County's Farm Women Display Full Pantries

Achievement Day Brings Many Triumphs To Light As City Folk View Labors Of Home Demonstrators Of County

Great Work Done

Row On Row Of Canned Fruits And Vegetables Gleam From Shelves As 100 Visit Farm Homes For Inspection

By BLANCHE E. BEAN
Of The Avalanche Staff

LUBBOCK County club women held open house Thursday but visitors were not shown into their parlors. Instead, they looked at rows on rows of canned fruits and vegetables, drew dried beans and corn through their fingers and smelled that pungent aroma that permeates a well-filled cellar at harvest time.

Thursday was Achievement Day for Lubbock county Home Demonstration clubs and six pantries were opened for inspection. Thursday was the harvest time and six women beamed at visitors as they looked back on a summer of canning, preserving, drying—months of storing food for the time when gardens and orchards lie dormant. Thursday was the counting time in a program that had its inception last January and county women invited their friends in to see how well they had done.

Demonstrators Chosen

At the beginning of this year a demonstrator was chosen in each of the 16 home demonstration clubs in the county. It became the duty of this woman to make a food budget for her family, estimating the amount of food needed to supply a balanced ration for the year; to plant a garden to provide the food, and to preserve for the non-productive months. Every one of the 411 women holding club membership was supposed to follow this same plan in providing for her family.

Ten months have passed. Gardens have been tended, vegetables and fruits have been harvested, canned, preserved, dried and stored underground. Thursday, six of the demonstrators opened their pantries for inspection and other women in their clubs joined them in greeting friends who called. At some of the homes almost a hundred had registered late in the afternoon and more were expected in the evening.

Representatives Named

Six communities were represented in the demonstrations which were at the following places: Mrs. G. C. Bevers, Broadview; Mrs. Roy Evans, Hardy; Mrs. Wayne Burns, County Line; Mrs. E. R. Slater, Union; Mrs. Jack Lokey, City Line, and Mrs. B. Shearer, Idalou.

With the exception of meats, which are to be stored this month and next, the pantries were complete. Several of the women had traded vegetables for fruits that they could not supply from home orchards. Some women had traded farm produce for sugar, had canned on the shares for their containers and bargained with grocerymen for other foods. In some of the cellars there is stored almost a year's supply of food—most of it home grown.

One Worth $576

Mrs. Slater's pantry is valued at $574. She has stored food above that called for in the budget. Mrs. Bevers' pantry is valued at $576.51. This includes 1127 quarts of fruits and vegetables. Mrs. Burns, pro-

Hoover Prepares To Talk To FDR

Tuesday Conference Between President And Successor Arranged By Telephone Call

By JOHN F. CHESTER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—Engrossing himself in the two great problems facing the federal government—war debts and a balanced budget—President Hoover today arranged with President-elect Roosevelt to meet with him next Tuesday to discuss these subjects and then called a bi-partisan parley with Congressional leaders for the next day.

In the early afternoon, while the national capital buzzed with war debt and budget talk, the President lifted the now-historic telephone on his desk to hear his successor-elect say he would reach Washington at 3:30 Tuesday afternoon and would go directly to the executive offices.

Hoover Works Late

Later, after most of official Washington had quit work for the day, Mr. Hoover summoned the three ranking Republicans and Democratic members of the senate finance committee and the House Ways and Means committee to meet with him Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock to "discuss questions of foreign debts."

Ambassadors Claudel of France and May of Belgium conferred with Secretary Stimson on the debt problem, but left the State department reporting they had received no reply to requests for a moratorium extension and a review of the debt situation.

Budget Work Begins

Meanwhile, on Capitol Hill, the House appropriations committee began its slashing of the budget. It went to work on the Treasury-Postoffice money bill, with Chairman Byrns predicting an appropriation "considerably less" than the $1,056,000,000 given by the last Congress. At his desk in the executive offices, President Hoover considered both war debts and budget in a series of conferences with his administration's aides.

He had before him the latest Treasury information showing the Federal deficit as of Nov. 15 had exceeded $709,000,000—with expenditures approaching $1,342,000,000 since July 1.

Additional figures were being amassed by Secretary Mills, meanwhile, to show that although the new billion dollar tax bill had brought in slightly increased revenue in October, as compared with last year, it could not bring collections for the quarter up to last year's mark.

Director Called In

The President called in J. Clawson Roop, director of the budget, for more information, and also Secretary Hurley, who left the White House after an hour, reporting the War department budget "in very satisfactory shape," but with no recommendations for national defense."

Postmaster General Brown, after a similar White House conference, said the postoffice funding was proving a "peculiar problem," and spoke of possible decreases in personnel

Wets Ask For Beer Bill For Next Congress

New York Democrat Asks Ways And Means Chairman To Get Busy; Opinions Of Various Congressmen Are Sought

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 —Chairman Collier was asked today to have his Ways and Means committee to get a bill to legalize beer ready for presentation to the House when it convenes next month.

"I'll talk with the boys about it and see what they want to do," he replied.

The suggestion was offered by Rep. O'Connor, (D., N. Y.), in the interest of increasing the possibility of such action at the coming session.

Opinions Sought

The New Yorker, leader of the Democratic wet bloc in the House, made the same proposal to Representative Rainey, of Illinois, party floor leader who said he would talk with members here and probably would write a few of the absentees in deciding whether to undertake hearings.

O'Connor said "the public is impatient," that "it will protest delay" on legalizing beer and that hearings would take but a few days.

Seeks Republican Aid

He added he is trying to get in touch with Representative Beck of Pennsylvania, leader of Republican anti-prohibition forces, for a conference on the form of beer legislation to be proposed.

Representative Cochran (D., Mo.), said 35,000 men would be put to work in Missouri as soon as beer is legalized. The present Missouri delegation, he said, would have ten votes for beer at the short session compared with four from that state who voted for it last spring.

ABILENE, Nov. 17. (AP) — Use of public school buildings for dancing, proposed repeal of the Texas race track gambling law and all activities in connection with alteration of the state and national prohibition laws were condemned today by the general Baptist Convention of Texas in adopting recommendations of its committee on civic righteousness.

The committee commended "the citizenship of our nation for its orderly conduct in the change of administrations by popular vote," but deplored "the motives that have actuated leaders in deceiving enough of our citizenship to believe that the return of the liquor traffic, and its corruption, will bring prosperity and peace to our people."

Ideal Layman Described

A layman's work committee report, in describing the ideal Baptist layman, among other things said such a person "in the political realm," would vote "for right principles in government and righteous men for public office, regardless of party affiliation."

The convention voted to held its 1933 meeting in Fort Worth next November 8 to 11. Dr. W. W. Chancellor of Mineral Wells was selected to preach the conventon sermon next year, and Dr. E. D. Head of Houston was chosen alternate for that assignment.

A spirited contest for the 1933 convention site had been waged before the convention committee on "place, time and preacher," by Fort Worth, Mineral Wells, Houston, Harlingen and San Antonio.

Advocates of Houston and Harlingen carried their fight to the floor of the convention in opposition to the committee's recommendation, but Fort Worth was declared

Georgia Village To Welcome Friend

Warm Springs' Benefactor, Now President-Elect, Will Be Welcomed "Home"; Roosevelt Cottage Being Done Over

(By The Associated Press)

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 17.—Franklin D. Roosevelt will come to the piney woods of Georgia next week to rest and this resort, where nature heats water in her own way and gives it willingly for the benefit of mankind, is getting ready to receive him.

The Roosevelt cottage, a spick, white structure on the side of a hill, is being done over for the next President. Miss Mary Alice Whitehead, Atlanta, has arrived to supervise interior decorations of the cottage. The home is occupied by Dr. and Mrs. Michael Hoke, medical officer here, during absences of Governor Roosevelt, and Miss Whitehead will be their guest during her work here.

The entire state will pay him tribute, but here where he is "home folks" his neighbors will give him a welcome in keeping with the traditions of Georgia. It was he who made this little town a prominent dateline in the news of the world.

Roosevelt came here first in 1926 and visualized the springs as a great health resort. Through his efforts about $1,000,000 has been contributed to expansion of the resort's facilities. He is responsible for the Warm Springs foundation, a non-profit making organization dedicated to health which has as its aim the rebuilding of human bodies through exercise and healthful living in this town.

Connection Of Maid With Lindbergh Kidnaping Seen

Officer Says Violet Sharpe, Suicide, Was Informant

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Nov. 17. — Police Inspector Harry W. Walsh in another series in the Jersey Journal today of copyrighted articles describing his part in the investigation of the kidnaping and subsequent slaying of the Lindbergh baby, asserts he is "convinced" Violet Sharpe, maid in the home of Mrs. Lindbergh's mother, Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, was the "informant—the agent—of the kidnapers."

Miss Sharpe committed suicide during the investigation.

"I am convinced," Walsh writes, "that Violet Sharpe deceived us, and that she did so deliberately.

"I am convinced that she was the informant—the agent—of the kidnapers.

"Suicides In Panic"

"I believe she committed suicide in panic, fearing her guilt had been discovered, or over-burdened with her guilty knowledge after news of the baby's death."

Walsh, who was in charge of the questioning of the employes at the Morrow home, said he arrived at these conclusions from the following facts:

"She was the recipient of the phone call at 10:30 Tuesday, March 1, that ordered Betty Gow (the baby's nurse) to Hopewell. This gave her knowledge that the baby would be in Hopewell that night.

