Wild steers to 'race' at Post rodeo

The 40th annual Post Stampede Rodeo next weekend will feature the first wild steer races ever staged in West Texas.

The wild steer race is a special event which has been added to each night's program with a cash prize for the winning three-man team.

Contesting teams must saddle wild steers with one of the team members riding that steer somehow across the arena finish line.

Another special event approved by rodeo directors at their final pre-rodeo meeting Monday night is a county team roping event.

This roping is open to all Garza residents and all members of the Garza roping club. Each team will get to rope two steers Thursday night after the show for a $20 entry fee.

The top four teams will then advance to the Saturday night finals which will be on the program with each team getting only one head each. The winning team will receive trophy buckles.

Each roper is limited to four teams in the event. Those wishing to enter should call Jay Hart, 495-2110.

Billed for four decades as "the fastest rodeo in the West", the Post Stampede this year will have a six-event format, including bareback bronc riding, calf roping, saddle bronc, barrel race, team roping, and bull riding.

Nightly shows will begin at 8 p.m. sharp.

Terry Walls of Stephenville will be back with his strings as the rodeo producer again.

The grand entry each night is billed for 7:45 p.m.

The rodeo office will open Monday morning in the stampede rodeo area. The office phone is 495-2501.

Weldon Reed and Solid Country of Post will play for the three after-rodeo dances on the big covered slab next to the rodeo arena.

Plans are nearly complete too for the big rodeo parade which is scheduled to move down Main street here at 5:30 p.m. next Thursday afternoon, Aug. 7.

Float and decorated bicycle entries are asked to call their entries to the Post Chamber of Commerce office here between 9 a.m.

NEW ADMINISTRATOR — Mrs. Marietta Reed paused during her busy "first day on the job" as Garza Memorial Hospital's new administrator Tuesday, to have this picture made at The Dispatch office. (Staff Photo)..

The bank is advertising for rain in this week's Dispatch. Readers will find a half page ad in bold type on page 3.

—O—

The First National Bank a decade or more ago was the first bank in West Texas to advertise for rain. And its "rain ads" usually produced results for their farm and ranch customers too, although the amount of rainfall varied.

—O—

It's been several years now since the bank took out a "rain ad" in The Dispatch, but today's need is obvious.

—O—

Almost 50 days of drought and burning heat has browned the ranch pastures and halted cotton growth.

—O—

In fact, The Dispatch has two "rain ads" this week. Jerry Bush out at Taylor Tractor & Equipment requested a small rain ad when we called him to check his advertising needs. His "rain ad" will be found on page 12.

—O—

The Dispatch's advertising slogan for years has been: "Dispatch advertising doesn't cost, it pays." If the two rain ads pay off with a good rain the truth of our slogan will be obvious.

—O—

Red Steagall who will bring his band to Post for the "OS Ranch weekend" this fall was at the White House Tuesday to entertain at the awards ceremony given by President Carter for the U.S. Olympic athletes, according to a news release Jim Prather brought into the office that very same day. Which is some indication that the OS will have quite a well know band for its big blowout.

—O—

Just a word about the census. The Dispatch figures the census folks have "goofed" around with their 1980 counts for Post and Garza County. But we can't prove the charge unless all you folks who weren't counted will phone Maxine

Hospital directors name—

Marietta Reed administrator

Mrs. Marietta Reed of Justiceburg, assistant hospital administrator since last 'October, was named administrator of Garza Memorial Hospital by a unanimous vote of hospital directors at a special meeting Monday night.

She succeeds John Murray whose resignation was accepted by the board at its regular July breakfast meeting last Thursday-morning.

Mrs. Reed joined the hospital staff five years ago as business office manager and served in that capacity until named assistant hospital administrator.

Prior to joining the hospital, Mrs. Reed worked two years in the county judge's office, two years in the county clerk's office, a year in the county treasurer's office and four years for the state welfare department here.

Murray, who had served here less than three months, said in his brief letter of resignation that "circumstances as they exist both for myself and my family have resulted in making my decision to resign."

He told The Dispatch after the meeting that the resignation had nothing to do with his position as hospital administrator, but had to do more with the family's life in Post. The Murrays have three adopted children.

Jack Alexander, president of the board, proposed that the board postpone action on naming a successor to Murray until the full board could be present. David Nichols, who had been sitting with a well all night, was the only board member not present.

That's when the special Monday night meeting was set. Alexander proposed that the hospital district's budget be taken up at the special meeting as well and asked that directors study the proposed budget presented the board by the hospital staff.

Murray has accepted a position as assistant comptroller of St. Vincent's 250-bed hospital in Santa Fe and moved his family to Santa Fe the weekend prior to last Thursday meeting. His resignation was effective July 25.

In other actions taken at the regular breakfast session last Thursday:

The board was informed that Medicare closed out its fiscal year with the hospital as of Sept. 30, 1979, by recently forwarding a check for $1,247 to the hospital.

Directors were told the hospital is going to save considerable money on its gas bill with the installation of a new hot water heater in the hospital's boiler room.

Murray explained the

Capps, a Post oil field worker, died July 23 in the Veterans Administration hospital in Big Spring after a long illness.

He was born Sept. 12, 1937, in Clinton, Okla.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Inez Capps of Post; two sons, James Kelly and Quint; one daughter, Cindy; one brother, Dwayne Capps of Post; and two sisters, LaVerne Hays and Barbara Green, both of Post.

Pallbearers were Orlon Ford, Jimmy Redman, Damon Etheridge, Connie Martin, Billy Williams and Jerry Hays.

Burial was in Terrace Cemetery under direction of Hudman Funeral Home.

Chamber sign for well ready

The Post Chamber of Commerce sign for the courthouse oil well has been completed.

It was in Lubock Tuesday and scheduled to be erected at the well site as soon as a crew could be given the assignment, Chamber directors were told at their July meeting in the bank lobby Monday night.

The sign costs $1,180 installed.

Most of the directors' session was spent on plans for the rodeo parade, which the Chamber co-sponsors with the Post Stampede Rodeo Association.

Mess America contest set

A "Mess America" contest will be the main attraction at the Caprock CB Club Jamboree in August. The date has been set for Aug. 16-17 and will be held in the Post Community Center.

The club will hold its first "Mess America" contest on the final day. This will be the first of its kind held in this area. This is a contest where male CBers dress up as women to help raise money for MD. The best dressed male will receive a trophy.

Sunshine Sally and Snapshot of the Sunshine Sally TV program will be featured at the jamboree also.

A dance also will be held with music furnished by Sam Hill and the Texas Gold. All proceeds will go to the Muscular Dystrophy drive.

Free barbecue will be furnished for those attending. Other contests to be held will be a cake walk, a bald head contest and a hot air contest.

Post, Garza down slightly in census

Preliminary 1980 census figures received here Monday by County Judge Giles Dalby and Mayor Giles McCrary indicate Post has suffered a 1.2 percent population loss since the 1970 census with Garza County losing 2.5 percent of its population over the last decade

Post's 1980 count is 3,807, as compared to 3,854 in 1970. The Garza County population is listed at 5,155, as compared to 5,289 in 1970.

This is a loss of 47 in the city and 134 in the county.

Both City Councilwoman Maxine Marks and Director of County Affairs Donald Windham, who are co-chairpersons of local census review committee are convinced many persons have been missed in the census count to date.

They have 10 days in which to advise census authorities where they think mistakes have been made.

Mrs. Marks points out that the city of Post has 1,996 electrical connections, and 1,544 water connections.

On the accepted basis of 3.5 persons per such connection, Post's population on the basis of the smaller number of water connections would 5,404.

Mrs. Marks urges that any person who has not been counted in the census, either through mailing in a census form or being interviewed by a census taker, should call city hall, 2811, and talk to Kathryn Johnson or call Mrs. Marks at her home, 2782 and report the facts.

Percy R. Millard, regional census director, in Dallas advises local officials to concentrate on finding missed housing units in the local review process.

He points out the census organization has other means of identifying individuals who were missed in the census count.

The census task is slated to be completed and on the president's desk by Jan. 1, 1981.

Local census counts can be taken under review for a period of about five weeks, but local persons involved in the local review process must pinpoint some errors for any corrective action to be taken.

