Plan Revealed For Message To Congress

Legislation Broad In Scope To Be Requested; Need For Improvement Recognized

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9—President Roosevelt disclosed today that he planned to send congress another message recommending legislation empowering him to reorganize government agencies.

The president conferred with government reorganization experts yesterday. He said at his press conference today that the conference resulted in very good progress.

To Be Broad In Scope

The legislation he will request will be broad in scope, he said, adding that he understood various members of congress planned to introduce bills. The chief executive said he had no idea whether there would be fundamental changes in the new program as compared to that which passed the senate in the last congress but met defeat in the house.

Mr. Roosevelt said the point was a very simple one, that everyone admits, that there is a need for improving the government.

Is Up To Congress

Congress, however, he went on, has as much information, dating back 40 years, as it will ever have on the reorganization question. Therefore, it is up to congress to act to obtain a rearrangement of government agencies, the president declared.

Whether reorganization legislation will be embodied in one bill or in several is entirely up to congress, he said.

Byrnes Certain Of Plans

Senator Byrnes (D-SC) said after a White House conference yesterday he was certain another effort would be made to enact legislation empowering the president to

Little Business May Get Loans

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9 — A high banking official disclosed today that at least four groups of administration advisers are urging on President Roosevelt different ideas about what, if anything, should be done about loans to small business men.

The official, who asked that his name not be used, said the ideas have simmered ever since last February's small business convention in Washington, but proponents of the various ideas recently have become more active.

Plans Explained Briefly

He said no one knew whether the president would do anything about the proposals. The plans and sponsors were described briefly as follows:

1. Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the Federal Reserve board wants banks encouraged to make long-term business loans on easier terms by revising and consolidating under federal reserve control the whole system of bank examination, now dispersed among three agencies.

To Set Up Regional Banks

2. Chairman William O. Douglas of the Securities commission and Assistant Secretary A. A. Berle of the state department want the government to set up regional intermediate credit banks to make loans on easier terms.

3. An unidentified group of officials proposes a new federal corportation to insure capital loans

WAR-LIKE CRIES RESOUND

But Americas Lay Plans To Keep Peace

Anti-French Demonstrations Are Continued In Rome; Lima Conference Is Launched

(By The Associated Press)

While war-like cries resounded in embittered France and Italy today the delegates of 21 American nations met in conference at Lima, Peru, to work out their problems and destinies in peace.

In Rome, anti-French demonstrations continued as 1,200 students marched through the streets shouting "Forward Italy!" and demanding French territories. The rising volume of Fascist cries for Tunisia, French protectorate in North Africa, diplomatic circles predicted, may lead to formal Italian demands for "concessions" there.

France Will Fight?

In Paris, sources close to Premier Daladier said France would fight, if necessary, to defend the protectorate and pointed out significantly that Italy's neighboring Libya would be far more vulnerable to attack than well-protected Tunisia.

Reinforced mobile guards patrolled the streets of Tunis, the protectorate's capital, and French troops were held in barracks awaiting developments. One person was gravely wounded and three others less severely injured in disorders accompanying demonstrations by Italians, French and Arabs which lasted almost until midnight.

Began November 30

The Fascist clamor, begun November 30 when deputies punctuated a speech by Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano with shouts of "Tunisia! Tunisia!" persisted in the Italian press, in demonstrations at Naples and in outbursts on the

Jewish Refugee Tells Of His Privations

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9 (AP)—Even grafted skin has failed to erase the Nazi swastika brand on his right arm, burned there while he was in a German concentration camp, Ronis Schlerman, 3.3 Jewish refugee, said here today.

Schlerman said he was forced to leave Berlin university, where he was a professor of botany, sell his home, from which he eventually received but $3, and ordered to leave the country.

Unable to get out of Germany on this small amount, Schlerman related, he was sent to a concentration camp, where he and other Jews were offered water from officers' wash basins to drink and frequently were made to get down on their knees and lick up dirt.

He was stabbed with a bayonet, he said, when he refused to help bury other Jews who had died in the camp, and the Nazi swastika was burned into his flesh.

Rescued by a group of American friends who had attended Berlin university, he reached New York two months ago and received treatment for the infected arm brand. Living here with friends, Schlerman said he still is receiving a treatment for injuries suffered in the concentration camp.

Mrs. J. V. Collins Suffers Loss Of Sight Of Eye In Accident

Mrs. J. V. Collins of 2119 Tenth street suffered loss of sight in the right eye early Thursday night when a piece of glass from a car door pierced the eye.

She entered Lubbock sanitarium about 8:30 o'clock. The cut in the eyeball was sutured. Her condition was considered satisfactory this morning.

The glass in the car door broke when Mrs. Collins closed the door, it was reported.

PNEUMONIA IS COSTLY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9. (AP)—The public health service estimated today that treatment of pneumonia costs Americans $75,000,000 a year.

As Dallas Good Will Boosters Arrived Here

Is the key too heavy, Mayor Slaton? At any rate, looking at the above shot, one of numerous ones taken this morning of Dallas' Cotton Bowl boosters in company with Lubbock receptionists, Trek Chairman B. F. McLain is having to "spell" Mayor Carl Slaton, who stands between McLain, on his right holding one end of the key welcoming Lubbock and the South Plains to Dallas, and Mayor George Sprague, on his left. Others in the picture, left to right, are: Clyde Rembert, of Dallas, manager of KRLD; Roy Riddle and C. E. Maedgen, Lubbock bankers; Ray Nesbitt of Dallas; Dan D. Rogers, president of the Cotton Bowl association; Mrs. Ben B. Hutchinson, his niece whom he calls his "other daughter," of 1515 Thirteenth street in Lubbock; J. Edd McLaughlin, Ralls banker; Archie Underwood, Lubbock and Athens compress man and Plainview banker; McLain; M. E. Heard head of textile engineering department at Texas Technological college; Mayor Slaton; Mayor Sprague, father of four great gridster sons, and George Benson of Lubbock, banker. And bottom photo is Dan D. Rogers, the obliging maestro of the Cotton Bowl. Rushed by his friends, he was spirited to corner of Main and Texas, where he waves a cheery greeting to the South Plains. "Not only will the bowl get you the publicity you deserve, but it may get you in the Southwest conference," someone from Dallas was yelling as Rogers waved for the photographer.

Reed Rites To Be In Memphis

Body of S. M. Reed, 56, of 2311 Thirteenth street, who died Thursday night of a gunshot wound, was taken to Memphis this morning for funeral services and burial.

No announcement had been made as to when services would be held.

Mr. Reed died at 9:25 o'clock Thursday night in a sanitarium here. The wound had been inflicted about 7:30 o'clock.

On entering the bathroom at the residence after hearing a shot, residents found Reed's body sprawled on the floor. Investigating officers found a .45 calibre single action pistol. In the bath tub they found a slug which had been fired from a .45 calibre gun.

Heard His Body Fall

Mrs. Reed said she heard a shot in the bathroom and heard Reed's body fall, either against the wall or to the floor.

"I didn't go in; I just couldn't," she said.

She said he had been in ill health several years and had returned Saturday from a sanitarium in Dallas

An attending physician said the slug entered Reed's head from behind the right ear and emerged from the left temple. The slug tore through the man's brain.

He had been rushed to the sanitarium in a Rix Funeral home am-

Dallas Party Here For Day's Visit

BY R. C. HANKINS
Journal Staff Writer

Thwacking Dallas pats on Lubbock backs this morning punctuated the beat of band music, and Lubbock replied in kind, when 32 top-flight business, professional and civic-minded emissaries from Texas second largest city detrained from two chartered pullmans and congratulated Texas Technological college and the entire South Plains on Tech's choice to defend the Southwest in the Cotton Bowl.

Arriving more than an hour off schedule, the visitors were whisked into a near-bewildering program of luncheons, visits over the city, inspection of the turning wheels in Tech engineering buildings—and allowed to catch their breath briefly before attending the quarter-final schoolboy thriller between Lubbock and Breckenridge high schools.

As if that were not enough, they are to be nudged later into private "bull sessions" and visits with Lub-

Old Broadway Hotel, Last Of Landmarks Of Downtown Lubbock, Whittled Smaller

The old Broadway hotel, last of the downtown landmarks of older days and once a pride of the South Plains, literally has been whittled down to smaller size.

The old awning which has spread over the sidewalk bordering the structure at Broadway and Avenue H for around 40 years was removed last night.

The whittlers are responsible for this first step in the demolition of the ancient frame structure which may be replaced by a modern building before another year has passed.

The awning, one of the few of its kind remaining, was supported by uprights built of lumber extending from the sidewalk to the awning level. And, according to Arlie Crites, manager of Lindsey theater interests here, those supports have been so deeply carved with pocket knives by those who whittled while they gossiped that it was deemed advisable as a safety measure to remove the whole awning.

Fear was that it might collapse.

Various expedients, according

Sales Tax Issue Is Expected In Legislature

Proposal May Be Catapulted Into Prominence If Other Means Fail To Get Funds

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Dec. 9 — Whether plugged metal discs or pasteboards resembling milk stoppers will become part of the official coinage of the realm in Texas next year is a favorite hot stove league topic among government officials right now.

The sales tax issue—always good for sizzling debate and a matter of vital interest to the man in the street—doubtless will share the legislative spotlight in January along with pensions, oil, government regulation of industry and other subjects.

May Go For Pensions

Rebuffed a number of times in past sessions, the sales tax proposal may be catapulted into prominence if other means fail to provide funds for Governor-Elect W. Lee O'Daniel's promised $30-a-month pensions for all persons over 65 years old.

O'Daniel, however, has declared emphatically against the tax.

Experts have estimated a 2 per cent levy on retail sales would yield anywhere from $20,000,000 to $40,000,000 a year. A comparatively accurate check of sales of the past three years discloses the tax would bring in close to $30,000,000 annually, one-fourth of which would automatically revert to the school fund.

Would Bring In Huge Sums

Proponents of the tax contend it would bring in huge sums would form a broad and solid base for tax structures; would make the public tax conscious and revive interest in government, and, might lighten other tax loads.

Opponents insist it would saddle the poor man with a crushing load and permit the rich to escape; that a man earning less than $100 a month would pay more than 10 times as much proportionately as a man drawing $20,000 a month; that it would penalize storekeepers with extra bookkeeping expenses and force them to pay the tax in some instances rather than lose sales, and,

Laboratories May Be Christmas Presents

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9. (AP)—Agricultural department officials indicated today Secretary Wallace would select shortly the locations of four agricultural research laboratories authorized by the last congress.

"Maybe they will be Christmas presents," one official said.

One of the laboratories, which will do research work to find "new uses" for farm products, will be located in each of the four major agricultural areas into which the nation has been divided.

Congress authorized a million dollars for each.

Divisions for the purpose of locating the laboratories include Oklahoma and Texas.

Temple's 'Death Bridge' Claims Another Life In Car Accident

TEMPLE, Dec. 9. (AP) — "Death bridge" has taken another life and may add a second today.

Hugh Ferguson, 26, of Temple died last night from injuries received when the car in which he was riding with Miss Mae Butler, 19, also of Temple, crashed into the bridge which got its name two years ago after three Fort Worth school teachers were killed there in an automobile accident.

Miss Butler was in a serious condition.

Cause of the accident could not be learned until she regains consciousness.

