, community development, corrections, utilities and transportation, sanitation and sewage, employment security and others.

In case you are wondering what some of those mean — the function listed as corrections, for instance, includes persons who work at jails, reformatories, detention homes, half-way houses, prisons, parole and probation offices.

Everybody is categorized by position and then they are categorized by male and female. Then they are further categorized by race.

And not simply, black, white and oriental. The categories are white, which the reports maintains include persons of Indo-European descent, including Pakistani and East Indian. The category black includes persons of African descent as well as those identified as Jamaican, Trinidadian and West Indian.

The other categories include Spanish surnamed, which includes persons of Mexican, Puerto Rican, Cuban, Latin American or Spanish descent.

ARE YOU INDIAN?

A category American Indian includes all persons who identify themselves, or are known as such by virtue of tribal association. The category Asian American include persons of Japanese, Chinese, Korean or Filipino descent.

A category "other" include Aleuts, Eskimos, Malyans, Thais and others not covered by the specific categories on the form.

It is not told in the instructions, what the poor city official is supposed to do if he has a mixture — for instance an American Indian with a Spanish surname and a smattering of Eskimo.

JOB CATEGORIES

Then employes are to be further classified into job categorries in skilled craft, service, maintenance, etc., according to their annual salary and again under their racial breakdown.

One big blank page is apparently to list all of the employes criminal activities since it is topped with the message: "Remarks: List National Crime Information Center (NCIC) numbers assigned to any criminal justice agencies whose data are included in this report.

Then down at the very end of the report, the poor county or civil official who has to fill out the lengthy report must sign his name as "the person to contact regarding this form."

There are no messages on the report as to what may or may not happen if this entire report is computerized and there are not enough Eskimos or Jamaicans in the crowd.

Search Over For Sooner

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — An Oklahoma City man sought since his boat was found burned in Lake Texoma has been returned home from El Paso, Tex., the Oklahoma Highway Patrol said today.

Richard Lathrup, 21, was found by his father in Guadalupe Park in El Paso, the patrol said. The father said his son apparently suffered a loss of memory in the incident and after reaching shore accepted a ride from two long-haired youths in a van.

He said his son contacted him from El Paso after the youths gave him $2 to call home and left him.

Lathrup had launched his boat at 8 p.m. Sept. 1. The submerged, burned boat was found at 8 a.m. Sept. 2.

Steer Captains Share Spotlight

The spotlight will be on the Big Spring High School Steer captains and coaches when the Chamber of Commerce Breakfast Club meets Thursday.

Bob Burris, coach, will introduce the team captains. Guests also will include Byron Smith, Wilma Grice and Harold Canning, co-captains of the Quarterback Club.

An added event will be an attendance prize of $100.

SBA Action

Horatio Hanks, representing the Small Business Administration office in Lubbock, will be available for conferences at the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday.

He will discuss problems and answer questions about SBA programs from any interested person from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

4-H Record Book Judging

Baylor Club Organized

Organization of a Baylor Club was authorized at a dinner meeting of exes, families and friends of Baylor University.

Ernie Boyd was named temporary chairman to name a committee on nominations and by-laws for a report at the next meeting, near Founder's Day in February 1974. The group will meet only two or three times a year and will come from the area bounded by Sterling City, Garden City, Stanton, Lamesa, Gail, Snyder, Colorado City and Big Spring.

Nearly 50 individuals were at the meeting Thursday evening in the First Federal Savings and Loan Association Community Room.

Jack Patterson, athletic director of Baylor, reported on the many developments of the university, which will have an enrollment of nearly 8,000 this semester.

Regarding football, he said that the Bears will be exciting, scrappy and capable of competing with any of the teams, but probably lacking in the depth necessary for championship contention.

"As an example," he said, "of the 70 individuals recruited for football in 1970, only three remain on the squad and one is a first team performer." The freshman basketball team looms as the best in the school's history, he added. Patterson also touched on the other areas of school life and predicted the next five years will be the school's greatest.

Also addressing the group was Ed Phelps, Amarillo, representing Baylor Development division. Exes attended here from Lamesa and Snyder as well as Big Spring.

'THIS IS NO TIME TO PANIC'

Air Base Farewell

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — For the first time in 21 years, the runways at Laredo Air Force Base are deserted, mute evidence that the military activity of this U.S.-Mexico border city is now history.

On Wednesday, M. Sgt. Archie Hall, one of the few remaining military men on base, stood at attention on one of these runways and saluted the last T38 as it departed for Moody AFB in Atlanta, Ga.

The base, which produced the first flying ace of the Vietnam War in Capt. Steve Richie, will close Sept. 30, the only major military installation to close this year as part of President Nixon's reduction of military expenditures.

8,000 PILOTS

During its 21 years, more than 8,000 pilots, including foreign students, were trained at Laredo AFB. The last class, composed of 50 students, graduated Friday.

Most of the base's 2,200 military personnel and 500 civilian employes are gone. As of Sept. 30, only a small contingent will remain to handle closing matters.

Presently, a committee composed of prominent Laredo citizens is working to find ways to utilize the base facilities so that the economic impact of the base closing can be diminished.

According to Wing Commander Col. Robert W. Bazley, Laredo AFB was operating on a budget of $36.75 million.

LARGEST INDUSTRY

As the city's largest single industry, it employed over 500 civilians drawing over $5 million annually in pay. The military personnel had a payroll of over $22 million, most of it going to the local economy.

Jerry Heare and Al Rodriguez of the Texas Industrial Commission have estimated that the city's unemployment rate would increase to 23 7 per cent as a consequence of the base shutdown. They estimated that the additional unemployed personnel coupled with the elimination of base-related jobs in town would leaven some 7,200 persons unemployed.

Despite these statistics, Laredo businessmen remain optimistic about the economic future.

Ramiro Sanchez, president of the Laredo National Bank, says the economic loss will be felt for some 10 to 18 months.

"This is not the end of the world," Sanchez said. "Our people are innovative and have enough faith in the future to keep working."

Real estate man John Snyder says that some 700 military personnel were living in town and that half of them were renting.

"This is no time to panic," Snyder said. "There's a number of buyers who have been trying to move to better homes but have been stalled by high prices and shortages."

ECONOMIC HARDSHIPS

Other business leaders agree that the base closing will create an economic hardship but that Laredo can survive by focusing on its international trade with Mexico.

Some 50 representatives from various federal agencies were in the city Thursday to hold workshops to see how the base facilities can best be utilized. The team was headed by Edward E. Oppenheim, deputy executive director of the Office of Economic Adjustment of the Defense Department.

But as the local citizens mobilize to cushion the economic blow, military personnel are packing their belongings to move to other bases.

And the base itself remains silent, its thundering jets no longer zooming past the Laredo sky in fighting formations.

The base had its beginning in 1942 when an Army Air Corps flexible gunnery school was established here. The school was closed in 1946 and in 1952, the base was re-activated as Laredo Air Force Base. It had operated continuously since.

In Laredo, the end of an era has arrived.

HCJC Books Counseling Conference

Second annual Administrators-Counseling Conference has been slated for the Howard County Junior College campus beginning Sept. 24, according to Dr. Thomas Salter, college president.

The conference, which is designed for public school and junior college counselors and administrations, is under the direction of Dr. Wayne Bonner, head of the local college's counseling services.

A series of speakers will discuss trends, transitions, problems and techniques relating to the counseling and guidance field. Also featured will be four group sessions allowing student feedback, Dr. Salter said.

Dr. Joseph D. Damerson will head the closing after dinner session with a discussion on "The Preparation of Guidance Associates and Professional Counselors within the Framework of a Competency Based Program."

Registration for the conference begins at 8:30-8:55 a.m., with coffee being served.

Dr. Miles Eckert of Odessa College will deliver the first talk entitled "Financial Aids: A Period of Transition." Mrs. Johnny Lou Avery, financial aids officer at HCJC, will also participate in the discussion.

Dr. Ron Cohorn, clinical psychologist at the Big Spring State Hospital, will discuss "Behavioral Problems of Children." His session will be followed by lunch in the college cafeteria.

Leading the student feedback groups will be Tony Ortiz, occupational education counselor at HCJC; Dr. Mary Hood, Western Texas College; Ms. Mary Dudley, HCJC; and Harvy Rothell, Big Spring High School.

Persons interested in registration information may contact Dr. Bonner at 267-6311 Ext. 64, or by addressing him in care of the college, Birdwell Lane.

Sherrods Gift To ACC Told

ABILENE — Mr. and Mrs. B. Sherrod of Buchanan Dam presented a gift to Abilene Christian College Sept. 4 to help in the construction and furnishing of Sherrod Residential Park.

The gift was in the form of $200,000 cash and their mineral rights to 9,000 acres of land in Reagan and Upton counties in West Texas.

"Abilene Christian College experienced its greatest growth while Mr. Sherrod was chairman of the board," said Dr. John C. Stevens, president of ACC. Sherrod has been a member of the college's Board of Trustees since 1933. He became vice president of the board in 1936 and was promoted to the chairmanship in 1947. He served as chairman for more than 20 years and continues to serve on the senior board.

Avon Calling District Meet

A large number of representatives of the Avon products are due here Tuesday for a district sales meeting scheduled at the Holiday Inn. Mrs. Dorothy Cross, district sales manager, said that representatives will come from Howard, Martin, Andrews, Dawson, Gaines, Terry, Yoakum and Borden counties.

Pollution Survey Money Alloted

The U.S. Corps of Engineers has been alloted $25,000 to make a precursory survey of what a complete study of upper-river pollution on the Colorado might cost.

Representatives were here last week to confer with O. H. Ivie, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District on what some of the problems of a study might be, and the scope it might encompass.

A recent crash but basin-wide study of the river concerned itself principally with waste water management. However, much of the quality problem upstream is hinged to chloride and other mineral intrusions into the stream. CRMWD spent a million dollars on a diversion works on the river above Colorado City to alleviate the situation and is about to invest another $100,000 or more on a program to mitigate chlorides on Beals Creek, a tributary.

If the survey indicates extensive problems from mineralization, funds may be sought for a more penetrating study.

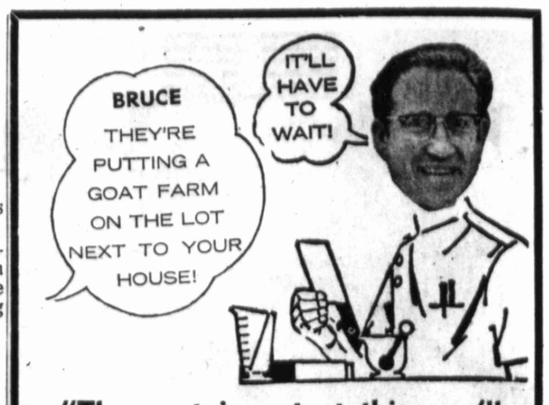
Citizens To Eye Farm Advances

LUBBOCK — Officials of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station are expecting a record turnout for their 64th annual Field Day and Open House here Tuesday. The field day will highlight the most recent advances in agricultural research.

Tours beginning at 1 p.m. via shuttle services will make stops at various research plots, said Oliver Newton, meteorologist and chairman. Special attractions will include machinery displays and exhibits on insects and plant diseases of the South Plains. Open house at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center will give visitors an opportunity to view equipment and laboratories, said Dr. George McBee, resident director.

Routine Agenda

LAMESA — Mostly routine business is on the agenda for the meeting of the Dawson County commissioners court here Monday. The court will consider resignations of members from the county school board and also will consider a request for the bid deposit of the Brown Roofing Company.



"The most important thing we'll do today is fill your prescription!"

'IT WAS A GOOD WAY TO GROW UP'

Mitchell County Judge Proud Of Dad's Work

By MARJ CARPENTER

COLORADO CITY — Judge Bill Carter has lived in a lot of West Texas towns. But then he has also lived in many other places.

In fact, the Mitchell County Judge enjoys, more than anything, living in Colorado City and staying put in one place because he was raised with a father who was a Salvation Army worker. Not only that, his father was a major in the Salvation Army who was often sent out to start new units in various towns and then "move on."

"We did a lot of moving on," Judge Carter recalls. "But we were all proud of Dad's work and so we didn't mind it too much."

Judge Carter came to the United States from Newfoundland when he was about two years old when "Dad started a Salvation Army unit in North Carolina."

He recalled that during the depression years, his father had transients chop wood for food and then gave the wood to other needy families that needed it for fuel.

"Dad believed in letting everybody help themselves as much as possible." The respect for the Salvation Army work has endured in Judge Carter to such an extent that he heads the Salvation Army service in his county. "It offers a real service to needy transients and other needy persons," he stated.

His father worked at many locations in North Carolina and then the Salvation Army sent him in 1936 to Big Spring. Judge Carter said "I know it was 1936 because we stopped at the Texas Centennial on the way."

They lived in the old Crawford Hotel, then out on Scurry street in Big Spring until the Salvation Army headquarters was set up, and then they moved to San Angelo to help with one there.

"We also lived in Abilene and Texarkana while I was growing up," he recalls.

Other places he remembers living in when a child were Burlington, Charlotte and Wilmington, N.C. and Brooklyn, N.Y.

"I was almost a transient myself. And I can really sympathize with travelers," Judge Carter added.

He recalls that "The Salvation Army helped a lot of travelers right here last year during the ice storm. We had them all over this courthouse," he recalls.

His father worked 44 years with the Salvation Army. He died in 1958. Judge Carter's mother resides in Colorado City at the Valley Fair Lodge.

"She has a lot of memories of a lot of real service. She was in there helping all the way," the county judge added.

Then Carter added quietly, "It was a good way to grow up."

Building Permits In Sharp Gain

Building permits in the city of Big Spring through August total $2,529,847 in comparison with only $1,574,144 all of last year.

The permits for the month of August totaled $251,770 for 26 permits. Three new residences totaled $89,000.

Two new businesses include a $100,000 permit for a new business on FM 700. Barton White and Milton Shirley are the owners and it will be a storage business. The other new business is an office and warehouse for a roofing company for C. L. Coffman at 2412 Johnson. This was a $12,000 permit.

There were also eight permits for garages and carports, two signs, two for re-roofing, two additions, five moving, one foundation and one enclosure.

Dog Should Pay For Car Damage?

HOUSTON (AP) — Ray Boston told a judge a dog collided with his rar causing $115 damage to the vehicle. He said the owner of the dog should pay for it.

However, Justice of the Peace Armando Rodriguez ruled in favor of the dog owner.

Maga, a 6-month-old German Shepherd, limped into the Harris County Courthouse as the subject of the suit brought by Boston against Cynthia Marks, owner of the dog.

Coast Guard Academy Info

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Congressman Omar Burleson announced Saturday that the United States Coast Guard Academy is now accepting and processing applications for appointment as Cadet, U. S. Coast Guard, Class of 1978. Rep. Burleson stressed that appointments to the Coast Guard Academy are tendered solely on the basis of an annual nationwide competition with no congressional appointments or geographical quotas involved.

Applications for appointment must be submitted to the Director of Admissions, U. S. Coast Guard Academy, prior to Dec. 15, 1973, and candidates must arrange to participate in the College Entrance Examination Board Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) by the Dec. 1, 1973 test date. Competition is based on the candidate's rank in high school, his performance on the CEEB Scholastic Aptitude Test, and his leadership potential as demonstrated by his participation in high school extracurricular activities, community affairs or part-time employment.

To qualify for the competition, an applicant must not be married, and must have reached his 17th but not his 22nd birthday by July 1, 1974. The minimum educational requirement is a high school diploma; however, high school seniors assured of graduation by June 30, 1974, are eligible to compete provided they have at least 15 credits.

Applications and additional information may be obtained by writing the Director of Admissions, United States Coast Guard Academy, New London Connecticut 06320.

GI FORUM OFFICERS — Pictured are new officers of the Big Spring GI Forum, which will hold its next business meeting in the GI Forum Hall at 508 NW 4th St., Friday. Seated, from the left, are Manuel Correa, chairman, and Dickie DeLeon, vice chairman. Standing are Endon Marsh, secretary, Johnny Arispe, sergeant-at-arms, and T. A. Trevino, treasurer.

Will Discuss Taxation Aid For Elderly

County Commissioners Court Monday will discuss exempting from county property taxation homesteads owned by the elderly.

M. Fern Cox has requested the court brief him on 1973 allocations for the district clerk's office. The district clerk was unable to attend the budget hearing.

Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, will be making requests concerning a new copying machine and a personnel matter. Don Hughes of Xerox will appear in connection with the proposed new copying machine.

In addition to the routine conference with Marvin Hanson, road administrator, the court will consider purchasing a ripper for the back of a tractor.

Larry Green of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission will confer with the court on another matter. Mrs. Virginia Black, county auditor, will present bills.

A SLOW LEARNER MAY HAVE OTHER PROBLEMS

Often a young child that does not keep up with the rest of his class is singled out by his classmates as a subject for teasing. This in turn causes resentment by the child and can lead to definite anti-social behavioral problmes.

Very frequently the reason for so-called slow learning may be due to a physical impairment such as poor eyesight, bad hearing or a speech problem. If you have a child who is doing poorly in the early grades it may not be his fault. Have your physician check it out before the problem gets serious.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

Changes In Farm Program Rehashed

Changes in the farm program for 1974 are noted in a newsletter by J. G. Hammack Jr., manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office in the federal building.

Common provision for both the cotton and grain sorghum programs include no set-aside or conserving-base uses; a $20,000 limit per person for all programs combined (does not apply to loans); skip row planting same as 1973; no limit on planted acres for either crop. Also, special payments may be made to farmers who are prevented from planting or lose the crop by natural disaster, or who fail to produce two-thirds of a normal crop.

Cotton provisions include a national allotment of 11,000,000 acres (up one million); a target price of 38 cents a pound (with payments to be determined after Jan. 1, 1975 and based on the difference between the target and the highest loan or the average market price). Cotton must be planted to earn a payment, unless prevented from planting due to natural disaster.

Allotments can be protected by planting non-conserving or a conserving crop for hay or grazing. At least 90 per cent of the allotment must be planted (or excused). Methods for establishing allotment is the same as now.

The preliminary loan rate for middling one-inch cotton is 25.26 cents a pound, but this may be adjusted to reflect influence of world markets. Transfer by lease or sale can be made to farms with no allotment.

Grain sorghum and barley are feed grain for 1974, and there will be a feed grain allotment for 1974 instead of a base. Payment if any, will be on the entire allotment rather than half the base and the allotment will be 68 per cent of what the base would have been. National allotment is 89 million acres. Target price for milo is $2.34 cwt; barley $1.13; national average loan rate is $1.88. Payments will be made after March 1, 1975.

