February 28th Yields Heaviest Winter Snow

February 28th brought the season's biggest snow to the Ochiltree County area, according to Mrs. George Cutter at 121 S. Fourth Ave. It all happened on February 28, 1957, just 34 years ago, she recalls, when three feet of snow blanketed the good grass land of the day and killed hundreds of cattle throughout the area. Mrs. Cutter was living on a Wolf Creek ranch at the time of the snow and remembered that they lost very few cattle due to the tall red grass which grew in the breaks during those early days, however, cattle on the plains area had great difficulty in surviving.

The loan will construct 536 miles of rural lines.

W. A. Colvin and W. M. Deck, both of Balco, have been largely instrumental in securing this loan and telephone service for their area. They and other directors have worked for the past six years, traveling uncountable miles at their own expense in their efforts toward securing telephone service.

Applications are being accepted at the headquarters office in Guyton for those desiring a telephone and the membership fee in the association is $5.

Business for the meeting will include the election of officers for the coming year. A financial report will also be heard.

In action taken recently by the executive committee, the Hank Thompson Western Band was booked for the dances held in conjunction with the fair, along with Wanda Jackson, Ozark Jubilee Star, and Tex Ritter, rodeo comedian.

Bryan Charged On Four Counts

Charges were filed Monday against Gus Bryan, 322 S. Amherst, for transportation of alcoholic beverages, speeding too fast for conditions, passing on right, and for resisting arrest, according to Texas State Highway Patrolmen Bob Loving and Kenneth Harrison.

Loving and Harrison reported they were on a routine check on Highway 83, north of Perryton Saturday night and stopped to assist a stalled car, when the Bryan vehicle approached from the north. "When I attempted to halt approaching traffic, the car driven by Bryan failed to slow down, and passed on the right shoulder of the highway. When Bryan attempted to pull back on the pavement, his car swerved and stalled on the muddy shoulder," according to Loving.

Upon reaching the car, Loving reported 15 punts of liquor found on the ground beneath a fence near the car. One brown bottle was found in the car.

Bryan has been released on $500 bond after pleading not guilty.

Perryton To Receive 25% Fire Insurance Credit for 1957

Effective April 1, Perryton will receive a 25 per cent good fire record credit, according to an announcement by the Texas Board of Insurance Commissioners.

During 1956, the fire insurance credit was 20 per cent, meaning that Perryton fire insurance policy holders were able to get a saving in their insurance costs in that amount. However, 1957 will give Perryton the maximum credit which may be obtained for a city in Texas which is 25% credit.

Fire insurance credits or charges are determined each year, from a five year average, on the basis of fire losses compared with the premium payments over the period.

The record of charges and credits for the past five years is:

- 1952: 15 per cent credit.
- 1953: 10 per cent credit.
- 1954: 15 per cent credit.
- 1955: 20 per cent credit.
- 1956: 20 per cent credit.

Additional Siren Installed By City

An additional fire siren has been installed in Perryton, according to City Manager J. B. Whigham. The siren is located on the south water storage tank in Perryton and will be used for fire warnings as well as to assist the Community Warning system for tornadoes.

Tom Knighton, Jaycee committee chairman of the Community Warning system, emphasized that the whistle will be used simultaneously with the present siren in order that additional coverage may be given to area citizens for tornado and severe weather warnings.

"With the tornado season approaching," Knighton commented, "it is necessary to remind the people of the area that one long continuous blast of the sirens will mean that there are severe weather conditions approaching and cover should be taken by all citizens."

The local Community Warning system cooperates with the Severe Weather Warning System in Kansas City, the U. S. Weather Bureau at Amarillo, and local Radio Station KEYE, in bringing warnings to the public.

Ice, Sleet, Light Snow Recorded Over Area

Perryton received .26 inches of moisture during the week, according to reports compiled by Radio Station KEYE.

The sleet and ice over the weekend yielded .13 on Thursday, .12 Friday and .01 early Sunday morning.

Low temperature of the week was 10 degrees recorded Friday night. Highest temperature was a mild 68 degrees recorded Monday.