Election committees to handle Saturday's cotton referendum on a marketing quota were announced this morning by C. E. Lilley, chairman of the county AAA committee. The group met in the county agent's office and completed details for the voting. Hours for polls to be open are from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Ballots and boxes have been sent to all committeemen, said Walter Johnson, secretary of the committee.

Large Vote Expected

The committee looks for a large vote Saturday. There has been much talk among farmers about voting and from reports it is indicated the vote will be large in Lubbock county.

Majority in favor of the referendum is to be overwhelming, it is predicted. One man said he believed the majority would be as high as 95 per cent for the referendum.

Committees and places of voting are:

Roosevelt, L. E. Parker, Joe W. Alsbaugh, Jim Gamble.

Idalou, E. N. Harrison, J. B. Mitchell, W. H. Killian.

Extension Of Security To Be Sought

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—The Social Security advisory council will recommend to congress and the president this week-end early extension of the federal old age insurance system to at least 2,600,000 more workers.

Pobably they also will advocate beginning insurance payments Jan. 1, 1940, instead of Jan. 1, 1942.

These intentions were disclosed by informed persons today just before the council met today to complete plans for revising the Social Security program along more liberal lines.

No recommendations for changing the insurance reserve system, target of much Republican criticism, were in prospect. Nor was there any likelihood that the recent months of political discussion of old age pensions would bring any official suggestion for upward revision of payments.

Thus the council's program is certain to be under heavy fire in congress. Both Republicans and advocates of bigger pensions have served notice that they intend to put up a stiff struggle for their own ideas on providing for America's aged.

Sadler And Smith Here For Football

In Lubbock "to see a good football game" and to get warmed up for January 2 when he "will be hollerin' for Texas Tech to beat St. Mary's and get into the Southwest conference." G. A. Jerry Sadler, of Longview, railroad commissioner-elect, was greeting friends here this morning.

Accompanying Sadler was Lon Smith, of Austin, veteran railroad commissioner who will become chairman of the state body in January, succeeding the present chairman, Col. Ernest O. Thompson, of Amarillo.

The men planned to leave Lubbock immediately after the Lubbock - Breckenridge quarter-finals football game this afternoon for Abilene, where they will attend a gathering of West Texas oil men there tomorrow.

COUNTS EMPLOYED INSTEAD

Man Who Started Crosbyton, Lorenzo And Idalou Named U. S. Manufacturers' Head

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—A New York manufacturer who got his start as an office boy was named today as president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

He is Howard Coonley, 62, board chairman of the Walworth company, a valve-manufacturing concern.

A native of Chicago, his office boy's job was with a chocolate company there. His first big thrill, he recalls, came when his employers sent him to the bank with a $50,000 deposit. Shortly after that he was given a position of responsibility that served as a springboard to bigger conquests.

With three brothers, he obtained an equity in 100,000 acres of cattle land in the Texas Panhandle and turned a tenth of it into a successful farm project. In 1908 the brothers established the first motor line as a feeder to markets reached by railroads; they started the town of Crosbyton, Lorenzo and Idalou; they built hotels, lumberyards, stores and a bank, and to meet their later

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 9. (AP)—The Floyd Ogden family may not spend Christmas at home, but 5-year-old Eugene Ogden will get the cowboy suit he wants.

Breckenridge's Fans, Others Here For Tilt

Dallas Good Will Boosters Arrive; Hundreds Of Fans From Over Area Present

Despite a high wind weather at noon was favorable for Lubbock's most important high school football game in seven years.

Nearly 300 Breckenridge fans arrived shortly after noon to support the Buckaroos when they take the field at 2:30 o'clock against the Lubbock Westerners.

West Texas Title At Stake

After today's game only one representative of West Texas will remain in running for the Texas Interscholastic league crown. Winner will meet victor of Saturday's clash between Highland Park of Dallas and Masonic Home of Fort Worth next week.

A crowd of approximately 10,000 fans was predicted to watch the game.

Majority of Lubbock stores will close at 2 o'clock in order to allow employes to attend. City halls, offices closed at noon. Offices in the county court house were to close at 2 o'clock.

Managers of men's stores, department stores, and ladies read-to-wear stores indicated they would close briefly after the game.

Come In Special Buses

Nearly 150 Breckenridge enthusiasts came here in special buses. It was estimated that an equal number had arrived and would arrive in automobiles before game time.

Fans from throughout the section, as indicated by out of town reservations, promised to give Lubbock its second largest football crowd of the year.

Second Time In History

It is second time in history a Lubbock team has advanced to quarter-finals of the state race since organization of the interscholastic league.

Temperature at noon was 65 degrees, concededly ideal for football. However, a 25-mile-an-hour southwesterly wind promised trouble for punters and passers.

Swirling traffic near the stadium before and after the game will be policed by state and city police. Reeder, city police chief, said

Lubbock People Buy 122 Turkeys During Auction At Show

Of approximately 340 turkeys auctioned at the annual Southwestern Turkey show in Plainview Thursday, 122 were bought by Lubbock residents, according to report at the chamber of commerce this morning.

The total of sales at the auction was described as being smaller than usual.

A top price of $3 per pound was paid for a 33-pound young tom on which Texas Technological college Red Raiders will feast on Christmas day.

H. S. Hilburn, publisher of The Plainview Herald and auctioneer at the sale, said the turkey, along with a sufficient number of others to provide an abundance for the Red Raiders, are the courtesy of former students of Southwest conference colleges. Peter Barbian of Swisher county raised the 33-pounder.

Average price paid for the 5,750 pounds of turkeys was 28.23 cents. Grand champion of the show was raised by N. C. Paulson, also of Swisher county.

Among the Lubbock delegation attending the sale were Arch Underwood, Morris Levine, Clayton Gammill, W. F. Eisenberg, C. I. Wall and J. H. Brock.

Holiday Motif Is Featured

December meetings of needle societies are reflecting the Christmas motif. The motif is presented in decorations of the homes, in the conversation and the refreshment plates. Most of the sewing is on Christmas gifts, and members of most of the clubs are exchanging gifts and planning Christmas tree parties to be given soon.

Mesdames L. C. Doyle and R. E. Adkins entertained the Friday Needle club Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. R. A. Barclay, 1906 Main street. The occasion was a business, social and sewing meeting.

Fruit, red candles and leaves centered the refreshment table and a small white Christmas tree, a Santa Claus scene and candles were placed on the mantle.

Black bottom pie was served with nuts, hot tea and coffee.

Attending were Miss Fern Adkins, a guest, and Mesdames W. C. Bryan, Minnie Fickas, H. V. Bigham, W. E. Twitty, C. W. Byers, J. A. Fortenberry, J. B. Pryor, A. L. Harris, C. C. Burns, M. M. Page, A. L. Hawkins, J. C. Stansell, F. K. Mitchell, A. T. Cocanougher, Frank Barclay, Rafe Nabors.

The club will entertain with a husbands' dinner Monday night at 8 o'clock at Cocanougher cafeteria.

Mesdames Bradford Knapp and C. E. Maedgen entertained the 1911 Needle club Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Knapp on the Texas Technological college campus.

Attending were Mesdames F. R. Friend, R. Q. Pierce, Fred Snyder, Floyd Beall, Robert J. Allen, R. A. Barclay, O. D. Hargis, A. B. Cunningham, W. H. Bledsoe, J. O. Ellsworth, G. H. Nelson, Allan L. Carter, W. O. Stevens, A. B. Conley and R. T. Bucy.

Mrs. Granberry Hostess

The home of Mrs. J. E. Granberry, 2006-B Main street, was scene of a Christmas meeting of the Energetic club Thursday afternoon. A Yule tree and Christmas decorations on the mantel provided atmosphere for exchange of gifts. Each member also brought a toy to be given to the Goodfellows. Officers were elected.

The hostess served fruit cake, topped with whipped cream, coffee and mints.

Attending were Mrs. Roxie Crausbay, a guest, and Mesdames Tom Arnett, R. C. Hopping, E. A. Patterson, B. T. Terrell, Creek Brown, C. Murphrey, F. M. Van Dyke, W. F. Fry, L. W. Bullock and Flora Nutt.

The new officers are, president, Mrs Hopping; vice-president, Mrs. Fry, and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. C. Murphrey.

A quilt was tacked for charity at a Betsy Ross Needle club meeting Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Toy Rodgers, 2108 Ninth street.

The hostess served an attractive refreshment plate which was decorated with sprigs of holly. Fifteen members and a guest, Mrs. J. W. Harrison, were present.

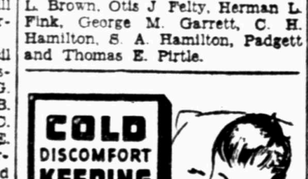

The club planned a Christmas party to be given at 7:30 p. m., December 20, in the home of Mrs. E. E. Rodgers, 1918 Ninth street. Four members will be hostesses.

The next regular meeting will be at 3 p. m., January 12, in the home of Mrs. Oscar Ragland, 2110 Ninth street.

In Mullenix Home

Mrs. R. V. Mullenix of 1916 Avenue N entertained members of the So and Such club and several guests Wednesday afternoon. The members drew names for a Christmas party to be given at 3 p. m., December 20, in the home of Mrs. H. A. Padgett, 2102 Twenty-eighth street.

Attending the meeting were Mesdames Arnold Weed, J. E. Scott and E. E. Morris, guests, and Mesdames Alton Abbott, W. G. Alderson, John L. Brown, Otis J. Felty, Herman L. Fink, George M. Garrett, C. H. Hamilton, S. A. Hamilton, Padgett and Thomas E. Pirtle.

Those Who Wonder About Such Things Are Speculating On Whether Another Corn Cob Pipe Smoker Will Take E. M. Davis' Place

AUSTIN, Dec. 9. (AP)—Persons who wonder about such things were speculating today on whether another corn cob pipe smoker would turn up in the new senate come January.

With the defeat in the primaries of E. M. Davis of Brownwood, the upper legislative chamber lost its most ardent devotee of the most democratic of pipes.

There remain a few who embrace the more aristocratic briar, including R. A. Weinert of Seguin and Allan Shivers of Port Arthur, but any senator, holdover or "freshman" who aspires to Davis' position as a pipe man has a hard row before him.

His inevitable cob fogged the atmosphere — peaceful or warlike—day in and day out. Never was the situation too tense for Davis, even midway of oration, to stop and feed it matches. It helped him punctuate speeches. It was a solace in the trying hours of tedious night sessions. It was a comfort in the sometimes quiet proceedings of the senate.

In the other division of tobacco use, things are not so uncertain.

Lanky Jim Neal of Webb City, the "chawinest" man in the senate—rough cut or a bite of a cigar were the same to him—will not be back, but veteran employes believe Weaver Moore of Houston and Claud Isbell of Rockwell need yield Neal nothing.

The cigar department is well taken care of, despite Tom Holbrook's defeat. The long leaf smokes are perhaps the favorite of a majority of senators.

And, as to abstainers, there is still John Redditt of Lufkin, who might fill the category by himself, because of the retirement of Ben O'Neal of Wichita Falls.

Driest Four Months For Fall Is Experienced For Territory

Driest four months fall period in the history of the Lubbock state experiment sub-station was the August-November period just closed, when but 1.88 inches of moisture was recorded here with a normal rainfall expectation of 7.92 inches.

November had .27 of an inch of moisture, with a normal of .64 of an inch, a shortage of .37 of an inch. For the year total precipitation has been 16.49 inches, compared to a normal of 18.28 inches, a deficiency of 1.79 inches.

