Federal Forces Are Hot After Bank Robbers

Hot Lead Will Fly At End Of Trail When Uncle Sam's Men Catch Up With No. 1 Rats

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3—G-Man J. Edgar Hoover and his boys know of eight bank robbers they would like very much to have at the busy end of a forty-five.

These eight are Hoover's personal nominees for today's "public enemy" top-fighters. The kidnapers had their day as "Public Enemies One, Two and Three." But now, after four years of concentrating on them, Hoover has most of them behind bars or pushing up daisies.

So he has combed his records for the next batch of law-breakers he particularly wants to catch. He found the most dangerous fugitives today are bank robbers.

Bank Robbers, "Postgraduates"

The bank-robber is the postgraduate of the criminal world. He works up to it slowly, beginning maybe as a "punk" stealing cars for joy-rides, then breaking into stores, then passing a hot check or two. Then he robs a bank, gets a roll of green-backs and he's off.

He's a dangerous man to round up. He has plenty of money to buy protection and to roam. He's desperate because if he's caught it means a long term. So he's likely to shoot it out with anyone who gets in his road.

Hunt Is On

G-men are hunting all eight of these men with a cool, careful cataloguing of all facts. They find out the bandits' friends, what they like to wear, what they order for dinner, and even how they light a cigar.

When the picture becomes complete and the trail hot, G-men test their hair-triggers. They know it's going to mean shooting it out with any of this gang when they finally trap them.

Names of the eight men named by Hoover, and their pictures will be found above.

FDR May Fish Again In Waters Of Gulf

AUSTIN, Jan. 3 (AP)—President Roosevelt may fish off the Texas coast again next summer.

In Washington last week, Governor James V. Allred invited the president to visit Texas Gulf waters as he did last year.

"He talked very favorably," the governor said.

Chinese Chief Trains Army

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Jan. 3.—China's crack military leader—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek—stripped himself of civil administrative responsibilites today and concentrated his efforts on effectively resisting the Japanese invaders.

It was made known simultaneously that China is training, behind the lines, a new army of 800,000 men to support the 90 divisions—approximately 900,000 men—trying to hold back the Japanese horde today.

Other Changes Made

Chiang Kai-Shek became commander-in-chief of the army and temporarily took charge of the navy while Finance Minister H. H. King, succeeding him as president of the executive Yuan, assumed the nation's highest civil administrative functions. Other important changes in key posts and ministries were made.

On far-flung battle fronts the Japanese were still smashing relentlessly ahead, resisted but not halted in their campaign to hammer China into submission.

Establish New Defense Line

Latest Japanese gains were in rich Shantung province, where the invaders captured the important city of Taian on the Tientsin-Pukow railway. Chinese troops blew up a bridge and withdrew across the Wen river, establishing a new defense line at Tawnkow.

Chinese air activity, resumed after a long lapse, was marked by an attack on Nanking. Only vague details were learned. The Chinese said they bombed a Japanese airdrome outside the former Chinese capital, destroying two planes on the ground.

At Canton, city officials threatened to destroy the populous port rather than surrender it to Japan's threatened South China offensive.

Notes Of Idalou Church Are Burned In Services Sunday

IDALOU, Jan. 3 (Special)—Notes for $9,683 representing the indebtedness of Idalou Baptist church, of which Rev. R. C. Tennison is pastor, were burned here Sunday afternoon as the climaxing event of an all-day program attended by a gathering which over-flowed the church auditorium by several hundred persons.

Cotton produced on 220 acres of land leased by the church and donations of the staple made possible the liquidation of debts.

Delegations from several other churches attended. Among the guests were four former pastors, Rev. O. L. Oldham, Rev. Joe Wilson, Rev. R. B. Cooper and Rev. W. O. Cooley. Speakers included Rev. C. E. Hereford of Lubbock and Rev. G. I. Brittain of Plainview. Bailey Guess, mayor of Idalou, is treasurer of the church.

More Unpleasant Weather Is Forecast For Texas Areas

DALLAS, Jan. 3 (AP)—Dr. J. L. Cline must have made special arrangements for Saturday's beautiful Cotton Bowl weather. At any rate, the weatherman came up with a forecast today Texas weather would again become unpleasant, taking up where it left off last week.

Snow, rain and colder temperatures were foreseen for the Panhandle and Northeast Texas, while extreme East Texas was in for warmer temperatures, heavy clouds and rain. Temperatures northward and northwestward from Dallas for 350 miles, Dr. Cline said, would range between 24 and 30.

REACH ALL-TIME HIGH

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP)—The bureau of prisons reported today that the number of commitments for violation of federal liquor statutes reached an all-time high of 5,390 prisoners in the 1937 fiscal year.

Allred Is Puzzled Over How To Collect Colorado Bet; New Compact May Be Formulated

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 3.—The governor of Texas has won a bet from the governor of Colorado but is puzzled how to collect.

It may be a matter for a new interstate compact.

In Dallas Saturday Governor James V. Allred of Texas bet Governor Teller Ammons of Colorado that Rice institute of Houston would defeat Colorado university in the Cotton Bowl football game.

The stakes were a proposed International park in the Big Bend area of the Rio Grande against Pikes Peak. And Colorado lost.

"I don't know what to do," said Governor Allred today. "I can't move Pikes Peak to Texas."

But he seemed to look with favor on a suggestion he send Secretary of State Edward Clark to Colorado to plant Texas' flag on the summit of the famous mountain.

"It looks like a matter for an interstate compact," he said.

More Deaths In State Reported

(By The Associated Press)

Violent deaths from traffic accidents, gun wounds, and burns Sunday sent the total for the New Year holiday week-end in Texas to 21.

All but seven of the number died from injuries received in highway wrecks.

The toll increased by six Sunday. Dr. L. L. Starkey, 62, and his wife, 58, Harlingen residents, were killed in an automobile collision near Harlingen. Juan Ozuna, 27, of near Edinburgh, was killed when struck by an automobile near Edcouch, and two men died at New Braunfels from wounds received in a gun fight.

At New Braunfels Justice of the Peace Ben Faust said murder charges would be filed in connection with the deaths of the two, whose names were Alberto Alvarez and Valentin Valdez.

Luisa Rodriguez, 12, died at Fort

McCraw Is To Delay His Announcement

AUSTIN, Jan. 3. (AP)—Attorney General William McCraw, who has been running for governor unofficially for many months, indicated today he would delay his formal announcement until February or perhaps March.

Ernest O. Thompson, railroad commissioner and chairman of the interstate compact commision, beat McCraw to the draw by announcing Saturday.

The attorney general said he personally had represented Texas in hearings so far on the E. H. R. Green estate inheritance tax controversy and would continue to do so. They will be resumed at New York one week from today and a conference may be held at Washington Saturday.

"With such an important case coming on, I won't be able to pay much attention to politics. Starting with the day of my announcement, I intend to devote considerable time to the campaign."

Governor James V. Allred, just back from a trip to Washington, declined comment on various rumors revolving about his future, including one that he may seek a third term.

Noted Author Unconscious In Hospital Of Wreck Injuries

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 3 (AP)—Frederick Hazlitt Brennan, 35, Los Angeles, noted author, remained unconscious in a hospital here today, his skull fractured in a New Year's Eve automobile collision near Wickenburg, Ariz.

His nurse said his condition was "not good" this morning.

Mrs. Brennan was cut and bruised. Two Aguila, Ariz., women were killed in the collision.

Jobless Count Being Studied

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 — Administration leaders surveyed the unemployment problem anew today in the light of census figures that between 7,822,912 and 10,870,000 Americans were out of work in November.

John D. Biggers, Ohio glass manufacturer who supervised a voluntary registration of the unemployed, said the number out of work had increased since the count was made.

To Form Basis

The Biggers census and surveys made by the Works Progress administration and other agencies will form the basis of decisions on the future of federal relief.

Biggers said 7,822,912 persons, returning cards distributed by postmen, signified that they were out of work and wanting employment. A house-to-house canvass of certain "test" areas showed this report to be 72 percent complete, and thus the higher figure of 10,879,000 persons actually unemployed was projected.

Less In Middle-West

State totals showed, in general, that unemployment was less in the middle-west than elsewhere.

Plans For Year To Be Talked At Littlefield C-C. Session

LITTLEFIELD Jan. 3 (Special)—Plans for activities through the year will be discussed at a luncheon of chamber of commerce members at First Presbyterian church here Tuesday, according to Glenn Burgess, secretary-manager.

The program, President Homer Hall announced, will embrace the whole of Lamb county and for that reason, plans have been made for a large attendance at the luncheon.

BANKER-OIL MAN DIES

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 3. (AP)—Clay Johnson Webster, 59, former banker and prominent in the oil industry in Oklahoma and Texas, died in a hospital here yesterday after a three weeks illness. He was regarded as one of the most active wildcat operators and drilled wells in many parts of Texas.

Asks Probe On Anti-Trust Act

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 — Attorney-General Cummings recommended today a congressional investigation of what he called the inadequacy of the anti-trust laws.

He made the proposal in his annual report which also revived two features of President Roosevelt's defeated court reorganization bill.

"Obviously," the report said, "the statute (anti-trust law) in its present form is not adequate for the purpose of dealing with the many ramifications of the problem. A thorough and comprehensive study is necessary."

Courts Administrator Asked

Discussing means of eliminating delays in administration of justice, Cummings said it was "highly desirable" that congress provide for an administrative officer to supervise federal courts. He also suggested "serious thought" be given to increased "flexibility" for the courts.

These two proposals recalled the provisions in the Roosevelt court bill for a "proctor" to supervise the courts and for complete freedom for the chief justice to assign judges to any district to hear especial cases.

Provisions Also Attacked

While the court fight which split the Democratic majority at the last regular congressional session centered on the proposal to enlarge the Supreme court, these provisions also were attacked.

Opponents contended they would "centralize" the courts and allow creation of a "flying squadron" of judges who could be assigned to hear cases in which the government was interested.

Cummings made no specific rec-

Schools In Session Here After Holidays

City and county schools and Texas Technological college returned to usual schedules this morning with the close of the Christmas-New Year holiday vacations.

City schools had been at recess since Dec. 22 and Tech since Dec. 18. Various of the county schools set their own vacation periods.

Posey and New Deal Rural schools ended their Christmas recess last Tuesday and Idalou on Thursday. Those resuming session this morning were Cooper, Frenship, Roosevelt and Shallowater, according to County Superintendent Joseph R. Griggs.

Uncertainty Still Prevails On Jackson Day Dinner Here

Uncertainty still prevailed here this morning as to whether Democrats of Lubbock county will hold the traditional dinner here Saturday on the occasion of the anniversary of the birth of President Andrew Jackson.

L. C. Ellis, county Democratic chairman, said he would consult with a number of Democratic leaders during the day before a final decision was reached. Indications this morning were, however, that it will not be held.

Champ Is Caught Red-Handed; He Doesn't Even Have A Wife

(By The Associated Press)

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 3 — John P. Zelenak, jr., 23, the new world champion was caught red-handed—he couldn't produce a wife.

Zelenak, awarded the world's lying championship by the Burlington, Wis., liars club, received congratulations on his new honor in the midst of his two sisters and four brothers, who were not impressed. Though the oldest in the family, John, they said, was the poorest liar of the lot and only won because the others did not compete.

John offered no defense for his lie—"My wife is so lazy she feeds the chickens pop corn so that when she fries the eggs they turn over by themselves." The family does own chickens, he asserted, but admitted he had no popcorn and no immediate prospects of getting a wife.

Court Upholds Right Of Loans On Utilities

Long-Awaited Decision Is Given By Tribunal Today; Affects 52 Projects

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 — The Supreme court ruled today the government could make loans and grants for publicly-owned electric plants.

Secretary Ickes, the Public Works administrator, said the decision would affect construction of 52 power projects costing $84,026,288 for which his agency had allotted $30,191,944 as loans to be repaid and $21,674,408 as federal grants.

Constitutionality Challenged

Constitutionality of the government's activity was challenged by the Alabama Power company and the Duke Power company. They sought to enjoin federal financing of projects in four Alabama municipalities and at Buzzard Roost in Greenwood county, S. D.