Deadline for filing for city office is midnight, Saturday, Mar. 2, thirty days before the annual election to be held on Tuesday, April 2. As of Wednesday, no candidates had filed for the offices to be filled this year. Aldermen whose terms expire are Gordon Shackelford, Jim Anderson and George Leatherman.

There is no filing fee—all that is necessary to run for city office is to sign an election form at the city hall.

The minstrel show will be staged on Thursday and Friday nights, March 28-29.

Nazarene Build New Parsonage

Construction is under way for a new parsonage for Nazarene pastor Rev. Wendell Russell and family, and the new home is located just back of the church at 5th and Amherst.

The parsonage is a three-bedroom brick veneer structure. Men of the church are doing much of the work, along with two regular carpenters.

The parsonage will have central heating and will be fully carpeted. Members of the building committee are Johnny Ferguson, Lloyd McGarragh, Paul Tucker and Mrs. Lina Schweitzer.

The present parsonage will be used as an annex, for Sunday School classes and Fellowship Hall, Rev. Russell said.

Half-Way Mark Passed Tuesday For Chamber Member Drive

The 1957 membership drive of the Ochiltree County Chamber of Commerce has passed the half-way mark, according to John Mayfield, local manager.

Pledges in excess of $10,000.00 have been received toward the $18,840.00 goal.

Bob Lemon was high team captain for the second week of the drive, with a total of 935 points. Mrs. Clair Brillhart, high team captain last week, was runner-up with 660 points.

Phil LaMaster scored 655 points to lead individual worker competition for the second week, edging out Miss Moina Caldwell who had 270 points to her credit.

Competition is based on one point per dollar collected, 10 points for each member pledged, and 20 points for each new member obtained. Winning team captain and individual for each week receives a $10.00 gift certificate good at any business in Perryton which is a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

All team captains will make final reports Friday, and all businesses which turned back pledge cards for re-evaluation, will be contacted this week, Mayfield explained.

Team captains for the drive include D. W. Hart, Harold Hudson, Gayle Ferguson, Mrs. Brillhart and Lemon.

Mayfield said that a number of out-of-town businesses were being mailed pledge cards this week.

"Everything humanly possible is being done to establish a Chamber of Commerce program in Perryton."

Strong Emotions Spur Fierce Action In "Gun For A Coward" At Ellis

Powerful emotional crisis alternate with violent, brutal action to make a highly unusual but fascinating and tempestuous film of "Gun For A Coward," the Universal-International picture in color and CinemaScope, starring Fred MacMurray, Jeffrey Hunter and Janice Rule, which opens Tuesday, March 5th, at the Ellis Theatre.

Action-packed though this picture is, its chief characters are by no means the stock figures of frontier drama. Each of these characters emerges as a genuine human being, an amalgam of conflicting and sometimes almost paradoxical motivations, and the film delves far beneath their surface actions to make them understandable and credible.

In achieving this credibility, the production is benefited by some powerful and expert performances. MacMurray is magnificent as a toll-worn cattleman who has devoted himself with almost fanatical zeal to making a paying proposition of his family's ranch after the death of his father and with equal dedication to serving as a father to his two younger brothers.

Direction by Abner Biberman is probably the finest job he has done since this former character actor switched sides and went behind the camera several years ago. The brilliant screenplay is the work of R. Wright Campbell and the production reins are in the capable hands of William Alland.

"Attack!" To Open Sunday at Ellis

The starkly and brutally realistic story of an infantry company commanded by a cowardly captain and trapped behind enemy lines during the Battle of the Bulge—this is the dramatic substance of "Attack!" opening on Sunday at the Ellis Theatre through United Artists release.

"Attack!" stars an all male cast headed by Jack Palance, Eddie Albert, Lee Marvin, Robert Strauss, Richard Jaeckel, Buddy Ebsen and William Smithers, the latter making his debut.

"Attack!" is a production of the Associates and Aldrich Company, and Robert Aldrich is producer and director. The screenplay by James Poe is an adaptation of the controversial Broadway success, "The Fragile Fox," by Norman Brooks.

