Rocket Track Men Rate High In State Meet

Wellington's Skyrockets brought home honors from the State Interscholastic track and field meet, held recently in Austin, winning second place in the 440 yard relay.

Hoot Gibson, competing in the low hurdles, placed fifth.

Coach Maxey McKnight's relay team included Clyde Ingram, Virgil White, Hoot Gibson and Seldon Wood, running in that order.

They lost the state contest to Brenham, a team from a school considerably larger than Wellington's. Third place went to the Robstown team, also representing a school larger than this. Both teams, Coach McKnight pointed out, have regular relay tracks to practice on, while the Rockets do not.

Brenham's time was 44.1, while the Rockets came in with 44.2. That team is the only one to have defeated the Rockets, which this year has won the Panhandle Relays, the district and regional contests.

Wood and Gibson, seniors this year, were participating in their last athletic event for the school.

Cal Farley Tells Rotary Of Work at Boys Ranch

Cal Farley, founder of Boys Ranch at Old Tascosa, came back to Wellington Tuesday, May 6, to pick up a local boy who was going to the Ranch, and at the Rotary Club luncheon gave local business men and visitors from Wellington, Dodson and Childress an idea of the work that is being done with what he calls "the bottom 10 per cent of the kids."

Following the meeting, plans were laid with a group of women from the three towns for a financial drive, in which regular contributions, even for small amounts, will be sought for Boys Ranch, to meet the expenses of the boys now there and to enlarge it to care for others.

There will be no big drive, but workers will solicit funds as they can on a continuing basis.

There are now 152 boys at Boys Ranch, coming from 22 states, Mr. Farley said.

"The first problem is to get a kid fired up," he told the Rotarians as he described the process of introducing a boy to the ranch.

Most of the youngsters coming to Boys Ranch are from broken homes or where they are not wanted. "Many of them know only the rule of the alley, slipping up on a fellow, hitting him from behind and then running," he explained.

Farley paid tribute to the Amarillo Mavrick Club, where an effort was made to take these youngsters and

Dodson Co-op Co-operates on Calf Program

SALINA, KANSAS — J. J. Vanier, owner of the CK Ranch at Brookville, Kansas, announced today that there would be a new event held in conjunction with the annual CK Ranch Field Day, July 19.

The added feature will be a special auction for top quality Hereford and Angus calves in which Gooch Red Circle points will be used for payment.

Co-operating in this program is the Dodson Farmers Co-operative Gin, dealer for Gooch Red Circle Feeds in this area.

In announcing the special feature, Vanier stated, "Boys and girls throughout the entire Midwest area are seeking top quality calves. Their ability to acquire such animals has been dependent upon how much money they could accumulate and how far it went in competition with older buyers."

"In this special feature of our annual CK Field Day," Vanier added, "only Gooch Red Circle points will be used."

"Any boy or girl who will use the calf in a club feeding project is eligible and all they have to do is collect enough Red Circle points between now and auction day July 19 — to be the highest bidder. Now, those kids who are long on energy and resourcefulness will have an opportunity to bid in good calves because in this feature, cash doesn't count."

Full details of the special event are being mailed to all County Agents and to all Gooch Feed Dealers. In all, ten calves will be put up in the Red Circle Auction, five Hereford and five Angus. Boys and girls in Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota, Wyoming, Colorado, Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, and New Mexico are eligible. ## Texas Homemaker

Mrs. Rufus Sweat In Group Honored At Soil Conservation Awards Banquet

Mrs. Rufus Sweat was officially designated as Texas Homemaker of the Year at the annual Awards Banquet in which the men and one woman who were designated as having done the most for soil conservation during the year were honored.

This is a part of the "Save the Soil and Save Texas" contests, sponsored by the Scripps Howard newspapers of Texas and begun by Walter Humphrey and the Fort Worth Press.

Mrs. Sweat is the first winner Collingsworth County has had in the contest, although this year's Outstanding Farmer was Thomas C. D'Spain of Alameda, in the Donley Soil Conservation District.

Accompanying Mrs. Sweat to Fort Worth for the banquet were Mr. Sweat and Miss Jo Wylie, county home demonstration agent. Concerning Mrs. Sweat and her award, The Fort Worth Press said in part:

"To be a farmer's wife is a job within itself."

The Texas Homemaker of the Year, Mrs. Rufus Sweat, of Wellington, in the Texas Panhandle, was speaking.

"I have taught school, and clerked in a store, but I still prefer farming to all the other occupations."

Mrs. Sweat likes the farm because she puts so much into it, and, in turn, gets so much out of it. Although she was born on the farm, she doesn't hold with old farm methods and appearances. Especially appearances.

FARM BEAUTY

Since the farm is nestled in nature's most picturesque setting, she sees no reason why the farm home should not be as eye-catching as the most costly city mansion. If it is planned right. And planning right won for Mrs. Sweat the coveted Homemaker of 1951 title in The Press' "Save the Soil and Save Texas" conversation awards program.

She planned the big picture. Then she took care of the little things.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Cottonseed is going into the ground at a rapid rate. There will be another large planting in the Wellington area. The Farmers Co-op Gin has been operating its delinting plant 19 hours a day since March; but now it is operating 24 hours a day and they are seven days behind. Lots of cotton will be planted regardless of how much will be harvested.

