Reform means to make over without changing the essential characteristics of a thing. Read this to those who think reform means attaching a stick of dynamite to something, or everything.

Nobody grows more than the convalescent. Maybe that explains the current sharpshoot at the federal administration.

The Hauptmann prosecution staff did some great research. Maybe they're just the boys to ferret out the cause and cure of unemployment.

If basketball ever becomes popular, the referees will be in far greater danger than the baseball umpires—they have far more decisions and the audience is closer.

Ousted Louisiana U. students plan to enrol at Missouri, the "show me" university and our own alma mater. But we thought Huey had "shown" them a thing or two at L. S. U.

Musing of the moment: With the most popular way to die that of driving at high speed on the roads, it would seem a humiliating way to die if one should succumb to little flu bugs. Highway speed limits mean nothing. It would be progress to limit cars to 60 miles per hour, and 55 would be safer. But a fool and an incompetent are dangerous at any speed.

Brevitorials

BACK WITH YOU.
They call it flu. It had us—three of THE NEWS staff, in a single week. It's not just a bad cold. You'll know the difference if it nominates you for a joust. But don't be alarmed. Just go to bed for 5 days, apply your favorite "cold"

We call attention of readers to the boxed story on this page. Pampa is asked to furnish ten free rooms to out-of-town Home Demonstration club women here for a two-day writing school. Certainly it is a reasonable request. If you can spare a room for tomorrow night, call the telephone Miss Adams' office at once.

remedies for 4 days—or a doctor's—and on the fifth day you'll be ready to start learning to walk again. In a week you'll be talking about your flu like most persons do their operations. That's a nice thing about the flu. . . . But not the only one. You can make the acquaintance of the Missus, the family dog, and—if you're nice—perhaps of the family cat.

ONE OF THE first symptoms of the flu is a desire to shout at the wife, kick the dog, and throw things at the cat. This is usually followed by a fever within 24 hours. You cease to be a pain then, and start having them. You get "onions" in the eyes, the plumbing of the nose goes haywire, and your heating system appears to be having fits. When you're hot you'll feel chilly and when you're cold you'll feel like a furnace. The flu may be good for 101%, or even 102%. . . . But don't despair. In a few hours the brow will chill and the feet will perspire. Maybe it's the medicine, and not the flu, but if it's all the same to you we'll just continue to blame the bugs.

STRANGE STUFF. this flu. In the early stages, your ears will "ring" and sometimes you can hear a distant roaring that won't leave. Later, you may get so nervous, what with coughing and sneezing, and all, that you could hear a pin drop in the next block. Skippy, the family pup, makes a noise like a Metro bass suddenly come to life after having been shelved by the leading tenor for most of the evening. . . .

Leon Noblett is compiling the directory for THE NEWS, but it will be impossible to contact every business and professional man before the first insertion. If you wish to be listed, your co-operation would be appreciated. Call THE NEWS today and help make Pampa's Directory complete and reliable.

House Passes Second Bill To Strengthen Enforcement Of Oil Rules

'SHOW NO MERCY!' PROSECUTOR SAYS

LAW SCHOOLS ARE CITED IN ANOTHER BILL

TO FORCE GRADUATES OF COLLEGES TO TAKE EXAMS

AUSTIN, Feb. 12. (AP)—The Texas house moved swiftly today to strengthen enforcement of oil conservation regulations.

It passed the second of two bills to amend court procedure to provide a further check on issuance of injunctions by district courts restraining the Texas railroad commission from enforcing its orders. The bill would give the supreme court original jurisdiction over prohibitory writs granted by district courts. While it was designed to apply particularly to oil injunctions, the bill also would affect injunctions seeking to restrain enforcement of other state laws.

The house previously had sent the senate a bill to limit injunctive powers of district courts. It would require that notice of application for injunction be served on the state and would forbid district courts to grant injunctions on ex parte testimony.

Both bills received a sufficient majority in the house to make them effective immediately if passed by a two-thirds vote in the senate. The bills were suggested by the attorney general's department and advocated by Governor James V. Allred. The senate was held in session for the funeral services for Thomas Finley Hughton, father of Senator Wallace Hughton, at Plano.

The house engrossed, after sharp debate, a bill to require law school graduates to take the state bar examination, a move to raise standards of Bar Association personnel by stamping out what were termed "diploma mills."

"If the great University of Texas can't turn out men capable of practicing law without taking an additional examination we ought to tear it down," Representative W. E. Pope of Corpus Christi commented.

"The public is not satisfied with personnel of the bar," Representative

Chief Appeals For Observance Of Traffic Laws

Chief of Police Art Hurst is fast getting a head of gray hair, and it is the result of a very satisfactory situation in Pampa that is the cause.

With only one traffic trying to handle the "wildest bunch of motorists in the country," the chief has decided to ask the public to assist him in trying to curb speeding, reckless driving, and other traffic violations, by being careful.

The chief is also asking motorists to check their lights. Many accidents have been caused by having no lights, one headlight, or no tail light. The police department will have to start arresting motorists driving with improper lights, and that will mean a fine.

ROAD OUTLOOK ACROSS RIVER IS VERY GOOD

Briggs and Nunn in Trip to Perryton And Miami

George Briggs, B. C. D. manager, tonight will report to his directors the results of a very satisfactory trip made by himself and Gilmore Nunn yesterday to Miami and Perryton concerning plans for a highway across the Canadian river.

At Miami, the local men met with the Roberts county commissioners and were assured of cooperation in the move for designation of a route by the state. In Perryton, the highway committee of the chamber of commerce gave a similar assurance.

W. J. Van London, district engineer, is expected to name an engineer to survey the route as a step preliminary to likely state designation. The usual plans is for the citizens of the territory affected to pay the cost of the engineering in the preliminary phases.

Mr. Briggs plans to go to Spearman tomorrow to continue work on the project. According to Mr. Van London, the control points for the route are Miami and Pampa south of the river and Perryton, and Spearman north of the stream. Each of these points will be benefited by the road, the outlook for which is the best it has been in several years.

Allred To Talk On Air Tonight

AUSTIN, Feb. 12. (AP)—Governor James V. Allred said today he intended to take his appeal for repeal of horse race wagering directly to the people in his second "fire-side chat."

He planned a radio address tonight over a hookup of Texas stations. Recalling his inaugural promise to report to 6,000,000 shareholders in the state government, Allred said he intended to read in full his legislative message urging repeal and disclosing alleged doping of horses.

In a story published yesterday in THE NEWS about the meeting between Pampans and Rep. Worley Sunday, the word "producers" instead of "purchasers" was used through a typographical error in the sentence beginning with: "If then the purchasers (not producers) attempted to beat down the price of gas, the group believed . . ."