Dual at Apache Wells To Begin At Ellis Friday

Ben Cooper, who's admirably demonstrated in past efforts that he's a newcomer of whom much should be heard, tops the cast of this Naturama attraction, produced and directed by Joe Kane.

Anna Maria Alberghetti is his co-star, and between the two there's sufficient entertainment appeal for both the Western devotee and the post-teenage audience for which this Republic presentation has obviously been geared.

After a four-year absence, young cowboy Cooper returns to the range to learn that ruthless rancher Jim Davis is not only out to gain possession of ranch owned by Cooper's dad, Harry Shannon, but is also very much interested in Cooper's intended, Miss Alberghetti. Davis fences off Apache Wells, public watering place, necessary for Shannon's cattle drives. Rather than venture forth on a blockade-busting expedition thru Davis' coterie of hired gunmen, Shannon and Cooper make a peaceful attempt to get their cattle to the railroad. Davis sends thugs, disguised as warring Indians, on a murderous attack.

Davis and Cooper eventually square off for a gun fight, the upshot of which finds Cooper admitting he's the fast-drawing "Durango Kid," a title not welcomed by the rangeland scum. Davis is killed, and at the windup Ceresna, employed as a chemical engineer at Phillips, cited a long list of personal experiences of wartime hardships, imprisonments, tortures, escapes, and he graphically told of his admitted leadership of anti-Communist activity among the Hungarian youth.

Ceresna qualified his observations with experiences as a native Ukrainian imprisoned both by Russian and Hungarian governments. He stated that meager schooling was available to the masses in Russian dominated countries, and that the parents knew little or nothing of the teachers and curriculum there.

Throughout his address, Ceresna injected pessimism of Russian overtures for peace or co-existence; he flatly warned, "Forget the friendship gestures of Russia, for-

IN LESS TIME! ITS THE PROVEN COLDS MEDICINE

News from the County Agent

Vitamin A deficiency has occurred in Ochiltree County this year and more can be expected if measures to prevent it are not taken. The condition is characterized in the early stages by night blindness. In later stages the cattle become less alert, lose their pep, and manifest other symptoms such as watering at the eyes, nasal discharge, swelling at the joints, rapid respiration, staggering faint, convulsions, loss of appetite, and complete blindness.

The Vitamin A requirements of farm animals are supplied largely through carotene in range or pasture grasses and hays or other roughage. Ordinarily, grazing animals receive no Vitamin A proper which is found in cod-liver or other fish oils. However, they are able to change carotene into Vitamin A. Carotene is formed only in plants, and occurs widely in nature. It usually occurs along with active growth and seems to be closely associated with the green coloring matter called chlorophyll. The leaves of fresh green young grasses and legumes, such as alfalfa, contain large amounts of carotene. Yellow corn contains Vitamin A but other grains do not.

Carotene and Vitamin A is destroyed in the presence of air and light. Heat hastens the process. In curing roughages Vitamin A is lost if they lose their color. Green alfalfa is a source of Vitamin A.

The length of time animals to become deficient depends on the amount of feed available. A cow becomes deficient before she gives birth. Steers over 400 lb to 140 days of Vitamin A in cattle less gain. Calves which have been deficient in Vitamin A usually die within a few weeks.

Cattle should not become deficient. If they become deficient, they can be given an injection of Vitamin A. A deficiency in feeding usually has adequate Vitamin A. For more information lettin C-171, "Control A Deficiency in Feeding," at the County Agent's office.

Army Plan Requires Reserve Obligation

A new program, calling for both active duty and reserve duty for the Armed Forces has been announced by Fourth Army headquarters, according to Sgt. Harry Stumpf.

Under the new procurement program which takes effect April 1, 1967, a person has six options facing him for active duty in the services:

CHOICE No. 1. Enlist in the U. S. Army for a period of three, four, or more years of active duty. Individuals electing this choice incur a six year military service obligation. Upon completion of a total of five years active duty and Ready Reserve service, the individual is eligible for transfer to the Standby Reserve for the last year of his service. Individuals who at time of enlistment are over age 25 do not incur a Reserve service obligation.

