Babson Declares Business Better

Financial Authority Sees More Gain In Coming Quarter

BY ROGER BABSON
Authority On Business, Finance

BABSON PARK, Fla., April 3.—(Special).—"Every Day In Many Ways Business Is Getting Better!"

That is no 'Dr. Coue statement'—it is an actual fact! Those who can only be convinced by figures should consider the following:

Figures Displayed

Factory employment in February gained 1 1-2 per cent over January. Automobile production advanced 29 percent over January, 40 percent over December, and March should top both months. Textile sales in the first two months stepped up eighteen per cent above the same period last year.

Sales of cotton cloth are now running ahead of production by 100,000 yards a month. Textile workers are being taken back and a few mills are actually working overtime. Steel output has moved up close to sixty per cent of capacity against twenty-five per cent three months ago. Pig iron output has run up eleven per cent from the bottom point in December. February payrolls in steel plants increased 6 per cent over January.

Depression Described

This is turning out to be a sort of bowl-shaped depression. Business crept across the deepest part of the bowl during the later half of 1930. In the past three months it has started up, but the rise has been gentle and sloping. In the next three months the climb should be somewhat steeper. I look for a gain of from five to ten per cent in general business activity during the second quarter.

The normal spring rise was late in getting started, but is now gaining momentum and should carry through to more healthy levels during April, May and June. There are plenty of factors to prevent anything like a boom,—such factors as depression—damaged pocket-books, unsettled European conditions, still some frozen loans, and incomplete readjustment in certain industries. However, the Law of Action and Reaction is working true to form. The worst of the unemployment situation is over, human feelings are getting better, Congress has adjourned, retail buying is moving faster, and spring weather will prove a good tonic for trade.

Two Are Hurt In Car Wreck Friday Night

Vernon Abbott, Local Youth, Sustains Fractured Vertebrae In Accident North Of Levelland

Thrown from an automobile as it swerved from a highway and overturned, Vernon Abbott, 22 of 1914 Twenty-sixth street, and "Pewee" Shannon, about 22, of Levelland, were injured Friday night nine miles north of Levelland.

The driver of the car, Abbott, was the more seriously injured. He was in a cast at Lubbock sanitarium Saturday, as a result of having received a fractured vertebrae and two dislocated vertebrae. Abbott also suffered cuts, bruises and abrasions on the face and head, body bruises and a deep incision in the calf of the left leg.

Cut About Head

Shannon received cuts about the head and face. Both were knocked unconscious.

Found by a passing motorist about 20 minutes after the accident, which

Regular Spring Elections Are Carded For Number Of Towns And Cities For Selection Of Future Leaders

Campaigns Waged

Favor Asked By Candidates In Some Localities While In Others Campaigning Has Been Very Quiet

POLITICS are warming up over the South Plains as many of the cities and towns in this area are preparing for the regular spring city elections on Tuesday, April 7, to select leaders of municipal affairs for the next two years.

In a number of instances last minute filings by heretofore unannounced aspirants for political favor, upset previous dope. Pre-election campaigns have been waged through advertisements in newspapers for several weeks in some of the cities while in others the campaign, on the surface at least, has been quiet.

Seek Incorporation

In one town, Anton, in Hockley county, the voters are to decide on the question of incorporation. This, as far as has been learned here, is the only place on the South Plains where the incorporation of a community has come up. Anton is in the extreme northeast corner of Hockley county and is four or five years old. It was named for the late B. F. Anton, then superintendent of the Santa Fe railroad.

Abernathy, in southern Hale county, has a quiet election. Outgoing alderman are U. L. Moreland, Ray Pinson and W. A. Richter. The

Filmdom's Prettiest Disclose Costumes

BY HUBBARD KEAVY
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 4. (AP)—Hollywood is putting on its newest and finest raiment tomorrow not only because it is a good old Easter custom, but also to attempt to keep up its self-imposed reputation of being "the style center of the world."

NORMA SHEARER

Easter styles as revealed by motion picture stars and players accentuate a feminine note this season with bright colors predominating.

Easter bonnets blossom in flower-bedecked array and the silks fashioning the dresses have become unusually colorful.

BEBE DANIELS

Norma Shearer prefers dark blue, in contrast to the many light colored costumes being displayed. Her easter outfit, consisting of silk dress, hem length coat, and shiny blue straw hat, is one smart simplicity.

Lilyan Tashman, regarded as one of Hollywood's best-dressed players, will don a silk crepe powder blue suit, trimmed with silk braid, her accessories will be brown straw hat, with gloves and shoes to match.

MARION DAVIES

Bebe Daniels has chosen an ensemble of gray broadcloth, with a turban of twisted chiffon in gray and white. The jacket is trimmed in white ermine that goes all the way around and follows the redingote idea to the finish. Her shoes and hose will be in a matching tone of gray.

Over a green and white printed frock, Ina Claire will wear a redingote coat of emerald green, held at the waist with a matching wide kid belt. Her hat will be of green silk grosgrain, with accessories in medium beige.

MARY PICKFORD

Since blue is one of the more popular shades as well as her favorite color, Ann Harding has selected a boucle ensemble of powder blue, with traces of wool embroidery in navy, the shade of shoes, bag and gloves

Marion Davies will appear in an open wool mesh ensemble in a beige tone with a beret of the same material The only trimming is looped edgings of the material. The only neckline of the sleeveless dress and on the collarless jackette.

JOAN CRAWFORD

Ruth Chatterton will wear a ping beige afternoon frock with touches of lace on the bodice. A large brown rough straw hat accompanies this dress.

Mary Pickford will wear a white shantung sports ensemble, with a three-quarter jacket of the same material, trimmed with white fox. A small, close fitting straw and ac-

All Civilians Ordered Off Streets Of Managua After Nightfall; Inoculations For Disease Made

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, April 4.—The coming of Easter found this city of ruins under the iron hand of martial law to prevent looters from adding to the toll of earthquake and fire.

The native national guard shot four men bent on depredations last night and it was said the total number of executions since Tuesday's upheavel had reached 20, though this was not substantiated from official sources. All civilians have been ordered off the streets after nightfall.

Vaccinations Made

Ernest J. Swift, American Red Cross official in charge of relief work, told the Associated Press today the 15,000 persons still in Managua were being inoculated against typhoid and smallpox. Lured by the promise of food, the hungry eat while others are being handled by doctors nearby.

Colonel Dan I. Sultan, heading the Nicaraguan canal survey, is directing his men in the repairing of the damaged water system, Mr. Swift said, and hoped to have the task finished by the end of next week.

Feeding 8,000

"We are now feeding 8,000 persons," the Red Cross official said. "I am going to the outlying cities today where two-thirds of the populace have taken refuge and investigate their problems. It probably will be necessary for the relief committee to send workers to these points.

Eggs – Yes, Eggs! Well, He Got 'Em

(By The Associated Press)

MATTON, Ill., April 4.—A Matton theatre offered admission to children today at one egg each, the eggs to be given to charity.

Two thousand children, each carrying an egg, appeared but the theater could seat only 1,132 of them.

Those outside resented it. They "egged" the front of the theater and then the pedestrians. Easter suits and dresses on advance parade took on a spotted design.

Policemen rushed to the scene. They were greeted with a heavy barrage of eggs and ran for shelter.

Finally the theater manager braved the battle and announced a second show.

Immortal Viking, Notre Dame's 'Fighting Irish' Leader, Is Laid To Rest

Simple Farewell Is Paid As Final Tribute

By PAUL MICKELSON,
Associated Press Sports Writer

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 4. — Beneath the spreading branches of old Council Oak, a sentinel of peace for centuries, Knute Kenneth Rockne slept tonight.

As the setting sun died in the western sky, streaming its shadows like one last salture on the famous golden dome of Notre Dame, all that was mortal of the greatest fighter of the "Fighting Irish" was lowered into the grave.

Simple Farewell

It was a simple farewell that the world of sport, the boys who fought for him, and the holy fathers with whom he worked and worshipped, gave him today. Yet, it was impressive. It tugged the heart strings not only of Notre Dame, the nation, and his rivals in life, but it saddened a world that was represented at his crypt and at the services today.

Rockne, the immortal Viking, was carried to his final resting place in Highland cemetery by the same group of "boys" who carried on for him on the football fields of his glory. Firm of step, but heavy of heart, these boys—Tommy Conley, Tommy Yarr, Marchmont Schwartz, Frank Carideo, Marty Brillard Larry Mullins — tenderly took their chieftain to his last earthly home and wept as they watched, with the multitude of thousands, the descent into the grave.

Never Another

In its life span of more than 60 years, the picturesque Gothic church of the Sacred Heart, has been the scene of services for loved men of Notre Dame, but never did any approach that given Knute Rockne today in impressiveness, sadness and sorrow.

As the cortege, weaving its mournful journey from the Rockne home accompanied by the man of destiny's widow, his 72-year-old mother, his four children and a host of mourners, came to the church, there was tribute, heart stirring in its silence, to the beloved football coach.

Heads Are Bowed

Thousands, forced to forego admission to the church because of lack of room, bared and bowed their heads in silent testimony. Inside the church, where his family and 1,400 of his friends knelt in prayer, came another tribute from

Ambush Attack Fatal To One

Others Wounded As Bullets Fly From Hiding Place On Lonely Road; One Man Is Able To Escape

(By The Associated Press)

YELLVILLE, Ark., April 4.—One man was killed, two were wounded slightly, and a fourth escaped from an ambuscade 18 miles north of here early today to report that more than 30 bullets were fired at them while they walked along a lonely mountain road.

George Long, 38, was killed and his son, Manford, 17, received a scalp wound. Ef Jones, 37, received a bullest in his wrist.

The fourth member of the party, Joe Long, 40, brother of the slain man, escaped and walked to Yellville through the woods fearing another attack. He said the bullets came from a clump of bushes and that he saw his brother fall as the others fled in several directions. He said he ran into the forest with bullets whistling about him.

Sheriff C. A. Willingham and a posse returned here tonight unable to make arrests. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of "death at the hands of persons unknown." A number of discharged rifle shells were found at the scene.

Leader Offers Plan To Curb Heavy Deficit

Senator Bingham States That Increase Would Reach Pay Envelope Of Practically Every Wage Earner

Surprise Shown

Income Taxes, Lowering Of Exemptions And Revival Of "Nuisance" Taxes Are Among Those Included

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 4.— A sweeping tax increase which would reach the pay envelope of nearly every wage earner was proposed today by Senator Bingham as the "surest way to curb governmental extravagance" and meet the prospective $700,000,000 treasury deficit.

The Connecticut Republican, a strong administration supporter, suggested an advance in income taxes "all along the line," a lowering of existing exemptions to tax thousands not now obligated to the government, and a revival of some of the "nuisance" taxes, including a levy on automobile sales and a 2 cent tax on bank checks.

Surprise Voiced

The proposal was received with surprise at the capitol, where discussions of ways to meet the huge treasury deficit have developed vigorous opposition to higher taxes in both Republican and Democratic ranks and endorsement of the treasury's policy of borrowing.

Leaders of all factions have said privately, and some openly, that any agitation for a tax increase at the next session, would be embarrassing to both parties in view of the economic situation and the presidential election coming next year.

The Republican independents, Borah of Idaho and Norris of Nebraska, have suggested raising taxes on large incomes of individuals and corporations.

President Hoover has said an increase would not be necessary if the next congress kept appropriations within the budget estimates.

Bingham conceded his program would be "extremely unpopular." However, he said the only way in his opinion to check the "terrific" pressure on congress from organizations and citizens for increased

Weird Yaqui Chant And Roll Of Drums To Halt With Daybreak

(By The Associated Press)

PHOENIX, Ariz., April 4— Roll of Yaqui thunder drums sounded as taps for the setting sun tonight in the hill villages of Arizona and Sonora as the Indian worshippers commenced their night-long Christian-pageant Easter festival of dance and pantomine.

Not until the new born sun peeps over the mountains on Easter morn will the fanatical fervor be stilled.

During the darkest hours before the dawn, the drums, the gourd rattles and the shrill piping voices will rise in fantastic crescendo, to the accompanying thud and shuffle of bare feet in the dust, as the Yaquis follow with the strange-alien song and gesture of their prehistoric paganism,—Christ's white cross-marked Via Dolorosa.

The age-old, and now half Christianized rites, as revised according to the fundamental teachings of the old Spanish padres, have called the Southwest's Yaquis from afield to all the sun-baked villages.

Amarillo Again To Ask For Bids

AMARILLO, April 4. —(AP)— The City commission today decided to re-advertise for bids on the contract to install a complete gas distribution system in Amarillo. Bids received last Tuesday were rejected as "too high." Contractors have asked more time to study plans. New bids for the contract, considered a million dollar job, will be received before 7:30 p. m., April 14.

The city signed a contract early in March with the Huber Petroleum company, which agreed to furnish gas at the city gate at five cents per thousand cubic feet.

The contract was made after Amarillo Gas company, now serving the city, refused to reduce its rates.

Five Conventions Scheduled Here In April And May

Three Confabs In Lubbock To Be Statewide

W. T. C. C. Meeting And Annual Teachers Conclave Are To Headline Convention Calendar For Next 60 Days

LUBBOCK'S conventions calendar already includes five such events for April and May. Three of the assemblies will be statewide and the other two will be district meetings. Total attendance of more than 7,000 persons is expected at the five annual gatherings.

More than a thousand teachers, principals, and superintendents are expected to attend the annual Northwest Texas Teachers association convention in Lubbock, Friday and Saturday, April 10 and 11. Most of the sessions will be at Texas Technological colege.

Discussions Included

Program of the teachers convention includes addresses and round-table discussions pertinent to educational methods and problems, musical presentations by Lubbock public school and Technological college students, the customary business meeting, and minor social affairs.

The annual West Texas interscholastic Latin tourney will be conducted at Lubbock High school, April 11, and a total of 60 contestants from throughout the section is expected here.

Annual district meeting of the Texas Cotton Cooperative association will be held here April 11. Delegates to the convention were to be elected Saturday. Attendance of one to two hundred is expected.

To Hold Rally

High school girls from throughout the state—an estimated four to five hundred of them—will participate in the annual Texas Home Educational rally here, April 30 to May 2 inclusive. A tentative program for the meeting of high school home economics students includes an automobile tour of the city, inspection tour of Lubbock High school and Technological college, and a dinner, in addition to contests in making and designing dresses.

West Texas Chamber of Commerce will hold its yearly convention in Lubbock, May 14, 15 and 16. An attendance of five thousand appears probable. Most of the committees of the convention machinery have been appointed, according to Maury Hopkins, assistant secretary of the regional chamber and director of the convention, of Plainview. Mr. Hopkins was here last week in connection with preconvention work and will remain here from this week until close of the meeting.

Principal speakers will include Governor Ross Sterling and United States Senator Tom Connally. Six group-conferences will be held to assort proposed policies of the West Texas chamber and make recommendations to the general assembly, which either will reject or accept the proposals.

Retail Merchants association of Texas will convene here May 25 and sessions will continue through May 27. Between 500 and 600 retail-credit men are expected here at that time as guests of the Lubbock Retail Merchants association and the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

Second Farm Bureau Program Is Scheduled For April 10

Regular program of the Lubbock county farm bureau federation is to be held Friday night, April 10, in the Hardy community. This is the second program for the new year.

"Live at Home Program" is the plan for the night's entertainment. "Gdowing a Household Food Supply" will be discussed by Miss Ruth Stockton, home demonstration agent; "Growing a Farm Feed Supply" will be discussed by Don L. Jones, superintepdent of the state experiment farm here and Glen Blackman will make a report for the dairy committee.

The Hardy community will furnish a local program. A large attendance from Lubbock is expected.

New Officers Are Elected By Rotary Club At Ralls

RALLS, April 4, (Special)—The following officers and Directors were elected for the Ralls Rotary club at the regular luncheon recently: President, L. A. Wicks; vice-president, F. J. McClure; F. L. Robbins, C. Sowell, H. F. Schwab, Bill Marr, M. G. Hargraves and Roy Cooper.

These men will take office July 1 and will serve for one year. The Ralls club has the unique record of having 81 consecutive on hundred per cent attendance meetings.

ROTARY PRESIDENT NAMED

CENTER PARKING TABOO

BROWNFIELD (Special)—Center parking in Brownfield is taboo, says the city marshal, E. Brown. Under a city ordinance the center parking is prohibited and the marshal has announced he will enforce the regulations.

CONTRACT IS AWARDED

PLAINVIEW—(Staff Special)—Contract for the installation of heating and plumbing fixtures at the new Stratford high school, has been let to S. B. Kelley of Plainview. Announced price was $12,450.

TO PRESENT OPPERETTA

Under the direction of Professor W. R. Waghorne, students of Texas Technological college will present an operetta, "All at Sea" in the auditorium of the Lubbck high school building tomorrow night. Included in the cast will be five choruses, three made up of Tech students and others composed of high school students.

Professor Waghorne who is head of the Tech music department has practiced with the cast for several weeks. Parts of the talking part of the program has been localized he pointed out, making the affair more interesting to people here.

Tickets may be purchased from Professor Waghorne or from students in the Tech music department for fifty cents each. The affair has been called for 8:15 o'clock.

MAIL INVITATIONS

Invitations to the annual Tech Engineering show in May are to be mailed to superintendents and principals of West Texas high schools by Tech engineers within the next few days. The notices will urge that all high school students attend the show who possibly can and some sort of recognition will be given the group of students coming the fartherest.

Under the supervision of Tech engineering seniors all plans for the show are being worked out. A record attendance is expected, according to officals.

Cary Lodal, textile student from Gordon, is general manager.

DEBATE RELIEF QUESTION

In a class debate, "Resolved, That Government Appropriations for Economic Depressions Produce More Good Than Evil" Mildred Johnson and Jesse McIlhaney, defending the negative, won over Joe Taylor and Dennis Lawson yesterday. The negative pointed out that usually government loans were not benefitial as they were intended.

O. O. Williams was debate chairman and Heber Ellsworth acted as critic judge.

GIVES SUBSCRIPTIONS

Dr. Thor J. Beck, head of the Tech French and German departments, recently gave to the college library a years subscription to the "Romantic Review" a magazine published by the Columbia University press, and also a years subscription to a French weekly paper, "Les Nouvelles Litterature." Both publications will be available to students within the next few days.

An article written by the Tech doctor will appear in the "Romantic Review" in the near future, library officials have said. The French paper is a literary publication.

TO ADDRESS CLUB MEMBERS

Using as her subject, "The Benefit of Latin Tournaments in Texas," Miss Jewell Paxton, member of Lubbock Junior high school faculty, will address the members of the Tech Latin club in room 310 of the administration building Monday night. The Latin club, S. P. Q. R., is composed of Tech students in the promotion of that language. Miss Nina Opal Davies is president.

In order that the meeting will be over in time for some of the members to attend the operetta at the high school building, the gathering has been called for 7 o' clock sharp.

SERVICES ARE TODAY

Tech students are asked to rise a little early this morning in order that they might attend the annual Sunrise Easter service in the administration building at 7 o'clock. A special program has been arranged and a few short talks will be made by members of the faculty.

Town people of Lubbock have been extended special invitations to the service this morning which will adjourn at promptly 7:45 o'clock.

TO MAKE NOMINATIONS

With election date set for April 17, a committee elected by the Tech Associatoin Women Students, will list names of nominees for president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer, sometime this week, Lilah Gaye Rodgers, president, said late yesterday. The committee composed of Lula Cone, Daisy Lockwood, Ruth Love, Ruth Thompson and Alyne Odom was elected at the last gathering of the association.

Any member of the organization wishing to suggest any possible nominees is asked to see some of the members of the committee this week. List of the nominees will be completed as soon as possible.

WILL MEET IN "Y" ROOM

Regular weekly gathering of the Tech YMCA cabinet will be held in the newly furnished "Y" room at 7 o'clock tomorrow night, Jack Boyd who is the college secretary said yesterday. As most of the present cabinet members are new, further plans for this time term are to be discussed.

The gathering will adjourn in time for the members to attend the operetta at the high school auditorium.

BLAIR TO SPEAK

Meeting for the first time this term, members of the Tech Pre-law organization will be addressed by Daniel Blair, local attrney, at the next regular meeting Wednesday night, Professor M. E. Ogden, club sponsor, has announced. The gathering was called for 7:30 o'clock in room 302 of the Tech administration building.

The pre-law club members plan some sort of a banquet this term. This prabably will be discussed at the Wednesday night meeting.

LEAVES FOR BOSTON

As a delegate from this district and as alternate for the Texas president of the American Association of University Women, Mrs. William Dingus, Tech faculty member, has left for Boston where she will attend the international convention of the organizatin. Thirty-one foreign countries will be represented at the meeting.

Mrs. Dingus who is head of the Tech Latin department is president of the Lubbock branch of the association. She will spend some time in Washington, D. C. on her trip, returning to Lubbock about April 18.

MEETING SET

Following an address by Jack Boyd on "Our Interracial Problems, Their Causes and Curses" Sylva Wilson will lead the discussion at a meeting of the Pi Gamma Mu Friday night in room 214 of the administration building.

The organizatin is made up of students interested in the study of social science. Arnold Carney is president.

ORDER DEADLINE SET

Tomorrow is the last date for 1931 Tech seniors to order their caps, gowns and invitations, according to an announcement from the college bookstre officials. The orders must be sent in this week to give time for them to be here for commencement, June 8.

SELL PRE-MED BIDS

Bids for the annual Tech Premed club dance, April 10, will go on sale today, Murray Ballenger, club president, indicated yesterday. Bids will sell for $1 each, he further stated.

The affair, sponsored each spring by the future Tech doctors, will be held at the Uptown Dance palace. Music will be furnished by Frank Stne and his collegiahs.

Last spring the organization sponsored a picnic at which time officers for the next year were chosen. It is probable that the officers will be chosen in the same manner this year.

TO CHOOSE OFFICERS

CANYON—(Staff Special)—Officers for the Panhandle-Plains Historical society are to be chosen at the annual meeting here April 10, Mrs. T. V. Reeves, secretary, announces. T. D. Hobart of Pampa is president and H. F. Hoover of Canadian, vice-president. O. H. Nelson, vice-president, died recently.

Hal Lary, Former Tech Student Who Is Studying In Geneva, Writes Of Many Opportunities Offered There

Hal B. Lary, former student of Texas Technological college, writing from Geneva, Switzerland, where he studying on a special scholarship which he received last spring, points out that Geneva offers many opportunities for students interested in international relations.

Lary, whose home is in Clovis, N. M., was for three years an honor student at Texas Tech before he received a $1,000 scholarship last spring from the Institute of International Education. In 1928 he won the $250 oratrical scholarship offered at Tech; in 1929 he won the $250 scholarship offered for the student with the highest scholastic standing, and last spring won one of the ten scholarships offered to junior college students in the United States by the institute. In addition he was editor of the college newspaper, The Toreador, during 1929-30 and was for three years a member of the college debating team. It is thought he will return to Tech for his B. A. degree next year.

Works With Committee

The former Techite recently worked with a committee under the direction of the Women's International league for Peace and Liberty in preparation for the disarmament conference. He writes that the chief facilities found in Geneva are the opportunities for attending sessions of the various international political organizations, such as those connected with the League of Nations.

Although making a special study of French, Lary reveals that lessons and practice in many languages may easily be arranged in Geneva. A variety of tongues is spoken among his fellow students, making it somewhat difficult for him to isolate himself from his English-speaking friends and concentrate on one language.

Because of better courses offered at the Post-Graduate institute, the Clovis lad, enrolled there instead of at the University of Geneva as he had planned. As the institute is open only to advanced students, he registered only after special permission from the higher officials.

With ordinary board at $35 and $40 per month and $50 to $80 per month in private homes, Lary says Geneva is a fairly expensive place to study in comparison with other European places. He figures his expenses from the time he left his New Mexico home, July 6, 1930, until his return, September 1, 1931, at $1,750. Tuitution at the school in which he is registered is $20 for each of the two terms.

Drouth Loan List Includes Few Farms In Clubs' Work

Less than three percent of the women of Texas who are taking home demonstration work under the direction of the county home demonstration agents have been included in the list of farm families seeking federal drouth aid Miss Myrtle Murray, district home demonstration agent leader, said here recently.

"Just to show how effective the work is," Miss Murray pointed out, take Dickens county for an example. The average value of the pantry of each 4-H club worker is estimated at $204, the state over. In Dickens county the value is $246 That will show what the work has done."

How

sang her way to Fame

by Long Distance

IN an Iowa city, a few years ago, a young girl, just graduated from a conservatory of music, rushed excitedly to her mother.

"Look, mother! The paper says that Sanford Abbott*, the New York producer, is reviving twenty operas. I'm going to ask for a place in the cast!"

"Why Olive, dear, you'd be foolish to go to New York for that! Your chances are almost nothing."

"I'll telephone him and see!"

●Let a noted newspaper tell the story (name of newspaper and date of article on request):

"She got long distance. And when a far-away voice said: 'This is Mr. Abbott speaking,' she started talking as fast as she could.

"When the astonished Mr. Abbott found out what she wanted, he cut Miss Palmer short. He was sorry, but his casts were full, and there was no use of her coming to New York.

"'I don't want to come to New York,' the girl said. 'Just let me sing for you.'

"There was nothing Abbott could do but listen. He pressed the receiver closer to his ear.

"And singing through those miles and miles of wire came a silvery voice—Olive Palmer singing the famous 'Shadow Song.'

"When the last note had died away, Abbott was silent for a moment. Then . . . . .

"'Get the first train to New York,' he told her quietly."

"'Get the first train to New York,' he told her quietly."

The story of how Olive Palmer went to New York—and made good — hardly needs telling.

Every Wednesday night, in thousands of homes throughout the land, radio sets catch from the ether the liquid beauty of her voice as she sings during the Palmolive hour. A radio magazine lists her as one of the ten most popular stars on the air.

So clear is long distance that over it even the subtle shadings of a singer's voice are heard easily and correctly, though artist and critic be separated by half a continent.

That's why you hear so clearly, and understand so easily when you talk in ordinary tones over the long distance telephone.

It's fast, too. In most cases you are connected with the called telephone while you hold the line; particularly if you call by number.

And you can telephone 100 miles for 60 cents—for 35 cents if you call after 8:30 o'clock in the evening (station-to-station rates).

Two Thousand Are Expected Here For District Meet

School Event Will Be Held April 24, 25

Boys And Girls From 18 Or 20 Counties To Participate In Interscholastic Competition At Tech College

More than 2,000 boys and girls from 18 to 20 counties on the South Plains and in West Texas are expected here Friday and Saturday April 24 and 25 for the annual district 2 gathering of the Texas Interscholastic league, according to Dr. A. W. Evans, district director.

"We are placing more stress this year on music memory work than ever before," Dr. Evans explained. "It was given last year for the first time and this year we believe there will be a great increase in the number of students enrolling in this competition."

Waghorne In Charge

Prof. William R. Waghorne, head of the department of music, is the director in charge of the music memory contests.

"The students who are coming here," continued Dr. Evans, "are the pick of the 18 counties in our district. We will have our program ready in a short time."

Counties included in the district are: Andrews, Bailey, Borden, Cochran, Crosby, Dawson, Dickens, Floyd, Gaines, Garza, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Martin, Terry and Yoakum."

Winners To Austin

Winners of first place in all of the divisions will be sent to Austin in May for the state meet, with the Texas Interscholastic League paying 40 per cent of the expenses.

Medals will be awarded for first, second and third places in each division. There will be a boys and a girls division in all literary events and also a rural division for country schools and class A division for the larger town and rural schools.

Judges will be members of the faculty of Texas Technological college.

G. W. Society Has Affair On Friday

Miss Sadie Bounds, 1810 7th street, entertained for members of the G. W. club, organization composed of young women from the Texas Utilities company, Friday evening in her home.

Tables were arranged for games of bridge and an Easter motif was featured. Miss Elsie Link made high score and low score was made by Miss Merle Kerr.

Guests were Misses. Geraldine Link, Merle Kerr, Billie Younge, Rubye Simmons, Lennie Bounds, Billie Jackson and Katherine Jackson and Mrs. Bill Jackson.

Members present included Misses Carrie Scott, Elsie Link, Eunice Stranfield, Rena Kerr, Arline Lackey, Faye Stinnett, Faye Hunt, Ora Glen Capers and Sadie Bounds.

