Mitchell, Scurry FmHA offices to consolidate

Citing a larger workload in Mitchell County than in Scurry County, the Farmers Home Administration office in Snyder will be closed effective Monday, June 6, FmHA officials have announced.

Both Mitchell and Scurry Counties are served by the same FmHA county supervisor, David P. Marion, who will now be officed in Colorado City on a fulltime basis while continuing to make weekly visits to Snyder for persons unable to travel out of town.

John Wolf, district director for the FmHA based in Abilene, said the change was "something we'd been looking

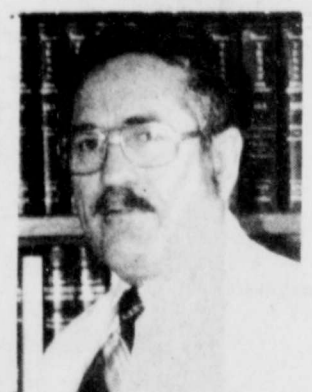

Tucker leaves Westbrook High

"I'd like to stay in this area, and stay in coaching," were the words of ex-Westbrook boys basketball coach Jerry Tucker Thursday, after he revealed to the RECORD that his contract had not been renewed at Westbrook High School.

This was Tucker's third year as head boys basketball coach at WHS after coming to the class A school from Lubbock Cooper. In three years at Westbrook, Tucker's team posted an 11-39 mark.

Crow is named Officer of the Month

Kenneth Crow

Kenneth Crow, criminal investigator for the 32nd Judicial District Attorney's Office, a district which includes Mitchell, Nolan and Fisher Counties, has been selected by Master Detective magazine as National Police Officer of the Month for July.

Crow, one of 17 criminal investigators among some 400 in Texas who have been designated a Professional Criminal Investigator by the Texas District and County

Attorney's Association, has held that position since August of 1972 when the position was originated by himself, the district attorney at that time, Frank Ginzel, District Judge Weldon Kirk, Texas Ranger Gene Graves and Juvenile and Adult Probation Officer Shorty Roundtree.

One incident Crow recalls that happened in the early part of his career as district attorney's office criminal investigator involves his introduction to local Justice of the Peace Mary Lee Moore.

He had been called in to investigate a rape case in Colorado City while former sheriff Bill McGuire was still a deputy. Crow had been at the scene of the incident and had questioned the victim, who had a positive identification of the suspect, but he wanted more evidence because "Defense attorneys can sure tear up a positive identification," he said.

He called in a fingerprint expert from Big Spring and, he remembers, "We got over to the apartment and it was supposed to have been secured and this woman came walking out with a wet mop in her hand. I asked her what she was doing in there and, you know Mary Lee, she told me if it was any of my so-and-so business, she'd been in there mopping and cleaning up the place. I asked her if she'd mopped that floor in there and she said she — sure did."

He continued, "I told her that she'd probably destroyed valuable evidence and that she shouldn't even be in there. She wanted to know who I was and what right I had telling her that she should be anywhere and one word led to another and McGuire, he just enjoyed it. She set back there and laughed and didn't tell me she was justice of the peace and I didn't tell her I was anything either.

"I went in there and just to get even with Mary Lee, I dusted the whole house (for fingerprints) and she had to clean it all up again," he chuckled.

"We're friends now," he added. Everything turned out well, though, because Crow had taken the suspect's clothing and some hair samples and one of the hairs turned out to be one of the head hairs of the victim and the assailant was sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary.

One of the more spectacular cases Crow has investigated was one that occurred in Roby in 1976. A 20-year-old woman was found dead in her bath tub and a small radio plugged into a wall outlet was in the bath water.

At first, the death was ruled accidental, but the persistence of the woman's family plus Crow's investigative skills finally paid off and it was found that the dead woman's husband had killed her.

It took five years of investigation to clear that particular case. "That was one that really struck in my craw," said Crow.

Crow has been in police work since June of 1959 when he went to work for the Sweetwater Police Department, though he had to resign in 1962 in order to take higher paying jobs to enable him to pay off some enormous medical bills when he developed an incurable kidney disease; he went back to police work in 1965.

Crow finds it hard to explain exactly why he enjoys police work so much and attributes part of the reason to his background: "I kind of grew up in a law enforcement atmosphere. My people were peace officers and deputy sheriffs and judges. I've always admired the law."