CHOICE No. 2. A six year enlistment in the USAR under the provisions of Section 261, FRA 55, after two years of active duty and two years service in the Ready Reserve such enlistees are eligible for transfer to the Standby Reserve for the final two years of service.

CHOICE No. 3. Induction in the Active Army. Inductees incur a six year obligation. Upon completion of two years active duty, and two years Ready Reserve service inductees are eligible for transfer to the Standby Reserve for the final two years of their enlistment.

CHOICE No. 4. Enlist prior to age 18½ in the Army National Guard under Section 402(a), UMG&S Act or in the USAR under Section 262, FRA, for a period of 8 years. Perform six months active duty for training and after satisfactorily participating in Army National Guard or USAR Reserve duty training for four and one-half years, be eligible for transfer to the Standby Reserve for the remaining three years of his enlistment.

CHOICE No. 5. Enlistment in the Army National Guard or USAR of individuals in the age group 18½ to 25 (inclusive). Such enlistees incur a six year service obligation which they satisfy by performing six months active duty for training and by participating satisfactorily in Ready Reserve duty training for the remainder of the six year term.

through the ages of 18½ to 25 (inclusive), may perform their military obligation on a new six month basis. By joining the army reserve program, the man can immediately start on his reserve time and can get much of it completed before taking the six months active duty.

"It is apparent," Stumpf emphasized, "that these new options facing the young men between the ages of 18 and 25 call for both active duty training and army reserve training, even though an individual may choose to serve two years or more of active duty."

United Church Women of Perryton will observe the annual World Day of Prayer on Friday, March 8, at the First Methodist Church at 3 p. m.

Theme for the day is "Who Shall Separate Us?"

This occasion has been observed annually by women of all churches since 1887. Its purpose is to unite all Christians in a bond of prayer that reaches around the world, and to witness to the belief that prayer has the power to bring hearts of men into conformity with God's will. The offering taken on World Day of Prayer is divided between home missions and overseas missions.

At home it assists Indian Americans, low-income farming communities, and agricultural migrants. Overseas it assists in education for Christian leadership, distribution of Christian literature and rehabilitation for those left destitute by the war.

These natural resources it looks like a perfect irrigation. The catch is that so much to drill a that some of the small irrigation. I notice one Mr. Porter interviewed thought we better get market for what we raise. Another said it costs lots of money to pump the water at a reasonable rate it will be a marketing problem, being that if we had present prices would afford a profit on a good yield of long-term money and our own fields would be.

All this will take time and money but I believe it would be possible and I know of no other thing we could leave our children that would give them security as would plenty of water. I believe if this country had enough water it would be the richest region in the world.

I am all for getting something started along these lines. I am wondering how much support we could get by the different farm organizations and civic clubs of the Panhandle of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

I would like for the farmers, ranchers, also business and industry to let their views be known by writing their home town paper who will publish the letters.

Another Step Forward

There is a story in this issue of the Herald regarding the approval of a loan of $515,000 to the Panhandle Telephone Coop. division of the Rural Electrification Administration for the construction of rural telephone lines in the Oklahoma Panhandle.

Beaver county, including the Gray and Balco communities, will be included in the new construction.

This represents years of work and labor on the part of a number of men in Beaver county who refused to give up in their efforts to secure telephone service.

The development of an area depends largely upon its communication facilities and an area dependent upon agriculture will develop faster when there are telephones in rural homes as well as in towns.

Rural areas have long been treated as step-children in the matter of rural telephones, with the utility companies requiring subscribers to build and maintain their own lines and pay for the privilege.

This sort of thing has been solved in Beaver county and we hope that some day the rural areas of Ochiltree county can take a similar step.

Food For Thought

This is an off-quoted editorial, source unknown, which contains about as much practical philosophy as any we've ever read. If nothing else, it tends to prove that money is not a goal within itself and that in fact, money can indeed be destructive.

