Western Allies Urged To Get Out Of Berlin

By GEORGE BRIA
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, Aug. 25—Germany's top Communist today called on the Western Allies to leave Berlin. He charged the United States with postwar ruination of Germany just as the "senseless air attacks" wrecked her during the war.

In a Berlin speech to 3,000 representatives of the Soviet-sponsored Socialist Unity party, Wilhelm Pieck, the party leader, accused America of wanting to saddle Germany with years of military occupation. He also charged the U. S. wanted to convert the Ruhr into a new munitions springboard for attack against Russia.

Pieck's speech was reported by the Soviet-licensed German news agency, ADN.

Western Press Banned

The Russians earlier had extended their blockade of Berlin to the intellectual level, banning the western press in the city's Soviet sector.

At the same time they launched a sharp attack against the elected anti-Communist city government, accusing it of splitting the police force and "backing" western-sponsored currency in direct opposition to Russian orders.

A special session of the city administration rejected the charges as "unjustified."

Intelligence Agent Shot

American officials in Nuernberg meanwhile acknowledged that a German wounded fatally by Soviet zone police near Coburg inside U. S. occupied territory was one of scores employed as intelligence agents.

U. S. Army headquarters at Heidelberg said the German gave two names—George Salwieczek and Erich Lutz. The 38-year-old man said the second was his "real" name. Lutz said he went to the border from Erlangen "to get news from a Thuringian border police officer."

The shooting was a part of the East-West war of intrigue which was developed in Germany.

U. S. To Retaliate

The new Soviet moves in Berlin came as authoritative Allied sources minimized the chances of a successful four-power "experts" conference on Berlin currency, as reportedly suggested by Prime Minister Stalin. They said that if the money problem was not settled

AN EDITORIAL:

West Texas Needs Dams, Reservoirs

WE STRONGLY suspect that there are very few people in this section of West Texas who have any real, personal interest in the political ambitions of either candidate for the United States Senate.

Most of the people hereabouts who go to the polls will vote for one, or the other, for purely impersonal reasons. They will vote for Lyndon Johnson, because they know his record for getting things done in Washington; because he is forward-looking and alive to the needs of the day; because he is a veteran of World War II; because, if elected, he is young enough to stay in the Senate for four or five terms and thus give Texas an opportunity to gain power and prestige in the upper house of Congress by way of the seniority system. Others will vote for Coke Stevenson because his name is more familiar; because he was a "safe" governor during an era when war material and manpower shortages made it impossible to spend state money and therefore showed a surplus in the state treasury; because he hasn't made enemies by taking a clear-cut stand on any public question on which people were fairly well divided.

But when most of us look at next Sunday's paper and find out which of the two men won the Senate nomination, it won't make too much difference to us, personally whether the winner is Mr. Johnson, or Mr. Stevenson.

It won't make much difference, that is, unless the individual happens to know that this section has a decided stake in the senatorial matter.

WHILE FEW of us have any personal interest in either Lyndon Johnson, or Coke Stevenson, all of us Northwest Texans, collectively, have a great deal to gain, or to lose, in the results of the election.

All of Northwest Texas has a serious water problem.

From the Panhandle area, north of Amarillo, down to the T&P tracks; and from the New Mexico line to the 90th meridian just west of Wichita Falls, cities and smaller towns are going to have to work out a co-operative plan whereby water can be stored and then divided as the need for water grows.

Someway, somehow, we in this Northwest Texas country eventually are going to have to have a system of dams and reservoirs to assure sufficient and never-failing quantities of water. If we don't, our growth will stop and iron controls will be placed upon rural irrigation—which, of course, will be severely damaging to the farmers.

Water is the No. 1 problem in Northwest Texas today. Is is a problem of the towns and cities; it is a problem of the farmer.

OUR WATER problem, in the final analysis, cannot be entirely solved without the help and co-operation of the federal government.

As it has done in the Pacific Northwest, in Tennessee, in Southern California and in other places, the federal government will have to aid us with dams and reservoirs, or else our water problem cannot and will not be solved.

And that's where this whole country around here has a stake in Saturday's Senate election.

ON SATURDAY, we shall choose between Lyndon Johnson and Coke Stevenson. We shall choose between a man who has a well-earned reputation for getting things done in Washington for Texas; and a man who has a well-earned reputation for doing nothing; for "sitting on the lid;" for "letting the coffee cool."

Which one of the two can best be entrusted to energetically prosecute West Texas' water project?

Is it Lyndon Johnson, who knows his way around Washington after 11 years of outstanding service in the House of Representatives; a do-er, a worker, a man who looks ahead?

Or is it Coke Stevenson, who, by his own admission, "let things work themselves out;" who has no friends, no connections in the federal government; who is totally unfamiliar with Washington and who lives and thinks in the ways of the now dead past?

For more than seven years now, Texas has been "flying on one wing" in the U. S. Senate. Our senior senator, Tom Connally, is a United States and world senator. He is Texas' contribution to world affairs. His time is taken up with international matters. He cannot do his Foreign Relations job and look after Texas' needs, too.

To look after Texas' needs in Washington, Texans require the services of a man who (1) has rich, congressional experience; (2) is in tune with the present and the future, rather than with the past; (3) has the energy essential to doing the job in the Senate, and, (4) who is young enough to stay on the job throughout a sufficient time to give Texas another senator with the power, the prestige and the respect this state deserves throughout the land.

Only Lyndon Johnson fills the bill!

Chambers, Hiss Meet At Open Hearing

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25—Alger Hiss and Whittaker Chambers, face to face in the congressional spy hearings, took turns today at stinging charges and denials revolving around a tale of a pre-war Red underground in Washington—an underground which Chambers asserted was still functioning within the government.

Accused and accuser, they brought their utterly conflicting stories into the open at hearings before the House un-American Activities committee.

After eight hours and 37 minutes of intense questioning, the probers called a halt tonight. Neither man had yielded an inch. The problem of who lied is still before the committee. It called a closed session tomorrow morning.

Accusations Repeated

Chambers has accused Hiss of being a leader in a Communist underground back in the middle 30's. He repeated the accusations tonight, again under oath.

Hiss listened a few feet away, while hot lights of television and movie cameras bore down on him in the jammed caucus room of the old House office building.

Earlier it was Chambers' turn to listen. He stared stolidly up toward the lofty ceiling as Hiss questioned his "sanity" and accused him of being a "self-confessed liar, spy and traitor."

And when Chambers took over the witness stand, Rep. Nixon (R-Calif) told him right out:

"You have heard the charge here that you have been treated for mental illness."

Denies Mental Illness

Chambers: "I have never been treated for mental illness."

Nixon: "Have you ever been treated in any mental institution in the last four years?"

Chambers: "Of course not."

At one point, Chambers asked to be excused from saying publicly where he lives now since the committee knows his address and:

"I do not want to expose my family or myself to possible attempts on my life."

Asked if he objected to letting Hiss know where he lives now, the chunky, graying witness replied:

"I believe that is tantamount to telling the Communist party."

Right at the start this morning, Hiss and Chambers confronted each other a few feet apart, and

Russian Woman Tells Of Jump To Freedom

Injured Teacher Declares She Does Not Agree With Policies Of Stalin

By INEZ ROBB
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Aug. 25—Mrs. Oksana Kosenkina, a woman broken in body but not in spirit, today told the world that she jumped from the Soviet consulate in New York not to die, but to live in freedom.

"I did not want to kill myself. I wanted to escape," she told newsmen gathered about her bed in Roosevelt hospital where she is recovering from multiple injuries received in that desperate leap two weeks ago.

Jumped To Escape

This fragile storm center of the serious diplomatic impasse between the United States and the USSR added:

"When they returned me to the consulate (after she had fled to Reed farm north of New York for sanctuary) and when they did not permit me to leave, I knew I would not be able to escape in Moscow either.

"I jumped out of the window to escape. I did not want to kill myself, only to escape."

She amazed newsmen by adding that long before she was brought here two years ago to teach in the Russian school then maintained for children of officials, she had longed to escape to America.

"I do not agree with the policies of Joseph Stalin," she explained in another sudden and unexpected statement as newsmen filed out of her room at the end of the 21-minute interview.

"I love my country and my people, but I cannot agree with the regime in the Soviet."

Contradicts Lomakin's Story

The drama inherent in the hospital interview, with the teacher as white as the stark hospital gown she wore, was intensified by grave charges she levelled against Russian Consul General Jacob Lomakin, whose recall has been

U. S. Plans No Immediate Action On Consulate Move

By EDWARD E. BOMAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25—Russia's slamming shut her consulate doors and ours failed to get a rise out of the American government today.

Unexcited, Secretary of State Marshall indicated the United States might just let Moscow have the last word in the bizarre quarrel over two Soviet school teachers who balked at going home from here.

The United States is ready to accept the closing of the American consulate in Vladivostok which Moscow ordered, Marshall said.

U. S. May Not Reply

He brushed off as of slight importance to troubled Soviet-American relations Moscow's brusque action in ordering Soviet consulates in New York and San Francisco shut down.

And he left open whether there would be even a reply to the bristling note Moscow dellvered last night. This again assailed American authorities for keeping two refuge teachers out of the hands of Soviet consular officials and announced the closing of all three American and Russian consulates.

Marshall commented on the weird dispute at a news conference. Shortly afterward President Truman disclosed he has formally revoked the credentials of Jacob M. Lomakin, Soviet consul general in New York, for "abuse" of his official privileges in the teacher cases.

Credentials Revoked

When the White House yacht Williamsburg put into Yorktown, Va., Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross announced Mr. Truman signed late yesterday an order revoking the "exequatur" (credentials) given Lomakin when he was made consul general. Ross said this action was independent of Moscow's latest move.

The U. S. demanded last Friday that Lomakin leave the country. He is scheduled to sail for home Saturday from New York.

Marshall stressed that Moscow's retaliation left ample facilities to

Official Leaves U. S. 'For Good'

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Aug. 25 (AP)—Zot I. Chepurnykh, Soviet vice consul in New York, sailed for Russia on a Soviet freighter tonight.

As he left the consulate in New York in the afternoon he told newsmen "Goodbye." In response to questions he said he was going "for good."

When asked "where from?" he replied La Guardia field. Reporters at the field, however, saw no sign of him.

He was discovered on the freighter Govorov at a pier here just before the vessel sailed at 6:15 p. m. (CST).

Lomakin Not Seen

In a final interview he told a reporter he thought the breaking off of Soviet - American consular relations—a step announced by Russia last night as an outgrowth of the Russian school teacher's case—was "for good."

Asked whether he meant "forever" or that the action was a good thing, Chepurnykh replied: "Decide that for yourself."

Soviet consular cars lined the road leading to the pier. Among them was that of Consul General Jacob M. Lomakin, whose recall was demanded by the U. S. government.

Lomakin was not seen at the pier, however.

It has been announced that Lomakin will sail from New York Saturday. His credentials as Soviet consul general were cancelled today by President Truman.

Three Texans Dead In Honolulu Crash

16 Airmen Killed In B-29 Bomber Crash

(By The Associated Press)

HONOLULU, Aug. 25.—The Air Force told today how a tail gunner saved a buddy from certain death in the fiery crash of a Superfortress which killed 16 airmen at Hickam field last night. Three of the dead were from Texas.

The tail gunner is Sgt. Donald Kienholz, Pasco, Wash., one of the four injured survivors of the accident.

Kienholz in the tail gunner's position was thrown clear when the big bomber plowed into one of the field's power stations.

He then dashed into the flaming wreckage and dragged out Sgt. Harry C. Larsen, Los Angeles, another survivor.

The two, with Sgt. Francisco Billenbeck, El Paso, Tex., and Pfc. Halbert L. Pittman, Calipatria, Calif., were too seriously injured to be interviewed, the Air Force said.

How Billenbeck and Pittman escaped was not known immediately. Apparently they were thrown clear.

The giant bomber from the 98th bomber group at Spokane, Wash., had just taken off from Barber's Point bound for Okinawa when an engine quit.

Victims Are Listed

The pilot was told to try to land at municipal airport, adjacent to Hickam field. The bomber missed the field and banked over Hickam to try again.

As it banked a wing of the bomber struck a parked transport plane. Eyewitnesses said the Superfort crashed into the power station with a blinding flash of orange flame.

In Spokane, the Air Force base announced the names of 15 of those killed and four injured.

The dead:

Capt. Irving Unger, Veradale, Wash.; Sgt. Albert Czubowicz, Spokane; Staff Sgt. Clarence O. Paules, Landisville, Pa.; 1st Lt. William C. Collins, Blooming Grove, Texas; 1st Lt. Leo F. Towers, Bandera, Texas; Staff Sgt. William N. Harmon, Buffalo, N.Y.; Tech Sgt. Marion E. Lungstrum, Lindsborg, Kans.; Staff Sgt. Frederick A. Daniels, Neilsville, Wis., Staff Sgt. James R. McCauley, Idaho Falls, Idaho; Sgt. Billy T. Norton, Texarkana, Texas; Sgt. Miguel A. Solis, Arbuckle, Calif.; Pfc. William F. Graham, Petaluma, Calif.; Pfc. Harold L. Sinclair, Seligman, Mo.; Sgt. Harry E. Moore, Spokane; Sgt. Richard E. Jones, Long Beach, Calif.

The name of the 16th victim was withheld because his wife had not been notified.

Seriously burned in the crash were Billenbeck, Larsen, Kienholz, and Pittman, Calipatria, Calif.

U. S. Air Transport Carrying 44 Reaches Bermuda On Two Motors

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Aug. 25 (INS)—A crippled U. S. transport plane reached Bermuda today after a harrowing flight over the Atlantic with two of its four engines gone.

All passenger luggage — even baby's diapers—was hurled into the Atlantic ocean to enable the C-54 military air transport plane to stay in the air with its 35 passengers and crew of nine.

Lt. (jg) Robert C. Williamson, of the U. S. Navy, said one motor conked out about 1,000 miles out from Bermuda, and the second one went bad about 880 miles from shore.

The passengers were Army and Navy personnel, and wives and children of servicemen, enroute from Germany to Westover airfield in Massachusetts.

H-SU Officials Seek Membership In SWC

ABILENE, Aug. 25 (AP)—Hardin-Simmons university today filed formal application for membership in the Southwest conference.

The school, boasting 2500 students, has long been a power in the Border conference and has played in several bowl games.

The application was forwarded to James H. Stewart, executive secretary of the conference, who is chairman of an expansion committee appointed at the last meeting of the conference faculty committee.

Stewart said his committee would hold its first meeting in Dallas Friday and at that time will accept the Hardin-Simmons application for study. The commission already has before it an application from Texas Tech, also of the Border conference, seeking admittance to the Southwest conference. Tech filed its application several years ago.

Fine Assessed After Beer Haul

County court officials said Magnus Walker, a Lubbock negro, had pleaded guilty of possession of beer for purpose of sale, and had been fined $100 and costs, after a raid of police and the Liquor Control board early Wednesday afternoon in the negro quarters.

Police said three automobiles were required to haul the contraband.

County Attorney John Steele, following up the raid by a petition filed in the 72nd district court of Judge Dan Blair, asked forfeiture to the state of 2,880 cans and 48 bottles of alcoholic beverages. The bottles were identified as whiskey and gin.

Fugitive Warrant Issued

The county court complaint was sworn to by Charlie F. Fuller, deputy supervisor and commanding officer of the Lubbock district of the liquor board.

The seizure was in 2400-block East Ave. G, officials said.

Captain of Detectives Pat Davidson made affidavit that Ernest Croy, 25, had fled to Lubbock county from Georgia where, he alleged, Croy had been charged with forgery.

D. W. Robertson, justice of peace, issued a fugitive warrant. He set bond of $1,000 returnable instanter for Croy, who was reported under arrest.

The county attorney said that,

U. S. To Send 2,500 Additional Men To Aid In Berlin Flights

By FELIX COTTEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 — The Air Force announced today that about 2,500 additional officers and men would leave the United States for England Sept. 1 to help man the crucial Berlin air lift.

Their transfer will be another step in preparations by the U. S. and Britain to keep supplies moving into the German capital through the winter in the face of Soviet efforts to oust Allied occupation forces.

The new group will come from the 59th air depot at Rome, N. Y., and personnel from the air weather and communications services of the military air transport service.

The Air Force said they were being sent "to provide facilities, supply and maintenance the aircraft in 'operation vittles' supplying Berlin, and to a lesser degree, the three B-29 groups temporarily based in England."

The B-29 groups, it was explained, "carry their own maintenance personnel and are self-sufficient except for major main-

LUFKIN, Aug. 25 (AP)—Scattered showers and a damp, cool night came to the aid of worn-out forest fire fighters and left only nine fires reported still burning in East Texas today.

This is the smallest amount in two weeks, Texas Forest service officials said. Twenty-six blazes were brought under control yesterday.

Seven of the remaining fires were blazing in the Woodville area. Crews estimated about 1,000 acres were in flames.

The other fires were in the Conroe and Jefferson districts.

Light Showers Fall At Morton

The first slight break in South Plains' crop crippling drouth came at Morton Wednesday night when a heavy thundercloud gave the area light showers.

While the precipitation was admittedly of no benefit to crops, it boosted hopes that heavier rains might be just around the weather corner.

The weatherman however offered slight hope that the Plains would receive anything like beneficial moisture. He said the prospects were improving for scattered thundershowers and that some scattered precipitation might be received over the week end, but no general rain is foreseen.

Cool Front Reported

A cool front was reported moving toward Texas from Colorado. The weather forecaster, however, said that it is unlikely that the weak front will reach the South Plains area with any noticeable effect.

He reported rains at Abilene, Fort Worth and Wichita Falls.

The maximum reading Wednesday was 90 degrees, with a 66 degree minimum recorded shortly before sunrise.

The forecast for today and Friday is partly cloudy with little change in temperature.

Move To Show Rest Of Nation South's Aid To Negro Planned

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 — A move to tell the country what the South is doing to improve the lot of the negro was launched today by Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss).

He is doing it, he said, because he feels that most Americans outside the south "are under erroneous impressions" over what southern states are doing to raise living standards of negroes and the under-privileged of all races.

As a starter he is asking governors of 13 southern states to send factual information on what is being done to improve health conditions, working conditions and educational standards of negroes.

Joining Stennis in the project is Mississippi's senior senator, James O. Eastland (D).

Stennis and Eastland asked the governors to obtain from their state health, agriculture, labor and education departments such information as:

How health conditions have been improved, how death rates from communicable diseases have been lowered; the number of negro high school and junior and colleges in existence and planned, and what scholarships are avail-

COTTON EXPERTS TO SPEAK

Improvements In Farming To Be Discussed At Meeting In City

Challenges to agricultural education workers involved in cotton mechanization will be discussed by two of the Cotton Belt's foremost agricultural authorities at the National Cotton Council's Belt-wide cotton mechanization conference here October 14.