"She told conflicting stories concerning her movements on the night of March 1.

Shields Her Companion

"She insistently refused to reveal the identity of the person she was with on March 1.

"Her physical condition changed for the worse after it became known the baby was dead. I attribute this change to the working of her conscience. I believe that previously she had been buoyed by the hope that the baby would be returned safely. She would get a cut of the ransom money, and no one would be the wiser."

"She ended her life just before she was to be questioned again by the police, and, as I believe, when she feared the screws of detection of her guilt were getting tighter and tighter."

Walsh says the persons with whom Miss Sharp spent the night of March 1 later were located and exonerated of any suspicion.

Denies "Third Degree"

Walsh denies any "third degree" was applied to Miss Sharpe, stating she was questioned only twice subsequent to the original questioning together with the other members of the Morrow household. These last two periods of questioning, he writes, lasted six minutes and three minutes, respectively and both were done in the presence of agents of the U. S. Department of Justice, state troopers and members

Jack Sullivan Tricks Jailer And Gets Away

Notorious Youngster, Held In Olton Bank Robbery, Holds Up Salesman And Takes His Car At Broadway, Ave. G

Early Clue Found

Fugitive, Not Yet Recovered From Wounds Sustained In New Mexico Gun Fight, Is Last Seen Near O'Donnell

JACK SULLIVAN, 25-year-old Olton bank robbery suspect, escaped Lubbock county jail hospital ward, commandeered an automobile at Avenue G and Broadway, and fled south in the stolen car about 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

His right arm still in a sling and probably carrying lead from the Mountainair, N. M., shooting when he was wounded seven times, Sullivan clambered into Joe W. Harris' red 1931 model Dodge sedan while the Lubbock man was awaiting a go signal. Displaying what Harris said was a .38 caliber pistol, Sullivan commanded:

"Drive on, buddie."

Car Owner Gets Away

Harris, a salesman of 908 Thirty-Fourth street, preferred to relinquish the automobile. After he had driven south on Avenue G about a block, Harris jumped out of the car, and Sullivan took the steering wheel with his sound left arm.

The theft was reported at once to the police station. Policemen Louie Moore and H. B. Brown and the victim immediately gave pursuit south on the Tahoka highway. The escaping car was reported to have passed through Woodrow. Last information about the automobile was that a highway patrolman saw it being driven south of Tahoka toward O'Donnell.

Fugitive Wearing Jacket

The sedan bore the Texas license plates Number 877,386. Sullivan about five feet and ten or eleven inches, is squarely built. His hair and eyes are light brown. The sheriff's department said he was wearing a leather jacket when he left Lubbock.

Harris said he tried to bargain with the gunman.

"I told him to put that gun up," Harris told The Morning Avalanche last night.

Sullivan refused. He was unable to get his stiff fingers into the trigger guard, but with his thumb he was holding the hammer back.

"He could kill a fellow that way," the Lubbock man explained.

Army Tried Camels In West Texas, Pioneer Says; Maybe That's What Started Fable About Desert

FORT DAVIS, Nov. 17. (AP)—Bill Kinkston, 73 years old, who still wrestles calves in the branding pens, recalls when Uncle Sam's War department brought camels into Texas in the 1860's. "Uncle Bill", who has lived in Jeff Davis county for 47 years, has been county commissioner for 16 years.

When he was a boy his step-father ran a tannery in San Saba for the Confederacy, and after the war between the states closed, the family became refugees in Mexico. It was on their return that Kingston recalls when he saw the camels.

Were Near Val Verde

"It was close to Val Verde," he said. "I was 8 or 9 years old. We were traveling along the road with our ox teams and riding horses when we met a long train of queer looking animals, and it took several minutes for it to dawn upon us what they were.

"We'd heard about the army experiment down here in Texas of trying to use camels for beasts of burden and we finally awoke to the fact that we were witnessing that experiment.

"I recollect very clearly that there were four drivers, Arabs I suppose, wearing red coats and blue pants, riding the animals and tending the column. Our horses cut up right smart. It's just a picture in my mind's eye from the past. But I reckon I saw history in the making."

The government is said to have given up the experiment about 1870 when it was found camels were not adaptable to West Texas.

Chicago Gets 1933 Gathering Of API; New President To Resign Texas Company Post And Begin His Task

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Nov. 17.—The American Petroleum Institute closed its 13th annual convention here late today and chose Chicago as its 1933 meeting place, selecting October 24, 25 and 26 as the dates.

As the convention rounded out its last session, there was at least some doubt as to whether W. R. Boyd, jr., of New York, executive vice-president, would remain in his post for long It was generally reported he had unsuccessfully favored certain changes in institute policy.

Boyd, apparently in high good humor, declined to discuss the matter, other than to say he held the new president, C. B. Ames of Oklahoma City, in high esteem.

Ames Quits Job

Ames, who was selected president yesterday over Amos L. Beaty of New York, the incumbent, announced he would resign immediately from the Texas corporation, of which he is vice-president, to begin active work for the institute. Beaty and Boyd, incidentally, had been in friendly disagreement as to certain matters of policy.

Meanwhile, it was made known the executive committee proposed to continue paying a salary to the president, said semi-officially to total $50,000 a year, although there had been objection to that course from some quarters.

CATTLE ON TRAIL

SAN ANGELO, Nov. 17. (AP) — Loftin Henderson is trailing 300 head of cattle from across the Pecos river to his new lease, 17 miles from Coleman. He will travel about 250 miles. Recently he trailed 1,200 sheep from the Erskine ranch near Christoval to the Coleman ranch

Strange Cat-Size Creature Brought Back To Aid Science In Long Quest

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—A strange cat-size creature like no animal now living has come back after 50 million years to help tell scientists how the mammal tribe, to whichman belongs, got its start toward mastery of the earth.

After half a million centuries of oblivion, buried half a mile under the earth, the skull of this ancient beast has been brought to the surface by an oil driller in Caddo Parish, Louisiana. In announcing the find the Smithsonian Institution said it is "one of the most remarkable discoveries in the history of vertebrate paleontology."

The skull, though small and insignificant in itself, brings long-wanted knowledge of conditions on earth when drying up of the great swamps was spelling the doom of dinosaurs and giving mammals a chance to develop unhindered. Mammals are warm-blooded, while the dinosaurs were reptiles and cold-blooded.

Arms Meeting Gets Proposal

Great Britian Offers A Plan To Bring Germany Back To Conference; Other Nations Hear It With Favor

BY P. I. LIPSEY, JR.
Associated Press Staff Correspondent

GENEVA, Switzerland, Nov. 17 (AP) —Great Britain made a definite move to bring Germany back into the disarmament conference today when Sir John Simon, the British foreign secretary, submitted to the conference bureau a plan designed to satisfy the German demand for arms equality.

His proposals approached the problem from an entirely different angle from that taken by the French plan submitted last week, but the conferees were hopeful that a combination of the principles of both might provide a basis on which the conference could reunite and proceed toward a disarmament treaty.

Like the French proposal, the British contribution was favorably received. Norman Davis, the American delegate; Augusto Rosso, for Italy, and the other chief delegates emphasized especially the necessity for bringing Germany back to the conference table.

Bub Robinson Is Freed Of Murder

Herman (Bub) Robinson, negro, who Wednesday testified he shot two negroes to death in self-defense here Jan. 19, 1930, was at liberty last night. A 72nd district court jury yesterday acquitted Robinson of murdering Will (Sonny) Bruce, and the district attorney's office indicated an indictment in the slaying of Thomas Hammond, the second victim of Robinson's gun, probably would not be sought.

The jury deliberated 45 minutes before returning a verdict Thursday morning. Sixteen persons, 13 of them negroes, testified in the trial Wednesday afternoon.

Peter Hanson, 80, estimates he rides a bicycle 1,000 miles a month. He is a special delivery messenger at Superior, Wis.

Farmers Puzzle Over Lesser Of Dominant Evils

FRIONA, Nov. 17. (AP)—Farmers of this vicinity are trying to decide which is the greater evil, duck hunters or the ducks themselves.

Hunters have become a menace by leaving gates down and shooting too close to livestock. On the other hand, wild ducks have invaded the region in such large numbers that they are destroying grain in the fields, and they would become a greater menace if hunters did not keep them driven out.

In several instances farmers have found it necessary to remove their cattle from pastures enclosing lakes.

Levelland Man's Funeral Arranged

Body of R. A. White, 49, a Levelland farmer, who died at 7 o'clock here Thursday morning, will be sent to Taylor, Texas, today for burial there Saturday. Mr. White's two brothers, J. L. and T. F. White of Taylor, came here yesterday and will accompany the body.

One other brother, J. A. White of Mercedes, and one sister, Mrs. Pearl Hart of Winchester, also survive. Mr. White, who had been ill about five weeks, died in a sanitarium here. Rix funeral home is directing local arrangements.

How Doctors Treat Colds and Coughs

The observance of Children's Book week, which has held interest for patrons and public school students during the last few days, will be climaxed tonight in the presentation of "The Little Lame Princess" at Senior High school auditorium at 7:45 o'clock.

The theme of book week was featured at program meetings of the Central Ward, Dupre and George M. Hunt Parent-Teacher associations Thursday afternoon.

Over 100 children are to take part in the pageant at the school tonight. It is open to the public and is to be free. A Lubbock teacher, Mrs. Frances Lee Tolbert, wrote the fantasy which is to be directed by Mrs. A. E. Jones. Preceding the presentation, Mrs. Bradford Knapp is to talk on children's reading.