Went to see Jones Singley about an ad for maize, kaffir, sudan and sorghum seed that he generally runs in the paper about this time of the year. He said: "Why, they are all going to plant cotton. I don't think we would sell enough grain sorghum seed to pay for the ad. Besides we don't have many certified seed to sell."

I have heard something like the above comment from other sources. It makes me wonder. What will we do for grain planting seed if the cotton bubble bursts in a year or two? What will we do for grain sorghum seed if heavy rains in late May or early June force too many farmers to plant over? It looks to me like there is going to be a tremendous demand for grain planting seed in the next year or two. Farmers tell me that it is higher than a cat's back right now.

Found: the cutest little six month old pup you ever saw. Color is brown with black tipped ears and black nose. Owner may have some highly intelligent dog by coming to my house and picking it up. There will be no charge for the food eaten and no charge for this advertising.

Henry Sullivan told me something about the new safety drivers law that I never knew before. The only sticker you can have on your front windshield is the certificate that your car has passed and certain military insignia in case you are a member of the Armed Forces.

If that is the law, it is the law. But it was with regret that I took my Price Daniel sticker from the front of my car and placed a new one on the back. But for good measure I pasted some up on the side. I never did like to support a man as patient, tenacious and courageous as Price Daniel either backwards or sideways. I like to support a man of his intelligence and courage frontside and forward even though safety rules prohibit me from doing it with a sticker on my car. I will do it in my newspaper and in my private conversation.

But I am grateful to Henry for the information. It may help other people to keep out of trouble with the highway patrol.

Lost: A black and brown female dog, probably from the recent Circus. It is an animal of high intelligence. The first boy who guarantees that he will feed her and treat her well can have her for nothing. She is about to drive my poor old aged Skipper into his death throes with jealousy.

Dr. Samuel Wells of Meridian, Mississippi, was in Wellington last Sunday. He looks more like my own father than any man I ever saw. His father who was a brother of my grandfather fought in the Army of the Confederacy. There were four brothers wearing the gray. Their names were Henry, John, Watson and William. William was my grandfather. Henry and John died in a Yankee prison camp. My grandfather died at the age of 42 from the hardships he had undergone in the war between the states — so the family believes. Watson Wells, father of Claude, Percy and Lloyd Wells, moved to Collingsworth County about the turn of the century. Later Watson Wells moved to Hall County. He was the last Confederate veteran to die in that county.

I set the above paragraph down just to refresh my memory in future years. What I really wanted to get around to is the vigor of this 76 year old Dr. Sam Wells. He is deep chested, wide shouldered, hearty and strong and has the friendliest smile you ever saw; but his jaw sets in a grim line when he talks of present day politics. He does not think too highly of Ke-fauver, Harriman, Kerr, etc. I gathered from his conversation that if the Democrats could not reform their ranks around a man like Russell that he thought many Southerners would vote for Eisenhower or somebody like that. Shades of his Confederate fathers! Our forefathers believed in states rights. They were against over-centralization of the government. They were opposed to regimentation. They believed in freedom of speech, assembly and religious worship.

For Sale: An Americanus Originalus dog . . . color brown with black nose and black tipped ears. Age: about six months. Sex: female. ## NORWOOD FFA MEMBERS WIN AREA AND DISTRICT HONORS

The Samnorwood F. F. A. Chapter ranks at the top in furnishing leadership for their district and area organizations. These officers are elected by voting delegates from the various chapters. At the meetings of these organizations, the candidates that have previously been nominated by the local chapters, are interviewed before the entire assembly. These candidates tell of their leadership activities and project programs. They are then asked questions pertaining to the F. F. A. and parliamentary procedure.

The Norwood Chapter now has a representative on the staff of officers for Area I, which includes the Panhandle-Plains area. Their representative for this office is Billy Ray Alexander, who is the area treasurer. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Alexander. He has also been nominated by his Chapter and later selected from representatives of 12 schools to the position for state officer. These officers will be voted on at an Area Convention to be held May 10. The other 5 districts of the area will have nominees there for competition.

The Vice-President of the Greenbelt District is also a member of the Samnorwood Chapter. He is Wayne Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson. His term will be out in September of this year.

Troy Clark, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Clark, holds 2 high honors in his district. One of these honors is the Greenbelt District nominee to Area Office. The selection for this office is by the same method as is state officer nominee. He will compete for district president at the Area I Convention at Canyon on May 10.

In addition to this honor, Troy was also selected as the Star Lone Star Farmer from Greenbelt District. The selection in this case is from an application for the Lone Star Farmer Degree, which is the highest degree awarded by the Texas Association of the Future Farmers. The winner of the 5 districts of the Area will compete against winners from the 10 areas for the state award.

Young Kennedy is the fourth boy to come to Boys' Ranch from Wellington and from all appearances he will have no difficulty in becoming a real Boys' Ranch cowpoke.

Lord Jim Says--

By Bill Hughes

Here briefly and, for want of time and space, generally is the organization of the USS Princeton.

The Boss Man is The Commanding Officer, The Captain. His primary duty is to command. His collateral duty is Morale and Head of the Inspection Board. He also has duties in training for Higher Command.

To get the job done he has some 103 officers and better than 2000 men divided into 10 major departments which are further broken down into divisions. The balance of the 3000 souls spoken of last time is made up of the Air Group, its personnel and equipment which are attached to the Carrier but not assigned as a part of the Ship's Company.