Pep Squads Hosts To School Groups

Boys and girls in the pep squads of Lubock high school entertained members of the high school band, the football squad, basketball team and track men with an informal party in the gymnasium of the school Friday evening.

Games were directed by Mrs. J. O. Morgan and Dan Powers. The school colors of black and gold were used in decorations.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening to about 100 students.

Mrs. Temple Ellis Teaches Sanders Aid Lesson Friday

Mrs. Temple Ellis taught the Sanders Aid Bible lesson Friday afternoon in the absence of the regular teacher, Mrs. C. A. Bickley. The meeting was in the home of Mrs. Tom Foster, 1706 10th street, and Mrs. W. T. Milam was co-hostess. A social hour followed the lesson.

Those who attended were Mesdames J. J. Clements, J. W. Bull, R. E. Blanton, E. M. Anderson, T. A. White, J. T Hart J. A. Phipps, S. A. Claye and D C. Young.

The society will meet regularly in the Fourth Street Church of Christ, instead of the school, beginning next Friday, it was announced at the meeting. The next social meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Clements.

Ex-Aggies Of Plains Are To Gather In Plainview Monday

PLAINVIEW, April 4. (Special)—The Ex-Aggies of the Panhandle Plains district will hold a get-together meeting and banquet on April 6th. in Plainview. This will be the opening day of the Texas Panhandle Plains Dairy Show and many ex-students of Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College will be here for the show.

Tanlac Strange of Big Spring will be one of the main speakers and that means a good program. Several other prominent former aggies will attend the meeting among them Joe Ridgeway, Sterling Evans, Runt Stangel. Many others will be on hand ready to renew their friendships and make new acquaintances.

Roy Davis, Hale County Agent, and Alex Nesbit, are in charge of the local arrangements, and they are extending invitations to every ex-Aggie student in West Texas to attend this meeting.

People Still Get Married--But Times Have Changed

Weddings Nowadays Aren't What They Used To Be; Event Of The Present May Follow A Nonchalant "Suppose We Run Over To Clovis Tonight, Baby, And Get Hitched",

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

AWAY back when every bride had a second day dress and at least 12 quilts, weddings were events that rivalled the annual Fourth-of-July reunion or the death of Great Aunt Miriah.

That is, it was an event when contrasted with today's little act which follows a nonchalant "Suppose we run over to Clovis tonight, Baby, and get hitched?"

People may be busier now, they may hold such weddings as too ostentatious, life may be a less serious sort of proposition or they may be more conservative in spending money—no one seems to know just exactly why or how this great change came about, but weddings just aren't what they used to be.

Used to Be An Occasion

Preachers can remember the days when they were asked months ahead to officiate at weddings and when they travelled two or three hundred miles to read solemn vows for a couple of young people who had decided to take a plunge into matrimony. Seamstresses remember the days when they moved over to the bride's home several weeks before the occasion to fashion yards and yards of silks and cottons into dresses for the young woman. For no girl, no matter how poor the family, could think of marrying without enough dresses to last through the first 12 months and stacks of quilts and linens.

And, of course, there was the wedding dress and the second day dress—a less pretentious frock but one that was next in line after the actual marriage gown. This latter costume might serve for dress-up occasions during the early months of married life but the wedding gown was usually wrapped in tissue paper to await the marriage of another member of the family or to be preserved as a sentimental heirloom.

"At Least in Early Years"

The bride has a wedding dress today, to be sure, but more than likely she chooses an afternoon or street costume which she continues to wear after marriage as occasions demand. Of, if it is a more pretentious wedding with veil and flowers, she selects a model which can be converted into an evening dress to last during her early years of marriage.

As to the second-day dress, no one hears of such things now, just as no one is able to account for the decline in popularity of weddings—orange blossom and bouquet weddings with tulle and rose petals strung about and all the nieces and nephews tripping down the aisle.

They do happen occasionally, that is true, but they are not the every-family thing that they were a generation ago.

There are a lot of theories that have been advanced:

Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, thinks perhaps it is due to the practical mind of today which avoids "the frills and furbelows" that were so dear to the hearts of brides a few years ago. This is a more materialistic age and the sentiments surrounding marriage may not mean as much as they once did, he thinks.

People care less for formality and the long, drawn-out ceremonies that once marked weddings, Rev. O. N. Baucom, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church believes, and he can remember when people of moderate means practiced a month on the wedding ceremony in order that it might be carried through with perfection.

Rev. J. O. Haymes, pastor of the First Methodist church, has no definite theory to offer but he knows that people desire less pretention in weddings today.

Men Assert Authority?

And there is the possibility that men have asserted some authority and demanded less formality, remembering the agonies that other grooms went through while everyone wept over the bride. For men proverbially despise big weddings. Although they are rarely noticed, they seem to have always been the member of the marriage team that is most excited.

One Lubbock young man, in dressing for his marriage, rubbed his face with shaving cream instead of lotion when he completed his pre-marital shave. During the ceremony, his face burned hotter and hotter and before the ceremony was completed it had begun to draw and itch. The sensation was terrible, but he blamed it all on his embarrassment over being the cynosure for so many eyes.

Finally he was free and at the hotel so he decided to wash his face to relieve the burning. As the water touched his cheeks, the lather started to rise and he realized what he had done.

Grandfathers Affected

Even grandfathers are affected. One man started to the marriage of his grandson and on the ride across town someone noticed that he had forgotten his collar and the ceremony was delayed while he raced back to finish dressing.

Sometimes the brides grow excited too,—and this might be used as an argument for wedding dates that are set and looked forward to by all concerned. One young couple had been planning to be married when the groom suddenly decided that the date was too far distant and proposed that the marriage might be consummated immediately. A license was secured, a justice of the peace solicited and the vows read. The next day the young couple realized that they had selected April 1 as a date for their wedding anniversaries.

Law May Be Blame

Texas' law demanding three days of notice of intention to marry may be blamed, except that preachers testify that the long engagements and elaborate weddings had already been on the decline before the law was passed.

People still get married and some of them remain married, but the old time wedding ha sbeen superceded by one less elaborate in ceremony, whether it is in the home, the church or at the preacher's residence. Why? Well that is a theory that anyone can have. Times have changed.

Applications End April 31

Those Seeking Farm Relief Loans Are Urged To Send In Applications Not Later Than April 20

Applications for federal farm drouth relief loans to be considered by the central board must be in the mails by April 31, D. F. Eaton, Lubbock county agent, announced Saturday.

If possible these applications should be presented to J. B. Shannon, in charge of the Lubbock county farm relief bureau, not later than April 20, so that the local committee may have ample time to investigate claims before sending them to the Ft. Worth office, Mr. Eaton said.

According to the government loan report for Lubbock county for March, 326 applications for farm loans have been made from this area. Two hundred and seventy applications have been approved and 56 applications are now pending in the Ft. Worth and St. Louis offices. Eleven applications are in the Lubbock office.

Lubbock county has asked for $56,296.25 from the federal drouth relief, and has received $45,469.70, which is an average of $172.11 for each application sent in, Mr. Eaton said.

Students at the University of California at Los Angeles range from 15 to 53 years old—the average is 17.

Asks: What Is ACNE?
Big Ugly PIMPLES

Yes! That's the simple answer, but Acne is more than just a big pimple—better to call it a big stubborn pimple.

That's why you must fight this obstinate skin disease with something powerful enough to kill it and swiftly get the unsightly thing off the skin.

So we advise all who are so unfortunate as to have Acne to get rid of it at once and for all by using Emerald Oil, a powerful, healing, antiseptic oil that no case of Acne, Pimples or Eczema can withstand.

And those itchy toes that get raw and sore—the germs that cause it are killed by Emerald Oil. Don't waste time with weak washes—Emerald Oil is guaranteed by Bowen's Drug and Bowen's Hilton Pharmacy and druggists everywhere to rid you of stubborn unsightly skin troubles or money back—an 85 cent bottle lasts 2 weeks. D. A. "Deacon" Davis (above), is the local General Motors Corporation representative, who handles four lines of that company's products, motor cars, radios, electric refrigeration and rural lighting systems.

Hall And Motley Counties Now Have Highway Engineers

Hall and Motley counties now have separate resident engineers in charge of construction work, according to Guy R. Johnston, division construction engineer. Formerly the Motley county engineer handled work in both counties.

E. W. Marrs is resident engineer for Motley county, with headquarters at Matador.

W. E. Ryan holds the similar position for Hall county.

Closed cars constitute more than 89 per cent of all auto models, according to figures of the California Automobile association.

Davis Brothers Store Has Four G.M.C. Products

Lubbock's first all "General Motors'" store, with a complete line of products of the General Motors Corporation, automobiles, radios, lighting systems and refrigeration systems, has just been opened by the Davis brothers, D. A. and L. C. in their location at 1105-07 Main street.

Heretofore the Frigidaire business was located at 1105 Main but it was decided to move the sales department and display rooms across the street to the automobile show rooms. The sales room has been decorated and improved for the displaying of all of the lines of merchandise carried.

"I have been handling General Motors merchandise since 1924," D. A. Davis said. "We started at Roaring Springs, with another place at Spur. Four years ago we moved to Lubbock, believing this to be a better location for our business. We have grown rapidly with the town and the South Plains."

Sweetwater Will Enter In Contest

Sweetwater schools will have an entrant in the annual "Home Town" contest to be held here in connection with the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, May 14, 15 and 16, according to word from that city. Sweetwater is one of the first towns to enter.

John M. Hendrix, secretary of the Sweetwater Board of City Development, turned the letter of C. M. Cardwell, chairman of the contest, over to E. F. Neinast, principal of the high school. The latter will conduct the Sweetwater contest.

Miss Elizabeth Jobe of Sweetwater was winner of the 1929 "Home Town" contest at the El Paso convention. She was eliminated, however, at Abilene a year ago.

Trinidad, British West Indies, will build a water-supply system costing $4,235,000 to stop its serious shortage of water.

SPYING ON SPORTS

UNTIL typewriters and printing presses shall have been demolished along with everything else in the world that may be cleared of all forms of civilization by another flood or similar tragedy the memory and name of Knute Rockney will appear in public print. Therefore a column dedicated to him today should not be out of place.

Pete Cawthon, head coach at Texas Tech, returned last last week from South Bend where he was intimately associated with "Rock" during the first week of spring grid training. The Tech coach was at Durant, Mich., enroute to Lubbock when he first heard the news of Rockne's tragic death. He had left South Bend Monday night after watching Rockne direct 350 prospective gridsters through a scrimmage session. He was present when Rockne called a party at Hollywood and told of his departure next day for California, at the same time making reservations on the fatal plane.

It was bitter cold last Monday at South Bend. Snow covered the practice fields where fourteen teams were scrimmaging simultaneously. Rockne sat swathed in blankets, in a chair on the field. Two husky students stood by to move the chair, for Rockne has been in no condition for actual illustrative duties on the gridiron for nearly three years. He could not wear a football uniform. Frank Carideo stood near him, as did Cawthon. "My squad is divided into three sections," he said to Cawthon. "The best 80 are known as the 'thoroughbreds,' the next 150 are 'blooded stock' and the rest is the 'common herd.' As players in each division show signs of improvement they are graduated to the next class."

From time to time Rockne would see a fault in a play and without waiting for his chair-bearers to carry him, would jump u pand scuttle over to the play, deliver his instructions and settle back in the chair that would be waiting beneath him. Snow covered the white lines of the field and was continually falling but the gridsters, 350 of them, kept "whooping it up' on the field as though they were preparing for a game with Southern California the next day. The place was rank with spirit and enthusiasm.

After the practice Rockne and his friends repaired to the coach's dressing quarters where he stripped placed old baseball uniforms on the floor and took his daily "exercise." The exercise consisted of rolling about on his back and stomach, stretching his arms and breathing deeply. "Boys, I don't look much like an athlete, do I? Too fat. Can't move about," he suggested. Carideo said, "Why, sure you do. Bet you could catch a pass right now and run through the whole Army for a touchdown. How come you talka like dat, huh?"

"Tell all my friends down in Texas hello for me, Pete," he said as Cawthon took his departure, "and give 'eem hell at Texas Tech. I'm expecting a big year for you down there and I'm going to bring my B team to Lubbock and beat the tar out of you next year — maybe I'll bring the C team. So long." Cawthon had memories of Rockn's B team's 54 to 0 victory over Vanderbilt last fall as he left the "punch back of Notre Dame" dripping after a cold shower.

Full of pleasant thoughts of his past week's association with Rockne and his athletes Cawthon, 18 hours later, heard a radio loudspeaker in Durant tell of Knute's untimely death. Twenty-four hours earlier they had sat together at lunch in the Notre Dame cafeteria. "This is my friend from Texas. Give him any and everything he wants and make it good. Here, have some more of that. It's good," Rockne said to a waiter-athlete.

There are no fraternities at Notre Dame, one of Rockne's pet fight-inspiring plays on the practice field consisted in dividing the squad into troops for scrimmage and naming them after fraternities. "Now you Sigma Nus will please observe the training rules and don't be out dancing and necking later than 3 a. m. And you Pi Kappa Alphas may leave your keys at home while you're out here working," he'd say.

The Texas Tech football field reminded one of the day before the annual Tech-Simmons game yesterday when about 65 self-admitted football players romped through the first actual workout of the spring training season. It was not a hard workout, but Head Coach Pete Cawthon had the big squad divided into groups of backs, ends, centers and guards and tackles.

They all had abandoned track suits for regulation gridiron regalia and while there was no hint of scrimmage Coaches Cawthon, Morgan and Smith were as busy drilling details and individual plays as they will be next fall. The spirit was great and every man stepped on his own toes in efforts to catch every word of the coaches and to do their assignments correctly.

More than 75 prospective varsity gridders have been issued equipment but Saturday afternoon jobs kept a number of the boys away yesterday. Before the training season shall have ended it is thought that more than 150 men will be in uniform and going through daily practice.

Better Than Last Year

While he would not take a definite stand as to the winning possibilities of his 1931 Matador team Cawthon did not hesitate to say that he believed this year's outfit will be "considerably better than the 1930 team." He offered no suggestion as to the number of games the Matadors would win, "but any change at all in the team would be an improvement. It could be no worse than last year.

"They look lousy but with the help of the Almighty and the Red Cross we ought to make an impression next fall", Sir Cawthon commented. "One thing about them I know for a fact—they'll work like the devil and they'll fight— and with the kindly support of our friends they'll win — one or two games, mebbe."

May Be Soph Team

Cawthon speaks threateningly of the return varsity gridsters. "The team this year will be young and inexperienced. It will be about the same weight in the backfield and quite heavier in the line. It is likely to be a sophomore team." And the Tech mentor glanced as lovingly as his profession would allow at a bunch of husky freshman sweating nearby.

But if the local college coach hopes to arrange a sophomore lineup next fall and at the same time give justifying time to the returning veterans he will find it practically impossible to keep a few of the latter on the bench. Six of the regulars of last season are gone from college gridiron circles forever, but a few left who will carry on in what should be an impressive way this fall.

The Alumni

Floyd Wooldrige, for the better part of three seasons the Matador regular quarter back; Buddy Brothers, a never-to-be-forgotten halfback whose punting and running will be extremely hard to replace; Red Waller, an honor player last year whose two long runs was a high spot of the season; Rip Vinzant, an end for the past two years of outstanding quality; Bill McWilliams, a regular tackle last year and one of the best linemen of the Matador force; and Clarence Hodges, a back whose line thrusts were nearly always effective, will be gone. Their play was appreciated and they will be missed.

All of the above men had substitutes last year who will return next fall and they will make a strong bid for regular berths. In the line there is Captain Jack Durham, center who has been appointed for the second straight year to pilot the Matadors, his aid, Jack Flowers, whose pep is an inspiration; Ross Ayres and Jewell Darr, regular guards last year, supplemented by Jay Maltby, Cap Parkinson and Tom Abraham; big George Langford and Al Simmons, regular tackles most of the way and their helpers, Henry Murphy, Him Hill and Weldon Osborne; and Bill Teal, Harlan Howell, Jimmie Whitesides and Harvey Dunn, ends. Teal is a regular.

Veterans May Have Trouble

There is a bunch of veteran backfield material clamoring for further connection with the Matador first team. C. A. Doose and Ernest Westner are back for fullback position; Lawrence France, as good a ball carrier as Woldridge last year, will make a big bid for the quarterback hole; and Speed Moffitt will return for a try at halfback.

All of the above men do honor to their hometowns and they are going to be hard to keep on the sidelines this fall, but it is to be re-

Maureen Beats Van Wie After 4-Year Trials

New Jersey Golfer Wins, One Up, After Stiff Fight With Runnerup; Orcutt's Putting Is Feature Of Match

By DILLON GRAHAM
Associated Press Sports Writer

PINEHURST, N. C., April 4—After four years of campaigning over the sloping fairways and sand greens of Pinehurst, Maureen Orcutt, of Englewood, N. J., today won her reward with victory in the 29th annual North and South women's golf tournament.

The New Jersey star, twice medalist in the tournament, but never before getting past the semi-finals, downed the straight-driving Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, one up in the finals match.

Van Wie Hard to Beat

Miss Van Wie, runner up in the North and South four times in the past five years, played well on the out nine, rounding the turn one up with a 39 to Maureen's 40. She faltered on the early holes coming back, but then stiffened on the final holes to carry the battle to the eighteenth green.

The New Jersey girl's great ability on the greens won her the victory.

The two were about even off the tee and there was little difference in their iron play.

It was a battle of stymies with Maureen having five and Virginia one.

Oscar Eckhardt Purchased By San Francisco Missions

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4. (AP)—Oscar Eckhardt, outfielder, was purchased today by the San Francisco Missions from the Detroit Tigers. He will join the Coast League club at once. The sale price was not announced, although ti was a straight money deal. Eckhardt played with Beaumont of the Texas League last season, hitting .349 in 147 games.

SAM WEST HELPS SENS WIN

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 4.—Two home runs, a triple and a double by Sam West, Senators center fielder, netting five runs, proved too much for the Birmingham Barons today and Washington won, 11 to 3.

Pampa Carries Off Honors In Amarillo Meet

Westerners Fail To Arrive At Site Of Tournament In Time For Full Participation; Sandies Barely Nosed Out

AMARILLO, April 4. (AP)—The Pampa Harvesters this afternoon got a measure of revenge on the Amarillo Golden Sandies for a 2 to 0 football defeat last fall, when they won a four-way track meet here with 62 points to Amarillo's 61.

Plainview was third with 29 counters, and Lubbock trailed with one point.

The Lubbock Westerners and Coach Pinkey Lowrey had trouble on the road and managed to get to Amarillo barely in time to place one man in the met. He won fourth place and one point in the broad jump event.

Radio Broadcasts Eulogize Rockne

NEW YORK April 4. (AP)—Knute Rockne was eulogized over coast-to-coast networks of two broadcasting systems tonight.

From New York, Boston and the Campus of Notre Dame in South Bend, Ind., came the voices of the Columbia speakers, including Frank Carideo, Pat Flanagan, Chicago sports announcer, and Eddie Casey, Harvard football coach.

Father Haggarty of the Notre Dame faculty, Hugh O'Donnell, assistant business manager of the New York Times; Grantland Rice, sports writer, and Graham McName radio announcer, paid their final tributes to the famous coach on the NBC broadcast.

Nine Records Broken In Beaumont High Relay Meet

BEAUMONT, April 4. (AP)—The second annual Beaumont High school relays with 400 athletes in competition saw nine records broken her this afternoon and a tenth equalled, the meet going for the second time to San Jacinto High of Houston with 29 points. Eagle Lake and John Reagan of Houston, were tied for second with 20 points, while Beaumont was fourth with 16 4-4 points.

The finest performances of the meet were contributed by William Wallace, Eagle Lake's one-man team who alone scored 20 points for individual honors and a handsome trophy.

Pat Crawford May Become First Sacker For Columbus

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., April 4.(AP)—Pat Crawford, voluntarily retired first baseman of the Cincinnati Reds left late last night for Columbus, Ohio, it was learned today, for a conference with Branch Rickey of the St. Louis Cardinals and the president of the Columbus club of the American Association, now owned by the Cards. The conference is to take place at Columbus tomorrow.

The Columbus Senators, badly off for a first baseman, talked persuasively over the telephone to Crawford Friday night whereupon Pat took train for the Ohio capital.

Crawford had retired in order to get a master's degree in physical education from Springfield college.

Lamb County Men Get Good Prices On Stock Shipments

AMHERST, April 4. (Staff Special)—Lamb county farmers who shipped fifteen car loads of cattle fed out on farms here, to the Kansas City market recently, received returns of from seven and a half cents to eight and a half cents per pound, D. A. Adam, county agent, reports.

"We expect to ship out some more cattle soon after the first week of April," the agent added. "The farmers are well satisfied with their results so far. Every man has made more money from feeding his home grown grain to cattle on his farm then he would have made from selling the grain direct."

Lamb county had almost 5,000 cattle and over 1,500 head of sheep on feed, besides many thousands of head of hogs. Many farmers found it profitable to follow their cattle with hogs, the latter cleaning up all grain that the cattle left.

Third Round In Campus Basketball Season Opens Tuesday; Frosh Lead

The schedule for the third round of the 54-game intramural basketbal tournament at Texas Tech was announced yesterday by W. L. "Crip" Golightly, varsity cage mentor and director of the campus games.

The Fish and Senior clubs of the Liberal Arts league will meet at 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon to start the third week and third round of the tournament. Following that, the Soph and Junior teams of that league will play. The fish and Senior teams of the Engineer league will play at 8.

On Wednesday, the Sophs and Juniors of the Engineer league will open the day's card at 6 o'clock, and will be followed by the Fish-Senior game of the Aggie league at 7 o'clock. Sophs and Juniors of the latter loop will play the last game of the day.

The Independent league third round games will be played Friday evening, beginning with the Y. M. C. A. club and the Bookstore team clashing. At 8 o'clock the Army and Band teams will play.

As a result of the second round games, the Fish teams of the Liberal Arts and Engineer leagues are leading with perfect records, each having won two games. The Seniors lead the Aggie league and the Army holds superiority in the Independent loop. Junior teams of each school league have yet to break into the win column, as does the Band team of the Independent League.

ROYALS BEAT LONGHORNS

AUSTIN, April 4. (AP)—The Montreal Royals gained an edge in a slugfest here today with the University of Texas Longhorns, winning 12 to 10.

STEERS LOSE TO SAINTS

DALLAS, April 4. (AP)—Pounding ten hits off Rouprich and Erickson, regular hurlers, the St. Louis Saints defeated the Dallas Steers here today, 10 to 6. The Steers committed six errors while the Saints played faultless ball. Tobin of Dallas and Hopkins of St. Paul clouted home runs.

Grover Cleveland Alexander Is Made Manager House Of David Diamondeers

MINERAL WELLS, April 4—(AP)—Grover Cleveland Alexander, former major league pitcher, was today appointed manager of the House of David team in training here. Roy L. Doan, former playing manager, will devote his time to the business details of the club.

Alexander said today he was in good shape, and that he will take his regular turn at the mound.

The House of David team will leave soon for a tour through Texas League cities and other leagues.

Alexander has no beard, but said he probably would grow one.

Century Dash Record Broken

Africa University Sprinter Does 100-Yard Spring In 10.2; Equals American Set By Frank Wykoff

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa, Apr. 4—(AP)—The world's record for the 100 yard dash was bettered today when J. Jourbert of St. Ellenbosch University raced the distance in 9 2-5 seconds in the South African championships.

The listed world's record of 9 5-10 seconds is credited to Eddie Tolan, former Michigan sprinter, but the official American mark is 9 2-5 seconds, by Frank Wykoff.

Sutter And Van Ryn Play Tennis Semi-Finals Today

NEW ORLEANS, April 4. (AP)—Once halted in play by darkness and again delayed today by rain, Clifford Sutter, New Orleans, and John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, met tomorrow morning in the semi-final singles in their bracket of the New Orleans Country club invitation tennis tournament.

Starting at 10 a. m., the winner in this easter day finale will engage George Lott, of Philadelphia at 3 p. m., for the title. Lott previously in his semi-final match eliminated Ellsworth Vines, tall Californian from Pasadena.

The match halted at twilight Thursday saw Sutter and Van Ryn fighting nip and tuck, each having alternately won two sets in the thre out of five match.

Local Bus Men To Attend Convention At Fort Worth

Local bus men are planning to attend the annual convention of the Texas Bus Owners association, to be held in June at Fort Worth. The affair will last two days and tentative plans call for a two days session.

Joe N. Bowman of the South Plains coaches and Arch Tyler of the North Plains coaches are directors of the association. A. T. Barrett, Fort Worth, is state president. Garnet Abbott of the Pioneer Lines and Ed Abbott of the Texas Motor Ways probably will attend the meeting. Both are members, Lum Kennedy and George Page, both well known here and over the South Plains, are also directors.

Hill County League Opens For Second Season Today

FREDERICKSBURG Texas, April 4. (AP)—The Hill Country baseball league will begin its second season tomorrow. Fredericksburg plays Kerrville; Pontotoc, Comfort; and Mason, Junction. The loop's first season last year was a decided success.

A pennant and a loving cup will be awarded the championship team, to be decided in a series between the two clubs having the highest percentages at the end of the regular season.

Willard Larrimore of Mason is president of the league and Reuben Jordan of Fredericksburg, secretary. Bob Bennett, veteran sports writer of Kerrville and founder of the league, is honorary president.

Texas Aggies Win Track Meet Over Steers, A. C. C.

AUSTIN, April 4. (AP)—Texas Aggies carried off the honors in a triangular track meet here today with the University of Texas and Abilene Christian College. Texas placed second and the Christians third.

Although they trailed in the total number of points, Abilene copped more first places than any other school in the meet, its athletes coming in ahead in six events. A. and M., placed first in five events and Texas took first honors in four events.

A. and M., scored 71 points; Texas 53 and one half, and Abilene Christian 46 and one-half.

WAGES REDUCED

TAHOKA—(Special)—Wages for road work done by the county have been reduced from $3 a day to $1.50 for an 8 hour day, Truett Smith, county clerk, announces, an order of the commissioner's court. A man with four horses will receive $4 instead of $6 per day. The reduction is made to give more men work.

Sit on a high stool with a back while ironing. You will find the work will not be nearly so tiring.

Athletics And Cards Favored To Win Crowns

Votes Of Experts Picks A's And Cardinals; Giants Are Best Looking In Camp And Picked To Finish High

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 4.—With rookies walking the plank at a somewhat rapid rate, major league baseball craft have trimmed their sails homeward, still leaving the experts very much mystified as to the prospects for the 1931 pennant races.

The Philadelphia Athletics and St. Louis Cardinals, 1930 winners, remain the pre-season favorites, with the opening games only ten days away, but the feeling of uncertainty as to the relative strength of the contending clubs is widely manifest.

It is reflected not only in the rapidly shifting developments of the training campaigns, conducted from Florida to California, but in the broad range of opinion filed so far by the war correspondents in the annual pennant consensus of the Associated Press.

Vote Goes To Cards

Twenty-five of the thirty-eight experts who have reported favor the Athletics to make it three straight. Nine have picked the Washington Senators, who appear to be gaining support rapidly. Two each named the New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians as probable pennant winners in the American league.

In the National, the Cardinals show 18 votes thus far, with nine cast for the Chicago Cubs, eight for the Brooklyn Robins, four for the New York Giants and one for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

In making these predictions, the critics have discarded some of the sign posts of the conditioning season, either as too confusing or inconclusive, and based their views on past performances.

A month ago, the Cardinals looked like the best club training in Florida. But since then the Redbirds have been unable to consolidate their outfield, with Chick Hafey, a persistent holdout, and enthusiasm for the prospects of two pitching recruits, Dean and Derringer, has lessened.

On the other hand, neither the Cubs nor Pirates, training on the west coast, have shown enough to prompt any flights to the superlative.

Giants Have Looked Good

The Giants perhaps have been the most impressive of National league contenders. Manager John McGraw apparently is satisfied with his noble experiment of inserting the rookie, Johnny Verges, at third, and keeping Priddy Lindstrom in the outfield. Brooklyn, with Dazzy Vance's holdout siege ended, is breathing defiance.

The Athletics, already at home, have come along slowly but they can't be expected to look like champions until Al Simmons and George Earnshaw are on deck, ready for duty.

The world's champions will have an early test of strength for they open the season April 14 in Washington against their strongest rivals.