Maximum temperature was 81 degrees, minimum 7, a range of 74 degrees. It was a near low record, but 5 above is the lowest November temperature as shown by records of the station since 1911. Mean temperature was 48.8 degrees.

Maximum relative humidity was 88 per cent, mean, 29.5 per cent; normal wind run, 4,384 miles, actual, 3,741 miles.

Total evaporation was 3.224 inches; there were 21 clear days, 8 partly cloudy days and one cloudy day.

TYPHOID AT ANTON

LEVELLAND — Five cases of typhoid fever were recently reported at Anton, but reports indicate all are recovering. Three of them were in one family. All five had moved there from New Mexico, where, it was believed, they had contracted the disease.

More than 600 head of cattle were entered in the 1938 Fat Cattle show at Nashville, Tenn.

Texans Receive $3,468,116 From Selling Surpluses

Wide Range Of Crops Bought

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Texas farmers from Jan. 1 to Nov. 21 received $3,468,116 from the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation for a wide range of excess products for which they could find no market.

This was about twice the $1,792,770 they received from the corporation during all of 1937. Purchases next year will be determined by supply and demand.

Purchases by the corporation were confined to areas producing in sufficient quantities to affect marketing conditions and to determine prices. In the case of early spring vegetables the area often was highly localized.

To Purchase Surpluses

A surplus purchase program usually gets its impetus from growers or groups of growers or handers. They notify the division of marketing agreements of the Agricultural Adjustment administration that a surplus exists and request aid in meeting the situation. Once a purchase program is decided upon, the quantity to be purchased is important. The surplus may be small but enough to disrupt marketing, or it may be enormous.

The purchase price must bear close relation to the commercial level. A price too high would tend to divert the flow of an excessive quantity of the product from commercial channels, but it may be slightly higher than commercial prices when these have been, in the opinion of AAA investigators, unreasonably dislocated by speculative or other temporary factors.

Benefits Are Assured

Surpluses of some commodities are removed through purchases from processors of packers, or directly from the growers, which ever procedure is found most desirable in the particular situation at hand. Growers benefit when supplies are taken from the processors of packers because the removal tends to increase the quantity that the latter can consume. In many contracts for processed commodities, the benefits to the growers are further assured by stipulations that processors must buy specified quantities from growers to replace those sold to the corporation. The corporation then distributes the goods to needy persons.

Purchases made in 1938 to Nov. 21 in Texas:

Cheese, 330,000 pounds, $44,880; eggs, 8,000 cases $37,380; potatoes, 2,483 bushels, 670; rice, 11,500,000 pounds $253,948; wholewheat flour, 26,400 barrels, $106,116; grapefruit juice, 1,513,246 cases $1,622,761; tomatoes, 182,790 bushels, $169,022; wheat flour, 163,100 barrels $688,668; dry skim milk, 120,000 pounds, $5,940; cotton (raw baled), 13,370 bales, $449,625; yellow corn meal, 18,600 barrels, $49,104. Total $3,468,116.

Citrus Surplus High

One of the greatest producer surplus problems in Texas is that faced by citrus growers in the Rio Grande Valley. Their industry was dealt with by the agricultural marketing agreement act of 1937, which is administered by the Agricultural Adjustment administration.

The purpose of the marketing agreement is to provide an orderly flow of grapefruit out of the state so that it will not glut the market and depress prices. Oranges do not come under the provisions of the agreement.

Each handler is restricted as to the amount of grapefruit he can ship out of the state during the weekly marketing periods, which operate from midnight of one Sunday to the next. The program is set up by two committees of the industry, one representing growers and the other handlers.

The program must be approved by the handlers of at least 50 per cent of the volume of fruit shipped, and by growers who produce at least two thirds of the crop.

The agreement restricts to the better grades that fruit which may be put into interstate commerce. The balance is used for various by-products. Some of the grade trees and culls are ground up and used for fertilizer.

CIO Criticism Fails To Turn Hopkins From His Policy Of Reducing WPA Work Rolls

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—CIO criticism failed today to turn Harry L. Hopkins from his policy of reducing WPA rolls by not replacing workers absorbed in private industry.

Although the John L. Lewis labor organization had charged that reduction of the work relief rolls was a blow to recovery, Administrator Hopkins told a press conference that WPA employment probably would decrease about 150,000 a month from now on.

He said the $1,425,000,000 fund voted by congress to carry the WPA until March 1 might run out shortly before that date, but he expected to comply with President Roosevelt's request that it be made to last through the specified period.

Hopkins disclosed that he would ask for a deficiency appropriation to carry on from March 1 to July 1, the beginning of the new fiscal year. He has predicted reduced appropriations next year.

Suggestion Is Branded False

Suggestion that Lubbock is overbuilding was branded as without foundation by P. S. Luttrell, state production manager of the Federal Housing administration, in addressing an audience in Hilton hotel Thursday. Films dealing with FHA work were shown.

Scenes Are Presented

Scenes were presented showing how dilapidated buildings replaced by modern structures have helped living conditions through out the United States. According to authorities, average rent on houses and apartments built under the FHA program is $32 a month.

Pictures showed Germany's replacement of outmoded buildings with new, constructed with a minimum of waste and a maximum of efficiency. Germany's housing program has been in existence since 1919.

Palestine's housing progress, sponsored by the British empire, is a symbol of a new civilization, built within the last years.

Sweden and Switzerland also have been active in similar housing programs.

The FHA encourages large scale rental projects, authorities said, and that rent from houses and apartments should retire the debt in approximately 25 years.

A housing program sponsored by the national government is safe and sound economically, as shown by foreign countries, authorities said.

Christmas Dance Being Given For CCC Enrollees Tonight

Christmas observance starts early with Lubbock CCC camp enrollees when their camp becomes scene of a dance tonight, according to information given this morning.

The dance is an invitational affair. It is being given early in order to avoid conflict with hristmas furloughs.

Expectation is, officials said, that the same furlough plan as last year will be followed. Approximately half of the 197 enrollees will be absent from Dec. 20 to 27 and the remainder from Dec. 27 to Jan. 3.

Work Of Training Course Said Nearly Completed On Thursday

Work of a leadership training course for Lubbock Boy Scout district was virtually completed at a session in the basement of the First Baptist church Thursday night, according to Earl M. McClure, council executive.

The final session will be held Thursday night with K. N. Clapp, council commissioner, in charge. Certificates of award will be given to approximately 18 or 20 scouters who will complete the course at that time. Jack M. Randal, chairman of Lubbock district, will present awards. Dr. J. O. Ellsworth is director of the course.

A den mother's training course was held at the high school auditorium in Abernathy Thursday afternoon. There were 10 den mothers and seven den chiefs present. At 3:30 o'clock next Thursday a new cub pack will be organized there. The new pack will be number 81.

U. S. Ambassador To Japan Is Ordered Home For Consultations

Action Linked With British

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—The United States, deeply concerned lest Japan close China's "open door" permanently, has ordered its ambassador to the latter country, Nelson T. Johnson, to return home for consultations with President Roosevelt and state department officials.

TO USE BACK DOOR

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9 (AP) — Nelson T. Johnson, American ambassador is going to come out through China's back door, thereby asking no favors of "the Japanese military stationed at the front door.

Had he proceeded from Chungking to the Pacific, he would have needed a safe conduct from the invaders. Instead, he is going by motor over a highway, which starts west of the capital city of Chungking, winds perilously across mountains and rivers down into Burma, where it connects with railways leading into fabled Rangoon, on the Indian ocean.

The fact that this route is to be used by Johnson is considered highly significant. It is the first public intimation here that the "Chinese road to Burma" is open.

By superhuman efforts the Chinese have been cutting a highway across the rocky fastnesses of southwest China. Now that China can no longer get supplies through her Pacific ports, this fact could conceivably prove of vital significance to her continuation of the war.

The announcement of this step came simultaneously with further clarification by Japan of her intentions in East Asia, and directly followed Great Britain's declaration that she couldn't possibly subscribe to creation of an economic-political bloc there dominated by Japan.

Considered Significant

Joseph E. Kennedy, ambassador to London, unexpectedly advanced his plans and announced he would sail for home Saturday. Whether this foreshadowed some parallel action by the United States and Britain in bringing pressure upon triumphant Japan to prevent her attempted hegemony over all China was not disclosed. Kennedy's return was considered highly significant, however, in view of the fact that Britain, like the United States, has displayed marked signs of worry over events in China.

In Tokyo, Prime Minister Arita further outlined Japan's views to the American ambassador, Joseph G. Grew, and the British envoy. Grew's report has not yet reached the state department. However, press reports said Arita told the ambassadors separately that the principle of equality of opportunity and the open door might have to be revised in establishing Japan's "new order" program.

The United States regards such action as inimical to its interests, and has firmly protested in several recent notes concerning discrimination against American trade and interests. Japan's answers have been considered unsatisfactory.

to old timers, have been attempted to discourage whittlers. Nails in large numbers have been driven into planks, obviously intended to dull knives. The whittlers simply whittled around the nails. Lower portions of some of the uprights were sheathed with metal. The whittlers merely reached a little higher, and kept on whittling.

The property was acquired several months ago by Griffith theater interests, with which the Lindsey theaters are affiliated. Announced intent at the time was eventually to replace the frame building with a modern structure, probably to house another downtown theater.

The project apparently has been carried no further, but nothing has been announced to indicate any change in the eventual plans.

Drake university debaters, filling the next to last engagement on a 6,000 mile tour, will meet men's and women's debate teams of Texas Technological college at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the engineering auditorium.

Jane Gibson, Ruth Frisby, John Simmons and William Wisdom are members of the Drake teams, from Des Moines, Iowa.

Women To Debate First

Warlick and Waggoner Carr of Lubbock, Shirley Bass of San Angelo and Mary Paul Long of Lubbock are members of the Tech teams. The women's teams will debate first.

The Tech women's team will take the affirmative, and the Tech men's team the negative, of the question: Resolved, That the United States should cease to use public funds (including credit) for the purpose of stimulating business.

Miss Gafford Chairman

Miss Eron Gafford, Tech student from Panhandle, will be chairman for the women's debate and Lee Byrd from Claude, for men's debate.

Miss Annah Jo Pendleton, speech professor, is director of debate at Tech.

The Drake teams were to come here from Albuquerque after debating University of New Mexico teams and plans to go from here to Norman to meet a debate squad from the University of Oklahoma. The debaters are travelling by automobile, accompanied by John H. Gabrielson, debate coach, and Mrs. Gabrielson.

Their schedule included debates in 14 colleges and universities in 12 states.

Tech student activity tickets will admit holders to the debates.

Forgeries To Be Charged

Charges had not been filed at noon against seven suspects held here in connection with recent forgeries at Brownfield, Meadow, Ropesville and Snyder.

Ches Gore, Terry county sheriff, headed investigation which he said "took us nearly all night." Victor H. Lindsey, assistant district attorney, assisted in the investigation.

Four men and three women were arrested on the outskirts of Lubbock about 8 o'clock Thursday night by Sheriff Gore and two deputies, Joe Price and Sam White, after the suspects had passed a $11 forged check at Brownfield and another for a similar amount at Meadow, according to officers.

Those held also are suspected of forging and passing three $11 checks at Snyder. Authorities of this area had been warned to be on the lookout for suspects several days ago.