VIRGIL STALCUP SENTENCED TO DIE IN SHERIFF'S DEATH

Alleged Slayer Of Dickens Officer Hears The Verdict Without Emotion Display

LUBBOCK, Feb. 12. (AP)—The death penalty was returned against Virgil Stalcup, Texas-Oklahoma desperado, by a 99th district court jury this morning at 9:13 o'clock for the jail-escape murder of Sheriff W. B. Arthur of Dickens county.

Stalcup heard the verdict read without slightest display of emotion.

Stalcup's attorneys called for a poll of the jury and after it revealed unanimous answers on the death penalty, they gave notice of appeal.

The Texas-Oklahoma badman, who has twice escaped from jails and once from the Texas penitentiary, was closely guarded by nine officers as he was brought into court to hear the verdict.

Stalcup's young wife and her little five-year-old daughter, of Amarillo, who attended the trial the past week, were not present at the reading of the verdict. Neither were members of the Arthur family who also attended the trial throughout.

The case reached the jury late Monday after a full week of proceedings. Four days were required for presentation of testimony. Arguments were heard Monday.

Japs Plotting To Enslave Russians Farmers Are Told

MOSCOW, Feb. 12. (AP)—Jacob Yakoff, member of the all-powerful central committee of the communist party, charged Japanese and German imperialists with arming against Russia to reestablish "peasant slavery" in a speech today to the congress of "shock farmers."

"If they try to take away the freedom we have acquired," said Yakoff, "we will meet them with invincible forces. It is no secret that they are preparing to make war on Soviet Russia to set up the old serfdom again and sell Russian women into a life of shame such as in Japan where official figures show that 30,000 to 40,000 young girls are sold by their parents yearly."

PAMPAN'S FATHER DIES
Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bourland were called to Stamford yesterday by the death of Mrs. Bourland's father, Jack Jones of Stamford. Mr. Jones died yesterday morning after a short illness.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP)—President Roosevelt and A. F. of L. leaders, after swapping opinions in an amiable White House conference, apparently were determined today to stand by their conflicting views on such things as the 30-hour work week, relief wages and auto labor elections.

ROME, Feb. 12. (AP)—Ethiopia's diplomatic envoy to Rome announced tonight that Ethiopia would not pay a cent to Italy as indemnities, that the African empire had one million men available to fight Italy, that no foreign power was expected as an ally, and that "Ethiopia does not need one."

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, Feb. 12. (AP)—The Ethiopian government announced tonight that squads of Italian armed with machine guns had attacked an Ethiopian patrol of 25 men, armed only with rifles, January 29 near Geriagub.

PAWNEE, Okla., Feb. 12. (AP)—Threats of a mistrial which hovered over the Phil Kennamer murder trial here early today were dispelled definitely this afternoon when Judge Thurman Hurst resumed the session and said that the trial would go ahead. His announcement followed a secret conference of the judge and attorneys for both sides for an hour.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP)—A resolution for an investigation of the American Telephone and Telegraph company similar in scope to the federal trade commission's six year inquiry into power companies, was passed by the senate today and sent to the house. Offered by Chairman Wheeler of the senate interstate commerce committee, the resolution would appropriate $750,000 for the communications commission to make the investigation.

Brotherhood Class Will Meet Tonight

The Men's Brotherhood of First Baptist church will meet this evening instead of their usual day, Friday, and will honor Boy Scouts and other boys of the church at a father-son banquet.

Members who have no boys of their own are asked to invite other boys of Scout age. The banquet is one event in the church observance of the silver anniversary of Scout-ing.

SELECTION OF SARAH HUGHES IS CONFIRMED

Texas' First Woman Judge Okayed By Senators

AUSTIN, Feb. 12. (AP)—Mrs. Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas, 37, small and dynamic, today was Texas' first woman district judge.

She stepped from the role of state legislator to judge of a Dallas court late yesterday promptly upon senate confirmation, 23 to 7, of her appointment.

She took the oath from a notary in the house chief clerk's office, received her commission from Governor James V. Allred personally and prepared to return to Dallas.

"I am proud to have been the first governor of Texas to appoint the state's first woman district judge," the governor said.

Mrs. Hughes would complete the term of Judge W. M. Taylor, elevated recently to the supreme court commission of appeals.

Modest but unyielding in legislative battles, Mrs. Hughes calmly out-

Lincoln Bier's Guard To Visit At White House

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP)—The White House door was left ajar to only one visitor today as President Roosevelt led the nation in observance of Abraham Lincoln's birthday.

William Henry Gilbert, 93, of York, Pa., only surviving member of the detail that guarded the bier of the great emancipator in Philadelphia, planned to don his worn blue uniform and call on the chief executive.

"Sort of scared" by the fuss made over his trip to Washington, the civil war veteran was determined to steady himself and give Mr. Roosevelt the same smart salute accorded President Lincoln when he first saw him "many years ago."

COUNTY BUYS MACHINE GUN AND TEAR GAS

Sheriff Also Will Receive Bullet-Proof Glass for Car Windshield

Public enemies who may have considered Gray county a "safe" area through which to travel will change their minds after reading this story.

The Gray county commissioners court yesterday purchased for the sheriff's department a Thompson sub-machine gun, ammunition, extra magazines, a riot gun, with case, flare shells, projectile shells, and short-range shells. The cost of the machine gun and supplies, tear gas equipment, and windshield glass amounted to $540. With the purchase, Gray will join the list of counties which have sheriff's departments equipped to match the "artillery" of notorious gunmen.

By vote of the court, Dr. R. A. Webb was made county health officer. Dr. Webb, when he qualifies, will succeed Dr. W. Purviance.

The depository bond agreement with the First National bank was perfected. Another action was the appointment of C. G. Nicholson of McLean as constable. He was elected but had not perfected his qualifying before the deadline.

County Judge C. E. Gary told of his interview with the highway department concerning highways in this section. He was assured that highway 33 through South Pampa would be topped under provisions of a contract to be let late this month or early in next.

He began negotiations with the state for designation of the Pampa-McLean road, with accompanying state maintenance. Concerning highway 41, he accompanied Carson county representatives on a visit to the state highway office which was believed helpful in hastening securing of right-of-way across the corner of Carson county.

The county has asked bids for burial of paupers.

Jaycees Decide To Attend B. C. D. Banquet Tuesday

Pampa Jaycees today decided not to meet for their regular luncheon next Tuesday, but to join the business men generally at the B. C. D. banquet that evening.

Final plans for the B. C. D. banquet will be made at session of the directors this evening.

Talks at today's Jaycee luncheon were made by Al Gilliland and Gilmore Nunn. Mr. Gilliland charged that the Will Hays film organization was corrupt, political, and in violation of anti-trust laws.

Nunn told of the very bright outlook for a road north across the Canadian river.

Vice-President R. R. Watson presided in the absence of President H. L. Polley from that city.

President Mack Graham of the B. C. D. spoke briefly.

Art Class Will End This Week

The art class of the EES school will end this week. Tonight and Thursday night will be the last classes. Those desiring to finish their work are urged to be present both nights with all their material.

