THREE TIMES IS TOO MUCH — Mrs. Pauline Cooper, whose car is a 1957 Chevvie and not much to look at, has purchased a heavy chain and padlocks it to a lamp post. The reason: It has been stolen three times, twice in the last six weeks, at Venice, Calif. Police recovered the car all three times but there was always something missing, such as radio, battery and the rear seat.

Scientists Ready To Open Second Box Of Moon Rocks

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Scientists today open the second box of Apollo 12 moon rocks, a chest containing carefully documented samples and soil gouged from more than two feet beneath the surface.

The space agency also plans to release 29 more color pictures taken during man's second moon-landing mission. Officials Thursday released spectacular color and black and white photos and color movies of the two moon walks, a fascinating earthly eclipse of the sun and other highlights of the mission.

LUNAR LIFE?

Geologists are eager to open the second chest to begin examination of 12 to 15 bags of rocks that were photographed and labeled by the astronauts before packing.

And one of the core tubes, which the astronauts pounded into the surface, is packed with soil from 24 to 30 inches deep. Scientists believe that deadly radiation from the sun does not penetrate this deep and that if there is any form of life on the moon it might have been captured by the tube.

They emphasize, however, that evidence from Apollo 11 and unmanned probes indicates the chance of lunar life is extremely remote.

The Apollo 12 astronauts—Charles Conrad Jr., Richard F. Gordon Jr. and Alan L. Bean—neared landfall in their quarantine trailer aboard the carrier Hornet, which recovered them from the South Pacific Monday.

The Hornet is to reach Hawaii about 9 p.m. EST tonight. There the trailer will be transferred to a jet cargo plane for a flight to the quarantine laboratory at Houston's Manned Spacecraft Center. The astronauts face 11 more days of isolation after they reach Houston early Saturday.

LAUGHTER

Thursday, a glum Gordon went through the traditional initiation into the royal domain of Neptunus Rex—an equator-crossing tradition that dates back many years—while his two astronaut copilots roared with laughter.

Experts in the laboratory continued to catalogue and pack into vacuum cans the stones from the first chest, which was opened Wednesday. They reported most of the samples were larger than rocks collected by the Apollo 11 astronauts in July and that the largest was seven inches long and weighed four pounds.

The samples and the grey dust that covers them are handled in a vacuum chamber by technicians who extend hands through gloveports to avoid exposure to the lunar material.

The first rocks examined were generally lighter in color than Apollo 11's samples, but appeared to have similar structure. Detailed examination starts later.

FIRST EVER

The film footage released Thursday gave earthlings views of a full eclipse of the sun that can only be seen by man flying far from his home planet. Conrad, Gordon and Bean were the first ever to witness the phenomenon.

The film showed a dark, featureless earth moving between the sun and the spaceship, blotting out all but the outer rim of the sun and the corona of gasses that surrounds it.

Colors streamed through the corona—brilliant blues, reds, pinks and purples. Bean had called it the most spectacular sight of the mission in describing it from space.

The movie also showed the separation of the Yankee Clipper and Intrepid spaceships against a backdrop of a cratered moon, the landing approach and the dust kicked up by the lander and the astronauts working in the eerie environment and the gray dust of the surface.

Nixon Didn't Shout 'Huzzah' After Desegregation Jolt

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon didn't exactly leap up and shout "Huzzah" on Oct. 29—the day the Supreme Court decreed that laggard schools must desegregate immediately.

This was no surprise. The surprise came a bit later, when the Justice Department asked for more conferring, and thus for more delay, instead of more speed.

But Nixon's lack of enthusiasm for comment on the decision day was in the pattern of the past—in line with reactions of other presidents.

BACK TO 1954

The reluctance goes back to 1954 and a jolting Supreme Court ruling that separate but equal schools for Negroes don't square with the equal protection the Constitution guarantees all citizens. Then, and from then on, Supreme Court decisions and supporting decisions of lower courts have attacked segregation and put presidents on the spot.

Starting with Dwight D. Eisenhower, the White House encountered the trauma and political repercussions that can accompany efforts to achieve unity and racial equality among blacks and whites.

If they felt they should speak up, or act to reinforce court rulings, they risked offending conservatives, segregationists and the South. If they wanted to sit tight, they invited the wrath of liberals and segments of the North.

Accordingly, through the presidential terms of Eisenhower, John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, integration edicts tended to draw from these Nixon predecessors muted or tentative public statements—or none at all. And with the Supreme Court having said in 1955 that "all deliberate speed" would be all right—it discarded that standard Oct. 29—there was no stampede to carry out desegregation.

VIOLENT FIGHTS

But when it came to coping with violent resistance and to enforcing the law as restated by the Supreme Court, neither Eisenhower nor Kennedy hesitated at calling out troops, regardless of how repugnant this was to southerners or anyone else. So it was that troops were deployed in Little Rock, Ark., in 1957 and Oxford, Miss., in 1962.

It had been three years in the one instance, eight in the other, since Chief Justice Earl Warren delivered the breakthrough opinion against segregation. two days later, Eisenhower held a news conference and he was asked whether he had any advice to give the South as to how to react.

"Not in the slightest," the President replied. "The Supreme Court has spoken and I am sworn to uphold the constitutional process in this country; and I will obey."

He did say, though, that he thought Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina had made a very fine statement in saying: "Let's be calm and let's be reasonable and let's look this thing in the face."

Eisenhower came through clearly three years later when he called out troops to get nine Negro children admitted to Little Rock's Central High School.

"Mob rule," he told the nation on radio-TV, "cannot be allowed to override the decisions of our courts."

While Eisenhower acted firmly and promptly on the advice of Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, word got around that actually he had some doubts about his decision to use troops, felt he had been trapped, and took it out on some of the people around him.

At Oxford, Miss., in 1962, where two people were killed and many wounded, Kennedy ordered in troops and helped James Meredith break the color barrier at the state university. Kennedy, too, went on the networks.

"Americans," he said, "are free . . . to disagree with the law but not to disobey it. For in a government of laws and not of men, no man, however prominent or powerful, and no mob, however unruly or boisterous, is entitled to defy a court of law."

BABY TO DIE

Arabs Held In Athens Bombing

ATHENS (AP) — Doctors gave up hope today for George Nastos, the 2½-year-old boy critically injured in an Arab commando bomb attack at the El Al airline offices in Athens Thursday.

A surgeon at Children's Hospital in Athens said the boy was still in a coma and "unfortunately he has no chances of survival" despite brain surgery performed all day Thursday.

Nastos' 4-year-old brother, Athanassios, lost an eye in the blast and was also in serious condition, but not on the same degree as his brother, the surgeon said.

Six other persons, including four women — one of them Mrs. Charles Macleyn, 50, Dallas, Tex., — were still in the hospital but not on the critical list. Six of the 14 victims were released from the hospital after treatment for minor injuries.

Police are holding Elias Berg Dergarabedian, a 23-year-old tailor from Amman, Jordan, apprehended after the attack, and another accomplice identified as Mansour Seifeddin Murad Zugageh, 21, also of Amman and a medical student at Athens University.

Dergarabedian told police that he belonged to a Jordanian commando organization and that he was sent on a "special mission" to Athens to attack the El Al offices.

Sleet, Snow Coats County

Thanksgiving Day brought first blasts of wintry weather with drizzle, sleet and snow reported throughout the county. Big Spring Experiment Station recorded only .02 inch of precipitation and the rest of the county measured about the same, though in some parts precipitation fell mostly in sleet or snow.

East of town at TESCO sleet and snow was reported. Forsan had sleet, Coahoma had sleet and snow and reported a total of .75 inch of moisture during the wet period. Chalk measured a total of 1.3 inches in total rainfall. West of Big Spring 1.5 inches was reported during the wet period. Fairview and Ackerly during Thanksgiving had light drizzle and a few snowflakes and Vealmoor had a light sprinkle.

Man's Growth Treatment

BOSTON (AP) — The growth of a 20-year-old man who had stretched to 7 feet 2 inches and was still growing has been halted with the help of a new technique developed at Massachusetts General Hospital.

The man was a victim of acromegaly, a disease resulting from overproduction of hormones. MGH News said Harvard University's 160-million-volt cyclotron was used to concentrate proton beams on the front of the pituitary gland, where growth hormone is produced.

Dr. Leonard Deftos of the hospital's endocrine unit said one treatment was sufficient and the patient has since gained both strength and energy.

Holiday Accidents

By The Associated Press

Accidents on the nation's highways during the long Thanksgiving holiday had claimed the lives of 249 persons at 11 a.m. today.

Among the worst accidents was the flaming collision Thursday of two cars west of Richmond, Va., that killed five persons, including a minister, his wife and their child.

The National Safety Council has estimated that 700 to 800 persons may die in the period from 6 p.m. Wednesday to midnight Sunday.

Big Gems Caper In Nacogdoches

NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (AP) — The owner of a Nacogdoches jewelry store said $25,000 to $30,000 in jewels were taken from his store in a robbery early today.

Police said the thieves made no attempt to crack the store safe. They just cleaned out all the store's display cases.

SNOW

Cloudy and cold with occasional light rain or rain mixed with snow this afternoon and tonight. Partly cloudy and warmer Saturday afternoon. High today low 40's, low tonight 30, high tomorrow near 50.

Snow Soaking Much Of Far West Texas

By The Associated Press

Snow mantled a broad expanse of far West and extreme Southwest Texas today, glazing highways treacherously and making some almost impassable.

At the same time skies cleared in the Panhandle and thermometers skidded down to only 10 degrees above zero at Perryton and 12 at Dalhart—the coldest weather this season.

Snow was heaviest in the El Paso area, with depths heaped up to 6 inches by the wind in places, and the white belt extended from Southern New Mexico southward into Old Mexico, where there were reports of even heavier cover. It still fell lightly this morning.

Warnings against hazardous driving conditions went up hours earlier, and they were quickly justified. State police reported one of the most dangerous stretches was on U.S. 90 between Marathon and Sanderson, where traffic was barely getting through.

Heavy snow fell at Marfa today. Three inches had accumulated on the ground there by 9 a.m. Snow-covered ice was on all the far West Texas roads leading out of Marfa and from Marfa to Sanderson.

The snow ranged as far east as Big Spring, where it tapered into intermittent flurries, and through the West Texas mountains southward into the Big Bend country.

State police reported 3 inches of snow accumulated around Sierra Blanca and Kent, both on U.S. 80 and on opposite sides of Van Horn, and 2 inches in the vicinity of Pecos and Midland.

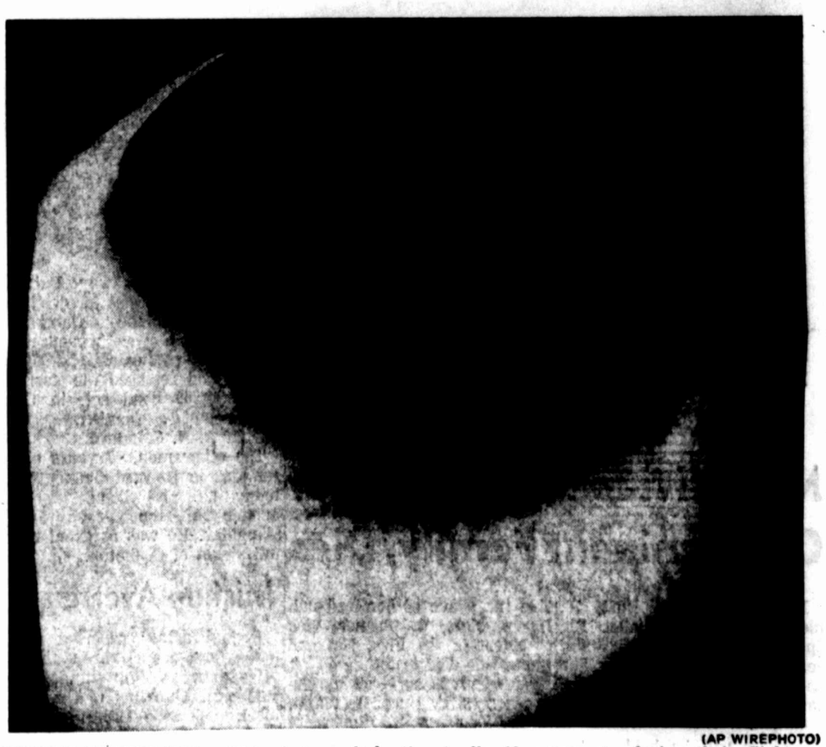

Farther east the moisture took the form of rain and sleet around San Angelo, and a band of rain stretched southeast from there through the Rio Grande Valley to the Coastal Bend and the Lower Texas Coast.

Early morning temperatures elsewhere in the freeze zone early today included Amarillo 20, Wichita Falls 24, Childress 26, Lubbock 29, Midland 30, Mineral Wells, Denison, Sherman and Wink 31 and El Paso 32.

Readings at other points were generally in the 30s and 40s, staying as high as 50 at Beaumont, Brownsville, Houston and Port Arthur, and 55 at Galveston.

Raw north winds stayed fairly light in the state's interior sections but blew strong and gusty despite the passage of a cold front across the state and into the Gulf of Mexico by Wednesday night, preceded by widespread rains.

Forecasts held out a prospect for temperatures below freezing in many areas through the weekend and a chance for scattered showers through Saturday.

Never-Before-Seen Eclipse Of Sun Highlights Photos

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A black silhouette that is the earth chokes off the sun. As the light dies, it bursts into space with blues and reds and pinks and pure white rimming the earth.

It is a scene never seen before Apollo 12—an eclipse of the sun by the earth.

Movies of the scene and others released Thursday by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration gave science and the public their first views also of man's second moonwalking excursion. A camera failure prevented all but a few minutes of live television transmissions on the moon's surface.

SPECTACULAR

The eclipse footage was taken by astronauts as they started back to earth. Alan L. Bean called it "the most spectacular sight of the whole flight."

A final view is in black and white and the earth appears coal black with the dying sunlight rimming its edge in white.

The view is as old as earth and sun, but Apollo 12 was the first space flight to put men and cameras in the right location in space to capture the scene on film.

The short film, a compilation of scenes taken throughout the 10-day Apollo 12 flight, also included views of Charles Conrad Jr. walking on the surface of the moon.

He appears as a white-suited, faceless figure walking stiff-legged across a field of charcoal. The lunar soil appears dark grey, pitted with craters and strewn with rocks.

Conrad is seen in a small crater, gathering rock with a scoop. His space suit is startling in its whiteness against that gloomy world of black ground.

Another view shows the spider-like lunar module edging away from the command ship to start its final swoop toward a landing on the moon. It seems to float gracefully away, its gold aluminum foil exterior glinting in the sun and its ridiculous, spindly legs pointing toward the light gray moon surface seen in the background. A final scene shows it just above the lunar horizon and slowly moving out of sight.