This pageant is to be presented under the auspices of the City Parent-Teacher council.

There was an attendance of 150 patrons and teachers at the meeting of the Dupre Parent-Teacher association at Asbury Methodist church Thursday afternoon. Mrs. H. H. Halsell presided.

Mrs. J. T. Shaver discussed "Reading as the Outcome of Social Study."

Programs were presented by children from rooms taught by Mrs. E. Waldo Trotter and Mrs. Mary Gulledge.

To Place Bibles In School

It was voted for the association to place Bibles in each room at Dupre school.

M. H. Duncan, superintendent of schools, talked on "The School Situation" at a meeting of the Central Ward Parent-Teacher association at that school Thursday afternoon. There were 61 people present.

There were 100 patrons and teachers present. The association met a week early because of Thanksgiving week.

Hal McCarter, Jr., above, age five and one-half months, came from Bartlett, Tennessee, to take first honors.

In the Sunday Avalanche-Journal we carried an impressive story of what women in Lubbock Home Demonstration clubs preserved during the first eight months of this year. It was further demonstration to me of the value of educating farm people to take care of many of their wants with products that they can praise.

More than 108,000 cans of meats, fruits and vegetables and 40,000 pounds of cured meats, valued at nearly $44,000 were preserved by the first of September. And, it was pointed out, these records are for only a part of the 411 women in 16 county clubs. Moreover, a lot of canning and preserving has been done since the first of September.

These foods are going to help a lot of farm families out this winter, even though those families do not have much actual cash to spend. Of course, even I recognize that this is only one phase of the problem that faces farmers all over the country, but people who have enough to eat are going to have more inclination to look to the solution of their problems—or so it seems to me.

Spirited Discussions Mark Sessions Of P-TA Congress

Seven Changes Will Be Made In Bylaws Of Organization In Texas; Dr. J. A. Hill Is Speaker Wednesday

(By The Associated Press)

GALVESTON, Nov. 17 — After spirited discussion and frequent calls for rulings on parliamentary procedure, the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, in convention here today, adopted seven changes in the bylaws of the state organization.

One called for addition of two division chairmen to membership on the executive committee and a second provided that meetings may be called by the president or eight members, instead of five.

Good Crowd On Hand

Between 500 and 600 members of the Parent-Teacher congress attended the first session of the second day of the convention. They represented approximately 60,000 Texas members of the organization which has 2,218 local units, officers declared.

The bitterest fight concerned a proposed amendment to add two members to the state executive committee and to permit calling of conferences by a quorum of only five members of the committee.

The delegates argued for nearly an hour on whether chairmen of child hygiene and summer roundup and of the board of trustees of the endowment fund should be made members of the executive committee. It was the opinion of delegates opposed to the addition of those two chairmen that such action would place on the committee two votes which did not actually represent the membership since both chairmanships are appointive rather than elective.

After heated arguments and frequent calls for order, the change calling for addition of the two chairmen carried by a vote of 204 to 85.

Amendment Explained

The amended article in the state by-laws thereby was made to provide that the executive committee shall be composed of the chairman of child hygiene and summer roundup, chairman of the board of trustees of the endowment fund, chairman of the endowment fund and life membership and budget committees, life members of the executive committee and all officers of the Texas congress.

After the change in the by-laws was adopted, a spirited fight revolved about the clause providing that meetings may be called by the president or five members.

A proposed amendment provided that five members should constitute a quorum. Seating of such a low quorum was taken by many delegates to indicate a movement to provide for concentration of power within a small area. It was pointed out that several Texas cities have at least five executive committee members within a radius of less than 80 miles.

Speakers Listed

Speakers yesterday included Mrs. Hugh Bradford of Sacramento, Calif., national president; Dr. J. A. Hill of Canyon, president of the Texas State Teachers association; Mrs. Maggie W. Barry, special agent at Texas A. & M. college; and L. W. Rogers, state superintendent of education.

Rogers, in his address, asserted that Texas was facing the gravest financial situation that has confronted it since the beginning of the Texas public school system, with about $12,000,000 needed to balance the budget on August 31, 1933, to make up the loss resulting from the decrease in the state ad valorem school tax and to maintain the per capita apportionment at the present level of $16.

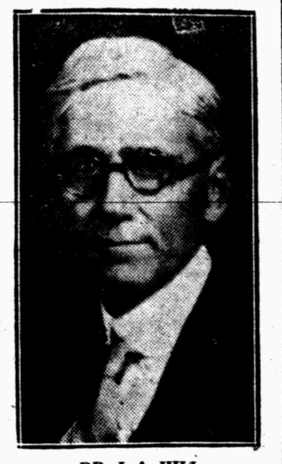

Another Fight Waged

Another lengthy verbal battle followed presentation of a proposed amendment to number district, county and city councils of the P. T. A. in Texas, many members indicating they were under the impression that units of the state organization would lose their identity under such a system. The amendment was adopted finally. Mrs. Loving explained that the numbers would be added merely as a technicality and the units still would bear their present names.

Four other amendments to the state bylaws were adopted with little discussion.

The morning session was preceded by classes in parliamentary procedure and publicity. Mrs. J. H. Moore, parliamentarian and Mrs. Maggie W. Barry led the former discussion and Mrs. J. M. Crain the latter.

Conferences on standards and on the summer roundup also were held.

Convicts Are Given Paroles

Sterling Opens Prison Gates For Forty; Lubbock Man In For Holdup Is Included In List Granted Clemency

(Special To The Avalanche)

AUSTIN, Nov. 17—Forty prisoners in the state penitentiary today received executive clemency in the form of paroles from Governor R. S. Sterling. In the group was Paul Hain, from Lubbock county, serving a five-year sentence for robbery with fire arms.

Several of the prisoners were under conviction for more than one offense. Liquor law offenders headed the list, there being 14 of them receiving paroles. Five convicted murderers, including one "lifer," one serving 99 years, and one with a 50-year sentence were freed. Other offenses represented in the clemency proclamations:

Four thefts, two hog thefts, two cattle thefts, three robberies, two assaults to murder, two forgeries, and one each of manslaughter, passing a forged instrument, false entry, bigamy, burglary, forgery, driving a car while intoxicated, misapplication of public funds, and writing a threatening letter.

Hain and another youth were convicted of hijacking the Dan Powers filling station in Lubbock, on Christmas night, 1930. They obtained about $10 in cash.

PAIN DEADENED CHEST COLDS LOOSENED WITHOUT DRUGS

It doesn't blister or stain. Rub it in till it sinks down and soothes the pain or breaks up the chest cold. Take no drugs, for any drug that is powerful enough to "deaden" pain or loosen a chest cold may not be good for you.

But beware of imitations. Ask your druggist for Baume Bengué by name (called "Ben-Gay" in English). There are many analgesic baumes, mostly cheap imitations of Ben-Gay made out of synthetic drugs. That is why they are cheap. That is also why they are ineffective. Insist on Ben-Gay and you will get real results.

Tech Frosh Smother Wayland; Westerners Play Lamesa

Picadors Run Wild To Take 43-6 Victory

Long Runs, Short Plunges By Three Tech Teams Overwhelm Wayland Squad Here Yesterday Afternoon

BY COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche Sports Editor

Coach John O'Dell Morgan of Texas Tech makes after-dinner speeches that bring chuckles from his audience. He also makes between-half speeches that bring touchdowns from his freshmen football-ists.

After loitering around in a colorless first half yesterday afternoon, during which time they made one touchdown and permitted one to be registered against them, the Tech Picadors let loose with a versatile offensive and a staunch defensive in the second half that resulted in a 43 to 6 victory over the Wayland college varsity Jackrabbits.

Thus the Frosh suspended from their already heavy belt of victories another triumph which brightens Tech's football future, and that part of the campus frequented by first year students is pervaded by an air which smacks suspiciously of cockiness.

Three Victories Precede

Once the freshmen have beaten the varsity reserves." Again they humiliated the University of New Mexico freshmen, going to Albuquerque to do a thorough job of it. A couple of weeks ago they attained state-wide prominence by defeating the Amarillo college Badgers. A loss to New Mexico Military Institute is all that mars the public record of the Picadors.

Just the words used by Coach Morgan in the dressing room between halves yesterday could not be learned verbatim. They probably couldn't be printed if they were known. Suffice it to say they must have been heavy with emotional pleading. At any rate, it wasn't long before the offense began to click, before the Picadors began running for touchdowns, intercepting passes and stopping line plays before and as they reached the line of scrimmage.

Ted Wilson of Tulsa, Okla., played another great game. He ran behind his interference until his interference was removed, then he made his own way, leaving in his wake a flock of flattened noses and skinned shins. Brode Puckett, he of Spur High school fame; Ray Brandon of Cleburne and J. V. Beauchamp of Greenville were other outstanding gainers for the Picadors. Another quarterback by the name of May, hailing from McKinney, and Earl St. John of Royce City took turn about at carrying the ball and calling signals with the other three or four backfields.

Linemen Make Way

The play of linemen was highly effective, big Gaines David and Sad Sam Jones of Abilene, the latter playing an end position after starring in high school at fullback, heading the cast. Joe Barlow, a tackle whose ineligibility keeps him off the varsity squad, played a smashing game, busting up a punt that resulted in a safety for the Picadors in the third period.