Borden Road Job Okayed

The Texas Highway Commission has approved development of 4.5 miles of Farm to Market Roads in Borden County as a part of the 1973 Texas Farm to Market Road Program.

District Engineer J. C. Roberts, Abilene, said estimated cost of the work in the county is $202,300.

This project on FM 1054 will provide an all-weather road between U.S. 180 and FM 1584 and will be under the supervision of Joe H. Smoot, supervising resident engineer in Big Spring.

Work authorized for this county is part of the 559.4 miles of paved secondary roads statewide which will be developed in this program.

A total of 261.6 miles will be newly designated roads. The remainder of the $22.2 million program will develop Farm and Ranch to Market Roads and recreational roads which previously have been designated as part of the state-maintained highway network. The additional mileage brings total mileage of the FM-RM system to almost 41,000 miles.

More Than 1,000 Are Now In UTPB

Enrollment swept past 1,000 before initial registration closed at noon Sept. 1 for the first semester at The University of Texas of the Permian Basin, the largest of the state's upper-level universities.

Official figure at the end of regular sign-up was 1,012, and the number was expected to swell to near 1,100 by the end of late registration this weekend.

George Louis Schaider, 20-year-old accounting major from LaPorte, Tex., was the first student to complete registration at UT Permian, and the 1,000th student to pass through the registration lines was Sandra K. Slay, 26-year-old physical education major from Dallas.

Special Entertainment At Howard County Fair

The Howard County Fair, stirring itself after a 20-year slumber, was making noises this weekend for its awakening Sept. 17 — a week from Monday.

The Fair, embracing virtually every aspect of community life, will be opened officially at 6 p.m. Sept. 17 with ribbon-cutting ceremonies arranged by Mrs. Horace Garrett. Among guests will be State Sen. Jack Hightower, who will be honored at First Federal Community room at a 4 p.m. reception, Rep. Renal Rosson, county officials, etc.

There will be an array of agricultural exhibits, displays of needlework and clothing, art, flowers, hobbies, horticultural products, field crops, etc.

Sleek livestock also will be on display including the traditional show for 4-H and FFA swine, which will be up for sale. There will be examples of club steers.

A horse show is on tap, and there will be a spot in the fair for children to get to touch barnyard pets.

There will be something new and exciting — a tractor pull, being sponsored by the Howard County Agricultural Club through the Fair.

Another action-packed event will be the motorcycle rodeo.

Not the least of unusual exhibits will be the array of more than 30 inside commercial exhibits, housed in a special 60x120-ft. tent, as well as several outside exhibits including implement and tractor dealers, etc., according to Ron McNeil, chairman of this division.

The women's division is headed by Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins, who has experienced a splendid response.

Besides all the other activity, there will be special entertainment, bands, etc. sprinkled throughout the show, according to Arnold Marshall, entertainment chairman.

And, of course, there will be a carnival with its variety of rides, merry-go-round, ferris wheel and other apparatus and games.

All of this is being made possible through the generosity of the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo, and Howard County, which have made facilities available, said Johnnie Walker, president. He is being aided by James Barr, general superintendent and Gerald Miller, vice president.

Nab Two After Local Robbery

Herbert Hodges of Lubbock reported to local police that he had been robbed at Sam's Place at 11:16 p.m. Saturday.

Two arrests have been made in connection with the incident, according to police detectives here and "there will probably be one more." One of those arrested is a juvenile. The other is a woman out on bond, charged with robbery by assault.

Big Spring Area Residents Interested In Board Funds

A number of grants to be brought up for consideration at the monthly board meeting of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission Wednesday noon at Terminal will be of special interest to the Big Spring area.

Among the list is a $193,000 project from the Texas Highway Department in Martin County to grade and surface 5.6 miles which will involve cutting a new strip of roadway on FM 3263.

In Howard County the highway department is seeking approval for a $2,600,000 project on IH 20 for minor safety improvements which will include extended culverts, redesign of ramps and adjustments of guard rails from Martin County line to the Eastland County line. Only 33.5 miles pertain to Howard County which has an estimated construction cost of $306,000.

Another grant up for consideration is Lamesa-Dawson County Community Action Council with a proposed $33,974 grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity and $61,529 from the Department of Health Education and Welfare. This includes work in their planning office, cooking and canning classes, sewing classes, Meals on Wheels and other programs already in progress, such as Head Start.

Another item that is of interest in this area is consideration of a resolution accepting the review and comment of the Alcoholism Advisory Committee on the grant application of the Big Spring State Hospital.

The grant application is titled "Use of Chicago Counselor and Community Follow-up as an Aid to Treatment of Alcoholics."

The grant total which would come from HEW through the Texas Commission on Alcoholism would be $158,192 and would also include $47,671 in local hospital funds.

The projects, which would last from Dec. 1, 1973 through Nov. 30, 1974, would be designed to provide bilingual counseling to Mexican-American in-patients at the Big Spring State Hospital and to establish follow-up counseling services in the large population areas for former hospital alcoholics and their families.

The hospital will contract with the mental health and mental retardation centers in the cities of Lubbock, San Angelo, Midland and Odessa for the supervision of follow-up services and will administer directly follow-up services in Howard, Ward, Pecos and Reeves counties.

Admit Mistake

Jean Adams

TEEN FORUM

REUNION; (Q.) A month ago I broke up with Robin. I told all my friends I was through with her. I bet one boy $5 I would never date her again. I was wrong. A week ago I asked her out and she said yes.

Now my friends make fun of me. They laugh at me when they see Robin and me together. Please tell me what to do. I love Robin but I am embarrassed when I am with her — Love in Alabama.

(A.) You made a mistake. You had no trouble telling me about it. Tell your friends the same thing, openly. They will respect you for it because they know it takes guts to admit a mistake.

Next time think before you talk, or make bets.

FRIENDSHIP: (Q.) I am losing my best friend!

Last month my family had a cookout. She came and met my cousin. He is cute and has a great personality. Hhey are just right for each other, but I am not totally happy about it.

The reason is that now he is seeing a lot of her and I'm not.

We've been friends four years and I want to be friends with her for many more. Please help me keep my friendship with her without breaking them up. — Lonesome in Massachussetts.

(A.) You are not losing a friend. Your friend is just maturing, as girls do, and she prefers to spend more of her time with boys.

This is as natural as the sunrise, and you can adjust to it. Ask her to visit you or let you visit her at times when she is not busy with your cousin.

Better still, ask her to help you find a boy friend. Then you can double-date and be together as well as with your boy friends.

Tractor Pull In 4 Classes

Things are shaping up for the big tractor pull as part of the Howard County Fair attraction two weeks hence.

Sponsor of this event the evening of Sept. 20, is the Howard County Agriculture Club, which announced that entry blanks may be obtained from M. A. Snell at the First National Bank or Box 1351, Big Spring, 79720.

There will be four field classes for tractors.

One is for 7,000-9,000 pounds; another for 9,000-12,000 and one in the same weight for turbo tractors; and finally one for 12,000 to 15,000.

The pull at 7 p.m. will be in the arena of the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo bowl, and rules for the National Tractor Pullers Association will be used.

The entry fee is $20 for each class entered, club officials said. It may be paid at the time of the weigh-in at the Big Spring Co-op Gin Sept. 20 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Tickets will be available at the arena gate.

In other places in this area, tractor pulls have created considerable interest, and in the agricultural belt further north where they have been held for several years, they draw big crowds.

To Run His Own Paper

HOUSTON (AP) — John O. Emmerich Jr., assistant to the president of the Houston Chronicle, announced today he is leaving his post to become president of Emmerich Enterprises, Inc., which publish the McComb, Miss., Enterprise-Journal and the Greenwood, Miss., Commonwealth.

Emmerich will be editor and publisher of the Commonwealth, a daily afternoon newspaper. Emmerich's father, Oliver, editor and publisher of the McComb Enterprise-Journal for 40 years, will continue in that position.

Emmerich was managing editor of the McComb Enterprise-Journal, a reporter on the Minneapolis Tribune and news editors of the Baltimore Evening Sun before he joined the Chronicle in 1965 as an associate editor. He was editorial page editor before being named assistant to the president.

"We are very sorry to lose John because he has contributed greatly to The Chronicle and to the city of Houston," said J. V. Johnson, president of The Chronicle. "By the same token, I'm very happy for him because this is a new challenge for him to run his own newspaper."

Men, Birds Listen When She Whistles

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — When Mrs. David Bennett Nash puts her fingers to her mouth to whistle, birds as well as people stop to listen.

The former Fort Worth hardware executive has been entertaining audiences with her bird calls and music since the early 1930s. Today, she says she finally can fool a cardinal into following her call.

Mrs. Nash learned the sophisticated whistling technique in her musical family. She says she uses her fingers like a reed and has three finger positions to achieve different sound ranges.

"My father listened to the birds in North Carolina where he grew up. My mother played the piano and at family prayer meetings every morning she would play and my father would whistle," Mrs. Nash said.

She uses voil, violin and flute solo music with piano accompaniment and has a wide repertoire of bird calls, including those of the lark, phoebe, oriole and red tanager.

"Often I listen to the Texas mockingbird to get my bird calls. He mocks them all," she said.

Mrs. Nash has performed in a federal prison, for music clubs, USO clubs, churches and at the 1965 Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

During World War II Mrs. Nash performed for mental patients as a Grey Lady volunteer at the Public Health Service Hospital in Fort Worth. "They mostly were men with battle fatigue. I'd whistle for them, and sometimes they would respond to that."

Mrs. Nash said she must have whistled with "every big name band in the country" at national hardware conventions she attended with her late husband, owner of Fort Worth's Nash Hardware Co. and member of a pioneer Fort Worth family.

Communes Cast Aside Like Toys

By JURATE KAZICKAS
Associated Press Writer

TAOS, N.M. (AP) — Communes, the promised lands of the drop-out generation, struggle on.

Once, in the flower child days of the 1960s, they numbered into the thousands. But that era has passed and the lustre has faded.

Some have outlasted bitter winters with firm commitments to till the land. Some have shifted emphasis, from drugs to Jesus, from farming to handicrafts. Some have lingered only because their people have no place else to go.

But many more have disappeared, cast aside like yesterday's toys.

"There's just no standard definition of what the phenomenon is," said Dr. Bennett Berger, a sociologist at the University of California at San Diego. "Some have no good reason why they should survive, but they do."

DANCE BAREFOOT

At the height of the movement, the focus was on northern New Mexico, with its wooded hills, arid land and desert vistas. There were 30 communes in the region several years ago. Today there are about a dozen.

At one, police recently searched for a man who allegedly threatened the life of President Nixon, a charge which later was dropped. The land has been given away to a guru and commune members are packing to leave.

At another, tourists are welcomed on Sundays and dance barefoot with members. The commune dwellers work in the gardens, pray together and build more homes. It flourishes.

At a third, lost children of the revolution, ex-convicts and young girls in animal skins ignore the filth and wretchedness of their surroundings to talk with bravado of a free world.

The first is called Morningstar. Morningstar is four years old and nearing the end. Once it was an open-air crash pad for hundreds of itinerant backpackers and a home of dozens of committed landlovers. Now the dozen dwellers are moving on.

WINOS

"It was such a dream commune in the beginning," said Mark, 17, who came to Morningstar three years ago after fleeing his California home. "We worked in the gardens, helped with the mudding of the houses, dug ditches, raised horses. Then all these people started coming and took a lot of our energy away. It all fell apart.

"There were the winos who did nothing but sit around and drink. Then came the metaphysicals who kept turning on with their peyote. And then about a year ago the revolutionary trip began. Everybody had a gun. It was just something else to do."

Morningstar was an open commune — no one was ever turned away and one member feels that may have been its undoing.

Lama Foundation, in contrast, welcomes visitors once a week but only permits new members who are committed to a religious search, and they must be approved unanimously by the members.

DAYLIGHT — Wide receiver John Thomas Smith splits the Lubbock Monterey defense Friday in Memorial Stadium and completes a 29-yard pass play from Tom Sorley by scoring Big Spring's only touchdown of the night. Plainsmen moving in too late are Terry Pierce (47) and Brad Harrelson (15). Monterey turned back the Steers in the season opener for both teams, 11-7. See story, Page 2-B.

Cornhuskers Romp Past UCLA, 40-13

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Quarterback Steve Runty, after two seasons in reserve, drew his first starting assignment Saturday and teamed with sophomore back Tony Davis to propel Nebraska to a 40-13 victory over UCLA in the season's first matchup of Top Ten football powers.

The 5-foot-11 Runty, filling in for injured David Humm, ran for one touchdown and passed for another in the nationally televised clash between a Nebraska Cornhusker crew rated fourth in The AP preseason ratings and a Bruin team ranked 10th.

Davis, a 212-pounder, scored two second-half touchdowns, one a 43-yard scamper in the fourth quarter to put the game out of reach.

The victory gave a victorious sendoff to the head coaching career of Tom Osborne, successor to Bob Devaney, and avenged the 20-17 upset by which UCLA snapped a 32-game unbeaten Husker win streak one year ago.

Nebraska started out to make it a rout, running up a 14-0 first-quarter lead, headlined by a 77-yard punt return for a touchdown by Randy Borg.

But a Nebraska fumble in the waning moments of the first quarter, recovered by Jim Bright on Nebraska's 14, put UCLA on the scoreboard. Kermit Johnson ran 12 yards for the tally.

UCLA scored again with 11 seconds remaining in the first half, after Nebraska had pulled in front 20-6. Quarterback Mark Harmon plunged for three yards and UCLA trailed by only seven, 20-13, at the half.

The two Davis touchdowns and a final TD by Jeff Moraz after the intermission assured the Nebraska triumph before the 59th consecutive Memoria Stadium sellout crowd.

Player Takes Lead In Southern Open

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — South Africa's Gary Player, rounding into superstar form once again after recent surgery, mastered intense heat and carved out a 67 Saturday for a two-stroke margin after 54 holes of the $100,000 Southern Open Golf Tournament with a 201 total.

The 36-year-old Player, winner of 88 tournament victories, closed in on his first 1973 triumph after second round leader John Schroeder faltered in the 90-plus degree heat with a three-over par 73.

Forrest Fezler was second, two strokes back at 203 and a 66 while defending champion DeWitt Weaver and Jerry McGee shot 67s to get within four shots of the lead at 205.

Schroeder also was at 205 after his round which was demolished by a triple-bogey seven on the par-four, 487-yard fifth hole, the same one tha hurt Grier Jones' chances.

Jones, also two strokes bacl entering Saturday's play, had a double bogey on that hole an finished with 73 for 207.

Heading a group at 206 wa 1970 Southern winner Mason Rudolph and Curtis Sifford They each shot 69s Saturday.

In a group at 207 was unher alded Dick Rhyan, who ran of a spectacular 63 that misse the course record of 62 set tw years ago in the tournament b Bobby Mitchell.

Court Wins Open; Kodes Rips Smith

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — The veteran Margaret Court of Australia reclaimed her women's crown, winning the title for the fifth time and a scrambling little Czech named Jan Kodes dropped a bombshell Saturday upsetting the topseeded Stan Smith in the U.S. Open Tennis Championship.

The 31-year-old Mrs. Court, from far off Perth, fashioned one of the greatest performances of her career in beating her 22-year-old Australian heiress apparent Evonne Goolagong 7-6, 5-7, 6-2.

Immediately she leveled a challenge at the person who has hurt her most Bobby Riggs.

"I would like another go at him," indeed the queen of the courts said. "I am playing at my peak."

The day's high drama, however, was provided in the final match — a two hour, 57 minute marathon between Smith and Kodes, marked by controversy and finished in near darkness with even the linesman almost unable to see the ball.

Kodes won the unique, exciting duel 7-5, 6-7, 1-6, 6-1, 7-5, breaking Smith's service in the 11th game of the final set and then winning his service without loss of a point.

A record crowd of 15,137 filled the big concrete horseshoe at the West Side Tennis Club and most of them stayed glued to their seats until the final ball was hit — a Smith forehand that soared over the backline.

Memphis State Dumps Louisville

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Fullback Clif Taylor led a touchdown assault by Memphis State's fleet of swift backs that carried the Tigers to a 28-21 football victory over Louisville Saturday night.

The 196-pound Taylor, a senior with 9.6 speed, scored on runs of two and five yards as the Tigers spoiled the debut of Louisville's new head coach, T. W. Alley.

Dan Darby and Dornell Harris, two speedsters who alternate at tailback, also scored, Darby sprinting six yards and Harris diving two yards for a touchdown.

Aaron Slams 709th Homer

ATLANTA (AP) — Henry Aaron pulled within five home runs of equalling Babe Ruth's record 714 Saturday night when he cracked his 709th career homer.

The 39-year-old Atlanta Braves' slugger connected in the seventh inning of the game against the Cincinnati Reds. The shot came against Jack Billingham on a 1-1 pitch.

Aaron now has hit 36 home runs this season. Aaron hit his 34th and 35th home runs of the season on Labor Day night, driving in three runs in Atlanta's 7-3 victory over San Diego.

Homer No. 709 gave Aaron the record for the most homers hit in one league. Babe Ruth hit 708 as an American League player, first for the Boston Red Sox and then the New York Yankees.

Toros Rally; Juniors Draw

The Toros downed the Brahmas as Big Spring High School's two freshman teams squared off and Runnels battled Goliad to a 0-0 draw in eighth grade action Saturday at Memorial Stadium.

Tommy Churchwell hauled in a 55-yard scoring pass from Bubba Stripling for the Toros' winning points in the game-type scrimmage. The clash was a regular game, except there were no kickoffs and all punts were fair caught.

For the Brahmas, fullback Jesse Doss was the standout.

Goliad's defense didn't allow Runnels a first down the entire session, but the offense couldn't make the big play as the Mavericks drove inside the Runnels 10-yard line three times but fumbled the ball away each time.

Pacing the Goliad charge were quarterbacks Mike Thompson and Wade Cobb, backs Mike Egan, Joey Vasquez and Dan Robinson and split end Tommy Worsham. Defensively, Goliad coach Ben Neel praised linemen Tony Mann, Ismael Solis and Craig Richardson and Mitch Harris and linebacker Jeb Worthy.

The intracity rivalries will be renewed Nov. 10 in the last game of the season.

Mills Tops Field In Dallas Civitan

DALLAS (AP) — Veteran Mary Mills of Laurel, Miss., reeled off four birdies on the back nine en route to a two-under par 70 Saturday and the lead after 36 holes in the $35,000 Dallas Civitan Women's Open.

