Pledge of Nation To World Peace Nearly Unanimous

Ratification Is Reached By 85 to 1 County As Galleries Give Applause To The Body's Voting

Blaine Opposes

Vote Is Made Possible By Borah's Accession To Interpretative Report By Body; Coolidge Favors

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON, Ass'd Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—America's adherence to the Kellogg multilateral treaty pledging the nations of the world to renounce war, was voted today by the senate 85 to 1.

Applause of the women-filled galleries over the announcement of the overwhelming vote. Mumbblings and some hisses from the galleries greeted the reading by Senate Clerk of the name of Senator Blaine, republican, of Wisconsin, as the only one recorded in the negative.

Borah Brings Vote
A vote was made possible when previously expressed views of Senator Borah that the treaty did not curtail America's right of self defense and that the Monroe doctrine was a part of this country's system of national defense. The report was laid before the senate but not acted upon.

Last minute attacks on the treaty were made by Senators Johnson, republican, of California, and Glass, democrat, of Virginia, who had described it as "nothingness" and "not worth the price of a postage stamp." This resulted in Senator

Annual Convention Is Task Ahead Now; Propose To Gain Better Poultry Departments for State

The first thing that is confronting the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, at this time is the making of the Eleventh Annual Convention at El Paso, May 13, 14 and 15, the best convention ever to have been held by the organization, was the declaration made here Tuesday by Homer D. Wade, manager of the organization, who is in Lubbock attending the convention of the South Plains Commercial Executives' association.

"Next, of course," he continued, "is the development of West Texas. We have got in our minds too much agricultural development. What we need to think of more is the development of our livestock, dairying and poultry industries."

Work On Poultry
Mr. Wade stated that the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is now supporting a bill to be introduced at the present session of the state legislature, whereby fully equipped poultry departments will be established by the state at Texas Technological College, Texas A. & M. College and the Texas Department of Agriculture.

UPTON TO ORDER BONDS

Road Program Calling For $500,000 Issue Planned

RANKIN, Jan. 15. (AP)—A $500,000 bond issue election, the money to be spent on highways, will be ordered by the Upton county commission, it was announced today.

This issue will provide for the paving of 32 miles of the Petroleum highway and for the repairing of lateral roads. Paving of the Petroleum highway would cost about $650,000, half of which is to be paid by the state. An agreement to that effect was made because of the many acres of University of Texas lands in Upton county from which the county receives no taxes.

Arizona Plans To File Suit Against Boulder Dam Bill

Arizona-Colorado River Commission Authorizes Action Against Project; To File Suit Today

(By Associated Press)

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 15. — The Arizona-Colorado river commission today authorized the filing of a suit in the United States Supreme court to prevent enactment of the Boulder canyon project and construction of the Boulder Black Canyon dam, Mulford Winsor, chairman of the commission, announced.

The commission authorized the "immediate employment of eminent counsel" and Chairman Winsor said prompt steps would be taken to file the suit within the next 24 hours.

Chimaxes Opposition
The action was regarded as a climax to Arizona's long standing opposition to the construction of the dam as provided in the swing-Johnson bill, which was passed by congress and signed by President Coolidge.

Today's move was the first official outburst that has come from this state since passing of the bill.

Two Men Are Modishly Garbed When Arrested And Have Travelers Checks, Stolen From Bank

(By Associated Press)

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 15.—Two men arrested here several days ago on suspicion are Clyde Roberts and Fred Nave, members of the Ace Pandleton gang of bank robbers, and killers of the southwest, Buffalo police were informed tonight by the criminal identification bureau of the department of justice.

Citing the previous record of the pair, the telegram from the department of justice urged Buffalo police by all means to hold the prisoners until Texas Rangers arrive to extradite them for alleged participation in the holdup of the Pampa National Bank of Borger, Texas, during the course of which two policemen were killed.

Hamer Sends Wire
Captain Frank Hamer of the Texas Rangers, in a telegram to Detective Chief Reville, said that Roberts, who gives the name of Walter Anderson, is wanted in connection with the wild holdup of the Borger bank and also in connection with other crimes. His photograph has been identified, Captain Hamer wired tonight, as one of the bank bandits. He said also a picture of Nave, who terms himself John C. Ewing, resembled one of the bandits.

Ace Pandleton, leader of the daring gang, now is under arrest at El Dorado, Ark., and is being held on homicide charges for the Texas authorities. Two other alleged members of the band.

Seek Nine Judges In Supreme Court

AUSTIN, Jan. 15. (AP)—At the behest of a committee from the Texas Bar Association which met with 50 other attorneys from various sections of the state at a luncheon here today, a joint resolution will be offered by Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman tomorrow, calling for a referendum on a proposed amendment increasing the membership of the state supreme court from three to nine and providing for a continuous term.

The proposed legislation, which had its origin in the Harris county bar association, was among the recommendations stressed by Gov. Moody in his address to the legislature last week. Justices C. M. Carson, T. B. Greenwood, and William Pearson of the supreme court; W. M. Crook of Beaumont, president of the state bar association; Senators Woodward and Wirtz of Seguin and Holbrook of Galveston spoke in favor of the resolution at today's meeting.

House Committee Votes To Postpone Money Bills

Extra Session For Appropriations Is Likelihood

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 15.—The House appropriations committee voted unanimously today to oppose passage of general appropriation bills at this session of the legislature, in answer to earlier action in the upper house in which that body refused, 19 to 9, to table indefinitely the first of the general appropriation bills, the Judiciary Bill.

The action of the House committee apparently puts the two halves of the legislature in complete disagreement on the question, although the committee action does not bind the House as a whole.

Only One In Favor
Only one of the 19 members of the House appropriations committee, Representative Harold Kayton, of San Antonio, spoke in favor of the early appropriation program but when the question came to a vote he voted with the other members of the body.