The class has been open for charcoal, pastel, Bermuda Fagoting and other terms of work. Lack of interest and smallness of the class has necessitated withdrawing the course.

TO DELAY APPOINTMENT
AUSTIN, Feb. 12. (AP)—Governor James V. Allred said today he might delay selection of a member of the Texas highway commission until his return from an oil compact conference at Dallas this week end. The six-year term of W. R. Ely of Abilene expires Friday.

WILENTZ SAYS SWITCH WILL 'THAW' BRUNO

HAUPTMANN SCOURGED AS WORLD'S NO. 1 'ENEMY'

By WILLIAM A. KINNEY
(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press.)
FLEMINGTON, N. J., Feb. 12.—

The state today asked Bruno Richard Hauptmann's murder jury to "put him out of way" as a menace. Attorney General David T. Wilentz defended with vigor the circumstantial evidence, on which the state depends for conviction, and enumerated that part of the case which he said was not circumstantial.

Besides calling Hauptmann "lower than the lowest form in the animal kingdom," he compared him to an unruly bear in the zoo which has to be killed.

"Now, the attendant doesn't like to do it," he told the jury, "but that bear is a menace, and they put him out of the way."

"That's what you have got to do with this fellow!"
About circumstantial evidence, read:

"When it starts to scream all the lip evidence in the world can't overcome it."

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Feb. 12.—The state, bringing the murder trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann towards its end today, charged the defense was financed by "cranks, idiots, and fools," called Hauptmann "public enemy No. 1 of this world," and asked the jury to show no mercy.

"This murder of the Lindbergh child," cried Attorney General David T. Wilentz, "would shrink into absolute insignificance in comparison to the crime that would be committed if this man were freed. That would be the crime of the century."

"To let him roam the streets of this country and make every woman in her home shudder again, that would be a real tragedy, an American tragedy."

The attorney general characterized

The broadcast, over most of the stations in the National Broadcasting company hook-up, will not begin until 10:30 o'clock, but a local program will be presented before the national broadcast. There will be talks by local men and a musical program.

As part of the national program, James E. Van Zandt of Washington, national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will give the obligation to new members over the nation. Ten Pampa men will take the obligation.

Three well known orchestras will play during the one-hour program. Many speakers besides the commander will also be heard.

Commander Hamp Waddell of the local post urges all ex-service men to attend the meeting.

Pampans Asked To Furnish Rooms For Visiting Ladies

Generous, helpful Pampans are asked to provide ten rooms tomorrow night for out-of-town guests.

The request comes from Miss Ruby Adams, home demonstration agent, who will be hostess to women's club reporters from Gray, Wheeler, Collingsworth and Hemphill counties tomorrow and Tuesday.

Pampans willing to furnish a free room Wednesday night only, without meals, to one or two visiting ladies are asked to call Miss Adams' office immediately and leave their names with her secretary, Miss Lillie Dalton.

The reporters will have a writing school conducted by Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, of the extension service. Miss Ruby Mashburn of the district service also will be here.

PAY ROLLS DESTROYED BY TAX ROLLS

The moment a tax becomes excessive it limits the activities and opportunities of every business and individual. It strikes a blow at purchasing power and private employment. It is a barrier to investment and industrial development.

The perfect government would be a government which costs nothing—which did not need to levy taxes at all. That Utopian ideal is unobtainable. But we should confine government expense to the cost of governing. We should make governmental operations efficient and non-wasteful. We should keep government out of business projects and confine it to governmental functions as outlined in the constitution. When government goes into business it not only spends tremendous sums of tax money—but inflicts great damage on the individuals and industries with which it competes, while taxing them to maintain that competition as well as to keep government going.

The foregoing principals apply to all units of government, federal, state and local. Political power stems directly from the people. If the people demand economy and retrenchment they will get it—if they permit government extravagance, and sanction government competition in the business field, they will have no one to blame but themselves for high taxes and lost opportunities for individual enterprise.

The great need of the hour is for employment, investment, industrial expansion. Exorbitant taxation is their bitter enemy. A drastic cut in the cost of all government would be a great contribution to recovery, for the simple reason that billions now taken by the tax-gatherers would be spent by individuals and industries for a thousand purposes which would create jobs, purchasing power and new taxable wealth.—Roswell Dispatch.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Certain senators are taking a close squint at Admiral Christian Joy Peoples.

Peoples has been reported as likely to have a large finger in distribution of the $4,000,000,000 work relief fund. The administration sent him to Capitol Hill to explain, after a fashion, its bill appropriating that sum.

He has a long and honorable record as the navy's paymaster and buyer. For more than a year, as head of the treasury's procurement section, he has bought government supplies and built government buildings.

He has been described as "Roosevelt's closest friend in the navy"—the friendship dates back to wartime—and is honest, amiable, and well-liked.

But many senators, already shocked at the proposal to hand all that money to Roosevelt with no strings attached, are prone to check up carefully on everyone likely to be a key figure in doling out the cash. They know politicians, contractors, and mere grafters are in a lather of anticipation.

It was unfortunate for Peoples that a lobbyist's confidential memorandum laid before the Senate munitions committee revealed the admiral as consultant in a plan to bombard Roosevelt with telegrams urging him to get the navy to rescind its rejection of bids by the Bath (Me.) Iron Works for two destroyers.

Certain persons—and I'd hate to say they weren't admirers of "Honorable Harold Ickes"—began to whisper that Peoples might be a bit too susceptible to the wiles of politicians and lobbyists and that perhaps "the people around Peoples" didn't comprise the best imaginable staff.

Still other records being contemplated on Capitol Hill seem to go a long way toward explaining recent rumors here that Louis Glavis, chief investigator for PWA and Secretary Ickes, had "investigated" Postmaster General Farley—to Farley's intense indignation.

Last summer Glavis and his men investigated the $4,250,000 postoffice annex building and the $6,000,000 federal courts building in New York.

The General Builders' Supply Corporation had sold about $195,000 of cement, plaster, brick and terra cotta blocks to the contractor or sub-contractors for the annex job and about $185,000 of materials for the federal courts job.

General Builders' Supply is known in New York as "Farley's company" and the postmaster general, although he resigned as its president, was still a stockholder and presumably in control.

The Ickes-Glavis forces were especially interested in the bids on the annex job.

The procurement division had asked for bids four times. A company which had refused to buy supplies from the Farley company was low on the second and third bids, which were rejected.

A company which had been doing business with the Farley concern for years was low on the fourth bid and won the contract.

The Engineering News-Record charged the Treasury department with "chiseling" or "a deliberate attempt on the part of the administration to eliminate a bidder."

One hears talk on Capitol Hill of a proposal in the senate that treasury and PWA records bearing on the investigation be revealed.

Some critics say Jim Farley is the Achilles' heel of the Roosevelt administration. Disappointed office seekers, in describing him, sometimes leave out the Achilles.

Dizzy Dean probably can't prove where he was on March 1, 1932, but anybody in Detroit still can tell him where he was the first week of last October.