Honolulu's Hotel Street Facing Final Death Blow

HONOLULU AP) — One whiff of the air, soured by 30 years of spilled drinks, lets the visitor know he has found Hotel Street.

But take a quick look, because Hotel Street as it has been known to a million servicemen is in the final throes of an unmourned death.

The string of loud and gaudy honky tonks, curio shops, tatoo parlors, arcades and taxi-dance halls is being bulldozed away.

Urban renewal projects are edging in from the east. The glass-front business high-rise of downtown Honolulu are crowding from the west.

Once loud and lusty, the famed sin city of down town has dwindled to five blocks.

Free-spending GIs, whose money was the street's life blood for three decades, pause there now only long enough to catch the bus for Waikiki. That's where the action is today.

A final death blow could come soon. City officials, mapping a proposed mass transit system, are eying Hotel Street as the best route through traffic-clogged Honolulu.

What's left of the Hotel Street nightlife has changed drastically since the days of the war in the Pacific a quarter of a century ago.

The country-western music has been replaced by rock and soul.

Where clubs used to feature hula dancers and female singers, the dancing and singing is being done by female impersonators.

The brightest spots on the strip today also reflect the new age: Freshly painted movie theaters screening only X-rated films or girlie shows, and book shops featuring the latest in printed and photographic erotica.

Traffic Accidents, Plane Crashes Jack Death Toll

By The Associated Press

Auto accidents on streets and highways slick from rain kept the holiday death toll climbing in Texas through Thanksgiving Day, and trips taking motorists back home held a threat of more fatalities.

The grim tally stood at 27 today, including 14 in traffic accidents.

There were seven deaths in private plane crashes, three homicides and two in a residential fire.

CLIPS TREE

One of the airplane crashes wiped out a family of five from Denton. State police said J. R. Senter apparently tried to land in a Clay County clearing near Bellevue, clipped a tree and the craft went down in flames. His wife Norma, 48, and three children—Roderick, 17, Leslie, 15, and Sarah, 13—also died.

Among other victims of holiday violence were:

Cody Williamson, 2, of Fort Worth was killed Thursday night when his mother's car struck a horse on U.S. 75, just south of Sherman. His mother, Mrs. Barbara Williams, and Kelly Parks, 28, of Arlington were injured, the latter critically.

George Harrison, 50, of Sulphur Springs was killed Thursday when his car failed to negotiate a curve, struck a guard rail post, threw him out and ran over him. The accident was a mile east of Sulphur Springs on an Interstate 30 access road.

SHOT IN CHEST

An Oklahoma couple, Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Thompson of Frederick, was killed Thursday in a two-car crash south of Dallas near Cedar Hill on U.S. 67. Injured and taken to Parkland Hospital at Dallas in critical condition was Mrs. Anne Hicks, 46, of Grand Prairie.

Donald Caraway, 11, was killed and his brother, Bobby Leo Caraway, 14, was injured seriously Thursday when the bike they were riding was struck by a pickup truck.

James Edward Knight, 31, of Houston died in a shooting incident at his home Wednesday night after an argument, officers said. They said he was shot twice in the chest with a .25-caliber pistol and they were holding a woman for questioning.

A car-truck crash took the lives of Billy Bob Johnson, 30, of Fort Worth and his daughter Millissa, 1, Wednesday night at a point 2.5 miles west of Vernon on U.S. 287. Three persons were injured, including Billy Parker of Wills Point, who suffered a broken neck.

Langston Smith, 58, an Austin lawyer, was killed Wednesday night as his car smashed through a guard rail and fell into Interstate 35 below. The accident happened three miles south of Waxahachie.

CAR HIT HER

A car which ran off FM 2658 and overturned about 13 miles east of Henderson carried James C. Young, 27, of Longview to death. Four others in the vehicle were injured.

Jimmie Dunn, 30, of Wichita Falls died shortly after midnight Wednesday when his passenger van hit a utility pole on the city's west side.

An automobile struck and killed Phyllis Thompson, 47, of Texas City at an intersection in La Marque Wednesday night.

Officers said she stepped from behind a parked car.

Fannie Kilgore Kelly, 79, of Mount Enterprise was killed Wednesday night when a car hit her in Henderson.

Robert Ramirez, 31, of Dallas died when his car ran off U.S. 77 10 miles south of Rockdale and hit a tree Thursday.

Two young sisters died in a fire early Thursday in their home in Pasadena. They were Jackie Sirratt, 12, and Rebecca Sirratt, 4. Sandra Sirratt, 7, another sister, suffered critical burns. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Sirratt, were not injured. Police blamed an electrical short circuit.

SIX BULLETS

Authorities said a strip of metal which apparently fell off a passing freight train struck Donald E. Eason III in the neck and killed him Thursday in the Houston suburb of Bellaire. The body was found in a ditch near his home.

Mary Lou Perez, 20, was taken to a Houston hospital dead of six bullet wounds Thursday evening. Police questioned a couple who took her to the hospital.

Witnesses told police Cynthia Watson, 20, was shot and killed after an argument in a car near her Houston apartment Thursday night. Officers sought three men.

Bullet Taken From His Knee

Jerry Mintz, 14, who was shot Wednesday afternoon under mysterious circumstances, is recovering from an operation to remove a .22 calibre bullet from his left leg this morning in Cowper Hospital. Dr. R. B. G. Cowper said the damage to the boy's knee would cause no permanent disability.

Jerry told police he was walking down Franklin Street around 6 p.m. Wednesday when he heard a popping sound and felt the bullet strike his knee. Mrs. Collin Reese, 612 Elgin, whose children he was walking from his home at 1624 E. 3rd to see, took the boy to the hospital where an X-ray showed the bullet to be lodged in his knee.

The boy told police officers at the hospital this morning that he throught he heard another shot hit the ground immediately after the first one hit his leg, and believes the shots were fired from the general direction of Fourth Street.

Two Drivers Caught Drinking

The Texas Highway Patrol arrested two persons for driving while intoxicated Thursday evening. One was picked up about eight miles east of Big Spring and released this morning on $500 bond set, in the absence of a magistrate, by Sheriff A. N. Standard.

The dispatcher at the Yellow Cab Co. said the driver had to swerve to avoid hitting the boy. After the incident, the two ran toward Gregg Street, he said. Police officers were unable to locate the boy and girl when they arrived to investigate.

Clothing Stolen

Jimmy Lockhart, 1300 Monmouth, told police Thursday that about $35 in baby clothing was taken from a coin-operated clothes dryer in the College Automatic Laundry. He said he saw a man enter the laundry through the back door shortly before he discovered the theft around 9:17 a.m. and took the license number of his car. Police officers located the owner of the car, who said no one who had access to the car was at the laundry during the day.

IN SAN ANGELO

Candy Contains Strychnine

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — Candy bars containing strychnine have been found on lawns of homes in a well-to-do residential neighborhood, a veternarian said Thursday. Two children are believed to have been made ill by poisoned food and about 30 dogs died.

Dr. J. W. Taylor, the veterinarian, ran tests on the candy at the request of police.

A San Angelo school official said two elementary school pupils suddenly became ill this week and added that he believes the children ate poisoned food intended for dogs.

The school official said the children were treated and they recovered. No new incidents have been reported.

San Angelo resident Claude Collins Jr. said his dog brought a candy bar to his door Wednesday. Collins said he took the candy from the dog and threw it away.

He said he later found another candy bar, still in its wrapper, in his locked and fenced back yard and threw it away, too.

Collins said he retrieved the candy after reading about the dog poisoning incidents and turned it over to the police.

Dr. Taylor said that, in addition to the candy bars, he has found strychnine in frankfurters, chocolate bon bons, raw liver and cooked hamburger meat.

San Angelo Police Sgt. Tom Flowers' dog, a prize German Shepherd, was found dead in Flowers' yard from strychnine. Another veterinarian said the dog was poisoned.

City officials said children of an Indian family living on a ranch near San Angelo were poisoned about two years ago with strychnine they found at the ranch.

Ranchmen in the San Angelo area frequently use strychnine control of predators and stray dogs that attack and kill their sheep.

MR. AND MRS. THURMAN GENTRY

Thurman Gentry Retires, Spent 40 Years At Cosden

Friends from all over Cosden Oil & Chemical Company came by the Refinery Personnel Conference Room today to shake hands with Thurman Gentry and extend best wishes for the future. There was some reminiscing at the party, too, for Gentry is retiring after 40 years, eight months with Cosden.

Among those actively employed by Cosden, in length of tenure he ranks behind only two: E. W. Richardson, refinery superintendent, and George Grimes, manager of special projects.

It was March 21, 1929, when Gentry reported for work at the new Cosden refinery, east of Big Spring. It was so new, it consisted of only one crude unit, with another soon to come on stream along with four cracking units. There was a laboratory and office building.

Just across the railroad tracks, the Richardson refinery was being built; its products were to be sold by Cosden. Already in operation was another refinery located where the Cabot Carbon Co. plant now stands.

Gentry was born in Comanche, Okla. He finished high school at Yale, Okla., and studied petroleum engineering at Oklahoma University for 2½ years. His summers were invested in working for oil companies. Learning from friends that a new refinery was to be opened in Big Spring, he wrote about a job and was hired.

When he came here it was his intention to work only a year, then return to the university. Somehow that year lengthened into almost 41 years. He began as a bottle washer in the laboratory, advancing through the tester levels.

In July, 1937, Gentry left the lab for the treating department. He became a treater and No. 1 operator at the pumphouse. Gentry was named foreman of road asphalt blending and loading in March, 1959. Seven years later he returned to his old department as foreman of treating and pumping. He is a veteran of three decades of shift schedules.

Cars were not plentiful in the early days of Cosden. Gentry remembers standing on the corner of Runnels and Third Streets daily to catch his ride to the plant. If he missed it, he had to walk the four miles or so to work.

One day his landlady introduced him to an attractive young lady who, like her, was in the teaching profession. She was Dorothy Jordan, member of the prominent T. E. Jordan family. They were married June 6, 1937. Mrs. Gentry has retired from teaching but during her 16 years in the classroom, most of it as a teacher of English and speech at Big Spring High School, she instilled in hundreds of young people an appreciation for good grammar and literature.

Their son, Tommy Gentry, completed a six-months stint in the Marine Reserves in California at mid-November and is back in Austin at his job as an engineer for Texas Instruments, Inc. He holds a BS degree in electrical engineering from the University of Texas at Austin and is presently studying toward his master's degree. His wife, the former Karen Kee, daughter of Mrs. Charlene Kee, Big Spring, is also a University of Texas graduate; she teaches music in the Austin public schools. The couple is here for Thanksgiving weekend with their relatives.

Gentry is a Methodist. He likes bird hunting, and favors reading. His wife is a member of Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church. The Gentrys live at 1200 E. 16th.

Chicago Policeman Dies As Result Of Gun Battle

CHICAGO (AP) — Another name was added Thursday to the list of Chicago policemen dead as the result of a gun battle.

Police detective Oliver Singleton, 42, died 11 months after he was wounded and paralyzed from the neck down in a shootout that foiled an attempted robbery.

Singleton had been admitted to Veterans Research Hospital late Wednesday, however, hospital officials said the exact cause of death had not been determined.

Last month, Singleton testified from a stretcher in Circuit Court in the trial of James Allen, 69, of Chicago whom he identified as one of the holdup men. Allen will be sentenced Tuesday on charges of attempted armed robbery, attempted murder, aggravated battery and conspiracy.

Police officials said Singleton and his partner Frank Edwards staked out the Bell & Howell Co. plant in suburban Lincolnwood for three nights after receiving reports of a planned holdup.

On the third night an unidentified car appeared in the driveway of the plant. When Singleton and Edwards drove up and announced themselves, one of the gunmen jumped from the car and began firing at the officers. Edwards escaped injury.

Two men were slain in the battle and another was arrested later and charged with attempted murder along with Allen.

Singleton's widow, Patricia, a former police department civilian employe, was with her husband when he died, hospital officials said.

Mormons To Meet Here

More than 200 members of Young Women's and Men's Mutual Improvement Association (YWMIA and YMMIA) of the Mormon Church of the Latter Day Saints are expected to attend the YWMIA Centennial Ball Saturday night 7:30-12 at Cosden Country Club, according to YMMIA member DeWayne Wallace.

Members from area churches will commemorate the centennial with a "turn of the century" theme. The Kensmen band from Dallas will provide the music. Mrs. Don Paine, whose husband is superintendent of YMMIA, is sponsor of WWIA. The local WWIA has about 20 members and the WMIA has about the same membership, according to Wallace.

The WWIA was introduced in 1869 by President Brigham Young in Salt Lake City, Utah, to promote good standards among young women. The girls enter WWIA at the age of 12 and work up to Beehive, Miamaid and finally Laurels. When they marry, they go into the Young Marrieds group.

Farm-City Week Ends

Today marks the end of Farm-City Week and Howard County Agent Paul Gross has called attention to the need for better understanding between farm and city residents.

Gross said that President Nixon, in his official proclamation, pointed out that as our society becomes more complex, it also grows more interdependent. For example, agriculture serves as a $50 billion customer to our economy. The marketing and processing of food and fiber provide almost five million nonfarm jobs and a $25 billion annual payroll.

At the same time, technological changes on the farm have so increased agricultural efficiency that record production has been achieved by fewer people. Many rural residents have therefore migrated to the cities. While some have become productive contributors to urban society, many others have been unable to find new economic roles.

President Nixon said providing opportunities for disadvantaged people in both rural and urban areas to participate more fully in the economic life of the nation is urgent. He suggested that understanding and appreciation of the problems of our complex society will add materially to our economic well-being and perhaps to the solution of some of the problems.

Phone Damaged

V. L. Roque, Big Spring Motel, 1000 E. 3rd, reported to police Thursday that a pay telephone at the motel had been damaged by vandals.

Hazard Removed

City employes removed a large pile of lumber with nails in it from US 80 Thursday after a driver at Mitchell Van and Storage reported it had fallen from a passing truck.

C-C Voting Deadline

Midnight tonight is the deadline for returning ballots to elect five directors for the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce for 1970. About 250 ballots had been received at noon today, out of about 500 mailed Nov. 13 to chamber members.

Ballots will be counted Monday and the results ratified at the next meeting of the chamber of directors, Dec. 8.

The 10 persons on the ballots are J. R. (Rich) Anderson, Richard Atkins, G. C. Broughton Jr., Don Crockett, Bill Crooker, Harold Davis, R. L. Heith, W. K. (Bill) Jackson, Gene Nabors, Jerry Worthy, and there is a space for a write-in nomination.

Five of these will be elected and will serve a three-year term. They will be serving in 1970 with 10 holdover directors.

Quiet Holiday For Deputies

Howard County Sheriff's office had a calm Thanksgiving, with only one prisoner transferred from the city Wednesday evening on a second offense charge of driving while intoxicated. The 31-year-old man was held overnight on $1,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter and was released Thursday morning when he posted the bond.