Mechanization problems faced by the Agricultural Extension Services will be told to more than 500 representatives of agriculture, industry, and government by P. O. Davis, Auburn, Ala., director of the Alabama Agricultural Extension Service. Ray L. Chappelle, Lubbock, head of the department of agricultural education at Texas Technological college, will discuss problems facing vocational agriculture departments.

To Aid Cotton Costs

The educational side of mechanization has long been recognized by researchers and economists as one of the big issues in achieving les costly cotton production, the Cotton council says.

"It is not enough to tell the farmer what machines are available to him," a council representative declared. "The farmer must also know how to use these machines to the best advantage, the requirements for properly maintaining them, and a great deal of other necessary information. This offers a real challenge to the educational worker."

Final plans for the three-day meeting are currently being made by council representatives and members of the staff of the Lubbock Agricultural Experiment substation, where important parts of the program will be held.

The steering committee for the conference, headed by Ransom E. Aldrich, Michigan City, Miss., cotton producer, and president of the Mississippi Farm bureau, is working in close cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Experiment station, Texas Agricultural Extension service, Texas Statewide Committee for Cotton, and the Plains Ginners association

Lubbock Man Says 1,000 Rabbit Breeders In City Would Help Solve Problem Of Meat

After 18 years of raising rabbits, Guy L. Trow of 2010 Twenty-fifth is convinced of the value of rabbit raising both as a hobby and as a source of meat.

"We could use a thousand backyard rabbit breeders in Lubbock so they could help supply themselves and others with meat," he said.

He raises rabbits in an air-conditioned rabbitry in the backyard of the Trow home as a hobby with the aim of producing good breeding stock. All of his senior rabbits are registered with the American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders association, Inc.

Reach The Trow Table

All rabbits do not meet the specifications required of registered stock, and those reach the Trow table about twice a week in the form of rabbit sausage, baked rabbit, barbecued rabbit, fried rabbit, rabbit pie or in other forms.

"I never get tired of them. You can fix a rabbit any way you can a chicken and lots of ways you can't fix a chicken," said Trow.

Rabbits need to be pure bred for eating, he believes. Pure bred rabbits are "good, big, healthy rabbits," he said. "If the stock is not good, one has little runty rabbits."

All White Meat

"One of the good points is that all pen-raised tame rabbits are white meat," he added.

Sometimes, when there are more "culls" not meeting specifications for registry than the Trows can eat, he sells the extra ones to butcher shops.

"If we have a surplus, we take them down to the store. I always have a sale for any I can't use myself," said Trow.

Such sales are purely incidental, but whether or not raising breeding or show stock, rabbit raisers are in the meat business, because of the number of culls, he explained.

A bird, fish, snails, frogs and a dog are other creatures at the Trow home.

Everything Is Trained

"He has everything trained," said Mrs. Trow, who is principal of Dupre school. "Every time I open the refrigerator the bird makes a certain noise if he wants lettuce," she said.

In the backyard, she tapped the side of a shallow cement pool. Fish came up to the edge, as they had been trained to do by her husband.

Trow began raising rabbits after he became crippled. He uses a wheel chair. He goes back and forth to the rabbitry at the rear of the backyard except when weather prevents. At those times, Mrs. Trow feeds the rabbits.

The rabbits live in air-conditioned comfort. "They have a fur coat that they can't take off—and that gets mighty hot," said Trow.

They Have Sun Porches

They also have "sun porches," places on the outside of the rabbitry joined by small openings leading from the hutches within.

Sandy, cocker spaniel owned by the Trows, goes in and out of the rabbitry, comfortably at home with the white rabbits.

There's not but one kind of rabbit as far as Trow is concerned, he said. That's the New Zealand whites. Such rabbits, he said, have a top weight of 12 pounds.

One doe can produce about two and one-half times her weight in rabbits every 90 days, he said.

Trow helped organize and formerly was president of the South Plains Rabbit and Cavy Breeders association, of which L. E. Settle now is president.

Last year, Trow sold all his rabbits in order to build a new rabbitry. He later restocked, but in the meantime the South Plains Rabbit and Cavy Breeders association had conducted a rabbit show at the Panhandle-South Plains fair for the first time. Plans are being made for another show this year.

He does not raise rabbits for show purposes, but "I've sent a few around now and then to try to keep up and see what I have," he said. "I always place. My purpose is not show stock. My purpose is raising good breeding stock." He has exhibited at Houston, Dallas, Indianapolis, Ind., and Roswell, Portales and Lovington, N. M., and at table shows of the South Plains Rabbit and Cavy Breeders association.

He calls his rabbitry the South Plains rabbit ranch. An ear of each of his registered rabbits is marked with the letters S. P., for South Plains, and the number of the rabbit. Before eligible to be registered, one of his rabbits must meet various specifications. Each must represent at least three generations of pedigrees. Ears must be less than 5½ inches long, weight not over 12 pounds or under 10, and other specifications must be met. They must have no defects. "They can't even have a colored toe nail," said Trow.

He formerly owned a grand champion buck rabbit, which he had not raised but had bought after it won a grand championship at Binghamton, N. Y. To be a grand champion, a rabbit must be placed first in three official shows by two judges recognized by the national association.

Committee To Study Seating Of Rival Demo County Delegations

FORT WORTH, Aug. 25 (U.P.)—State Democratic chairman R. W. Calvert said today he would name a credentials subcommittee to "hear the facts in all contests" over seating between Dixiecrat and pro-Truman county delegations at the convention here Sept. 14.

Calvert's statement was made here in connection with Dallas news stories that Dallas county Dixiecrats planned legal action to have a part in next month's convention.

Big City Group Involved

Dixiecrats gained control of Dallas, Tarrant and Harris counties at the county meetings, and pro-Truman groups in all three places staged walkouts and named their own state convention delegates.

Calvert said he had "neither the right nor the power to prejudge the merits of controversies between contesting delegations."

He said he would name a credentials subcommittee "in keeping with long established useage and custom." This appointment will be made "at the proper time," he said.

The subcommittee will hear facts in all contests and make a report to the state credentials committee at its pre-convention meeting here Monday, Sept. 13. The report, Calvert said, will be "for such recommendation as the committee sees fit to make to the convention."

Suit Plans Ridiculed

"The indication of some that they were filing a suit seemed to me to be an act of desperation," Calvert said. (Connie Renfro, Dallas attorney, said he planned to go to Austin today to ask permission of the state supreme court to file a suit for mandamus against the state Democratic executive committee and a representative group of Dallas county pro-Truman party members.)

"The people who have indicated they will file it (the suit) are trying to judge my future conduct by their past conduct at the state convention held in Dallas in 1944," Calvert said. "They have no right to do this."

CROWLEY, Tex. (U.P.) — Modern methods were used to capture a youth for theft and burglary. He was flushed from a thicket by a low-flyng airplane and a posse of deputies arrested him.

Lubbock Boys' Club Chorus To Be Organized By Group

A Lubbock Boys' club chorus, composed of members of the club, has been approved as a regular activity in the club and plans for the chorus will be started within a short time, John W. Wilson, Boys' club director, announced Wednesday.

Pre-Trial Plan To Be Tested At Clarendon

CLARENDON, Aug. 25 (Special) — Judge Luther Gribble, presiding judge of the Ninth Administrative Judicial district, will put to test the new pre-trial procedure in a hearing here Thursday.

The pre-trial procedure is coming into wide use throughout the entire United States and is hailed one of the greatest advances in expediting trial of lawsuits. The attorneys representing the parties to a lawsuit have an opportunity to agree on the undisputed facts to be presented in the trial of the case and have the court rule on the law involved.

Without infringing on the individual's rights, pre-trial cuts out most of the red tape and endless delays sometimes encountered in trials under the old procedure.

Judge Gribble said, "The pre-trial conference is a notable improvement in court procedure and I hope that in the future it will be more consistently used through out this area."

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

DID you hear about the man who was so money mad he only ate mints?

OLD TEXAS CUSTOM

WE are beginning to think that any kind of a fight will do, in Texas.

Last year a Dallas woman got together with some of her friends and sailed into the fashion industry, with the "little below the knee" protest against long skirts.

This year a peppery 71-year-old Dallas grandmother got her dander up about high meat prices and called a housewives' boycott.

Both ideas spread over the nation.

WE wonder why those ideas began in Dallas. It's "just one of those things," according to Mayor Jimmie Temple, the most inane of any explanation we have ever heard.

But both protests began on Aug. 2.

Mrs. Warren J. Woodard, who sounded the call to arms for the Little Below the Knee club, said it all began when she was talking to some of her friends one morning. She didn't join the meat price protest movement.

This fall's fashion stories from Paris say some skirts are not as long as last year's.

Mrs. Vaughn said she thought of the idea of boycotting butchers because it's the American way of doing things. As she said "when you don't like something, you've got to do something about it."

HIPS, HIPS AWAY

WOMEN who let their hips spread in anticipation of their being hidden by yards and yards of material this season are in for a shock. Skirts are going to be slimmer than ever this fall. We think a person, without causing undue hardship, can reduce an easy, quiet way. Cutting down calorie intake and moderate exercise does the trick.

People who manage to lose weight successfully usually seem to have a great amount of will power They claim that if you have that, nothing can stop you. Usually their planned reducing program requires that they deny themselves 50 per cent of their former calorie intake. Sometimes they start on a 75 per cent meal and work down to the 50 per cent, which they claim makes it easier.

Many doctors give high protein diets to patients who must lose a great deal of excess weight. This means that meat, eggs and green vegetables can be taken in large quantities. But don't fry the meat and eggs and eat starchy and buttered vegetables. Some doctors permit a teaspoonful of butter and a slice of wholewheat bread or hard biscuit each day.

It's not impossible to lose a pound a day on a high protein diet but you had better see a doctor before you start it.

Pi Mu Society Has All-Day Convention

A Pi Mu society convocation is being held today at the Hilton hotel by music students from over West Texas, parents and teachers. The annual event will lead to the establishing of state and national councils.

Opening the all-day program, a teachers' meeting will be held in the Yaqui room this morning and will be followed by a teachers' luncheon at which a West Texas Pi Mu council will be formed with Miss Grace E. Hamilton of Amarillo serving as temporary chairman. The council will be made up of teachers from the entire area and will direct the coordination of chapters in this region.

The students will attend a recreational program and picnic lunch at Mackenzie State park and then return to the hotel for a pegeant, installation and recital to be given by outstanding piano students from West Texas.

Just before the recital, five new Pi Mu chapters which are from Fort Stockton, Brownfield, Lamesa, Olton and Tulia, will be installed.

In the afternoon the parents will meet and set up a parents council for the society. The duty of the group will be to see that parents in the various chapters are notified of coming events. The students who operate their own chapters, will elect their Pi Mu council members and set up a West Texas program to present concert artists in their hometowns.

The evening program, open to the public, begins at 7 o'clock.

At the present time active chapters are in Shamrock, Pampa, Amarillo, Lockney, Olton, Tulia, Brownfield, Midland, Odessa and Fort Stockton.

Mrs. Fred Stone, who plans to sponsor a chapter here, will be hostess.

Harold H. Leith, Amarillo educational advisor for the Progressive Series program in West Texas, will be sponsor and A. M. Culpepper of Waco, national educational advisor, will attend.

Membership in Pi Mu society is attained by passing all examinations in music theory with an average of over 90 per cent, Leith explained. Practical piano playing must be passed with over 75 per cent. Summer session scholarships to the St. Louis Institute of Music are granted and college credits are allowed. Pi Mu is the outside recreational program for these scholarship students.

World Church Council Discusses Communism, Pacifism, Palestine

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, Aug. 25. (AP)—The World Council of Churches began today secret deliberations over such controversial questions as Communism, Pacifism and Palestine.

One authoritative American churchman said that on the basis of informal lobby talk among delegates it appeared that world political problems could be rated in that order of importance at this first assembly of the world council.

Dulles Is Speaker

Fireworks over Soviet policy and spread of Communism only sputtered during the day. The controversy was brought into the open yesterday in speeches by John Foster Dulles of the United States and Professor Joseph Hromadka of Communist-ruled Czechoslovakia.

Dulles told newsmen nothing developed on east-west differences in the closed session except a recognition that they exist.

Dulles, a Presbyterian layman and foreign affairs advisor to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the Republican party presidential nominee, addressed a section meeting today on "the church and international disorder."

He spoke early so that he could fly home to the United States later in the day. U. S. ambassador Lewis Douglas flew here from London to discuss the European situation with Dulles.

It appeared that today's session was confined to general statements without any debating cross-fire.

First Christian Church Pastor Is Speaker At Exchange Club

Rev. Travis A. White, pastor of the First Christian church, spoke briefly on managing personal relations to members of the Lubbock Exchange club meeting for luncheon Wednesday at Hotel Lubbock.

"The greatest shortcoming of the world today," Rev. White asserted, is in human relations." As remedies, he suggested physical fitness, positive mental attitudes, professional proficiency and unselfish service to others.

The group also heard C. W. Ratliff, Avalanche-Journal managing editor, and Roy Finley of Kuykendall Chevrolet Co., tell of their experiences at the national Soap Box Derby race held recently in Akron, O. Finley pointed out that of the 153 cities which held Derbies this year, Lubbock had the second largest number of entries.

Mrs. Fred Atkins issued an appeal for "substantial donations from Lubbock's civic organizations' to aid in the establishment of a nursery for negro children of pre-school age.

Dr. Jim Reynolds presided. Al Marcus was introduced as a new member. Invocation was by Roger Kuykendall.

Plans For Hollywood Wedding Are Ruined By Forgotten 'Wife'

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 25 (INS)—Some 35 film celebrities held rainchecks today for a wedding that was cancelled just before the orchestra tuned up for Lohengrin.

And singing actress Lynn Carver, who must not be confused with actress Lynne Carver, was busy explaining why she was still a bachelor gal and not Mrs. John Burt.

Tearful Explanation

She had a tearful explanation for the abrupt cancellation:

"I told John we couldn't be married. I said, 'darling, you're married already.'"

She blamed "the other woman" for the weird climax to what was expected to be one of the film colony's gayest wedding partys.

The actress said that a June Collins telephoned from Tulsa, Okla., to say that she was married to Burt in Tijuana, Mexico, a year and a half ago. Miss Carver continued:

Recalled Drinking Party

"John said he remembered a drinking party in Tulsa, a year and a half ago, when somebody in the group said, 'Let's have a wedding.'

"The next thing he remembered was going across the Mexican border.

"He said he never lived with Miss Collins as man and wife. I talked long-distance to her, and she wished me a happy married life and made no threats of any kind."

The actress declared that the wedding date with Burt wasn't cancelled, just postponed until everything was straightened out. She said her bridegroom-to-be was checking Mexican officials to determine whether he was legally married to the Tulsa girl.

Former Slav Army Official Says Tito Regime May Be Overthrown

BUCHAREST, Aug. 25 (U.P.) — Maj. Gen. Popivoda, who fled Yugoslavia 10 days ago, asserted today that Marshal Tito's regime will be overthrown if it continues to oppose direction from Moscow.

Safe in Romania, Popivoda attacked Tito and other top Yugoslav leaders for their nationalistic viewpoint and asserted they had turned the secret police against "honest Communists" in Yugoslavia.

"If the present leaders of the party continue their nationalist line, which can lead only to the death of our party," Popivoda said, "forces in our people and party will arise which will bring a new management to power."

Purge Denounced

Popivoda singled out Milovan Djilas minister without portfolio, for especial attack. Djilas was attacked by the Cominform as a "coward and traitor."

"He is a typical bourgeois intellectual and his one-month desertion from the battlefield during the fifth offensive clearly shows he is a coward and traitor," Popivoda said.

He asserted, however, that the purge of Cominform followers in Yugoslavia "cannot stop Yugoslav Communist in their fight against the treacherous line taken by Tito."

Flight Termed Plot

Belgrade dispatches reported last week that Popivoda had fled in a plane for an unannounced destination with another Yugoslav general the day before the frontier shooting of former Yugoslav chief of staff Col. Gen. Arso Yovanovitch was announced.

These dispatches said the flight of Yugoslav army officers was part of a plot to set up in some neighboring country an exile regime dedicated to the overthrow of Tito.

Appeal For Organized Assistance In Palsy Center Here Issued

An appeal for organized assistance for Lubbock's cerebral palsy treatment center, which opened this week in temporary quarters, was made in brief talks before the Rotary Club at its luncheon in the Hilton hotel Wednesday. Wives of Rotarians, many of whom attended the luncheon, received special pleas for aid.

The treatment center, co-sponsored by the club and the Crippled Children's council here, needs volunteer help in several phases of operation, the group was told by Dr. Bill Gordon, program chairman.

He introduced Miss Esther Snell, director at the center, who outlined three specific needs. These were toys of particular type to help in muscular coordination in individual cases help in achievement tests which show progress of the patient, and people for typing to assist with records, correspondence, etc.

Miss Snell said that in the two days the center has been in operation, 44 cases have been in the clinic. Another group of 12 from the area, and who may eventually enter the clinic, already are under treatment at other places.

An appeal on behalf of the center was made by Charles A. Guy, who said that five or six years ago inquiries were received from 287 families in this part of Texas and eastern New Mexico concerning such treatment. He said that it is reasonable to assume that now there are probably 350 to 450 such cases in the area.

The treatment center is in temporary quarters in the 1300 block of Tenth, while plans move forward on a building project.

A musical program featured violin numbers by Bill Harrod, with Miss Imogene Webster at the piano. He played The Lost Chord, Swanee River, and The Cradle Song.

Guy Victory presided in the absence of Irving L. Jones, club president, who is now in California for a vacation and wired his greetings. Invocation was by Dr. H. I. Robinson.

Visiting Rotarians included Lowell O'Hair of Tatum, Clement Von Roeder of Snyder, Floyd Ferrell of Littlefield, Ed Hearne of Little Rock, D. G. Posey of Ballinger, Ed G. Garland of Lamesa, W. M. Craig of Amarillo, R. S. Willis of Lovington, Dr. Elbert Loveless of Slaton, Bill Carmichael of College Station, Geo. G. Smith of Houston, and R. T. Doughtie of Memphis, Tenn.

Flood Damage In Philippines High

MANILA, Aug. 26 (Thursday) (INS)—Twenty-five towns and large areas of rich agricultural land were reported inundated today by flood water in two central Luzon provinces.

Damage to crops and property in the provinces of Pampanga and Bulacon, north of Manila, was estimated at more than one million dollars.

Heavy August rains caused the Pamanga and Angate rivers to overflow their banks and cascade into the adjacent areas.

Reports from some of the flooded sections described the floods as "the worst in history."