The government must be insincere in its claim that it is trying to promote world peace. An army bulletin asks for trombone players for Pacific service.

Distillers advertise a new whiskey that "tickles the taster." But most drinkers are looking for one that pickles the taster.

It may be an unkind question, but have you noticed how few parents are naming their children after Huey Long?

Dusting The Covers Of Texas History For THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF 1936

The cannonading and bombardment had not ceased within the past 24 hours. The 150 men in the Alamo were bravely withstanding the assault of the Mexicans. In desperation, Lieut.-Col. William Barrett Travis wrote to his friends. It was February 24, 1836. "Our flag still waves proudly from the walls. I shall never surrender or retreat. Then I call on you in the name of liberty, of patriotism and everything dear to the American character, to come to our aid with all dispatch." Col. Fannin at Goliad was sent for aid. Andrew Ponton, Alcalde of Gonzales, had also received the appeal from Travis.

Eating parched corn and beef half-raw, the Texan soldiers withstood the constant fire of the Mexicans. If they were the slightest bit afraid, they did not show their friends at the Alamo. Yet, they must do something. After much hesitation, Fannin turned his men back toward Goliad. "After a calm review of all these circumstances, it was concluded to return to Goliad, and place the fort in a defensible condition."

March 3 Travis made a last appeal, borne through the Mexican lines by John W. Smith. In spite of all the guarding, he wrote, Col. J. B. Bonham of Gonzales got thru the lines, with a small company of 32 men. So far not a single Texan had been killed.

Within the next three days was to be chronicled a heroic sacrifice that will be recalled when Texas commemorates the Centennial of her independence in 1936.

Memphis Clock Is Hundred Years Old

MEMPHIS, Feb. 11 (AP)—A wooden clock which began ticking more than a century ago still keeps good time. It is owned by J. B. Knox, who lives southeast of Memphis. He bought it for 50 cents more than 40 years ago at his grandfather's sale. The grandfather, Vincent Gaither, who died at the age of 84, bought the clock when he and his bride began housekeeping.

In the back of the clock is a tabulation of the postal rates and the U. S. census for the year 1835. The clock was constructed entirely of wood excepting one brass wheel. All other wheels are made of wild cherry.

The clock has stopped only once in the last 40 years. Knox said. A wheel broke and he repaired it himself.

Marion B. Brooks and A. L. Flynn of LeFors were here Monday morning.

Tribute Is Paid By Club Reporters To Memory of Member

A tribute to their fellow worker, Mrs. Harry Gillespie, who died here late Saturday, has been written by a member for county home demonstration club reporters.

Mrs. Gillespie, a member of Laketon club, served two terms as reporter for that group and was a member of the county reporters' association. The tribute follows:

Treasures of Memory
The hopes that glow, then passed along the way,
Again shall bloom in everlasting day;
And songs that ne'er on earth were fully sung,
Are finished where immortal harps are strung.

These lines are but the echo of your praise,
For everywhere you went, your words and ways
Have left their impress on the world around,
And loving tributes to your worth abound.

Cardul for Girls in 'Tens
Because of the benefit it has been to them, many mothers are cardul to their daughters on the subject of young womanhood.

"When I was a girl at home," writes Mrs. Bernice Eichen of French Lick, Ind., "I was very regular. At times, the blood would seem to rush to my head and my nose would bleed. My mother had taken Cardul and it had helped her, so she gave it to me. My nose quit bleeding and I was regular. Since I have been married I have felt a great deal better after taking Cardul." If Cardul does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

This reading program is being stressed in some regular classes. Many pupils do not have access to sufficient good literature in their homes, and the school plans to make it available.

Pamphlets who have finished their magazines are asked to give them to the school. They may be sent to the school, or a student will call for them if the school is notified. Any back numbers will be appreciated, teachers say.

Some of the magazines especially wanted are National Geographic, Open Road for Boys, American Boy, Household, American Girl, Good Housekeeping, Delinquent, McCall's, Liberty, Collier's, Women's Home Companion, Saturday Evening Post, American, Sunday school papers, Time, Current History, Literary Digest, Science and Invention, Field and Stream, Popular Mechanics, Popular Science.

A Doctor Knows!

And doctors use a liquid laxative

There's a very good reason why doctors and hospitals have always used liquid laxatives! You'd use a liquid, too, if you knew how much better it makes you feel.

A liquid laxative can always be taken in the right amount. You can gradually reduce the dose. Reduced dosage is the secret of real and safe relief from constipation.

Just ask your own doctor about this. Ask your druggist how popular liquid laxatives have become. The right liquid laxative gives the right kind of help, and the right amount of help. When the dose is repeated, instead of more each time, you take less. Unpleasant habits are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

People who have experienced this comfort, never return to any form of help that can't be regulated! The

CLOTHESPIN FINDS ITS MAN

Postal clerks guessed they ought to deliver it to Wagner. They found they were right. The pin had been mailed by a friend, Ben Loefer of Shoto, Wis., visiting in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

DIG SHAKE-UP UNDER WAY AT AGGIE SCHOOL

LESSER COACHES WILL BE REPLACED AT A. AND M.

DALLAS, Feb. 12 (AP)—Authoritative reports that a general house cleaning in the Texas A. & M. athletic department would see the dismissal of the baseball and basketball coaches and head trainer, effective June 1, drew no comment today from the Aggie athletic council.

Rosewell G. Higginbotham, head baseball coach and freshman football coach, and John Reid, veteran basketball coach and assistant football coach, and Dr. Carl (Doc) Sprague, trainer for the last 16 years, will be dismissed, the source said.

From Deland, Fla., came the report that H. E. McQuinn, Stetson university athletic coach, was considering an offer to become basketball coach and football line coach at A. & M.

Homar Norton, head football coach and athletic director of Aggie teams, understood to have been given authority two weeks ago by the athletic body to install a new athletic system around a staff of his own choosing, was in Deland Saturday. He is now en route to Texas.

Dean T. D. Brooks, chairman of the athletic council, declined to comment on the matter pending the return of Norton.

Cal Hubbard, line coach, was reported to be "safe and sound" and will be back next season. Frank Anderson, track coach, also will be retained, reports said.

Higginbotham, the "Little Big" of playing days from 1918 through 1921 who raced to fame as an Aggie backfield star, became head freshman coach in 1927. He was appointed by his old mentor, Dana K. Bible, now at the University of Nebraska.

Five years ago Higginbotham replaced Bob Countryman as head baseball coach and the Farmers started a drive that dethroned the University of Texas Longhorns as rulers of the Southwest conference diamond chess. Higginbotham's teams have won two conference titles—the first Aggie championships in conference history. He recently said his 1935 team would be the best in the school's history.

John Reid closed a successful coaching career at North Texas Teachers college in 1929 to assume his new position as head basketball coach and football assistant at Aggie. His Aggie teams for the last six seasons have finished in the first division of the Southwest conference and he has conducted basketball courses at numerous coaching schools.