He also noted, "I'm not any different than anybody else. I hate a bully—everybody does—and I thought the law was what gave a weak person the same standing as a bully."

Crow said thoughtfully, "It wasn't guns, it wasn't violence. I don't like to do violence to anybody unless absolutely necessary and I don't care that much for guns. I'm a pretty good shot but I rarely ever

Four have entered Rodeo Queen contest

A total of four girls have entered the AJRA Rodeo Queen contest: Holly Hicklin, Missy Neff, Shelly Bird and Jennifer Beasley.

The girls picked up their rodeo tickets Wednesday and will be selling them in order to make points to be counted during the selection of the queen, who will be crowned on the final night of the rodeo, Saturday, July 2.

Advance tickets for the rodeo, which will begin on Wednesday,

June 29, are $3 for adults and $2 for children. At the gate, tickets will be $3.50 for adults and $2.50 for children.

The rodeo parade will start at 5 p.m. Saturday, July 2 and a barbecue supper will be held at 5:45 p.m. on the courthouse lawn.

Three more to vie for Miss Mitchell County

Three Colorado High School students have announced their entry in the Miss Mitchell County pageant to be held June 24 and 25, one of whom participated in last year's contest.

Lisa Garner said, "It was a lot of fun last year," noting the production number planned for this pageant enticed her to enter again because, "I thought it would be a lot of fun."

At 14, she will be a sophomore next year. She lives with her grandparents, Willie and Marcelle Garner, and has three brothers and sisters, Scott, Shana and Edward.

School activities that Lisa is involved in include Fellowship of Christian Athletes, student council, flag corps, tennis and band, where she plays the flute.

Her hobbies are snow skiing, water skiing, swimming and ice skating.

She has not decided yet what she will perform for the talent segment of the pageant.

Traci Blackwell is the 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rod Blackwell and will be a junior next year.

In school, she participates in athletics, volleyball, basketball, track and Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Her hobbies include cooking, watching TV and talking.

She decided to enter the Miss Mitchell County contest because, "Everyone told me how much fun it was. It would be a new experience, so I decided to enter."

For the talent segment, Traci will do a gymnastic routine to "What A Feeling."

the challenge," said Tucker. "I have enjoyed working with the kids the last three years. With their experience, I hope the kids get together and win. I think they will be on the winning side the next couple of years," he said.

A 1962 graduate of Big Spring High School, Tucker went on to attend and graduate from the University of Texas at El Paso. His first job was as a physical education teacher at Parkland Elementary in El Paso in 1971.

From there he went to Yorktown in South Texas where he was assistant junior varsity football coach.

In 1975 he was head basketball coach at Slaton High School where his team posted a 2-20 record. The following year the Tigers finished second in district with an 18-11 slate.

After leaving Slaton, Tucker became head girls basketball coach at Union High School, where he stayed for two seasons. His best season there was an 18-10 season.

From Union, the ex-Wildcat mentor coached two seasons at Lubbock Cooper High School before accepting the head coaching position at Westbrook. In 11 years of coaching, Tucker's teams have posted a 68-117 record.

Tucker stated that although he would like to stay in this area because he grew up here, he didn't know for sure where he would end up. But he added that he might go back to coaching girls.

Committee system passes House

The House of Representatives passed a measure by Congressman Charles W. Stenholm (D-Stamford) to strengthen and expand the Farmers Home Administration county committee system.

The Stenholm measure was part of the Emergency Agricultural Credit Act of 1983, which passed the House by a bipartisan 378-35 margin.

FmHA county committees, currently appointed by agency officials, would include some locally elected members under the changes Stenholm designed. In addition, some appointed members would have to have agricultural lending experience so as to bring greater expertise to the committee's decisions.

"The House of Representatives has taken a positive step toward allowing the FmHA county committee to function as a 'loan committee' and provide peer review for FmHA borrowers," Stenholm said. "It will strengthen the present system, give farmers a voice in the FmHA loan process and help out hard-pressed county offices."

Under the Stenholm plan, the FmHA would set up three- or five-member committees, depending on the needs of the county. On three-member committees, two members would be elected by farmers voting in conjunction with regular ASCS community committee elections. The third member would be appointed, and would represent the rest of the farm lending community (production credit associations, federal land bank associations and private lenders) or present or past FmHA borrowers.

On five-member committees, three members would be elected. Two would be appointed, and one of these would represent the private and cooperative lenders such as banks, PCAs and FLBAs.

