WIELDING SHOVELS Tuesday afternoon are Sheriff Earl Abercrombie, Texas Ranger John M. Wood, and Mid-America Pipeline district superintendent David Luddeke. They are uncovering a well-concealed valve illegally connected to a propane pipeline.

AFTER CAREFULLY UNCOVERING the line this two-valve riser was found welded into the pipe line. The feet, one standing on the main line itself, belonged to Ralph Ball, gauger foreman for the pipeline. The tap was considered a poor installation.

Many Dead, Wounded In Caracas Violence

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Police firing bazookas flushed snipers from buildings in downtown Caracas today as officials strove to quell pro-Communist violence that has left nearly 100 dead or wounded.

A woman was killed and six other persons, including a policeman, were wounded as fighting spread from the workers' suburbs to El Silencio, a district of modern business buildings.

Coming on the heels of Venezuela's worst day of terrorism Tuesday, the new casualties put the two-day toll at 20 killed and 76 wounded.

President Romulo Betancourt remained in his office throughout the night, directing the roundup of the terrorists by police, the army and national guard.

The number under arrest rose to 150, and police said most were Communist party members. Many were youths who wore black pants and red sweaters as a sort of uniform. Among those held were 40 persons seized by troops Tuesday night for sniping at traffic.

With the return of quiet at dawn, business houses reopened and traffic returned to the streets.

Merchants shut down because of telephoned threats and motorists stayed home Tuesday when Castroite-Communist opponents of Betancourt abruptly stepped up their campaign to unseat him and disrupt the Dec. 1 presidential elections.

Increased terrorism also was reported from cities in the interior.

Many of the casualties in Caracas were bystanders caught in the crossfire between government forces and terrorist snipers. The dead included a 35-year-old terrorist whose legs were tattooed with a hammer and sickle.

Firing centered in the workers' districts on the outskirts of the city.

Unions defied a general strike order from the Red-line Armed Forces of National Liberation. But shootings, bombings and telephone threats to merchants had a paralyzing effect in the capital.

Schools for American children were closed. There were no reports of American casualties.

Betancourt hopes to become Venezuela's first democratically elected president to serve out a five-year term. His term ends next March.

The constitution prohibits Betancourt from succeeding himself. But his Democratic Action party's candidate, Raul Leoni, is virtually assured of defeating his six opponents in the presidential race.

Brown Rites Set Thursday

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday for Mr. Woodrow Wilson Brown, 45, of 1410 Thirtieth Street.

Mr. Brown died at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday at Cogdell Hospital. An employe of Lone Star Gas Co., he had suffered from a serious heart condition for about a year.

Born June 17, 1918 in Fannin County, Mr. Brown came to Snyder in 1951 from Bonham. He had lived in Bonham since his marriage in Honey Grove in 1939. He was a veteran of World War II and a member of the Snyder Volunteer Fire Department.

The funeral services will be conducted at the Northside Baptist Church of which Mr. Brown was a member. The services will be conducted by the Rev. Jack Dean, pastor of the church. Burial will be in Hillside Memorial Gardens under the direction of Bell Funeral Home.

Mr. Brown is survived by his wife; one daughter, Mrs. Calvin Lane of Snyder; one son, Ray Brown of Houston; three sisters, Mrs. R. C. Ramsey of Snyder, Mrs. Durine Phelps of Lubbock, and Mrs. J. D. Moore of Dallas; three brothers, O. C. Brown of Snyder, Jess Brown of Dennison, and Richard Brown of Bonham.

Pallbearers will be Bill Chambless, Floyd Allmand, Bill Engler, Melvin Calhoun, John Sanders and Herman Harty.

Law Closes Free Filling Station

A half-inch valve, rated at 400 pounds pressure, was the center of attention Tuesday afternoon as law enforcement officials and pipe line employes carefully wielded shovels to uncover an illegal tap.

Naturally they were careful. The little 400-pound valve was attached to a six-inch propane line which normally carries pressures of from 500 pounds to pressures in excess of 1,000 pounds.

Located on the old Rosenberg place about 15 miles southwest of Snyder, the location had been under surveillance for the past two weeks. And although there was some evidence that "deliveries" had been made from the tap, no one had been seen at the location.

Texas Ranger Sergeant John M. Wood from Midland, Sheriff Earl Abercrombie, and Mid-America Pipeline employes had kept an almost constant watch, even up to the wee hours of the morning. But two weeks seemed like a long enough time, so the decision was made yesterday to go ahead and uncover the tap.

John Bennettt, area gauger for Mid-America who has been in this area only a few weeks, was given credit for locating the illegal valve. The cover to the valve was well-located for concealment purposes. It was in an area in which the ground was cluttered with discarded farming implements and equipment, and the small steel cover would have been easily overlooked. Actually Bennett found the spot by walking along the line and probing, rather than looking.

Pipeline district superintendent David Luddeke from Hobbs, N. M. was on hand for the uncovering. He said the line ran from the Sunray gasoline plant northwest of Snyder to the company's main distribution point near Hobbs. The line normally carried propane, but on occasion was used to transport butane as well, Luddeke said.

From Hobbs the products are sent up to the midwestern part of the country.

The Texas Ranger and the Scurry County Sheriff are continuing to investigate the case. The pipeline company was to weld a tee over the valve today and thus prevent its further use.

Sergeant Wood noted that theft from a pipe line was a felony, and carried a sentence of from two to five years. But more important, he said, was the fact that the poor weld, and the undersize valve, were a constant menace to the person using it, and to those nearby.

It was for this reason that the decision to uncover the valve and to seal it off before apprehending the thief, was made.

Communities Are Seeking Water Supply

IRA — A seven-man committee representing both the Ira and Dunn communities has been named to study possibilities of obtaining a permanent water supply for the two communities.

The committee was named by approximately 100 persons who attended a meeting Monday night at the Ira Community Center.

Fred Decker, Abilene engineer, explained to the group how such a project might be carried out through FHA. Decker, who has been in charge of similar projects, was introduced to the group by Pat Moore, who presided at the meeting.

Bob Fitting, consulting engineer for Pearson - Sibert Oil Co., told the group that his company plans to bring lake water into the area for a waterflood project in the oilfield.

The steering committee was instructed to assemble more data and then call another meeting, at which time it is planned to elect a water board.

Minister To Get Orders

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Cambodian Foreign Ministry summoned U. S. Ambassador Philip D. Sprouse today, presumably to deliver orders from ruling Prince Norodom Sihanouk for an immediate end to the $30 million-a-year program of U.S. military and economic aid to his country.

Sihanouk announced his decision to a wildly cheering rally of his political party Tuesday. He charged U.S. aid was being used to undermine his regime and that rebel Cambodians based in South Viet Nam were using American equipment.

The prince said he did not want to sever diplomatic relations with the United States but that "all U.S. missions other than a skeleton diplomatic staff must go."

The State Department earlier Tuesday instructed Sprouse to inform the Cambodian government that the prince's charges were false. But Sihanouk apparently acted before the denial could be transmitted to him.

Police Search For Killer

HOUSTON (AP)— Police searched today for a schoolmate of a high school girl found brutally slain in her mother's bedroom on a quiet suburban street after school Tuesday.

The parents of the girl, Donna Jean Tweedt, 17, a senior, found her body lying in a pool of blood, bound and gagged with one of her father's ties twisted around her neck.

Early today, Homicide Capt. L. D. Morrison Jr. told newsmen his officers were seeking an 18-year-old schoolmate of the girl for questioning.

The boy sought by officers also is wanted for questioning in a recent burglary in the suburban neighborhood of Sharpstown where the slaying occurred.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Tweedt, made the grim discovery when they arrived home from a shopping trip.

Police issued a pickup for the girl's 1961 automobile, which was missing from the driveway.

Hearings Set On Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hearings will be held in Austin, Dec. 6-7 on Texas water pollution problems.

In making the announcement, the House government operations subcommittee on natural resources said Gov. John Connally of Texas would be invited to be the first witness.

Representatives of various water and wildlife conservation groups, state health officials and spokesmen for petroleum and other industries also will testify.

The subcommittee chairman, Rep. Robert E. Jones, D-Ala., said Tuesday the hearing at Austin would be a fifth in a series of regional inquiries into water pollution problems of the nation.

Frame Victim Claims Prof.

By ENDRE MARTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington (AP) — Photographs bundled inside a roll of newspapers and thrust into his hands by a stranger in front of a Moscow hotel apparently were Yale Prof. Frederick C. Barghoorn's passport to arrest seconds later by Soviet police.

In the 16 days that he was imprisoned on spy charges, he told newsmen Tuesday, he was not mistreated and signed no confessions.

He said his experience has not shattered his belief that cultural exchange programs between the United States and Russia are a good thing. But the State Department still has not given a go ahead for scheduled exchange talks which the United States canceled because of the Barghoorn incident.

Professor, 52, who was released Saturday and returned home Sunday, met with State Department officials for six hours Tuesday to talk about his Moscow experience. Then he met with newsmen, telling this story:

On Oct. 31, the eve of his planned departure from Moscow, he returned to the Metropole Hotel in the Soviet capital around 7:25 p.m. Suddenly he was approached by a "young-ish-looking man, carrying what looked like a roll of newspapers."

The man asked something which Barghoorn believes was "Are you an American?"

"I was startled, said yes, and he pushed toward me the roll of newspapers. I took it. I thought, perhaps foolishly, that it was propaganda material and put it into my coat. Almost simultaneously I was grabbed and hustled off in an automobile."

He said there were photographs in the roll, adding "I would not understand military matters."

Barghoorn said that neither on this trip nor on previous visits to Russia was he on "intelligence assignment."

STERLING PARKER

UF Employe Division Set

United Fund General Chairman Wayland Holt today announced the appointment of Sterling Parker, owner of the Rainbow Market, as Employe Division Chairman.

Holt also announced that the United Fund campaign office would open today. The office is located in the community room of the West Texas State Bank, the same location as was occupied by the agency last year.

Other division chairmen would be announced shortly, Holt said.

He Might Have Slept For Several Years

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — "All I want is a little sleep," said Ralph Harris, 40, when he was discovered in a 25-foot-deep manhole.

A city employe was inspecting a water main when he came across Harris. He called the police.

Harris told officers he had a fight with his wife and "wanted to get away from her for a while."

He removed the 70-pound cover to get into the manhole, but it had been put back into place by the time the inspector arrived. The employe said it would have been nearly impossible for Harris to get the top off from below and "it might have been another two years before we checked that manhole again."

Court Rules To Dismiss Dam Suit

AUSTIN (AP) — The Third Court of Civil Appeals upheld Wednesday a lower court's decision dismissing a court attack on the $65 million Millican Dam in Central Texas.

"No effective relief can be granted at this time, and the suit is moot, or in any event the order of the Texas Water Commission is not appealable," Chief Justice Roy C. Archer said in the court's opinion.

Attorneys for seven Brazos and Grimes County landowners asked the court Nov. 6 to find that they can appeal the Water Commission's finding that the federal dam project on the Navasota River is feasible.

Dist. Judge Jack Roberts of Austin dismissed the Suit April 23. He agreed with the state that the commission's findings are final and cannot be appealed.

The landowners alleged they owned land which would be inundated by the reservoir, which will be the second largest reservoir wholly in the state.

They asked the commission approval of the federal project be voided.

The landowners also contended that the water commission members should have disqualified themselves from a hearing on the dam because of an earlier expression on the location of the dam.

The dam will have a conservation storage volume of 2.4 million acre feet. An acre foot is 325,851 gallons. The water would cover 88,000 acres in an area 39 miles long and 17 miles across at the widest point.

The cities of Bryan, College Station and Navasota also asked the suit be dismissed.

Party Squabbles May Greet JFKs

WASHINGTON (AP)— President John F. Kennedy will make five speeches in Texas Thursday and Friday in a trip billed "nonpolitical" but probably will land in the middle of state Democratic party hassles.

Jacqueline Kennedy, the first lady, will accompany the President on the trip to Texas which also includes two receptions and a night at the celebrated LBJ Ranch, the Gillespie County show-place spread of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said Tuesday Mrs. Kennedy probably would accompany the President at most of his public appearances in Texas.

Rep. Henry Gonzalez, the liberal Democratic congressman from San Antonio, said he has reports of friction between Gov. John Connally of Texas and a party faction headed by Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., over plans for the Kennedy trip.

Gonzalez said constituents had told him that Democrats who didn't support Connally in his race for governor were being ignored in the visit planning. He said Yarborough was not included among those Connally invited to an Austin reception for the President.

At Austin, a spokesman for the governor said Yarborough was not invited because the reception is for state legislators and officials elected in statewide elections only. Yarborough, however, has been invited to the dinner and will be introduced along with other members of Congress from Texas.

Kennedy will fly from Washington to San Antonio Thursday, arriving at 1:30 p.m. (CST). After the San Antonio activities, he will arrive in Houston by plane at 4:15 p.m. and from there will go to Fort Worth for the night, arriving at Carswell Air Force Base at 10:45 p.m.

After a Fort Worth breakfast, the President will fly to Dallas, arriving at Love Field at 11:35 a.m. where he will address a luncheon which also has touched off fights between party members.

In Dallas, Baxton Bryant—a friend of the late Speaker Sam Rayburn and defeated in the last Democratic primary for the nomination for the congressional seat now held by Republican Bruce Alger—has charged that Republicans are running the Dallas luncheon show.

Rape Trial To Open

GATESVILLE, Tex. (AP)—The state was prepared to open its case today in the rape trial of Virgil Nelson Halford.

Halford, 27, is charged with raping a Mineral Wells girl.

Selection of the jury was completed Tuesday for Halford's second trial on the charge. The case was transferred here last summer after a jury in Wichita Falls was unable to reach a verdict. The case had moved from Palo Pinto County to Wichita Falls on a change of venue.

Goodfellows Set Session

There will be an organizational meeting of the Goodfellows Thursday afternoon at 6 p.m. at the community room of the West Texas State Bank.

A president and board of directors will be named to carry on the work of the group for the coming Christmas season.

Representatives of local clubs and organizations have been asked to attend the meeting. It is also open to anyone interested in the work of the Goodfellows.

The meeting Thursday is planned to be a brief one, and is being held at the early hour to allow those attending to go to a number of other meetings planned for Thursday night.

PAIR OF CONTESTANTS SHARE WEEK'S PRIZE

Two contestants shared the prize money in last week's Snyder Daily News Football Contest, as a few upsets kept front runners at a minimum in the guessing.

Jack H. Starnes, 2510 Twenty-ninth Street, and Frank Overton, Route 1, Snyder, missed six selections each to top the field.

Three others were close behind with seven misses each. They included Roy Staton, Route 2; E. K. Featherston, Route 2, and LaJean Criswell, 206 Thirty-fourth Street.

Another contest gets underway today, and the list of games may be found in sponsors' advertisements in this issue of The Snyder Daily News.

Soviet Diplomats Jailed In Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Congolese security agents and gendarmes dragged two Soviet diplomats feet first from their car Tuesday, beat them with clubs and hauled them off to jail.

They were still held today.

Soviet embassy officials said the diplomats were embassy counsellor Boris Noronin and press attache Yuri Miakotnykh. The officials said they had no word on their fate.

Eyewitnesses said Noronin and Miakotnykh refused to allow the Congolese to search their car on their return from Brazzaville, across the Congo River. The diplomats claimed diplomatic immunity.

Soviet embassy officials said the Congolese also had cut the telephone and electric supply to the luxury apartment where the 100-man Soviet mission lives and works.

Sources close to the Congolese government hinted that "highly compromising" documents had been seized from the two arrested diplomats.

Gendarmes stood guard outside the embassy building Tuesday night, refusing to allow callers to enter.

Relations between the Congolese government and the Communist block have been bad and some members of Premier Cyrille Adoula's regime recently were agitating for a break with the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria, the Communist nations with which the Congo has diplomatic relations.

An eyewitness to the arrest of the two Russians said when they refused to allow a search of their car at the Brazzaville ferry landing, the congolese let all the air out of the car's tires.

An argument lasting more than an hour followed. The Soviet diplomats sat stiffly in their car.

Finally, the Congolese forced open the car doors, dragged the Russians out and threw them into a Congolese army truck. When they tried to get off the truck, they were beaten with clubs, the witness said.

Another witness said one of the diplomats tried to push a document inside his shirt, but a Congolese grabbed his collar and ripped off his shirt front.

The first secretary of the British Embassy, Douglas Blyth, finally telephoned the Soviet Embassy.

Two Russians from the embassy reached the landing stage after the diplomats had been driven off. It was not known where they were taken.

Sources close to the government said the two Russians had been unable to satisfy security police they were diplomats.

Tarawa Battle Memories Still Vivid After 20 Years

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — After 20 years Marine Gen. David M. Shoup still relives the blood - drenched Battle of Tarawa — all but a few vital seconds that remain a blank in his mind.

Those were the second it took Shoup to dash about 40 yards across bullet - and - mortar - swept coral sand to the shelter of a blockhouse wall.

From there, the man who was to become commandmant of the Marine Corps directed the savage assault on the tiny Central Pacific island which Japan had converted into a fortress.

That three - day battle, which began at dawn just 20 years ago today was the most costly brief engagement in Marine history.

When it was over, 990 Marines were dead — many shot down before they could wade ashore from disabled or stranded landing craft. Another 2,311 Leathernecks were wounded.

Only 18 of the 4,800 - man Japanese garrison lived to be captured. The rest were slain in their bunkers, or killed themselves rather than surrender.

Shoup, 58, has good reason to remember Tarawa — he won the Medal of Honor there.

The citation said this:

"Although severely shocked by an exploding enemy shell soon after landing . . . and suffering from a serious, painful leg wound which had become infected, Col. Shoup fearlessly exposed himself to the terrific and relentless artillery, machinegun and rifle fire. . .

"Rallying his hesitant troops . . . he gallantly led them across the fringing reefs to charge the heavily fortified island and reinforce our hard - pressed, thinly held lines. . .."

Graying but still rugged-looking, Shoup reminisced about the battle as he sat in his big, memento - cluttered office at Marine headquarters.

"It's as clear as though it was yesterday," Shoup told an interviewer in accents that reflected his Indiana birth.

"But there's one period of several seconds that's been a blank all these years.

"I remember looking over a cocoanut log barrier and picking the route I would take. I remember reaching the blockhouse with my radio man. But I've never been able to reconstruct what happened in between."

Shoup had crouched behind the log barrier after wading several hundred yards through shallow water churned by bullets and exploding shells.

Like many of his men, Shoup started walking toward shore when his amphibious tractor was knocked out. His amtrack's driver was picked off.

The colonel clasped his hands with a Marine corporal and began pushing his way along the shallow reef.

"I felt his grip tighten, and I looked around at him," Shoup said.

"A sniper had put a bullet between his eyes."

Shoup was silent a moment, then went on:

"I wouldn't be here today if I hadn't turned to look at him."

For just then, another bullet fired by a Japanese sniper struck the water, spent its force and slammed into Shoup's neck.

If it had hit him in the face, Shoup believes he would have been killed. Instead, he escaped with a badly swollen neck.

In all, Shoup was struck in nine different places. Most of the wounds were nicks, he said.