The ten major departments are: the Administrative Department headed by the Executive Officer; the Operations Department headed by the Operations Officers; the Navigation Department headed by the Navigator; the Gunnery Department headed by the Gunnery Officer; the Marine Department headed by the Commanding Officer of the Marine Detachment; the Engineering Department headed by the Engineering Officer under whom is an Assistant Engineering Officer who is specifically charged with all damage control; the Air Department headed by the Air Officer the supply department headed by the Supply officer; the Medical Department headed by the Senior Medical Officer; and the Dental Department headed by the Senior Dental Officer.

All officers generally, have a primary duty, Collateral duties and duties in training for a more responsible job. The air group which is headed by the Air Group Commander is made up of squadrons of varying tactical nature and each is somewhat similarly organized.

Operationally speaking, the Operations Officer is the coordinating factor for the Air Group with its base of operations, the Carrier.

The Air Department of the Carrier carries out the ships functions on the flight and hangar decks. Their functions include such things as aircraft control, handling, maintenance, service, ordnance, arming, fueling, catapult, arresting gear, and electronics.

On the other hand, the landing signal officer, the man who brings the plane aboard is a pilot and a member of the Airgroup.

Every functional element is tied together by intra-communications and all are tied to the Control Information Center which is literally the Nerve Center of the ship.

Regardless of the division of responsibility that reaches down to the very last man aboard the ship,

EDITORIAL COMMENT — THE WELLINGTON LEADER

Soil Conservation--Everyone's Concern

Collingsworth County this week observes Soil Conservation Week. Practically speaking, the name doesn't apply, for soil conservation is something a big number of county farmers practice and observe every week. It is, with them, becoming the natural thing to do. It is the necessary thing.

Soil Conservation Week is supposed to, and does, call the attention of the general public to outstanding work in soil conservation that is being done. Most of this work is done quietly and without fanfare. And there is a great deal more of it than is generally believed.

Friday the annual Soil Conservation tour will be held for everybody who is interested in seeing what is going on over Collingsworth County farms. Business men are urged to go. Farmers are asked to go along, too, to see what others of their profession are doing.

One of the best spurs to soil conservation is to see what somebody else is doing along that line. Lawyers and doctors and newspapermen know this when they go to their association convents. Progressive farmers know the same thing.

You can join the farm tour at any point. You can go half a day or the entire day. But whatever time you spend on the tour, your eyes will be opened to what is being done. To the new wealth, the true wealth of fertile soil, the improved condition of poor soil, all of which is giving the owners a greater source of income, greater pride in possession of the land, proof that farming as a way of life is a desirable way.

Even with the cotton and feed crops not up for the most part, Collingsworth is good to look at this season of the year.

OTHER EDITORS SAY:—

One Judge Stands For Constitution Regardless of President

We are glad to find one federal judge who has found the Constitution of the United States something more than a scrap of paper to be torn asunder and reassembled to suit the whims of President Truman.

Judge Pine was amazed at the attitude of government attorneys who declared that the will of the President was over and above that of the people.

The government attorneys must have stretched their imagination quite a bit as they made strange declarations as to the powers of the President.

Judge Pine was amazed at their declaration; but his faith in the constitution was not shaken. If he had ruled in favor of the government in the seizure of the steel mills by the President, we might have kissed goodbye to our freedoms under Harry S. Truman.

The attorneys, hirelings of the President, were no doubt well aware of the declarations of the President only a few days previously that he had the authority to seize the newspapers and radio stations.

Thank God we still have a few people on our federal bench who have read the constitution and will stand by the constitution, regardless of the will of the President.

In the meanwhile, the nation's steel mills are shut down simply because the President tries to use powers which have never been bestowed upon him, and so far refuses to use the powers of the Taft-Hartley law, since it is a law passed by Republican sources, and was made by the law of the land over his veto.

We shall now see how the packed Supreme Court will handle the case.

Bible Comment
FOR MAY 18Lack of Morality
Spells Doom for Judah

Judah became the Southern Kingdom of Israel after the division of the country into the southern and northern kingdoms by Jeroboam's successful revolt against Rehoboam, son and successor of Solomon.

The strength of David and the glory of Solomon soon waned when a people who ought to have been united with a common heritage in history and religion became strife-torn and divided. In this history there is a warning for modern nations.

The freedom that our democratic lands accord in speech and action is being used by some to promote discord and draw lines of hate and prejudice, sometimes in the sacred name of Christ and Christianity.