The sheriff's office also held two state prisoners overnight Wednesday for Texas Department of Correction officials, en route to Huntsville.

300,000 U.S. WAR CASUALTIES—In nearly nine years of war in Vietnam, U.S. battlefield casualties reached the 300,000 mark this week and nearly half of them occurred in the 18 months since the Paris peace talks began.

Vietnam Becomes Third Costliest Foreign War

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. battlefield casualties in nearly nine years of the Vietnam war reached the 300,000 mark this week and nearly half of them occurred in the 18 months since the Paris peace talks began, official sources said today.

On the battlefield, communiques said fighting was light. The Viet Cong ambushed 300 South Vietnamese troops in the Mekong Delta and killed 36 men and wounded 12. There were no reported enemy losses.

The U.S. Command reported 32 enemy rocket and shelling attacks during the night in which seven Americans were wounded. A spokesman said U.S. troops killed 47 enemy in battles near the demilitarized zone and south of Da Nang Thursday. Two Americans were killed and 18 were wounded in these clashes.

1,341 MISSING

The U.S. Command casualty figures for the period from Jan. 1, 1961, through last Saturday showed 39,572 Americans killed in action, 258,779 wounded and 1,341 missing or captured.

While these figures total 299,692, officials said they do not include at least 308 Americans who have been killed or wounded from Sunday through today, and this puts total casualties over the 300,000 mark. The official casualty figures for this week won't be released until next Thursday.

The U.S. Command said 6,995 U.S. troops have died in Vietnam from accidents and other causes "not as the result of hostile action."

In the same nine-year period, according to official figures, 575,249 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops have been killed.

BATTLEFIELD DEATHS

Since the peace talks in Paris began May 13, 1968, official statistics show that 16,620 Americans have been killed and another 113,997 wounded.

The Vietnam war has become the third costliest foreign war for the United States, surpassed only by the two world wars.

In World War I, there were 53,513 American battlefield deaths, 63,195 other deaths, and 204,002 U.S. troops wounded. World War II casualties were 292,131 Americans killed, 115,185 U.S. deaths from other causes, and 670,846 Americans wounded.

The South Vietnamese said today that 4,004 civilians were killed and 12,448 were wounded in terror incidents in the first 10 months of 1969.

In a report to the International Control Commission, the government said there were 182 incidents during October in which 189 civilians were killed and 576 were wounded.

The International Control Commission, made up of Canada, Poland and India, was set up to supervise the Geneva Agreements of 1954 that ended the French-Indochina war, but it has never been effective.

In Saigon, a former special assistant to President Nguyen Van Thieu and 42 other South Vietnamese went on trial today for treason before a military tribunal. If convicted some could receive a death penalty.

Thirteen of the defendants in the biggest subversion trial in South Vietnam's history are women. Thieu's former assistant, Nguyen Van Kinh, surprised observers when he admitted in testimony that he had been a member of the Communist party since 1949.

The attack on the government troops in the delta today came as they were escorting a military payroll.

THIRD TIME

It marked the third time in two weeks that South Vietnamese troops had suffered heavy losses in the delta. Government troops who replaced American infantrymen there lost 57 men killed in two fights last week in which 14 Viet Cong were killed.

The accelerated Vietnamization program continued as the U.S. Navy announced it will turn over to the Vietnamese navy Saturday the My Tho base in the northern delta 40 miles southwest of Saigon.

A Navy spokesman said the 3½-acre base on the My Tho River will serve as a maintenance facility for Vietnamese river patrol boats and as a training center for the Vietnamese navy which has nearly doubled in strength from a force of 14,000 men a year ago.

Reds Playing Cat, Mouse Games?

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Viet Cong "are playing cat and mouse games" with American prisoners of war and their families, the sister of a North Carolina pilot shot down over Vietnam more than four years ago says.

Dorothy Collins, sister of Air Force Capt. James Q. Collins Jr. of Concord, N.C., said the North Vietnamese refuse to list prisoners officially and "won't allow them to write or allow anyone to visit them."

Collins, 39, was one of 59 men named as prisoners of war in a list released Wednesday by American antiwar leaders.

Miss Collins said in an interview Thursday she does not think the antiwar leaders are helpful to the prisoners or their families. "The government is doing everything it can to get these prisoners home," she said.

Mrs. James Q. Collins Sr. of Atlanta, the airman's mother, said the family had known for at least 18 months that Collins was a prisoner. "We saw a picture released on film at least 18 months ago and were quite sure it was him," she said. "Later, the government verified it."

After the list was released, the Pentagon switched five names from its missing-in-action report to the prisoner of war list. Collins was not among these five.

The wife of Capt. Thomas Parrott, another pilot on the list, said she has received eight letters from her husband since he was captured, the last of which came about three months ago.

Mrs. Millie Parrott, who lives with her eight-year-old daughter in Dalton, Ga., said she learned her husband was a prisoner about two years ago when she saw pictures of him on a network television show. That was about six months after he had been reported missing, she said.

Mrs. Parrott said she was "very delighted" to learn that her husband's name was on the list released Wednesday because it confirmed that he is still alive.

Five Perish In Plane Crash

BELLEVUE, Tex. (AP) — All five members of a Denton family perished Thursday in the fiery crash of a light plane near here in North Texas.

State police said the pilot, J. R. Senter, 48, apparently tried to land the Piper Comanche in a small clearing and hit a tree.

Killed with Senter were his wife Norma, 46, and three children — Roderick, 17, Leslie Elaine 15, and Sarah, 13.

Bellevue is southeast of Henrietta in Clay County.

Shoplifting Easy, Boast Six Students

DAVIS, Calif. (AP) — Shoplifting is easy, six students report.

All you have to do is dress like a square and pick the right town.

Even if another customer sees you stealing, the chances are he will ignore it.

So say the six University of California students who went on a two-city pilfering expedition as a psychology class experiment.

Said David Lopez, 22, leader of the project:

"Once we unplugged a radio which was playing and walked away with it."

Lopez summed up the experiment Tuesday by saying, "We found people were not very observant. You could shoplift in front of them and they didn't seem to notice, or didn't want to notice."

He said he wore a suit and tie and carried a briefcase "and took everything I wanted without being challenged."

But other members of the group, wearing hippie-type clothing, "came under a lot of suspicion."

Lopez said police departments and merchants in Davis and nearby Woodland were consulted in advance and agreed to cooperate.

He said the students found a striking difference between the number of witnesses who reported their thefts in the two cities.

In Woodland, 13 per cent reported the thefts to the store managers, 74 per cent just looked the other way, and 13 per cent denied seeing a theft or tried to rationalize it.

News 'Blackout' Mars SALT Talks

HELSINKI (AP) — U.S. and Soviet negotiators wound up two weeks of secret arms curb talks today in what was described as a favorable atmosphere despite a smattering of caustic comment from Moscow.

After a 105-minute session at the U.S. Embassy, the envoys agreed to meet again next Tuesday at the Soviet Embassy.

Today's session was the fifth private discussion between the two sides since the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) opened Nov. 17.

Conference sources estimated after today's meeting that the negotiators still have another week or two of discussions ahead before ending the preliminary round at Helsinki. The next stage is supposed to be full-scale negotiations.

A news blackout on how the talks are going prevailed again today as it has since the meetings began. By joint agreement, spokesmen for the two sides are saying nothing beyond announcing the meeting times.

It was understood that the delegates decided to recess for a long weekend in order to allow sufficient preparation for the next session. The layover gives them more time also to report back to their home governments.

The American team, headed by Gerard C. Smith, feels that the talks have been marked so far by a good atmosphere and apparent Kremlin seriousness.

In Washington, Secretary of State William P. Rogers says the U.S. delegates told him earlier this week that their prepiminary exchanges were "the best of any discussions they have had with the Soviet Union."

Soviet sources here have indicated that the Russians are also satisfied with the talks. But the government-controlled Soviet press has expressed no strong support for SALT and has been blaming Western "militarists" for the arms buildup.

The government newspaper Izvestia commented favorably Thursday on the "businesslike manner" of the talks, but claimed that the U.S. "military-industrial complex" is endangering them.

AT BSP BANQUET

Details Life In Peace Corps

Miss Pat Wiley, a former member of the Peace Corps, was guest speaker Tuesday at the Beta Sigma Phi salad supper sponsored by the BSP City Council, at First Federal Community Room.

Miss Wiley showed slides and described experiences during her stay in India. Noting that the cow is considered "sacred" in India, she told how she operated a dairy, starting with four cows. When she left two years later, there were 16 cows and three barns, which she termed "something of a record in India."

Miss Wiley said that in India girls' fathers pay a dowery and betroth their daughters at 11 or 12 years of age. However, the girls do not live with their husbands until they reach puberty, most becoming mothers by the time they are 14 years of age.

"Boys are more highly-prized than girls," said Miss Wiley, "because fathers of sons receive a great deal of money and possessions in marriage bargains, while the fathers of daughters have to pay with money and material goods."

Miss Wiley said that people of India believe that even inanimate objects have feelings, and they are careful not to break rocks or cut down trees.

"The Indians, who believe in re-incarnation, will not kill anything, fearing it might be a relative," said Miss Wiley. "Because of this, the country is literally infested with rats. The only serious trouble I got into was when I traveled far away from the community where I was living and bought some rat poison that made the pests seek open country before they died. It worked perfectly, until some dogs got into the poison, and the people found out what I had been doing. They were highly indignant, and I had a hard time for quite a while."

In attendance were members of the five local BSP chapters, Beta Omicron, Mu Zeta, Xi Mu, Phi Zeta Omega and Alpha Beta Omicron of Coahoma.

The tables were laid with white linen cloths, and the head table was centered with an arrangement of gold and orange chrysanthemums.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I just got a wonderful hint from a painter who varnished our doors this morning.

To keep the doors from being accidentally closed and messing up the paint job, he used a spring clothespin under each door as a door stop.

Just slip the clip end under the door and it will work like a charm . . .Mrs. W. M. Clark

• • •

Dear Heloise:

Because it's such a chore to get in and out of pantdresses, I had an idea that might really be of great interest to your readers.

I sewed "gripper tape" into the pant seam in my dress. It's the kind used in baby clothes and it has certainly worked for me . . . Peggy Corliss

• • •

I think you have really come up with a bonanza, Peggy.

I might add, too, that I've found some adorable pantdresses on sale and, since I prefer regular dresses, have revamped them.

Simply ripped out the inner seam and made a plain seam down the center front and center back of the outfit and had the cutest dress ever.

However, depending on the style of the pantdress, I've found in some cases that it was better to make a pleat down the center front and back instead of the plain seam. Just use your own judgement . . . Heloise

• • •

Dear Heloise:

I'm just wild about pierced earrings and never seem to have enough.

I have found that by buying one pair of expensive earrings that I can supplement them with a lot of inexpensive ones (dangle type). Simply remove the inexpensive ones from their original wires. Then when I want to wear them just put 'em on the wires of the expensive pair. It's so simple . . . no problem at all.

Sorry, I haven't been able to work out anything for the stud-type earrings but by using this method I now have earrings to wear with each outfit and without too much expense . . . Beulah Files

• • •

Dear Heloise:

I have started working on decorations for our Christmas tree. This is a hobby of mine and I make all the balls for our tree with plastic foam, ribbon, sequins and pins.

Luckily, this year I made a discovery that saves me almost an hour's working time on each ball I make. I use a full roll of toilet tissue (hole up, and wrapper off). I place the ball that I'm working on in the hole of the tissue and this holds it in whatever position I want. At the same time it raises my work on the table so I don't have to bend over as much.

Before this brilliant discovery I had to set the ball down each and every time I put in a single sequin or pin . . . Bebe Pernick

Dear Heloise:

I've found for drying wet mittens that metal shoe racks are just great.

They allow the air to circulate through the mittens and hence, they dry faster. You can just leave the rack on the floor preferably near a warm air-register.

I think it's the perfect answer . . . Mrs. P. H. Marten

A LOVELIER YOU

Lovely Hands Result From Constant Care

By MARY SUE MILLER

Lovely hands result from basic care, manicare and mani-magic. How's that again, you say?

As you must guess, basic care is the daily procedure involving mild soap, soft handbrush, orangewood stick to tidy cuticles and nail tips, pumice for stains and a plentiful supply of hand lotion or cream.

Manicare means truly expert weekly manicures and hand complexion treatments. Plus touchups to nail enamel, every day if necessary. Effectiveness in this department dwindles when this equipment is lacking: emery boards to trim and ovalize nails; scraps of sheer stocking to test nail selvages for snags; small pan to hold warmed skin oil for hand soaks; cosmetic gloves to coddle hand complexion after soaking; for emergencies a split repair kit and fake nails.

The wonders of mani-magic come from searching out the products that cover your individual problems. As instances, let's discuss extra-dry hands and extra-tough, ragged cuticle. There are hand creams for extra-dry conditions that really work upon faithful application.

The use of gel cuticle remover acts like magic to dissolve ragged edges and smooth excesses, all without any cutting. And when cutting can be avoided, cuticle is halfway home to a smooth finish.

With gala evenings and dresses ahead, a little mani-magic could supply greater adornment than fingers full of rings.

LOVELIER HANDS

Do you have a hand problem? Send today for "Lovelier Hands," a booklet that covers every step in a quest for hand beauty. It tells how to keep the skin and nails groomed; how to overcome weak nails, polish chips, discolored knuckles, prominent veins, wrinkles; how to use the hands with poised grace. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin.

A Devotion For Today . . .

Jesus then took the loaves, and when he had given thank he distributed them to those who were seated. (John 6:11, RSV)

PRAYER: We thank Thee, O God, for the art of grace by which we can express our gratitude. May we praise and thank Thee for the many gifts of life. In the spirit of the Master. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Anguish Of Nostalgia

A special sort of anguish reserved for those who insist on dwelling on the past is provided by the Department of Labor's "New Handbook of Labor Statistics." The lesson is one of contrast between living high on the hog and living low on the hog.

For instance, in 1913 you could buy for $5 these groceries and still have two cents left for some candy: three pounds of round steak, two pounds of cheese, 10 pounds of flour, three pounds of rice, five pounds of chuck roast, two pounds of bacon, one pound of butter, 15 pounds of potatoes, five pounds of sugar, one pound of coffee, two loaves of bread, four quarts of milk and one dozen eggs.

By 1968 you could buy these groceries for $5: two pounds and 13 ounces of round steak and two pounds of cheese.

What is worse, $5 doesn't go as far today as it did in 1968. Who can avoid shedding a tear for the passing of so many good victuals for $5. Even dogs are now worse off. In those days the obliging butcher was happy to include free some scraps and some bones for Old Ring.