Two women passengers on a bus were reported drowned when a bridge collapsed. Other bridges in the area were threatened and provincial traffic has come to a stop.

Flood water ignited a quantity of calcium carbide in the town of Bocaue and spread to nearby buildings, causing damage of $65,000.

Relief agencies in Manila are now preparing to go to the aid of flood victims.

Pure metalic tin was not known in Biblical times, the metal which is called tin in the Bible being an alloy of copper.

Hubbers Nose Out Loboes, 6-4

Moore's Hitting Paces Late Rally

LAMESA, Aug. 25 (Special) — Don Moore ably took the place of the ailing Virgil Richardson here tonight, smashing a home run in the seventh to tie the score and a single to deadlock the game again in the eighth, as the Hubbers beat the Loboes 6-4.

It was a tight hurling contest, with Stan Grzywacz having the best of it over Roy Larue for seven innings. But Hubber power would not remain dormant all night and they blasted out a victory in the latter stages of the contest.

Royce Mills, who subbed for Manager Jackie Sullivan at second, opened the frame with his third hit, a single to leftfield. Floyd Walker skied out, but Frank McAlexander walked to bring Moore to the plate. He promptly slashed a single to right that sent Mills across the late with the tying run.

Clodfelter Wins Game

Jackie Wilcox flied to rightfield, but his loft enabled McAlexander, who had gone to third on Moore's single, to dent the platter with the winning marker. Another tally scored on Red Ramsey's sharp single to left.

Bob Clodfelter, who relieved Larue in the sixth and went on to hurl hitless ball, had no trouble after the seventh, when one run scored on a neatly executed triple steal. He walked a man in the eighth, but retired the side in order in the ninth.

The triple steal, one of the first this year, occurred in the seventh. Sam Malvica walked and Jim Skidgel was safe on an intended sacrifice that was turned into a fielder's choice. Eddie Skrabacz advanced the runners with a sacrifice and Chet Zara was strolled to load the sacks.

Malvica Scores Run

At this point, Malvica took advantage of Clodfelter's windup to race home and beat the pitcher's throw so easily that no play was possible. Skidgel went to third on the play and Zara went to second, but Grzywacz, who doubled home the second and third Lobo runs, grounded out.

The Hubbers picked up a lead in the first on three singles, only to have Lamesa even the count in their half of the frame. The Loboes took the lead in the fourth on two walks and Grzywacz's double and, after the Hubbers tied it up on Moore's homer, went ahead again on the triple steal.

Sanders Goes Ahead In Softball Finals

Sanders Motor moved out in front in the Shaughnessy playoff series for the championship of the city softball leagues Wednesday night, defeating Economy Mills, 7-2, in the opener of the final two of three game series at Jumbo Webster park.

Earlier, in the first game of the twin bill last night, the Millers had entered the final round with a 6-5 victory over the First Methodist church nine.

Leeman Branch pitched a one-hitter for the Motormen in the clash with the Millers, and John Vandeventer also notched a one-hit triumph in twirling the Millers to the initial win over the Methodist crew.

The Sanders and Economy Mills nines will tangle in the final battle for the city championship at 7:30 o'clock tonight at Jumbo Webster park.

Little Men Bat Big!

Junior All-Star Favorites Win

Opening tilts in the Lubbock Boys club All-Star baseball playoff series were unreeled Wednesday afternoon at the club diamond, with favorites chalking up top-heavy triumphs.

The Pee Wee league "A" nine, which includes players from the regular season Red Sox, Yankee and Dodger clubs, trounced the "B" group — players from the Cardinals, Tigers and White Sox —by a 24-10 tally.

Welch Leads Winners

Bobby Welch slammed out three singles and a double in six official times at bat for the winners, while Jerry Shipp paced the losers with a double and a single. Donald Dunnigan was the winning hurler.

In the Junior loop tussle, the American Business club — Exchange club combination pounded out a 6-2 victory over the Jaycee-Methodist Men lineup.

Jones Notches Victory

Bobby Tollison and Bobby Craig topped the winners at the plate with a single and double, while Billy Presley and Mikie Brady each collected two singles for the losers. Truman Jones was the winning pitcher.

The same four teams will clash again today at the club in the second games of the two of three tilts playoff series.

Oil Belt Game High School Grid Stars Wind Up Grind

WICHITA FALLS, Aug. 25 (AP)—School boy football All Stars from Texas and Oklahoma today looked to their aerial and running games in drills for Friday night's annual Oil Bowl football game here.

Rival coaches—Joe Golding of Wichita Falls and Cooper Robbins of Breckenridge for Texas and Ed Brady of Enid and L. D. Bash of Dewey for Oklahoma—all moaned that their offenses were taking shape slower than the defense. Both teams conclude their practice tomorrow.

Davis Cup Stars Win Matches

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 25. (AP)—Foreign stars faded under a glaring sun and 90 degree temperatures today as the members of the newly named U. S. Davis Cup defending forces made impressive progress in the National Doubles championship tennis competition at Longwood.

Gardnar Mulloy of Miami and Bill Talbert of New York, the two-time titlists who are expected to represent this country in the challenge round doubles against the Australians at Forest Hills, N. Y., next month, qualified for the quarter-final round with a one-sided 6-1, 6-3, 6-4, win over Dick Mouledouk of New Orleans and Tony Trabert of Cincinnati.

Schroeder, Parker Win

They were joined by their U. S. teammates, Ted Schroeder of La Crescenta, Calif., and Frankie Parker of Los Angeles, who bore the torrid heat well enough to polish off the smooth-playing Frank Sedgman of Australia and Bill Vogt of Los Angeles in straight set, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3.

The punishing playing conditions raised havoc with such strong foreign entries as Australia's Adrian Quist and Billy Sidwell, who have drawn their nation's Davis Cup assignments, and Czechoslovakians Jaraslar Drobny and Vladimir Cernik.

Quist and Sidwell were knocked out of the third round action by unseeded Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Sidney Wood of New York, by 4-6, 8-6, 6-1, 6-4 margins.

Women's Results Listed

Drobny and Cernik dropped their third-rounder to Tom Brown of San Francisco and Irvin Dorfman of New York, 7-5, 4-6, 9-7, 6-3.

The women's division lost its last foreign seedings when British Wightman Cup players Joy Gannon and Mrs. Betty Hilton lost their quarter-final engagements to Mrs. Virginia Kovacs of Oakland, Calif., and Mrs. Marjorie Gladman Buck of New York, 10-8, 6-2.

Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Mrs. Margaret Osborne DuPont of Wilmington, Del., were slow getting under way against Mrs. Dorothy Bundy Cheney of Santa Monica, Calif., and Betty Rosenquest of South Orange, N. J., but soon regained their usual superlative form and breezed into the semi-finals with a 9-7, 6-0 victory.

Also reaching the semi-finals were Doris Hart of Miami and Mrs. Patricia Canning Todd of La Jolla, Calif., and the team of Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, and Mrs. Sheila Summers of South Africa.

LEGION SOFTBALLERS WIN

ABERNATHY, Aug. 25. (Special) — Lubbock's American Legion softball nine entered the semi-finals of the Abernathy tournament with a 10-0 triumph over McCoy's Gin here tonight. W. D. Broughton was the winning hurler.

TEXAS LEAGUE PLAYOFFS OPEN

Bluebonnet-Sunbeamers Divide Twin Bill With Ragsdale Nine

SAN ANGELO, Aug. 25 (Special) — The Bluebonnet-Sunbeamers from Lubbock got no better than an even split in their two-game setto against Ragsdale here tonight, winning the first tilt 9-0, but suffering a whitewash in the second game, 1-0.

Hester Hits Homer

Bert Hester, losing hurler in the first game, took matters into his own hands in the second game. Both teams went scoreless for the first three and a half innings, but with one out in the fourth, Hester poled a long home run over the rightfield fence.

That was the ball game, even though the visitors kept trying. The only time they really threatened, however, was in the second inning with two out. Boyd Watkins tripled, but Wally Fowler grounded out to end the danger.

James Leads Hitters

Willis James was the batting star for the visitors, driving out two singles and a double in four trips to the plate. He also drove in the first two earned runs, after one counter had come across in the first on an error.

San Angelo threatened momentarily in the first when Don Allen led off with a triple. Neel tightened immediately and fanned the next three batters. After that he was never in rouble.

Roy Butler and Wally Fowler were the big guns in the fourth inning, along with G. W. Warden. The latter blasted a homer with one on and the other two players each drove out doubles.

The two teams will meet Saturday night in Lubbock to continue this best three out of five game Shaughnessy playoff series in the Texas Softball League. A crowd of 2,000 persons watched the two games.

Indians Whip Red Sox 9-0 Behind Lemon

BOSTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—Cleveland's Indians batted early and often today behind the four hit shutout pitching of erstwhile outfielder Bob Lemon and regained first place in the American League's flag chase by thumping Boston's Red Sox, 9-0.

A paid crowd of 30,745, sitting in 90 degree heat, saw the Indian right-hander pitch his 17th victory and his eighth shutout for the Redmen. The defeat pushed the Sox back into second place.

A four run second inning, in which nine of the Tribe batted and drove starter Denny Galehouse to an early bath, sent the Indians off on their war path.

Shortstop manager Lou Boudreau hammered his 11th homer of the campaign in the sixth and Larry Doby hit his eighth in the eighth inning.

Boudreau, Joe Gordon, Doby and Jim Hegan each got three hits and three of the nine Indian runs were sent across the plate by Doby, speedy negro center fielder.

Lemon, obviously bothered by the heat in the game's late innings, didn't give up another hit until Billy Goodman bunted safely in the seventh with two out.

Bob Porterfield, rookie righthander, pitched shutout ball for seven innings before he wilted from the heat and gave way to southpaw Tommy Byrne, who gave up both Chicago runs in the ninth.

A'S DROP FIFTH STRAIGHT

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers extended the Philadelphia Athletics' losing streak to five straight games today with a 10-4 victory. Sam Chapman drove in all of the A's runs, three of them with his tenth homer of the season in the sixth inning.

Kirkpatrick TKO's Cliff Mann Early For Fifth Victory

JAMAICA, N. Y., Aug. 25 (AP)—J. D. Kirkpatrick, a lanky, stylish-looking puncher from Lubbock, Tex., scored his fifth straight professional victory tonight with an easy technical knockout over Cliff Mann of Daytona Beach, Fla.

The bout, scheduled for six rounds, was stopped after 1:53 of the fourth round. Kirkpatrick weighed 173; Mann. 180.

Floors Mann Early

It took the Texan only one round to solve Mann's defense. Kirkpatrick floored his opponent in the second with a right cross to the jaw and Mann took a nine count. He rose slowly and Kirkpatrick sent him back to the canvas with another right for a count of five.

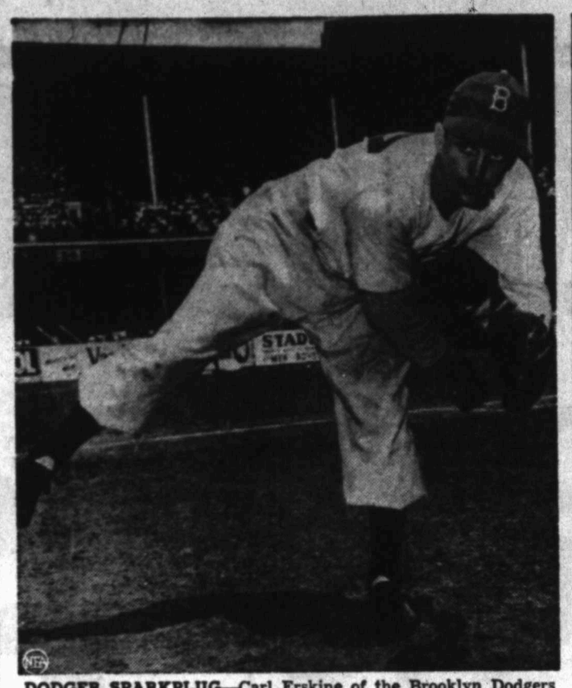

In the third Mann was rocked by a series of overhand rights and left jabs, but he stayed on his feet.

Referee Stops Bout

At the start of the fourth, Kirkpatrick shot a short right to Mann's head and sent him sprawling for a count of eight. He got up and Kirkpatrick immediately sent him down with a flurry of rights to the head.

At this point, Referee Teddy Martin stopped the contest.

Kirkpatrick showed a good looking right which he appeared to know how to throw with good timing. He jabbed his bigger opponent at will.

DODGER SPARKPLUG—Carl Erskine of the Brooklyn Dodgers has proven to be a real cog in the club's fast-turning wheels as they gain on the Boston Braves in the torrid National League race. Erskine was brought up from the Fort Worth Cats and proceeded to win his first four starts for the parent organization. These wins helped the Dodgers eat up the distance behind the Braves.

Dodgers Move Up In Hot Flag Race

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 25 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers snapped out of a four-game losing streak with a vengeance today, walloping four Pittsburgh pitchers for 8 hits in outslugging the Pirates 11-9.

It was a slugging match all the way. The Dodgers also used four pitchers with Erv Palica, the starter, getting credit for the victory. The Bucs collected 17 hits including home runs by Ralph Kiner, Ed Stevens and Wally Westlake. It was No. 34 for Kiner who leads the league in that department.

After the game, Manager Billy Meyer of the Pirates protested Brooklyn's victory to umpire Jocki Conlan, basing his protest on the grounds that relief pitcher Carl Erskine did not complete pitching to one batter.

Umpire Conlan agreed to file the protest with National League President Ford Frick, since he said, a manager has 24 hours in which to lodge one.

Fenton, Detton Battle To Draw

Lubbock's grappling fans, especially those around ringside, had armfuls of wrestlers Wednesday night as tough Rod Fenton of Edmonton, Canada, and Dory Detton of Amarillo battled to a draw in the feature setto of a 1-hour time limit double main event at Sled Allen's wrestling arena.

Fenton grabbed the first fall in 24 minutes with a straight leg crab. Popular Dory Detton came back to win the second fall in nine minutes with a knee lift and a series of body pins. The third session ended as a draw after they had thrown each other out of the ring with a series of body lifts and spinners.

In the second half of the main event, George Curtis of Vicksburg Miss., decisioned rowdy Pat O'Dowdy of Big Spring, by winning the second and third falls with a series of drop kicks, body pins and a rope rebound. O'Dowdy copped the first fall with a body lift and full crab.

Karl Gray, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, won the preliminary bout over George Lopez, Tampico, Mexico, in 17 minutes by utilizing a single leg crab.

Junior Golf Finals Set Today

Mitchell, Tatum In Feature Round

Ross Mitchell and Billy Tatum clash this morning at Lubbock Country club for the second straight year in the finals of the older age group of Lubbock's Junior Golf tournament, sponsored by Walter Granberry of the Holsum Bakery.

Tatum defeated Mitchell for the title last year, but Mitchell has been showing steady improvement in his play and is favored to capture the title.

Tatum defeated Tommy Mills, 8 and 7, and Mitchell downed George Canon, 5 and 4, to earn the right to enter the finals this morning.

In the 13 to 15-year-old division, Teddy Black bested John Tatum, 4 and 3 and Roland Adams defeated Frank Mitchell, 6 and 5, for the right to play in the finals.

Players in the 12-year-old division had to play 36 holes Wednesday in order to decide who plays in the finals this morning. They went out in the morning and played wrong opponents and had it all to do over yesterday afternoon.

James McDoe and Carlos Hedgcoth meet in the finals; McDoe having downed Richard Hill, 2 and 1 and Hedgcoth winning from Tommy Mandrell, 3 and 2.

CHAMPION—Teddy Black is the defending golf champion in the 13 to 15-year-old division of the Lubbock Junior Golf championship being played at the Lubbock Country club. The tourney is sponsored by the Holsum Bakery through Walter Granberry. Black last year beat all challengers for the title and is a favorite to repeat again this year. ### Injuries Cause Lujack To Be Lost To Bears For Some Weeks

COLLEGEVILLE, Ind., Aug. 25 (INS)—Johnny Lujack, former All-American quarterback from Notre Dame, will be lost to his new professional team, the Chicago Bears, for several weeks.

This was reported at Bear training headquarters today by George Halas, owner-coach of the National Football league team. Halas said Lujack injured his ankle in the College All-Star game at Chicago last Friday night.

The Bears play an exhibition game against the Philadelphia Eagles in Indianapolis Saturday.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 25. (AP)—Heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis was on the sidelines today as the United Golf Association's tournament went into the second round.

Hubber Protest Is Turned Down

Pampa's 11-8 victory over the Hubbers Monday night, when Manager Jackie Sullivan played the last four and a half innings under protest, stands.

Larry Larsen, Hubber general manager, received a wire from Milton E. Price, West Texas-New Mexico League president, yesterday in which he said that the protest would not be upheld. The telegram follows:

"Re your protest game Aug. 23. No protest can be sustained that involves only the accuracy of an umpire's judgment and decision on a play or other matter of fact not a point of rules. Letter follows. Regards. (Signed) Milton E. Price."

Hub Attempt Fails

The Hubbers attempted to convince Price that Umpire Jim Brockwell's decision was in violation of a point of rules under Rule 49, Section 7. That rule states that a runner may not run more than three feet from a direct line between one base and the next in order to avoid being tagged. However, a latter portion of the same section states that a runner may run out of the baseline and behind a fielder fielding a ball in order to avoid interfering with the fielder.

It was under the latter interpretation that Umpire Brockwell made his decision and, as such, his judgment was the sole authority for declaring the runner safe. There could be no protest as a result, despite the fact that the majority of persons watching the game were convinced the runner ran out of the baseline to avoid being tagged.

National Basketball League To Hold Schedule Sessions

CHICAGO, Aug. 25 (INS)—The National Basketball League inaugurates schedule talks for the forthcoming season in Chicago tomorrow.

Nine franchises including three newcomers—the Denver Nuggets, formerly of the A. A. U., and new clubs in Waterloo, Ia., and Hammond, Ind.—will be represented at the schedule-making session, and league president Ike Duffy hinted today a tenth team may be admitted to the league.

The tenth franchise, Duffy said further, may be another former A. A. U. quintet.

Lake Is Lost To Detroit Tigers For Remainder Of Season

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25 (AP)—Second Baseman Eddie Lake is lost to the Detroit Tigers for the remainder of the 1948 American League race.

Lake broke the third finger on his right hand in two places during Tuesday night's game against the Athletics at Shibe Park.

Black Hubber Nine To Play

The Lubbock Black Hubbers, who put on a clever shadow ball act Tuesday night before the Lubbock Hubber-Pampa Oiler game, will use a ball tonight in their act. But this time there will be opposition, the Waco Central Texas Vocational college Wolves furnishing the competition tonight and tomorrow night at Rosenthal Field.