Representative Victor B. Gilbert, of Callahan said that highway legislation and other important business before the legislature would be crowded completely off the map if an attempt were made to pass the appropriation bills at this session. Representative George C. Kemble, of Fort Worth, asserted that the appropriation bills, if passed at this session, would have to be passed so hastily that they would do nothing but "rubber stamp" recommendations of the board of control.

Nearly Every Member Heard.
Almost every member of the committee present was heard, some maintaining that educational measures should take precedence over appropriations and others that public land legislation was more urgent. One member pointed out that almost every local bill introduced would be crowded out as well as constitutional amendments, two types of legislation that cannot come before called sessions.

The action in the Senate was more indirect, as the vote did not

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—Two witnesses, Merrick A. Whipple and Thomas D. Recalling what he said was the "General trend of a conversation" at the Department of Justice, Whipple declared that certain officials of the department were "opposed to Burke's conduct" of the Jackson Earnest case, and believed that charges of fraud against him were justified. The committee has been investigating Burke's administration of the case.

Leaders Meet On Project Monday Night and Draw Up New Plans; Bonds Petition to Follow Action

Lubbock county may not yet boast of paved highways, but citizens of the county who want such roads are not letting the two previous defeats stand in their way or dishearten them in making valiant efforts at voting bonds to pay for them.

At the meeting of the county commissioners' court this morning primarily to canvass the returns of last Saturday's $1,000,000 road bond election, which went down in defeat, the members of the court will be faced with a petition, signed by more than 100 citizens of the county, which requests the creation of a new road district.

Called District Two
This road district is to be called District Number 2, after it includes all of Lubbock county not now enclosed by the metes and bounds of road district Number 1, which takes in the city of Slaton and a large portion of the southeast part of the county. It was the outstanding bonds of this district, total of $23,000 which the past two bond issues projects sought to retire in voting a county-wide proposition, the remainder of the county thereby keeping the district's indebtedness and paying it off along with the bonds which were to have been voted.

In asking that this road district Number 2 be created, the signers of the petition acted with speed and dispatch, a meeting having been held of leaders for the project Monday night, the petition drawn up and passed around for signatures early Tuesday morning and filed immediately with the county clerk.

Bonds Petition to Follow
It is to be expected that, following

THE MORNING AVALANCHE

Menu for the Day

BREAKFAST—Stewed figs, cereal, cream, creamed bacon and eggs on toast, extra toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Rice Croquettes with cheese sauce, celery, apple and raisin salad, baking powder biscuits, milk tea.

DINNER—Raw oysters with brown bread sticks, pan-broiled lamb chops with mint jelly, twice baked potatoes, creamed carrots and peas, jellied vegetable salad, chocolate and nut pudding, milk and coffee.

An attractive and sensible way to serve mint jelly is on a slice of orange. The combination of flavors is delicious and the orange prevents the jelly from running all over one's plate.

Rice Croquettes with Cheese Sauce—One-half cup rice, 1 cup milk, 1 cup water, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 egg, 1-2 teaspoon onion juice, 1-4 teaspoon spoon onion juice, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, fine bread crumbs.

Wash rice thoroughly and place in sauce pan. Add cold water to cover and bring quickly to the boiling point. Boil five minutes, drain, rinse in cold water and drain again. Put milk and water in top of double boiler add salt and cook until rice is tender and liquid is absorbed. Stir in butter and egg well beaten. Add onion juice and pepper and spread on a platter to cool.

When cool, shape in small croquettes and roll in crumbs. Dip in egg slightly beaten and roll again in crumbs. Fry in deep hot fat until a golden brown. Serve with—

Cheese Sauce—Two tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 cup milk, 1-4 cup grated cheese, 1-4 teaspoon salt. Melt butter, stir in flour and when mixture bubbles slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Season with salt and paprika and add cheese. Bring to boiling point and serve.

"No government is any stronger than the laws it can enforce."

No home government is any stronger than the laws its parents can enforce.

Does this mean that a cat-and-nine-tails should hang behind the door to be brought out and down on tender little hides when the least jot or tittle of the family commandments is fractured?

It does not. It means that the family commandments should be so reasonable, so easy to obey, that their enforcement will be practically assured.

Terrorized by Rule
A certain family of boys stood in daily terror of a family law that read: "Any boy who comes down for breakfast five minutes late does without breakfast; ten minutes late, supper!"

Three of the boys usually answered roll call, but the fourth, an undernourished little fellow who was chronically tired, reduced the grocery bill considerably. He almost always missed one meal and sometimes two or three. Starvation did not—could not cure him of his unpunctuality.

In another home where the discipline was as rigorous as the laws of the Medes and Persians, it was announced that any child not in the house by four fifteen got a switching. The result at first was satisfactory enough from a military point of view. Law and order obtained and the small fry were in the pan right on the mark every day at four fifteen.

But, eventually they discovered that on days they could not possibly be home on time they were punished whether it was their fault or not, and they lost respect for that law. They took to coming in when they got ready, and their switchings as something unpleasant and inevitable but not prohibitive.

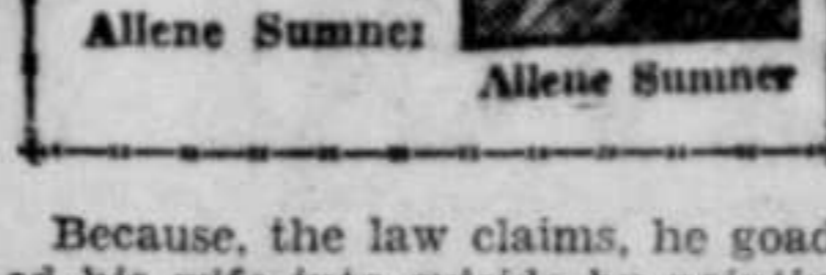

Respect Brings Obedience
Punishment does not always learn that? All obedience must be founded on confidence and trust—not those run like an oligarchy with two tyrants at the head.