Justice Sutherland delivered the opinion. He dealt first with the cases brought by the Alabama Power company.

The justice announced no dissent and said that Justice Black concurred in the result.

Decree Is Affirmed

The court affirmed a decree by the circuit court holding that private power companies had no right to

Revised Levy Is Approved

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3—A house tax subcommittee agreed tentatively today to place on corporations with incomes of $25,000, or less, tax rates of 12 1-2 per cent on the first $5,000 of income, 14 per cent on the next $15,000 and 16 per cent on the remaining $5,000.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ky) said members had decided also that those rates should apply to all corporations in that income category, including those in bankruptcy or receivership and insolvent firms.

Above Flat 16 Per Cent

If the latter have income of more than $25,000, he said, the subcommittee would place on them a flat 16 per cent tax.

Mutual investment companies, instead of being given separate tax treatment as under present law, he asserted, would be taxed like other corporations.

Previously the subcommittee had

Capital And Labor's Unity Is Asked For Nation's Welfare

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. — President Roosevelt told congress today that "misuse of the powers of capital" must be ended "or the capitalistic system will destroy itself through its own abuses."

At the same time he called upon both capital and labor to cooperate with the government in working out the welfare of the nation. Both groups, he said, should realize that "power and responsibility go hand in hand."

"Chiefly because of the need of national unity in ending mistakes of the past and meeting the necessities of today, we must carry on," Mr. Roosevelt said. "I do not propose to let the people down. I am sure the congress of the United States will not let the people down."

In the message which he delivered personally to a joint session of the house and senate the president disclosed that A balanced budget is out of the picture for the next fiscal year. He said, however, that his budget estimates would show a "further decrease in the deficit."

Projects Policy Of Peace

For international affairs the president projected a policy of peace "in a world where stable civilization is actually threatened." But he declared that in this day of undependable treaty obligations "on the part of others" this nation must be "adequately strong in self defense."

"World peace through international agreements," Mr. Roosevelt said, "is most safe in the hands of democratic representative governments—or, in other words, peace is most greatly jeopardized in and by those nations where democracy has been discarded, or has never developed."

Message One Of Longest

The message, one of the longest of the administration, totaling about 4,000 words, covered the whole field of major legislation for this session, as well as business policies and international affairs.

Principally Mr. Roosevelt asked for revival of the wage and hour bill, which was shelved by the house during the special session; enactment of the government reorganization bill; final action of the "all-weather" farm bill now pending before a joint house-senate committee; continuation of the "none-shall-starve" relief policy; maintenance of necessary government functions unimpaired; expansion of purchasing power to a point at which taxes will produce adequate government revenue; modification of taxes without reduction of income.

Heard Across Nation

Radio chains spread the message across the nation and transcriptions and translations were made for rebroadcasts over the world.

While he urged the adoption of many business reforms Mr. Roosevelt said there were specific limits to the extent government could go in effecting them. He stressed the necessity of cooperation between capital, labor and government.

"A government can punish specific acts of spoliation," he said, "but no government can conscript cooperation. We have improved some matters by way of remedial legislation. But where in some particulars that legislation has failed we cannot be sure whether it fails because some of its details are unwise or because it is being sabotaged.

Hold Objective Sound

"At any rate we hold our objectives and our principles to be sound. We will never go back on them."

War Correspondent Dies Of Wounds

ZARAGOZA, Spain, Jan. 3 (AP) — Edward J. Neil, jr., Associated Press war correspondent with the Spanish insurgent armies, died yesterday of shrapnel wounds he suffered Friday while reporting the insurgent counter offensive on the Teruel front.

EDWARD J. NEIL, JR.

The 37-year-old, white-haired war correspondent failed to rally after blood transfusions, administered at the Red Cross hospital here, 100 miles north of Teruel.

He was the third to die of wounds caused when a 75-millimeter shell struck an automobile in which four correspondents were seated at the village of Caude, five miles from Teruel.

Bradish Johnson, Harvard graduate and correspondent of the magazines "Spur" and "News Week," was killed outright and E. R. S. Sheepshanks of Reuters (British News agency), also brought to Zaragoza, died Friday night. Harry Philby of the Times of London was injured slightly.

A Mass was arranged for Neil in Zaragoza cathedral today. His body will be taken to the United States.

TWO BABIES BURNED

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Jan. 3 (AP) — Explosion of a kerosene heating stove killed two sleeping babies in their trailer home here yesterday while their parents were visiting friends only 10 feet away.

Uncertainty Is Felt At Start Of Congress

BY NATHAN ROBERTSON

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—An unusual atmosphere of suspense created by uncertainty over President Roosevelt's program for dealing with the business recession dominated the start today of a new congressional session.

Legislators were aware that the chief executive had been subjected to a cross-fire of advice—from one group that wanted him to assert an aggressive liberal leadership and from another that counseled moderation.

Assembled At Noon

The congress assembling at noon (e. s. t.) was the same one which in two sessions last year, revolted against such administration measures as the Roosevelt court bill and the Black-Connery wage-hour bill.

But this time it was meeting under fundamentally different circumstances. When it convened a year ago business was booming, and the president had just won the biggest election victory in the nation's history.

Face National Elections

Now, however, congress faced national elections a few months ahead and official figures showing unemployment once more on the climb.

The widespread interest in Mr. Roosevelt's address was indicated by the fact that the three nationwide radio chains (NBC, CBS and MBS) arranged to broadcast it

Cold Weather Is Forecast

Wind shift into the north this morning indicated the approach of colder and unsettled weather officially forecast for this section of the state tonight and Tuesday.

Rain or snow and colder is the indication for the vicinity of Lubbock, with snow in the more northern portions of West Texas and rain in the southern.

Although a brisk north wind through the forenoon was chilling, the temperature range from 7 a. m. to noon was 35.1 to 46.2 degrees, according to records at Municipal airport.

Two Permits For Residences Are Issued In City Today

Distinction of receiving building permit No. 1 for 1938 went this morning to E. A. Rampy, owner, and Claude Martin, contractor, for a frame residence costing $2,400 at 1719 Twenty-first street, according to Jim Reid, city building inspector.

Regardless whether the fact may have been significant of Lubbock's urgent need for more homes, both the first and second permits were for new residences. The other was issued to Miss May Horne for a frame residence and garage apartment costing $3,000 at 2013 Seventh street.

West Virginia Coach Says Tech Team 'Plenty Tough'

CHICAGO, Jan. 3. (AP)—Wearing brilliantly colored sombreros and carrying Texas souvenirs, the University of West Virginia football team, victors over Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl New Year's day, paused today in Chicago, en route to Morgantown, W. Va.

"We should have had another touchdown," Coach Marshall Glenn said. "I thought we'd have the ball more in the fourth quarter, but the boys put up a swell defense. That Tech team was plenty tough."

Snow White, Dwarfs Lend Inspiration

BY ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Service Staff

PARIS, Jan. 3.—This is the time of year when a new evening gown or a formal afternoon dress ought to be just a little ahead of current styles—the sort of thing that reflects spring trends.

Interesting and new as the New Year are silk prints created by Colcombet reproducing the characters of Walt Disney's film, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." Paquin has used this very effectively in a formal afternoon dress which could also do duty as an informal dinner dress. The print is in subdued tones of rust red, white and beige on a black background.

The dress is made on simple lines with a full, swinging skirt edged with a deep band of silver fox. The fulness is distributed all around from the waistline with the fur acting as a restraining influence at the hem. The bodice shows a full front and easy fitting back, long sleeves and a high neckline. A high waistbelt of soft red suede stresses the small waist. All the features in this model may be accepted as a fashion forecast for next season.

Another Version

Ardanse uses another Walt Disney print in a different manner. The same design is shown on a red background and the dress is cut on simple, straight lines. Long, bell-shaped sleeves in white silk jersey with the new wide armholes which Ardanse launched for the mid-season are encrusted with the little figures of the print scattered here and there and a deep hem of the same jersey on the skirt.

If it is a practical afternoon dress that you need, nothing could be smarter and newer than the soft kid embroideries that Francevramant shows right at the moment. She uses this to match the color of the dress—in navy, corinth red and black—in the form of complicated arabesques forming a plastron on the bodice and sometimes to retain a front godet on the skirt.

The newest evening gowns offer the widest diversity of styles. The wide-skirted ones have the fulness gathered into the waistline, or attached to a long-waisted bodice that covers the hips. Others show fulness concentrated either in front or at the back, and detached apron panels are a new fashion feature. Corselet belts, encrusted or separate, will continue well on into the spring, so will the swathed hipline launched by Maggy Rouff and the fitted, thigh-length tunics of Mainbocher.

Blouses Freshen Wardrobe

One of these tunic blouses, by the way, would be a very elegant addition to any wardrobe and would help eke out a winter suit or long coat. This can be made of satin, crepe or jersey, in black or navy blue to match the suit or in a directly contrasting color.

Again, a tunic will give new life to a tired evening dress, provided the skirt is cut on long, slim lines. Hemmed with silver or mink, it becomes something extremely elegant, yet easy to wear. One thing to bear in mind, however, is that so far as style goes, the tunic should fit through the diaphragm and thighs like "the paper on the wall" with soft touches of shirring or drapery emphasizing the bustline.

The practical two-time evening ensemble is an almost indispensable number, especially for the more limited pocketbook. These consist of a dress and jacket to match. The dress can be worn alone and is decollete for more formal occasions. Worn with the jacket, it is good for the theater, for dinner and all other functions where full evening dress is not called for. The jacket is usually trimmed with glittering embroideries, on the lapels, cuffs or fronts. Gold, silver or shaded embroidery effects are newer than multi-colored paillettes and will date less.

Forecast For Next Spring's Mode

Paquin uses Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs for a festive gown. The swinging skirt is hemmed with silver fox and is belted in rust red suede. The print is in rust red, white and beige on black. Suitable for wear as a formal afternoon or informal dinner dress, the details of the silhouette are accepted in Paris as forecasts of the next season's mode.

Grand Jury Investigation At Albuquerque To Be Started

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Jan. 3 (AP)—A grand jury investigation of city affairs was assured with announcement by District Judge Thomas J. Mabry that he would order a grand jury to meet next Thursday and would start selection of a venire Monday.

The district court's action follows an embezzlement action brought last week against Mayor Charles H. Lembke, who is charged by the district attorney with fraudulently converting to his own use $12,000 of city bonds. Lembke is free under $5,000 bond.

Judge Mabry, in making his announcement, said he thought a grand jury was advisable in view of the embezzlement charge.

Divorce Of Cotton From Farm Bills Asked In Session

JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 3 (AP)—Agricultural commissioners representing six Southern and Southwestern states Saturday discussed the ailing cotton industry in the United States and advocated divorce of cotton from the house and senate farm bills.

The commissioners agreed that cotton, like sugar, deserves treatment in a separate bill.

Target for a polite verbal barrage was pending legislation affecting cotton and the commissioners underlined the sentiments of J. E. McDonald, Texas, that cotton faces the "greatest crisis in history".

Another Meeting Scheduled

A meeting to discuss further a separate bill for cotton was set for soon.

Commissioners present were Harry D Wilson, Louisiana; Joe C. Scott, Oklahoma; R. J. Goode, Ala.; J. C. Holton, Mississippi, and McDonald.

Wilson, white-haired veteran of Louisiana agriculture and president of the group, advanced the "tremendous magnitude" of the cotton industry as basis for individual consideration.

McDonald said curtailing acreage would not cure America's cotton ills. "If congress should enact further legislation," he said, "foreign production would be so accelerated that within three years the people would demand a tariff barrier against the foreign product."

"WE KNOW TOBACCO BECAUSE WE GROW IT"

What quality of tobacco goes into Camel cigarettes?

This question, of interest to every smoker, is answered by the men who know tobacco from the ground up

IF YOU want to know the quality of the tobaccos that go into various cigarettes, here is one certain source of information – the men who grow tobacco.