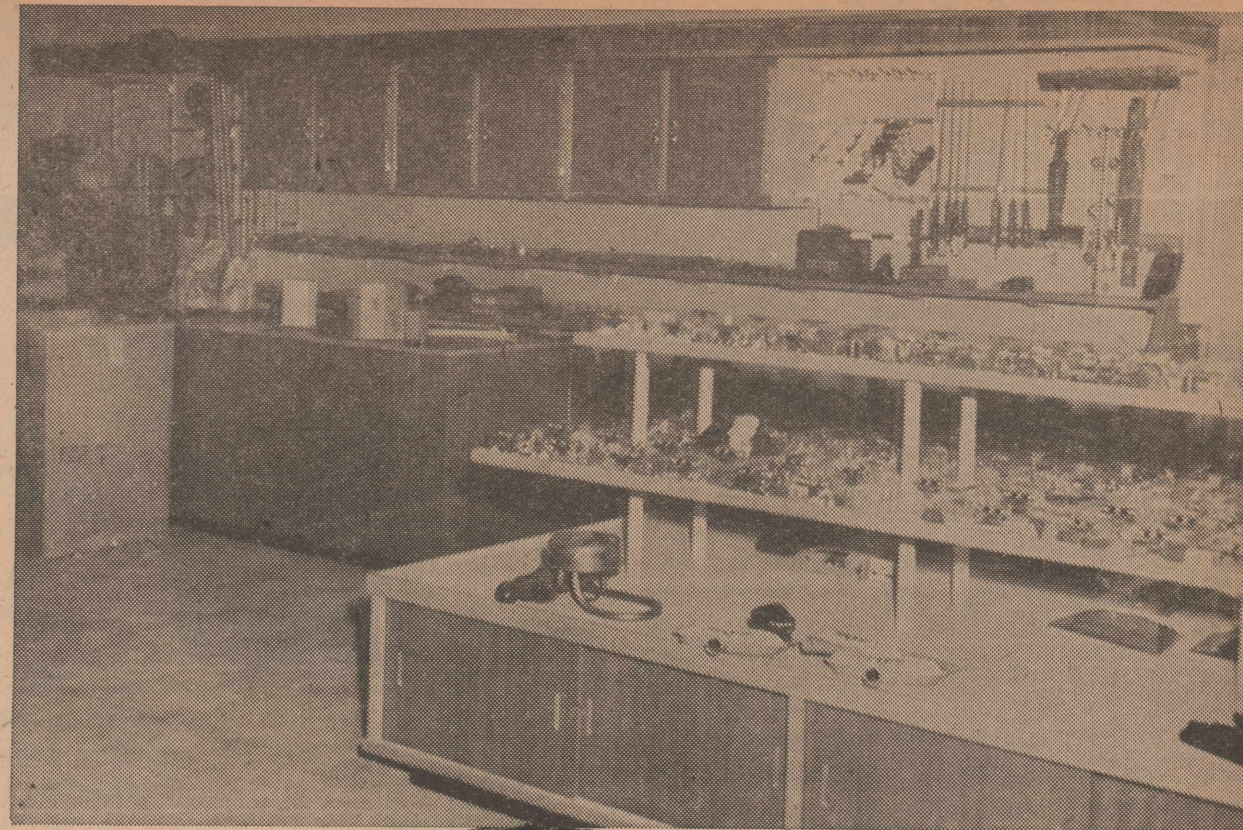

Along that way so surely lies ruin that all who love God must set themselves to do everything possible to promote the national strength that can come only to a people united in justice and righteousness.

The Northern Kingdom, as we have seen, was the first to fall. It was swept away eight centuries before Christ when the armies of Assyria came down upon it. Its people became known to history as the "Lost Tribes." The Southern Kingdom survived for another 136 years, but it also went down before the armies of Babylon.

There was an interlude during this 136 years when a good king, Hezekiah, and the noble prophet, Isaiah, were dominant in Judah. But at best, Judah's course was unsteady. Periods of better living, wise kingly guidance, and welfare were intermixed with periods of bad leadership and idolatry.

Hezekiah himself, though a good king, was by no means perfect. He did a foolish thing when he vainly displayed to envoys from the king of Babylon his wealth and the treasures of the palace. The prospect of loot, in ancient as in modern times, was a fruitful cause of war and invasion.

The Staked Plains are so vast that it is said, the early Spanish explorers drove stakes over the treeless expanse so they could find their way back.

Sincere Congratulations

The Old Cicero Smith Building was a familiar landmark. The new building is a symbol of progress and of the service rendered by this company.

We are indeed proud that we were selected to do the electrical work in this new home of Cicero Smith Lumber Co. We, too, feel that service to a community such as Wellington and its trade area must be measured by superior performance.

Farmers Asked to Determine Needed PMA Practices

Collingsworth County farmers cooperating in the 1952 Agricultural Conservation Program are being urged to determine the most serious conservation needs on their farms and to use the program to help meet these needs, says J. A. Coleman, chairman of the county PMA committee.

In making this check-up the chairman suggests a number of things that should be considered: Does the slope of the land and type of soil make erosion a serious hazard? Should the field be terraced? Should the field be planted on the contour? Is the soil so steep or the damage already done so great that the field should be planted to permanent pasture?

Is the field so depleted of organic matter from year after year plowing and cultivating that it will no longer grow a good "cash" crop? Is the depletion so serious that the field should be taken out of row crop production and left in grass for a period of years? Or will a regular rotation, or a cover crop be sufficient?

According to the chairman, these are only a few of the things that should be checked on but they indicate the steps which will make Agricultural Conservation Program practices most effective. He points out that in any event the production of food needed to meet defense requirements should be given first consideration. Production goals have been set up for 1952 which call for increased production of many crops, particularly those that produce feed for livestock.