Sprague, veteran trainer appointed by Bible in 1910, was a former Texas Aggie baseball and track star. He also has conducted classes in athletic training at coaching schools.

FOR A BEGINNER, GEORGE LEARNED SKIING FAST—AND THEN HE QUIT!

CANTON, S. D., Feb. 11. (AP)—Skiing may be a lot of fun to the initiated, but to at least one entrant in the recent national tournament here it is just a retrospective pain in the neck—as well as elsewhere.

This skier, who registered as George Carlson of Omaha, joined a half hundred other competitors in the two advanced classes of the meet and in due course climbed to the extreme top of the scaffold for the long, swift ride to the takeoff.

Up to this point the venture was a success, but a skier at the take-off travels at least 40 miles an hour and that was too much speed for Carlson.

He went out of control. He wavered and wobbled and his skis "scissored." In fact, he looked more like a Dutch windmill in action than a skier.

Pate decreed, however, that he might go on living and he landed on the seat of his obviously new ski pants to slide the remaining distance of more than 200 feet to the bottom of the hill.

All went well with the tournament until Carlson's number was called for his second run. Fortifying himself by some undetermined means, he started down again.

Halfway he lost one ski; a little farther on, the other; but he was still traveling—and made a take-off from his left ear!

This time his right scapula took up the landing shock and some kindly spectators picked him up and brushed him off.

About this time a friend confided to one of the judges that Carlson had never done any skiing before.

"You're telling me?" responded the judge, while Carlson wandered off muttering something about never knowing what you can do until you try.

He held out his hand, saying: "Then, good-bye, Montana!"

The kid failed to see the hand. He made a gesture with his cigarette. "Wait a minute," he said. "I get things mixed up, down there in the loop of a river, eh?"

"The river runs almost all the way around it," agreed Rubiz.

"The fort has big stone walls, like those of a castle in the old days."

"Just so!"

"And down the hill from the fort there's a cave run by Miguel Santos—a man who looks like a caballero. But he has a wooden leg that's pulled him down in the world."

"I know the man," agreed Rubiz. "What about him?"

"Nothing about him. But here's a flash of a girl in that cafe. She keeps a red rose in the black of her hair. The men look at her and forget how their tegula tastes. They drink it like water while she's around. Her name—her name is Rosita."

"There is a such a girl," agreed Rubiz.

Montana stood up, threw away his cigarette. "Thank God for an eye which can remember! Mateo, I am riding to Duraya with you."

"No, my friend!" protested the Mexican. "There is danger for you, south of the river. The Rurales remember you. They would smell out your trail as if they were bloodhounds. They would be at your throat in a moment."

"Mateo, I must go to Duraya. I must see that girl, Rosita, again. There was something about her that seemed to say, 'Come once more. I shall remember.' Besides, I want to see the mustache of General Estrada."

The trio, tomorrow, rides south into danger.

Wheeler People
Testify Tonight
In Gas Hearing

AUSTIN, Feb. 12. (AP)—Only one branch of the legislature was in session today, the senate having adjourned until tomorrow to permit its members to attend the funeral of Thomas Finley Hughton of Plano, father of Senator Wallace Hughton of McKinney.

Adjournment delayed renewal of controversy over Governor Allred's proposed state planning board. The governor felt he should be permitted to name the board members and had sent up a special message in support of his position. A proposal to divide the appointive power was pending.

The house committee on oil and gas resumed its long hearing on gas today in the Panhandle. Representatives of Panhandle oil interests added their voices to the cry for a halt of the wastage.

E. V. Foran of Teon, petroleum engineer, estimated a continuation of the present waste would make 200,000,000 barrels of oil unrecoverable. He suggested that stripping plants be closed unless they have a market for their residue gas.

Ben Short of Amarillo said residents of the Panhandle, in view of conservation but he urged the legislature not to repeal the law permitting stripping plant operations unless it had something better to substitute.

Wheeler county land owners planned to appear before the committee tonight. It was possible the first of the stripping plant operators also would be heard.

NINE-SECOND '100' CALLED IMPOSSIBILITY

LIMIT FIXED ON HOW FAST HUMAN BEING CAN RUN

BY ALAN GOULD.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12. (AP)—The best that any mercury-footed runner can hope to do in future attempts on world records is to clip only 27 hundredths of a second off the present 2.4 seconds for the 100-yard dash or trim as much as 5-94 seconds off the existing standard of 4.067 for the mile run.

In other words, for the first time in athletic history theoretical limits have been fixed for what the human being can accomplish in the ultimate in the two events which have involved the keenest debate for years, is 9.13 seconds for the 100-yard sprint and 4 minutes 1.66 seconds for the mile.

The figures are based on scientific research made by Finnish mathematicians and developed into definite conclusions by Brutus Hamilton, former national all-around champion, less than 40 inches has Missouri star and now head track and field coach at the University of California.

Hamilton's findings are published in the February issue of the Amateur Athletic Union.

Although Hamilton regards the 9-second "100" as an impossibility and as beyond the reach of the present record-holder, Glenn Cunningham, as well as his two Great American rivals, Bill Bonthron and Gene Venzke, the Golden Bear coach concedes we will some day see a 100-yard dash in the pole vault and 27 feet cleared in the broad jump.

However, science figures that a man never will jump seven feet, based probably on the fact that the present record of 6 feet 10 inches was added to the world record which now stands at 6 feet 9 1/8 inches and is held by Walter Marty, a Californian.

Two "perfect" records are on the books now, in the 200-meter dash, backed up by scientific research. These are the time of 46.2 seconds for 400 meters, made at the 1922 Olympics by Bill Carr of Pennsylvania and the shotput mark of 57 feet 1 inch, held by Jack Torrance of Louisiana State.

Quail Contests
In Second Day

STURGEON, Mo., Feb. 12. (AP)—Top-flight pointers and setters today resumed the quest for birds along the trails of Missouri's expansive wild fowl sanctuary in the second day of the national amateur quail championships which will extend through Thursday as a result of a slow start.

Only six dogs in the field of 27 from many parts of the country were cast yesterday and the last brace had run the third of the four courses of the day.

One mishap that marred the first day's run had a happy ending when a passing motorist found the truant Mote Baird, owned by Capt. N. D. Woodward of Baltimore, Md., and brought him to town. A wide search for the dog was made after he was kicked by a horse and bolted the course badly frightened but apparently not seriously injured.

In view of mounted galleries judges and owners and other witnesses who roamed the courses about, the first three braces raced some cozier—a good day's work.

McLean Cagers Win Four Games

MLEAN, Feb. 12. (AP)—McLean high school basketball teams won four games over the week-end, the Tigers winning games from White Deer Friday night and from Miami Saturday night and the Tigertettes winning games from the girls' teams of the two schools.