If you haven't been counted, now is the time to say so.

And this even includes illegal aliens, many of whom are in this area. These should be counted and information about them will be kept in strictest confidence.

Some here believe there are enough illegal aliens alone in the county to push 1980 census figures above the 1970 totals in both city and county.

Generally, according to early reports, South Plains towns are being chalked up for small losses in the census totals with rural areas losing more.

A number of town officials plan to protest preliminary census counts in their towns.

One of the biggest complaints is on housing.

The preliminary census figures are showing dozens of vacant houses almost everywhere. A hundred for example, were listed in Post out of a total of 1,450. But very few if any of them can be lived in.

County cuts tax rate dime—

$250,000 to go for new road graders

The county tax rate was cut a dime Monday to 85 cents per $100 valuation by the Garza County Commissioners Court which also transferred $50,000 from its general fund surplus into each of the four road precincts for the purchase of new road equipment.

The tax rate reduction was the first by the county since the hospital district was separated from the county in 1969.

The rate was boosted back to 95 cents in 1973 when the new county jail and law enforcement complex were built.

Skyrocketing oil valuations have made both the tax rate reduction and the planned purchase of some $250,000 worth of new road graders possible.

In setting the tax rate, the court voted 15 cents for the road and bridge funds of the precincts, 15 cents for road and bridge special which will go basically toward the new equipment purchases and 55 cents for the general fund.

The court ironed out final details of the new county budget and set Monday, Aug. 11, for the public budget hearing and adoption of the budget.

The Dispatch is planning a fairly detailed story on the new county budget for next week's edition.

County Judge Giles Dalby made the motion to transfer $50,000 into each precinct road and bridge equipment fund for the purchase of the new equipment. Commissioner T. D. Craft seconded the motion and it was unanimously passed.

Judge Dalby told The Dispatch Tuesday that precincts 1, 3 and 4 plan to purchase new road graders immediately but that a new

'Cushion' in new budget—

Dime cut off hospital levy

The Garza Memorial Hospital district became the third straight local taxing unit to cut its tax rate by a dime for 1980 Monday night when hospital directors after a three-hour budget study voted to cut the new rate back from 75 to 65 cents.

But that in itself does not mean that taxpayers in total aren't going to ante up a whole lot more tax dollars for their hospital this coming year.

Directors finally agreed on an $868,000 budget which is 41 percent larger than the $614,120 budget for the current and fiscal year and 27 percent more than the estimated actual expenditures of $681,363 for the current fiscal year en ling Sept. 30.

According to present budget estimates, the hospital district expects to receive $421,700 in taxes in the new fiscal year and receive $446,300 on accounts paid by hospital patients for a total of $868,000 income.

Ten percent more for salaries have been built into the new budget although directors don't plan to grant an across-the-board increase of that figure to all employes.

Other hospital expenditures are expected to climb 10 percent or more.

Also built into the new

Burglar gets $677 at VFW

A burglar broke out a window early Saturday morning at the VFW clubhouse and stole $677 in cash and checks from the commander's office.

The burglary occurred sometime between 1 a.m. and 9 a.m.

Approximately $100 of the loot was in checks, the remainder in bills and change. It had been locked in a locker in the commander's offices.

Entrance was gained through the bathroom window.

Sheriff officers are continuing their investigation.

Pickup stolen downtown Tuesday

G. H. Conley, an employe of Handy Hardware, had his 1977 brown Chevrolet pickup stolen late Tuesday afternoon from a parking place on the east side of the store.

He told sheriff deputies he had gone inside for a few moments between 5:40 and 6?15 p.m. and when he came out the pickup was gone.

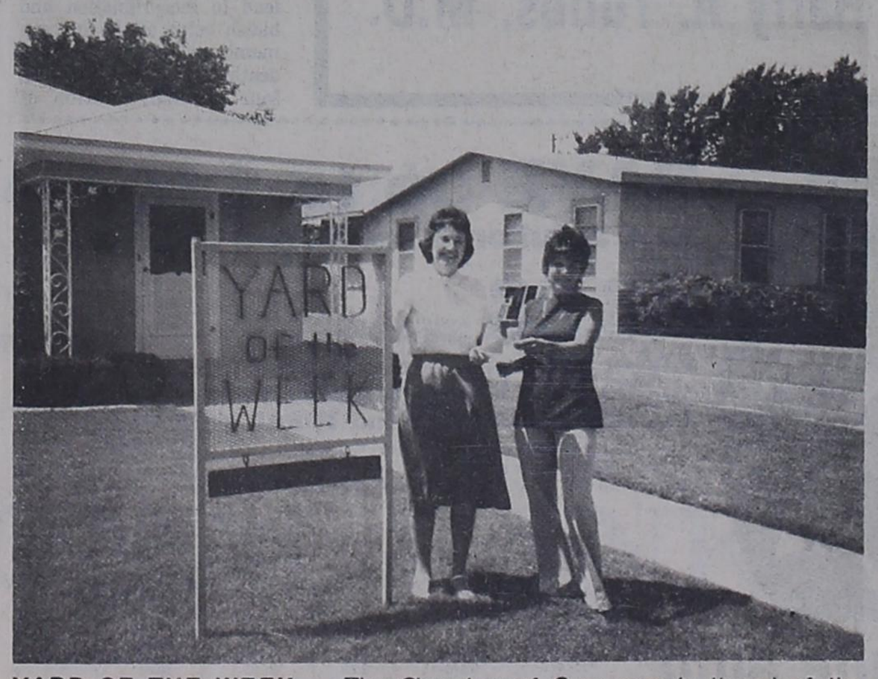

Library given classic records

The Post Public Library has acquired 23 classical music records through the Texas State Library system and hopes to work out a program to make them available for community music lovers.

Librarian Pee Wee Pierce said the records were given the library system by the Lamesa Library with Post selecting the records, many of them opera classics, from the library system.

Twelve of the records are high fidelity and 11 stereo Mrs. Pierce said. They all appear to be unused, she added.

The library also has 15 prints given to it some time ago by Western Artist Tom Ryan which it would like to make available in some type of community use project.

$419 loss at rural home

A warrant has been issued in the investigation into a $419 loss due to damage and theft at the Melvin Gamel rural home on FM-1313 near the Graham community.

The damage and loss was discovered by Gamel when he returned home Sunday night.

A 10-gallon water can, some groceries, a pair of boots, and blankets were taken from the home; wires pulled from the television set; sugar poured over the front room; and a messy mixture of freeze dried coffee and some unknown liquid poured over the bed.

Dispatch Editorials

One issue at a time

A federal judge's ruling recently that Texas schools must educate the children of illegal aliens has caused a loud outcry across Texas.

If the public will take a careful look at the case and give what it finds some quiet thought, we think most of them will change their minds and agree that the judge was right.

America is a comparatively young nation, as nations go, which was founded by aliens and now is composed of the offspring of aliens.

Granted most of them arrived on these shores legally They just didn't wade a shallow river at the border and enter in the night.

But three, or even two generations from now it will not matter whether they were "illegals" or "legals". Their offspring cannot take their place in America society without an American education.

We will dig a hole for ourselves if we don't realize that.

Whether or not millions of illegals should be permitted to walk right in is an entirely different problem. But once in, they immediately begin to pay the same taxes we all pay and those taxes finance our school.

What matters in this case is that every youngster growing up in America should receive an American education.

Let's not confuse the issues here. Many aliens have to wait years to immigrate legally into the United States. A border solution must be found. But this should have nothing to do with providing every kid an opportunity at school.

So serious about Billy

When Jimmy Carter was elected president four years ago, his brother Billy immediately became America's new buffoon.

He ran the gas station back in little Plains, Ga., where the Carters lived, couldn't even get elected mayor in a couple of tries, and drank a lot of beer.

Now almost four years later, Billy Carter is threating to take the Democratic nomination away from his brother and if not that then the November election to a second term by acception $220,000 from a hostile foreign power.

In the interim, Billy has gone from $5,000 appearance money for just about any kind of hijinks, to having a terrible time running the family's peanut warehouse at a loss, to failing to pay his income taxes (the government has taken over the deed to his home while catch-up payments are made), to admitting he is an alcoholic, taking a "dry out treatment" and converting from beer to cola.