They sell leaf to the buyer who bids most for it. They have seen Camel bid and pay higher prices necessary to get choice piles of leaf. And they report other planters who grow fine tobacco have had the same experience. That's why, as one grower puts it: "Most planters prefer Camels."

Smoke Camels steadily, and you'll realize what finer, more expensive tobaccos mean in smoking.

MEET ALEY SKIDMORE, of Winchester, Kentucky. "I'm a tobacco planter," he says as he displays some of his choice leaf. "Those Camel buyers pay for the best – and get it. The choice lots of my last crop brought me a top price, and Camel took all of the fine leaf that I had. I'm a steady Camel smoker myself. Camels are the favorite with men who grow tobacco." Mr. Skidmore and the other planters shown here bring direct evidence that Camels are indeed made from costlier tobaccos. Turn to Camels and see for yourself that those costlier tobaccos do make a real difference.

"CAMELS ARE MADE FROM more expensive tobaccos," says planter Beckham Wright. "I know the kind of leaf used for making various cigarettes. Only my best lots are bought for Camel."

"THE CAMEL PEOPLE bought the best of my last crop," says T. N. Williams, tobacco planter. "They paid the highest price. More expensive tobacco goes into Camel cigarettes all right."

PEOPLE DO APPRECIATE THE COSTLIER TOBACCOS IN CAMELS

THEY ARE THE LARGEST-SELLING CIGARETTE IN AMERICA

Camel spends millions more for COSTLIER TOBACCOS. They are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS —Turkish and Domestic.

"I'VE BEEN IN this county for 30 years," says tobacco planter Ollie Hazelwood. "I'll tell you where the best tobacco goes. The choice lots of my crop are almost always bought by the Camel people. Every one on our place smokes Camels too – just like me."

"AN EXTRA GOOD CROP," says Ray Sponcil, who has grown fine tobacco for many years, "and the Camel buyer bought all of my good leaf. I've seen the real fine lots go to the Camel people year after year. I smoke Camels because I know the quality of the tobacco they use."

West's Return To Power, White And Rice's Sophs Feature Bowl Tilts

Pasadena And Orleans Have Big Crowds

(By The Associated Press)

The West's return to power in the Rose Bowl, Whizzer White's sensational display of all around skill in the Cotton Bowl, Rice's presentation of a crop of sensational sophomores and banner crowds at Pasadena and New Orleans were the outstanding features of 1938's bowl engagements.

California's methodical mowing down of Alabama undoubtedly enhanced the winning prestige of coast football in inter-sectional combat. Not since 1933, when Southern California slaughtered Pittsburgh, had a western team won by two touchdowns.

California Line Tougher

Granted the Crimson Tide was not up to the teams of the John Mack Brown or Dixie Howell eras, the Golden Bears turned in a workmanlike job at Pasadena. As in the regular season the California line out-charged and out-maneuvered its opponents and its backs did a notable job of blocking with Vic Bottari running unhampered to two scores and a 13-0 victory.

Chief surprise from the California side was the Bears' work against the Alabama aerials. The 'Bamans completed only four forward passes and the Bears intercepted the same number. Stalemated in the air, their favorite zone of attack, the invaders were helpless against their bigger, stronger opponents, when they got in pay dirt.

Wizzer Leads Drive

Whizzer White, the second Rocky Mountain conference player to make the All-America, emerged from Colorado's defeat by Rice in Dallas' Cotton Bowl with new glory. The elusive Whizzer led the drive for the first touchdown and passed for the score, and then ran 53 yards for another score.

It wasn't enough. The sophomores, mainly Ernie Lain and Ollie Cordill, two backs, set the Rice offensive moving and the Owls pounded out four touchdowns and the staggering total of 422 yards gained, overland or in the air. When it ended Rice was on top, 28 to 14, but the scholarly White was the player of the hour.

Combined Talents

White combined the talents Messrs. Lain, Cordill and Jack Vestel, the Owls' sophomore celebrities, exemplified personally. Lain passed for three of the Rice touchdowns, one of the heaves going to Cordill, and scored another one himself. Vestel kicked all four conversions just as White had kicked both Colorado points.

New Orleans, where Santa Clara battered Louisiana State 6 to 0, and Pasadena drew the biggest crowds. Over 40,000 saw Santa Clara win in the Sugar Bowl and a record gathering of 90,000 was on hand at Pasadena.

Other bowl attractions did fairly well. About 37,000 saw the Rice-Colorado Cotton Bowl tilt. The Orange Bowl game, won by Auburn 6 to 0 over Michigan State, drew 19,000 at Miami, Fla. About 12,500 saw West Virginia, lone Eastern representative in the post-season games, shade Texas Tech, 7 to 6 at El Paso.

The East-West game, a New Year's day fixture, was a financial if not a technical success. The two all-star teams played a scoreless tie before 59,000 at San Francisco.

Three Track Stars Triumph In Sugar Bowl's Festival

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 3 (AP)—Three great American track stars, Glenn Cunningham, Forrest Townes and Don Lash, shared the thrills of the fourth annual Sugar Bowl festival of sports with the 6,000 who watched them in action.

All three, participating Sunday in their specialties in which they hold the world records, avenged defeats.

Cunningham, the former "Kansas bullet," outdistanced Archie San Romani to win the mile; Georgia's Spec Townes, Olympic 120-yard high hurdles champion defeated Allen Tomlich of Wayne university, the only man who ever beat him in intercollegiate competition, and Lash reversed the result of last year's two mile run by conquering Wayne Rideout of Texas Teachers.

Cunningham was clocked in 4 minutes, 13.2 seconds. Townes in 14.3 seconds and Lash's time was 9:21.7.

Georgia, in 1770, passed a law making teaching slaves either to read or write an offense punishable by a fine of $500 for each offense.

Ducats For Golden Gloves Go On Sale; 40 Fighters Enter

Two Tourneys In Store For Fight Fans

Tickets for the city and district Golden Gloves boxing tournaments went on sale this morning at Sam Rosenthal's Hub Clothiers, the Hotel Lubbock drug store, and the Hilton hotel lobby desk.

Season tickets for four nights of fighting are $4. Separate pasteboards for each night are $1.10. The city tourney will be unreeled Jan. 10 and 17 and the district will be held Feb. 7 and 8.

Expecting More Entries

Approximately 40 entries for the two events have reached the hands of Gloves officials, but it is expected that the number will be swelled considerably before the first night of scrapping. Numerous requests from out of town boxers indicate that there is interest beyond the names already received.

Golden Gloves sponsors believe there are many other boys who would like to enter, but are afraid they cannot make the grade. One youth last year won his first fight on entering a tournament. When he completed his fourth match he was champion of his class and went to the state matches in Fort Worth.

Any Amateur Over 16 Eligible

Any amateur over 16 years of age is eligible to compete in both events. Entry blanks should be sent to the Golden Gloves editor, the Avalanche-Journal Publications, Lubbock, Texas.

Milton (Killer) Coffey, Texas Tech boxing instructor, and Cliff Carraway are offering free training to any entrant who does not have quarters or equipment for conditioning. With the instruction goes sparring partners and equipment.

Ticket sales will continue all this week. Reserved seats which go with the season ducats at $4 entitle holders to the first and second rows at the ringside.

U. S. Participation In Tokyo Olympics To Be Planned

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (AP)—The intricate machinery needed to organize America's participation in the Olympic games at Tokyo in 1940 will begin rolling this week.

Thursday the enlarged committee—representing 110 amateur sports bodies—will hold an all-day meeting to plan the Olympic campaign. Committees will be appointed for each of the 27 sports on the Olympic program. These committees will determine the method for selecting athletes who will compete at Tokyo in each sport, will set the date and site for tryouts and will name managers, coaches and trainers.

In the so-called major sports, each committee will consist of 13 members. Of these six will be chosen from the National Collegiate Athletic association and six from the Amateur Athletic union. The 13th will be elected by the other 12 from nominations made by Avery Brundage, president of the Olympic association. This plan was adopted to settle the controversy between the N. C. A. A. and the A. A. U. over Olympic control.

In other sports—those in which the N. C. A. A. does not hold national championship programs—the committee will consist of seven members. The sole exception will be the modern pentathlon committee which will consist of eight members.

Five-Star Feature In Basketball Offered In Frenship Gym Tonight; Bewhiskered Davids To Take On Four High Schools

It's a five-star feature for basketball tonight at the Frenship High school gymnasium, with the House of David tricky passing quintet meeting four high school teams in one game.

Cooper plays the whiskered clan in the first quarter, Roosevelt takes them in the second, followed in the third and fourth by New Deal and Ropesville.

After the regular games all four teams will take the floor for five minutes against the Davids, who have promised to outscore the entire 20 men. The rangy traveling team defeated Ralls last week, playing 13 men at one time.

Admission for the game will be 35 cents for adults; 20 cents for high school students; and 10 cents for children.

It will be the last appearance of the House of David team in this section this season.

No More Basketball After Graduation, Luisetti Says

CLEVELAND, Jan. 3 (AP)—No more basketball—after graduation.

This resolution headed the New Year's list for Angelo "Hank" Luisetti. The Stanford university captain in his sophomore and junior years scored 826 points to pass the recognized three-year college scoring record held by Robert H. Meaney of Lehigh.

"I have a job waiting for me in California in June for which my course in economics has prepared me," lanky "Hank" said, "and I don't plan to turn professional or go into coaching."

Final Touches To Draft Of Grid Rules For '38 Made

EDGEWATER PARK, Miss., Jan. 3 (AP)—Two dozen athletic directors and coaches gave final touches here today to a draft of college football rules for 1938.

Members of the football rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic association started sessions yesterday.

Uniform sentiment, as canvassed at last week's gaterings at New Orleans, favored only a few changes.

Golf, Bridge Making U. S. Bet-Conscious

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 — Jack Doyle, who by a sort of divine right sets the betting odds for every important sports event in the country, says golf and contract bridge have made America the greatest nation of gamblers in the world.

Mostly because of golf and contract, he says, more money will be bet on the outcome of next summer's heavyweight brawl between Joe Louis and Max Schmeling than on any single event in sports history. Mr. Doyle likes to take in plenty of territory when he talks.

Could Write A Book

"I haven't got the time," he said, "but somebody could write a book on the growth of gambling in this country in my time. It has been phenomenal, and golf and contract bridge are responsible. Not, you understand, that I'm complaining.

"Back thirty or forty years ago the only ones who did any real gambling around this town were professionals, or what was known at that time as 'hot sports.' Now the fathers and sons are out playing golf for a dollar a hole and mama is dug in at a bridge table at a cent a point. Everybody bets on something or other."

German Slight Favorite

Doyle, who retired recently from the active operation of his famous billiard academy in order to devote himself to more important things, isn't guessing about the magnitude of the money that will be wagered on Joe and Max. He's already being asked for prices and he makes the German a slight favorite to regain the title.

"I picked him to knock Louis out between the 10th and 15th rounds the last time, and don't see any reason for changing it," he said. "He looks as safe as the Yankees and Don Budge to me."

When Doyle, after a little quick mental calculation, sets the prices on a dozen varieties of sports that will be accepted as gospel from Brownsville to Bangor, he isn't taking anybody's word for it, incidentally. He doesn't rely on the sports pages for his information. He goes out and gets it himself, and at 61 he is perhaps the country's top sports fan.

Loves Every Kind Of Sport

"I love every kind of sport there is," he admits. "I guess I've seen more sports events than any man living, and I get just as much kick out of a boat race as I do a big boxing match. Now that I'm out of the pool room entirely I won't miss anything much."

Anyone with aspirations to become a betting commissioner could do no better than to sit at Doyle's feet. All at once the cloak of mystery slides off the whole business. In order to call them right with at least a profitable degree of consistency, it's only necessary to know everything, personally, and to remember it.

Knows The Records

Doyle's amazing capacity in this respect was revealed in a discussion of the approaching baseball campaigns. Seemingly he knows the records and characteristics of every player in the major leagues. Such is his reputation for honesty that the managers are not afraid to be his close friends publicly. He is no stranger to the players' benches.

The only time Doyle can recall having been seriously caught out on a limb was when he established poor old Primo Carnera, then the heavyweight champion, a sterling favorite over Maximilian Baer. Max knocked Primo loose from his angles.