Manager Lester (Bobby) Moore, Waco first baseman, will bring one of the best semi-pro teams in the state to Lubbock. The Wolves won the Texas state semi-pro tournament were runners-up at the national tournament in Wichita, Kas. There they won three straight games before being eliminated.

Moore has three of the best hurlers in Texas on his mound staff in James (Good Daddy) Brown, Willie Lee Irvin and George (Schoolboy) Walker of Mexia.

Against this strong nine, Manager James Roy Lewis will send a strengthened Black Hubber aggregation. Louis Schaenz of Mexico City, will do the catching, and Calvin Rodgers of Lincoln, Nebr., will be in the infield. One of the hurlers will be Frank Barnes, a speed ball pitcher with the Detroit Senators, while an outfielder will be Curtis Searcy, also from the Senators.

Barnes will hurl one game for the Black Hubbers and Alexander Johns will do the mound duties in the other game.

Publinx Club To Hold Special Meet Friday

The Meadowbrook Publinx Golf club will hold a special meeting Friday night at 8 at Sled Allen's arena, Golf Pro Paul Jones announced last night.

Jones urged all members of the club to be present for the special meeting, at which time plans for the proposed South Plains Open golf tournament would be discussed. The tourney is not definite and will not be staged unless members are in favor of it.

Jones also declared that qualifying rounds in the annual club championship tournament would be fired Saturday and Sunday. W. G. McMillan, local contractor and sportsman, has put up a tournament trophy that will be perpetual. An additional, smaller trophy will be awarded each year to the winner.

First round matches will begin Monday and succeeding round matches will be played for the following three weeks, with the finals scheduled for Sept. 26.

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

The first ranking of Class AA football teams for the 1948 season was recently given by Dub King, schoolboy grid expert of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, and the list should prove very interesting to Lubbock fans. According to King, here's how the AA teams of the state rate at the present time:

1. Port Arthur.
2. Odessa.
3. Waco.
4. Kerrville.
5. Breckenridge.
6. Amarillo.
7. San Angelo.
8. Gladewater.
9. Goose Creek.
10. Lubbock.
11. Sweetwater.
12. Highland Park.
13. Denton.
14. Gainesville.
15. Kilgore.
16. Lufkin.
17. Bonham.
18. Temple.
19. Stephenville.
20. Austin of El Paso.

If King is correct in his rankings, which are based on number of returning lettermen, past records and the ability of the various coaching staffs, the Lubbock Westerners will lose their first two games of the season. The Westerners' first foe—Odessa—is rated as the No. 2 team in the state and San Angelo, the Westerners' second opponent, is rated as the seventh best squad in the state. Lubbock's rating in the No. 10-spot is a tribute to Coach Pat Pattison's reputation, since the Westerners obviously do not rate such a high ranking on the basis of returning lettermen or last year's record.

It is also interesting to note the Amarillo's Golden Sandies, Lubbock's traditional foe, are rated as No. 6. The Sandies are expected to roll to another District 1-AA title, then meet the winner of the District 2-AA and District 3-AA clash in the quarter-finals. That is, unless Pattison's Westerners, the Borger Bulldogs or the Pampa Harvesters upset the dope bucket. Anything can happen in 1-AA—and usually does.

We hear that those Littlefield Wildcats of District 4-A will give their fans a pre-view of the new season with an intra-squad game Friday night at the Littlefield stadium. Reports from area grid experts indicate that the Wildcats may make a strong bid for another district championship this year.

* * *

The annual Lubbock Junior golf tournament, now underway at Lubbock Country club, may be just another "kid" event in the eyes of sports fans, but the youngsters take it very seriously. The boys in the older age group include some par-strokers, but even the little fellows 10 or 12 years old shoot their matches with all the seriousness of professionals. Jimmy Goldman, the tourney director, reports that the youngsters have one fault, though. It seems that they "ride their opponents unmercifully and try to get them rattled. Jimmy says the competitive spirit is very high and the boys should develop into top-notch golfers within a few years.

Borger Gassers Sold To Doctor Dykes For Estimated $10,000

BORGER, Aug. 25 (AP)—The board of directors of Borger's class-C baseball club in the West Texas-New Mexico league, today approved sale of the club to Dr. Marshall Dykes, Borger, for an estimated $10,000.

Completion of the deal is pending a meeting of the city park board, which must approve the renting of Huber Park to Dykes.

Dykes, a graduate of the University of Minnesota and the Los Angeles school of optometry, pitched one year with Minneapolis of the American Association. He will take over the club immediately if the deal is complete.

Ray Bailey Is Named Athletic Director At Cooper High School

Bailey formerly coached at Hale Center two years before moving to Silverton. He attended Abilene Christian college where he played football. Married, he has two sons, four and five year old.

Bailey will start the Cooper gridders in practice sessions Monday.

Pung Leads In Golf Play

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25 (INS)—Mrs. Jackie Pung, Honolulu housewife, today shot a one under par 75 over the San Francisco golf club course to take a one-stroke lead in the Women's Northern California golf championship.

Mrs. Pung scored a 79 yesterday which gave her a 154 for the first 36 holes of the 54-hole medal play.

Dot Kielty, Long Beach, Cal., star, carded a 78 today to give her a total of 155.

Mrs. Pung today collected five birdies as she toured the heavily trapped and long San Francisco course. Miss Kielty made three birdies.

Alice Bauer, Long Beach, Cal., and Mrs. Bettye Mims White, Dallas, Tex., were tied at the end of the second round with 162's.

Other 36-hole scores were:

Killiam, San Antonio, Tex., 167; Betsy Rawls, Austin, Tex., and Mrs. Charles Carey, Berkeley, 169; Mrs. Frank Ingersoll, San Mateo, and Barbara Ransom, Stockton, 170; Mrs. George Wilcox, Jr., 171; Ellen Keiser, San Francisco, 172; Mrs. F. # U. S. Tourists Near Records Of Boom Days In Visiting France

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Aug. 25 — There are almost as many Americans in France today, mainly Paris and the beach places, as there were during the top tourist invasion of all time—1929.

They are spending more money than their lush boom-time sisters and brothers. But all inflations are by comparison, and so it is difficult to find one American visitor who will not tell you that with a pocket of black market francs (about 340 francs to the dollar) this country is today's bargain counter of the world.

Perfume Chief Bargain

The dames are naturally infatuated with prices of perfumes. Sweet squeezings which go for $50 a jigger in New York, Chicago and Hollywood sell for the equivalent of from $5 to $10 here, and with the new $400 limit on the amount of stuff which can be lugged back to the U. S. duty free, the sales probably have reached an all time high.

Patient swains who have groaned at the cost of champagne on nights out in the better (or shabbier) American places, marvel at paying no more than $300 for the finest vintages at the finest places. . . and consequently drink too much of it.

A taxi, if you can find one (many drivers collect their day's ration of gas at the taxi garage, drive around the corner, sell it for more money than they could make in salary and tips all day, and loaf the rest of the day) is so ridiculously cheap that one voluntarily pays two or three times the amount of the meter reading, and still thinks he is robbing the guy.

Hotel Accomodations Cheap

You can get a good room for a buck a day and a suite at the Ritz for less than $8. The girls marvel at the French beauty shops, not only for their lush completeness but the prices—less than $3 for the works (including a new tint) in better than average salons.

To a refugee from London the food is almost too rich to take. If one does take a slight chance of getting horsemeat here and there, the meat in question will taste elegant after it has passed through the hands of kiss-blowing French sauce chefs.

In the smaller and, consequently often better places, you can eat royally for a buck, and even in the more expensive places you can flounder yourself, with food and wine, for $5.

There are, of course, the usual contradictions. The French still live and die believing (not without good reason) that Americans were put on earth for the express purpose of coming to Paris and shooting their money out of guns.

You'll find an outrageous cabdriver here and there who will fly into a fury if you won't go to the restaurant which gives him a shill's rakeoff, and he'll yell murder on the curb until you pay him four or five times what he's worth. Or slug him. You're not especially safe even in the better restaurants, if your French is bad and your wine quotient high.

But just when you're in a mood to write an indignant postcard to your editor back home, you run into some little bit of indescribable graciousness or hospitality or hands-across-the-sea and you forgive and forget.

The nightspots are the same that the gin-and-gingerale disciples of F. Scott Fitzgerald found here 20 years and more ago. The folies bergere show is still loud, long, nude, unbelievably corny, generally incomprehensible and well-staged.

The current one features a stein-waving English hunt-club scene staged on a surrealist angle, with the songsters somehow standing correctly on a set which is tilted at a 45-degree angle. They pick up their steins, drink and put them down on the dizzily tilted table, and nothing spills.

The Bal Tabarin is more attuned to the Broadway type of floor show, but enormously more involved, with turning walls, mobile stages, vast elevators bearing smaller elevators and other clanking deception.

The plushier nightspots have gone violin daffy since the Monsigneur hired a dozen wind-broken virtuosos and put them to work ramming their bows down the gullets of people trying to eat or make small talk.

There is a Grandsigneur now, with more violins, and a lot of other places where the ersatz strads sob piteously or shake the rafters. The Monsigneur, in obeisance to to the American invasion, goes in heavily for "Deep In The Heart Of Texas", "Yankee Doodle Dandy," "Sidewalks of New York," and the college medleys, all hauntingly off-key. Grandsigneur has two French cowboys singing "Home On The Range" in French.

The Louvre echoes to the clack of endless heels and the same drowsy guard sitting near Mona Lise yawns when the people say, as people always have said, "What's so hot about that?" the prints and the books in the stalls along the left bank bear the same fly specks.

One might almost forget that Paris had been in a war.

FIRES GET FIRST CALL

HOLLIS, Okla., (U.P.)—Hollis residents have been asked to suspend all use of water when they hear a fire alarm. The city is suffering from a water shortage.

VET PICKETS SOVIET CONSULATE—Robert Lubbay of Ridgewood, N. Y., veteran of World War II, carries a placard in front of the Soviet Consulate in New York City. The placard informed Soviet Consul General Lomakin that he won't be missed if he leaves the country. Lomakin's recall was asked by the State Department. (AP Wirephoto).

Officers Investigate Finding Of Skull Near Henryetta, Okla.

HENRYETTA, Okla., Aug. 25 (U.P.)—Doctors estimated today that the human skull found here by two boys yesterday was that of a person dead for two or three months.

Dr. T. W. Bollinger, who inspected the skull, said it apparently was that of a white person. Death had been caused by a head injury, he said, since a tiny hole was found in the front of the skull.

Police Chief Chester Baird said the skull apparently had been hidden in bushes on a vacant lot atop ninth street hill only a few days, however.

Bollinger was unable to determine the age or sex of the person. Dental impressions were made prior to sending the skull to the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Muskogee or Washington, D. C.

The hole in the skull was made with an instrument similar to an ice pick, Baird said.

No reports of missing persons have been made in Henryetta within the past several months.

Mexican Weekly Is Printed Despite Raid

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 25 (U.P.)—The government-criticizing magazine "Presente" hit the streets here today, a day late because of a raid on its print shop late Monday night.

Twenty gunmen, armed with pistols and sub-machine guns, destroyed about $10,000 (U. S.) of machinery, forms and other equipment in the raid.

Blasted Former Boss

The magazine, edited by Jorge Pino Sandoval, well known local newswriter, has criticized members of the government and last week lashed out at his former boss, millionaire Jorge Pasquel

Pasquel published a two-page open letter to Pino Sandoval in the printed attack and concluded with the warning that "I am not going to tolerate . . . your attacks and defamations."

No connection has been established between Pasquel and the virtual destruction of the print shop.

Government Officials Scored

The latest edition of the magazine contained articles criticizing Rogerio de la Selva, president Aleman's private secretary; Pasquel, who is also a close friend of the president, and national economy Minister Antonio Ruiz Galindo.

Vendors today charged 40 centavos—about six cents U. S.—instead of the 30 centavos marked on the cover but the little 16-page weekly was sold off news stands within a few hours of its appearance.

The federal judicial police, on orders from the attorney general's office, announced that they have launched an investigation of the attack on the print shop.

Communist Spy Ring Claimed Still Active In U. S. Government

said, yes, they knew each other.

At the opening of the hearing Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) announced that "certainly" one or the other of the men "will be tried for perjury."

Statements Conflict

Conflicting statements ran through all their testimony, given under an oath to speak only the truth.

It was the word of Hiss, former high official in the State department and now head of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, against that of a man who admits he used to be a Red and who now is a senior editor of Time magazine.

Chambers' voice broke and tears glistened in his eyes when he told about his relationship with Hiss.

"I don't hate Mr. Hiss," he said. "We were close friends. We were caught in the tragedy of history. Mr. Hiss represents a concealed enemy against which I am fighting and we are all fighting.

"I have testified against him with remorse and pity but in the moment of historic jeopardy in which this nation now stands, so help me God, I could not do otherwise."

He said he had heard reports that he had turned against Hiss because of a grudge or to get revenge. Those reports, he said, are not true.

Hiss Claimed Lying

Rep. Herbert (D-La) asked Chambers' reaction to Hiss' denial of the charges Chambers had levelled against him.

Chambers replied:

"Mr. Hiss is lying."

He added that at least "80 per cent" of Hiss' story was false.

Herbert commented that it was difficult to ascribe to Chambers any motive other than a desire to expose a Communist menace. He said that it was inconceivable that Chambers would fabricate a story and jeopardize his $25,000 a year job on Time magazine.

"What I'm jeopardizing is not just my position on Time, it's my position in the community," Chambers said.

Hiss had denied again today that he ever was a Communist and he urged the committee to waste no time getting to the bottom of the charge that he was.

He said he knew Chambers in 1934 and 1935 as a free lance writer named George Crosley, a man to whom he sublet an apartment, while throwing in an old Ford as part of the deal. He said he last saw "Crosley" in 1935.

Hiss said they met originally in the office of the old Senate munitions investigating committee.

Chambers told an almost completely different story under questioning by Nixon and committee investigator Robert E. Stripling.

Chambers said he believed they were first introduced by Harold Ware and J. Peters, "who headed the underground of the Communist party." He said that he was in Washington—he thought in a restaurant.

He said he continued to know Hiss until Chambers broke with the Communist party in 1937.

Chambers said he had come to Washington as a functionary of the Communist party. He said Ware with the help of Peters, set up a number of organizations or cells, with the leader of each cell a member of an underground committee.

Rep. Mundt (R-SD) fired the last question at Chambers. He asked whether Communist cells are still functioning within the government.

Chambers replied: "Unquestionably. They are still functioning. They will continue to function until they are rooted out."

FIVE DEAD IN QUAKE

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 25 (U.P.) — At least five persons were dead and several were injured today after a severe earthquake which centered in the Salta province of northern Argentina. The quake, which lasted only a few seconds, occurred at 3:12 a.m. It severed communications from Buenos Aires to the northern provinces for a few hours, but they were restored by 8 a.m.

Woman Tells Story

demanded by the State department, and against Soviet Ambassador Alexander Panyushkin.

At every point, her story contradicted that told repeatedly by Lomakin.

She charged the two with causing her arrest and imprisonment at the consulate.

She declared both had told her precisely what she must say to reporters at the amazing press conference Lomakin called at the consulate Aug. 8 one day after "rescuing" her from Reed farm.

Her unadorned recital was devastating in its implications as she said quietly:

"I thought they would act as human beings, but they are not human beings."

Mercy Was Expected

And, again, she said sadly:

"I had hoped these people had some semblance of human mercy."

But far more heart-breaking than Mrs. Kosenkina's story of imprisonment and arrest at the consulate was her bald and terrible recital of personal loss and tragedy in the USSR—loss and tragedy that made her determined to escape.

As she told of her husband's disappearance at the hands of the Soviet in 1937, and the death of her only child, a son, in the Red army in Leningrad in 1942, Mrs. Kosenkina ceased to be the center of an international cause celebre.

"Destroyed My Life"

She was suddenly a woman bereaved, who had suffered the loss of the two persons dearest to her and for whom she has been forced to grieve secretly and in silence until now.

The hospital room was filled with inconsolable woe and pathos as she quietly said:

"They have destroyed my entire life. I spent all my life on my husband and my son."

The teacher, asked what Russian Ambassador Alexander Panyushkin discussed with her at the Soviet consulate in New York—the day after her "rescue" from the Tolstoy foundation farm—stated:

"I spoke with Panyushkin only about five minutes.

"I had written a letter to Consul General Lomakin who first brought Panyushkin into the picture.

Told What To Say

"I thought these people had some semblance of human mercy in them and would talk to me, but he (Panyushkin) said he would not speak to me, but I would go downstairs and tell the reporters this and that.

"Panyushkin and Lomakin both told me what to say to the reporters and told me through my message I would become a heroine."

The next question asked her just what she had said in her letter which she sent to Lomakin while staying at the Tolstoy foundation, near Nyack.

Through the interpreter, she said she had told Lomakin that she loved children but after two years in America she had become more and more dissatisfied with her life as a Soviet citizen.

She said she was called an enemy of the state and persecuted in many ways. She said she protested against the persecution and did not show up at school several times.

Mrs. Kosenkina said she told Lomakin in the letter that she had asked to be released from her teaching assignment.

When this was refused she said she went to the Tolstoy farm on her own volition.

In the letter, she said she also told Lomakin that she had wanted to talk to her Russian chiefs as human beings—but she said they were not human beings and peremptorily arrested her.

Mrs. Kosenkina said the letter reviewed her whole life and told the consul general of her son and her husband.

She reminded Lomakin, she said, that Russia's rulers had considered her a true teacher, even though her husband had been destroyed. She said they believed her knowledge would be useful in America. The teacher added:

"Actually, they made a big mistake in bringing me here from Russia."

Consulate Closings

carry on the routine commercial relations between the United States and Russia which have seen trade falling off in recent months. The American embassy in Moscow and Russia's in Washington remain undisturbed.

Translation Awaited

Marshall noted these have special sections devoted to carrying on consular duties, which are concerned with commercial relations And in addition Russia still has in New York the Amtorg Trading corporation to handle purchases of American goods.

Marshall said a decision on the next move would await official translation of the Russian note and of two photo copies of letters which were enclosed.

These were asked for by the State department and purported to be copies of letters written by one of the teachers, Mrs. Oksana S. Kosenkina. One was written to Lomakin when she was at a farm near New York run by anti-Soviet Russian expatriots. The other was left in her room when she leaped two weeks ago from a window in the Soviet consulate where Lomakin took her when he "rescued" her from the farm. She now is recovering in a hospital.

The other teacher is Mikhail Samarine. He and Mrs. Kosenkina had taught in a school for Soviet diplomats' children. He told U. S. authorities he doesn't wish to return to Russia.

after a jury had been selected to try Dale Cope on a charge of drunk driving that the defendant changed his plea from innocent to guilty and was fined $50 and court costs. The jury was dismissed for the week after Judge Davies was informed that another defendant who was to be tried probably would plead guilty before the court later this week.