Forsan Nabs 26-0 Opening Grid Win

FORSAN — The youngsters did most of the damage Saturday night as Forsan blanked the Stanton Junior Varsity 26-0 in the season lidlifter for both teams.

Freshman Ralph Miranda threw a pair of touchdown passes to sophomore halfback Gary Turner to highlight the tilt, postponed from Thursday because of rain.

Miranda and Turner combined for a 10-yard completion in the first quarter to open scoring for the Buffaloes. A run for two extra points was stopped short.

In the second stanza, junior tailback Landon Soles scampered nine yards on a quick pitch, and Miranda shot over for the two extra points for a 14-0 bulge.

Forsan got on the scoreboard once more before the intermission, as Miranda found Turner once again for a 35-yard touchdown to give the Buffs a 20-0 advantage.

The last Buffalo score came midway through the fourth period as defensive back David Crooks picked off a Gary Hanson pass and returned it 60 yards for a TD.

Forsan gets back into action Friday night when the Buffs visit Roscoe, while Stanton's JVs look for their first win against Sands' Mustangs in Ackerly.

Nicklaus Tied By Weiskopf

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Tom Weiskopf came from four strokes back with a late rally and tied Jack Nicklaus for the first-round lead Saturday in the World Series of Golf.

Each encountered a variety of problems en route to matching 71s, one-over-par on the vast, rolling acres of the 7,180-yard Firestone Country Club course.

Johnny Miller had a 73 and troubled Tommy Aaron struggled to a 76 in this event that brings together the winners of pro golf's Big Four championships.

The final round of this two-day, 36-hole chase for a $50,000 first prize will be played Sunday.

Nicklaus, a four-time winner of this tournament, jumped out to a quick lead, then blew it with bogeys on two of his last three holes.

The most dramatic action came on the 16th, "The Monster," a 625-yard par five.

The Golden Bear owned a three-stroke lead when he punched his third shot toward the green.

It just failed to carry and plugged in the muddy bank on a side of a pond guarding the front of the green.

After considerable searching, Nicklaus located the ball, took his right shoe off and stepped into the slimy water.

Demont Beaten By Australian

BELGRADE (AP) — Steve Holland, Australia's 15-year-old swimming wonder, held off the United States' Rick DeMont to win the 1,500-meter freestyle in a fantastic world record time of 15:31.85 at the World Swimming Championships Saturday night.

Holland set the previous record of 15:37.80 this summer.

He has now knocked 20 seconds off the mark in just two months.

Rangers Hire Controversial Martin

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Billy Martin, 45, whose run-in with American League President Joe Cronin over the spitball cost him his job at Detroit, was signed to a multi-year contract Saturday by Texas Ranger owner Bob Short.

"This speaks as of this date of the success of this franchise in Texas," Short said as he introduced Martin at a packed news conference. "I know he will win."

Cronin suspended Martin for three days after the fiery former New York Yankee star ordered his pitchers to throw greaseballs. Jim Campbell, the general manager of the Tigers, fired Martin last month, acknowleging "he did a good job from foul line to foul line."

Martin, who piloted the Tigers to the AL Eastern division title last year and was fired at Minnesota after a confrontation with owner Calvin Griffith, said, "I can make no great promises."

Martin said, "I think we will have a fine club here. I've been beat by them. They have good speed and good arms."

Martin, who had a .257 lifetime batting average in the major leagues, said he will spend the rest of the season evaluating the talent of the Rangers who have the worst team in the major leagues.

He added, "We will also be trying to win the rest of the season. Winning is everything."

Asked how he felt about his job security with Short, who fired Whitey Herzog Friday night after Herzog only had 10 months on the job, Martin said, "I'm a two-time loser and losing jobs doesn't worry me."

Short said he had spoken with Griffith Campbell and Cronin about hiring Martin.

"They wished him well," Short said. "They were happy he is still in the American League. In fact, Griffith told me he hoped I signed Martin before Monday so he could start selling tickets."

Season Opener Letdown For Steers; MHS Wins

(Photo by Danny Valdes)

GOING DOWN — Big Spring halfback Andre Hurrington gets tripped up by Lubbock Monterey defenders Friday in Memorial Stadium, as teammate Lonnell Banks (right) comes back to help out too late. Coming in to make the final stop for the Plainsmen are Gary Hampton (55) and Larry Horn (61). Monterey won the season opener, 11-7.

By JACK COWAN

Lubbock Monterey's Plainsmen were far from fancy, but they made up for any lack of originality with an abundance of power Friday night in an 11-7 season-opening victory over the Big Spring Steers.

The Steers, who gave up most of their ground in the middle of soggy Memorial Stadium, waited until the second half to display any of their offensive punch and almost pulled it out for Bob Burris, who was making his debut as the Steer head coach.

But the Plainsmen, ranked No. 6 in one state-wide Class AAAA poll, applied pressure at will to the passing arm of Longhorn quarterback Tom Sorley and faced only fleeting moments of danger.

One of those trying times came late in the game when Sorley heaved a desperation fourth down bomb to Ronald McKee, who appeared to be shoved at the 20-yard line to many of the 6,000-plus fans looking on. But the official was close by and elected not to throw a flag, drawing mass disapproval from the Big Spring side of the stadium.

"We've got a long way to go," said Burris after viewing films of the game, which gave Monterey a 6-1 edge in the over-all series with the Steers. "Our pass protection was poor, not only in the line but also among our backs.

"Actually, I feel like we just didn't execute. Period."

The coach said that minor problems mounted up and played a key part in the outcome, also. "We just can't afford to have that many fumbled snaps from center like we had Friday. Also, we have to be in better shape after this. We've just got to get tougher, physically."

While a goal line stand at the one-yard line in the second quarter drew raves, there were still worries with the Steer defense that gave up ground generously through the middle and fell prey to endless reverses. "The reverses were what hurt us. That's just a case of not staying at home when we should," Burris said.

Monterey had 261 yards on the ground to make up for a non-existent passing attack. The depth of the Lubbock school showed up vividly on the offense, as no less than four running backs were regular contributors.

Lane McNamara led the way while Ricky Keith added 86 steps on 18 tries.

For Big Spring, Andre Hurrington picked up 20 yards on five carries.

After a discouraging first half which netted only five yards total offense and not a single pass completion, the Steers spotted Monterey a touchdown and an 11-0 advantage before mounting an offense.

Sorley, who dodged onrushing Plainsmen most of the night, pinpointed a pass to sure-handed John Thomas Smith inside the Monterey five-yard line and the rangy split end carried it in to complete a 29-yard scoring play. Doug Smith toed the extra point to make it 11-7 with 4:55 remaining in the third quarter.

The Steers appeared to take command on the ensuing kickoff when Lawrence Byrd pulled down a fumble by Monterey return man Marlin Hamilton at the Plainsmen's 19-yard line.

But on first down Sorley underthrew his receiver on a side-line pattern and Guy Davis intercepted it at the 20. It was Davis who also fell on a Sorley fumble just moments later, setting the Plainsmen up at the Steer 36.

Big Spring got two chances at scoring opportunities in the first period, once when Keith fumbled on the first play of the game and again when John Thomas Smith returned a punt to the Monterey 40. But the 'Horns could penetrate no deeper than the 23 either time and ran out of downs.

Early in the second quarter Bob Collyar fell on Lonnell Banks' fumble at the Steer 27, and a 16-yard run by McNamara brought the Plainsmen within field goal range. On fourth and seven from the eight Anderson, who had earlier missed a 43-yard field goal try, put a 25-yard attempt through the uprights for a 3-0 edge with 9:47 left in the half.

On their next possession the Plainsmen bulled their way to the Steer one-yard line where Larry Lambert was stopped on fourth down. But after Sorley was stopped for no gain on the Steers' first down at the one, Banks was tackled for a safety on a handoff from deep in the I formation with 2:30 left in the first half.

Monterey carried that 5-0 lead to the dressing room at the intermission, but jumped it to 11-0 midway through the third stanza when Ricky Keith powered over from 12-yards out. That followed Larry Horn's recovery of a Sorley fumble at the Big Spring 10, and came with 5:39 left in the third period. Anderson's PAT attempt was no good.

It took the Steers just 44 seconds to match that TD, as Sorley hit McKee with a pair of 10-yard completions and an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty moved the ball into Monterey territory. Then came Sorley's strike to John Thomas Smith, which Smith pulled in despite a pass interference call.

Wynn Ignites Astro Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jim Wynn belted a two-run homer and Cesar Cedeno added a solo homer in a three-run, fifth inning rally that carried the Houston Astros to a 9-7 victory over San Francisco Saturday, snapping the Giants' seven-game win string.

A pair of walks, Bob Watson's run-scoring single and Lee May's two-run double gave the Astros a 3-0 lead in the first inning off loser Ron Bryant, 21-10.

Robbins' Vandals Smother UTEP

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — Marshall Brantley, 180-pound junior running back, scored three touchdowns in leading the University of Idaho to a 62-14 football victory over Texas-El Paso.

Idaho, led by former Big Spring coach Don Robbins, scored 10 times and held the Texas squad to two touchdowns, both involving passes from quarterback Frank Duncan to receiver Lonnie Crittenden, a senior who last year was the nation's 19th best pass receiver.

Municipal Sets Louisiana Draw

The Big Spring Golf Association today is having its last tournament of the current season prior to its grand tournament in October.

Play will be Louisiana Draw (best ball of each foursome is played), and the entry fee is $3 per player. A shotgun start will kick off the play at 1:30 p.m. over the Muny course.

The grand tourney is slated for Oct. 7 and Oct. 14.

TAHOKA TUMBLES, 26-6

Stanton Buffaloes Roll

TAHOKA — A rebounding Stanton Buffalo squad opened the season with a breezer Friday, battering the Tahoka Bulldogs 26-6 in the football lidlifter for both squads.

Fullback Mark Eiland scored three Stanton touchdowns, two on runs and one on a pass reception, as the Buffs rolled to the 26-6 advantage in the third quarter. Eiland ended the night with 112 yards on 17 carries.

Over-all, the Buffs rolled up an impressive 306 rushing yards, with 56 more coming through the air. Tahoka had 195 yards total offense and six first downs.

Eiland sprinted 27 yards for the Buffaloes' first touchdown with just 53 seconds gone off the Tahoka Stadium clock. Vernon Brown booted the visitors to a 7-0 lead.

Late in the half Eiland got his second marker of the night on a five-yard blast over the middle, but Brown's PAT attempt was blocked.

Just a few seconds later, with 3:22 left in the half, Tahoka got back in the game with a 35-yard scoring toss from Weldon Warren to Terry McCord.

But the Buffaloes came up with a back-breaker just before the half ended, when quarterback Bill Howard tossed to Eiland for 11 yards and a touchdown with six seconds remaining for a 19-6 Stanton bulge at the intermission.

Mitchell Irvin blasted two yards for another six-pointer in the third stanza and Brown booted the conversion point for the final margin.

Longhorn Junior Varsity Rallies To Bounce Snyder

The Big Spring Steer Junior Varisty roared back from a 16-6 third quarter deficit Saturday at Blankenship Field and scored a 20-16 triumph over the Snyder JVs.

Quarterback Ronnie Mullins scored the go-ahead touchdown late in the fourth quarter on a 15-yard keeper and Greg Spears tacked on two extra points as the Steer JVs completed their surge.

The game was the first of the year for both teams.

Halfback Jerry Marquez opened scoring for both teams in the first period on a four-yard scamper, but Snyder went ahead 8-6 in the second period on a long breakaway play.

Snyder came out strong in the second half, and upped the margin to 16-6 with a 14-play, 96-yard scoring drive that ended with a two-yard plunge. Two conversion points gave the visitors their final total.

Eric Franks prompted the Steers' comeback effort with a 45-yard jaunt through the middle, but an unsuccessful try for two extra points left Snyder in the lead 16-12 before Mullins put the Steer Juniors on top.

Junior Varsity coach David Verner praised fullback Del Brown for his blocking, and also had kind words for the play of tackle Buford Howell on the offensive unit. Defensively, tackle Danny Sherman, linebacker Ricky Watkins and end Celestino Correa drew the coach's praise.

Next action for the Big Springers is Saturday at 10 a.m. when they host the Coahoma Junior Varsity at Coahoma Memorial Stadium.

Brownwood's Win Over CHS Stuns

Brownwood's Lions might not have delivered the knockout punch, but their convincing 28-0 triumph over Dist. 5-AAAA's favored Abilene Cooper Cougars Friday in Brownwood certainly prompted the rest of the league to begin looking around.

Cooper's setback was the focal point of Friday's slate that saw 5-AAAA register a 4-3 mark. Odessa High, ranked high among the state's AAAA units, was dealt a surprising 13-12 defeat by Amarillo High in another eye-catcher, while San Angelo was the most impressive victor in its 41-7 rout of Dallas Bryan Adams.

Elsewhere in the district Friday, Big Spring dropped a 11-7 decision to Lubbock Monterey, Odessa Permian smacked El Paso Coronado 36-8, Midland squeezed past Amarillo Tascosa 22-21 and Abilene rallied to trim Sweetwater 15-13 Midland Lee and Lubbock High played Saturday night.

Cooper's downfall was the rushing show of Richard Riggins, who struck for 87 yards on 13 carries. Brownwood held the Cougars to 136 yards total offense and five first downs in the upset, and held a 21-0 edge at the half.

San Angelo rolled up over 450-yards total offense against the Dallas school, with quarterback David Dodson leading the way. Dodson hit on 12 of 16 passes and sparked a 251-yard aerial barrage.

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

Once again I'm a victim of mixed feelings. Of course someone needed to slap down Commissioner Pete Rozelle concerning his stand on television blackouts in the NFL, but somehow the circumstances under which the change is coming grates hard on my nerves. Sort of like rubbing cardboard together, or screeching chalk across a blackboard.

For years, football fans have wondered why they couldn't be allowed to watch their pro team on TV when the home game had been sold out ever since the little man went out and opened the ticket stand. They can't get into the sadium, and they can't watch the thing on TV. It's a wonder pro fooball hasn't lost more frustrated fans.

And so, great defender of the small folk that it is, Congress charges to the rescue and last week rushed through (by a vote of 76-6) a bill that would prohibit local blackouts for games sold out 72 hours in advance of the kickoff. The House is expected to do the same thing within a couple of weeks. Just in time for the season. Isn't that nice?

I certainly appreciate those fine people taking care of me that way, even though I wasn't exactly going to suffer the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune anyway, living way out here in West Texas.

The only thing that bothers me is . . . why did they wait until now? It's awfully strange that banning the blackouts was little more than idle talk until a year or so ago when the Washington Redskins began to kick off their image of being a doormat. And when the Redskins were winning home games and some fat congressman couldn't see it, well, it was time something should be done to stop those scoundrels.

* * * * * *

Really, I suppose Rozelle's not such a bad guy, even if he is a bit overly dramatic at times. He's just doing his job, I guess, which is to keep the owners happy, whether it's admitted or not.

Old Pete has some strange ideas, and he assumes the worst in all situations. He claims that if the television blackouts are lifted pro football will become a studio show. People will buy the tickets, but if the weather's not just right they'll want to sit home and watch the games, he says. And Rozelle, who thinks a whole bunch of audience participation, figures this will give the game an atmosphere of a silent movie, and will be the death blow in the end.

"Human nature is such that when people get accustomed to having something free, they are not likely to be enthusiastic about paying for it on other occasions," Rozelle told the Senators in early investigations.

Sen. John Pastore, for one, wasn't moved by Rozelle's pleas. "Peter, old boy, you are placing greed above the public interest. However, in the off chance your fears are confirmed, we'll give it a one-year test." So, passage of the bill is imminent, and Pete is sweating. He knows that there won't be any turning back, because once a privilege is granted to the public it's tough getting it revoked.

* * * * * *

Rozelle now finds himself in an awkward, negative position. He not only hopes for an early decline in attendance so he can say "I told you so," but he also curses the day George Allen was fired by the late Dan Reeves in Los Angeles, thus becoming available to the Redskins. Until the Redskins escaped mediocrity and became champions, there was no great concern among the congressmen for televised football at home.

I, for one, doubt there will be any serious fan shortages throughout the NFL. More than likely there is nothing like sitting in the stands at a Cowboy game and getting the not-so-cheap thrills of victory — or at least the anticipation of such. Football has too strong a grip on this country for anything critical to happen.

Lamesa Tors Rip Carlsbad

LAMESA — Lamesa High, well rated in most Class AAA polls, sacked a perennial New Mexico power, Carlsbad, 39-6, here Friday night after building up a 20-0 at half time.

Halfback Mike Miers put Lamesa on the board in the first period when he raced eight yards across the double stripes. Jerry Williams booted the PAT.

Lamesa scored twice in the second round when Melvin Robinson sprinted 74 yards and QB Kyle White passed 29 yards to end Jay Duncan. Pat Cody added the PAT on a kick after Robinson's score.

Lamesa made it 26-0 in the third when White broke loose on a 73-yard run.

Carlsbad finally got on the board in the fourth when halfback Frank Theregood broke loose on a 19-yard jaunt.

Halfback Kent McCurley scored again for Lamesa with 3:48 left in the game when he bruised five yards. Williams booted the extra point.

On the final play of the contest, reserve halfback Mark Mays swept end for 29 yards and another Lamesa score.

Lamesa made 302 yards rushing and another 29 passing while picking up 12 first downs. Carlsbad gained 180 yards rushing but only five passing while getting only nine down renewals.

Score by quarters:

Lamesa	7	13	6	13	—39

Coahoma Turns Back Broncos

SONORA — With memories of a disappointing defeat from a year ago still fresh in their minds, the Coahoma Bulldogs turned back Sonora's highly-regarded Broncos for a 14-12 season-opening victory Friday.

The Bulldogs jumped to a 14-0 edge, but looked for a while like they might fall to the same fate as in 1972 when the Broncs rallied for two fourth quarter touchdowns and a 21-20 triumph. But the Coahomans came up with the clutch plays, and batted down a two-point conversion pass after the Broncos had cut the margin to two points.

Fullback Putt Choate opened scoring for the Bulldogs with a 17-yard scamper in the first quarter, and Dean Wood booted the extra point. Early in the second period, the 'Dogs fell on a Sonora fumble at the Bronco nine, and Tim Tindol stepped off the distance on first down as Wood's PAT gave the Bulldogs their total for the night.

Sonora got back in the game when David Wallace returned the ensuing kickoff 82 yards for a touchdown, but a try for the extra point was no good.