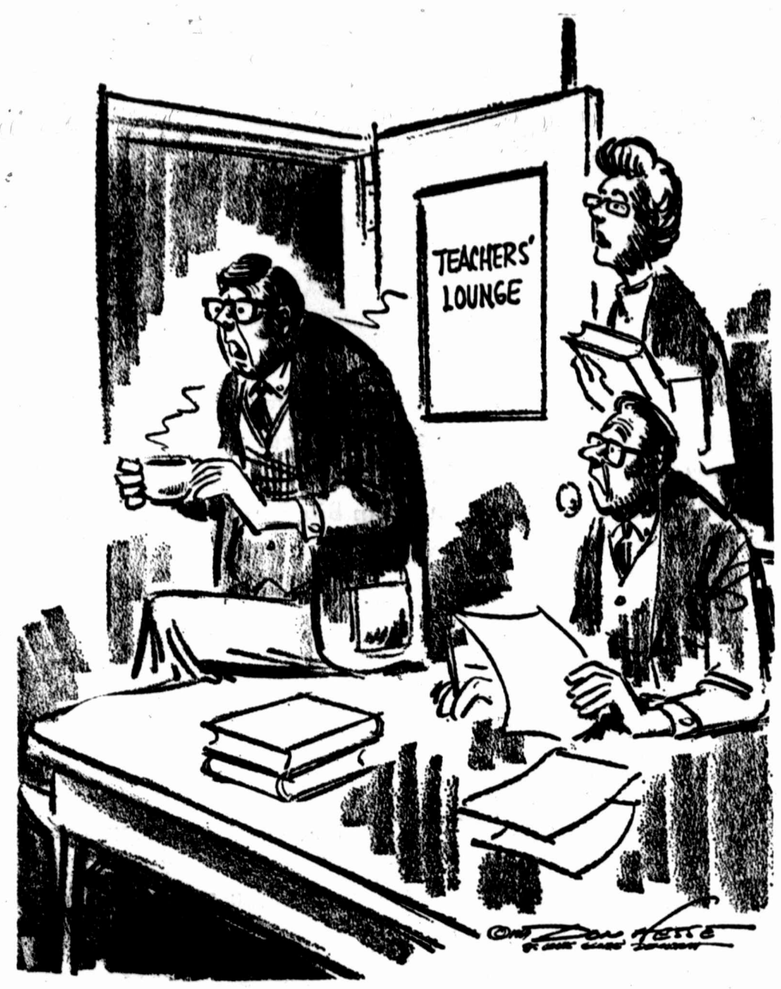

Choosing His Own Battlefield

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes has reached a decision on what has been regarded in some quarters as an agonizing appraisal of his best avenue to his future. In the end, he reached a decision which appeared logical at the outset.

He decided to seek re-election as lieutenant governor, a position in which he is not expected to encounter any significant opposition. Assuming his re-election, after two years he would be in a favored position to run for governor. This would give him a podium from which he could seek higher office if he desired.

He might have taken on Sen. Ralph Yarborough for the Democratic nomination as senator, but victory would not be a cinch, and even had he won after a hard fight, the scars undoubtedly would be so deep that they would carry over into the general election in November and possibly threaten defeat at this point. Much the same could be said in the gubernatorial race, which he more seriously considered. Perhaps the most compelling reason is that in the race for governor, his financial support would be split in twain as between him and Gov. Preston Smith, and nobody makes a state race for peanuts any more.

At the risk of losing some edge and perhaps getting tripped up in legislative issues between now and then, Barnes must have concluded that 1970 was not the most advantageous or necessary time to make a stand. And that may be the mark of a shrewd general.

'THE KIDS SAY — TELL IT LIKE IT IS — BUT HOW IS IT?'

Around The Rim

Wandering Through The Recesses

There are days which occur in the lives of all of us when we just don't feel like facing up to our jobs. This is one of them for me.

So let's wander through the inner recesses of my mind. (That's one of my problems — my mind takes too many recesses.)

THERE'S RUMOR that Agnew was responsibile for the TV camera on the moon going out. He was afraid the temptation would be too great and Conrad and Bean would start analyzing.

• • •

Speaking of rumors, the premier of Italy is named Mariano Rumor. He has so many domestic problems on his hands now, he must feel he is spread too thin.

• • •

Apollo 12 was hit twice by lightning at liftoff, a study of films shows.

Is Somebody trying to tell us something?

• • •

NOW BACK to recesses — I was physically sick from Thursday to Wednesday after being attacked by the "flu bug."

While lurking in the halls of a local clinic, I picked up the following yarn:

For obvious reasons—several of them—I shall leave the lady's name out in relating this small example of how a sense of humor—or something—doesn't necessarily dry up with advanced years. For the lady is of many years—older, I'd guess, than all but a few people in Big Spring. She's 'way up there.

BUT THERE'S an imp of the perverse in her, and while most who reach her age are proud of it, she refuses to admit it — or perhaps won't allow herself to admit it.

So not long ago she encountered abdominal discomfort of some sort and was taken to a doctor's office for an examination. She was instructed by the nurse to replace her sedate outer clothing with a hospital-type gown so that the doctor could conduct his surface abdominal examination — the fingertip palpation tests here and there to determine any localized pain or other medical clues which might be found by touch.

BUT WHEN THE lady hoisted herself to the examination table, lay back and lifted the hem of her hospital gown, both the doctor and the attending nurse gasped.

The lady—far, far along in years, mind you—was wearing very brief, very saucy and very scarlet panties.

• • •

Did you hear that a Las Vegas joint plans to hire a Santa Claus this season? The kids will tell him what they want for Christmas, and he'll quote them odds on getting it.

• • •

A. J. Vaughn, Big Spring, says:

"The law of gravity was not passed by Congress. Therefore it works."

• • •

THERE'S A REPORT — probably started by one of those two Eastern newspapers — that the president is thinking of asking Agnew to help make Nixon a household word.

• • •

Did you hear what the doctor said to the portly patient—me? "Follow this diet, and in a couple of months I want to see three-fourths of you back here for a check-up."

Finland Maintains Her Neutrality

HELSINKI — The music of Sibelius is for the Finnish people an expression of national identity. To great composers "Finlandia" is not a national hymn so much as it is a reflection of the strong and resolute voices that come from the heart of this rugged forest country.

AFTER 700 YEARS of occupation, first by Sweden and then by Russia and nearly 30 years of war and the threat of war, that national identity is stronger than ever. An almost-miraculous transformation has taken place since the bitter end of the conflict that saw the Finns fighting first the Russians and then the Germans. With a booming economy the shops ready for Christmas display all the good things of life. To visitors from Moscow the brightly lighted shop windows reveal another world.

The reasons for the transformation are complex. They lie, in part, in the Finnish character — a strong sense of discipline, a fundamental realism that has never failed to take into account the fact of the towering presence of the Soviet Union on the eastern border.

WITH THAT realism the Finnish government has forged a policy of scrupulous neutrality. It has not always been easy. In the crisis of 1961, when Nikita Khrushchev was threatening to drive the Allies out of Berlin, a note from Moscow demanded that Finland consult on measures of defense under the Finnish-Soviet treaty of mutual assistance in order to counter the threat of West German aggression.

TO RESPOND to that note by agreeing to arrangements for mutual defense would have seemed to the world to put Finland in the Soviet camp. As he had done in two earlier crises, President Urho Kekkonen flew to meet Khruschev at Novosibirsk where the Soviet Premier was on a Siberian inspection tour. After two days of talks the communique they issued reaffirmed Finland's neutrality with the interpretation that under the mutual assistance pact Finland would take the initiative for consultation, rather than the giant neighbor to the east.

KEKKONEN, now in his third six-year term as President, is one reason for Finland's success. He is a shrewd, tough bargainer not only abroad but at home where it has been essential to keep the parties in balance in a coalition government representing a wide spectrum of national unity.

That Helsinki was chosen as the site for the opening phase of the strategic arms talks is a source of pride to the Finns. They take it as an affirmation of their neutrality that both the Soviet Union and the United States would accept their capital for such a vitally important conference.

THE GOVERNMENT is just now engaged in a bold diplomatic venture. Invitations have gone out to 32 nations, including the United States and Canada, to participate in a European Security Conference. The first initiative came from the Communist bloc. Moscow's objective is a security treaty that would, in effect, ratify the status quo and renounce the use of force. Of 23 replies thus far favoring such a conference or taking a sympathetic view, four have come from NATO nations — Denmark, Norway, Belgium and Holland.

BUT, BEING REALISTS, the Finns put the chances of such a conference as, at best, fifty-fifty. One motive for the Finnish initiative is to hold off pressure for recognition of East Germany. As scrupulous neutrals the Finns have trade missions but no diplomatic representation in either West or East Germany. Nor are they represented in either Vietnam or Korea. That is the definition — restraint and forbearance — of neutrality, Finnish style.

Import Restrictions

By WHAYNE EISENMAN
(Substituting for John Cunniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — On a trip to Europe you took advantage of low foreign prices to buy Christmas gifts and you're going to bring in two Leica cameras, three bottles of Chanel No. 5 and two Caravelle watches.

Legally, however, you're entitled to return with only one of each of these trademarked products, regardless of duty paid.

And if you exceed the limit, customs officials will hold the merchandise until you get a letter of permission from the various U.S. companies that own the exclusive rights to bring these and some 4,000 other foreign made products into this country.

"We were catching hell from tourists all the time," said a Treasury Department official.

One extreme example, he said, was the soldier returning from Vietnam who had bought a camera at the post exchange. The GI had asked the trademark owner in the United States for permission to bring it home, and was refused.

To get permission for the soldier, the Treasury official said he had threatened to advertise the company's attitude "all over Vietnam."

There is one way around some import restrictions, however.

If you remove the trademark, you can bring in an unlimited amount as long as you pay the duty.

That's an easy job for a bottle of perfume — wash off the label. For a camera, or silverware, it's more difficult when the trademark or company symbol is engraved on the product.

Proponents of the restrictions say they prevent bootlegging importers from getting a "free ride" on the advertising and marketing expenditures of authorized U.S. trademark owners.

Even the foreign manufacturer is prohibited from importing his own merchandise once he has granted the rights to a U.S. company and that company registers the trademark with the Treasury.

The laws have been criticized as a barrier to competition.

"The practical effect. . . is to permit a foreign manufacturer indirectly to enlist the aid of the U.S. Bureau of Customs to exclude . . .goods . . . which might undercut a higher price charged in the United States than abroad." said Chicago Law School Prof. Kenneth W. Dam in a law journal article.

In 1954, the Justice Department brought suit against three American marketers of trademarked toilet goods, alleging they were really just an arm of foreign manufacturers—not independent - American trademark owners—and their practices constituted a form of monopoly selling.

The Justice Department won its case in district court, but withdrew after the firms appealed to the Supreme Court—a move some experts believe has contributed to the confusion over the laws as they apply to "affiliates" of foreign manufacturers.

A Watery Way To School

By EDDIE ADAMS
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

ATCHAFALAYA BASIN, La. (AP) — Going to school, for millions of school boys, sometimes can be an exercise in finding the longest route to the closest place. Take any boy on a sunny morning, and whether he has to go one city block, or a country mile, somehow he'll figure out a way to climb a fence, get to a candy store, play tag or involve himself in something to make sure he doesn't arrive at school until the last possible second.

Cisco doesn't have as much a chance to goof off, but his journey to school is different from the one that millions of other kids make. One long stretch of it is like taking a trip on a Disneyland type of ride. He goes by boat.

Cisco — his full name is Everett Cisco Gro — is six and a first-grade pupil in the Cajun country of St. Martin Parish in Louisiana.

Cisco's father Clarence is a fisherman. He has five sisters. They live in a small white frame house on the edge of a bayou waterway which looks very much like a scene out of a motion picture. The Spanish moss draped in the trees touches the narrow waterway.

The Gros home is only one of scattered houses in the Atchafalaya Basin, as the region is known. Only the Everglades is a larger wilderness.

It is here that the main activity is fishing and hunting. And boys like Cisco get their hands in early.

But, the principal activity for Cisco is school. At 7:15 each morning, Cisco and two older sisters have to be at the dockside as Ervin Bailey turns up with a small steel hulled boat. Bailey collects 14 children of the bayou for a trip along the waterways out across Lake Verret. But the school journey isn't complete yet. Next, there's a bus ride.

Finally, they arrive at school at 8:15 a.m., having covered 12 miles of water and road. "In 16 years I've been taking these kids to school," says Bailey, "we've missed only one day. That was because of strong tornado warnings."

There aren't many kids who have had that for an excuse, eh Cisco?

Holmes Alexander

The Insurrection Continues

WASHINGTON — Jack Knight of the Knight newspapers, a venerable mogul of the press, says that civil disorder has reached the stage of "insurrection." Spiro Agnew, second citizen of the land and privy to all the information that the President gets, compares the uprising to that which eventually overthrew the Russian Czar in 1917.

Next month, as in October and November on a rising rate of revolutionary strategy, the capital city will be invaded (there is no other word) by anti-government forces, and invested (the military term must be used) by guardsmen and Federal troops in support of the metropolitan police.

PLAIN-SPEAKING is necessary. Your capital city is in a state of siege and counterseige. This is not how self-government works. It is how self-government breaks down. Month by month, phase by phase, the screws of revolutionary strategy tighten. Only the ignorant deny it. Only the bamboozled take it lightly. Only the collaborators pretend it isn't so.

The country is ungovernable, but not as yet uncontrollable. That was the revelation in the mid-November three-day seige when upward of 300,000 ill-wishers saturated the city and played with this seat-of-government as a cruel but cunning cat plays with a helpless mouse.

TO REPEAT, during some 36 hours the town was not governed, but it was controlled. The honor system of the Constitution, which pledges free speech and peaceable assembly on the assumption of good faith by the citizens, was mocked and vulgarized. An ad hoc garrison state, a Caesarian deployment of military legions, kept the lid on, and conducted a counter-seige, and maintained a strained discipline.

ADVANCE DETACHMENTS of infantry were entrenched inside of nearly every government building; the White House was barracaded with end-to-end vehicles, behind which troops kept watch on the President's life, reconnaissance helicopters hovered above; reinforcements stood by at the armory. "The ghetto might blow," a Justice Department official had told me, as it "blew" from spontaneous combustion in 1968 when a Negro leader was killed. Herb Klein, the President's communications chief, had that event in mind when he later told a TV panel:

"HAD IT NOT been for the highly effective work of the Washington police, of the National Guard . . . for the reserve forces of the Defense Department and the complete cooperation of all elements of the government . . . the damage to Washington would have been greater than (in) the riots after the death of Martin Luther King."

Thus the insurrection was contained — what choice was there? — by paramilitary tactics.

LOOKING TOWARD December, this insurrection has the planning of a phased campaign. These were not attractive "kids," but unkempt in their persons, ugly in their garbs, licentious in their morals, incredibly and unquotably foul-mouthed, and (as nobody else has said) often scared that their leaders would provoke the "brutality" of nightstick, cannister and gunfire.

Moratorium in October, mobilization in November, and in December and thereafter, what?

Billy Graham

Although I rush all day I never finish because I have so much to do and am completely exhausted at the end of the day. What can I do to make life seem worth living? H.B.