Vagrancy Fines Assessed

Officials said fines of $15 each had been assessed against 14 more men arrested for vagrancy. None was able to show any "visible means of support," police said.

A pair of binoculars valued at $35 was reported stolen from the car of Arthur Gamble of 101 North Uvalde.

A bike was reported stolen from Eddie Gomez of 1621 Sixteenth.

A. F. Herron, operator of a Shallowater service station, told Chief Dep. Sheriff George Eubank that someone had burglarized his station had stolen about 10 cartons of cigarets, two boxes of cigars and taken 150 pennies from his cash register. He said a similar burglary of Giles grocery there Aug. 19 had resulted in the loss of 15 cartons of cigarets and two boxes of cigars.

A negro who borrowed a 10-ton jack Tuesday night from W. E. Grant of Shallowater failed to return it, the sheriff's department was told.

Marcantonio Facing Defeat In November

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (INS)—Republican and Democratic leaders said tonight that Rep. Vito Marcantonio (ALP) could not win re-election in November following failure of his party to win GOP or Democratic support in yesterday's primaries.

The ALP congressman was not permitted to place his name on either the Democratic or Republican ballot because of a new state law which forbids candidates from having more than one party designation.

Marcantonio, who had major party backing in his previous political encounters, received only 10 write-in Republican votes and 125 Democrati cwrite-ins.

tenance and supply functions."

In July, the Air Force had 54 C-54s in the Berlin air life. This force, however, is being expanded to keep food and fuel moving to the isolated Allied sector in Berlin through a winter which is expected to witness a tightening of the Soviet squeeze.

Supplies Already Sent

The U. S. and Britain have made clear that they will not withdraw from Berlin, which has become the crucial outpost in the battle to hold back the onrush of Communism in Europe.

The new maintenance force, which will arrive in England about the middle of September, will be concentrated at the station of the Royal Air Force in Burtonwood, Lancashire. This was a large U. S. maintenance depot during the second world war.

The army said that material, food and other supplies to equip the additional personnel have already been shipped from the U. S.

New York-Germany Flights Set

It announced, meanwhile, that it will begin an "air lift" Friday between New York and Germany to expedite the return of military personnel, civilian employes and their dependents from Europe.

This is designed, the Army said, to "forestall a heavy accumulation of passengers from Europe." It explained that "nothing of an emergency nature is involved."

The Berlin air lift is now carrying 4,500 tons of supplies a day into the besieged German capital. This is said by Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American commander in Berlin, to be sufficient for minimum food and fuel needs through the winter.

C. C. Haile, Afton, is president of the association. John Russell, Matador, is in charge of parade arrangements.

Blast Against Allies

at the high Moscow level there was no reason to expect smaller men could settle it in Berlin.

Blockade of western publications in the Soviet sector of Berlin will become effective Sept. 1.

An authoritative source said the American military government—and possibly also the British—would ban eastern publications in the west unless the Soviet restores free circulation. The Americans were understood to have already lodged a protest.

Wage Settlements For 25,000 AFL And CIO Seamen Announced

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (AP)—Wage settlements for about 25,000 AFL and CIO seamen on the east, west, and gulf coasts were announced today.

One of the agreements affected CIO marine engineers who had threatened a strike after a federal injunction expires Sept. 2.

The settlements covered:

1. The CIO Marine Engineers Beneficial association (MEBA) and 44 Atlantic and Gulf coast shipping concerns. Their agreement, according to federal mediator Harry Winning, gives a six per cent monthly wage boost to about 12,000 engineers.

2. About 10,000 CIO National Maritime union seamen working for 30 major oil transportation companies. M. Hedley Stone, NMU treasurer, said the settlement brought tankers' wages up to standards of AFL and CIO seamen on dry-cargo ships. The dry-cargo seamen recently obtained boosts of $25 a month for boatswains and $12.50 for other ratings.

Two Men Killed In Crash Of Training Plane In Arizona

WILLIAMS AIR FORCE BASE, Ariz., Aug. 25. (AP)—Two men were killed today when the Air Force AT-6 training plane in which they were flying crashed into the Superstition mountains 50 miles east of Phoenix.

Lt. Arthur W. Adams, base public information officer, said identification of the victims has not been definitely established and no announcement of names would be made until after notification of next of kin.

TWISTER KILLS FOUR

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, Aug. 25 (AP) — Four persons were killed and 17 injured today in a tornado which in two minutes practically wrecked Frankton Junction, 86 miles south of Auckland.

UNIFORM DOES IT—Samuel F. Keener, Ohio steel man, wears his semi-blue twilight-smoke colored uniform, well garnished with gold braid, as he takes a walk in London, England. Keener, who flew his own DC-3 airliner to Europe for an inspection trip of his company's plants, said he designed the uniform on advice of a pilot friend who told him it would "take him places." Though he says he's not even a corporal, the outfit draws hundreds of salutes and greatly speeds clearance with airport guards. (AP Wirephoto).

Former Lumberjack Likes Army Food In Large Quantities

FORT MONMOUTH, N. J., Aug. 25 (INS)—There's an ex-lumberjack from up-Michigan way who has been making quite a name for himself at Fort Monmouth these days—and coincidentally, putting a tag line on Uncle Sam's feed bill at the post.

The guy who left the tall timber for the armed forces is Pvt. George Newhall, 22, of Marquette, Mich., who may be the Army's champion eater.

Newhall, six feet, 223 pounds and ironically, taking a powerman's course in the Army Signal Corps school, thinks nothing of a breakfast of three dozen eggs, four to five grapefruit, a pound of bacon, a pitcher of coffee or a half gallon of milk.

Meat Loaf Goes

At mess hall dinner one day recently Newhall tucked away a five-pound meat loaf, just as it came from the oven, a head of lettuce, creamed chicken and rice on the side, two ears of corn and a whole pie.

One morning Newhall did not feel well and cut his egg order down to 15. He says: Army food is the best I've ever eaten and there's always plenty of it. The more I eat, the better I like it."

Mess stewards and chefs in Company K, of the signal training regiment, like to see Newhall enjoy his food the way he does.

They say he waits at the end of the line and takes his hefty portions only after all his buddies have been served.

"If the food is there, Newhall is welcome to it," the mess chefs say.

Grund fields an outfit he calls the "Famous Globetrotters."

Saperstein also asked that Grund be permanently enjoined from using "Globetrotters" in the title of his court squad.

The petition claimed Saperstein started calling his club the Harlem Globetrotters in 1927, while Grund set 1933 as the first year of action for his Globetrotters.

Crops Beginning To Deteriorate Under Growing Texas Drouth

AUSTIN, Aug. 25 (U.P.) — Crops were showing signs of drying up early early this week under a drouth that was becoming more intense in all sections except the northern Panhandle, the U. S. Department of Agriculture said today.

The department's Bureau of Agricultural Economics reported that moisture remained adequate in the northern Panhandle for plant growth.

Ranges, Pastures Suffer

However, in other areas ranges and pastures were suffering from the extended heat and cattle were losing weight.

Matured crops were being harvested, the USDA said, with "excellent progress," and preparation of seedbeds for fall seeding of grains was underway in the northern high plains.

Cotton harvest went ahead rapidly in central, south-central and East Texas and some premature opening was caused by hot, dry weather. Bolls were opening in North Texas but some late plantings were deteriorated by the lack of moisture.

Cotton Feels Drouth

In the high plains and low rolling plains cotton was in good condition, the USDA reported, and was fruiting heavily. But cotton was beginning to suffer in the area south and east of Lubbock.

Watermelon supplies were limited to scattered sections of north and extreme northwest Texas, the department added, and the Panhandle potato crop was nearing completion.

However, plant losses increased in the fall crop vegetable area in extreme southern counties where temperatures ranged from 100 to 105 degrees.

Pasadena, Texas Marks Passing Of Year Without Traffic Death

PASADENA, Texas., Aug. 25 (U.P.)—Police Chief Ed Miller has a right to be proud.

Today, one year had passed without a traffic fatality or serious injury in this Harris county community of 30,000, which is on one of the state's heaviest traveled highways.

"The state highway commission counted 24,000 cars in 24 hours passing through Pasadena a year ago," Miller said, "and the rate has gone up considerably since then.

Miller ascribed the record to "luck" and the fact that Pasadena police try to persuade persons to drive carefully rather than hand out many tickets.

To prove that Pasadena police are not out to nab unsuspecting motorists, police cars are marked front and rear with large signs reading "Pasadena Police."

Jurors Warned Of 'Spicy' Testimony In Mae West Suit

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 25 (INS) — A jury of seven women and five men, duly warned that they will hear "risque" and "spicy" testimony, was selected today to hear a $100,000 suit brought by two writers against curvaceous stage and screen actress Mae West.

Jurors were told that they were in for about three weeks of "a little salacious, risque and off-color" testimony in airing the complaint of writers Edwin K. O'Brien and Michael Kane that Miss West used their play material in her Broadway and London stage hit, "Catherine Was Great."

Many Jurors Eliminated

And the jurors were told that the "rather indiscreet actions" to be heard could in no way relate to Miss West personally, but only to the historical character she burlesqued in the play, Catherine of Russia, a Muskovite noted for her many lovers.

Many jurors were eliminated wher they said that they were prejudiced because Miss West was an actress who portrayed "come up and see me sometime" shady lady parts.

One minister's wife was dismissed as a prospective juror after admitting she had read all of Miss West's books and had never missed a Mae West movie, film fare usually spiced by broad burlesque of sex.

Miss West was an interested observer in court as selection of the jury got under way. The actress was strikingly dressed in a white yachting cap, a blue jacket with big brass buttons and a red collar, plus a white skirt and purse.

South Korea Is Warned On Reds

SEOUL, Aug. 25 (INS) — Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, American occupation commander warned South Koreans today that the Communists are united in an effort to sell their new republic to the "slavery of a foreign dictatorship."

Hodge, who made the statement in a farewell address, will leave Korea Friday for the United States and a new assignment.

He emphasized that the new republic of South Korea entails "great responsibilities not only for its leaders but for the entire Korean people."

Hodge pleaded for united support of the new government and asked the people to forget "petty quarrels."

In his remarks on "a foreign dictatorship" Hodge was obviously thinking of Soviet-held North Korea. The Russian occupied sector boycotted elections in May which established the South Korean republic.

He told the Koreans:

"I have confidence that the . . . good sense of the Korean people combined with their desire to maintain sovereignty will carry their nation to full and united independence."

The American general urged them "to use their powers intelligently."

Hodge warned Koreans against "pressure groups" and concluded his address with:

'Farewell and may my God and your God bless you and guide you in all things."

Johnson Sharply Hits Stevenson

By BO BYERS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Aug. 25—U. S. senatorial candidate Lyndon Johnson suggested today that opponent Coke Stevenson answer a few questions "while he's so busy asking questions."

Swinging up through Central Texas for a one-day stop at his home in Austin, Johnson, in a written statement, asked Stevenson to say whether he favors the Taft-Hartley law or would vote to repeal or amend it.

At the same time, Johnson gave what he termed the "facts" on three of his congressional votes for which he has been criticised by his opponent.

Stevenson Questioned

Dealing first with questions he thinks Stevenson should answer, Johnson's statement asked:

"Why did he straddle on the Texas labor law known as the Manford act, refusing to sign or veto it? Does he favor the Marshall Plan or does he still have those reservations raised by isolationists like Congressman Taber and expressed by my opponent in his Jan. 1 speech?"

"In these last days of the campaign, my opponent should tell the people in a public statement how he got the union bosses endorsement in Fort Worth and explain whether this has had anything to do with his failure to make a forthright statement on Taft-Hartley."

Defends Voting Record

Johnson gave this explanation of what he said were the only three of his more than 1,200 Congressional votes questioned by Stevenson:

"On aiding certain European countries, my vote was the vote recommended by Secretary Marshall and the same vote cast by Vandenberg and Connally. Does my opponent imply that he would have voted against the recommendations of Marshall, Vandenberg and Connally?"

Concerning support of the Un-American Activities committee, Johnson said he voted for "every appropriation to continue that committee's investigations from the first bill in 1939 down to and including the 1948 appropriation. He said he did not vote for "one supplemental appropriation" because the major appropriation voted a few months earlier had not been spent.

Johnson said Stevenson questioned his vote against a resolution which would have authorized seizure of certain FBI records which "had nothing whatsoever to do with Communism."

"Would my opponent have voted against J. Edgar Hoover and

Vote Watchers Named By Coke

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Aug. 25.—Precinct supervisors to keep an eye on the runoff primary voting in the Rio Grande county of Webb were named today by Coke Stevenson, candidate for the U. S. Senate.

Stevenson announced he had invoked Article 3104 of the election laws, empowering a candidate to appoint supervisors. He took the action in Austin before leaving for Dallas for a statewide radio address.

Coke Denies Commitments

In the speech prepared for radio delivery (6:30 p. m.) Stevenson said he would go to the Senate without political commitments of any kind.

The section of the election law dealing with supervisors provides that two may be chosen for each precinct "by any one-fourth of the party candidates" in a primary. Such supervisors must swear to "mention and notice any errors" they may see. "In testing or counting the votes" and report "in writing any violation of the law" that they may observe, to the grand jury.

In the first primary, Lyndon Johnson received 6,476 votes to 531 for Stevenson and 61 for George Peddy, in Webb county.

In the affidavit of appointment of supervisors, Stevenson said he constituted one fourth of the runoff candidates in Webb county. His headquarters said the only other run-off in Webb county is between Lloyd Bentsen of McAllen and Philip Kazen of Laredo for the 15th district congressional nomination. Kazen was overwhelmingly favored by Webb county in the first primary.

In the radio speech, Stevenson said:

Opposes Civil Rights

The color line "can not be wiped out by legislation." He said that he is the candidate in the U. S. Senate race who from the first "has spoken out strongly against attempts by Washington bureaucrats to tell the white people of Texas that they must send their children to the same schools attended by colored children."

Stevenson again referred to what he said was a "scandal sheet . . . put out in the interests of the other candidate."

"The last - minute political charges against me are coming thick and fast now, but I know that you will not be swayed by such tactics," he asserted.

"You may recall that on Thursday of last week I predicted that a scandal sheet would be issued against me in the final week of this campaign. The other candidate for United States senator told newspaper reporters then that he didn't know what I was talking

Contract Signed For Motley Court House

MATADOR, Aug. 25 (Special)—Motley county commissioners court today signed a tentative contract for the construction of a new modern courthouse to replace an old building destroyed by fire in 1942. The agreement was signed with the BMFP Construction company of Lubbock at a figure of $244,314.

Due to changes in original plans and other proposals the construction company signed the contract subject to study and final approval or rejection within a reasonable time. Matador officials said that construction might begin on the building Thursday if the company approved the contract. However, a contracting company spokesman said a decision might not be reached for a week.

According to plans, the new courthouse will be of latest design with a full basement and two stories. The first story will contain offices of the various county officers with the second floor given over to courtroom space. Construction will be of brick and stone.

The project has been hanging fire since 1942. Last week the commissioners opened bids and decided that the estimated cost was too high. However, upon further study of the county's financial situation convinced the county officers that construction of the building was possible and the contract was ordered signed today.

The county earlier had voted a $175,000 bond issue for a courthouse, and the commissioners found that $30,000 in funds was available plus an airport site and temporary courthouse buildings that could be sold and the money applied to the new building program.

Aggie Group Files Data Backing Texas Tech's SWC Application

By SCOTT RAFFERTY
Avalanche Staff Writer

New data supporting Texas Tech's admission to the Southwest conference will be presented to an informed caucus of conference officials in Dallas Friday, it was revealed at a meeting of Central and South Plains members of the Texas A. and M. Former Students association in Mackenzie park last night.

W. G. McMillan, chairman of a South Plains Aggie committee supporting Tech's application, told the 52 ex-Aggies that the new data has been prepared into briefs and air expressed to conference officials. No decision will be made at the Friday meeting. The "yes or no" will come from a conference Dec.5.

Briefs Are Factual

McMillan said the briefs contain only factual information on financial and geographical problems related to Tech's application and do not attempt to point out any public sentiment other than the desire for maintenance of regular athletic relations between Tech and Southwest conference schools.

McMillan said some of the strong points of the briefs were Tech's enrollment, consisting of 6,869 students from 228 of Texas' 254 counties, 17 states and seven foreign countries; the new stadium, which can accomodate 20,000 fans; the history of Texas Tech's years of cordial grid relations with Southwest Conference schools and the need of Tech athletes for competition with other important schools of the Southwest.

Points To "Apprenticeship"

"Tech has served a 23-year apprenticeship," McMillan said, "and it's time the third largest state supported school in Texas is allowed to stand on its own merits and prove its worth."

Both Tech and A. and M. officials declined to comment on the latest development in the conference enlargement agitation. Hardin-Simmons University, bitter foe of Texas Tech in Border conference competition, had yesterday formally asked for a spot in the conference.

Bill Carmichael, athletic director at A. and M. said he was not in a position to state any views on the latest development while Dr. J. W. Davis, chairman of the Tech athletic council, was equally non-committal.

During the meeting, the members also heard reports from Dick Hervey, College Station, executive secretary of the ex-students association, George R. Smith, Houston, new president of the association, and E. E. McQuillen, past secretary.

All speakers cited the need for continued cooperation of former students, particularly in the fellowship fund division, which McQuillen heads. They cited the 96 boys who will enter A. and M. this fall under the Opportunity Award scholarship plan and the new Endowed Scholarship plan, the first in the school's history. Both plans are supported by former students.

Many Residents Use Facilities Of Library Here

Lubbock County Library Busy

By ROGER SOUTHALL
Avalanche Staff Writer

When staff members of Lubbock County Library check in books returned by readers, a quick flip-through of a volume's pages is likely to reveal such things as hairpins, nail files, toothpicks, money, letters, bills, combs and grocery lists.

But from long experience, they don't look on the borrower as a great transgressor, nor are they likely to refuse to loan him a book next time he comes in, for such occurrences are common, and the staff has found it in no way reflects on the readers. They're just forgetful.

Besides, it's a better way to mark one's place in a book than to tear off corners or turn corners down.

The library, of which Mrs. J. A. Humphries is librarian, is located on the second floor of the courthouse. It is maintained for all Lubbock county residents, and all ages and classes of people use its facilities.

The group to make the greatest and most frequent use of the library and its facilities, however, are those who might be called "leisure readers," which is likely to include housewives, teen-agers, and youngsters. Such readers are, in short, those who read books for pure entertainment or vicarious pleasure, as contrasted with others who come in for the latest best-sellers to "keep-up" or those who consult books in order to write a term paper or make a review. The latter two groups usually have one objective in mind, and hence are more selective, while the leisure reader group is not so selective and is likely to devote more time to reading.