Don't let that give you any ideas, though. One of the surest methods of not growing rich, Broadway has discovered, is to buck Doyle's predictions. He went wrong on only two of the bowl games: Santa Clara's 6-0 win over Louisiana State and West Virginia's nose-out of Texas Tech, 7-6.

Col. Sanford's Cotton Bowl May Become Texas Tradition

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Jan. 3.—Colonel J. Curtis Sanford, a handsome young Alabaman of the Texas governor's staff colonels, had an idea a couple of years back—which isn't prime news, for Col. Sanford has ideas to burn.

But this particular idea the colonel nursed along has blossomed into a gridiron spectacle the folks in the Southwest believe should concede only one edge to the Rose bowl—seniority.

He is the father of the Cotton Bowl classic—now a plump youngster of two years.

Saturday's Game A Thriller

Last Saturday he saw some 35,000 fans fight off heart disease in his Cotton Bowl as Rice institute, Southwest conference champions, slammed Whizzer White and Colorado's Buffaloes, 28-14, in a thriller that tore a page from every other exciting game of the entire season.

Dismal, rainy weather plagued Col. Sanford's ball game for three weeks. The 47,500 capacity bowl wasn't filled, but the colonel has an answer for that, too. Sunshine popped out the morning of the game—but it was the second rainiest December in Dallas history.

Points To Statistics

But Col. Sanford points to statistics to prove the amazing growth of his brainchild. On New Year's day, 1937, rain also ruined his game, only 17,000 paying some $36,000 to see Slingin' Sam Baugh and his Texas Christians whip unbeaten Marquette, 16-6.

Bookkeeper's reports on last Saturday's game revealed that $90,000 was laid down by fans, despite inclement weather. Of this, Colorado and Rice each received $27,098.55, which isn't exactly a popcorn box prize. Furthermore, Col. Sanford gave the Southwest conference five percent of the gross. Sort of an appreciation gift for sanctioning Rice's appearance.

To Discuss Future

Which brings us to the future of the game. On next Saturday, Col. Sanford meets at Houston with a committee of three, Henry Trantham of Baylor university, president of the conference; Gaylord Johnson and J. T. McCants of Rice Institute, to work out plans.

The sub-committee is due to report back to the league's faculty committee in the spring on a plan to align permanently the Southwest conference with the Cotton Bowl game, assuring the classic the champion each New Year's day.

Col. Sanford's ideas usually click. He told the newspaper boys he would have a 5,000-piece band—the largest ever gathered. He had 3,300, which is a good average as bands go.

He said he would have bombs exploding which would make those recently used at the San Francisco bridge dedication sound like firecrackers.

And to top all of Col. Sanford's great bag of ideas, he is giving the local weatherman a gold watch. The batch of sunshine which bathed his football stadium after days of umbrellas and slickers, was appreciated by the colonel, suh!

Luisetti Sets All-Time Mark In Basketball With His 50 Points In Duquesne Game

BY SID FEDER
(Pinch-Hitting For Eddie Brietz)

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (AP)—That Hank Luisetti must do it with mirrors . . . No one could be as good as the Stanford sharpshooter . . . According to all books, his 50 points against Duquesne Saturday is an all-time record . . . As one expert said, "He may not be the greatest basketballer ever — but name me a greater." Don Padgett, National league's top-hitting outfield rookie for '37, is being groomed to handle the catching for the Cardinals next season. . . .

At Ford Frick's New Year party: Lotta talk that the Dodgers will be sold (all denials to the contrary) . . . And that Van Mungo definitely will be with another club this summer . . . Probably with Cubs, because Giants quit bidding when they heard those telephone number prices the Brooklyns were asking . . . Dodgers probably will settle for less than Frank DeMaree in Cub deal. . . .

After Saturday's Cotton Bowl firing, it might not be a bad idea to get a few bob down in the winter book on Rice's footballers for next season . . . What with three slick sophomores like Ernie (Lightnin') Lain, who scored one and passed for three against Colorado; Ollie (Twinkletoes) Cordill, who really carries the mail, and Jack Vestel, one of those never-miss placement guys.

Pure silver is too soft for sterling silver use, so 7 1-2 per cent copper is added to make it harder.

Bobby Riggs Is Ranked First In Miami Biltmore Tourney

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Jan. 3 (AP)—Bobby Riggs, young Chicago net star who climbed to No. 2 spot among American players in three years, came here in quest of new honors today in the Miami Biltmore tennis tournament.

Officials ranked him first in the field of 58 players, with the mighty atom of the courts, Byran (Bitsy) Grant of Atlanta, seeded No. 2. The pair offered a possibility of fireworks in the finals.

Grant was dropped from third to fourth place in National rankings this year, and is out to show the tennis world he was undeserving of the demotion.

NEW YEAR'S GREETINGS AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR TO ALL

(A Good Resolution is no Good Unless it is Kept)

Friday the sun went down on the last day of the old year . . . Today finds us stepping over the threshold of another year . . . WHAT DOES THE FUTURE HOLD FOR US? . . . Are we going to profit by the mistakes of the past or go on in the same old way? . . . We all make such splendid resolutions, but unfortunately, after the first week our good resolutions are forgotten and we drift back into the same old habits . . . What a pleasant world this would be if everyone, or even a majority, made a big effort to cut out talking about one's neighbor unless it was something good they had to say . . . suspicion, greed, ill temper are our enemies of happiness, and our New Year's resolutions should certainly replace these by truth, faith, cheerfulness and generosity . . . Happiness, we are told, is to be found in a quite secret place which lies near by — in ourselves. Most people look for happiness in things outside themselves, and therefore never find it . . . This year let us resolve to look the portals of our minds against all the mean and petty suggestions which come knocking for admittance . . . Let us guard our tongue and speak evil of no man . . . Let us pray for an understanding heart . . . for a sight of the eternal hills and unresting sea, and of something beautiful the hand of man has made . . . a little leisure . . . a few moments of quiet, silent meditation . . . Above all do not forget to be thankful for the blessings the old year brought . . . Some people find the sanctity of their own homes the very best place to welcome the New Year, and when the hands of the clock reach the zenith they ask for guidance, for renewed faith and for Divine assistance in seeking the higher path . . . Regardless of who we are or where we are, we will all turn our faces to the dawn with a desire in our hearts for happiness during the coming year . . . My sincere wish this morning is that every one will find the happiness they seek . . . And so we cross the bridge that spans yesterday and today into another year . . . leaving behind all the heartaches and disappointments, the mistakes and the "what-might-have-beens" . . . Business men, and Mystics peering into the Future, prophesy prosperity for the year ahead . . . Let us hope the prophesy will come true. Dr. La Rose, celebrated Psychologist and Seer, tells you how to vibrate brain and body power, how to become powerful in business and self healing. To know your capabilities and possibilities . . . How to stay Young and Happy, and enjoy a complete life of happiness . . . The strange powers of this wonderful Psychic must be witnessed to be believed. Let him prove to you the so-called "Hard Knocks" will lessen and gradually disappear when he directs his Psychic Powers to work out the problems of your life regardless of what they may be . . . He will reveal the future as it has never been revealed to you before . . . If you miss this opportunity, blame no one but yourself . . . People who learn things are those who advance with success . . . Learn what is before you in the year to come.

CONGRESSMAN George Mahon dropped in Saturday for a Happy New Year chat just before grabbing a rattler back to Washington and the regular session. Looking fine and feeling finer, the Honorable was never-the-less not optimistic concerning the forthcoming farm bill which, now in conference, he expects will probably be passed sometime during the present month.

According to the Gentlemen from Colorado City, the Senate and House bills have been changed and changed and changed until not even a Philadelphia lawyer can understand all their lengthy provisions. Further than that, whatever is passed in the way of a final bill likely will not suit the South—or this portion of it.

George and the other boys from Texas are doing all they can, but they're over a barrel, over-ridden by midwest and westerners in the hectic tempo of a staggering official Washington.

Naturally The Plainsman asked the Congressman if he were going to run again.

He is—and will make a formal statement at a later date.

George is doing all right for his district up there and will do even better as time rolls along and he becomes more prominent and more and more familiar with the Congressional situation.

And that's a mighty good thing—because there's nobody in the district who has more than a Chinaman's chance of beating him!

A LETTER to The Plainsman from Mrs. Ferrell Farrington, editor and owner of the O'Donnell Index, anent the cotton situation in Lynn and Dawson counties, reminds The Plainsman of something else the Congressman said.

Several days before he left the capital, the Washington Herald had an editorial headed "Have You Ever Heard of O'Donnell?"

The article told all about the cotton crop in that vicinity and gave O'Donnell a great, big hand.

By gosh, O'Donnell deserves it!

So you're pretty good at pronouncing words, are you?

Well try your hand at these babies, which appeared a week ago in the magazine section of the Dallas News.

Correct pronunciations are printed further down in this column.

Incorporeal; breeches; desultory; awry; minicipal; archangel; askance; quixotic; miscegenation; heinous; chimera; ribald; precedence; indictment; malfeasance; artificer; dour; chicanery; calumny, and quietus.

R. F. "Mike" Bayless, Mr. John Santa Fe's partner here, surveyed his plain but kindly features in a mirror and then wondered how in the world anyone could get him mixed up with Dan'l Cupid.

But someone did—and in his hand was a letter to prove it.

Bearing an Augusta, Ga., address but with a Langley, N. C., postmark on the envelope, the letter addressed to "Depot Manager, Lubbock," read:

"Dear Sir: Will you please post this sign in your depot?

Am white, with dark brown hair, gray eyes, am five feet (5 ft.) tall, weigh 145 pounds. Will exchange pictures. As I said, I have no money. I am a great lover of children and elderly people."

Although laws governing privilege of publication will not permit The Plainsman to give this applicant's name, he is passing the information along to Spencer Wells, Vernon Herndon and Durwood Bradley, as the city's most eligible bachelors.

If none of them are interested, we'll then get in touch with Hardeson C. Pender!

Yesterday: Search for the secret of the pueblos runs to fever pitch when Bob discovers an air suction in the castle wall, drawing inward, perhaps to some underground passage!

CHAPTER XI

Holliman missed Mary Melissa at the corral, but when she rode back later in the morning he was dragging in some timbers and so encountered her.

"Purty day, ain't it 'Lissa?" he greeted. "Whyn't you come ride over with me, where I'm cuttin' poles at? Huhh?"

Not his words, but his inflection, both angered and frightened the girl. His tone was almost an insult.

"Thank you, but I must go on to camp." She tried to be very formal.

"Aw, come on! Come on! There ain't no hurry. Might's well enjoy this trip. We got to be out here a long time together. I bet I could show you a right good time."

It was the only approach Scott Holliman knew. He would have used it in the tiny dance hall at Blanco Canyon, or in the larger and greasier one at Nogales and the gaudier one at Tucson.

But it didn't work here. Too mad to reply with dignity, and too refined to be undignified, Mary Melissa simply spurred her horse and galloped off. She headed direct for camp, intending as a partner in the expedition to report the matter at once to Bob Barry and let him settle it with Holliman.

"Dr. Barry?" she called, dismounting. She hadn't quite decided to call him "Bob" yet, even though he used her pet name now.

There was no answer. She investigated and found the camp empty. Hades Jones she knew was away for the day, but she had left Bob and Honey Bee Girl in camp. She wasn't at all pleased to find herself alone there; she was frightened, knowing that Holliman was approaching.

She rode off again and stayed alone. Hunger drove her back about noon, and she saw Bob and Honey Bee climbing down the castle ladders.

Her emotions were oddly mixed, in all truth, when the two reached camp. First made angry by an uncouth man, a hungry girl, who finds no food but sees the pretty cook out alone with the potential lover, is in no mood for frivolity.

"Delightful day for a walk, I'm sure!" She almost snapped it at Bob and Honey Bee. She was not smiling.

Bob missed the implication entirely.

"Say, 'Lissa!" he was beaming again. His boyish enthusiasms were one very vital part of Robert Barray's charm. "Listen here—Honey Bee's a honey, and no joking!"