His most acute memories are the promises he made in an effort to comfort some of those who were dying under the blazing sun of Tarawa — promises to help take care of their children.

"These promises I made without any realization of how I could fulfill them," he said, "yet those men died believing what I promised."

To make good on those battlefield promises, Shoup has put all his weight behind a scholarship fund set up by the 2nd Marine Division Assn. to educate the children of men who died at Tarawa.

Tonight, as on all other anniversaries of the battle, Shoup will get together with a group of its survivors.

They will gather at the commandant's home for the last time before he retires Dec. 31, ending a 37 - year career with the corps.

Widow To Testify In Baker Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators investigating the steaming Robert G. Baker case have called the widow of one of his partners as their first outside witness.

Gertrude Novak will be questioned Thursday at a closed session of the Senate Rules Committee, Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C. announced.

Mrs. Novak's husband, Alfred, whose death on March 3, 1962, was ruled a suicide, was among Baker's partners in the Carousel Motel at Ocean City, Md. She will be the committee's first witness other than Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del.

Williams has supplied the committee with information he gathered in a one-man investigation before Baker resigned as secretary to the Senate Democratic majority on Oct. 7 after questions of possible conflict of interest were raised about his outside business interests.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., charged Tuesday night that Baker had a hand in keeping him from a choice committee assignment back in 1961.

Yarborough told a newsman that after he lost his bid for a seat on the Judiciary Committee he learned from friends that Baker had told some people: "We couldn't afford to let Yarborough have that seat. He would be in a position to prevent Lyndon from controlling it."

The senator understood that by "Lyndon" Baker meant Vice President Johnson, who has not always seen eye-to-eye with his fellow Texan.

Did Yarborough ask Baker about the report? "No, I never asked Bobby Baker anything," he said. "I never trusted him. It wasn't the first time I'd had experience with him."

Some other liberal senators have also complained that Baker, a protege of Johnson, favored the conservative Southern bloc in the Senate.

The bill, sponsored by Sens. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and Maurine Neuberger, D-Ore., drew fiery opposition from Republic Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

Dirksen said there seemed to be a disposition to give these measures "a free ride on the coattails" of the investigation of the Baker case, but he urged Congress in a fist-pounding speech not to retreat under attack.

Mrs. Neuberger said that the Senate asks Cabinet members and other executive department officials to divulge their financial and business affairs before confirming their nominations and "should be willing to meet the standards we set for others."

AT&T May Split Stock

NEW YORK (AP) — American Telephone and Telegraph Co. directors proposed today a 2 for 1 split of the common stock and a hike in the dividend effective next year.

The dividend would be 50 cents a share on the proposed split stock. This would be equal to $1.00 quarterly on the current stock.

The split, if approved by shareholders at the annual meeting in April, would be only the second in the history of the world's largest private enterprise. It would be effective in June.

AT&T, operator of the nationwide Bell Telephone system, split its stock 3 for 1 in 1958-59. The dividend was hiked 10 per cent to $3.30 on the new shares at that time. In 1960, directors raised the dividend to $3.60 a year, effective July 10, 1961.

Viet Policy Talks Begin In Hawaii

By MALCOLM BARR

HONOLULU (AP) — High-level talks on the United States' future policies in Viet Nam and all of Southeast Asia began today in Pacific military command headquarters near Honolulu.

The day-long session brought together top - drawer military men and diplomats from Washington and Saigon to map out future strategy in the fight against communism in Southeast Asia.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara arrived Tuesday night and termed the meeting "just another in a series in which we will review our program of commitments in Viet nam."

McNamara said in a planeside interview that U.S. assistance to Viet Nam in its fight against subversion will be discussed at the session, as well as the return home of U.S. personnel in Viet Nam.

Also scheduled to attend the meeting was Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Secretary of State Dean Rusk was to arrive today.

From Saigon Tuesday came Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, and Gen. Paul D. Harkins, head of the U.S. military advisory group there.

Lodge had talked to newsmen in a planeside interview at Hickam Air Force Base. He indicated he will urge full support of the new South Viet Nam military regime as far as is practical and appeared satisfied with the new leaders.

Lodge, queried on reports that he knew of the coup against now dead former President Ngo Dinh Diem Nov. 1 while Harkins was left in the dark, snapped at a newsman, "Don't ask me things like that."

The political - military talks were prompted by the Diem government's overthrow and were called by the Defense and State departments.

Guilty Pleas Heard On Check Charges

Robert Ezell, formerly of Snyder and now of Longview, pleaded guilty to four worthless check charges in county court Tuesday afternoon.

He was fined $10 plus costs of $26.35 and sentenced to 10 days in jail on each count. The checks had been given to Star Discount, Sandwich Shop, Adams Drive - In Grocery and Rogers, Inc.

The world's greatest rainfall recorded in one month was 366 inches, in Cherrapunji, India, during July 1861.

Exchange Members Expelled

NEW YORK (AP)—Two New York Stock Exchange member firms were suspended today following a complex chain of reactions that threatened major repercussions in business circles.

The exchange named Ira Haupt & Co. and J.R. Williston & Beane Inc.

The suspension followed a statement by the exchange that it was checking the financial position of two member firms.

Late Tuesday, a New Jersey dealer and refiner of fats and vegetable oils, Allied Crude Vegetable and Refining Co. of Bayonne, filed bankruptcy in U.S. District Court at Newark.

Within hours the exchange disclosed its investigation, saying at that time that "a refining company holding large positions in commodities as a customer of two member firms "had encountered serious financial difficulties.

Trading of cottonseed oil futures, that is, buying and selling of cottonseed oil for future delivery, was suspended on the New York produce exchange following sharp price changes.

TU Star To Be In Court

AUSTIN (AP) — Duke Carlisle, University of Texas star quarterback, says he will appear in corporation court Thursday to contest a traffic citation received in connection with an automobile accident three weeks ago.

Carlisle and the woman driver of the other vehicle involved were charged with leaving the scene of an accident without reporting the crash-to city police.

Officers said they learned of the accident the following day when the woman changed her mind and reported the accident to police headquarters. She said Carlisle agreed at the accident scene to pay for damages estimated at $90.

Conviction of violation of the city traffic ordinance could result in fines of $25 to $200.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl of 14 and I love to play football. I have quite a few girl friends who play tackle football with me every Friday and Saturday night. If girls can play tackle football as well as boys and are willing to take the chance of getting hurt, why don't they let girls play on the team?

LEFT OUT

DEAR LEFT: It's bad enough when a BOY gets his teeth knocked out. Contact sports are NOT for young ladies. You'll have to learn how to intercept a pass some other way.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I was recently married to a divorced man who has one married daughter living out of the state. She didn't take it very well when she heard that her father had remarried. Now she wants us to come to visit her, but I am not so sure I want to go unless I know that I will be accepted. My husband refuses to go without me and he says he is certain that I will be treated with respect. Please rush your answer to me as my husband has a new grandson he has never seen and is eager to make the trip.

ON THE FENCE

DEAR ON: Go. But leave at home that chip on your shoulder, or it will be a plank by the time you get there.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been on the same job 24 years. He has only one more year to go before he retires, provided he doesn't get caught stealing. This has been going on for about three years. I've begged him to stop, but he won't listen to me. Most of the things he has brought home are expensive, but he as absolutely no use for them. They're just hidden away. I have lost all respect for him. He has always been a clean and honest man. I can't understand it. If I turn him in, he'll lose his job and our children will be disgraced. He reads DEAR ABBY. Maybe he will listen to you.

THIEF'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Your husband appears to be a sick man. A thief takes things he wants and needs. A kleptomania has a compulsion to take things whether he needs them or not. I urge you to get your husband to a doctor. Psychiatrists have been able to cure kleptomania. A kleptomaniac is as morally blameless, as say a diabetic.

Now—'64 Chevy II . . .

with a V8 engine

Now you see it. Now you don't. When a Chevy II does that kind of disappearing act you know without looking twice: It's a '64 with a V8 engine.

That's right. A full-grown 195-hp Turbo-Fire V8.* It's available for the first time this year along with a choice of three other engines—the standard 4 (in 100 Series sedans), the standard 6 and a new 155-hp 6.* (And all of them maintain their high spirits on modest amounts of regular gasoline.)

But the changes aren't confined to what happens when you slip into the driver's seat.

There are new styling features like the tasteful grille design and trim accents, for instance. And the larger self-adjusting brakes that further reduce upkeep on a car that already has a reputation of coming about as close to perpetual motion as anything on four wheels can get.

The place to get the full details on the '64 is your Chevrolet dealer's. And after you've got them, we hope you'll attend to one further detail yourself. Drive it.

It takes an expert to judge the quality of meat just by looking at its color, the fat, and the bone. So, for most of us, it's safer to rely on a meat packer's brand or a Federal grade, to be sure of getting the quality we pay for.

Ira Class Has Party

IRA (Spl) — A "tacky party" was held Saturday night at the Ira Community Center for the Junior Sunday School Class of Ira Methodist Church.

Mrs. Howard Sterling was hostess. Prizes were given to the three judged to be the "tackiest."

TOPS Club In Session

TOPS Club met Tuesday night at 7 p.m. at the Union Community Center with approximately 45 members present. A total of 60 have signed up and weighed in. Next week's meeting will be at the barn in Towle Park at 7.

Plans for a Fluvanna Club are in the making. Also a day time club will be organized within the next two weeks.

At the meeting, games were played and exercises were a main part of the meeting.

Anyone wishing to join should be present at the next meeting. Visitors are also welcome.

Mrs. Alfred Lieb is president of the local club.

Candy Stripers Meet

The Junior Auxiliary of Cogdell Hospital held their regular monthly meeting Wednesday, Nov. 13, at the home of the sponsor, Mrs. Johnnie Pitner.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Jane Boren. The roll was called, and a treasurer's report given.

President Boren warned the club members that the rule that three unexcused absences from meetings means expulsion, will be rigidly enforced in the future. She also urged the members to be more conscientious in their hospital attendance.

Mrs. Pitner announced that Mrs. Arel Faver is the new co-sponsor. She also informed the club that starting at mid-term, all members will be required to have an over-all grade average of 80. Averages will be checked at the end of each nine weeks.

Plans to aid a needy family at Christmas were discussed. Also the club agreed to volunteer for the Cancer Crusade.

Shelia Dupree reported on the District II Candy Stripers Convention held Oct. 19 at the Midland Country Club. Seven girls and two sponsors attended.

They were Mrs. Faver and Mrs. Pitner, sponsors, and Shelia Dupree, Linda Leech, Jane Boren, Karen Dolen, Joyce Baxter, Phyllis Sealy, Nan Martin.

Junior auxiliaries from Midland, Odessa, Pecos, Abilene and Andrews were also represented at the convention.

Speakers were Mrs. Burton B. Paddock, president of the Texas Association of Hospital Auxiliaries who gave a welcome from T.A.H.A., and Mrs. Hilton H. Ray from the Eastern New Mexico Medical Center Auxiliary in Roswell, New Mexico.

Mrs. Ray spoke on "What Juniors can Expect from Their Program."

The convention enjoyed two skits. One was presented by the Midland Junior Auxiliary and was entitled "Our Hospital," and another was presented by the Odessa Junior Auxiliary.

After luncheon and a style show, a panel show, "The Four Faces of Eve" was presented. The moderator was Mrs. Milton J. Loring and the members were Mrs. M. C. Waddell, supervisor of Midland Memorial Auxiliary; Dorothy Thynell, M. D., Midland; Rev. Francis Fowler, Holy Trinity Episcopal Church.

The final session of the convention was "Let's Chat," a question and answer period.

Musical Coterie Club Meets With Mrs. Clinton

The Musical Coterie Club met Thursday, Nov. 14 in the home of Mrs. Robert Clinton. Mrs. Ed Schulz and Mrs. Frank LeFeuvre were hostesses for the meeting.

Mrs. Clinton presented Mrs. Ophelia Blackard who reviewed the book "Talking of Music" by Neville Cardus.

After a short resume on recent musical interests of various mediums, TV, radio, concert series, and bands, Mrs. Blackard introduced Mrs. Jack Patchell who presented three of her students playing classical selections at the piano.

Paula Parks played "Prelude" by Michael Brodsky. Mollie Walker played "Gopak" by Moussorgsky, and Dan Brunken, "Fir Eloise" by Beethoven.

Mrs Blackard's subtley presented book review was enjoyed by all present. In his book, Mr. Cardus stated that music is a universal art, enjoyed and appreciated by everyone.

Music was traced from its origin and it was shown how it enables us to escape from the ordinary.

Religious music was the first to be accepted by the majority for worship. Any secular instrumental music was considered "of the devil." Music was considered a gift of praise to God, allowed by God to recreate and cheer men for the good of mankind.

Mrs Blackard followed with the relationship of music to paintings, characteristics of music such as conducting, composing, and the early "prima donnas" of the opera, to the prevalance of orchestras in Eruope and America today.

As for music of today, all music must change, and as Mr. Cardus so aptly put it, "Let us be patient and hope for the best. In spite of all its criticisms, music is still a charitable art."

Mrs. E. L. Kubala presented the hymn of the month, "Now Thank We All Our God" which was led by Mrs. Laura Arnold and accompanied by her daughter.

ABWA In Meet Here

The American Business Women's Association had its Thanksgiving meeting and Guest Night on Thursday at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

Following the meal, the 40 members and guests heard County Attorney Geroge Killam, who spoke on "America's Ghanging Cities." Mrs. Barbara Cole gave the vocational talk.

Dinner music was presented by Miss Pam Cole.

The only item of business was the election of a nominating committee. Serving on the committee are Inez Teaff, Dorothy Ratliff and Flora Hughes. Ben Dennis was presented a gift by the chapter in appreciation of his willingness to be of assistance to the organization.

SS Class Sees Slides

The Rebecca Sunday School Class of First Baptist Church met Monday evening in the home of the class president, Mrs. Opal Sullivan, 3757 Highland Drive.

No business session was held in order to give the teacher, Mrs. Travis Rhoades, more time to show slides of her summer tour in Europe.

Mrs. Rhoades presented a 9,000 - mile travelogue, taking the class via slides through 12 countries. Major points included were Glasgow, Scotland, London, England, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, Germany, Switzerland, Liechtenstein, Austria, Italy, Monaco and France.

Near Innsburk, Austria, the group saw the village of Oberammergau nestled among the highlands of the Bavarian Alps. It was here in 1634 that the Passion Play of Christ originated. Every 10 years since that time, a new group of actors presents the play. Today it is internationally known.

Py-Lo 4-H Club Meets

The Py-Lo 4-H Club met recently in the Walter Stirl home.

Kathryn Helm and Diane Hess gave a demonstration on potato chip casserole. Mrs. Stirl served refreshments.

PUTTING A GREAT RECORD TO A SEVERE TEST

New Yorkers Face Housing Problem For World's Fair

BY INEZ ROBB

My friend with the whim of iron stirred another drop of lemon into her tea and then asked:

"Do you know if Robert Moses has a large apartment in town or a big place in the country?"

"There's a lot of useless information running around in my head about the number of rooms in Buckingham Palace and how many persons lived at Versailles in the time of Louis XIV," I said. "But the answer to your question is 'No. Mrs. Bones. I don't have any idea how Mr. Moses lives, whether in a basement flat or a 30-room triplex.'"

"I hope it's the 30-room triplex in town and an equally large house in the country," the Whim or Iron said with so much emphasis that I thought the teacup was a goner. "I'd like to think that the man who heads the New York World's Fair has two big homes that will be overrun, absolutely overrun, with houseguests as long as the fair lasts!"

"I'd like to think that his nose will be rubbed in all the trouble he's cooking up for every New Yorker who has a spare room or a Murphy bed in his library," she continued.

"Do you know that friends and cousins I haven't seen since the end of the last New York World's Fair in 1940 are already writing to tell me they'll be here for the fair in 1964 or 1965? And they express the pious hope we'll have the same good time we had in '39 and '40."

"And do you know what that means?" she demanded, and this time I thought the teacup was surely doomed. "Th a t means: Have Jim and I still got a spare room and the old Murphy bed in the library?

"By ill fortune, we still have. But Jim and I aren't as young as we were in '39 and '40 when we were inundated by World's Fair Friends. By the way," she paused to explain "a Fair friend equates with a 'sunshine patriot.'

"Anyway, Jim and I have solved the problem and I think you ought to face up to it, too, before it's too late. We have decided to lease our apartment during the fair season of '64 - '65. The real estate agents tell me that furnished apartments will be in great demand and we can get a packet of money for it."

"But what are you and Jim going to do?" I asked.

"Take evasive action," she answered. "We have thought of going to some quiet spot on the Italian Riviera — if such a place still exists — for four weeks during the first summer.

"Then the rest of the summer, we'd sublet a not-too-attractive one-room apartment in New York. A place where we obviously couldn't put anyone up overnight, and one even too small to get a company dinner. In '39 and '40, we had guests continuously. They ate and drank us out of house and home.

"By the time the last fair ended in 1940 we were broke. And we figure we're too old to start all over again at the end of the fair in 1965."

"I realize it's a problem," I said. "But won't your friends hate you? Don't you want to see your friends?"

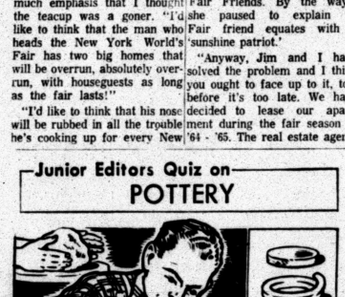

"In reply to the first question, if I have a choice, I'd rather hate my friends than myself when the merry-go-round finally stops," said Whim of Iron. "In reply to your second question the answer is: 'Yes, I want to see my friends, but I don't want to be chairman of the Entertainment Committee for them for two whole summers.'

"Why don't you and Add rent your apartment and get out of town during the fair?" she demanded. "Otherwise, that spare room of yours will be occupied every minute."

"But I like my friends," I protested "And, besides, you've given me an idea. We'll just move into that sometime triplex with Robert Moses."

Junior Editors Quiz on POTTERY

QUESTION: How are ceramics made?

• • •

ANSWER: Ceramics are useful or beautiful things—often both—made of clay and baked so they become hard. It is an ancient craft, for people have been making pottery for at least 10,000 years. A great step ahead was the discovery of a revolving stand called the "potter's wheel." Our picture shows one in action. First, a mass of clay is thrown on the wheel. Then, as the wheel spins, the potter uses various implements and his hands to shape the pot inside and outside. Our potter has built up a symmetrically shaped jar and now he is using his fingers to pull a lip out at the top as the jar spins. The result will be as shown at lower left.

A method used in making pottery on a commercial scale is to make the clay into a liquid called "slip." This is poured into moulds. The slip hardens first near the mould; when enough has hardened, the inside slip is poured out, the mould opened and the object removed. After being shaped, ceramic ware is heated in high temperature kilns, which gives the clay stone-like hardness. A final, shiny "glaze" is often applied.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Get a bit of modelling clay and make the pot in upper right. Cut out round base first. Then roll several clay snakes and wind these upward on the base, coiling them more widely for the body and narrower for the top. Smooth down outside. 11-20

Aluminum Helped Start Golden Boy

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The latest golden boy in the entertainment producing field began with an aluminum touch. He helped work his way through college selling pots and pans from door to door.