Fiction Most Widely Read

Library staff members report that books of fiction [illegible] er circulation the eral type book. Travel and history volumes are next in demand, and other non-fiction is last.

To be able to withdraw books from the county library, a person must first fill in an application form, which, if he or she does not own property in the county, must be signed by some person who does.

A membership or identification card then is issued, and this card must be presented each time books are withdrawn or returned. The card is valid for four years from date of issue.

A limit is imposed by the library on the number of books a borrower may check out at one time. An adult may withdraw four books on his card at one time, while children may take out three books.

Limit Set On Time

Books are loaned for 7 and 14 days. Current volumes—best sellers and others currently in demand—may be kept out for seven days only, while those not so much in demand are returnable in 14 days. All volumes in the library, with the exception of reference books, which may not be withdrawn, are for circulation. There are no rentals; all books are for use without charge.

For books kept out beyond the loan period, a fine of three cents per day is imposed on the borrower He cannot withdraw more books until the overdue book is returned and the fine is paid.

Mrs. Humphries estimates that not more than $20 or $25 per month is collected in fines, This is used to help defray operating expenses, and goes toward the purchase of such things as ink, postage, pencils, and the like.

Library Is Growing

Approximately 21,095 volumes were in the library as of last January 1, of which 14,557 were adult books and 6,538 were juvenile books. Since that time, about 1,200 volumes have been added, which brings the total to almost 23,000 volumes. However, these figures do not include books which are lost or withdrawn from circulation.

Incidentally, Mrs. Humphries and her assistants report that book losses are very, very small.

The library is maintained by a budget made up from tax maintenance which, in turn, comes by direct levy from the county general fund. The rate of the tax levy

BOARD CLAIMS WRIT VIOLATED

NLRB Demands Printers Union Be Ruled In Contempt Of Court

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP) — The National Labor Relations board's prosecuting office demanded today that the International Typographical union be adjudged in contempt of court.

The petition, if granted by the federal court at Indianapolis might bring a heavy fine on the union's treasury.

Robert N. Denham, the board's general counsel, acting through regional director Jack G. Evans of Cincinnati, charged that the ITU has violated the injunction issued by Judge Luther M. Swygert last March 27, by continuing to insist on what amounted to closed shop conditions in negotiations with newspaper employers.

Crackdown Is Toughest

The step was the toughest crackdown by Denham since the Taft-Hartley act became effective a year ago. The act outlaws the closed shop, but the 96-year-old printers' union has attempted to hold on to its practice of admitting only union members to their places of work.

The injunction was issued in a case brought by the American Newspaper Publishers association for more than 800 newspapers. Similar action was taken by the Printing Industry of America, for the nation's commercial print shops.

Writ Claimed Violated

Evans' petition charged that the union's top four officers headed by President Woodruff Randolph have "failed and refused to comply with and have disobeyed and disregarded" parts of the injunction.

Gerhard P. Van Arkel, one of the attorneys for the ITU, said that trial examiner Arthur Leff had found "the union's conduct since the injunction to be lawful." Leff submitted his report to the NLRB last week.

"Therefore, having lost before the trial examiner, Denham now tries to upset that in court," Van Arkel said.

Henry Kaiser, other ITU attorney, quickly promised that the union would fight the contempt action "with all its resources." That might mean carrying the case to the supreme court if Judge Swygert upholds the Denham office's position that the injunction was violated.

PUEBLO, Colo., Aug. 25 (INS)—Four persons were in serious condition today from injuries incurred last night at the state fair when Bear Cat, an untamed black bucking horse, lived up to his name and raced rampant through the rodeo bleachers.

Twenty-two spectators were injured when the big black bronco crashed through a six-foot-high wire fence into the stand.

Eighteen were treated at hospitals for minor injuries and released.

Remaining in the horpital were Lou Pearson, 66, Hillside dairyman, with a fractured arm and internal injuries; Marlene Rigtirozzi, 6, of Pueblo, head injury; Wanda Davis, 17, of Rye, shock and possible internal injury; and William Kremix, of Pueblo, head injury.

Chuck Black, a Raton, N. M., cowboy riding Bear Cat as he started his rampage through the crowd of spectators, rolled to safety when the bronc hit the fence. He was not injured.

The accident, however, failed to cast a dark shadow over the fair and rodeo.

A Denver & Rio Grande special train rolled into Pueblo today with 325 Denver civic leaders and businessmen aboard as honored guests on "governor's day."

Another group arrived aboard a special Continental airlines plane in time for a huge parade through downtown Pueblo, with Gov. Knous and Sen. Ed Johnson, on horseback, leading the bands, colorful floats and scores of mounted riders.

Gen. Eichelberger Warns Communists May Cause Trouble If American Troops Pull Out Of Japan

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25 (INS)—Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger warned in San Francisco today that there may be "trouble if American troops leave Japan.

The retired commander of the U. S. Eighth army, which is occupying Japan, arrived in San Francisco today from Yokohama. He is retiring after 43 years of army service

Warns Of Trouble

Eichelberger declared that "there would be trouble" if the Eighth army is pulled out of Japan in reply to a reporter's question asking him how serious "the Red menace" was in the Far East.

The 62-year-old general, white-haired and deeply tanned after six years in the Pacific area, predicted that there are "no prospects of the occupation army leaving Japan until the powers that be aid the Japanese in organizing their own constabulary."

He refused to guess at the length of time American troops would remain in Japan but said they will stay there "until the wolves and the sheep lie down together."

Japs' Courage Praised

He continued:

"Some country must take the Japanese by the hand and protect them for sometime to come. Their only real asset right now is a brave manpower. They have nothing but courage and plenty of that."

In spite of the "brief taste of freedom" given the Japanese people, Eichelberger said they are "like a little boy looking over his shoulder to see if a big boy is waiting to take him over."

The veteran general and Mrs. Eichelberger were greeted with a roll of drums as they stepped down the gangplank of an Army transport in San Francisco this morning.

The general, looking fit and smiling — was glad to be home. Old Army friends, Mayor Elmer Robinson and other dignitaries warmly greeted him as he stepped onto the dock.

Royall Sends Greetings

Eichelberger spoke affectionately of his Eighth army — the troops he led from the southern tip of New Guinea, through the Pacific jungles to the Philippines, and finally Japan.

But he added:

"It's good to be going home too."

After spending two weeks in San Francisco, Eichelberger will go to Washington, D. C.

Among the home-coming greetings received by the general today was a letter from Secretary of the Army, Kenneth C Royall. In his letter Royall said Eichelberger's "heroism has been an inspiration to his men in battle and his recent occupation of Japan has been an invaluable contribution to the peace."

Baytown Negro Educator Dies As Life Dream Is Realized

BAYTOWN, Aug. 25 (U.P.) — The George Washington Carver high school will open its doors in September to negro children of the Goose Creek school district.

But the man whose life dream the high school was, will not be there to see it.

He was E. A. Archia, 61, principal of the school, who died of a heart ailment yesterday, a few weeks after the new building replaced the small frame school in which Archia began his work in this area in 1927.

The negro educator, who was held in high regard in the area, was a native of Waller county. He held B. A. and M. A. degrees from Prairie View university and had done graduate work at the University of California.

Services will be held in the school auditorium for him Saturday at 8 p. m. Burial will take place Sunday at Hempstead.

Civil Service Plans Exams On Several Federal Posts

The U. S. Civil Service commission has announced examinations covering several phases of public employment, including office machine operators, elevator mechanics, and mining engineers.

The mining engineer posts are in the Interior department throughout the nation, and the others are in Washington, D. C., and vicinity. Engineer posts pay from $3,727 to $8,235 a year, with stipulated education and experience requirements. There is no written test.

Office machine jobs are open to operators of various types of machines. Most of the posts pay from $2,086 to $2,498 a year, but some pay up to $3,727. Elevator mechanics draw from $2,350 to $3,024 a year, and educational and experience requirements vary, depending on grade.

Age limits are 18 to 62, waived for veterans preference. Information and application forms are available at the office of Elmer Potts, secretary of the local board Room 217, Postoffice building here, or from regional offices.

Los Alamos Workers Return To Posts

LOS ALAMOS, N. M., Aug. 25 (U.P.)—AFL Atomic Energy project workers went back to their jobs today, ending a seven-day work stoppage that threatened the nation's atomic weapons program.

The walkout ended when the Brown Root Construction Co., Houston, agreed to stop importing labor and said it would hire New Mexico workers.

More than 3,000 maintenance and service workers affiliated with AFL unions "went fishing" a week ago in protest against the hiring of 115 outstate, non-union laborers by the construction firm.

Union spokesmen said Los Alamos contractors had promised the men there "would not be any discrimination against any of the employes who were on vacation."

The Atomic Energy commission announced that contractors would not be penalized for the time lost during the walkout.

Brown Root's agreement to halt importation of labor from Texas did not include a promise to sign a closed shop contract, requested by the AFL unions.

The construction firm said it had run for 30 years on an open shop policy and did not intend to change it now.

Upton Wildcat Shows Oil, Gas

MIDLAND, Aug. 25 (AP) — The oil industry got a fresh shot of optimism over Upton county oil prospects today with favorable reports from a wildcat in the northern end of the county.

The Magnolia's No. 1 TXL test, 20 miles northwest of the highly regarded Benedum field, appeared in line as a possible producer from the Pennsylvania lime today, a strata which also had good shows in wells which later produced from the Ellenburger at Benedum.

Get Oil, Gas Show

On a two hour and five minute drillstem test at 9,321-45 feet in the Pennsylvania, the TXL wildcat had gas to the surface in 25 minutes and recovery totaled 2,660 feet of fluid. Of this, 1,350 feet was heavily oil and gas cut water blanket, 860 feet of free 41 gravity oil and 450 feet of heavily oil cut mud.

Magnolia was reported running another drillstem test from the same depth with wider choke, but was planning to deepen the well to the Ellenburger.

The Benedum producers reported good shows as they drilled through the Pennsylvania and, a Richardson and Bass wildcat located on a line between the Benedum and Magnolia wells threatened to blow out as it drilled through that formation. The Magnolia well is 13 miles northwest of the Richardson and Bass test, which is being carried on to the Ellenburger.

Today, the meeting over and the car still missing, the police sent out a statewide message asking the law to be on the watch for the law's car.

Lubbock Blind Youth Receives New Books

"I was so excited I couldn't eat my dinner," Charles Ray Isbell, blind boy of 418 Ave. C, said Wednesday after receiving the second of two shipments of Braille books including a total of 31 volumes, purchased with funds given by Lubbock residents.

Included were "Our Neighbors Near and Far," "Our Continental Neighbors" and "How Our World Lives and Works," all of which are in the "Our World and Ourselves" series. Each includes a work book and a textbook.

He also received a dictionary.

Another book in the "Our World and Ourselves" series was not available and is to be shipped when available. A Concordance also was ordered, but is out of print at present. The American Printing House for the Blind is to notify W. C. Cole, manager of Texas Technological college book store, when the Concordance is available. Cole ordered all of the Braille books as a courtesy to the boy.

Money had been received at the Avalanche-Journal to buy the books, with the remainder being given to the boy to purchase needed items. He received a total of $208.60 in money, a radio and record player and numerous records.

Test Is Made On Andrews Wildcat

Humble No. 1 Ferguson, central-west Andrews county deep wildcat, four miles east of the Nelson field, and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 12, block A-49, psl survey, ran a one-hour drillstem test in the top of the Ellenburger at 11,411-445 feet.

Recovery was the 1,500-foot water blanket; 60 feet of gas-cut drilling mud and 270 feet of gas-cut, muddy sulphur water. There were no signs of oil. The venture is to make more hole.

Some observers picked the top of the Ellenburger at 11,410 feet. Elevation is 3,394 feet.

H. L. Hunt No. 1 Donald L. Schwab, northeast Hockley county prospector, 660 feet from south and west lines of labor 17, league 735, state Capital lands, had drilled to 7,579 feet in dry lime.

It was running a Schlumberger and a gamma ray survey, and was then slated to be plugged and abandoned. No indications of oil or gas have been reported from this exploration.

Gaines Drilling Continues

Shell Oil company, Inc., No. 1 Hawkins, slated 12,500-foot wildcat in south-central Gaines county, 15 miles south of Seminole, and 1,983 feet from north and 665 feet from east lines of section 8, block A-23, psl survey, had progressed under 7,112 feet in dolomite and lime, in the lower Permian, and was continuing.

Wild Rumors Fly In Mexico As Aleman's Enemies Start Action

By JOHN EVANS
Associated Press Staff Writer

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 25—Devaluation of the peso has stirred political and personal enemies of President Miguel Aleman and his associated into feverish activity.

Wild rumors of shootings and cabinet resignations have floated around for a month. So far as can be learned, most of the gossip is only gossip but there is uneasiness among many people. They don't fear armed revolution, but they wonder if ripples on the surface indicate a dangerous undertow in political water.

Aleman Said Losing Strength

Neither the president nor his associates have given substance to rumors of violence by denying them. One of these rumors was of an attempt to kill the president.

Responsible men laugh at the stores. Aleman supporters put up "don't whisper" posters in an effor to halt rumors.

President Aleman, two years in office, seemed some months ago to have lost the strong but flexible leadership he had showed. Two weeks ago he appeared to be regaining strength in his swift, comprehensive plan to hold and then to lower the cost of living.

He got the public support of farm and labor organizations and the people for quickly established food markets where prices are fixed well below commercial levels. He made price raising a sort of disloyal act. For the present the markets function, but whether true or not there are complaints of short weight and poor quality.

Next week Aleman is to appear before congress to read his annual report. Many people expect him to announce some cabinet changes. They count on his report to reassure the nation and to pull it together for some good team work in getting the country on its feet, stop luxury spending and inspire more people with the need —and the possibility—of diminishing corruption which Mexicans privately and publicly say exists.

The president has implied there is much corruption by his emphasis on the vital necessity of honesty. Many officials and scores of police have been kicked out for corruption.

After the fall of the peso from 4.85 to the dollar to 7.8 and even 9 in the black market there was an outburst of demands for reduction in the cost of living. Nearly all imported goods and such domestic things as the tortilla were marked up. Labor leaders engineered organized demands that "something be done." There was talk of many cabinet changes.

Ramon Beteta, secretary of the treasury, promptly denied he would resign. President Aleman supported him and declared conditions and not Beteta forced down the peso.

The end of July the peso was around 6.80 to the dollar and it is kept there rather steadily although there is as yet only about two-thirds of a normal market.

U. S. Government Official Held By Soviets Says Experience With Reds Was Terrifying

BERLIN, Aug. 25 (INS)—Thomas Headen, American military government official who was seized by Russian soldiers Sunday and held for 21 hours, shed further light today on the circumstances of his kidnaping.

He said it was a "terrifying" experience that left him still shaken.

Headen, who is deputy director of the U. S. information control division in Berlin, talked about the incident in connection with statements by eyewitnesses to his seizure that he was "beaten up" by his Soviet captors.

Was Not Beaten

"Actually," he said today, "I was not beaten, but neither was I exactly 'invited' into the Russian jeep. Any bystander must have received the impression I was beaten—as did my own wife.

"There was no question that I was forcibly put into the jeep. The Soviets were determined, at the moment, to use whatever force was necessary to bring me along with them.

"There was a frightened crowd milling around on the scene in the Potsdamerplatz. Some members of the crowd threw stones at the Russian jeep and jeered the Soviets.

"That's the main reason they took me off so fast. Dena, the German news agency, for example, reported that I was beaten. The German press carried similar stories.

Ordered to Clean Room

"The only person who could have been certain that I was not beaten was myself—and you might say I was 'temporarily absent.'

"It was a terrifying experience. I think I actually felt more frightened the day after my release than at the time of my arrest."

The Hempstead, N. Y. AMG official said the experience "drained all my strength," adding:

"I don't think I would be able to go through today what I did on Sunday."

Upon his release Monday, Headen said he had not been physically abused by his Russian captors and questioners, but had been "humiliated" in various ways. Among other things, the Russians made him sweep the room in which he was detained. He flatly refused to mop the floor when ordered to do so, and the Russians did not press the point.

Headen was grabbed while snapping pictures in the Potsdamerplatz where the American, Russian and British sectors come together.

The Russians charged that Headen was in the Soviet sector when arrested, but Headen himself said he had been very careful about not stepping over the line. American officials have said he was several feet on the "safe" side of the line when arrested, but the Russians dispute this.

Headen was freed after Russian authorities had insisted for many hours that they knew nothing of his whereabouts. The AMG official indicated he convinced the Russians that he merely had been snapping pictures for personal souvenir purposes, and had not photographed Russian troops, as was alleged. His camera was returned to him.

Tests Show Mesquite Seeds Germinate After 45 Years

TUCSON, Ariz., Aug. 25 (U.P.) — It was 45 years ago that a University of Arizona professor collected some seeds from the desert bush or small tree, mesquite. The scientist carefully mounted his herbarium specimens, noting the date they were collected.

The seeds remained mounted in the collection until last December when scientists of the southwestern forest and range experiment station here took them off the sheet. Two of the five seeds germinated immediately when placed between wet cloths. Two others germinated after their coats were nicked with a file.

That these shrub seeds would grow after being mounted for more than four decades may have practical importance in the southwest, declared S. Clark Martin of the experiment station, in his report to the journal, Ecology.

Johnson Blasts Coke

the FBI on this?" asked Johnson.

In a radio address, the candidate emphasized the importance of water and soil conservation.

"My views are that next to preparedness and keeping the peace, the most important job for us to do in America and in Texas today is conserve our soil and our water. And those two things go together," he said.

He pledged himself to work for flood control and water conservation projects throughout Texas if elected.

Johnson refused to comment on a state CIO official's statement that both Johnson and Stevenson are trying to prove to the voters that the CIO is supporting the other.

"No, no, no, no," Johnson said before the reporter could finish his question asking for comment.

After his mid-day radio speech, Johnson went to his home to relax and visit his wife and two daughters. Later he did some handshaking and visiting around town and met informally with his workers at the Austin hotel.

Clayton Backs Johnson

He planned to go by commercial plane to Dallas early tomorrow morning, continuing his routine of making a 15-minute radio talk at 12:45 p.m. and devoting the remainder of the day to organizational conferences.

Johnson's headquarters issued a statement announcing that William L. Clayton of Houston, former under secretary of state, will support Johnson.

Clayton was quoted as saying: "Our nation faces a period of emergency which requires able leadership in the Unitde States Senate. Johnson is familiar with the important domestic and international problems which will come before the Senate in the next Congress . . .

"I urge my fellow Texans to cast their votes in the Democratic primary for honorable Lyndon Johnson of Johnson City, Texas."

Clayton could not be contacted for comment in Houston.