Bob's statement was, in reality, one of thanks, lest he hurt the Indian's feelings again. But he did not notice the anger and hurt that his statement reflected in Mary Melissa's face. The white girl paled a little, her lips tight.

"Know what she did, 'Lissa? Being an Indian, she knows all sorts of Indian signs and symbols. Well, she picked out one up in the cliff that may be extremely valuable to us!"

He paused, dramatically. But Mary Melissa was just staring, her big brown eyes studying him. Bob saw then that she was unusually sober. He had become accustomed to her smile. Instantly he was concerned. His voice was lowered.

"What—what is it, 'Lissa?" He took her hand, held it, stooped a bit to be near her. "Is something wrong? Something I—?"

He wasn't sure what to say, and so he stammered. He was so very honest about it that Mary Melissa's emotions gave way to her good sense. She forced a bit more animation, a feeble smile, and answered him.

"Nothing important—Bob. Just—one of the horses gave a little trouble. Nothing really. Please go on. What about the Indian signs. Why is it important? I am very interested."

He smiled back at her then renewed enthusiasm for his report.

"It led to a secret chamber. We dug into it. First thought it was nothing but a cairn. We found one body near the entrance. But later I discovered a draft, an up-current of air. 'Lissa, this may be a secret tunnel to that cave, from the valley level somewhere! See?"

"I see. Oh, Bob!"

His excitement was contagious, so that Lissa relaxed from her ugly mood. This was no time, she realized, to tell him about Scott Holliman, even if she got him away from Honey Bee, in private. Far better to ignore Holliman, or work out her own problem with him, than to bother scientist Barry with such an extraneous detail now. Besides, she reminded herself, she had never yet found the man she couldn't handle alone. She was a little ashamed for thinking to run for help from Holliman; it seemed somehow like tattling. After all the man had not definitely insulted her, in any tangible way. She had simply been a jittery New York girl, scared because of inexperience with crude men. She would find a way to squelch Mr. Holliman!

These thoughts raced through her mind in a few seconds, while Bob was explaining in detail the Indian sign and the walled opening up in the cliff castle. Honey Bee had hastened about the business of preparing food.

"And now listen, both of you." Bob called Honey Bee back into the conference. "I've given this considerable thought. After all, Miss Lane is the real patron of this expedition. We two are the mainstays, I mean. I don't know what that new dungeon means, but I have a hunch it's important as possible. Now—if that news gets out, and of the University professors get wind of it, we'll have maybe a dozen expeditions down here, probably reporters from newspapers and everything. Maybe before we could explore it ourselves. See? So keep it quiet. I could trust old Hades, but this Holliman is a stranger. He—"

"Yes! Yes indeed, Bob!" 'Lissa was emphatic.

"Honey Bee, Miss Lane and I are going to explore the new cave alone, tomorrow. We'll be gone a long time, maybe. But we will take plenty of food and water. Don't you breathe a word to the other men, ever. Not a hint. Understand?"

Honey Bee nodded. If her man said so, it was law. She was offended at the idea of his taking the white girl, when she herself had been the one to reveal the tunnel, but she couldn't say so now. Besides, Scott Holliman had ridden into camp with more building material, and with rather broad hints as to his hunger.

Holliman sat across the table from the other two when the late lunch was served. Hades Jones wouldn't be back until after dark, they knew. Holliman stared, rather openly at Mary Melissa.

She was ignoring him, and she was glowing. The enthusiasm of Bob's discovery was reflected in her now. Added to that was the knowledge that he really hadn't been off on a tete-a-tete with Honey Bee. Holliman watched her smile, saw the beauty of her features and the grace of her form.

He chuckled, almost audibly, at the thought of Honey Bee's hiring him to woo Mary Melissa. He had some plans.

TWISTED SENSE OF HUMOR IS PROVOKING

Someone who probably imagines he possesses a sense of humor may soon discover that his fun has not been worth the price he must pay.

Practical jokers, of course, are with us always and many of them are harmless. But one who has been the cause of several complaints to police recently seems to be the type who would have enjoyed torturing Christians in Nero's time.

For example, a few nights ago an order was placed for several expensive steaks and side dishes to be delivered by taxicab. The bill was more than $5, but the address was a vacant lot. The taxi driver lost his fee and the restaurant the value of the food. Several druggists and other restaurants have been victimized in similar manner.

Another escapade has been to place rush calls to several taxi stands at the same time, encouraging the drivers to speed by the promise of a liberal tip. The address usually has been a vacant lot or the home of someone knowing nothing of the call.

Police, not to mention victims of the joke, are thoroughly incensed over the situation. They could not be otherwise. Result is that they and others are on the alert for the so-called fun-makers. If that alertness should lead to arrests, the practical jokers will discover that ample provision is made in the law for those guilty of just such stunts as theirs.

A Thought . .

Will a man rob God? Yet ye have robbed me. But ye say, Wherein have we robbed thee? In tithes and offerings. Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye have robbed me, even this whole nation. Malachi 3:8, 9.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 3. — Sonja Henie is a pleasant but not very communicative person. Also, she usually is extremely busy. So it's necessary to hang around her set a long time to get any talking done.

Fortunately a Henie skating set is by all odds the most interesting place in town to spend a few hours. The things that happen there all day long would, if more formally staged, have thousands of people waiting in line to buy $5 admission tickets. Indeed, by the time these words reach print the star will have begun her two-months tour, which was sold out in advance in nearly every city.

She was perfecting the final details of the tour performance when I visited the studio rink on which the "Happy Landing" ice ballets have been filmed. The activity was thrilling to watch, but exhausting.

Miss Henie would lead her company of 60 in one of the numbers, do it again, flash to the edge of the ice for a conference with Director Harry Losee, practice some tricky new spins of her own, scoot over for a word with me, lead another ballet, argue with a man about costumes . . . and so on and on.

Early Riser

I made some silly observation about her being tireless, but I was wrong. She works herself to exhaustion. All during production of the picture, she said, she arose at 4:45 each morning, reached the studio at 5:30, had her hair washed and coiffed (the damp air of the rink made this necessary), was made up and on the set by 8:30.

Sometimes she stayed on the ice for more than three hours without rest. A cup of tea was her breakfast, and she had no lunch at all. The noon hour always was spent on the massage table (which is why the Henie legs are not knotted with muscles like those of many ballet dancers).

Evenings, 6 o'clock or later, she'd get into her car and would be asleep before reaching home. Then dinner—a hearty meal—and more massage. Invariably she'd go to sleep on the massage table and would be put to bed without awakening.

Total Abstainer

She never drinks or smokes. Her weight, even during her months of greatest activity, remains at 119 pounds. Her health is perfect. Two falls during the making of "Happy Landing" gave her a slight concussion and a minor back sprain, but those were the worst injuries she ever has received.

I asked why she works so hard. She said, "Because I like it. If I were not paid to skate, I would skate anyway."

She certainly doesn't need the money. Miss Henie's late father was wealthy, and her brother Leif now manages the fur business which the family owns. And she earns more money than any other motion picture star.

Her original contract with 20th-Fox called for two pictures a year at $125,000 per picture. When the last one, "Thin Ice," began to make a bigger profit than any other flicker released by the studio in 1937, she received a new contract calling for three pictures a year at $175,000 each.

$25,000 Per Night

Miss Henie's greatest source of income, though, is from tours like the one she now is making. She can clear about $25,000 from a single evening's work—and that in spite of her overhead of $30,000 a week for her company of 60 dancing skaters and technical and managerial crew of 20.

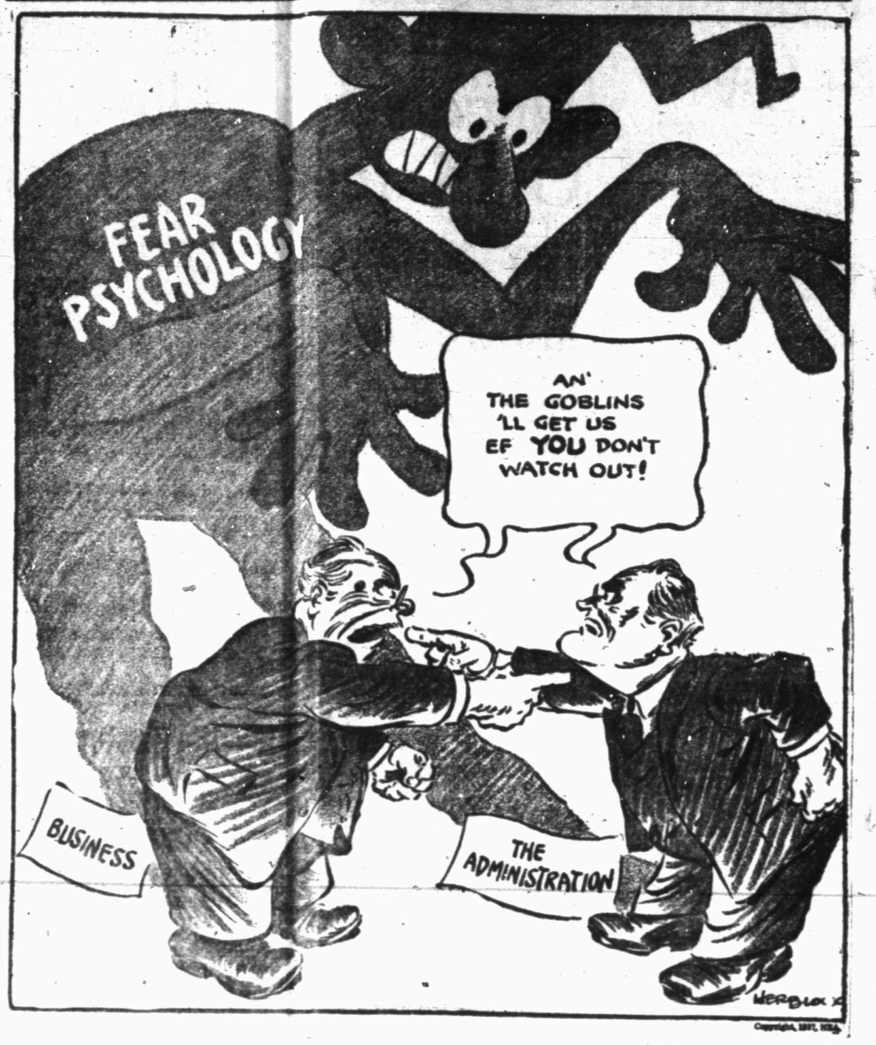

A few months ago she took out her first citizenship papers, and she pays income tax only to the United States. She manages and invests her own money.

Miss Henie and Losee, non-skating dance director, had some bitter arguments when they first worked together. But they're friends now, and she gives him full credit for putting flashy ballet work on ice. Some of the stunts performed by herself and her company are maneuvers which she had considered impossible even for herself.

In the fleece of every sheep, six to eight different qualities of wool are represented.

Dutcher Looks At '38 Through That Crystal Mirror; Spring Upturn Is Being Forecast

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3—There are two reasons for playing cagey in any attempt to forecast the year 1938. One is that the outlook is uncommonly foggy.

The other reason is that anyone who was making predictions as to 1937 a year ago is compelled now to admit that he was at least 90 per cent all wet. The departing year began with business hopping right along, with a President just overwhelmingly elected and a prevalent belief that Congress would give him everything he wanted. There was no end of talk about a new "era of good feeling" between government and business.

Hardly anyone expected Roosevelt's bold, ill-fated Supreme court plan. No one anticipated a Congress which would spend nine months of the year in balking F. D. R. and getting nothing done. A prediction that John L. Lewis and C. I. O. would win the General Motors and Chrysler strikes, and wangle agreements and union recognition from U. S. Steel would have seemed a pipe-dream.

Rodney Dutcher

Neutrality laws were expected to preserve us from threat of war. And no one supposed 1937 would wind up with Roosevelt taking his worst drubbing to date on the wage-hour bill, and with a new depression which already has thrown 2,000,000 more persons out of work.

But you can't duck 1938, so here goes.

If you don't see what you want to know, consult your favorite fortune teller!