The two surprise teams may be the Boston Braves and Chicago White Sox. The Braves have demonstrated they can exchange solid wallops with any team in the grapefruit circuit. The White Sox, with Lu Blue obtained for first base duty and two star newcomers in the lineup, Appying at short and Imons in the outfield, look much stronger.

GIANT RESERVES WIN

SAN ANTONIO, April 4. (AP)—With a brisk norther sweeping the field the San Antonio Indians and New York Giant reserves braved through nine innings of baseball in one hour and forty-five minutes in League Park Saturday afternoon with the Giant Reserves on the big end of the score of 6 to 2.

PHILADELPHIA, April 4. (AP)—Manager Connie Mack, of the Philadelphia Athletics, announced today that Al Simmons, hard hitting outfielder, and Pitcher George Earnshaw, would report to the team at Shibe Park next Friday.

Simmons and Earnshaw have been training at Hot Springs, Ark., the last few months, both players working out daily with the Minneapolis club of the American Association.

"I was in touch with both players," said Manager Mack.

"Earnshaw told me he is in good health."

Only a few days ago, Babe Ruth, home run clouter of the Yankees, was supposed to have said Earnshaw is "all washed up," and intimated that Mack's right hand pitching ace is in poor health.

"I don't know whether Ruth ever said it," remarked Manager Mack. "But if the Babe did make that statement he will learn to his sorrow that Earnshaw is as good as ever."

Volleyball Vying With Golf For Ye Tired Business Man's Physical Pep

Lubbock's "new" sport activity, volleyball, continues to gain headway and popularity with eight teams playing inter-league games at intervals. The Lions club heads the standing with five victories and no defeats, while the Kiwanis club follows, also with a perfect record, with one victory and no defeat. The Kiwanis and Rotary clubs played their first set Friday night.

The Lubbock civic clubs, Lions, Rotary, Kiwanis and American Business, compose half the league. The local American Legion supports two teams and the Tech faculty is represented by a pair of teams. Legion team No. 2 and Faculty team No. 2 play their first set this week, the date to be announced.

Captains of the teams are as follows: J. W. Jackson and F. L. McRee, Faculty teams. Vaughn Wilson and O. A. Terry, Legion teams; Bert Pinson, American Busines club; Pete Cawthon, Rotary club; Edgar Shelton, Kiwanis; and S. S. McKay, Lions club.

The team standing:

TEAM	Won	Lost	Pct
Lions	5	0	1000
Kiwanis	1	0	1000
Legion No. 1	3	2	.600
Faculty No. 1	2	3	.400

Tech Relays Draw Big List

Record Entry Expected In Golf Meet

Smith Extends List Deadline For Wednesday

Twenty Schools Have Filed Entries For Carnival Here Next Saturday; $300 Worth Of Prizes To Be Given

Russell "Dutchey" Smith, Texas Tech coach and promoter of the first annual Texas Tech high school relays, announced yesterday that the deadline on entries in the relays to be held here next Saturday would be extended to Wednesday of this week. The original deadline was Monday, April 6.

Twenty schools had filed entry lists with Smith yesterday and a number of coaches had written letters of inquiry, asking for more details on the tournament. Smith decided to extend the deadline in order that coaches entering teams in county and other meets this week end would have time to pick their best teams.

Officials Announced

Officials of the meet were announced yesterday by Coach Smith. J. O. "Dell" Morgan and Bill Keeling, local coaches, will have charge of the refereeing and starting. W. L. Stangel, chairman of Tech's athletic council, will be chief judge of finishes, assisted by Dr. W. M. Jackson, Jim Dallas, Leon Fisher and Lewis. Chief timer will be P. W. Cawthon, assisted by Professor Pender, Ben Condray, Henry Frnka and W. L. Golightly.

Floyd Wooldridge has been named chief of the clerks of the course. He will be assisted by Swede McMurry, Clarence Hodges and Carl McAdams. Herschel Tadlock will direct the javelin and high jump events, assisted by Bill McWilliams, George Langford and Bennie McWilliams.

Whacker Barton will be chief of inspectors. His assistants will be Yancy Price, C. L. Dunivan, Lester Tribble and Collins. Announcers will be Ernest Dowell, chief, Anthony and Nichols, Tech athletes.

Handsome Prizes Given

Approximately $300 in prizes will be awarde dwinners and runners up in the carnival here. Local business houses, the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and the Tech athletic coucil will be responsible for the prizes, now on display at the window of the Hogan-Patton shop on Broadway. The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal will give the biggest prize, a $50 trophy to the winning team of the meet. The Chamber of Commerce has donated nearly $100 for the purchase of cups, emblems, statuettes and medals. Every winner, runner up and third place winner will receive a trophy.

The Tech athletic council will give a large bronze shield to the runner up team, and the Caprock Emblem company of Lubbock will give a large pennant to the third place team. High point men will receive first, second, and third prizes as follows: Anderson's Jewelry trophy, wrist watch; Lubbock Hotel trophy, wrist watch; Helber's Jewelry trophy, fountain pen and pencil set. The Tech bookstore concern will give a fountain pen and pencil set to winners of the 50-yard dash. Winners of special events and relay races will receive Chamber of Commerce trophies which consist of silver cups, etc.

Five special events and five relays will make up the meet, all of which will be held next Saturday afternoon. Fifty yard dash, 100-yard dash, 220-yard hurdles, javelin throw and high jump will compose the special events. The relays consist of quarter-mile, half-mile, mile, medley and special medley races.

Smith urges that all high school coaches mail entry lists to the Tech athletic department by Wednesday of this week. All teams are expected to be in Lubbock by 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

LORENZO, (Staff Special)—Effective April 1, the electric rate for the Lorenzo school system was lowered by the Texas Utilities company from 11 cents to three cents per k. w. h., District Manager Moss of Ralls, announces. If two buildings are on different meters, they will be totaled for the minimum of $1.50.

membered that last year's Picadors will be in line for varsity play this fall and Coach Dutchey Smith had a team last year that could run circles around the varsity when the varsity was not at its very best.

Coach Cawthon could place a team of all-star and all-district men on the field next year from the 1930 freshman ranks. The wealth of sophomore material on the practice field yesterday was highly impressive. The list of potential stars is too long to name here but an example of what the varsity men have to fear needs space.

And Here's Why

Captain Durham and Jack Flowers will have a hard time keeping ahead of "Square-top" Nix, Les Tribble and "Handsome" Anthony for the center position, but no harder time than the other varsity linemen. A line averaging nearly 190 pounds can be placed on the field next fall. There is Baker, all-state guard for two years from Abilene with his 200 pounds, and Toby Greer, all district guard from Comanche, 175-pounds.

For tackle posts there are Whacker Barton, well known red-head native of Lubbock whose high school work gave him all-district honors and whose work in the frosh line last year was truly an example of what a good tackle should do, and Bennie McWilliams, the graduating Bill's brother whose place on the 1931 team is virtually cinched.

Two of the best ends in this neck of the woods are Yancy Price and Matt Hitchcock, regulars last year and with impressive high school records at Lubbock High and Cameron respectively. Bill Teal and Harlan Howell will find the going especially rough.

Sophomore backfield possibilities make one dizzy. Dunivan of Amarillo has an inside track on the signal-barking position. He's had it before leaving Amarillo. Soilis of Sherman is a favorite with Coach Smith and was the speed master last year on the Picador team. Butts all-district man from Waco, will be hard to keep away.

After all, Cawthon's idea of a sophomore team this year may not be so hard to understand. For each man named there are two more just about as good. And they're all out there now working out in one of the best spring training seasons the school has ever observed. It not compulsory for the players to break into spring training —not one of them are made to practice—but while they're in training, well, they are in training.

ESTABLISH POSTOFFICE

SUDAN, (Staff Special)—A new postoffice has been established near here in the Circleback community. G. O. Sharman is the postmaster. The star route from Sudan is not affected by the change.

Earl "Battling" Akin, a George boy who fights at 138, has gone back to New York for another whirl at the boxing game.

Soviet Russia exported nearly 500,000 tons of iron ore last year.

Interest High Over Section; Links Improve

Erskine Reports West Texas Golf Association Members Anxious For Tournament; To Be Here May 21-24

A record entry list for the West Texas Golf Association's annual tournament to be played over the Lubbock country club course, May 21-24, is predicted by Stanley Erskine, representative of a national sporting goods company, who arrived in Lubbock yesterday morning.

"I have found that members of the golf playing fraternity west of Fort Worth are looking forward to this tournament with much interest, and in my opinion you will have one of the best and biggest tournaments staged in Texas this year," Erskine said.

After playing over the course yesterday Erskine was enthusiastic over the layout. "It is unquestionably one of the most beautiful in this state. The greens are in great shape and many hazards, combined with great deceiving distances, make it a treacherous course for the seasoned player. For 6,572 yards with a par 72, it has every shot known to the game of golf," he commented.

Officials of the Country club have ordered employees to spare no time or expense in making improvements and beneficial changes over the layout. All unsightly shrubbery and dead vegetation has been removed, tee boxes are undergoing extensive repair, and greens are being remodeled and improved. Fairways are already in good shape, officials say, and the work of improving in view of the West Texas tournament is progressing by leaps and bounds.

Transfer Fee On Auto Bill Of Sale Cut

Reduction Made From Dollar To Twenty-Five Cents By New Law; Fines Assessed For Delay In Filing

Transfer fee on automobile bills of sale has been lowered from one dollar to twenty-five cents, according to A. J. Clark, county tax collector, who received notification of the new law Friday.

The law also provides that automobile bills of sale must be filed within ten days with the county tax collector, or a fine of $2.50 will be assessed; and if the bill is not filed within 20 days a $5.00 fine will be assessed, Mr. Clark said.

Mr. Clark explained that many cars have been stolen lately of which the bills of sale had not been filed, making it impossible to trace the car thieves. This confusion resulted from delay in recording bills of sale created the necessity for the new law, he said.

Automobile bills of sale in the future must be made out in triplicate, rather than in duplicate as has been the practice, Mr. Clark stated.

JOIN IN PARTNERSHIP

SUDAN, (Staff Special)—T. Wade Potter, former county attorney and H. W. Fillmore, who comes from Wichita Falls, have formed the law partnership of Potter and Fillmore. Mr. Potter will remain in Littlefield while Mr. Fillmore moved here.

SIGN REPAINTED

MORTON, (Staff Special)—The sign at Chipley, ten miles from here, which formerly read "10 miles to Morton—the city of Opportunity," has been repainted. The sign now has an arrow indicated the direction of Morton, Causey, Dora, Portales, Elida and Roswell.

The 1931 Kentucky amateur golf championship tournament will be played at Covington, June 14.

The NUT and CRACKER

BY COL. JOE O'GOOFTY
One Time Big League Pitcher

SNEISSA, IN THE SAHARA, April 4.—It was to be a FOXX HUNT. The dawn of DAY found our JOLLEY party dressed in FORRESTER STYLES.

Emerging from the BUSH near the WHITEHILL we were amazed to see AKERS of SWEETLAND (sometimes called the HUNNEFIELD) in which were planted RICE, CARAWAY SEEDS, FLOWERS, several spices of HOLLEY BERRY and a peculiar type of BEAN ROOT.

"Let's STRIP and FORD this stream," I shouted. There were no BRIDGES handy.

Just then a HERRING leaped into the air, his SPOTTS gleaming GRAY and BROWN in the dull light. The FISCHER started to KRESS his HOOKS. Reaching the opposite SHORES we walked into a GROVE. The cold water made us SHIVER. Chilled to the MARROW we started HUDLIN in a CROUCH around the fire.

"Pass around the RYE", said the COOKE There was no MARSHALL around so everybody took a STOUT SHOTTON the arm.

"This stuff may be all WRIGHT," said the JUDGE, "but I DOUTHIT. It smells like a SUHR and it certainly BURNS."

"As a RUEL this stuff is much HARDER," said the PORTER. "I GRANT you it doesn't go down as WELLS it OTT to. By NEUN, however, you won't KERR.

A GRIMM smile played on the faces of the FRENCH CHAPLIN and the ENGLISH BISHOP.

Just then a BELL rang, warning us not to TERRY. Packing up our COMBS we made an ad-VANCE on the BERG, deciding to turn over a new PAGE and forget the PETTY differences of the FREY.

Tech Students Conducting Tests To Determine Best Type Of Roses To Be Grown In Plains Area; Records Kept

An unusual variety test for roses, to determine the best root stocks for roses to be grown under actual home conditions rather than by professional growers, is being conducted at Texas Technological college by students in the horticulture department of the school of agriculture under the supervision of C. H. Mahoney.

"We are planting a variety rose garden to see if we can find the best types suitable for back yard gardens in this county," Professor Mahoney explained. "There will be about 40 varieties with ten roses of each variety."

Planted in Open

"The roses will be planted in the open, without any protection, just like in the average back yard. We want to make our conditions of growing as nearly like the home conditions as we can."

Root stocks from several states, including two or three native Texas stocks from the eastern part of the state, three or four from Tennessee, several from California, from the central states and the southeastern states have been secured.

Records are to be kept on the tests. It is hoped that some sort of root stock acclimated to the plains country and one that will make good under ordinary home conditions will be found.

Mr. Mahoney said that at Tech some splendid types of roses have been grown, especially around the residence of the president, Dr. Paul W. Horn. The greenhouse also has some good roses.

"There are a lot of good rose enthusiasts in Lubbock who are doing some outstanding work in the growing of roses," Mr. Mahoney continued. "I know of several who have gone to great expense along this line and they have accomplished some wonderful things. But one of the things we hope to do is to develop information along the line of actual, ordinary conditions, rather than that for people who are able to give extraordinary care to their gardens."

Northwest Texas Teachers Gather Here Friday

Four Hundred Expected To Attend Meet

Sessions To Be Held At Tech This Week-End; Two Special Trains Coming; Pampa Is After 1932 Session

FOUR HUNDRED teachers, principals, and superintendents are expected to arrive here Friday by train and automobile to attend the two-day annual convention of the Northwest Texas Teachers association.

The estimate was made Saturday afternoon by Dr. A. W. Evans, head of the department of education at Texas Technological college. Dr. Evans is the Lubbock member of the executive committee of the convention.

To Be Held at Tech

Supplemented by members of local public school and college faculties, attendance at the convention is expected to total seven hundred. General sessions, group conferences, and a breakfast are on the program. Sessions will be held in the Technological college gymnasium Friday night and through Saturday. A breakfast will be given at the Hilton hotel Saturday morning for superintendents and principals.

Dr. Evans said Saturday afternoon that all speakers on the program had confirmed the engagements. Outstanding educators of Texas and New Mexico in both public school and college circles will address the convention.

Special Trains Coming

Two special trains are being planned to bring teachers to the convention, according to Dr. Evans. The Fort Worth & Denver City railway will operate a special train from Wichita Falls to Lubbock, and the Santa Fe road will run a special from Pampa and Amarillo to Lubbock, he indicated, with teachers being allowed round trip rates of a fare plus 25 cents.

Pampa will seek the 1932 meeting of the Northwest Texas Teachers association according to a letter from John Hessey, county superintendent at Pampa. The letter sought the backing of the Amarillo teachers and it is understood W. A. McIntosh, superintendent, has given his approval.

Territory of the Northwest Texas Teachers association embraces the entire northwestern section of the state. Reports that teachers and school executives will attend the two-day assembly have arrived from throughout the area, according to Dr. Evans. Representative cities from which promises of attendance were received included Olney, Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Breckenridge, Canyon, Lamesa, Plainview, Sweetwater, Quanah and Hereford.

Yaqui Chant

hills of Sonora, along the Yaqui river, at Pueblo Belin, near Tucson, and Guadalupe, the clustered Yaqui village in the vicinity of Phoenix, the worshippers have foregathered during the past week, with practice chants and preliminary dances.

The sturdy braves of the far flung tribe carry the burden of the exhausting all night exhortation. Faces grotesquely marked or masked, bronze bodies streaked with paint, they sway and leap in their individual villages, each dancing group surrounded by a compact mass of the tribe's old men and women, and the ever-present, half-naked children.

The drums boom unceasingly throughout the night before the rude stone altars. The swish and clatter of shot-filled gourds time the difficult, hesitating rhythm, as the eerie minor note of the chant rises piercingly.

The first rays of the Easter sun will halt the dancers midstride, the chants will die on parted lips, the drums and rattles will stutter into silence, and the celebrants will drop to sleep away their weariness as the rising sun brings the new day, and symbolically, the new life.

Sacred Ceremonies Staged By Catholics

EL PASO, April 5. (AP)—Ancient mission bells rang out in communities along the northern border of Mexico today, carrying the tidings that Christ was risen.

It was fiesta time, near the end of "Semana Santa" or sacred week, observed by Catholic churches throughout the world. Celebrations were held, families gathered together and the young folks danced.

In Juarez, opposite El Paso, in Mexico, the rage of devout persons was vented on effigies of Judas Iscariot suspended by ropes at intersections of the principal streets. The effigies were decorated with fireworks and finally burned, amid shouts of the men and shrill cries of the women, in figurative punishment of the betrayer of Christ.

Two Hurt

occurred at about 9 p. m., the two men were taken to Levelland where they received emergency treatment. A Levelland doctor took about a dozen stitches in Abbott's leg. Abbott was taken to Lubbock sanitarium by Rix-Sanders ambulance. C. C. Wright, a local friend of Abbott, accompanied ambulance attendants.

Version Given

A patchwork version of the wreck was that Abbott had mistaken a sharp curve for a wide one and the automobile, a coach, probably was traveling 60 miles an hour when it left the highway, leaped a barpit, overturning several times, and stopped upside down in a pasture. The car was destroyed by fire. It belonged to Abbott, who is an automobile mechanic and service man. He and Shannon were en route to Lubbock.

The attending physician said Saturday afternoon that Abbott had suffered no paralysis and that his condition was not regarded as serious, although he would be incapacitated for some time. The fracture and dislocated vertebrae were near the middle of the back.

NEWS BRIEFS

Rapid progress is being made by Womack, Herring and Rollins, contractors who have the grading work in Crosby county on No. 24. In the little over two weeks the company has been working they have completed grading work from the west side of the district, four miles west of Crosbyton, to the city limits.

J. B. Maxey, local contractor, recently was awarded the contract for the new Stratford high school. Amount of the general contract, which Mr. Maxey is starting, was $50,470.20.

Rev. J. L. Willis, Lubbock, secretary of educational work for the Northwest Texas district of the M. E. church, will preach at Crosbyton today in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. T. M. Johnson, who is holding a revival at Slaton. At the morning service, at which Mr. Willis will speak, a special Easter program by the choir will be given.

The Panhandle Construction company of Lubbock has been awarded the contract for paving five blocks of Main street, Turkey, by the city council. Actual construction is to start within five or six weeks. Amount of the contract was $31,957 for a six inch re-enforced concrete surface.

San Angelo high school students have entered the "My Home Town" contest to be held here May 14-16 during the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention, according to word from H. G. Stovall, principal of the high school. Trine Starnes of San Aneglo won second place at El Paso two years ago and also entered the Abilene convention contest last year.

Ed Bishop of Dalhart, formerly of Plainview and Floydada, where he was engaged in chamber of commerce work, and Mrs. Bishop, are the parents of a seven and a half pound son, born March 29, according to word received here. Mr. Bishop is secretary of the Dalhart chamber of commerce. His mother, Mrs. Jennie Bishop, resided at Floydada and Mrs. Bishop is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Williams of Matador.

J. D. Carrol of the First Baptist church here, will be on the program of the district B. Y. P. U. and Sunday school convention in the First Baptist church at Plainview Tuesday and Wednesday. He will speak Tuesday afternoon.

H. S. Osborn, who was connected with the Hilton Hotel at Abilene for a long time and who is well known among regular Hilton patrons, has come to Lubbock and joined the staff of the Hilton Hotel here.

Huddleston and Work, Crosbyton contractors, who were awarded the grading and drainage work on highway 18 in Motley county, will begin their work before the middle of the month. They have a 13-mile grading project. Another project in Wheeler county is being completed by this firm.

ballot. They were J. H. Bryan, one vote; George W. Pickle, two votes; R. W. Walker, one vote; France Baker, two votes; Will McCrummen, one vote; P. F. Brown, two votes; W. K. Dickenson, one vote; Robert Bean, one vote; and J. K. Wester, one vote.

No official returns had been received at midnight Saturday in the county rural school board of trustee election also held Saturday.

According to a partial report of precinct No. 1, W. A. Fincher was leading his opponent, N. A. Payne, by four votes.

The results as reported by boxes include: Lubbock, Payne 19 votes, Fincher 29; Hurlwood, Payne 0, Fincher 12 votes; Carlisle, Payne 18, Fincher 0; Wolffarth, Payne 12, Fincher 12. The votes cast at Slide, Barton, Foster, and Woodrow could not be determined at midnight Saturday.

SLATON ELECTION

SLATON, April 4.—With one of the hottest school elections ever held in Slaton in several years, Briggs Robertson, Dr. W. E. Payne, and E. R. Legg were elected to positions on the Slaton school board here today. A total of 553 votes were cast.

Robertson was given 268 votes, Dr. Payne 286 and Legg 323, while other opponents were: E. S. Brooks, 255 votes; Forney Henry, 263 and Gilbert Self, 234.

Dr. S. H. Adams was selected as trustee in precinct two, county, by a large majority.

"Duggan For Congress" Urged By Citizens Of Lamb County

Littlefield Leader Is Urged To Make Race In Meetings Held Tuesday; Decision Not Yet Made, Duggan Says

(Special to Avalanche-Journal)

LITTLEFIELD, April 4.—Politically-minded citizens of Lamb county are waiting today. They expect to keep waiting until they hear from Arthur P. Duggan—until, in short, he makes up his mind on a question upon which many other men have pondered.

That question is To run, or not to run?" and the office behind the decision is that of Congressman from the soon-to-be-formed 19th Congressional District of Texas.

The district, composed of Bailey, Lamb, Cochran, Hale, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, King, Knox, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Kent, Stonewall, Haskell, Gaines, Borden, Dawson, Scurry, Motley and Throckmorton counties, will likely be officially formed in the next ten days or two weks. It has already been passed by the House of Representatives at Austin; the Senate and Governor Sterling are expected to approve. When the district is officially formed Littlefield and Lamb county expect Mr. Duggan to be ready to make his decision—and are hoping it will be "to run."

Meetings Held

The Duggan candidacy was proposed here in a brace of mass meetings, held Tuesday noon and Tuesday night. Mr. Duggan was asked to make the race when, in the night meeting, Chairman E. A. Bills recognized J. W. Hale, secretary of the chamber of commerce on the floor.

Citing the fact that Lamb county, second only to Lubbock in number of poll tax receipts in the new district, has never had a member of either the state or national legislatures, Mr. Hale declared that "the honor is due Lamb county." His speech, principal address of the evening, struck popular accord.

Duggan A Leader

Following the meeting, Mr. Duggan said he would consider making the race and would announce his decision soon. He has long been Littlefield's leading citizen, coming to Lamb county 19 years ago as personal representative of Major Geo. W. Littlefield, then owner of the famous Yellowhouse ranch.

He handled the ranch business in pastures, Lamb, Hockley, Cochran all the counties where it controlled and Bailey, and literally 'grew up with the country.' Five years ago when the West Texas Chamber of Commerce cast its eye about for a president, it was Arthur Duggan who met the requirements and was elected to that office. Previous to that time he had been active in civic work here.

He is a graduate of Texas A. and M. college and University of Texas Law school. He is a 32nd degree Mason and a member of the Shrine as well as of the Woodmen of the World, the Rotary club, American legion and Presbyterian church. He still serves on the directorate of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, is honorary vice-president and a director of the Tri-State fair at Amarillo, and has been a member of the school board at Littlefield ever since the district was formed.

Plains Elections

marshal to be elected will take the place of B. H. Howard. P. W. Struve, mayor, has another year to serve.

Eight Men Out

Big Spring has eight men seeking two vacancies, including the outgoing men, W. A. Gilmour and H. Hineman. Other candidates are Roy Freeman, W. L. McCollister, Walter Vastine, J. L. Webb, J. S. Winslow and W. J. Wooster.

Floydada also has plenty of candidates. Last week new ones appeared. For mayor the aspirants are: W. C. Hanna, incumbent; S. B. McCleskey and J. B. Jenkins. For city secretary, tax colector and assessor, G. Scott King. Ruby D. White, Silas E. Duncan and W. B. Hall; for marshall, J. J. Fuller, Bob Smith and W. A. Gound. For alderman to fill five places, R. Fred Brown, W. H. Henderson, T. P. Collins, W. F. Weatherbee, P. M. Price, O. W. Kirk and W. N. Jones. Weatherbee is the only present alderman seeking reelection. Homer Steen withdrew.

Hot Race Likely

Lockney likewise has a hot race. Mayor W. R. Childers is opposed by four, Joe McCollum, Z. T. Riley, W. J. Teaver and Carl McAdams. Conde Davis and Buck Sams would be city marshall and John C. Broyles who is city secretary-treasurer, is opposed by M. R. Snyder. For alderman four men seek three places: E. E. Dyer, Burton Thornton, A. R. Meriwether and H. B. Adams of the Lockney Beacon.

Levelland: T. L. Mullican, president of the chamber of commerce, has come out in opposition to L. N. Graham for the place now held by Mayor Sam Combs. Five men seek two places as commissioners: Frank L. Adams, J. Thompson, C. S. Padgett, R. W. Shannon and C. J. Conatser.

Littlefield likewise had late entrants. Otto Jones, present mayor, is opposed by T. S. Sales. Pat Boone, one of the outgoing commissioners, is seeking reelection while R. E. McCaskill declined to run. Besides Boone other candidates are C. O. "Clint" Griffin, John H. Arnett, Homer Hall and Ed Riley.

Lorenzo will select three aldermen to succeed Will W. Anderson, John Gentry and H. Clay Pearson. Holdover men are W. M. Blakemore and J. G. Leverette and Mayor W. C. Woodward.

O'Donnell has a warm fight. W. E. Singleton, acting mayor and alderman, declined to run. W. S. Cathy is the lone candidate. For alderman, three to be chosen, are: H. C. Hunt, J. Mack Nobles, S. M. Minton and E. D. Hobdy. Besides Singleton, outgoing men are R. C. Carroll and C. L. Davis.

Plainview: Two outgoing aldermen are candidates: J. C. Hooper and D. D. Bowman. C. A. Pierce is also a candidate for one of the two places.

Post: D. C. Williams, outgoing mayor and two commissioners will be succeeded by three others.

Spur: Ned Hogan and two commissioners close their terms this month.

Slaton: T. M. George, mayor who was chosen to fill out the unexpired term of the late W. G. Reese, is opposed by E. Barton. T. A. Worley, Sr., of the first ward, is unopposed for council while Fred B. Tudor and A. C. Hanna are seeking the place in ward 3.

Snyder: east ward, two vacancies: S. J. Casstevens to succeed himself, G. Horace Leath to succeed J. S. Bradery, and M. M. Maule and A. C. Martin. North ward, Dwight Monroe and Watt Glover to succeed H. Lyman Wren; west ward, T. E. Jenkins and W. J. Ely to succeed Earl Brown, recently withdrawn.

Sweetwater: R. M. Simmons, commissioner, seeking reelection is opposed by W. W. Beall for place 1; H. B. Allen, holding place 2, is opposed by C. R. Simmons; F. E. Stevens and George Willis for place 5.

Ralls does not have an election until later in the summer.

In Lamesa Mayor J. R. Lowrie and W. L. Marr and J. R. Williams were chosen a year ago.

Seagraves is to have an election this year, Mayor H. C. Jones retiring.

Lubbock does not have a spring election this year.

Abilene has a hot contest this year.

the man who probably knew him better than any of the rest—the Rev. Father Charles L. O'Donnell, C. S. C. president of Notre Dame university.

Before the hushed congregation, Father O'Donnell said Rockne was the man he was, the man the world now mourned, because he was a "go-giver," a man who made use of all the proper machinery and legitimate methods of modern activity to be essentially not modern at all; to be quite elementary, human and christian, giving himself, spending himself like water, not for himself, but for others.

"Rest In Peace"

He concluded his eulogy with the words, "May his soul and the souls of all the faithful departed, through the mercy of God, rest in peace."

As the last word dropped from Father O'Donnell's lips, Notre Dame's football heroes cracked and cried. There was hardboiled "Hunk" Anderson, Rockne's first assistant coach Roger Kiley, Gus Dorais, Eddie Anderson, and the "four Horsemen"—Crowley, Stuhldreher, Layden and Miller, and others, whose emotion could not be restrained.