With never more than three points separating the teams until the last few minutes of play, the McLean lasses started a scoring spree which netted 16 points and gave them a 48 to 38 win over White Deer. O. Beck and Preston each looped three goals and Young made two in the closing minutes of the game.

Preston was high point scorer for McLean with 22 points. Osman of White Deer looped 16 points. Both high-point scorers played the center position, going to forward on offense.

Headlines of White Deer tried hard to win for his team by looping 12 points but McLean finally won the game 27 to 18 with Ledbetter gathering 10 points to be high scorer.

MacDonald Smith Takes Oakmont Open Golf Title

GLENDALE, Calif., Feb. 12. (AP)—The veteran MacDonald Smith again has demonstrated he can hold his own as better in match play by taking the Nassau end of the Oakmont open golf title after winning 72 holes of medal play a week before.

He needed to beat Jimmy Hines and John Revolta in the final round yesterday in order to capture the crown, and he did.

The match went to the eighteenth where a par 4 would have given him a tie with Revolta and defeat. So with all the adroitness of his 45 years, Smith carefully surveyed his lie in heavy grass off the green.

Out of his bag came a five iron. He chipped the ball crisply. It took the green and rolled to the hole. Smith won the title by a margin of 18 to 17.

Smith collected 12 points from the two opponents for that final round to win 31 out of a possible 48. Tied for second were Ky Laffoon, Chicago, and Henry Picard, the Agave Caliente title holder from Hershey, Pa., with 29.

Smith won a total of $1,150 in the Oakmont open. Laffoon, because of his second place finish in the 72 holes of medal play earned $725 and Picard drew down $637.50.

Fourth place and $487.50 went to Horton Smith, Oak Park, Ill., whose point total for the four rounds of match play was 28.

GOLD CLAUSE
DECISION MAY BE SATURDAY

SOME BELIEVE TODAY
WOULD BE IDEAL
TIME FOR IT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP)—As the world watched to see if the supreme court would take advantage of this legal holiday to deliver the gold clause decision, the Roosevelt administration sought to reassure business about the dollar's future in foreign exchange.

An unprecedented announcement that the administration has decided to back out of the gold clause decision was interpreted as an attempt to remove business nervousness lest it unsettle trade.

Casting aside a mask of secrecy for the first time since the treasury's stabilization fund was created Jan. 21, 1934, Morgenthau said the $2,000,000,000 had been used and would be used to manage American currency abroad.

The statement recalled frequent reports that the administration has been preparing to meet any adverse decision with measures designed to steady the dollar and keep it from jumping disastrously.

Meanwhile there was nothing to indicate whether the high court would choose today or some other day to say whether the administration acted constitutionally in voiding the clause calling for the payment of $100,000,000 in securities with gold or equivalent.

Some thought today would be a good day because American markets are closed. Others thought a decision should come on a day other than Saturday, the stabilization fund conceivably might have a job to do before dawn the next day, some observers thought, for markets abroad open as early as 4 a. m. Eastern Standard time.

The attitude expressed by administration officials is one of confident expectation that the new dollar monetary policy will be upheld, and Morgenthau reminded reports yesterday that he had not mentioned the word "court" in any official utterance.

M'LEAN QUINT ADDS RECRUITS TO ITS LINEUP

WHETHER HEDLEY WILL PLAY FRIDAY IS UNCERTAIN

The coach of the Hedley Owls who may or may not be as potent this year as last, was dallying with the idea of bringing his cagers here Friday night to play the Harvesters. At noon today he had not decided.

Coach Odus Mitchell talked with him—Coach Newman of the Owls yesterday and the Hedley men told him that he would let him know today. If he does not want to play Mitchell's boys, then some other team will be scheduled. At that rate, Coach Mitchell has determined his boys will play Friday night. Canyon will play here Saturday night.

Basketball fans are planning to turn out tomorrow night for a game between the faculty team and a squad from McLean. Yesterday the teachers had a rigorous workout in preparation for the tilt. They expect to win because they beat McLean 43 to 23 last week, but they are looking for more trouble tomorrow night because since the first game, the McLean team has recruited several ex-college stars who hope to make it hot for the Pampans.

Those who have seen the faculty play believe the teachers comprise the classiest amateur quintet in this section, and the pedagogs hope to prove that in amateur tournaments later on in the season.

Coach Mitchell was informed yesterday that Clarendon has the inside track on the Donley-Armstrong championship. Last Saturday night Clarendon nosed out Hedley 41 to 40. The Bronchos now have to beat Goodnight for the right to enter the district tournament here Feb. 22-23. That game will be played this week-end. If the Bronchos do not win, the race will be tied up and a play-off will be necessary.

Ayer, Harvesters second string guard who has been ill, reported back for practice yesterday. He is making a strong bid for the guard position being held down by Scott and Rose.

Alford Leading Southwest Race

DALLAS, Feb. 12. (AP)—The Alford, Baylor university forward, is clipping off a dizzy pace to lead the Southwest conference basketball scoring race.

Although the Bears are not doing so well in the championship race, Alford is pacing the basket shooters with 23 field goals and 29 free shots for 75 points. He has a 5-point lead over Jack Gray of the University of Texas.

Gray, who paced the scoring race in 1934, made a remarkable effort to overtake Alford Saturday night when he looped 9 field goals and 3 free shots for 21 points, giving him a season total of 27 field goals and 16 gratis shots for 70 points.

CATTLEMEN HOPE TO BRING BIG CONVENTION BACK TO PLAINS

Cattlemen of this section believe that they have a good opportunity to bring the 1936 convention of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association back to the Panhandle.

The cycle has turned since 1927, when the association last met in this section. It is a great organization and one which we like to have in this section," Mr. Hobart said. "I am going to do my part to help bring the 1936 convention back to the plains."

The Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association is 55 years old. During that time it met in the Panhandle only in 1927. It has been held in most of the other leading cities of Texas since it came to the north plains. The next convention will be held in Houston in mid-March.

Mr. Hobart has long been a director of the organization and has already missed a convention. He also has been active in the national association, which recently honored his son, Fred Hobart of Hemphill county, with a vice-presidency.

Coach and Mrs. Bill Bronson of LeFors visited in Oklahoma City Sunday.

HALF-BROTHER SLAYS SISTER OVER BULLDOG

'REASON SO SIMPLE I
WOULDN'T TELL
MY MOTHER'

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12. (AP)—Brutally beaten with a hammer, eight year old Helen Katherine Williams lay near death in a hospital today, while her 21 year old half brother, William Hardy, sat in a hall cell reading detective stories. Cap. Bert Wallis of the homicide squad said Hardy signed a confession that he hammered his little half sister unconscious yesterday afternoon "for a reason too simple you would hardly believe it."

The child's unconscious form was lifted out of the rumble seat of her half brother's auto a short time after he had moved into their home shouting "Helen has been kidnapped."

Police started a hurried investigation, questioning Hardy closely. A few hours later they said he blurted out "I hit her with a hammer."