The Frosh scored early. Brandon recovering a Wayland fumble on the kick-off return on the 33-yard line. Brandon picked up four yards, four more, and Wilson carried it to the 19-yard line. Wilson finally carried it over after a series of short plunges.

The Old "Army Game"

A few minutes later the freshmen were the victims of a play their uncles learned in high school, although it was pulled a little differently. Coach Codell of Wayland sent in a substitute, and two men pulled away from the huddle, one going to the bench, the other to the sideline. The ball was on Wayland's 33-yard line. Pearce had gained about three yards. On the next play, Pearce faded back and heaved a long pass to Durham, the player who had hidden out. It was good for a gain of 62 yards, and placed the ball on Tech's 1-yard line. Ted Wilson, the same Tech Ted, outran Durham and collared him just in the nick of time. Williams, Wayland halfback, plunged over the line for a touchdown on the next play. The play for extra point, an attempted pass, was blocked.

Pearce's passing to the ends and to Durham proved Wayland's strongest offensive threat. Durham was easily the outstanding Jackrabbit back. Later in the game, Wayland pulled a series of tackle-around plays, with Webb doing the ball carrying, that gained a few yards. Except for the touchdown, Wayland never threatened.

Pass Attack Gains

Brandon passed to his wingmen for considerable gains for Tech, but the knife-like thrusts of St. John and Brandon, the heavy plunging of Wilson and Puckett rendered most of the Frosh gain.

Three touchdowns came in the third period. After Wilson had returned the second-half kick-off 36 yards, the Picadors drove for a touchdown from mid-field, and later from the Jackrabbit 4-yard line, Wilson and Brandon making two runs of 24 and 11 yards for two of the three necessary plays. Puckett got loose for 40 yards a few minutes later to take the ball to Wayland's 2-yard line, from where Wilson went over for the counter. Gaines Davis kicked goal after each touchdown.

Early in the fourth period, the Picadors drove 82 yards for a touchdown. Kincaid, Beauchamp and St. John doing the ball toting, helped by Scott, whose run of 19 yards placed the ball on the 6 yard line, from where Beauchamp put it over.

Returns Punt for Touchdown

Beauchamp's 55-yard return of a punt for touchdown featured the period. It was a beautiful broken field run, with the Greenville flash scuttling down the middle and east sidelines.

A drive which originated with Wilson's 17-yard run from Tech's 14-yard line appeared certain to result in another touchdown, the timer's gun stopping the drive and the game after the freshmen had come to Wayland's 18-yard line. On the first five plays of the latter drive, the Picadors collected four first downs, three coming in a row to start the chase.

MATADORS LEAVE

Coaches Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith, Manager Bo Williams and 24 members of the Texas Tech varsity football squad left yesterday afternoon for Albuquerque where they play the University of New Mexico Loboes in a Border conference game Saturday.

The traveling squad made the trip by train, and was due to arrive in Albuquerque early this morning. A workout on the University of New Mexico field was planned for this afternoon. The game is scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock, mountain time, tomorrow. A victory tomorrow practically will cinch the championship of the Border conference for the Matadors, who are playing their first season in organized football.

"Let's Shake" Say Teams Of Eastern Grids

Grudges Are Forgotten As Some Clubs Break Off Arguing And Start Playing Football, Southern Teams Still Fuss

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—In contrast with the current tendency among some of the leading southern and far western gridiron forces to glare at each other, if indeed they do not actually break off relations, the trend in the east now seems to be definitely on the side of peace and a better understanding.

This is, obviously, somewhat of a reversal. Within the past half dozen years, when bigger and better crackups in gridiron relations occurred, the east seemed able to produce them. The celebrated Harvard-Princeton and Army-Syracuse "breaks" were followed by the reverberating Army-Navy split-up. Other upheavals threatened.

Army and Navy Sign Truce

The cycle of reconciliation is not completed, by any means. But while this season has developed the Vanderbilt-Tulane "break" in a series of southern misunderstandings and, on the coast, such natural rivals as Southern California and U. C.L.A. have displayed bitter feelings, the east is witnessing a revival of old friendships, topped off by the complete and official restoration of good relations between West Point and Annapolis.

Pittsburgh engaged Pennsylvania again for the first time in seven years, although this re-union was a trifle brisk along the front line. The Panthers renew relations next year with another old rival, Washington & Jefferson.

Princeton met Columbia this season, after a long lapse, and will renew football rivalry with Brown at Providence in 1933, but there does not seem much prospect of a resumption of Harvard-Princeton gridiron relations before 1935.

More Bitterness Fades

Meanwhile, however, the bitterness engendered by the 1926 "break" in the old big three has disappeared. Harvard-Princeton relations have been resumed in other sports. Although Princeton's published football schedule for the next two years does not include Harvard, there is a spot for a 1934 game with the Crimson, if the rotating schedule sought by the Tigers should suddenly find favor at Cambridge.

Boston observers have gathered that the groundwork already has been laid for a quadrangular gridiron arrangement including Yale, Harvard, Princeton and Dartmouth. All this requires now is for the Tigers to get together with Harvard and Dartmouth.

Cornell will revive an old and spectacular rivalry by playing Michigan next season, meanwhile foregoing the game with Princeton for a year. As let, however, no indications has been forthcoming as to when up-state New York football fans may find those natural rivals, Cornell and Syracuse, getting together on the gridiron.

Irish And Navy Bring Major Football To Cleveland

Cleveland's first glimpse of "major" collegiate football comes Saturday with the playing there of the annual Notre Dame-Navy game. The grid tussle will take place in Cleveland's new municipal stadium, home of the Cleveland American league baseball team. Above, are captains and coaches of the opposing teams. The stadium seats more than 80,000 for football.

Lubbock Junior High School Cowboys Conclude Grid Season With 13 To 12 Victory Over Plainview Team

The Lubbock Junior High school Cowboys, coached by Mule Davis and Lovie Liston, returned home last night with a close 13 to 12 victory over the Plainview Junior High school Bullpups.

Local fans and the junior high school pep squad, numbering about 50 in all, accompanied the team to Plainview to see the game, which was as full of football's thrills as almost any game the average fan sees.

Won Four Games

The Cowboys wound up their season yesterday, having played the quota of six games, winning four of them, losing one and ending one in a deadlock.

Scoring two touchdowns before the game was five minutes old, the Cowboys took the lead and held it, playing defensive football against a charging, crashing line which outweighed them by several pounds. A pass, R. J. Murray to Othie Upton, after the first touchdown, was completed for the extra and decisive point.

The first counter came shortly after Lubbock received the kick-off, the Cowboys working the ball down the field to a close point from where Worth Bull, left halfback, crashed over for the counter.

Pass Is Blocked

A few minutes later, with Plainview on the offensive, a pass was blocked by a Lubbock lineman and caught by Murray Venable, right end, who scampered down the field for a touchdown.

Plainview scored both its touchdowns in the second period as results of long and hard plunges at the line. Both attempts to kick goal were failures. The Cowhands worked the ball to Plainview's three-inch line early in the fourth period in another drive but failed to go over for the counter.

During the season, the Cowboys have defeated the Brownfield Junior High school team twice, winning a 14 to 0 victory at Brownfield and a 19 to 0 verdict here. They defeated Floydada's juniors at Floydada, 6 to 0, and fought the same team to a 6-6 tie here. Plainview's Bullpups won a 7 to 0 victory here early in the season, and yesterday's triumph was a revenge for Lubbock.

DENTON, Nov. 17 (AP) — Coach Jack Sisco's North Texas Teachers college Eagles turned back an invading Trinity university Tiger team today for a 20 to 0 victory. Ted Wright, Eagle quarterback, and Captain Prentice Walker, fullback, led the Eagle charges, Wright making two of the three touchdowns.

Confident Frogs Leave For Houston To Meet Rice Owls

FORT WORTH, Nov. 17. (AP) — Confident but expecting a hard battle, Coaches Francis Schmidt and Raymond Wolf and 28 of their T. C.U. Horned Frogs boarded a train tonight for Houston where Saturday they meet the Rice Owls. They plan a workout on the Owls' field Friday afternoon.

Before departing the Frogs were sent through a complete rehearsal of their offense and defense. It completed their heavy workouts for the game.

Sherman Wins In District No. Six

DENISON, Nov. 17. (AP) — The Sherman Bearcats defeated the Denison Yellowjackets, 19 to 6, here today to win the football championship of District 6.

Denison scored on the first play after the opening kickoff when Lowe, quarterback, ran 71 yards for a touchdown. Duval scored on a short line buck for Sherman's first score. Sandell's short line plunge and Davis' 72-yard run after intercepting a pass scored two more touchdowns for the winners in the third period.

Lowe returned the opening kickoff in the second half 62 yards to Sherman's 19-yard line and made another run of 41 yards to become the leading ground gainer.

Regardless of the outcome of the Thanksgiving day game between Sherman and McKinney, the Bearcats will win the district title.

Cold Weather Drives Texas Aggies Indoors For Workout

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Nov. 17. (AP)—Cold, rainy weather drove the Texas Aggie football squad inside today and instead of a scrimmage they held a skull practice. Coach Mattie Bell outlined again new plays the Aggies will use in the Thanksgiving game with the University of Texas and each player's assignment was gone over thoroughly.

Westerners May Strike Hard Going Today; Game To Start At 3:30 On Texas Tech Grid

Lubbock High Gridsters May Be Playing Final Game At Home Today; Lamesa Likely To Give Trouble

Coaches Weldon Chapman and Burl Huffman and their Lubbock High school Westerners will play their final engagement of the season before the homefolks this afternoon when they meet the tough Lamesa High school Golden Tornadoes at the Texas Tech field.