As the body was blessed and taken out to the chants of 40 choiristers, an Angelus bell in the belfry of the church tolled its mournful chimes, while overhead, with a touch of irony but meant with the spirit of deepest sympathy, several airplanes saluted.

The services in the church, were conducted from an altar before which Romans stood and worshipped 350 years ago.

At 4 P. M., the cortege of 50 limousines, escorted by a squadron of nine motorcycle policemen, began its final journey to the cemetery.

Thousands stood in massed formation, heads bared, in the little country graveyard where the services, again, were brief and impressive. The Rev. Father Michael Mulcaire, C. S. C., said the final prayers, and gave a final blessing as the body descended.

Floral tributes, sent from everywhere, were in profusion at the Rockne home, the little spare lot was filled with them, and the grave was heaped high.

Rockne's grave lies just off the beaten highway of Portage road and beneath the spreading boughs of an ancient, gnarled oak tree, known as Council Oak. It was beneath this tree that the adventurous missionary De La Salle once talked with the Indians of peace and good will and religion almost 250 years ago.

It is located two and a half miles from the stadium that Rockne and his genius built as a fitting memorial to football, and along the road that Knute, the immigrant Norse boy, arrived to Notre Dame 20 years ago with a worn suitcase in his hand.

HAVANA, April 4. (AP)—Dr. Jose Clemente Vivanco, secretary of the interior, today was appointed secretary of state to succeed Dr. Francisco Maria Fernandez, who resigned to enter the Cuban senate.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. H. Wren of Polytechnic are visiting their son, Gerald Wren and Mrs. Wren of 1622 1-2 10th street.

Doctor and Mrs. D. R. Davis, of Emporia, Kan., arrived here Saturday morning to be week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Jennings, parents of Mrs. Davis, of 2705 Twenty-first street. Mrs. Davis is attending the College of Emporia. Mr. Jennings is executive of the South Plains Area Boy Scout council.

Mrs. C. W. Ratliff and small son, Jimmie, have returned to their home here after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Feete in Muenster. They were accompanied by Miss Evelyn Fette, who will visit here for a while.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus L. Ford and Miss Frances Ford, of Dallas, are spending the week-end at their home here. Miss Ford will return the early part of the week to Dallas where she is a student at S. M. U. Mr. and Mrs. Ford will return to Dallas later but the three will be at home in Lubbock again after the first of June.

Roy S. Watts, mechanical superintendent of the Avalanche-Journal publications, accompanied by J. H. Bennett, linotype operator, left Saturday morning for the South. Mr. Watts will go on to Clearwater, Florida, and join his wife who has been spending the winter months there. Mr. Bennett is to visit in Alabama.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Keeling, Mrs. Keling's mother, Mrs. Kyser, and her brother, Sam Kyser, of Marlin, are visiting the Carlsbad cave in Carlsbad, New Mexico, during the week-end.

Miss Margaret Everheart, teacher in the Plainview schools, is spending the week-end in Lubbock with her sister, Miss Thresa Everheart.

C. H. Christian, of Glovis, New Mexico, is a business visitor here.

Dr. Marvin C. Overton, jr., of Slaton, accompanied his father, Dr. M. C. Overton, of this city, to the Dallas Southern Clinical society which convened in Dallas last week. They have returned to their homes.

Mrs. R. D. Weaver, of 1618 Avenue M, is expected to return the first of the week from a visit in Oklahoma.

Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Bidwell have returned from Kansas City where they were called by the death of Mrs. Bidwell's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Timmons, 2007 15th street, are spending the week-end in Amarillo.

Mrs. E. L. Burks and sons, of Big Spring, are spending the week-end with Mrs. Burks' parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Wilcox. Mrs. James Wilcox, also of Big Spring, is visiting in the F. W. Wilcox home and with her husband, who is in Lubbock.

Tax Increase

funds would be to enact a blanket increase in income levies and to tax those now exempt to make them realize they are not "getting something for nothing."

"It seems to me," he said, "that the surest way to curb governmental extravagance is to increase the number of taxpayers, even though they pay only a small amount into the federal treasury, and to restore some of the disagreeable taxes which tell the voters in unmistakable terms tha the government is spending their money."

"I believe," he added, "that unless something drastic, something unpleasant, something along the lines suggested is done to awaken the average voter to the fact that at the present time we are spending more money than we are receiving, and that we must raise the money from the taxpayers to meet the deficit," we shall see increasing demands for expenditures and an increase in the public debt. This means prolonging the burden of taxation for interest charges and postponing the evil day when settlement must be made."

Babson, Financial Authority, Says Coming Quarter To See New Trade

general are scraping bottom, and should work higher as business improves. Already we have seen a spirited rise in cotton goods, some advance in raw cotton, and moderate gains in wood pulp, steel shapes, tin, turpentine, worsted yarns, rye, sheep, and a few other articles. However, the average of industrial commodities is back to 1915 levels, and still in the bottom zone. This means splendid opportunities to accumulate needed goods at bargain levels. The industrial price shakedown appears well over, even if individual items may show some further weakness.

Agricultural prices outlook for the near-term remains mixed and uncertain. While the average of farm products are going to improve. Announcement of the Farm Board that it will refuse future stabilization purchases of wheat has caused a further slump and with our domestic wheat prices still out of line with world markets, further price readjustments are possible over the near-term, even though ultimately wheat should sell high.

Corn Is Better

Corn is in a better position, with some price recovery probably before the new crop. Irregular markets for barley, oats, and rye are indicated. Cotton is a distinct excetpion. World stocks of American cotton are now very large, most of which are held in the United States. Foreign demand should improve. Domestic consumption of cotton is holding well, and with prospects of reduced acreage this year somewhat higher cotton prices are anticipated. Briefly summarized, the near-term trend of various commodity groups appears about as follows: Industrial materials should be firmer, metals are laying the basis for some price advance; textile price upswing under way; fuel prices working lower; food prices tending to sag; seasonal pressure ond the dairy group, building materials no important change; and livestock expected to push higher.

Money Conditions

Low money rates will be an impetus to spring business and its effect will become pronounced as business moves ahead. Easier mortgage money should also have a helpful effect on building activity Slow liquidation of bank credit is taking place although in some sections frozen loans are still giving difficulty. However, under the leadership of Senator Glass, bankers are rapidly cleaning up the bank failure situation. A number of institutions which closed last year have now re-opened for business. All possible assistance is being given to honestly run banks, large and small. There is no strain in the general credit situation. Money contiues near record low levels and even though some firmness in rates may develop as spring buisness demands for funds increase, there will be sufficient for business purposes.

Outlook for the bond market is good. Since the Soldiers' Bonus Bill was passed, high-grade bonds have moved up to their high for 1931. There are still many bargains available, particularly in good medium-grade bonds. Further strengthening of bond prices is probable over the next three months and the long-term trend is distinctly encouraging. Because of political unsettlement abroad, the foreign bond situation is highly uncertain and speculative. There is a much clearer outlook for domestic issues. Hence the investor is in a stronger pisition if he confines his purchases to domestic bonds. So long as money rates are low, the volume of funds seeking investment in good bonds should continue to expand.

Stock Market

The upward rebound in stock from last December's lows reached a top in the latter part of February, and a moderate reaction followed. Recent stock fluctuations have been within a narrow range and the volume of trading ras been moderate. Occasionally market will experience rallies, but there are still sufficient retarding forces present, such as forthcoming earnings reports for the first quarter, the relatively slow pace of business, the continued cautions investment frame of mind, which will tend to check any violent upswing in stock prices. Undoubtedly many stocks are now at bargain levels, but others are definitely not yet on the bargain counter.

First quarter corporation profits will make dull reading on the whole, yet some of these statements will show stock bargains where management has successfully met the tests of the late stages of the depression period. Hence my advice to keep approximately fifty per cent of stock funds liquid in order to take advantage of the opportunities that will be presented from time to time. It is not a time for wholesale purchases—certainly no time to buy the list—but a time in which to search out opportunities for the major upswing that will ultimately come.

Labor Conditions

The worst of the current period of unemployment is now past and the second should show improvements in total employment and earnings. Seasonal gains in agriculture, construction work, and government. Employment in manufacturing industries will probably fail to increase very much from present levels, but the gains, however, slight, will be helpful to purchasing power.

Since last fall, industrial troubles have averaged fewer than a year ago. In these coming months I expect a sharp increase in the number of strikes as working agreements come up for renewal. Except for this seasonal upturn, however, we may feel assured that the present labor outlook indicates no disturbance of significance to general industry. Living costs should continue low during the second quarter, thus aiding the wage earner and stimulating purchasing power. The trend of wage rates will depend largely on industrial activity.

The next three months should witness further stimulation of sales in many lines. Naturally the best prospects will be found in those sections, and among those industries, where activity is showing the most increase. In the industrial areas of the East and Middlewest, sales should pick up first. The farming sections are still hampered by uncertain agricultural price trends, but as spring planting gets under way, and general outdoor employment improves, some sales stimulation should appear. Especially likely prospects are those industries now showing the greatest gains such as, textiles, steel, and automobiles.

Cheer For Auto Men

Manufacturers should select as special targets for sales efforts the industries with best prospects for the spring months. Among the favored ones are: automobiles and accessories, baking, chemicals, tobacco, women's clothing, electric refrigeration, power and light utilities, food products, manufactured and natural gas, iron, steel, pipe lines, meat packing, road building machinery, sea-food, ship-building, and low priced shoes.

While I do not look for any real boom in business during the coming quarter, I do believe that the following factors will cause somewhat more healthy business, than in the first three months.

Large government expenditures for construction work will help purchasing power, spending of bonus money will stimulate retail trade, low stocks of merchandise on retailers' sheleves will mean heavier orders; growing public realization that retail prices offer excellent bargains; better employment in some basic lines; and most important of all, growing courage of our people as they see evidences of tangible improvement.

Lubbock Business Firms Are Out To Pay Up Debts In City

Twenty Firms To Issue "Pay-Up" Checks Which Must Be Endorsed Fifteen Times Before Bank Payment

Twenty Lubbock business firms Monday will begin the liquidation of $3,000 in debts when each firm issued a $10 check that cannot be cashed at the bank until it will have received 15 endorsements.

The checks are to be used in the payment of debts exclusively. Each person receiving a check in payment of a debt is asked to endorse it and turn it over to some one else as promptly as possible. The banks have agreed not to cash the papers until the agreements are fulfilled.

Operation of the plan in other cities where it has been tried is reported a success.

Firms that will issue "Pap Up" checks are: C. D. Shamburger, Higginbotham - Bartlett Lumber company, Anderson Brothers, Lubbock National bank, Sherrod Brothers, Jackman's, First National bank, B. E. Needles, Ratliff-Rogers, Nislar Hardware company, Hemphill-Wells company, Lubbock County Medical society, Hunt Grocery company, Citizens National bank, West Texas Gas company, Whitworth Tire company, Hub Motor company, Williams Auto Supply company, Foxworth-Gallbraith Lumber company and Avalanche-Journal papers.

Supervisor Of Lubbock Park System Named

C. D. McGeehee Is To Be In Charge Of Improvements To Be Made On Six Units During This Year

IMPROVEMENTS on the six city parks this year will be conducted by C. D. McGeehee, C. H. Mahoney, head of the department of horticulture at the Texas Technological college and chairman of the Lubbock park board, has announced.

"Mr. McGeehee is a graduate of Texas Technological colleeg in horticulture, and for the past two years has been engaged by the state department of agriculture, as greenhouse inspector for this area," Mr Mahoney said.

To Complete McCrummen Park

It is the intention of the park board this summer to complete the McCrummen park, located on 19th street, between the new high school building and Dupre ward school. A well has been dug, and now a fountain is to be installed, walks laid and play ground equipment placed.

The arboreal background of all the parks is to be the evergreens, both shrubs and trees, although many Chinese elms will be planted as shade trees.

At McCrummen park, too, there is to be a large flower garden, something that will not be attempted at the other five parks. The continual high winds and constant upkeep required make flower gardens an expensive undertaking on the South Plains, Mr. Mahoney explained. McCrummen park is to be sodded in Burmuda grass.

To Improve Pioneer Park

Pioneer park, located between T. and U. avenues on Sixth and Seventh streets, this summer is to be planted with many shrubs and shade trees, and, with the exception of the walks, is to be entirely completed. Playground equipment will also be installed in this park.

Hiland park, between K. and L. avenues and 23rd and 24th streets in the Southside addition in the southeastern part of the city, will receive some improvement this summer.

Playground equipment, trees and shrubs will be installed in the Booker T. Washington, negro park, located between East B. and C. avenues and 21st and 22nd streets, this year.

Rolling Prairie park, between W. and X. avenues and 26th and 27th streets wil also be improved.

To Better City Park

Extensive plans for improvement are being made for the site known as the City Park, a 200-acre tract located in northeast Lubbock and the first site purchased by the city. These plans call for water extension and replanting of some of the trees and shrubs.

The Lubbock Lions club has taken over a section of this park and are now planning improvements.

Cost Lower This Year

During the fiscal year, April 1, 1930 to March 31, 1931, the city commission appropriated $9,500 for park improvement. Of this amount $5,000 was spent for land and $4,500 for water system, landscape plans, walks, drives and botanical supplies.

Most of this summer's improvement has been paid out of last year's budget. What has not, will cost about $3,000, Mr. Mahoney said.

Members of the park board are: C. H. Mahoney, chairman, Mrs. C. F. Stubbs, J. B. Maxey and K. N. Clapp.

the city on this spot. It is believed that that Managua lies over the earthquake fault line. Some place within five or ten miles would be more adequate, possibly. Various places such as Leon, Matagalpa, Masaya and Granada have been mentioned as temporary capitals."

Molloy Arrives

Dr. Daniel Murray Molloy of the Rockefeller foundation, health director for Central America, arrived today from Guatemala by plane to aid relief and sanitary work.

The Red Cross has set up its station near the lake and has been doing excellent hospital and relief work, bringing in by Pan-American planes doctors, nurses, foodstuffs and medical supplies. Matthew Hanna, United States minister, has established a temporary legation in a tent at the Campo De Marte and with the help of Colonel Frederick Bradman, marine commandant, has served to make easier the lot of all diplomats stationed here, including especially representatives of Latin-American countries.

Refusing to leave her husband at first, Mrs. Hanna planned to fly to San Salvador today to stay with the American minister and his wife.

In an executive session President Moncada directed that all funds received from outside cources for relief be deposited in the national bank, for use by a special relief committee.

The committee, appointed to direct disposition of the funds includes Archbishop Jose Antonio Lezcano Y Ortega, Jose Dolores Estrada and your correspondent.

The West India Oil company already has contributed $5,000, the president of Panama has sent $3,000 and there have been other large gifts.

The Nicaraguan congress is to meet next Tuesday at Massaya to decide, among other things, the advisability of removing the seat of the government from Managua.

Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show Will Be Opened Monday

Advance Guard Of Cattle To To Displayed At Plainview Annual Event Reaches Barns

PLAINVIEW, April 4—Advance guard of the hundreds of cattle that will be on exhibition here at the fourth annual Texas Panhandle-Plains Dairy show that opens Monday, were here today and were being taken to the barns of the association in the south part of town in anticipation of a record showing next week. The show continues through April 9.

Thousands of farmers, dairymen, cattlemen, 4-H club boys and girls, college students and others connected with the livestock industry in 54 counties of West Texas are expected here during the four days, Monday to Thursday.

Tests Start Sunday

Sunday will see the preliminary tests for the production contest. There will also be a lot of cattle moved in for the show.

Besides the usual displays for the three principal divisions, Jersey, Holstein and Herefords, there will be many attractions.

One new feature is a cheese making show, under the direction of Miss Julia Kelley, home demonstration agent and show superintendent. More than 100 exhibits, made on farms of the Panhandle-Plains area by farm women, are expected to be shown here. Judges will be John W. Luker, dairy husbandry man for Texas A. & M.; R. M. Renner, dairy manufacturing department head at Texas Technological college, Lubbock, and Miss Zetha McInnis, home industries specialist for the A. & M. extension service. Fifteen counties are expected to have entries.

Will Hold Banquet

Monday night former students of A. & M. will hold a banquet and invitations have been sent to about 350 former students and graduates on the Plains. More than 100 are expected for the banquet.

The official proration contest will be concluded Monday. All 4-H cattle judging work begins Monday as does the vocational agriculture judging. Ray C. Mowery and his boys from Texas Tech, are in charge of this work.

Tuesday the official judging of Guernsey cattle begins. Also the dairy calf show judging and the announcement of winners in the production contest will be Tuesday.

Jersey judging starts at 1 p. m. This covers the entire division.

Tuesday night the show queen will be crowned and she will be attended by her retinue of ladies in waiting, one from each county. The coronation will climax a dairy pageant. Hal C. Worth is pageant director.

Wednesday's program includes the Holstein-Friesian judging in the morning and the Jersey cattle judging in the afternoon.

Association to Meet

The night program will be featured by the annual banquet of the exhibitors and officials and the annual meeting of the Panhandle-Plains Dairy association. S. J. Payne, Tulia, is the president.

Thursday is the closing day, with the annual parade in the morning and the annual sale in the afternoon. Twenty-four Jerseys, 18 cows and six bulls, are entered for the sale.

Prizes will exceed $6,500. Plainview business men have raised the money.

Some of the leading men in the cattle business in Texas are expected. Fred Newport, Itasca, president of the Texas Jersey Cattle club will attend, as will D. T. Simmons, Fort Worth, secretary and R. R. Walker, Amarillo, for the American Jersey Cattle club. Mr. Newport manages the Hooks farm near Itasca. Jack Shelton, manager of the Luling Foundation farms, at Luling, Texas, also is expected.

S. A. Guy, of San Antonio, formerly of Crosbyton, and said to be the "daddy" of the Jersey business on the Plains, has promised Dr. S. J. Underwood to be here. He started the old Cap Rock Dairy farm just west of Crosbyton.

Cattle Given Tests

Nearly 600 head of cattle belonging to members of the association were given tuberculosis tests by Dr. J. B. Hodges of Lubbock and Dr. J. C. Ross of Plainview. Tests were made in Hale, Floyd, Dawson, Swisher, Lubbock, Briscoe, Cottle and Terry counties. Animals entered in the show were tested free. Guernsey breeders have entered a large number. Among them are: Grout and Bohr, Panhandle; Louis Koehler, Groom; George Shoop, Groom; E. B. Carroll, Panhandle; George P. Group, Panhandle; C. H. Dunaway, Panhandle and John Apel, Jr., Panhandle.

To Give Lecture

A lecture on dairy products will be given at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning by a member of the extension service staff.

Wednesday night the American legion post here will sponsor a wrestling match between Cal Farley, Amarillo business man and A. F. champion, and Billy Londos, Oklahoma City Greek.

Officials of the fourth annual show are: S. J. Payne, Tulia, president; J. E. Rigler, Plainview, vice-president; D. F. Eaton, Lubbock, honorary vice-president; Oscar Stansell, Floydada, honorary vice-president; Grady Shipp, Plainview, secretary-manager; Roy B. Davis, Plainview, general superintendent.

Directors

Directors are R. C. Reed, Stanton; Charles Franz, Turkey; H. B. Sales, Amarillo; E. R. Duke, Channing; Fred Plittner, Hereford; W. F. Evans, Lamesa; S. R. Turner, Silverton; G. L. Boykin, Clarendon; J. L. Blackman, Lubbock; W. T. Magee, Levelland; B. F. Hobson, Paducah; John Harper, Wellington; R. O. Dunkle, Hereford; E. W. Thomas, Memphis; Charles B. Martin, Tulia; Joe Vaughn, Tulia; Geo. P. Groat, Panhandle; W. E. Hester, O'Donnell; P. C. Bennett, Amarillo.

Thomas, Memphis; Official Tester, Ralph Thomas, Pampa; Dairy Calf Club Show, E. D. Duke, Channing; Dairy Cattle judging contests, R. C. Mowery, Lubbock; Dairy Products department, Mrs. Julia Kelley, Plainview.

J. W. Ridgeway, manager of Mistletoe Creameries, Fort Worth, will judge the cattle.

Bid Received On Decorating

Single Official Decorator To Be Selected For Both Retail Merchants And WTCC Conventions Here

First bid for decorating Lubbock for the annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce and Texas Retail Merchants association conventions here was received Saturday, an attache of the Lubbock Retail Merchants association said.

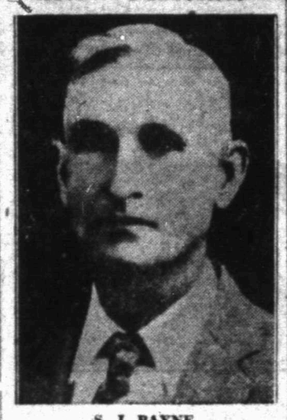

Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and Retail Merchants association committees directing arrangements for the two assemblies, which will be May 14-15-16 and May 25-26-27 respectively, met Saturday morning at chamber of commerce offices and decided to select a single official decorator for the two conventions.

The committees specified that bids were to be for decoration of the city for both meetings, and decorators submitting bids were to be required to sign an agreement that they would charge a specified price for decorating each store front with a specified amount of material.

The agreement of bidding decorators also was to include a pledge that no business would be solicited here in connection with the two conventions if that decorator was not awarded the contract.

Major Rutherford To Be Escort For War Mothers

Major R. C. Rutherford, U. S. A. stationed at Abilene for the past 18 months as instructor for the 131st Field Artillery of the Texas National Guard, has accepted appointment as second in command of army officers serving as escorts to American Gold Star mothers who will visit the graves of their sons on the battlefields of France.

Major Rutherford sails April 6 from New York for France. Headquarters will be in Paris and the service is expected to continue for six or eight months.

Units of the regiment are located in Lubbock, Plainview, Wichita Falls Decatur and Jacksboro, as well as Abilene, regimental headquarters. Major Rutherford has served two terms as regimental instructor, a four year term and then assignment to the field artillery staff and command school at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. He returned to Abilene 18 months ago.

Major Rutherford visited Lubbock recently, before leaving for New York.

A dam to be constructed in the British West Indies will have a retaining capacity of 1,050,000,000 gallons of water.

Lions Preparing To Meet In Annual Session This Month

CLARENDON, April 4. (AP)—Lions in each of the five districts of Texas are centering attention on candidates for the governor of their district, in preparation for elections that will be held on the last day of the state convention to be held at Port Arthur, April 27 and 28.

"Plans are almost completed for making the 1931 convention the best in Texas Lionism, with a program of merit and varied entertainment," Mr. Braswell said. Speakers, he said, will include International President Earle V. Hodges of New York; Julien C. Hyer, Fort Worth, first vice-president, who will be elevated to president at the international convention in Toronto July 14-17, and Gov. Ross S. Sterling, a new member of the Austin Lions club.

MAKE 100 PER CENT

LOCKNEY — (Staff Special)—George Newman and V. A. Bullman, postal clerks here, during a recent test by T. B. Vawter, inspector, made 100 percent in their examinations. In a 21-minute test Newman averaged 38 pieces of mail without an error and in a 38-minute test Bullman averages 21 pieces without a mistake.

Artist Course Number Set At Tech April 16

Maurice Dumesnil To Appear In Last Of Five Presentations On Texas Tech Program This Year

The last of the five artist course numbers at Texas Technological college, Maurice Dumesnil, international French pianist, will be presented at the Tech gym April 16. This will be his first visit to Lubbock.

Receiving the major portion of his musical education from the Hungarian composer, Emmanuel Moor in Lausanne, Switzerland, he has appeared with success as soloist with nearly all the leading orchestras on the continent. He appeared six times in one year with one company, the Madrid Philharmonic society.

Dumesnil has appeared in numerous concerts in all parts of Europe, South America and North America. He comes to Tech under the management of the Horner-Witte Concert bureau of Kansas City.

Tickets for the performance may be obtained from Professor W. R. Waghorne, head of the Tech music department, or from the business office of the college. Reserve seat tickets will be on sale as well as balcony tickets.

Rural Club Attendance Is Good During Last Month

Eighty-three per cent of the rural club women of Lubbock county attended their respective clubs during March, records of home demonstration work show, according to Miss Ruth Stockton, county home demonstration agent.

For March, Miss Stockton reported, 146 out of the 175 women enrolled in rural clubs, attended meetings.

One new club was reported, the Liberty club, in the Liberty community. This community has had a girl's club for some time but the women have not heretofore been organized.

Mrs. A. J. Ammons was chosen president and Mrs. C. H. Thummell secretary. The group organized on March 19.

BRAY FOOL, BRAY

When you get up in the morning
Feeling blue and got the grouch,
Because your clothes are dirty,
And the knees are bagging out.

Please listen while I tell you
For there's nothing else to say,
If you want them done up spink and span
Just take them down to BRAY.

Now, BRAY, you see's a tailor,
And he has a tale to tell,
As how he has a tailor shop
And is doing pretty well;

But BRAY is not a bragging
Yet he does the best he can,
He's making all the men look good,
Except his wife's old man.

Now don't forget the number,
It's laid down in the book,
And all the wires in this town,
Are running to his nook.

So if you cannot bring your clothes,
Try and get BRAY on the line,
And he will call there for them,
At any old time.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

LUBBOCK, TEXAS.
APRIL 5, 1931

A LETTER OF INTEREST TO THE WOMEN OF LUBBOCK

Dear Madam:

Would you allow a plumber to repair your radio, or a carpenter to give you medical treatments, just because you could save a few cents at the present time by doing so? We hardly think your answer would be Yes.

Would you allow a contractor to build your new home with second hand lumber or other inferior materials, or the baker to substitute old bread for fresh at the same price? We hardly think your answer would be Yes.

Would you allow a Beautician, either experienced or inexperienced to use harmful materials on your hair? We the undersigned Beauty Shoppe owners and managers of your city wish to call your attention that never has there been a time when as much depends on your cooperation to uphold the high standard of the Art of Permanent Waving to give you full protection from being misled by those who would have you believe they are giving you the best at prices that would not pay for the supplies alone of the best quality. Then why not support and stand by your favorite operator that has proven to you in the past that she is anxiols to give you the very best her skill enables her. When you stop to think of the risk it is a costly experiment. There are fakes in all professions, ours is no exception to the rule.

Thanking you, we are

"Shoulder To Shoulder" Slogan Of W.T.C.C. Convention

Preparations Are Started For Meeting

Chairmen Of Conferences On Subjects Appointed; Walter Cline Head Of Committee On Convention

(Special to The Avalanche-Journal)
STAMFORD, April 4.— "Shoulder to Shoulder" will be the general theme of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in Lubbock during the middle of May. The various items on the program will point to that idea—all West Texas "shoulder to shoulder" for the best interest of the region. This slogan has been officially adopted by the officials of the WTCC and also by the convention work committee headed by Walter D. Cline of Wichita Falls.

Group Conference Chairmen Selected For Sessions

STAMFORD, April 4. (Special)— Acceptance of appointment as chairman of group conference committees for the thirteenth annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in Lubbock, May 14, 15, and 16, have been received at the organization's headquarters here from Price Campbell, Abilene, Jas. M. North, Fort Worth; Frank P. Holland, Dallas, and H. L. Kirney, El Paso.

Mr. Campbell will be chairman of the industrial development group; North of the agricultural conference; Hofland of the feeder-breeder section and Birney will direct the highway division. Specialists on the subjects to be considered in each of the conferences will be secured to address the meetings and all discussions of th needs of West Texas in connection with the matters under consideration, will be had in the meetings and from the actions taken there the program of the WTCC for the next year will be formed.

General Business Group For Convention Named

STAMFORD, April 4.(Special)— Details of the arrangements for the general business plan of the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in Lubbock, May 14, 15, and 16, are being rapidly worked out under direction of the convention work committee headed by Walter D. Cline of Wichita Falls.

This group, which in addition to Cline, will include Clifford B. Jones, Spur; A. P. Duggan, Littlefield; Chester Harrison, Brownwood; J. D. Hamlin, Farwell, and Wilbur C. Hawk, Amarillo, will organize and plan the work of the convention; schedule the events and speakers on the general convention program, and pass on all items needing attention in connection with the affair. General Manager D. A. Bandeen is working in close connection with the Cline committee.