You cannot make blanket rules and expect every child in the family to obey them every day to the letter. To expect it, would be the most foolish thing in the world.

The happiest homes are those founded on confidence and trust—not those run like an oligarchy with two tyrants at the head.

The Woman's Day

By Allene Sumner

Because, the law claims, he goaded his wife into suicide by painting a horrifyingly vivid picture to her of the electric chair awaiting her for her self-confessed murder of the man who had been her paramour, the woman's husband, Wilbur Heldman, is being held on a charge of murder.

The coroner who filed the affidavit maintained that inciting a person to suicide is the equivalent of murder, cited the famous D. C. Stephenson-Madge Oberholzer case of Indiana whereby a man was sent to prison for life for provoking by outrageous treatment a woman to take her own life.

A Bit Unfair
A very fine point is involved here and one which will have far-reaching influence if Heldman is really found guilty of murder because he goaded his wife to suicide. Most suicides are so goaded by one person or another but to make that person responsible for the suicide's psychopathic quirks is rather unfair.

Better Humans
The day's news makes one wonder if we aren't really growing more civilized to the extent of placing a man in prison for life for provoking by outrageous treatment a woman to take her own life.

Here, for instance, is Mrs. Helen Biesen Bartovick of La Crosse, Wis., begging to finish the life term of imprisonment being served by John Beier, 23, who was convicted of killing the woman's husband. Mrs. Bartovick claims that the crime was really hers, anyway, because she influenced him to do it. When human beings get so concerned about moral responsibility even when they could evade their guilt, it's an auspicious sign for us humans.

Kid Troubles
Let something happen to a kid and see what happens to everybody else! There's a little boy down in Cincinnati who swallowed a toy motorcycle and has been fighting for his life for days. Toys from the whole country flooded him on Christmas day and his parent's mail is loaded with hundreds of anxious inquiries from those who have never seen the child. A 4-year-old boy has been missing in Orville, O. The town siren called forth all the inhabitants who have done little else since but hunt for Melvin Horst, aged 4. Hard-boiled.

ed. busy world, maybe, but let anything happen to a kid! Just why is it? Because the adult world knows the bumps ahead for childhood and would spare it as long as possible.

Too Much Family
Commander Evangeline Booth of the U. S. Salvation Army has gone to London for the International council of the S. A. prepared to ask for the resignation of her brother, General Bramwell Booth, on the charge of "general unfitness for service." Commander Evangeline may be famous but she is very probably not the first person to regret getting involved professionally with a member of her own family.

Women's Ages
Some ladies tell their ages in "Who's Who" and some don't. Some of those who do tell are Mable Walker Willebrandt, Kathleen Norris, Edna Ferber, Ethel Barrymore, Annie Hurst, Geraldine Farrar and Aimee Semple McPherson. The youngest of these girls is 38; that's Aimee; the oldest are Ethel Barrymore, and Kathleen Norris, who are 49. Gloria Swanson doesn't tell her age, but Norma and Constance Talmadge and Dorothy Gish and Eva Le Gallienne do.

Rather looks as if all this to-do about women hating to tell their ages is about as much of a myth as several others.

How to Achieve Beauty

BY MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

Inertia—Or "First Signs of Life" Before I go into these evolution exercises, I want to state most emphatically that I am not substituting the theory of evolution by offering you a rather interesting and unusual set of exercises. I am offering you only as a diverting variation of the everyday exercise routine that I recommend following to you. They are not significant of my opinions on the cosmic matter of evolution.

Now for the first: Inertia. It is highly reasonable a logical to believe that the world knew a period of relaxation before it knew movement. As all of us know, physical strength is generated in rest. And yet while I am sure you do know it, I regret to say that to the best of my knowledge any belief in relaxation seems to be one of the lost arts of the world.

Let's try to cultivate it again. Peace does not enter into our modern lives—and yet we wonder why in the midst of change and noise and bustle we grow tense, nervous, strained and old before our time. I believe that some prophet of this modern beatitude, "Blessed is she who has learned to relax!"

Relaxation is the path to peace, the assurance of renewed vigor, the only way to poise and beauty. When nature gave the world the blessing of darkness, she never thought that we would defy the master edict and plunge ourselves into a second, electric-lit daytime. The darkness was a gift, relaxation, contentment and peace. The setting sun was meant to write the close of the day's work. And during the hours of darkness man was expected to submit to the great restorative powers of sleep. We of this modern world are cheating nature—and in so doing, we are cheating ourselves.

Our bodies need what our habits deny, for nerves that are kept vigilant hour after hour for days on end snap eventually. Prevent this condition from arising by training your faculties toward relaxation. If it's only for three minutes out of every few hours, ease your mind and relax your body. Allow all the tension to pass from your overstrained muscles—discipline your mind away from trouble and disturbance. Cultivate sleep as gently and as humbly as you know how. It will do you more good to let down occasionally during the busy day than it would to take a week's vacation when you are a physical and mental wreck.

You are all probably sufficiently familiar with your radio sets to permit me to use the radio battery as a comparison. You have probably experienced, as most beginners do, that costly practice of working any pause for the re-charging process the radio hour after hour without rest. Your batteries wore out very fast, didn't they? By this time, though, you probably know better, and if you work the radio two or three hours you shut it off for half an hour so that the batteries have the opportunity of renewing themselves.

Do as much for that body of yours. Give it at least the same chance for renewal that you give your radio battery. After all, it has to last you much longer, and once it's worn out—there's no coming back!