In 1923, a group of the world's most successful financiers met at the Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago. Present were:

The president of the greatest independent steel company.
The president of the largest utility company.
The greatest wheat speculator.
The president of the New York Stock Exchange.
A member of the President's Cabinet.
The greatest "bear" in Wall Street.

The president of the Bank of International Settlements.
The head of the world's greatest monopoly.

Collectively, these tycoons controlled more wealth than there was in the U. S. Treasury, and for years newspapers and magazines had been printing their success stories and urging youth of the nation to follow their examples. Twenty-five years later, let's see what happened to these men.

The president of the largest independent steel company, Charles Schwab, lived on borrowed money the last five years of his life and died broke.

The greatest wheat speculator, Arthur Catten, died abroad, insolvent.

The president of the New York Stock Exchange, Richard Whitney, was released after serving a term in Sing Sing.

The member of the President's Cabinet, Albert Fall, was pardoned from prison so he could die at home.

The greatest "bear" in Wall Street, Jesse Livermore, committed suicide.

The president of the Bank of International Settlements, Leon Fraser, committed suicide.

The head of the world's greatest monopoly, Ivar Kreuger, committed suicide.

All of these men had learned how to make money, but not one of them had learned how to live.

From the SIDELINE

with HAROLD HUDSON

The housing situation is about as tight right now in Perryton as it ever has been, according to John Mayfield at the Chamber of Commerce office. The demand for houses, apartments or rooms to rent is terrific, and dozens of people visit the Chamber office every day, looking for some place to live. There were 100 new homes completed in Perryton during 1956, but apparently this didn't make much of a dent in the housing demand.

We do not watch TV quiz programs, as a general rule, and have seen this famous "21" show only once, last week. We simply had to see this guy Van Doren every one talking about. On all other Monday nights our family watches "I Love Lucy" on the other channel. Anyway, there is something about watching a person answer questions that we can't, that is somewhat unsettling to our ego. This fellow Van Doren is absolutely nerve-shattering. To think that a man can store up that much knowledge and dredge it up upon request is certainly awe-inspiring.

It proves that Van Doren is not only a genius, but that he is an old-fashioned attentive reader. He is a man who has read books of all kinds, and we suspect he is a fellow who gets a real thrill out of browsing thru the Encyclopedia Britannica or a good Webster's dictionary. And he retains what he reads.

We have always been a voracious reader, but our reading has been sort of like a vacuum cleaner, we browse about, sucking up everything within reach without much regard as to its worth. In our youth we ruined our eyes reading stack upon stack of Wild West Weekly and other cheap pulp magazines. We have had a habit since youth of automatically reaching for something to read whenever we sit down, at home or elsewhere. As a result we have a lot of accumulated knowledge, little of it related and little of it usable. And as a matter of fact, we can't recall much of it. Had our reading been done along more intelligent lines, like Charles Van Doren, no telling, we may be on the TV program by now. But we doubt it.

By mere chance, tragedy was avoided Friday night in the snowballing incident following the annual pep squad banquet and dance. Five girls were leaving the dance to go home when their car was assaulted with rock-hard snowballs. Three girls were injured enough to require hospital treatment. They did not know who threw the snowballs and so far the throwers have not had enough manhood to come forward and identify themselves. This thing probably started out as somebody's idea of a "joke." We can't believe it was intentional to do such bodily harm.

Why is it that your favorite tie always catches the gravy? We got a special hand-painted tie at a Texas Press Association convention a couple of years ago and we really like it. In fact, it is just about our favorite. But invariably, when we go to a banquet with it, we come back with a grease spot on it. Other, lesser ties, come away from the table spotless. There must be some psychological explanation for this phenomenon.

Maybe at their age we weren't any worse than today's teenagers. The big difference, of course, is that we were us, instead of them.

What has happened to the old fashioned healthy person? It is a rarity nowadays to find a person who does not have an allergy, who does not make more or less regular visits to the doctor for shots, who does not have a standing account at a hospital. A man is hardly considered successful, or even interesting, unless he has an ulcer or a migraine or an allergy.