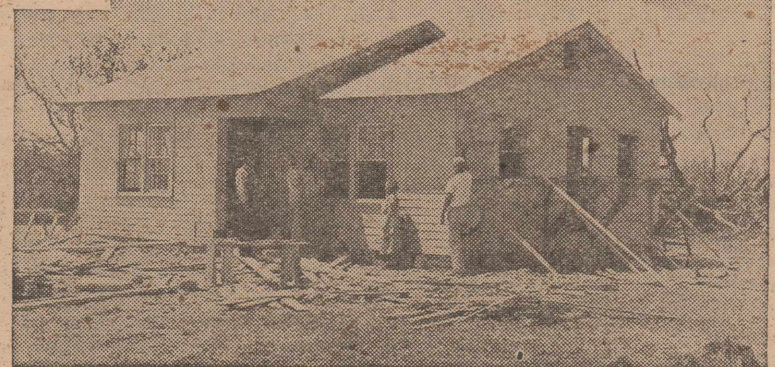

Mr. Coleman stresses that practice for which help is available under this year's ACP are aimed at

Then

Now

ABOVE—The refrigerator and washing machine are all that remain in the splintered ruins of G. R. Nelson's newly remodeled home near Lonoke, Arkansas, after tornadoes struck in this and six other southern states March 21. The twisters destroyed 1,044 homes, caused other losses to 4,510 families, killed 214 persons, injured 2,000 others of whom 636 needed hospitalization. The Nelsons' young daughter was one of hundreds for whom Red Cross paid medical bills.

BELOW—Made possible by a $4,023 Red Cross building award, the Nelsons' new four-room home now is almost ready for the $693 of essential furniture also bought for the family by the Red Cross. Meeting actual needs, not losses, Red Cross is aiding 775 families in rebuilding homes and additional hundreds are receiving awards—outright grants, not loans—to pay for household goods, medical bills, and other needs. Expenditures now are nearing the million dollar mark.

A Field of Good Cotton Is a Beautiful Sight--And it Takes Good Soil to Grow it

Wealth has come to Collingsworth from its rich fields of cotton... but it has come at the cost of fertility of soil. To keep productiveness and fertility high, we must continually build back the soil that we use. It is gratifying to see progressive farmers do this.

We stop here to recognize soil conservation week and its importance in our lives. We pay tribute to the men of this section who are studying and working that the land they live on may be richer next year than this, richer ten years from now than in 1952.

NEED FOR MORE ON-THE-FARM STORAGE FACILITIES STRESSED

Collingsworth county agriculture is in need of increased on-the-farm storage facilities, Chairman J. A. Coleman of the County PMA Committee, said this week. "Adequate farm storage," Mr. Coleman declared, "is an important part of farm and crop planning, and such expanded storage construction is within easy reach of our farmers."

The PMA chairman pointed out that Commodity Credit Corporation guaranteed loans are available through the County PMA Committee to finance up to 85 percent of the cost of storage facilities of sound construction and suitable capacity, strength, and design.

He explained that, approved storage facilities will be needed by producers who avail themselves of farm storage price supporting loans, or purchase agreements, on 1952-crop peanuts. This year's peanut price support program, he said, will enable farmers to hold peanuts under loans and purchase agreements and do a better marketing job. In that way producers can take advantage of any seasonal market price increase above the guaranteed support price.

"Now, while crops are in early season growth," he said, "is an ideal time for every farmer to give thought to his farm storage needs for the months and years ahead. If he's in need of additional storage, a CCC-guaranteed storage construction loan may meet the need."

Mr. Coleman explained that such a loan will cover most out-of-pocket costs for a storage building except the cost of labor usually employed on the farm. A loan may be made for a period up to five years, at an interest rate of 4 percent per annum, and money from the loan will be available to the farmer when the storage structure is completed, inspected, and approved by the county committee. Meanwhile, he may use a committee-approved storage loan commitment to borrow from an approved lending agency, or may obtain his loan direct from CCC.

Chairman Coleman invited Collingsworth County farmers to visit the county PMA office and discuss their on-the-farm storage needs.

These men are all giving their time free—because they believe that America's future lies in the youth of today, and that the boys of today are the citizens of tomorrow, and as such should be trained for their duties through Boy Scouting," Mr. Curry said. "We urge everyone to come meet these fine men, and learn about the program they are to make available to more boys in Wellington."

he does for a client who is accused of a crime. "It might be all right," they say, "if the man were innocent, but why put out so much effort defending him when everyone knows he is guilty?"

The obvious answer is that not everyone knows all the material facts. The accused is not a criminal in any legal sense until, by due process of law and under rules of evidence insuring equal justice, the court and jury arrive at the conclusion that he has committed a crime.

The Canons of Ethics governing the lawyers of Texas say: "It is the right of a member (of the State Bar of Texas) to undertake the defense of a person accused of crime, regardless of his personal opinion as to the guilt of the accused; having undertaken such defense, the member is bound by all fair and honorable means, to present every defense that the law of the land permits, to the end that no person may be deprived of life or liberty but by due process of law."

If this were not the case, innocent persons, victims only of suspicious circumstances, might be denied proper defense. Such legal defense is a basic principle of American justice. The rights of the accused to defend himself are nowhere as well guarded as in the British Commonwealth and the United States where government is based on the common law.

In France and other European countries a person accused of a crime is presumed to be guilty. If he is to escape the penalties of the law, he is obliged to prove that he is innocent. But in common law countries an accused person is presumed to be innocent until the state presents enough properly admissible evidence to convince an impartial jury that he is guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.

In serious cases, if the accused cannot afford to hire his own attorney, the court is required to appoint a lawyer to defend him without charge. The Canons of Ethics require the lawyer to defend such a man with the same vigor and skill as he would an ordinary client.

Corresponding to the Canon governing lawyers who defend the accused, there is one for the prosecuting attorney—the attorney retained by the government to present its case against the accused. The Canons of Ethics on this point say: "It should be the primary duty of a member engaged in public prosecution not to convict, but to see that justice is done."