Arranging Program

The convention work committee is arranging the program to include at least six group conferences on subjects of vital interest to West Texas. Each of these sections will be under the direct supervision and direction of a special committee, working with the general arrangement group and the actions, recommendations and reports from these group conferences will be presented to the general sessions of the convention through the convention work committee.

Mr. Cline has advised WTCC headquarters here that he is much interested in the coming convention and says that he plans to give his duties as chairman of the important convention work committee, all time and thought necessary and he is expecting that each of the other members will do the same.

Dallas Delegation To Come In Special Train

STAMFORD, April 4. (Special)— The delegation from Dallas to the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in Lubbock, May 14, 15, and 16, will make the trip on a special train, according to information received by D. A. Bandeen, WTCC general manager, from J. Ben Critz, vice-president and general manager of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

"We expect to bring a large delegation to your Lubbock meeting," Critz says, "and are anxious to do anything we possibly can to help make your convention a success."

A number of other cities with connections and interests in West Texas are expected to send special trains to the Lubbock convention.

Pecans Do Not Do Well On Plains, Says Mahoney

The chief reason why pecans are not a profitable nut crop for the South Plains is the dry atmospheric conditions which dries up the pollen from the trees before it has time to pollenize, according to C. H. Mahoney, of the horticulture department of the school of agriculture at Texas Technological college here.

Black walnuts, Mr. Mahoney explains, are a much more satisfactory nut crop. Another good crop is the Japanese Hart-Nut, something new and much like the walnut. One very satisfactory nut tree is black walnut grafted into a "paper shell" that makes it possible to easily break the shell and pick out the meat.

Walnuts are slow of growth, it taking about six or seven years for the trees to bear in satisfactory quantities. These trees also make an ornamental tree for the home.

Farmers have so far had unsatisfactory results with pecans according to Mr. Mahoney. They have not been the type of nut tree that will do well on the plains.

"Every farm should have some nut trees on it," Mr. Mahoney said. "On the whole, I think the walnut trees are the best money among nut trees."

Deep Rock Well In Andrews County Has Been Cleaned Out

Deep Rock Oil company's No. 1 Kuykendall, in Andrews county, has been cleaned out to within 60 feet of the total depth and is continuing to head into the pits. No new estimates of the production are available but after flowing by heads every six or seven hours for an estimated production of 150 to 200 barrels daily, a 24 hour check showed 42 barrels. Bottom was 4,658 feet and after being plugged back to 4,565 feet the hole was shot with 600 quarts of nitro at 4,236 to 4,506 feet. When cleaned out the well is expected to make from 125 to 150 barrels daily.

South Plains Would Receive Over Million

Refunds Under Highway Bond Issue Plan Would Return About $1,500,000 To Counties Of Division No. 5

Slightly less than $1,500,000 would be paid back to 12 out of the 23 counties comprising division No. 5 of the state highway department, known as the South Plains division, if the proposed state highway financing plan and bond issue constitutional amendment is adopted by the legislature, check of figures announced by the statewide citizens' good road committee, shows.

Hale county leads the district with a refund of in excess of $600,000. Hall is second with over $390,000 and Lubbock with $197,000 is third.

Eleven counties, Andrews, Castro, Cochran, Dawson, Floyd, Gaines, King, Swisher, Lynn, Terry and Yoakum, would not receive any refunds, under present work. However, two of these counties, Andrews and Gaines, have voted $200,000 and $250,000 bonds and these no doubt would be included in the refund.

Counties affected by the program, in the event the bond issue carries in the state, with the probable refunds, include: Bailey, $12,615; Briscoe, $32,019; Crosby, $42,203; Dickens, $43,117; Garza, $14,779; Hale, $604,205; Hall, $394,703; Hockley, $4,933; Lamb, $61,599; Lubbock, $197,510; Motley, $83,366; Parmer, $6,168.

Other counties in this area include: Borden, none; Martin, $49,412; Scurry, $108,066; Howard, $157,592.

Ed Stovall Charged With Possession Of Beer Here

A charge of possession of beer has been filed against Ed Stovall in the court of Justice of the Peace H. K. Porter.

A hundred bottles of beer and a quantity of empty bottles were confiscated late Friday night in a raid, in which Stovall was arrested, on a house in the 400 block of Avenue L, according to members of the sheriff's department.

Livestock

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK
KANSAS CITY, April 4 (AP)—Curtailed receipts of cattle around the eleven market circuit this week failed to offset the depressing influence of a sluggish dressed beef trade. Fed steers and yearlings were generally steady to 25c lower as compared with a week ago with good to choice heavy steers closing mostly 50 lower. Firm to unevenly higher rates, however, prevailed on the limited supply of slaughter cows and plain butcher heifers. Early in the week Chicago secured 10.75 for choice medium weight and heavy steers. The bulk of fed steers at river markets cashed from 7.00 to 8.75 with occasional choice loads upward to 10.00. Aggregate receipts estimated at 182,500 were 35,000 short of last week.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK
FORT WORTH, April 4. (AP)—Hogs, 800 including 484 directs. No rail hogs offered; truck hogs steady to be higher; truck top 8.00; better grades light and medium weight truck hogs 7.90 to 8.00; few packing sows up to 6.25 or steady.

Cattle 650, including 100 calves. Today's trade nominal. For week: Slaughter steers generally steady; slaughter yearlings around half dollar lower; butcher cows, low cutters and bulls fully steady; slaughter calves 25 to 50c lower; mostly at full decline, stock cattle unchanged. Week's top: Fed steers 8.25, fed yearlings 8.25, few fat cows up to 5.25, heavy fat calves 7.00; light weight stock steer yearlings 8.25; choice stock stor calves 6.00; bulk prices: Slaughter steers 5.25 to 6.50; better grades fat yearlings 7.00 to 7.50; butcher cows 3.25 to 3.75; low cutters 2.25 to 3.75; heavy slaughter calves 6.00 down; good stock calves and yearlings 7.25-8.00.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN
FORT WORTH, April 4. (AP)—The end of the week on the Fort Worth cash grain, improved demand.

Quotations, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:
Wheat No. 1 hard of any protein 79 3-4 to 81.
Oats No. 2 red 42 to 43; No. 3 white, delivered Texas group one points 41-42.
Barley No. 3 86 to 87.
Sorghums No. 2 milo per 100 pounds 1.27 to 1.30; No. 3 Kaffir 1.23 to 1.24.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, April 4. (AP) Surprisingly broad export business from North America put wheat up with a rush today, 3 cents a bushel. The rise was general for all new crop deliveries, and the close was at the topmost level reached. Overseas purchases from Canada totaling 4 million bushels a day for the last four business day were announced, and predictions were made that Europe would need plenty of wheat the next three months especially, with Asiatic buying also large enough to be a factor.

Wheat finished strong, unchanged to 3 cents up, corn 1 3-8 to 2 1-3 advanced, oats 3-8 to 7-8 higher, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 7 cents.

Prices Show General Improvement On Market Though Sales Are Very Small

BY JOHN L. COOLEY,
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, April 4. (AP)—For a session interspersed between two holidays, stocks did well today.

Although many traders were absent for an extended wek-end, those who stayed were willing to cover part of their short commitments and prices showed general improvement. Sales totaled only 900,000 shares, the smallest Saturday turnover since the end of January.

Except that the technical position favored a rally, there was little to account for an upturn. Reports from business emphasized the irregular drift of industrial activity. Steel mill operations in the Youngstown district next week will be down 3 points to 45 per cent of capacity, the second successive weekly decline.

Scott Ends Ninth Year As Filling Station Operator

Oldest continuous operator of a filling station and garage and dealer in gas and oils, is the record of which G. W. Scott, of Scott's Garage, 1116-20 Main street, claims. Mr. Scott has been at his present location for three years but opened his garage and filling station nine years ago Saturday. He has a 24-hour a day service plan.

"I came here about 11 years ago from Waco," said Mr. Scott. "After two years in a filling station I opened a gas and oil station with a curb pump. Later I added the garage work. I have six places in Lubbock, four of which I operate and two that I lease. I have another location where I give garage service the same as I do here; the others are oil and gas stations."

The Main street garage has a storage department, washing, greasing, and service work, tires and accessories and also repair work. Associated with him are his sons, G. W., Jr., and T. Q. There are ten employes.

I. T. U. TO MEET

Regular meeting of the International Typographical Union local 888 will be held Sunday afternoon, Tom H. Carter, president, announces. W. C. Edwards is secretary. Annual election of officers for the coming year is to be held.

Tech May Get Membership In National Body

Application Of Extension Department To Be Taken Up By University Association At Meeting In May

Election of the extension department of Texas Technological college to membership in the National Extension association when it meets at Boulder, Colo., May 11, 12, 13 and 14, is expected if members of the national group follow out the recommendations of the executive committee of the organization.

Recently that group, according to W. S. Bittner, of the University of Indiana, Bloomington, secretary, approved the application of the local school for membership. A vote by mail is now being taken among the members and it is expected the results will have been completed by the time of the convention.

Texas Holds Membership

The University of Texas is the only other Texas school of higher learning that holds a membership, according to J. F. McDonald, head of the department here. "Dean Thomas H. Shelby of the University of Texas, wrote a strong letter to officials of the association, urging them to admit Texas Technological college into membership," Mr. McDonald said.

When the application of the local school was received, Dean Paul Voght, of the University of Oklahoma, was named as special investigator to visit the Lubbock school. He did so and went carefully over the plant and made his report in favor of giving Tech a membership.

Elmore Peterson, of the University of Colorado at Boulder, is president of the association. It is composed of extension departments of most of the larger colleges and universities in the United States. Teachers colleges have a separate group of their own.

Final Announcement Made Saturday Of Awards In Lubbock County Meet

Due to bad weather during the Lubbock county interscholastic meet held here March 27 and 28, the full awards offered the winning schools could not be announced until Saturday night, according to Sam Chatham, general director of the event, and Miss Mae Murfee, county superintendent.

April Opportunity Month

FREE EXAMINATION

It is better to spend money for peace than for war. It is good business to have a health examination each year. Your battery has served you through the winter and now is the time for you to get a free battery examination. Your battery needs seven inspections to preserve and prolong its life.
1st—Test battery with hydrometer.
2nd—Add approved water if needed.
3rd—Clean top and terminal posts.
4th—Tighten and grease terminals.
5th—Inspect and check cables.
6th—Tighten hold down clamps.
7th—Check generator charging rate.

There are seven battery dealers in Lubbock who have all agreed to give every car owner the above service . . . with only one idea in mind—that is to eliminate battery trouble that we know you will have if you neglect to take advantage of this free offer.—Adv.

"Cleanup" Cup Received Here

Trophy Won By Lubbock During National Campaign Will Be Shown During Club Meetings Here This Week

A 12-inch silver loving cup awarded Lubbock as first city in Texas in a 1930 cleanup and paintup campaign has been received here and will be shown at club meetings this week.

The national contest bureau at New York City notified the chamber of commerce March 19 that Lubbock had won the Texas trophy. Scorings were based on progress in increasing cleanliness and attractiveness of the competing cities during the camapign, which was conducted here from April 28 through May 10.

Members of service clubs will view the cup at their luncheon meeting this week, if present plans are carried out, and the trophy subsequently will be exhibited at meetings of women's clubs, in public schools, and before other organizations which participated in the cleanup program here.

Club Boy's Calf Is Worth Twice As Much As His Dad's

ABILENE, April 4—(Special)—Horace Coffman, vocational agricultural pupil of Abilene, was given a calf by his father. He put it on feed while other calves in the herd were left on pasture as had always been the practice on the farm.

Horace's calf will be ready for market in a few days and is worth twice as much as the other calves on the home farm but the added cost has been only approximately half of the increased value.

Light Rates Are Reduced In Tahoka For Schools System

TAHOKA, April 4.—(Special)—Light and power rates to the local public schools have been given a radical cut by the Texas Utilities company, the new rate being three cents per kilowat hour. Also, all schools will be charged as if on one meter, whereas in the past each building has been billed separately.

The reduction was announced by Judge I. R. Kelso, St. Louis, president of Texas Utilities company.

CHILDREN START FIRE

BROWNFIELD — (Special)—Children playing with matches in the Carl Lewis garage here, started a fire that almost destroyed the building and contents. Mrs. Lewis, rural mail carrier, was out on her route. A washing machine was destroyed. The fire department prevented complete destruction of the building.

MOVES TO LEVELLAND

LEVELLAND, (Staff Special)—O. C. Richards, who came here recently from Tahoka and built a brick service station on the square, has moved his family here. Mr. Richards will operate Richard's Service station.

DR. MYERS

Doctor Myers' Daily Column On Child Welfare

BY GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

ADVICE TO MOTHERS

"DEAR DR. MYERS: It is with the greatest interest and thankfulness to you that I read your column each evening. In response to your request I am submitting a little story, as told by my six-year-old son.

"Once upon a time there was a little boy and girl, and they were sliding on sleds, and they crashed into a tree. They did not like it, so they never went sliding again, and finally one day they went skating and they fell down, and they did not like that, either, and they never tried skating again until they got big. Then they tried to ski, and they never had a wreck. Then they played with their tricycles and tipped over a few times, but they did not care. Then they took their erector sets and made a lot of nice things. Then they took their modeling clay, and made a whole bunch of aeroplanes. That's the end of the story."

"Does this picture my boy?—all action, seldom quiet, fond of bright colors, motion and gayety. Since a tiny boy he has used his hands to build with blocks and model with clay. One week it will be a fleet of ships that he models; the next it will be areoplanes, or cars, or gas stations. It is only lately that he has had the patience to sit through a story. I have recently bought other books which he is now beginning to enjoy. Being an only child, I have allowed him to have his playmates here whenever they wish to come, and they range in age from four to twelve. He is learning to play nicely with other children, though, of course, they occasionally have a spat, but soon forget. I try to see that he gets enough rest, but my problem has been to see that he eats his proper food, though he does like his cod liver oil, strange to say, and even wants it in the summer time. But—he is so poky at the table and in his dressing. I have had to resort to timing his eating, giving him a reasonable time to chew his food well. This works well when we are alone, but as I have a great number of out-of-town guests this procedure is sometimes embarrassing.

"I do thank you for your suggestions of punishment by sitting in a chair—timing by the clock. My boy sits quietly then, watching the clock, to tell me when the time is up. I have had a great deal of illness in the last few years, having had several operations, but at present I am doing every bit of my own housework and some church work. Sometimes when I feel overburdened with work and responsibility, I find it hard to

D. F. D., Las Vivarachas And Sans Souci Members Are To Meet For Breakfasts This Morning Here

Members of three social clubs of Texas Technological college composed of young women students are to attend Easter breakfasts this morning. These clubs are Las Vivarachas, Sans Souci and the D. F. D.

Members of Las Vivarachas club plan to attend an Easter breakfast at Hotel Lubbock this morning at 8:30 o'clock. Places are to be marked by clever cards and spring flowers are to be on the table.

Following the breakfast, the girls are to attend services at the First Methodist church in a unit.

Those who expect to be present are Misses Milbria Pirtle, Genevieve Deckert, Maxine Gwin, Lesey Bullock, Patti Hopping, Kathleen Conrad, Sue Brown, Louise Arrington, Opal Palmer, Louise Garrison, Clara Mae Bishop, Lorene Cassel, Lella Bachelor, Ada Ruth May, Ester Morrison, Loraine Gable, Mary Evelyn Woodson and Eileen Graves.

Miss Melba Mae Tatom, who is a student at C. I. A., Denton, and who is spending the holidays here, is to be a special guest for the breakfast.

Saturday evening the club members attended a slumber party in the home of Miss Hopping at 2429 19th street.

Two Are Hostesses

Misses Lois Graves and Cornelia McCanne are to be hostesses to members of the Sans Souci club with a nine o'clock breakfast this morning at the Hilton hotel.

Members of the club who are expected to be in attendance include Misses Mary Allen, Effie Smith, Dorothy Rushing, Catherine Mitchell, Frances Snyder, Virginia Bacon, Blanche Bradley, Mary Lee

Mr. And Mrs. Lorenz Ellis Entertain La Novia Society

Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz Ellis, 1901 24th street, were hosts to members of La Novia Bridge club in their home Friday evening. The Easter theme was emphasized in table appointments and in a light refreshment course.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Griffith made high score for club members, and Mr. and Mrs. John D. Mitchell made high score for guests. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Benson, jr., and Mrs. Dwight Hale.

Parties Honor Miss S. Bryan Who Is To Wed

Marriage Of Miss Nancy E. Collier And C. L. Adams, jr., Is Announced; Former Tech Students Marry

BRIDES and brides-to-be are holding much of society's interest during the Easter season.

During the last week parties have been given as courtesies to Miss Sue Bryan, who is to be married to Garvice Dockray of Hobbs, N. M., next Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bryan, 2010 Main street. Miss Bryan's approaching marriage was announced on March 26 at a bridge party given by Mrs. J. B. Edwards.

Since then there has been a series of arts degree in sociology from party given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Bruce Bryan and her sister, Miss Elnorna Leslie, at the W. C. Bryan residence, 1904 Main street.

Breakfast Served

Last Sunday morning a breakfast was served in Miss Bryan's honor with Misses Johnnye Gilkerson and Blanche Bacon and Mrs. Charles Bacon as hostesses. This was followed by a forty-two party given Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. H. W. Stanton and Mrs. Walker Stanton. On Thursday at 1 o'clock a luncheon was served with Miss Bryan as honoree and hostesses on this occasion were Misses Zella Riegel and Sylva Wilson.

Rev. J. O. Haymes, pastor of the First Methodist church, is to officiate at the marriage of Miss Bryan and Mr. Dockray next Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Invitations have been sent to a number of friends of the young couple to be in attendance at that time.

Attendants Named

Miss Elnorna Leslie is to play the nuptial musical numbers and Mrs. Richard L. Douglas is to sing preceding the ceremony. The bride-elect has chosen her sister-in-law, Mrs. C. L. Bryan, of Dallas, to be matron of honor and the groom's sister, Miss Willie Pearl Dockray, is to be maid of honor. His brother, Thord Dockray, is to be best man.

The bride-elect is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bryan. She has lived in Lubbock at intervals since she was small, returning here several years ago when the Bryans made Lubbock their permanent home. She holds a bachelor f arts degree in sociology from Southern Methodist University at Dallas and a bachelor of arts in mathematics from Texas Technological college here. She has been teaching in the Lubbock schools since her graduation from the latter institution, where she is a member of Las Chaparritas social club.

Parents Live Here

Mr. Dockray, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Dockray of 32nd street, is a former student of Texas University at Austin and of Texas Technological college. He is to arrived in Lubbock on Friday from Hobbs where he has been in the insurance business for several months.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Bryan and their daughter, Virginia, are to arrive Thursday from Dallas for the wedding.

Four tables were arranged for bridge Saturday afternoon when Mrs. Bryan and Miss Leslie entertained for Miss Bryan. Several additional guests called during the tea hour.

Two Colors Chosen

Yellow and pink were featured in the decorations and refreshments and were repeated in the table appointments. Cut favors at the tables were potted pink tulips. Favors were given to the honoree and the one scoring high in the games.

Bridge guests were Misses Bryan, Felice and Willie Pearl Dockray, Elika Peters, Gladys Pryor, Moselle Gable, Zella Riegel, Glenys Honey, Mary Lou Robertson, and Mesdames J. B. Edwards, R. W. Wright, Walker Stanton, Frank Griffith, W. D. Benson, jr., Royce Waters and V. R. Dockray.

Tea guests were Mrs. J. H. Bryan, Mrs. H. W. Stanton, Mrs. Jerome Merrell, Misses Blanche Bean and

Detailed Program For Third Annual P-TA Meeting Is Released; Lubbock Women Are To Go To Lamesa

MRS. T. A. WHITE

Convention To Open On Wednesday For Three Days

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Woman's Editor

ANTICIPATING the third annual conference of the fourteenth district, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, a program has been released by Mrs. A. C. Surman, of Post, president. The conference is to open Wednesday noon in Lamesa to continue through Friday.

Every school in Lubbock is planning to send at least one delegate to the conference and it is expected that a larger delegation will attend the Thursday meeting.

Mrs. T. A. White, of this city, is recording secretary for the district and expects to attend all of the sessions. Mrs. W. W. Royalty, president of the Lubbock P.-T. A. council, is to go on Wednesday in time for a luncheon to be served for the board of managers, honoring state and district officers in attendance at the meeting. This luncheon will follow the pre-convention board meeting, which is called for 11 o'clock at the Lamesa Methodist church.

Mrs. H. F. Godeke, also of Lubbock, is to conduct a high school conference at the Lamesa sessions.

Theme Chosen

"The New World Challenge to Parents and Teachers" has been chosen as the general theme for this convention, which will deal with subjects of interest to patrons and teachers in the schools. All day sessions are to be conducted in the Methodist church and evening sessions will be in the High school auditorium. Delegates are to register between 1 and 2 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon and during that hour they are to inspect scrap books and other exhibits which are to be sent in.

Mrs. Surman will preside at the general meetings, although vice-presidents and others will preside while reports are heard. These presiding officers are to be the following: County reports—Lamb, Bailey, Cochran and Hockley, Mrs. Lester LaGrange, Amherst; Fisher, Kent and Dickens, Mrs. J. B. Day, Rotan; Crosby, Lynn, Lubbock and Garza, Mrs. L. C. Odom, Slaton; Jones and Stonewall, Mrs. W. J. Bryant, Hamlin; Scurry and Borden, Mrs. J. C. Dorward, Snyder; Dawson, Terry, Yoakum and Gaines, Mrs. Matt McCall, Lamesa; Hale, Floyd, Motley and Cottle, Mrs. C. B. Jackson, Plainview.

City councils—Lubbock, Mrs. W. W. Royalty; Plainview, Mrs. N. A. Wheeler; county councils—Lamb, Mrs. R. E. McCaskill, Littlefield, and Terry, Mrs. Britt Claire, Brownfield.

Following games and an egg hunt, ice cream and birthday cake were served to Marjorie Humphreys, Jewel Dean Fields, Chalones Whitsere, Florence Smith, Christine White, Charalee Norman, Barbara Fay McKinley and Tommy Harrison. Mrs. Abshier was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. S. P. McKinley.

Chinese Motif Is Featured In Decorations For College Ball

Chinese Characters Are In Playlet, Written By James Atcheson, And Presented During Evening

Students in the Architectural society of the Engineering school, Texas Technological college, were hosts at their second annual costume ball Saturday evening in the basement of the engineering building.

The Chinese motif was featured in decorations. Long snakes, colorfully painted, extended around the four walls, forming the base of the decorations. Above the snakes were painted numerous scenes depicting life in China, some characters presenting a vein of humor. The room was softly lighted in Chinese lanterns and colorful paintings surrounded the orchestra pit.

Many guests attended costumed in Chinese apparel.

Playlet Given

Featuring the entertainment was a playlet "The Romance of Kong See", (The Cracked Willow Plate), written and directed by James Atcheson, vice-president of the Architectural society. Character roles were taken by Culver Hill, Miss Mary Lois Gamel, Olen Puckett, John Foster, Clifford Simmons, Paul Squyres, J. R. Brennand and Miss Brilla Mae Willis.

Decorations were painted by students of the Architectural society during their leisure time. John P. Foster is president of the society, Robert Maxey, secretary-treasurer, and F. A. Kleinschmidt, sponsor.

Special guests for the dance were Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Moore, of Ralls, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Murdough, Mrs. H. F. Godeke, Dr. and Mrs. Paul W. Horn, Dean and Mrs. James M. Gordon, Dean Mary W. Doak, Dean Margaret Weeks, Mrs. Earl Hunt and Mrs. J. E. Vickers.

An orchestra from Plainview furnished the music for dancing.

About 200 guests were in attendance.

P. T. A. Council Is To Name New Officers Here Tuesday

New officers are to be elected Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the City Parent-Teacher council at 3:45 o'clock Senior High school. The district meeting, which opens in Lamesa on Wednesday, is to be discussed.

Co-Eds To Wear Cotton Dresses

Upon invitation from the Mortar Board of the University of Texas, young women students of the Forum at Texas Technological college are sponsoring a campaign for co-eds to wear cotton frocks.

Thursday has been set aside as "Cotton Day" on the campus, and an effort is being made to have every girl wear a cotton dress at that time. In the evening, a style show is to be sponsored by the Forum at the college gymnasium. Club women of Lubbock and other interested persons are invited to the showing.

This campaign is made in an effort to increase the consumption of cotton produced in Texas. Dr. Paul W. Horn is to make an address at the style show and he is to wear a cotton suit made in the college textile and home economics schools.

Oratorio Will Be Next Week

Fourth Presentation Here Of Handel's "Messiah" Is To Be Given Next Sunday Afternoon

Rehearsals are nearing completion for the presentation of "The Messiah", Handel's most successful and best-known oratorio, by a group of local singers Sunday afternoon, April 12, in the auditorium of the First Methodist church.

"The Messiah", composed in 1741, was first produced in a concert given at Dublin, Ireland, in 1742 with Handel conducting the performance in person. This was followed with a successful presentation of the oratorio annually in London.

Closing rehearsals will be on Friday evening at the First Methodist church, according to Mrs. Carl Scoggin, director. Mrs. Scoggin directed the presentation last year, and this season, marks the fourth time that "The Messiah" is to be sung in Lubbock.

Mrs. Mamie I. Neal is accompanist and singers include vocalists from Lubbock church choirs and of the city.

Three Sisters Entertain On Saturday Evening At Bridge

Misses Irene, Kathleen and Regina James entertained with bridge last evening in their home at 2319 18th street, having as their guests Mary Ross Edwards, Pauline Phillips, Doris Dell Tatom, Mildred Tubbs, Elouise Ratliff, Ruth Anna Jackson, Billy Nacha and Theresa Lockey.

SPRING PRUNING

Before your shrubs and trees break into leaf, the dead wood should be cut away. By pruning carefully, you can shape them as you prune.

Miss Frances Ford Is Honored When Bridge Party Is Given On Saturday

Miss Frances Ford, who with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gus L. Ford, is spending the week-end here, was named as guest of honor when Misses Johnnye Gilkerson, Voncille Gilkerson and Sarah Michie entertained Saturday afternoon at the Hilton hotel. Guests were members of Las Chaparritas club, social organization of Texas Technological college, of which Miss Ford is a member.

Miss Ford formerly attended the college here and last September enrolled in Smith college at Northampton, Mass., later withdrawing to enter Southern Methodist University, Dallas, where she is a student at present.

Taking advantage of a short Easter vacation at S. M. U. Miss Ford joined her parents in a visit with friends here.

Games of bridge were played at Saturday's party. The Easter motif was featured in appointments.

City Children Enjoy Outings This Week-End

Tradition Is Followed In Big Annual Egg Hunts During Friday And Saturday In Lubbock

BY MARGARET TURNER
Of The Woman's Staff

OBSERVING a traditional custom at the Easter season, hundreds of children of the city have been attending parties and Easter egg hunts during the past few days. Children in Sunday school departments have met at the churches and gone from there to the country where the hunts were staged. Individual affairs have been in homes and on the lawns at various places.

As a compliment to pupils in the room taught by Mrs. Mary Power, Mrs. J. B. Jackson, 2611 21st street, entertained in her home Saturday afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock. Mrs. Jackson is the room mother and she was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Power.

A large Easter nest centered the table and was filled with candy rabbits, chickens and eggs. Games were played and after a hunt the child finding the largest number of eggs was presented with a basket of Easter novelties. Children brought attractive baskets, which they had made at school, to place the eggs in and there was an attendance of twenty-two.

A light refreshment course was served.

Girls Have Hunt

Girls in the Minnehaha Camp Fire group, of which Mrs. W. L. Bradshaw is guardian, went to the Country Club grounds for a hunt and picnic Saturday afternoon. Mrs. W. B. Price and Mrs. T. L. Shepard were chaperones for the occasion.

Included in the party were Elizabeth Ann Price, Ramelle Anderson, Darlene Abbott, Jane Brownfield, Jean Cantelou, Betty Alice Gordon, Rose Mary Harlan, Jean Shepard, Frances Wilson and Nannie Margaret Overton.

Children On Hunt

Small children who are in the first and second beginners' departments of the First Methodist Sunday school met at the parlors Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Games were played and eggs were hidden for the smaller children in the court yard and for others in the space between the parsonage and the educational building. The groups were four and five years of age.

Mrs. H. W. Wylie and Mrs. W. E. Baskin are superintendents of these departments.