The game is scheduled to start at 3:30 o'clock.

The game will be the last high school contest here, that is, unless the unexpected happens at Amarillo next Thursday in the Lubbock-Amarillo championship game Should Lubbock emerge with a victory, there is a possibility of another game at home, otherwise the season will end on Thanksgiving at Amarillo

Appreciate Lamesa's Ability

The Westerners have taken time off from pointing to Amarillo this week to brush up on a few tricks planned against the Golden Tornadoes today. While they are strong favorites to win, the Westerners have been warned against a spell of over-confidence or cockiness that might result in further blackening of their season's record, already blemished with two defeats.

Since those defeats, however, the Westerners have shown enough improvement to win three District 1 games in succession, and now stand at the head of the ladder. Mathematically, they are deadlocked with the Amarillo Sandies for the leadership, the Sandstorm having swept over two conference teams, with no defeat against it. The game Thursday will decide the championship of the district, provided Amarillo drubs Borger this week. Anything but a Sandstorm victory this week would border on the ridiculous.

Coach F. T. McCollum's Lamesa team has waged a good football war this season, gaining scoreless ties with Big Spring, a Class A team of District 3, and Slaton, a Class A team in District 1 last year but a member of the Class B circuit this season.

The Tornadoes played a slashing game here last year to hold the championship Lubbock eleven to five touchdowns while they registered one against the Westerners. Lamesa has improved, Lubbock is noticeably weaker than last year's team.

Tickets On Sale Soon

Athletic Business Manager Pinkey Lowery of Lubbock High announced yesterday that tickets for the Lubbock-Amarillo game would go on sale here shortly. Middle section of the grandstand and box seats will be $1 each, while another section of reserved seats will be offered at 75 cents each. There is a general admission section for 50 cents, and student tickets will be not more than 25 cents, the lowest price asked for a championship game in many seasons.

Look Out Coyote!
Hunters Load Guns For Wolf Chase

SAN MARCOS, Nov. 17. (AP)—The crafty coyote which claims the pasturelands about Campbellton, as home, is going to find life a hazard December 5, 6 and 7.

Huntsmen, members of the Southwest Texas Wolf Hunters' association, and their hound packs, will move into Campbellton December 4, ready to open the 10th annual wolf hunt the next day.

The hunt will open on the Elder ranch, a veritable empire of acres under one fence. Hunting enthusiasts from South, Central and Southwest Texas will pitch camp on the ranch, to sleep little, eat little, and hunt much.

Norman Martindale of San Marcos, president of the association, recently announced the dates and the scene of this annual chase. With him will go Sam R. Kone of San Marcos, who, although 70, has never missed one of the annual hunts. Martindale has attended all but two.

The Walker hound is the predominant type of dog used in these chases. Once hemmed in, or forced into a straight-away race to the finish with these swift, distance-enduring packs, the coyote's life is short. As many as 20 wolves have been caught during one of these annual hunts.

Houston Post To Award Trophy To Outstanding Southwest Loop Player

HOUSTON, Nov. 17. (AP) — The Houston Post trophy for the most valuable Southwest conference football player will be awarded again in 1932, it was announced today.

The committee to make the award is composed of the following sports writers: Flem Hall, Fort Worth Star-Telegram; Jinx Tucker, Waco News-Tribune; Bill Parker, Associated Press; George White, Dallas News; Curtis Vinson, Texas A. and M. College publicity director; "Hop" Hopkins, Austin American, and Lloyd Gregory, Houston Post.

Lieut. Garrison Davidson, who will take over the Army coaching job next fall, was the first player ever to score a touchdown at Michie Stadium at West Point.

Cabinet Walks Out In Berlin

Von Papen And Aides Express Desire To Serve Chief And Fatherland; New Reich To Get Another Roundtable

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Nov. 17 — Chancellor Franz Von Papen, who has directed the German government for a little less than six months, resigned today, taking his whole cabinet out with him, in the face of almost unanimous opposition in the new Reichstag.

He goes out to make room for others in an effort to realize President Von Hindenburg's ideal of a cabinet of "national concentration" appointed by and primarily responsible to the President but supported or at least tolerated by a majority of the Reichstag.

Reason Is Given

The communique announcing the resignation said the cabinet had retired because "it wishes to clear the way for the president so that he, as the leader of the nation and with the high authority of his office, may bring about the consolidation of all truly national forces which alone can assure Germany's future.

"Under the present conditions, the government believes it acts in the best interests of the Fatherland if it returns its offices to the president. In so doing it acts in accordance with the often-pronounced principle that personal considerations have no place in so serious an hour."

Dallas Officers Hold Man Suspected Of Bank Holdup

DALLAS, Nov. 17. (AP) — A man suspected of participation in a bank robbery at Colfax, Wash., last September, was arrested here last night and was held pending arrival of officers from that state.

Police had been on the lookout for him since receiving his description from Washington authorities and since the arrest of Edward Bentz, at Dallas, also wanted for the robbery. Bentz has been identified as the man who robbed banks at Blue Ridge, Tex., and Ponder, Tex.

In a belt around the man's waist, officers found $300 in $20 bills.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 17. (AP)—Cotton appeared to be marking time today as prices moved narrowly in a quiet market, finally closing unchanged to one point net lower.

The opening was steady as Liverpool cables came in about 3 to 4 penny points better than due. Private cables said there had been scattered buying and trade calling and Sterling was lower.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow unchanged to 1 penny point down.

Port receipts 60,882, for week 305,250, for season 4,027,304, last season 4,519,123. Exports 39,972, for week 169,668, for season 3,845,602, last season 3,321,286. Port stock 4,363,498, last year 4,081,974. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 139,382, last year 146,617. Spot sales at southern markets 33,264, last year 51,420.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (AP)—Trading in cotton was quiet today and prices fluctuated within a range of 8 or 10 points. December declined from 6.36@6.37 and closed at 6.26, with the general market closing steady at net losses of 2 to 8 points.

The chief trading feature was evening up of December contracts in preparation for possible notices next week. Trade buying, presumably to fix prices again absorbed some of the December liquidation while a good part of the business was in the form of switching from December to later months at just about the recent differences. At the close December was 26 points under May compared with 27 points yesterday.

Liverpool cables reported a smaller market there but said there was a continued demand for cotton goods in Manchester with offers more workable.

Stocks Give Up Ground In Thursday Trading But Do Better Than Grains

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (AP)—Stocks gave up a little more ground today, although they held much better than grains. Volume was the smallest in a fortnight and activity so substantially professional that the minor fluctuations appeared to represent only the "in and out" transactions of floor traders.

Changes over the day showed frequent shifts of direction, but all the moves were of minor extent. However, the undertone was easy and although one of the little rallies came at the close most leading issues finished a shade off. Except for Homestake mining, which jumped nearly 8 points, there were no outstanding swings such as occurred yesterday. Farm implement stocks were unaffected by losses running close to 2 cents a bushel in wheat.

Foreign News Watched

Foreign angles to the news received most attention. Sterling had a sharp reaction and German bonds dipped when resignation of the Von Papen government was announced. The still-present debt problem may have been less a factor in market hesitation than of late; but Wall Street's unwillingness to venture very far from the sidelines at this juncture was quiet evident.

Net losses in shares were almost entirely fractional. U. S. Steel, American Can, Bethlehem, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, Anaconda, National Biscuit, American Tobacco "B," North American, Western Union, Consolidated Gas, New York Central, Pennsylvania and Santa Fe averaged half a point lower. Losses of around a point appeared in Westinghouse, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Lackawanna. Penick and Ford profited by declaration of a larger extra dividend than had been paid last year. Homestake's strength coincided with news of larger gold production in the United States during September and the general let-down of commodity prices. Stock sales totaled 700,040 shares.

Grain

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 17. (AP) —Uneasiness that followed breaks in British exchange and the resignation of the German cabinet went hand in hand with new downslides of grain values today.

Stop-loss selling both of wheat and corn took place, with unsettlement of grains increased by irregularity of stock. Enlarged liquidation of December wheat contracts here put an additional burden on the market.

Wheat closed unsteady at the day's low point, 1 3-8 to 2 cents under yesterday's finish, corn 1 1-4 to 1 3-4 down, oats 1-4 to 3-4 off, and provisions unchanged to 20 cents lower.

Meanwhile, friends of higher prices for wheat failed to make headway with suggestions of potential bullish possibilities for the future should domestic winter crop prospects develop poorly Southwest. The market also ignored reports of unwelcome rains and of storm dagame in parts of Argentina.

Closing indemnities: Wheat — Dec. 42 3-8, 43 7-8; May 47 1-2@3-8, 48 7-8@49; July 46 1-2@3-8, 46 1-8. Corn—Dec. 34 1-4, 35 1-8; May 39 3-8@3-4, 39 1-2@5-8.

The Hungry Citizen

WHAT there is something more to the unemployment situation than the humanitarian side is stressed by Newton D. Baker, one of the outstanding men of America, who, as national chairman of the citizens committee undertaking to stir sentiment favorable to aiding the unfortunate, should know whereof he speaks.

Taking as his theme "the hungry citizen", the former Secretary of War in the Wilson cabinet has this to say:

"The boy whose stomach is empty cannot be expected to do good work at school. Babies undernourished through another winter may be handicapped by frail bodies through life. The hungry father of a hungry family is hardly the man to seek work with persistence—or to do well on the job when he finds it.