Former Gov. Miriam Ferguson spoke on the radio in behalf of Johnson's candidacy, charging that some of Stevenson's supporters have said she favors the election of Stevenson.

"Such statements are entirely wrong," Mrs. Ferguson declared. "I favor the election of Congressman Lyndon Johnson, even though both myself and my late husband, Gov. James E. Ferguson, opposed Lyndon Johnson in 1941."

Statement Issued

Late today, Johnson issued this statement here:

"Today's headlines show that Russia is closing its consulates in New York and San Francisco. This action makes darker the war clouds on the American horizon.'

"Again, I tell the people of Texas that it may be later than you think. I sounded this warning before Pearl Harbor and again I urge that we provide a strong America with arms and planes and bombs, so that we may be properly prepared against, any eventuality.

"This is the only kind of language the Russians can understand.

"Headlines like—'Border firing keeps U. S.-Red tension alive'—prove the sense of providing the 70-group Air Force for which Lyndon Johnson led the fight in Congress. Texans will not be misled into electing an isolationist to the U. S. Senate, a man who in this campaign has stated that Texans were not interested in foreign affairs. . .

"On the homefront, headlines show that living costs are still rising and inflation is spiraling its peak and ultimate collapse. Unless sensible steps are taken by our government, this can end only in disastrous depression. Early in this campaign I advocated the problem of inflation be immediately dealt with through a bi-partisan committee appointed by Congress. . .

"I still urge the plan for the nation and will support it vigorously when you elect me senator."

Supervisors Named

about. Well, I knew what I was talking about—and I have the proof in my possession.

Quotes From Paper

"This paper bears the name 'Johnson Journal.' It is printed on the same kind of paper that legitimate Texas newspapers have needed so desperately in recent years. You probably have seen a copy of this scandal sheet, since I am informed it has been distributed by the hundreds of thousands of copies all over Texas.

"Just in case you haven't seen a copy and to give you an idea of the kind of unfounded charges against me it contains, I would like to quote for you a few headlines from it.

"Here is one! 'Communists favor Coke.' I think I know the people of Texas pretty well. I know that nobody can ever convince you that Coke Stevenson is a Communist or runs with the Communists. Such stuff calls for no answer."

Stevenson in his speech again compared his record as governor, lieutenant governor, and speaker of the House, with Johnson's as a member of Congress.

Moody Favors Coke

"I have made no political promises to you," he said. "I have made no promises secretly—to any man, or group of men, or to any organization of any kind whatever."

There were other developments in the Stevenson campaign today

Former Governor Dan Moody of Austin announced there he would vote for Stevenson Saturday.

"Governor Stevenson's record demonstrates that he is not an impulsive man but that he has the commendable quality of determining the facts bearing upon a question and then making his decision," Moody said in a written statement.

"When made, he stands by it His quality for 'calculatin' is a virtue and not a vice."

Stevenson himself issued a statement reiterating that Johnson carried CIO territory in the first primary.

He made the statement when asked for comment on a blast at both candidates released yesterday by Jeff Hickman, chairman of the CIO's political action committee in Texas. Hickman said the CIO was not "openly or secretly" supporting either candidate.

County Library

for the fiscal year is .03 per $100 valuation.

Has Long History

The library was begun before 1908 by Lubbock County Library association, which solicited gifts of books, and was housed in various places, including Dupree school. The library movement was taken over by the Twentieth Century club after that club's organization, and was sponsored by it until the county assumed the responsibility.

It was in February of 1923 that the first public library was opened with Mrs. J. J. Smelser serving as paid librarian, her salary being met by the sponsor club. Mrs. Humphries assumed the duties of librarian in June of 1938.

Two assistant librarians, Mrs. Virgie Mae Beard and Mrs. Elvie Ford, assist Mrs. Humphries in the main library.

There are also five branch libraries at various places in the county, including Slaton, Idalou, Monroe, Shallowater, and Wolfarth. Each branch acts as an independent unit in that custodians circulate books and impose fines on negligent borrowers. The main library takes care of business matters, including the purchase of all books, and formulates rules for the branches to follow.

AFL Plans To Give Solid Support To Truman After Union Refuses To Officially Approve Dewey, HST

By ROBERT N. SCHWARTZ
INS Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Aug. 25. — The American Federation of Labor shied away today from putting its official stamp of approval on either President Truman or Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, but unofficially plumped solidly for Truman.

AFL President William Green announced the group's official decision at the same news conference at which George M. Harrison, president of the AFL Railway Clerks union, disclosed the formation of an "independent labor committee to elect Truman and Barkley."

Discussion Called Long

Harrison, a member of the AFL executive council now meeting in Chicago, flatly asserted that all but "two or three" presidents of AFL international unions would join the committee backing the Democratic nominees.

Green declared that although no decision had been reached on supporting a presidential candidate, the executive council was firmly united in its determination to defeat all supporters of the Taft Hartley bill.

Green said that the discussion in the council on whether to support any of the presidential candidates had been a long one. He added:

"No motions were presented. No votes were taken and no decisions made.

He explained that the concensus of the group appeared to be that nothing would be gained by making a presidential endorsemnt, and added:

"It might have resulted in disunity."

Harrison broke in to state only one man was opposed to Truman, and added:

"We all know who he is."

The reference was obviously to William Hutcheson, president of the Carpenters' union, and prominent in Republican politics.

Harrison stated that the names of the officers and the personnel of the independent committee for Truman would be announced latter in the week—possibly Saturday.

Asked if his group would cooperate with the CIO, and whether any CIO leaders would be on his committee, he declared:

"I don't know yet."

Full Registration Urged

Green asserted that the council session had pointed up and crystalized the need to get the AFL's more than 8,000,000 members registed so that they would be eligible to vote.

He said:

"Our big job is to get labor on the books and then get its vote into the ballot boxes.

"I am sure that if we get labor's vote out a very large majority will vote for Truman."

He also explained that with one exception, when it endorsed the elder La Follette, in 1924, the AFL has refrained from supporting any party or party leader in a national election. He said that, although there was no doubt where his own sympathies lay, he was glad to see this policy continued.

Green Supports Truman

Green already has announced his support of Mr. Truman.

Harrison also issued a list of 13 states where the AFL expects to elect labor friendly candidates to the U. S. Senate.

These are the candidates the AFL will officially back:

Maine, Miss Smith, Republican; Rhode Island, Sen. Green; New Mexico, former secretary of agriculture, Clinton Anderson; Montana, Sen. Murray; Colorado, Sen. Johnson; Wyoming, Gov. Hunt; West Virginia, Matt Neely; Oklahoma, former Gov. Kerr; Minnesota, Mayor Hubert Humphrey of Minneapolis; Illinois, Paul Douglas; and Idaho, Burton Miller.

He added that the AFL, through its political league, will also support the Democratic nominees against Sen. Buck in Delaware and Sen. Ferguson in Michigan and will work for the defeat of Sen. Ellender in the Louisiana primary.

Green said that David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies Garment Workers union, has emphasized the need for speed in raising money for these campaigns. He quoted Dubinsky as saying:

"Every dollar raised within the next two months will be worth $5 later on."

Theft Trial Is Set For Today

Judge Dan Blair Wednesday morning postponed until 1:30 p.m. today in 72nd district court the case of William F. Tarpley, 65, charged with theft over $50 from Hemphill-Wells Co.

The court's announcement followed a morning in which Burton S. Burks, of the firm of Burks & McNeil, filed a lengthy motion asking for a continuance in the case, and in the alternative for a two-day postponement.

Exception To Ruling

Burks took an exception to the court's ruling that only one day's postponement would be granted.

The defense contended, as it had done in an earlier motion, that the state had made it impossible for the defendant to prepare for trial, inasmuch as state's counsel had refused to supply the defendant with a list of witnesses who will testify again him.

The motion was opposed by District Attorney Lloyd Croslin and his assistant, E. G. Pharr.

The first motion for continuance also charged that Tarpley had been arrested before a charge was drawn or a warrant issued and that the state refused to tell the defendant the names of witnesses, other than those who appeared before the grand jury, to be used in the trial, until this morning, when the trial was slated to commence. It charged that subpoenas for four trial witnesses were issued by the state after 4:30 p. m. Tuesday, which would deprive the defense of the right to inform itself what those witnesses would testify against Tarpley.

Supplement To Affidavit

A supplement to the state's controverting affidavit to the defendant's first motion for continuance charged that two witnesses, T. Fain and J. D. Hassell, officials of Hemphill-Wells Co., had been "tendered to the defendant" late this morning, but charged that neither was "under process; that no application for subpoena for them had been issued."

The defense claimed that set of circumstances would deprive the defendant to the right of a fair trial.

Tarpley, who was nightwatchman for the store, is charged in two indictments with theft from Hemphill-Wells Co. A woman similarly is charged in two indictments.

Judge Blair ordered that a jury panel report back Thursday.

Trans-World Airlines Applies For Reduced Round Trip Rates

HOUSTON, Aug. 25 (U.P.)— Trans-World airline has applied to the Civil Aeronautics board to reduce domestic round-trip fares five percent, C. D. Whitmire, TWA district traffic manager, announced today.

TWA also has on file an application for special excursion rates on its overseas routes which would set the price of a round trip fare at one and one-third the amount of a one-way ticket.

Huge Sum Paid For Song Title For New Film; Milland, Parks Settle Feuds With Studios

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Motion Picture Editor

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 24 — I gasped when I was told James Nasser paid $100,000 to Lou Breslow and Joe Hoffman for an original called "You Made Me Love You." Then I remembered the value of this song, which was a hit long ago. Pictures bearing the titles of songs, such as "I'll Be Seeing You" and "Margie" are sure fire at the box office.

Nasser, who put his substantial bankroll into buying the General Service Film studio, made "An Innocent Affair," with Fred MacMurray and Madeleine Carroll. Now he is doing a repeat and putting Fred and Madeleine in "You Made Me Love You."

Feud Is Ended

Ray Milland walked into Henry Ginsberg's office today and in five minutes their troubles were ironed out. Ray told what was on his mind — Henry told what was on his — and Paramount's popular male star was taken off suspension.

Ray was suspended when he refused to play the male lead in "Mask For Lucretia" with Paulette Goddard. and he's been off salary since that time.

While on the subject of smoking the peace pipe — Larry Parks and Columbia will kiss and make up in plenty of time for him to play Jolson in "Jolson Sings Again." Negotiations have been on for a week.

It would have been sheer insanity to get another actor. "The Jolson Story" is the big moneymaker of many years. Now it's up to Larry not to be foolish and turn down the role that made him famous.

Al is already recording songs at the studio and Parks is due home soon. It is best for the studio for him to play the Jolson role, and it is the best thing for Larry. So, it's time they got together.

Studio Not Being Sold

There has been a lot of gossip around town that Averell Harriman and Joseph Kennedy, both former ambassadors to England, are buying Universal-International. I asked Leo Spitz if it were true.

"I haven't heard anything about it," Leo told me. "Billy Goetz, J. Arthur Rank and I own the controlling stock, and so far neither of these men have come to us with an offer I think they would. Don't you?"

Chit-Chat: Last Sunday night when Ann Sterling passed out after a radio show there were stories that she had taken an overdose of sleeping pills. Today her attorney, Albert Pearlson, telephoned me and said that Ann had not taken any sleeping pills. She was simply suffering from exhaustion, having worked very hard since her divorce from Tommy Warner, the heir to the Warner fortune, and I don't mean the movie Warners.

Margaret O'Brien does not want a step-father, and that's for sure; Little Miss Maggie was so unhappy over rumors that her mother, Gladys, might marry New York orchestra leader Don Silvio, that Mrs. O'Brien had to give the equivalent of a girl scout's oath that she wouldn't Gladys says, "I've promised Margaret that I won't even think of marriage until she is 16 or 17."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Gloria De Haven, whose final break with John Payne we printed last week, was at Ciro's with Peter Lawford. They are old friends.

Same night, John Payne was at the Four Star theater, all by himself.

Betty Hutton opens at the Palladium in London on September 6, and with that vitality and personality she will wow them. Her husband, Ted Briskin, and her mother are going with her.

Jack Dempsey brought Mary Ainslee to a party given by Diosa Costello. Fine and good — but Estelle Taylor came to the same party with Max Marks, a druggist. Gertrude Michael, very happy and gay, dining with C. A. Bellinger at the Dells, and taking only soft drinks.

Millionaire Is Sued By Former Officer

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (U.P.) — Joseph C. Bancroft, millionaire manufacturer in whose home a pretty Texas widow staged a sit-down recently to gain recognition of her claim that he was the father of her unborn child, was named defendant in a $100,000 damage suit today.

Michael Stevens, a former Air Force lieutenant who said he introduced the 53-year-old Bancroft to the widow, Mrs. Doris Furst, 24, of Houston, Texas, filed the suit in state supreme court in Brooklyn. He alleged false imprisonment and malicious prosecution.

Stevens said that in answer to a distress call from Mrs. Furst last March he went to Jamestown, N. Y., where Bancroft had a steel plant and a home. As he left the train there, he said, he was arrested by local police without a warrant, searched and held in the county jail for 36 hours without being formally charged.

Mrs. Furst moved into Bancroft's luxurious White Plains, N. Y., home early this month and threatened to stay until he provided for her child. When the utilities were turned off, she moved out and went to a maternity home to await the birth of her child in November.

New Laboratory For Study Of Cancer Planned At Houston

HOUSTON, Aug. 25 (U.P.) — A new laboratory for the study of cancer will begin operation at the Baylor university college of medicine Sept. 1.

Dr. Berne L. Newton, assistant professor of pathology, will direct the laboratory, for which the United States public health service has granted $23,500.

Newton said the new laboratory would employ the latest technique, developed at the Yale University School of Medicine.

The technique brings the cancerous growth "out in the open," Newton said. It involves grafting part of a suspected cancer to a guinea pig's eye. If the transplanted growth continues to grow, it is cancer and its growth can be charted. If it does not grow, it is not cancer, he said.

Britons Say U. S. Made Greatest Postwar Mistake In Palestine

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 25—British officials still think the United States made her greatest postwar mistake in Palestine.

They recognize the pressures to which the Washington government was exposed, they agree when reminded that American policy goes back to Britain's Balfour declaration after World War I, which was interpreted as promising a Jewish national state in Palestine.

But foreign office experts think it was immature political thinking to project the national state idea into a new era in which they consider Russian containment to be the paramount world issue.

They admit they are not entirely clear on what should have been done. They admit that humanitarian thinking probably played as much a part in American policy as did domestic politics.

They reiterate, however, that this is a hard world and that the practicalities of the main question must frequently overrule moves which may appear desirable within themselves.

Some of them say that if the United States, instead of coming out for partition two years ago, had exercised its influence with the Jews while Britain did the same among the Arabs, the conflict might not have reached the point where compromise was impossible. Another, who has made a deep study of the problem, says he does not know what to do except to sit on the situation and see what happens.

And that seems to be all they can think of now. But they think that some way must be worked out to fill the vacuum of Anglo-American loss of prestige among the Arabs.

They point to their Arab policy, which they began to nurture in the early 1880's, in both World Wars and ask what is to take its place if Russia succeeds Germany as the European aspirant to the Middle East.

As a matter of fact, although they do not come right out and say so, there seems to be an undercurrent of fear here that the Middle East is much more vulnerable than is Western Europe, over which so much concern is being displayed on both sides of the Atlantic.

Galveston Completes Plans For New Water Reservoirs

GALVESTON, Aug. 25 (U.P.)—Plans for construction of additional water reservoirs to hold 10,000,000 gallons have been completed, Henry Wilkens, waterworks superintendent, revealed today.

He said the plans were drawn up by Freese, Nichols and Turner engineering firm and that the additional reservoirs would bring the city's total water storage capacity to approximately 27,500,000 gallons.

Also, Wilkens recommended to the Galveston planning group that the services of the state board of water engineers and the United States Geologic survey be obtained to conduct a study of ground water sources in Galveston.

He explained the survey would be of material benefit in developing an extended supply of ground or well water for the city.

West Texas C-C Group Opposes Plan To Write New Water Laws

ABILENE, Aug. 25 (Special)—West Texas vigorously opposes the writing of new water laws, recently proposed at a meeting in Austin, which stand as a threat against municipal and domestic needs for water, it has been announced following a meeting of the Water Resource commission of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce here.

In a declaration of principles the commission went on record in strenuous opposition to that section of the proposed code which provides that all previous appropriations of water shall now be regarded as "vested right of priority."

Claims Laws Conflict

This, it was pointed out by D. A. Bandeen, general manager of WTCC, is wholly in conflict with present laws, which allow a city, town or municipality to recover from other inferior users all water necessary for domestic purposes.

"The new proposal makes worthless our muncipalities' present superior rights, and such West Texas waters as are now being used for big industries and rice growers on the Gulf coast can never be recovered for our own use," it was pointed out in the committee's declaration.

The entire WTCC water commission came here for the meeting. It is composed of Winfield Holbrook, Plainview, chairman; James N. Allison, Midland; W. O Fortenberry, Lubbock; C. E. Coombes, Stamford; and Charles South of Coleman. Homer Hunter, WTCC consulting enigneer, also was present.

Group Making Report

The group is making its report to President C. P. Dodson and the executive board, following the proposals recently offered for a revision of the Texas water code, by the Texas Water Conservation association.

"That part of the proposed surface water code, which gives the present big dams the right 'to appropriate the ordinary flow, underflow, storm, flood or rain water in amounts and quantities equal to the holding capacity of such dams' over and above the right to impound water for domestic purposes," is opposed by the group as "in conflict with Article 7472 which gives our municipalities the unquestioned right to recover the unappropriated for inferior uses.

"On our Brazos and Colorado watersheds where appropriations are now nine times as large for hydro-electric power purposes as for domestic and industrial purposes combined, it means that hydro-electric activities must first be carried on before our West Texas communities and cities can have their drinking water."

Proposed Law Scored

The proposed law treating ground water as property of the state also was attacked. "In line with our previously adopted declaration of principles, we recommend opposition to this proposed groundwater code until more facts are available on sources, depletion and replenishment of ground water, and until ground water can be treated from the fundamental principle of the doctrine of correlative rights rather than on a state ownership basis," the group said.

Opposition also was expressed against rewriting the entire water laws of Texas which would void the WTCC — Wagstaff — Woodward measure which now gives full protection to domestic users. It was pointed out that such revision would mean unnecessary litigation, because these provisions already have been construed.

While opposing these several actions, the group went on record as favoring a reorganization of the State Board of Water engineers, but pointed out that any newly created board should represent the public interest "and be wholly divorced from water use authorities.

It's Only A Mirage

NO THOUGHTFUL person is likely to be mislead by the Commerce Department report the other day that the nation produced at the all-time record rate of 248 billion dollars a year during the three months ending last June 30.