The Bible says: "For ye shall not go out with haste, . . . for the Lord will go before you." (Isaiah 52:12).

When we disobey this command our lives become hectic, and we lose the peace of God. You haven't been following the Lord, you've been running before Him. This verse from Isaiah is both a command and a promise. Stop hurrying, and you will find that "the Lord will go before you."

Have you surrendered your heart to God? Then surrender each hour to Him. Begin the day with prayer. Say, "Father, this is your day. Tell me what you want me to do, and I will do it."

God has work for each of us, and it is not more than we can do with His help. Stop hurrying, and you will find you can accomplish more, and still not be as tired at the end of the day. And start praying as you work. You'll be surprised to find that your way becomes clear, and your task easier, with Christ by your side. God sent our Savior to bear half our burdens for us. Don't refuse His help. Let Him lead you, and you will know which work is urgent, and which can be left until another time.

"In quietness and in confidence shall be your strength." (Isaiah 30:15).

Crisis Cited

CHRISTIANA, South Africa (AP) — The world is going through a crisis of confidence in law and order, Prime Minister John Vorster said here at the ceremonial opening of a new police station.

Bloody clashes are taking place in many parts of the world because of political and religious differences, he said. "But in South Africa, and this I say to our enemies who are so eager to poke their noses into our affairs, we know how to behave ourselves despite the greatest provocation and also know how to solve our own problems."

Testing For Hypoglycemia And Diabetes

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Are blood sugar tests necessary to determine how severe hypoglycemia has become?

Have you ever questioned newly-diagnosed diabetics as to their having had trouble with hypoglycemia previously?

A member of our family who became diabetic in his early 30s always had difficulty with low blood sugar which he kept under control through diet.

Enclosed is 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a copy of your booklet on hypoglycemia.—Mrs. D.T.

Hypoglycemia (low blood sugar) has gone unrecognized so often, and caused so much protracted misery, that I think testing the sugar level is a wise and profitable course whenever there is a suspicion of the trouble.

A single blood sugar test taken at the time of symptoms (hunger, weakness, visual disturbances, giddiness, etc.) is significant in that it shows how low the blood sugar level has fallen at that moment.

However, there's no way to be sure that you can be ready to take the test right at the proper moment. Therefore a sugar tolerance test is a more useful method. That is a series of tests taken each hour for six hours. It provides a pattern of how the patient's sugar level swings up and down. "Low blood sugar" isn't a fixed condition; it is a dynamic thing, and the rate at which the level varies is important as well as the actual level.

Yes, it is recognized that some diabetics experience hypoglycemia before the diabetes develops. The hypoglycemia may manifest itself as a low fasting blood sugar — that is, a test taken in the morning before the patient has eaten. Or it may be noted by a low level appearing in the fourth to sixth hour of a tolerance test.

However, if the patient shows high sugar levels at the second and third hours, that becomes significant in determining whether the diabetes pattern is present.

With both diabetes and low blood sugar, a patient has to pay strict attention to his eating, his physical activity, getting proper rest, and may require medication, but it can be done.

• • •

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have heard that anyone with thyroid or diabetic trouble should not have cotisone shots. Is this dangerous?—D.S.

Let's put it this way: cortisone can accentuate some types of thyroid trouble. It also can make diabetes more difficult to control. It sometimes is necessary to use it with such patients, but it is done with caution.

• • •

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

David Lawrence

Mr. Nixon And The Republicans

WASHINGTON — President Nixon is having plenty of trouble with his own party but is getting substantial support from the Democratic party in the South. So he will face a real dilemma when the campaign for the 1970 congressional elections begins. He can hardly ask the country to elect a Republican majority in both houses when the party label doesn't inhibit nearly 40 per cent of the Republicans in the United States Senate from voting against the President's appointee to the Supreme Court.

ONLY A FEW days ago, the Gallup Poll showed that President Nixon's popularity had risen to 68 per cent — his highest rating to date — just after he delivered his Nov. 3 speech about Vietnam. Indications are that the President's policy of a gradual withdrawal of troops from the war zone is making a favorable impression on public opinion.

But some Republicans in Congress who will be up for re-election next year are supporting a resolution for immediate withdrawal of American troops, irrespective of the consequences. Other differences exist between the President and some members of his party.

IF A PRESIDENTIAL election were held today, Mr. Nixon probably would win by a comfortable margin because he has a considerable following in the South as well as in the West and some sections of the North. Much would depend, of course, on who was the opposing candidate.

The 1970 elections for Congress may bring some novel situations. Many Republicans who dissent from the President's policies will be able to say that even their leaders in the Senate agree with them. For there is actually no such thing as party responsibility in Congress today. The Democrats function as individualists, and so do several Republicans.

THE AMERICAN people at present apparently feel that progress is being made in the Vietnam situation, but they are distressed over a lack of "law and order." They are not thus far showing real concern about the economic situation. This could, however, be the prime factor in the 1970 campaign and give the Democrats an even larger majority in Congress than they now have. For if next year should be a time of recession, the voters will, as they have always done, vote against the party in power.

THE ADMINISTRATION is determined to achieve some form of stability that will last at least throughout 1970. If it is successful, the Republican candidates in most instances will benefit from President Nixon's prestige. But because of defections on major issues by certain Republicans, Mr. Nixon may find it difficult to ask the voters to elect a Republican majority in Congress to support the legislation he recommends.

IF THERE were more organizations in political campaigns willing to support only those candidates who back the President, Mr. Nixon would have a real opportunity to institute many programs of reform and pay for them without budget deficits, especially when the Vietnam war expenses have been reduced.

ALCATRAZ THANKSGIVING—The Indians on Alcatraz Island celebrated their Thanksgiving Day feast buffet-style in the Exercise Yard in the former federal prison. The turkey and the trimmings were sent over to the island by boat from sympathetic restaurants for the holiday feast. The Indians claim the former federal prison.

Education Exhibit Sparks 'Hot' Questions In Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — Russian-speaking Americans have turned a potentially dull U.S. education exhibit into one of Moscow's liveliest outings.

"We get off the subject very fast here," says Irene Murray, an attractive guide from Gulfport, Miss.

"Our talks usually start with education, but they turn personal, political or anything else as soon as the ice is broken."

Miss Murray is one of 21 guides, most of them young and all of them fluent in Russian, who have traveled with the U.S. Information Agency—sponsored exhibit from Kiev to Leningrad and finally to Moscow.

The questions the Russians ask reflect a determination to find out who is right—the Soviet press or the Voice of America.

WAR, DIVORCE

"Is it true that most young people take dope in America?" one crew-cut young man asked.

"No but it's a growing problem," Miss Murray replied calmly.

"Do they teach Marxism-Leninism in American universities?" another visitor asked.

"Not only Marxism-Leninism, but Maoism, Castroism and others," she answered. The visitor looked stunned, but he appeared to accept the reply.

American salaries, cars, size of apartments, the Vietnam war, divorce, anticommunism, the price of the guide's dress, and the American view of Russia typify the questions that the guides handle daily.

Miss Murray and the others stand alone on platforms or in booths displaying tape recorders, teaching machines and other American educational aides.

The Russians drift from one booth to another, sometimes comparing the answers of the various guides and noting that the guides' opinions differ widely.

Lyndia Stoopenkoff of San Francisco, one of the guides, shocked about 50 Russians in her booth one day this week when a visitor asked her what she thought about the space race.

COSTS TOO MUCH

"I'm against all cosmonauts and all astronauts," she replied bluntly. "They cost too much money."

But she got her best reaction when a woman asked her exactly when American education began to develop the machines now on display in Moscow.

"When you launched your first Sputnik," she said. The sigh of satisfaction from the crowd was almost audible.

Exhibit director Tom Craig of Seattle said in an interview he believes the guides should express their personal opinions freely "for the sake of credibility."

"If they're all delivering the same line," he said, "it wouldn't go over."

Craig estimates that the exhibit will have been seen by 800,000 persons—or one in every 300 Soviet citizens—when it completes its six-city tour next spring.

The exhibit, part of the U.S.-Soviet cultural exchange program, closes in Moscow Dec. 3.

Peace Pipes On 'The Rock'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Indians in feathered bonnets danced and smoked peace pipes as they marked Thanksgiving on Alcatraz Island.

The setting was tranquil, in contrast to days past when Al Capone and other arch criminals were imprisoned on "The Rock."

Just before lining up for a buffet-style meal, one Indian read a "Thanksgiving Song" which said: "Tall Blackhawk stands with Sitting Bull. Wise Tecumseh speaks with Great Cochise. And all the tribes in all the lands send up the song for victory and peace."

The Indians were joined in the traditional turkey feast by a few palefaces—their attorney and the former prison island's caretaker and their wives, a few food donors and several newsmen.

The Indians, numbering more than 150, are in their eighth day on the island. They demand the federal government give them the 21-acre rock along with funds for an Indian cultural and education center.

Secretary of the Interior Walter Hickel has agreed to talk with them, provided the Indians make no preconditions for negotiating.

Case Of Kill Or Be Killed

WINTERTHUR, Switzerland (AP) — An Israeli secret service agent told a Swiss court today that it was a case of kill or be killed when he was confronted by an armed Arab commando after the attack on an El Al jetliner at Zurich airport Feb. 18.

Mordechai Rachamin, 23, is charged with homicide under extenuating circumstances after allegedly shooting an Arab, Abdel Mehsen. The trial began Thursday.

Rachamin claimed in testimony that the Arab he is accused of shooting still was carrying his Russian machine gun when Rachamin caught up with him after running from the plane.

"I shouted to him in English, 'Drop your Gun!'" Rachamin said. "Then he made a sudden movement and I opened fire."

Court president Dr. Hans Gut told Rachamin that although witnesses contradicted themselves on some points, all were unanimous that Mehsen had been disarmed when Rachamin approved.

The three Arab survivors of the machine gun attack on the plane are charged with the premeditated slaying of Yoram Peres, 26, an El Al trainee pilot, who died five weeks later of bullet wounds.

The Arabs maintained their vow of silence today and have refused to recognize their court-appointed attorney.

Siamese Girls Survive Surgery

BOSTON (AP) — Siamese twin girls separated in a 10½-hour operation emerged from the surgery in very good condition but doctors caution they face "many possible complications over the next few weeks."

Among these are "the hazards of infection and nutritional problems," a spokesman at Massachusetts General Hospital said.

The twins were born by Caesarean section to an unidentified woman Sunday in Danvers and were separated Wednesday night.

The outcome of the surgery marked only the 17th time in recorded medical history that Siamese twins have survived such an operation.

The spokesman said one infant suffered a heart stoppage during the surgery but massage restored the heart beat without any apparent injury.

The twins shared an intestinal system insufficient to meet the needs of both, so that immediate surgery was necessary, doctors said.

The twins still must undergo several less serious operations, hospital officials explained.

The twins were joined from the lower chest through the abdomen to the pelvis. Their livers also were joined.

"Never before in medical history had a case been reported in which Siamese twins were joined the way the Danvers girls were," the statement said.

FHA To Raise 'Minimums'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Farmers Home Administration announced today it will raise the minimums for purchase of government-insured loan notes to $25,000 for one and two year paper and to $15,000 for longer term notes.

Currently the minimum for all FHA-insured notes is $10,000. The new minimums will become effective on Dec. 1, said James V. Smith, administrator of the Agriculture Department's credit agency.

The notes are sold to private investors at interest rates reflecting the prevailing money market. The money from the sales is to finance FHA loans for family farm ownership, housing and rural community projects. In most cases, farm borrowers are charged only 5 per cent interest, with the government making up the difference on what it has to pay private investors—now ranging from 8.5 to 8.75 per cent.

About $2 billion in insured loan notes is being offered by FHA on the U.S. market this fiscal year.

The higher minimums required of buyers was seen as a move to help ease the flow of money from smaller rural banks, where depositors have turned increasingly to short term FHA securities bearing higher interest rates.

Loans to FHA borrowers usually are for 33 to 40 years. This means that many investment notes mature and must be resold a number of times during the actual loan periods.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♡	1 NT	Pass	3 NT
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Eight of ♡

A defensive slip at the opening gun enabled South, the declarer at three no trump, to sever his opponents' line of communication and completely disorganize their efforts for the balance of the deal.

West opened the eight of hearts, the queen was played from dummy and East covered with the king which declarer permitted to hold the trick by following suit with the nine from his hand. East continued with a small heart and South was in with the ten.

A small diamond to the jack put North in to lead a club. Declarer finessed the nine losing to West's queen. The latter was out of hearts so he switched to a spade. Declarer was determined to keep East out of the lead until the clubs were established, so he put up the ace of spades from dummy.

By continuing the clubs, South was able to dislodge East's ace and since declarer still retained the ace of hearts, he was in position to claim nine tricks as soon as he regained the lead. The defense was limited to four tricks on the deal—one spade, one heart, and two clubs.

East could have defeated the contract by ducking the queen of hearts at the opening gun. This served the purpose of preserving the line of communication with his partner, for when West gets in with the queen of clubs, he still has a heart left to return. South's second stopper in the suit is thereby dislodged while East still retains the ace of clubs and when he gets in with that card the entire heart suit is run to administer a two trick setback.

Inasmuch as East knows from West's lead of the eight of hearts that South has the A-10-9, he has nothing to lose by giving his opponent the first trick because the latter is clearly marked with two stoppers in the suit.

SHE'LL HELP TAKE TIME OFF YOUR HANDS—If you don't know what to do with your weekends, vacations or retirement, Mrs. Patsy Edwards, above, will try to help—for a fee of $27.50. She operates a relatively new business in Los Angeles called "Creative Leisure." Through vocational interest tests she determines how her clients might better use their free time.

'Creative Leisure' Is Her Business

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Patsy Edwards says Americans, capable of great achievement on the job, sometimes can't find satisfying things to do in their leisure time.

So, for a fee of $27.50, she tries to help anyone who has that "ugh" feeling when days off roll around.

Her business is called "Creative Leisure." She and two part-time assistants provide suggestions for those who find weekends disappointing, vacations hard to fill and who dread retirement.

"People are getting more and more leisure time every year," 51-year-old Mrs. Edwards said. "The average man or woman has 25 hours a week of leisure time—and soon it will be up to 35 hours."

What's more, the pert, brunette housewife said, surveys show 30 per cent of all Americans are unhappy with the way they spend their free time.

A secretary in her 30s told Mrs. Edwards she felt a need to "express myself." But she didn't know where to begin.

Vocational interest tests indicated the client was highly interested in paleontology and archaeology. Now the secretary spends six hours each weekend as a volunteer worker at the county museum.

A high school counselor and his wife were worried both about unfulfilling leisure hours and forthcoming retirement. The wife was steered to a book study club. Her husband, oriented to the outdoors, was guided toward volunteer work in parks and a welding course that led to weekend mechanical chores.