Dempsey Completes Details For Miami Beach Fight

Carey Confident That Dempsey Will Be Back In Fighting Togs This Year

Garden Head Sure Mauler Is Eager To Make Comeback

"Big Bill" of Madison Square Garden Heads For Florida to Make Final Arrangements for Bout

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—William F. Carey, the "Big Bill" of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, headed for Florida tonight to plunge into final arrangements for the Sharkey-Stribling bout, confident that Jack Dempsey, promoter for the time being, would be back in fighting togs before another winter rolls around.

"Dempsey hasn't said he will but he hasn't said he won't either," Carey said today as he discussed plans for the heavyweight elimination bout in Miami Beach February 27. "He feels that he is fit and eager. Every indication is that Dempsey will fight again this year."

Stepping into the place of Tex Rickard with all the energy of the late promoter, the first vice president and treasurer of the Garden wound up his affairs here and planned a busy six weeks ahead. For the time being Carey has abandoned a brokerage business that made him a millionaire for a boxing industry he knew only as a stockholder.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey declared tonight that he has not decided whether he will enter the ring in the elimination bout to pick the heavyweight champion to succeed Gene Tunney. "I can't tell yet," the former champion and the director of the Sharkey-Stribling fight plans said when shown a statement from William F. Carey, head of the Madison Square Garden corporation, that Dempsey would return to the ring.

YOU and BASKETBALL

Your defense should require less than half your basketball ability because possession of the ball is your best defense. The best defense is to get the ball; the fundamental rule of the game is to play the ball and not the man.

If the opposition recovers the ball however and you find yourself in offensive territory remember a straight line is the shortest distance between two points. Head straight for your basket and get in the best defensive position in the quickest time possible.

The going straight for your basket to head off an offensive play brings out the big point in defense—keep between your opponent and his basket, especially if he has the ball. To permit your man to get back of you, close to his basket, is to court disaster.

If your man is cutting, try to force him to cut towards the sideline rather than toward the basket so to make it more difficult for him to shoot or pass in case he gets the ball.

If an opponent takes a long shot, get going towards the basket in a way to obstruct his going in for a quick lay-up shot. Guarding from the rear generally results in a foul.

Always, however, try to get the ball!

Jackrabbits Walk Off With Heavy End of 27 to 9 Score At New Municipal Court at Ralls

(Special To The Avalanche) RALLS, Jan. 15.—The Ralls Jackrabbits hung up their eighth straight win of the current basketball season here tonight at the expense of the Jackrabbits of the local basketball league of the heavy end of a 27 to 9 score.

Taking the lead early in the contest, it was evident that the Jackrabbits had the game in the bag. The game was a slow contest throughout.

The Jackrabbits are training for what is expected to be their hardest games of the season when they meet the Abilene High School Hornets on the Municipal court next Saturday and Tuesday nights.

Olympics May Be Power For Peace

PARIS, Jan. 15.—(AP)—That the Olympic games have proved a great power for peace is the interpretation in France of the report from Stockholm that the Nobel Prize committee has practically decided to award the Nobel Peace Prize to Baron Pierre de Coubertin, the man who revived them after a lapse of centuries.

Thirty-two years ago the first modern Olympic games were held at Greece where Baron de Coubertin had spent many years in outlining his great scheme.

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Fort Clark and Abilene won the low goal matches in the Sixth Annual Southwestern Mid-Winter polo tournament here Tuesday, by handsome margins. Smith Tied With Von Elm In $1,000 Pasadena Open

Detroit Amateur and Veteran Scot Show Way To Field of 165 Players; Both Two Under Par

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 15.—(AP)—MacDonald Smith of Great Neck, Long Island, N. Y., successful defender of the $10,000 Los Angeles open crown, and George Von Elm, blonde amateur of Detroit, dead-locked today for low honors in the 18 holes of qualifying play of the $4,000 Pasadena open golf tournament. The pair rounded the tricky Municipal Course in 69, two strokes under par.

The golfing sticks of the veteran Scot and the flaxen haired amateur showed the way to a field of approximately 165 players as they flashed over this city's municipal course bound public links in par smashing rounds. "Mac" Smith continued the consistent play that characterized his Los Angeles victory, while Von Elm was turning in the best showing he has made during any of the recent western tournaments.

Their cards: Par Out 444 445 434-36. Mac Smith 444 434 344-34. Von Elm 543 424 343-35. For in 444 345 434-35. Mac Smith 434 345 444-35-34-69. Von Elm 344 345 434-34-35-69.

Play today in the 54 hole tournament saw the elimination of Leo Legal of the Mexican Agave Caliente Country Club, and national professional champion. Scores of 77 or better qualified for the final 36 hole drive tomorrow and Diesel, favorite in the event, saw himself just outside that divisional mark with a 78.

(Special To The Avalanche) STAMFORD, Jan. 15.—The farmers, poultrymen, and dairymen who are going with B. M. Whitaker, agricultural manager, on the West Texas Chamber of Commerce study trip to California are waiting for the definite date to be given out.

The date was tentatively set for Tuesday, January 15, and the delay is being caused by the inability of the West Texas Coaches to supply a suitable bus for the party. The delay is not expected to be longer than three or four days, however, and Mr. Whitaker is still accepting reservations.

(Special To The Avalanche) STAMFORD, Jan. 15.—Homer D. Wade, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is in receipt of a letter from W. R. Arnold, secretary of the Hereford Chamber of Commerce asking his assistance in getting a modern hotel for Hereford.

Hereford is in Deaf Smith county, fifty miles from Amarillo, and sixty from Clovis, N. M. From Fighter To Promoter?

Jack Dempsey in Two Poses. Exclusive Central Press Dispatch To The Avalanche-Journal

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—With the death of Tex Rickard, Jack Dempsey has automatically changed from fighter to light promoter, or return to the ranks of a pugilist again? That question puzzles the sports world today.