Stenholm said the changes were needed for several reasons:

-To provide for a stronger, more independent county committee system.

-To enable the committee to move toward functioning as a "loan committee" which provides peer reviews of loan decisions, thus making the system function more equitably and smoothly.

-To increase the confidence of farmers in the system by giving them a voice in the selection of the committee.

Functions of county committees in present law include certifying the eligibility of applicants for farmer program loans, reviewing problem borrowers and reviewing accounts when liquidation is contemplated.

The Emergency Agricultural Credit Act itself includes a number of provisions relating to FmHA, including re-authorizing several lending programs and clarifying eligibility for some emergency loans.

After graduation, she wants to attend college and major in elementary education and eventually she wants to "have a Christian family and be a good mother and wife."

This summer she will attend cheerleading camp at Hardin-Simmons University.

Yvonne Lujan is 14 years old right now, but will be 15 by the time the Miss Mitchell County pageant takes place and will be a sophomore at CHS next year.

She is the daughter of Catarino and Gloria Lujan and has one sister, Yvette.

Her hobbies include volleyball, cheerleading and dancing and at school she is active in athletics, cheerleading and Fellowship of Christian Athletes. She also hopes to be involved in one act play competition next year.

In the talent segment, Yvonne will perform an excerpt from "Belle of Amhurst," a play about the life and poetry of Emily Dickenson.

The main reason for entering the contest, she said, was "A lot of people have encouraged me to. They said I would enjoy it."

shoot my gun. I feel like it's just a matter of trying to help people."

Crow believes education and training are essential for a good police officer and has been instrumental in getting bills before the legislature requiring a certain amount of education and providing funding for that education.

He explains, "Police officers now, due to the police officers' own efforts through TCLESE (Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Standards and Education), they have to have 360 hours in training along with a year's active duty before they can even be certified as a basic police officer."

He adds with a grin, "When I started, I had to read and write pretty good."

Crow feels that there are good things about being in law enforcement and bad things about it. "You can be a hero today but you're a so-and-so tomorrow," but he concludes simply, "it's a job of self-satisfaction."

at for more than a year." He added that the final decision was made last week by state FmHA officials.

"The underlying situation is one of economics and a more efficient operation," Wolf said.

Marion noted, "Ninety percent of all the loan accounts are located within a 25 mile radius of their home or their farm from the Colorado City office. This is not true of the location out of Snyder. The people in Scurry County will be receiving more timely attention to their needs in that they will be able to contact directly the County supervisor on a fulltime basis."

He added, "For the record, twice as many Julien and Chandler are united

Julie Julien Chandler

Julie Ann Holly Julien and Mark Allen Chandler were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. on June 4 at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Abilene. Dr. William Fleming, pastor, read the vows in the double ring candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Lt. Col. (United States Air Force, retired) and Mrs. Robin A. Julien of Abilene. The groom is the son of Mrs. Charlotte Chandler and Mr. J. D. Chandler of Odessa, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Currie of Colorado City.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white re-embroidered Alencon lace appliqued on white silk organza. The molded bodice overlaid with imported French lace was intricately beaded with tiny seed pearls. It was fashioned with a low neckline featuring leg-of-mutton sleeves, accented with re-embroidered lace and pearls. The bodice back and sleeves were closed with tiny fabric covered buttons. A softly pleated skirt of white satin swept to a wide cathedral length train. Her cathedral length veil featured the re-embroidered Alencon lace and tiny pearls on each side and scattered over the back and was gathered to a small Juliet cap of matching lace. She carried a cascade of white roses, stephanotis intermingled with baby's breath and white satin ribbons.

The bride carried a fine linen hand embroidered handkerchief made by her grandmother, Mrs. Carl Julien. For something borrowed, she wore her grandmother's pearl necklace. The traditional touch of blue was made and given by Mrs. M. C. Church. In her shoe was placed the same sixpence as worn by her mother on her wedding day. Her gown and veil were the traditional something new.