Checks For $11 Passed

A $11 check was passed Thursday to Johnny Rayburn of an auto supply store at Brownfield, Price said. The name C. C. Farmer had been affixed to the instrument. They attempted to pass a check for a similar amount on J. J. Conner at "every drug store in Brownfield," it was reported.

One of the girls held was 14 years old and said she had been married since August. Her husband was among the suspects. All of them said they lived at Snyder.

Grady Harrist and Jas. P. Posey, Lubbock county deputies, assisted in investigations. The suspects were mugged and fingerprinted at police headquarters.

Two of the girls, officers said, were in love with the same man. Words flew thick and fast between the two girls.

"When she gets through with her statement, I'll give them one 18 pages long," said one, "I can tell more than she can."

"Go ahead and print the whole damn story," the 14-year-old bride of four months told a reporter. She employed a lusty oath for emphasis.

bulance and was admitted to the sanitarium about 7:40 o'clock.

Si Anderson and Ralph Goldwater of the police conducted a routine investigation at the residence and Melvin Alvey and O. E. Rush, also of the police, assisted in investigations at the sanitarium.

No inquest was conducted by a coroner.

A son, Clayton Reed, was killed in an automobile accident near Midland Sept. 10.

Reed had lived here approximately 10 years, moving here from Memphis, Tex. He was born in Tennessee, but came to Texas when only three months old. He spent most of his boyhood in Italy, Tex.

He was a member of the First Methodist church here.

Sanders Funeral home transferred the body to Memphis.

Other than his wife, he is survived by two sons, Howard Reed of Los Angeles, Calif., and Sumner Reed of Levelland; a sister, Mrs. G. M. Springer of Memphis, Tex., and a brother, J. B. Reed, also of Memphis. Sumner Reed is a former student of Texas Technological college, and only recently moved to Levelland to work.

He declined to say, however, whether the new legislation would differ from that which the house rejected last year after a flood of protesting telegrams reached Capitol Hill.

Dissenting Democrats joined Republicans in opposing that measure. Since the Democratic majority in both chambers will be smaller in the next session, some legislators predicted proponents would have to make many concessions in order to enact the program.

The meeting at Lima was the eighth Pan-American conference. Five years of momentous history which have seen the rise of Naziism, the intensification of Fascism and Japan's invasion of China made the conference one of the most important in Pan-American history.

Hull Sets Forth Goals

In a pre-conference radio broadcast last night, United States Secretary of State Cordell Hull, chief of the American delegation, set forth these goals—1. Recognition of the inter-dependence of all nations. 2. Maintenance of peace on the American continents; 3. Solution of the Americas' economic problems through cooperation with the rest of the world.

Reports from Spain and France indicated that movements of Italian troops in northern Catalonia, which caused French concern yesterday, merely were part of preparations for a few Spanish insurgent offensive in the dormant Spanish civil war.

In China, Japanese were said to have been routed after a three-hour battle at Yungsui by Chinese defending Nanchang, Kiangsi province capital and important air base on the Kiukiang-Nanchang railway.

When the first United States census was taken in 1790 the population was only 3,929,214.

Sea Scout Rank To Be Awarded

J. C. Irvine, 1608 Broadway, will be elevated to the rank of "quartermaster," the highest in Sea Scouting, at the monthly Lubbock district Boy Scout court of honor in the 99th district courtroom at 7:30 o'clock tonight, according to Earl M. McClure, council executive.

Irvine, who moved to Lubbock from Fort Worth not long ago, will be the first recipient of that honor in the history of South Plains council. "Quartermaster" rank corresponds to an "eagle" in Boy Scouting, McClure explained.

Irvine is skipper of the only Sea Scout troop in the council, having served in a similar capacity in Fort Worth.

Approximately 100 boys are scheduled for advancement at the court of honor, McClure announced.

George P. Kuykendall will be the chief speaker. Other numbers on the program include:

Invocation, Dr. E. L. Reed; award of tenderfoot ranks, Sam A. Henry, sr.; second class rank, Harvey Austin; first class rank, Grady West; merit awards, R. C. Browning; Sea Scout awards, Irvine; civic service awards, J. A. Raley, jr.; star awards, Dan Powers; life awards, Tom Everheart; quartermaster award to Irvine, Dr. F. B. Malone, council president; award of attendance banner, Henry; and ladder shakeup, McClure.

George W. Dupree, district court of honor chairman, will preside.

Federal Reorganization Plan Is Believed Being Mapped

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9 (AP) — A government reorganization program was pencilled on the legislative slate for the new congress at a White House conference today.

Chairman Byrnes (D-SC) of a senate reorganization committee said after the conference he was "sure" another attempt would be made to persuade congress it should empower the president to rearrange, abolish or merge executive agencies of the government.

Plans Nearly Complete For Red Raiders Banquet Given By Club

Plans almost are complete for the second annual banquet honoring the Red Raiders by the Lions club, Harry Morris, chairman of the committee in charge, has announced.

"We will have a very interesting program for the boys and the coaches," he said. "We are expecting at least 200 persons there.

"The affair will be open to any service club member in Lubbock and those who are interested in the Red Raiders are invited to attend. The affair is a 'dutch treat' and each man pays his own way."

The Lord Mayor's banquet in London took up only about 1 1-2 hours eating time, but required a month to prepare.

Twenty-Two High School Students Receive Training, Employment In Distributive Education Program; Movement Praised

By DAN TARPLEY
Journal Staff Writer

The distributive education program operated by the Lubbock Senior High school in cooperation with several downtown merchants, manufacturers, and other industries drew only praise from the students, parents, employers, and the school, according to a survey made recently.

The program is arranged so that the 22 students participating in it attend school classes four hours each morning and work in town four hours each afternoon.

Must Meet Requirements

Only juniors and seniors who meet other qualifications are eligible for participation, it was explained by Sam Leifeste, coordinator. Those participating pupils agreed to remain in the program two years.

The program was launched soon after the opening of the 1938-39 term of high school.

The class at present is earning approximately $500 a calendar month, or an average of $5.50 a trainee a week. Several have received increases in wages since the opening of the program.

Money Not Prime Object

"The money, however, is not the prime object of the program," Leifeste said. "The students are concerned primarily with becoming intelligent distributors and consumers of commodities and services of industry and in helping others to do likewise."

It was explained by school officials that "indicative of the fine type of student who is attracted to the distributive education program is the fact not one has been dropped since beginning of the project. Of the 66 grades of the group at midterm 63 were passing and most of them were average or above."

The students attend school from 8 to 12 o'clock each morning. The first two hours of class work are devoted to subjects which are of value or are associated with the type work the pupils are employed in. Before students are allowed to participate in the project, they must announce intentions of following that trade, profession, or industry after finishing school.

From 10 to 12 o'clock each morning the students attend English classes and one other class, usually a social science.

Course Is Praised

"The best course the school has to offer for the prospective business man," was the description given the program by F. W. Groce of the Groce furniture company here. He has a son participating in the program, employs him at his own furniture store, and is a member of the advisory board for the program.

Claudine Adams, a senior high school junior, is employed part-time at a jewelry store. "I like it," she said and said she was obtaining valuable experience.

"I think the program is a good one," she said.

Fred Aston is employed at a hardware store and works chiefly in the stock rooms. When a reporter happened in to visit him, he was assembling tricycles, bicycles, and other wheeled and mechanical toys. He also sees that the shelves and counters of the store are well-stocked.

"Wouldn't Do Anything Else"

"I wouldn't do anything else," said David McLean who is working at a paint and paper company. "I do everything from taking care of stock to waiting on customers."

He decorates show cases and prepares window displays and said, "I like the work a lot."

"I sell everything from hammers and nails to glassware," said Lavena McDole who is employed at a hardware store. "I'm getting good experience and have learned lots that I didn't even expect to learn when I came here." She has been clerking at the store since Sept. 19.

Beneficial To Students

"It is a wonderful program and is beneficial to the students," said Steve Allgood of a men's clothing store. He also is a member of the advisory committee. "If the pupils will apply themselves to their work, they will receive experience of untold value. The training they will receive can not be measured in dollars and cents if they will take advantage of their opportunities."

"We have en employe here participating in the program and have found his work satisfactory," said the manager of a clothing store. At the instant the youth was placing price tags on merchandise. "He does everything from taking care of stock to waiting on customers."

"We use our student employe for everything from delivering merchandise to selling. He is, at times, everything from delivery boy to salesman, inclusive," said a furniture dealer.

WHY...

HARD CANDIES ARE BETTER FOR CHILDREN

Give the children hard candies like pralines and taffy that dissolve slowly, and reserve for grown-ups the soft, creamy ones that are inclined to slip down too fast. Because the more diluted sugar enters a child's tummy, the better it will be for him. If you make your children's Christmas candy with Imperial Pure Cane Sugar, you'll know it will be wholesome

★ RECIPE FOR PRALINES ★

Conferences In Session

By Collier Parris

WIN OR LOSE, today, the Westerners can call it a fine season, and everybody's happy. . . . Although the Westerners seldom get this far along in a state race, winning district, bi-district and quarter-final championships is nothing new to Head Coach Weldon Chapman. . . . His character building goes back farther than his tenure at Lubbock, you know, which was one reason he was hired here. . . . At Cisco, Chapman's teams were known for years as the killer-dillers of the Interscholastic league. . . . It just shows to go you what the little man can do with a set of boys physically fit and willing to play football. . . .

Darned decent of the Amarillo and Vernon folks to send their regards and best wishes to the Westerners. . . . A hundred or so Amarillo fans found it convenient to be in Vernon last Friday with nothing much to do between 2:30 and 5 o'clock. . . . So they went out to the City Park stadium. . . . Numerous other Amarillo persons, including the Good Will committee of the C of C, wired messages of encouragement and good luck. . . . Included among the Amarillo fans on hand were Messrs. Bill Thompson, Stanley Mauldin and possibly others of the Golden Sandie team, along with their coach, Bill Lynch, who made no bones about "being here to help root the Westerners to victory." . . . Coach Catfish Smith and others of Borger also were there pulling for the District 1 champs. . . .

Mr. W. H. Johnston, father of the Westerners' fancy-stepping Wayne "Rusty" Johnston, was in Vernon this week in pursuit of his business and yesterday out at the Westerner practice field he told us that the whole town of Vernon was pulling for a Lubbock victory over Breckenridge. . . . The high school team and coaches, students and fans there, although taking their defeat by Lubbock pretty hard, have hopped the Westerner bandwagon and are rooting for the Westerners. . . . Scribe Jerry Malin telephones from Amarillo. "Can you get me a couple of extra tickets for the game Friday? This Sandie team is running me crazy, wanting to come see the game. . . . I'm going to bring three or four of 'em and I'll buy two tickets, or four if necessary. . . . Bill Thompson, Pat Humphreys and Stanley Mauldin are coming with me for sure. . . . They really want to see Lubbock win."

The answer, of course, was yeah man. . . . Although it was a relief to learn that Lubbock High had invited the whole Amarillo squad here for the game, tickets free. . . . The whole squad probably can't get here, but those who make it will sit on the bench and lend their moral support, at least, to the Westerners. . . . They'd make fine "relievers" if Chapman could slip a Lubbock sweater on some of them, particularly Mr. Thompson. . . .