"Before you save a man's soul it is often necessary to feed his body. You have a right to expect the civic virtues of patience, courage and honesty from starving, freezing men and women. If they preserve a just attitude towards the laws of the city and country in which they live it is a miracle."

To those who have followed the career of Mr Baker, it comes as no hardship to say that he is right.

To those who know the Ohioan as a man who speaks his mind and who pursues his own course regardless of opinions of others, his remarks—straight from the shoulder though they are—are not sensational.

Mr. Baker has the right slant on the situation from Portland, Maine, to Portland, Oregon, and from the Canadian to the Mexican border.

Men who have always been good citizens, men who have always stood well in their communities, men who have always stood for the right and who have labored earnestly for their families now find themselves in circumstances they never expected to experience.

And their present experience makes it all the more incumbent upon society to do its share to bear the common burden.

LAUDER ON ECONOMICS

Sir Harry Lauder, the world famous Scotch comedian who will appear in Lubbock on December 28 under auspices of the Avalanche-Journal, stepped out of character long enough the other day to give his views on the economic situation.

Speaking before a breakfast company in Spokane, Sir Harry seriously told his listeners that in his opinion the stagnation of world trade is at the bottom of the whole affair.

"I see it", he declared, "all over the world; wherever I go. The nations haven't the money to trade with one another. Let's not forgive the debts but let's get together, set a 50-year moratorium and give the world a chance to recover."

Of course, Sir Harry is a British subject and more or less of a good will ambassador as he troops from land to land. It is to the interests of his nation that a further moratorium be granted.

But there is, as financiers will agree, room for serious consideration of his words.

Naturally, we Americans want our money. We want it because we loaned it in part of the loan is due.

We want it, because if we don't get it our own citizens will have to help pay a bill that is owed by England, France, Germany, Belgium—by almost every country in the world.

But maybe we'll all do better by increasing business and world trade by an extension of the moratorium.

Who knows?

It is a problem for the internationally-minded business man.

Often men who practice a profession do have to practice economy.

It shouldn't be difficult to make an automatic traffic cop that would pop up at railroad crossings as trains approached.

A military leader in China seems to be anybody with a bunch of followers and an itching palm.

If you get up and start early in the morning, you miss all the traffic except those who started early to miss it.

The final proof of a powerful nature is never to wish you were driving a 10-ton truck.

Out where party labels mean nothing to a grievance, that's where the West begins.

But how can cancellation of war debts save Europe when dodging has done her no good.

"The success of the crop depends on moisture more than the quality of the soil." This is especially true of wild oats.

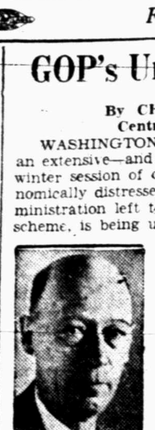

Today's One-Minute Sermon

To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven.—Ecclesiastes 3:1.

GOP's Urged To Roll Logs

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Republican support of an extensive—and expensive—program of relief at the winter session of congress, for all classes of the economically distressed, with the coming Democratic administration left to find money to meet costs of the scheme, is being urged upon G. O. P. managers, as a sequel to the Jeffersonian victory at the polls.

Chas. P. Stewart

The plan, of independent radical origin, by no means was conceived with a view to the promotion of ultimate best interests of the Republicans.

Nevertheless, its authors, while readily conceding that what they have in mind is the furtherance of ends of their own, are arguing with Hamiltonian strategists that its adoption will serve the purposes of the Republicans in simultaneously placing them in the position of friends of the people and embarrassing the Democratic regime from its beginning.

THAT THE PROPOSED legislation can be enacted between congress' meeting date in December and the session's end, March 4 is, to be sure, no certainty, considering the Democrats' present strength in both branches of the national legislature.

Still, the Republicans can introduce and fight for it, and blame their opponents for its defeat if it fails. As it is presumed it will be popular, it is reasoned that this will redound to the advantage of the Republicans.

On the other hand, should the relief measures pass, the idea is that their Republican sponsors will reap credit for them.

However, the assumption is that the task will occupy so much of the winter session that appropriation bills will go by the board, compelling President Roosevelt to bring the lawmakers together by an extra summons directly after the March adjournment, to vote money, both for the government's ordinary requirements and for the newly-provided relief program—which will call for heavily increased taxes, of course.

IN BRIEF, the notion the project's proponents are seeking to sell to the Republican high command is that the G.O.P. will put through the legislation, which will be popular, and that the Democrats will have to finance it, which will not.

As for the radicals, who are pressing it, they will get what they desire, in the form of important economic readjustments, and are counting on the system, once installed, to survive.

Under normal conditions they have, to tell the truth, as little faith in the one major party as the other to indorse so advanced a socio-economic scheme as they favor. By playing one against the other, however, in the peculiar situation of today, their leadership is tolerably sanguine of making at least material headway toward fulfillment of their ambitions.

THE SUGGESTIONS outlined fall short, indeed, of those aimed at by full-fledged socialism, but unquestionably would be classed by conservatives and individualists generally as "socialistic".

Essentially they would commit the federal government to responsibility for employment at adequate wages and to a sufficiency in the field of agriculture.

These principles having been recognized, the next step assuredly will be in the direction of taxation shaped to redistribute wealth—partly as a desirable move in itself, partly to raise the necessary funds to make the initial half of the concept possible of realization.

FOOTBALL ACCIDENTS

Statistics on football accidents and fatalities during the first half of the 1932 season confirm previous indications that the new rules have materially reduced the hazards of this popular sport. Although 10 fatalities have been reported, only one of these deaths occurred in college circles, where all the new safeguards are in effect. The other nine, together with two players believed to be dying, were injured in high school and sand-lot games, where the supervision, care and training given to college men and strict observance of rules are lacking in many cases.

Likewise, most of the injuries reported in college statistics were of a minor character. The elimination of the "flying wedge" on kickoffs, flying blocks and tackles and "rabbit punches" on the necks of defensive linemen has had a tremendous effect in safeguarding college players. It is regretted that the same degree of observnace and enforcement does not prevail in all contests.

Pa Corbin, who belongs in Yale football history to the age when the players wore long mustaches, tight pants and jersey caps, analyzes the game of today and reports it mere camouflaged basketball. "King football is dead," says he.

But Pa overlooks a point. Football in his day and for several years after he was through, was in danger of being legislated out of existence. So many arms and legs and bones and eyes and backs were being sacrificed on the gridiron that Saturdays in the football season rolled up regular Fourth of July casualty lists. The better sense of the country got after the two institutions about the same time—bloody football and July 4 dynamite.

Result: Tens of thousands of eyes and arms and legs and backs saved for useful purpose. And we have just as much fun as Pa Corbin did in his day.

THE LETTERLESS ALL-CONFERENCE QUARTERBACK:

Though "Boob" Nash, star quarterback of the Lon Morris college of Jacksonville, Texas, excelled on the gridiron to the extent that he was chosen for the All-Conference eleven, his classroom standing prevented him from receiving his football letter last season. The college required all athletes to make a passing grade in not less than three courses before a letter is given, which Nash failed to do.

Oratorical Fireworks Expected In January Session Of Legislature As Wet-Dry Fight Looms

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, Nov. 17 (AP)—Observers are looking forward to some oratorical fireworks at the regular session of the Texas legislature next January, to be set off by the troublesome prohibition question.

That an attempt would be made then to revise the state prohibition law was thought highly probable by members of the 42nd legislature who discussed the question informally during the second "lame duck" session of the present law making body. Opinion was pretty well divided among the group as to whether the attempts would get very far, belief being expressed that Texas had not leaned as far toward the liberal side of the liquor question as other portions of the country.

After Dean Law

Senator Gus Russek of Schulenburg stated the first bill he would introduce at the regular session would be aimed at repeal of the bone dry Dean law, the state prohibition statute. Russek stated the bill would be offered despite a prohibition clause in the state constitution. Russek's action would be in line with anticipated submission by Congress of repeal of the Eighteenth amendment and modification of the Volstead law.

The fact that repeal of the Eighteenth amendment, and immediate modification of the Federal prohibition enforcement laws, were planks in the national platform of the Democratic party, was expected to exert considerable influence on the attitude of the next state legislature on the liquor question.

Ferguson Is Wet

It also was pointed out that ex-Governor James E. Ferguson, whose wife will be Texas' next governor, is in favor of repeal of the Eighteenth amendment. The precinct in which Ferguson votes adopted a resolution at its convention after the first primary last July calling for repeal of the Dean law.

Another factor to be considered is that several of the staunch defenders of prohibition in the state legislature were defeated in the recent elections. The group included the Rev. B. J. Forbes of Weatherford, leader of the prohibition group, and two other ministers, Rev. George W. Coltrin of Mathis and Rev. W. H. Wiggs of Paris.

Forbes said he confidently expected the Dean law to be softened with the possibility that beer would be legalized. Forbes was frank to admit that the drys in the legislature had taken a hard drubbing in the elections and said he expected the Dean law to be revised without much opposition.

May Delete Pen Term

Under the existing law, the first offense is classed as a felony, punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary. Forbes said he expected the law would be modified by making the first two offenses misdemeanors, punishable only by a fine. He would not be surprised, he said, if the legislature went farther and removed the penitentiary sentence altogether.