"That was more valuable than anything I learned in class," Martin Ransohoff said. "It taught me the value of contacting people, to know what they think and want."

At 30, he became the youngest chief executive of any corporation listed on the American Stock Exchange.

Now at 35 Ransohoff, who is built like a balding bumblebee, is one of television's most successful producers and is buzzing his way to the top in motion pictures. As a third string in his bow, his firm also turns out commercial and documentary films.

To critics who regard Ransohoff as "the king of cornbelt comedy," it will come as little consolation that he is planning more network situation series on the same level of folk laughter.

"It doesn't make any sense for our organization to diversify with serious dramas," he said. "We are geared to comedy."

In the motion picture world, Ransohoff is mushrooming with equal rapidity.

He is engaged in a cross-country word battle with MGM studio heads over his wish to include a frontal shot of four live nudes. Such arguments leave the stubby little producer unperturbed. He thrives on controversy, and is more than a mite disdainful of criticism.

Son of a New Orleans coffee importer, Ransohoff adventured in food brokerage and automobile marketing and worked as a free lance writer in Europe before turning to producing.

He operates on the theory that the job of a producer is to find the actual entertainment market, then satisfy it.

If the people want pots and pans, he thinks it is pointless to try to sell them gold-plated bookends.

"Is there an audience? That's the first question to ask," he said. "If you lose sight of that, you're in big trouble.

"You may be able to flatter your own ego, but you're going to lose somebody an awful lot of money if you're not sure of the audience for which you're creating."

"I don't have any grand design of life. I just want to achieve something, have a few laughs and make a few bucks," he said.

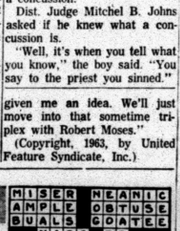

'Concussion' Is Good For The Soul

DENVER (AP) — A 12-year-old boy, testifying in a case involving a damage suit over an auto accident, said he received a concussion.

Dist. Judge Mitchiel B. Johns asked if he knew what a concussion is.

"Well, it's when you tell what you know," the boy said. "You say to the priest you sinned."

Meredith Shows 'Em

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP)—Don Meredith Southern Methodist's Golden Boy who entered pro football with much fanfare and $30,000 a year, heard his first boos from the crowd this season.

That was when he was operating the quarterback shuttle with Eddie Lebaron as Coach Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys called the plays from the bench.

Don took it philosophically. "I was glad to know somebody cared enough to boo me," he said. "I appreciated the interest. I think it probably helped me."

But the boos have turned to cheers of late. Don happens to be doing about the finest brand of quarterbacking in the National Football League. Landry says "you can't say too much for his performance in the last four games. No one could have done better. I feel he is on the verge of becoming a solid quarterback."

Meredith's star began to shine when Landry abandoned the shuttle and said that "Don is our quarterback and will run the team."

That was four weeks ago. Meredith proceeded to compile a somewhat fantastic record. In four games he completed 86 of 130 passes for 1,205 yards, 12 touchdowns and only four interceptions.

His performance against the San Francisco 49ers established a season high for attempts, 48; completions, 30, and yardage, 460.

When Meredith came of age, so to speak, in professional football, it marked the end of three turbulent years when he and Landry were both criticized roundly because he wasn't playing enough and wasn't being permitted to run the team.

Landry was bringing him on slowly because he explained that throwing him to the wolves would not only hurt the boy but also hurt the team.

"With a young offense you had to have quarterback with experience to handle it," explained Landry.

The coach said he thought Meredith had progressed just like he should and that he turned the team over to him when he figured Meredith was ready.

Meredith was appreciative of Landry's patience and help.

"I was in a haze my first year," he said. "The second year I learned I didn't know it all. My third year I was disappointed with my performance and I imagine Landry was disappointed, too. But he never said much about it."

But Meredith added that he figured it all was for the best. "Heck, man, it took me two years just to learn the plays," he said.

Ancient Foes Always Fight Whole Game

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Harvard and Yale have been playing each other in football since 1875 and their games virtually always are in doubt until the final tackle. Saturday's fray shouldn't be any different.

Although the Harvards come into this one needing a victory for a possible Ivy League crown, don't lock the Yales out.

Last week there was a bit of left-handed forecasting with 41 correct guesses and 13 wrong ones. That's a .759 average, a sharp slump from the .807 figure of the week before. The season's totals now are 354-121 for .746.

It is rare when the final big Saturday of the season pairs the last two remaining contenders in at least two conferences against each other. That's the case in both the Big Ten and Big Eight circuits.

So here's how things should turn out:

Michigan State over Illinois: Sherm Lewis, the Mighty Mouse of Michigan State, is the irresistible force while Dick Butkus of Illinois is the immovable object. This time the immovable object is the loser and the Spartans win the Rose Bowl berth.

Oklahoma over Nebraska: Not since the glory days of Biff Jones and the 1940 Rose Bowl season have the Cornhuskers flashed the muscle as shown by Dennis Claridge and his mates. But Oklahoma has muscle and speed.

Washington over Washington State: Out in Seattle they say that the star of the Washington team is the unspillable Junior Coffey. The Cougars will discover if is true.

Pittsburgh over Penn State: The Pitt quarterback merely has to Dial M for Murder — and either Fred Mazurek or Paul Martha will answer.

Auburn over Florida State: Jimmy Sidle and his mates with relative ease, unless the entire Tiger is busy thinking about next week's game with Alabama.

Southern California over UCLA: The clock has struck the midnight hour for the Cinderella boys from UCLA.

Hunting Party Bags Eight Deer

Three bucks, with five, six and eight points, plus five does were brought back from Mason County by a local hunting party Tuesday.

On the four-day hunt were Jos. Nachlinger, Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Nachlinger and son Jack, Frank Nachlinger and son Butch, Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Lambert and Jack West.

STOPPED GOING THROUGH CENTER — Arkansas quarterback Fred Marshall (19) was stopped after making short gain in first quarter against Southern Methodist University at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas, Texas. Out of action are Arkansas players Ronnie Caveness (55) and Bill Gray (11), and SMU's David Wilson (68). (AP Wirephoto)

Chiefs To Show Explosive Back

The Snyder Tigers need one more victory for a clean sweep in district competition and an 8-2 won-lost record for the season, but it may not come easy.

That was the opinion of Tiger scouts last night who gave a report on the Lake View Chiefs at the Snyder Quarterback Club's weekly meeting. The Chiefs are scheduled to meet the Tigers in the regular season finale Friday night in Tiger Stadium.

Lake View is without a victory in nine outings this year, but has two ties. However, this record did not exactly lull the Tiger scouts.

"Lake View has the best football team I ever saw without a victory," declared Roy Carter, Snyder B team coach who, along with his colleague, Bill Hartsfield, scouted the Chiefs.

For example, they cited last week's game between the Chiefs and the Brownfield Cubs. Brownfield jumped out to a 14-0 lead in the first quarter. Yet, at the half-time intermission, the Cubs were literally holding on with a bare 14-12 edge. Brownfield managed another touchdown late in the game to win it 21-12.

Since Brownfield and Snyder played to a virtual stalemate, with the Tigers pulling out a last-minute 16-15 decision, and the Chiefs and Colorado City played to a 6-6 tie, the situation indicates that the Tigers' 21-14 win over Colorado City was just about true to current form via the comparison route. In that case, the Tigers are expected to have their hands full once again.

The Chiefs boast an explosive offense centered upon one individual, the local scouts said. That would be C. R. Avants, the talented fullback, who has broken for long runs consistently this year, including a 99 - yard scoring scamper against Lamesa.

Coach Horrace Bostick expressed relief that last week's nightmarish encounter with Colorado City was now history.

Bostick said the locals had the misfortune to go into a defensive lapse just when the Wolves "caught fire." Injuries to some key defensive stalwarts were a factor, but the Tiger coach felt that his charges should have contained the Wolves, nevertheless. On the whole, the Tigers probably absorbed more physical punishment than in any other game this season. They were particularly hurting for linebackers and before the game's end had players from other positions in service there.

Bauer Sees Managing As Simple

BALTIMORE (AP) — Hank Bauer looks upon managing the Baltimore Orioles as a simple thing.

"The ball players know me, if I ask them to do something, they'll do it for me," he believes. "They know I'm strictly for the ball player."

He displayed this camaraderie at a news conference Tuesday confirming his engagement in a one-year contract as the new Oriole manager.

During a lull in questioning by newsmen, the relaxed Bauer said to the back of the room: "Got any questions, Jim?"

"You're the only man with a job," shot back Gentile, the first baseman who is one of the Orioles' problem children.

"I don't think you have anything to worry about," said Bauer reassuringly.

Lee MacPhail general manager, made it clear he hired Bauer to replace Billy Hitchcock in hopes he would get more out of the Orioles as individual players.

"I think he has the quality of leadership to put some spark in our ball club to change it from just another first division club to a true contender," is the way MacPhail expressed it.

The feeling for Bauer among the players was shown by the presence at the news conference of third baseman Brooks Robinson, pitchers Milt Pappas and Dick Hall in addition to Gentile.

Except for the possible acquisition of a left-hand batting outfielder, Bauer said he planned to start the same Orioles who finished fourth the past season — "until proven otherwise."

"Our most pressing problem is scoring runs," he declared. "I think the pitching is very good and the defense good."

Pair Cited In Valley

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Jerry Rhome, Tulsa quarterback, and Darrell Cauley, Cincinnati guard, were named Missouri Valley Conference back and lineman of the week today.

Rhome hit eight of eight passes in the fourth quarter Saturday to bring Tulsa from a 7-21 deficit to a 22-21 victory over Houston.

Cauley, a 205-pound senior, was credited with 13 unassisted tackles and one assist in Cincinnati's 23-20 losing effort at Wichita.

Close runners-up for Back of the Week honors were Henry Schichtle of Wichita and Dwaine Bean of North Texas.

Doug Buffone, Louisvilles sophomore center, was nominated for outstanding defensive play against Western Michigan.

More Texas Negroes Will Play At Home

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas, a state producing about 10,000 Negro high school football players and some 3,500 basketball players, now is going to see more of them staying at home for their collegiate competition.

The University of Texas of the Southwest Conference has integrated its sports and will start recruiting the Negro athletes. Southern Methodist announced that Negroes could be used on its team and University of Houston, an independent said Tuesday qualified Negro athletes would be sought.

For years teams from the Big Ten, Big Eight, Big Six, and other conferences raided the state of its Negro football stars. Or the athletes went to all-Negro colleges in the state, such as Prairie View A&M and Texas Southern.

Several years ago the barriers against Negroes participating in sports at Texas colleges started falling as integration of the schools spread.

North Texas State University, the fourth largest college in the state with 10,000 students and a member of the Missouri Valley Conference, opened athletics to Negroes and came up with Abner Haynes, who after starring as a collegian, played with the Dallas Texans and is now with the Kansas City Chiefs.

A number of small colleges in the state, including several in the Lone Star Conference, have had Negro athletes for several years.

But meanwhile many of the top Negro athletes went elsewhere, including Dick Lane who now plays for the Detroit Lions and Junior Coffee, who is at the University of Washington.

The state's Negro high schools have produced Dave Stallworth, who plays basketball at Wichita, and Earl Lattimer, who is a star lineman at Michigan State, among others who went to other states to participate. Olle Matson, former all-NFL pro, attended Houston's Yates High School before playing college ball in California.

The best known Negro star in the state now is Warren McVea, a 170-pound speedster who led San Antonio's Brackenridge High to the state schoolboy championship last season.

Other top prospects are A. Z. Drones, 227, San Angelo tackle; James Spears, 170, Corpus Christi halfback, and Frank Lane, 205, Wink fullback.

The integration of Southwest Conference athletics came about rather quietly.

It all began when Darrell Royal, University of Texas athletic director and coach of the nation's No. 1 football team, held his regular Monday get-together with sports writers and said:

"The athletic council met with the administration this morning and we decided that any student who meets academic and athletic requirements is eligible to try out for any sport at this moment."

That statement broke the ice. Now most of the seven other members of the Southwest Conference can be expected to follow suit.

Already the University of Houston, an independent which became a state college Sept. 1, and Southern Methodist University, have served notice qualified Negro athletes are welcome.

There may be some delay at the University of Arkansas where Coach Frank Broyles said it was "too early for comment." Arkansas Gov. Orville Faubus said last week he would oppose integration of athletics in the state.

Rice University is in a unique position in that it cannot integrate under conditions set down by its founder, William Marsh Rice. There is a court suit on file, however, attempting to lift all racial restrictions at the Southwest Conference school.

But already the state's two largest schools, Texas, with 22,000 students, and Houston, with 16,000, have said they will recruit Negro athletes.

The University of Houston likely could be the first college to have Negroes competing.

Guy Lewis, the head basketball coach, has been quietly observing Negro talent for a year and is known to have been interested in recruiting David Latin, a 6-foot-6 high school star who wound up at Tennessee State.

And it is anticipated that the Houston track team will have at least two Negro candidates this spring.

At Southern Methodist, basketball Coach Doc Hayes said he already had investigated several Negro boys but, "So far, I haven't been able to find any who can fill all the answers."

There's a good chance, however, at least a handful of Negro athletes will be trying out for at least two Texas college football teams next spring.

What effect will Texas recruiting have on Prairie View A&M, perennial champion of the Negro Southwestern Conference?

"It won't hurt us any more than in the past," W. J. Hicks, athletic director and head coach said. "We're all in competition for the best athletes regardless of color. I'd rather see them play in the state than go outside to some other school."

Southwest A-A List Is Trimmed

DALLAS (AP) — All-America prospects from the Southwest have been trimmed to a half-dozen with Don Trull, Baylor quarterback; Scott Appleton, Texas tackle, and Tony Lorick, Arizona State University, fullback, getting most of the endorsements.

The regional committee also cited Dave Parks, Texas Tech end; Tommy Ford, Texas halfback, and Ronnie Caveness, Arkansas center who makes more tackles than anybody.

Walter Robertson of the Dallas News said he was sold on Appleton because the big fellow never has a poor game and played probably his finest last week when Texas levelled Texas Christian and won its ninth straight.

Robertson also continued to boost Trull. He said the Baylor quarterback always had a good day whether his team won or not. "That seems to me to be the real test of a good quarterback—able to play well even if you lose," said Robertson.

Bill Van Fleet of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram had similar sentiments, rating Appleton and Trull as the leading contenders, but adding Malcolm Walker, Rice's mighty center, and Lawrence Elkins, Baylor's great pass-receiver, among those worthy of top consideration.

Van Fleet also liked Ford and Caveness. And the latter still had strong support from Jack Keady of the Arkansas Democrat, who just doesn't think anybody is better than Caveness on defense.

Keady rated Appleton as probably the leading candidate but stayed with Trull as another good one to have on an All-America team.

Ves Box of KRLD-TVN Dallas, rated Appleton No. 1 but thought Parks was a very close second and that Trull was as good as they come.

Lorick is the big, fast fullback who can do anything in football. If he's stopped with his running he will do some nifty passing and he'll top it all off with excellent defense. For instance, Lorick got only 27 yards rushing against Wyoming but he intercepted a pass and ran it back 59 yards for a touchdown.

Frank Gianelli of the Arizona Republic is sold on Lorick and he also has the backing of Carlos Salazar of the Albuquerque Tribune.

Jim Brown Regains Lead In Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Brown of Cleveland regained the scoring lead from Green Bay's Jerry Kramer and Roosevelt Taylor of the Chicago Bears took over first place in interceptions in weekend play in the National Football League.

Although Brown's Cleveland Browns dropped out of a first-place tie in the Eastern Conference by a 20-14 defeat at the hands of St. Louis, Jimmy scored his 13th touchdown of the year for a total of 78 points. Jerry Kramer's only point was a conversion after the Packers' lone touchdown in that 26-7 defeat at Chicago. Kramer now has 76 points, only two more than New York's Don Chandler.

Brown gained 154 yards in 22 attempts, pushing his total for the year to 1,447. Another day like that and he will beat his own league record of 1,527 set in 1958. He needs only 80 yards and has four games to play.

Taylor grabbed two of the five interceptions by the Bears against Green Bay for a leading total of seven for 118 yards. Dick Lynch of New York still has the most yardage with 152 on six interceptions.

Jim Sidle May Make Grid History

By The Associated Press

Auburn's Jimmy Sidle threatens to make college football history. He may become the first quarterback to lead the nation in rushing.

Official NCAA statistics through last Saturday's games show that Sidle trails Kansas' Gale Sayers, the nation's major college rushing leader, by 14 yards. Sidle, however, has two more games to play while the Jayhawk halfback has only one.

The brilliant T-quarterback of Auburn has gained 835 yards rushing in eight games, making him the only rusher to average more than 100 yards per game. Sayers has 849 in nine games.

Quarterback Don Trull of Baylor leads the passing and total offense departments by a wide margin. In passing, he has connected with 142 of 254 throws of 1860 yards. In total offense, he has amassed 1913 yards in 329 plays.

Trull has two more games in which to break a couple of passing records. He needs 18 more completions to better the mark of 159 completions by Don Klosterman of Los Angeles Loyola in 1951 and he must gain 146 more air yards to surpass the record 2,005 yards by passing set in 1948 by Nevada's Stan Heath.

A pair of long range passers will be firing against one another when Oregon meets Oregon State Saturday. State's Gordon Queen is the leader in touchpasses with 16. Oregon's Bob Berry is tied with California's Craig Morton for second with 14 touchdowns.

Pro Teams Face Suit

HOUSTON (AP)—Claude King filed a suit in district court Tuesday against the Boston Patriots and the Houston Oilers.

The former University of Houston halfback said he signed a contract with the Oilers on Aug. 7, 1962, which said he was to be paid $9,500 for the season.

Soon afterward he was transferred, without his consent, to the Patriots.

King claims $2,037 has been withheld from his pay, and the defendants "are attempting to breach the contract."

He asks the $2,037 in back pay that he says is due plus $400 transportation expenses and $900 in fees for his lawyer.

Butsko Activated

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry Butsko, former University of Maryland linebacker, has been activated by the Washington Redskins and will play his first National Football League game Sunday in Philadelphia against the Eagles.

Finances, Political Problems Block Trading With Reds

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The touchy question of increasing U.S. trade with Eastern Europe's Communist nations runs into financial as well as political road blocks. Payment in gold or goods or credit?

Many of America's allies have been increasing this trade right along, often ignoring Washington's frowns. But they've been able to get payment for their exports by increasing their imports from the Communist bloc —items that U.S. importers don't want or can't buy—or by taking sporadic offerings of Soviet gold, something the United States could use but rarely sees.

The political reasons for holding down trade are clear. Strategic goods from the United States would build up Communist war potential, and other goods might build up its economic health and let it put more effort into military output.

In 1962 we exported $105 million worth of goods to Soviet satellites in Eastern Europe, excluding the U.S.S.R. itself and Yugoslavia and Albania; and imported $62.5 million worth. In the same period West Germany was exporting $719 million worth, importing $668 million worth, and Britain exporting $369 million and importing $442 million. Japanese and Canadian exports also have risen steadily in recent years.