For four years, Billy has continually embarrassed President Jimmy. Jimmy says Billy is stubborn and makes no apparent effort to rein him in.

So now Billy's much publicized hookup with Algeria has finally come to a national investigation some have dubbed "Billygate."

Disclosures from the White House indicate President Jimmy and Attorney General Benjamin Civiletti discussed Billy, and Civiletti advised Carter that Billy should register as a foreign agent. A week later Billy did so belatedly — after he got the $220,000.

That little talk involves both the president and the attorney general.

Unless something in the upcoming probe comes as a complete shocker, it is difficult to even imagine that Billy's antics had any effect in any way on U.S. foreign policy, or that Libya's radical Arab government got anything at all for its $220,000 but a startling change in the upcoming presidential campaign.

To the president's credit, Jimmy hasn't hamstrung Billy.

Lots of presidents have had brothers of course. Some of them had real class like Milton Eisenhower, Ike's brother who is a topnotch educator. Others like LBJ's brother tried to cash in on their brother's fame by writing snide "expose books".

What's happened to Billy is that he simply hasn't been able to cope with his status as "a president's brother."

In Washington, some edgy congressional Democrats who are running for office again this year now are talking about "dumping Carter" because they don't want to go down the political drain with Carter.

All this won't die down completely before the November election either because results of the probe won't be announced until October.

The Dispatch opposes the reelection of Jimmy Carter for a host of reasons, but none of them include Billy Carter as a campaign issue.

"Billygate," if it continues to get the headlines, is going to take the American people's minds off the real issues of the presiential campaign.

And that's not so funny.

POISONING THREAT

Prolonged dry, hot weather has caused damage to most dryland crops. Many producers are considering grazing out stressed crops or harvesting them for hay or silage in order to salvage the crop.

Plants that have had their growth arrested by drought are more apt to have a high nitrate content than normal plants with the highest concentration in the stalk.

Ensiling is a good way to make high nitrate forage a safer feed, since silage often loses 40-60 percent of its nitrate content during fermentation. High-nitrate silage should not be fed until fermentation has stopped which occurs about 21 days after storage. Forages harvested as hay are more likely to be a problem.

It is a good management practice to have the forage analyzed for nitrate prior to feeding it. Silage should be analyzed after it has undergone fermentation and hay after it has been baled. Crops that are going to be grazed out should be analyzed prior to turning cattle into the field.

Forages that are high in nitrates can be fed if they are diluted with other forages low in nitrates or mixed with grain. The probability of nitrate poisoning is more likely when the total diet is forage that is high in nitrate.

Most labs can analyze for nitrates quickly and the test is relatively inexpensive. Nitrate content is reported in several different manners. The following charts show how to convert the various reporting methods to actual nitrate.

Potassium mitrate X 0.6 equals Nitrate.

Nitrate nitrogen X 4.4 equals Nitrate.

Forages that contain over one percent nitrate have been shown to be potentially lethal if fed as the total diet. Generally, if the nitrate content is less than 0.5 percent, the forage can be fed as the total diet with no toxicity, but performance may be reduced if the nitrate content is over 0.1 percent.

Young animals, old animals in poor nutritional status and hungry animals are less tolerant to nitrate than well fed animals on adequate rations.

Nitrate piosoning occurs when large quantities of nitrate are absorbed into the bloodstream where it converts hemaglobin to methemaglobin to reduce the oxygen-carrying capacity of the blood. Symptoms develop rapidly. Labored breathing and nervousness lead to incoordination and bluish color of the mucous membrances and eventually death. Administration of a four percent solution of methylene blue has been effective if given early enough. Administration of this solution should be under the advice or supervision of a veterinarian.

Plants of the sorghum group (Johnson grass, sorghum, sudan and hybrid sudan) have a high potential for prussic acid poisoning. These plants have cyanide-containing compounds which are converted to prussic acid when the plant cells are disrupted due to drought, hail, harvesting, frost, etc. Prussic acid is liberated in the rumen, absorbed into the blood and carried to the tissues where this potent toxin interferes with oxygen utilization. If absorbed rapidly, it can cause respiratory paralysis. Early symptoms are labored breathing, frothing at the mouth, irregular pulse and staggering.

Stressed plants should be checked for prussic acid before they are grazed. When growth conditions change due to rainfall, drought, frost, etc., analysis should be conducted to head off problems. If prussic acid is detected, cattle should be removed until analysis shows the prussic acid has dropped.

Delay feeding hay or silage for four to six weeks to allow time for breakdown of the prussic acid.

A sodiumnitrite-sodium thiosulfate combination can be administered as an antidote. It must be injected intravenously very slowly. The dosage and administration are critical. The toxic principal works very rapidly, so speed of detection is important.

TSTA will seek big pay boost

AUSTIN—Citing a growing exodus of young and veteran teachers from Texas classrooms, the state's largest teacher organization this week announced it will recommend a 33 percent raise in teacher pay over the 1981-83 biennium.

Dora Scott of Houston, president of the Texas State Teachers Association, said the proposal was approved by the TSTA executive committee for presentation to the 1981 Legislature in January.

She said the TSTA proposal would provide pay increases ranging from $1,300 or more per year for beginning teachers, to over $2,000 per year for more experienced teachers with advanced degrees. The 33 percent increase would include the experience increments already in the law, she said.

NOTICE OF TAX INCREASE

Garza County will hold a public hearing on the total increase of taxes for the year 1981 in the District Courtroom on August 11, 1980, at 7:p.m., in compliance with article 7244c, VACS. Garza County assessed a tax rate of .95c per hundred dollar valuation for 1980, which resulted in ad valorem taxes of $441,203.65. Decreasing the tax rate by .10c per hundred dollar valuation to a tax rate of .85c, Garza County in the year of 1981 will generate $589,492.00 in ad valorem taxes. This being a twenty-five percent increase in revenue taken in with a tax rate cut of .10c per hundred dollar valuation. The total increase for 1981 is primarily the result of increased oil valuation.

Ruling won't bankrupt state

AUSTIN—State Comptroller Bob Bullock said last week a federal judge's ruling that Texas public schools must educate the children of illegal aliens won't bankrupt the state.
Bullock said the state pays local school districts about $2.8 billion annually to supplement the cost of education.
The extra $40 million it has been estimated to cover the cost of education for illegal aliens is only 1.4 percent of the state's education budget.
There are about 2.6 million children attending Texas public schools and while nobody knows the exact number of school-age illegal aliens it's probably not more than 20,000 to 50,000. That's somewhere between one and two percent, he said.
"Illegal aliens have been paying sales tax, motor vehicle tax and gasoline tax just like Texas residents. Some may treat them as second-class citizens, but they are first-class taxpayers," Bullock said.
"Frankly, it's time we quit worrying about where a kid was born and start worrying about what kind of education all our kids are getting," Bullock said.

Hundred senior citizens attend 'indoor picnic'

The Garza County Trail Blazers had a record turnout of approximately a hundred senior citizens at its cool 'indoor picnic" Friday night in the Algerita Senior Citizens Center.

The picnic menu consisted of baked ham, pimento cheese and tuna fish sandwiches, homemade potato salad, potato chips, special breads, iced tea, coffee and homemade ice cream and cake.

Nancy Flanigan entertained the big crowd for the first 30 minutes with piano selections with Jim Jackson singing several songs prior to the serving of the picnic dinner.

The Rev. F. W. Rogers gave the invocation after which Danny Shaw led in the singing of several familar songs accompanied by Dorace Wilson at the piano.

Diane Josey gave an informative talk on the history of Garza Memorial Hospital, its staff and facilities, and then explained the operation of Medicare and Medicaid.

She pointed out that the Medicare program paid $121,000 to Garza Memorial Hospital last year for care of elderly patients here and that Medicaid paid an additional $23,000. The Medicare program is financed by the social security tax.

Mrs. Josey said that Medicare inspects the hospital annually in every aspect to be sure Medicare patients receive the best possible care.

Other talks on the program concerned the Emergency Medical Technicians program here and its operation of the city-county ambulance service.

Jackson, president of the Garza EMT group, Weaver McKamie and Syan Nichols gave cardiac pulmonary resuscitation instructions and demonstration as well as choking relief instructions and demonstration.