Choir, Band Visit Veterans Group; Sponsored by VFW

Thirty-six patients at the Veterans Hospital in Amarillo were entertained Sunday afternoon by the girls choir of Perryton high school and the band of Carl Day and his Knights.

The program was held in the hospital recreation hall and featured the 26-member choir under the direction of Cloyd Webb. Joy Collins was the soloist.

Tri-County Post No. 7107 of the Perryton VFW sponsored the program. Perryton VFW and auxiliary members accompanying the group were Russell Pearson, Alva Comb, Joe Watson, Claud Allen, Loren Allen, John Houston, Bob Low, Carl Day, Laverne Spady, Walter LaMaster, Harry Stumpf, Mrs. Edna LaMaster, Mrs. Alva Comb, Mrs. George Symons, and Mrs. Harry Stumpf.

Is our general health pooping out? Have we diminished our supply of vitamins? Is our blood really tired? What has happened to the fellow who was considered "strong as a horse" and who called in the doctor only when it became apparent that death was inevitable? Have new, mysterious germs and viruses invaded our land? Whatever it is, it is more fashionable nowadays to be an intimate terms with the doctor than to remain otherwise.

We blame a lot of this on cigarette smoking.

Several salesmen have been in lately trying to load us up with merchandise because they have heard we were "in the middle of an oil boom." We have had to explain that an oil boom, even if one existed, would be of indirect benefit to this concern. Money brought into circulation, by oil or agriculture, must pass through many hands before the Stewart Printing Co. gets a chance at it. Of course, we are sharing in this general boost to business brought about by the oil money, but it isn't quite the same as if we were receiving checks direct from the companies, which is what some of these salesmen seem to think.

It isn't the ups and downs of life that bother us, it's the jerks.

Of the motion pictures shown in West Germany in the first three months of 1956, there were 48 from the U. S.; 39 from West Germany; 14 from France. A single Russian produced picture was shown.

Wolf Creek Philosopher

Brainwashing Is Just the Answer

Editors note: The Wolf Creek Philosopher has a brand new idea this week, but it sounds impractical.

Dear editor:
If there's one thing I don't know anything about, and to tell the truth there's a lot more than one thing I don't know anything about, it's brainwashing.

But I was reading in a newspaper last night about an expert who had been studying the Russians' system of brainwashing in Korea and he said it was so successful "a single strand of barbed wire could hold hundreds of prisoners without any trying to escape."

Now understand I'm not in favor of brainwashing, on human beings, that is, but I've been thinking: what couldn't I do if I knew how to brainwash my cows into believing one strand of barbed wire would hold 'em.

In fact, the idea is one of the newest thoughts in the cattle business, and I would like to see you use your influence to get the agricultural experts to working on it.

You can get plenty of information on how to build a stronger fence, with properly anchored corner posts, pull posts, tight wires, sheep-proof wire at the bottom, barbed wire at the top, how to treat posts to keep them from rotting, etc., but all the fence-building information I've been able to get puts all the burden on me. It seems to go on the supposition that cows are cows and always will be, but this idea that you could maybe brainwash a cow into turning back at the sight of a single strand of wire, opens up a vast new territory for economical ranching.

If you ask me, the psychologists have been spending too much time on human beings and ignoring cows and horses.

Sec. Bensen has been saying all along the farmer and rancher will have to learn to economize, to produce stuff cheaper, and I don't know of any idea that would be more economical than a one-

REV. TOMMY BROWER
Pastor Trinity Presbyterian Church
Perryton, Texas

Rev. Brower, Pastor of the Presbyterian Church organized only a few months ago in Perryton, brings the message of the week as the latest in the series of meditations prepared by ministers of the area. His commentary follows:

DRUTHERS
Lots of people have "druthers." In my mother's day, there was a popular song that went,
"No, No, a thousand times No!
I'd 'druther' die than say yes."
A famous man once said, "I'd 'druther' be right than President!"

