Champion Marciano Steps Out Of Ring

NEW YORK (AP) — Rocky Marciano, never beaten in his 49 professional fights, retired today as heavyweight champion of the world.

The stocky, amiable boxer made public his decision at a hastily called news conference here.

No unbeaten heavyweight champion before ever has retired and made it stick. Gene Tunney retired unbeaten as champion in 1926, but his record was marred by an earlier defeat as a light heavyweight. James Jeffries retired in 1905 and Joe Louis in 1949, but both came back later and were beaten.

In fighting trim Marciano weighed 188. Now he has bulged to 210. Always careful with his man, Marciano is comfortably well off. His professional purses were approximately $1,700,000.

His wife, Barbara, played an important factor in persuading Rocky to retire. Shortly before Marciano called the news conference, Mrs. Marciano telephoned Vic Dubois, sports editor of the Brockton, Mass., Enterprise, and told

Angry Negroes To Continue Bus Boycott

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Angry by threats of arrest, Montgomery Negroes have committed themselves to continue their long boycott of city buses until public officials are willing to accept integration.

The boycotting Negroes thundered approval last night to a resolution pledging them to carry on the protest indefinitely. A minister put it like this:

"We will never go back to Jim Crow buses."

The resolution was adopted by the cheering, hymn-singing Negroes without a dissenting vote at a mass meeting at the Day Street Baptist Church. The congregation filled the main auditorium and the basement, where loud speakers carried the speakers' words, and spilled out into the street.

The resolution was sharply critical of Montgomery's three city commissioners, who all belong to the pro-segregation White Citizens Council.

The resolution pointed out that Montgomery City Lines has ordered desegregation and that some other Southern cities also have abandoned their traditional separate seating arrangements.

Three Plead Guilty In Felony Cases

Three defendants scheduled for trial in 118th District Court next week on criminal charges, entered pleas of guilty before Judge Charlie Sullivan this morning.

Two were given suspended sentences. The third was sentenced to two years in state penitentiary. He then gave notice of appeal and was released on $2,500 bond.

Stanley Wayne Cook, 18, charged with forgery, pleaded guilty. He asked for a suspended sentence which was recommended by Guilford Jones, district attorney.

Eldon Mahon To Address Pilots

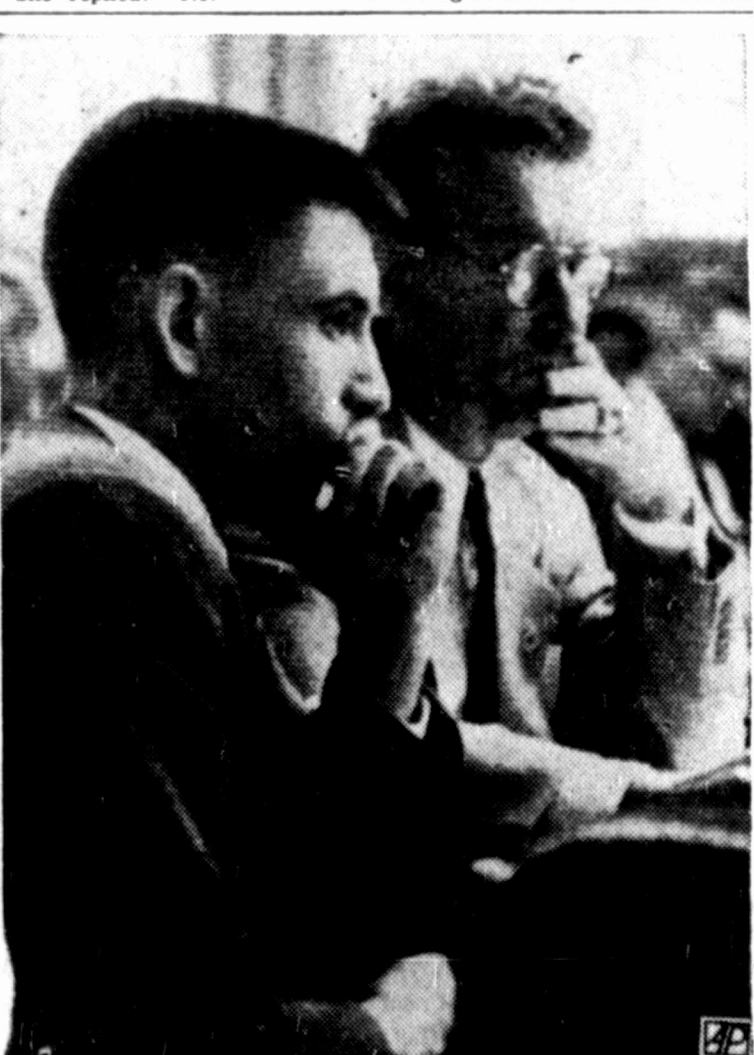

Eldon Mahon of Colorado City, district attorney for the 32nd Judicial District, will address pilots of Class 56-M at Webb Air Force Base's first evening graduation exercise today.

Col. Edwin F. Carey Jr., commander of a fighter group at Oxnard AFB, had been scheduled to deliver the commencement address but was unable to attend. Mahon, who was to address some future class, was chosen to replace Carey tonight.

The exercises will be held in the academic auditorium, starting at 7 p.m. Sixty-four members of the class are to receive their pilot wings.

Mahon is immediate past president of the County and District Attorneys Association of Texas. He is a veteran of World War II and has been district attorney for Mitchell, Nolan and Scurry Counties for two terms.

Class 56-M will be the last to graduate on the two-week schedule. Future classes will complete training at Webb once each month.

Graham Listens During Trial

Soviet Leader Okays Ban On Mid-East Arms

LONDON (AP) — Soviet Communist leader Nikita Khrushchev insisted today Moscow would welcome a ban on all shipments of arms to the explosive Middle East provided other nations were similarly pledged.

And Premier Bulganin announced Prime Minister Eden has accepted an invitation to visit the Soviet Union. Bulganin also made it clear the Russians expected Britain to take the lead in improving Soviet relations with the United States.

Khrushchev and Bulganin spoke at a mass farewell news conference shortly before they started homeward after a 10-day round of conferences with Eden, and tour of Britain. They described themselves as well satisfied.

Two hours later the Communist boss and Soviet Premier boarded the Soviet cruiser Ordzhonikidze in Portsmouth harbor and headed home.

The two leaders agreed to answer only written questions from the 500 newsmen crowding Central Hall, hard by the Houses of Parliament. Many of the questions were hostile, and these Khrushchev took for himself.

Tired, but in obvious good humor, he deftly and jovially juggled words on Soviet intentions in the Middle East, the nuclear arms race, prospects for a top-level Soviet visit to the United States and prospects for British-Soviet trade.

His performance was watched by millions of Britons on television. Khrushchev declared that Russia does not ship arms to anyone.

"And we would like there to be no shipments at all," he said.

But, he added, "I think we would answer wrongly if we were to say that we would not sell arms to states which urge us to do so and the reason for that is that shipments are being made by other countries."

"If it were possible to agree through the United Nations or otherwise that this would not take place," he said, "we would welcome that, and we would be prepared to take part in such an undertaking which would help bring about peaceful conditions in the troubled areas of the world."

Khrushchev spoke in answer to a written question whether Russia would use her influence on "friendly governments" to slow the international arms race. The West contends that peace has been endangered in the Middle East by Communist Czechoslovakia's sale of arms to Egypt, which has upset the balance between the Arab world and Israel.

Bulganin predicted that the talks he and Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev had held with the Soviet leaders' 10-day visit to Britain would lead to a lessening of world tension. However, a communiqué he and Eden signed last night, summing up their talks, indicated little progress toward agreement on major East-West issues.

While admitting striking some "undercurrent rocks" in the talks with Eden, Bulganin cautioned against exaggerating the differences.

"Whether anyone likes it or not," he said, "the Soviet Union and Great Britain will find a common language on the basic problem of the maintenance of peace."

Some 400 newsmen attended the news conference.

Khrushchev sat alongside Bulganin as the latter read his statement. He spoke in a soft, calm voice, in Russian. The statement was translated, sentence by sentence, into English.

Again and again he spoke of the "hospitality" and "friendliness" of the British people.

He said he and Khrushchev had "become convinced the British people do not want war and they strike toward development of good relations with the peoples of the Soviet Union."

"We shall tell the Soviet people about our impressions," he continued, "and we are confident they will arouse among them corresponding good feelings toward the people of the United Kingdom."

Bulganin said he and Khrushchev had expressed hope and their arrival that the visit and the talks would contribute to the easing of tension, establishment of greater mutual understanding and improvement of British-Soviet relations.

"We can now say that we have not been deceived in our hopes," he declared.

The Soviet Premier had some harsh words for the U.N. subcommittee on disarmament, which is meeting here, suggesting perhaps the five-nation group would be more aptly named "the subcommittee on concealing arms."

He contended the Russians had made concessions, but the Western Powers had backed away every time. Whenever Russia moved to agree with one of the Western suggestions, he asserted, the Western Powers renounced it. Britain, the United States, France, Canada and the Soviet Union make up the subcommittee.

Bulganin pledged that the Soviet Union would continue to press for an end to the arms race. He expressed hope that some "practical progress" can be made in the East-West disarmament talks here.

10 Feared Lost As Explosion Rips Building

Blast Follows Lighting Of Gas Heater

PULASKI, Va. (AP) — A restaurant owner lit a match to a gas heater and touched off an explosion and fire today that leveled a three-story brick building with the possible loss of 10 lives.

The blast rocked the old business section of this manufacturing town of 9,000 and in a matter of minutes the building was a giant torch. It housed a restaurant, two shops and a Salvation Army transient home on the ground level. Seven families lived in upper-floor apartments.

Four survivors of the 15 or 16 believed in the building were hospitalized and one unidentified body was recovered. Police Lt. G. E. Boudin said he believed 10 to 12 bodies were in the smoldering ruins. Only the back wall and a small section of the side wall were still standing when firemen finally put down the flames.

A witness said the blast lifted the roof which then crumpled inward.

A National Guard company from the Pulaski-Radford area was ordered on duty.

Police Chief Lee S. Boothe said it probably would be late afternoon before the charred ruins could be examined carefully.

W. J. Mahaffey, the restaurant operator, said he was met with a roaring explosion when he struck a match to the gas heater at about 6 a.m. Mahaffey, a man in his 70s, was hospitalized with undetermined injuries.

Shivers Hits Sen. Johnson For Not Signing Dixie Pact

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Allan Shivers slapped at Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson today as one of the three senators from the South who failed to sign the Southern Manifesto criticizing the U.S. Supreme Court's school integration decision.

In the second of a series of early morning radio broadcasts urging Texas Democrats to support him for leadership of the national delegation over Sen. Johnson, Shivers said:

"If you were a Southern senator or congressman, would you sign such a document (as the manifesto) I tell you frankly I would."

Shivers urged interposition as a means of legally combatting the integration decision. He said again he had asked Johnson 31 days ago how he felt about it but that he had no reply.

Irish Brogue Comes Out On Top

Steven Montanez, 16, is pinned under the shoes of Patrolman John Mulligan as he tries to crawl back under a car as other policemen with drawn guns spring into action in New York. Montanez allegedly admitted firing a shotgun at a member of a rival Bronx gang. The blast missed. Montanez ran and took refuge under a parked car and was pinned as he crawled out, saw the officers and tried to crawl back again.

'DOUBLE-CROSS' Senterfitt Lashes Johnson Drive

AUSTIN (AP) — The plan to elect Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson leader of the Texas Democratic delegation was conceived and is being pushed "in and by a hideous series of double-crosses," Reuben Senterfitt said here today.

He said also it is a plot to force integration of the races in Texas.

The candidate for governor urged Texans to back Gov. Allan Shivers in the contest against Johnson in a speech prepared for radio delivery in a series of broadcasts beginning at 12:15 p.m.

In an apparent reference to Johnson, Senterfitt said:

"The kingmakers and architects of the ultra-liberal and extremely left-wing element have chosen a new horse, and mounted a new knight in shining armor, to carry the banner. Every device and cunning plan to camouflage the true issues by using a new actor has been tried."

"Only desperation and uncontrollable selfish personal ambitions of politicians exposed the plot in time. The designers of this present program to turn over the Democratic Party of Texas to the left-wingers, and provide the subsequent complete surrender to Washington tyranny, have been almost successful."

The signals in the Johnson campaign, Senterfitt said, "are being called by Ralph Yarborough, Walter Reuther (of the CIO), Sam Rayburn and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People."

"We Texans have been staggered through the revelation that the plot actually is designed to surrender the civil, personal, social, educational, and economic independence of Texas to Washington."

"The Johnson-for-leader program was conceived and is being projected in and by a series of hideous double-crosses," Senterfitt said.

Jury Is Charged In McLarty Trial

JOURDANTON (AP) — Judge H. D. Barrow delivered his instructions to the jury hearing the T. J. McLarty trial today as defense and state attorneys concluded their cases.

The jury probably will get the case this afternoon.

Judge Barrow turned down state efforts to present one of the 24 veterans who had bought land in a block transaction under the McLarty ranch in Guadalupe County.

The judge sustained defense objections that McLarty would assume responsibility of making the payments.

Under close cross-examination by Dist. Atty. John May last night, McLarty said he had not read Scott's application to the land board.

He also said he had Scott sign the application containing provisions wherein Scott swore he was buying the land for himself and for no one else and that Scott, as the purchaser, could not sell it to anyone for three years.

McLarty admitted that the same day he had Scott sign the application he also got the veteran to sign a paper transferring the land to a San Antonio man, W. T. Brady.

"You knew the statements were in the contract you had Scott sign for $50?" asked May.

"I didn't read the paper," replied McLarty, who resided in Cuero before moving to Denver, Colo., in 1954.