TODAY AND SATURDAY are conference days for the conferences. . . . Things of interest to local and sectional fans will be discussed in at least two football conference meetings . . . and Texas Tech will have delegates at both. . . . Head Coach Pete Cawthon is attending the Southwest conference sessions at Dallas and Line Coach Dutchy Smith, with Athletic Council Chairman W. L. Stangel, are in El Paso for the Border conference meeting. . . . Tech, you know, is a member of the Border league, although not in competition for football pennants. . . . It probably will remain a Border conference member after this week's sessions . . . and not nearly as many people as you might think will shed any tears. . . .

Tech delegates will heartily oppose a suggestion coming up in the Border conference meeting. . . . A motion will be made to discontinue spring football training and practice at conference schools, but we doubt that the motion will be carried. . . . Football coaches, including those of Tech, are pretty well sold on spring training, although it means extra work and no more pay for them. . . . In football, the flowers that bloom in the spring generally blossom forth in greater glory when autumn comes. . . . Tech coaches put a lot of store by their spring drills. . . . That's where they teach the rudiments, the foundation of football, and get a definite line on what to expect come next fall. . . . Unless football is to be deemphasized on a whale of a big scale, there is no practical call for discontinuing spring practice. . . . It fits in well for the boys where track and field and baseball is not listed as a regular sport. . . .

Just what goes on at the Southwest conference meet is unpredictable at this early date. . . . Cawthon isn't there to meddle in conference matters, but mainly to make a contact or two regarding schedules. . . . He may not even remain over Saturday for the main business meeting of the conference. . . . Today he means to converse with Rice institute and Texas A. & M. college officials regarding games for next fall. . . . Both institutions have indicated willingness to meet Tech at football next year, and it will not be surprising if we get a wire or a call from Cawthon late today verifying the rumors that the Owls and Aggies will be the two first opponents on the 1939 Red Raider schedule. . . .

It is utterly possible, of course, that the big conference will break down and suggest that Texas Tech might make a creditable addition to the league, but we do not anticipate such a move. . . . Even if it should be true, it is doubtful that Tech would be in a position to accept a membership bid and a conference schedule until 1940. . . . Although the rumor was denied, it would not be surprising if the Missouri Valley conference takes action in its meeting this week-end regarding a "feeler" from University of Arkansas. . . . The Razorback authorities have denied having made application for Missouri Valley membership, but the rumor is so persistent that there must be something to it. . . . If that's the case, there'll be an "opening" in the Southwest conference. . . . Then the conference would be obligated to look the Texas Tech situation squarely in the face. . . . There could be no evasion of the issue by use of the oft-repeated statement: "The conference, with seven members, feels it is amply constituted, and does not wish to expand at this time."

At any rate, you might glance over your morning paper for the next two days. . . .

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Jack Dempsey is predicting Joe Louis' downfall—not right away, but not too far off either . . . "He'll go back all of a sudden, same as me," says Jack . . . "He's out of the ring a lot, he'll get fat and out of shape and take things easy . . . Then along comes some young fellow and belts him one" . . . if ever a guy is on the spot, it's Ray Carlin, Lou Nova's manager . . . There he was sitting with Lou at the fight writers' party yesterday, when Gene Tunney upped and said—right out in meeting—that Nova was being brought along too fast . . . That if he knocks off Tommy Farr next week, the only clouter left will be Louis—and he's not ready for that yet . . . Then Dempsey came along and said the same thing . . . So Carlin hopped right back at 'em, insisted he's carefully thought over every match his youngster has had, and that all contenders today are third raters—except Nova, of course. . . . When they awarded Dempsey the Eddie Neil medal, a lot of the boys remembered that Eddie's first fight assignment with the AP was covering Jack's training camp before the second Tunney fight . . .

A "West Texan fan" wires: "Will welcome Duke to stop off for a Texas Christian workout."

Basketball bizness filling the mail-bag these days . . . Texas Wesleyan's Rams, who only won 22 out of 23 last year, are looking for a couple more top-flight outfits to fill out their schedule . . . This department will forward any querles . . . Rams may take a crack at the National A. A. U. tournament this year . . . Another nomination for classy grid coaching goes to Hardin-Simmons' Frank Kimbrough, whose boys won 31, lost seven in four years . . . Had streak of 18 without a loss, and wound up this year with seven in a row.

Clark Griffith Is Going To Try Another Cuban Experiment

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP) — Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, is going to undertake another Cuban experiment.

This one is a bottle-bodied little fellow named Roberto Estalella, who can whale the seams off a baseball but who has been having great trouble fielding it.

Griffith had him before, and he's going to give him another chance with the Nats. Roberto was listed as a third baseman then, but like Goose Goslin when he first broke into the big leagues, he not only failed to field the ball, but has had great trouble getting out of its way.

TO SEEK LEGISLATION

DALLAS, Dec. 9 (AP) — Directors of the Dallas County Property Owners association resolved today to seek legislation which would make payment of taxes on automobiles mandatory before owners could purchase license plates.

Boys Trying To Reach Finals Of State Race

This afternoon when Coach Weldon Chapman's mighty Westerners are battling Breckenridge's Buckaroos for the championship of West Texas the Lubbock high mentor will be seeing a hope in reality—the ambition of every football coach—to see his boys in the finals.

Coach Chapman started the season with a better than average club, then things began happening. First, Paul Sparkman suffered a broken arm in the North Side game then "Rusty" Johnston had to have an appendectomy. Jerry Nash was injured and did not play for awhile. But Coach Chapman and the Westerners had their hearts and souls set on winning. And it is that factor that has been the most important in their successful season.

All-State Candidates

Today's game is the second time a Lubbock team has advanced to the quarter-finals. This time they are favored to win.

Standing in the way of victory is the "dark horse" of the Interscholastic league football campaign, Breckenridge's Buckaroos. The Bucs have one of the most amazing records of any high school eleven in the state. Given only slight chance to march over any of the better teams the Big Green Wave has rolled over every squad in Districts 3 and 4 and now holds the championship of that section.

Captain Walter "Jumbo" Webster of the Westerners and Captain Bill Ramsey of the Buckaroos are the stars who enter the tussle with the eyes of the entire state fixed on them. The team winning will, if past performances mean anything, owe much to its captain. Webster and Ramsey are perhaps two of the finest backfield players in Texas and both are being mentioned prominently for all-state honors.

Westerners Click Smoothly

Comparing the squads from every position the Westerners have the edge. Coach Chapman's backfield of Harold Parsons, quarterback, Lette Jackson, right half, Wayne Johnston, left half, and Webster, fullback is one of the smoothest in the state. Lubbock's line is about the same weight but has the advantage of a better season's record.

Coach Elk Curtis' ground gaining backfield is composed of King, quarterback, Gabby Hamil, right half, Ramsey, left half, and Jimmy Kimble, fullback. The Breckenridge line is not as famous for the great goal line stands Lubbock's line has been noted for this year.

Winner of this contest plays the Highland Park-Masonic Home victor in the semi-finals.

Probable starting lineups for today's game:

Lubbock Name	Pos.	Breckenridge Name
Joe Bob Foster	LE	Harris
Avon Sewalt	LT	Knox
Joe Pytell	LG	Thorp
Wayne Pipes	C	Wragg
Lloyd Sanders	RG	Collins
Pat Farris	RT	George
Ernest Winter	RE	Sparks
Harold Parsons	QB	King
Wayne Johnston	LH	Ramsey
Leete Jackson	RH	Hamil
Walter Webster	FB	Kimble

Two Major League Deals Made; Bordagaray For Dusty Cooke

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 9 (AP) — Two major league baseball deals were announced last night.

The St. Louis Cardinals traded Outfielder Frenchy Bordagaray to the Cincinnati Reds in exchange for Outfielder Dusty Cooke. Bordagaray had been ordered to report to Rochester but declined to do so and had asked to be traded.

The Chicago Cubs purchased Pitcher Ray Harrell from the Cardinals.

"RASSLER" IS DISQUALIFIED

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 9 (AP)—"Rassling" results here last night included this tidbit: Bull Curry, 108, of Hartford, lost to the Sheik of Arabia, 230, when he was disqualified by the referee for unnecessary use of the ring posts after ten minutes and 20 seconds had elapsed.

Senator Walsh Proposes That Army And Navy Teams Play Games All Over The Nation

BY ALBERT W. WILSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 9. — Charges that "radical professors" were behind current moves to de-emphasize college sports were coupled today by Senator David I. Walsh (D-Mass.) with a proposal that the Army and Naval academy teams play games in all sections of the country.

Declaring he had special interest in the Naval academy because he is chairman of the senate naval affairs committee, the veteran New England senator said in an interview that present athletic schedules for the service teams appear "snobbish."

Belong To Whole Country

"Annapolis and West Point belong to the whole country," he said, "and their teams ought to play in the South, on the Pacific coast and in every other section of the country and not select big games year after year with the same little group of schools."

He suggested the service schools should not play any team two years in a row, except for so-called "practice games" with small schools.

The senator took issue with a recent magazine article by President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago who advocated games "in which all students can play," ten-cent admissions for football, and requirements that coaches hold academic teaching positions.

Praises Big Games

Walsh said "intramural sport has its place in colleges" but that the big intersectional and intercollegiate contests tended to destroy "sectional, racial and class distinction."

He named the greatest benefits of the present system as "democratization of our youth" and "equality of opportunity." He pointed to the fact that negroes and athletes of different races have been named on "All-America" teams.

"Radical-minded teachers and professors who are antagonistic to the traditional democratic system," the senator said, "are seeking to discredit large scale intercollegiate sport and thus lay the ground work for replacing it with the system of antiquated and uninspiring intramural games in vogue in European countries where dictators sway and where democracy has degenerated."

Dumb Dan Morgan Gives Up On College Football Players As Fighters; They Just Won't Do

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Dumb Dan Morgan, the old fight manager, says he has given up completely on the college boys. Says all of these big husky football players are being turned loose on the country right now looking for something to do, and that he wouldn't give a split infinitive for the lot of them—not as fighters, anyway.

"It's a shame," he says, "because there's probably a world champion amongst 'em, and he and I could get together and make ourselves a bag of money. But somebody else can collect the headaches from now on. No more college football players for me."

Was Watching Lou Nova

Dan, dressed up like a Christmas tree with lights, was watching Lou Nova, best of the young prospects, work out for his 15-round-battle with Tommy Farr a week from tonight. He admitted, reluctantly, that he liked Lou's looks very much, despite the fact that the coast kid has a football-playing record against him.

"Maybe he's different," Dan ventured. "So far he doesn't show any signs of this football affliction I'm telling you about, and that short right of his is a beauty. They're crazy, though, if the let him in the ring with Joe Louis inside of two years.

Don't Like To Get Hit

"The truth is that they just don't like to get hit on the ears. They can't stand to get their ears messed up. Outside of that, these football players are the best bunch of fighters the world ever saw. They're natural fighters, outside of that.

"Why, a few years ago I had a boy out of Harvard that would have been the champion, sure. Best prospect I ever had, and I've had 'em for 40 years, more or less. He could hit like a trip-hammer, that boy, and he could take it. He didn't have a real weakness. I saw myself fixed for life.

"What happened but one day I put him in against a tough sparring partner, and my boy didn't have on his head protector. This fellow slugged him a beauty right on the ear. He came right out of that ring and it took me two hours to get down the swelling in that ear.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Morgan," he says, "but I'm through with this stuff. I'm not going to carry around a couple of scrambled ears even if I make a million dollars."