Forbes said the drys would have to admit the situation, "no matter how distasteful," but added that the wets had better watch their step and not make a mess of things or the drys would get another chance to declare what the policy of the state should be in regard to liquor.

"The wets might put in something in lieu of prohibition that would be less satisfactory than what we have now," Forbes stated. "If they do, we'll get another chance at it."

"They sure worked on the drys in the last election," he added ruefully.

Forbes' fear of extensive revision of the Dean law was not shared extensively, many recalling that the wets had pretty tough sledding in the last session in trying to do something about prohibition.

WITT IS "LAME DUCK"

AUSTIN, Nov. 17 (AP)—Lieutenant Governor Edgar E. Witt is eligible to membership in the "lame duck" club of the Texas legislature, even though he was re-elected to his present office almost by acclamation.

For Witt, literally, is a lame duck at a lame duck session.

Recently the genial little president of the senate had an accident that incapacitated his right arm. He appeared at the fourth special session with the injured member in a sling.

But having a useless arm did not prevent Witt from assuming his duties. He merely shifted his gavel from his right to his left hand and went right ahead. With a good sounding block to pound upon, he makes almost as much noise with his left hand as he formerly did with his right.

Only Seven Other Mothers Have Seen Sons Elected To The Presidency; Exhaustive Search Uncovers U. S. Records

BY ROBERT ST. JOHN
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP)—Franklin Delano Roosevelt's mother, Mrs. James Roosevelt, is the eighth woman to see her son elected President of the United States, an exhaustive study of historical records disclosed tonight.

The traditional dream of American women came true for her last week when she sat in a New York hotel and watched machines grind out a steady flow of election returns which soon spelled a victory.

At that time someone told her she was the first woman since Mary Washington to see her son elected president.

Long Search Made

But a search through biographical records, genealogies, old wills and tombstone photographs has disclosed that gray-haired 78-year old Mrs. Roosevelt shares the honor with seven other women.

The mother of George Washington lived until four months after her illustrious son's inauguration. She was 82 when she died.

Mrs. Susanna Adams died at the age of 83, six weeks after her son, John, became the second president of the United States.

Mrs. Nelly Madison, who came with two years of being a centenarian, lived 20 years after her son, James, was elected.

Mrs. Jane Polk, not only saw her son, James, become president, but outlived him.

Mrs. Harriet Grant lived for 14 years after her son went off to the White House, and she died just two years before he did.

Mother Is Embraced

When James A. Garfield was inaugurated, he paused during the ceremony to embrace his aged mother, who sat on the platform beside him.

One of the prized pictures in historical museums is that of Mrs. Nancy McKinley sitting under a parasol at the inauguration of her son, William.

Many of the presidents left for posterity glowing tributes to their mothers. Most celebrated is Lincoln's—"All I am or hope to be I owe to my angel mother."

Banks Rapped By RFC Head

Liquid Institutions Refusing To Make Loans Are Called "Parasites"; He Commends 90 Percent Of U. S. Banks

(By The Associated Press)

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—Atlee Pomerene, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, today assailed as "parasites" banks which, while being 75 per cent or more liquid, refused to make loans when proper security is offered.

Chairman Pomerene estimated approximately ten per cent of the banks of the country fell into this class and said "were it not for the Reconstructon Finance corporation, the entire country would be at their mercy." Pomerene's attack was made in the course of an address on the operations of the Reconstruction Finance corporation delivered before the eighth New England conference, sponsored by the New England council.

Most Banks Approved

He estimated "that 90 per cent of the banks, all things considered, have done their full duty to their depositors and borrowers and to the communities which they serve."

Speaking on the same program, Gov. Joseph B. Ely, of Massachusetts, said if "Southern textile states—and others" did not raise their labor legislation standards toward those of Massachusetts, the Bay state would be forced to lower its standards to place its industries in competition with those of outside states.

of the Newark Police department.

Walsh also reveals that Dr. John F Condon of the Bronx, the "Jafsie" who paid over $50,000 to the supposed kidnapers, reported to Col. Lindbergh that "John," the man to whom he paid the money, told him there were five of the kidnapers, divided into two groups, the first composed of two men and a woman and the second a man and a woman.

Suspicion Explained

"In my mind was the suspicion," Walsh states, "that the woman in the second group might be Violet."

Describing the search for the "Ernie" Miss Sharpe said she was with the night of March 1, and whom she said she believed was a bus driver, Walsh states the name of every bus and taxi driver in the states of New York and New Jersey was obtained and that every "Ernie" on the list was questioned.

ber of these towns to be represented here.

Instructions Given

Instructions will be given by Mr. Bandeen regarding expenditure of the relief funds.

"This money is not a dole, nor is it to be used for charity purposes," it was said yesterday. "It must be used for work relief and the creating of employment. The money advanced to Texas for this winter will be taken from future federal road appropriations to this state."

The organization which will direct expenditure of the money in Lubbock has not been named. Chas. A. Guy is chairman of the committee which applied for funds for Lubbock county. Other members are: J. O. Jones, E. L. Pitts, J. J. Clements, S. A. Wells, and A. B. Davis. Messrs. Guy and Wells are WTCC directors.

Letters Sent Out

The chamber of commerce here has sent letters to directors and committee members in towns of the South Plains, informing them of the session and its purposes.

"The purpose of the meeting is to present checks from the federal relief and work relief appropriations and you must be at this or one of the other meetings called to secure your money," the letters said. "The meeting here is the closest one to you."

The regional organization favors the expenditure of federal aid in a way whereby indigents must work for the money and, at the same time, whereby cities and counties of West Texas may profit through improving their appearances and living conditions. It is likely that expenditure of federal aid will be hooked up with the WTCC's area-wide beautification contest.

President Wilbur C. Hawk of Amarillo, who had planned to be here, has been called to Kansas because of illness of his father. Besides Mr. Bandeen, Maury Hopkins, assistant manager, is expected to be here for today's session.

viding food for two, has a pantry valued at $118. The values vary according to the number in the families.

At each home there were displays, giving balanced menus and showing foods to provide the meals. There were gift tables, too, covered with cellophane-wrapped pies, cakes, candies, nuts and jars, appetizing suggestions for Christmas morning. Visitors were given a sample of the products as refreshments were served at almost every place visited.

Every product of the farm has been stored in these cellars. Tins and glass jars are arranged in gleaming rows on shelves that have been built around the dirt walls. Golden pumpkins, boxes of onions, sacks of dried beans and peas, potatoes and turnips supplement the meals. Molds of cheese are ripening and other products have been "heeled in" to keep until needed later in the winter. Corn on cobs is drying to be made into meal and soon hams and shoulders will be salted down to complete the supply of food.

Hoover And Roosevelt Prepare For Washington Conference On Tuesday

however, that provided the more dramatic incidents of the day.

M. Claudel and M. May just had left an additional conference with Under-Secretary William Castle of the State department, who shortly before had conferred with the President, and Senators and Representatives still were declaring on Capitol Hill their opposition to alteration of the debt agreement, when the telephone buzzer rang beneath Mr. Hoover's desk.

Conversation Not Given

The conversation that followed brought the first important verbal interchange between the chief executive and his victor at the polls since the war.

The words themselves were kept from the public, but as interpreted by one of the White House secretaries they decided that the conference to come next Tuesday afternoon need not be of such length as to necessitate Mr. Roosevelt's remaining overnight as a White House guest. The scene for the meeting of the two men who have opposed each other so strenuously during recent months was set tentatively for the executive offices which the New York Governor shortly will make his own.

The President-elect asked that the meeting — their first in more than a decade except for brief exchanges at the Governor's conference in Richmond and at a White House supper the next day — be made "wholly informal and personal."

Willing To Co-Operate

He expressed a willingness to go over the entire situation, including war debts, world armaments and economic affairs, as well as more domestic problems, but served notice he felt responsibility for immediate action rested with those now in authority.

Professor To Accompany Roosevelt To Capital

By WALTER T. BROWN
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 17. (AP) — Franklin D. Roosevelt, the President-elect, will be accompanied by Prof. Raymond Moley, an authority on economics, when he calls upon President Hoover at the White House next Tuesday for a discussion of war debt problems.

Following his telephone conversation today with Mr. Hoover, Governor Roosevelt announced the Columbia university professor, one of his campaign advisors, will be his only counsellor.

Calls From Study

The President-elect was working in his study on the first floor of the executive mansion when he called Mr. Hoover. It was shortly before the Governor's luncheon. Only his press representative, Marvin H. McIntyre, was in the room when he conversed with the president.

"What was said, Governor?" he was asked.

"Ask Mac," he replied, smiling.

McIntyre also smiled, but said nothing.

Roosevelt Feels Better

Mr. Roosevelt, entirely recovered from the mild attack of influenza that kept him in bed five days, will return to the state capitol tomorrow.

Saturday morning, the Governor will drive to Hyde Park where he will remain until Monday evening. He will leave New York for Washington about 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. The conference with Mr. Hoover is set for 4 p. m. that day.

"Will you complete the conference in one day," he was asked.

"That I don't know," Roosevelt answered, adding that he likely would remain in the capital Tuesday night, going to Warm Springs, Ga., Wednesday morning.

Advisor Is Guest

Louis Howe, Mr. Roosevelt's political adviser and close friend, was a guest at the mansion last night and this morning. He left for New York before Roosevelt called Washington.

As usual Governor Roosevelt was asked at today's press conference:

"Anything on beer?"