Vials of life were passed out to senior citizens attending. These are containers for medical and personal history to be stored in the refrigerator for ambulance attendants or doctor.

The rest of the evening was spent in a musicale provided by Willie and Durwood Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. Danny Shaw, Esker Stone, Mildred Stewart, Dr. Rodriguez and Bea Dodson on piano, guitars, accordian, washboard, banjo and drums.

Tom Power, president of the Trail Blazers, said the "indoor picnics" for June and July have proved so successful another probably will be scheduled for the last week of August.

Power calls the attentioon of senior citizens to the fact that the Algerita Center, built by David Newby with the assistance of the Green Thumb crew, is open to them daily with a luncheon served Mondays through Fridays.

The center opens at 8:30 a.m. and closes late in the afternoon unless evening plans have been scheduled.

TIPS TO HELP YOU

Tips to Reduce Auto Expense

Maintaining a car if often your greatest expense, but you can save by buying spare parts from a local junk yard. Sometimes, you'll find them in near-mint condition, and at only half the price you'd pay at a garage or parts store.

The new gallon plastic jug of motor oil from Amalie Refining Company, called the Dispos-Oil-Jug, eliminates the once-messy part of changing the oil in your car yourself. Its resealable container allows you to add new oil without having to open separate cans. It also provides a receptacle for the old oil that's safe for the environment. The Dispos-Oil-Jug is the first big change in motor oil containers since the quart can.

You can increase gas mileage by keeping your engine in tune. The recommended interval is set forth in your owner's manual. You should have a minor tune-up, preferably in the spring, before hot weather and vacation travel.

Hot weather lawn care tips given

COLLEGE STATION — Current severe heat and dry conditions pose many problems for homeowners, and lawn care during times of stress is one of the most difficult to deal with.

Dr. Richard L. Duble, turfgrass specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A & M University System, offers hope with some practical advice to help homeowners cope with lawns during the extreme weather conditions of this summer.

Where water is limited for lawn use, Duble suggests watering only when the lawn shows signs of stress, such as wilting or discoloration.

"When you can water, soak the lawn for about 3 or 4 inches deep to encourage deep rooting, stronger plants. Ideally, lawns should be watered early in the morning to incorporate any dew which might be present and to reduc e evaporative loss," he says.

When water is available, Duble recommends mowing at a height of 2½ to 3 inches at 10 to 14 day intervals.

"If you cannot water the lawn, mowing at a height of 3 to 4 inches and only when the lawn becomes unsightly is the best practice. Mowing at this height will allow common St. Augustine and bermudagrass to mature and produce seed. The seedstalks can be shredded with a mower in late fall or winter to allow seed to revitalize the lawn next spring," he emphasizes.

The specialist also recommends little or no fertilizer during the summer months, and an active insect and disease control program to protect against further damage.

In South Texas, a particular pest during dry years is the chinch bug. Chinch bug damamge can be distinguished from drouth injury by the yellowish, irregular patterns of the infested areas.

Minorities to name directors

Representatives of minority organizations having substantial interest in minority affairs in this county are invited to attend a meeting in Crosbyton Tuesday night, Aug. 5, to participate in the election of one individual to the board of directors of the South Plains Association of Governments as a representative of minority residents of Crosby, Dickens, Lynn, Garza, Motley, Floyd and King counties.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the district courtroom of the Crosby County courthouse.

Similar meetings will be held in Morton, Plainview and Lubbock next week to select three other minority representatives representing the other seven counties in the SPAG area.

HELMETS PROVEN

Unhelmeted motorcycle riders are more than twice as likely to die or be seriously injured in an accident than helmeted riders, the Texas Transportation Institute says. A state study shows that motorcycle accident deaths more than doubled in the first four months after the helmet law was repealed.

Gas record for Pioneer

AMARILLO — Responding to hot, dry weather in West Texas, Pioneer Natural Gas Co. delivered more gas to customers on Tuesday (July 15) than on any other single day in the company's history.

Tuesday's deliveries exceeded 900 million cubic feet of natural gas. The Pioneer Natural Gas service area covers about 50,000 square miles in West Texas, from the Panhandle to south of Odessa.

Company officials attributed the record demand for gas primarily to increased irrigation, resulting from the abnormal heat and absence of rainfall in the region. Deliveries for irrigation currently average about 250 million cubic feet per day.

The amount of gas supplied on Tuesday exceeded any prior day's deliveries by about 85 million cubic feet. The previous record was approximately 815 million cubic feet on July 16, 1971.

LIFE SPAN TO 73

People can expect to live longer than ever before. Medical advances have pushed the average age span to almost 73 years of age. Since 1950, more than 4½ years have been added to the average life expectancy.

DIABETICS DOUBLING

The number of diabetics in the United States will double in 15 years. The American Diabetes Association says every person has more than a one to five chance of getting the disease before reaching age 70.

NEWBY THANKED

Dear Editor:

I just want to drop a note of thanks to David Newby for the beautiful job on the Algerita building.

Too often we write our complaints and take for granted our good things. I am thankful that we have a dedicated David Newby and wish more of us were like him in working to make our community a better place.

26 win certificates in library reading program

The summer reading program co-sponsored by the Texas State Library and the Post Public Library, is always a busy and exciting time, Librarian Pee Wee Pierce reports.

Children are encouraged to read at least one book during the summer months for which they receive a reading certificate from the Texas State Library.

Names of the books read are kept on a reading log which is given to each participant of the summer reading program at the end of the six weeks program.

Twenty-six youngsters were awarded reading certificates Thursday, July 17, Librarian Pierce reports.

"This year we had movies every Thursday at 3:30 plus a book drawing," Mrs. Pierce said. "The books given in the drawing were used juvenile books given to the library. As we already had copies of these books it was decided to let names be drawn for them. Each youngster put his name in the box and they were drawn Thursdays after the movies.

Winners were Jerret Dickson, Melena Peck, Russel Benham, Eric Pearson, Jamie Feagin, Chris Linn, Melinda Curry, Lisa Pearson, Pete Torres, Andrew Pearson and Kenneth Pearson.

Mrs. Pierce said there will be one more movie this afternoon. "Old Yeller" will be shown at 3:30 p.m. in the cool library and all youngsters are invited.

Librarian Pierce said she wants to thank each boy and girl who read a book and each of those who attended the Thursday afternoon movies.

S P fair catalog is distributed

LUBBOCK — The complete story of the 63rd annual Panhandle South Plains Fair is contained in a 124-page catalog just distributed throughout the South Plains and eastern New Mexico areas.

More than 4,500 copies of the 1980 catalog have been mailed to potential exhibitors and fair superintendents and other volunteer workers, according to General Manager Steve L. Lewis.

It also contains a list of premiums totaling more than $75,000, Lewis noted.

The theme of this year's fair, scheduled Sept. 20-27, is "family fun at the fair."

The center section of the catalog is devoted to virtually an all-new lineup of stars booked for the stage of Fair Park Coliseum.

"We're tickled to death with the lineup," Lewis said, adding that ticket sales so far are well ahead of last year.

The colisuem attractions include:

Sept. 21 — The Merle Haggard show, with Susie Allanson, 5 p.m. and 8 p.m.;

Sept. 22 — The Oak Ridge Boys, with Joe Sun, 5 p.m. and 8 p.m.;

Sept. 23 — The Marty Robbins show, with Little David Wilksin, 5 p.m. and 8 p.m.;

Sept. 24 — The Eddie Rabbitt show, with Susan Raye, 5 p.m. and 8 p.m.;

Sept. 26 — Moe Bandy and Joe Stampley, 8 p.m. only; and,

Sept. 27 — Larry Gatlin and the Gatlin Brothers Band, 5 p.m. and 8 p.m.

All seats are reserved and tickets are $4, $5 and $6.

Mail order requests for reservations currently are being accepted by the fair, P. O. Box 208, Lubbock, Texas 79408. Orders will be processed in the order in which received.

Mail order requests must be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Beginning Aut. 1, tickets also will go on sale at the fair offices, 105 E. Broadway.

4 Garza students on Tech honor rolls

Four Garza students are among the 1,600 students at Texas Tech University who qualified for the dean's honor rolls in the six colleges during the first term of the summer sessesion.