The principal items that the United States exports to the satellites and gets back are tabulated by economists at the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York, as follows:

Poland chiefly takes American grains and sends meat products. East Germany takes tobacco and sends furs. Hungary prizes our industrial machinery and we take their wood manufactures. Bulgaria and Romania are markets for our pharmaceuticals, and from Bulgaria we import spices and from Romania glass products. Other items are traded with each nation in smaller amounts.

The United States has legal restrictions on this Eastern European trade. The chief one is a ban on goods classed as strategic that might be used in an arms buildup. An export license is required for any goods ruled nonstrategic.

But a credit restriction goes back to 1934 when Congress banned private loans to a government in default in payment on its obligations to the U.S. government. Only recently has Washington ruled that this law doesn't apply to "normal commercial credit terms." Neither the law nor the ruling has been tested in the courts.

Nations in default, in addition to the Soviet Union itself, include Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary, Poland and Romania.

Even when export licenses are available, some American manufacturers hesitate to ship their goods to the Eastern Europeans because they don't respect international patents and can copy Western designs once a few samples are in their hands.

But the purely financial roadblock is a big one. Western Europe has taken in payment for its exports Eastern Europe's timber, pulp, grain, nonferrous metals and petroleum products. The United States already has adequate sources for these products.

The Communist bloc's currencies aren't convertible, so that trade has to be conducted on strictly bilateral terms or through complicated triangular deals.

And payment in Soviet gold is a now-and-then thing.

So there's more than just the cold war holding up any large expansion of trade between the United States and Eastern Europe, although doubtless the Communists would be glad to get many industrial materials and equipment we consider strategic.

Chancellor Erhard Will Start Anew

By HARVEY HUDSON

PARIS (AP)—When Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany comes to Paris Thursday to see President Charles de Gaulle, he will be starting a fresh relationship, like a new kid in a school, or a recently arrived neighbor in the block.

The chummy mood that has been built up between France and Germany in the past five years has been the fruit of a warm and friendly contact between De Gaulle and Konrad Adenauer. Now, with Adenauer out, and Erhard in, there is bound to be a new approach — and perhaps a vastly different result.

The change will be apparent the minute Erhard steps off the train. He will be met by Premier Georges Pompidou and Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, a correct welcome by protocol standards. But it represents a switch, because De Gaulle on several occasions went out of his way to greet Adenauer at the airport, stretching protocol, since De Gaulle is a chief of state and the German chancellor a chief of government.

Adenauer and De Gaulle used to do their most effective work in man-to-man sessions without even an interpreter present. De Gaulle and Erhard will meet three times Thursday and Friday but they will be alone at only one of these meetings. Ministers and advisors will attend the other two.

This does not mean that De Gaulle and Erhard will not push ahead with the French-German cooperation treaty, which calls for periodic consultations at the upper echelons. But meshing of thinking and coordination of policies may be more difficult than in the past.

Erhard may be more outspoken than Adenauer in airing the differences between the two nations — and when he does speak out he will be running head-on into some of De Gaulle's most cherished concepts. Adenauer tended to skirt areas of disagreement to seek possibilities for accord.

Writing Team Wed 50 Years

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When the Will Durants observed their golden wedding anniversary recently, they celebrated in typical style.

There was an intimate dinner for members of their immediate family. At 8:30 the following morning, the Durants were back in the 18th century.

For 33 years Will and Ariel Durant have been leading a monastic life as they trudged their way through the great sweep of man's history. Their goal—a 10-volume story of civilization from oriental beginnings to the fall of the Bastille—is almost in sight.

The eighth volume, "The Age of Louis XIV," has just been printed, and "The Age of Voltaire" is completed. Now the Durants are well into "Rousseau and Revolution," which will be completed three years hence.

Why will they end their journey through the ages at 1789?

"Because by the completion of the 10th volume, the senior member of this partnership will be 81," said Durant, a twinkling-eyed man with a fine head of white hair and a brush mustache. "By that time it can be expected that his faculties will have diminished."

This year the Durants allowed themselves a respite from their arduous task. He accepted an invitation from producer Samuel Bronston to come to Madrid and write a foreword for "The Fall of the Roman Empire." Although he has lived for many years scarcely a mile from Hollywood and Vine, this was his first connection with a movie.

Crash Kills Two Texans

LEEDEY, Okla. (AP)— Four persons, including two Texas ranchers, died Tuesday in the crash of a twin-engine private plane carrying a hunting party to South Dakota.

The dead were identified as Ivan Kelley Owen, 52, rancher from San Saba, Tex.; Jack Kirby, a Meridian, Tex., businessman-rancher; Mrs. Blanche Pauline Travis, 40, whose husband, Bob, operates a Mobridge, S.D., cafe, and Mrs. Travis' son, Robert, 5.

Owen was reported the pilot of the plane which crashed from overcast skies northwest of here late Tuesday.

Liz' Costumes Bought For 'Historical' Value

LONDON (AP) — A beauty operator and a seamstress paid $30.80 Tuesday for two of Elizabeth Taylor's costumes from the movie "Cleopatra." The costumes originally cost more than $1,000.

The actress donated the dresses to a charity bazaar. She was said to have worn them only once.

Judy Britton, 19, a seamstress at a London theater, bought the one for $5.60.

"I doubt if I'll ever wear it," she said, "I'm too fat, but I'll keep it in my wardrobe because of its historical interest.

Three Cent Stamp Good For Long Ride

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP) — A letter, tattered in transit and bearing an oft-canceled 3-cent stamp, was en route to Sitka today.

The letter, addressed to Ed Bohas in Juneau, was posted here June 5, 1957, when three cents was sufficient postage. It has been traveling much of the time since, including one trip to Westport, Wash.

In the interim the sender died so postal officials continued sending the letter in search of Bohac. Tuesday, they found a Sitka address and are hopeful the letter will arrive before he moves again.

Communism Gains In Asia By Cambodian Aid Decision

By WILLIAM L. Ryan
AP Special Correspondent

Communism has inched a bit closer to one of its short - term goals in Southeast Asia, and the long - range threat to that strategic area has been increased.

What has just happened in Cambodia should be no surprise. The United States has had more than two years to prepare for the announcement that Cambodia would send the Yankees packing, along with their aid.

Surprise or not, the effect can be to advance the cause of neutralism in the area. It can cause rulers to weigh cautiously the prospects for making peace with Peking.

The Communists achieved a step in their campaign to move in on Southeast Asia when a neutralist formula for Laos was adopted at Geneva. Laos borders Cambodia on the north and separates it from China. The Communists wanted the same formula for the other former French Indo-China states, including South Viet Nam.

The idea appeared to be neutralization first, then expulsion of Western influence. Finally the Communists would dominate, and not necessarily by outright conquest.

Any unraveling of Red designs in Asia is complicated by the ideological war between Moscow and Peking. Moscow helped evolve the neutralist formula for Laos, but Southeast Asia is out of Moscow's reach. If it is to be dominated by a Communist power, it will be by Red China.

More than two years ago, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state, told a Soviet newspaper that if his country had to be allied with any foreign power, "it probably would not be with one in the West, which has never understood or supported us."

This was despite American aid. It bruises american feelings to learn that U.S. aid is not always entirely welcome in Southeast Asia. It sometimes creates — as in Laos — problems of inflation and economic dislocations.

There never seemed much mutual confidence between the assisting Americans and the Cambodian regime. Always conscious of China, and with the Oriental long-range view of the future, the Cambodian regime wanted to be neutral. The Americans feared it would be "neutral" on the Communist side.

Cambodia is taking the plunge and divorcing herself from U.S. help. If this neutralism, combined with that of Laos, should lead one day to domination of the two countries by Communists, overtly or covertly, the West would suffer a severe strategic setback.

Public Works Bill Goes To Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed Tuesday a bill providing for public works. The vote was 359 to 27.

The measure now goes to the Senate. It would finance river and harbor and flood control projects, reclamation programs, the atomic energy commission and other public activities.

The measure included a long list of Texas water projects, including $23 million for the huge Canadian River installation.

The Texas appropriations include:

Big Fossil Creek, $500,000.

Brazos Island harbor, Brownsville, $800,000. Brazos Island harbor jetties, $500,000.

Buffalo Bayou and tributaries, $3,900,000.

Canyon Reservoir, $3,682,000.

Fort Worth Floodway West Fork extension, $500,000.

Galveston harbor jetties, $2,500,000.

Gulf Intracoastal Waterway, Guadalupe River channel to Victoria, $1,500,000.

Port O'Connor dikes, $562,000.

Houston ship channel, $3,800,000.

Matagorda ship channels, $7,000,000.

Port Aransas-Corpus Christi Waterway, Gulf to Viola, $1,200,000.

Port Aransas-Corpus Christi Waterway jetties, $750,000.

Proctor Reservoir, $2,000,000.

Sabine-Neches Waterway, widening, $2,138,000.

Sam Rayburn Dam, $12,450,000.

San Antonio channel, $1,000,000.

Somerville Reservoir, $8,100,000.

Stillhouse Dam, $3,400,000.

Texas City, $3,000,000; Texas City channel dikes, $835,000.

Waco Reservoir, $8,500,000.

The bill provided for these Reclamation Bureau construction projects in Texas:

Canadian River project, $23,000,000.

Lower Rio Grande, La Feraia Division, $1,500,000; Lower Rio Grande, Mercedes Division, $1,400,000.

US Prelates Support Documents

By GERALD T. MILLER
Associated Press Staff Writer

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A group of American prelates, led by Albert Gregory Cardinal Meyer of Chicago, joined today in defense of proposed Roman Catholic declarations on Jews and religious liberty. They called on the Vatican Ecumenical Council to adopt the disputed documents.

Moments later, the entire Swiss hierarchy of the Church added its support for the declaration on Jews, and said the council also should speak of "Moslems and all who believe in God in this age of atheism."

Cardinal Meyer was the first of the five American cardinals to speak on Christian unity. The proposed declarations on Jews and religious liberty are contained in a schema "on ecumenism," dealing with Christian unity.

The two declarations have been the main items of controversy since debate on the schema started Monday. Several bishops have criticized the insertion of the declarations into the schema, saying it should be limited to strictly Christian unity matters.

Several Middle East patriarchs have said the declaration on the Jews might have political implications in their Arab area.

No one has questioned the actual content of the declarations. The one on the Jews says they alone are not to blame for the crucifixion, but that all mankind is responsible. The statement on religious liberty upholds the right of individuals to worship God according to their consciences.

A council press spokesman reported Cardinal Meyer's remarks, paraphrasing him as saying:

"Both declarations must be dealt with in the council. . . they are intimately connected with the topic of ecumenism and should remain where they are."

He expressed firm hope for their approval.

The spokesman said he was speaking for himself and an unspecified number of U.S. prelates.

Bishop Giuseppe Jelmini, apostolic administrator of Lugano, spoke for the Swiss hierarchy. He said the declaration on the Jews was acceptable in the schema. The Swiss prelate also expressed approval of the declaration on religious liberty.

Again today, as in the past two days, there were arguments against having the declarations in the schema.

Party Plans No Candidate

MEICO CITY (AP)—A plan for Mexico's second strongest bu tsmpla lotili a ptlcr atoy-ab but small political party to abstain from putting up a presidential candidate in next summer's election gained strength Wednesday.

The National Action Partys (PAN) headquarters said the Hidalgo State convention had endorsed the plan. Backers call the plan a protest of one-party dictatorship by the government's Institutional Revolutionary Party (PRI).

The government party as dominated elections for a quarter of a century.

Should National Action decide against backing a candidate, it probably would leave PRI's nominee, former Interior Minister Gustavo Diaz Ordaz, unopposed.

Other opposition groups are expected to endorse the government party's candidate.

A decision will come in the party's national convention this weekend.

Blast Kills 3 Airmen

ROSWELL, N.M. (AP) — An explosion ripped through an $8 million B52 jet bomber undergoing routine maintenance Tuesday, killing three men—two of them from Texas—and injuring four.

A team of investigating officers sifted through the debris today to determine the cause of the explosion which rocked this Strategic Air Command base.

Killed in the shattering blast and fire were:

S.Sgt. Harold R. Morrison, 31, Waltham, Mass., who was stationed at Dyess AFB, Abilene, Tex.

A.3.C. Miguel Perales, 23, Rio Hondo, Tex.

A.3.C. Manfred L. Zentil, 20, Redwood City, Calif.

The bomber, the largest and longest-range in the Air Force, was on the flight line for routine maintenance checks by the flight crew.

Rum Island, Dog Rock, Fallen Jerusalem, Money Rock and Dead Man's Chest are some of the Virgin Islands named by pirates who used the islands as a rendezvous in the 18th Century.

GERMAN SURGEON DEFENDANT IN STERILIZATION TRIAL—Dr. Axel Dohrn, 55, left, a German surgeon, stands in front of Hannover, Germany, court with his attorney, Dr. Josef Augstein, before start of his trial. He is charged with violating a law dating from the Nazi period which forbids sterilization of healthy German women. Dr. Dohrn testified in court he sterilized more than 1,300 women to keep them away from abortionists and save their marriages. (AP Wirephoto).

Automation Is Threat Says Snyder

NEW YORK (AP) — Millionaire businessman John I Snyder Jr. says the United States faces great social upheaval if it can't provide jobs for men replaced by machines.

Warning of "really staggering" unemployment, Snyder urged the AFL-CIO Tuesday to join with the federal government and the National Association of Manufacturers to find a solution.

"I'd join with the devil himself if I could find the solution to this problem," said AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Meany and 1,200 AFL-CIO convention delegates gave Snyder a reception that was warm, although subdued, after a convention floor fight over readmitting the ostracized Teamsters Union.

Meany, with the help of most delegates, wielded a heavy gavel, in killing the move to consider taking back the Teamsters, ousted on corruption charges in 1957.

Snyder, president of U.S. Industries Inc., manufacturers of automation equipment, linked the civil rights movement and the growing unemployment problem, saying:

"The gap between the column of figures running down the balance sheet and the column of Negroes marching down an embattled street is a slim one indeed."

He described himself as no particular friend of labor, but said automation equipment puts thousands of people out of work every week, and added:

"I want to sell the automation machines my company makes and if our economy turns sour if the unemployment problem is not solved, I will have difficulty selling them."

The problem calls for a total effort by labor, management and government, Snyder said, and he favored a reduced work week as one of the answers.

Bridge Pro Returns From Cruise

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Charles Goren, the contract bridge man, is just back from taking 300 card players on a cruise to the Orient, and not one husband threw his wife overboard for a bad bid.

And vice versa.

It might have been the sea air, although Goren doesn't believe most of those stories about husbands and wives fighting over the bridge table.

"Even if they argue a little," he said, "at least they are together. The husband isn't out with the boys."

But Goren didn't organize the cruise to promote domestic tranquility.

He is out to sell bridge in the Orient, where the benefits of point count bidding are only starting to penetrate.

Goren and his 300 card players took over the ship President Roosevelt and traveled for 42 days to various Asian ports. At sea he lectured on ridge, and supervised games.

In Tokyo and Manila his team of American experts played matches.

Goren plans to take another cruise to the Orient next year.

"I can't stay out of action," Goren said.

Does he ever get sick of bridge?

"Not at these prices."

Research Policy Said Inconsistent

HOUSTON (AP)— An influential scientist says there is not really such a thing as government research policy but merely pieces of policy.

Dr. Philip A. Abelson, 50, director of the Carnegie Institute of Geophysical Laboratory in Washington, D.C., made the statement Tuesday night at the Robert A. Welch Foundation Conference on Chemical Research.

"There are pieces of policy, in the form of instructions covering procedural matters, for instance, but there is no policy in the major sense of a coherent, logical body of principles clearly stated and openly followed."

He also said "a major fraction of government research policy is made and executed by a small group of men having little proven competence in science."

Dr. Abelson, co-discoverer of neptunium and editor of science Magazine, levelled most of his attack against Dr. Jerome Wiesner, President Kennedy's science adviser.

He said the Wiesner "has accumulated more visible and invisible power than any scientist in the peace - time history of this country." Wiesner is retiring in January as chairman of the President's Science Advisory Committee and the Federal Council on Science and Technology.

". . He (Dr. Wiesner) participates in decisions on budgetary matters. In effect, he is director of the Bureau of the Budget where scientific matters are concerned . . I know of no evidence that this budgetary power has been misued, but its very existence cannot be color relations between the adviser and various agencies of the government," Dr. Abelson warned.

The editor - scientist also said Wiesner has at his disposal "if he wishes to use it" essentially the total scientific capability of the nation, but that only 300 of the country's more than three million scientists and engineers have been called to serve.

In describing Wiesner's 16 aides, Dr. Abelson said "scientifically, they are not a distinguished group."

Kitten Sent 300 Miles

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Many days and 300 miles away from Boston, the woman could not forget the sight of the cruelly mistreated kitten at the Old North Church.

Mrs. Harold Becraft of Utica recently visited the famous church.

In the courtyard, she made friends with a skinny stray kitten. The animal fled, however, when a boy kicked it. Mrs. Becraft could not forget the animal.

She phoned the Animal Rescue League in Boston and the organization found the kitten. Mrs. Becraft is having it shipped to her home — which already houses cats, monkeys, rabbits, birds, dogs, a racoon and a chipmunk.

Mrs. Becraft is employed by the Humane Society.

Just Made A Deposit!

CORNELIA, Ga. (AP) — It cost some bungling burglars at least $92 when they broke into the Cornelia Bank.

Police Chief J. G. Davenport said Tuesday the burglars chopped a hole in the bank roof to gain entrance, but failed to reach any of the money.

They not only didn't gain by their efforts, but they dropped a roll of bills amounting to $92 and left behind a bottle half-filled with whisky.

Sentence Unchanged

ATLANTA (AP) — A Negro whose death sentence at age 15 sparked international concern faces electrocution Dec. 6.

For the fourth time in two years young Preston Cobb Jr. heard the death sentence imposed Monday. He was convicted in August 1961 for killing his elderly white employer. Numerous appeals have been made all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court, but all were turned down.

Man Charged In Shootings

TEAGUE, Tex. (AP) — Lawrence Plummer, 36, of Palestine, Tex., was under a charge of murder today in connection with a shooting in which his father-in-law was killed and his mother-in-law and a visitor in their home wounded.

Freestone County Sheriff Henry Brown said Plummer was arrested at Fairfield shortly after the shooting.

Police said Cullen Connell, 59, was shot to death with a snub-nosed .38 caliber pistol. Mrs. Connell, who was shot in the stomach, and Donald Morris, who suffered wounds in the head and leg, were in a Teague hospital. Their condition was described as fair.

Brown said that Plummer and his wife, a daughter of Connells, were estranged and that Mrs. Plummer and her two children had been living with her parents. He said the two girls, age 9 and 1, were in the house at the time of the shooting but were unharmed.

WEDNESDAY

THE SCURRY COUNTY TIMES

VOL. 78, NO. 34 SNYDER, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1963 EIGHT PAGES—PRICE 5c

WIELDING SHOVELS Tuesday afternoon are Sheriff Earl Abercrombie, Texas Ranger John M. Wood, and Mid-America Pipeline district superintendent David Luddeke. They are uncovering a well-concealed valve illegally connected to a propane pipeline.