Have Picnic Lunch

The girls auxiliary in the First Baptist church met at the home of the sponsor, Mrs. G. M. Pearson, 1821 27th street, Saturday and went from there to the country for an outing. Lunch was spread and the girls hunted eggs, returning to Lubbock about two o'clock.

Girls in this organization are Lucille Carter, Eudora Trice, Addie Lee Terrell, Marguerite Brown, Loraine Aydelott, Doris Law, Georgia Knight, Helen Zeh, Mary Ruth Yow, Rava Nelle Blackburn, Melba Dawn Pearson and Marion Rogers.

Cradle Roll At Party

Children from one to four years of age were in attendance at a party given for the cradle roll department of the First Presbyterian church Saturday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. W. E. Lyle, 1607 9th street. Upon arriving they played games and later hunted for Easter novelties.

About twenty children were present accompanied by their mothers. Mrs. Ed Ainsworth is superintendent of the department and teachers are Mesdames W. L. Hester, Leroy Patton and Lyle.

Program Is Released For Methodist WMS Meeting This Week

The Woman's Angle

Avalanche Woman's Editor

WHETHER or not today is fair, it is Easter and it means to many of us that spring is actually here. For Easter, you will remember, gets its name from primitive celebrations of the advent of spring and is derived from the name of the goddess of spring, Eastre.

Like so many other Christian observances, Easter was adopted from a heathen custom, according to many historians, but the part of the Easter story that is familiar to most of us is the beautiful Biblical story of Christ's resurrection and of all the Sundays in the year, this is one when most people go to church to hear the old, old story over again. With one other Sunday during the spring, Mother's Day, Easter sees unusually large numbers of people entering churches for morning services.

Lubbock people have prepared for today with a week of worship, morning and evening, and solemn services this morning will climax the period.

To children, Easter means more than the Christian celebration of a Biblical event, for this is one of their happy holidays and the one day of the year when they may have egg hunts. This part of the celebration is very old, the egg being considered in widely separated mythologies before the Christian era, as the symbol of resurrection.

Today's celebration is a joyful one—one marking the beginning of a new life. The Christian story has its counterpart in spring and the awakening of nature to a new life cycle.

FOR EVERY MEAL

HERE'S today's menu ihnt: Every meal needs its bit of tartness, the fruit cocktail, the breakfast fruit or the piquant salad.

BUSY PERIOD STARTS

THIS week is to mark the beginning of a busy time for club women—a time which will not be closed officially until the year ends in May for a three-month respite.

Parent-Teacher association members of the fourteenth district are meeting this week in Lamesa to begin these club events and a few days later women in the Methodist missionary societies are to meet in Big Spring for one of the largest district women's events of the section. These two events will start a series of conventions to interest the women whose club affiliations are with societies having a serious stated aim.

Next week there will be another large conference when women in the seventh district of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs meet in Memphis for the annual spring meeting. This session will be of particular interest to Lubbock women because it precedes the state meeting next fall, which is to be in this city.

* * *

NO SUGGESTIONS, PLEASE

NOW that everyone is talking pajamas instead of dresses, I'm wondering.

The other day there was a little argument—man against woman—in which each made some remarks. As a champion of men's rights, the man was opposed to the pajama style, saying that it encroaches on the sacred style privileges of man and calls attention to his lack of imagination in selecting colors and designs. To which the woman nimbly replied, "Fine! That's just what a man needs. Man boasts of his superiority even in imaginative qualities . . . yet the average man does not exercise this artistic sense in even such a seemingly simple thing as his wardrobe. Let him see the choice of design and color in a woman's day-time pajamas and benefit therefrom!"

To which even my slow imagination does a little gasping. Just let him see the choice of design and color and begin the benefitting and we'll all have to wear dark glasses!

Probably the only thing that has saved the world so far has been that men have not had the temerity to counterpose custom and desert their conservative styles.

Imagine how the men would look—these men who can garble their colors so much with only a shirt, tie and hose to work with. There would be the man, for instance, who comes down on Monday morning in fresh green shirt, flaming orange tie and navy blue suit, topped off with his hat that looks as if it had been slept on the night before. If such imagination were not tamed by convention, what might happen?

Why, a man like this might fancy a tri-cornered derby to complete a costume fashioned in imitation of his wife's yellow and purple lounging pajamas—his artistic sense probably would favor the Chinese embroidery on her robe and the result would resemble something between a Christmas tree and a room decorated for the firemen's annual ball.

And the man who can manage mauve spats and some sort of a checked suit ensemble with pocket handkerchief, watch chain and charms, wrist watch and diamond stick pin! My imagination stops at the ludicrous picture drawn up over possibilities of such a one when he began to benefit from the choice of colors and styles in women's day-time pajamas.

Probably it is just as well that most men are timid souls about their dress—that they have been browbeaten into believing that any innovation in the usual ensemble indicates credentials for admission to the insane asylum. More than likely we will be happier without making any allusions to their artistic sense or suggestions about what they may do with a choice of styles and colors.

Delegation To Attend Annual Women's Meet

Asbury And First Churches Elect Delegations To Be In Attendance At Meeting In Big Spring

SEVERAL Lubbock women, representing the missionary societies in the First and Asbury Methodist churches, are to go to Big Spring this week to attend the twenty-fifth annual sessions of the Northwest Texas Conference Woman's Missionary Society. The conference opens Monday to continue through Thursday but since the first day is to be devoted to executive sessions, the local delegation does not expect to be there until Tuesday.

Miss Mary DeBardeleben, who teaches at Texas Technological college, has a part on the Wednesday evening program and expects to attend. Mrs. George C. Wolffarth, who is leader of zone 2 in the conference, is to attend and the following have been elected as delegates from the three societies here:

Mesdames O. R. Copeland, R. T. Campbell, J. O. Haymes, C. A. Bickley, W. W. Campbell, M. H. Sneed, Will N. Morgan, J. B. McCauley, Tom Foster, Paul Williams and O. H. Cline.

President Opens Meeting

"Ye Shall Be My Witness" is the theme for this program and it will open on Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock with the sacrament of the Lord's Supper with Rev. O. P. Clark and Rev. W. G. Bailey in charge. A memorial service, conducted by Mrs. J. A. Britain, is to follow and Mrs. Nat G. Rollins, of Abilene, will deliver the president's message.

Following the vice-president's report by Mrs. J. H. Rutherford and the recording secretary's report by Mrs. W. P. Garvin, the extension department reports will be made as follows: Conference, Mrs. J. Frank Potts; Abilene, Mrs. W. H. Myatt; Amarillo, Mrs. R. L. Graves; Clarendon, Mrs. S. L. Seago; Lubbock, Mrs. W. K. Crawley; Perryton, Mrs. Carl Holt; Plainview, Mrs. D. B. Doak; Stamford, Mrs. Morris Randel; Sweetwater, Mrs. Robert Withers. The Bible hour will be in charge of Miss Emily Olmstead.

Following the lunch hour, the program will continue at 2 o'clock as follows: Worship, Mrs. D. N. Arnett, Colorado; financial department, Mrs. S. H. Crossley, and committee meetings from 3 until 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Merritt Talks

Mrs. Withers will have charge of the worship program at the evening program, which opens at 8 o'clock. Mrs. R. A. Metcalf is in charge of the children's department division of the program and Mrs. J. G. Merritt is to talk on "Christian Social Relations."

Wednesday's program is to be as follows:

Morning—Worship, Mrs. Billie Bryant, Hamlin; business; Young people's department, Mrs. C. L. Clement; educational department, Mrs. George D. Self; discussion hour; Bible hour, Miss Emily Olmstead; afternoon—Worship, Maurice Smith of Stanton; training hour; literature and publicity, Mrs. E. E. Adams; supply department, Mrs. F. O. Campbell; Gibson department, Mrs. J. M. Porter; student secretary, Miss M. N. Swisher; Bible chair department, Miss DeBardeleben; camp department, Mrs. T. C. Delaney; evening—Worship, Miss DeBardeleben; report of resolutions committee; "A Summer's Sundays", Mrs. Rollins.

Thursday morning's session is to open with a worship hour by Mrs. D. P. Yoder of Snyder and continue with committee reports and a luncheon.

Bardwell, Catherine Jameson, Hazel Ligon, Rose Mary Leaverton, Tina Alexander, LaVerne and Christine Carter.

Special guests will include Misses Doris Rose Durrett, John Anna Boyd, Edith Phipps, Johnnie Jo Whitley, Roberta Myrick and Wanda Butler.

At Sunrise Service

Members of the D. F. D. club are to attend the Easter sunrise services at Texas Technological college in a unit and go from there to the Hilton hotel for a breakfast.

Misses Adams and Rodden are to be hostesses for the breakfast.

FRESH MEAT

With warm days ahead, the selection of meat that is fresh is important. Select it by color, for fresh veal is a delicious pink, pork and lamb when fresh are light pink, beef is a gay, bright red and mutton dark red.

Summer Batiste

TURQUOISE has about worn out its vociferous welcome by women of style, according to fashionists, but pale blue is a very good bet for summer, and navy is the very smartest of colors, both for medium-priced things and the most expensive.

This pretty little frock is one of fashion's favorites for summer wear. It is an embroidered batiste in sky blue with tiny sleeves and white organdie collar.

White accessories are worn with it. A large white picture hat of organdie and white eight-button fabric gloves.

Program For Recital Will Be Drawn From Poems Written By Texans; To Be Given Tuesday

Miss Lulu Mae Cravens Is To Present Class Here In Recital In Chapel Of The First Methodist Church

A program drawn from the writings of Texas poets is to be given Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock when Miss Lulu Mae Cravens presents pupils in the First Methodist chapel.

Two of the selections were written by women of this city, Mrs. E. L. Robertson and her sister, Miss Beuna Sowell, who visits here much of the time.

Six of the selections are from the works of Grace Noll Crowell. They are to be read as follows: "She knew", Betty Mae Haymes; "The Ladies", Betty Jean Jones; "Miss Humpety Entertains", Mary Alice Maedgen; "The Old Portraits", Eunice Klett; "Berries", Janet Wilson; "The Day Will Bring Some Lovely Thing", Louise Pfarr.

Mary Robertson is to read "Texas Blue Bonnets" by Mrs. Robertson and another selection, "The Milky Way" by Mrs. J. L. Goedman. "Going to a Party" by Miss Sowell, is to be read by Gloria Robnett. The remainder of the program is as follows: "Apple and Tea Rose" (Karl Wilson Baker), Louise Pfarr; "The Rangers" (James Lytle), Lewis Ellis; "The Little Towns of Texas" and "To a Mocking Bird" (Clyde W. Hill), Wildring B. Sherrod; "Maples" (Theresa Lindsey), Beth Holland; "Crepe Myrtle" and "Hollyhocks" (Eugene Pillot), Billy Bob Jones; "The Battle Flag" (Mary Davis), Paul Sherrod; "Midsummer Moonrise" (Galveston Beack), Stanley E. Babbs; "The Pawn Shop" (Dorothy Scarbrough), Ruth Holland; "My Neighbor's Tree" (Margaret Huston) and "Corn Silks and Cotton Blossoms" (Whitney Montgomery), Maxine Burrus; "Sketches of Texas Prairies" (George Bond), Katherine Klett.

Egg Hunts

attendance at a frolic for members of the First Presbyterian Sunday school junior department and those in the junior church. Meeting at the church at 3 o'clock, they went to the Country Club.

Mrs. H. A. Davidson is superintendent of the department and Miss Virginia McLean is junior church pastor.

Mrs. E. W. Millsap supervised games when children of the First Baptist beginners department met at the church Saturday afternoon for their hunt and Easter celebration. Games were played and the eggs were hidden on the church lawn. There are 60 in this department.

Teachers and officers are Mesdames John Spikes, J. G. Oslin, L. B. Hodges, C. W. Byers, Mike Frye, Mays, Lynn Foster, Misses Carrie Fair, Edna Hope, Ruth Hearrell and Sybil Tyson.

Classes Entertained

Mrs. B. E. Needles and Mrs. R. Bush Smith entertained for girls in their Sunday school classes in the First Methodist church Friday afternoon. The group gathered at the Needles home at 1811 18th street.

Following a series of games, the eggs were hunted on a vacant lot. Later refreshments were served. There was an attendance of seventeen girls.

Hunt On Friday

The municipal park was the scene of an Easter egg hunt when eleven year olds taught by Mrs. N. J. Ballard and Miss Arrabelle Stahl in the First Baptist Sunday school attended a celebration Friday afternoon.

Twenty-five were present for the games and hunt. Later a weiner roast was enjoyed.

Mrs. W. C. Abbott and Miss Velma Lee Sellers assisted the hostesses in hiding the eggs.

be an ideal mother, and on such days I can see my 'nerves' react in my small son. I am striving to do better, and I thank you for the help you are giving me."

Answer: Bless your soul, Mother, I think you have done wonderfully well I just marvel at your understanding, sympathy and successes with your child, particularly since you have been ill so much.

First of all, take better care of yourself. Don't worry about A little dust or lack of order. Just be sure you get a nap every afternoon and that you sit down and relax for a few minutes every hour or two. Go on using time limits and carry through your quiet, patient manner, guests or no guests.

Just be assured that you are a whole lot better mother than you think you are. Your husband should be very proud of you.

Hail, Easter's Proof!

"CHRIST, the Lord, Is Risen Today! Glory, Alleluiah!"

Throughout ever-broadening Christendom today are ringing out glad tidings. Christ walks again among men! A faith has been upheld!

For the millions of followers of the Man of Gallilee, Easter is the happiest day of the year. It marks the anniversary of the return of God's Only Son from the dark tomb to which his tortured body had been consigned three days before. But what is more important at this date far removed from the Crucifixion, it marks the proof of Christ's word and of God's Almighty power.

"Is the proof more important than Christ's return to walk among men?" you ask doubtfully.

And turning from the divine, to the commonplace, the answer is, "It is, for this is an era of proof!"

As we delve into the depths of the question, there can be no taint of aetheism, no shadow of disbelief when we look for proof of the miracle of Christ, Risen from Death. Not at all. In fact in that measure alone the Religion of Jesus Christ differs completely with beliefs in dieties which man has known since the dark, dark days, when the world was young. Upon that proof hangs the balance of the world! It has made Christianity supreme!

Easter time is the glad time because of that proof.

Men sing the praises of God and His Perfect Son today, 1935 years removed from Jesus' birth in a lowly manger, because of that proof.

Millions follow in the wake of the Twelve Disciples, from the cradle to the grave, all on that proof.

And, because Jesus did come back from the grave, to again walk among men, the world of His day knew His teachers were true, that His power through God, The Father, was limitless! It was the proof of all Jesus' teachings! It cast the die for the world of that day, the world of today and for the world which is to come.

We tremble to think of a world steeped in the doubt which would have followed had Jesus failed to return from the tomb. We quake to consider a life and a civilization, if there could be a civilization, in a world untouched by the Son of Virgin Mary. Human imagination and preception, wonderful enough to conceive and perfect the radio and sciences, flounders in futility before such a thought.

But such consideration is unnecessary. Jesus' proof to the world has made it unnecessary! That proof is the hinge upon which Christianity, the world and as far as we are permitted to see, the universe, safely swing.

"Christ, The Lord, Is Risen Today."

The unqualified proof of the power of God is revealed anew! All nature sings in a spring symbolical of the release of Jesus!

"Glory, Alleluiah!"

EDITOR'S NOTE

This editorial appeared originally in The Avalanche-Journal last Easter Sunday, April 20th, 1930. It attracted at that time, considerable comment of a commendatory nature, one local pastor suggesting that it be repeated every Easter Sunday.

The Avalanche-Journal, while not promising to make the editorial an annual Easter feature, is responding to the opinion aroused favoring the thought behind the editorial at its original publication. It is being here-with reproduced by request of readers.

He's Something Unique

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, April 4—Anton J. Cermak's eyes twinkle through large round glasses from a face best descriged as cherubic. An elderly cherub but jolly. Even in repose Cermak's expression is genial, but it generally is smiling.

Cermak has the effect of a short man, though a comparison with others shows him to be about medium. His thickness undoubtedly is what gives its squat effect to his figure. Basically his bulk is not due to fat, though he was grown somewhat paunchy with years. Evidently he was hard as iron originally, however, and probably could give a good account of himself yet in a trial of strength—at least as long as his wind held out. His childhood as a mule boy in the coal mines near Braidwood, Ill., was the sort of life to kill a weakling or develop stamina to its maximum.

It should not be supposed that Cermak has arrived where he is without taking on considerable polish. He is too smart to have remained a rough neck if he ever was one.

I knew him a little in the early nineteen hundreds, when he was in the Chicago city council, and I was a reporter for a Windy City newspaper. He was not an altogether unimproved diamond as long ago as that. An exchange of a few words was all I could get with him during the rush of his mayoralty campaign, but it was obvious that large affairs and many contacts with consequential folk have developed him greatly in the last quarter century.

As a matter of fact, Cermak was a night school attendant long after he was fully grown—was in his twenties, at the earliest, when he took courses in accountancy and commercial law. Thus the idea that he is uneducated is not exact. His education was not obtained in the orthodox academic fashion, but he has more of it than many people who have been through universities.

Cermak does have the typical self-made man's naive satisfaction in his accomplishments. In his old aldermanic days—he has been a member of the legislature, too—he inclined figuratively to slap himself on the back with an air of "And to think that once I was a poor immigrant boy driving mules in a coal mine." There is this atmosphere about him yet. He puts on no airs whatever. Contrariwise, he is rather humble, depreciates himself as far more ignorant than he really is. One knows, however, that he does not actually think so, but still is surreptitiously patting himself on the back.

My own guess is that Cermak has a senate seat in the back of his mind as the ultimate goal of his ambition. It would be nationally showier than the governorship. There no especial reason why he could not get either if Illinois goes Democratic again in 1932.

Cermak has controlled the Cook county Democratic machine ever since George Brennan's death—and Brennan ran for the senate. He was beaten, to be sure, but the situation is different today. If James Hamilton Lewis could beat Mrs. Rnth Hanna McCormick, as he did, Cermak certainly has a right to wonder whether he cannot beat Senator Otis F. Glenn when Glenn seeks re-election next year—or Charles S. Deneen, if Deneen tries to stage a comeeback by taking the Republican nomination away from Glenn.

Cermak enjoys the trappings of office. There is no doubt about it. Power is not enough for him. He wants to wear the regalia, too.

"Big Bill" Thompson's jeers at his eastern European name—as Bill puts it, "Can you picture a World's Fair mayor with a name like that?—also have hurt him. Cermak has too good taste to answer, and I would hardly say that he is revengeful, but I believe he would enjoy presenting the picture Bill derides simply to prove it to be no impossibility anyway.

As a political boss—if that is what he is to be considered—Cermak is something unique.

He had his training under Brennan, who in turn had his from Roger Sullivan—all Irish, into which Cermak has introduced Czech ingredients, producing a mixture difficult to describe. "Big Bill" himself has found it confusing.

HOW DO YOU USE FACTS

Educationally we seem to be in the midst of an era of testing and examining of some kind. Not only teachers and school authorities but anyone who feels so inclined may set some test or other for anyone who is willing to try his skill at answering.

There are poetry tests and history tests and general information tests; there are tests of all shades and descriptions, and tests of all degrees of difficulty. It would be folly to deny that much good can be gained from such testing. It is interesting to know which boy in school possesses more current history facts; which girl can tell the source of most quotations in poetry, and what young pupil knows the greatest number of capitals of the countries of the world.

This information about the pupils can readily be obtained; you have but to set a test and the thing is done. And in so far as such tests may stimulate hundreds of other boys and girls to further efforts to acquire such information, these tests take on an additional value. The spirit of rivalry and competition which they foster is on the whole a good thing.

But it is well to remember that such mere acquiring of facts is by no means that whole of education. The fact that it is often mistaken for education renders it necessary that we should insist strongly on it that the mere acquiring of facts may have in itself but little to do with education. What gives such information value is the use to which the holder of it may put it when there is occasion to ure it. It is what you do with a fact that makes it important and worth while. Otherwise our minds remain lumber-rooms.

It is this practice of using facts which distinguishes the educated man from him who is a mere collector of facts. A half dozen facts properly used may give the individual a new viewpoint on life; it may open vistas never before open to him; it may stimulate thought of a depth and scope which could never be obtained through the haphazard collection of hundreds of facts.

Facts, definite and irrefragible facts, are the foundation of learning; they are only the foundation. The superstructure is thinking. That's what facts would be used for.

Practical Health Problems

SUGGESTIONS TO EXPECTANT MOTHERS

Upon the care which the expectant mother takes of herself while she is pregnant depends to a large degree the success of giving birth to her baby, and also the well being of the child.

Exercise: Get all the fresh air you can by making it a point to be out of doors as much as possible. It is most desirable to spend at least two hours a day out doors. Moderate exercise, such as walking, is very beneficial, but stop short of fatigue.

Diet: During the early months the diet may consist of the usual articles of food: vegetables, cereals, all kinds of fruits, preferably stewed, and at least one quart of milk daily. Partake sparingly of fried foods, rich salads, and pastries. Heavy meats, condiments, tea, coffee and alcohol in any form. Drink an abundance of pure water, at least ten glasses daily.

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is one of a series of articles being written for the editorial page of the Sunday Avalanche-Journal by members of the Lubbock County Medical society. Readers may write The Avalanche-Journal, requesting articles on certain subjects and may send in any health questions they seek to have answered.)

Physical Examination: Every pregnant woman should have a complete physical examination made early in pregnancy, preferably before the third month. It is a woman's obligation to herself to know just the status of her physical condition.

Bowels: If there is a tendency to constipation one should eat large quantities of fruit, green vegetables and drink plenty of water, these will often suffice. Habit is a great factor in overcoming constipation, one should make it a practice to go to the toilet at the same time each day, preferably in the morning after breakfast, whether the inclination is present or not.

Care of the teeth: The teeth are particularly likely to decay at this time. Have your teeth put into first class condition early in pregnancy and report to your dentist every three months thereafter. Teeth should be brushed four times daily, after meals and at bedtime. Milk and green vegetables in the dietory help to keep the teeth hard.

Amusements: Associate with young and agreeable companions, avoiding all who discuss "awful time Mrs. Smith had when her baby came." No shock can "mark" an unborn baby; no horrible sight can deform it, but worry, fear, and anger on your part may impair the nutrition of the baby, by affecting your nutrition. Therefore, strive to remain always calm, happy and even tempered. Go to whatever amusements you desire from the beginning of pregnancy; no one can possibly detect your state from your figure until after the fourth month. The last few weeks of your pregnancy when you are "showing" you will appreciate this suggestion. It is well not to acquaint your friends with your condition until the fact becomes self evident. By so doing, you may save yourself the experience of receiving rightly intended, though often injudicious, advice and suggestions.

A THRILLING MYSTERY STORY + by MILES BURTON

READ THIS FIRST:

The famous diamond necklace of Lady Hardway is stolen by Thomas Herridge, a notorious crook, in London. Slinking along the street after the robbery, Herridge is accosted by two men, who handcuff him, take the diamonds and promise to take him to Scotland Yard for questioning. On the way, the burglar suddenly leaps out of the car and escapes into the fog. To free himself of the handcuffs, Herridge makes for the home of Ginger Murdock, another crook. He stumbles into a policeman. Herridge explains the handcuffs by saying he had worn them on a bet. The policeman, however, takes him to a police station. A sergeant there does not recognize him. Herridge tells a story of having a wife and children in Wigan, a suburb, although his dialect is London cockney. The sergeant summons Inspector Brooks, who recognizes Herridge. Later Dick Penhampton is called to the Scotland Yard office of Sir Edric Conway, assistant police commissioner, to tell of the robbery to Inspector Brooks. Dick is Lord Hardway's brother-in-law. Inspector Brooks requests of Sir Edric the right to question Dick. With Herridge in jail, Brooks determines to run down some clues. Hiding behind a partition in a hangout known as the Margate Jetty, the detective overhears a conversation that a person designated as The Funny Toff might know quite a bit about the robbery.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 8

The burglary at Woodbridge Square had taken place on Thursday evening. On the following Tuesday occurred an incident which sent a wave of horror through even the unemotional circles of Scotland Yard, and eclipsed in interest even the sensational disappearance of the Hardway diamonds.

Shortly after dark P. C. Limmer, of the Middlesex Constabulary, was cycling towards Brentbridge, where he was stationed, along a cross-road between two of the main arteries which run from the westward towards London. Brentbridge itself, being only about fifteen miles from Hyde Park Corner and lying on one of the main arterial roads, is a busy enough little place, but the flat country round it, largely devoted to market gardening, is pretty well deserted after dark. Constable Limmer, looking forward to the termination of his tour of duty, pedalled steadily onwards.

There was very little traffic on this particular cross-road, though a constant stream of vehicles, heavy and light, poured along the arterial roads on either side of it. The road was narrow and winding, running between low hedges, beyond which strentched interminable rows of winter greens. Limmer was within a couple of miles of his destination when he heard the imperious blare of an electric hooter behind him. He drew in to the side of the road and dismounted. Turning round he saw a pair of glaring head lights advancing upon him at what seemed a terrific speed.

He drew his machine almost into the ditch. A huge vehicle, its details indistinguishable to his eyes, blinded by the glare, swept past him. Limmer, scandalized by this excessive speed on the narrow country lane, shouted to the driver to stop, but his voice was utterly drowned by the rattling of the lorry. As its tail light disappeared round a corner a few yards farther on, the outraged Limmer tried to distinguish the number. It seemed to be FK-8743.

Limmer took out his note-book and began to make an entry by the light of his bicycle lamp. He could still hear the lorry roaring and pounding away in the distance and he shrugged his shoulders philosophically. The driver must be drunk, to travel like that on so rough a road. Apart from the danger of the proceeding, he would certainly shake the lorry to pieces. And then, as if to justify his prediction, a crash came from the direction of the unseen lorry.

"Crikey, he's run into something!" muttered Limmer, as he jumped on his bicycle and set off down the road. But it was apparent that, whatever had happened, the lorry had not stopped. He could still hear it crashing along on its mad career, the noise growing gradually fainter in the distance.

Limmer turned the corner, his acetylene lamp casting a beam of light on the road before him. Something was lying there, right in the middle of the road, something massive and motionless. It was a bulky wooden packing-case, such as is used for the transport of pieces of machinery. It had fallen upside down and was lying on its lid, which was firmly bolted on. Limmer tried to move it, but, although he was a powerful man, he only succeeded in pushing it a few inches.

He regarded it for several moments in disgust. The thing was an obstruction and might easily cause an accident if left where it was. It would have to be removed, there was no doubt about that. He bent down once more and by dint of several minutes of hard work succeeded in moving it sufficiently near one side of the road to allow room for traffic to pass. Then he mounted his bicycle again and rode on into Brentbridge.

Here he reported the incident to the sergeant. "All right, we'll trace the number and run the chap in for driving to the danger of the public," said the latter. "As for this case he dropped, it's not our business, but we can't let it lie in the road all night. Get your tea and then take a couple of chaps and an iron bar and shove it into the ditch. If there's any address on it, we'll communicate with the owners."

Half an hour later Limmer set out with two more stalwart constables and soon reached the spot where the case had fallen out of the lorry. The case itself was lying as Limmer had left it and the three men set to work to move it towards the ditch. "Get the bar under it and we'll roll it over," suggested Limmer.

"Lumme, it's heavy!" panted one of the others. "It's big enough to hold a couple of lamp-posts."

By the exercise of their united strength the three men succeeded in rolling the case first on its side and finally on its base, so that the lid was upwards. "Here, stop a minute!" exclaimed Limmer. "There's an address of some kind on it."

One of the men produced an electric torch and flashed it on to the case. The address was plain enough, it was neatly stencilled in black paint. And as they read it, the three men uttered a simultaneous exclamation of astonishment. On the

Much Land Is Available For War Veterans To File On In New Mexico, Official States

Clovis Man Says Activities For Colonization Are Being Conducted In The Wrong Way; Says Land Fertile

HUNDREDS of thousands of acres of fertile land in the valleys of western and northern sections of New Mexico are available for homesteading by former service men, under the terms of the soldiers and sailors rights regulations of the department of the interior, D. W. Jones, U. S. commissioner at Clovis, N. M., states in a communication sent to former service men.

Mr. Jones has made the statement in response to many inquiries concerning the possibilities of former service men securing good farm locations in the northwestern part of the state. Recently considerable publicity has been given to a colonization scheme which has had its center in Amarillo.