The defense then took over until three minutes remained in the game, when Bruce Kerbow crashed over from one-yard out to cut the bulge to two points. A pass for two extra points was broken up.

The Bulldogs' victory, first over Sonora since the Class A Regionals in 1965, was a big boost for Coach Norman Roberts' group. "The defense just did a real great job. I couldn't single out any individuals. I think the whole bunch played a good game," Roberts said.

Roberts, however, said he was pleased with the play of sophomore end Mike Collier and junior linebacker Mike Martinez, who filled in for two-way starter Glenn Washburn. The senior letterman suffered a shoulder dislocation on the first play of the game and will be out for about four weeks.

The Bulldogs piled up 148 yards on the ground, with Eddie Padron picking up 71 yards on 14 carries to lead the way. Choate added 52 yards on 14 attempts, and Tindol managed 27 on nine tries.

Next action for the Bulldogs is Friday, when they visit Colorado City's Wolves.

Monahans Loboes Rack Colorado City By 39-0

MONAHANS — Held scoreless in the first period, the Monahans Loboes dominated play thereafter in mauling Colorado City, 39-0, here Friday night.

QB Wayne Petties scored the first three touchdowns for Monahans. He went 62 yards in the second to climax a 94-yard drive, came back later in the period to go in from the one at the end of a 37-yard drive and tallied in the third on a 40-yard sprint after intercepting o Colorado City pass.

Petties' second touchdown was set up after Dennis Swarb had intercepted a Wolf aerial.

A pass from Petties to David Cutbirth accounted for two extra points after Petties' second TD.

Richard Marenco counted for the Loboes late in the third at the end of a 55-yard surge on an 18-yard run.

Reserve running back Willie Walker scored twice for Monahans in the fourth on runs of two and 10 yards.

Colorado City mounted its most serious threat in the second, picking up a first down on Monahans' four-yard stripe. The Loboes, however, dug in to hold and ultimately gained possession on the Monahans six.

Score by quarters:

Monahans	0	12	14	13	—39
Colorado City	0	0	0	0	— 0

Pee Wee Tilts Slated Monday

Play opens Monday for the Big Spring Pee Wee Football Association, with four games on tap the first week for the local fifth and sixth graders.

Monday at 6 p.m. at Blankenship Field near the high school, the Eagles and Packers will kick the season off, followed by a 7:30 p.m. bout between the Redskins and the Rams.

Tuesday's action sends the Cowboys against the Dolphins at 6 p.m., with the Vikings and Oilers colliding in the 7:30 p.m. nightcap.

Trick Play Delivers Elks Past Garden City, 20-14

COTTON CENTER — The Cotton Center Elks turned a desperation trick pass play into a season-opening triumph here Friday night as they nudged Garden City's Bearkats 20-14 in District 1-B eight-man play.

With just over a minute remaining in the game, Elk quarterback Darrell Barrett threw a lateral pass to flanker Troy Burnett, who then hit end Morris Applewhite with a 50-yard scoring play and an 18-14 advantage. Barrett threw to Artis White for the final two points.

Cotton Center opened scoring in the first period on a 10-yard run by Barrett, but a PAT pass fell incomplete. Garden City tied the game on a 15-yard scamper by Charles Puga, with David Smith's conversion run giving the Bearkats an 8-6 bulge.

Just before the half the hosts regained the lead as Barrett threw to Davis for four yards and a touchdown, making the half-time tally 12-8.

Early in the fourth quarter Garden City scored again, this time on a seven-yard run by Smith, with an attempted pass for two extra points falling incomplete. Cotton Center's final scoring came with 1:23 remaining.

"Over-all we were pretty pleased, but we were disappointed we didn't win. I thought our kids outplayed them most of the night," said Bearkat head coach Greg Henderson.

Henderson said that offensively, quarterback Mike Batla did a good job of ball-handling and calling the plays, while Smith and Puga both looked good from the halfback spots. Center Joe Wooten rated the coach's praise for heading up the line effort.

Defensively, Henderson said the over-all effort was good, with Wooten, Smith, Batla, Mark Frysak and Chris Hirt turning in top performances.

Score by quarters:

Cotton Center	6	6	0	8	—20
Garden City	8	0	0	6	—14

SPORT FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By JERRY METCALF

Do you have any idea who was the biggest man ever to play pro football? . . . Answer is Les Bingaman who played for the Detroit Lions from 1948 through 1954 . . . He set the pro football record in 1954 when he weighed in at 349 pounds.

* * *

Here's a football oddity . . . There are 5-yard penalties in football and there are 15-yard penalties — but, oddly enough, there are no 10-yard penalties . . . And, nobody has ever come up with a good reason why there aren't any 10-yard penalties in football.

* * *

Can you imagine a football player scoring 100 points himself in one football game? . . . Did you know that such a feat was once accomplished? . . . Back in 1916, Leo Schlick of St. Viator College in Indiana scored 100 points against Lane College . . . Schlick had 12 touchdowns and kicked 28 extra points in that game, which his team won 205-0 . . . By the way, scores that high were not unheard of in 1916 . . . That same season, Georgia Tech, for example, beat Cumberland 222-0.

NEWS FROM THE SCHOOLS

GOLIAD JUNIOR HIGH

Pick Choir Leaders, Chess Club Meets

By BECKY RAGAN

The Goliad choir, led by Mr. Patrick Bizor, is making preparations to sell pecan nut candy the last two weeks in September. The top 10 choir members selling the most candy will be awarded $10 each. Two 8-track stereo tape decks will be awarded in a drawing also. Candy will sell for $1 per bar. If choir members work hard enough selling the candy, they will be able to have an ice cream banquet.

Choir session leaders were chosen last week. For second period, they are Day Williams, alto; Donna Hopkins, first soprano; Ann Clark, second soprano; Johnny Mize, tenor; and Herb Breeze, baratone. Fifth period chose Cindy Russell, alto; Shari Halvorson, first soprano; Lauri Dromsky, second soprano; Karl Evans, tenor; and Carlos Mata, baratone. Sixth period leaders are Teresa Ewing and Kathleen Spencer, alto; Nikki Tidwell, first soprano; and Julie Brown, second soprano.

The Goliad chess club, sponsored by Mr. Charles Arnold, had its first meeting last Wednesday, Sept. 5. Fourteen students were present. Officers elected were Robert Smith, president; Andre Couvbillion, vice president; and Herb president; Andre Couvillion, Any students wishing to do so are invited to attend future meetings.

The science club, sponsored by Mr. Adron Welch, will meet Tuesday, Sept. 11 in the school cafeteria from 7 to 8:30. Any student desiring to join should come to this meeting.

Librarians and office personnel are being assisted by two Howard County Junior College aides. They are Linda Reagan, library; and Connie Torres Marquez, office.

All library aides will be taught library skills next week. Mrs. Person, school librarian, said that there are a variety of new books on display for students' benefit.

The library club will have a meeting Wednesday, Sept. 12, during the eight grade advisory.

Boys physical education classes will begin football next week. Eighth grade girls will also begin football, while seventh grade girls start softball.

Miss Carmen Johnson, homemaking teacher, announced that her foods classes will begin cooking next week.

Goliad enrolled five new students this past week. In the seventh grade they are Kevin Hoggard and Cynthia Roberts. New eighth graders are Harry Banker, Sherri Hoggard and Teresa Weaver.

MONA HONEA, Jennie Kohanek, Kim Read, Janet Smolko and Dietra Fowler are the Coahoma Varsity Cheerleaders for this year.

RUNNELS JUNIOR HIGH

Leaders Named

By JENNIE SPEEGLE

The seventh and eighth grade choirs are taking orders for candy which they are selling. The candy, which is Stuckey's Pecan Roll, is selling for $1 a box. It is a divinity roll with candied cherries inside and is rolled in pecans. Each choir member is going to try to sell at least two and one half cases this year. There will be two stereo tape deck players given away as prizes for the leading sales people. A "mystery student" will receive $10 during classtime.

The seventh grade cheerleaders tried out on Tuesday, Sept. 4. Of the 27 girls who tried out, four were selected. Those four are Selena Jones, Yvonne Kimball, Cheryl Carter and Johnnie Mitchell. The alternate this year will be Patricia Cherry. The girls who tried out learned their yells from the eighth grade cheerleaders. Miss Harrison is sponsoring the cheerleaders.

The Runnels eighth grade football team played a scrimmage against Goliad Saturday the eighth at 1:30 p.m. The next eight grade football game will be out of town. They will be playing the Lamar team at Snyder on Sept. 13 at 6 p.m.

The seventh grade teams will play on Sept. 15 against Goliad at 9 a.m.

New students this week are Jami Dawn Knight, Cindy Deanne Stanton, Michael Dewayne Moore, Duane Kolhoff and Bonnie Anne DellaCamera.

The eighth grade girls PE classes started playing football last week.

Mrs. Upton, eighth grade girls PE class instructor is the Pep Club's sponsor this year. The girls are now getting organized and are having their uniforms made. They hope to be ready for the next game.

The library has been open for two weeks. Both seventh and eighth grade students have enjoyed reading the books.

COAHOMA

Spirit Boosted

By SHERRY GRIFFIN

The excitement of the first football game grew tense on Friday afternoon as the first pep rally was held. To promote the spirit this year for the Bulldogs will be Mona Honea, Senior and Head Cheerleader; Jennie Kohanek, Senior; Dietra Fowler, Junior; Kim Read, Sophomore; Janet Smolko, Freshman. Also helping promote the spirit will be the assistant cheerleaders. They are: Vonda Dunn, Junior; Debbie Fryrear, Sophomore; and Suzie Rupard, Freshman.

Members of the Student Council held a reception in the activity room Wednesday afternoon to greet the new exchange student Pablo Chiriboga. He arrived from Quito, Ecuador Wednesday. Pablo will attend Coahoma High School and will reside with Mrs. Doris Tiller, high school English teacher, for the first semester and Mr. Bill Easterling, high school principal, the second semester.

Juniors met Wednesday morning in the activity period to discuss their magazine selling project.

With football in the air Junior High Cheerleaders also begin to boost spirit for the Puppies. Eighth grade cheerleaders are: Cecilia Drake, Kerry Swann, Peggy Newton, and Becci Rowden. For the seventh grade, they are: Cindy Fryer, Christy Hudgins, Denise Ayers, and Penny Huckabee.

Pep squad met Thursday morning to discuss plans for suits and practice sessions. Practice sessions were set for Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday afternoons. Sponsors are: Miss Sue Ridlehubber, Miss Jo Lynn Flowers, Miss Jo Beth Tollefson, and Miss Teresa Connors.

HC Students Total 1,045

Registration on campus at Howard County Junior College hit 1,035 at closing time Friday. Another 35 in the Lamesa center and 101 in the San Angelo center ran the total registration for the first week to 1,161.

A figure of 1,056 on campus reported Thursday was in error.

However, the present campus total compares with 1,013 last fall, but it is less than the 1,055 for the spring semester when there was an unexpected increase in enrollment.

There was no registration at Lamesa a year ago, but in the spring Lamesa had 124 in that center when it was first opened. Officials said that many of these were vocational agriculture students or athletes taking college work under an accelerated program, and few of these would traditionally sign up for the autumn semester. Last spring the San Angelo center also had 124 enrolled.

Registration will continue through this week, but officials urged prospective students to register Monday or as soon as possible so as to not miss class work.

FORSAN

Band Elects Officers

By DOROTHY BANKS

The junior and senior classes of Forsan High School started work with magazine sales Tuesday. This will be one of the main projects used by the classes to raise money. The quota for each student selling magazines is set at $60 for the juniors and $75 for the seniors. The last day to turn in the sales will be Tuesday, Sept. 18.

New officers were elected for the Buffalo Band. The new officers are Kary Richardson, president; Billy Banks, vice president; and Letha Strickland, secretary-treasurer. The drum major for the band this year is Joe Moreno, a junior. Twirlers with the band are Becky Strickland, a senior; and Teresa Walls, a freshman.

A spirited pep rally was held for the Forsan football team Thursday. Cheerleaders this year are Karen Woodley (Head), a junior; Debra Fraley, a senior; Debbie Martin, a junior; Sheryl Fraley, a sophomore; and Letha Strickland, also a sophomore.

STANTON HIGH SCHOOL

FHA Club Meets

By CHERYL BRADSHAW

The Future Homemakers of America met Sept. 4 to elect officers for the 1973-74 school year. This years president is Ann Saunders; 1st vice president is Nancy Glynn; 2nd vice president, Darilynn Stewart; 3rd vice president, Barbara Trimble; secretary, Trica Shoemaker; treasurer, Deana Sisson; parliamentarian, Rosalind Welch; song leader, Karla Gregg; reporter, Karen Anderson; and historian, Gloria Simonek. Dues are $2 and Mrs. Florene King is the club sponsor.

The Future Teachers of America met Sept. 5 with Skeeter Straub presiding. They set dues for $2 per member and the deadline date for dues is Sept. 19. Those not paying the required dues by the set date will be dismissed from the club. Money making projects were discussed and the club voted to sell T-shirts with "Stanton High School" and the Buffalo mascot imprinted on the front of the shirts. Also discussed was the idea of entering a FTA float in the Homecoming Parade which will be held Sept. 21. The suggestion was approved by members and ideas for the float are to be given to Miss Sue Walker, FTA sponsor.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes have been meeting on Wednesdays after football practice. Officers for the FCA this year are Ronnie Dickenson, captain; Bill Howard, co-captain; H. A. Schuelke, secretary; Gordon Eiland, treasurer; and David Stanefer, bulletin chairman. The sponsors for the club are Jimmy Stallings, Delbert Dickenson, Paige Eiland and Bob Burns. Dues for this year are set for $5 per person. The FCA had a bake sale at the "Meet the Buffaloes Barbecue" held Tuesday night.

The annual staff for the Buffalo Roundup has been selling advertising in neighboring towns. They went to Midland Wednesday, Aug. 29, and Big Spring, Thursday, Aug. 30. The staff members are Dale Henson, editor; Nancy Glynn, assistant editor; Jackie Jones, business manager; Cheryl Bradshaw, assistant advisor; Jim Anastasio, dark room; and Mindy Haislip, layout. Two new members on the staff this year are Ronnie Henson and Rae Avery. The yearbook advisor is Mrs. Mary Haislip.

GARDEN CITY

Student Council Constitution Discussed

By BECKY SCHWARTZ

Monday, on account of Labor Day, no school was held.

Tuesday all classes met in their home rooms to discuss the Student Council Constitution. Each class then had the opportunity to bring up any new Articles to be put into the Constitution, or to revise the old ones. The Student Council will meet Monday to rewrite the constitution.

Wednesday the senior FHA girls met to plan freshman initiation. It was decided to have initiation next week. Seniors decided to have the freshman dress up crazy the first four days and Friday will be dress up day.

Thursday the Future Teachers of America held a meeting and discussed the state meeting to Dallas and to inform the new members of the constitution.

All during the week the pep squad made signs to put up in the halls to boost the football boys spirit for their first game of the season. The boys' bus left Friday, for Cotton Center, at 1 p.m. and the pep squad bus left at 2:30 p.m. Denise Plagens, Becky Hirt, Jacque Frerich, Pam Turner, Becky Schwartz, and Mark Werst put on a skit on the pep rally called "The Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy of Company B."

Tuesday the sophomore class met. They decided to sell candy two times during the year. Their class dues were set this year for $5. They elected Pam Schwartz and Harold Hoelscher as their student council representatives.

Wednesday, the family relations class decided to have a panel of adults to come to school Monday (Sept. 10) to answer any questions the class may have. The kids of the class picked parents out of the county to be on the panel. Terrela Campbell, Joanne Freetly, Terry Clinton and Roxanne Hirt are in charge of getting things set up for Monday.

Driving Course Offered

The Coahoma Lions Club is sponsoring a defensive driving course, but the class will be limited to 25. If there is sufficient interest, however, it will be repeated.

Those successfully completing the course will qualify for a 10 per cent reduction in drivers' insurance.

Persons interested are asked to contact Bill Read at the Coahoma State Bank in Coahoma.

Tentative plans are to start the class around Oct. 1.

Who's Who

KLONDIKE — Deana Ann Holcomb, senior in Klondike High School, has been notified she will appear in the seventh annual edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students (1973-74).

Deana is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Holcomb, Star Route, Stanton. She is active in 4-H livestock projects, sports, Future Homemakers of America and the pep squad. She was a cheerleader last year. Several of her steers and lambs have won at stock shows. Next year, Deana plans to attend Western Texas College in Snyder.

GRADY

Off And Running

By TAHITA BLAKE

Grady High School is off and running, and the results are pretty adequate. The total enrollment for the freshmen, sophomore and junior classes is 43.

The members for the annual staff have been selected for the forthcoming year. They are Teena Davenport, Tana Yates, Joanna Sawyer, Danny Crow, Mark Greenhaw, Jerry Holloway, Dave Hopper, Jana Wood, Tony Sawyer, Daniel Lozano, Debbie Hildreth, La Ree Baker, Leslie Welch and Tahita Blake. The sponsor for the Wildcat, Mr. Allan Wootan, suspects a very well organized staff has been selected for the initial high school year at Grady.

Class officers have been elected for this year, and these are the results. The junior class president is La Ree Baker; Dave Hopper, vice president; Mary Helen Rivas, secretary; Tony Sawyer, treasurer, and Danny Crow, reporter. Mrs. Ted Gates is the junior class sponsor.

Daniel Lozano was elected as sophomore president; J. C. Tunnell, vice president; and Joanna Sawyer, secretary. Mr. Ted Gates is the sophomore sponsor.

The freshmen chose Richard Parra as their president; Rose Ingram, vice president; Korrine Wight, secretary; and Ricky Hewtty, sergeant at arms. Coach Gary Harrell is the freshman sponsor.

Cheerleaders have been chosen for the 1973-74 school year. Those who will be leading the rooting for the Wildcats are Mary Helen Rivas, Anna Rivera and Korrine Wight. The first game on the schedule, as of now, is with Greenwood in the Grady gym on Oct. 26.

BIG SPRING HIGH

Class Officers Are Elected

By DRUANNE PRIDDY

This week was Howdy Week at Big Spring High. Along with the special for welcoming freshmen there was a Howdy Carnival and Dance. The New Lites played at the dance while on the patio a carnival was held by various clubs. The highlight of the dance was the announcement of this year's class officers. Elections were held Wednesday, Sept. 5 with runoff elections Friday, Sept. 7.