A retired executive secretary, bored with efforts at creative writing, learned through testing that—although childless herself—she had a tremendous interest in youngsters.

She was directed to a center for early education of 3-to-6 year-olds.

Honors Given At Pack Meet

Cub Scout Pack 100 held its monthly meeting Tuesday night at the St. Paul Presbyterian Church. The opening ceremony was held by Den 3 and the invocation given by Daniel R. Sebesta. Den 2 led the pack in songs and a skit was presented by Den 5.

Cubmaster Joe Horton awarded Bobcat badges to Steve Nobles and Danny Richards. Bill Hart was presented his Wolf Badge. Dan Robison and Donny Knight were awarded Bear Badges. Donny Knight received a gold arrow point, and David Lowe was awarded both a gold and silver arrow point.

Denner badges went to Eric Nielsen, Kirk Mancill, Wesley Hutching, Ronnie Maldonado, Robby Wrinkle and Scott Emerson. Assistant Denner badges went to Leland Daniels, Mike Pitts, Robert Brown, Ricky Sparks, Steve Tipton, and Jim McChristian.

One year stars were awarded to Paul Judd and Barry Williams. Scott Emerson was awarded activity badges as an athlete, citizen and craftsman. Jim McChristian received badges as an athlete, aquanaut, citizen, outdoorsman and sportsman. Bob McDonald was awarded the athlete's badge.

Astro Dubbed 'Luney Wog'

ABOARD USS HORNET (AP) — Laughing it up just as they did on the moon, the Apollo 12 lunar explorers badgered "Luney wog" Richard F. Gordon Jr. with hijinks as they neared today's landing in Hawaii.

Charles Conrad Jr. and Alan L. Bean could not contain their glee when a gloomy Gordon appeared at the window of their quarantine van with this sign around his neck:

BEFARE!

"Beware! Luney wog. Unclean! Unpredictable!"

What's more, Gordon had his hat and flight suit on backward.

Gordon, a Navy man like Conrad and Bean, had never before crossed the equator aboard ship. That meant he was a "pollywog," or in his case a "luney wog", recalling Gordon's 36 hours in lunar orbit.

As luck would have it, he was bottled up in the quarantine van with four "shellbacks"—the two astronauts and the doctor and technician also in quarantine, all of whom had crossed the equator before.

Conrad and Bean, who laughed merrily as they puttered about the moon while Gordon stayed behind in the mothership, bragged that they had made Gordon stay up late at night since splashdown Monday.

The astronauts actually crossed the equator Wednesday but Conrad and Bean decided to wait until Thanksgiving Day to pull the traditional seagoing initiation on their crewmate.

ARRIVES LATE

The Hornet arrives late today in Pearl Harbor, where a 20-minute welcoming ceremony is planned. The silver quarantine van will be loaded on a flatbed trailer and driven to Hickam Air Force Base for a flight aboard an Air Force cargo plane to Ellington AFB near Houston's Manned Spacecraft Center. They are scheduled to arrive there at dawn Saturday.

Conrad, Gordon and Bean, who blasted from their homeland 15 days ago, must stay quarantined in the lunar receiving laboratory at the Space Center until Dec. 10.

Twelve men ranging from physicians to cooks will be isolated with the three space voyagers, along with Dr. Clarence Jernigan and technician Brock Randall Stone, who have been shut off with the spacemen since splashdown.

The astronauts completed four days of "self-debriefing" into tape recorders Thursday and observed Thanksgiving with a specially prepared turkey dinner heated in a microwave oven.

Thousands of feet of tape recordings from the debriefings were flown to the Space Center. Officials will use the tapes to analyze the flight.

TEXAS GRADS

Football spurred the astronauts' interest Thursday. Bean and Stone, both graduates of the University of Texas, asked for the score of the Thanksgiving Day classic between Texas and Texas A&M as soon as possible. Texas whipped A&M 49 to 12.

The all-Navy moon voyagers also announced they took a "Beat Army" banner to the moon. In a message the the U.S Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., the crew reported:

"Your 'Beat Army' flag carried to the moon and back aboard Apollo 12, will be returned to you upon release from quarantine period. Good luck and beat Army."

Navy meets Army Saturday in Philadelphia. The Naval Academy's midshipmen sent the "beat Army" flag to the astronauts weeks ago with a request to take it to the moon.

Nixon Works On Budget

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — Stretching the holiday into a four-day weekend, President Nixon relaxed today with his family at their Key Biscayne home and was expected to do some work on the federal budget.

A White House spokesman said Nixon would probably also work on a speech he will deliver at a White House conference Tuesday on food, health and nutrition.

The President was host to 232 senior citizens for Thanksgiving dinner at the White House Thursday but waited until arriving in Florida later in the day for his own holiday meal.

The Nixon party was expected to remain at Key Biscayne through Sunday night.

West Germany To Sign Nuclear Weapons Pact

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Willy Brandt announced today that West Germany will sign the treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons.

Brandt told a news conference that West German ambassadors in Moscow, London and Washington had been instructed to sign the treaty later in the day.

He said the decision to add West Germany's signature was made at a cabinet meeting this morning.

West Germany thus becomes the 5th of the 43 nations needed to approve the pact. The United States and the Soviet Union completed their ratification Monday.

Bonn's approval is significant because West Germany is one of the dozen or so nations with nuclear potential that had been delaying ratification. Of these nations, only Canada has approved the treaty although Sweden is expected to shortly.

Brandt said ratification—the approval by both houses of the West German Parliament—will wait until the atomic agencies of the Common Market's and the United Nations work out an acceptable agreement on inspections.

Mom Of Texan War Prisoner Says It's 'Old News' To Her

CONROE, Tex. (AP) — The name of a Conroe, Tex., man was among 59 listed as prisoners in North Vietnam by one of the "Chicago Seven" Wednessay, but the Texan's mother said it's "old news" to her.

Mrs. Frank Ray said from her home here Thursday that the list Rennard C. "Rennie" Davis released was "put together—maybe to make them look good."

Davis and six others are on trial on charges growing out of demonstrations at the Democratic convention in Chicago last year.

Mrs. Ray said she and her husband had received two "notes" from their son, Lt. James E. Ray, since his F105 was shot down over Lang Son province May 8, 1966.

She said they did not receive the first note until their son had been missing for more than three years. "We got the first one last April," she said. "It had been written the preceding December."

Mrs. Ray said they received a second note June 13. "I felt like this one was almost warm," she said. "It had been written in March."

Mrs. Ray said the notes were "old V-mail letters like servicemen used in World War II. They only have four lines on them. I guess they're provided by the Viet Cong. The boys can only write on the lines."

She said she and her husband were "very hopeful" about their son's situation. "Although it has been a long time for us, it has been even longer for James. After all, we are among friends and in a warm place."

Methodists Plan Meet, Contemporary Theme

The Big Spring District of the United Methodist Church will hold its 18th conference at the First United Methodist Church here Sunday afternoon.

Representatives of 15,354 members in an eight county territory larger than the states of New Jersey, Delaware and Rhode Island combined will be here for the meeting.

Two inspirational speakers, one an outstanding layman and the other from the general board of missions, will address the group. The Rev. Ronald Hamby, who grew up in Big Spring, will be the speaker for a contemporary communion service.

Dr. Hubert Bratcher, superintendent of the Big Spring district, will preside at the conference which begins at 4 p.m.

DR. THOMAS K. KIM

DR. JOSEPH WALKER

Both speakers will develop the theme of reconciliation — Dr. Thomas K. Kim, Lubbock, a professor of economics at Texas Tech, will speak on "Reconciliation in a Broken World."

Dr. Joseph Walker, New York City, representing the General Board of Missions, will speak on "Reconciliation and a Broken World."

The program, prepared by the District Council on Ministries during the past several months, will be unique in many respects. The youth of the district under direction of Mrs. J. M. Kayser, Snyder, will introduce new songs to the accompaniment of a string ensemble.

Following a brief business session, there will be an unusual worship experience led by Larry Stanley, director of choirs for the First United Methodist Church, accompanied by John Stanley at the organ. A trumpet trio will be used, and Mary Starnes, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Newton Starnes, Lamesa, will sing.

Reports will be heard on Latin-American work, the ministry, social concerns, hospitals and homes, education, Kings Manor, those from the children's, youth and family division, evangelism, camps, missions and worship.

Nominees to be submitted for trustees for 1969-70 are Roy McKee, J. S. Craddock, K. H. McGibbon, H. G. Keaton, H. M. McReynolds and Robert Stripling.

A Sunday Snack ($1 and 50 cents) will be served in Fellowship Hall by the women of North Birdwell Lane United Methodist Church. All youth will be the guests of Dr. Bratcher.

Dr. Kim will keynote the conference after a brief opening worship at 4 p.m. Born in Shanghai, China, in 1929, Dr. Kim is a South Korean by origin and an American citizen by a special act of the 84th Congress. He was educated in Berea College, Indiana University and Tulane University, the latter awarding a Ph.D in economics. He has worked with the U.S. Military government in Korea, taught economics at Berea, the University of Akron, and was chairman of the department of economics at Baker University prior to going to Tech. He is lay leader of the charge at Oakwood United Methodist Church in Lubbock.

Dr. Walker is assistant general secretary of the section of cultivation for the board of missions, formerly having been pastor of Central United Protestant Church in Richland, Va. He previously was pastor of Methodist churches in Vancouver and Bellingham. After degrees from the University of Tulsa and Garrett Theological Seminary, he served in numerous responsibilities. He has travelled in Europe and Africa.

LOCAL MISSIONARY

Buried In Colombia, She 'Died In Faith'

On the slopes of a mountain about 30 minutes flight from Florencia, Colombia, and near the spot where a light plane carried a party of missionaries to death lie four hand-made coffins in simple graves. One of them contains the body of Luan Phillips of Big Spring.

Missionaries left at a nearby village worshipped God and prayed that His word should continue. Some 200 natives nestled around the graveside were told not to grieve as those who have no hope.

A stone was raised over the plot: "These all died in the faith."

Thousands of miles removed, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Phillips pondered whether to have a memorial service here. They decided the simplicity of the rustic rites among the people she had gone to serve was in keeping with her faith. At the request of friends, Mrs. Phillips has written some lines in memory of her missionary daughter, and these are taken from them:

" . . Her life was 27 years. Luan lived all her life in purpose related to pleasing God. She had been an example to her family and others. She was very frail naturally, but strong in the inner life which is of God . . .

"In her Bible I found a scripture underlined: 'Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his Saints.' Her love of God left her no fear for her life.

"This summer, before she left to go to a mission in Colombia, S.A., in a very primitive area, Luan considered the task and its self denial . . . The thrill of knowing others would receive the mesage of life set her purpose; she never looked back.

"Luan prepared herself. A friend recalled how typically she opened the front door of a car for others and always took a back seat. Knowing the rigors ahead, she avoided air conditioning and fancy food . . . Before she left, she gave away her possessions, except for a few clothes. She had few earthly goods left. The supplies she could purchase and carry, she planned to share with the other missionaries.

"In looking through the house, I have not found many things that do not relate to the things of God. There were Bibles, books, literature, writings and tapes of favorite teachings.

"In life, she acted in faith and courage which overcame obstacles. In death, she personified the spirit enunciated by Christ: 'Greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friend.' "

And what of those left here so far from the quiet jungle slopes of South America? "We are most eagerly living in the expectant reunion with our dear Saviour and Luan . . . 'How beautiful upon the mountain are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings of good, that publisheth salvation . . . Break forth into joy . . . for the Lord hath comforted . . . ' (Isa. 52:7-9) Upon this mountain were the feet of Luan who published peace."

Attend Church Sunday

Select The Church Of Your Choice And Be Faithful
In Your Attendance

No heartache surpasses that of earnest parents trying to mold the character of their child . . . and seeing daily the ominous signs of failure. But all the urging, pleading, coaxing and punishing we can muster is unlikely to change the course of a life that lacks spiritual backbone.

Who can drive a crooked nail?

The sooner religious training begins, the earlier its results become evident in a child's attitude and behavior. Your child's readiness to respond to parental encouragement and discipline is merely the reflection of those deeper qualities of personal integrity which spiritual growth will foster.

Let the Church help you raise your family. God never meant you to try it alone!

Howard County Cops Tournament Verdict

GARDEN CITY, Kan. — Howard County JC of Big Spring, Tex., moved to the semifinals of the annual Holiday Classic Basketball tournament by defeating Cowley County, Kan., (formerly Arkansas City), 102-99, here Thursday afternoon.

The Jayhawks, now 5-1 on the year, return to play at 7 o'clock this evening against the survivro in the Lamar, Colo.,-Highland, Kan., battle.

Lamar is the tournament favorite.

Until Cowley lost its two big players, John Woodworth and Danny Jones, on fouls late in the game, the issue was very much in doubt.

Woodworth tossed in 28 points before he departed with about two minutes left in the game.

Coach Buddy Travis said following the contest that his team made its best offensive showing of the year but didn't play its usual strong game on defense. The game was nip and tuck all the way.

Jerry Phillips zeroed in for 31 of HC's points while Glen Fletcher had 22 and Danny Clendenin 24. Clendenin has been a scoring terror of late.

Cowley committed 22 fouls, compared to only 15 for the Hawks. The Kansas team's Russ Goering was in danger of fouling out when the final gun sounded — he had four. No one on the Jayhawk club was banished for infractions.

Howard County could capture only 14 rebounds the first half but led at the intermission, 54-52.

In all, the Big Springers hit 45 per cent of their shots from the floor, a respectable norm.

The tournament extends through Saturday night, with the title game going on at 8:45 p.m.

A victory tonight would send HC into the finals. A loss would find the Texans playing for third place at 7 p.m., tomorrow.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Ex-Sands basketball mentor Arlen White, who never expected to have a player as proficient as Tommy Jones and laments he'll probably never have another, says that the all-state choice polished his skills with an unbelievable regimen.

Jones, who set scoring records for Crane that probably never will be broken, "used to be there everytime the gym opened," White fondly recalls.

The fact that Tommy also worked overtime to overcome physical shortcomings, which included poor eyesight, was brought sharply in focus one night when the Crane fire department answered a call to a poorer section of town in freezing weather.

When they arrived, the smoke eaters casually noted that three boys were working with a basketball under a nearby streetlight in a "two on one" situation, perfecting their techniques. The youths had to stay busy to keep from freezing but didn't seem to mind the cold. They were so intent with the job at hand they took only passing notice of the nearby blaze.

One of the boys was Tommy Jones, who already has established a far-flung reputation as a basketball wizard.

Young Jones, who stands only 6-0, is now enrolled at Howard Payne College, along with a cousin, David Jones of Stanton. Although only a freshman, Tommy reportedly is the fifth or sixth man on a team that includes such greats as All-American Fred Davis of Oakland, Calif., and Dan McGhee of Bloomfield, Ind.

Tommy was sought by an estimated 60 colleges after having averaged an incredible 43.4 points a game his senior year.