SHAMROCK, May 9 (Special)—Shamrock citizens this week had to demonstrate their good neighborliness, in helping with a miscellaneous shower for the benefit of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Walt N. Neville.

The Neville's home and all its contents were destroyed last Friday in an explosion. Their 5-year-old son, Jimmy, suffered serious burns.

In response to many requests of persons wanting to help lighten the burden, friends arranged with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Scrivner, 811 North Choctaw, for gifts to be left at their residence.

Various church groups, Sunday School classes and individuals have already made contributions.

The Neville family is temporarily housed in the D. F. Spruill apartment. Jimmy Neville is in Shamrock General Hospital swathed in bandages with tiny slits for eyes, nose and mouth. He has endeared himself to hospital attendants.

The house, on which the Neville's owed $800 was insured for $3,500 but there was no insurance on the furniture, which with all their household goods and clothing, was destroyed.

Let us explain this protection to you.

County Students Graduate at Tech and WTSC

Two colleges, Texas Technological College, Lubbock, and West Texas State College, have announced their 1952 graduates, each including several students from Collingsworth County.

Texas Tech will hold graduation exercises May 26 for 727 candidates for bachelor and master's degrees. Governor Dan K. Thornton of Colorado, a former Memphis resident and an ex-student of Tech, will be the commencement speaker.

Among the graduates from this area are Glenna Mae Shinn, who is receiving a bachelor of science degree in education, with an English major; Edwin V. Bonneau of Dodson will receive a bachelor of business administration degree with a major in finance, and Alva Newell Burk, also of Dodson, is receiving his bachelor of business administration degree with a major in accounting.

One county resident will receive a master's degree from Tech, John W. Tippie, who has been a member of the Dodson school faculty since mid-term, when he completed his work at Tech. Tippie will receive a master of education degree in agricultural education.

West Texas State has named 196 candidates for degrees. The baccalaureate services will be held in the college administration auditorium Sunday, May 18, at 11:00 o'clock, and the graduation on Monday, May 19, at 10:00 o'clock.

The Rev. Carl Bates, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Amarillo, will conduct the baccalaureate services. R. B. Anderson, Vernon attorney, will deliver the commencement address.

Mrs. Maude Hicks Brown, a teacher in the Samnorwood school, will receive a bachelor of science degree at this time, as will Edith Copeland Carter of Wellington. Mrs. Carter teaches in Harmon County.

Dorothy Joyce Phillips of Dozier will receive a bachelor of business administration degree.

Plan Transfer Of Property After Death

COLLEGE STATION — Too few people know what would happen to their property in case of death. Florence Low, home management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says confusion can be avoided by thinking through plans for settlement of the property and disposing of it by a will.

The owner of any kind of real or personal property has three choices under Texas laws for transfer of property to heirs. He may let the estate be distributed to those specified by law, make a will or arrange for joint or single ownership of real or personal property.

One procedure is to let property pass to heirs without making a will. This is called intestacy. Four things can happen to community property when no will is made.

If a man or woman dies leaving no children, all the property goes to the spouse. If a man or woman dies leaving a spouse and children, one half goes to the spouse and the remainder to the children. The law provides that the homestead shall not be divided among the heirs during the lifetime of the surviving husband or wife so long as the survivor elects to use or occupy it as a homestead. If a widow or widower is survived by children, the property is divided equally among them. If a single person, a widow or a widower dies without children, the property is divided equally between the parents. If only one parent is alive one half goes to him and one half goes to brothers and sisters, and so on down to the next of kin.

Another choice offered by law in the transfer of property to heirs is by a will. A will, to be valid in Texas, must be written and witnessed. To prevent possible delays and expenses in the settlement of estates, Mrs. Low says an attorney should be consulted before a will is made. The attorney can assist in the wording of the will so that it states plainly what disposition the testator desires for the property.

A third option is disposing of property is through joint ownership. There are three methods of owning property jointly. Joint tenancy is when two or more persons own any kind of property as "joint tenants" on the deed or bill of sale transferring property. Secondly there is "tenancy by the entirety" which is possible only for a wife and husband and applies only to real property. Then there is tenancy in common where two or more persons hold any kind of property as "tenants in common." The deed or bill of sale carries all the names and makes no reference to survivorship. Each of the three joint ownership of property options carries its own method of disposing of the property which should be thoroughly understood.

Locate Terrace Where Summer Breezes Blow

COLLEGE STATION — The terrace for outdoor living rooms should be located where summer breezes can be enjoyed and winter winds may be shut out. It should be in a spot which has shade during early afternoon says Sadie Hatfield, homestead improvement specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Miss Hatfield suggests the south or southeast side of the house for such a terrace. If the terrace is stone or concrete, she says grow trees for all day shade in the summer. Otherwise the outdoor living room or terrace cannot be used comfortably, even after sunset. But, points out the specialist, not all terraces can be placed next to the house, sometimes it is better to build them around a group of trees for shade.

The terrace may be covered with grass, native stones cemented together or it may be made of concrete or brick. Sand is used sometimes, but this is undesirable because the sand is tracked into the house. Many terraces are covered with grass but after a spring shower it may be several hours before it can be used.

Screen the terraces from the public and unattractive views. If the terrace is to be used in the winter, a windbreak is needed. On sunny winter days, such protection makes the terrace an enjoyable place for outdoor meals or sun bathing. Screen plantings can be a great variety of shrubs. Most of the plants should be evergreens for winter beauty. For all year color in the plantings, use flowering and berry producing shrubs. If there is an attractive view, such as a beautiful hill or a wide stretch of pasture or the flower garden, leave an opening in the screening so they may be enjoyed.