Court is the result of the state's sweeping investigation of the GI land program which has shocked the state and brought hundreds of indictments on felony charges. The investigation also has sent ex-Land Commissioner Bascom Giles to prison on a six-year sentence.

McLarty took the witness stand yesterday to defend himself. He testified he and Scott had made an arrangement whereby Scott signed his name to an application for state aid in buying land and that McLarty would assume responsibility of making the payments.

Under close cross-examination by Dist. Atty. John May last night, McLarty said he had not read Scott's application to the land board.

He also said he had Scott sign the application containing provisions wherein Scott swore he was buying the land for himself and for no one else and that Scott, as the purchaser, could not sell it to anyone for three years.

Houston Detective Released On Bond

GALVESTON (AP) — H. F. Golden, Houston detective, was released on $5,000 bond yesterday under charges of shooting his officer partner.

Detective Dwight O. Fields was shot to death Wednesday on a Galveston street as the climax of an argument.

Police Locate Three Theft 'Invitations'

City policemen located three businesses Thursday night with windows open-known to burglars as "invitations."

The three were a motor company, a department store, and a laundry. In addition, an establishment has a broken window with a pane missing and it had been in that condition for over a week, the officers reported.

Yarborough Urges Legislative Pay Hike

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Declaring that Capitol messenger boys were paid more than legislators, Ralph Yarborough, candidate for governor, yesterday renewed his proposal for "a living wage for legislators."

Dawson Co. Farm Group To Confer In Washington

LAMESA (AP) — At least three Dawson County farm representatives will leave by plane Sunday for Washington, D.C., where they are to confer Tuesday with U.S. Department of Agriculture Secretary Herbert Green, Wright G. (Cowboy) Boyd, and Fred Raney have made plans to make the trip. They also plan to confer with Howard Romney, Department of Agriculture attorney, on the acreage problem.

Green said last night they will also confer with Senator Price Daniel and Congressman George Mahon on both problems.

Jack Broyles may also attend.

Firearms Tips Due Officers By FBI

Daily classes in firearms instruction will be conducted May 7 through 11 for the police department by an FBI agent from Dallas. Both classroom and range work will be handled in the week, with each class slated for two hours. Directing the training will be Leo Robertson, who led a week's school on firearms here in March.

New Coordinator Named For Agriculture Research

Appointment of Dr. Gerald W. Thomas as coordinator for research conducted by Texas Agricultural Experiment Stations was hailed as "good news" by Fred Keating, director of the Big Spring Station.

"I know Dr. Thomas well," said Keating. "He is an excellent choice for the post and I am sure much good will come from his work with the experiment stations." Keating said he saw Thomas in Lubbock earlier this week and that the new coordinator is already planning his work. His new headquarters have not been determined, he told Keating. He may be located in Lubbock or in some other West Texas town. He and his family are waiting for a decision on where they are to establish their new residence. Keating said that after Dr. Thomas has assumed his new duties officially—June 1—he will probably visit the station here from time to time.

Area Milk Men Consider Bulk Delivery Plan

Milk producers in the Big Spring area are considering the advantages of the operation of a milk truck system to collect milk from each producer and deliver it in bulk to the buyers.

At a meeting of producers from Howard, Midland and Martin counties Thursday, the operation of this special truck, system already in wide use elsewhere, was explained. The truck, it was said, would take the milk of a producer's herd, weigh it and pump the fluid into the already collected milk in the tank. The producer would be given a receipt for his pondage.

R. P. Mayfield, president of the Big Spring Milk Producers Association, said that producers of at least 1,600 gallons of milk have manifested interest in the project and if the total can be made large enough such a route will be established in this area.

The milk producers, who met at the Settles Hotel, were told that prices for their milk would be increased by 46 cents a hundred effective May 1 under present plans. A general discussion of milk production problems and needs in the Big Spring area occupied the time of the dairy operators present.

W. K. Frye, Abilene, manager of the Central West Texas Milk Producers Association, was a special guest. He spoke on the activities of the association in behalf of the producers. Thirty producers attended the meeting.

Club Hears Scout History

How the Boy Scout movement came into existence and how that movement, originating in Great Britain, came to this county was told by the Big Spring Kiwanis Club Thursday noon.

The speaker was Wayne Dittloff, member of Troop 3, who was introduced to the club by A-I-C Bart Spoor, scoutmaster of Troop 3. The troop is sponsored by the club. Dittloff told the club how Lord Baden-Powell struck upon the idea of Boy Scout work for youngsters and how he fostered its growth in England. Boy Scout activities came to America, he said, because of the experience W. D. Boyce, Chicago publisher, had with a British Boy Scout.

Growth of the movement was traced by the speaker and the objectives and program of the organization was outlined.

Sam Sonntag was program chairman for the day. Two new members were inducted into the club. They are the Rev. Jack Ware, and Dr. Theodore Alexander.

Frank Hood, lieutenant governor for Kiwanis Clubs in this area, was a special guest. His home is in Andrews.

Announcement was made of a directors meeting at the Howard House on Tuesday night and any Kiwanian who has business with the board is invited to be present.

Major Hurricane Study To Begin

WASHINGTON (AP)—The greatest research attack on the hurricane in meteorological history is about to begin.

The assignment will be carried out under the national hurricane research project with headquarters at West Palm Beach. Funds were provided by Congress last year.

Dr. F. W. Reichelderfer, chief of the Weather Bureau, has asked another 2½ million dollars for equipment.

As time nears for another season of the big storms, he said, the Weather Bureau, the armed forces, universities and foreign governments are uniting for an all-out study.

The primary purpose is to inform and warn the public better.

Publisher Sues Minister For Bite

ST. LOUIS (AP)—John C. Mosby, head of a medical publishing firm, has filed a $50,000 suit against a minister, claiming the minister's dog caused him to lose his left eye. Mosby said in his petition, filed in St. Louis County Circuit Court, the Dalmatian dog attacked and bit him on the eye last Feb. 12 when he was visiting at the home of Dr. Edgar C. Taylor.

Dr. Taylor, an Episcopal minister, also is headmaster of the Taylor School, a private boys' school in suburban Clayton. He officiated at Mosby's wedding last November.

Nine Die In Blaze

A fireman watches as a blazing piece of furniture is tossed from a window of a Philadelphia, Pa., dwelling where nine persons died in a fire that swept through the building. The dead included three women and six children.

STORMS AHEAD

Nixon Will Run, Ike's 'Delighted'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republicans' 1956 ticket was all but wrapped up today. Vice President Nixon said he would run again. President Eisenhower said he was "delighted."

Democrats, expressing no surprise at Nixon's decision, indicated they will direct plenty of fire at him. Many of them have bitterly criticized his campaign tactics in the past.

He seemed likely to shoulder a major portion of the GOP campaign this year.

Barring some health setback for Eisenhower, Nixon's announcement yesterday seemed to leave only formalities for the GOP's August convention in San Francisco. Sen. Knowland of California, Senate Republican leader, said even the drafting of a platform ought not to present much of a problem. "It will be based on the Eisenhower administration record," he said.

Knowland said Nixon's announcement "clarifies the political atmosphere" so the party now can "close ranks and direct attention to gaining majorities in the Senate and the House."

Nixon's decision was announced after a White House conference with Eisenhower, who relayed his reaction through an aide. Nixon said he relied on his own and associates' judgment of what was best for "the success of the President in his campaign for the continued success of the President's administration in Washington."

He said he delayed announcing a decision because he had to "weigh all the factors involved and reach a decision that would put the primary goal first."

Eisenhower had said March 7 he had asked Nixon to "chart out his own course." A week later Eisenhower said he would be "happy to be on any political ticket" with Nixon.

Nixon's decision was not unexpected, although there had been speculation that he might delay an announcement until summer. "I do not greet this news with any misery whatever," said Adlai E. Stevenson in Miami, Fla., where he is campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"I am not surprised. Mr. Eisenhower has repeatedly stated his admiration for Mr. Nixon. I just think this is another point where he and I disagree."

At Pittsburgh, Sen. Estes Kefauver, who also seeks the Democratic nomination, said he thinks the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket "is as strong as the Republicans could put up but I feel certain the Democrats will win in November."

Sen. Knowland said in an interview the 43-year-old Nixon is likely to bear the brunt of the campaigning, but he said he thinks it "would be helpful for the President to get out in the country." GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall has indicated Nixon will be called upon to do the "barnstorming" Eisenhower said he wouldn't undertake.

Services Held For Mitchell County Ranch Employee

COLORADO CITY — Funeral services were held at 5 p.m. Thursday at the Loraine Catholic Church for Florencio Gonzales, who died suddenly at the Root Memorial Hospital in Colorado City.

The Rev. Luyton of Sweetwater officiated at the rites, and burial was in the Loraine cemetery under direction of Kiker & Son.

Mr. Gonzales, 81, was born in Mexico but had lived in the United States since 1903. For the past four years he had been living on the Bruce Byrnes ranch near Colorado City.

He is survived by two sons, Jose Gonzales and Gertrudes Gonzales of Colorado City, and a daughter, Maria Salas of Lubbock.

Siamese Twins Born To Dakota Mother

FARGO, N.D. (AP)—Siamese twin girls were born yesterday to a 27-year-old mother. They were joined from chest to abdomen. Doctors reported the infants in satisfactory condition and said they were studying the case for the possibility of separating them. The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Neubauer.

Methodists See Sin Panorama

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—To Methodists, this is a "prodigal world." They sat last night in a huge, darkened auditorium, and absorbed the sights and sounds of sin.

"Father forgive us," a voice spoke out over the amplifiers, "for we know not what we do." The occasion was a documentary drama—by actors, singers, speakers and moving pictures—of the wickedness and wrongs that plague the earth.

About 8,000 people, including delegates to the Methodist General Conference here, watched the two-hour panorama in Minneapolis' municipal auditorium. Dr. S. Walton Cole, of the First Methodist Church, Manhattan, Kan., appeared briefly, telling how his church started a movement to stop restaurants from barring Negroes.

Dr. Thomas Shipp, of Lovers Lane Church, Dallas, Tex., recounted his church's work in restoring scores of alcoholics to useful lives. "We don't try to tell people they're wrong," he said, "but to point out a better way."

Then, again, those spotlights and choruses, those flashing scenes of a slain soldier, of warplanes diving, of a family killed by a drunk driver, of a screaming, starving child.

The program, "The Prodigal World," was presented by the Methodist Boards of World Peace, Temperance and Social and Economic Relations. The script was by the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Holmes, of Rapid City, S. D., and direction by Dr. Edward Crowley, of the Methodist's Northwestern University.

For two hours, the dramatic recitation of man's "deep sickness" went on—the conflicts, the wasted energies, the poverty and power-grasping oppression of others.

Altrusans Hear Plan Of Guidance Program

The high school guidance program was discussed for the Altrusa Club Thursday at noon by Wilder Roe, instructor in the local school. The group met at the Settles for luncheon, with Mrs. Wilbur Sullivan in charge of the business session.

An invitation was extended to the club to attend the Woman of the Year Tea to be given at Webb Officers' Lounge May 6. Beta Sigma Phi Sorority will be hostesses.

Members were given an opportunity of making nominations for district officers. Mrs. Mildred Penny was introduced as a new member.

Guests attending were Donna White of Chicago, Mrs. Reed Collins, and Mrs. W. U. O'Neal.

Mr. Roe gave the history of the guidance program, showing how it has changed to fit changing conditions in the schools.

The three phases, educational, vocational and personal guidance were discussed. He described the ways in which a pupil is helped in deciding upon his course of studies for his life's work.

The guidance in a vocational field is based upon the pupil's ability and his desire to work in certain lines. The personal side of the pupil is investigated through charts and examinations; if he needs help, the guidance is extended to aid him in solving his problems.

For the pupil's help, files are kept on occupational information and booklets are available for personal education. Roe showed and explained personality and aptitude tests and charts.

Mrs. Loyd Wooten, program coordinator, introduced the speaker.

Grow Chrysanthemums By Division, Cuttings

By ANNE LEFEVER

Are you planning to have chrysanthemums in your garden this fall? Then, now is the time to be working with them.

If you have some plants already growing, the clumps should be dug up and divided. Set the separated plants out in new beds where the soil has not been robbed of nourishment by other chrysanthemums. Dust them with sulphur to guard against rust.

Chrysanthemums like a lot of fertilizer, especially of the barnyard type. Given in liquid form, it is highly effective. This can be prepared by soaking the fertilizer overnight in water.

Plenty of water and protection from the sun during the hot part of the day is important for chrysanthemums as is a mulch to hold the moisture and to cover the roots.

When the plants have grown to a height of several inches, pinch them back; this will cause them to grow outward in various directions instead of in one slim stem.

If you desire, you may grow the plants from cuttings. From the tops of an old plant, take a cutting about 2 1/2 inches in length; cut just below a leaf joint.

Trim all lower leaves from the cutting and place it in a flower pot containing sand and peat moss.

A dusting of hormone powder before it is planted would be beneficial to the cutting. Keep in a light airy spot and keep the soil moist.

Most cuttings will root quickly but should be kept in pots about 10 days before setting out in the beds. Prepare the soil by working in well-rotted fertilizer, leaves or other organic material.

Transplant actively-growing plants of about four to six inches in height, and space them about two feet apart. Firm the soil around the cutting and pour about two cups of water around the base to settle the dirt.

When the plants begin to show renewed growth, give them some fertilizer mixed in a circle around the base work it into the soil and water thoroughly.

Lamesa Club Hears Segregation Panel

LAMESA—The Woman's Study Club met for a program on "Youth Today" with Lola Mae Hewitt as program leader.

A panel discussion on segregation was presented by Tom Koger, as moderator, Jim Barr, Nancy Nowlin, James Norris and Lucille Agee. The discussion primarily centered around the problems of integration in the schools.