Pressed for a motive, police said Hardy suddenly exclaimed:

"I thought maybe if she wasn't around I could get a dog."

"What do you mean," Captain Wallis asked.

"Well," Hardy was said to have replied, "the reason is so childish I wouldn't even tell my own mother."

"Tell me—I'm as much interested in it as your mother would be," urged Wallis.

"Some time ago," Hardy was said to have resumed, thoughtfully, "I had a little bull-terrier pup. About a month ago it was run over and killed by an automobile."

"My mother wouldn't let me get another dog because she said it would make Helen too nervous."

"I made up my mind that maybe if she wasn't there I could get a dog."

In another part of his alleged confession, Hardy said:

"I was driving along Edgemont avenue near Second street and

PAMPA TOPICS OF OUR CITY By O.E.H.

Illustrative of the fight which your internal war department is waging, your head throbs and booms, screeches and pulsates, but you live through it all and come up wondering how you could have felt rotten at a few hours before, you were telling yourself was true. Then you will begin to have a slightly natural taste and you can start wondering when the woolly brown "coat" on your tongue will leave. . . . Then it is time to amble down to the office and parade a sickly grin and out-of-breath air which will convince the force that you're really been sick. . . . And take the kidding of the gang because your favorite remedy didn't put you back on your feet in 24 hours. You can point with pride to the fact that you're alive, and praise your remedy, and view with alarm the nonchalant confidence of the boys—and girls—that they won't let a few little bugs get them down. . . . Just grin and share the fun—you're last laugh will surely arrive with the next dust storm. Some flu bug will get your tormenters, sure they're born!

OUR POLITICAL PRIMER:

Broadly speaking, things one house of congress can do which are denied the other are strictly limited.

Under the constitution, the house of representatives alone may originate legislation which raises new taxes or other forms of revenue. The exclusive prerogative of the senate under the constitution are the ratification of treaties and confirmation of nominations made by the President.

The rules of each house, however, vary greatly.

Senators, for example, may talk as long as they please while members of the house are strictly limited in debate. A senator may criticize a member of the house or the house as a whole, but a representative may not.

A representative may take his son or daughter on the floor while the house is in session. A senator cannot. The house can have its picture taken while in session. There's never been a picture taken of the senate while sitting.

Senators can get a free shave at their own barber shop in the capitol. A representative has to pay for his. All elevators on the senate side of capitol hill, whether in the capitol itself or in their office building, must stop whenever a senator wants to ride, take him to whatever level he desires regardless of who is on the car. Nothing like that prevails on the house side.

to tell Helen to look out of the window.

Er reached up back of the seat, grabbed the hammer and struck her. I don't know how many times I struck her."

The car, with its battered bumper in the back, was located parked across from a church where Helen attended Sunday school.

Physicians at a Hollywood hospital said her skull was fractured, her nose crushed and broken, many of her front teeth knocked out and her head and face cut and bruised.

Police said Hardy at first gave them minute descriptions of "two men" who abducted his sister and "drove off" in his car.

Snow Falling In

Southwest Texas

(By The Associated Press.)

The heaviest snow storm of the winter hit the Midland region of Southwest Texas last night and was still falling today, extending south of Alpine in the Big Bend region.

Two inches of snow were on the ground at Alpine and the depth was increasing steadily.

In other parts of the state there were rains and overcast skies. Laredo had a steady down-pour most of the night and tonight precipitation exceeding 1.38 inches.

Stockmen and farmers were in high spirits over the beautiful moisture that has soaked ranges and crop lands in the last week. Only the Panhandle section has missed being soaked.

Dallas had a chilling drizzle today, with temperatures falling.

Mrs. E. T. Autrey

Dies In Amarillo

After an illness of four months, Mrs. E. T. Autrey died in an Amarillo hospital last night. She had been a resident of Pampa and vicinity for the last four years. Mr. Autrey is a rig builder.

Mrs. Autrey is survived by her husband and a daughter, Janyne Weems and a son, E. T. Jr. Other survivors are her mother, Mrs. Anna Lou Lanham, Lincoln, Ark., and a sister, Mrs. George Oakes, Pampa.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the chapel of the Pampa Mortuary with Bishop E. O. Seaman or Rev. Newton C. Smith of the Episcopal church of Amarillo, officiating. Burial will follow in Fairview cemetery.

BURNS TO DEATH

WACO, Feb. 12. (AP)—A tub of scalding water, used for soaking clothes, was overturned today on Edward Maxwell, 14-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Maxwell, fatally burning him. The child died in a Waco hospital, to which he was brought from his home at Hewitt. The tub of water was accidentally overturned by a small brother of the victim.

Group To Study Traffic Needs Will Be Chosen

A citizens' committee to study the traffic situation and make recommendations to the city commission will be named soon.

The committee will be appointed by a sub-committee named by the city commission. Joe Burrow, Don Conley, and a third man will compose the sub-committee. Speeding and other traffic violations are giving the city cause for much worry right now.

Contract for 900 feet of 10-inch sewer line through the city park, connecting the two main city lines and equalizing the burden more equally, was let to L. H. Sullins last night for $356.88 less 5 per cent, or a total of $339.04.

It was decided to ask the city attorney to begin working on the insolvent tax roll.

Puncture proof tires will be placed on the rear wheels of the police car.

HUGHES

lined to a house committee a series of land bills as the senate debated the department. The legislation spotlighted Mrs. Hughes four years ago in her first legislative session.

She directed militant opposition to bills to relinquish to West Texas purchases of valuable state oil all the bonus from mineral development.

Mrs. Hughes was instrumental in defeating much legislation advanced by former Governor Miriam A. Ferguson in the last legislature.

Her power in debate and floor fights was feared and respected. Mrs. Hughes fought without gloves in debate, but out of the legislature she was charmingly feminine. She is fond of swimming and is an excellent dancer.

House colleagues defended her when Senator Claud Westfield of her home district opposed the legislation. Women from all parts of the state petitioned senators in her behalf.

Opposition to confirmation, pitched to a large extent on the theory "a woman's place is in the home," developed statewide. Legislators caused senators to discard a long-established custom. Never, in the memory of veterans, has the senate overruled wishes of a member on an appointment to a local office in his district.

The confirmation fight grew into an administration issue as Westfield's break with Alfred last fall at the state democratic convention was recalled.

Mrs. Hughes, a native of Maryland, graduated from Goucher college and later received her law degree from the University of Washington. She has resided in Dallas about 12 years. Her husband, George Hughes, is an attorney there.

HAUPTMANN

ized the Bronx carpenter, who is accused of kidnapping and murdering Baby Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., an "animal lower than the lowest form in the animal kingdom."

"If you get the feeling that this case is just a case of Edward J. Wilentz, a perfect case, it is your solemn duty to find a verdict of murder in the first degree."

He described what he called a perfect case for mercy, and declared the Hauptmann case was not of the kind.