Coach Glen Whitis of the Yellow Jackets fully expects Tommy to maintain and perhaps improve his scoring talents in college.

Three times chosen to the all-state team, Tommy counted 2,922 points in 128 games out at Crane.

Incidentally, one of Tommy's teammates at the Brownwood school is Eddie Nelson, the second boy with that name to wear HPC colors. The first was a Big Spring native.

Both were junior college transfers. The first Eddie came from Howard County JC, the second one from Lon Morris. The second Eddie, who has been nicknamed Catnip, will have to go some to emulate the feats of Eddie I.

• • • •

Eddie, incidentally, wound up with 478 points in his two years at Howard Payne. Only seven players in the school's history have done better and one of those was Walter Carter, still another HCJC great.

Al Kloven, who went from here to become a Howard Payne star, lacked one point of joining the exclusive 400 Point Club at the Brownwood school. Al was there two seasons, ending in 1960.

• • • •

Two members of the 1969 Coahoma football team, quarterback Kenny Clanton and guard Dickie Lepard, have been nominated for the Class A All-State club.

Coahoma was represented by two boys on last year's elite squad.

Incidentally, Coahoma's district (5-A) will not announce its all-star teams as long as Seagraves remains in the playoffs. Seagraves may go all the way in the race.

• • • •

Frankie Crosetti, who likely will wind up as a coach for the Minnesota Twins in 1970, hasn't missed a season's pay in baseball since he broke in with the old San Francisco Seals in 1930.

In 37 years with the New York Yankees, both as a player and a coach, Crosetti received a share of World Series money no fewer than 23 times.

That added about $150,000 to his salary. Long ago, he qualified for the maximum baseball pension.

Crosetti spent last season with the Seattle Pilots.

Tahoka Man Has Race Favorite

SUNLAND PARK, N.M. — Buster Phipps' brilliant Special Dunce heads an impressive list of 34 two-year-olds which will contest Saturday's trials for the $37,000 Sunland Park Thoroughbred Futurity.

Three six-furlong divisions will be held, going as the fifth, ninth and tenth races on the 12-race agenda. The first four finishers from each trial will advance to the finals, scheduled for Sunday, Dec. 7, closing day of the Fall meeting.

Racing action on both Saturday and Sunday gets under way at 1:30 p.m. On Sunday, 10 of the Southwest's swiftest juvenile quarter horses will reap the rewards of their trial successes in the $52,500 Fall Quarter Horse Futurity at 400 yards.

Celts Slide But Do Well At Turnstiles

BOSTON (AP) — Bill Russell is gone and so is Sam Jones, and the Boston Celtics, who last season won their 11th National Basketball Association championship in the past 13 years, are in last place in the league's Eastern Division.

But despite this new look—that of a loser—the Celtics are drawing 1,000 more fans per game at home this year than last. People ask why.

The Boston fan is an enigma. During the years the Celtics were cluttering Boston Garden's rafters with championship banners, Bostonians were selling out the Garden—to see the struggling Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League. The Celtics drew considerably fewer patrons.

Those closest to the Celtics' organization scratch their heads when questioned. They cannot agree on reasons for the sudden upswing in basketball popularity.

"I think the fans are subconsciously unwilling to be fair-weather friends," says Johnny Most, the announcer who has done the Celtics play-by-play since 1953. "It's a sentimental loyalty. They feel we need them, and this is their way of saying thank you for all the championships."

Although the Celtics have won only six of 20 games this year, including two of eight at home, and attendance on the road is down more than 1,000 a game, they have not played bad basketball. Most games have been close, and some who follow the club closely feel it is only one man away from being a great team.

With Russell's departure, however, the collapse was not entirely unexpected.

"If we had anything except a complete lack of success, it would have really surprised me," said Harold Furash of Needham, a season ticket holder since 1948. "Russell was the greatest basketball player who ever lived."

"It used to be certain they'd win the home games," said Weldon Haire, the Celtics' public address announcer who hasn't missed a game in 20 years.

Bronte Given Grid Edge

FORT STOCKTON — Bronte, District 7-B champion, is heavily favored to topple Fort Hancock in bi-district competition here tonight.

Bronte is 9-1 on the year. Fort Hancock carries a 5-4 record into battle.

The Longhorns lost only to Class A Eldorado this season.

SAN ANGELO — Reagan County, champion of District 5-AA, and the 6-AA king, Haskell, square off at 7:30 p.m. here today.

Reagan County routed Marfa, 2-7, last week while the Haskell team tied Eastland, 14-14, but won on penetrations, 8-3.

'We Blew It,' Says Cowboys' Morton

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—"Ridiculous."

Dallas quarterback Craig Morton spat the word out of his mouth like he had bitten into a green pecan.

"It's absolutely ridiculous to take the ball the length of the field to get into a position to win and then blow it," he said.

The Cowboys had to settle for a 24-24 National Football League tie with San Francisco Thanksgiving night when Mike Clark's 37-yard field goal attempt was blocked by Charlie Krueger with 12 seconds remaining.

Seconds earlier the Cowboys were tagged five yards for offsides and some felt Clark might have taken a fraction of a second longer to kick the ball because of the extra distance in the swirling 22 mile-an-hour north wind at his back.

"The penalty didn't affect my concentration," Clark said. "It didn't bother me much, but it was ridiculous. That just gives the ball five more yards to fade in when it's windy. I felt I hit it good, though."

CRAIG MORTON

Both Clark and holder Danny Reeves thought the kick was going to be good. But Krueger, an 11-year veteran defensive tackle, blew out of nowhere up the middle.

"I just got lucky," Krueger said. "I just went in and got a piece of it. I didn't do anything special."

Morton had driven Dallas from its own 15 to the 49er 28 in less than two minutes to set up the field goal shot. With only 4:13 remaining, Morton had tied the game with a 19-yard touchdown pass to Lance Rentzel, who made a diving catch.

Dallas coach Tom Landry was most perplexed about the blocked field goal.

"We weren't playing for the tie," he said. "We were playing conservatively for the field goal. We got exactly where we wanted . . . and then missed it."

The victory gives Dallas an 8-2-1 record and a comfortable bulge over Washington which is 5-3-2 in the Capitol Division. If Washington loses to Los Angeles Sunday, Dallas can win the title by taking but one of its last three games.

Landry said, "We'd be in great shape if we had won . . . but we're in better shape than if we'd lost. We're struggling a little now and we've got to start fighting. We'll have to fight our next three games."

Dallas has Pittsburgh, Baltimore and Washington remaining on its schedule.

Quarterback John Brodie of San Francisco was magnificent in defeat although the Dallas pass rush got to him five times. He hit 18 of 33 passes for 255 yards, including touchdown passes of 19 yards each to Ken Willard and Gene Washington.

The luckless 49ers are now 2-7-2 in the Coastal Division.

"Dallas is a good football team, but they met a good one tonight," said 49er coach Dick Nolan. "We should have won it."

Morton was intercepted three times by the scrappy 49er defense and hit but 16 of 37 attempts for 206 yards. He nailed Bob Hayes on a 31-yard shot for his only other scoring pass.

Rookie Calvin Hill of Dallas, the NFY's leading rusher, saw only brief action before his jammed right toe began bothering him. He left the game in the second quarter and was replaced by Danny Reeves.

Morton probably summed it up for the ragged appearing Cowboys:

"When you get in a position to win the game, you should."

And it's a weakness that has hurt the Cowboys time and again.

Big Plays Boost Vikes By Lions

By The Associated Press

Championship football teams come up with the unexpected—like the 12-foot-7, 503-pound razzle-dazzle combination of the Minnesota Vikings.

The Vikings clinched the title in the Central Division of the National Football League by blanking Detroit in the snow Thursday, 27-0, and the final Minnesota touchdown was a real stunner.

In the fourth quarter, Alan Page, a 6-foot-4, 255-pound defensive tackle tipped a pass by Detroit quarterback Greg Landry and Jim Marshall, a 6-foot-3, 248-pound defensive end intercepted it on the Lions' 41-yard-line.

Marshall chugged toward the end zone, and when it looked like Landry might force him out of bounds on the 12, he lateraled the ball to Page, who rumbled in for the touchdown.

In three other Thanksgiving Day games, Dallas tied San Francisco 24-24 in the NFL, while Kansas City trounced Denver 31-17 and San Diego upset Houston 21-17 in the American Football League.

Los Angeles is at Washington, Cleveland at Chicago, Atlanta at Baltimore, Philadelphia at New Orleans, New York at Green Bay and Pittsburgh at St. Louis in the NFL Sunday while in the AFL Oakland is at New York, Cincinnati at Buffalo and Boston plays Miami at Tampa, Fla.

Minnesota's victory was its 10th straight after an opening-game defeat. Detroit now is 7-4.

Dave Osborn scored on a two-yard run for Minnesota in the first quarter and Joe Kapp passed six yards to Oscar Reed for a third-quarter touchdown. Fred Cox kicked a 41-yard field goal in the second period and added a 38-yarder after Page's touchdown.

Linebacker Bobby Bell returned a kickoff 53 yards for a touchdown and Jan Stenerud kicked a league-record 11th straight field goal, a 16-yarder, as Kansas City boosted its record to 10-2 and moved to within percentage points of first-place Oakland in the Western Division. Warren McVea ran for two touchdowns and Emmitt Thomas scored with an interception as the Chiefs built up a 24-3 lead over Denver, 4-7-1.

Rams Picked To Tip Skins

NEW YORK (AP) — With the National Football League races all but over, pro attention shifts Sunday to the meeting of Oakland and the New York Jets at Shea Stadium, another pairing that could be a preview of the Jan. 4 title game.

On comparative scores it has to be the Raiders all the way. They beat Kansas City last week, 27-24, after the Chiefs had dumped the Jets 34-16 the previous Sunday. However, it doesn't work that way in the pro leagues.

Joe Namath and friends will be up for this one, coming off that 40-7 romp over Cincinnati, but Oakland still remembers that 27-23 loss at Shea last December, a loss that cost them the big Super Bowl check.

Let's take a look at the National Football League and American Football League action for Sunday.

NFL

Los Angeles 27, Washington 20—Rams can't afford to let up because Sonny Jurgensen is having one of his best seasons under new boss Vince Lombardi. Rams' game plan sure to call for plenty of Les Josephson and Larry Smith up the middle to take advantage of Skins' soft underbelly. A win will be the division clincher for Los Angeles.

BETTER SWC RECORD FOR RUSHING

Steers Win Ninth Game At Expense Of A&M

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas flexed its newly-attained No. 1 national ranking all over Kyle Field Thursday and although it was Thanksgiving, the Longhorns made the Texas Aggies eat pigskin.

From sophomore halfback Jim Bertelsen's 63-yard touchdown run on the fourth play of the game to Rick Nabors' 41-yard pass interception return as the game ended, the gruelling Texas rushing attack rammed the ball down the Aggies' throat for a 49-12 Southwest Conference victory.

Texas' victory in the traditional game gave the Longhorns a 9-0 record and set up a shoot-out next week on national television against second ranked and unbeaten Arkansas for the SWC title and the host spot in the Cotton Bowl opposite eighth-ranked Notre Dame.

The Longhorns, who entered the game as the nation's leading rushing offensive unit, pierced the flimsy A&M line for 330 yards to better the SWC record of 3,315 for a season. The new standard is 3,385 yards.

Texas Coach Darrell Royal said the decision by ABC television before the season to ask Texas and Arkansas to postpone their scheduled October game until December makes the network "look smarter than a tree-full of owls" since both teams enter the game with 9-0 records.

The Longhorns struck with lightning quickness in the first half, hitting paydirt on six of their eight possessions.

Bertelsen's 63-yarder came with less than two minutes gone in the game. The sturdy sophomore hit the right side of the Aggie line, appeared to stumble in the secondary, then shot into the clear for the touchdown to open the gate on the Aggie end zone.

Before the half ended with Texas ahead 39-0 fullback Steve Worster had scored twice on runs of 2 and 3 yards, quarterback James Street scored on an 8-yard run and Ted Koy hit from 7 yards out.

Royal pulled his first offensive unit shortly before halftime and the first defensive team came out with 4:35 left in the third quarter.

Quarterback Rocky Self passed three yards to Ross Bruphacher and Jim Piper returned a blocked punt four yards in the fourth quarter to finally get the Aggies on the scoreboard.

It all made a believer out of Aggie head coach Gene Stallings.

"Texas is as good a football team as I've ever seen," Stallings said. "I know they're the best I've ever played. They are better than I thought."

The Aggies wound up with 88 yards rushing and 67 more in the air and not even by using Texas' own Wishbone-T offense could A&M get an attack going.

"We used the Wishbone to get (fullback Steve) Burks and (tailback Larry) Stegent into the game at the same time," Stallings said.

"Our line just wasn't blocking as good as we needed," Stallings said.

Commenting on the Aggies' use of the Wishbone, Royal said: "I forgot which team to root for. Not really. I'm not color-blind."

A crowd of 51,160 saw the game. It was the largest ever to witness a game at Kyle Field.

Texas now leads the series, 53-18-5, and the loss closed the Aggies' season with a 3-7 record.

Porkers Firm Up Rep As Defensive Club

LITTLEROCK, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas' defense, which leads the nation against scoring, did nothing Thursday to damage its reputation.

The second-raked Razorbacks intercepted five passes and dumped the Texas Tech quarterback nine times in a 33-0 victory over the Red Raiders.

"Our defense was magnificent," said Coach Frank Broyles. "It was our best defense since the Sugar Bowl."

He was referring to Arkansas' 16-2 upset of Georgia in the Jan. 1, 1969 Sugar Bowl in which the defense shut down the then unbeaten Bulldogs at every turn.

Thursday's nationally televised victory over Tech sends Arkansas into a Dec. 6 showdown with high-scoring Texas at Fayetteville, sporting a 9-0 record, same as the top-ranked Longhorns, and a 15-game winning streak.

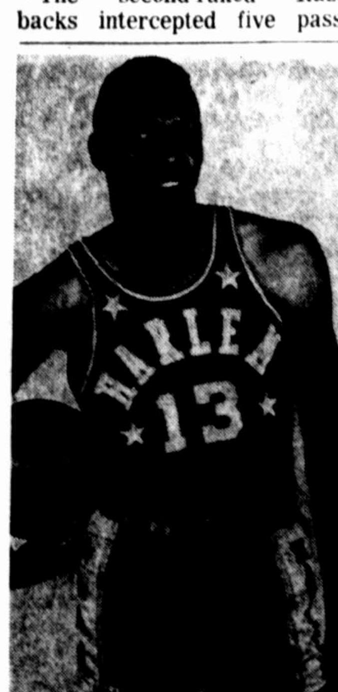

The winner will take the Southwest Conference championship, gain the host spot in the Cotton Bowl against Notre Dame and have a clear shot at the national championship.

Thursday, the Razorbacks were successful early using their linebackers to pressure Tech's quarterbacks.