The marriage vows were exchanged before an altar in front of a large bouquet of white gladioli, stock, white tulips and baby's breath. The service was held in candlelight from three arched candelabra entwined with greenery under the large golden cross suspended over the altar. In flanking positions to the altar were large fern arrangements. A highlight of the ceremony was the lighting of the unity candle, by the newly married couple, a gift from the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Charles O. Norris. Greenery and white bows accented the center aisle. Providing selected nuptial music on the organ was Mrs. Pauline Caffey. Vocalists were Mary Daniel and Bryan Walsh.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Linda Reed of Austin. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Brad Taylor of Abilene and Miss Jalynn Chandler of Odessa, sister of the groom. They wore matching floor length gowns of soft lavender chiffon over taffeta with fitted bodice, softly gathered skirts with ties at both shoulders and at the waist. Each bridesmaid wore a circlet of flowers with lavender ribbons in her hair and carried a bouquet of summer flowers.

The best man for the groom was Mike Elder of Buda. His groomsmen were John Haake of San Antonio and Jay Chandler of Odessa, his brother. Serving as ushers and lighting the candles prior to the ceremony were Rob Julien from Austin and Jon Julien from Corpus Christi, brothers of the bride.

The reception was held in the church fellowship hall. The guests were registered by Mrs. Jon Julien of Corpus Christi, sister-in-law of the bride and Jeanne McLemore, Austin, fiancée of the bride's brother. The bride's table was laid with a white floor length cloth. The bride's bouquet and "throw away" bouquet provided the floral arrangements. A three-tiered colonnade cake topped with a summer floral arrangement and surrounded by greenery was decorated with confection roses. The silver appointments included candlesticks, and the silver punch bowl. Lavender napkins, mints and candles carried out the bride's colors.

The groom's table featured chocolate cake on a brass tray along with other brass appointments. Round covered tables with lavender candles and greenery provided seating for the guests. Dena and Parish Julien, niece and nephew of the bride assisted with gifts and rice during the reception. Members of the houseparty included Miss Kathy Janacek of Corpus Christi, Sharon Haynes of Austin, Sandy Bailey of Austin and Rosemary Hill of Abilene.

Following the reception, the couple left for a wedding trip to Dallas.

The bride is a graduate of Cooper High School in Abilene and received her BBA in finance on May 21 from the University of Texas in Austin. The groom graduated from Permian High School in Odessa and received his BBA degree in accounting from Southwest Texas State University. He is currently employed as an accountant with Childers, Martin and Company in Odessa where the couple plans to reside.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Charlotte Chandler, hosted the rehearsal dinner at the Kiva Inn. Among recent pre-nuptial courtesies was a bridal gift shower in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Stafford of Odessa, a bridal tea and gift shower in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Fennell of Abilene and a bridal luncheon in the home of Mrs. M. C. Church of Abilene.

You don't have to like cooking to be good

Lanette Ramage

Lanette Ramage doesn't cook because she has a great love for it. "I cook because I have to," she says. Still, the fact that she doesn't like to cook apparently does not affect the quality of her meals, because, he notes, "Robert says that even though I don't like to cook that I'm a good cook." Robert is her husband. They have one child, Kameron, age 6.

Ironically, a few years ago she decided to enter a pie in the county fair even though she hardly ever cooks sweets.

She recalls, "I made the pastry shell from scratch and then I used canned apples. I called my mother to ask her the seasoning you put in it." Mrs. Ramage grinned. "I won first place with it at the fair. Robert was a little upset because I didn't make him pies and he didn't even get to taste it. And I haven't made him another apple pie since and that's been about six years ago."

She notes that she learned how to cook from her mother: "She said she didn't know how to cook when she got married so she made us learn how to cook. It was really nice because it does help whenever you get married if you know how to cook—or whenever you get out on your own, either way—you don't have to learn it from scratch. You can look at a recipe if you've been taught how to cook and you can fix it, at least you know what you're doing.

The recipes Mrs. Ramage is sharing are three that she likes because they are easy to fix.

HOMINY CASSEROLE
1 large can hominy
1/2 stick butter
1 large onion, chopped
1 small can green chilies

2 c. grated Velveeta
2 T. flour
3/4 c. milk

Cook hominy in its own juice for 10 minutes; if any juice is left, drain it off.

In skillet, melt butter. Add onion and green chilies and cook until onion is limp. Gradually add flour, stirring, then add milk until it thickens.

Add cheese, hominy and pour in casserole dish and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

CHICKEN & RICE CASSEROLE
1 fryer chicken (cup)

up, salted and peppered)
1 c. uncooked rice
2 cans cream of chicken soup
1 can water

Poultry seasoning (optional)
Chopped onion (optional)

Mix rice, soup and water together in an oblong dish. Lay chicken pieces on top of rice.