AFTER CAREFULLY UNCOVERING the line this two-valve riser was found welded into the pipe line. The feet, one standing on the main line itself, belonged to Ralph Ball, gauger foreman for the pipeline. The tap was considered a poor installation.

Many Dead, Wounded In Caracas Violence

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Police firing bazookas flushed snipers from buildings in downtown Caracas today as officials strove to quell pro-Communist violence that has left nearly 100 dead or wounded.

A woman was killed and six other persons, including a policeman, were wounded as fighting spread from the workers' suburbs to El Silencio, a district of modern business buildings.

Coming on the heels of Venezuela's worst day of terrorism Tuesday, the new casualties put the two-day toll at 20 killed and 76 wounded.

President Romulo Betancourt remained in his office throughout the night, directing the roundup of the terrorists by police, the army and national guard.

The number under arrest rose to 150, and police said most were Communist party members. Many were youths who wore black pants and red sweaters as a sort of uniform. Among those held were 40 persons seized by troops Tuesday night for sniping at traffic.

With the return of quiet at dawn, business houses reopened and traffic returned to the streets.

Merchants shut down because of telephoned threats and motorists stayed home Tuesday when Castroite-Communist opponents of Betancourt abruptly stepped up their campaign to unseat him and disrupt the Dec. 1 presidential elections.

Increased terrorism also was reported from cities in the interior.

Many of the casualties in Caracas were bystanders caught in the crossfire between government forces and terrorist snipers. The dead included a 35-year-old terrorist whose legs were tattooed with a hammer and sickle.

Firing centered in the workers' districts on the outskirts of the city.

Unions defied a general strike order from the Red-line Armed Forces of National Liberation. But shootings, bombings and telephone threats to merchants had a paralyzing effect in the capital.

Schools for American children were closed. There were no reports of American casualties.

Betancourt hopes to become Venezuela's first democratically elected president to serve out a five-year term. His term ends next March.

The constitution prohibits Betancourt from succeeding himself. But his Democratic Action party's candidate, Raul Leoni, is virtually assured of defeating his six opponents in the presidential race.

Brown Rites Set Thursday

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday for Mr. Woodrow Wilson Brown, 45, of 1410 Thirtieth Street.

Mr. Brown died at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday at Cogdell Hospital. An employe of Lone Star Gas Co., he had suffered from a serious heart condition for about a year.

Born June 17, 1918 in Fannin County, Mr. Brown came to Snyder in 1951 from Bonham. He had lived in Bonham since his marriage in Honey Grove in 1939. He was a veteran of World War II and a member of the Snyder Volunteer Fire Department.

The funeral services will be conducted at the Northside Baptist Church of which Mr. Brown was a member. The services will be conducted by the Rev. Jack Dean, pastor of the church. Burial will be in Hillside Memorial Gardens under the direction of Bell Funeral Home.

Mr. Brown is survived by his wife; one daughter, Mrs. Calvin Lane of Snyder; one son, Ray Brown of Houston; three sisters, Mrs. R. C. Ramsey of Snyder, Mrs. Durine Phelps of Lubbock, and Mrs. J. D. Moore of Dallas; three brothers, O. C. Brown of Snyder, Jess Brown of Dennison, and Richard Brown of Bonham.

Pallbearers will be Bill Chambless, Floyd Allmand, Bill Engler, Melvin Calhoun, John Sanders and Herman Harty.

Law Closes Free Filling Station

A half-inch valve, rated at 400 pounds pressure, was the center of attention Tuesday afternoon as law enforcement officials and pipe line employes carefully wielded shovels to uncover an illegal tap.

Naturally they were careful. The little 400-pound valve was attached to a six-inch propane line which normally carries pressures of from 500 pounds to pressures in excess of 1,000 pounds.

Located on the old Rosenberg place about 15 miles southwest of Snyder, the location had been under surveillance for the past two weeks. And although there was some evidence that "deliveries" had been made from the tap, no one had been seen at the location.

Texas Ranger Sergeant John M. Wood from Midland, Sheriff Earl Abercrombie, and Mid-America Pipeline employes had kept an almost constant watch, even up to the wee hours of the morning. But two weeks seemed like a long enough time, so the decision was made yesterday to go ahead and uncover the tap.

John Bennettt, area gauger for Mid-America who has been in this area only a few weeks, was given credit for locating the illegal valve. The cover to the valve was well-located for concealment purposes. It was in an area in which the ground was cluttered with discarded farming implements and equipment, and the small steel cover would have been easily overlooked. Actually Bennett found the spot by walking along the line and probing, rather than looking.

Pipeline district superintendent David Luddeke from Hobbs, N. M. was on hand for the uncovering. He said the line ran from the Sunray gasoline plant northwest of Snyder to the company's main distribution point near Hobbs. The line normally carried propane, but on occasion was used to transport butane as well, Luddeke said.

From Hobbs the products are sent up to the midwestern part of the country.

The Texas Ranger and the Scurry County Sheriff are continuing to investigate the case. The pipeline company was to weld a tee over the valve today and thus prevent its further use.

Sergeant Wood noted that theft from a pipe line was a felony, and carried a sentence of from two to five years. But more important, he said, was the fact that the poor weld and the undersize valve were a constant menace to the person using it, and to those nearby.

It was for this reason that the decision to uncover the valve and to seal it off before apprehending the thief, was made.

Communities Are Seeking Water Supply

IRA — A seven-man committee representing both the Ira and Dunn communities has been named to study possibilities of obtaining a permanent water supply for the two communities.

The committee was named by approximately 100 persons who attended a meeting Monday night at the Ira Community Center.

Fred Decker, Abilene engineer, explained to the group how such a project might be carried out through FHA. Decker, who has been in charge of similar projects, was introduced to the group by Pat Moore, who presided at the meeting.

Bob Fitting, consulting engineer for Pearson - Sibert Oil Co., told the group that his company plans to bring lake water into the area for a waterflood project in the oilfield.

The steering committee was instructed to assemble more data and then call another meeting, at which time it is planned to elect a water board.

Minister To Get Orders

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Cambodian Foreign Ministry summoned U. S. Ambassador Philip D. Sprouse today, presumably to deliver orders from ruling Prince Norodom Sihanouk for an immediate end to the $30 million-a-year program of U.S. military and economic aid to his country.

Sihanouk announced his decision to a wildly cheering rally of his political party Tuesday. He charged U.S. aid was being used to undermine his regime and that rebel Cambodians based in South Viet Nam were using American equipment.

The prince said he did not want to sever diplomatic relations with the United States but that all U.S. missions other than a skeleton diplomatic staff must go."

The State Department earlier Tuesday instructed Sprouse to inform the Cambodian government that the prince's charges were false. But Sihanouk apparently acted before the denial could be transmitted to him.

Police Search For Killer

HOUSTON (AP)— Police searched today for a schoolmate of a high school girl found brutally slain in her mother's bedroom on a quiet suburban street after school Tuesday.

The parents of the girl, Donna Jean Tweedt, 17, a senior, found her body lying in a pool of blood, bound and gagged with one of her father's ties twisted around her neck.

Early today Homicide Capt. L. D. Morrison Jr. told newsmen his officers were seeking an 18-year-old schoolmate of the girl for questioning.

The boy sought by officers also is wanted for questioning in a recent burglary in the suburban neighborhood of Sharpstown where the slaying occurred.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Tweedt, made the grim discovery when they arrived home from a shopping trip.

Police issued a pickup for the girl's 1961 automobile, which was missing from the driveway.

Hearings Set On Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hearings will be held in Austin, Dec. 6-7 on Texas water pollution problems.

In making the announcement, the House government operations subcommittee on natural resources said Gov. John Connally of Texas would be invited to be the first witness.

Representatives of various water and wildlife conservation groups, state health officials and spokesmen for petroleum and other industries also will testify.

The subcommittee chairman, Rep. Robert E. Jones, D-Ala., said Tuesday the hearing at Austin would be a fifth in a series of regional inquiries into water pollution problems of the nation.

Frame Victim Claims Prof.

By ENDRE MARTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington (AP) — Photographs bundled inside a roll of newspapers and thrust into his hands by a stranger in front of a Moscow hotel apparently were Yale Prof. Frederick C. Barghoorn's passport to arrest, seconds later by Soviet police.

In the 16 days that he was imprisoned on spy charges, he told newsmen Tuesday, he was not mistreated and signed no confessions.

He said his experience has not shattered his belief that cultural exchange programs between the United States and Russia are a good thing. But the State Department still has not given a go ahead for scheduled exchange talks which the United States canceled because of the Barghoorn incident.

Professor, 52, who was released Saturday and returned home Sunday, met with State Department officials for six hours Tuesday to talk about his Moscow experience. Then he met with newsmen, telling this story:

On Oct. 31, the eve of his planned departure from Moscow, he returned to the Metropole Hotel in the Soviet capital around 7:25 p.m. Suddenly he was approached by a "young-ish-looking man, carrying what looked like a roll of newspapers."

The man asked something which Barghoorn believes was "Are you an American?"

"I was startled, said yes, and he pushed toward me the roll of newspapers. I took it; I thought, perhaps foolishly, that it was propaganda material and put it into my coat. Almost simultaneously I was grabbed and hustled off in an automobile."

He said there were photographs in the roll, adding "I would not understand military matters."

Barghoorn said that neither on this trip nor on previous visits to Russia was he on "intelligence assignment."

STERLING PARKER

UF Employe Division Set

United Fund General Chairman Wayland Holt today announced the appointment of Sterling Parker, owner of the Rainbow Market, as Employe Division Chairman.

Holt also announced that the United Fund campaign office would open today. The office is located in the community room of the West Texas State Bank, the same location as was occupied by the agency last year.

Other division chairmen would be announced shortly, Holt said.

He Might Have Slept For Several Years

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — "All I want is a little sleep," said Ralph Harris, 40, when he was discovered in a 25-foot-deep manhole.

A city employe was inspecting a water main when he came across Harris. He called the police.

Harris told officers he had a fight with his wife and wanted to get away from her for a while."

He removed the 70-pound cover to get into the manhole, but it had been put back into place by the time the inspector arrived. The employe said it would have been nearly impossible for Harris to get the top off from below and "it might have been another two years before we checked that manhole again."

Court Rules To Dismiss Dam Suit

AUSTIN (AP) — The Third Court of Civil Appeals upheld Wednesday a lower court's decision dismissing a court attack on the $65 million Millican Dam in Central Texas.

"No effective relief can be granted at this time, and the suit is moot, or in any event the order of the Texas Water Commission is not appealable," Chief Justice Roy C. Archer said in the court's opinion.

Attorneys for seven Brazos and Grimes County landowners asked the court Nov. 6 to find that they can appeal the Water Commission's finding that the federal dam project on the Navasota River is feasible.

Dist. Judge Jack Roberts of Austin dismissed the Suit April 23. He agreed with the state that the commission's findings are final and cannot be appealed.

The landowners alleged they owned land which would be inundated by the reservoir, which will be the second largest reservoir wholly in the state.

They asked the commission approval of the federal project be voided.

The landowners also contended that the water commission members should have disqualified themselves from a hearing on the dam because of an earlier expression on the location of the dam.

The dam will have a conservation storage volume of 2.4 million acre feet. An acre foot is 325,851 gallons. The water would cover 88,000 acres in an area 39 miles long and 17 miles across at the widest point.

The cities of Bryan, College Station and Navasota also asked the suit be dismissed.

Party Squabbles May Greet JFKs

WASHINGTON (AP)— President John F. Kennedy will make five speeches in Texas Thursday and Friday in a trip billed "nonpolitical" but probably will land in the middle of state Democratic party hassles.

Jacqueline Kennedy, the first lady, will accompany the President on the trip to Texas which also includes two receptions and a night at the celebrated LBJ Ranch, the Gillespie County show-place spread of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said Tuesday Mrs. Kennedy probably would accompany the President at most of his public appearances in Texas.

Rep. Henry Gonzalez, the liberal Democratic congressman from San Antonio, said he has reports of friction between Gov. John Connally of Texas and a party faction headed by Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., over plans for the Kennedy trip.

Gonzalez said constituents had told him that Democrats who didn't support Connally in his race for governor were being ignored in the visit planning. He said Yarborough was not included among those Connally invited to an Austin reception for the President.

At Austin, a spokesman for the governor said Yarborough was not invited because the reception is for state legislators and officials elected in statewide elections only. Yarborough, however, has been invited to the dinner and will be introduced along with other members of Congress from Texas.

Kennedy will fly from Washington to San Antonio Thursday, arriving at 1:30 p.m. (CST). After the San Antonio activities, he will arrive in Houston by plane at 4:15 p.m. and from there will go to Fort Worth for the night, arriving at Carswell Air Force Base at 10:45 p.m.

After a Fort Worth breakfast, the President will fly to Dallas, arriving at Love Field at 11:35 a.m. where he will address a luncheon which also has touched off fights between party members.

In Dallas, Baxton Bryant—a friend of the late Speaker Sam Rayburn and defeated in the last Democratic primary for the nomination for the congressional seat now held by Republican Bruce Alger—has charged that Republicans are running the Dallas luncheon show.

Rape Trial To Open

GATESVILLE, Tex. (AP)—The state was prepared to open its case today in the rape trial of Virgil Nelson Halford.

Halford, 27, is charged with raping a Mineral Wells girl.

Selection of the jury was completed Tuesday for Halford's second trial on the charge. The case was transferred here last summer after a jury in Wichita Falls was unable to reach a verdict. The case had moved from Palo Pinto County to Wichita Falls on a change of venue.

Goodfellows Set Session

There will be an organizational meeting of the Goodfellows Thursday afternoon at 6 p.m. at the community room of the West Texas State Bank.

A president and board of directors will be named to carry on the work of the group for the coming Christmas season.

Representatives of local clubs and organizations have been asked to attend the meeting. It is also open to anyone interested in the work of the Goodfellows.

The meeting Thursday is planned to be a brief one, and is being held at the early hour to allow those attending to go to a number of other meetings planned for Thursday night.

PAIR OF CONTESTANTS SHARE WEEK'S PRIZE

Two contestants shared the prize money in last week's Snyder Daily News Football Contest, as a few upsets kept front runners at a minimum in the guessing.

Jack H. Starnes, 2510 Twenty-ninth Street, and Frank Overton, Route 1, Snyder, missed six selections each to top the field.

Three others were close behind with seven misses each. They included Roy Staton, Route 2; E. K. Featherston, Route 2, and LaJean Criswell, 206 Thirty-fourth Street.

Another contest gets underway today and the list of games may be found in sponsors' advertisements in this issue of The Snyder Daily News.

Soviet Diplomats Jailed In Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Congolese security agents and gendarmes dragged two Soviet diplomats feet first from their car Tuesday, beat them with clubs and hauled them off to jail.

They were still held today.

Soviet embassy officials said the diplomats were embassy counsellor Boris Noronin and press attache Yuri Miakotnykh. The officials said they had no word on their fate.

Eyewitnesses said Noronin and Miakotnykh refused to allow the Congolese to search their car on their return from Brazzaville, across the Congo River. The diplomats claimed diplomatic immunity.

Soviet embassy officials said the Congolese also had cut the telephone and electric supply to the luxury apartment where the 100-man Soviet mission lives and works.

Sources close to the Congolese government hinted that "highly compromising" documents had been seized from the two arrested diplomats.

Gendarmes stood guard outside the embassy building Tuesday night, refusing to allow callers to enter.

Relations between the Congolese government and the Communist block have been bad, and some members of Premier Cyrille Adoula's regime recently were agitating for a breakmats with the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria, the Communist nations with which the Congo has diplomatic relations.

An eyewitness to the arrest of the two Russians said when they refused to allow a search of their car at the Brazzaville ferry landing, the congolese let all the air out of the car's tires.

An argument lasting more than an hour followed. The Soviet diplomats sat stiffly in their car.

Finally, the Congolese forced open the car doors, dragged the Russians out and threw them into a Congolese army truck. When they tried to get off the truck, they were beaten with clubs, the witness said.

Another witness said one of the diplomats tried to push a document inside his shirt, but a Congolese grabbed his collar and ripped off his shirt front.

The first secretary of the British Embassy, Douglas Blyth, finally telephoned the Soviet Embassy.

Two Russians from the embassy reached the landing stage after the diplomats had been driven off. It was not known where they were taken.

Sources close to the government said the two Russians had been unable to satisfy security police they were diplo-

Tarawa Battle Memories Still Vivid After 20 Years

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — After 20 years, Marine Gen. David M. Shoup still relives the blood - drenched Battle of Tarawa — all but a few vital seconds that remain a blank in his mind.

Those were the second it took Shoup to dash about 40 yards across bullet - and - mortar - swept coral sand to the shelter of a blockhouse wall.

From there, the man who was to become commandmant of the Marine Corps directed the savage assault on the tiny Central Pacific island which Japan had converted into a fortress.

That three - day battle, which began at dawn just 20 years ago today was the most costly brief engagement in Marine history. . .

When it was over, 990 Marines were dead — many shot down before they could wade ashore from disabled or stranded landing craft. Another 2,311 Leathernecks were wounded.

Only 18 of the 4,800 - man Japanese garrison lived to be captured. The rest were slain in their bunkers, or killed themselves rather than surrender.

Shoup, 58, has good reason to remember Tarawa — he won the Medal of Honor there.

The citation said this:

"Although severely shocked by an exploding enemy shell soon after landing . . . and suffering from a serious, painful leg wound which had become infected, Col. Shoup fearlessly exposed himself to the terrific and relentless artillery, machinegun and rifle fire. . .

"Rallying his hesitant troops . . . he gallantly led them across the fringing reefs to charge the heavily fortified island and reinforce our hard - pressed, thinly held lines. . ."

Graying but still rugged-looking, Shoup reminisced about the battle as he sat in his big, memento - cluttered office at Marine headquarters.

"It's as clear as though it was yesterday," Shoup told an interviewer in accents that reflected his Indiana birth. .

"But there's one period of several seconds that's been a blank all these years.

"I remember looking over a cocoanut log barrier and picking the route I would take. I remember reaching the blockhouse with my radio man. But I've never been able to reconstruct what happened in between."

Shoup had crouched behind the log barrier after wading several hundred yards through shallow water churned by bullets and exploding shells.

Like many of his men, Shoup started walking toward shore when his amphibious tractor was knocked out. His amtrack's driver was picked off.

The colonel clasped his hands with a Marine corporal and began pushing his way along the shallow reef.

"I felt his grip tighten, and I looked around at him," Shoup said.

"A sniper had put a bullet between his eyes."

Shoup was silent a moment, then went on:

"I wouldn't be here today if I hadn't turned to look at him."

For just then, another bullet fired by a Japanese sniper struck the water, spent its force and slammed into Shoup's neck.

If it had hit him in the face, Shoup believes he would have been killed. Instead, he escaped with a badly swollen neck.

In all, Shoup was struck in nine different places. Most of the wounds were nicks, he said.

His most acute memories are the promises he made in an effort to comfort some of those who were dying under the blazing sun of Tarawa — promises to help take care of their children.

"These promises I made without any realization of how I could fulfill them," he said, "yet those men died believing what I promised."