See Upturn In Spring

Business: Nobody knows, but the prevalent notion in Washington—which is shared by Roosevelt—is that there will be an upturn some time this spring.

April, according to many guesses, will be the magic month. Optimists anticipate a "scramble for inventories" after present stocks are worked off. New Dealers among those optimists already are suggesting that it was a lucky break to have the recession at this time, if it had to come, because business will be on the upgrade in summer and fall. But more than one ace government economist questions whether there'll be a real upturn, and suggests that possibly industry will reach a level much lower than this year's peak and hover there indefinitely. Some experts are optimistic over chances of a housing boom and some are not.

A tiny minority of the government's top-flight experts believes the general business trend will be downward until industry receives a strong, vigorous push, through increased government spending. Although there is prospect of more money for this year's relief needs, Roosevelt still talks of budget-balancing and no large spending push is promised.

More Of The Same

Foreign affairs: The government is well pleased with its triple effort to

Scare the Japanese by being stern and hard-boiled;

Encourage England and France to stiffen resistance to German, Italian and Japanese aggression;

Awaken the American people to the idea that the United States cannot keep out of war by mere wishful thinking.

There will be more of the same and we will be getting chummier and chummier with England. The proposed Anglo-American reciprocal trade agreement is being high-pressured.

F. D. R. Will Fight On

Congress: The Capitol Hill situation is in a mess and so is the familiar Roosevelt program. It got nowhere in the last regular session, received the cold shoulder in the recent special session, and may or may not do any better in the next regular session.

Roosevelt will continue to fight for his defeated wage-hour bill and may win, or may lose. No one quite

LYNN COUNTY COTTON

Dear Plainsman: You proved yourself a true prophet in at least one instance—i. e. when you foretold a rise out of Lynn county on the cotton situation and especially the statement that Dawson would have ranked higher than Lynn county in cotton production had it not been for the fact that O'Donnell gins handled more than a few bales of Dawson county staple, thus receiving credit which rightfully is due our neighbor on the south.

It is true that our five local gins have turned out quite a few bales of Dawson-grown cotton. (And we herewith rise to a point of order and challenge the whole South to produce any five other gins who have turned out as many bales with as good staple as have ours here). But we'd also like the world to know that hundreds of bales of Lynn county cotton have been trucked as far as Abilene, Sweetwater, Snyder, and Big Spring, simply because they couldn't be ginned here. Being a mere woman, we of course would not presume to offer a bet. But from reports from our cotton growers, it would appear that about as much cotton has been taken out of Lynn county for ginning as has been brought in. Therefore, we believe that Lynn county was rightfully placed as near the top of the ginning list as she was. And with all respect to Lubbock county, we'll give her a close run for first place in the state when all these mountains of cotton piled at the city limits and in the fields are accounted for.

Please don't feel that we are carping or have any desire to deprive Dawson county of every iota of credit to which she is entitled. A large part of our trade territory lies in that county, and scores of our subscribers, as well as local business men, have their residences across the line. To O'Dounell, the northern part of Dawon county is as much home territory as Lynn county.

Maybe we just wanted to prove that an editor could tell the truth for once. Anyhow, we'd like to have an accurate check on the number of Dawson county bales brought in here, to be compared with a similarly accurate check of bales taken out of Lynn county. If they don't balance very evenly, the drinks are on us any time you'll come down and collect.

Yours for bigger and better headlines in 1938,

Mrs. Ferrell Farrington,
Editor, The Index,
O'Donnell, Tex.

Dutcher's Column

understands what the differing House and Senate farm bills are all about, and even if a workable bill be brought out of conference, the friends of wage-hour legislation will try to block action on any farm measure until the "Cotton South" is willing to vote for a wage-hour bill.

There will be a hot fight on modification of the corporation surplus profits tax, but whether the result will tend nearer to the administration's idea of minor modification or to the ultra-conservatives' aim of repeal is still unpredictable.

Roosevelt will seek to master Congress again, but whether he will try to do so with a slap on the wrist or a left hook to the chin—and whether either blow will be effective—is just another of those fascinating questions 1938 offers.

G. O. P. Gains Certain

Politics: Congressional elections are coming in November and numerous would-be presidential nominees for 1940 will be strutting their stuff at every opportunity.

Normally, in such a year the out-of-power party makes congressional gains. The Republicans are practically certain to improve their poor position in both Senate and House, especially the latter.

The "third term for Roosevelt" question is still static, except for a growing impression that F. D. R. may again be a candidate if he continues to find his aims blocked in Congress. Southern and Northern conservatives are joining in huddles to prevent Roosevelt from receiving a third nomination or dictating a successor.

No Sign Of Labor Peace

Labor: No good news is in prospect for labor as long as the C. I. O. and A. F. of L. fail to reach some peace agreement. Their failure to do so seriously handicaps the administration.

Depression is depleting the ranks—and ues collections of both groups. There isn't the slightest sign of peace. Both C. I. O. and A. F. of L. are attacking the National Labor Relations board, the best friend either group ever had.

Labor as a whole is likely to suffer grievously in 1938, although it is likely—as a result of political organization by Labor's Non-Partisan league—to be more influential than ever before and to make perceptible gains, in the 1938 elections.

DR. LA ROSE, Ps. D.

How to obtain Love, Happiness, Success, being loved and admired for yourself alone, capturing the hearts and friendship of all about you, can bring you more happiness than all the jewels and fine clothes you could wear . . . than all the wealth you could spend in a lifetime. Without friendship and love, life would not be worth living, for admiration and affection are the breath and heart beat of all human happiness. Within you is a power that controls your destiny. It is in every woman and man, but few discover it. Those who do are blessed with the key to Life's Happiness. With all my heart I urge you to bring forth this innate charm that is yours. Develop it, and you will attract to yourself those things that make life worth while. You are helpless in the hands of women who have learned how to use their hidden powers of attraction. You have these powers. You can discover and develop them and swiftly make yourself irresistible to men . . . even in competition with women far more attractive-looking. You can win and hold the love of the one you want. So if in doubt, ask the man who knows.

Cardenas Lists Regime Aims

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 3—President Lazaro Cardenas in a radio address to the nation Saturday night asserted anew that his government is "not an enemy of foreign capital."

The president did not refer directly to the government's difficulties with 16 American and British-owned oil companies which have appealed from an arbitral verdict ordering them to make wage increases they said would total $11,200,000 annually.

"It is pertinent to insist that the the government is not an enemy of foreign capital nor of investments in productive fields and hence advantageous for the national economy," he said, "it being understood . . . that they never insist that they be placed in a situation of privilege over our nationals."

Cardenas reviewed his administration and listed three aims for the future:

1. To increase national wealth and strengthen the credit.

2. To spur efforts for solving the agrarian problem.

3. To raise the people's cultural level and better the situation of workers.

Jobless Census

work in Texas, 163,223 were males and 66,031 were females. Reported working at WPA, NYA, CCC or other emergency occupations were a total of 76,355, of which 55,643 were males and 20,712 were females.

Although census officials did not attempt an immediate analysis of the figures, one said informally that occurrence of larger numbers of jobless in the South was affected by a large percentage of unemployment among negroes.

"Many people consider themselves unemployed who are financially not compelled to work," said Biggers. "Irrespective of their need, when they seek employment, they enter the labor market and compete with others who have jobs or vitally need jobs. They are therefore a factor in the unemployment problem though they may never seek relief."

Cummings' Report

ommendations respecting the anti-trust law. He noted, however, there had been no basic change in the Sherman anti-trust act since its enactment in 1890.

Other Recommendations

The attorney general also recommended enactment of measures, now pending in congress, which would:

Permit the defendant to waive indictment by grand jury and consent to prosecution by information.

Require a defendant who proposes to rely on the defense of alibi to give the prosecution notice of that fact before trial.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (AP)—Steels led a welcome-back in today's stock market. While dealings barely kept the tickers moving — only 150,000 shares changed hands in the first hour, the best volume for this period in many weeks — early minor losses were converted into gains running to 2 points or more in the fourth hour.

Market forces, on the whole, displayed a disinclination to conserve their trading ammunition pending delivery of the president's message at the opening of congress later in the day.

Metals and commodities were moderately firm. Foreign securities markets were irregular. Leading European currencies exhibited strength in terms of the dollar, but after a hesitant start were weak. Of U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Republic, Crucible, American Rolling Mill, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, Electric Power & Light, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Can, Westinghouse, General Electric, Amerada, Santa Fe, Johns-Manville, Crown Cork, and U. S. Ship Board.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 3 (AP) — Cotton futures were quiet in early dealings here today and initial trades showed little change from Friday's close.

Jan. opened at 8.33-bid, March at 8.42-bid, May at 8.45-bid, July at 8.52, Oct. at 8.59 and Dec. at 8.62-bid, or unchanged to three points net higher.

Foreign markets were closed in continuation of the New Year's holiday and traders preferred to await the president's message to congress before entering upon new commitments.

Towards the end of the first half hour the market was quiet and at the opening bids.

The impending presidential message continued to restrict business during the morning.

Toward the middle hour active positions were selling 4 to 7 points net higher with Jan. at 8.33, March 8.45, May 8.53, July 8.59 and Oct. 8.63.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (AP)—Cotton futures opened unchanged to 4 points advanced on higher cables and moderate foreign buying. Jan. 8.23; March 8.30; May 8.37; July 8.45; Oct. 8.48; Dec. 8.51.

Prices soon eased, however, under hedging and liquidation.

March, after reacting from 8.30 to 8.23 was selling at 8.26 shortly after the first half hour, with the list 2 to 4 points net lower.

The market became steadier later in the morning on a little more trade and scattered buying. March sold up to 8.34 by midday, when the list was 3 to 7 points net higher.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Jan. 3 (AP) — Wheat prices tended upward early today. Traders noted that the amount of wheat on ocean passage to importing countries was 3,000,000 bushels under a month ago and 4,500,000 under a year ago.

Opening unchanged to ¼ off, May 89¾-90, July 84-¼. Chicago wheat futures then scored fractional al laround gains. Corn started unchanged to ¼ up, May 61⅞-62, July 61 K⅜, and afterward showed a general advance.

Local Lodge First Of Members Gain

Lubbock Knights of Pythias lodge was first among those in Texas in membership gain in 1937, having added 69 to the rolls, according to information received here by Dr. C. H. Ater, grand puter guard, and disclosed by him this morning.

The information was received as preparations were completed for installation ceremonies for new officers at a supper meeting at the hall Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock. Also included on the program will be the conferring of the rank of esquire on 15 pages, Dr. Ater said.

Glenn D. Chase of Plainview, district deputy grand chancellor, will preside at installation ceremonies. New officers are: G. K. Taylor, chancellor commander, succeeding Harry D. McMinn; Ralph Thompson, vice chancellor, succeeding Victor; Mike Parrent, prelate, succeeding Thompson; Russell S. Hardin, keeper of records and seals, reelected; H. G. Brock, master of finance; Estell Hendrix, master of exchequer; Jack McCreary, master at arms; J. L. Davis, inner guard; Jack L. Loveless, outer guard.

Tax Duck Hunters May Get Longer Season, Larger Limit

AUSTIN, Jan. 3 (AP)—Texas duck hunters may look to a longer season and a larger legal bag limits in 1938 if recommendations of the game department have effect upon the federal regulations on water fowls, Will Tucker, secretary of the department, said today.

In view of the best supply in five years as reflected during the season just closed, Tucker said the department would recommend lifting of these restrictions.

These will include, he said, lengthening the open season somewhat, legal use of live decoys, lifting the prohibition against some species including redheads and canvas backs and increasing the daily bag and possession limits.

Ministers Plan For New Year's Work

Plans either for a union service or for simultaneous services, probably about Easter, in Lubbock churches affiliated with the City Ministers association were discussed at the monthly meeting of that organization at First Methodist church this morning.

Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, pastor of First Methodist church, Rev. C. E. Hereford, pastor of First Baptist church, and Rev. R. M. Hocker, pastor of First Church of the Nazarene, were appointed members of a committee to make plans and recommendations.