Cover and bake at 350 degrees for 1 1/2 hours or until done.

Note—one can of mushroom soup may be substituted for one can of cream of chicken soup.

BOHEMIAN COFFEE

CAKE

1 c. Wesson Oil
1 c. brown sugar
1 c. white sugar
1 c. buttermilk

1 c. coconut and pecans

2 eggs

You Can Be The Most Fortunate

How many times have you either heard someone else say it, or you have said it yourself, "That person is so lucky"? Yes, many times we look around and see people that we think have it so much better than we do. But the Bible says that the most fortunate person in the whole world is that person who places their trust in God. Ephesians 1:3 reads: "Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has blessed us with all spiritual blessings in heavenly places in Christ." Yes, you see, whenever you place your faith in Christ, God blesses you with all spiritual blessings in heavenly places. This simply means that you can have a little of heaven right here with you in the life. Believe me, whenever we have a portion of heaven here on earth, then we are indeed most fortunate.

Molina and running go hand in hand

Some things never change, such as the case for running and Apolinar Molina, they seem to go hand in hand. Molina, in his early thirties, now competes in marathons, and other long distance running events. He says his love for running goes back to his old high school days when he competed for the Wolves in the mile in the late 60's. "My older brother Paul got me interested in running. At the time he was a junior and I was a sophomore. He also ran the mile and he got me to run the mile also," explained Molina. Apolinar fared well in his first varsity season in track. He finished second in district behind his brother and qualified for regional, running the mile in the low 4:40's. He finished fourth in regional last year. His junior year he won the district mile title and finished fifth at the regional meet. Apolinar's senior year was a rough one. He suffered a leg injury and was limited to running on the mile relay.

After finishing high school, Molina got married and became a pack-a-day smoker. Then he decided to take up running again. "I started out slow. I couldn't run a mile at the time," he admitted. He kept running for six months and stopped. "I just didn't have the incentive to run. At that time there was not any competitive races like they have now days, an I like to compete."

It would be six years before Apolinar would start back running again, and it would be the last time he would quit. He started out slow and gradually increased his distances. In two years he had worked his way up to running 10 miles a day, working out in either the morning or afternoon, because he feels it takes too much out of you to run in the heat. Another good thing that came out of his newly-reunited hobby is that he quit smoking. "After I stopped smoking, I felt a lot better," he said.

After getting back into the swing of running, Molina started entering various competitive distance races, and just like in his old high school days he started to win.

His first marathon (26.2 miles) was in 1980 in Abilene. He finished second in his age group with a time of 3:04. Molina recalls that race. "At the 20 mile mark I felt real tired like I couldn't go on. I wanted to quit, and the only thing that was going through my head was stopping and eating some tacos," he laughed. But fortunately his willpower over-ruled his stomach.

A short while later he entered a bi-athlon in Abilene, which was a 50 mile bike race and a marathon. Not even owning a bike, he didn't fare well in the bicycle competition, but placed high enough in the marathon to finish 11th in the overall competition.

Molina's last marathon was in Abilene last year when he took top honors in his age group, running a career best of 2:54. He also won the 9.4 mile run in Snyder last year in a time of 57 minutes.

What is his stragedy during the course of a marathon? "I try to pace myself behind someone who has a pre-ty good pace. If he slows down then keep on going." Molina trains by running 12-15 miles per day. He says the key is keeping the same pace. "When I run a 10 miler I try to pace myself at six minutes a mile. When I run a 15 miler, I try to pace each mile at 6:40," he explained.

Apolinar says he has no special diet or carbohydrate level he follows. He eats three meals a day, and admits he has a special craving for Mexican and Chinese food.

How does a runner feel after running a ma-rather? "I feel very tired and dehydrated. I usually lose about three to eight pounds during the race. It takes me about three days to recuperate after the race, then I'll start out running about 10 miles."

What possesses a person to go out everyday and put their body through such rigorous workouts? For Apolinar, the answer is simple: "I like to compete, and I like to win, and get something out of it. So far I have entered eight races, and have won something in all of them. I like to compete and do well."

After all, he and running go hand in hand.

HARDWARE-Apolinar Molina proudly shows his awards he has won in various running events.