Being on the scene when Rickard died, leadership in conducting the business end of the Jack Sharkey-Young Stribling fight at Miami Beach, Fla., naturally reverted to Jack Dempsey.

Cage Official Suggests a Ban On The Towering Basketball Players

Men Taller Than Six Feet Two Inches Should Be Barred From Basketball, Says Leslie E. Edmonds, Secretary Of Kansas Boxing Commission; Gives Reasons

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Men taller than six feet, two inches should be barred from basketball by Leslie E. Edmonds, secretary of the Kansas boxing commission, because he believes the game was intended for normal-sized players.

Edmonds, who has officiated the court sport for many years, notably at the national A. A. U. tournaments, declares the search by coaches for centers of excessive height has caused an intercollegiate basketball game to resemble "a jungle contest between a crowd of monkeys and a giraffe when the latter attempts to run away with a coconut."

Pointing out that jumping is a cardinal principle of the game, he then asks: "What happens to that principle when men ranging from six feet, five inches to six feet, nine inches are kept out of museums and sent to college to play basketball?"

Aggies Hire Man Who Was Jinx To Team Four Times

Texas A. and M. Failed To Defeat Madison Bell's Team When Aggies Won Conference Title

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 15.—After falling four times to beat a football team coached by Madison Bell, the Texas Aggies have hired him for their own.

"Matty" will succeed Dana X. Bible, who goes to Nebraska next fall with five Southwest conference titles to his credit.

When the Texas A. and M. college won its last championship in 1927, it crushed every opponent except Bell's Texas Christian university eleven. The Farmers and the Frogs battled to a tie at Fort Worth. Their 1928 game also ended a draw, each team taking the count of 13. It was the only time Bible's men scored against Bell's Texas Christian with a field goal in 1925 and with a touchdown in 1928.

Bell is 29 years old. In his playing days he starred with "Bo" McMillin at Centre college. He coached at Haskell Indian Institute, Lawrence, Kan., and Carroll college, Waukesha, Wis., before he entered the Southwest circuit.

The Nut Cracker

By Joe Williams

On the same day that it was rumored Gene Tunney would take Rickard's place, stock in Madison Square Garden declined half a point on the Stock Exchange—but, of course, there probably isn't any connection between the two events.

Stranger Lewis got $50,000 and Gus Sommerberg $2,000 for their bout in Boston. Looks as if it pays to be champion.

One of the new Yankee outfielders is named Outen. We can all sit back, fould our hands now and wait for some crack about the Outen garden.

A suggestion from Detroit asks that the pitcher who starts the game be compelled to stay in there the full nine innings. O'Goofy fears some of the games would have to be continued next day, like serial stories.

Our only suggestion is that seven American League teams play a little baseball when they meet the other.

Leo Diegel is the new professor of golf at Augus Caliente, which means "hot water." If you can think of a better name for a golf course, send it in.

ELECT TREASURER

George Meade Is New Polo Association Treasurer

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The vacancy created by the resignation of J. Cheever Gowin of New York as honorary treasurer of the United States Polo Association was filled today by election of George Meade of Dayton, O., at the annual meeting of the Racquet and Tennis club.

Stribling Will Get 20 Per Cent Of Gate Receipts

Father Stribling Elated To Get Fight for Boy; Sure Son Will Rise To Title Throne

(By Associated Press) MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 15.—(AP) Final official details assuring the Stribling-Sharkey heavyweight boxing bout here February 27, were completed today with Jack Dempsey, acting for the Madison Square Garden corporation, and W. L. Stribling Sr., father of one of the principals signing the contract.

The contract gives the Georgia pugilist 20 per cent of the gross gate receipts but no guarantee. The Gardne corporation takes an option on Stribling for his succeeding fight.

Inasmuch as Jack Sharkey, the ex-gob from Boston signed through his manager last week, with $100,000 as his stipulation, the fight is considered a certainty for this resort city.

Stribling Sr. said, "We are elated to get anything for the fight. We would fight Sharkey for nothing. I know my boy will go on to the title."

Dempsey, in the role of successor to his friend, the late George L. Rickard, will confer with John Levy, Garden corporation seating expert, who will supervise the erection of stands to handle a crowd of approximately 30,000 spectators. The arena will be around the Rickard Kennel club oval, near the Beach.

Another task Dempsey was called upon to handle was the tentative selection of training camps for the fighters whose contracts call for them to begin work here February 1.

Tuesday Finds Many New Measures In Senate; Aim To Keep County School Office Out of Politics

(By Associated Press.) AUSTIN, Jan. 15.—Senator Archie Parr of Benavides today introduced a bill which would make state and county taxes payable twice a year. He also asked for an appropriation of $175,000 to pay inspectors for the livestock sanitary commission.

A bill aimed at taking the office of county superintendent of schools out of politics was offered by Holbrook of Galveston. The county superintendent would be appointed by a county board of trustees.

Asks Felony Charge
Senator Joe M. Moore of Greenville introduced a bill asking that wife and child desertion be made a felony.

Legislation defining what constituted a reputable, regular newspaper and providing for the publication of all legal notices in such an organ was proposed by Senators Moore, Poliard, Westbrook, Neal and others.

The senate committee on state affairs reported favorably on a bill to enable the University of Texas to erect seven men's dormitories, costing $1,300,000 and to be paid for out of revenues. The bill also would appropriate $150,000 for furniture for the dormitories.

A Washington Bystander

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON

ASHINGTON, Jan. 15.-When you stroll about the house end of congress these days, big-type posters shout "Warnings" at you in sanguinary lettering. The placards are everywhere. They hang from elevator doors, corridor walls even on the sacrosanct bulletin board in the house lobby itself.