A group of boys, named the "Sons of Korah" in Psalms 84, also had a "druther." They wrote... say, they sang,
"For a day in thy (God's) courts is better than a thousand elsewhere."
I would rather be a doorkeeper in the house of my God, than dwell in the tents of wickedness."

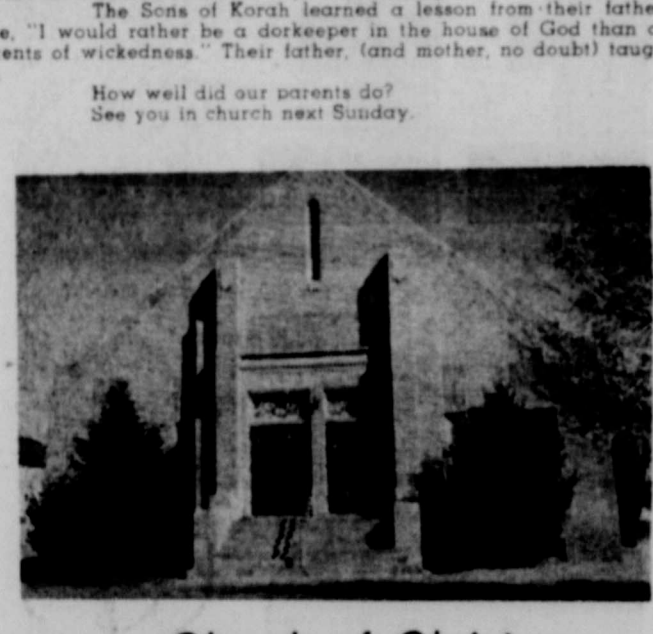

They said they would rather have a menial task in church than attend a convention. (Not implying conventions are all "wicked") as a guest.

Week by week, many feel the converse! Their "druthers" are not to be in church, but rather fishing, golfing, or even sleeping. And they prove it too.

Yet others come to church; this is their "druther." Why? Well, forgetting those few who come for less worthwhile reasons, (i. e. social, "to feel good", to be seen, etc.) most people come because there they meet God in a peculiar sense. He is there in a way. He is nowhere else in the midst of His people. They go as a glad, spontaneous response to their creator, Sustainer, Lord and Saviour. They go because something is promised and something happens. And that something is that they meet their God. They go because they know if they do not go reasonably often, they will lose their sense of relationship with their Lord.

The Sons of Korah learned a lesson from their father. They wrote, "I would rather be a doorkeeper in the house of God than dwell in the tents of wickedness." Their father, (and mother, no doubt) taught them well.

How well did our parents do?
See you in church next Sunday.

Liberal Housewives Compete Tuesday In International Pancake Day Race

LIBERAL, Kansas—One of the strangest events in the realm of athletics will take place in Liberal, March 5, when housewives will run 415 yards through the main streets at 11:55 a. m. flipping pancakes in skillets in a traditional race with the housewives of Olney, England.

It all started more than 500 years ago in England when on Shrove Tuesday, the day before Lent, housewives used up accumulated cooking fats before fasting, by baking pancakes. Legend has it that one day a housewife baking pancakes lost track of time until suddenly she heard the church bell ring, calling everyone to the Shrove service in the church. In her haste, she ran to the church, clad in her apron and with her skillet in hand, and this was the first pancake race.

Liberal got into the competition in 1950 after a picture of the Olney racers appeared in a magazine. Liberal Jaycees decided that their housewives might be just as fast on their feet as the English women.

A full day of events is planned for the Pancake Day festivities in Liberal, March 5th. At 6:45 a. m., there will be an all Civic Club Breakfast; at 9:30 the Pancake Day parade; at 11:15, the Kids Pancake Day Race; at 11:55, International Pancake Day Race; and at 12:15 p. m., the telephone call to Olney, England, to check the time with the English competition.

Afternoon events include a free matinee at the Plaza Theatre for all children; at 1:30 the five-state beauty contest; at 4:30, the fifth annual All-American Pancake Day Race; and at 7:00, the finals will be held for the amateur contest coronation of International and All-American Race Winners.