Cage League Is Formed In City

Efforts to bring "big time" basketball teams to Lubbock were near successful completion today after last night's meeting of a group of interested persons who organized the Lubbock Independent Basketball league.

It was definitely announced by league officials that the House of David squad would play one of the loop teams here Dec. 25. Other widely known quintets included the Olson's All-America Redheads, girls' team from Missouri, to appear here Jan. 8, and the Ozark Hillbillies, also a girls team. Both will play men's teams under mens' rules.

Elected president of the league at the meeting last night was Joe Bob Stephens, former manager of the championship Slaton Oilers, and Fred Rich was named secretary.

The loop officials are seeking four more clubs in order to make an eight club circuit. The teams entered and their managers are Hub Clothiers, Curley Wilkinson; Panhandle Refinery, Clyde Plemmons; Peel-Barnett, T. D. Peel; and Ernest Dowell's team to be named. Those managers also act as the rules and regulations committee. This group will meet Sunday at the auditorium and offer their rules to the league members for approval.

No entry fee for players or teams will be charged and any individuals or organizations wishing to sponsor basketball teams are advised to get in touch with league officials, it was announced.

Good Crowds Expected For State Games

(By The Associated Press)

Between 50,000 and 55,000 fans are expected to watch quarter-final games of the Texas schoolboy football race this week with the John Reagan-Corpus Christi clash at Houston topping the attendance.

A crowd of 10,000 was forecast at Texas Tech stadium, Lubbock, today for the Lubbock-Breckenridge tussle that will name West Texas' representative in the semi-finals.

Houston Expects 20,000

Houston anticipated 20,000 to crowd into Rice stadium tomorrow for the battle betwewn bulldogs and buccaneers while at Dallas between 12,000 and 15,000 was the forecast for the Masonic Home-Highland Park tilt at Ownby stadium.

The other Saturday game between Tyler and Temple at Fort Worth was due to attract 10,000. This tilt is scheduled for T. C. U. stadium.

All but Temple reported in good shape for this week's games. The Wild Cats, going up against unbeaten Tyler in the feature battle of the quarter-final round, are not due to have their regular center, A. J. Mercer, who is out with an ankle injury. Halfback Rex Burns was also a doubtful starter as the result of a shin infection.

This week marks the end of play in Class B football with 12 regional championships to be determined. Eleven title games were scheduled today. Regional titles, which close the season for the class B boys, will be decided as follows:

Today—Region 1, Wellington at Panhandle; region 3, Newcastel at Crowell; region 4, Diamond Hill (Fort Worth) at Wills Point; region 5, Royse City vs Mt. Avernon at Sulphur Springs; region 6, Crockett at Overton (night); region 7, Brady at Tyler; region 8, Calvert at McGregor; region 9, LaGrange vs Bellville at Brenham (night); region 10, Hull-Daisetta at Alvin; region 11, Junction at Cuero; region 12, Alice vs Freer at Kingsville (night).

Tomorrow—Region 2, Rotan vs Wink at Odessa.

42nd Street Alumni All Hopped Up For Sunday's Grid Tilt

BY DREW MIDDLETON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 9 — The Green Bay Packers, the large young men who stand between the Giants and the national professional football championship, started work today polishing their rugged offensive maneuvers for Sunday's battle.

With any sort of a break in the weather the game should pull 60,000 or so bug-eyed fanatics into the Polo grounds. The Giants are as popular as a boost in pay around here and the prospect of seeing them play the same sort of game they turned on against the Redskins in winning the eastern division title last week has the 42nd street alumni all hopped up.

What makes the Green Bays so much tougher than they were two weeks ago, when the Giants downed them 15-3, is the presence of Don Hutson, the end who is the best pass receiver in the business. He was on the sidelines with an injury the last time the Packers were here. As he has scored nine touchdowns this year he gives the offense a healthy push.

Everyone else is in shape, too. The Packers sneaked into the western division championship last Sunday while the Philadelphia Eagles were kicking the tar out of their last opposition, the Detroit Lions. So they have had two weeks and more of rest. Clark Hinkle, the great fullback, has two good legs again. The solid and very large line is full of fight. They will be a touch team to beat.

Bramham Declares Baseball In Order

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 9.—William G. Bramham, 65-year-old president of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues today declared his baseball house to be in order.

Here for the annual meeting of the association which ends this afternoon, he said in an interview, the cash registers are working, club owners are behaving, players are protected, and baseball is on a business basis.

"And everybody's happy," contributed L. H. Addington, publicity man for the organization, "the owners, the players and the public."

When Bramham, whose annual salary is $20,000, was made czar of the minor leagues in 1932 there were only 11 of them. Now there are 37.

"When a man wants to start a team," said Bramham, "we check him carefully, background and financial condition. It used to be that 'milkers' would go into a town, ballyhoo the chamber of commerce about a team or a league they wanted to start, get the business men to buy and sell thousands of tickets, play along until the big day, the 4th of July, and then go off like firecrackers.

Took Money Along

"And when they went off they took the ticket money with them. The players would be stranded with perhaps a month's salary owed them."

Now, Bramham said, the association investigates all would-be club owners and requires them to post a 50 per cent security on the regular monthly salary of their club.

In 1938 there were 15,500,000 paid admissions to minor league games, said Bramham, a jump of two million over the previous year, and about five million more than the major leagues accounted for.

The association yesterday approved an amendment submitted by the International league increasing the number of optional players that class AAA clubs may have on option from 10 to 12.

Jack Dempsey Wins New Distinction; Awarded Medal

NEW YORK, Dec. 9 (AP) — Jack Dempsey, who won many honors in the ring, has won a new distinction.

The former heavyweight champion was awarded the first Edward J. Neil memorial medal yesterday at a meeting of the Boxing Writers association. The medal, to be awarded annually, perpetutates the memory of the Associated Press sports writer and war correspondent who was killed in Spain a year ago, and will go to the boxer, past or present, who has meant most to the sport in the current year.

The old Manassa Mauler, blushing and stammering like a schoolboy, at first refused the nomination, protesting it go to a fighter still active. The writers finally decided that this would be too confining and that Dempsey, in activities as a referee, manager and speaker, is constantly working for the betterment of the game.

"I still think you're making a mistake, fellows," he told the writers "Thanks a million, though. It's the finest thing I ever got."

MOODY GIRLS WIN

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 9. (AP)—The strong Moody club Anicos of Galveston, Texas, scored at will here last night to defeat the Pearl Brewetts, 52 to 7.

Gunnar Barlund May Get His Last Big Time Chance Tonight

NEW YORK, Dec. 9 (AP)—Gunnar Barlund, the much enduring Finn, will get what may be his last shot at the boxing big time against Roscoe Toles, the big Detroit negro, in the Hipprodrome tonight.

The Gunnar, after beating Buddy Baer and Alberto Lovell, was on the way up until Lou Nova stopped him a couple of months ago. Now he must beat Toles in tonight's ten-rounder to hold his place as a ranking heavy.

Semi-Pro Teams To Be Limited To Sixteen Players In Future

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 9 (AP) — Directors of the National Semi-Pro Baseball congress voted here today to limit clubs affiliated with the congress to 16 players in 1939.

The chief reason for the new player limit, Mickey McConnell, executive secretary of the congress said, was to keep clubs from signing too many players and thus keeping an excessive number of players inactive.

McConnell said the new rule would prevent "raiding" by semi-pro teams.

Tagging Deer May Be Advocated In Texas

Hunting Law Changes Seen

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Dec. 9. — Laws requiring the tagging of deer killed by hunters and closing the season on the unprotected and rapidly disappearing javelina may be advocated in the general legislative session assembling in January.

Will Tucker, secretary of the state game commission, said the proposals were being sponsored by many outdoor sportsmen and might become the subjects of intensive debate by the lawmakers.

Would Issue Tags

"Deer tags would be issued hunters with their licenses," Tucker said. "Each buck killed would be tagged to enable the game department to keep a better check on the kill in all localities and the practice might help to enforce the bag limit regulation.

Probably the most vital questions on game legislation which will be studied by the legislature are: Should the game commission be given regulatory powers, and, should there be a statewide universal hunting and fishing license?

Regulatory power would permit the commission to codify and simplify many complicated laws and allow changes to meet emergency conditions harmful to certain species instead of waiting on a session of the legislature.

Border Rule Is To Be Invoked

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Treasury officials indicated today that, in spite of protests from Texas and New Mexico, they would require Americans shopping in Mexico to stay across the border at least 24 hours before they could bring back $100 worth of merchandise free of duty.

On the Canadian border, shoppers must stay 48 hours to get the exemption.

Plan Is Opposed

The 24-hour plan was opposed at a hearing Thursday by Captain E. H. Simons of El Paso, Tex., representing the chambers of commerce of Nogales, Douglas, Laredo, Brownsville and other border cities; Representative John J. Dempsey (D-NM) and Worthcutt Ely of Washington, representing Wirt Bowman, a Nogales banker and merchant.

Dempsey said the 24-hour rule would discourage Americans from visiting places just across the Mexican border and therefore would reduce tourist traffic through states like Texas, New Mexico and Arizona. He suggested a three-hour instead of a 24 hour limitation.

W. R. Johnson, a customs bureau attorney, however, told Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Stephen B. Gibbons, who presided at the hearing that small merchants of the Southwest states favor the 24-hour proposal. Other treasury officials also said that California businessmen favor the 24-hour plan.

Civic Clubs Cooperating With Officials In Street Lighting

FLOYDADA, Dec. 9.—Civic cubs and study clubs here are co-operating with the commisioners' court and the chamber of commerce in a Christmas lighting and decoration program.

Lights are to be strung across business streets and the courthouse. A huge Christmas tree will be lighted there and the courthouse building.

Cooperating are the Lions club, Rotary club and the city council.

Long List Of 'Unsound' Beliefs On Food Reported; Food Dislikes Not Inherited

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—A long list of "unsound" beliefs about food were reported Thursday to the greater New York Dental society by Dr. Martha Koehne, nutritionist of the Ohio department of health at Columbus.

It is unsound to believe that food dislikes are inherited. They are usually acquired, she said, from critical remarks about food by friends or relatives, or from emulating the food habits of admired persons.

To think that disliked food will not digest is a fallacy, she declared. If swallowed in a peaceful frame of mind she said "It will go the rest of the way."

She disapproved the idea that certain combinations of food are dangerous to eat. Examples were stewed tomatoes and mashed potatoes, and fish or shell fish with ice cream or milk.

"If," she explained, "a person does not overload his stomach, and is not overly tired, and does not worry afterward, he may safely eat any combination of food."

It is not true that every baby means loss of a tooth to a mother, or that cooking food in metal pans causes cancer.

GREENFIELD, Mass., Dec. 9. (AP)—Frank Dembenski is in favor of that east is east, west is west remark.

Frank's filling station is on the west side of the road and a district court judge ruled yesterday that, since a search warrant, used in seizing 15 gallons of whisky, specified the east side of the road, Dembenski should have the whisky back.

PNEUMONIA, dread scourge of the Plains and bad enough everywhere else in the country, takes approximately 100,000 lives each year.

Before long it will be striking here and around here, as it always does in January, February and March, and taking lives as it strikes.

But there's a ray of sunshine now that never before has been associated with a discussion of pneumonia.