But the meat in the coconut was that the increase was due almost entirely to continuing inflation of dollar value. The actual quantity of the things produced, and available to the American public after foreign relief requirements were filled, declined.

In other words, after earning the most dollars in any three months in the history of this or any nation, Uncle Sam was poorer than when he started. Millions of wage earners, now receiving more dollars than they ever did before, know exactly what that means.

Well Worth Trying

ONE BRIGHT spot in the darkening picture of a world arming almost frenzedly for war has been the meeting in Amsterdam, Holland, this week dedicated to peace and the brotherhood of man.

The most important immediate result of this meeting of some 1,500 leaders of Protestant churches in 42 nations was the decision to establish on an official basis the World Council of Churches, which was organized provisionally in 1938. Organizers hope to provide an agency to unify and coordinate in behalf of peace the enormous spiritual power of the millions of Christian men and women represented at Amsterdam.

This promises to provide a positive approach to the problem of peace and war. It differs fundamentally from the negative approach, into which most of the world's wealth and energies now are being poured—that of preventing war through the terror inspired by the destructive power of possible adversaries. The council's idea is that the only sure peace is one secured not by fear of another's armed might, but by the feeling of brotherhood among men.

The aim unquestionably is Utopian. No one knows where, if ever, such a dream may be realized. Certainly, practical nations cannot risk the suicide they would invite if they stood defenseless among rapacious nations armed to the teeth. They have been the witnesses to the fates of too many defenseless nations to permit any doubt as to what their fate would be if they should lower their guard.

But it still is good to have a militant, aggressive champion of peace-through-brotherhood on the world scene. Agencies like the World Council of Churches could not make prospects darker. They might do a great deal of good. The possibility of achievement thoroughly justifies their existence.

(From the files of The Lubbock Morning Avalanche of August 26, 1928.)

Wade Hardy was elected sheriff over incumbent H. L. Johnson on the basis of incomplete but decisive returns. The returns gave Hardy 2,681 votes to 1,687 for Johnson. Lubbock county voters also gave Rep. Tom Connally of Marlin, a wide lead over Senator Earle Mayfield in the race for United States Senator.

(THE STORY: Sterling tells Talent his wife's diamond necklace was probably stolen from her safe. When Talent asks him if she might also have had a large sum of money, Sterling realizes the policeman knows about the $10,000 withdrawal. Sterling says his wife's death leaves him a poor man. Her large income was to stop with her death. He suggests Talent see her lawyer, T. Bryan Steadman).

XXV

LIEUTENANT TALENT relaxed into an armchair beside the desk of Iverson Sanders, manager of the Fifty-Seventh Street branch of Central National Bank.

Sanders had a long, lined face. His thin brows formed arcs in his narrow forehead at Talent's question about Miriam Sterling's $10,000 withdrawal.

"Has that become a police matter?" the bank manager asked.

"If not, I shouldn't be here asking about it," Talent said.

"I'm sorry, but of course. It's only that Mrs. Sterling attached such secrecy to the transaction."

"Was it unusual?"

"It was unusual that Mrs. Sterling should want the sum entirely in $100 bills . . . and of course, keeping a record of the numbers. The only recourse was to give her all new bills of the same serial numoer."

Talent swallowed that huge surprise quietly. "You took steps, did you, to check reappearance of the bills through other banks?"

"Discreetly."

"I'm afraid you'll have to be considerably less discreet about it," Talent said.

"I don't understand. Shouldn't any further request be authorized by Mrs. Sterling?"

"That's impossible, Mr. Sanders. Mrs. Sterling was murdered some time last night in her home."

The bank manager's professional self-command just barely sufficed to absorb the shock.

"That's staggering news, Lieutenant," he said.

"You see the importance of the numbers on those bills?"

"But of course. I'll lose no time. You want the numbers . . ."

T. BRYAN STEADMAN, senior partner of a distinguished Manhattan legal firm, saw no reason to be particularly disturbed when his secretary announced Lieut. Christopher Talent of the New York Police Department. It was only when it developed that the police official's visit had to do with Miriam Sterling that he was moved to something more than impersonal interest.

"Don't tell me my little girl has run afoul of the law," he said.

Talent decided it wasn't going to be easy. That became more evident when Steadman explained that the mere term "attorney" poorly defined his relationship to Mrs. Sterling.

"She's every bit a daughter to me," Steadman said. "I think Harbison Page looked to me for that. Both Miriam and Marcus . . . well, just a coupic of parentless chicks brought together in the same coop, and they're my charges." Steadman brushed back a straggling wisp of silvery hair from his furrowed forehead.

"I'm sorry I have to tell you," Talent said. "Mrs. Sterling is dead."

Steadman's thin body stiffened. "Dead? Miriam dead? But why wasn't I told? Why didn't Marcus call me . . . tell me? This can't be, Lieutenant. Why, she dropped in here only yesterday . . ."

"I've just come from her home, Mr. Steadman. Mr. Sterling didn't know it himself until we got him home from Edgecraft Country Club. He was out there overnight. It happened during the night."

"What happened? Why the police?"

"Mrs. Sterling was murdered."

"Miriam murdered!" It was a moan, whispered, incredulous.

TALENT sketched detail . . . enough to fill in the picture. "You said Mrs. Sterling visited you yesterday?" Talent said.

"Yes. She came in after eleven-thirty . . . she was here . . . we must have chatted half an hour."

"Was there anything connected with her visit that would be helpful to the police?" Talent asked. "Anything she said?"

"How could anything she said to me help explain a burglary she couldn't possibly have anticipated? We had such chats frequently, intimate family chats."

Steadman put that quietly, yet to Talent it seemed pointed. He decided to change his tack. "There's the usual formal question in a case of this kind, Mr. Steadman," he said. "The will . . . the beneficiaries . . . you would know about that?"

"Naturally. Of course, Miriam Sterling had no estate to bequeath, I mean, nothing of the estate left by her father. Her income ceases with her death and, there being no children the principal goes to charitable foundations. But Miriam did execute a will immediately after her marriage, and whatever she has will pass on to Marcus."

"And that won't amount to much?"

"Whatever money she has in the bank . . . a few bonds, perhaps . . . the house in Cliffton."

"Her diamond necklace?"

"Yes. That would be included in the legacy . . . her personal property, naturally."

"That probably was taken from her safe, Mr. Steadman. Do you know if it was insured?"

"Yes. I handled that for her. It's insured for $100,000."

Talent got up. It was dawning on him that Marcus Sterling was not quite the poor man he had pictured himself. After he shook hands with Steadman, he said, "I have a request to make. Mrs. Sterling's room is locked. There are papers scattered on the floor beneath her wall safe, and there is her desk. I'd like for you to be out there with me this evening to go through things."

"And that won't amount to much?"

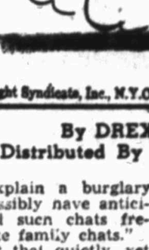

"Very well, Lieutenant. Anything I can do to help."

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

YOU probably all read the story of the death of Mrs. Eleanor Medill Patterson, who left her paper, the Washington Times-Herald, to seven of its principal executives, thus creating "seven millionaires overnight," in the words of Editor and Publisher, journalism's trade paper.

There, once again, is America for you.

BRANDEIS

There, once again, is proof of the fact that truth is stranger than fiction.

I knew Eleanor Patterson — she had been buying this column for several years — and I know three of the new millionaires.

Eleanor Patterson was a person of many facets. Although I hope that she may rest in peace, I cannot very well call her a "gem of many facets."

She was an unpredictable person, a woman of many surprises. But I daresay that no one was ever more surprised at any of her actions than these seven who now have become not only men of much money but also of many responsibilities.

Newspapermen, as you probably know, are not usually associated with millions. Most of them start out as happy-go-lucky adventurers to whom the routine of office or shop is too much of a chore and who end up disillusioned with the world in general and certainly not overburdened with its tangibe goods.

I wonder how these seven "overnight millionaires" will take to their new dignity and their new status.

All of them are excellent newspapermen, and all of them certainly deserve the good luck that has come to them.

But being a millionaire — I guess every one of us has dreamed of being a millionaire some day.

And as we dreamed, we also dreamed what we would do with all of our wealth.

I doubt that work and responsibility entered into those dreams. They didn't in my case.

Somehow, dreams of millions are usually associated with loafing, with new automobiles, with trips to the Riviera, with country homes and horses, with wonderful clothes for the wife, with shows and banquets and fun.

YOU probably know some millionaires. I have met a lot of them in my newspaper work.

I have met them in night clubs and in fashionable resorts. But I have also met them — many of them — in court where they were being sued; in doctors' offices where they were paying enormous fees to be kept alive; in gymnasiums where they were trying their darndest to take off those twenty extra pounds their millions had put on for them.

The best of luck to the seven new "Times-Herald" owners.

I hope that Eleanor Patterson's legacy will bring them all the happiness in reality that most of us get only in our dreams.

And—happy dreams to all the rest of us!

He still keeps thinking he's boss in our house!"

STEEL IS ALLOCATED

Housing Setup Aided

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—John R. Steelman, industrial and labor adviser to the White House, has organized himself into a one-man lobby for promotion of a steel-prefabricated housing concern that has drawn severe criticism from other government agencies, the industry itself, rival builders and members of the Senate Small Business Committee. He has bowled them over with the verbal assurance that he acts for President Truman.

The firm involved is the Lustron Corporation of Columbus, O., which is virtually a government-created organization. Indeed, critics of the Steelman project maintain that he favors the firm in order to protect the R.F.C.'s loan of $25,500,000 which he forced that agency to make against its better judgment. He also acted under pressure from certain politicians on Capitol Hill and from veterans' groups.

TUCKER

The head of Lustron, which has conducted an extensive advertising campaign in newspapers and magazines, even though it has not yet got into large-scale production, is Carl G. Strandlund, a big, jovial and likable individual. He is said to have made an excellent record in shortening the time for construction of tanks during the war. Now he seems to be as great a favorite with the Truman Administration as Henry J. Kaiser was with the Roosevelt regime.

SECURITY: The Lustron Corporation's original application for a loan was not recommended by the Washington examiner or the Business Loans Committee of the R.F.C. But on June 30, 1947, the last day that any advance could be made under the Housing Act expiring on that date, the R.F.C. approved a $15,500,000 loan. It did so, even though its original stipulation that the borrower raise $3,500,000 was not met. And it required no security.

Mr. Steelman, former Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt, White House officials and several members of House and Senate threw their influence behind the application for the money. Previously, former R.F.C. Chairman John Goodloe had told the Senate Banking and Currency Committee that his agency's experience with prefab housing programs had been a failure.

Although R.F.C. had made loans of $200,150,672 to manufacturers of such units, Mr. Goodloe testified that the government had to pay out more than $7,000,000 in settlement, and with no constructive results.

STEEL: Messrs. Steelman and Strandlund next ran into difficulty when they started on a search for sufficient steel for manufacture of the prefabs. Due to rearmament, Marshall Plan and industrial demands for this metal, it is allocated by the Department of Commerce under one of the few semi-rationing laws which Congress passed at White House request.

Such applications are first considered by the Steel Products Advisory Committee, which investigates the nation's needs before passing on any specific request. This body turned down all petitions for steel for prefabs at several meetings, but finally set aside 59,000 tons in one of the most peculiar resolutions on record.

After referring to previous difficulties encountered in prefab construction, and pointing out that such homes require ten tons of steel each as against only one-and-a-half in the ordinary type, it said:

UTILITY: "However, we have been advised by various government agencies, including certain members of Congress and representatives of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the Housing Administration, that the prefabricated steel housing program is essential, will in their judgment be successful, and will result in cheaper and more plentiful housing."

In approving this action, Commerce Secretary Snyder used the same sort of Pontius Pilate language. He referred to various critical reports on the project, but said he would allocate the 59,000 tons as a sort of experiment. He expressly stipulated that the allocated steel should not go to Lustron alone, but to "at least six producers."

"It is hoped," he added, "that each of the producers may be able to give adequate demonstration of the utility of its particular type of home."

PUZZLES: But here is the catch with respect to the 59,000 tons grant that puzzles and worries rival builders, all users of steel and small companies which are now closing or curtailing operations, thereby causing unemployment, for want of the metal:

Those 59,000 tons will permit construction of only 6,000 homes at the maximum. But Mr. Strandlund has testified in executive session on Capitol Hill that he must make and sell at least 12,000 units annually to make a small profit. Even if he obtained all the allocation through Mr. Steelman's influence, he would run short of material in six months.

Nevertheless, he leased three plants at Columbus with a floor area of 1,000,000 feet and 20 acres of land. He is tooling up at a cost estimated at $12,500,000 so far. He says that he will be turning out 180 units a day by November, and has fixed a goal of 50,000 annually, requiring about 500,000 tons annually.

PARTIALITY: Obviously, as the industry, government and Congressional officials and competing builders note, the 59,000 tons is only a starter. And they also fear that, as a government-created corporation, Lustron will be favored with future grants of money and materials to the detriment and destruction of private concerns in this and related fields.

They contend that not even F.D.R., under the pressure of war, showed such partiality to individual industrialists as have such proclaimed apostles of private enterprise as President Truman and Mr. Steelman.

Mr. Strandlund has an answer to the shortage problem with which many agree. He advocates curtailment or restriction of construction of racetracks, baseball park additions, other amusement structures, supermarkets and similar unnecessary products. Others point out that steel used in making automobiles would provide enough material for 2,500,000 homes annually, and they ask which is more important; semi-luxury transportation or shelter?

Believe It Or Not -- By Robert Ripley

NO TIME TO APPEASE REDS

Stronger U. S. Stand Praised

By RANDOLPH CHURCHILL
Special Correspondent

PARIS — Just at the moment when it is most necessary for the peace of the world that the Western powers should act with dignity and composure, the appeasers and "nervous nellies" are once more raising their shrill little voices.

An American writer, Mr. Owen Lattimore, who appears to belong to the Walter Lippman school of politics, reports that Americans in Berlin are convinced that we ought to make a show of force to test whether or not the Russians want war. He also reports that it is believed in Washington that if we are steadfast and ready to fight if necessary, we will not have to fight. Mr. Lattimore finds these two views "extremely alarming."

Used By Communists

What would Mr. Lattimore prefer? Would he like the Americans in Berlin to be recommending a "show of weakness?" Would he be less alarmed if the current view in Washington was that the way to avoid war was by remaining "unsteady" and by not being ready to fight even if it were necessary? Mr. Lattimore probably does not realize it himself, but it is plain to anyone who understands the meaning of language that he has allowed himself to become the vehicle of the policy of naked, unresisting pacifism. He has also become an unconscious tool of Moscow.

What is his remedy for the present situation? "We have one perfectly good way out." (It may be remarked in passing that the timid are always looking for a way out). "Consider the list of Russian setbacks, defeats and headaches. On the strength of that list, the balance in prestige is with us; so much so that, without losing face, we can ask the Russians to sit down at a table again without demanding that they first bump their heads on the floor."

But who has asked the Russians to "bump their heads on the floor? Certainly not the Western powers. All they have said is that they are prepared to discuss not only the situation in Berlin but the whole German problem once the Russians have lifted their inhuman and unlawful blockade of Berlin. A Communist or a Communist stooge could regard that as trying to "bump the Russians' heads on the floor."

Soviets Have Self Respect

Mr. Lattimore would do well to turn his eyes away from Mr. Lippman's lucid column (which incidentally has been more consistently wrong about Germany over the last three years than any other) and study the demeanor of the Russians.

According to him they are suffering from "setbacks, defeats and headaches." They may have no respect for the dignity of man. But they do have some sense of self-respect.

Although the Russians have much more to be frightened of than we have in the Western world (living as we do beneath the sure shield of the atom bomb—the greatest war winning and war preventing weapon in the history of the world) they at least have the self control to hide their fears behind a massive front of dignified composure marred, it is true from time to time, by the hurling of a few schoolboy jibes. Surely we owe it to our dignity and self-respect to show a little more courage. Could we not perhaps make up our minds at least to be as brave as Tito?

I was brought up to believe that there was nothing disgraceful in the emotion of fear. The disgrace is not in being fearful, but in allowing others to notice it. Even Communists seem to share this theory of life. It is lamentable that Mr. Lattimore sees nothing disgraceful either in advertising his own timidity or in seeking to infect others with the same deadly virus.

Chicago Couple, 13 Children Plan Mass Invasion Of Eire

CHICAGO, Aug. 25. (U.P.) — Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roycroft and their 13 children are ready for a mass pilgrimage to the little town in Ireland where the elder Roycrofts were born.

Travel experts estimated that the family would require a drawing room, two compartments, and two double bedrooms to get to New York. Three cabs should get them to the pier where they will occupy two cabins. None of this includes the hand baggage, five trunks, and two bicycles that the Roycrofts are taking with them.

Roycroft, a utility company foreman, has saved $5,000 for the trip.

Indianapolis Woman Learns German To Talk To Son's Dog

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 25. (U.P.) —Mrs. Nicholas Bowman is learning German so she can talk to a dog.

Mrs. Bowman says the dog is "very obedient and very friendly." As long as she talks to him in German, that is.

MARKET TRADING SLOW

NEW YORK, Aug. 25. (AP)—Heat, humidity and Russia were too much for the stock market today.

The session was one of the slowest of the year. Prices saw-sawed in narrow price range and ended with small losses outweighing equally small gains. A handful of rails made the best showing.

Santa Fe was well in front of the market with a gain of 2¾ points at 117⅛.

Others ahead included Standard Oil (NJ) 78⅝, Mission Corp. 36½, Goodyear 44⅝, Caterpillar Tractor 84¾, Lockheed 22⅜, Schenley 26, American Telephone 153¾, Consolidated Natural Gas 41¾, Cerro De Pasco 24½ and U. S. Gypsum 107.

On the losing side were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, American Smelting, General Electric, Du Pont, Radio Corp., Southern Pacific, Great Northern preferred, Sinclair Oil, Amerada Petroleum and Pan American Airways.

Pepsi-Cola was comparatively active, selling around its low for the year.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Aug. 25. (AP)—Damage to corn in Iowa and demand for wheat from cash houses supported an upturn in grains today. In an active trade, prices spurted as much as 3 to 4 cents a bushel at times.

Some selling toward the close reduced earlier gains.

Other commodities moved along with grains for a good part of the day. But toward the close easiness again developed in fats and oils. Lard dropped below the previous close. Soybeans barely held small gains.

Wheat closed 1¾ to 4 cents higher, September $2.23⅝-¾, corn was ½-1⅛ higher, September $1.89⅜-⅝, oats were ¼-½ higher, September 75¾, rye was 1⅛ to 2 cents lower, December $1.65⅛, and soybeans were ¾-1½ higher, November $2.45.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

Futures closed 15 to 35 cents a bale higher than the previous close.