"Our game plan against a team that likes to throw is to blitz," Broyles said. "If we are successful we stay with it. And we were successful today."

Arkansas showed its offensive versatility when Tech jammed its linebackers in tight, stacking up the middle.

"We knew we were going to have to throw," Broyles said. "Bill (Montgomery) has regained his confidence and he did a real good job."

SWEET SAM SMITH

Senior Class Sponsoring Dec. 3 Game

GARDEN CITY — The Wednesday, Dec. 3, basketball game here between the touring Harlem Stars and the Garden City Gladiators, scheduled to start at 8:30 p.m., is being sponsored by the senior class of the Glasscock County schools.

Admission prices have been pegged at $1.50 for adults, $1 for students from the seventh grade on through high school and 50 cents for those in the sixth grade and younger.

The Stars stage one of the funniest acts seen on a basketball floor. They deal in razzle dazzle ball handling, intricate routines and all sorts of comedy, both planned and impromptu.

The Stars began their season in Alaska the last week in September and will appear in an estimated 40 states before the season ends. They'll also appear in Mexico, Canada, Australia, Japan and parts of Europe.

Boyd Buie is owner of the Magicians, and subscribes to the theory:

"Send them home laughing."

Among standouts with the Harlem team are Sammie (Sweet Sam) Smith, 6-8; Curtis (Young Blood) Williams, 6-5; Don Presley 6-4; and Richard (Honey Bear) Dabney, 6-8.

Smith, a native of Richmond, Calif., is sometimes referred to as the Bill Russell of the touring teams.

The Stars are on the verge of losing Sweet Sam to the Armed Forces and are having trouble finding a replacement.

In one game against a British Columbia team, Smith blocked no fewer than 18 shots headed for the basket. In his eighth season with the Stars, Sweet Sam teams with Williams to give the Stars a powerful defensive alignment.

Pool Show Is Set Saturday

Pocket billiards ace Jack White, who gives a free exhibition in the Highland Shopping Center mall at 1 p.m., Saturday, says that man's last hiding place — the pool room — is now being shared by the woman.

White will exhibit his great talent against a character known as Santa Claus, who is making a premature visit to the area.

Not too long ago, White says, a pool hall was a place where a man could hide from his wife. The parlor was invariably dimly lit, smoke filled and had an odor of rotten wood and spittoons that hadn't been emptied in three days.

That is no longer the case. Today, the pool hall boasts wall to wall carpeting, a color scheme that would make the White House blush, piped in music, tables that feature almost every color but green, a proprieter that models a white shirt and, of all things, a line of women and children.

Big business has turned its attentions to making a pool cue artist out of La Femme and is succeeding, White says. It's men like Jack who has turned pool into an affair for everybody.

White travels over 500,000 miles a year doing things with a billiards cue that Disney Studies would hesitate to do in a Mickey Mouse movie.

Jack is only 38 but he's been playing billiards since the age of 8. He's appeared on many TV shows and been featured in numerous national magazines.

Steers Open Meet At 4

ABILENE — Fort Worth Eastern Hills has the best record (3-0) among teams in the annual Key City Basketball tournament starting here today but Abilene High and Plainview loom as the favorites.

Big Spring (2-3) opens against Plainview (4-1) at 4 p.m. today.

In other first round games, Eastern Hills and Lubbock High (1-2) at 5:30 p.m., Abilene Cooper (2-1), the defending titlist, tangles with Corpus Christi Carroll (2-1) at 7 p.m., and Abilene High (2-1) plays Waco Richfield (4-1) at 8:30 p.m.

This is the 15th annual Key City meet and it is being staged in the Abilene High School gymnasium.

The tournament extends through Saturday night.

Big Spring lost a decision to Plainview earlier this year, 74-51. Their play maker, Bruce Hutto, didn't even suit out for the contest, however.

Chargers Tip Oiler Eleven

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — There is something about the Houston Oilers that seems to bring out the best in the San Diego Chargers.

That was the situation Thursday as the Chargers came from behind in the second half and upset the Oilers, 21-17, before a crowd of 40,065 in the Astrodome.

San Diego now has won 10 of the last 11 games between the two American Football League clubs.

An 11-yard interception return for a touchdown by Charger safety Kenny Graham in the fourth quarter was the killing blow to Houston's Thanksgiving Day hopes. Houston was leading 17-14 when Graham picked off the pass throw by Oilers quarterback Don Trull from his end zone.

Houston coach Wally Lemm thought it was more than just Graham's interception.

"We just stunk in the second half," Lemm said. "We had no rush, no defense and no offense."

Charger coach Charlie Waller praised quarterback John Hadl, Graham and the Charger defense.

"We had a tremendous effort, just what we had been preaching," Waller said.

He said Graham "is always in the right place at the right time."

Hadl guided the Chargers to a touchdown early in the second half after rookie Marty Domres passed to Gary Garrison for 23 yards for the first one.

Hadl took the Chargers 73 yards in 10 plays following the second half kickoff to cut the margin to 14-17. Russ Smith went the final three.

Beathard scored from two yard out to cap a 45-yard drive for one Houston touchdown and guided the Oilers 70 yards to the three where he suffered an ankle injury after a five-yard run. Trull entered the game and on the first play he hit Hoyle Granger with a three-yard touchdown pass.

Roy Gerela kicked a 42-yard field goal to give Houston a 17-7 halftime lead but that was all the Oilers could do for the day.

Vietnam War Said Immoral

HOUSTON (AP) — The United States' involvement in Vietnam has been labeled as "immoral" by representatives of the nation's social studies teachers.

A resolution adopted by the House of Delegates of the National Council for the Social Studies (NCSS) Thursday urged the government to "exert every effort" toward military disengagement.

The resolution said the Vietnam war "is destroying the positive image of the United States throughout the world."

The resolution was heatedly debated by delegates during a five-hour session.

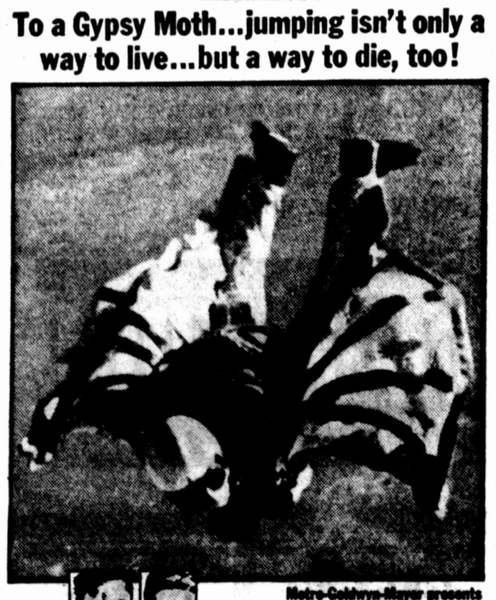

In other resolutions, delegates endorsed a 12-month school year; opposed what they called censorship of contemporary literature in the classroom; and voted to contribute $1,000 to the Martin Luther King Jr. memorial in Atlanta.

The 18,000-member organization includes social studies teachers and administrators from elementary and secondary schools, colleges and universities.

Oil Rig Mishap Hurts Three Men

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — An accident aboard an oil rig drilling in the Gulf of Mexico left three men injured and one missing early today, the Coast Guard reported.

It said the accident occurred on the Pennrod rig No. 57 at a point 75 miles east-southeast of Galveston.

Details of what happened were not learned at once.

The Coast Guard dispatched a helicopter from Houston, a plane from Corpus Christi and the cutter Point Hope from Sabine Pass to the rig.

A spokesman said the helicopter would take the injured men to a Galveston hospital. The plane was directed to escort the helicopter both ways then to help hunt the missing man.

THE FAIREST OF THEM ALL — Miss World 1969, 20-year-old Eva Rueber-Staier of Austria, was crowned Thursday night in London as thousands cheered the blonde model from Vienna. As actor Omar Sharif placed the crown on the winner's head, women demonstrators demanding 'liberation' of their sex booed the proceedings.

Thousands Cheer New Miss World

LONDON (AP) — Thousands cheered the new Miss World, a blonde model from Vienna, but women demonstrators demanding "liberation" of their sex booed as actor Omar Sharif crowned the winner Thursday night.

Squads of police patrolled the Albert Hall ballroom to keep order among the protesters as 20-year-old Eva Rueber-Staier accepted the title and said: "The first thing I want is my boy friend over here."

"Being Miss World isn't going to make any difference to my marriage plans," she said. The date is "sometime next year and we hope to have two or three children."

Miss Rueber-Staier, who measures 36-23-36 won out over 49 other contestants. She will receive $6,000 in prize money and $27,000 in personal appearance fees.

Miss United States, Gail Renshaw, 22, of Arlington, Va., came in second and picked up a $1,200 prize, which she plans to use to pay off the mortgage on her parents' home. The frosty-haired accountant with a 39-25-37 figure said afterwards:

"I'm through with the beauty contest business. I plan to stick with accounting and work for a degree."

Two groups of demonstrators, totaling about 50 persons, distributed leaflets to the 5,000 spectators.

One group, the Women's Liberation Workshop, said the Miss World show meant "the economic, social and psychological degrading of women" and benefited "no one except big business."

The other group was protesting South Africa's participation in the contest because of the nation's segregationist policies.

There was no trouble despite a threat received by police that smoke bombs would be set off in the auditorium.

Coat Called Maxi Hazard

NEW YORK (AP) — The maxicoat is a lady-tripping, street-sweeping, escalator-clogging menace to the female population!

So says the Greater New York Safety Council speaking out on fashion's current fad.

Disgruntled girl watchers have derided the maxi as an aesthetic hindrance, but the council declared it a safety hazard as well.

Mrs. Marjorie B. May, the council's director of home safety, warned fashionable maxi fans Thursday of these pitfalls:

—Maxis can easily trip the wearer on stairs and curbs.

—The floor-length hem catches in escalators and in bus, elevator and revolving doors.

—Maxis have a tendency to become street sweepers and subway dusters if the wearer forgets to lift her hems.

"Today's women have not yet learned how to walk gracefully in the maxi clothes," said Mrs. May. "They have little understanding of how to lift the long skirt or coat for graceful stepping and for safety.

"Having layers of heavy, wet and dirty fabric slopping against one's ankles on a rainy day or in snowy, slushy weather can be not only uncomfortable but definitely detracts from the well-groomed look the wearer may be striving to achieve."

Army Judge Calls Meeting Of Attorneys

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — An Army judge says his order for potential witnesses not to discuss My Lai slaying case in public is being defied and has called a meeting of attorneys today.

Lt. Col. Reid W. Kennedy, who will establish the Army's legal guidelines in the court-martial of Lt. William L. Calley Jr., announced Thursday his plans to call the closed session "to come to some kind of conclusion about defiance of an order to witnesses . . . to quit talking to the press."

He gave no indication of the action contemplated.

"I can understand almost anything except this continuous interrogation of witnesses and potential witnesses and the publication of what they say before it is said in court," Kennedy said. "Something just has to be done about this."

Calley, a 26-year-old former platoon commander in Company C, 1st Battalion, 11th Infantry Brigade, is charged with murdering 109 South Vietnamese civilians at the village of My Lai on March 16, 1968.

The Army said Monday it plans to bring Calley before a general court-martial.

A day later, Kennedy, who is senior trial judge in the judge advocate's section here, ordered that potential witnesses be instructed to discuss the case before trial only with attorneys involved or Calley.

In Saigon, Thursday, South Vietnamese Sen. Tran Van Don said members of his Defense Committee and the Senate Interior Committee will go to Quang Ngai Province shortly to investigate reports of the slaying.

"We do not know where the truth is and we want to verify what happened," he said.

S. Sgt. David Mitchell has been charged with assault with intent to murder and the U.S. Army says it is investigating 24 soldiers and ex-soldiers in the case.

In London, British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart said President Nixon can continue to count on British backing of U.S. policy in Vietnam even if a massacre occurred.

He said U.S. aims in Vietnam are just and "I don't see that it is disproved because it is claimed, or even that it is proved, that there has been this atrocity . . .

"If it were," he continued, "we ought to have dismissed the North Vietnamese case long ago because the deliberate killing of civilians . . . has been a part of the North Vietnamese method for a long time."

Calley is under no form of confinement here and is going about his duties as an aide to Col. Talton W. Long, deputy post commander. After his trial was ordered, he was forbidden to leave the Columbus, Ga., area without permission.

DEAR ABBY: We are a group of girls in our late 20s who love to ski! The social life at night is marvelous. But we have one big problem.

MARRIED MEN! What is wrong with wives who let their husbands come up to a ski resort alone for a weekend? Are they naive? Or just plain stupid?

We girls are free, and are out for a good time, but basically we are looking for husbands. These married men probably tell their wives they ski all day and are too tired at night to do anything but sleep. (I wish their wives could see them at night. They are peppier than the bachelors.)

We do not want to get involved with married men, but how can we tell who is married?

Our only hope is for you to tell the wives to smarten up and either go with their husbands or keep them at home.

BUNNY

DEAR BUNNY: There is no way for a girl to tell whether or not a man she meets on the slopes, the beach or any other place men hang out is on the level. Her only protection is her own common sense. She should beware of giving too much of her heart (or anything else) to a man she knows only casually.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My mother died recently, and the night she died Mom's sisters went over to Dad's house and went through all Mom's things and took what they wanted. My dad was home, but he is blind, and was still in a state of shock over Mom's death so he couldn't be expected to stop them.

My question is this: Did they have a right to do this without first consulting my brother and me? And isn't it considered unethical to do this before the funeral?

I might add that I am furious because I left a pair of MY shoes at the house while I was staying there taking care of Dad during Mom's illness, and they even took THEM. MRS. B.

DEAR MRS. B.: I can't imagine anyone wanting ANYTHING that desperately. Your aunts were clearly out of line. Ask your Dad to tell them to bring back everything they took until HE decides who shall get what. And if he's too timid, your lawyer can put it in a letter.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am an amateur photographer and I process my own film.

When my wife first became pregnant, several months ago, I asked if I could accompany her into the delivery room to take pictures of her giving birth to our firstborn child. At first she hesitated, but she finally agreed.

I purchased a very expensive high quality camera and have been looking forward to getting some exceptional shots of this "big event."

Now as the time draws nearer, my wife tells me that she has changed her mind and would be "embarrassed" for me to take such pictures. I would do my own developing so no one but my wife and I would see these photos.

Do you think she is being fair to me? STATEN ISLANDER

DEAR STATEN ISLANDER: It's a woman's prerogative to change her mind, and I don't blame her.

Although the Hornet served a recovery ship for other astronaut flights, Apollo 12 was Parker's first recovery mission.

Parker's duties include getting the news of the astronauts from their shipboard isolation quarters to the rest of the world.

His responsibility is to see that stories are transmitted on a ship-to-shore telegraph system to news bureaus and the Department of Defense monitors at the Manned Spacecraft Center near Houston.