To make good on those battlefield promises, Shoup has put all his weight behind a scholarship fund set up by the 2nd Marine Division Assn. to educate the children of men who died at Tarawa.

Tonight, as on all other anniversaries of the battle, Shoup will get together with a group of its survivors.

They will gather at the commandant's home for the last time before he retires Dec. 31, ending a 37 - year career with the corps.

Widow To Testify In Baker Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators investigating the steaming Robert G. Baker case have called the widow of one of his partners as their first outside witness.

Gertrude Novak will be questioned Thursday at a closed session of the Senate Rules Committee, Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C. announced.

Mrs. Novak's husband, Alfred, whose death on March 3, 1962, was ruled a suicide, was among Baker's partners in the Carousel Motel at Ocean City, Md. She will be the committee's first witness other than Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del.

Williams has supplied the committee with information he gathered in a one-man investigation before Baker resigned as secretary to the Senate Democratic majority on Oct. 7 after questions of possible conflict of interest were raised about his outside business interests.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., charged Tuesday night that Baker had a hand in keeping him from a choice committee assignment back in 1961.

Yarborough told a newsman that after he lost his bid for a seat on the Judiciary Committee he learned from friends that Baker had told some people: "We couldn't afford to let Yarborough have that seat. He would be in a position to prevent Lyndon from controlling it."

The senator understood that by "Lyndon" Baker meant Vice President Johnson, who has not always seen eye-to-eye with his fellow Texan.

Did Yarborough ask Baker about the report? "No, I never asked Bobby Baker anything," he said. "I never trusted him. It wasn't the first time I'd had experience with him."

Some other liberal senators have also complained that Baker, a protege of Johnson, favored the conservative Southern bloc in the Senate.

The Senate got into a brisk debate Tuesday over proposed legislation to require members of Congress and other top government officials to disclose their financial holdings and transactions each year.

The bill, sponsored by Sens. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and Maurine Neuberger, D-Ore., drew fiery opposition from Republic Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

Dirksen said there seemed to be a disposition to give these measures "a free ride on the coattails" of the investigation of the Baker case, but he urged Congress in a fist-pounding speech not to retreat under attack.

Mrs. Neuberger said that the Senate asks Cabinet members and other executive department officials to divulge their financial and business affairs before confirming their nominations and "should be willing to meet the standards we set for others."

AT&T May Split Stock

NEW YORK (AP) — American Telephone and Telegraph Co. directors proposed today a 2 for 1 split of the common stock and a hike in the dividend effective next year.

The dividend would be 50 cents a share on the proposed split stock. This would be equal to $1.00 quarterly on the current stock.

The split, if approved by shareholders at the annual meeting in April, would be only the second in the history of the world's largest private enterprise. It would be effective in June.

AT&T, operator of the nationwide Bell Telephone system, split its stock 3 for 1 in 1958-59. The dividend was hiked 10 per cent to $3.30 on the new shares at that time. In 1960, directors raised the dividend to $3.60 a year, effective July 10, 1961.

Viet Policy Talks Begin In Hawaii

By MALCOLM BARR

HONOLULU (AP) — High-level talks on the United States' future policies in Viet Nam and all of Southeast Asia began today in Pacific military command headquarters near Honolulu.

The day-long session brought together top - drawer military men and diplomats from Washington and Saigon to map out future strategy in the fight against communism in Southeast Asia.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara arrived Tuesday night and termed the meeting just another in a series in which we will review our program of commitments in Viet nam."

McNamara said in a plane-side interview that U.S. assistance to Viet Nam in its fight against subversion will be discussed at the session, as well as the return home of U.S. personnel in Viet Nam.

Also scheduled to attend the meeting was Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Secretary of State Dean Rusk was to arrive today.

From Saigon Tuesday came Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, and Gen. Paul D. Harkins, head of the U.S. military advisory group there.

Lodge had talked to newsmen in a planeside interview at Hickam Air Force Base. He indicated he will urge full support of the new South Viet Nam military regime as far as is practical and appeared satisfied with the new leaders.

Lodge, queried on reports that he knew of the coup against now dead former President Ngo Dinh Diem Nov. 1 while Harkins was left in the dark, snapped at a newsman, "Don't ask me things like that."

The political - military talks were prompted by the Diem government's overthrow and were called by the Defense and State departments.

Guilty Pleas Heard On Check Charges

Robert Ezell, formerly of Snyder and now of Longview, pleaded guilty to four worthless check charges in county court Tuesday afternoon. .

He was fined $10 plus costs of $26.35 and sentenced to 10 days in jail on each count. The checks had been given to Star Discount, Sandwich Shop, Adams Drive - In Grocery and Rogers, Inc.

The world's greatest rainfall recorded in one month was 366 inches, in Cherrapunji, India, during July 1861.

Exchange Members Expelled

NEW YORK (AP)—Two New York Stock Exchange member firms were suspended today following a complex chain of reactions that threatened major repercussions in business circles.

The exchange named Ira Haupt & Co. and J.R. Williston & Beane Inc.

The suspension followed a statement by the exchange that it was checking the financial position of two member firms.

Late Tuesday, a New Jersey dealer and refiner of fats and vegetable oils, Allied Crude Vegetable and Refining Co. of Bayonne, filed bankruptcy in U.S. District Court at Newark.

Within hours the exchange disclosed its investigation, saying at that time that "a refining company holding large positions in commodities as a customer of two member firms "had encountered serious financial difficulties.

Trading of cottonseed oil futures, that is, buying and selling of cottonseed oil for future delivery, was suspended on the New York produce exchange following sharp price changes.

TU Star To Be In Court

AUSTIN (AP) — Duke Carlisle, University of Texas star quarterback, says he will appear in corporation court Thursday to contest a traffic citation received in connection with an automobile accident three weeks ago.

Carlisle and the woman driver of the other vehicle involved were charged with leaving the scene of an accident without reporting the crash to city police.

Officers said they learned of the accident the following day when the woman changed her mind and reported the accident to police headquarters. She said Carlisle agreed at the accident scene to pay for damages estimated at $80.

Conviction of violation of the city traffic ordinance could result in fines of $25 to $200.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl of 14 and I love to play football. I have quite a few girl friends who play tackle football with me every Friday and Saturday night. If girls can play tackle football as well as boys and are willing to take the chance of getting hurt, why don't they let girls play on the team?

LEFT OUT

DEAR LEFT: It's bad enough when a BOY gets his teeth knocked out. Contact sports are NOT for young ladies. You'll have to learn how to intercept a pass some other way.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I was recently married to a divorced man who has one married daughter living out of the state. She didn't take it very well when she heard that her father had remarried. Now she wants us to come to visit her, but I am not so sure I want to go unless I know that I will be accepted. My husband refuses to go without me and he says he is certain that I will be treated with respect. Please rush your answer to me as my husband has a new grandson he has never seen and is eager to make the trip.

ON THE FENCE

DEAR ON: Go. But leave at home that chip on your shoulder, or it will be a plank by the time you get there.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been on the same job 24 years. He has only one more year to go before he retires, provided he doesn't get caught stealing. This has been going on for about three years. I've begged him to stop, but he won't listen to me. Most of the things he has brought home are expensive, but he as absolutely no use for them. They're just hidden away. I have lost all respect for him. He has always been a clean and honest man. I can't understand it. If I turn him in, he'll lose his job and our children will be disgraced. He reads DEAR ABBY. Maybe he will listen to you.

THIEF'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Your husband appears to be a sick man. A thief takes things he wants and needs. A kleptomania has a compulsion to take things whether he needs them or not. I urge you to get your husband to a doctor. Psychiatrists have been able to cure kleptomania. A kleptomaniac is as morally blameless, as say a diabetic.

Now—'64 Chevy II...
with a V8 engine

Now you see it. Now you don't. When a Chevy II does that kind of disappearing act you know without looking twice: It's a '64 with a V8 engine.

That's right. A full-grown 195-hp Turbo-Fire V8.* It's available for the first time this year along with a choice of three other engines—the standard 4 (in 100 Series sedans), the standard 6 and a new 155-hp 6.* (And all of them maintain their high spirits on modest amounts of regular gasoline.)

But the changes aren't confined to what happens when you slip into the driver's seat.

There are new styling features like the tasteful grille design and trim accents, for instance. And the larger self-adjusting brakes that further reduce upkeep on a car that already has a reputation of coming about as close to perpetual motion as anything on four wheels can get.

The place to get the full details on the '64 is your Chevrolet dealer's. And after you've got them, we hope you'll attend to one further detail yourself. Drive it. *Optional at extra cost

WOMEN

HONORED WITH COFFEE—Mrs. Ed Free, center, was honored with a coffee Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. T. E. McCollum, right. At left is Mrs. Ray Summers, co-hostess. Mrs. Free has resigned her position as librarian at Northeast Elementary School and is moving to Houston.

Musical Coterie Club Meets With Mrs. Clinton

The Musical Coterie Club met Thursday, Nov. 14 in the home of Mrs. Robert Clinton. Mrs. Ed Schulz and Mrs. Frank LeFeuvre were hostesses for the meeting.

Mr. Clinton presented Mrs. Ophelia Blackard who reviewed the book "Talking of Music" by Neville Cardus.

Paula Parks played "Prelude" by Michael Brodsky; Mollie Walker played "Gopak" by Moussorgsky; and Dan Brunken "Fir Eloise" by Beethoven.

Mrs. Blackard's subtley presented book review was enjoyed by all present. In his book, Mr. Cardus stated that music is a universal art, enjoyed and appreciated by everyone.

Music was traced from its origin and it was shown how it enables us to escape from the ordinary.

Religious music was the first to be accepted by the majority for worship. Any secular instrumental music was considered "of the devil." Music was considered a gift of praise to God, allowed by God to recreate and cheer men for the good of mankind.

Mrs Blackard followed with the relationship of music to paintings, characteristics of music such as conducting, composing, and the early "prima donnas" of the opera, to the prevalance of orchestras in Europe and America today.

As for music of today, all music must change, and as Mr. Cardus so aptly put it, "Let us be patient and hope for the best. In spite of all its criticisms, music is still a charitable art."

Mrs. E. L. Kubala presented the hymn of the month, "Now Thank We All Our God" which was led by Mrs. Laura Arnold and accompanied by her daughter.

SS Class Sees Slides

The Rebecca Sunday School Class of First Baptist Church met Monday evening in the home of the class president, Mrs. Opal Sullivan, 3757 Highland Drive.

No business session was held in order to give the teacher, Mrs. Travis Rhoades, more time to show slides of her summer tour in Europe.

Mrs. Rhoades presented a 9,000 - mile travelogue, taking the class via slides through 12 countries. Major points included were Glasgow, Scotland, London, England, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, Germany, Switzerland, Liechtenstein, Austria, Italy, Monaco and France.

Near Innsburk, Austria, the group saw the village of Oberammergau nestled among the highlands of the Bavarian Alps. It was here in 1634 that the Passion Play of Christ originated. Every 10 years since that time, a new group of actors presents the play. Today it is internationally known.

Py-Lo 4-H Club Meets

The Py-Lo 4-H Club met recently in the Walter Stirl home. Kathryn Helm and Diane Hess gave a demonstration on potato chip casserole. Mrs. Stirl served refreshments.

Attending were Delores Schwarz, Wilma Stirl, Shirley Stirl, Kathryn Helm, Diane Hess, Nelda Rannefeld, Carolyn Collier and Mrs. Stirl.

MEMBERS AND GUESTS of Lambda Kappa Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi were entertained with a style show Tuesday evening. Local models presented sportswear, daytime wear, night wear and evening wear. Anita Arnold was in charge of the program titled "The Art of Dress." Models in picture, are, from left, Cynthia Phillips, Kay Logan, Imogene Craft and Nedra Guelker.

Candy Stripers Meet

The Junior Auxiliary of Cogdell Hospital held their regular monthly meeting Wednesday, Nov. 13, at the home of the sponsor, Mrs. Johnnie Pitner.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Jane Boren. The roll was called, and a treasurer's report given.

President Boren warned the club members that the rule that three unexcused absences from meetings means expulsion, will be rigidly enforced in the future. She also urged the members to be more conscientious in their hospital attendance.

Mrs. Pitner announced that Mrs. Arel Faver is the new co-sponsor. She also informed the club that starting at mid-term, all members will be required to have an over-all grade average of 80. Averages will be checked at the end of each nine weeks.

Plans to aid a needy family at Christmas were discussed. Also the club agreed to volunteer for the Cancer Crusade.

Shelia Dupree reported on the District II Candy Stripers Convention held Oct. 19 at the Midland Country Club. Seven girls and two sponsors attended.

They were Mrs. Faver and Mrs. Pitner, sponsors, and Shelia Dupree, Linda Leech, Jane Boren, Karen Dolen, Joyce Baxter, Phyllis Sealy, Nan Martin.

Junior auxiliaries from Midland, Odessa, Pecos, Abilene and Andrews were also represented at the convention.

Speakers were Mrs. Burton B. Paddock, president of the Texas Association of Hospital Auxiliaries who gave a welcome from T.A.H.A., and Mrs. Hilton H. Ray from the Eastern New Mexico Medical Center Auxiliary in Roswell, New Mexico.

Mrs. Ray spoke on "What Juniors can Expect from Their Program."

The convention enjoyed two skits. One was presented by the Midland Junior Auxiliary and was entitled "Our Hospital," and another was presented by the Odessa Junior Auxiliary.

After luncheon and a style show, a panel show, "The Four Faces of Eve" was presented. The moderator was Mrs. Milton J. Loring and the members were Mrs. M. C. Waddell, supervisor of Midland Memorial Auxiliary; Dorothy Thynell, M. D., Midland; Rev. Francis Fowler; Holy Trinity Episcopal Church.

The final session of the convention was "Let's Chat," a question and answer period.

ABWA In Meet Here

The American Business Women's Association had its Thanksgiving meeting and Guest Night on Thursday at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

Following the meal, the 40 members and guests heard County Attorney Geroge Killam, who spoke on "America's Changing Cities." Mrs. Barbara Cole gave the vocational talk.

Dinner music was presented by Miss Pam Cole.

The only item of business was the election of a nominating committee. Serving on the committee are Inez Teaff, Dorothy Ratliff and Flora Hughes. Ben Dennis was presented a gift by the chapter in appreciation of his willingness to be of assistance to the organization.

It takes an expert to judge the quality of meat just by looking at its color, the fat, and the bone. So, for most of us, it's safer to rely on a meat packer's brand or a Federal grade, to be sure of getting the quality we pay for.

PUTTING A GREAT RECORD TO A SEVERE TEST

New Yorkers Face Housing Problem For World's Fair

BY INEZ ROBB

My friend with the whim of iron stirred another drop of lemon into her tea and then asked:

"Do you know if Robert Moses has a large apartment in town or a big place in the country?"

"There's a lot of useless information running around in my head about the number of rooms in Buckingham Palace and how many persons lived at Versailles in the time of Louis XIV," I said. "But the answer to your question is 'No. Mrs. Bones, I don't have any idea how Mr. Moses lives, whether in a basement flat or a 30-room triplex.'"

"I hope it's the 30-room triplex in town and an equally large house in the country," the Whim or Iron said with so much emphasis that I thought the teacup was a goner. "I'd like to think that the man who heads the New York World's Fair has two big homes that will be overrun, absolutely overrun, with houseguests as long as the fair lasts!"

"I'd like to think that his nose will be rubbed in all the trouble he's cooking up for every New Yorker who has a spare room or a Murphy bed in his library," she continued.

"Do you know that friends and cousins I haven't seen since the end of the last New York World's Fair in 1940 are already writing to tell me they'll be here for the fair in 1964 or 1965? And they express the pious hope we'll have the same good time we had in '39 and '40."

"And do you know what that means?" she demanded, and this time I thought the teacup was surely doomed. "That means: Have Jim and I still got a spare room and the old Murphy bed in the library?

"By ill fortune, we still have. But Jim and I aren't as young as we were in '39 and '40 when we were inundated by World's Fair Friends. By the way," she paused to explain "a Fair friend equates with a sunshine patriot.'

"Anyway, Jim and I have solved the problem and I think you ought to face up to it, too, before it's too late. We have decided to lease our apartment during the fair season of '64 - '65. The real estate agents tell me that furnished apartments will be in great demand and we can get a packet of money for it."

"But what are you and Jim going to do?" I asked.

"Take evasive action," she answered "We have thought of going to some quiet spot on the Italian Riviera — if such a place still exists — for four weeks during the first summer.

"Then the rest of the summer, we'd sublet a not-too-attractive one-room apartment in New York A place where we obviously couldn't put anyone up overnight, and one even too small to get a company dinner. In '39 and '40, we had guests continuously. They ate and drank us out of house and home.

"By the time the last fair ended in 1940 we were broke. And we figure we're too old to start all over again at the end of the fair in 1965."

"I realize it's a problem," I said. "But won't your friends hate you? Don't you want to see your friends?"

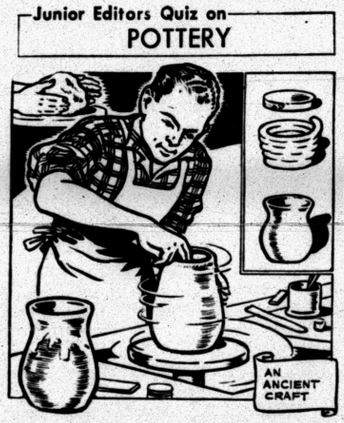

"In reply to the first question, if I have a choice, I'd rather hate my friends than myself when the merry-go-round finally stops," said Whim of Iron. "In reply to your second question the answer is: 'Yes, I want to see my friends, but I don't want to be chairman of the Entertainment Committee for them for two whole summers.'

"Why don't you and Add rent your apartment and get out of town during the fair?" she demanded. "Otherwise, that spare room of yours will be occupied every minute."

"But I like my friends," I protested "And, besides, you've given me an idea. We'll just move into that sometime triplex with Robert Moses."

Junior Editors Quiz on POTTERY

QUESTION: How are ceramics made?

* * *

ANSWER: Ceramics are useful or beautiful things—often both—made of clay and baked so they become hard. It is an ancient craft, for people have been making pottery for at least 10,000 years. A great step ahead was the discovery of a revolving stand called the "potter's wheel." Our picture shows one in action. First, a mass of clay is thrown on the wheel. Then, as the wheel spins, the potter uses various implements and his hands to shape the pot inside and outside. Our potter has built up asymmetrically shaped jar and now he is using his fingers to pull a lip out at the top as the jar spins. The result will be as shown at lower left.

A method used in making pottery on a commercial scale is to make the clay into a liquid called "slip." This is poured into moulds. The slip hardens first near the mould; when enough has hardened, the inside slip is poured out, the mould opened and the object removed. After being shaped, ceramic ware is heated in high temperature kilns, which gives the clay stone-like hardness. A final, shiny "glaze" is often applied.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Get a bit of modelling clay and make the pot in upper right. Cut out round base first. Then roll several clay snakes and wind these upward on the base, coiling them more widely for the body and narrower for the top. Smooth down outside.

Aluminum Helped Start Golden Boy

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The latest golden boy in the entertainment producing field began with an aluminum touch. He helped work his way through college selling pots and pans from door to door.