The four are Donna Aten of route 2, Kimberly Mills of 909 West 7th, Charles Morrow of route 2, and Jimmy Pierce of 407 Osage.

To qualify for the dean's honor roll a student must have a grade point average of 3.0 or more on a 4.0 scale and must have taken as many as six semester hours of work.

Tech adds three degrees

LUBBOCK—Three new degree programs at Texas Tech Univbersity were approved by the Coordinating Board, Texas Colleges and University System, at its July meeting.

Approved were master's and bachelor's degrees in computer science and a bachelor's degree in landscape architecture.

Both degree programs in computer science will be inter-disciplinary in nature, combining existing faculty and courses in three departments: Mathematics, Systems and Electrical Engineering. The computer science program will be administratively housed in the Department of Electrical Engineering.

Pork producers plan to cut back

COLLEGE STATION — If hog producers carry out intended plans to reduce farrowing and breeding hog numbers and increase slaughter numbers, pork prices should recover by late December or early 1981.

This preview comes from Dr. Ernest E. Davis, economist-livestock marketing for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A & M University System.

Looking ahead to the first quarter of 1981, Davis said pork supplies should remain 8 to 11 percent below levels for the same time in 1980. This projection holds only if producers follow through with intended cutbacks of 9 to 10 percent in June through November farrowings. Lower supplies should indicate higher prices for late December and early 1981.

June reports show supplies still high on market hogs and pigs weighing more than 60 pounds. Most hogs weighing more than 180 pounds will be killed by the end of June, with the remainder being marketed in July, August and the first part of September. Slaughter during the summer is expected to be 4 to 6 percent above levels for one year ago.

The number of hogs kept for breeding is down 8 percent from 1979. Davis said this, added to higher slaughter numbers and reduced farrowings, should mean steady price recovery for early 1981 if these trends continue.

"Very likely, these intentions will hold as pork producers have sustained heavy financial losses this past spring," said Davis.

He said that even though much has been said about weak consumer demand — declining real incomes, recession and a general dismal economy — demand for pork should remain relatively strong. As long as retail pork is a dollar per pound less than Choice retail beef, consumers will continue to substitute pork for beef.

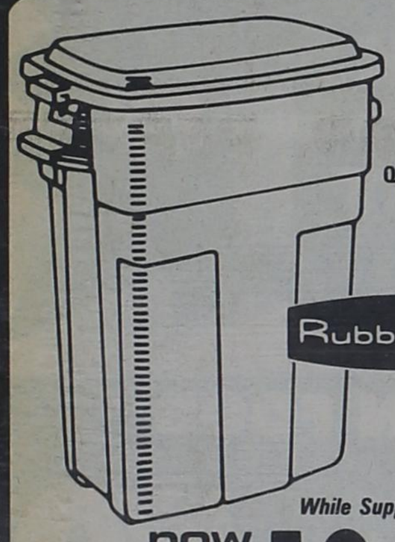

Price predictions for producers show market barrow and gilt prices averaging $35 to $38 per hundredweight for the summer. If fed cattle prices move above $70 per hundredweight, market hog prices will probably average $40 or above, said Davis.

COTTON TODAY

A NATIONAL COTTON COUNCIL SERVICE

More Cotton Use Seen

The U. S. Department of Agriculture expects world cotton consumption to continue expanding in 1980-81 and total betwee 64.8 8-65.8 million bales. This compares with 64.9 million forecast for 1979-80. China's consumption is forecast at a record 13.7 million bales, an increase of about 300,000 over the current season. Cotton consumption in the rest of Asia is expected to rise 400,000. USDA said U.S. consumption probably will decline to 6.0 million from 6.4 million.

USDA also said world cotton exports could drop to 19.8-22.3 million bales from this season's estimated 22.6 million. World cotton production is projected between 64.1-66.6 million bales, with an increase of about one million expected in foreign output. The largest production gains are seen in China, Nicaragua, and India. Russia's output is expected to be unchanged.

Bale Sampling Option Approved

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has approved a regulation that will allow an alternative sampling method for cotton submitted for official classification. Effective August 11, a sample from one hole on each side of the bale can be split along layers making two samples. Only samples containing two outside portions (next to bale covering), however, are eligible for USDA classification.

Exports Rise

Cotton exports of 152,100 running bales during the week ended July 17 brought the season's total to 8,674,500, compared with 5,689,000 a year ago. Shipments to China totaled 44,400 bales. Meanwhile, new sales of 20,200 bales pushed the total commitments to 9,641,800. For 1980-81 delivery purchases totaling 39,000 bales were made largely by Japan and Hong Kong. This brings next season's sales to 2,350,300 thus far.

And Cotton Yesterday

Cotton was introduced in Europe about 330 B.C. by Alexander the Great.

Ambulance service is well in black

The city-county ambulance service, operated by EMT volunteers, transported 32 patients during June, a monthly financial statemment given the Garza Memorial Hospital district board last Thursday indicated.

Eighteen of these were transported in the county 14 out of the county.

That brought the total patients transported for 1980 to date to 160, 79 in the county and 81 out of the county.

The ambulance service collected !1,148.02 from patient accounts during June with $1,794 in billings for the month. The service had $4,766.62 in accounts outstanding for 1979 and 1980 as of June 30.

Operating costs of the service for June were $1,634.75 with major expenses being $865 for ambulance attendants, $400 for administration, and $309.43 for gas and oil.

Twin Cedars Nursing Home News

Everyone enjoyed our Sunday service. We all had a good time at our birthday parties this week. It was Irene Wheeler who was 79 years young and Jessie Roberts who was 72 years young.

We want to thank the VFW Ladies Auxiliary for giving us our party.

There are a lot of people to thank. I hope we haven't missed anyone: Martha Compton for bringing a cake, Rosemary Stelzer for the bananas and Opal Nowell for the grapes, Mrs. Thomas for cake and ice cream.

We also want to thank these people for coming and singing for us. They were Mildred Stewart, Esker Stone, Bea Dodson. They really had some good songs to sing and all the residents took part in it and had such a good time. They all sang and stomped their feet and clapped their hands.

I guess Grace Johnson had a good time, she was sure laughing a whole lot. Even Nora had a good time playing on the rub board. This was one of the best parties we've had.

Thanks to all of you.

MOWER ACCIDENTS

Lawn mowers cause about 10,000 amputated fingers and toes yearly as well as 62,800 cuts and broken bones. Mowers, which have blades that whirl about 230 mph, mainly injure hands, feet and legs, according to U. S. Consumer Product Safety Commission statistics.

Grid physicals are set for next Tuesday

First practice to be Aug. 11

The start of the local football season comes at 5 p.m. next Tuesday when coaches have asked all boys who will be out for football this fall, seventh grade through the high school varsity, to report to the field house for their physicals.

Head Coach David Thompson said football shoes and socks will be issued to varsity grid candidates next Wednesday, Aug. 6, beginning at 8 a.m.

The first grid workout is scheduled for 7:30 a.m. Monday, Aug. 11, and Coach Thompson expects 60 to report, including 12 lettermen from the 1979 team.

Coach Thompson said two practices will be scheduled daily with the first four days of practice being conditioning drills without pads, as perscribed by Texas Interscholastic league rules.

The Lopes will put on the pads Friday, Aug. 15, and probably will scrimmage the following Saturday morning.

The Antelopes have two pre-season scrimmages scheduled.

The first will be at Ralls Aug. 22 with Littlefield coming to Antelope Stadium for the second one Aug. 29.

The Lopes will open their 1980 fall season at Lockney Sept. 5 and will compete in a six-team 4AAA district this season.

Other district clubs include Slaton, Tahoka, Roosevelt, Frenship and Cooper.

Post will play a 10-game schedule with the homecoming game being the Coahoma game here in October.

The grid coaching staff returned over the weekend from Houston where the coaches attended the annual state high school coaching school.

Coach Thompson has been busy trying to complete his coaching staff following the recent resignation of his defense coordinator. Thompson told The Dispatch Tuesday he thinks he has the staff completed and will announce the replacement next week.

Two new deep oil producers

Amoco Production has completed another fine well in its new Post West field, eight miles west of Post.