If experience bears out preliminary tests already made, carried on with the aid of 30,000 CCC volunteers, the new antigen for immunization against pneumonia developed by the U. S. Public Health service may halve the annual toll taken by this disease.

Here is something we all may well hope for and something which will make brighter the lives of us all.

If man can learn to defeat, even to an appreciable extent, the ravages of pneumonia he will have gone a long way toward further extending the average life expectancy.

Foreigners of all kinds visiting in Germany are compelled to give the nutsy salute and slogan, "Heil, Hitler," every time Der Furore passes by, just as are native Germans.

If they don't, they get into plenty of trouble, so most of them wisely go through the motions and let it go at that.

But several American newsmen in Berlin who have a sense of humor have worked out a plan whereby they appease the Nutsies by saluting Hitler yet at the same time poke a little insult at him.

When he goes by they snap into the Nutsy hand salute and thunder not "Heil, Hitler," but instead, "Hi, Heel!"

THE holiday season, in case you hadn't stopped to think about it, is not only a brief period of fun, frivolity and peace-on-earth-good-will-toward-men.

It also is the period in each year during which there is an uncommon number of fires.

Reasons for the numerous fires which shed tragedy over what otherwise would be the most perfect time of the year are easily seen.

In the first place, a lot of Yuletide decorations are flimsy, will catch fire easily, burn rapidly and let flames spread quickly.

In the second place, people kicking up their heels, oh-ing and ah-ing about Christmas presents and this, that and the other thrills of the season, leave lighted cigarets and cigars about and that often leads to trouble.

And in the third place, piles of paper, boxes, ribbon and other similar wrappings are left here and there, inviting the spark which may fall from almost anywhere.

As a result, practically every holiday season is marred by fatal and costly fires.

Looking over the appalling death toll due to recent fires in Texas, and cocking a wary eye toward what may be worse in December, officials of the State Fire Insurance department at Austin are shouting warnings up and down the length and breadth of Texas.

"Be careful with fire, always," says these warnings, "but be even more careful than usual around Christmas."

THE PLAINSMAN literally was astonished—and he'll bet you are, too — to learn that during the months of October and November of this year a total of 44 Texans were burned to death.

Also strikingly tragic is the fact that while the last five years have been Texas' best from a standpoint of smallest number of fires and least amount of property damage, those same years have racked up the highest annual death loss in the history of the state.

Believe it or not, but the last 10 years have seen more than 4,000 Texans burned to death—an average of more than 400 per year!

Thus it becomes readily apparent to us all that the warning by the State Fire Insurance department should be heeded, more especially around Christmas time than at any other time—but always heeded to as great an extent as possible.

Murder To Music

CAST OF CHARACTERS

MYRNA DOMBEY—heroine. Wife of the sensational swing band leader.

ROBERT TAIT — hero. Newspaper photographer—detective.

ANNE LESTER—Myrna's closest friend.

DANNIE FEELEY — officer assigned to investigate Ludden Dombey's murder.

CHAPTER XVII

At the first stair landing, Tait paused. The light, he discovered, came from a candle set on the floor in its own wax. He reached down and touched the wax in which it had been stuck. It was still warm and soft!

Tait stood up quickly, his back against the wall. The landing was bare. There were no openings. It simply doubled back to reach another series of stairs to the next floor. The stair well was typical of those built into the factories of two decades ago when modern health and fire protection weren't considered.

Cautiously, Tait peered up to that second landing. For a moment his heart wavered. It all seemed too much of an invitation to death—and yet—yet he could be very close to the murder of Ludden Dombey and the solution for Myrna's problems. Suddenly he snatched up the candle, snuffing it out as he did so. In one swift movement he leaped for the second series of stairs, holding an arm ahead of him in the darkness. Every moment he expected to feel in his flesh the cold steel of a blade either thrown or driven.

Then, unmistakably, he heard a sound above him. It was the opening of an ancient window. Tait yelled at the top of his voice. "Stop—stop or I'll shoot!" He followed the sound upstairs and into a long, deserted room with narrow windows at one end. One of the windows was open and Tait rushed for it. But beyond he could see nothing but black roofs. It was only three or four feet down to the adjoining roof, but he knew that he was stopped. To go out there would be inviting death in earnest. Keeping out of line of the windows, he relighted the candle. A few machine bases were all the evidence that it had once held life, and certainly no one had been making a home of it.

In the dim light of the candle Tait noticed something odd. His own footprints were clearly visible on the dust-covered floor. But the path of the would-be murderer was of a different nature. It had been swept as he went, as if with a coat or scarf! Tait thought bitterly that the factory roofs were gravel on tar. There'd be no footprint there.

Grimly disappointed, he retraced his steps to the street. The astonished stare of the taxi driver sought him from the depths of the cab. "I never thought you'd be down here again on your feet, mister!" He was holding his shoulder now painfully. "Did you see anything of that so-and-so who sliced me?"

Tait shook his head. "No. And I'm sorry to have got you into this mess, old man. I'll make it right with you—and now we'll get some attention for that shoulder."

"You'll have to drive. And say, if I gotta stay in the hospital all night, you'll have to explain it to my wife. She's funny that way."

Tait slid into the driver's seat. "I'll keep you out of the doghouse, pal."

"You were," said Dannie Feeley, "a double-barreled idiot to go up those stairs. But by golly, as long as you did it, I wish you'd got a look at the bird who wanted to cut into you."

Feeley and Tait were on the way to the hospital where the taxi driver had been left in good care. "It's that perfume that gets me," Tait said.

"Yeah. Doesn't seem like a spot a woman would pick to make an ambush for a guy. But there may have been two people around. You say you smelled it before. You sure you'd recognize the dame if you saw her again?"

"I'll say I would! She was a honey."

"Of course," said Feeley with ill-disguised feeling, "some men wear perfume. The guy we're after may be one of those. Do you figure this fellow is the same guy who ventilated Ludden Dombey?"

"Maybe. Or it might be somebody who just doesn't like the idea of my monkeying around."

"As for instance?"

"Harris Rogers."

Feeley nodded. "There's that. He promised you that you'd hear from him, and he has a reason to be plenty sore. I'll have Mike Dunphy see if he can establish any movements for Rogers."

"Also, it could be your screwy musician. He might think that I'm out to gyp him, too."

"We'll go down to that factory building tomorrow and have a look at it in the daytime." Feeley rolled the car up before the wide steps of the General Hospital. "Do you think this taxi driver'll help us any?"

"I doubt it. I was sitting right in the car and it happened too fast for me. He didn't seem to know what hit him—but it's worth a try. Maybe he's collected his wits by now."

The pair were ushered to the driver's room by a nurse. At sight of Tait the man burst out, "Say, did you telephone my wife like I told you?"

Tait laughed. "I certainly did. And she believed me, too."

"I wish she'd believe me once in a while," sighed the injured man.

"This is Detective Feeley. He wants to ask you some questions about what happened. That is, if you feel all right now."

"I'm okay. The doc fixed me up in good shape. But I don't remember nothing except the flash of that knife—and the way it felt when it hit me."

"Try hard," Feeley urged. "Didn't you see the arm? Couldn't you tell whether your assailant wore a long coat or a short one? When you struck the match didn't you see a face or a hat"

The taxi driver wrinkled his brow. "No-o. . . . You see, I just struck the match and I was lookin' up at the top of the doorway for the number. I—it kind of seems like the guy wore a long overcoat, but I don't know just how I got that idea. I'm sure I didn't see his mug."

"Tait here says he smelled perfume distinctly. Did you?"

"Perfume?" The man looked puzzled. "No, I don't think I smelled any perfume. But then, my nose ain't so good, either."

Feeley sighed, and cast an oblique glance at Tait.

"I wish I could be more help, officer. But the fact is, it just happened so quick I don't know exactly how it was. I got a couple of slices and I dropped flat—maybe I was only scared. I just laid there on the pavement with that damn' cat meowin' somewhere around me."

Tait started. "A cat. You heard a cat meowing?"

"Yeah, I think so."

"Was it before or after you got knifed that you heard it?"

"Well . . . I can't be sure, but it seems to me like it started just when I struck the match."

Tait looked at Feeley. "Ever hear of 'The Cat's Meow'?"

EXTENSION OF RURAL ELECTRIFICATION

Further allocation of $163,000 to the South Plains Electrical Cooperative, Inc., for extension of rural electric lines in Lubbock and adjoining counties, brings a sense of satisfaction to those who believe that the drudgery of farm life should be relieved by modern, improved machinery.

It makes the total allocated to this cooperative in excess of $400,000, a considerable part of which will be spent for improvements. Just a lot of hard work can be done away with, by the wise and proper spending of this huge amount.

As The Evening Journal has pointed out before, there is no reason why the woman on the farm should not have the advantages of her sister in town. She is entitled to it; she deserves it and she appreciates as much as does the urban woman.

The farm women are capable managers of homes. They have done good jobs. They are entitled to an easier life. Already many of them have tasted in the past few months a new joy at having less drudgery to perform. Let it be hoped that by the time the proposed extension is completed that the way will be opened for many more homes to be improved.

Allocations over the South Plains now will reach about 4,000 farm homes with electricity. There should be twice that many more reached within the next half decade.

Seven Young Harvard And Tufts Economists Offer Plan For Economic Recovery In U. S.

BY JOHN T. FLYNN
NEA Staff Correspondent

SEVEN young economists from Harvard and Tufts colleges have fabricated a program for economic recovery. It appears in a small book just published.

As in 1931-32 a stream of programs for rehabilitating America pours out upon our desks. This is the most interesting I have seen chiefly because it comes from the hands of men who understand the anatomy of the capitalist system.

The program is based upon the theory that the continuing functioning of the capitalist system requires a continuing flow of investments. The authors point quite properly that this means that private industry as a whole must pay out in capital and operating expenditures more than it receives back in prices. Strange as this may seem, it is true.

FLYNN

Private industry has ceased to do this because capital investment has almost come to an end. Therefore these gentlemen ground their whole plan upon the proposition that, as private investment has seemingly come to an end, the government must step in and become the great investor.

The whole problem, therefore, is to organize and finance a vast government investment program that will be permanent. The authors disclaim any plan to disrupt the economy of private ownership. Private ownership having abdicated at present the function of capital investment expansion, the government will undertake it merely to protect the remaining functions of private ownership.

FIVE-POINT PLAN

HERE is the program. (1) A 50-year program of rebuilding America—its houses, starting with homes for the slum dwellers. (2) A vast expansion of our recreational facilities. (3) Great projects to modernize our traffic facilities. (4) A great program of conservation of resources, particularly soil through reforestation and fire protection, engineering works to retard surface erosion and a national program of river and dam co-ordination for flood control. (5) National program of education and health expansion.

On the welfare side they would extend old-age benefits to all classes and abolish the old-age reserve account and would reorganize unemployment benefits to include workers and supplement benefits by elastic work projects to afford longer subsistence when insurance benefits run out.

The problem of financing government investment becomes the terrifying ogre in any such plan. The authors advocate both taxation and borrowing. They insist tax revenues can be expanded enormously by putting an end to existing evasions and by abolishing tax-exempt securities. They also advocate what this writer has advocated, the taxing of corporate earnings in the hands of stockholders rather than in the hands of corporations—taxing earnings rather than dividends.

AS for borrowing, they face with equanimity continuous borrowing, wholly unterrified by the constant rising level of the public debt. The rising tide of taxes to pay interest they dismiss with the proposition that this can be rendered harmless in economics if the ownership is spread out among all the people. Then as all the people will be taxed to pay the interest, the interest will go back to them as owners of the bonds.