ELECTIONS

These are the following results in Friday's elections: Ronald McKee, president; Mavis Ray, vice president; Druanne Priddy, secretary; Debra Blackshear, treasurer. The junior class officers are: Karen Jenkins, president; Nancy Conway, vice president; Leslie Long, secretary; Linda Little, treasurer. The sophomore class officers are: Ronnie Mullins, president; McWhorter, vice president; Sherre Spraberry, secretary; and Sherry Lee, treasurer. The Fish class officers are Buba Stripling, president; Jill Odom, vice president; Lori Brown, secretary; and Dona Carpenter, treasurer.

Seniors are reminded that senior group pictures will be taken Thursday, Sept. 20 at 7:45 a.m. in front of the high school building. Pictures will be made by Goldbeck Studio of San Antonio.

Corral Magazine sales end this Friday, Sept. 14. A table will be set up in the cafeteria during the lunch periods for the students' convenience. Subscriptions are $1.50 for the year and there will be no individual sales.

If any student has turned in an application for free lunches, but has not received them yet, they should check with Mrs. Hoover in the principal's office. Your name may already be approved for free lunches.

Class pictures and faculty pictures will be made in room 119, the Journalism lab. This schedule is for freshmen, sophomore, juniors and faculty. All girls, boys and faculty should wear colorful clothing. Faculty will have their pictures made during their conference period or the early 8:15 morning schedule or the 7:30 to 8:30 Monday night schedule. Monday night, Sept. 10 from 7:30 to 8:30 band pictures will be taken. Tuesday and Wednesday advisories, study halls, office girls, organizations and volleyball pictures will be taken. Thursday morning at 7:30 varsity, junior varsity and sophomore football pictures will be taken.

HOROSCOPE

CARROL RIGHTER

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening to think in terms of what you can do for the good of humanity. Fine for getting out in the world of social graces and activities after being helpful to those in distress. Take the time to make long-range plans.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Fine day for showing friends kindness instead of expecting it from them. Engage in outside activities as much as you can. Retiring early is important so you can be fit for the new week.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) The right day for philanthropic work you have been wanting to do for some time. You can be especially helpful to others now. Correspond with friends and let them know what's on your mind. Show that you have wisdom.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Go to lectures where you can pick up inspiring ideas that can be helpful and profitable to you. A new friend can come into your life who can help you live a fuller, better life.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Tap your subconscious now and make notations that can be helpful to you later on. Your intuitions are very strong. Make a greater effort to please loved one. Use tenderness.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Showing appreciation to associates for their loyalty and helpfulness is wise today. Make new plans with them for the future. Spend more time with a loyal friend. Improve harmony at home.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Doing favors for relatives and good friends who have been kind and loyal to you makes this a very rewarding day. Deepen the affection for them, and vice versa. Take health treatments.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can have a delightful day at whatever you enjoy doing the most. Engage in that creative activity that brings you real pleasure. Take time to show mate how much you value the alliance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) It is your duty to be with family today if it should also be your pleasure. Plan just now to please them more. Avoid one who wants to take you off on some tangent. Be more resolute.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Attend the services that do the most for the spiritual side of your life and be inspired for the future. Visit with relatives you like and even those you don't. Be understanding.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Talk with experts in business and informally find out how to become more successful in the days ahead. A good friend can also show you how to improve your holdings.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can figure out exactly how to have greater happiness in business and personal affairs. Engage in social activity after the day and make the right contacts. Be more cheerful.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Early morning meditation can bring you the inspiration you need now for whatever it is you want to accomplish. Get together with experts in the field in which you are most interested.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER, 10, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A surprise compliment or favor now comes your way. You are able to show more affection for those with whom you have close contact and with whom you want greater association in the future. Therefore be wide-awake to new happenings and show your devotion to all whom you like.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Gain the cooperation of good friends for activites that will put you ahead of others now. Know what you most want and use a positive approach to reach aims. Be sure you show loyalty to kin.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Begin week properly by contacting bigwigs you know and gain the backing you need for your abilities. Show you are patriotic and an excellent citizen. Avoid one who is unfriendly to your best interests.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are highly inspired about how to gain the information and benefits you should have, which can lead to greater success. Making new contacts who can be helpful is wise. Pick them intelligently.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Handle your responsibilities in a practical fashion and take no chances where insurance and other important policies are concerned. Make the collections that are important also. Work in harness with mate for greater happiness.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can come to a far better meeting of minds with associates and make better arrangements for the furtherance of success in the future. Take care of that civic work most wisely now and get right results. Avoid one who argues too much.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Delve into that work ahead of you with vim and efficiency and gain the approval of higher-ups. Sit down with co-workers and discuss plans intelligently. Increase mutual productivity.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If you bring your talents to the attention of higher-ups, they will help you commercialize on them. Plan some time for amusements so you do not become dull. Make sure another does not pull a fast one on you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Show more support to kin instead of doing something that is destructive in the important realm of your existence. Start an upTrend in all of your associations and affairs by thinking constructively. Work.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Keep appointments you have made and do the shopping and errands that are important now. Come to a better meeting of minds with associates. You can speed up production by the intelligent steps you take now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Hit on the right plan that will help you have greater prosperity in the future. Listen to what one who is tops in your field has to suggest. Follow the best advice for right results.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you talk over your personal aims with good friends, they will cooperate with you so you can gain them more easily. Attend group meetings that give you a chance to make fine new contacts. Avoid one who is unfriendly to your interests.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Get updated in both business and personal affairs so you feel more comfortable in today's world. Doing whatever will delight the one you love is wise. Become a happier person that way, too.

CHEVROLET

Best of the best for 1973

One day in the factory, where only the BEST cars are made, a very important car was being completed. It had a motor and wheels and a horn that went: "Toot!" and a bright shiny paint job. But what made this car so special was that it was the last 1973 Chevrolet ever to be manufactured!

Now, this new car was very proud to be a Chevrolet, but he was very unhappy, too. He was afraid that he might not find a home like his older brothers and sisters, for he was Little Car Last.

But you and I know better, don't we? The last of the new Chevrolets have the best prices! So, if you want to buy one of the last Chevrolets for '73, you'd better hurry, because just as Little Car Last rolled off the production line, he heard a rumble deep down in the factory . . . the first of the 1974 models were not far behind . . .

Find your happy ending now, at THE NO. 1 PLACE

USE HERALD CLASSIFIED ADS

The front-wheel drive Subaru. Was it designed with the fuel shortage in mind?

It sure seems that way, doesn't it?
Some Subaru woners have written the company claiming more than thirty miles per gallon.

On the average, the Subaru gets around twenty-five miles per gallon on regular.

The U.S. Bureau of Highway tells us the national average for gas mileage is about 13.5 per gallon.

This means that Subaru, with its Quadrozontal Engine, gets almost twice the national average. And in some cases even more.

That's our story.

How's your mileage these days? Stop in and fuel-test drive a Subaru.

Elkhounds Score High

Two Norwegian Elkhounds owned by Capt. and Mrs. Robert Burbridge and an elkhound bred by the Burbridges made good showings at Corpus Christi and McAllen.

Bob's Titan Au Tora Starr Anne won second in the open dog class and went reserve-winner at both shows.

His litter mate, Hinton's Hilda Nora Starr Anne, owned by J. F. Hinton of Hobbs, N.M., and handled by Burbridge, captured first in open bitches, winner's bitch, best of winners and best of opposite sex. This was worth two points toward her championship at McAllen.

Another of the Burbridge's dogs, Roble Ridges Ranger, took third at both shows.

Three local Irish Setters did well at an Irish Setter specialty match in San Antonio. Beaverbrooks Red Brandy Dust, owned by Lt. and Mrs. Dave Smith, won second in American bred dogs and third in novice obedience.

Lord Tobias of Westover, owned by Capt. and Mrs. Jerry Thigpen, took third in American bred dogs. Also owned by the Thigpens, Lady Christina of Westover won third in the puppy class and first in the American bred bitch.

Spanish, Bridge, Grooming Courses

Three continuing education courses will begin this week at Howard County Junior College, according to Dr. Thomas Salter, president.

Two courses will start Monday evening at 7 o'clock and will meet in the Adult Education Building. Conversational Spanish, taught by Mrs. Al (Lilliam) Valdez, will be in Room 1, and Poodle Grooming, taught by John Dashe, will meet in Room 2. Dashe has been a pet shop owner and groomer in Midland for more than a decade and has taught this popular course at the college for several years.

Intermediate Bridge will begin Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in the Library of the Horace Garrett Applied Science Building. Mrs. Sue Wasson will be the instructor.

Those persons wanting more information may call Theron Lee at 267-6311 Ext. 78.

Correction

A line of type was dropped from an account Friday of friends here helping two stranded families of women and children get back to Long Island, N.Y. The list should have included First Methodist and Wesley Methodist among those having a part in this humanitarian effort.

Rowland Real Estate Salesman

Rufus Don Rowland, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Rowland of the Silver Heels addition, a new resident of Big Spring, has started work as a real estate salesman for the Marie Rowland Real Estate firm.

A graduate of Big Spring High School, Rufus Don attended HCJC and Abilene Christian College. He served a tour of duty with the Air Force, exiting after eight years with the rank of staff sergeant.

He and his family are making their home at 23 November Drive.

"VERY INTERESTING, but what is it?", asks Gerald Miller of this abstract creation which will be displayed at the county fair. Miller, vice president of the Howard County Fair Association, has been riding herd on final preparations. Here, he discusses exhibits with Mrs. Eugene Long, one of the workers in the Home and Hobby Division.

Come To The Fair!

By JO BRIGHT

What could be more fun than a county fair? What other festival invokes such sweet memories? How long has it been?

Close your eyes, and recall the color of jelly in sparkling jars. Listen in the silence for the bleating of a bashful lamb — and let your fingers remember the feel of a quilt with that big blue ribbon pinned on the corner.

The good, simple, beautiful things that seemed almost a part of the past are coming back. After a lapse of twenty years, the Howard County Fair will be staged again, beginning Sept. 17 in the Howard County Fair Barns.

Everything you remember will be there, from canned goods and cakes to farm products and pets. It promises a kind of pleasure that is hard to come by in contemporary times.

The event is being staged under the guiding hand of the newly organized Howard County Fair Association, whose officers are Johnnie Walker, president; James Barr, president-elect; Gerald Miller, vice president; and Joe Pickle, secretary-treasurer. Barr is serving as general superintendent, and Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins is superintendent of the home and hobby division.

A host of area residents have combined their efforts to make the fair the biggest and best in Howard County's history.

Emphasizing "Family Fun for Everyone," the catalogue lists exhibits, livestock show, horse show, pet show, tractor pull and a carnival. In the displays will be commercial, agricultural, military, educational, industrial and women's exhibits, and there is a hint of special entertainment. Youths may participate in the open horse show, and older citizens will be manning one of the display booths.

All in all, it's a family affair — and it's a good bet you'll even find some cotton candy. Come to the fair!

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1973

THE ART EXHIBIT promises to be a popular attraction at the county fair. Seated, holding one of her paintings, is Mrs. Mary Raley, cochairman of the exhibit. The large painting is by the other chairman, Mrs. Barbara Boles, who was unable to be present. Others, from left, are Mrs. Neil Norred, cochairman, crafts and hobbies; Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins, superintendent of Home and Hobby Division; Miss Sherry Mullin, county extension agent; Mrs. Lloyd Robinson, chairman, women's activities; and Mrs. Dale Smith, chairman, flower show.

WHAT WOMAN doesn't like to try her hand in making something beautiful? Those who are talented in creating decorative items for the home are invited to exhibit their work at the county fair. Displaying examples are, left and right, Mrs. E. A. Williams and Mrs. J. F. Skalicky, cochairmen, crafts and hobbies; and Mrs. B. A. Bunn, cochairman, handwork.

THE CULINARY CORNER is bound to be a top attraction if these women contribute their creations. Showing the types of taste-tempting foods to be displayed are, from left, Mrs. Lewis Soles and Mrs. Gerald Miller, chairmen, baked goods; and Mrs. J. R. Petty, canned goods committee.

Women Losing Nutrition Control

The lady of the house has been losing the control she once had over her family's nutrition, according to a study conducted for Hoffmann-La Roche, which blames fast food restaurants, food faddism and crash diets for the development.

La Roche food-nutrition marketing manager said other findings in the study were: nutrition ranked second to price as a food-buying concern; the homemaker wants more nutrition information on food labels; she feels she gets little help in carrying out her responsibility to ensure good nutrition.

Learning Disabilities Affect 700 In County

There are over 700 persons in Howard County, between the ages of three and 21, who have learning disabilities. There is also an active volunteer association of parents and professionals dedicated to the welfare of these people.

The Big Spring Council of Texas Association for Children with Learning Disabilities (TACLD) is preparing for its monthly educational meetings and has elected leaders for work which will be accomplished this year.

The officers are Don Deleeuw president; Mrs. John McDowell, first vice president; Mrs. Ralph Dennis, second vice president; Mrs. Loy Anderson, recording secretary; Mrs. Stewart Anderson, treasurer; and Mrs. R. M. Oliver, corresponding secretary.

The association has a monthly meeting during the school year, with programs following the brief business sessions. The meetings are held at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center the third Thursday of each month. The meetings are open to the public, and all interested persons are invited to attend.

The council has obtained two films, "The Early Recognition of Learning Disabilities" and "A Walk in Another Pair of Shoes," which it will make available, at no cost, to all interested groups in the community. Those wishing to preview or reserve the films are invited to call DeLeeuw at 263-3892.

The principal purpose of TACLD is the advancement of special education and the general welfare of the learning disabled child. It is a common meeting ground for parents, teachers, school administrators, legislators, physicians, psychiatric people and all others interested in meeting the needs of the learning disabled child. Programs are designed to keep everyone concerned abreast of the newest innovations and developments. TACLD provides a viable and authoritative group to press for programs that promise results. It is an organization of people who care — seeking and accomplishing what needs to be done to best serve the learning disabled child.

Prepare Bath For Guest Load

A family of guests can put a burden on bathroom facilities, so think about this before the company arrives. If facilities can't withstand much additional use, work out a bath schedule that insures ample hot water for each bather.

Other thoughtful considerations include having a good supply of clean towels and wash-cloths handy and enough towel racks to go around. Additional standing racks may be set up quickly. Or, if space is scarce, put a free-standing towel rack or hooks in guest bedrooms.

Put out fresh bars of soap for sinks, bathtubs and shower stalls and keep a reserve supply in a large apothecary jar or decorative bowl.

Commandments

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR READERS: Last weekend, in all humility and with no intended irreverence to Moses, I published my "TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR WIVES." Here is the companion piece, "TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR HUSBANDS."

1. Thou shalt put thy wife before thy mother, thy father, thy daughter, and thy son, for she is thy life-long companion.

2. Abuse not thy body either with excessive food, tobacco, or drink, that thy days may be many and healthful in the presence of thy loved ones.

3. Permit neither thy business, nor thy hobby to make of thee a stranger to thy children, for the most precious gift a man giveth his family is his time.

4. Forget not the virtue of cleanliness.

5. Make not thy wife a beggar, but share willingly with her thy worldly goods.

6. Forget not to say, "I love you." For even though thy love be constant, thy wife doth yearn to hear the words.

7. Remember that the approval of thy wife is worth more than the admiring glances of a hundred strangers. Cleave unto her, and forsake all others.

8. Keep thy home in good repair, for out of it cometh the joys of thy old age.

9. Forgive with grace. For who among us does not need to be forgiven?

10. Honor the Lord thy God all the days of thy life, and thy children will rise up and call thee blessed.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widower. Never mind my age. I live alone in a five-room house. All I want is company and someone to help me keep this place clean. No hanky panky. She would have a private room and her own TV. If she can't cook, I can. If she is under 55 years of age, tell her to forget it.

PAPPY IN PITTSBURGH

DEAR PAPPY: What do you want — a housekeeper, or company? Housekeepers can be found through the classified ads, and company is found through mutual acquaintances. If it's a combination I suggest you socialize, and let it be known you're in the market. You'd have better luck if you found a friend and made her a housekeeper than the other way 'round.

THE UNITED WAY — The Women's Division of the United Way campaign held its kick-off coffee Friday in the home of Mrs. Jerry Snodgrass, who is co-chairman with Mrs. Harold Davis. J. D. Nelson, UW chairman, met with other committee members at breakfast in the Settles Hotel. Shown above, as packets were being distributed at the Snodgras home, are, from left, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Snodgrass, Mrs. Jimmy Taylor, Mrs. W. A. Moore, Mrs. David Proffitt and Mrs. J. D. Nelson.

Norell Still Likes Small Shoe Look

The Fashion House of Norell believes in the small shoe look while many other stylists keep turning out those thick, thick soled numbers for both day and evening.

David Evins did the shoes for the New York firm's fall and winter clothes collection. For day, the models wore "little girl" looking footwear, almost flat-heeled pumps done in alligator calf, lizard, patent and suede with grosgrain ribbon bow. For evening, bare sandals had skinny medium heels.

Craft Club Sets Meeting Date

Newcomers Handcrafts Club will meet at 9:30 a.m., Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Pat Roger, 503 Scott. Anyone interested in joining may call Mrs. Rogers at 263-6165, or Mrs. Linda Colosimo at 263-0018.

Fashions For Men Shown At Wives Club Luncheon

The commentary wasn't meant to be taken seriously — but the clothes were the real thing — when Webb Air Force Base officers were models for a men's fashion show Thursday in the Officer's Open Mess.

The event was staged by Hemphill-Wells, under the direction of Mike Hull, for the monthly Officers Wives Club luncheon.

Capt. David Jaggers displayed a delightful sense of humor in his commentary describing the handsome male attire for fall and winter. The models, (all receiving appreciative applause) were Capt. Ernie Petrash, Capt. Jack Weiland, Lt. Van Searcy, Lt. Chuck Simpson, Lt. Kelly Wilkinson, Lt. Dave Wolf, Capt. Lee Miller, Lt. Don Slone, Capt. Bill Corbett and Lt. Donald Day.

LT. BILL CORBETT

LT. DON DAY

CAPT. LEE MILLER

In introductory remarks, Capt. Jaggers said, "I think that you will find that the unkept 'hippie' look is gone and that a neat, tailored look is 'in,' even with casual dress. In our selections today, you will note the western influence and the use of bold plaids, wide cuffs and patent leather.

LEATHER LOOK

Lt. Searcy opened the show by modeling a palomino, snap-front overshirt of chamois suede, the open front revealing a gold cross pendant. His pants, with three-inch cuffs, were polyester double knit in bold gold. Appearing later in the show, Lt. Searcy's attire featured a goat-skin navy shirt jacket topping a heather blue turtleneck sweater and navy and brown plaid slacks.