It's the Dillard Morris No. 1 which produced 365.4 barrels of oil daily on test from an interval of 8,621 to 8,644 feet.

Total well depth was 8,850 feet.

The other Garza completion announced last weekend was another deep one, but not as big a producer.

It was R. A. Mendenhall Associates, Ltd., No. 1 Miller, located five miles southwest of Justiceburg, which was rated on test at 60.5 barrels of oil daily with one barrel of water from an interval of 7,777 to 7,792 feet.

Total well depth was 8,100 feet.

Dove season to open Sept. 1

AUSTIN—The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission at a public meeting in Austin last week adopted hunting seasons and bag limits for mourning and white-winged doves under a two-zone arrangement as in the past.

The North Zone mourning dove season will be Sept. 1-Oct. 30, 1980. The straight 60-day season represents a change from the split season used last year.

For mourning doves in the South Zone, the season dates will be Sept. 20-Nov. 2, 1980 and Jan. 3-18, 1981.

In South Zone counties having an open season on whitewings, the fall season for mourning doves will end Oct. 29,1980. In counties which have days with concurrent whitewing and mourning dove hunting in either zone, the legal shooting time for those days is noon to sunset. In all other counties in both zones, shooting hours are one half hour before sunrise to sunset.

Dove Program Leader Jim Dunks advised the commission that the split hunting season for mourning doves in the North Zone has received opposition from some hunters who contend that they are penalized by having the winter season. "The winter season in the North Zone will remain controversial, but it appears that the straight season will appeal to the majlority of the hunters," Dunks said.

In adopting the two-zone alignment, the commission set aside a proposal to establish a three-zone setup after reviewing written and verbal objections. The three zone plan would have set a later than Sept. 1 opening for a large portion of North and Central Texas and would have combined the Trans-Pecos region with the Rio Grande Valley in the same zone. Objections to the three-zone plan were strong from sportsmen in San Antonio and El Paso areas.

As was the case last dove season, one fully-feathered wing must be retained on all dressed dove carcasses in all of the South Zone at all times, and counties of the Noarth Zone which have a concurrent whitewing and mourning dove season.

The North Zone is comprised of Kinney, Uvalde, Medina, Bexar,Comal, Hays, Travis, Williamson, Milam, Robertson, Leon, Houston, Cherokee, Nacogdoches and Shelby Counties and all counties to the north and west. The South Zone includes all counties to the south and east.

Bag limits for mourning and white-winged doves will remain unchanged from last year, at 10 per day, 20 in possession. Hunters may take a limit of each species during the white-wing season in counties offering a whitewing season.

Jess Knight keeps winning

Jess Knight, the Justiceburg saddle bronc rider, added $930 to his rodeo earnings last week to climb to a 1980 prize total of $14,356.

But he lost ground in his efforts to overtake Bud Pauley of Miles City, Mont., and move from fifth to fourth place in the standings.

Pauley added about $1,700 to his prize take last week and had a total of $15,401. Bud Monroe of Billings, Mont., leads the saddle bronc riders on the pro circuit with $29,139.

Vacation Bible school in evening

The Iglesia Bautista Bethel (Bethel Baptist) church will begin its vacation Bible school Monday evening with the meeting time to be from 6 to 8 p.m. It will conclude Friday evening.

The school is for all ages, 4 through high school. The theme is "Sharing the good news of Jesus."

The Rev. Troy Smith and members cordially invite area youngsters to attend the Bible School.

White River lake is now 68% full

Water storage in the White River Lake has dropped 18 percent in the last 12 months and eight percent in a single July week, according to a news release from the Texas Department of Water Resources. The story this week was on the effects of the drought in Texas on water storage lakes.

The report says the 44,300 acre-foot White River Lake as of July 18 held 30,318 acre feet of water, which is 68 percent of capacity. It had held 33,160 acre feet on July 11 or 75 percent of capacity.

In late June, 1979, it held 38,230 acre feet of 86 percent of capacity.

Meteorologists reported last Thursday that more than half of the state is experiencing moderate drought, with a part of the Trans-Pecos region now categorized as having severe drought conditions.

While in general water supply storage in reservoirs and underground acquifers is substantial, many towns and cities continue either voluntary or mandatory water rationing.

Several small reservoirs supplying towns are now at levels below the pump intakes, and some towns are having to turn to other sources of supply.

The 63 major index reservoirs monitored by the state department of water resources held 80 percent of their conservation storage capacity as of July 18, two percent less than reported the previous week, five percent less than at the end of 'June of this year and 12 percent less than at the end of June, 1979.

ATTENDS FUNERAL

Morris Burcham of Las Vegas, Nev., and Mrs. Ratie Lewallen of Sapula, Okla., and Mrs. Joyce Martin of Admore, Okla., attended the funeral of Mrs. Claude Williams in Post recently.

Lake Meredith in the panhandle is now down to 25 percent of its storage capacity, and Lake J. B. Thomas in Borden and Scurry counties is down to to 13 percent.

WIVES ATTACK HUBBYS

More than 12 million husbands are attacked by wives annually. One out of five parents is either physically or psychologically abused by children. Family violence also includes large numbers of abused wives and more than a million abused children.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The political stars fell on Texas last week.

President Jimmy Carter attended two Dallas fund-raisers and Republican presidential ticket team Ronald Reagan and George Bush stopped in Houston on their way home from the Detroit convention.

In Dallas, Carter asked U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen what he could do for Texas (a new anecdote goes) and Bentsen replied all Texas needed was rain to end the drought. Carter reportedly lifted his arms to the sky in silent plea. When rain drops fell on Dallas shortly afterwards, the President was heralded as a rainmaker.

Carter visited a drought-plagued farm with Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan, who is predicting that farmers here may lose up to $2 billion in crops and livestock losses. Reagan is expected to seek federal funds for Texas farmers suffering losses.

Windfall Burden

Over 4,000 angry Texas royalty owners appeared at Sen. Bentsen's hearing in Austin on the windfall profits tax . . . and they want the law changed.

The new tax causes some royalty owners to suffer 25 to 30 percent cuts in royalty income. The panel was presented a survey showing most royalty owners receive modest amounts of income from their leases, and Bentsen commented the tax hits hardest on the elderly royalty owners.

Bentsen has reintroduced a bill to exempt royalty owners from the tax and to exempt the first 1,000 barrels per day of production from small independent producers.

Advice to Carter

Besides taking the royalty owners' message back to Washington, Bentsen last week also released some advice for Carter: enact a tax cut before 1981.

"It's important to have a tax cut before 1981 to increase productivity," he said.

Bentsen also said the President's re-election campaign is dragging and the administration should make a firm commitment before the election for a tax cut next year.

Auto Insurance Hike

Texas motorists may face an auto insurance premium increase as high as 28 percent in November, if last week's witnesses before the State Insurance Board get their wishes.

Spokesmen for the auto insurance industry said increases ranging from $56 to $81 per year were necessary to combat inflation.

Summer Camp Rule

A Houston federal court overturned a University Interscholastic League rule that prohibits high school athletes from attending summer sports camp without losing a year's eligibility. Officials from UIL argued the rule was to prevent some schools from sending its entire team to summer camp and to protect poor athletes from unfairness. The UIL will appeal.

Brilab Postponed Again

The Brilab trial of Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton and three others has been postponed again until Sept. 8, one week after the Labor Day deadline which Clayton had set for either being cleared or stepping down.

Clayton said he expects to be cleared in a quick trial and still intends to seek an unprecedented fourth term as House Speaker.

Schooling Illegal Aliens

A federal judge has ruled that it is unconstitutional for Texas to deny a free public education to illegal alien children, but Texas Attorney General Mark White will appeal.

White is also considering a lawsuit against the federal government for failing to enforce immigration laws.

"Texas is being told to pay for the failures of the U.S. Justice Department. They're calling upon the taxpayers of this state to pay for undocumented workers' children who are unlawfully in the country," White told reporters.

U.S. District Judge Woodrow Sears ruled a 1975 Texas statute is unconstitutional because it denies a distinct group of children the fundamental right to an education.

RABIES EPIDEMIC

Rabies is epidemic in Texas again. As skunks and humans increasingly live in the same areas, people have more chance of being exposed to rabies since skunks are a major carrier of the deadly disease.