Musical selections were presented by the "Hungry Five," an orchestra composed of Don Graves, Roy Hatch, L. W. West, Carl Crouch and Robert Wheat. This was followed by a panel from the Junior High Library Association who explained the Newberry and Oldcott medal given to outstanding children's books.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Hubert Nelson reported on the calendar sales progress. The deadline was extended to June 1.

Plans were made to give the fourth annual $25 good citizenship award to the outstanding senior of Blackshear School. Mrs. Edwin Matthews is scholarship chairman.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Arpie White and Mrs. O. H. Sires. Forty-five attended.

Little Ladies Enjoy Shampooing With Mitts

Your little girl can learn to take care of her own tresses at an early age, if you make it fun for her.

She'll have a wonderful time drying her hair with king-size terry cloth mittens. Local sewing center experts tell you how to make them, complete with a name on each cuff.

You'll need 2 1/2 yard of terry cloth, 1 1/2 yard of heavy cotton flannel or cotton padding, 1 package of wide bias tape, 1 yard of rickrack in a coordinated color and a half yard of elastic. Be sure all materials used are colorfast.

Each mitten is made of four separate mitten-shaped pieces, with padding in between. The pieces are stitched together with bias tape. Each of the mitten-shaped pieces is actually a three-layer arrangement, with a layer of cotton flannel sandwiched between two layers of terry cloth.

These mittens will absorb plenty of moisture and may be worn on opposite hands to get a dry surface when the palms become wet.

Using a piece of paper about eight inches wide and 12 inches long, make a paper pattern for a mitten. Use this pattern to cut out eight terry mitten-shaped pieces and four flannel pieces.

Pin one flannel mitten between two terry mittens and stitch several diagonal lines to form a quilted pattern holding flannel padding in place. If you use the quilter bar attachment for your sewing machine, you will be assured of straight, evenly-spaced lines of stitching.

Make four of these sandwiched mitten shapes. Then using chalk or a soft pencil, trace your child's name on the cuff space of two mittens-shapes. Top stitch rickrack over these marking lines.

Baste two mittens together. If you do machine basting, set your machine for six to eight stitches to the inch. Bind outside edges with wide bias tape, leaving wrist opening free. Stitch a casing three inches from wrist edge, using tape folded in half. Insert narrow elastic to fit. Bind wrist opening separately.

This same pattern may be used to make potholders, with extra padding.

Golden Rule Class Starts Study Series

A study series, "Who Are Baptists?" was started by the Golden Rule Class, East Fourth Baptist Church, at a monthly social Wednesday night.

During a business session conducted by Virginia Cain the group voted to prepare individual reports on other denominations for addition to their study notebooks. They also determined to help a woman missionary in South America.

The second Friday of the month was slated for regular visitation under the direction of prospect chairman, Barbara Porch. Carolyn Hoggard was appointed to secure a pennant name flag for the classroom.

Members met for a spaghetti supper in the home of their teacher, Mrs. Don Henry.

Kid's Day Kicks Off BSHS Spring

High School students are celebrating Kid's Day today under the auspices of the student council, which organized the day with other end-of-school activities at a recent meeting.

Don Shore was appointed in charge of marbles; Valjean La Croix, jacks; Randal Hamby, jumping rope. Lollypops will be given to students, and judges will select the best dressed boy and girl. Prizes will be awarded.

Wednesday was designated Clean Up Day. May 18 was named Senior Assembly Day. On the program will be farewell speeches, class history, an original song, presentation of class gift and novelty numbers.

May 18 is also the date of the annual student council barbecue for incoming officers and representatives.

Twenty members attended the meeting. Sponsors are Betty Lou Ratliff and Don Green.

Bingo Party Given In Catholic Hall

About 150 attended the benefit bingo party at St. Thomas Catholic Church Hall Thursday evening. It was sponsored by the Altar Society of the church.

Bill Sneed and Bill Gilbert were the callers for the games. Special prizes were won by Bill Griesse, Lee Schattell, Mrs. J. B. Linne-man, Paul Brunton and Harold Talbot.

Cochairmen of the party were Mrs. Harry McDermott and Mrs. L. D. Jenkins. They were assisted by other members of the society in serving from a table laid with a white cloth; it was decorated with an arrangement of varicolored spring daisies.

Hang Up Utensils

Put up a narrow stainless steel rack (with hooks on it) in your kitchen. These racks are usually sold for mixing spoons, spatulas and so forth; but an extra one (with eight hooks on it) will be fine for hanging four graduated measuring cups and four graduated measuring spoons. If you like to have two sets of the cups and spoons on hand, you can hang both sets on the hooks of the rack.

Antitrust Suit Against ANPA Dropped By U.S.

NEW YORK (U.S. —) A federal antitrust suit against the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. over advertising policies has been settled by agreement and with court approval. The Justice Department filed suit last May against the ANPA and five other advertising and publishing associations, charging them with violations of the Sherman Antitrust Act in the developing, placing and servicing of national advertising.

All six defendants denied the accusations. About two hours after the ANPA concluded its three-day, 70th annual convention here yesterday, Federal Judge John M. Cashin entered a consent decree and terminated the agreement "very satisfactory."

Cranston Williams, ANPA general manager, said the decree preserves for ANPA members their right to conduct their newspapers in the exercise of their independent judgment, adding:

"We do not think we have engaged in any such practices; we have no intention of doing so, and so stated to the court in our answer." In the decree there was no adjudication of any of the facts in the controversy. In addition to the ANPA, the defendants were the American Assn. of Advertising Agencies, the Publishers Assn. of New York City, Associated Business Publications, Periodical Publishers Assn., and the Agricultural Publishers Assn. The case against the American Assn. of Advertising Agencies was terminated last Feb. 1 by a consent judgment.

The Publishers Assn. of New York City, whose members also are members of the ANPA, had agreed to abide by the decision in the ANPA litigation.

Shoemaker Move May Be Delayed

McKINNEY, Tex. (U.S. —) The removal of A. B. Shoemaker, head of the defunct U.S. Trust and Guaranty Co., from the Veterans Administration Hospital may be delayed, a VA official said yesterday. Dr. W. H. Buckholts, manager of the hospital, said Shoemaker, who shot himself in the head Jan. 7, was to leave the hospital today but that his removal probably would be delayed.

Dr. Buckholts said he had been informed that Mrs. Shoemaker's doctor had advised her that she would not be able to stand the strain of the trip and taking care of Shoemaker at this time. The VA official said he had been unable to get a definite commitment as to when Mrs. Shoemaker would be able to take her husband out of the hospital.

At Waco, H. W. Friday Hoffman, Mrs. Shoemaker's brother-in-law, confirmed the report.

"Mrs. Shoemaker cannot go up (to McKinney) Friday or Saturday. She has lost a lot of weight and has gone to pieces. Her doctor said she is not capable of making the trip," he said.

Shoemaker amazed doctors by living after firing a shot into his right temple. Although he has partially recovered, doctors have indicated he has regained only part of his mental faculties.

Postman's Help Fails To Save Elderly Woman

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (U.S. —) An alert postman smothered flames covering Mrs. Clara H. Stiebling's dress but the 70-year-old woman died of burns several hours later. William A. Eaton said he heard faint cries from the home of Mrs. Stiebling while he was delivering mail. He found her in the kitchen with her dress in flames. He put them out with a blanket before police arrived.

Mrs. Stiebling told hospital attendants her dress caught fire from some papers on the kitchen stove.

U.S. Viewed Through Eyes Of Visiting Alaska Eskimo

Editor's Note — Asagook Chester Seveck, a Kotzebue, Alaska, Eskimo, came to the United States as a guest of the Alaska Visitors' Assn. to publicize the territory's potential for the winter. He is a summer resident in the following article by Asagook Chester Seveck.

SEATTLE (U.S. —) On March 29, 1956, I started by airplane from Kotzebue, Alaska (Small Place), I stop in Fairbanks, Alaska, over night and in Seattle to Los Angeles.

I'm surprised and see many strange things, many people different kind of color and talk different languages. Too many cars running and go different direction.

Helping Hand

Mayor H. L. Henderson of Portage la Prairie, Man., Canada, right, takes time out on his tour of flooded areas along the Assiniboine River to lend a helping hand to district farmer William Jeffrey (holding horse) and son, Bill, as they move livestock from their inundated barn to a higher spot on the farm. Soaked to the waist, Mr. Jeffrey stayed on his farm until all his livestock was safe. Then he and his family moved out.

Russian Chiefs Lost Ground In Visit To Great Britain

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Foreign News Analyst

LONDON (U.S. —) The British-Soviet communique ending the 10-day Bulgarian-Khrushchev visit is probably disappointing to everyone concerned. But the Russians had more disappointments than the British.

In terms of the modest results of the conferences, the British can claim victory on several counts. The Russians lost a propaganda skirmish and the British gained at least a temporary breathing spell in the Middle East war of nerves.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev admitted they were unimpressed by the coolness of the British reception. That, coupled with the lack of hard achievement in the talks, explains the solemn mood of the two Russian visitors.

The joint statement, while it is loaded with the cliches of diplomacy, still indicates Moscow's leaders are worried that the world situation might deteriorate into something uncomfortably close to World War III.

The communique announces mutual pledges, in broad generalities, to work for lessening of tensions, prevention of nuclear war, halting of the arms race, lessening war risk in the Middle East and for increased trade and cultural contacts between East and West. No specific steps are mentioned.

Much depends now upon how much the Russians mean of what they say. They say they will do their best to end the arms race.

Adlai Sees Encouraging Signs In Primary Voting

MIAMI, Fla. (U.S. —) Adlai Stevenson says trends in primary voting are encouraging for his own chances against Estes Kefauver and offer hopes for a Democratic victory in November.

The former Illinois governor said last night he based his statement on returns from the eight primaries held thus far which show a drop in Republican voting as compared to 1952 and a gain in Democratic voting.

And he said Democratic hopes of defeating President Eisenhower had been enhanced by Vice President Nixon's decision to run again.

"I do not greet this news with any misery whatever," he told a news conference when advised Nixon had decided to seek Republican renomination.

Stevenson said there had been a decline of from 12 to 40 per cent in Republican voting in primaries held thus far. At the same time, he said, the Democratic vote had increased from 2 to 35 per cent.

While he ran about 300,000 votes behind Eisenhower in Pennsylvania, Stevenson said he regarded the significant factors in the election.

home, big houses, clean. The stuffs selling very cheap, easy life if I got money in my pocket, no money no work no eat and very hard life as poor Alaska Eskimo.

Every day go different radio, television stations. We walking day by day. My mukluk (fur-lined boots) holes already walking on cement and rock street.

Also we go to Mexico. The people in Mexico look like Eskimo, but they trying sale the things in every where in the street, many people trying my mukluk everywhere we walk in the street. The worst part is two girls following me about three long blocks to trying to buy mukluk they from $15.00 to $25.00.

U.N. Chieftain Begins Peace Talks In Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (U.S. —) Secretary Dag Hammarskjold began talks here today expected to produce a cease-fire pledge by Lebanon and advance his Middle East peace mission still another step.

Boostered by cease-fire agreements from Egypt and Jordan and a tentative promise from Syria, the secretary general appeared on the verge of setting up a new ring of peace pledges between Israel and all her Arab neighbors.

Hammarskjold was to confer with Lebanon's president Camille Chamoun and Foreign Minister Salim Lahud.

He is expected to go back to Cairo tomorrow for final talks with Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser. Then he will return to Israel for further conferences with Premier David Ben-Gurion.

Sources in Cairo said the secretary general has laid down a five-point plan to keep peace on the Israeli-Egyptian frontier. It reportedly calls for:

1. Withdrawal of forces from each side of the line.
2. Roving U.N. patrols along the demarcation lines.
3. Observation posts at critical points.
4. More U.N. observers.
5. Full freedom of movement for U.N. personnel.

One hurdle Hammarskjold must clear is agreement by Israel to suspend plans to divert the waters of the river Jordan. Israel has threatened to go on with the project despite Arab opposition.

Receiver Asked In Suit For Divorce

LOS ANGELES (U.S. —) Mrs. Dave Rubinoff has asked the court to restrain her concert violinist husband from removing the couple's community property and to appoint a receiver to take charge of it until their divorce trial. Mrs. Rubinoff, 41, until recently book-keeping manager for her husband, 50, charged him with cruelty.

LONDON (U.S. —) The British-Soviet communique ending the 10-day Bulgarian-Khrushchev visit is probably disappointing to everyone concerned. But the Russians had more disappointments than the British.

In terms of the modest results of the conferences, the British can claim victory on several counts. The Russians lost a propaganda skirmish and the British gained at least a temporary breathing spell in the Middle East war of nerves.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev admitted they were unimpressed by the coolness of the British reception. That, coupled with the lack of hard achievement in the talks, explains the solemn mood of the two Russian visitors.

The joint statement, while it is loaded with the cliches of diplomacy, still indicates Moscow's leaders are worried that the world situation might deteriorate into something uncomfortably close to World War III.

The communique announces mutual pledges, in broad generalities, to work for lessening of tensions, prevention of nuclear war, halting of the arms race, lessening war risk in the Middle East and for increased trade and cultural contacts between East and West. No specific steps are mentioned.

Much depends now upon how much the Russians mean of what they say. They say they will do their best to end the arms race.

Adlai Sees Encouraging Signs In Primary Voting

MIAMI, Fla. (U.S. —) Adlai Stevenson says trends in primary voting are encouraging for his own chances against Estes Kefauver and offer hopes for a Democratic victory in November.

The former Illinois governor said last night he based his statement on returns from the eight primaries held thus far which show a drop in Republican voting as compared to 1952 and a gain in Democratic voting.

And he said Democratic hopes of defeating President Eisenhower had been enhanced by Vice President Nixon's decision to run again.

"I do not greet this news with any misery whatever," he told a news conference when advised Nixon had decided to seek Republican renomination.