Asked to Visit Him

At the same time Mr. Jones invites all those former service men who contemplate going to the area open for homesteading, to stop at his office in Clovis where, "I will be glad to furnish you with official maps and otherwise assist you to reach the general locality you desire." His office is at 301-3 1-2 Main street, Clovis.

"Referring to the many requests for information about U. S. lands in New Mexico," Mr. Jones said in his statement, "will say there are many hundreds of thousands of acres located in the valleys of the mountains in the western and northern sections of the state. These are subject to homestead entries under the enlarged homestead act of 320 acres or the stock-raising homestead act of 640 acres.

Worth Filing On

"These acres are well worth filing on, especially in view of the fact that veterans who have had 19 months service can prove up their land in seven months. Those not having 19 months service must reside on the lands an additional period to make up the difference.

"I have on file letters and have talked with many homesteaders about the area. All agree that you can raise more oats, barley, rye, beans, potatoes, cabbage and turnips on this land than you can on the plains lands in Western Texas or Eastern New Mexico, as there is more moisture in the mountain country. Otherwise, there would be no timber there. This timber is an additional reason for filing, as you have unlimited fuel and fence posts and very cheap lumber for making your improvements.

Shouldn't Have To Pay

Referring to reports of promoters charging for locations, Mr. Jones said, "I note that some locators are charging veterans $10 and up for locating them on this land. I know of no reason in the world why a veteran should pay any such sum for this service."

The department of the interior, in circular 302 issued January 21, 1929, set forth its regulations concerning soldiers and sailors homestead rights. The general land office issued the circular. Any soldier, seaman or marine who served not less than 90 days and who was honorably discharged and has remained loyal to the government, is entitled to have the term of his service, not to exceed two years, deducted from the three years residence required under the homestead laws. Revisions and congressional actions has made the regulations apply to veterans of the Spanish-American war, the Philippine insurrection, the Mexican border operations of 1916 and the World war, as well as to men who served during peace times.

MAKES HONOR ROLL

SOUTHLAND, (Staff Special)—Ruth Field, senior in the Southland high school, was the only member of her class to make the honor roll the past six weeks. Miss Field is a leader in athletic work as well as scholastic. She has been first string jumping center on the girl's basketball team and plays on the volley ball team. Ruth also is a member of the debate squad.

Encouraged by the unseasonable winter warmth, a Chanute, Kas., gardener planted potatoes the last of January.

SWAN

In New York With Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK, April 4. — A little job of noise measuring is quietly being carried on across the nation.

Now that the panicky din that followed the arrival of talking pictures has died away to a faint echo, there remains the rumbling af faculty acoustics.

An so there has come into being the new profession of doctor of acoustics. S. K. Wolf is an acoustical diagnostician, though his actual title is that of consultant to Western Electric's research products department.

Thus far he has listened to the sound diseases of 4,500 different theaters. This has been made possible through the invention of a device known as the chronograph reverberation meter. This instrument measures with unerring accuracy the time it take for a sound to reverberate in any specific theater.

Until this little gadget came along, an investigator had to depend upon the all to fallible human ear. Now it's possible to determine the quality of a noise, to separate various noises and to prescribe the talkie are presumed to be over.

One can truck a little noise away in a corner, lift its thorax somewhat or fatten it to a swelling point.

The next step in the diagnosis is to apply the "level analyzer," which measures the intensity of sound. The volume indicator can be plugged in with little effort.

But in theaters, as in humans, there are vague maladies, the most confusing of which may shortly be cured. There are certain conglomerate sounds that, at the moment, cannot be driven out. A machine is now practically perfected to disintegrate these, so that the specialist can figure out exactly how each separate noise affects sound reproduction in a theater.

All of which may or may not be of interest to the average movie fan who has had his evening upset by strange echoings and boomings and sundry defects.

An elaborate library of statistics testifies to the worry these matters have caused the gents interested in the mechanical problems of reproduction in theaters. And not without reason. The toddling days of the talkie are presumed to be over. The theater itself remains an outstanding matter for concern.

There are, I am informed by Mondieur Wolf, some 18,700 movie houses operating in America, 12,000 of which have set up talkie machines. Only a minute fraction of the theaters were specially built for talkie acoustics. The others suffered from every imaginable sound trouble. Some months ago, the nature of these difficulties became so well known that volumes of statistics were becoming available and remedies for alteration could be soon advised.

It seems that the more modern banquet halls, auditoriums and dance halls are also having their noises measured.

Wolf was recently called into consultation on the construction and furnishing of the new Waldorf ballroom.

However, the most interesting and difficult job undertaken was that of the Manhattan subways, which hold something of a record for assorted sounds that clash unpleasantly on the ears and nerves. It will take about a year or more for the surveyors to catch all the possible sounds, from the clicking of the turnstiles to the crunching of the wheels.

A dozen and one sounds already have been classified—the elimination of any one of which would please the average Manhattanite.

A WHOLE CITY IS GOING TO START CLIMBING OUT OF DEBT!

On Monday, April 6th, Lubbock, Texas, Will Launch a Unique "Square-With-Your-Neighbor" Campaign . . . We All Owe Somebody—Let's Pay Him What We Owe Him. So He Can Pay the Fellow He Owes—Then He Can Pay Us!

On Monday April 6th, 1931, 20 Lubbock business firms will each issue a check for $10.00, cashable at the bank on which it is written ONLY after it has received fifteen endorsements.

The checks are to be used exclusively in payment of debts and each person who receives one is asked to endorse it and pass it on to somebody you owe as quickly as possible.

The idea is to clean up $3,000.00 worth of indebtedness in the community quickly without anybody being the loser. If somebody pays you $10.00 and you pay somebody else $10.00 you are in better financial shape and none the loser. So is the person who paid you and the person you paid.

There will be 300 endorsements on the checks when they all come in. The chances are you will receive one. If you do, endorse it quickly and hand it to somebody you owe. Watch the progress of these checks. It will surprise you how many bills $10.00 can cancel if we all make an effort to pay our bills. Indebtedness is largely a state of mind. We can't pay the people we owe because the people who owe us can't pay us. The people who owe us feel the same way and so do the people we owe.

Now here's an opportunity for all ofus to start paying up at the same time.

July's Wheat Crop May Find Nation's Surplus Gone

New Farm Leader

Edward A. O'Neal of Montgomery, Ala., is the new president of the American Farm Bureau Federation. After seven years as vice-president, he has been chosen to succeed Sam Thompson, of Quincy, Ill., who resigned to accept a place on the Federal Farm Board.

TO MOVE HEADQUARTERS

ALPINE, (Staff Special)—Area and district headquarters for plant quarantine control work for the United States department of agriculture will be moved here soon from Big Spring, according to D. M. McEachern, an official of the department. The movement began this week.

Brief News About Agriculture On South Plains

Certified Seed Ordered By Farmers In Scurry

SNYDER,—(Staff Special)—Three car loads of high grade cotton seed, two of certified and one of high grade have been ordered by farmers of Scurry county. One car of Mebane goes to the Fluvanna territory. The other two will be distributed from Snyder. Both will be distributed through the county agent's office.

Watermelon Seed To Be Distributed In Dickens

SPUR—(Staff Special)—Arrangements have been completed by the Spur chamber of commerce for the distribution of a large quantity of the famous Tom Watson watermelon seed, Dewey L. Granberry, secretary, announces.

Fifty farmers were given enough seed to plant an acre each. The chamber of commerce believed that a market for good watermelons can be created in Spur and vicinity and that a market for carload lots can be created also.

Gaines County Man Makes Good Profit From Poultry

SEMINOLE,—(Staff Special)—A profit of $159.10 was made in four months by R. M. E. Hughes, a farmer living 15 miles southeast of Seminole, from a flock of 211 Barred Rocks, R. F. McFatridge, county agent, reports.

During December the flock averaged two and a half pounds of mash per hen, three and three quarter pounds in January and three pounds in February.

Cost per dozen of eggs for feed during February was 7.7 cents.

Hockley County Men Ship Farm Fed Cattle To Market

PEP,—(Staff Special)—J. F. and Lawrence Albus, G. C. Keith and W. T. Jungmen, all well known Hockley county farmers, recently shipped 211 head of farm fed fat cattle to the Kansas City market.

Lea County Cattle To Be Tested For Tuberculosis

LOVINGTON, N. M.—(Staff Special)—A tuberculosis testing program for Lea county cattle will be started here April 19, Oren Beaty, county agent, reports. E. H. Luetje of the state cattle sanitary board, will be in charge.

Representatives of the board and of the U. S. department of agriculture, will do the work.

No Smutty Grain Reported In Area In Garza County

POST, — (Staff Special) — No smutty grain sorghum has been reported from the crop area where 6,000 pounds of grain sorghum planting seed was grown. Knox Parr, county agent, reports. Mr. Parr announces he is willing to conduct seed treating demonstrations for farmers if there is sufficient interest.

Veterinarian Explains Sickness Among Cattle

PLAINVIEW,—(Staff Special)—Cases of hemorrhagic septicemis or intestinal flu among cattle are largely due to low vitality caused by too heavy a wheat pasture diet and not enough solid foods, which left the intestinal tract in poor condition, Dr. S. C. Ross, local veterinarian, believes.

Many farmers failed to vaccinate or treat with serum and when the animals were low in vality and sudden changes of weather came, they were easy subjects for the trouble. The so called "dirty wheat" has very little to do with the trouble according to Dr. Ross.

Better Prices Seen For Wheat, Says Floyd Man

FLOYDADA,—(Staff Special)—"The armistice in the wheat business was signed when the federal farm board announced it would not attempt to control prices on this year's crop, and you'll soon see the price of wheat begin to get back where it belongs," L. A. Marshall, veteran grain buyer here.

"The big wheat dealers of the country resented the government's actions in attempting to take over the grain business of the country," he went on. "Now with the government out of the picture I am confident the prices will be better."

Waste corn and beans, the otherwise would have been lost, paid O. H. Wienges, of Calhoun, S. C., $900 when fed to hogs.

Ewe Sets Lamb Production Record

"What'd Mary do if she had these little lambs?" Bobby Johnson, Jr., wants to know. He's looking over the sextuplets born to the six-year-old Ronney ewe on his father's farm near Woodland, Calif. All the lambs are healthy and frisky. This ewe's feat of bringing six lambs into the world at once is thought to set a new sheep raising record.

TREES ARE PLANTED

IDALOU, (Staff Special)—Thirty one new trees were planted on the campus of the Idalou school. The trees were donated by the senior class, each senior buying a tree. Members of the seventh grade set out the trees under the direction of Sam Chatham, superintendent. Each tree was named for a member of the higher class.

Chief Of U. S. Grain Futures Administration Says Chance That Demand Is To Be Great

None Of The Old Crop To Be In Sight, Paving Way For Marketing Of New Wheat; Situation Expected To Be Most Extraordinary Market Has Ever Experienced

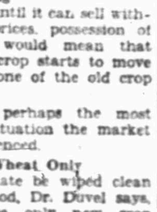

BY FRANK I. WELLER
(Associated Press Farm Editor)

WASHINGTON, April 4.—It is possible that the new wheat crop may find the nation's market basket empty—and waiting.

Dr. J. W. T. Duvel, chief of the United States grain futures administration, expects every farm bin and country elevator to be swept clean by the end of May as a result of the farm board's decision to withdraw its support of the market at that time.

"It is quite evident," he says, "that with May wheat still selling at 82 cents a bushel, and July now quoted at 59, the country is going to pick up the 23 cents difference."

Wheat on farms and in country elevators was estimated at 160,000,000 bushels on March 1, and the visible supply—wheat in market channels—at 201,000, the largest figure the country ever has known at that date. Since then it has been increased about 2,000,000.

DR. J.W.T. DUVEL

If the grain stabilization corporation absorbs all this wheat, it is expected to have in its hands virtually the entire carryover.

Since the corporation is committed to a policy of holding off the market until it can sell without affecting prices, possession of the carryover would mean that when the new crop starts to move there will be none of the old crop in sight.

It would be perhaps the most extraordinary situation the market ever has experienced.

New Wheat Only

Should the slate be wiped clean by that method, Dr. Duvel says, there would be only new crop wheat to supply the 40,000,000 bushels a month taken by American millers.

Of course when the market movement gets underway receipts far exceed that figure; but there would be those empty bins and elevators to store grain and dam back the crushing flow that every July has poured against terminal storage facilities.

Dr. Duvel says he considers the novel outlook a distinctly bullish factor which, together with the general opinion that wheat values are low enough even considering the world surplus and undetermined new crop prospects, is giving the market what he believes a strong undertone at current levels.

He says the tremendous significance behind the fact that the board's decision to cease stabilization had carried July options off no more than 2 1-2 cents and September 2 cents, indicates market strength.

Spring Hotbeds Are Planted By Clubs' Members

Fifty-eight Lubbock county farm homes at least will have hot beds to provide early spring gardens and also growing places for vegetables that are transplanted later into the regular gardens. These include cabbages, tomatoes, sweet potatoes and peppers.

Reports to Miss Ruth Stockton, county home demonstration agent, from the several clubs over the county, showed a total of 58 club women had begun their hot beds. Plans for the beds and suggestions on what to plant were distributed by the agent. Several hundred plans and suggestions were distributed to farmers whose wives were not members of county clubs.

In discussing the work Miss Stockton said "We had 12 fresh vegetables in hot beds in the county during the winter. There were 15 families that had fresh vegetables all winter long."

Miss Stockton recommends the hot bed as one means of supplying the family with early spring vegetables. It also provides the space for growing plants that later can be transplanted in the garden. A good many farmers and gardeners have found that by raising their tomato plants, sweet potato, pepper, cabbage and similar plants, in hot beds, they can get an early start and have these for the table earlier than other people.

THE WHISKERS OF LOUIS VII CAUSED A WAR

Louise VII, le Jeune, of France married Eleanor, daughter of the last Duke of Guyenne and Poitou—two provinces of Southern France which she brought with her as her dowry. After the King shaved off his beard the Queen lost her affection for him, obtained a divorce and married King Henry II of England who annexed the two provinces to the English Crown. This started a war between France and England which lasted from 1152 to 1453, and was not terminated until the battle of Rouen, 301 years later.

Louis' brute adornment is probably the most fateful in human history.

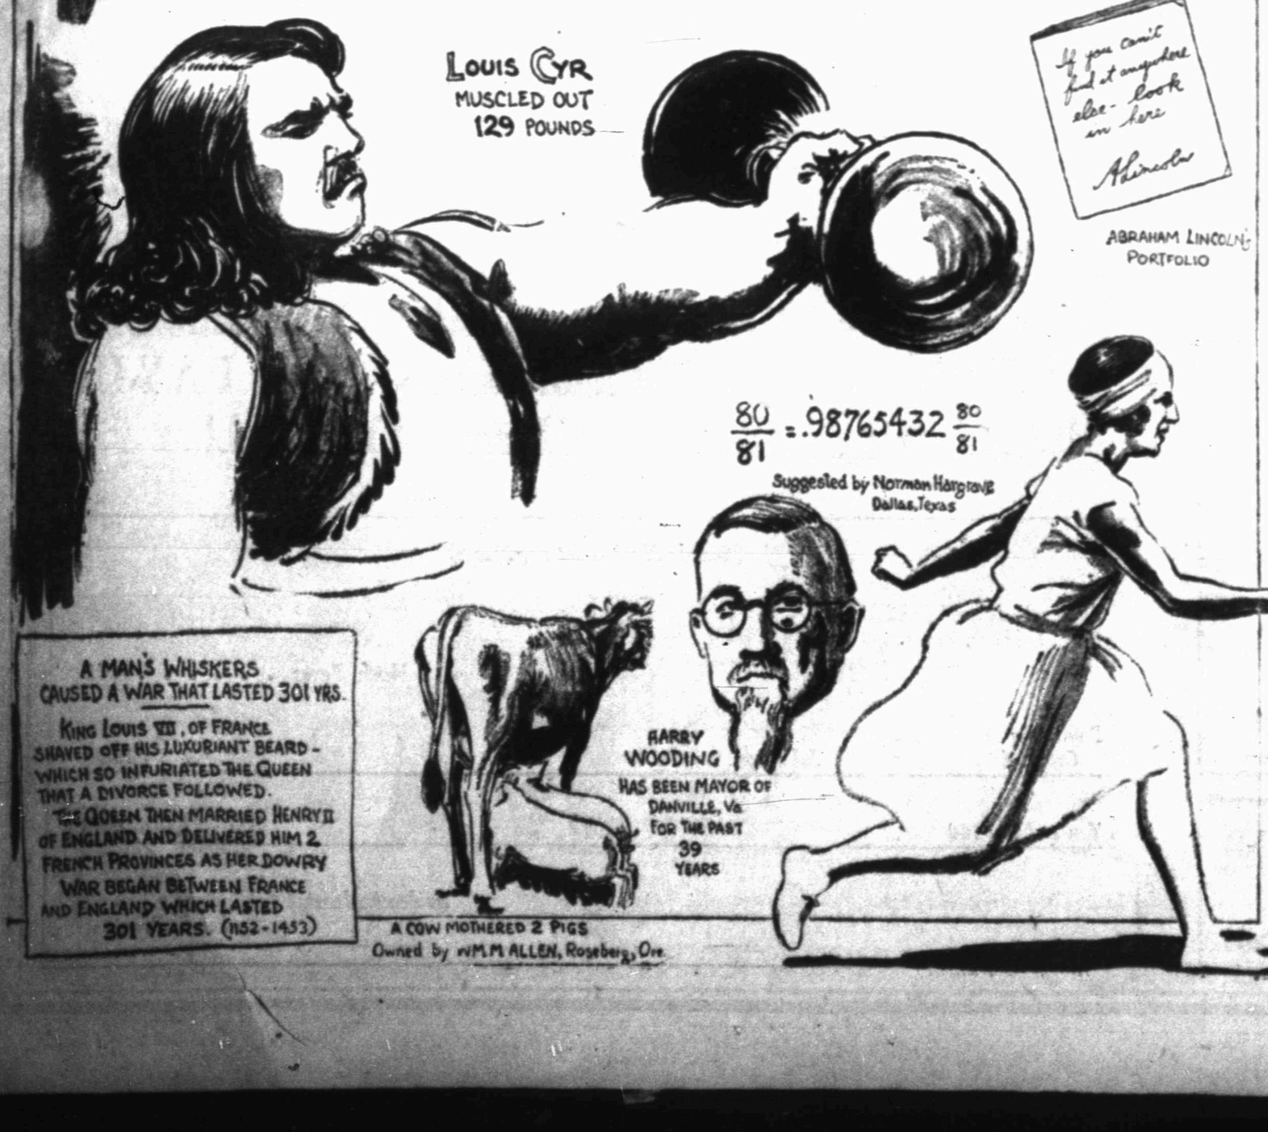

A WHEEL IN PLACE OF A HORSE'S FORELEGS

In observing a horse in motion it is to be seen that the animal is rather unstable because the center of weight lies almost over the forelegs. Hence the fore legs answer the purpose simply of a support to the horse's weight. If we could replace the forelegs with a wheel we would have a motor as efficient as the horse.

Evelyn Miller Pierce Writes Novel Of Romance Of Southwest Background

TEXAS in the Soaring Seventies, when the first railroad, pushing slowly north from the seaport town of Galveston, changed frontier villages into boom towns and pioneers into socially conscious citizens—this is the background for the dramatic story of Amy Lightfoot.

Amy was the daughter of Phil Lightfoot, Virginia gentleman invalided to Texas, and of Mollie O'Shaunnesy, whose father was a bartender in the Long Horn Saloon. Amy was born and brought up on the "wrong side" of Polk, the despised South Side. A lonely little pariah, she peered through closed gates at the more fortunate North Side children. But Amy was beautiful, so beautiful that a great railroad builder fell in love with her.

Woven Into Real Life

The story of Amy's struggle to make a place for herself in Polk; of her romance with the boy who fought for her the first day she went to the North Side school; of her marriage to a man who was one of the greatest financial figures of his time; of her triumphs in the world beyond the power of Polk taboos and of her ultimate return to the hilltop which had come to symbolize her girlhood romance—all this is woven into a rich panorama of American life.

Although all the characters are fictitious, Mrs. Pierce has used many true anecdotes and pioneer reminiscences told her by "old settlers". Her grandfather, William Brown Miller, rode out to Texas on horseback in 1846 and received a land grant about five miles south of the present city of Dallas. The house in which the author's family still lives and in which much of HILLTOP was written, was built on this land in 1855.

Daughter of Barry Miller

Mrs. Pierce is the daughter of Judge Barry Miller, three times lieutenant governor of Texas. Her husband, Alfred Wright Pierce, who died in March, 1930, was for fifteen years on the staff of the New York Sun.

HILLTOP, Mrs. Pierce's first novel, was published by Alfred H. King, Inc., on April 3rd.

Cousin of Lubbock People

Evelyn Miller Pierce is a cousin of Mr. and Mrs. George Albert Simmons of Lubbock.

While HILLTOP is her first novel, Mrs. Pierce has done much newspaper and magazine writing. In 1920 she spent six months in Europe, during which time she wrote a series of articles on post-war conditions for the Dallas Times-Herald. Since then she has been a frequent contributor to Texas and New York newspapers. Her first short story was published in Holland's Magazine in 1918, since which time she has had many short stories and articles published in magazines of national circulation.

Mrs. Pierce was born in Dallas and received her preparatory education there, later attending Columbia University. After the death of her husband last year, Mrs. Pierce returned to Texas to make her home with her parents, former Lt. Gov. and Mrs. Barry Miller.

Brief Reviews On New Books

BLACK LIGHT, By Talbot Mundy, Bobbs Merrill, Indianapolis, 315 pages.

Most of the action in this highly colored romance occurs in a ponderous temple in India, where Buddhists and Hindu teachers blend into serene philosophy. The heroine, a white child, whose parents died of cholera shortly after her birth, was taken by her Indian nurse to be raised by the priests, and watched over by a New England school mistress.

Seeking this maiden, comes Joe, torn between a sense of obligation to his mother and the surge of manhood that has been suppressed.

An exotic atmosphere permeates the story and a psychic phenomenon that produces mystery, but above all a strange and passionate love story that the author makes very real.

THE RAKE AND THE HUSSY. By Robert W. Chambers. D. Appleton & Co., 35 West 32 street, New York. 400 pages.

This book of live adventure is very entertaining, and gives an interesting account of some of the little-known phases of the War of 1812. The central character is the reckless young Joshua Brooke, who is in love with the courageous Naia. They plunge into the thick of the military operations and help Andrew Jackson fight off the British forces by land and sea. All the glamorous chapters in American history are masterfully woven into this dramatic tale. It is a very brilliant historical novel.

As Good As The Publisher's Blurbs

ANNE GREEN'S second novel, "Reader, I Married Him," is one of those rare volumes fully as good as the publisher's blurbs proclaim it. She has produced a delightful book about as outrageously charming a family and their friends as one could ever long to know.

The leading man, Gilbert Hunton, appears something of a stuffed shirt, but is more than compensated for by the charms of the heroine Catherine Douglass, called Catty; her indolent and sophisticated father, Andrew; and her brother, Hugh the Jew, a family of frivolous expatriated Americans who live in Paris in great style on no money, although their lack of funds never gives them any distress, and they become financially independent before the end of the book. The Douglasses and all their friends are gay, witty, amusing, entirely sophisticated, almost too delightful to be true, and withal so completely convincing the reader sees them fairly live and breathe, and sighs to know them in the flesh. They think, say, and do the most amusing things, and the entertainments they invent for themselves are superb.

Love Main Thread

Catty's infatuation with, pursuit of, and final capture of Gilbert form the main thread of the plot, but the ways, means, and results should not be revealed inopportunely. Catty is lazy, extravagant, superstitious, and horribly tenacious, but so captivating that, like Gilbert when he fell in love with her, one rather admires her for these defects than otherwise.

The author has a way with words and phrases, although her style is artfully simple and easy. The gayety, spontaneity, wit, and distinction of her writing form a combination of naïvete and sophistication that is irresistible. However, the best thing one can say of this novel is to recommend most heartily that the reader peruse it for himself, and he will probably go over it at least two times if not more.

Reader, I Married Him, by Anne Green. E. P. Dutton and Company, New York.

A Goblet Is A Male Turkey

"BONERS," a most hilarious book of student errors published by the Viking Press, with illustrations in the same mood, is as good a book of fun as has come from any press in many a day.

The sub-title of this treasure chest of the ridiculous is: "Outline of Misinformation, Golden Treasury of Boners, or Compendium of Errors, containing five hundred confessions of ignorance wrung from schoolboys while on the examination rack."

Whether or not the "boners" are really authentic, there is enough basis for feeling that they could have happened—at least any man or woman who has ever taught school will recognize the general type.

The book is divided into appropriate sections, such as Definitions; Literature and the Arts; Bible, Religions, Myth; etc.

Particular gems from this "Golden Treasury" are difficult to find. Open the book at any page and prepare for side-splitting mirth. Each "boner" seems funnier than the one preceding.

The readers of this the first collection are eagerly awaiting the publishing of the second book of these literary and artistic blunders.

Shipments On Santa Fe Are Active In Area

Increase In Machinery And Building Materials Seen Through Business; Tractors And Plows Shipped

Increasing shipments of machinery, mostly for farms, as well as building materials are reported by Santa Fe railroad officials as coming to Lubbock and the South Plains, indicating a revival of business conditions.

For the most part the shipments that are coming in for agricultural houses are tractors and plows. Some other light machinery is being received. The expected increase of acreage in several counties, notably Bailey, Lamb, Cochran, Hockley, Terry, Gaines and parts of Lynn and Dawson, will bring more business for implement men.

So far the increase in building materials has not been as heavy as had been expected.

THE NEW OLDSMOBILE IS FASTER · · SMOOTHER MORE BEAUTIFUL AND LOWER IN PRICE

There are several good reasons why the new Oldsmobile will appeal to you as a soundly-designed, sturdily-built, and thoroughly capable car.

First, it is unusually fast—in both getaway and top speed. It goes swiftly out front in traffic . . . holds a lead on the road . . . and is always smooth and quiet.

Credit for this finer performance goes directly to several new Oldsmobile features. Chief among these is new down-draft carburetion . . . the source of greater power, increased smoothness, and higher efficiency. Important, too, is a new carburetor-silencer, which contributes to quieter operation at all driving speeds.

This finer performance is the more pleasing because of the remarkable ease of control that goes with it. Oldsmobile's new Synchro-Mesh transmission—a feature heretofore found only in higher priced cars—eliminates gear clashing. And a new Quiet Second Gear, added to Oldsmobile's Synchro-Mesh transmission, assures smooth, swift acceleration which rivals high gear performance in quietness.

You will find as you drive the new Oldsmobile, that its finer performance and ease of control bring new pleasure to motoring. But you will find pleasure, too, in the new grace and beauty which have been added to its distinctive appearance. Refinements in design give special emphasis to Oldsmobile's long, low, fleet-looking lines. And smart new tailoring and appointments add to the attractiveness of its new Fisher body interiors.

Such, in brief, is the new Oldsmobile for 1931 . . . a fine car made still finer . . . faster, smoother, more beautiful . . . and lower in price!

Services To Mark Easter Observance In City Today

Adoration Of Risen Christ Theme Of Observances

From early down today until well after dark, people of Lubbock will join all Christendom for the traditional services in adoration of the risen Christ.

Townsmen were to join with students of Texas Technological college this morning in an Easter sunrise prayer service that is becoming one of the institutions traditions. Instrumental music from the east tower of the administration building was to open the service and at 7 o'clock a trumpet to call the assembly to worship.

To Sing Solo

Mrs. G. E. McCelvey was to sing as a vocal solo, "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth" and E. L. Dohoney was to read the scripture lesson. The prayer was to be by Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of the institution.

Fred W. Sparks will tell the Easter story after which Mrs. Ray Mowery will read from "An Unknown Disciple." The group will leave in silence to the strains of violin music played by Miss Josephine Winslow, accompanied at the piano by W. R. Waghorne. Mr. Waghorne will direct group singing and Harry LeMaire is in charge of the music.

This program was prepared by students of the institution directed by Miss Jo Wilder, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., Jack Boyd, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. and Miss Mary De Bardeleben.

Hold Sunrise Service

Continuing an observance of the past eight years, members of the congregation of the First Christian church were to gather at the church at 6:30 o'clock this morning for a sunrise service and period of prayer and meditation.