FAT LOSS EXPENSIVE

Each year more than 79 million overweight people spend $10 billion trying to lose weight; problems related to smoking cost more than $18 billion; illnesses linked to smoking kill at least 320,000 people; more than in million alcoholics cost the nation over $44 billion in medical bills and other expenses.

Guitarist to be featured

LUBBOCK — Classical guitarist Liona Boyd joins John Williams and the Boston Pops Sunday, Aug. 3, at 7 p.m. on KTXT-TV channel 5 to play Albinoni's Adiago for Guitar and Strings and Vivaldi's Concerto in D for Guitar and Strings. The Pops Orchestra also performs music by Saint-Saens, Maestro Williams, Handy, and a medley of tunes from "My Fair Lady."

Liona Boyd began her study of guitar in Toronto at the age of 14, and continued with such illustrious teachers as Julian Bream and Alexandre Lagoya.

She has toured extensively and has performed as well on radio and television, including her own television special.

Several international composers have dedicated their works to Miss Boyd, and she has been invited to play for such distinguished music lovers as Queen Elizabeth of England and the Prime Minister of Canada.

In addition to her solo concerts, Miss Boyd often tours with Gordon Lightfoot and is breaking new ground for the classical guitar, popularizing the instrument and the music.

CUTTING DOWN SALT

Salt often is hidden away in foods ranging from pancakes to canned peas. Not salting food at the table is an easy way to cut down on salt consumption by as much as 30 percent and help avoid high blood pressure and other problems, the Texas Medical Association says.

90 PCT. INSURE HEALTH

About 90 percent of the population has some type of health insurance, the National Center for Health Statistics says. Nine out of 10 people have insurance covering surgery and other physicians' services; 8 of 10 also have major medical insurance.

A SALAD-COOL AS THE SEA

Lightly salted goldfish crackers spark Fruited Tuna Salad.

When the temperature climbs high on the thermometer and the humidity is termed by all as "certainly sticky," everyone looks for all things cool.

In our daily lives in summer, everything possible should be cool. Food, too, can be cooling—like a chilled salad that combines green grapes, mandarin oranges and pineapple chunks with tuna. When topped with Goldfish Crackers, this Fruited Tuna Salad is a lovely main dish that tastes and looks appealing to all ages.

If guests (or simply a too-hot family) are ready for a relaxing interlude and a cooling repast, this refreshing salad will be perfect despite the humidity.

Instead of rolls on a hot day, serve additional Goldfish Crackers sprinkled on each salad serving. The Goldfish, as the name implies, are tiny fish-shaped crackers, flavored with Cheddar Cheese, Parmesan Cheese or Lightly Salted.

FRUITED TUNA SALAD

2 cans (6 1/2 ounces each) chunk style tuna, drained
1 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons chopped scallions
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 cups sliced celery
2 cups stemmed green grapes
2 cups fresh or canned pineapple chunks
1 can (11 ounces) mandarin oranges, drained
Boston lettuce leaves
1 package (6 ounces) Pepperidge Farm Lightly Salted Goldfish Crackers

In a bowl mix tuna, mayonnaise, scallions, lemon juice, celery, grapes, pineapple and oranges. Chill. When ready to serve, line a salad bowl with lettuce leaves. Spoon in salad. Sprinkle with Goldfish Crackers. Sprinkle each serving with more Goldfish Crackers as salad is served. Makes 6 servings.

CHEMICALS CAN DESTROY CLOTHING

You don't have to live in a lab to run into chemicals that damage your clothing. You will know you have had a chemical encounter if your clothing, bedding or table linen comes out of cleaning discolored, with tears and holes in the fabric or with weakened areas.

Common household chemicals that the International Fabricare Institute (IFI), the world-wide association of launderers and drycleaners, has found to be most damaging are perfume, alcohol, hair care solutions, medicines, peroxide, household bleach, porcelain cleaners, metal polishes, astringents and liquid deodorants.

Fabric damage from contact with chemicals may not appear immediately. But IFI warns that any spillage of any of these common chemicals will damage fibers. This damage can be lessened by flushing the area immediately with cold water and quickly laundering or bringing the article to your drycleaner. Advise the cleaner of the substance that was spilled so he or she will know how to process the item.

Otherwise the chemical will dry in the fibers and weaken them. Continued use and additional laundering and drycleaning eventually will deteriorate the affected fibers if they have not been specially treated originally.

In addition to using caution when handling common household chemicals, IFI advises you to be careful with cleaning cloths used with bleaches, porcelain cleaners and metal polishes.

Rinse them thoroughly after using them. If you place them in laundry hampers while they still contain full concentrates of cleaning solutions, surrounding items will come in contact with these chemicals. Damage will become evident when the items are laundered.

Sparkling sinks and glowing metals are not worth holey clothing. With a little care you can avoid this type of textile damage.

So, be wary of chemicals around your house. They can damage the clothing you wear and the fabrics that decorate your home.

Accent On Health

Texas Department of Health
Robert Bernstein, M.D., Commissioner

A rose by any other name is still a rose, and a chigger — whether it's called a redbug or Eutrombicula alfreddduggesi — is still a chigger.

"The threat of chigger bites will last until cold weather when the adult chiggers usually seek protective places and don't lay their eggs until early spring," says Bobby L. Davis, with the General Sanitation Division of the Texas Department of Health (TDH).

"Chiggers have a special affinity for low, damp places covered with vegetation. Bermuda grass harbors them well, but for some unexplainable reason they are usually not found in carpet grass.

"Just for the record, it's only the young chigger or larva, which hatches from the eggs, that cause the trouble. These parasitic larva congregate in shaded niches near the tips of grass or weeds and grab you as you walk by. They then scurry to a place where the clothing fits tightly, such as your sock top or around the waist."

After feeding for several days, the larva drops to the ground and never bothers either man or animal again. On the ground, the chigger passes through the nymphal stage into an adult.

Davis says that contrary to popular belief, chiggers do not burrow into your skin. Instead, the chigger attaches to a skin pore and then secretes an anti-coagulating solution that also disintegrates skin cells so that they can be used as food. This digestive fluid is what causes the fiery itching — even several days after the chigger has left the victim.

Davis said that although chiggers are probably harmless to humans, their wayward offspring can cause health problems as well as being annoying. "Not that they spread any specific disease," he said, "but their bites demand frequent scratching which often cause secondary infections in the form of sores and boils."

Several commercially available repellents are effective against chigger infestations, according to Philip J. Hamman, Extension Entomologist, with the Texas A&M University System.

He said these repellents contain one or more of the following compounds: diethyl toluamide, dimethyl phthalate, dimethyl carbate, ethyl hexanediol and benzyl benzoate.

"Repellents usually provide protection from chiggers for several hours," Hamman said. "For protection which lasts several days, saturate clothing by soaking or spraying it with repellent. For more protection, wear loose-fitting clothing and avoid sitting or reclining on the ground when picnicking, camping or working outdoors."

Hamman explained that immediately after exposure to chigger-infested areas, you should take a hot, soapy bath to kill and remove chigger larvae. Then apply an antiseptic to any welts that may have appeared to kill trapped chiggers and to prevent infection.

"Destroying the chigger usually does not stop the itching completely because the itching is caused by tissue reacting to the fluid injected by the chigger," he said. "Normally, two or three days pass before the itching stops. Temporary relief can be obtained by applying a commercial product that contains a mild, local anesthetic. Your pharmacist can suggest an appropriate product."

Any unusual allergic reaction, fever or infection should be treated by a physician.

Davis said that the spraying of large areas such as forests and campgrounds is impractical and that the repellents are your best bet for reducing chigger bites. He did say, however, that some home lawns, particularly those with Bermuda grass, may need chemical protection.

"Light applications of sulphur dust on lawns or low branches or shrubs have been used successfully for years," he said. "But one of the newer sprays or powders that you can now buy from nurseries would probably do a better job."

Davis said that if you think your backyard or picnic area is infested with chiggers, stand a piece of black cardboard on end where you suspect they might be.

"If after a few moments you see tiny yellowish or reddish mites accumulating on the upper edge, you'll know it's time to check your supply of insect repellent," he advised.