"There may be some questions you can't answer," He gestured toward Hauptmann. "But there sits a man who can answer them. He will be thawed out, he is cold, yes, he will be thawed out when he hears that switch—that's the time he will talk."

Hauptmanns' defense staff.

At Wilentz's request the court admonished Hauptmann and his wife to make no outcry at anything he said.

Wilentz swept his hand toward Hauptmann's defense staff.

"There is nobody at that table who doesn't feel he is guilty, I don't care what they say."

He denied Reilly's contention that the state had to prove Hauptmann was alone in the crime.

"If he participated in this murder that's all you've got to deal with."

Wilentz asked himself what type of man would commit the Lindbergh crime. He also answered himself:

"He wouldn't be an American. No American gangster and no American racketeer ever sank to the level of killing babies. It had to be a fellow that had ice water in his veins, not blood. It had to be the fellow that was an egomaniac who thought he was omniscient. It had to be a secretive fellow that wouldn't tell his wife about his money. It had to be a fellow that could undergo hardships, the kind of a fellow that would stow away on a boat and travel three thousand miles to sneak into the country in a coal bin."

"Yes, it would have to be the type of many that would hold up women at the point of a gun, women wheeling baby carriages. And the authorities have found an animal lower than the lowest form in the animal kingdom, public enemy No. 1 of this world—Bruno Richard Hauptmann."

He charged the defense tried to "assassinate character" under the protection of the court, referring to the charges that the police framed evidence and that Lindbergh servants were implicated in the crime.

The prosecutor turned to Colonel J. Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the New Jersey state police.

"Colonel Schwarzkopf, please stand up!"

"The police had come to his feet. 'Does he look like a crook?' the attorney asked. 'A man who served his nation against his fatherland on the front in Europe.'"

He repeated the formula with Henry D. Bruchmann and William E. Frank, a federal agent who testified about Hauptmann's brokerage accounts. Then, one by one, he defended the state's witnesses against the charges and innuendoes of Reilly, whose summation was delivered yesterday.

In answer to Reilly's charge that Inspector Bruchmann framed the evidence from Hauptmann's home a board bearing the telephone number and address of Dr. John F. Jaffee, Condon, ransom intermediary, Wilentz read transcript of Hauptmann's examination by the district attorney of the Bronx, when he answered "yes," to admit he had made the notations.

Wilentz denied for Arthur J. Koehler, federal wood expert, that any advancement could come out of his testimony for the state.

"He is at the top of the heap," he said.

The attorney general attacked the defense's plea of poverty, citing witnesses from far distances, radio plays and other costly items, and declared:

"Why, I think they have probably spent more money than the state has."

"I think they have got lots of money," he said of the defense, "money coming from cranks and idiots and fools up-Americans all over the country, pouring in enough money to hire what they consider the four best lawyers available. Certainly they wouldn't represent a murderer just to represent him."

Lindys No Liars

He defended the label of "liar" on state witnesses and said, sarcastically, that Reilly paid Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow and Colonel Lindbergh "gracious" compliment by saying they were "mistaken," instead of calling them liars.

He referred to two boys who were counted for the whereabouts of Mrs. Morrow's maid, Violet Sharpe, on the night of the crime. "Boys that earn an honest livelihood," he said, "no ex-convicts, no idiots, no lunatics."

Reilly objected when Wilentz scored the defense for not using a photograph record for which it had asked. The record was one made by Dr. Condon, in which he imitated the voice of the ransom collector and related their conversation.

The court overruled Reilly and allowed Wilentz to continue.

"Were they afraid that that record, given before Hauptmann was ever arrested, would be more damaging than the lip testimony of Dr. Condon?" Wilentz said.

Hauptmanns' Could Jump

Wilentz praised Lindbergh and at the same time answered Reilly's jibe about the filer's opportunity at the ransom rendezvous to kill the ransom collector, if he had chosen.

"No, he (Lindbergh) wants law and order to take its course. I don't know whether I could sit in that chair, day after day, a few feet away from the man that I thought murdered my child. I don't think he would ever live to face a jury."

"Counsel says if he was in St. Raymond's cemetery he would have to attend the Tuesday night dance. Get together your crowd and enjoy an evening of delightful entertainment."

'Ma' Ferguson's Appointees Are Given Approval

AUSTIN, Feb. 12. (P)—The state board of education, controlled by five members named by former Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, has selected two Ferguson appointees as officers.

Ben F. Tinsinger of Garland was elected president and Ghent Sanderford of Austin, president pro tempore. Tinsinger succeeded the late Nat M. Washer of San Antonio.

The reorganizational meeting was held after the senate's confirmation of Tinsinger, John W. Laird of Lufkin and James G. Strong of Carthage for six year terms. Two years ago Mrs. Ferguson appointed Sanderford and R. S. Bowers of Caldwell.

Absent from the meeting were Laird, Ernest Alexander of Fort Worth, appointed by Governor R. S. Sterling, and Mrs. J. E. Watkins of Henderson, appointed by Gov. Dan Moody. Other minority members are Tom Garrard of Tahoka and J. O. Guleke of Amarillo.

first was his baby. Right or wrong, that is the way a human being acts."

He contended there was not one word of testimony to "smear" Betty Cow or Violet Sharpe, both of whom were accused of complicity by Reilly.

He also defended Ollie Whateley, the Lindbergh butler now dead, and said, "not one single dollar, not one ransom dollar was ever traced to anybody connected with any member of the household. The note in the baby's nursery didn't look like his handwriting. It looked like Hauptmann's. Why wouldn't Colonel Lindbergh and the rest clear them?"

He contended the testimony of Dr. John F. (Jaffee) Condon, ransom intermediary who said he paid Hauptmann the money, was enough in itself to convict Hauptmann of first degree murder.

"Why, if that was the only thing the state had," he said, "if we didn't have anything else, except this man Condon saying 'There is the fellow I gave the money to,' that would be all we would need to convict him of murder in the first degree."

He also answered the charge of Edward J. Reilly, who said the state was trying to make Hauptmann out as both a master mind and a fool, by saying the accused was an egomaniac. Only Hauptmann's egotism, the attorney argued, would cause him to think he could talk to Condon without a mask.

The prosecutor defended vigorously Lindbergh's identification of Hauptmann's voice in the cemetery rendezvous.

"Lind's whose ears were trained to the hum and whirr of every little wheel in that motor that went across the ocean, Lindy whose very life has been built up by that keen intellect and keen training and keen mind and keen hearing and keen eyes, with that keen hearing when he was out in that plot, the greatest moment of his life, he could almost touch him; then that voice comes out 'Hey Dok-tor,' 'Hey Dok-tor,' God! Could you ever forget it? would anybody ever forget it?"

"Why if that man said one word in this room above a whisper I wouldn't have to look around. I could tell you it was Hauptmann. There is a different quality. There is something weird about it. Why, that voice 'God! I can't sleep after I hear it lights myself.'"

The attorney general had not finished his summation when court recessed for luncheon at 12:30 p. m.