Stevenson said there had been a decline of from 12 to 40 per cent in Republican voting in primaries held thus far. At the same time, he said, the Democratic vote had increased from 2 to 35 per cent.

While he ran about 300,000 votes behind Eisenhower in Pennsylvania, Stevenson said he regarded the significant factors in the election.

Reds Claim Seamen Back 'Voluntarily'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (U.S. —) The Soviet Union's U.N. delegation says five Russian seamen who gave up U.S. asylum and returned to Russia went back of "their own freely expressed will."

A statement from the delegation denied that Russia's chief U.N. delegate, Arkady A. Sobolev, pressured the five men into going home.

The State Department Wednesday demanded the recall of two low-rank Soviet delegation members, Aleksandr K. Guryanov and Nikolai Turkin, charging they engaged in "particularly objectionable acts" in connection with the case. It also warned Sobolev to adhere strictly to his U.N. functions while in the United States on diplomatic status.

The Soviet statement said arrangements for the return of the seamen were made by a Soviet consular official in Washington, U.S. immigration authorities at New York's Idlewild Airport interviewed the men before their departure April 7, the statement continued, and found "that the Soviet sailors were leaving the United States at their own freely expressed will."

L. M. Zamyatin, Sobolev's top political aide, told a news conference his chief and other members of the delegation went to the airport as friends and compatriots to see the seamen off. He termed groundless a State Department charge that Sobolev intervened during the immigration interview.

Hard On The Hand That Rocks

A writer in the current Saturday Evening Post tells of his experience trying to find a cradle to rock his infant child in. What he found is that the cradle, once a standby in all American homes where infants abide, has practically disappeared from the face of the earth.

This fellow finally found one—an antique piece used by a friendly neighbor to keep stovewood in. Extensive research developed the fact that cradles just simply aren't made any more, and such as still remain are museum pieces.

This decline of the cradle, the writer finds, started around the turn of the century when the crib came into vogue. The process was hastened when the spinners and bachelors who seem to make up our most authoritative pundits in child care gave out the notion that rocking a child in a cradle might spoil him beyond hope of salvation. The same "experts" developed the notion that breast-feeding an infant warped his psyche, and fondling him in any way would never do. Modern doctors have shot these prissy theories full of holes, but meantime the cradles disappeared, and papa and mama get callouses on their feet—usually papa—walking the baby at all hours, when in the old days a gentle tug at the cradle would serve the same purpose of lulling babykins off to sleep.

The rocking chair started to become passe about the same time as the cradle, which is a form of rocker, but the Post writer declares the old-fashioned rocker is staging a comeback.

The cradle was one of human ingenuity's first major developments. That thing Indian mothers fasten on their backs to carry baby bunting in is called a cradleboard or papooseboard, and is even older than the cradle.

Maybe the world has gone to pot because the hand that used to rule it has lost its hold on the cradle, which was its symbol of power. The solution seems fairly simple: Bring back the cradle and let mama start ruling the world again.

Integrated Public Safety System

This newspaper's Sunday magazine supplement, "Family Weekly," carried a story of community cooperation last Sunday that must have been of interest to a great many of the country's smaller cities, such as ours, hampered to maintain adequate manpower in two very important functions of public safety—the police and fire departments.

The story told how many communities have worked out a system of cooperation between these two departments whereby policemen are available in helping to fight fires and firemen are available for certain aspects of police duty.

In some communities the merger of the two functions is complete. In Oak Park, a suburb of Detroit, for instance, the terms policeman and fireman have been discarded and they are now called "public safety officers," which is exactly what they are in any community. Each fireman gets training in the techniques and procedures of the police department, and each policeman gets the same training in fire-fighting techniques. To all intents and purposes the two services are integrated and interchangeable.

Some other communities—Glencoe, Ill., for example—do not go quite so far. Glencoe's 22-man force is divided into conventional police and fire departments under a director of public safety, and the two services operate independently. But each fireman gets 20 hours of training in the duties of a policeman, and each policeman gets the same training in the work of fighting fires, rescues and the like.

The public safety director of Oak Park notes that dire predictions were made as to the unworkability of that city's completely integrated system, but adds: "Today, though, it has resulted in nothing more than shortening the work week for firemen, more efficient utilization of personnel and equipment, the presence of more trained men at the scene of all fires, and the promise of huge savings within the next 20 years."

Perhaps it wouldn't work everywhere, but all cities are faced with financial difficulties and manpower problems, and maybe it's worth a trial, if only on a voluntary, experimental basis.

No Rubbing Shoulders With K And B

LONDON — For the 20 years I have been coming to London, I always have wanted to stay at Claridge's, the hotel famous the world over as "royalty's home away from home."

So at last I've made it! And who's here? Khruish and Bulgy! So am I mixing it up in the lobby with the kings, queens, princesses and dukes who usually are in residence at this swell hotel?

Let me answer, please. I am mixing it up with Russian bodyguards, Russian secret police, Russian strong-arm men, Russian secretaries and Russian stenographers and maids.

Not only am I not rubbing shoulders with kings and queens, I am not even rubbing shoulders with Khruish and Bulgy. Every time they appear in the lobby of this citadel of quiet elegance, the rest of the guests are flushed out of the lobby and shoed into the adjoining lounge and the lounge doors firmly closed.

Then Khruish and Bulgy and their armed entourage march through the lobby while other guests of the management stare at them from the other side of the lounge's clear glass walls.

In all the years that Claridge's has been host to such dignitaries as Dwight D. Eisenhower, Queen Juliana of The Netherlands, the Grand Duchess of Luxembourg, the late King George of Greece, Pandit Nehru, Cardinal Spellman, former King Michael of Roumania, former King Peter of Greece, etc., etc., no such routine has ever been required before.

This is the first time in its long history that security arrangements have ever forced Claridge's to separate the sheep from the goats, so to speak. Even the main entrance to Claridge's is closed and guarded by an officer when the Russian leaders are in the lobby.

Even when Queen Victoria came to this hotel — the only one she ever entered — to visit the Empress Eugenie, such precautions were unheard of. When Mussolini stayed here in 1922, just after he became Il Duce and before he became really infamous, such security measures were not even considered.

His Royal Highness, Prince Hassan of Jordan, brother of the King of Jordan, is also a guest at Claridge's now, but he is shoed out of the lobby when the Russians appear, just like the rest of us commoners.

It's plain to me now that I can't win. In Monte Carlo, when I finally got asked out in real high society to the fanciest pre-nuptial party given for Prince Rainier and Grace, some one of "The Four Hundred" stole my gold pencil.

And now, after years of effort, when I finally get my toe in the door at Claridge's, who steps on it? A king? A queen? An archduke?

No! Khruish and Bulgy. I quit.

Flight Psychology

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio — Research to search out the "bugs" in human reactions under the stress and strain of flying is going on at Antioch College under U. S. Air Force auspices.

The need for the project came with modern, high-speed airplanes, says Dr. Jerome Cohen, professor of psychology.

With aircraft getting slimmer, the result is less space for the pilot and instruments. And at jet speeds, a pilot must be able to tell at a swift glance what's going on. So one goal is fewer instruments.

In one of the experiments a pilot's eye movements are photographed under flight conditions, to determine if some instruments can't be combined. Student volunteers may find themselves subjected to 110 decibels of sound in a 4x7-foot room, or involved in an experiment on control panel knobs.

Atoms Help Seeds

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. — Atomic energy is being used to produce better seeds. University of Tennessee experts at Oak Ridge hope to produce disease-resistant seeds by exposing them to gamma rays from radioactive cobalt.

Since most radiation effects are harmful to seeds, the project is expected to take several years to be successful.

Nixon Announcement No Surprise

WASHINGTON — When a politician climbs the ladder to within one rung of the top, it's hardly time to jump off. So Vice President Nixon's announcement he wants to run again was something less than a surprise.

What else would he want to do? He's not only a politician but an ambitious one as his record shows. He made it in a big way in six years: first elected to Congress in 1946, to the Senate in 1950, to the vice presidency in 1952.

If Eisenhower should die before inauguration day next January, Nixon will be president. If the two men are elected and Eisenhower dies before January 1961, Nixon becomes president.

And if they both are elected and live out their term, Nixon will have a good chance for the Republican presidential nomination in 1960. It seemed only a matter of time before he said he'd like to be Eisenhower's running mate again.

The time element was interesting in itself. Eisenhower handled the question of Nixon's candidacy like a man sticking a thermometer under the nation's political tongue. No announcement was made until the temperature looked normal.

Nixon has a knack for making people either like him or despise him. Almost everyone seems to like Eisenhower.

The feeling about Nixon ranges from that of Sen. Millikin (R-Colo.) to that of former President Truman. When Millikin heard yesterday Nixon's hat was in the ring again, he said, "Good, good."

Truman has been quoted as saying, although he denies using the profanity: "I don't like the ——— who knows it." Democrats have been sore at Nixon for his campaign tactics in 1952 and 1954, his linking of "Democrats" and "Communists" in one sentence or paragraph.

There was the possibility Nixon had antagonized, besides Democrats, a lot of independents and perhaps some Republicans. It was something which Republican leaders may have thought about.

Although Nixon has been a hard-working vice president, Eisenhower, while praising him, worked his way forward almost gingerly to saying he wanted Nixon as a running mate again.

This gave Eisenhower time to see what the sentiment about Nixon, although Republican party leaders have pretty largely endorsed him enthusiastically, and increasingly so as time went on.

Last Jan. 25, before Eisenhower himself said he would run again, he was asked at a news conference how he felt about having Nixon on the ticket with him again. Eisenhower praised his vice president.

But he said, "I never have talked to him under any circumstances as to what his future is to be or what he wants it to be." It wasn't long before Republican leaders were saying what a fine running mate Nixon would be for Eisenhower.

On Feb. 29, when Eisenhower announced his second-term candidacy, he refused to say whether he wanted Nixon. Again he praised him. But he said it was "traditional" that a vice president is not nominated "until after a presidential candidate is chosen."

This was being extremely reticent, since Eisenhower knew his own simple statement he would run again was the same as being nominated. By the same token he knew the Republican convention would endorse anyone he wanted for vice president.

On March 7 Eisenhower said all he had asked Nixon to do was to "chart out his own course and tell me what he would like to do." By this time a number of Republican leaders had said Nixon was just the man for the No. 2 spot.

On March 13 Nixon won a heavy vote of confidence in the New Hampshire presidential primary by getting over 22,000 write-in votes for renomination as vice president.

The next day, March 14, Eisenhower said Nixon is like a brother to him and "I would be happy to be on any political ticket in which I was a candidate with him."

There wasn't much more said on the subject until Wednesday when Eisenhower said he still hadn't heard what Nixon wanted to do. Yesterday Nixon told everybody, and Eisenhower said he was "delighted."

Such travelers are "invisible imports." The dollars they spend for meals, clothes, railroad and air fares, souvenirs, and hotel rooms help to balance world trade.

In 1955, Americans spent $1,095,000,000 abroad, of which $401,000,000 was in western Europe, $306,000,000 in Canada, $222,000,000 in Latin America, and $166,000,000 in other parts of the world. In 1954, the outlay was $958,000,000.

The 1956 total should top $1,200,000,000 easily. Nor is that statistic complete. It doesn't include travel expenditures on foreign steamships or airlines that take Americans out of the country. Throw that in, and the 1956 total will run to more than $1,700,000,000, or about 10 per cent of American imports.

Foreign travel promotes business at home, too. Not only do Americans buy clothes, suitcases and numerous appurtenances for their trips abroad, but this year they'll turn over to the State Department about $4,000,000 in passport fees. In 1955, the fees were $3,500,000. A new passport costs $10-$15 for the passport and $1 for a notarial fee. A renewal, permissible within two years and good for two additional years, costs $5.

Today's travel boom has a parallel with that of the 'twenties, also an era of resplendent prosperity. Passport "sales" spokesman said.

Around The Rim

What Is There To Fear?

Tuesday's closed meeting of the school board points up a growing trend in American life — the censorship of the public's business. This trend is not restricted to Big Spring, nor to school boards in general. The present administration in Washington comes in for a lot of criticism nowadays for its suppression of news, mostly on the part of governmental agencies.

Congress, too, sometimes holds closed meetings, especially in committee sessions. Many state legislatures and state administrations show the same symptoms.

The worst of the lot, however, are and always have been city councils. School boards and county commissioners, generally speaking, are not so bad.

Closure of meetings of public bodies dealing with the public's business is unconstitutional — the only excuse for this kind of censorship is in the interests of national security. Thus, in the light of the local school board meeting, since when is the issue of re-hiring a teacher of importance to the Russians?

We can understand private citizens wishing to shun publicity concerning their own private matters. We all have a right to privacy. But no one has the right, either moral or legal, to monopolize the public's business. This form of censorship sometimes comes from small-minded men serving in public office, men with the attitude of "We're running this show."

"Nobody runs anything of a public nature in this country — they just serve. Public matters are not any man's private preserve."

At other times, the trouble comes from fear of bad publicity. At such times, public officials are usually on the up and up — but misinformed.

The teacher involved in the local dispute later made charges of favoritism to student discipline. We do not pretend to know the truth of the charges, but when the school board refuses to air the charges in public, it puts the board in a worse light than anything that could be said in an open hearing.

News men are going to dig up the story anyway, so what good does it do to stoop to censorship?

Charges of favoritism have been made. — what is the school board afraid of? — BOB SMITH

Congress' Investigative Rights

WASHINGTON — Congress has the right to investigate and get information on any phase of Communism or Communist infiltration or anything else on which it seeks to obtain data.

This principle, long established, now has been reaffirmed by the U. S. Court of Appeals here by a 6-to-2 decision. The issue arose in a case where a defendant didn't plead the Fifth Amendment but asserted that a congressional committee didn't have the right to "expose" anybody but merely to get information really needed for legislation.