You can swing it if you try

HAVE you, by any chance, been casting eyes at a Buick, and promising yourself that someday you will take the Big Step and have one all your own?

Let us whisper something to you. The "big step" isn't big at all.

We know that's true, because such a high percentage of present Buick owners traded in a car tagged as belonging in "the low-priced field."

So why not set your sights on this star performer?

Why not enjoy big-car comfort—big-car power—big-car prestige for your money?

There's one of these lively lovelies waiting for you to come in and try it.

Get the feel of its mighty Fireball 8 Engine, that's a gas-saving high-compression valve-in-head. You could pay $300 to $400 more for a car that doesn't match its horsepower.

Get the feel of Dynaflo Drive*, that lets you ride relaxed—feeds a silken flow of power—and at the same time cuts down on upkeep costs, by protecting the engine, the rear end, and even the tires, from driving strains.

Get the feel of a ride that cost a million dollars and more for controls of end-sway and side-roll and vertical "throw"—for X-bracing the frame and V-bracing the torque-tube keel—for a total of 15 ride-engineering features.

One thing you'll know for sure when you've tried it. This car wasn't "built to a price." It's a Buick through and through.

But the fact remains that—when you check the price of a Buick SPECIAL against the price tags on so-called "low-priced cars"—you'll find out you can swing it if you really want to.

And brother, will that make your family happy!

CANCER ARTILLERY—Looking through a plate glass water tank, two feet thick, we see a nurse, acting as a model, lying beneath the nation's largest radium therapy unit. The huge device, which contains one-fourth of the world's supply of radium, is used at New York's Roosevelt Hospital primarily for the treatment of cancer.

Safety Should Be Objective Of Everyone

COLLEGE STATION — Safe living should be the objective of every citizen. The frightful toll of human life taken annually by accidents can be reduced only when safe living is actually practiced by every one. Every day during 1952, funeral services may be held somewhere in Texas for a farm accident victim. The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Committee headed by J. Walter Hammond, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, and E. C. Martin, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, strongly believe that Texans will do something about the situation.

The committee met in Waco on January 19 to hear reports and to make additional plans for conducting educational programs that will carry the message of safe living to all Texans. Martin told the group that 15,500 farm people died last year in the United States as a result of accidents. The farm group, as shown by the 1950 census, makes up only 15.6 per cent of the nation's population, yet more of them died from accidents than did the group working in other industries.

Right now, continued Martin, a great deal of attention is being given to solving the expected labor shortage in agriculture, while little is being done to prevent the accidents that last year caused a loss in man days sufficient to produce and harvest a goodly proportion of some of our major crops. Too little attention is given, he says, by most rural residents to making life safe on the farm.

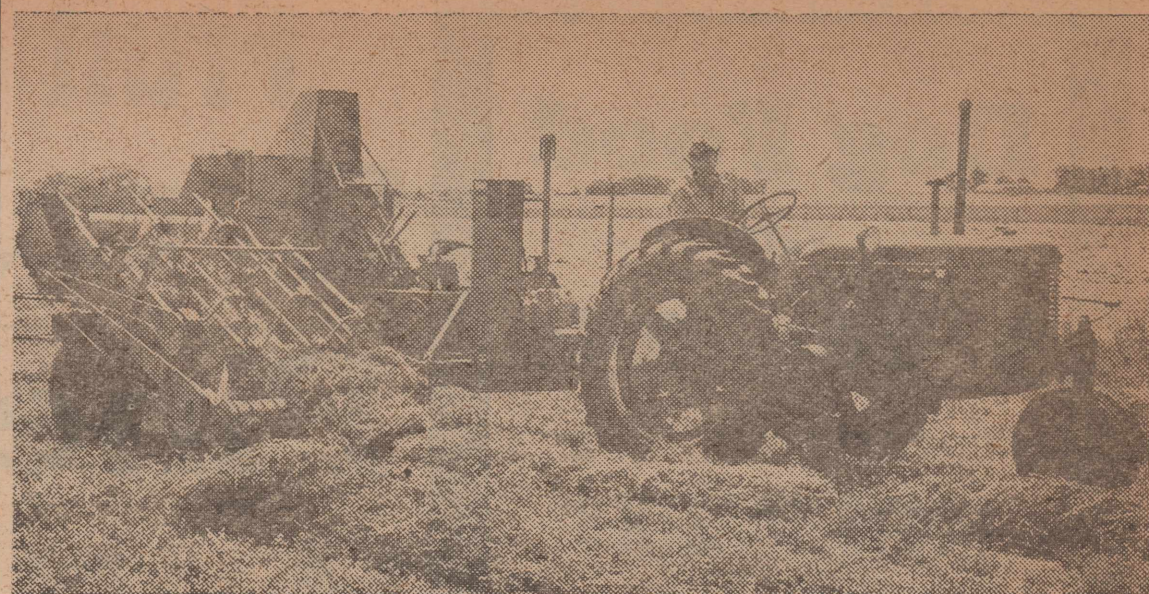

In order to encourage more participation by individuals and groups, the committee is making plans now to recognize outstanding contributions to farm safety in the state. Agencies and organizations that work with rural people will be asked to expand their programs in safety and to nominate individuals and groups doing the most outstanding work in preventing accidents on the farm or in the home. Awards will be made annually at the State Safety Conference, and will be in the form of certificates citing the winners for their safety achievements.