Tentative schedule also was worked out for broadcasting of Sunday night services at various churches over radio station KFYO through the year. Rev. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of First Presbyterian church, said that First Baptist services will be broadcast through January, and that the following schedule for other months has been adopted: February, Central Baptist; March, First Presbyterian; April, First Methodist; May, First Christian; June, Asbury Methodist; July, Calvary Baptist; August, First Church of Nazarene; September, St. Paul's Episcopal; and October, Tabernacle Baptist.

New officers for the year presided for the first time at the association meeting. They are Rev. J. Hodge Alves, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal, president; Mr. Hereford, vice president; and Rev. Cecil R. Matthews, minister of religious education at First Methodist.

Seven Young People Victims Of Grade Crossing Crash

BUTLER, Ind., Jan. 3 (AP)—Sorrowing parents claimed from two funeral homes today the bodies of seven young persons, six of them high school students, whose lives were snuffed out by a speeding passenger train at a crossing in the heart of this northeastern Indiana town.

DeKalb County Coroner B. O. Shook, told by John Figg, the crossing watchman, that the automobile bearing the seven crashed through crossing gates into the path of the train last night, began an investigation to determine the cause of the community-shaking tragedy.

The victims were Marjory Roan, 15, and her aunt, Gwendolyn Roan, also 15, both of Hicksville, O., and Richard Staup, 16; Marvin, Miller, 14; Lowell Blythe, 15; Merle Sarver, 15, and Jacob Stauffer, 17, all of Edgerton, O.

State Bank In Marshall Is Absorbed By Another

MARSHALL, Jan. 3 (AP)—Absorbtion of the Citizen's State Bank of Marshall by the First National bank, has been announced by officials of the two institutions.

A statement by Edmund Key, jr., chairman of the board of the Citizens State bank and W. L. Barry, president of the First National, said all deposits of the Citizen's State would be transferred to the First National.

The Citizen's State bank discontinued business December 31, the statement said.

Cooperation Is Asked By FDR

should be ended he listed as: Tax avoidance through corporate and other methods; excessive capitalization, investment write-ups and security manipulations; price-rigging and collusive bidding in defiance of the spirit of the anti-trust laws by methods which "baffle prosecution under the present statutes."

Placed in the same category were "high pressure salesmanship which creates cycles of over-production within given industries and consequent recessions in production until such time as the surplus is consumed;" use of patent laws to enable larger corporations to maintain high prices; unfair competition to the detriment of the small producer; intimidation of local, or state governments to prevent enactment of laws for the protection of labor "by threatening to move elsewhere, and the shifting of actual production from one locality to another in pursuit of the cheapest wage scale."

Not Guilty As A Whole

"The enumeration of these abuses," Mr. Roosevelt said, "does not mean that business as a whole is guilty of them. Again, it is deception that will not long deceive to tell the country that an attack on these abuses is an attack on business."

He asked businessmen and financiers to recognize what he called a "new moral climate" in the nation and themselves to cure such inequalities as they can without legislation to end others.

"The nation," he continued "has no obligation to make America safe for incompetent business men or for business men who fail to note the trend of the times and continue the use of machinery of economics and practices of finance as outworn as the cotton spindle of 1870."

Laws Require Reconstruction

The anti-trust laws, Mr. Roosevelt said, "require reconstruction," but he reserved detailed recommendations for a later message.

He again urged tax revision where levies were working a hardship on small business, but said federal income should be kept at its present level, abuses "must not be restored" and "speculative income should not be favored over earned income."

Asserting the task facing the three branches of government "faces us—as squarely, as insistently, as in March, 1933" the president declared as to the business situation and recent attacks on monopolies by administration lieutenants.

Only Small Minority

"The overwhelming majority of business men and bankers intend to be good citizens. Only a small minority have displayed poor citizenship by engaging in practices which are dishonest, or definitely harmful to society.

"This statement is straightforward and true. No person in any responsible place in the government of the United States today has ever taken any position contrary to it.

"But, unfortunately for the country, when attention is called to, or attack is made on specific misuses of capital, there has been a deliberate purpose on the part of the condemned minority to distort the criticism into an attack on all capital. That is wilful deception, but it does not long deceive."

The president hinted possible new proposals for revision of banking practices when he asserted influences were at work to "control banking and finance" despite federal efforts to "take such control out of the hands of a small group."

Work Not Finished Yet

"We have but to talk with hundreds of small bankers throughout the United States," he said, "to realize that irrespective of local conditions, they are compelled in practice to accept the policies laid down by a small number of the larger banks in the nation. The work undertaken by Andrew Jackson and Woodrow Wilson is not finished yet."

Devoting the first part of his message to foreign affairs, the president said the United States "has been kept at peace despite provocations which in other days, because of their seriousness could well have engendered war."

While this country had striven for reduction of armaments and conciliation of international differences, he said, in a world of high tension and disorder it at all other peaceful nations must "be strong enough to assure the observance of those fundamentals of peaceful solution of conflicts which are the only ultimate basis for orderly existence."

"Resolute in our determination to respect the rights of others, and to command respect for the rights of ourselves," he added, "we must keep ourselves adequately strong in self-defense."

challenge the action of the government in making proposed loans and grants.

In his opinion, Sutherland said that the competition with the municipalities was "entirely lawful."

"While the loan," he continued, "might frustrate complainant's hopes of a profitable investment it would not violate any legal right."

Loss To Vegetable Growers From Freeze Reported High

LAREDO, Jan. 3 (AP) — County Agent L. A. Pierce, after obtaining information from vegetable growers in all parts of this region, estimated the loss in tomatoes from the freeze Nov. 20 at 80 per cent. He placed the loss in sweet peppers at 50 per cent, squash practically a total loss, and string beans at 75 per cent. The frost was the earliest and most severe in several years. A portion of the crop had been gathered and shipped before the cold struck.

A peculiarity of the freeze was that the heaviest damage occurred in the area south of Laredo and in Zapata county where the temperature generally is three to five degrees higher than in Laredo and northward.

Brief Bits Of News . .

Daughter Is Born—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Powell of Maple, Bailey county, are parents of a girl weighing four pounds, two ounces, born at Plains Hospital and Clinic at 10:35 o'clock Sunday night.

Alexander Services Held—Funeral services were held at First Methodist church Sunday afternoon for M. T. Alexander, 69, resident of Slide community, who died Friday after an illness of several weeks. Rev. C. J. McCarty, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, officiated, assisted by Rev. A. O. Graydon, Methodist minister. Burial was in Lubbock cemetery under direction of Sanders Funeral home.

Medical Society To Meet—Monthly meeting of Lubbock-Crosby County Medical society will be held at 8 o'clock Tuesday night at Lubbock hotel with Dr. Arthur Jenkins lecturing on the subject, "The Infant's Diet During the First Year," according to notice given this morning by Dr. H. E. Mast, secretary.

Return From Convention—Twelve students of Texas Technological college geology department returned Sunday from the national convention of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, geological fraternity to which the University of Texas chapter was host this year. It was the first time, said Dr. L. T. Patton, head professor of geology at Tech, that a convention of the society was held in Texas. University of Utah will be host to the next one. Representing Tech chapter at the session were Harold Huffman, Manson Allen, Hugh McCullough, Ed Reed, Deane Rodgers, Raymond Libby, G. L. Fulton, Jack Woodward, Parker Brown, Robert Wulfjen, Dosh McCreary and Barney McCasland.

Revival Is Begun—With a capacity house Sunday night, Evangelist Rolfe Barnard of Rochester, N. Y., began a revival at the Tabernacle Baptist church, Fifteenth street and Avenue N. He sounded a call to Christians to "invest your lives in the service of Humanity." Tonight at 7:45 he speaks on "The Three Hallelujah's of Revelation." Pastor Ben D. Johnson extends an invitation to other churches and to all citizens to attend.

No Federal Court—Expected special term of federal court to hear a case postponed from the regular session, was not begun this morning. Judge Whitfield Davidson had called a jury to meet to consider a case, but it was later set for a Dallas hearing.

Lions Club Meeting—Regular Lions club luncheon will be held Tuesday noon at the Hilton hotel, said President W. H. Evans. No meeting was held last week.

Start Filing Claims—Claims for unemployment in Texas will be received beginning this week by the Texas Employment service. A representative of the service was to be in Levelland today to meet Hockley and Cochran county residents who desire to apply for benefits. Other meetings are scheduled for this week.

Materials Received—Materials for construction of 48 units at Ropesville community project of the Farm Security administration continue to be received. Preliminary work is under way.

New Officers Installed—New officers of Tasker H. Bliss camp No. 50, United Spanish War veterans, were installed at the American Legion hall here Sunday afternoon. They were Percy B. Ralls commander; Melton Thomas, senior vice commander; John Sevor, junior vice commander; J. F. Ricketts, officer of the day; W. T. Torrance, officer of the guard; J. J. Niehoff, trustee; and J. H. Watkins, quartermaster-adjutant. A lunch was served by auxiliary members following the installation.

Students Inspect Gin—Several students of Southwest Diesel school class here inspected Diesel powered machinery of a gin at New Home Sunday. Mack Alderson, operator of the gin, had taken the machinery apart and reassembled it while students watched. He is a member of the class, of which W. H. Noll is district director. Earl Noehren was in charge of the visiting group.

Lights Taken Down — Lubbock settled once more to its normal appearance this morning when the removal of ornamental lights from downtown streets marked the end for another year of the holiday observance. The lights, purchased in early December, had been in place almost a month and, according to John J. Graham, city power plant superintendent, provide the start for even more elaborate ornamentation next Christmas. Although a few of the ornamental globes were stolen and others were broken, he reported, the loss due to those causes was unusually small. The globes and wiring represent an investment of nearly $1,500 which was contributed by the merchants of the city.

Juvenile Is Sentenced—A 15-year juvenile from Monahans, who hitch-hiked to Lubbock last Wednesday and who burglarized five houses, including the home of District Judge E. L. Pitts, was sentenced to four years in the Gatesville state reform school by Judge Daniel A. Blair this morning. The youth entered a plea of guilty when arraigned before Judge Blair, who questioned him at length on his previous record.

Meter Collections Drop—Parking meter collections dropped, as city officials had predicted, from holiday periods totals, according to reports at city hall this morning from first collections since Christmas. The total for a two-day period was approximately $175, which was down to the pre-holiday period average of slightly less than $90 per day.

Heflin Too Sick To Leave Room On Eve Of Primary

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 3 (AP) —Fiery J. Thomas Heflin was too ill to leave his room today on the eve of his "comeback" attempt to win another seat in the U. S. Senate.

The colorful 68-year-old politician — one of the South's last frock-coated, elder day statesmen — and two other candidates have made pending New Deal legislation an issue in their fight for the seat vacated by Justice Hugo L. Black's elevation to the Supreme court.

The other candidates in tomorrow's election are Representative Lister Hill (D-Ala) of Montgomery, who is seeking "promotion" after 15 years in the lower house, and Charles W. Williams of Wilsonville, a self-styled "dirt farmer" who is a newcomer to the Alabama political scene.

Cardinal Mundelein Calls For Support Of Nation's Workers

CHICAGO, Jan. 3 (AP) — George Cardinal Mundelein called on 1,000,000 Roman Catholics in the Chicago archdiocese today to take up the cudgels of the working man.

"The trouble with us in the past has been that we were too often drawn into an alliance with the wrong side," the cardinal said last night in addressing 2,000 members of Holy Name societies.

"Selfish employers of labor have flattered the church by calling it the greatest conservative force, and then called upon it to act as a police force while they paid but a pittance of wage to those who worked for them."

Waco Woman Saves Pennies To Pay For Her Diploma

WACO, Jan. 3 (AP) — Mrs. Willie Ables Harding of Waco, mother of three children, has saved 341 of the 2,500 pennies she must accumulate by next June to pay her diploma fee at Baylor university. The savings account, deposited in a cloth bag, was started when she enrolled in the senior class at the university last fall as a nucleus toward graduation expenses.

Mrs. Harding found collection of the pennies very slow until a newspaper story revealed her plan. Since then interested persons, including Baylor faculty members, have lent aid. Regardless, Mrs. Harding insists she desired no publicity regarding her novel educational fund.