The importance of the case is that a few weeks ago, by a 2-to-1 decision, a section of the Court of Appeals here ruled in favor of the witness. Now Judge Walter Bastian, who was in the minority then, heads the court in rendering the decision in which eight judges participated.

The case is important because it strikes at a fallacy widely believed by many so-called "liberals" who have contended that, unless a congressional committee can furnish absolute proof that it is constitutionally authorized to get the information it seeks from a witness, the latter is justified in declining to answer.

The late Albert Einstein once wrote a letter urging witnesses to ignore a congressional committee's inquiries about past affiliations and so-called "political" beliefs.

The American Civil Liberties Union, which has been carrying on a crusade against congressional inquiries has contended in one of its annual reports that the powers of Congress to ask questions are very limited, indeed.

Likewise, "The Fund for the Republic" is financing a study of congressional powers of inquiry and, through its spokesman, has been saying congressional committees cannot do what they have been doing to break down the Communist party in America, because it is supposedly "political."

But Judge Bastian, speaking for the Court of Appeals, says:

"A majority of the Court is of the opinion that Congress has power to investigate the history of the Communist party and to ask the questions Watkins refused to answer. It would be quite in order for Congress to authorize a committee to investigate the rate of growth or decline of the Communist party, and so its numerical strength at various times, as part of an inquiry into the extent of the menace it poses and the legislative means that may be appropriate for dealing with that menace. Inquiry whether thirty persons were Communists between 1942 and 1947 would be pertinent to such an investigation. The questions asked Watkins could be asked for a valid legislative purpose."

The principal point made by the minority of the Court was that a congressional committee doesn't have the right to use its powers for "exposure" about anybody. But Judge Bastian, in the majority opinion adds:

"Congress has power of exposure if the exposure is incident to the exercise of a legislative function. Congress certainly has the power of inquiry or of investigation when the inquiry or investigation is upon a subject concerning which Congress may legislate. The fact that such an inquiry or investigation may reveal something or 'expose' something is incidental and without effect upon the validity of the inquiry."

The witness in this case undertook to decide for himself whether Congress ought to require him to give the names of Communists he knew in the labor-union movement. The court says this is for Congress to determine unless a Fifth Amendment plea is interposed as a reason for refusal to answer. The court's ruling, therefore, is of far-reaching significance—particularly this passage:

"Congress has before it the important duty to legislate effectively, but at the same time wisely, upon the problems posed by the world Communist movement. It cannot perform that duty without information. It ought not try to perform it without information. We think that the joint resolution authorized an inquiry into infiltration by Communists into labor unions and that this inquiry was such an inquiry."

Thus does a high court dispose of the allegation that a congressional committee's search for information can be restricted, if not broken down altogether, by the specious plea that it might "expose" something unpleasant about the past associations of a person who once was in the Communist movement or knew something about its operations. Unless the Fifth Amendment is offered as a reason — a fear of self-incrimination — the citizen owes a duty to tell a duly constituted committee of Congress what he knows.

Europe's No Place To Avoid Americans

WASHINGTON — If you are traveling abroad this summer and happen to bump into old friends from Saginaw, Mich., Savannah, Ga., or even your own home town, be casual. Don't be surprised, don't be overjoyed. Americans will be everywhere.

Europe's not the spot to avoid Americans. One of the busiest places in Washington is the passport division of the Department of State. Over 600,000 passports will be issued in 1956, based on the January record. The gain over 1955 is put by the State Department at better than 17 per cent.

Since each passport represents 1.2 to 1.3 persons — husbands, wives, and children traveling en bloc can use the same credentials — the exodus from America to Europe, Canada, South America, Africa, and other places will run to well over 720,000.

Such travelers are "invisible imports." The dollars they spend for meals, clothes, railroad and air fares, souvenirs, and hotel rooms help to balance world trade. In 1955, Americans spent $1,095,000,000 abroad, of which $401,000,000 was in western Europe, $306,000,000 in Canada, $222,000,000 in Latin America, and $166,000,000 in other parts of the world. rose from 138,000 in 1921 to 203,000 in 1930, and, then, as depression set in, fell to a low of 107,000 in 1933. Then began a climb back — to 168,000 in 1937. When Hitler started marching, passport sales dropped: 26,250 in 1940. (Incidentally, passports were optional with travelers prior to World War I. Americans could travel abroad without State Department credentials.)

The post World War II rise in travel abroad is attributable to several causes besides prosperity — when people have money, they take vacations, both here and elsewhere.

Ex-military men and government officers have a yen to revisit the scenes of wartime "sweat and tears."

The airplane makes possible two-and three-week trips to Europe. All your time isn't spent on a boat if you have a short vacation.

The record volume of America's exports ($21,848,000,000 in 1955) and imports ($17,656,000,000) require frequent business trips abroad. Also, the establishment of American branches in Europe, Latin America, and elsewhere generate business travel.

The American dollar "buys good" abroad. World War II forced revaluations of most European currencies, including the pound, lira, the franc, the mark. The dollar remained steadfast. As the result, its purchasing power, in terms of meals, hotel accommodations, service — is up. You won't find prices cheap in most places, especially in Paris, but you'll find that you can usually get more for your money than here.

Further, Americans have become "educated up" to foreign travel. As more persons go to college, they learn about other nations, about geopolitics. Finally, this nation's upsurge as a world power carries with it diplomatic and economic involvements in Europe, the Middle East, the Far East — everywhere. American citizens have sufficient curiosity to want to see first hand what we someday might get involved in. We're increasingly world-conscious.

BUSY SCHEDULE

Grouting On Dam Progresses, Recreational Policies Fixed

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District waded through the heaviest schedule of business here Thursday since the early construction days of the project, and this time most of it dealt with the tribulations connected with fishing and boating.

R. T. Piner, Big Spring, was re-elected president of the District, and Charles Perry, Odessa, and James Roser, Snyder, were re-elected first and second vice presidents respectively.

S. W. Freese, Fort Worth, consulting engineer for the CRMWD, told board members that grouting operations of the dam were progressing satisfactorily, but that ultimate cost might reach $200,000, twice the amount originally estimated. Grouting was recommended by outside consultants when cracking parallel to the dam occurred with settlement of the earthen structure. North and south flanks had been grouted, said Freese, and work was proceeding from the center toward the north end.

Although more grout is being absorbed than anticipated, he said that while perhaps not necessary it was good insurance to fill the voids caused by internal cracking. He said there was no cause for apprehension about the dam, that there had been no movement of water through it.

Thursday's session produced the only genuine negative votes since the activation of the district. H. W. Wright and Willard Sullivan, both of Big Spring, voted "no" on ratification of a contract which included the erection of a building on the part of the district. Wright said he favored the contract except for the building, which the District proposes to amortize over a 10-year period through lease-rental.

He said he favored having leaseholders construct their own buildings. Several years ago R. A. Schooling, Snyder, had objected facetiously to a motion to adjourn to break the chain of unanimity. The board ratified a new lease contract with Ned Sanders, who operates the original concessions facilities on the south side at the west end of Lake J. B. Thomas. A basin is now being excavated and improvements will be added at an estimated cost of $15,000 for both, the board was told. A lease with Harold Holmes, Lamesa, for operation of a commercial fishing pier on the north side was approved, and the recreation and land committee was instructed to negotiate with Lem Gresham for a new lease on his concession place on the north side.

Wright said he was opposed to further recreational expenditures until the district had erected some sort of storm warnings at the lake. Piner said that steps were being taken in this direction.

People who have leased lots at Lake J. B. Thomas may construct piers and docks longer than 25 but not in excess of 100 feet long, provided they are securely anchored and have reflectors on the three waterward sides at 10 foot intervals. Directors adopted an ordinance, to this effect. It also required permits for construction of such facilities.

An easement was granted to Texas Electric Service Company to install lines to serve the southwest corner of the lake. Appointment of H. C. Reid as a lake patrolman was ratified. The board ruled no jurisdiction on a private club request to service members with bait, fuel and drinks except as it might become a commercial venture, which would be precluded.

The matter of establishing a new water rate pattern to be effective Jan. 1, 1957 was delayed on request of the rate committee because of a lack of necessary information needed to complete recommendations.

The board ratified the procedure of paying for all grouting and major dam maintenance out of the contingency fund, rather than distorting operational statistics by paying out of operating funds. Permission was granted to abandon a well if a new lease, tied to actual take, could not be negotiated.

CRMWD Take Holds Steady

Revenues of the Colorado River Municipal Water District held static during March in amounting to $92,458 from sale of water and $1,432 from recreational facilities. The comparable figures for February were $91,788 and $1,349.

Whole most users showed slight increases, the SACROC repressuring group used a bit less than the previous month. Cooler weather also dulled municipal requirements.

During March revenues included $28,248 from Odessa, $1,969 from Big Spring, $9,326 from Snyder, $26,544 from SACROC, $5,568 from Sharon Ridge unit, $400 from Texas Gulf Producing, $2,312 from rural users. Of the recreational total $487 came from lease rentals, the remainder from recreational and boat launching permits and concession income.

Expenses included $31,251 for operation and maintenance, etc. ($14,372 maintenance, $13,809 operation), $4,720 administrative and general, $2,490 recreational. The big increase, about $15,000 over all, was due largely to a $10,000 hike in maintenance.

Through the first quarter, the system has had total revenues of $287,481, expenses of $300,832, leaving an excess of $196,649. Of this, $112,867 has been transferred to the net revenue fund to care for interest and sinking fund and other purposes set out in the indenture.

Water consumption for March showed 155,475,000 gallons to Odessa, 108,828,000 to Big Spring, 36,107,000 to Snyder, 221,201,000 to SACROC, 46,405,000 to Sharon Ridge, 2,287,000 to Texas Gulf Producing. Of the total of 550,303,000 gallons, 413,135 came from Lake J. B. Thomas and the remainder from city wells and the Martin County well field. Total consumption for the first quarter has amounted to 1,603,670, according to the monthly report announced by E. V. Spence, general manager.

Presbyterian Youth Meeting Brings Crowd

Over 125 out-of-towners will be gathering at the First Presbyterian Church today for a special rally of Presbyterian Youth Fellowship. The program will continue through Saturday afternoon.

At least 125 out-of-town young persons had pre-registered Thursday afternoon, and Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the First church, said that at least 25 would be attending from local churches. The rally is for members from the El Paso Presbytery. The area extends from Colorado City to El Paso and from Clovis, N.M., to Fort Stockton.

The program will start at 5 p.m. today, with women of the church preparing supper for the guests. The out-of-town guests will be staying overnight in homes of Big Spring members.

Rev. J. Sherrard Rice, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Tyler will speak to the group to night at 9 p.m.

Saturday morning will be devoted to worship and Bible study programs and also election of officers for the coming year. Tom Henry Guin is now serving as president. A communion service will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday, with Dr. Lloyd conducting.

In addition to Guin, local officers of the organization are Kay Wilcox, treasurer, and Dennis Jones, on the fellowship commission.

Uncle Ray: Spaniards Climbed High Mexican Peak

By RAMON COFFMAN

While Cortez was marching toward the heart of Mexico, he reached a small but important area which had kept free from Aztec rule. In this area lived the Talascan Indians.

Instead of joining the Spaniards, the Talascans went out to fight them. It seems that the Talascan warriors were at least five times as numerous as the Spaniards and their native allies.

The Talascans used slings, darts and spears, as well as bows and arrows. Some of their chiefs were protected by cotton-stuffed suits, and in addition they wore crude wooden helmets and thin sheets of gold or silver as breastplates.

The Spaniards had better equipment. They wore iron helmets, and their bodies were protected with metal plates. Crossbows, swords, muskets and cannon served as weapons for them. A dozen cavalrymen charged into the ranks of the Talascans. Bravely fighting, but amazed by the harm which they suffered from bullets and cannon balls, the Talascans gave up the battle in four hours. They ran from the field, but the Spaniards were too tired to pursue them.

The Talascans gave up the battle in four hours. They ran from the field, but the Spaniards were too tired to pursue them.

The Talascans let the whites pass through their country without further trouble. It was all too plain that the men from Cuba and Spain could deal death.

When the party reached a point between two volcanic peaks, Indians told them that one peak was the place where the spirits of bad chiefs lived after death. Texas said that the smoke and the lava which the volcano threw off arose from the movements of the chiefs when they were in pain.

Some of the soldiers decided to climb the taller peak, which was smoking. They made their way through dense growths of short trees, bushes and vines. After climbing past the timeline, they reached a field of hard lava. Near the summit they found ice, and picked up chunks of it to carry back to their friends who were waiting below.

Asks Report On Signatures On Worthless Checks

Sheriff Jess Slaughter asks all businessmen in Big Spring to go over any worthless checks they may have received in the last three months and determine if any were signed with any of the following names:

William Derwood Price, H. H. Hill, Tommy Hill, C. O. Lodsdon, W. D. Price or E. L. Lewis.

He explained these are all names used by a man now in jail at Abilene. The man has made a statement to Abilene officers admitting that he has written a large number of worthless checks in more than a score of West Texas towns.

The prisoner said he wrote a number of checks and cashed them in Big Spring. He estimated that the checks were written about three months ago.

Slaughter said if any of the checks can be produced, steps to file charges here against the man will be taken.

Winchell Girl, Hotelman Part
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The brief marriage of Walda Winchell, 28, and hotelman Hyatt von Dehn, 41, has ended on a friendly note.

Miss Winchell, daughter of columnist Walter Winchell, and Von Dehn each sued for divorce last Dec. 1. Von Dehn dropped his complaint, and his wife got a decree yesterday.

She charged her husband used abusive language in informing her she did not maintain a good home. She said he stayed out late without explanation and sometimes told her she was not a good wife. They were married in July 1955 and separated three months later.

She will receive $400 a month alimony for the next 2 1/2 years.

Girl Is Crushed By Falling Stone
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A 19-year-old girl was crushed to death last night by a large stone knocked by lightning from the top of an 11-story building.