Marian's Memos

I will be concentrating on home food preservation for the next couple of weeks. Hopefully I'll touch on an area that will interest you. Also, I want to remind you that my office has free bulletins on all aspects of home food preservation.

Have you had problems of spoilage of home canned foods? Take a look at the jars and lids you have been using. Do the jars have chips or nicks at the top? If they do, this can cause a poor seal—thus spoilage. Do not use these jars for canning. Do you tighten the two piece lid as tight as you can get it before and after processing? If you do, this can cause the sealing material to be broken—and again spoilage.

What can you do? Run your finger around the tops of jars and inspect them visibly to make sure they are smooth and free from nicks and cracks. If two-piece, self-seal lids are used, follow the manufacturer's instructions in adjusting the lid and tightening the metal ring. After processing, when the canned product is thoroughly cool, take off the metal ring, if possible without forcing. If the ring sticks, cover it with a hot, damp cloth for a minute or two to loosen. Then wash them to prevent rust and they may be used again. However, the lid may be used only once.

What is the best way to store canned foods? They should be stored in a clean, cool, dark, dry place. Canned food kept in a warm damp place may change in color and flavor. How long should home canned food be stored? It is wise to use all of it within a year.

Canning Green Beans

Prepare the beans just as you would for cooking—by snapping or cutting them into 1 or 2 inch pieces—or you might leave them whole. Pack them tightly into clean jars to ½ inch of the top of the jars while still raw. Cover them with boiling water leaving ½ inch space at the top of the jar. If salt is desired, add ½ teaspoon for a pint and 1 teaspoon for a quart. Wipe off the sealing surface of the jars and close according to the type of lid being used, following the manufacturer's directions.

Place the closed jars of hot beans in a pressure canner, which has 1½ to 2 inches of boiling water and a rack to hold the jars off the bottom of the cooker. Place the lid on the canner and fasten securely. If the lid has clamps, tighten opposite clamps moderately at first. Then go back over the whole set to tighten each pair as much as possible, with your fingers only. Leave the petcock open until the steam escapes steadily for 10 minutes so that no air is left in the cooker then close the petcock. If air is left in, it causes a vacuum and draws the liquid off the beans.

Count the processing time as soon as the pressure reaches 10 pounds. Keep a uniform pressure by adjusting the heat or by moving the canner carefully. Process the snap beans 20 minutes for pints and 25 minutes for quarts. At the end of the processing time, remove the canner from the heat. Allow the canner to cool until the gauge registers zero. Open the petcock gradually, and remove the cover. Leave the beans in the canner about 5 minutes. Take them out of the canner and place them right side up on a rack far enough apart to cool quickly. Do not place them in a draft or on a cold surface to prevent them from breaking.

Remember—no better beans will come out of the jars than went into them, so be sure to use good quality beans. If you do this and follow the directions carefully, you will come out with beans that are olive green in color and have the flavor of freshly cooked green beans. You can expect 30 to 40 pints of snap beans from one bushel of green beans.

If you want more information on canning, call or write me for a copy of B-194, "Home Canning Fruits and Vegetables."

School cooks honored

Two members of the cafeteria staff who are retiring this year were honored at Kelley Elementary during the last meeting of the 1982-83 school year of the Mitchell County branch of the Texas School Food Service Association.

The two honored were Mrs. Lonie Pruitt, manager at Hutchinson, and Mrs. Allene Hamner, bread-dessert cook at Middle School. Each was presented with a serving tray with her name and number of years of service engraved on it.

Refreshments of punch, cheese crackers, mints and mixed nuts were served from a table centered with a cake displaying the honorees' names.

Brucellosis quarantine delayed

A federal judge gave the quarantine-threatened Texas Cattle industry an 11th hour reprieve Tuesday, ordering the U.S. Department of Agriculture not to impose its export ban on Texas cattle until another hearing can be held on this issue later on this month.

U.S. District Judge James Nowlin granted the temporary restraining order six hours before the federal quarantine was scheduled to go in effect at midnight. The USDA threatened the action because of the state's failure to meet federal brucellosis-control regulations.

The request for the temporary restraining order was filed earlier Tuesday by Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox; Frates Seeligson, president of the Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, and Houston cattleman Robert Mason.

Nowlin said there was evidence to indicate that the USDA, in imposing the ban, violated federal notification procedures that require a 60 day period before new rules can be placed in operation.