The look of leather continued, with Capt. Corbett showing an antique brown jacket complementing flare leg, wide-cuffed black and rust plaid pants and matching plaid shirt. The captain made a second apearance in a high fashion suit of gold and blue window pane check. Of 100 per cent wool, it was distinguished by high side vents, no flap pockets and blue buttons.

Looking like he owned every oil well in Texas, Lt. Simpson strolled down the runway wearing a bark-colored, split cowhide suit with bell bottom pants. Tagged 'The Scrambler,' it was teamed with a polyester jersey shirt in a bold geometric print.

More conservative, but just as fashion-wise, was Lt. Wilkinson who donned a coordinate sweater ensemble (heather green turtleneck sweater accented by sleeveless green and blue pullover) with matching solid green, flare-leg slacks cuffed to a good three inches.

The western influence showed up again in Lt. Day's coordinate costume of cinammon suede; the top accented by self stitching and worn with a floral print jersey knit shirt.

A navy cotton suede jacket, accented by red saddle stitching was worn by Capt. Miller who showed it with a turtleneck sweater to top blue plaid slacks.

Capt. Weiland pleased the audience with a polyester suit in wine (with white stitch trim) and a white polyester turtleneck to contrast starkly against his jacket.

Called 'winter white' but closer to a creme color, was the double knit suit modeled by Lt. Slone. The coat, with self-stitched trim, was cut with high side vents. Completing his attire was a forest green shirt and complementary tie.

NIGHT LIFE

"Night life" brought out the most elegant fashions, with Lt. Wolf winning approval with a pale yellow Edwardian tuxedo in rich brocade. His flared pants were of black velvet, and the velvet was repeated on the coat's black lapels and in trim for the ruffled shirt. A butterfly tie, also in black velvet, was the finishing touch.

Capt. Petrash showed a touch of sophistication for formal evenings by combining his black velvet pants with a burgandy brocade dinner jacket with black velvet trim.

Climaxing the show, Capt. Jaggers left the mircophone to give the audience a better look at his formal wear, velvet pants teamed with a dinner jacket in navy blue velvet with gold floral brocade.

Mrs. Roy W. Peterson, OWC president, extended the welcome and introduced persons at the head tables, including Col. and Mrs. Robert Meisenheimer and Col. and Mrs. Whitcomb Jones. Others were introduced by Mrs. Roger Ward, second vice president, and announcements were made by Mrs. Robert Craig, third vice president.

Mrs. Craig announced that the Webb AFB commissary has been selected as best in the Air Training Command. In conjunction with the honor, an evaluation team will be at the base this week, and OWC members were given an opportunity to contribute funds to assist the Big Spring Ambassadors Club in entertaining the group.

The Thrift Shop, located in Bldg. 200, is now open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. each Wednesday and Friday. Workers will accept items on consignment until 12:30 p.m. on those days. Also, it was suggested that magazines for the base hospital be taken to the home of Mrs. Nancy Klein, 84 Ent. A Co-Pilot staff meeting has been set for 10 a.m., Sept. 25 in the home of Mrs. Dennis Vander Ven.

Members are reminded of the Howard County Fair, beginning Sept. 17, and the Community Concerts which will begin Oct. 22. Concert tickets are $12 for adults and $5 for students or, for reserved seats, $16 and $8. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. June Hanson, 263-7427; Mrs. H. T. Hanson, 263-6060; or tickets may be charged to Hemphill-Wells accounts.

Mrs. Brian Dickinson invited members to attend a Swartz Fashion Show Sept. 22. The $7.50 charge for tickets includes cocktails, dinner with wine, the show and dancing to music by the Versatones. No tickets will be sold at the door.

The OWC bridge is slated Sept. 20, and the Hi and Bye Coffee at 10 a.m., Sept. 27. The October luncheon will feature Mrs. Clyde Angel in a review of the book, "Laughing to Keep from Crying."

General chairman for Thursday's luncheon was Mrs. Tom Pickens, and assisting her were Mrs. Ed Saflarski and Mrs. Rico A. Ferraioli, decorations; Mrs. Phillip Sabin, door prizes; Mrs. C. Reynolds, menu; Mrs. M. Miller, treasurer; and Mrs. Pete Acquaro and Mrs. Max Saylor, publicity.

MRS. RICHARD GRUMET

Wedding Ceremony Performed Saturday

Miss Anna Darlene Thomas and Airman 1.C. Richard Grumet of Webb Air Force Base exchanged wedding vows at 7 o'cock Saturday evening in the Four Square Gospel Church, with the Rev. M. A. Madden, pastor, officiating for the ceremony.

A white staircase leading to the altar featured banisters entwined with greenery, and bouquets of flowers and greenery were placed on each step. Twin wedding bells centered an arch of candles. Organ music was played by Mrs. John Brining, and vocal selections were by Mrs. Brining, Mrs. Jim Parrish and Mrs. Eddie Thomas, sister-in-law of the bride.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Thomas, 504 E. 16th is a graduate of Big Spring High School. The bridegroom, a graduate of Eastmoor High School, Columbus, Ohio, is the son of M.Sgt. and Mrs. Larry Grumet, formerly of Columbus. Before entering the Air Force, Airman Grumet worked for the U.S. Civil Service at Lockbourne AFB, Columbus.

Carrying a bouquet of white carnations and babies'-breath centered with a lavender orchid, the bride was attired in a formal gown of white satin overlaid with Chantilly lace. The empire bodice was centered with a bow and featured belled lace sleeves edged in wide bands of white satin. Chantilly lace and white satin formed the circular train. Her headpiece of lace and tulle petal silhouettes held a bouffant veil of illusion.

ATTENDANTS

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Bridget Carr of Coahoma, and bridesmaids were Miss Wanda Paul of Colton, Calif., and Miss Shelia Taylor of Fort Worth. Miss Carr was attired in a gown of deep purple satin overlaid with lavender silk organza, and the other attendants wore identical gowns in light purple with overlay of lavender silk organza.

Airman 1.C. Daniel Webb served as best man, and groomsmen were Airman 1.C. Jim E. Myers and Airman 1.C. Frank Tonini. All three men are from Webb Air Force Base.

RECEPTION

The bridal couple was honored at a reception in the church parsonage where refreshments were served by Miss Janey Thomas, sister of the bride; Mrs. R. H. Thomas, sister-in-law of the bride; and Mrs. Chris Carter.

The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with the bridesmaids' bouquets. Crystal and silver appointments were used, and the cake was decorated with swans and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Taylor, Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Taylor, Fort Worth; and Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Taylor of Saginaw, Tex.

After a three-week trip to Columbus and upstate New York, the couple will reside in Big Spring.

PSA Sorority Members Attend Lamesa Dinner

Local members of Phi Sigma Alpha were in Lamesa Saturday afternoon to attend a Founder's Day dinner in the Delphian's Club House. Plans for the trip were made at an earlier meeting of Texas Delta Delta Chapter in the home of Mrs. Eva Nall, 1305 Scurry.

Mrs. Ernest Bauch, president, conducted the meeting, at which chapter members pledged support to the Miland chapter when it hosts the state convention Oct. 12-14.

"Time of Magic and Many Gods: Primitive Religion" was the program presented by Mrs. W. E. Moren. In quoting from Edmund Davison Soper's book, "The Religion of Mankind," she said, "Religion in one form or another is universal."

Taking excerpts from "This Believing World" by Lewis Browne, the speaker told the origins of totemism and taboos, as well as shamanism and fetishism.

According to Browne, "All art may truly be said to have arisen out of religion. Sculpture had its origin in idol making; architecture in temple building; poetry in prayer writing; music in psalm singing; and drama in legend telling."

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 2 in the home of Mrs. Pearl Shifflett, East Highway.

Pastels Accent Dark Colors

Catch up with the delicate pastels for summer. This goes for clothes, jewelry, make-up and nail polish. Dark colors brighten up when teamed with pastels.

Pros, Cons Of Employment

Mrs. Phyllis Graumann discussed the advantages and disadvantages of women being employed, Thursday for Lutheran Women's Mission League, St. Paul Lutheran Church. The group met at the home of Mrs. Lela Braun, 54 Chanute.

The speaker said the extra money earned during this age of high living costs in an obvious advantage, but she said employment also offers women a means of self-fulfillment.

Members will serve refreshments at Veterans Administration Hospital at 9:30 a.m., Monday. Also, plans were made to serve cookies Sept. 25 at Big Spring State Hospital.

A covered-dish farewell supper is scheduled Sunday in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Spurr. The dinner will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roever.

HAND OF FRIENDSHIP — Preparations were made earlier in the week, by these women, for semi-annual Hand of Friendsh in enrollment teas hosted by local chapters of the American Business Women's Association. Left to right, standing, are Miss Ramona Molina, Mrs. Jimmie R. Jennings and Miss Shirley White. Those seated are Mrs. George Mixon, Mrs. Eunice Hickson and Mrs. Cecil McDonald.

ABWA Units Extend 'Hand Of Friendship'

Two of the three local chapters of American Business Women's Associations are holding their semi-annual "Hand of Friendship" teas today.

The friendship events are held to introduce the organization and local chapters to business women in this area. At the same time, similar events are held across the country by more than 1,000 ABWA chapters.

Local chapters having teas today are Cactus, with Miss Eunice Hickson as tea chairwoman, and Scenic, with Miss Shirley White as chairwoman.

The Cactus Chapter event will be from 3-5 p.m. at the home of Mrs. C. A. Aagesen, 508 Highland. Mrs. Aagesen served as the first president of the chapter.

The chapter's officers will be in the receiving line. They are Mrs. Cecil McDonald, president; Mrs. David Walker, vice president; Mrs. T. A. Proctor, recording secretary; and Mrs. Bob Clark, treasurer. Past presidents who are still active members will alternate at the serving table. Cactus chapter has awarded scholarships to 52 women in the local area.

The tea for Scenic Chapter will be from 3-5 p.m. at First Federal Community Room. Mrs. George Mixon is chapter president.

The primary function of ABWA is to help women in business advance themselves through education, increased competence and upgrading of professional skills and attitudes. The association was founded in 1949 in Kansas City, Mo., and now has more than 70,000 members. Chapters across the country awarded more than $375,000 in scholarships from Oct. 1, 1971 to Sept. 30, 1972. An additional $85,000 was awarded in scholarships from the ABWA National Scholarship Fund.

Spring City Chapter, the third local unit of the organization, held its "friendship" event Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Jimmie R. Jennings, 810 Kent, who also served as tea chairwoman.

Elbow HD Club Starts New Year

The first meeting of Elbow Home Demonstration Club for the 1973-1974 club year was held Thursday in the home of Mrs. B. N. Boroughs, 2903 Clanton. Yearbooks were distributed and programs for the coming year were discussed.

The next meeting has been postponed until Sept. 27 due to the Howard County Fair. The group will meet at 1 p.m. in the home of Mrs. W. A. Allen, 1208 Main.

Dripping Faucets Waste Money

Dripping faucets can be expensive as well as annoying — wasting up to 90 gallons of water in a single day, according to Lynn Bourlands, home management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University.

Film Shows Varieties Of Violets

Texas Star African Violet Club sponsored a showing of the film "Fresh From Frisco" Thursday evening at the Pioneer Gas Flame Room. The film showed new varieties of African Violets.

Hostess for the event was Mrs. A. C. Moore, assisted by Mrs. B. H. Montgomery, club president, and Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales. Mrs. J. O. Murphy operated the projector while Mrs. Moore narrated the film.

Mrs. Montgomery presided at a short business meeting, and the women planned to hold a workshop Friday in the home of Mrs. Moore. The members were to make terrariums for the Howard County Fair.

The serving table at Thursday's film was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with pink African Violets around a pink candle. Crystal appointments were used. Mrs. Bart Wilkinson was introduced as a new member.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 4 in the home of Mrs. Clinkscales, 705 W. 18th.

Hobby Club Sees 'Flower' Loom

A "daisy loom" was demonstrated Thursday by Mrs. Alfred Hamm for members of Busy Bee Hobby Club at Texas Electric Reddy Room. Mrs. Hamm used the loom to make reversible flowers which may be combined to make afghans, stoles and other items.

Mrs. Jeff Beckham was hostess, and the attendance prize was won by Mrs. Joe Mitchell, who also presided during the business meeting. Members scheduled a family ice-cream supper at 7:30 p.m., Thursday in Comanche Trail Park.

Auxiliary Gains Five Members

Five new members were introduced Thursday by the American Legion Auxiliary at the Legion Hall. They are Mrs. Roscoe Taylor, Mrs. J. M. Caldwell, Mrs. Raymond Gonzales, Mrs. Harold Stoudt and Mrs. Lenard Garrard.

Members designated Nov. 10 as "Poppy Day" in Big Spring. Also, plans were made to host a game night at 7 p.m., Sept. 2, at the Veterans Administration Hospital. In other business, it was announced that Mrs. B. M. Jarrett of North Carolina was named vice president of the national auxiliary.

Cameras Have Serial Numbers

Cameras now are being given social security numbers. The numbers are machine-engraved onto the cameras along with the owner's name or initials as a deterrent to theft and resale of stolen cameras.

Police departments throughout the country accept the engraved information as positive identification of lost goods.

Use Suds On Porcelain Items

The best way to keep porcelain plumbing fixtures looking new is to treat them regularly to sudsy sponging. Then, powdered cleansers can be used more sparingly.

Problem Nearer Home

Henry Kissinger, the choice for secretary of state, has made his mark in far-flung diplomacy, specifically in consultations in Moscow and Peking. But among the thornier problems he is likely to face quite soon is one much closer to home — our doorstep relations with other nations in the Americas.

The sticker in the works is the status of Cuba. Many Latin American states, members of the Organization of American States, are growing restive at the leaky OAS embargo imposed on Cuba. Mexico, an original holdout against the embargo, has been joined by Chile, Peru, Argentina, Barbados, Jamaica and Trinidad in refusing to bar all trade and diplomatic relations with the Castro regime. Other nations are believed waiting restlessly to join them.

Even Venezuela, which has been a target of Castro-inspired subversion, appears about ready to consider relations with Havana. The Venezuelan foreign minister, Aristide Calvani, observed in Mexico City this past weekend that not only is the Alliance for Progress dead, but the OAS needs overhaul, including "new guidelines and orientations to eliminate the problems it has." One of those problems, of course, is the Cuban issue.

The movement definitely is toward normalizing relations between Cuba and the other Latin American states. U.S. opposition to this is no longer enough alone to sway our OAS partners. There is a very real prospect that we may quite soon find ourselves alone in opposing the readmission of Cuba to the OAS family.

What the restive OAS states find hard to understand is why we maintain such an unbending opposition to Cuba when we have launched new initiatives toward Peking and Moscow. Kissinger may well find our position difficult if not impossible to defend against that argument.

At any rate, our policy toward Cuba and the rest of Latin America, in disrepair from neglect during the long Vietnam sadness, badly needs the attention of the new secretary of state. It stands in need of reassessment.

Overshadowing Principle

In Nueces County recently it was learned that a commissioner had used county land and county lumber and county workers to construct barns and corrals for his horses. The commissioner agreed to have it razed, at insistance of his colleagues, but insisted he could see nothing wrong in the project.

Observed the Caller Times: "But it doesn't take much searching for the taxpayer to find "something wrong . . . Perhaps the expense was neglibible . . . but the principle involved overshadows matters of money."

"There's a bright side to the incident. That is the response of the judge and the other commissioners when informed about the subject. Condemnation was swift and unanimous as it should have been . . ."

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

I have wanted several times to ask a simple question. It's this. Do you believe in the teaching of reincarnation? Some of my friends want to know what you believe about it too. H.A.L.

The word "reincarnation" means "the birth of the soul in another body." If you refer to the popular concept of reincarnation, I must say that I do not find any Bible teaching that suggests we may return in another kind of body upon this same earth.

I do believe, however, in the New Testament teaching of a resurrection — reincarnation. The Apostle Paul goes into this subject in depth in I Corinthians 15. "So also is the resurrection of the dead. It is sown in corruption; it is raised in incorruption: It is sown in dishonor; it is raised in glory: it is sown in weakness; it is raised in power . . . So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written. Death is swallowed up in victory. O death, where is thy sting? O grave where is thy victory?"

You know, it's a wonder we don't talk about the world to come more than we do. Believers in all ages have kept it in view. Abraham and Isaac and Jacob lived and died in the faith of it. Stephen went to his sudden death glimpsing it in all its glory. The resurrection of the body and contemplation by the Christian of the life in the world to come can be a great antidote to the cares and disappointments of this life.

Wallowing

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has said there are many people in this country who would rather wallow in Watergate than get on with the business of the country.

THE ONLY person I know who is really wallowing in Watergate is my friend Fitzhugh Fitzgibbon.

He told me the other day, "I've tried. God knows I've tried. But I just can't seem to get out of the wallow of Watergate."

It's that bad, huh"

"It's terrible. I've tried to think of inflation, the cost of food, the energy crisis, but none of it gives me the pleasure that Watergate does. It's a terrible thing to admit, but I really enjoy Watergate. I don't get that feeling when I read about pollution."

"BUT THE President has said we have to keep this thing in perspective. We just can't get sidetracked by Watergate."

"HE can't get sidetracked by Watergate, but I can. I tell you, it's made my life. Some people like to read about Cambodia, the Middle East or the fall of the dollar. But I can't wallow in those things. I could take a bath in it every day."

"When did you first start wallowing in Watergate"

"PROBABLY after President Nixon announced he had just received new evidence involving members of his White House staff in the Watergate affair. Soon I found myself waist-deep in the mud. After Haldeman's and Ehrlichman's testimony, I was up to my neck. And now that there is a court fight over the President's tapes, I have to fight to keep my head above water."

''WHEN WILL you stop wallowing" I asked him.

"When Martha Mitchell shuts up.

"Good grief, man," I said. "That could be forever."

Libyan Oil Take-Over Makes Waves

NEW YORK (AP — Americans found themselves facing new oil problems this past week, headed by moves which threatened higher prices for the country's crucial supply of oil and petroleum products.

Several major American oil companies were mapping their reaction to the Libyan takeover of 51 per cent of their properties in the North African country the previous weekend.

The Libyan move, the latest in a series of nationalizations which have affected U.S. interests, threatened to upset a 1972 agreement under which American oil companies agreed to gradually give Persian Gulf nations control of foreign operations in those countries.

Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy nationalized 51 per cent of Amoseas Oil Co., jointly owned by Texaco, Standard Oil of California, Mobile and the Esso Standard group including Atlantic Richfield and Royal Dutch Shell.

The move brought most of Libya's 2.2 million barrel oil production under government control. Previous nationalizations hit Libyan operations of Occidental, Continental, Marathon, Amerada Hess and British Petroleum, along with Texas oilman Nelson Bunker Hunt.

Libyan oil arrives in the United States largely as home heating oil refined in Europe. But there were bigger worries with bigger suppliers.

Khadafy was reported ready to follow the takeover with a 30 per cent price hike which would boost Libyan crude to $6 a barrel, more than twice the price for Persian Gulf crude.

Libya's action threatened to upset not only those other prices, but terms of a 1972 agreement under which oil companies agreed to gradually give up control of their major holdings in the Persian Gulf nations, including Saudi Arabia, Qatar and Abu Dhabi.

Exxon Corp., the biggest American oil company, announced this week that it was boosting the wholesale price of its gasoline a penny a gallon.

Atlantic Richfield earlier had announced a one-cent hike on gasoline and a two-cent hike for heating oil. Exxon said it was raising heating oil .85 cents a gallon, propane gas three cents and speciality products such as waxes, greases and solvents one to five cents a gallon.

The Week's Business

- Libyan leader Moammzar wants 30 per cent hike, $6 barrel
- Several American majors affected by nationalization
- Action upsets 1972 plan of gradualism in yielding control
- Proposed price is twice that of Persian Gulf oil
- Ripples hit American market, Exxon raises its prices

Timely Agreement

Marquis Childs

MEXICO CITY — A quarrel that has gone on for 12 years over the waters of the Colorado River has been resolved on terms that the Mexican Government could accept with honor. Putting an end to this long-festering sore comes as a remedy for the troubled relationship between the United States and the neighbor to the south.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT coincided — and it was more than a coincidence — with President Luis Echeverria's annual State of the Union message. Delivered in person before the Congress and carried on television throughout the country, it is a three-hour report on every aspect of the past year. With invited guests from around the world it is made into an event of the first importance.

When President Echeverria in the course of his speech told Congress that Mexico would receive "water of the Colorado River in the amount and quality we have demanded for 12 years," thereby insuring the "permanent and definitive solution of the salinity problem in the Mexicali Valley," he drew a standing ovation and lengthy applause. He called it a "promising sign in our relations with the United States."

THE SALT content of the Colorado, resulting from extensive irrigation projects on the American side of the border, reduced normally fertile land in the Mexicali Valley to a waste. It was typical of so much that generates resentment of the powerful neighbor on the north. This was no calculated hurt but rather a matter of indifference. We were simply doing what came naturally on our side of the border.

The agreement calls for construction of the world's largest desalting plant in Arizona at a cost of $67 million. To reclaim some polluted water a 50-mile segment of the Coachella Canal in California will be lined with tile. Most important in money terms for Mexico, the United States will pay the cost of building a bypass drainage canal from the Arizona-Sonora international boundary to the Gulf of California. The work will be done by Mexico at a cost to the United States of $15 million.

WHEN THE construction is completed the Mexican Government will be able to convert to agriculture again 75,000 acres made barren by the saline pollution. The wonder is why so much acrimony had to be exchanged before this reasonable solution was arrived at.

One of the loudest and longest bursts of applause during President Echeverria's three-hour address came when he spoke of counteracting "the isolationist strategy prevailing against Chile" by selling oil and cereals to that troubled country. He drew applause, too, when recounting how his government had backed "the just demand of the people of Panama to re-establish their full rights over their territory." This was during the meeting of the United Nations Security Council in Panama when an American veto blocked a resolution to abolish the zone adjacent to the canal governed by American forces.

ONE OF Echeverria's consistent goals is to strengthen ties with the Third World. Until the tragedy of the floods and the widespread destruction of the earthquake in central Mexico the President had himself considered going to the Assembly of the Third World powers in Algiers.

A GREAT many people worked on the Colorado River agreement. The retiring Secretary of State, William P. Rogers, devoted not a little of his time and effort to it. Former Attorney General Robert Brownell was made special ambassador for the negotiation, and he made repeated trips to Mexico to confer with his opposite numbers here.

Easily Ambushed

William F. Buckley Jr.

Academic people are for the most part disastrously easy to ambush, provided the wavelength is right, which is to say left. The New York Times has sprawled a great big survey across its pages. It is directed at scholars who permitted their names to be used in two full-page advertisements in the Times announcing themselves as in favor of the election of Nixon over McGovern. With very few exceptions, the professors contacted by the Times fell like ninepins under the force of the inquisitorial grilling. Only one professor — Ithiel De Sola Pool of M.I.T., handled the reporter properly. "My mood is not a news item," he said.

THERE WERE, of course, a few professors who were forthrightly defiant. Prof. Milton Friedman told the reporter "I do not condone the Watergate business ... but Watergate does not alter what a disastrous choice McGovern would have been." Prof. Raymond Saulnier said much the same thing. And Prof. George Stigler, the economic historian, spliced in a little of the irony for which he is famous by saying, "I signed for personal reasons, and I don't think I'd ever do it again. I think it's a minor fraud for a professor of economics, for example, to comment on all of a President's policies."

BUT MOST acted as though they were on the dock at a Moscow show trial. Prof. Robert Nisbet, the world's kindest and brightest sociologist, said: "Would I have supported Richard Nixon if I had known the full extent of Watergate? No, a firm, frank no." And Dr. Thomas Szasz, the brilliant and provacative psychiatrist, said over the phone: "I'm so sorry. I wish you hadn't remembered me. I would not have signed it if I had known then what I know now. One looks very foolish in having supported what one thought was the better person."

AND THEN, really, what is the New York Times up to? It didn't know about the Ellsberg burglary or about Dean's perjury or about Magruder's machinations last November. Why should American scholars have known about then? And because Watergate went on to explode, how does that embarrass people whose political judements were made without any reference whatever to Watergate?

John F. Kennedy delivered an inaugural address more celebrated among the intellectuals than any since Lincoln's Second. He intoned,, "Let every nation know whether it wishes us well or ill that we shall pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend, oppose any foe, in order to assure the survival and the success of liberty." That turned out to be the charter for the Vietnam War. Has the New York Times started telephoning professors for Kennedy in 1960 to ask whether under the circumstances they have thought better of their endorsement

You Can Wash Coffee Pot

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband and I have had a disagreement about the coffee pot and dish detergent ever since we've been married, four years.

He says dish detergent is soap and you can't rinse it all off. Therefore the coffee will have soap in it. He just doesn't believe there is any reason to wash a coffee pot. They've had the coffee pot at the shop for two years and it's never been washed.

I say it sounds dirty. Dish detergent is not soap, and especially after the pot has been thoroughly rinsed it should make a better pot of coffee.

Our new coffee pot is not to be put down in dish water. There are directions other than rinsing it out or, if coffee stain gets in it, dissolve it with vinegar. Or, if the stain is bad, to use a coffee pot stain cleanser. — Mrs. J.B.H.

Well, if you have to have a running argument, I suppose it might as well be over how to keep the coffee pot clean.

That pot in the shop must be in great shape by this time — stains, including oils, build up in the pot, and I'm pretty sure that a gourmet coffee-drinker would prefer a clean pot. It only makes sense to clean it occasionally.

As to detergents, they are not soap. They are chemicals of a phosphate-silicate type, and the purpose is to lower surface tension — so that things (meaning dirt) don't cling as tightly.

Soap will cling to a surface and cause streaks even after quite thorough rinsing. Detergents don't.

So far as that is concerned, small amounts of detergent are not harmful if swallowed, but they rinse away so easily that there is scant chance of getting even a little inside you.

I suppose your pot at home is an electric percolator, which shouldn't be immersed in water.

But perking a potful of plain water and vinegar makes sense. Or plain water and a little detergent, after which just rinse it out.

* * *

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is drinking distilled water so much healthier for a person? I have been told it helps diabetes, arthritis, heart trouble, emphysema and what not. — A.M.

File that under "wild notions." Not true.

* * *

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can one take an overdose of cod liver oil? I take 10 minims (one tablet) per day. — Mrs. F.C.

Large doses of cod liver oil, which contains vitamins A and D, can be toxic, but the small dose you take is harmless.

* * *

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have always thought that vegetables have more vitamins when eaten raw. My husband believes that cooking vegetables changes their nutrients to a form more utilizable by the body. — Mrs. E.L.

You win the argument. Raw fruits and vegetables are good sources of vitamins and minerals, but overcooking destroys vitamin C and can leach away the B vitamins which are water-soluble. (Vitamins A and D are not affected.) Cooking has its advantages for some people, particularly those with irritable colons which cannot tolerate a high fiber content.

* * *

By colitis is meant a variety of intestinal ailments from very serious to merely uncomfortable. For a better understanding of its causes and treatment, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for his booklet, "Colitis and Kindred Complaints," enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed (use zip code) envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

A Devotion For Today . .

"The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein." Psalms 24:1

PRAYER: O God, when I consider the heavens, the stars, and the planets, this earrth, I stand in amazement and in awe of Thy Power and Glory. Amen.

Miss Barlow Weds Richard A. McClain

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Cheryl Ann Barlow and Richard A. McClain of Ft. Hood, at 2 p.m., Saturday in the chapel at Webb Air Force Base.

An archway entwined with boxwood and English ivy accented the altar setting. White satin bows trimmed the archway, and baskets of gladioli, carnations and gypsophilia flanked the altar.

The rites were performed by the Rev. Claude Craven, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church. Music was provided by Mrs. Myrna Richardson, organist.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Barlow, 2509 Cindy, and McClain is the son of Mike McClain, 1400 Wood and Mrs. Roy Barsztaitis, Peru, Ill.

GOWN

The bride wore a white taffeta gown with an overlay of organza; the empire bodice featuring long, sheer sleeves gathered to narrow bands at the wrists. The yoke of the bodice was edged with a band of lace daisies which was repeated on the sleeves and high-rise collar. The gown featured a chapel-length train. A band of lace and pearl petals held her waist-length illusion veil, and she carried a colonial bouquet of daisies, carnations and greenery tied with picot satin streamers.

Miss Patrice Sherrill served as maid of honor, attired in a blue print nylon gown over taffeta. She wore a white garden hat accented with blue ribbon, and her bouquet was a nosegay of white carnations encircled with blue feathered carnations and tied with blue and white streamers.

Serving as best man was Robert Porter. The bride's brother, Robert C. Barlow, and Eddie Wilson were ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. McClain attended Big Spring High School. He is currently stationed at Ft. Hood with the Army.

RECEPTION

A reception honored the couple at the Non-Commissioned Officers' Club at Webb AFB, where the refreshment table was covered with a white linen cloth with brocade flounce. Small baskets of white gladioli, carnations and gypsophilia bordered the table, and a tiered cake was topped with net wedding bells. Miss Nancy Sherrill registered guests at a table laid with a brocade cloth.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Gladys Miller and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Luann McClain, Peru, Ill.

Relatives attending from out of town included the bridegroom's mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Barsztaitis, and his brother, Ray Barsztaitis Jr., all of Peru, Ill.; the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Ruth King, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Eurbin, Fort Worth; and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Eurbin, Irving.

Texan Is Recruiting For Nixon

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nola Smith, a long-time political campaign manager for Republican Sen. John Tower of Texas, is President Nixon's new talent searcher to recruit women for top level administration jobs, it was learned today.

She has arrived from her home in Austin, Tex., to take over the post of White House staff assistant for executive manpower, filling the post vacated by Barbara Franklin, who left some six months ago for a high-level consumer post in the government.

The White House is already handling calls for Mrs. Smith, but her appointment has not been officially announced.

Mrs. Smith, 39, a native of Madison, W. Va., managed Tower's re-election campaign in 1972.

She is the second prominent Texas woman to join the White House staff. Anne L. Armstrong, Nixon's highest woman appointee, is counsellor to the President. She and Mrs. Smith served on the Republican State Committee in Texas together.

Mrs. Smith handled patronage for Tower as part of her political operations in Texas and said she plans to use some of the same approaches in getting women into top government jobs.

Mrs. Smith, who is divorced and has a 16-year-old daughter, has moved to the Washington area and started working at the White House this week. She began her career as an elementary school teacher. Her first job was in Merced, Calif.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Floyd E. Pringle, 2713 Larry, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Cathy, to Dennis L. Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill E. Wells, Dallas. The couple will be married Dec. 1 in Wesley United Methodist Church.

Fat Is Pretty In Some Cases

In times or places where men fear starvation, the fat woman is beautiful, says Dr. Jean Tremolieres, of the dietary research unit at the Bichat Hospital in Paris.

Speaking to the annual meeting of the Canadian Pediatric Society in Quebec, Tremolieres said a woman's plumpness offers reassurance that the fear of starvation will not come true.

Republicans Hear Exec

Mrs. Robert McArthur, San Antonio, president of the Texas Republican Women's Clubs was guest speaker Thursday at a luncheon meeting of the local unit. She was accompanied by Mrs. R. L. McKim, Odessa, president of Region 6 of which Big Spring is a part.

The luncheon was held at the home of Mrs. Walter Wheat, 901 Mountain Park. Mrs. McArthur discussed two upcoming Republican Women's conventions. The national convention is scheduled Sept. 26-29 in Los Angeles, Calif. In addition to the business meeting, the agenda will include a social visit to the San Clemente White House. She said 55 Texans plan to attend.

The Texas state convention will be Oct. 11-13 in Houston, featuring UN Ambassador George Bush as keynote speaker. Mrs. Anne Armstrong, special presidential advisor, will present awards to the outstanding republican women's club and to the outstanding republican woman in Texas. Local women planning to attend as delegates or alternates are Mrs. Lamar Green, Mrs. Floyd Mays and Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper. Mrs. McArthur announced that Mrs. L. F. Bohls of San Antonio is running for the office of second vice president of the national organization.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here is a bit of advice from a service plumber that you may be interested in sharing with your readers about the use of their garbage disposals.

Be sure to use sufficient water when disposing of a large amount of waste. Lots and lots of water.

Fibrous vegetable matter, such as corn husks, artichoke leaves and celery stalks, plus crab shells and fish cleaning should be put in the garbage can, not the garbage disposal.

Waste such as this will ball up in the waste pipe after it has gone through the disposal. Then the plumber has to be called.

With a little care and thought a disposal should require little maintenance. . . . John E. Edwards

* * *

Dear Heloise:

I have a lifesaver for all housewives with bad memories. Whenever I cook a roast or a turkey, I always write down the weight of the meat and the time I put it on and use a little magnet to attach this information to the refrigerator.

Then I go about my business with no worry as to when that meat should be done. . . . Barbara

* * *

Dear Heloise:

Have you ever heard of this idea?

For icing a cake, use a large chocolate bar — either plain, with almonds or with peanuts — that has been melted down in a double-boiler.

Dee-licious. . . . Hilda Lenee

FOR YOUR PLEASURE

Concert Subscribers May Now Renew Membership

The removal phase of the Community Concert Association is underway, and the general sales effort will be concentrated the week of Sept. 17-22. Mrs. Sue Laird, New York representative of Community Concerts, will be here that week at the Settles Hotel headquarters. There will be a dinner at 6:30 p.m. Sept. 17 at the HCJC Cafeteria to launch the main campaign.

Programs booked for the season include Oct. 22, Agnes DeMille's Heritage Dance Theatre; Nov. 16, the famous Texas Boy's Choir; Feb. 6, Big Band Cavalcade; and April 27, Longstreth and Escosa, duo harpists. Tickets are $12 adults, $5 students and an additional four dollars for adult reserved and $3 more for student reserved seats.

Permian Basin Museum Institute members from a score of area museums participated Saturday in the opening of an unusual art exhibit in the Rare Book Room of the Learning Resources Center at University of Texas Permian Basin in Odessa. The exhibit was "Vaquero: Genesis of the Texas Cowboy," on loan from the Institute of Texan Cultures, San Antonio. Introduced at the meeting was John A. Wilson, who has been named by Clifton Caldwell, president of the Texas Historical Commission, as special museum field consultant for the Permian Basin area. Wilson will work out of Odessa and be available to local museums for advice on exhibits, planning, etc. He holds a fine arts degree from UT, Austin, and has been with Laguna Gloria Art Museum in Austin.

Heritage Museum in Big Spring was the scene for the Big Spring Garden Club council meeting Friday with Mrs. Joe Whitten as speaker. Hosts for the affair were Mrs. D. S. Riley and Mrs. Selma Sewell. The Mitchell County Home Demonstration Club's visit to the museum, scheduled Thursday, was cancelled because of rain. Preparations are being made for an exhibit at the Howard County Fair and, during the week, Mrs. A. C. Bass became a sustaining member..

The Howard County Fair, believe it or not, is only a week away, with the formal opening set for the evening of Sept. 17. Johnnie Walker, president, said it appears that things are shaping well and that the fair promises to be a splendid show. In addition to the regular and commercial exhibits, there will be several special events including a big tractor pull, horse show, pet show and a motorcycle rodeo. There will be something for everyone.

An exhibit of works of four members of the Texas Tech University art faculty opened Saturday in the Department of Art Teaching Gallery on the Tech campus. Featured are the works of Don Durland, Dr. Bill Lockhart, Mrs. Juanita Pollard and Francis Stephen. Lockhart will show examples of a new type of sculpture — rope sculpture. The exhibit remains up through Sept. 28 with gallery hours 1:30-4:30 p.m. Monday-Friday.

Another Lubbock attraction through Sept. 22 is Casey Anderson, a black country singer compared by many with Charley Pride. He is playing at the Downtown Brookshire.

Here's something different. The O. S. Ranch, southeast of Post, is sponsoring a "steer roping and art exhibit." The affair begins Friday Sept. 28, at 5 p.m. with a cocktail buffet. This will be for the prevue of the exhibit and sale of western art, all of which will benefit West Texas Boys Ranch. This is no mickey-mouse show, for among the 30 artists exhibiting are George Phippin, Tom Ryan, and similar caliber. The following day there will be matched steer roping between Olin Young, Peralta, N.M., and Roy Thompson, Happy, plus open roping and a girl's barrel race event. Sunday Sept. 30, the roping continues.

Now off the press is a new magazine, more nearly a cultural, culinary and entertainment guidebook of the Permian Basin. It is titled Permian Basin Preview and lists the major attractions in the basin area, from Snyder to Fort Stockton, from Big Spring to Pecos. Frank Hawk is publisher.