The stone from the First National Bank Building crashed through the top of an automobile driven by F. A. Stivers. He escaped injury, but his daughter Sandra was pinned to the seat and killed.

Chinese Leap Frog
ANGELES CAMP, Calif. (AP) — Won Leong Hop soon will have a chance to justify his name.

Charles Leong of San Francisco has entered Won Leong Hop in the annual Calaveras County Jumping Frog Derby, to be held here May 17 to 20.

The Church Reaches Out

BY PREACHING IN OTHER CITIES THAN JERUSALEM, THE GOSPEL OF CHRIST SPREAD

Scripture—Acts 8:1-40

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
PERSECUTION in Jerusalem caused the disciples of Christ's Gospel to scatter. Philip went to Samaria to preach, and "the people with one accord gave heed unto those things which Philip spake, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did." And there was great joy in that city.

In Samaria there was a man named Simon who practiced sorcery and had the people bewitched. He was highly regarded, the people thinking that he was a "great power of God." He was very conceited, thinking that he really was "some great one."

Hearing Philip preach the Gospel of Christ and making many converts—men and women—and seeing them baptized, Simon believed also and was baptized. He stayed with Philip, wondering much at beholding the miracles Philip performed.

When word reached the church in Jerusalem of Philip's success in Samaria, Peter and John were sent there, and when they found that the new converts were baptized but had not received the Holy Ghost, they knelt in prayer, then laid their hands on the newly made believers, and they too received the power of the Holy Spirit.

Simon, looking on in wonder, yearned to be like the apostles and be able to bring the Holy Ghost to those who believed by the laying on of hands. As was natural to a man of his nature, he thought he could buy this great gift, and so he offered money to obtain it.

Peter rebuked Simon severely, telling him that his heart was not right in the sight of God, because he had offered money to buy that which was not to be purchased with lucre. It was a free gift from the Father.

Peter told Simon to pray for forgiveness of his sin, and Simon answered by asking Peter to pray for him.

ing this devout man of the gospel of Jesus Christ, Philip convinced him.

Coming to a pool of water the church asked if he might be baptized there. Philip said: "If thou believest with all thine heart, thou mayest," and the church answered, "I believe that Jesus Christ is the son of God." So he was baptized and went on his way rejoicing.

Philip also went his way, north to Caesarea, preaching the gospel as he went. He had, as we all should have, but many modern Christians do not, a thorough knowledge of the Scriptures.

Shakespeare said: "There is some soul of goodness in things evil, which would amend the little that the world hath in it, but our darkness doth not let us see it."

Religious persecution is a terrible evil, but our lesson points out that in the scattering of the apostles because of persecution, Christianity was carried to many lands.

Take your problems to Church this week

-millions leave them there!

Light beyond the shadows

People who see the Light that shines beyond the present shadows can walk safely along the way of life. Those who stumble in darkness and fear are the people who lack the vision of faith.

A man named Saul of Tarsus groped in the darkness of the pagan world. His heart was filled with hate and he saw them stone the servants of God. Then he saw the Light and became a new man.

The skies of life are often filled with clouds and storm. Strife and hatred, selfishness and meanness, suffering and despair, rob the day of its brightness and fill the world with woe.

But those who have the penetrating vision of faith need fear no harm. If they keep their eyes fixed on the Light that lies beyond the shadows and trust in God, they may walk in the perfect security of faith.

The blackness of night cannot quench the Light of faith; the sweeping storms of adversity cannot blot it out. It shines on undimmed into the perfect day, when the storms depart and the shadows fade away.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For the sake of his children's sake. (2) For the sake of his community and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Russian Seamen Return

This picture, distributed by the Russian delegation to the United Nations, shows five Soviet seamen of the tanker Tauspe, who returned to Russia from New York April 7 under conditions Senators Welker and Jenner called kidnapping by Soviet representatives. The five, purportedly shown at a party at Soviet U. N. delegation quarters, are, left to right: Victor Ryabenko, Alexander Shirn, Nikolai Vaganov, Valentin Loukashoff and Michael Shishin.

Women's Club Is Operating State Hospital Dress Shop

Woman's Forum began its project of weekly operation of the Fashion Shop at the Big Spring State Hospital Thursday.

With this came a plea for donations of more good serviceable, clean clothing, both for women and men, according to Chaplain Clarence Thiele.

Four Locations Announced For Varel, Howard-Glasscock Pools

Three new locations have been staked in the Varel (San Andres) field in northeastern Howard County, and all are being drilled by Roark, Hooker and Hill.

The three are the Nos. 8-F, 9-F, and 2-D Guitart Trust Settlements. All three are being projected to 3,300 feet with rotary equipment. Locations are approximately seven miles northwest of Big Spring.

Continental Oil Company is staking a project in the Howard-Glasscock field two miles south of Forsan. Drillers will be boring the No. 38-A Settles to 2,600 feet with rotary tools to test the San Andres.

Borden

Pure No. 1 Clayton has deepened to 6,676 feet in lime and shale. Site is 660 feet from north and 1,910 feet from east lines, 15-32-4n, T&P Survey, and seven and a half miles southwest of Gail.

Phillips No. 4-C Spray is a new drillete in the Jo-Mill (Spraberry) field. Site is 2,055 feet from south and 2,097 feet from east lines, 10-32-4n, T&P Survey. Operator will be drilling to 8,100 feet with rotary tools at the site 15 miles southwest of Gail.

Midwest No. 5-A Miller is in the Jo-Mill field nine miles north of Vealmoor. It is staked 1,429 feet from south and 3,660 feet from east lines, 24-32-4n, T&P Survey. Rotary tools will be employed in projecting to 7,750 feet.

Dawson

Baxter No. 1 Minton, C SW SW, 4-33, HE&WT Survey, is drilling in lime and sand at 3,876 feet. It is in the Felken (Spraberry) field 14 miles northeast of Lamesa.

Gibson No. 1 Weaver has projected to 3,955 feet in lime. Site is a wildcat one and a half miles northwest of Lamesa at 1,980 feet from south and 990 feet from east lines, 68-35-6n, T&P Survey.

Seaboard No. 1 Hatchett is drilling below 8,710 feet in lime and shale. Site is C SE NW, 25-35-5n, T&P Survey.

Superior No. 1 Barnes-McBrayer is drilling in lime at a depth of 7,651 feet. Site is C SW SW, Labor 24, League 271, Loving CSL Survey.

Humble No. 1 Weaver is bottomed at 11,510 feet in lime and shale. Site is C NW NW, 25-35-5n, T&P Survey.

Seaboard No. 6 Vaughn will be plotted 560 feet from north and 635 feet from east lines, 39-34-5n, T&P Survey, in the Spraberry, West (Deep) field. Location is about half a mile east of Midway and it will be drilled to 8,000 feet with rotary equipment.

Glasscock

Phillips No. 2-A Cox is an amended location in the Spraberry Trend (Clear Fork) Area. Site is 1,960 feet from north and 1,976 feet from east lines, 4-36-5s, T&P Survey. It is 15 miles southwest of Garden City. Rotary drills will be used in plugging back to 6,400 feet.

Continental No. 38-A Settles will be staked in the Howard-Glasscock pool at 990 feet from north and 2,300 feet from west lines, 135-2n, W&NW Survey, on a 1,420 acre lease. Site is two miles south of Forsan and will be rotary-projected to 2,600 feet.

Roark-Hooker-Hill No. 8-F Guitart Trust will be rotary drilled to 3,300 feet in the Varel (San Andres) field. Site is 330 feet from north and 990 feet from west lines, 19-A, B&C Survey, seven miles north of Big Spring.

Roark-Hooker-Hill No. 2-D Guitart Trust will be staked 1,650 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines, 18-A, B&C Survey. It is seven miles northwest of Big Spring. Operator will be boring to 3,300 feet.

Roark-Hooker-Hill No. 9-F Guitart Trust is located 330 feet from north and 2,310 feet from west lines, 19-A, B&C Survey, on a 640-acre lease. Drillete is seven miles northwest of Big Spring, and will be projected to 3,300 feet.

Rodney Brooks To Head County 4-H

Rodney Brooks was elected president of the Howard County 4-H Club organization at the annual 4-H Club Thursday night at the County Courthouse.

He succeeds Robert Lomax. Brooks is from Coahoma. Mac Robinson, also of Coahoma, was elected vice president. His choice came on the third ballot in what officials termed one of the

Plainview Votes Down CRMWA

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (AP)—For the second time in less than two months, Plainview voters yesterday turned down participation in the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority.

The vote was 1,868 against and 623 for. The second vote was ordered after a petition by a group of citizens.

Plainview was the only city in the nine Panhandle and South Plains cities making up the authority to vote down the water contract.

The other eight cities are planning to go ahead with construction of the 72 million dollar dam project. They are Lubbock, Borger, Slaton, Tahoka, O'Donnell, Lamesa, Brownfield and Levelland. Amarillo and Pampa were originally in the authority but withdrew.

Forecast: Dry Land Farmers Are Still Dry Land Farmers

By The Associated Press
 There were plenty of clouds over Texas Friday but the indications were that dry land farmers would continue to be dry land farmers.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said there would be some scattered showers but wouldn't promise that they would be very heavy or very close together.

Despite the numerous clouds, no rain was reported in the state Friday or late Thursday.

The Weather Bureau said the only thing breaking the monotony was a rare appearance of the aurora borealis—better known as the northern lights—which were reported seen at Dallas, Austin and other Texas points.

The phenomenon was not visible in its full beauty, observers said. While only part of it could be seen from the ground, airplane pilots reported a fuller display.

It was the third time in 30 years that it had been seen in Texas, one Weather Bureau official said, adding "It may be 25 years before Texans get a chance to see another one."

Temperatures early Friday morning ranged from 32 degrees at Dalhart to 74 at Laredo. Friday afternoon the range was from 73 degrees at Galveston to a scorching 101 at Presidio.

Oil Benefiting Dawson Economy

LAMESA — Oil leases and other trading have netted Dawson County landowners more than $750,000 since Jan. 1, a survey of revenue stamps on lease and other instruments in the county clerk's office here shows.

Observers point out this is not the entire oil story, as new wells are being brought in practically every week.

WALL STREET
 NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market extended its gains today in an early flurry of buying.

It was the second session of advancing prices with gains running from 1 to around 3 points in a number of key issues. Trading was quite active, and shortly after the opening the tape fell behind briefly in reporting transactions from the floor of the Exchange. The congestion cleared, however, and trading resumed a more normal pace.

Most major divisions were comfortably higher, steel, motors, oils, non-ferrous metals, aircrafts, and the chemicals.

Patricia Iden, Vealmoor, was re-elected secretary.

Muri Bailey, Forsan, will be the new council representative. Loreta Overton, Forsan, is the reporter.

Adult committeemen chosen are Lloyd Robinson, Knott; M. H. Boatler, Big Spring; Cecil Hamilton, Big Spring; Hamlin Elrod, Forsan; and J. W. Overton, Forsan.

Adult leaders elected are Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Boatler, Big Spring and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Brooks, Coahoma.

One hundred 4-H boys and girls and their adult well-wishers attended the meeting which Jimmy Taylor, county agent, described as one of the most successful annual meetings in a number of years.

Muri Bailey and Mary Lou McElreath, Forsan, vocalists, were featured in a duet at the entertainment portion of the program. Also presented was Alice Day, Knott, who was featured in a sketch and Virginia Smith, Coahoma, who read a selection.

Trash Pick-Up Is Progressing

Today is the final day for pick-up service in areas south of Sixth Street and east of Johnson, with the shift Saturday being to streets and alleys west of Johnson.

Saturday's work will be the first of three days in that area, then next Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, the city will be picking up rubbish in streets and alleys north of Sixth Street.

All trash and discard placed on the curb or where garbage is usually picked up will be carried off by city maintenance crews during the Clean Up, Fix Up, Paint Up campaign.

Residents are asked not to call the city hall if they put their trash out the first day in their area and it is not hauled away immediately. City officials said the collections will be made.

Church Plans New Sanctuary

Plans have been started for a new sanctuary for the St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Olen Puckett of Puckett & French, commissioned to design the plant, said the plot plan has been drafted and work started on the preliminaries.

Projected cost of the masonry type building would be around $40,000. Jack Watkins is chairman of the building committee.

St. Paul's present sanctuary is a frame structure, used originally by the First Presbyterians. Later by the St. Paul's congregation when it was located at the intersection of the Lamesa Highway and N. Gregg Street.

CAME IN TO WATCH TV?

Policemen are called on to apprehend all types of prowlers, and Capt. M. L. Kirby arrested an unconventional specimen Thursday — a snake.

Mrs. Lee Burkhalter, 1613 Settles, reported that a small grass snake was found behind her television set. Kirby rounded up the reptile and riddled the house of the unwanted visitor.

Carl Guin, 69, Dies In Abilene

Carl Guin, 69, father of Tom A. Guin of Big Spring, died Friday at 4:45 a.m. in the Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene.

Services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Saturday at the Kiker-Warren Funeral Chapel with his pastor, the Rev. Frank Travis of the Central Presbyterian Church, officiating. Burial will be in Elmwood Cemetery.

Mr. Guin was a prominent Abilene oil and business man and had resided there since 1936. He was a native of Sotobia, Miss., where he was born June 6, 1886. Coming to Texas at the age of 25, he was associated with an uncle as bookkeeper in a general mercantile establishment in Wingate. Later he went with Walker - Smith Wholesale Grocery Company in Ballinger for three years, and on June 6, 1911 he was married to Miss Maude Lankford in Ballinger.

About 1913 he became associated with his father-in-law, T. S. Lankford, in a furniture enterprise served as mayor and later postmaster. He had also served as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce there as he had at Dalhart and Quanah.