"That was more valuable than anything I learned in class," Martin Ransohoff said. "It taught me the value of contacting people, to know what they think and want."

At 30, he became the youngest chief executive of any corporation listed on the American Stock Exchange.

Now at 35 Ransohoff, who is built like a balding bumblebee, is one of television's most successful producers and is buzzing his way to the top in motion pictures. As a third string in his bow, his firm also turns out commercial and documentary films.

To critics who regard Ransohoff as "the king of cornbelt comedy," it will come as little consolation that he is planning more network situation series on the same level of folk laughter.

"It doesn't make any sense for our organization to diversify with serious dramas," he said. "We are geared to comedy."

In the motion picture world, Ransohoff is mushrooming with equal rapidity.

He is engaged in a cross-country word battle with MGM studio heads over his wish to include a frontal shot of four live nudes. Such arguments leave the stubby little producer unperturbed. He thrives on controversy, and is more than a mite disdainful of criticism.

Son of a New Orleans coffee importer, Ransohoff adventured in food brokerage and automobile marketing and worked as a free lance writer in Europe before turning to producing.

He operates on the theory that the job of a producer is to find the actual entertainment market, then satisfy it.

If the people want pots and pans, he thinks it is pointless to try to sell them goldplated bookends.

"Is there an audience? That's the first question to ask," he said. "If you lose sight of that, you're in big trouble.

"You may be able to flatter your own ego, but you're going to lose somebody an awful lot of money if you're not sure of the audience for which you're creating."

"I don't have any grand design of life. I just want to achieve something, have a few laughs and make a few bucks," he said.

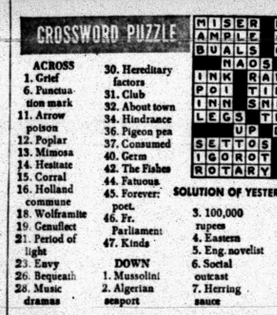

'Concussion' Is Good For The Soul

DENVER (AP) — A 12-year-old boy, testifying in a case involving a damage suit over an auto accident, said he received a concussion.

Dist. Judge Mitchel B. Johns asked if he knew what a concussion is.

"Well, it's when you tell what you know," the boy said. "You say to the priest you sinned."

Meredith Shows 'Em

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP)—Don Meredith Southern Methodist's Golden Boy who entered pro football with much fanfare and $30,000 a year, heard his first boos from the crowd this season.

That was when he was operating the quarterback shuttle with Eddie Lebaron as Coach Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys called the plays from the bench.

Don took it philosophically. "I was glad to know somebody cared enough to boo me," he said. "I appreciated the interest. I think it probably helped me."

But the boos have turned to cheers of late. Don happens to be doing about the finest brand of quarterbacking in the National Football League. Landry says "you can't say too much for his performance in the last four games. No one could have done better. I feel he is on the verge of becoming a solid quarterback."

Meredith's star began to shine when Landry abandoned the shuttle and said that "Don is our quarterback and will run the team."

That was four weeks ago. Meredith proceeded to compile a somewhat fantastic record. In four games he completed 86 of 130 passes for 1,205 yards, 12 touchdowns and only four interceptions.

His performance against the San Francisco 49ers established a season high for attempts, 48; completions, 30, and yardage, 460.

When Meredith came of age, so to speak, in professional football, it marked the end of three turbulent years when he and Landry were both criticized roundly because he wasn't playing enough and wasn't being permitted to run the team.

Landry was bringing him on slowly because he explained that throwing him to the wolves would not only hurt the boy but also hurt the team.

"With a young offense you had to have somebody with experience to handle it," explained Landry.

The coach said he thought Meredith had progressed just like he should and that he turned the team over to him when he figured Meredith was ready.

Meredith was appreciative of Landry's patience and help.

"I was in a haze my first year," he said. "The second year I learned I didn't know it all. My third year I was disappointed with my performance and I imagine Landry was disappointed, too. But he never said much about it."

But Meredith added that he figured it all was for the best. "Heck, man, it took me two years just to learn the plays," he said.

Ancient Foes Always Fight Whole Game

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Harvard and Yale have been playing each other in football since 1875 and their games virtually always are in doubt until the final tackle. Saturday's fray shouldn't be any different.

Although the Harvards come into this one needing a victory for a possible Ivy League crown, don't lock the Yales out.

Last week there was a bit of left-handed forecasting with 41 correct guesses and 13 wrong ones. That's a .759 average, a sharp slump from the .807 figure of the week before. The season's totals now are 354-121 for .746.

It is rare when the final big Saturday of the season pairs the last two remaining contenders in at least two conferences against each other. That's the case in both the Big Ten and Big Eight circuits.

So here's how things should turn out:

Michigan State over Illinois: Sherm Lewis, the Mighty Mouse of Michigan State, is the irresistible force while Dick Butkus of Illinois is the immovable object. This time the immovable object is the loser and the Spartans win the Rose Bowl berth.

Oklahoma over Nebraska: Not since the glory days of Biff Jones and the 1940 Rose Bowl season have the Cornhuskers flashed the muscle as shown by Dennis Claridge and his mates. But Oklahoma has muscle and speed.

Washington over Washington State: Out in Seattle they say that the star of the Washington team is the unspillable Junior Coffey. The Cougars will discover it is true.

Pittsburgh over Penn State: The Pitt quarterback merely has to Dial M for Murder — and either Fred Mazurek or Paul Martha will answer.

Auburn over Florida State: Jimmy Sidle and his mates with relative ease, unless the entire Tiger is busy thinking about next week's game with Alabama.

Southern California over UCLA: The clock has struck the midnight hour for the Cinderella boys from UCLA.

STOPPED GOING THROUGH CENTER — Arkansas quarterback Fred Marshall (19) was stopped after making short gain in first quarter against Southern Methodist University at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas, Texas. Out of action are Arkansas players Ronnie Caveness (55) and Bill Gray (11), and SMU's David Wilson (68). (AP Wirephoto)

Chiefs To Show Explosive Back

The Snyder Tigers need one more victory for a clean sweep in district competition and an 8-2 won-lost record for the season, but it may not come easy.

That was the opinion of Tiger scouts last night who gave a report on the Lake View Chiefs at the Snyder Quarterback Club's weekly meeting. The Chiefs are scheduled to meet the Tigers in the regular season finale Friday night in Tiger Stadium.

Lake View is without a victory in nine outings this year, but has two ties. However, this record did not exactly lull the Tiger scouts.

"Lake View has the best football team I ever saw without a victory," declared Roy Carter, Snyder B team coach who, along with his colleague, Bill Hartsfield, scouted the Chiefs.

For example, they cited last week's game between the Chiefs and the Brownfield Cubs. Brownfield jumped out to a 14-0 lead in the first quarter. Yet, at the half-time intermission, the Cubs were literally holding on with a bare 14-12 edge. Brownfield managed another touchdown late in the game to win it 21-12.

Since Brownfield and Snyder played to a virtual stalemate, with the Tigers pulling out a last-minute 16-15 decision, and the Chiefs and Colorado City played to a 6-6 tie, the situation indicates that the Tiges' 21-14 win over Colorado City was just about true to current form via the comparison route. In that case, the Tigers are expected to have their hands full once again.

The Chiefs boast an explosive offense centered upon one individual, the local scouts said. That would be C. R. Avants, the talented fullback, who has broken for long runs consistently this year, including a 99 - yard scoring scamper against Lamesa.

Coach Horrace Bostick expressed relief that last week's nightmarish encounter with Colorado City was now history.

Bostick said the locals had the misfortune to go into a defensive lapse just when the Wolves "caught fire." Injuries to some key defensive stalwarts were a factor, but the Tiger coach felt that his charges should have contained the Wolves, nevertheless. On the whole, the Tigers probably absorbed more physical punishment than in any other game this season. They were particularly hurting for linebackers, and before the game's end had players from other positions in service there.

Bauer Sees Managing As Simple

BALTIMORE (AP) — Hank Bauer looks upon managing the Baltimore Orioles as a simple thing.

"The ball players know me, if I ask them to do something, they'll do it for me," he believes. "They know I'm strictly for the ball player."

He displayed this camaraderie at a news conference Tuesday confirming his engagement in a one-year contract as the new Oriole manager.

During a lull in questioning by newsmen, the relaxed Bauer said to the back of the room: "Got any questions, Jim?"

"You're the only man with a job," shot back Gentile, the first baseman who is one of the Orioles' problem children.

"I don't think you have anything to worry about," said Bauer reassuringly.

Lee MacPhail general manager, made it clear he hired Bauer to replace Billy Hitchcock. In hopes he would get more out of the Orioles as individual players.

"I think he has the quality of leadership to put some spark in our ball club to change it from just another first division club to a true contender," is the way MacPhail expressed it.

The feeling for Bauer among the players was shown by the presence at the news conference of third baseman Brooks Robinson, pitchers Milt Pappas and Dick Hall in addition to Gentile.

Except for the possible acquisition of a left-hand batting outfielder, Bauer said he planned to start the same Orioles who finished fourth the past season — "until proven otherwise."

"Our most pressing problem is scoring runs," he declared. "I think the pitching is very good and the defense good."

Pair Cited In Valley

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Jerry Rhome, Tulsa quarterback, and Darrell Cauley, Cincinnati guard, were named Missouri Valley Conference back and lineman of the week today.

Rhome hit eight of eight passes in the fourth quarter Saturday to bring Tulsa from a 7-21 deficit to a 22-21 victory over Houston.

Cauley, a 205-pound senior, was credited with 13 unassisted tackles and one assist in Cincinnati's 23-20 losing effort at Wichita.

Close runners-up for Back of the Week honors were Henry Schichtle of Wichita and Dwaine Bean of North Texas.

Doug Buffone, Louisvilles sophomore center, was nominated for outstanding defensive play against Western Michigan.

More Texas Negroes Will Play At Home

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas, a state producing about 10,000 Negro high school football players and some 3,500 basketball players, now is going to see more of them staying at home for their collegiate competition.

The University of Texas of the Southwest Conference has integrated its sports and will start recruiting the Negro athletes. Southern Methodist announced that Negroes could be used on its team and University of Houston, an independent said Tuesday qualified Negro athletes would be sought.

For years teams from the Big Ten, Big Eight, Big Six, and other conferences raided the state of its Negro football stars. Or the athletes went to all-Negro colleges in the state, such as Prairie View A&M and Texas Southern.

Several years ago the barriers against Negroes participating in sports at Texas colleges started falling as integration of the schools spread.

North Texas State University, the fourth largest college in the state with 10,000 students and a member of the Missouri Valley Conference, opened athletics to Negroes and came up with Abner Haynes, who after starring as a collegian, played with the Dallas Texans and is now with the Kansas City Chiefs.

A number of small colleges in the state, including several in the Lone Star Conference, have had Negro athletes for several years.

But meanwhile many of the top Negro athletes went elsewhere, including Dick Lane who now plays for the Detroit Lions and Junior Coffee, who is at the University of Washington.

The state's Negro high schools have produced Dave Stallworth, who plays basketball at Wichita, and Earl Lattimer, who is a star lineman at Michigan State, among others who went to other states to participate. Olle Matson, former all-NFL pro, attended Houston's Yates High School before playing college ball in California.

The best known Negro star in the state now is Warren McVea, a 170-pound speedster who led San Antonio's Brackenridge High to the state schoolboy championship last season.

Other top prospects are A. Z. Drones, 227, San Angelo tackle; James Spears, 170, Corpus Christi halfback, and Frank Lane, 205, Wink fullback.

The integration of Southwest Conference athletics came about rather quietly.

It all began when Darrell Royal, University of Texas athletic director and coach of the nation's No. 1 football team, held his regular Monday get-together with sports writers and said:

"The athletic council met with the administration this morning and we decided that any student who meets academic and athletic requirements is eligible to try out for any sport at this moment."

That statement broke the ice. Now most of the seven other members of the Southwest Conference can be expected to follow suit.

Already the University of Houston, an independent which became a state college Sept. 1, and Southern Methodist University, have served notice qualified Negro athletes are welcome.

There may be some delay at the University of Arkansas where Coach Frank Broyles said it was "too early for comment." Arkansas Gov. Orville Faubus said last week he would oppose integration of athletics in the state.

Rice University is in a unique position in that it cannot integrate under conditions set down by its founder, William Marsh Rice. There is a court suit on file, however, attempting to lift all racial restrictions at the Southwest Conference school.

But already the state's two largest schools, Texas, with 22,000 students, and Houston, with 16,000, have said they will recruit Negro athletes.

The University of Houston likely could be the first college to have Negroes competing.

Guy Lewis, the head basketball coach, has been quietly observing Negro talent for a year and is known to have been interested in recruiting David Latin, a 6-foot-6 high school star who wound up at Tennessee State.

And it is anticipated that the Houston track team will have at least two Negro candidates this spring.

At Southern Methodist, basketball Coach Doc Hayes said he already had investigated several Negro boys but, "So far, I haven't been able to find any who can fill all the answers."

There's a good chance, however, at least a handful of Negro athletes will be trying out for at least two Texas college football teams next spring.

What effect will Texas recruiting have on Prairie View A&M, perennial champion of the Negro Southwestern Conference?

"It won't hurt us any more than in the past," W. J. Hicks, athletic director and head coach said. "We're all in competition for the best athletes regardless of color. I'd rather see them play in the state than go outside to some other school."

Southwest A-A List Is Trimmed

DALLAS (AP) — All-America prospects from the Southwest have been trimmed to a half-dozen with Don Trull, Baylor quarterback; Scott Appleton, Texas tackle, and Tony Lorick, Arizona State University, fullback, getting most of the endorsements.

The regional committee also cited Dave Parks, Texas Tech end; Tommy Ford, Texas halfback, and Ronnie Caveness, Arkansas center who makes more tackles than anybody.

Walter Robertson of the Dallas News said he was sold on Appleton because the big fellow never has a poor game and played probably his finest last week when Texas levelled Texas Christian and won its ninth straight.

Robertson also continued to boost Trull. He said the Baylor quarterback always had a good day whether his team won or not. "That seems to me to be the real test of a good quarterback—able to play well even if you lose," said Robertson.

Bill Van Fleet of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram had similar sentiments, rating Appleton and Trull as the leading contenders, but adding Malcolm Walker, Rice's mighty center, and Lawrence Elkins, Baylor's great pass-receiver, among those worthy of top consideration.

Van Fleet also liked Ford and Caveness. And the latter still had strong support from Jack Keady of the Arkansas Democrat, who just doesn't think anybody is better than Caveness on defense.

Keady rated Appleton as probably the leading candidate but stayed with Trull as another good one to have on an All-America team.

Ves Box of KRLD-TVN Dallas, rated Appleton No. 1 but thought Parks was a very close second and that Trull was as good as they come.

Lorick is the big, fast fullback who can do anything in football. If he's stopped with his running he will do some nifty passing and he'll top it all off with excellent defense. For instance, Lorick got only 27 yards rushing against Wyoming but he intercepted a pass and ran it back 59 yards for a touchdown.

Frank Gianelli of the Arizona Republic is sold on Lorick and he also has the backing of Carlos Salazar of the Albuquerque Tribune.

Jim Brown Regains Lead In Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Brown of Cleveland regained the scoring lead from Green Bay's Jerry Kramer and Roosevelt Taylor of the Chicago Bears took over first place in interceptions in weekend play in the National Football League.

Although Brown's Cleveland Browns dropped out of a first-place tie in the Eastern Conference by a 20-14 defeat at the hands of St. Louis, Jimmy scored his 13th touchdown of the year for a total of 78 points. Jerry Kramer's only point was a conversion after the Packers' lone touchdown in that 28-7 defeat at Chicago. Kramer now has 76 points, only two more than New York's Don Chandler.

Brown gained 154 yards in 22 attempts, pushing his total for the year to 1,447. Another day like that and he will beat his own league record of 1,527 set in 1958. He needs only 80 yards and has four games to play.

Taylor grabbed two of the five interceptions by the Bears against Green Bay for a leading total of seven for 116 yards. Dick Lynch of New York still has the most yardage with 152 on six interceptions.

Jim Sidle May Make Grid History

By The Associated Press

Auburn's Jimmy Sidle threatens to make college football history. He may become the first quarterback to lead the nation in rushing.

Official NCAA statistics through last Saturday's games, show that Sidle trails Kansas' Gale Sayers, the nation's major college rushing leader, by 14 yards. Sidle, however, has two more games to play while the Jayhawk halfback has only one.

The brilliant T-quarterback of Auburn has gained 835 yards rushing in eight games, making him the only rusher to average more than 100 yards per game. Sayers has 849 in nine games.

Quarterback Don Trull of Baylor leads the passing and total offense departments by a wide margin. In passing, he has connected with 142 of 254 throws on 1860 yards. In total offense, he has amassed 1913 yards in 325 plays.

Trull has two more games in which to break a couple of passing records. He needs 18 more completions to better the mark of 159 completions by Don Klosterman of Los Angeles Loyola in 1951 and he must gain 146 more air yards to surpass the record 2,005 yards by passing set in 1948 by Nevada's Stan Heath.

A pair of long range passers will be firing against one another when Oregon meets Oregon State Saturday. State's Gordon Queen is the leader in touchdown passes with 16. Oregon's Bob Berry is tied with California's Craig Morton for second with 14 touchdowns.

Pro Teams Face Suit

HOUSTON (AP)—Claude King filed a suit in district court Tuesday against the Boston Patriots and the Houston Oilers.

The former University of Houston halfback said he signed a contract with the Oilers on Aug. 7, 1962, which said he was to be paid $9,500 for the season.

Soon afterward he was transferred, without his consent, to the Patriots.

King claims $2,037 has been withheld from his pay, and the defendants "are attempting to breach the contract."

He asks the $2,037 in back pay that he says is due plus $400 transportation expenses and $900 in fees for his lawyer.

Butsko Activated

Finances, Political Problems Block Trading With Reds

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The touchy question of increasing U.S. trade with Eastern Europe's Communist nations runs into financial as well as political road blocks. Payment in gold or goods or credit?

Many of America's allies have been increasing this trade right along, often ignoring Washington's frowns. But they've been able to get payment for their exports by increasing their imports from the Communist bloc—items that U.S. importers don't want or can't buy—or by taking sporadic offerings of Soviet gold, something the United States could use but rarely sees.

The political reasons for holding down trade are clear. Strategic goods from the United States would build up Communist war potential, and other goods might build up its economic health and let it put more effort into military output.

In 1962 we exported $105 million worth of goods to Soviet satellites in Eastern Europe, excluding the U.S.S.R. itself and Yugoslavia and Albania; and imported $62.5 million worth. In the same period West Germany was exporting $719 million worth, importing $668 million worth, and Britain exporting $369 million and importing $442 million. Japanese and Canadian exports also have risen steadily in recent years.

The principal items that the United States exports to the satellites and gets back are tabulated by economists at the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York, as follows:

Poland chiefly takes American grains and sends meat products. East Germany takes tobacco and sends furs. Hungary prizes our industrial machinery and we take their wood manufactures. Bulgaria and Romania are markets for our pharmaceuticals, and from Bulgaria we import spices and from Romania glass products. Other items are traded with each nation in smaller amounts.