You just can't get away from them, and finally you read 'em. Then you find they are the first official act of that newest appendage to the majesty of the house, its physician in waiting extraordinary, George W. Calver, commander, medical corps, U. S. navy.

There it stands in the record. Dr. Calver's formal assignment by Secretary Wilbur, who attend in the capitol during the sessions in the house. It was suggested by Secretary Wilbur because several members collapsed last session.

Representative Britten of Illinois, the new naval committee chairman, put through a resolution requesting the assignment.

First He Warns of "Flu."

The commander-doctor's first ukase had to do with the "flu" scare. He was no sooner assigned than the startling signs appeared, laying down a set of general laws. Mostly they are in line with public health service suggestions, but in conjunction to house members might seem a little superfluous to one holding the popular conception of the life of the average member of congress. The doctor bids them avoid "excessive fatigue."

Another thing about the navy doctor's assignment is noteworthy. It was made in face of the fact that there are other house members who know medicine.

One member-doctor, Kindred of New York, had extraordinary training at home and abroad as a specialist in mental disorders. Others, like Irwin of Illinois, Sirovich of New York, Swick of Pennsylvania and Summers of Washington, were general practitioners and Portier of Pennsylvania, in two years at a medical school. Woodruff of Michigan is a dental surgeon and Davy of Ohio a tree surgeon.

Copeland For Senate.

The senate seems content to trust itself still to the kenning of Dr. Copeland, senator from New York. It has no physician in waiting. And when Majority Leader Tilson in the house announced Dr. Calver's assignment, Representative Clarke of New York was moved to ask:

"Will this necessitate Senator Copeland's articles to be still published in the newspapers?"

There was "laughter," according to the Congressional Record, but Tilson said Clarke must seek "some other source of information."

Your Health

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

In 1628 William Harvey, an Englishman, wrote a book in which for the first time it was proved that the blood actually circulates throughout the human body. The year 1928 was the tercentary of this discovery.

In his book Harvey proved a fact that many had thought about and written about for at least 1,500 years previously. He did it in a simple manner; and, it seems simple to us today. For those who do not understand the way the blood moves about the human system, the proof is a revelation.

Pulse and Heart Beats.

In the first place Harvey showed that the pulse beat takes place at the same time as the heart beat. He showed that the heart stopped beating in death, and that the pulse stopped at the same time.

The most significant things that he showed, however, were the facts that when an artery was cut the blood spurted in a direction away from the heart and that when the veins of the arm were blocked, the blood turned up on the side away from the heart.

Of course, this meant that at each beat of the heart blood was forced out into the arteries, that it proceeded through the arteries to various portions of the body, and that it was then returned by the veins toward the heart.

With a remarkably logical mind, he then did an experiment of the greatest importance. He measured the amount of blood contained in the heart of an animal. He then killed the animal and found out how much blood there was in the whole body.

Thus, he was able to show that if the heart throws out a certain amount of blood at each beat and that if the amount of blood in the whole body represents approximately a certain amount, that in one-half hour the heart will have forced out all of the blood available and that if it kept on pumping, it would have to re pump the blood that was returned to it.

Great Revelation, Then.

As has been stated, this seems relatively simple. Actually at an age which had no knowledge of the structure of the human body, which looked askance on dissection of either human beings or of animals, the discovery came as a great revelation.

A few years later an Italian named Malpighi proved the existence of what are known as capillaries, the very tiny spaces in various portions of the body which represent the terminations of the arteries and the beginnings of the veins, through which the blood makes the final passage from the artery to the vein system.

The Question Mark

BY GROVE PATTERSON

SO THINK WE

We think about the best way to down your rivals is to praise them.

We think many a man has married a girl because he thought he could not live without her and later found that he could not live with her.

We think in place of love being blind love simply can see that which does not exist, and that is the reason some folks seem to think that it is blind.

We think that Mr. Hoover certainly believes in getting somewhere. He is an enthusiastic advocate of good roads and aviation.

We think there is one form of accident that any man can avoid and that is being shot at a road house.

We think that President-elect Hoover is not altogether inappreciative of the great vote the women of the nation gave him in the recent election but he has not been very strong for them in his cabinet. He possibly wishes to have something to say about things himself.

We think the foolish shooting of fire arms on New Years is indeed a very foolish thing to do. In the dead hours of midnight is no time to turn a stray bullet loose in town. There is no telling where it will land, as was proven the first of this year when newspaper dispatches said that several men and women, and children were killed by silly acts of that kind.

We think that some of the newspapers that come to our desk are right when they advertise that they publish all of the late news. It's a fact that it is very late some of it.

We think that since some portions of the county have shown a distinct desire not to have paved highways that the balance of the county should go ahead now with an election leaving out that portion that prefers to stay in the rough. This will probably be the next move on the part of the good roads advocates.

Before we do this we should see that our own household is in harmony, and know that Lubbock is not going to be divided on the question.

There is only one highway going to be designated as a state and federal highway out of Lubbock in each direction and the people of Lubbock might just as well get that out of their system now, and get down to where they will be satisfied with the State's designation in the matter and get solidly behind the matter of hard-surfacing the roads.

We think a religious census is possibly an old fashioned thing. It would in all probability be more appropriate to say a church census.

We think that church affiliation and religion are two different things. We are old foggy enough to believe that a person can have religion and not belong to any church, and we are pretty positive that people can belong or affiliate with all of the church organizations in the city and still not be religious. We however believe that everyone who pretends to be a Christian should be affiliated with some certain church congregation because they can do their best work in that way.

We think that President Coolidge wants peace and he seems to want more battleships to enforce it.

We think that conditions are never

LEADERSHIP

Prof. Dyer, Vanderbilt university, hits the mark when he says in a public address that democratic leadership is a failure. The founders of our government," he says, "meant it to be run on a majority rule system FOR and O, and not BY the people. The people couldn't run a peanut stand successfully, much less a successful government."