In 1939 he actively entered the oil business. At the time of his death he had various business interests, including an association in T. S. Lankford & Sons, one with George Page in transportation, and in a San Angelo transportation firm. He was a member of the Central Presbyterian Church, American Legion, the Petroleum Club and was a past member of the Texas Manufacturers Association.

Surviving are his wife, two sons, Walter C. Guin, San Antonio, Tom A. Guin, Big Spring; two daughters, Mrs. Marshall Ham, Arlington, and Mrs. R. G. Leary, Midland; two sisters, Mrs. A. B. Hill and Mrs. A. L. Hill, Sullegent, Ala.; and nine grandchildren.

Oil Field Worker Injured By Pipe

An oil field worker, identified as Lewis Teeter, 38, was admitted to the Malone-Hogan Hospital at 7:30 a.m. today suffering from back injuries. It was reported that a joint of 4 1/2-inch pipe had fallen on him.

He was said to be an employee of the Johnson Drilling Co., Wichita Falls.

Doctors at the hospital said that X-rays revealed no broken bones and that the injury was not regarded as serious. He is to be detained at the hospital for a few days for observation.

Jet Engine Change Rehearsal For TV

Webb Air Force Base, holder of the world's record in jet engine changes, demonstrated its skill in this line again today — for a special purpose.

Three crews contested for the honor of representing Webb at Eglin AFB, Fla., where a demonstration of the engine change will be made before television cameras as a feature of NBC's "Wide, Wide World" program.

Excitement out on the line this morning was about as high as if potential invaders had been spotted, and a crowd of watchers had a thrill comparable to that of watching a photo-finish in the Kentucky Derby.

Winning crew was one directed by Chief Warrant Officer James M. Deason of the 356th Maintenance Squadron. The time was withheld, because this team must meet one from Laughlin AFB in the Eglin demonstration, and wasn't about to give away any secrets. The time, however, was something under the world mark of 12-plus minutes established by a Webb team in Philadelphia last year. The jet engine was pulled, replaced with another, and the plane "fired up."

Men laboring under Deason for the honor were T-Sgt. Don Fulton, S-Sgt. Eugene Blecker, S-Sgt. Robert Perrine, A-1C Bobby Burch, A-1C Leroy Powell, and A-2C Donald Geisler. Alternates were A-3C Melvin McCuish and S-Sgt. O. E. Lowery.

They received a hearty round of back-slapping for their feat. The Webb men will be at Eglin on May 20, to compete with the Laughlin crew. At this time NBC's TV cameras will be trained on them for a nationwide presentation on the "Wide, Wide World" program narrated by Dave Garroway.

Two NBC representatives, Dave Englander and Charles Speer, were here to see the local elimination. Englander, an associate producer, was formulating ideas for camera arrangements, etc., for the Eglin show, while Speer was gathering background information to be used in the TV narrative.

Englander said this particular segment of the telecast of May 20 would be "to give some deserved

Damages Asked In Floor Collapse At Dreamland Hotel

Tiburcio Nunez and Mamie Lee Nunez, his wife, have sued V. A. Gomez for $89,400 as a result of a fall sustained by Mrs. Nunez on last Feb. 20.

The petition, lodged today in 118th District Court, alleges that Gomez is the operator of the Dreamland Hotel at which the Nunezes were residents.

On Feb. 20, Mrs. Nunez alleges she walked from her bedroom to a bathroom. The floor collapsed under her feet plunging her into a basement eight feet below.

She alleges she was injured seriously and that her injuries are such as to impair her earning capacities.

Lions Attend District Meet

The Big Spring group has chartered the Indian Lodge, near Fort Davis, for Friday and Saturday nights. Most events on the convention take part on Saturday.

Among those going from the downtown club are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stitzell, Mr. and Mrs. Larson Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Riley, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Smith, Dr. and Mrs. Marshall Cauley, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pond, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Havens, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cauley.

Girl, 16, No Road Veteran

SAN ANGELO (AP)—A 16-year-old girl with long pig tails and a long story about being a girl hobo who for two years toured the nation in freight trains, turned out to be a resident of a little town 35 miles north of here who was away from home only two days.

The talkative teen-age girl told officers stories about relatives in Turkey Creek, Ky., from whom she had run away when she was 14.

For two long years, the girl told officers, she had traveled about the country with no means of support.

She was found by a Santa Fe Railroad special agent early Thursday in a boxcar.

A Sweetwater woman called J. M. Chastain, county probation officer here and told him the description of the girl given in papers sounded like a child who had been missing from her home in Marysville for the past two days.

A deputy confronted the girl by calling her by name and she admitted the farce. Her father was contacted and was on his way here to pick the girl up and take her home after "two long years on the road."

24 Students Tour Fire Station Today

Twenty-four members of the pre-first grade at Kate Morrison School made a tour of the fire station this morning.

Mrs. Mamie Lee Dodds, teacher of the group, Mrs. Eloise Baird, principal, and Mrs. Emily Easley, third grade teacher, accompanied the students. The 24 made up the morning class of the pre-first grade.

The Worse He Feels, The Better Early Wynn Hurls

By JOE REICHLER

If poor old Early Wynn can manage to remain miserable through September, who knows, he may never lose a game this year.

It seems the worse he feels the better he pitches. At least that's the way it's been in his first two starts this season.

A week ago he read that Cleveland was considering trading him to Chicago. That saddened the 36-year-old right-hander.

"It's an awful thing to pitch for a team which you feel no longer wants you," he said gloomily.

He was so depressed he went out and held Detroit to five hits in the Indians' 3-1 victory.

He refused to be consoled despite denials by Cleveland General Manager Hank Greenberg.

"Where there's smoke, there's fire," he said bitterly.

With a heavy heart he took the mound against Kansas City yesterday and turned in a four-hitter, winning 14-2.

The Indians picked up a full game on the defending champion New York Yankees, who were beaten by the Orioles 7-5 in Baltimore. The rest of the American League schedule as well as the entire National League card was wiped out because of rain and cold weather.

Wynn had to share the spotlight with a teammate, Chico Carrasquel. The Venezuelan shortstop enjoyed a banner afternoon at the plate, driving in seven runs with a home run and double. His four-bagger came in the third inning with the bases full.

His double also came with the bases jammed in the fifth. The first blow was hit off Lou Kretlow, the starter and loser. The second blast was hit off Jack Crimian.

The Indians amassed a dozen hits off four Kansas City hurlers, including a home run by Bobby Avila and doubles by Vic Wertz and Gene Woodling.

The Orioles overcame a 4-0 lead piled up by the Yankees in the first inning. They peaked away at Tommy Byrne for single runs in the first and second, knocking out the veteran southpaw in the second.

After the Yankees had boosted their lead to 5-2 in the top of the sixth, the Orioles really led off on relievers Tom Morgan and Bob Grin, driving the two right-handers off the mound with a five-run explosion.

There was no more scoring thanks to an effective relief job by George Zuvernick. The right-hander relieved starter Jim Wilson in the top of the seventh and retired the Yankees in order except for Bill Skowron reaching Fred Marab.

Gus Triandos and Billy Gardner hit home runs for Baltimore.

Exes Vanquish Steer Quintet By 51-48 Tab

The Exes rallied to nip the 1936-37 edition of the Big Spring High School Steers in a basketball exhibition played in the Steer Gym here Thursday night.

The Longhorns built up a 17-8 lead at the end of the first quarter and were out front, 29-23, at half time but the Exes, paced by Charley Clark, began to take command as time wore on.

Jimmy Bice of the Steers found himself saddled with three fouls early in the game and picked up his fourth one within minutes after the second half started. As a result, he had to sit out much of the game. He was very effective while he was in action.

Clark tossed in 20 points to lead the Exes while Bice and Mike Musgrove each had 13 for the Steers. LeRoy LeFevre accounted for 12 of the Exes' points.

Jesse McElreath looked to advantage for the Exes, as did Musgrove and Jimmy Evans. Jan Loudermilk, off on his shots, did a good job defensively for Johnny Johnston's team.

The Blacks defeated the Whites in an added attraction, 38-29. Adrian DeGraffenreid tossed in nine points for the winners while Bobby McAdams and Earl Mayer had eight each.

Wayne Fields of the losers accounted for ten points and played a good all-around game.

The games wound up spring practice for the cagers.

Gene Littler Leading Las Vegas Tournament

By BOB MYERS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (U-P) — The picture was about the same as one year ago as 22 select players headed into the second round of the $37,500 Tournament of Champions today, with Gene Littler the most prominent in the golfing scene. The San Diegoan carded a 34-36-70.

The 25-year-old California star held a two-stroke lead over the field and, as the betting favorite in this betting town, seemed a hard man to beat.

A year ago Gene and two others, Chick Herbert and Ed Furgol, were tied going into the second round and held a bare one-stroke lead over their nearest challengers. Then Littler began to draw away and was never seriously threatened in his drive for the $10,000 winner's purse.

In many respects, for a Tournament of Champions, the situation was out of focus. Every player had to be the winner of a major open during the past year to qualify for the Las Vegas affair, now in its fourth year.

LUCK IS GOOD

Biggest Turnout At Lake Thomas

Last weekend was the biggest on record for Lake J. B. Thomas and luck generally was good. However, fishing seemed to get better on Monday and Tuesday with fishermen wetting hooks on those two days getting some of the best results ever reported at the big lake.

This note from Hiram C. Reid, the lake patrolman: "We had the largest crowd Sunday that we have had so far... there were many strings of crappie, but a few bass."

Monday and Tuesday of this week were by far the best days of this year, and I am sure fishing will improve each day until July."

He advised as many fishermen who came to come up during the week.

Most of the bass caught were landed about daybreak, he said.

Catfishing continued good, especially on trotlines. Reid said he weighed one up to 14 1/2 pounds.

Just to show that fishing is good, he netted 18 large crappie himself on Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Haneey got more than 20 crappie, some up to 1 1/2 pounds.

Fred Roman, Rufus Stallings, E. L. Roman, and Fred Parker were out at Lake Thomas Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Reid were getting their share of crappie during the week. Mr. and Mrs. Reid was setting the pace.

There was a nice rumor going around that Leroy Hollingshead landed a super-bass at Lake Colorado City a week ago. This fish may get bigger each telling, but it was up to five pounds in the report to us.

The biggest fish story of the week, however, comes from the party of 21 Howard County men who went on a junket to Falcon Lake in the lower Rio Grande Valley. Fishing mostly with trotlines, but doing some plug and minnow fishing too, they caught between 600 and 700 pounds of fish; had all they could eat while there and brought back around 400 pounds. Another wonderful experience was being in rain every day and night while there.

In the party were Pug Newton, W. C. Fryar, C. A. Nichols, Lloyd Murphy, Herbert Fuller, L. Z. Shaffer, Curtis Ray, Doyle Ralbach, Weldon McCormick, Clem Shanks, Wheeler Meeks, J. D. Dillard, Ebb Hatch, Tom Rogers, Leonard Smith, J. O. McCrary and Herb Keaton, D. P. Bigony.

The Ben McCullough family, accompanied by George Clark, is going to Shreveport, La., this weekend for the National Outboard Association sanctioned boat races. Ben McCullough, his daughter, Gwyn McCullough, and nephew, Richard McCullough, and Clark all will race in the A and D hydro events and in the C and D runabout division of the Class A events. Mrs. McCullough will be the only one in the party not competing.

Incidentally, some folks from Lee's Community dropping by the McCullough boat center told of hooking a 13 1/2-pound catfish at Lake J. B. Thomas and some others that would crowd 10 and 11 pounds.

Word from Lake Concho north of San Angelo is the effect that bass have been striking well.

Ray Clark has returned after a jaunt to Possum Kingdom with tales of rainy weather that put a crimp in fishing all but one day he was there. About the biggest catch was a 6 1/2-pound cat. Some few bass and crappie were caught.

Johnny Nobles reported some nice crappie catches at Lake Thomas as before he developed motor trouble and had to come in.

Frank Covert, who shepherds activities out at Moss Creek, says there has been no dearth of fishermen, but it's been pretty slow for catches during the week. There were some 2-3 1/2-pound bass, a fair amount of crappie and a few catfish landed.

Harold Broughton eased off from his duties at Dibrell's long enough Thursday to a little private pond fishing. Word from that way is that the Pico Perch and the Mid-Oreno are the hottest bait items at the moment.

ODESSA (SC) — Odessa Junior College clinched first place in West Zobe baseball standings by shading HCJC, 14-5, here Thursday afternoon.

The two teams met again Monday afternoon in Big Spring. Odessa now has a 7-0 conference record. HCJC has won five and lost two.

Jimmy Coulter, benefiting from some distance clouting on the part of his teammates, pitched the win. He limited the Jayhawks to six hits, two of which were accounted for by Truett Newell.

James Dobbins, Gary Hinds and Houston Kirby drove out home runs for Odessa. Dobbins' blow was a grand slammer that arrived in the fifth inning.

Don Isham, the starting hurler for HCJC, set the Wranglers down without trouble but they scored in every inning thereafter until the eighth, at which time the Hawks' third hurler, Kidd Waddill, was on the mound.

Hinds stroked his four-master with the bases deserted in the fourth inning while Kirby collected his with two mates aboard in the seventh.

The Wranglers drove Isham from the mound with a six-run fifth inning. Powell took over on the mound while Waddill showed up in the seventh.

Dobbins and Hinds each collected three hits for Odessa.

ODESSA (SC) — Odessa Junior College clinched first place in West Zobe baseball standings by shading HCJC, 14-5, here Thursday afternoon.

The two teams met again Monday afternoon in Big Spring. Odessa now has a 7-0 conference record. HCJC has won five and lost two.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (U-P) — The picture was about the same as one year ago as 22 select players headed into the second round of the $37,500 Tournament of Champions today, with Gene Littler the most prominent in the golfing scene. The San Diegoan carded a 34-36-70.

The 25-year-old California star held a two-stroke lead over the field and, as the betting favorite in this betting town, seemed a hard man to beat.