Morgan J. Davis Houston, retired chairman and chief executive officer for Exxon, USA, (formerly Humble) will be featured speaker for the 1973 Hall of Fame dinner sponsored Sept. 27 by the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum at the Midland Country Club. He twice represented his company in the Roswell area before becoming its president.

Marilyn Horne and Beverly Sills, two of the greatest stars of the opera world, have been signed for the Dallas Civic Opera's 1974 season. Miss Horne's title role will be announced later, and Miss Sills will sing the title role of the Dallas premiere of "Lucretia Borgia" by Donizetti. The season opens Nov. 2, and information may be had from Dallas Opera Company, 742-1008.

Now on display at the Museum of the Southwest in Midland are "Drawings and Watercolors of Pueblo and Plains Indians," a collection by Peter Moran documenting Indian life in New Mexico in the 1880's. Also, "Tapestries by Sherri Smith" are on display. Both exhibits go to Sept. 23.

* * *

Museum of the Southwest is sponsoring two trips to Kimbell Art Museum in Fort Worth to view the "impressionist and post-impressionist" exhibits from Russia. One chartered bus leaves Tuesday, another Saturday. Round trip fare is $15. Information may be had by calling 683-2882.

Quotable Women

"Whenever I was on an inspection tour people would come up to me and say, 'Listen, Bess,' and then proceed to tell me of a consumer complaint they had. I listened, took notes and invited them to write me any time they had other complaints or suggestions." PLAY AS MANY CARDS AS YOU WISH!

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS

PICK UP FREE BINGO CARDS: Each week (adults only, please) pick up your Free Bingo Cards from the sponsoring merchants listed below. Rules of the game allow the merchants to give you only one card on each store visit. You may, however, make as many visits as you wish each day of the week. THE MORE CARDS YOU PLAY — THE BETTER YOUR CHANCES ARE TO WIN.

HOW TO PLAY: Check the ads in EACH DAY'S issue of The Big Spring Herald. The ads of the merchants listed below will contain one or more "Newspaper Bingo" numbers in the "Bingo Bug" symbol (shown above). Occasionally, numbers in the "Bingo Bug" symbol may be found elsewhere in the paper. Check the classified ad section for additional numbers. IF YOU CAN MATCH (JUST CIRCLE OR "X" THE MATCHING NUMBERS) ALL 24 NUMBERS ON ONE OF YOUR BINGO CARDS WITH THE TOTAL OF THE NUMBERS PUBLISHED IN ALL ISSUES OF THE BIG SPRING HERALD EACH WEEK — YOU HAVE A "BINGO"! — AND YOU ARE A WINNER!!!

AT LEAST $50.00 WEEKLY!! Winners will share a weekly prize of $50.00 (in "Bingo Bucks" — they spend the same as cash with any of the sponsoring merchants listed below). If there is only one winner, he wins all of the $50.00. If there is more than one winner, all winners will share the $50.00 equally. If there are no winners any week, the $50.00 weekly prize will be added to the following week's prize fund.

CHECK EACH ISSUE OF THE PAPER: A new game will start each Sunday and be completed the following Friday. Be sure to check each day's issue of The Big Spring Herald because some of the numbers may appear in each day's issue. All numbers needed to complete each week's game will have appeared by each Friday's issue. A new set of Bingo numbers will be published for each week's game. A new color of Bingo cards will be available each week at the sponsoring merchants' stores. To be eligible to win, you must play Bingo cards of the correct color for that week's game. The color of the cards for each week's game will be announced each week on this page.

IF YOU ARE A WINNER: If you have a winning Bingo card, on which all 24 numbers have been mached with the total of numbers published during the week in The Big Spring Herald, print your name, address, phone number, and the name of the store where you got your winning card, on the back of your card and mail to: The Big Spring Herald, 710 Scurry Street, Big Spring, Texas 79720, Box 1431 (the envelope containing your card must be received by 5:00 P.M. Monday of the following week) — or bring your card to the office of this newspaper at 710 Scurry Street, Big Spring, Texas, by 5:00 P.M. Monday of the following week.

NO OBLIGATION OR PURCHASE NECESSARY: There is no obligation or purchase necessary. A copy of the paper is available for playing the game at the office of this newspaper — also at the public library — also a Bingo card and/or copies of The Big Spring Herald, containing the Bingo numbers may be obtained by mailing your request to this newspaper (please print your name and address clearly). You may play as many cards as you wish — they are free. Get additional cards — one at a time — each day of the week — from the merchants listed below (ADULTS ONLY).

DIFFERENT COLORED CARDS E A C H WEEK: The color of the cards change each week. To be a winner, you must play Bingo cards of the correct color for that week. Mutilated or altered cards will not be honored. ALL 24 NUMBERS ON A CARD MUST BE MATCHED TO WIN.

CHANCE DETERMINES NUMBERS: Bingo numbers for each week's game are drawn strictly at random at the office of this newspaper. Some duplication of Bingo numbers may appear in the merchants' ads — or elsewhere in the paper. This duplication does not affect the game or the total numbers drawn. All numbers for each week's game will appear someplace in the sponsoring merchants' ads — and possibly elsewhere in the paper. Employees of this newspaper and members of their families are not eligible to win any of the prizes. Newspaper Bingo is a program copyrighted and registered by Marketing-Research Associates, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Archie Gets Some New Neighbors This Fall

Copley News Service

HOLLYWOOD — Archie Bunker has his pet prejudices, as we all know, ranging from the color of a man's skin to his political leanings.

In the new season he will be expanding his narrow limits to express his bias in a new area, that of Women's Lib.

Norman Lear, executive producer of "All in the Family," disclosed the latest objects of Archie's wrath during a recent conversation.

IN FIRST SHOW

"Two new characters will be introduced on the first show of the fall," Lear reported. They are Irene and Frank, new neighbors of Archie's, played by Betty Garrett and Vincent Gardinia.

"Irene is a woman who is not an active feminist, but she is good with her hands. She fixes everything around the house. She also does cabinet-making for a hobby. In Archie's way of thinking, cabinetmaking is a man's job."

Archie also has a bone to pick with Frank. He is semiretired and likes to cook.

A man who likes to cook is an automatic fag in Archie's opinion, Lear pointed out.

"Another thing, Irene is Irish and Frank is Italian," he said. "This is not necessarily bad, but it is something new to Archie and he doesn't react very well to new situations.

"There are a lot of possibilities for conflict here."

FIVE COMPLETED

Lear noted that five episodes have been completed for the new season. There is one show that has particularly impressed him.

"In the show we explore the problem of old age," he commented.

"Archie is conscious of becoming old. He is aware of this because of an old man, a friend of his, who has problems. The episode also gets into society's responsibility of caring for the aged."

Lear has had two TV hits on his hands. The other is "Maude," a spinoff of "All in the Family." Maude is the ultraliberal who has been a thorn in the side of Archie.

"We are going to open the season with a two-parter on alcoholism," he said. "Walter's an alcoholic. It is an extremely funny show. But it is very apropos. According to the President's Commission on Alcoholism, it is the nation's No. 1 drug problem."

There is another episode that Lear found worth noting.

MAUDE'S PROBLEM

"This one involves a current problem," he said. "If you have a teen-ager, you know what I'm talking about. Maude's daughter comes home with a boyfriend and he decides to stay over. Now what does Maude do?

"Does he get a separate bedroom or does he sleep in the same room with the daughter, which many of them do nowdays?

"It's a conflict for Maude, who wants to feel she has her feet planted in the current generation of her daughter, but her mind is rooted in her own generation. She doesn't know which way to turn."

He was upset about the decision of a number of TV stations in refusing to show the repeat episodes of the two-parter on Maude's abortion.

Blonds Have An Ancient Story

NEW YORK (AP) — Apparently, ancient Romans thought blonds had more fun. Blond wigs imported from Germany or made from the hair of German captives were common, says the World Book Encyclopedia.

Roman women also dyed their hair as part of their routine, and some went so far as to sprinkle their locks with gold dust in their efforts to disarm a Centurion or two.

Women are still sprinkling "gold dust" in their hair, World Book notes. Today, an estimated $3.5 billion a year is spent in more than 180,000 beauty shops in the United States alone.

Brando's Range Extraordinary

One need only look at the wide spectrum of characterizations Marlon Brando has created both on stage and screen, to understand why director Francis Ford Coppola selected him for the pivotal role of Don Corleone in Paramount Pictures' "The Godfather," opening in Technicolor today at the Ritz Theatre.

Beginning his career in the theatre, Brando portrayed the sensative Nels in "I Remember Mama," with Peggy Wood. This role was soon succeeded by appearances in both Maxwell Anderson's "Truckline Cafe" and "Candida," with Katharine Cornell.

Extending the range of his stage characterizations, Brando appeared as David in Ben Hecht's "a Flag Is Born," and the protagonist in "An Eagle Has Two Heads." Each subsequent play advanced his stature, but it was his portrayal of the brutish Stanley Kowalski in Tennessee Williams' drama, "A Streetcar Named Desire," that established Brando as a celebrated performer with a charismatic acting style which still influences young actors everywhere.

FEATURED IN CIRCUS MONDAY
The fabulous Winn troupe

Daring German Team Set For Circus Act Monday

The 1973 edition of the Shrine Circus presents two of the most youthful high-wire artists in the circus world today. Their lives hang in perilous balance twice daily. This daring German duo of wire walkers, the Winn Bros. is the sensation of the 1973 performance of Clyde Bros Circus appearing Monday at the Rodeo Arena under the sponsorship of Suez Shrine with performances scheduled for 3 and 8 p.m.

At each performance of the Shrine Circus, the Winn Brothers execute a dazzling display of nerve and agility aloft. They perform with breath-taking disregard for the possible consequences of a single error. Their style of showmanship has been hailed by circus critics as reminiscent of the great Tanbark artists of yesteryear.

The fabulous Winn Bros. begin their routine, one at either end of an incline wire stretching the very length and height of the building. During their perilous act, they meet in mid-air at mid-air, and cross each other's path to continue the length of the cable — definitely not for the faint at heart.

Thrilling, the youthful Winn Brothers, hope so. That is the name of their job. They are part of an all-star company of circus greats featured with the 1973 Shrine Circus — a dazzling two and one half hours of never to be forgotten thrills, pagentry and excitement, with plenty of peanuts, cotton candy, balloons and loads of elephants.

Mitchum Stars In R-70 Film

Paramount Pictures, "The Friends of Eddie Coyle," a Paul Monash Production directed by Peter Yates, starring Robert Mitchum will open Wednesday at the R-70 Theatre.

Authentic scenes, gripping entertainment and the cool toughness of crime fiction are the dominant elements of the film which is based on the best-selling novel written by George V. Higgins, an assistant U.S. District Attorney for the state of Massachusetts.

When the novel was published in 1972 it was greeted with praise by the critics, but what attracted both writer-producer Monash and director Yates to the property was not just its gusty story exploring the criminal underworld of Boston, but also its human element.

Burr Released From Hospital

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Raymond Burr, star of the television series "Ironside," has been released from the UCLA Medical Center, where he underwent tests after suffering an apparent heart attack in the Azores.

Jon Voight Found Work In Picture Dangerous

"Ah thought 'ol Voight bought the farm that time," said poet James Dickey, watching the filming of Warner Bros.' "Deliverance," which opens Wednesday at the Cinema Theatre, high in the verdant forests of northern Georgia. (buying the farm is a southern colloquialism referring to the insurance payment that covers the mortgage when a farmer accidentally gets himself killed).

Jon Voight, starring in the film version of Dickey's best-selling novel, had just taken a long fall off the towering Tallulah Gorge cliffside, narrowly missing several underwater boulders as he plummeted into the rushing rapids of the Chatooga River, surfacing several minutes later and 50 yards downstream.

This was just one of the close calls which could have marked the end of production for producer-director John Boorman who always seeks authenticity in his action films ("Point Blank" and "Hell in the Pacific"). Every precaution was taken to insure the safety of the cast and crew, but the primeval area and the crashing river was filled with surprises. "I lost almost 15 pounds paddling that canoe," grinned Voight, who traveled with his co-star Burt Reynolds down 50 miles of heavy rapids and some never - before - photographed wilderness over a three-month shooting schedule, "I spent so much time underwater, I thought we were doing a Jacques Cousteau documentary," concluded Voight, shrugging off a soaked shirt and popping a cold beer between scenes. "It's the most physical picture I've ever done, but don't get me wrong, I'm loving every minute of it, bumps and all."

Co-starring with Voight and Reynolds in the outdoor drama, in Technicolor and Panavision, are Ronny Cox and Ned Beatty. Vilmos Zsigmond was cinematographer.

Sen. Hughes Will Retire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, said Friday he wil retire from the Senate next year to become a religious layworker.

In a statement issued here, which he read at a news conference in Des Moines, the former three-term governor said "I will take up work as a religious layworker in connection with two foundations—the Fellowship Foundation of Washington, D.C. and the International Christian Leadership. This new work represents to me a new kind of challenge and spiritual opportunity in today's troubled world."

Hughes, 51, who was instrumental this summer in forcing the disclosure by the Pentagon of secret Cambodian bombing, said he reached the decision "after a long period of personal soul-searching and extended discussion with the members of my family."

Winds, Heavy Rains Damage Crops In Texas

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)— The Rice harvest was in full swing and the cotton harvest had just begun when Tropical Storm Delia hit the Texas coast.

Her high winds and heavy rains damaged crops, with rice suffering most, said Dr. John E. Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Corn, grain sorghum and rice harvesting had been active in the Coastal Plains and in the Southeastern corner of the state prior to Delia's arrival. The corn and sorghum harvests were moving toward completion, but the rice harvest was in full swing and the cotton harvest had just begun.

The rains from the storm again slowed cotton harvesting operations in South Texas. However, the spinoff of moisture to other areas of the state was beneficial as soil moisture was becoming short in many counties, Hutchison said.

Grain sorghum harvesting has begun in the South Plains and is active in the Rolling Plains. Harvest is also in full swing in West Central Texas.

Cotton in western and northern areas is generally making good progress with bolls in early fields beginning to pop open. Crop prospects are generally good in those areas, noted Hutchison.

Land preparation for small grains is active in many counties with planting active in northern and western areas.

Livestock conditions remained generally good although ranges and pastures in western areas are showing some deterioration due to lack of moisture. Screwworms and ear ticks still plague livestock in South Texas.

Reports from district Extension agents showed the following conditions.

SOUTH PLAINS: Cotton is progressing well, with dryland cotton benefitting from recent rain. Grain sorghum harvesting has started and irrigated sorghum yield prospects are excellent. However, the dryland crop is suffering from lack of moisture. Harvesting of peppers, cucumbers and tomatoes continues. Some wheat is being planted but more surface moisture is needed.

FAR WEST: Lack of rain slows the growth of dryland crops and range grasses. Dryland cotton and grain sorghum are especially suffering from lack of moisture. Irrigated cotton is progressing. Fall shearing of sheep and goats is active.

WEST CENTRAL: Soil moisture is short and is delaying small grain planting. Peanuts, ranges and pastures also need rain. The grain sorghum harvest is in full swing and yields are good. Cotton is opening rapidly. Hay baling remains active. Livestock are in good condition although some cases of pinkeye are being reported. Dry range conditions are posing a fire hazard. Fall goat shearing is active.

SOUTHWEST: Corn harvesting is in full swing with good yields. The grain sorghum harvest is about complete with above average yields. About 75 percent of the early peanut crop has been harvested with yields below last year. Planting of cabbage, lettuce and other fall vegetables continues with most crops up. Rain is needed for pastures and ranges.

SOUTH: Rains continue to slow the cotton harvest. More than 114,000 bales have been harvested in the Rio Grande Valley. Fall vegetable planting is active as weather conditions permit. The citrus crop looks good. Pasture and livestock conditions are good, but screwworms and ear ticks are a serious problem.

Shortages Of Raisins?

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — There's been talk of shortages in gasoline and in beef. Now raisins?

California's raisin experts are anticipating a boom year financially, but say a small crop at record prices could still leave supermarket shelves bare.

"Last year, due to frost problems, California had the shortest grape crop ever," said Dick Markarian, chairman of the California Raisin Advisory Board. "The markets are bare. We normally supply about 200,000 tons of raisins, but last year the California output was only 110,000 tons."

The world grape harvest last year wasn't much better. Markarian said Australia's normal crop of 80,000 tons was cut to only 35,000 tons, and weather problems reportedly destroyed about 20 per cent of both the Greek and Turkish crop.

Compounding the situaton is the growers' indecision over whether they should make raisins or sell their crops to a winery.

Markarian said demand from the American consumer and consumers abroad is soaring for raisins, which he describes as a "luxury item."

To tempt grape growers to produce the needed raisins, Markarian said the price this year will hit an all-time high of at least $650 a ton, compared to a price last year of $476 a ton.

Election News Received Here

Howard County Clerk Pauline Petty received word from Paul Whrle, director of elections in Texas, in connection with a proclamation concerning this year's special amendment election.

The proclamation should go out around Oct. 1 with the election set for Nov. 6 with absentee voting 20 days before that date.

Among the issues this year are a provision centering around the regular session of legislature in odd years not exceeding 180 days and 60 days in the even numbered years; a proposition to include the homestead protection of real property of single adult persons the same as the homestead of a family is now protected and extending the $3,000 ad valorem tax exemption to the homestead of unmarried adults.

Others include a proposition that no law creating a conservation and reclamation district shall be passed unless a copy of the proposed bill is delivered to the commissioner court of the county involved, a provision that counties bordering on the Gulf of Mexico by majority vote of taxpayers may levy and collect a tax on seawalls, breakwaters, or sanitary purposes, and one providing that district court, concurrently with county court, shall have general jurisdiction of a probate court.

The other three are amendments to provide an additional $100 million in bonds for the Veterans Land Fund, amending an article to authorize cities, towns and villages authority to levy such ad valorem taxes as are sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on their general obligations lawfully issued and an amendment that would exempt from all ad valorem taxes real and personal property used by a nonprofit water supply corporation or cooperative.

Pecos Plane Crash Mystery Builds

PECOS, Tex. (AP) — A twin-engine plane which crashed here, killing three persons, was a Lockheed Lodestar registered to Gene Davis of Springdale, Ark., authorities said.

One of the bodies recovered from the airplane was that of George F. Robinson, 57, a retired Air Force major from Tulsa.

The other two had not been identified.

The office of Atlas Real Estate, Inc., which Davis operates, refused to say Thursday whether he or any other employe had been aboard the plane.

Several thousand dollars in charred currency was found in the wreckage.