The USDA, he noted threatened the quarantine only a week before it was scheduled to begin. A state court he noted, ruled almost four years ago that the Animal Health Commission has not been given sufficient authority to enforce the state-federal brucellosis program.

In addition, Nowlin said, there was evidence that the export ban on Texas cattle could have a large economic effect on the Texas Cattle industry.

Brucellosis, or Bangs disease, is a viral disease that predominantly affects cattle, but also occurs in swine and sheep. It results in abortions, weakened calves, reduced milk production and sterility in bulls.

Mattox said the state would use additional time in an effort to work out a compromise with the USDA. In addition he would ask Gov. Mark White to include the issue on the expected special session agenda.

Legislation that would have averted the quarantine by revamping the state's brucellosis program did not win passage in the regular session that ended Monday.

Mattox was unhappy with the USDA, saying courtroom testimony indicates the agency was urging other states to impose an import ban on Texas cattle, and attorney Charles Her-ring said the quarantine would trigger an "economic catastrophe" among Texas cattlemen.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Robert Michael Duffer said the USDA's actions should not be viewed as a quarantine. "Quarantine is almost the wrong word for this. It's a set of additional restrictions," he said, noting that steers and sprayed cattle would be free of the export ban, adding that only female cattle and bulls over six months old would be affected.

Local students get honors

Students from Colorado City and Lorraine were among those named to honors lists for the 1983 spring semester at Western Texas College.

Named to the President's List were Martha Joyce Barnard and Tanya Beth Sorrells of Colorado City and Patricia Munoz of Lorraine. This list includes students with a 4.0 (A) grade point average while enrolled for at least 15 hours.

Students on the Dean's List included Dale Barnard, Barbara Jane Chaney, Dawn Annette Chaney, Kimberly Ann Feaster, Susan Kay Moore, Karen Neff and Christopher Wallor of Colorado City and Sheila Dawn Martin of Lorraine. These students must have a 3.5 grade point average while enrolled for at least 12 hours.

Laura Annie Arnett and Larry Cathey of Colorado City were on the Merit List which is made up of students with a 3.5 grade point average while enrolled for at least eight but fewer than 12 hours.

Pre-registration for the 1983 fall semester at WTC will be held June 27-30 and July 25-28. Prospective students who would like information about courses on the fall schedule, financial aids available and campus housing are invited to contact the Student Services office at their earliest convenience.

Reform preservation urged

The president of the Texas Farm Bureau has called on Texas Congressmen and Senators to help preserve reforms of the Economic Recovery Act of 1981.

S. M. True Jr., said that Congress apparently has abandoned attempts to achieve a balanced budget by cutting federal spending in favor of increasing taxes and allowing federal deficits to build at what he called an unprecedented rate.

Farm Bureau is concerned about reports that the House Ways and Means Committee is recommending repeal of the third year of the income tax cut scheduled to go into effect July 1; freezing the estate tax exemption phase-in at the present level of $275,000, and repeal of the indexing provision due to begin Jan. 1, 1985.

House and Senate budget committees have adopted First Concurrent Budget Resolutions for fiscal 1984. The resolutions are non-binding and do not require presidential approval.

However, they do establish the fiscal framework or goals which Congress theoretically will try to follow in fiscal 1984.

Gerry Ritchey, the Mitchell County Farm Bureau National Affairs chairman, encourages members to write both Senators and Representative Dick Burnett to urge them to support this effort.

Post & Auxiliary furnish cake

The Wilson Wyatt VFW Post 9178 and its Ladies' Auxiliary furnished a birthday cake with a Fathers Day motif for the noon meal for the Senior Citizens at the Wallace Center on Thursday, June 2.

Some 97 senior citizens were served the chocolate cake with brown and beige icing decorated with a picture of an old-fashioned man with a Happy Father's Day written on it.

Birthday honorees were given take-home birthday cupcakes and centerpieces using a golf theme were placed on ten tables.

The cake was baked by Ann Ingram and decorated by Irma Ann Thomas.

Donations of money for the cake mixes were made by Mary Way, Frances Good and Pauline Wood.

Serving the cake at the Wallace Center were Mrs. Ingram, Virgie Mosley and a non-member, Cindy Ingram.

Tutoring sessions to begin

Special tutoring in math and language arts will be available beginning June 13 at the Wallace Center.

The tutoring program is for students in grades five through eight. The tuition is $10 per week.

Other subjects can be taught upon request.