New Federal Judgeship For South Texas Recommended

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP)—Attorney General Cummings recommended today the creation of a new federal judgeship for the southern district of Texas.

His recommendation was contained in a report submitted to congress, reviewing activities of his department during the 1937 fiscal year. At the last session of congress the house of representatives passed a bill to create an additional judgeship. The senate probably will take action on the matter in January.

Texas Poet's Ashes To Be Scattered Over Cemetery

HOUSTON, Jan. 3 (AP)—The ashes of Mrs. Lola Mahavier, well known Texas poet, will be scattered by her son today on a plot dedicated to writers.

Mrs. Mahavier's body was sent to San Antonio for cremation. Raymond Mahavier of Phoenix, Ariz., her oldest son, will scatter her ashes in the Woodlawn Garden of Memories, in compliance with her last request.

Installation Ceremonies For Train Brotherhood Tonight

Installation ceremonies for new officers of Slaton division of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks of the Santa Fe are scheduled tonight at 7:30 o'clock at Trainmen's hall in Slaton, according to information given this morning by W. H. McDonald of Lubbock, retiring president.

Attendance of 35 or 40 from various points on approximately 2,400 miles of line represented in the chapter membership is expected, he added. The division extends from Presidio to Canyon, from Farwell to Sweetwater and from there along the old Orient to San Angelo and then northward to Altus, Okla.

New officers are J. S. McDonald of Slaton, president John W. Lee of Lubbock succeeding R. C. Willis as vice president; and R. E. Fleming, re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Other States Interested In Texas' Police Training Plan

AUSTIN, Jan. 3 (AP) — Other states apparently are interested in Texas' method of training police.

Kansas and West Virginia have asked the public safety department for complete outlines of schools conducted at Camp Mabry, headquarters for the department, where 138 rookie highway patrolmen and driver's license bureau officers recently were trained. Seven other training and re-training courses have been given.

Capt. Homer Garrison, jr., director of education for the Texas department, recently supervised formation of state police training schools in New Mexico and Arkansas at the request of those commonwealths.

Three Texans Given Medals For South Polar Work

DALLAS, Jan. 3 (AP) — Three Texans, members of Admiral Richard Byrd's expeditions to the South pole, were presented congressional medals of honor here Saturday night.

Gov. James V. Allred presented medals to E. J. Demas, Dallas, and Joe A. Hill, Canyon, who received the awards personally, and to Charles Gill Morgan, of Pasadena, Calif., whose medal was accepted by his brother, Ian Morgan, Austin.

Allred was commissioned by Byrd to make the presentations.

May Ask More For Security

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3—Congress may be asked soon to approve a 20 per cent increase in social security appropriations for the next fiscal year.

Informed persons said the annual supply bill for expenses for independent government agencies probably would contain a request that congress set aside $329,900,000 for the Social Security board—$55,459,000 more than for the current fiscal year.

Requirements Estimated

Chairman Altmeyer of the board estimated in a confidential report to congress that that agency would require $418,000,000 in 1940 and $550,000,000 in 1945.

Altmeyer asked the budget bureau to approve an appropriation of $397,907,409 for the next fiscal year but that agency reduced his request by about $68,000,000.

The chairman explained that about $41,000,000 of the $55,459,000 increase approved by the budget bureau would be used for old age pensions. He estimated that about 21 per cent of the persons 65 years old or older would receive assistance in the 1939 fiscal year.

Uncertainty Felt

about 1:30 (e.s.t) and that it was going by shortwave to foreign lands.

Besides today's message, Mr. Roosevelt will submit another important document—next year's budget estimates—either tomorrow or Wednesday.

Depend On Messages

Democratic as well as Republican leaders forecast that the session's accomplishments would depend to a large extent on the nature of these two messages.

Senator Byrnes (D-SC) forecast the session would complete the pending farm bill, act on government reorganization and tax revision, and probably make some amendments to the anti-trust laws.

Despite Byrnes' forecast, many leaders foresaw a long and bitter session because of the number of controversial issues pending.

Must Agree On Bills

First congress must agree on the farm and housing bills which it sent to conference committees.

The senate will begin consideration Thursday of the anti-lynching bill, which heretofore has been defeated by southern filibusters.

Back of the anti-lynching bill is the administration's government reorganization measure, which some Democrats are fighting. Even opponents forecast, however, that it eventually would pass. Another holdover item on the Roosevelt program is establishment of seven regional planning boards.

To Work On Appropriations

While the senate deals with these measures, the house will begin work on the annual appropriation bills. Before the end of January, leaders expect to pass and send to the senate a tax revision bill, which is expected to modify the undistributed profits and capital gains levies.

Aside from taxes and relief spending, the major issue of the session may be anti-monopoly legislation. Attorney General Cummings proposed today an investigation preliminary to legislation, but ran into immediate congressional opposition.

Revised Taxation

approved tentatively, for $25,000 corporations, rates of 12 1-2 per cent on the first $5,000 of earnings and 14 per cent on all between $5,000 and $25,000.

The proposed revision of the present undistributed profits tax, Vinson said, will contain a provision for a one year carryover of operating losses which corporations could use as a credit against their undistributed profits. In determining loss, he said, tax exempt interest would be included in gross income.

Corporations with income up to $25,000 would pay no undistributed profits tax. Bigger firms would pay, under a previous agreement, rates of 16 to 20 per cent, graduated according to the percentages of income distributed in dividends to stockholders.

Corporations in an intermediate income class range would pay taxes higher than the $25,000 firms but less than the 16 to 20 per cent rates on the larger companies.

Contouring Said Successful In Increasing Pasturage

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP)—Farmers have found contouring a successful means of boosting nature's production of pasturage, the Soil Conservation service said today.

The practice brought "amazing success" on about 80 demonstration projects over the country this year, officials said, and has been adapted by an undetermined number of farm operators.

Contouring involves the plowing of furrows at intervals on slope land. The furrows serve the double purpose of soil and water conservation, resulting in more uniform grass for grazing.

E. M. Milhollin, manager of the upper Concho river, Texas, project, said farmers found that with the soil and water conservation measures in effect for from three to 20 months the increased grass more than offset the cost of contouring.

STEVENS MAY RECOVER

TAHOKA, (Special) — D. A. Stevens, who fractured his spine in a fall from the framework of a warehouse he was helping erect, is thought to be improving and may eventually recover, it is reported. For a time it was feared he would not survive.

The world's production of cotton amounted to 23,800,000 bales in 1935.

duPont, Taylor Are To Testify

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—A special senate committee investigating unemployment and relief plans to hear testimony by Lammot duPont and Myron C. Taylor.

Chairman Byrnes (D-SC) said today his committee would start hearings Tuesday, with federal statistical experts outlining the extent of the unemployment problem.

President William Knudsen of General Motors, whose company has announced the layoff of 30,000 men, has been asked to appear Thursday.

Seeking Information

Byrnes, saying the committee was seeking information on how long the economic downturn might continue, said duPont and Taylor would be asked to testify some time during the week of January 9.

The South Carolina senator recalled duPont's recent speech advocating a business-government program for reviving industry, and said duPont might elaborate in testimony before the committee. Taylor, as president of the United States Steel company, is expected to give information on the extent of unemployment in steel and to outline any suggestions he may have for increasing employment.

Other Witnesses Carded

Other witnesses to be heard, Byrnes said, include President J. J. Pelley of the American Association of Railroads; C. T. Murchison, representing the textile industry; Chairman Virgial Jordan of the National Industrial Conference board; Louis Kerstein, Boston merchant; R. E. Henry, president of the Southern Cotton Manufacturers' association, and Wilson Compton of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association.

Byrnes said his committee would seek to determine the extent and character of unemployment, would study present government relief methods and would seek to find methods of eliminating unemployment.

Four Automobile Crashes Are Reported During Week-End

Four car wrecks over the week-end, including one early this morning, featured activties of police over the week-end. None was injured, reports said.

A car driven by Mrs. J. A. Jackson, 2811 College avenue, was in collision with one driven by Rudolph Pool, 1963 Texas, on South College avenue at 6:40 o'clock this morning. Pool received a cut on the scalp but it was not considered serious.

Sunday morning a car driven by J. M. Jackson of Roaring Springs and one driven by Bob McCharn, Albuquerque, N. M., collided on highway No. 7 near the Tech Tourist camp. No one was injured.

A car driven by E. W. Millsap, 2115 Eighth street and one by O. E. Montgomery, Dickens, collided on Broadway at Avenue U Sunday morning. Neither driver was injured.

Late Saturday a car driven by Julia Roberts, 2313 Thirty-fourth and one driven by Ellis Martin, 1918 Texas, collided on Avenue T and Twenty-eighth street. Both cars were damaged somewhat, but none was injured.

Family Bible 115 Years Old Offered For Pension Data

CLARENDON, Jan. 3 (AP) — Mrs. Fannie Lee Stephens of Hedley recently tendered a family Bible 115 years old in seeking to establish her eligibility for old age assistance. The volume, containing her family record, is one of the earliest editions distributed by the American Bible society. It was left her by her father, F. M. Callen, whose parents bought it in 1822.

RELIEF FOR ITCH
Acts Very Quick!

Amazingly rapid acting Blue Star Ointment strikes at and promptly eases the itching of eczema, rash, tetter, ringworm and other kinds of itch. Money back if first large jar fails to satisfy. Trial size 35c.

Arrests Over Week-End Here Confined Mostly To Drunks

Law enforcement activities were light over the week-end, arrests being confined mostly to drunks.

A juvenile was being held in county jail on a burglary charge. He is said to have robbed the home of Judge E. L. Pitts, taking a watch belonging to Mrs. Pitts. The youth had not been arraigned this morning.

Police Sunday night held three on drunk charges and one for investigation. There were 30 in jail Monday morning.

Mary Leta Stone reported Sunday afternoon her handbag stolen from her car.

Justice of the Peace Walter Davies had nine drunks appear before him Sunday. A number elected to "lay out" their fines; others made deferred bonds and will pay off their fines later.

Silverton Man Captures Live 'Bad Dream'—2-Headed Snake

CLARENDON, Jan. 3 (AP) — Bob Stevenson of Silverton captured a two-headed snake and has it preserved. The reptile, eight inches long was estimated as two months of age when taken alive. The two heads perfectly formed have four eyes, two fully developed mouths lined with fish-like teeth and when alive it projected forked tongues from either mouth with equal facility.

The two heads separate at an angle of twenty degrees and are attached to the body with a short thick neck. Both mouths are believed to have been functional in life and the reptile appears to have been well fed through double orifice.

CONCERT IS SCHEDULED

POST, Jan. 3 (Special)—Post high school band will be presented in its first public concert at the school auditorium tonight at 7:30 o'clock, according to information given by C. M. Kiker, director. The band was organized last fall.

Numbers of the Girls' Glee club will be included on the program.

Beware The Cough

From a common cold

That Hangs On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your common cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements common to many cough remedies, such as Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tar, and fluid extract of Licorice Root, but it also has fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its mild laxative effect, and, most important of all, Beechwood Creosote, perfectly blended with all of these so that it will reach the source of the trouble from the inside. Creomulsion can be taken frequently and continuously by both adults and children with remarkable results.

Thousands of people, who really know their drugs, use Creomulsion in their own families, realizing that this excellent preparation aids nature to soothe the inflamed mucous membranes, to heal the irritated tissues, and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm. Druggists also know the effectiveness of Beechwood Creosote and they rank Creomulsion "tops" for coughs because you get a real dose of Creosote in Creomulsion, emulsified so that it is palatable, digestible, and active in going to the very seat of the trouble.

Creomulsion is generally found satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritation, especially those stubborn ones that start as just a common cold and hang on for dreadful days and nights thereafter. Even if other remedies have failed, your druggist is authorized to refund every cent of your money if you are not satisfied with the relief obtained from the very first bottle of Creomulsion. Don't worry through another sleepless night—use Creomulsion.

Creomulsion is one word—not two and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product; and the relief that you want. (Adv.)