"Nothing more than what I said in my campaign speeches," he replied.

Several times during the campaign he referred to the Democratic platform plank declaring for "immediate modification of the Volstead act to legalize the manufacture and sale of beer." At Pittsburgh he referred to a beer tax as a source of revenue.

Dodges Question

"There was a report, Governor, that you would call a special session of Congress immediately after your inaugural," was another question.

"Yes, and there was a report last night that I was assassinated," he came back, adding that his son Elliott, in New York, heard the report and called the mansion. The Governor added he had made no plans beyond January 1, when he steps out as New York's executive.

Mention of Elliott reminded one of his conferees a son had been born to Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt today in New York.

"Yes, wasn't that fine," was Mr. Roosevelt's comment.

Baptist Meet

the winner on a viva voca vote.

The convention had another day's business on its program. Reports on christian education, Baylor college and Baylor university and discussions concerning the Southwestern Baptist Theological seminary and the church's hospitals were scheduled tomorrow. Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas was assigned to preach the closing sermon tomorrow night.

Today's activities were devoted to a review of the convention's finances, selection of the executive board, reports on woman's work, promotion committee and discussions of home mission and laymen's work.

Depression Discussed

The civic righteousness committee report noted that the "disastrous economic conditions accentuated and more definitely revealed to our civilization, the menacing and threatening breakdown in the civil life of the nation and of the world."

It asserted that "announcement through the press that violators of the prohibition law should be pardoned and given immunity for the violation of our national prohibition laws will work as a menace against respect for law, and will impede the enforcement of all laws in our nation, and will create a widespread disrespect for law and order."

It condemned "advocacy of repeal of the race track gambling law of Texas and any modification thereof."

Amusements Scored

The practice in some communities of permitting the use of state, county and city school buildings for dancing was condemned, as were "questionable picture shows, Sunday baseball, modern dances and the tendency to general desecration of the Sabbath."

O. S. Lattimore, of Austin, associate judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals, speaking on the report, urged activity on the part of all Baptists toward enforcement of prohibition laws.

He cited the disappearance of Raymond Robins, nationally-known prohibition advocate, as an incident that should arouse all christians and good citizens to united action against the illicit liquor traffic and any movement designed to legalize it.

"According to the newspapers it is likely Raymond Robins was taken out in the ocean and drowned by bootleggers," Judge Lattimore said. "That should provide prohibitionists with a winning motto in this fight against the liquor traffic. 'Remember Raymond Robins,' should be the battle cry."

South Field For Work

Dr. M. T. Andrews of Texarkana, delivering the report of the committee on home missions, said if "the South could be won, it would hasten the evangelism of the entire world." Describing the "soul winning field" he said there were 22,000,000 "lost souls in the South, Cuba and Panama."

"In our home mission work we have every feature of the foreign mission field save for crossing the ocean, because in this area of the South we have foreigners, Indians, mountaineers and negroes," he said. "The task of evangelizing the South seems to be the peculiar province of Southern Baptists."

Rev. Paul Bell, in charge of the Baptist Mexican mission at Bastrop, told how "individualism to combat Communism" was being employed by workers with Mexicans.

Many Are Prospects

Dr. Alfred E. Carpenter, in charge of mission work in the Canal zone, told the convention Southern Baptists had from six to twelve million gospel prospects.

"We are carrying on this program of evangelism with a half dozen workers and they are only half supported," he stated. "But we are not retrenching or withdrawing. Instead we have added twenty-two stations."

The convention accepted a recommendation of the committee on laymen's work presented by A. D. Foreman, sr., of Houston, that a laymen's promotion committee be created to work in co-operation with the general secretary of the executive board.

The plan provides for the selection of one layman in each of the seventeen denominational districts of the state to "promote and aggressively encourage the organization of Baptist brotherhoods."

Foreman said that "covetousness is the biggest sin," and that "one-tenth the income of every man belongs to God."

"There exists more bewilderment than ever among laymen, and some are losing faith," he stated.

Foreign missions were on the program tonight for discussion by Dr. T. B. Ray, secretary of the foreign mission board; Dr. C. E. Maddry, executive secretary of promotion and secretary-elect of the foreign mission board, and Dr. W. R. White, pastor of the Broadway Baptist church of Fort Worth.

Sullivan Escape Is Sensational As Car Is Commandeered At Stop Light

any money," Harris recounted "Take the car, and go on, I said."

"'Drive on, buddie, this thing's liable to go off,' he said."

"I asked him again to take the car. 'All right, then, get out,' he told me," Harris said.

Ed Green, turnkey at the jail went into the hospital ward on the first floor at "feeding" time about 4:45 or 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Another inmate called to the jailer to ask about making a bond while Green's back was turned Sullivan slipped through the open door and slammed it shut, it was said at the sheriff's office.

Sheriff Wade Hardy, who was sitting in a back room of his office, heard Green banging on the closed door, and let him out.

A portion of a lead bullet, as large around and about as thick as a dime, was removed from one of the wounds in Sullivan's arm Tuesday, the attending physician said. The arm was severely fractured above the elbow and for a time it was thought necessary to amputate it. The elbow and finger joints were too stiff for the suspect to use the arm with any satisfaction, the doctor reported.

Officers led by Sheriff G. R. Crim of Lamb county and two deputies, Zeb Payne of Sudan and Tom Massey of Olton went to Mountainair on a tip that Sullivan was there last Sept. 13.

A street on which Sullivan and Miss Mary Cuban, 18, of Gonzales, Texas, were driving was blockaded, a group of officers closing a block's length by grouping at each end. Sullivan ran the gauntlet in a rain of gunfire. The first bullet broke Sullivan's arm.

25 Shots Fired

The officers pursued, firing 25 shots and putting 14 bullet holes in the fugitive car. Miss Cuban was hit in the legs and one arm, but not seriously wounded.

That night Sullivan was taken to Albuquerque, N. M., hospital and guarded by armed men. On Sept. 21 he was brought here from Clovis, N. M., on a Santa Fe train, his arm in very grave condition. He still was suffering of the wounds in his abdomen and leg.

The arm was reset at Lubbock sanitarium, and two armed guards took turns at watching him. Jail records show he was moved there Sept. 23, and was being held for Lamb county officers.

All his wounds except those of the right arm healing, Sullivan had been in good spirits at the jail the past several weeks, joking with officers when they were in the cell.

Denies Robbery Charge

"It was bad enough to get shot to pieces, much less have to stay in jail to get well," Sullivan recently told a reporter. He denied a part in the robbery of the Olton State bank of $3,850.54 on July 15.

Three men robbed the Olton bank.

Sullivan also has been questioned about the slaying of Deputy Sheriff Harve Bolin of Plainview, who was fatally wounded when four men opened fire upon a posse of officers near Portales, N. M., Aug. 20. Sullivan denied he participated in the Portales gun fight.

Officers last night believed the suspect was making his way to Hobbs, N. M., known as a hang-out for desperadoes.

Harris' car had been washed, polished and the gasoline tank filled only a short time before it was taken. It carried three new white-walled tires.

Sullivan was known to have obtained 90 cents in kangaroo court Wednesday. Officers believed that was all the money he had.

Where or when he had obtained the gun which Harris said he saw was a mystery.

The suspect had been occupying a bunk in a northeast corner cell in the hospital ward. The cell door had not been locked and Sullivan had had the range of the ward.

The sheriff's department spread a telephone net north, south, east, and west of Lubbock for nearly 200 miles, it was said last night. Sheriff Hardy and Deputy Sheriff Will Earnest scouted east, south, and southwest Lubbock county until midnight.

Brown Case Is All Over Now

Lubbock Attorney Pays Fine In Traffic Case; Declares "Whitewashing Skunk" Is Of No Material Benefit

"You can whitewash a skunk but that doesn't change the way he smells a darn bit," Franklin D. Brown, Lubbock attorney, emphatically declared last night. He had been asked for a statement following the official culmination of his fracas with the City of Lubbock, which ended when he paid a $5 city court fine Thursday.

The wrangle, which included two corporation court trials, a civil suit and a criminal trial in county court, was precipitated when Eugene (Red) Smith, policeman, handed Brown a ticket for overrunning a stop sign at Avenue Q and Broadway September 9.

Smith and John L. Croff, another officer, were acquitted of aggravated assault by a county court jury Wednesday. Brown had charged the policemen man-handled him after arresting him in a downtown building on the traffic violation complaint.

The attorney pleaded guilty of overrunning the stop sign. Payment of the fine ended the contest, Mr. Brown having decided not to appeal. An error in the complaint originally filed against the lawyer resulted in the county attorney dismissing an appeal of a previous corporation court verdict in this case.

A plant with potatoes growing on the roots and tomatoes in the branches was found in his garden by Y. E. Bennet of Shreveport, La.

Indian Problems Being Discussed

LONDON, Nov. 17. (AP) — Prime Minister MacDonald opened the third Indian Roundtable conference today, welcoming the delegates to what he called "these familiar scenes" and expressing the hope that before the end of next month they will have succeeded in formulating a constitution extending a degree of autonomy to India.

Reduced in number and shifted from the ancient grandeur of St. James' palace to four drab rooms in the House of Lords, the forty delegates who will participate in this meeting have been called a "hand-picked" group because Mahatma Gandhi and his Nationalist Congress party are not represented.

Mr. McDonald said this meeting will "fill in the gaps" left by the first two conferences. It is expected the work will progress smoothly