Prof. Dyer, who is one of the most famous and able students of government in America, believes the country needs a responsible aristocracy. It's not a popular word-but he's probably right.

THE DARKEST DAY

"During the darkest hour of my life no word of sympathy or offer of help from any member of my family came to me and I hungered for the word of Robert, in the desert thirsts for water. The pride that kept me silent as a neglected and unwanted child stayed with me through life."

These words, to be found in the will of the great motion picture actor, Theodore Roberts, are a chill with tragedy. One's indifference to people in general, even to fairly well known acquaintances, can be easily understood. Some people are by temperament indifferent, uncommunicative, unresponsive. But to withhold sympathy and help from a member of one's family is indication of the failure to grow up out of savagery and barbarism of the lowest order.

To find that sort of disloyalty in civilized people is always a disheartening discovery.

OLD AND ACTIVE

Theophilus King, head of a Massachusetts trust company, set up a fund on his sixty-eighth birthday. Ever since then he has made it a practice to give away thousands of dollars to churches and various organizations. Now Mr. King is 84 years old. On his birthday a short time ago he gave away a few more thousand to worthy causes. Here is a wise man. He knows what to do with money and he has some fun giving it away while he yet lives. It is an inspiring sight to see a man old in years but active in heart.

NOT LAZY

If you think you are too tired to walk to work, just put it down to the fact that you are getting hopelessly soft. Think of the Chinese coolie. He pushes a wheelbarrow loaded with eight persons. Try that on your way down town.

so bad that they might not be worse, then why not smile.

We think that tolerance is a frank admission that the other fellow is right, and in all probability is.

We think that bunch of Chicagoans who are going to make a flying trip over Mount Ararat, to see if they can't locate the ark that Noah built and floated around on. We presume they will try to disprove the story that there was such a thing as Noah's ark. Notwithstanding it has been quite a while since all this happened.

We think that the modern style of sidewalks should be narrow so that there will be more room for the automobiles to park and jelly beans and flappers to walk on the paving.

We think that some men will make a tool of a friend and then raise a big howl if they cut them.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

ASHTORETH ASHE, adventuresome stenographer, becomes involved in a dramatic affair on shipboard. Ashforth is taking a cruise to the West Indies and has encountered two particularly interesting people.

MONA DE MUSSET, with whom she rooms, is a mysterious lady, an exceptional beauty, who possesses rare charm and priceless pearls. JACK SMYTHE, an Englishman, warns Ashforth against Mona, and declares that the girl is notorious. Ashforth is morally shocked, but Mona has been so kind to her that she declines to sever their brief friendship. In a few days Mona will have left the ship, and when she looks it away there was blood on it.

Ashforth persuades her to go down to their stateroom and sends for the ship's doctor.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXI

When Ashforth came in, Mona had slipped into a crimson smoking jacket and was propped on her elbow, rousing her lips.

"Give me that stuff this minute," she said, and in the other a little silver pot of ruby paste.

"Now Mona, you know the doctor said you shouldn't so much as raise your arms," scolded Ashforth.

"Give me that stuff this minute," she said, and in the other a little silver pot of ruby paste.

Mona sighed... "Maybe he is what you call a horse doctor. But the doctors in Paris they know. And they're not."

"I have lived," she said. "And I have loved. I am not going to be old."

"I am not afraid," she whispered.

"I like the dark."

Ashforth was trembling violently. A horrible fear obsessed her. As if death had come on stealthy feet across the shining sea, and entered, unbidden, their little cabin. She seemed to feel its presence.

Mona lay on her back now. There were bright spots on either cheek burning redly. And her eyes were blazing blue. Her skin was hot, and very dry. Presently she dropped her lids, and remained so still that Ashforth thought she slept.

Ashforth stood up then, and went to the porthole. She saw the moon on the water, making it so magically lovely, that there seemed nothing real anywhere about. The night was full of beauty and mysticism. And Ashforth's spirit was troubled with vague imaginings that had never come to her before.

Mona's Swinburne lay open on the couch. Ashforth took it in her hands, and saw that it was open to the marked passage she had read the night before.

"From too much love of living. From hope and fear set free."

Mona opened her eyes.

"You loved poetry?" she whispered.

Ashforth was almost afraid to trust her voice. It was so charged with tears.

"I don't know very much," she confessed. "I-I've been reading this one you've marked. It's awfully brave."

Mona seemed to rouse herself.

"I found a little poem," she said speaking with slight difficulty. "It is called 'To a Certain Gentleman'; I would like to send it to you."

She motioned toward the washstand Ashforth found it between the sticky pages of a book of stamps, under one of Mona's big powder pots of ruby paste.

"Read it," whispered the sick woman.

And Ashforth read aloud:

"It may be so, good air, it may be so. Not all who sin are tempted-that we know: It may be darker things than this are true, and yet, upon my soul, if I were you-

A man, no longer young, at peace secured. From all that tempting women have endured, I would like to send it to you. Of poverty and ignorance and fear And joy that make youth terrible and dear. If I were you, before I took my pen And wrote those words to hearten other men, And give them greater sense of moral ease. In the long score of common sins like these, If I were you, I would have held my hand In fire-Ah, well; you would not understand!"

"Did you write it, Mona?" exclaimed Ashforth incredulously.

"Non-non!"

Mona shook her head. "I am not clever at all, ma cherie. I cannot write what is in my heart. I find it in a magazine, and copy it. A lady by the name of Madame Alice Duer Miller wrote it. Read the last again, still you please."

Ashforth repeated slowly:

"If I were you, I would have held my hand In fire-Ah, well; you would not understand!"

"Non," murmured Mona, "He would not understand."

Ashforth folded the paper.