Churches of the city are bringing a pre-Easter revival to a close in some instances while others are to continue services for another week.

Baptism of infants and reception of members into the church will be a feature of the morning hour at the First Presbyterian church today. Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor, is to preach on "It Is Finished", the last words of Christ on the cross. The choir will sing an Easter anthem.

Masons To Attend

At the evening service Masons of Lubbock Commandry number 60 are to be present in a unit. The men will meet at the Masonic hall at 7 o'clock and march to the church in a body in uniforms.

The choir is to present Ward's "Victory Divine" as an anthem. Harry Blocker is choir director and Miss Margaret Huff will be at the piano.

A special service is to be at the First Christian church this evening beginning at 8 o'clock. Following the processional, "Crown Him With Many Crowns" (Elvy), Rev. Walter P. Jennings, pastor, is to give the invocation. A male quartet composed of H. W. Moore, Herbert Carlock, Arthur Brown and Dr. S. S. McKay will sing "The Old Rugged Cross." Mrs. W. R. Blake is to read the scripture lesson and Mrs. K. T. Thomas is to play as a violin solo, "The Holy City."

To Sing Cantata

"The King of Glory", a choral cantata composed by R. S. Morrison, is to be sung by the choir under the direction of Mr. Moore with Mrs. Paul Morgan at the piano.

A prelude is to be followed by a chorus, "This Is the Day", after which Mrs. F. O. Kelley is to sing "O, Lord Thou Art My God." Two choruses follow. These are "Sing Unto the Lord a New Song" and "Who Is The King Of Glory".

The second prelude follows after a brief interval and then comes a duet and chorus "Come, See The Place Where The Lord Lay." Mrs. J. S. Rider and Mrs. H. W. Moore are to sing. A chorus "Now Is Christ Risen" will be followed by a solo, "There Is No Death" by H. W. Moore and a trio, "Lo, I Am With You Always", sang by Miss Louise Jennings, Mrs. D. W. Robertson and Mrs. T. W. Waddill. The final chorus is "Behold The King Of Glory."

Plan Open House

Young people in the church are to hold an open house in the church annex from six until seven o'clock.

Five living pictures of Passion week will be presented at senior young peoples assembly at the First Baptist church this evening. A mixed quartet is to sing. Miss Hazel Kokanour and Miss Helen Jackson are in charge of arrangements.

Services at the West End Baptist church will conitnue through next week, according to an announcement from the pastor, the Rev. Boyd P. Milburn. Nine members have been received into the church during the revival of the past week.

Dr. Marshall Craig, of Dallas, pastor of the Gaston Avenue Baptist church, is to preach during the coming week at the First Baptist church at services to be conducted daily at 9 o'clock in the morning and at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Services are to continue at the Church of the Nazarene daily at 9 a. m. and 8 p. m. through next week, according to the pastor, the Rev. R. M. Hooker.

FOOL-PROOF FLOWERS

Roses, lilies of the valley and other plants now come all bundled up in tinfoil and moss which you merely put in a room and without your even watering them, and even if the sun doesn't shine, they will bloom.

FRUIT HOLDER

If you are worn out chasing oranges, lemons and other fruit and vegetables around your refrigerator, you will welcome a new tray for restraining them on a single shelf with no chance to roll off.

MAY YOUR JOYS BE COMPLETE

Nineteen Hundred and Thirty-One years ago the world was shocked into a new existence, a greater conception of values, a new point of view toward life. After Jesus was crucified, the mighty principles typified and practiced in His life found their place in humanity—For the good. Time started, for beginning with the birth of Christ, seasons were measured into years, years into centuries, and centuries into the life of nations. But with all the changes in peoples, nations, and the world generally, the precepts of justice and "right doing" as set forth by the Master, have not changed. They are far more important today, and have reached a consequence in the lives of millions of people that cannot be measured, nor has this force ever been excelled by any idea every originated by any man.

"Serving The Greatest Number of People at The Lowest Possible Cost."

falling on the watershed and running down the stream costs nothing, it has been said—just like "the berries on the brier, or the water in the well, or the fish in the sea, or the fox in the forest."

This is true.

But it has taken inventive genius, the spirit of pioneering, human ingenuity, heart-breaking effort and thousands of millions of dollars to convert that rain into power for the use of man.

It is not true that the water powers developed the electric light and power industry. It was the electric light and power industry that made possible the present-day development of water powers.

Had title to all lands and water powers been retained by sovereigns and governments, most of them would be right now in exactly the same condition as when God made them.

"Silent" Film Of Famed Star Is At Lindsey

Gangster Picture Is Current Attraction At Palace; Will Present "Body And Soul" Starting On Thursday

Lubbock moviegoers have been waiting, no doubt, to see the one motion picture star who has refused to go "talkie"—the old favorite, Charlie Chaplin.

The undisputed king of comedy has held back doggedly in Hollywood's rapid trend of talking pictures. In the era of sound pictures, Chaplin has broken the new filmdom precendent; he has produced a "silent" picture, "City Lights."

To Start Today

"City Lights" will be shown at the Lindsey theater for four days starting today. It brings to the screen once again the Chaplin who, with his famous mustache, cane, derby, huge trousers and large shoes, has in the past brought laughs from millions both in America and abroad.

LEILA HYAMS

One would think that after such a deluge of talkies a silent film would be dull and tiresome. Not so, claim the movie critics in cities where "City Lights" has been presented. They brand it as a masterpiece—a masterpiece of sterling acting and one that only a Chaplin could produce.

Although the picture is heralded as a silent picture is not that entirely; it is snychronized but is different from the usual run of modern pictures in that it contains no sound dialogue. Chaplin has long contended that the talkies are an inferior medium of screen entertainment, that dialogues limits the field of expression. Through sheer pantomime he attempts to prove his point in "City Light," said by many to be his supreme production.

As was typical of the old Chaplin pictures, his latest offering is not only a comedy. It is a powerful drama of human sacrafice, biting pathos and delightful romance. Chaplin appears in his world-famous tramp role. He wrote the picture himself. And another thing, the love theme does not border on sex.

New Star Introduced

In addition to presenting Charles Farrel in a leading role, "Body and Soul," which shows at the Lindsey for three days starting Thursday, introduces to American movie audiences a beautiful new screen actress. She is Elissa Landi, brought from an acting career in Europe to the American stage and then drafted to Hollywood. Miss Landi is a blonde actress of rare beauty and acting ability.

She is seen in the role of a mysterious girl who is accused of being a spy. She is especially convincing in her passionate, yet tender, love for Farrel, who appears as an American soldier. He becomes enamoured with the girl, who, later, involves him in a charge of espionage.

Gang Picture Showing

A love story that was written on a police blotter.

That is the theme of "The Last Parade," a gangster picture which is the current attraction at the Palace. Starting yesterday it will continue through tomorrow.

Giant newspaper presses are whirling full blast carrying to the world news of a notorious racketeer's sensational escape. This gangster previously had threated to send "for a ride" the reporter who wrote the story. The paper was barely on the street when the threat was carried out. That is one of the key situations in the "The Last Parade." The cast is headed by Jack Holt, Tom Moore and Constance Cummings.

JACK HOLT

"The Matrimonial Bed," a sophisticated comedy of French life, is the Palace attraction Tuesday and Wednesday. The cast includes Lilyan Tashman, Florence Eldridge, James Gleason and a flock of others. The picture is heralded as one of the funniest comedies ever screened.

"Men Call It Love," with Adolphe Menjou, Leila Hyams and Mary Duncan in the leading roles, will be shown at the Palace Thursday and Friday.

Comedy At Lyric

Those who missed seeing "Just Imagine" when it was presented here the first time, should take advantage of the opportunity of seeing its second showing here. Starring El Brendel, the laugh riot shows at the Lyric for three days starting today. The picture steps into the future, depicting what is to be (perhaps) in the world of tomorrow. The situations in which a man becomes entangled after many years sleep are, to say the least, exciting and laugh provoking.

Milton Sills will be seen in the leading role of "Sea Wolf," which comes to the Lyric theater Wednesday and Thursday.

"Big Trail," with an all-star cast, will be the Lyric attraction Friday and Saturday.

New barons to the number of over 440 have been created during the reign of King George of England.

At the THEATERS

Here is Charlies Farrel who is to appear in a leading role of "Body and Soul" which appears at the Lindsey starting Thursday.

Elissa Landi, above, makes her first American screen appearance in "Body and Soul", attraction at the Lindsey starting Thursday.

Drouth Loans In Southland Total $22,485,486 Now

Up to March 27, the federal government had loaned to farmers in the drouth regions of the nation a total of $22,485,486, Secretary of Agriculture Hyde announced prior to making a trip into the south to discuss plans for the work. Twenty nine states were included in the loans.

Texas farmers received $1,749,282, according to Secretary Hyde.

Arkansas received the most loans, $5,217,597; Mississippi was second with $2,422,541; Louisiana third with $1,957,337 and Texas ranked fourth. Virginia, Alabama, Kentucky, Missouri, Oklahoma and Tennessee all received more than a million dollars each in loans.

Total number of loans was 146,686 up to and including March 27, the secretary announced.

There's A Hot Time When Movie Stars Hit Town

BY GENE COHN
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, April 4.—Hollywood's annual crop of celebrated vacationers has headed home again.

The few weeks allotted the film stars for play and relaxation in New York has been another hectic round of shopping, theater-going, dancing, dining and party-tossing. As usual, they return to the routine of the cinema lots with a high score for covering an amazing amount of territory. Many of them will have put in a 16-hour day, at least—but they've had a swell time.

What do they do in Manhattan?

Well—the pretty maidens of the movies invariably take home a small fortune in new clothes. Shopping and play-going head each program.

Fortunes For Clothes

The smart shops of Fifth Avenue and Fifty-seventh street estimate a quarter of a million as a modest figure for the sartorial bill. The figures, however, vary. Several spend around $5000 to $10,000 on a few new fur coats alone. A wrap robe costing around $10,000 is not unusual.

Constance Bennett for years has had the reputation of being one of the best customers of the exclusive places. On one occasion she was reported to have laid in something like $100,000 worth of frills and furbelows. This she has denied as a rather unreasonable amount.

Marion Davies also has a high shopping record. Ina Claire, herself a New Yorker, is another of the 'best dressed" women of the films. Gloria Swanson, although absent thus far this season, is another of the "avenoo's" best customers. And there are many others.

See All The Shows

There is an unwritten law that the vacationers must attend all the new plays. This is particularly true of directors, who keep an eye on every production with a view toward future picture making. Some see the same show half a dozen times. All of the Hollywooders average from 14 to 30 different shows.

On the other hand, there are many movie folk, actors and directors, who spend a great deal of their time studying the city in all its aspects.

Ramon Navarro, for instance, goes to the quieter hotels and registers under his true name, which is Samaniegos. This always serves as a disguise until he is recognized in public. He spends some time in Bryant Park, watching the bench warmers and observing the city characters. Having a yen for singing, he attends the Metropolitan and the symphonies.

Greta Garbo was at a leading hotel for two weeks on her last visit before anyone knew she was in town. She registered under a fictitious name. Richard Dix also takes another name until he is ready to step into the limelight.

Stops Off At Home

Kay Francis is one of the few to spend a few days in the old home towns en route. A daughter of Oklahoma, she routes via the old state and drops off at New Orleans, where she has relatives.

Estelle Taylor always visits her 72-year-old flapper grandmother.

Helen Twelvetrees is another New Yorker who is seen going about with old cronies. Clara Bow goes to Brooklyn, her home town, and usually denies herself to the metropolitan reporters.

Jack Oakie affects the name of "Stuart Erwin." Besought by autograph hunters and asked if he is Jack Oakie, he will reply, "No, I'm Stuart Erwin."

Bill Powell, the amusing villain, hits for the Lambs Club immediately and looks up all his old friends there.

While many of them are seen about the city's night life, both by way of publicity gestures and for diversion, Harlem has been a favorite spot. Lilyan Tashman, who has many society friends in New York, visited practically all of the negro cafes upon her last trip.

Some Shun Spotlight

The supper clubs and night spots, whether ultra-swank or merely popular, are inveriably taken in. And, of course, the Hollywooders are on dress parade and are spotlighted by the masters of ceremony. Harold Lloyd invariably pleads with the entertainment chief to leave him alone and prefers not to be pointed out. So does Charles Chaplin.

As all the paragraphers will inform you sooner or later, you can never tell for sure what particular personality you're likely to encounter in an evening of cabaret browsing. It may be Lois Moran and it may be Dick Barthelmess; it may be one of the Talmadges, Mary Brian, Dorothy Mackaill or Nancy Carroll.

YESTERDAY'S ANSWER

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinymites found Mandalay a very pretty place to stay. The folks who lived there all seemed kind. Said Scouty, "This is great. The natives seem to make a fuss as soon as they see all of us. I'll bet we have some treats in store and I can hardly wait."

"Well, first of all, we'll ride around and we can cover lots of ground," explained the kindly Travel Man. "I'll rent a little cart. You'll laugh when you see what we'll get and you'll be scared of it, I'll bet." And then he hired a cart that looked as if 'twould fall apart.

"Don't worry," said the Travel Man, as up to it the Tinies ran. "It looks real frail, but it is safe. Hop on and off we'll go." So, in they clambered and down the road there rode a happy little load. They saw all that there was to see because they traveled slow.

All of a sudden Clowny said, "Oh, there's a fine stream just ahead. And look at all the funny boats. They look like dragons. Gee! The men who paddle them are quick. They knew just how to turn the trick. And every boat moves right along as smoothly as can be."

"Well, well," the Travel Man cried out. "Let's find what they are all about. We've had enough of this small cart. We'll transfer to a boat. We'll have a ride and then, what's more, we'll get a fine view of the shore." When they got in wee Copsy said, "I hope we stay afloat."

The ride was really heaps of fun and as they moved beneath the sun the Tinymites all eyed the boat and finally Carpy said, "No wonder we were scared to death. Why, even now, I catch my breath. That thing up front, that sticks up high is like a dragon's head."

MAD LAUGHTER

of the case was inscribed:
ERSONAL. URGENT.
HE ASSISTANT COMMISSIONER
CRIMINAL INVESTIGATION
SCOTLAND YARD, S. W. 1.

"Well, that's a rum thing!" exclaimed Limmer. "Lucky I was out when this was dropped. I wonder what's inside it?"

"Says 'personal'," suggested one of the others. "Perhaps it's a Christmas pudding for the Assistant Commissioner from some of his admirers. It's heavy enough. What are we going to do about it?"

"You two chaps stop here and keep an eye on it, while I ride back and tell the sergeant," replied Limmer.

After some argument, based upon the contention that the case was more likely to run away if left to itself, this course was agreed to. The sergeant, not best pleased at having three of his men engaged on a matter which did not concern them, snorted indignantly. "It's Scotland Yard's business, not theirs," he said. "I'll ring them up and tell them. The lorry ought to have got here by now and the driver will find out that he's lost the case. He'll learn who he is that way, I know."

The sergeant went away to telephone. After a few minutes he returned. "The lorry hasn't turned up yet," he said. "If it arrives within the next hour or so, they'll send it back. If not, they'll send out a van of their own. Anyway, I can't spare half the Force to watch the blasted thing. You get back there and stop till some one comes and send the other two fellows in."

Limmer commenced his vigil without any great enthusiasm. He spent most of his time walking up and down the lane to keep himself warm, varying this exercise by sitting on the box and smoking a surreptitious cigarette. The hours passed slowly enough, and it was not until ten o'clock that the glare of approaching headlights appeared.

The headlights were those of a police-tender. The vehicle drew up beside him and half a dozen men jumped out. It had evidently called at Brentbridge police station on its way. The driver of the tender inspected the case and whistled. "We're going to have a job with this!" he exclaimed. "Lucky I thought of picking up you fellows."

With some difficulty the case was picked up and deposited in the tender, which immediately drove off in the direction of London.

Millions Work In Car Industries

Stations Gird To Battle For Greater Power

Automobile's Growth Made Many Jobs

More Than 4,500,000 Workers Employed In Industry Established Since Opening Of Twentieth Century

BY WILLIS THORNTON
NEA Service Writer

Probably no single factor affected more profoundly the years from 1900 to 1920 than the automobile. The realization of the old dream of self-propeled vehicles and their development on a mass scale, changed life within our own time as few things ever did before.

One of the pronounced changes it brought was the creation of literally millions of jobs. The automobile threw many teamsters, hostlers, carriage-builders out of work. But that was nothing as compared to the creation of a new industry which, according to most recent estimates, gives employment directly and indirectly to more than four and a half million men.

Industries Work Many

While fewer than a half million of these are actually at work producing automobiles, and perhaps 200,000 more in producing parts, almost every line of business is touched closely by the automotive. For instance, 80 per cent of the rubber and gasoline refining industries depend on the motor car, and would not have developed had it not preceded them. So with 67 per cent of the plate glass, 62 per cent of the alloy steel, 30 per cent of the aluminum, and so on. There are more than a million professional truck drivers, and another half-million private chauffeurs in the country.

Calculate for yourself the number of workers in the 350,000 filling stations that dot every road. Guess at the number of employes of 50,000 agencies, 50,000 public garages, and 180,000 service and accessory shops. Then you may have some idea of the effect of one idea in finding work for men to do.

An Old Dream

Here again, it was an old dream. And here again, the realization came not from the brain of one man, but from many, racing toward a common goal which lay close ahead, in plain sight of all of them.

Sir Isaac Newton proposed a self-propeled vehicle in 1680, which was to be driven by a steam jet shooting out behind the car and thus propelling it forward. It is odd that this first concrete suggestion for an automobile should be along the same lines as the most advanced plans of today, the rocket cars.

But Newton, discoverer of the law of gravitation, never tried to build his steam rocket car. Perhaps the first successful self-propeled vehicle was that of Nicholas Cugnot, a Frenchman, who in 1770 built a three-wheeled steam carriage with a cumbersome boiler. America did not get into this game until after the Revolution, when Oliver Evans experimented with steam road cars in 1787, planning to use them on the roads to the rapidly opening western country. Steam coaches occupied people's mind until almost the end of the 19th century.

In 1885, a German, Gottlieb Daimler, really opened the gate to the motor age. He patented the first high-speed internal combustion engine. About the same time, his countryman, Benz, built a motor tricycle which functioned. And in 1894, Krebs designed the Panhard car, which had a vertical engine under a hood, a modern chassis, sliding differential gears, clutch and foot brake, and foot accelerator: in essence, a modern car.

From that time on, Germany, France, England and the United States raced madly to complete their work. The early names in American motoring are not forgotten, and honors for the rapid improvement of early primitive cars are hotly disputed and almost equally shared among Duryea, Olds, Haynes, Winton, Ford, Maxwell, Apperson, Riker, Clarke, Stanley, White, and Franklin.

But the one man who perhaps had a more far-reaching effect on the motor age in this country than any of them is rather less known, though he died only in 1922. He was George B. Selden, who in 1895 was a young attorney in Rochester, N. Y. He had been applying for various automotive patents since 1872, and in 1895 was granted the first American patent for the internal combustion propulsion. With it were granted others, all to Selden, safeguarding to him this motor and all its clutching and gearing arrangements.

These were the basic, fundamental patents on which all successful automobile building in this country depended for many years.

Along Auto Row In Lubbock

Brief Bits Of News About Automobile Dealers, Sales And Activities Of The Industry In Local Circles

SALES CONTINUE INCREASE

Automobile sales, from the display rooms and from the used car lots, continue to increase. Eleven new machines were delivered last week and thirty-three used cars were moved off local lots.

COMMERCIAL STOCK SOLD

Officials of the National Automobile Dealers' Association point out as evidence that business conditions are gradually swinging back to normalcy the fact that more commercial stuff is being sold now than at any time during the past year. All over the nation, wholesale and retail houses are buying new trucks and drays. This increase in sales of commercial automobiles is said to prove that at least a feeling of optimism on the part of American business men is becoming more and more evident. Lubbock dealers report an increase in the sales of commercial bodies, trucks, delivery wagons and pick-up bodies.

OAKLANDS, PONTIACS SELL

Scoggin-Dickey Oakland and Pontiac Company took a number of prospective buyers driving last week and the books at the end of the second week of its spring sales campaign showed three new cars and seven used machines had been delivered. The company's report to the home office for the last ten days of March included five new car deliveries and the sale of eleven used jobs. Last week a new Pontiac coupe was delivered to J. K. Hill of Seagraves. R. F. Humphries of Lubbock bought a new Pontiac coach and C. B. Brooke of Lubbock purchased a new coach. The company received a car load of new machines during the week.

BUY NEW FORDS

New Fords last week went to O. L. Slaton, V-8 Victoria coupe; D. N. Stokes, four-door sedan; and W. L. Daniel, two-door sedan. The Lubbock Auto Company dispensed with eight used cars last week.

KUYKENDALL SELLS 13 CARS

Kuykendall Chevrolet Company led the sales last week with three new and ten used cars passing off the floors. It was a big week for local Chevrolet dealers, what with the arrival of a shipment of new cars that contained a new five-passenger sport coupe. The new car is built along the lines of the Ford Victoria. A two-door affair with sport treatment throughout, the new Fisher body has the same practical seating arrangement found in the conventional two-door sedan.

TO CUT TRANSFER COSTS

Lubbock auto dealers received last week an outline of senate bill No. 40 recently passed by the state governor which should be of interest to used car buyers. While it may not go into effect for a period of 90 days, the new bill cuts the used car transfer fee from $1 to 25 cents. A person is required by law to file transfer slips within ten days after buying a car, or be subject to a fine.

DRIVING CHEVROLETS

W. L. Barnes bought a new Chevrolet sport coupe last week. A new coach was delivered to Paul Hunt and the Perfection Stove company of Dallas bought a new Chevrolet coach from the local company. Kuykendall Chevrolet sold ten used cars.

NEW CHRYSLERS DELIVERED

The Hub Motor company got back in the running last week by delivering two new Chryslers. Rev. J. O. Haymes, pastor of the First Methodist Church, bought a Chrysler 6 sedan and Mrs. R. M. Chitwood, assistant dean of women at Texas Tech, purchased a new Chrysler 6 coupe.

RADIO IS EQUIPMENT

A feature of the new Chrysler Eight and Imperial Eight is the wiring for radio that comes as standard equipment. All closed models of the eight-cylinder Chrysler are wired for the installation of radio sets. Aerials are concealed in the roof and connection wires come to the dash. Tuning dials may be installed in the dash.

EXPECTING NEW CARS

Ratliff-Rogers Company, dealers in Buick, are expecting a car load of new automobiles this week. No new car deliveries were reported last week, though the company parted with three used machines.

More than $500,000 worth of ash timber was shipped from Nacogdoches county, Texas, during 1930.

April 14 Date Set For Board To Hear Pleas

New Power Schedule For U. S. Stations Recommended By Examiner; Zones Allotted Throughout Nation

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 4. — The battle between broadcasters for maximum power privileges will be renewed before the federal radio commission here April 14.

The commission will hold a hearing on the recommendations of its chief examiner, Ellis A. Yost, that eight stations be granted increases in power to 50,000 watts, and 11 stations to 25,000 watts. Several stations which were not recommended for the maximum, and others which failed to receive Yost's approval for any increase, already have filed briefs attacking his report.

Applicants Listed

Maximum power applicants in the first radio zone are WHAM, Rochester, N. Y.; WBZ, Boston; WOR, Newark; WJZ, New York. Yost recommended 50,000 watts for WJZ and 25,000 for the other three. The latter contended he erred in failing to approve their requests for 50,000.

Clear channel applicants for high power in the second zone are WCAU, Philadelphia, and WHAS, Louisville. Yost recommended 50,000 for the Philadelphia station and 25,000 for the Louisville transmitter. Counsel for the two stations will present competitive claims for 50,000 watts at the commission's hearing.

Tulsa In Third Zone

High power applicants in the third zone are WAPI, Birmingham; WSM, Nashville; WSB, Atlanta; WBT, Charlotte, and KVOO, Tulsa. Yost picked WSM and WSB for the 50,000 ratings and the other three for 25,000.

In the fourth zone a battle is being waged for the power. Applicants for 50,000 watts are WHO-WOC, Des Moines; WCCO Minneapolis; WTMJ, Milwaukee, and four Chicago stations, WGN, WMAQ, WBBM, WCFL. Yost recommended 50,000 watts for WCCO and WGN and 25,000 watts for WHO and WMAQ. He reported adversely against the applications of WTMJ, a regional station, and WCFL, a limited time station.

In the fifth zone there are four applicants for high power. KGO Oakland, KOA, Denver, KPO, San Francisco, and KSL, Salt Lake City. Yost recommended 50,000 watts for KOA and KPO and 25,000 for KGO and KSL.

Two regional stations seeking maximum power are WWJ, Detroit, and WREC, Memphis. Yost recommended that the applications of both be denied.

Lester Efird, of Oakboro, N. C., won the corn contest in 16 counties by producing 99.2 bushels per acre.

Six Students Of Tech To Assist Mowery In Show

Six students in agriculture at Texas Technological college will assist Ray C. Mowery, of the animal husbandry department, who will be the judge of livestock contests at the fourth annual Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show in Plainview this week.

Students selected by Mr. Mowery are: T. W. Giddens, T. J. Harris, J. B. Parks, P. G. Powers, J. P. Williams, and C. Sparkman.

High school students who are taking vocational agriculture work in their respective schools and 4-H club boys, working under the county agents, will compete in the contests. The students from Tech were all connected with the recent annual vocational contests and have handled judging work along the lines of the dairy show contests.

ALL ALL... ARE GONE

Old Familier Faces

When Scott's Service Station opened April 4, 1922 at 709 Broadway, other people were engaged in the same business about the city of Lubbock. Today, every man who was in the Gas, Oil and Tire business in 1922, is gone. Where or why, we don't know. But we do know this, that the growth of Scott's Service Station from a small one-man affair in a 25x40 building to SIX modern stations, four operated by Scott, employing 12 men regularly, has not been by mere chance.

SERVICE, plus the loyalty of all employees, some having been with us for over five years, are the words which tell you why we have expanded constantly, and why the public has accepted the particular oil, gas and tire service offered by Scott's.

9th ANNIVERSARY

NINE YEARS OF SERVICE

As we commemorate our nine years in Lubbock, nine years of service to Lubbock people, we are happy, not that we are the only ones left who were in this business in 1922, but that the service offered by us has lived, and continues to grow.

We retail and wholesale American Gas & Oils, also sell Seiberling Tires, which, are positively quality tires. Our storage service is complete and safe. With our modern equipment, just installed, we are enabled to give you the very best washing and greasing service in the city today. We hold every Scott station to a definite standard of service, a service that has been attained through nine years of experience in satisfying customers. With a measure of pardonable pride in our history, we pledge ourselves to constant improvement in the future. Come and see us.

ORGANIZING CHURCH

MULESHOE, (Staff Special)—Rev. J. F. Matthis of Lubbock, a minister of the Christian church, has started the temporary organization of a Christian church in the YL community, near here. There will be 20 or more charter members, some of them living in Muleshoe, it is expected.

Tech Not To Enter Exhibit Of Products In Dairy Show

For the first time in several years the dairy manufacturing department of the school of agriculture at Texas Technological college will not have an exhibit of its work at the annual Panhandle-South Plains dairy show which will be held in Plainview from Monday to Thursday.

Reason for the non-showing of the department of the show is the fact that K. M. Renner, head of the department, it to be the judge of dairy products. "I did not think it would be fair for our department to have an exhibit, when I was the judge, so we did not make our plans to send one to Plainview," Mr. Renner stated.

RETURNS TO LAMESA

LAMESA, (Staff Special)—Loo Randals, who formerly was in the lumber business here before going to Hobbs N. M., when the oil field boom was on, has returned. He has opened up a yard of his own at First and Dallas. Mr. Randals was formerly manager of the Higginbotham-Bartlett company yard here.

Raw silk production in Japan is again increasing.

The Daily Milk

When the milkman brings your milk, do you step to the sink immediately and pour out a portion of it? Certainly not!

Then why do such a thing with Natural Gas?

Burners clogged with lint and dust; appliances unsuited for Natural Gas; and small leaks in connection, often waste as much gas as is actually needed in the home.

Remember, water can't get hotter after it begins boiling. And don't permit gas to burn wastefully between the cooking of dishes.

Do not burn gas in heating appliances with doors and windows wide open.

Satisfied customers constitute our best asset. They are worth more to us than any revenue derived from gas which is wasted.