A year ago Gene and two others, Chick Herbert and Ed Furgol, were tied going into the second round and held a bare one-stroke lead over their nearest challengers. Then Littler began to draw away and was never seriously threatened in his drive for the $10,000 winner's purse.

In many respects, for a Tournament of Champions, the situation was out of focus. Every player had to be the winner of a major open during the past year to qualify for the Las Vegas affair, now in its fourth year.

But a blustering wind that sometimes reached 40 m.p.h. and the Desert Inn Country Club course, 7,102 yards of man-fashioned golfing country with a par of 36-38-72 — took their toll.

Three former National Open champions felt the blow. Cary Middlecoff, who seldom shoots over 75, took 79 yesterday to get around the place. The current U.S. Open champion, Jack Fleck, was high man with a fat 82.

Lloyd Mangrum, after a threatening 35 on the front side, took a 40, a 75 and a back seat for the day.

Tommy Bolt may blow hot and cold, but Bolt rarely ventures into the 80's. He had an 81 yesterday. This was understandable in view of the fact that the day before he attended the funeral of his father in Shreveport, La. He spent the night flying here. Two successive sevens, on the ninth and 10th, killed him.

Webb Air Force Base's track and field team, headed by Lt. Bruce Sweeney, leave Saturday morning for Houston, where it will compete in a four-way meet, along with Ellington Field, Goodfellow and Texas Southern College.

The local contingent will make the trip from here to San Angelo via automobile, then board a plane for Houston at Goodfellow, along with the team representing that base.

Making the trip with Lt. Sweeney will be Wesley Ezell, Jerry Coaker, Edward Johnson and James Hicks.

Sweeney, who scored 32 points in a triangular meet here last Saturday, plans to enter both hurdles events, the 100-yard dash, the high jump and the broad jump.

Ezell will compete in both jumping events, possibly the 100 and in the relay.

Coaker will be an entry in the 880 and the relays. Johnson will be entered in the 100, low hurdles and in the relays while Hicks is poised to run in the 440, 220 and the relays and compete in the broad jump.

The teams expect to return to Big Spring Saturday night.

The two teams met again Monday afternoon in Big Spring. Odessa now has a 7-0 conference record. HCJC has won five and lost two.

Jimmy Coulter, benefiting from some distance clouting on the part of his teammates, pitched the win. He limited the Jayhawks to six hits, two of which were accounted for by Truett Newell.

James Dobbins, Gary Hinds and Houston Kirby drove out home runs for Odessa. Dobbins' blow was a grand slammer that arrived in the fifth inning.

Don Isham, the starting hurler for HCJC, set the Wranglers down without trouble but they scored in every inning thereafter until the eighth, at which time the Hawks' third hurler, Kidd Waddill, was on the mound.

Hinds stroked his four-master with the bases deserted in the fourth inning while Kirby collected his with two mates aboard in the seventh.

The Wranglers drove Isham from the mound with a six-run fifth inning. Powell took over on the mound while Waddill showed up in the seventh.

Dobbins and Hinds each collected three hits for Odessa.

BUZ SAWYER

WHY, BUZZ THE VERY IDEAL OF COURSE I'M GONNA BE MODEST AS A MOUSE.

SEE HERE, GINGER, THE CAPTAIN'S DETAINED ME TO ESCORT YOU OVER THE MONKEY SHINES, SISTER! DO YOU HEAR?

FIRST LET'S LOOK IN ON THE READY ROOM. BIG DRY TODAY. 100,000 LANDING ON THE TIP. ADMIRAL HIMSELF IS MAKING IT.

YIPPEE! THERE'S MY STORY.

NOW LET'S GET THIS STRAIGHT, MEN. I'LL LEAD OFF AS THE ADMIRAL'S ESCORT. JONES AND HAP MCGEE WILL FLY WING.

OH, GOODY! MY CUTE LITTLE HAP IS GOING ALONG WITH THE ADMIRAL!

DIXIE DUGAN

SO YOUR FATHER IS STILL GOING TO FIGHT US?

YES, SIR—AND I MIGHT ADD HE'S GETTING A PETITION AS LONG AS YOUR ARM SIGNED.

HM—TOO BAD—WELL, YOU DID THAT WILL BE ALL.

THAT ISN'T ALL, SIR.

?? WHAT'S THIS?

MY WINGS, SIR.

I DON'T FEEL WORTHY OF MY JOB ANYMORE.

DIXIE WAIT—

NANCY

NANCY—WHY DOESN'T SLUGGO COME INSIDE?

HE'S DOING ME A FAVOR WITH ONLY PART OF HIM INSIDE.

IT MAKES ONLY 12 1/2 GUESTS INSTEAD OF 13.

AAK—GASP! HE'S STRANGLING ME!! WAKE UP FOSDICK!!

I AM UP, SIR!! AND I CAN SEE THE FEND'S HANDS!!

I'LL TURN THE LIGHT ON WITH MY TOES!!

SOB!!—AT LAST, I KNOW WHO THE FEND IS!!

BLONDIE

DAGWOOD—WHY AREN'T YOU IN BED? IT'S TWO O'CLOCK IN THE MORNING.

I'M PACING THE FLOOR—I CAN'T SLEEP.

I'M TERRIBLY WORRIED ABOUT YOU! WHAT'S THE TROUBLE?

I'VE GOT INSOMNIA.

OH GOOD—THEN I'M NOT WORRIED.

A PERSON WITH INSOMNIA ISN'T SUPPOSED TO SLEEP.

ANNIE ROONEY

I NOW PRONOUNCE YOU—

HONEST SANDY—THE DOUBLE WEDDIN' WAS BEAUTIFUL!

AND NOW THE HONEYMOON! YOU'LL STAY HERE WITH THE HOUSEKEEPER MRS. MARGO IN BIG PANTS—

GOLLY! IT WAS A NICE, QUIET HOME WEDDING.

IT HAD TO BE, OTHERWISE THE WHOLE TOWN WOULD HAVE EXPECTED TO BE INVITED.

SNUFFY SMITH

WAAL—HOW DO YE LIKE HOOTIN' HOLLER'S FUST STREET LAMP, MAW?

HONEST YUN, PAW—YORE TH' PROGRESSIN'EST MAYOR WE-UN'S EVER HAD.

UH, HUH... YEAH? LET'S GET BUSY WITH TRAININ'...

YOUR STEVE IS SUCH A DEAR, MOTHER PALOOKA—BUT WHY DOES HE PERMIT THAT WALSH PERSON TO RUN HIS LIFE?

YOU'RE FORGETTING KNOBBY IS MY STEVE'S MANAGER. ANY HE HELPED MY JOE BECOME THE CHAMPION?

KNOBBY CAN EASILY BE REPLACED... STEVE DOES THE FIGHTING... OH, WELL—THING'S WILL CERTAINLY CHANGE WHEN WE'RE MARRIED? DON'T YOU WORRY...

TCH, TCH... NOW I AM WORRIED!! OH, DEAR!!

SCORCHY SMITH

THESE PILOTS MUST KNOW THIS TERRITORY—THEY FOLLOW CLIP WITH EASE!

BOY—THESE CANYONS ARE REAL MENACING—

HUH? WHERE DID THEY GO?

OAKY DOAKS

I'M SORRY, YOUR MAJESTY, BUT THIS IS AN EMERGENCY.

CAN HE STAY IN THE ROYAL CASTLE FOR A WHILE?

WHAT?

I'LL BE RESPONSIBLE FOR HIM! HE ISN'T VERY BIG—AND I'M SURE HE WON'T EAT MUCH!

THAT'S WHAT YOU THINK!...

Keep alert—chew gum

Avoid traffic jitters and driving drowsiness. Chew gum while you're behind the wheel. Chewing helps relieve strain and tension—helps keep you feeling fresh and alert for safer driving. Chew any brand of gum you like but chew while you drive. Naturally, we recommend refreshing, delicious Wrigley's Spearmint Gum—for a lively, satisfying flavor and real chewing enjoyment. AKIOS

Egyptian Dam Aid Termed 'Unwise'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) said today he opposes U.S. participation in financing of the proposed Aswan Dam in Egypt.

George is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and chief spokesman on foreign policy in the Democratic-controlled Congress.

He said in an interview he thinks it would be "very unwise to help one of the belligerents in an area of possible conflict while there is no guarantee of stable peace there," and he continued: "I am against making commitments for the Aswan Dam. The situation is bad in the Middle East and I think it would be one of the worst things we could do now. I don't know how we could justify it all."

The United States has joined with Britain in offering Egypt 70 million dollars for a start on the dam. The 56-million-dollar U.S. portion of this offer is available in foreign aid funds due to revert to the Treasury unless committed before June 30.

Later financing would come largely from the World Bank, which has announced substantial agreement with Egypt. Talks are continuing, however, on some thorny side issues.

The Aswan Dam has become something of a bargaining point in Middle East negotiations since Egypt's Premier, Gamal Abdel Nasser, has refused offers of aid to build the project.

Projected as the greatest single structure in the world, the dam would cost an estimated $1.300,000,000 and require from 10 to 15 years to construct.

George made it clear that domestic economic considerations play a large part in his opposition to American participation in the dam construction.

He said if the project were built and the waters of the Nile backed up for irrigation it might be possible that "millions of acres" of land would be planted in cotton. "They could produce enough cotton there to fill up the world market and wipe out these markets for the American grower," he said.

George's home state of Georgia is a major cotton producer. The issue of finding wider markets for cotton has come up in his campaign for renomination to the Senate this year.

Minister Admits Killing Wife

GREENVILLE, S. C. (AP)—A 41-year-old Church of God minister has admitted, police say, that he killed his wife by putting rat poison in her food.

The Rev. Coke Cooper, 41, signed a statement yesterday before Deputy Sheriff George Loumos and County Investigator Paul Batson in which he admitted that he mixed rat poison in a plate of beef stew he served his wife Eleanor, 40, last Oct. 24.

"I guess the devil got into me and I couldn't shake it off until I killed her," he said in a statement.

"She would continually nag me about my work and accuse me of running around," he said. "I could not bear it."

Cooper was arrested after weeks of investigation by sheriff's officers. Loumos said the investigation began after he received information in February. Cooper was held without bond.

Mrs. Cooper was ill for three days before her death, which was not investigated at the time.

The Coopers' son, 19-year-old Maxie, quoted his father as saying from the pulpit the Sunday before his mother was taken ill that "someone in the church now... would not ever be in the church again." Mrs. Cooper was taken ill the next day.

Big Mouth

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP)—It was out of the frying pan and into the fire for this Cook.

The judge told William E. Cook that he could serve out a 10-day sentence, for disorderly conduct, on weekends and so keep his job.

The judge went on to say the penalty could have been $100 and 30 days in jail.

"Well, why don't you do it then," said Cook.

And that's just what the judge did.

Depletion?

DALLAS (AP)—A West Texas oil producer wanted to make it clear that he didn't owe Uncle Sam any income taxes.

He sent the Dallas District internal revenue service a signed check for "no dollars and no cents."

Democrats Pull Another Switch On Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Democrats, in a fast change of pace, today switched their affections from short-lived new farm subsidy proposals to a two-billion-dollar farm bill patterned after President Eisenhower's suggestions.

Less than 24 hours after proposing it, Democratic farm leaders in the House last night dumped plans to press for "compensatory payments" to farmers in the form of cash subsidies intended to bring farm prices to the level of 90 per cent of parity.

In its stead, they put forward plans to present a compromise farm bill containing Eisenhower's soil bank program and other non-controversial provisions of the catch-all measure vetoed two weeks ago by the President.

The switch, latest in a series of confused maneuvers, came after Republican farm belt members and many Democratic House members turned a cold shoulder on cash subsidy payments to farmers.

Rep. Cooley (D-N.C.) said the decision was reached in consideration of Republican predictions of another presidential veto. However, Rep. Poage (D-Tex.) said he planned to carry the fight to the floor of the House anyway.

Poage was the original sponsor of the subsidy proposal, which called for cash subsidies equal to the difference between current price supports and 90 per cent of parity. Parity is a price determined under farm law to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

Cooley, meanwhile, prepared a bill for Agriculture Committee consideration Monday wrapping up a number of features of the vetoed farm bill, including the President's $1,200,000,000 soil bank.

It would authorize another billion dollars for disposal of farm surpluses, and a corn price support program covering all corn farmers, and would write into law present price support levels established administratively by Eisenhower's order after his farm bill veto.

Rep. Hope of Kansas, senior Republican on the Agriculture Committee, termed it a "fair compromise."

But Hope and other GOP House leaders said they would insist also on authority for advance soil bank payments as requested by Eisenhower. This would make available up to $500 million a year.

Cooley's announcement that the cash subsidy plan had been abandoned came after a long conference with Hope. The Kansas' refusal to go along with it was regarded as the influencing factor in the Democratic decision.

Estes Believes He's Well Ahead Of 1952 Position

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver says he is well ahead of the pace he set four years ago in his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

In an appearance at the Pittsburgh Press Club yesterday — somewhat of a lull during a busy day of handshaking — Kefauver declared his campaign organization is functioning more smoothly than it did in 1952.

The Tennessee senator, who departed by plane last night to campaign in the state of Washington, said that Adlai Stevenson is running a little ahead of him California's forthcoming presidential preference primary but added:

"My organization is working and we will do very well. We are picking up strength."

As for the Florida primaries, Kefauver said:

"We are coming up fast."

The Florida primary is May 28 with the California June 5.

Learning that Vice President Nixon has decided to seek reelection, Kefauver told a news conference that the team of President Eisenhower and Nixon "is as strong as the Republicans could put up but I feel certain the Democrats will win in November."

He said the administration had lost the initiative in world affairs to Russia and that profits of big business have gone up under the Eisenhower administration while the income of small business is going down. "Little has been done to help small business and stop a trend toward mergers," Kefauver said.