Shutters can be attractive headboards.

NEWS OF DOGS

Beware Of Excess Scratching

All dogs are expected to scratch once in awhile. That's as natural as barking and wagging their tails.

But when a dog scratches constantly, it shouldn't be ignored. For one thing, your dog's skin is thinner than yours. In addition, it's attacked by special germs unique to dogs.

Most healthy dogs have either a light, pink skin or dark or spotted skin. But when a dog's skin changes from its usual color it may indicate serious internal or external problems, which deserve medical care.

There are seven symptoms to watch for: excessive scratching, hot spots, hair loss, cuts and scrapes, sores, eczema, and chafing and scales. If any of these symptoms appear, Sulfodene Medication for Dogs, developed by a veterinarian, can help. It's available wherever pet products are sold.

Another help may be the pamphlet, "What Every Dog Owner Should Know," which you can get free by writing Booklet Distributors of America, 201 East 42nd St., New York, N.Y. 10017.

budget is $30,000 in an equipment reserve fund and $54,840 in undistributed reserves. All of which means the hospital directors will have an $84,840 "cushion" against any castrophes which just might pop up in the new fiscal year ahead.

This "cushion" doesn't count a $40,000 surplus in the tax account with which the board "hopefully" expects to finish the current fiscal year.

It was pointed out by new hospital administrator, Marietta Reed, that the hospital needs surplus funds with which to maintain its cash flow for the first two months of the new fiscal year before new tax funds start to come in.

She also emphasized to the board that the hospital staff now has only two registered nurses which will mean 12-hour shifts for them and considerable overtime until two new RNs can be added to bring the staff back to its four registered nurses.

The $30,000 in the equipment reserve fund is being put there just in case emergencies come up. The board is looking forward to a considerable expenditure someday for newer x-ray equipment and a breakdown in present equipment could bring that need quickly to the fore just about anytime.

A large increase in oil valuations has made it possible to cut the tax rate while increasing the budget.

Also $30,000 in the new budget, which wasn't in the current one, will be for the hospital's district share of the county-wide property revaluation and the operation of a central tax assessment office.

Housing here is Post's biggest shortage.

They say they estimate they have thousands more. Lubbock was listed at 167,640 in 1970.

Cattle dogs are making a comeback

COLLEGE STATION — Cattle dogs, a relic of another era, are on the way back, says Professor Charles Long of Texas A&M University's Department of Animal Science.

Driven by inflation, high production costs and dropping cattle prices, many ranchers are more than willing to pay big money for a well-trained, 2-year-old cattle dog. A well-trained dog sells for $1,000 to $2,000. Puppies go for about $100.

Professor Long, a veteran dog trainer and expert on cattle production, said handling stock is nothing but the right pressure in the right place, and a dog is one of the best at putting on the right pressure.

The most common breeds are Australian Cattledog, Australian Shepherd, Border Collie and the Catahoula Leopard or "Cur."

heater handles all the hot water needed for the kitchen and patients' rooms and will enable the hospital to shut down the two hospital boilers for up to seven months each year.

The new heater will only use a third or fourth of the gas needed to keep the boilers going for hot water during periods of the year when hospital heating is not involved.

Directors also voted to discontinue the monthly inspection contract with Bruce Thornton Heating and Air Conditioning Service of Lubbock because Bill Terpening, the hospital's new maintenance supervisor, is well qualified to handle and adjust the hot water and air conditioning systems as needed.

Directors voted to purchase new bed rails for seven hospital beds not now properly equipped with them at a cost of $630.

The board agreed that the three phone jacks in patients room should be enough for patients needing phones. Installing phones in all patient rooms would cost an additional $660 monthly, Murray told the board.

The board agreed to buy two sets of fire doors and have them installed to meet safety code requirements pointed out in a recent inspection. One set would be between the physician's office and the hospital hall at the west end of the building and the other between the hall leading to the hospital kitchen and the rest of the hospital.

The board will look into filing a lien against property owned by one hospital patient who refuses to pay a $1,200 hospital bill.

Murray told directors that the district will finish its current fiscal year Sept. 30 with an estimated surplus in the tax fund of between $45,000 and $50,000.

He advised the board to allow the surplus to grow "for two or three years" so there would be funds for "any castrophic loss" suffered by the hospital.

Murray said the proposed budget should project an additional $42,000 surplus in the tax fund.

The June hospital report showed the hospital admitted 49 patients during the month for a total of 144 patient days for 4.8 patients per day in the hospital during the month.

There were seven babies born in the hospital in June, two patient deaths, and 269 outpatients treated in the hospital's emergency room.

For the first nine months of the current fiscal year, the hospital is running behind in the number of patients compared to the same period the previous year, 470 to 481 but running well ahead in total patient days 2,028 to 1,863; ahead in outpatients treated 1,869 to 1,656; and ahead in births 68 to 55.

The hospital received $37,790.53 in collections on patient accounts during June, with expenses for the month totaling $51,368.85, with the balance coming from the tax account.

Garza gets 3 new producers

Garza County has three new shallow and small oil field completions this week in three different fields.

Inside the Post city limits, George R. Brown has completed his No. 17-R-WF-1 City of Post San Andres in the big Garza field. It produced 63.7 barrels of oil daily and 82 barrels of water from an interval of 3,055 to 3,098 feet. Total well depth was 3,180 feet.

Exxon Corp. has a new producer in its No. 3-6 Dorward Oil Unit in the Dorward field eight miles southeast of Justiceburg. It tested 17 barrels of oil daily and 63 barrels of water from an interval of 2,462 to 2,564 feet. Total depth is 2,659 feet.

The third new well is Wilbanks-Walker's No. 1 I. N. McCrary in the Post field, 11 miles east of Post. It produced 19 barrels of oil and 65 barrels of water daily on test from 2,663 to 2,787 feet. Total depth was 2,859 feet.

grader for precinct 2 will not be purchased until the following year as that precinct's road grader has undergone repairs.

The court decided to discuss specifications on the purchase of the road graders at its Aug. 11 meeting.

The court accepted the only bid received for a county car. It was from Fenner-Tubbs of Lubbock for a four-door Plymouth at a cost of $7,869. It will be used for out-of-county trips and by Judge Dalby and Director of County Affairs Donald Windham.

In another action, Windham and Judge Dalby were authorized to negotiate and renew the annual contract with SPAG on the CETA program for the 1980-81 fiscal year.

Texas will survive current recession, economists predict

COLLEGE STATION — Texas and most of the South will weather this recession almost as well as the last, predict two Texas A&M University economists.

The current recession will affect the automobile and construction industries and the areas of the country where those businesses are heavily concentrated, agreed Dr. Charles Maurice and Dr. John Allen.

The two economists predict the structure of industry in the South and especially in Texas — specialization in highly technical companies and energy — will keep the Southern economy from suffering severely.

HEALTH WARNING

Don't Take Darvon With Alcohol Or Tranquilizers

About one to two thousand deaths a year are associated with propoxyphene, a popular pain killer sold as Darvon and under other names, according to the Food and Drug Administration (FDA).

FDA advises: discuss Darvon with your doctor.

FDA advises people taking this prescription drug not to take it with alcohol, tranquilizers or sedatives.

Some accidental deaths have occurred when propoxyphene was taken in conjunction with these substances by people who did not understand the dangers.

FDA also warns that, when taken for extended periods of time, propoxyphene can produce physical or psychological dependence.

People who are taking propoxyphene should discuss any questions with their doctors.

'This year, I'm taking more of a vacation and less of a trip ...

IN TEXAS!'

Howdy, I'm Guich Koock. On TV, I'm likely to turn up in the Deep South or at Mel's Diner. But in real life, I hail from Fredericksburg, Texas.

These gasoline prices got me thinking about where to vacation this year. Know what I decided?

To stay right here in Texas. Why, there's lots of things to see and do in my own backyard. And I can do most of 'em on a tank of gas or less.

Say, when's the last time your family took in Astroworld or Six Flags? How 'bout the Alamo? Big Bend or the piney woods? Spanish missions or the Gulf coast?

What are you waiting for? Take a look outside your door. There's a lot of Texas for the takin'. And it's right in your own backyard.