"And you want Jack to have it?" she asked.

Mona nodded.

"Put it in an envelope, and ask the steward to give it to him. Day after tomorrow we reach Antigua, and he goes."

Ashforth spoke decisively.

"THE NIGHT HAS A THOUSAND EYES"

The night has a thousand eyes, And the day but one; Yet the light of the bright world dies With the dying sun.

"Well, I shan't as much as speak to him again, my dear. I never heard of such a mean thing in my life. But, Mona, are you absolutely sure it was you he was writing about? You heard him deny it. Mightn't it have been a sort of a composite woman? A conglomeration, you know, of all the women he has ever known?"

"Mona shook her head. 'It was I,' she insisted. 'I know my own chérie.' Asthoreth was intensely curious. 'I never heard of the book,' she remarked. 'Was it popular, Mona?'" said I talked like the girl in Meester Smythe's book. 'What was the name of the book, Mona?'"

Mona looked at her sharply. 'You've not heard,' she questioned. 'of Pariah-Girl?'"

"Pariah-Girl—no. I don't think so. . . . Doesn't 'pariah' mean out-cast?'"

Mona sat up suddenly in bed. 'Outcast!' she screamed. 'Mon Dieu!'"

And she beat with her closed fists upon her breast. Her nostrils dilated. And the pupils of her eyes disappeared beneath her lowered lids, so that the whites showed frighteningly.

She raised her voice in long, sobbing wails. And tore her hair. (To Be Continued.)

FT. WORTH LIVESTOCK FORT WORTH, Jan. 15. (AP)—All classes of cattle at Fort Worth today sold to a fair demand. The better kind of cows and calves sold at advances of mostly a quarter. Other classes of cattle unchanged. Hogs sold about steady, with spots in the truck section a little lower. Sheep steady.

NEW YORK COTTON NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (AP)—Yesterday's advances were followed by reactions in the cotton market today under realizing or liquidation by recent buyers, who appeared to be disappointed over the rather indifferent showing of Liverpool and the failure of the report on boll weevil hibernation to promote more buying. March contracts sold off from 20.41 to 20.18 and closed at 20.20. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 12 to 26 points.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK KANSAS CITY, Jan. 15. (AP)—U. S. D. A.—A sharp reaction in fat lamb prices was registered in today's trade and values were unevenly 25 to 50 cents higher; receipts were moderate but the demand was apparently broad at the advance; choice fed westerns reached $17.00 at Chicago for the day's top; prices on mature stock ruled steady to 25c higher with best fat ewes selling from $9.25 and $10.40; total offerings were 40,250 against 58,234 last Tuesday and 36,877 a year ago.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 15. (AP)—A slight early improvement met realization and liquidation in the cotton market today and March contracts eased off from 19.78 to 19.52 and closed at 19.55 compared with 19.72, yesterday's closing figure. A bearish construction placed on information contained in the official boll weevil report issued in late trading added to the weakness. The general market closed steady at net declines of 13 to 17 points.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON (continued) The market opened steady in response to higher Liverpool cables than due. First trades showed gains of 2 points and after easing off slightly after the start the market met good support in the form of trade buying and shorts covering probably induced by a reported good spot demand and large Liverpool spot sales. March rallied to 19.78 and May 19.82 or 5 to 6 points above yesterday's close.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON (continued) Later the market showed a tendency to ease off due to uncertainty over what the weevil report would show. There was some realizing was sufficient to carry March off to 19.67 and May 19.70 or 11 to 12 points

Mellon Objects To Additional Funds For Enforcement

Secretary of Treasury Declares Appropriation Is to Be Extravagant Waste of Money; Asks Survey

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—Secretary Mellon's objections to the proposal to make an additional $25,000,000 immediately available for prohibition enforcement are based on his opinion that it would result in the extravagant use of public funds unless the money could be allocated to specific uses. His disapproval of the proposal, put forth by Senator Harris of Georgia, is detailed in a letter to chairman Warren of the Senate appropriations committee and made public today. Mr. Mellon wrote that while part of the money could be used to increase the border patrol of the customs service and other phases of the enforcement activities he did not believe that any such large sum as is provided for in the present deficiency bill should be appropriated until certain surveys he suggested had been completed and until it could be determined how any increased amounts could be most wisely and efficiently expended.

Asks For Survey The problem of prohibition enforcement has many ramifications and its successful solution depends not only on ample appropriations for the bureau of prohibition, but on the activities and situation of other departments and bureaus of the government. "The question therefore, of whether an increase of $25,000,000 in the amount of appropriations for the bureau of prohibition will accomplish the results desired by the congress and this department, is not one that can be answered without a thorough-going survey of the entire field, for I assume, of course, that if any such large sum is to be appropriated, the congress will desire it to be used with the utmost effectiveness and in a way calculated to bring about the greatest results."

12 per cent call loan rate is likely over any month end. The bullish operations in the morning was based largely on the statement of conditions of the federal reserve member banks issued last night, disclosing a reduction of about $275,000,000 in reserve bank borrowings.

NEW YORK STOCKS NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (AP)—A jump to 9 per cent in the call loan rate, coming at this time of greater sensitiveness to the credit situation, turned the stock market sharply reactionary today. Although constructive operations made some headway in the morning, most of the gains were more than cancelled in the afternoon and a long list of pivotal issues closed from 3 to 17 1-2 points lower.

NEW YORK STOCKS (continued) Call money renewed at 7 per cent but moved up to 9 as the banks called about $30,000,000 in loans to meet mid-month requirements and adjust their positions at the federal reserve. Bankers said the quick response of the loan rate to this moderate withdrawal of funds illustrated the rather touchy situation that has arisen with the sharp reduction in time loans and increasing tendency to finance the market with day to day borrowings under present conditions, bankers state a