The United States has legal restrictions on this Eastern European trade. The chief one is a ban on goods classed as strategic that might be used in an arms buildup. An export license is required for any goods ruled nonstrategic.

But a credit restriction goes back to 1934 when Congress banned private loans to a government in default in payment on its obligations to the U.S. government. Only recently has Washington ruled that this law doesn't apply to "normal commercial credit terms." Neither the law nor the ruling has been tested in the courts.

Nations in default, in addition to the Soviet Union itself, include Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary, Poland and Romania.

Even when export licenses are available, some American manufacturers hesitate to ship their goods to the Eastern Europeans because they don't respect international patents and can copy Western designs once a few samples are in their hands.

But the purely financial roadblock is a big one. Western Europe has taken in payment for its exports Eastern Europe's timber, pulp, grain, nonferrous metals and petroleum products. The United States already has adequate sources for these products.

The Communist bloc's currencies aren't convertible, so that trade has to be conducted on strictly bilateral terms or through complicated triangular deals.

And payment in Soviet gold is a now-and-then thing.

So there's more than just the cold war holding up any large expansion of trade between the United States and Eastern Europe, although doubtless the Communists would be glad to get many industrial materials and equipment we consider strategic.

Chancellor Erhard Will Start Anew

By HARVEY HUDSON

PARIS (AP)—When Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany comes to Paris Thursday to see President Charles de Gaulle, he will be starting a fresh relationship, like a new kid in a school, or a recently arrived neighbor in the block.

The chummy mood that has been built up between France and Germany in the past five years has been the fruit of a warm and friendly contact between De Gaulle and Konrad Adenauer. Now, with Adenauer out, and Erhard in, there is bound to be a new approach — and perhaps a vastly different result.

The change will be apparent the minute Erhard steps off the train. He will be met by Premier Georges Pompidou and Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, a correct welcome by protocol standards. But it represents a switch, because De Gaulle on several occasions went out of his way to greet Adenauer at the airport, stretching protocol, since De Gaulle is a chief of state and the German chancellor a chief of government.

Adenauer and De Gaulle used to do their most effective work in man-to-man sessions without even an interpreter present. De Gaulle and Erhard will meet three times Thursday and Friday but they will be alone at only one of these meetings. Ministers and advisors will attend the other two.

This does not mean that De Gaulle and Erhard will not push ahead with the French-German cooperation treaty, which calls for periodic consultations at the upper echelons. But meshing of thinking and coordination of policies may be more difficult than in the past.

Erhard may be more outspoken than Adenauer in airing the differences between the two nations — and when he does speak out he will be running head - on into some of De Gaulle's most cherished concepts. Adenauer tended to skirt areas of disagreement to seek possibilities for accord.

Writing Team Wed 50 Years

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When the Will Durants observed their golden wedding anniversary recently, they celebrated in typical style.

There was an intimate dinner for members of their immediate family. At 8:30 the following morning, the Durants were back in the 18th century.

For 33 years Will and Ariel Durant have been leading a monastic life as they trudged their way through the great sweep of man's history. Their goal—a 10-volume story of civilization from oriental beginnings to the fall of the Bastille—is almost in sight.

The eighth volume, "The Age of Louis XIV," has just been printed, and "The Age of Voltaire" is completed. Now the Durants are well into "Rousseau and Revolution," which will be completed three years hence.

Why will they end their journey through the ages at 1789?

"Because by the completion of the 10th volume, the senior member of this partnership will be 81," said Durant, a twinkling-eyed man with a fine head of white hair and a brush mustache. "By that time it can be expected that his faculties will have diminished."

This year the Durants allowed themselves a respite from their arduous task. He accepted an invitation from producer Samuel Bronston to come to Madrid and write a foreword for "The Fall of the Roman Empire." Although he has lived for many years scarcely a mile from Hollywood and Vine, this was his first connection with a movie.

Crash Kills Two Texans

LEEDEY, Okla. (AP)— Four persons, including two Texas ranchers, died Tuesday in the crash of a twin-engine private plane carrying a hunting party to South Dakota.

The dead were identified as Ivan Kelley Owen, 52, rancher from San Saba, Tex.; Jack Kirby, a Meridian, Tex., businessman-rancher; Mrs. Blanche Pauline Travis, 40, whose husband, Bob, operates a Mobridge, S.D., cafe, and Mrs. Travis' son, Robert, 5.

Owen was reported the pilot of the plane which crashed from overcast skies northwest of here late Tuesday.

Three Cent Stamp Good For Long Ride

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP) — A letter, tattered in transit and bearing an oft-canceled 3 -cent stamp, was en route to Sitka today.

The letter, addressed to Ed Bohas in Juneau, was posted here June 5, 1957, when three cents was sufficient postage. It has been traveling much of the time since, including one trip to Westport, Wash.

In the interim the sender died so postal officials continued sending the letter in search of Bohac. Tuesday, they found a Sitka address and are hopeful the letter will arrive before he moves again.

Liz' Costumes Bought For 'Historical' Value

LONDON (AP) — A beauty operator and a seamstress paid $30.80 Tuesday for two of Elizabeth Taylor's costumes from the movie "Cleopatra." The costumes originally cost more than $1,000.

The actress donated the dresses to a charity bazaar. She was said to have worn them only once.

Judy Britton, 19, a seamstress at a London theater, bought the one for $5.60.

"I doubt if I'll ever wear it," she said. "I'm too fat, but I'll keep it in my warddrobe because of its historical interest.

Communism Gains In Asia By Cambodian Aid Decision

By WILLIAM L. Ryan
AP Special Correspondent

Communism has inched a bit closer to one of its short - term goals in Southeast Asia, and the long - range threat to that strategic area has been increased.

What has just happened in Cambodia should be no surprise. The United States has had more than two years to prepare for the announcement that Cambodia would send the Yankees packing, along with their aid.

Surprise or not, the effect can be to advance the cause of neutralism in the area. It can cause rulers to weigh cautiously the prospects for making peace with Peking.

The Communists achieved a step in their campaign to move in on Southeast Asia when a neutralist formula for Laos was adopted at Geneva. Laos borders Cambodia on the north and separates it from China. The Communists wanted the same formula for the other former French Indo-China states, including South Viet Nam.

The idea appeared to be neutralization first, then expulsion of Western influence. Finally the Communists would dominate, and not necessarily by outright conquest.

Any unraveling of Red designs in Asia is complicated by the ideological war between Moscow and Peking. Moscow helped evolve the neutralist formula for Laos, but Southeast Asia is out of Moscow's reach. If it is to be dominated by a Communist power, it will be by Red China.

More than two years ago, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state, told a Soviet newspaper that if his country had to be allied with any foreign power, "it probably would not be with one in the West, which has never understood or supported us."

This was despite American aid. It bruises american feelings to learn that U.S. aid is not always entirely welcome in Southeast Asia. It sometimes creates — as in Laos — problems of inflation and economic dislocations.

There never seemed much mutual confidence between the assisting Americans and the Cambodian regime. Always conscious of China, and with the Oriental long-range view of the future, the Cambodian regime wanted to be neutral. The Americans feared it would be "neutral" on the Communist side.

Cambodia is taking the plunge and divorcing herself from U.S. help. If this neutralism, combined with that of Laos, should lead one day to domination of the two countries by Communists, overtly or covertly, the West would suffer a severe strategic setback.

Public Works Bill Goes To Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed Tuesday a bill providing for public works. The vote was 359 to 27.

The measure now goes to the Senate. It would finance river and harbor and flood control projects, reclamation programs, the atomic energy commission and other public activities.

The measure included a long list of Texas water projects, including $23 million for the huge Canadian River installation.

The Texas appropriations include:

Big Fossil Creek, $500,000.

Brazos Island harbor, Brownsville, $800,000. Brazos Island harbor jetties, $500,000.

Buffalo Bayou and tributaries, $3,900,000.

Canyon Reservoir, $3,682,000.

Fort Worth Floodway West Fork extension, $500,000.

Galveston harbor jetties, $2,500,000.

Gulf Intracoastal Waterway, Guadalupe River channel to Victoria, $1,500,000.

Port O'Connor dikes, $562,000.

Houston ship channel, $3,800,000.

Matagorda ship channels, $7,000,000.

Port Aransas-Corpus Christi Waterway, Gulf to Viola, $1,200,000.

Port Aransas-Corpus Christi Waterway jetties, $750,000.

Proctor Reservoir, $2,000,000.

Sabine-Neches Waterway, widening, $2,138,000.

Sam Rayburn Dam, $12,450,000.

San Antonio channel, $1,000,000.

Somerville Reservoir, $8,100,000.

Stillhouse Dam, $3,400,000.

Texas City, $3,000,000; Texas City channel dikes, $835,000.

Waco Reservoir, $8,500,000.

The bill provided for these Reclamation Bureau construction projects in Texas:

Canadian River project, $23,000,000.

Lower Rio Grande, La Feraia Division, $1,500,000; Lower Rio Grande, Mercedes Division, $1,400,000.

US Prelates Support Documents

By GERALD T. MILLER
Associated Press Staff Writer

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A group of American prelates, led by Albert Gregory Cardinal Meyer of Chicago, joined today in defense of proposed Roman Catholic declarations on Jews and religious liberty. They called on the Vatican Ecumenical Council to adopt the disputed documents.

Moments later, the entire Swiss hierarchy of the Church added its support for the declaration on Jews, and said the council also should speak of "Moslems and all who believe in God in this age of atheism."

Cardinal Meyer was the first of the five American cardinals to speak on Christian unity. The proposed declarations on Jews and religious liberty are contained in a schema "on ecumenism," dealing with Christian unity.

The two declarations have been the main items of controversy since debate on the schema started Monday. Several bishops have criticized the insertion of the declarations into the schema, saying it should be limited to strictly Christian unity matters.

Several Middle East patriarchs have said the declaration on the Jews might have political implications in their Arab area.

No one has questioned the actual content of the declarations. The one on the Jews says they alone are not to blame for the crucifixion, but that all mankind is responsible. The statement on religious liberty upholds the right of individuals to worship God according to their consciences.

A council press spokesman reported Cardinal Meyer's remarks, paraphrasing him as saying:

"Both declarations must be dealt with in the council. . . they are intimately connected with the topic of ecumenism and should remain where they are."

He expressed firm hope for their approval.

The spokesman said he was speaking for himself and an unspecified number of U.S. prelates.

Bishop Giuseppe Jelmini, apostolic administrator of Lugano, spoke for the Swiss hierarchy. He said the declaration on the Jews was acceptable in the schema. The Swiss prelate also expressed approval of the declaration on religious liberty.

Again today, as in the past two days, there were arguments against having the declarations in the schema.

It is his second visit to Mexico. From here he plans to go to the Middle and Far East.

Party Plans No Candidate

MEICO CITY (AP)—A plan for Mexico's second strongest bu tsmpla lotill a ptlcr atoy-ab but small political party to abstain from putting up a presidential candidate in next summer's election gained strength Wednesday.

The National Action Partys (PAN) headquarters said the Hidalgo State convention had endorsed the plan. Backers call the plan a protest of one-party dictatorship by the government's Institutional Revolutionary Party (PRI).

The government party as dominated elections for a quarter of a century.

Should National Action decide against backing a candidate, it probably would leave PRI's nominee, former Interior Minister Gustavo Diaz Ordaz, unopposed.

Other opposition groups are expected to endorse the government party's candidate.

A decision will come in the party's national convention this weekend.

Blast Kills 3 Airmen

ROSWELL, N.M. (AP) — An explosion ripped through an $8 million B52 jet bomber undergoing routine maintenance Tuesday, killing three men—two of them from Texas—and injuring four.

A team of investigating officers sifted through the debris today to determine the cause of the explosion which rocked this Strategic Air Command base.

Killed in the shattering blast and fire were:

S.Sgt. Harold R. Morrison, 31, Waltham, Mass., who was stationed at Dyess AFB, Abilene, Tex.

A.3.C. Miguel Perales, 23, Rio Hondo, Tex.

A.3.C. Manfred L. Zentil, 20, Redwood City, Calif.

The bomber, the largest and longest-range in the Air Force, was on the flight line for routine maintenance checks by the flight crew.

Bridge Pro Returns From Cruise

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Charles Goren, the contract bridge man, is just back from taking 300 card players on a cruise to the Orient, and not one husband threw his wife overboard for a bad bid.

And vice versa.

It might have been the sea air, although Goren doesn't believe most of those stories about husbands and wives fighting over the bridge table.

"Even if they argue a little," he said, "at least they are together. The husband isn't out with the boys."

But Goren didn't organize the cruise to promote domestic tranquility.

He is out to sell bridge in the Orient, where the benefits of point count bidding are only starting to penetrate.

Goren and his 300 card players took over the ship President Roosevelt and traveled for 42 days to various Asian ports. At sea he lectured on ridge, and supervised games.

In Tokyo and Manila his team of American experts played matches.

Goren plans to take another cruise to the Orient next year.

"I can't stay out of action," Goren said.

Does he ever get sick of bridge?

"Not at these prices."

Automation Is Threat Says Snyder

NEW YORK (AP) — Millionaire businessman John I Snyder Jr. says the United States faces great social upheaval if it can't provide jobs for men replaced by machines.

Warning of "really staggering" unemployment, Snyder urged the AFL-CIO Tuesday to join with the federal government and the National Association of Manufacturers to find a solution.

"I'd join with the devil himself if I could find the solution to this problem," said AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Meany and 1,200 AFL-CIO convention delegates gave Snyder a reception that was warm, although subdued, after a convention floor fight over readmitting the ostracized Teamsters Union.

Meany, with the help of most delegates, wielded a heavy gavel, in killing the move to consider taking back the Teamsters, ousted on corruption charges in 1957.

Snyder, president of U.S. Industries Inc., manufacturers of automation equipment, linked the civil rights movement and the growing unemployment problem, saying:

"The gap between the column of figures running down the balance sheet and the column of Negroes marching down an embattled street is a slim one indeed."

He described himself as no particular friend of labor, but said automation equipment puts thousands of people out of work every week, and added:

"I want to sell the automation machines my company makes, and if our economy turns sour, if the unemployment problem is not solved, I will have difficulty selling them."

The problem calls for a total effort by labor, management and government, Snyder said, and he favored a reduced work week as one of the answers.

Research Policy Said Inconsistent

HOUSTON (AP)— An influential scientist says there is not really such a thing as government research policy but merely pieces of policy.

Dr. Philip A. Abelson, 50, director of the Carnegie Institute of Geophysical Laboratory in Washington, D.C., made the statement Tuesday night at the Robert A. Welch Foundation Conference on Chemical Research.

"There are pieces of policy, in the form of instructions covering procedural matters, for instance, but there is no policy in the major sense of a coherent, logical body of principles clearly stated and openly followed."

He also said "a major fraction of government research policy is made and executed by a small group of men having little proven competence in science."

Dr. Abelson co-discoverer of neptunium and editor of science Magazine, levelled most of his attack against Dr. Jerome Wiesner, President Kennedy's science adviser.

He said the Wiesner "has accumulated more visible and invisible power than any scientist in the peace - time history of this country." Wiesner is retiring, in January as chairman of the President's Science Advisory Committee and the Federal Council on Science and Technology.

". . .He (Dr. Wiesner) participates in decisions on budgetary matters. In effect, he is director of the Bureau of the Budget where scientific matters are concerned. . . I know of no evidence that this budgetary power has been misued, but its very existence cannot be color relations between the adviser and various agencies of the government," Dr. Abelson warned.

The editor - scientist also said Wiesner has at his disposal "if he wishes to use it" essentially the total scientific capability of the nation, but that only 300 of the country's more than three million scientists and engineers have been called to serve.

In describing Wiesner's 16 aides, Dr. Abelson said "scientifically, they are not a distinguished group."

Kitten Sent 300 Miles

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Many days and 300 miles away from Boston, the woman could not forget the sight of the cruelly mistreated kitten at the Old North Church.

Mrs. Harold Becraft of Utica recently visited the famous church.

In the courtyard she made friends with a skinny stray kitten. The animal fled, however, when a boy kicked it. Mrs. Becraft could not forget the animal.

She phoned the Animal Rescue League in Boston and the organization found the kitten. Mrs. Becraft is having it shipped to her home — which already houses cats, monkeys, rabbits, birds, dogs, a racoon and a chipmunk.

Mrs. Becraft is employed by the Humane Society.

Just Made A Deposit!

CORNELIA, Ga. (AP) — It cost some bungling burglars at least $92 when they broke into the Cornelia Bank.

Police Chief J. G. Davenport said Tuesday the burglars chopped a hole in the bank roof to gain entrance, but failed to reach any of the money.

They not only didn't gain by their efforts, but they dropped a roll of bills amounting to $92 and left behind a bottle half-filled with whisky.

Sentence Unchanged

ATLANTA (AP) — A Negro whose death sentence at age 15 sparked international concern faces electrocution Dec. 6.

For the fourth time in two years young Preston Cobb Jr. heard the death sentence imposed Monday. He was convicted in August 1961 for killing his elderly white employer. Numerous appeals have been made all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court, but all were turned down.

Man Charged In Shootings

TEAGUE, Tex. (AP) — Lawrence Plummer, 36, of Palestine, Tex., was under a charge of murder today in connection with a shooting in which his father-in-law was killed and his mother-in-law and a visitor in their home wounded.

Freestone County Sheriff Henry Brown said Plummer was arrested at Fairfield shortly after the shooting.

Police said Cullen Connell, 59, was shot to death with a snub-nosed .38 caliber pistol. Mrs. Connell, who was shot in the stomach, and Donald Morris, who suffered wounds in the head and leg, were in a Teague hospital. Their condition was described as fair.

Brown said that Plummer and his wife, a daughter of Connells, were estranged and that Mrs. Plummer and her two children had been living with her parents. He said the two girls, age 9 and 1, were in the house at the time of the shooting but were unharmed.

HERE ARE THE RULES OF THE CONTEST

In each advertisement on this page you will find the contestants in a prominent football game being played in the country this week-end. Get an entry blank from one of the merchants who are helping sponsor this contest and whose message is on this page. Fill in your selection of the WINNING TEAM only . . . opposite the name of the firm on the entry blank. Then send your complete blank to FOOTBALL CONTEST EDITOR, THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS. Entries must be in the hands of the editor by 12 o'clock noon, Friday. Games ending in a tie score must be specified as a tie or else it will be considered a miss.

If there is a tie for first place the winners will divide the cash money of $12.50 and no second prize will be given. If there is a first place winner and a tie for second place, the second prize winners will divide the money for the place. If more than two persons tie for second place, no second prize money will be awarded and the cash will be added to next week's prize. Tie for perfect score will split $25.00. There will be fun for the entire family. Only one entry blank will be permitted from any one person. More than one will disqualify all of the person's entries. Scores listed on the entry blank will have no bearing on the choice of the winner. Sign your entry blank and list your address and phone number — and watch for the story on next Wednesday's front page for the winners. Hurry now, and get your entry blank from one of the merchants on this page. The contest blank must be in your own handwriting. Employes of The Snyder Daily News and their families are not eligible to enter.