As to private business, they urge an end of trust busting. Great aggregations of capital are useful. The government should regulate those that can be regulated by controlling prices and should take over those which do not yield to regulation. It should take over the railroads, regulate prices of great basic industries and try both regulation and ownership of utilities.

These measures, they think, would restore better times and keep them among us.

Gly-Cas Was First Medicine To Help Him In 45 Years

Glad To Endorse Herbel Remedy After Life Changed From One Of Suffering To That Of Good Health

"Gly-Cas was really remarkable in reaching my stubborn case," said Mr. Charles Welch, 1308 Adams St., Brownsville Texas. "For forty-five years constipation, gas, bloating and indigestion had made my life miserable. I could hardly eat a single meal without great distress afterwards even though I was so careful of my diet and I did not dare eat the foods I wanted. Poisons accumulated over my body until my health in general was a 'wreck'. Friends knowing of Gly-Cas and of my condition persuaded me to give it a trial. Never had I tried a medicine that did its work so well.

"I am feeling like a different man today," continued Mr. Welch. "Gly-Cas has been worth hundreds of dollars to me for it right to work on my stubborn case. My stomach and bowels were easily regulated and I am now able to eat and enjoy the foods I want with no after distress. Every ache and pain has left my body, sleep good the entire night through, have been given new strength and energy and it is such a blessing to feel so good again. Suffering people need not hesitate in giving Gly-Cas a trial . . . it has proven its merit beyond all doubt in my case alone."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns. —Adv.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 9 (AP)—A few steels, rails and specialties successfully contested a mild downward drift in today's stock market.

In dealings that hardly kept the ticker tape moving — transfers for the five hours approximated 650,000 shares — numerous issues were unchanged to off a shade at the close while most of the scattered gains were of negligible fractions.

The same influences that stymied buying forces during the past several days — year-end tax selling and a little more worry over war threats in connection with the Italo-French flare-up — prevailed throughout the sluggish proceedings.

Support was accorded U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Great Northern, Pennsylvania, Union Carbide, Dupont, North American Aviation, Montgomery Ward, Pathe Film, Paramount, United Aircraft, American Can and U. S. Rubber.

Bonds were ragged and foreign securities markets spotty.

Markets At A Glance:

NEW YORK:
STOCKS—Irregular; leaders move narrowly.
BONDS—Uneven; U. S. governments advance.
CURB—Mixed; industrials stay in groove.
FOREIGN EXCHANGE—Steady; sterling, franc slip.
COTTON—Lower; liquidation; foreign selling.
SUGAR—Steady; trade buying.
COFFEE—Easier; Lower Brazilian offers.

CHICAGO:
WHEAT—Steady; upheld by corn.
CORN—Higher; increasing export trade.
CATTLE—Steady.
HOGS—Lights 5-10 higher.

Texas Tech's Apple Judging Team Is Off For Contest

Leaving this morning, the Texas Technological college apple judging team is en route to Manhattan, Kas., to compete Dec. 12 in an intercollegiate judging contest.

The team was accompanied by Dr. W. W. Yocum, associate professor of horticulture and team coach.

Students going are Bob Cain of Plainview, Jack Jones of Newcastle, Herman Reeves of Munday, and Dan Carpenter of Lubbock. One will serve as alternate.

The group will visit Oklahoma A. & M. college at Stillwater for practice judging. On the return trip it will tour orchard sections of Kansas and northwestern Missouri.

Dallas Visitors

bock business men, scarcely having time to "wash up" for tonight's 7 o'clock banquet in Lubbock hotel, where the legal requirements for a contract between Tech and St. Mary's university of the west coast, party of the second part in the colorful mid-winter sports spectacle, are to be witnessed.

At the head of the Dallas group were B. F. McLain, trek chairman, and Mayor George Sprague. Others were Dan D. Rogers, banker, TCU board member and Cotton Bowl figure much quoted in the press of late; Curtis Sanford, bowl impresario, and Reuben Young, I. L. Sanger, Oscar Bruce, W. O. Cooper, Clyde Rembert, Clyde Stewart, William Z. Hayes, Edward Wood, Ray Nesbitt, Jordan Ownby, Elza Curtis, William H. Jones, W. O. Stevens, Cecil Higginbotham, W. L. Stone, Hayden Hudson, Floyd Hightower, Ralph Binion, Watty Thompson, Sheriff Smood Schmid, J. B. Nichols, C. B. Akers, formerly of Lubbock, Fred H. Cathey, Douglas Hawley, Charles Burton, R. P. Sellers of the Texas and Pacific railroad, and T. D. Berry, assistant superintendent of the Pullman company.

Two Bands Play

This morning's advent of the hat-tagged visitors was to the flare of swing music from the colorful Matador band of the college and the more sombre, but natty, high school musicians.

When D. O. Wiley, college director, steered his crack bandsmen into tunes to amuse the waiting hundreds at the Santa Fe station, the Westerner tooters improvised along with them—and the effect was no more amusing than it was interpretive; all, including the crowd stamping its cold-benumbed feet and whistling rhythmically or otherwise, were expressing their pleasure at the visit and doing some sort of something to accent it.

The parade to Hilton Hotel, where organized assembly first was made, was led by the bands—after a brief holdup for photographers' inspection of some of the most publicized men in Texas, band formations and snarled traffic.

Visitors pumped paws of farmers, collegians, bankers and the public-in-general until their own handclasps became almost impotent. Grins and yelled greetings took over.

As someone originally put it, a good time was had by all.

Guests At Noon Luncheon

At noon, the visitors were guests of a luncheon at the women's dormitory at the college. Rep. George Mahon of the 19th congressional district was master of ceremonies. Several faculty members of the college intersprinkled the gathering.

At the chamber of commerce came the early afternoon information that plenty of Lubbock motorists had offered to escort visitors to the stadium for the grid game.

Also, it was announced the supply of Cotton Bowl windshield stickers had been replenished by the goodwill trippers.

Plenty Of Stickers

"Just call by for them; there is plenty," it was added.

Reservation for tonight's dinner must be made by 5 o'clock, came a cautioning note from the chamber.

All Lubbock residents are invited. Costs for each plate will be 75 cents.

A lively program is in prospect, "and that is putting it mildly," it was announced.

A Lubbock committee headed by Archie Underwood boarded the train at Slaton to escort visitors to Lubbock and a committee of the chamber, headed by Chas. Whitacre, assumed direction of amenities after the goodwill group had detrained.

Also on board were M. E. Heard, head professor of textile engineering, and Dr. R. C. Goodwin, head professor of chemistry and dean of the graduate division, both of the college here. They had joined the group in Dallas, where they had been several days.

mean just one thing. It will mean that there won't be enough to go around; that some of the boys and girls who have the misfortune to be poor may find empty stockings on Christmas day.

But the Goodfellows don't believe the citizens of Lubbock will permit anything like that to happen. Right now, their chief concern is the obtaining of the names of all boys and girls between the ages of 1 and 14 years in Lubbock who must depend on the Goodfellows for whatever Christmas they have.

4. A group of officials in the comptroller of the currency bureau and the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation believe the administration already has done all that is economically safe for the stimulation of loans.

The various factions disagree on whether the banks are making any substantial amount of business loans.

The RFC has loaned about $150,000,000 to businessmen since February, in deals where banks refused to supply the money. Chairman Jesse Jones said yesterday the demand for business loans had decreased sharply. He called it a sign of better business.

New York Board Of Trade Chief Says "Business Is Afraid To Stick Its Neck Out"

DALLAS, Dec. 9. (AP)—P. C. Magnus, president of the New York Board of Trade, said here last night "business is afraid to stick its neck out."

Speaking before an annual sales conference of a drug corporation (Southwestern Drug corporation) Magnus said "business is still intimidated and afraid to forge ahead due to the fact that since the inception of the present administration, conditions have often been reversed and intimidation seems to prevail until a direct, honest statement is made that government and business will work together for the common good of all."

World Economic Conference By Church Advocated By Leader

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 9. (AP)—A nationally known religious educator proposed last night that the Christian church summon its own world economic conference "if the governments won't act."

In an address prepared for delivery before the Federal Council of Churches' biennial meeting here, Dr. Abert W. Palmer, president of the Chicago Theological seminary, asked, first of all, that:

" . . . the church, with a united voice in every country, urge all governments to join in calling a world economic conference where the economic necessities of every nation can be frankly faced."

Dr. Palmer suggested that, failing there:

"Then let the church be the church! . . . Let it hold its own world economic conference. Let it summon the best brains and leadership, lay and clerical, with truly Christian economists and political scientists as advisers. . . ."

RFC To Aid South With Paper Mills

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9. (AP) — Chairman Jesse Jones of the Reconstruction Finance corporation today placed the resources of his organization today at the disposal of groups seeking to convert the South's soft pine timber into paper.

He said RFC already had aided in establishment of paper mills in Texas and Mississippi and that there had been some inquiry from other sources in the Southern states.

Jones said he thought it would be "a wonderful thing" if paper industry could be built up in the South, because it would give the states an opportunity to utilize millions of acres of second growth timber having little value as lumber.

Fungus Disease Is Identified

(By The Associated Press)

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 9.— fungus disease which is causing sorghum plants to fall down or "lodge" in fields over the sorghum area in western Texas, the Panhandle, the red beds region and as far north as Woodward, Okla., this year, has been identified by Dr. A. A. Dunlap, pathologist of the Texas A. and M. experiment station, as sclerotium bataticola. The fungus originally was discovered on sweet potatoes in New Jersey, and named in 1913 by the late Dr. J. J. Taubenhaus, pathologist of the Texas A. and M. experimentt station. Its occurrence also has been reported on maize and beans in California, but this is the first severe infestation attacking the sorghum crops in Texas.

Noted Around Lubbock First

"This disease was first noted on sorghum around Lubbock the latter part of August when lodging from this cause began," said R. E. Karper in charge of grain sorghum investigations for the Texas A. and M. station. "A month later it was observed almost universally in sorghum fields throughout the western part of the state. The disease is manifest when plant approaches maturity and shows signs of drying up, premature ripening and later bends or breaks several inches above the crown.

"A reddening of the pith of the stalk at the top of the root crown is present and the disease appears to attack the stalk causing decay of the pith up to 8 or 10 inches above the ground," Karper said.

Named "Charcoal Rot"

"After the stalk dries out for several weeks the pith and fiber shrink and present a dry, shredded and decayed appearance. The fibers are spotted with fine black bodies resembling particles of charcoal. These are the small sclerotia, and from this characteristic appearance the disease has been named 'charcoal rot'. The sclerotia are carried over in the soil and germinate when conditions are favorable.

"Wilting and premature ripening of the plants causes shriveled and undeveloped kernels and consequent reduction in yield. In sorghum fields the disease appears to occur in more or less circular areas of varying size and is indicated by spots throughout the field in which the plants are severely lodged.

"There is no known treatment of either the soil or the seed to reduce the damage by charcoal rot and control must apparently depend upon finding resistant plants."

The disease should not be confused with the pythium root rot of milo that has caused losses for several years and for which the Texas station has announced the development of an abundance of seed from strains resistant to the root rot.

Karper has specialized in grain sorghum improvement for many years and no delay is to occur in the search for resistant strains.