Youth groups such as the 4-H Clubs, FFA and FHA Chapters are expected to contribute much to the program. Farm and ranch organizations including the home demonstration clubs are also expected to step up their activities in the safety field.

Young and old can do their part in reducing the number of accidents on the highways. Last year more than 35,000 lives were lost from such accidents in the United States. Chances are that several funerals were held during 1951 in your county for traffic accident victims and unless traffic safety rules and regulations are observed here after the next victim may be a member of your family or yourself.

Members of the State Farm and Ranch Safety Committee are convinced that a lot of mighty good teamwork is needed now to whip the problem and they urge every citizen to participate in meetings and demonstrations where safety is discussed. They believe that in this age of mechanization larger attention to safety will make rural living more pleasant and profitable.

Fine Fishing for the Family, Too

SPRING IS TIME TO FERTILIZE AND CARE FOR FARM FISH PONDS

COLLEGE STATION — Where shall we go fishing and what about bait? That is a topic which will be discussed by many a fisherman during the next few weeks and months and R. E. Callender, specialist in wildlife conservation for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, believes every farmer and rancher who owns a good pond or tank can solve the problem without leaving home.

He suggests first giving the pond a good spring cleaning. That is, clean up around the pond. Remove the trash that has accumulated and make the pond and surrounding area an attractive spot that can be enjoyed by the family and their friends. If the pond isn't now stocked with fish, he suggests contacting your local county agent for information on this very important item.

If the pond or tank is already stocked, he recommends a fertilization program. Farm ponds can be fertilized just the same as can farm crops and the results are equally as good. He likes to use a mixture of 400 pounds of cottonseed meal and 200 pounds of 20 per cent superphosphate. The first application of 300 pounds per surface acre of water should be made about this time of the year. Broadcast it on the surface of the pond and follow with a second, third and fourth application of 100 pounds each at three to four week intervals. The fertilizer program should be completed before hot weather arrives and before July 1, says Callender.

High grade commercially mixed fertilizers can be substituted for the above mixture, says the specialist and should be applied at the rate of 500 to 600 pounds per acre per year. The first applications should follow at three to four week intervals until the total amount recommended is used.

Properly fertilized ponds, he points out, will have a greenish-brown color. When this color begins to disappear after each application, it's time to apply more fertilizer. Callender says a good test is to plunge the arm into the water up to the elbow, if the figures and nails are visible, make the next application.

Here's why the fertilizer is so important. A given pond can produce only a certain poundage of fish each year and will consist of many small, stunted fish or a smaller number of larger edible fish — available food determines the pounds. The fertilizer increases the microscopic plant and animal life known as plankton or "bloom." Plankton is the first link in the food production chain for the fish. Increase the food supply and the number of pounds of fish produced is raised in the same proportion, says Callender.

Now for the bait. He says produce it at home. A well-tended earth worm bed will furnish plenty of strong, frisky worms; the kind fish like to bite. Minnows can also be produced in a smaller pond or in tanks built for the purpose, says the specialist. Surplus bait, he adds usually finds a ready market in most communities.

And finally, Callender adds, a well-manage pond is a well-fished

Spring Season Critical Period For Range Plants

COLLEGE STATION — Pasture plants in most sections of the state have taken a beating from the weather during the past several months. Rain and more rain is badly needed before the hard hit range plants can even begin their comeback. A. H. Walker, range specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says even under normal conditions the spring season is the most critical period for range plants.

He says pasture plants need a rest period to regain their vigor and to allow them to produce a seed crop. He encourages livestock producers to graze supplemental pastures, if available, to give ranges a rest for a month or six weeks. This spring rest will give vigor to native drought stunted and over-grazed plants. He points out that the usual practice, following a drought, is to start grazing the range just as soon as the first plants appear and this is not good for the range vegetation.

Such practice may reduce annual forage production by as much as 40 per cent, says the specialist. Such a reduction means that a ranchman could only run 60 head of cows instead of 100 head on an annual basis if he had used better management during the spring season.

Walker says he realizes that unless weather conditions change very materially in the near future, the spring growing season will just not happen on a lot of the state's range lands. But when the drought is finally broken, he urges ranchmen to give the range vegetation a chance to become established. The drought has sapped their vigor and stopped root development.

A spring to fall deferment period may be needed in the most critical areas. Such a practice will give the plants a chance to make a seed crop that will be needed to insure a stand of the desirable species, says Walker.

A rotation plan for deferring different pastures on the ranch should be worked out and at least one pasture should be deferred each year. Walker points out that range demonstrators have proved that deferred grazing is not only an effective aid to a range recovery program but is also one of the best conservation practices that can be used on the range.

THE MIRE THE MERRIER—How many of the 26 entrants in the annual Northwest Motorcycle "Mud Race" are still buried in the mire of the rugged course outside Seattle, Wash., is anyone's guess. Kicking up a spray of mud and water, "Red" Farwell, left, of Puyallup, Wash., skids through a deep mud hole as he comes down the home stretch. He sloshed his way around the half-mile bog 15 times to win in one hour and 12 minutes. Donna Walters, right, of Seattle, gets a helping hand after her "steed" skittered out from under her. Donna, one of two women in the race, remounted and finished second. She and Farwell were the only two to actually finish the muddy event.

shouldn't be crowded. Good garden varieties of the slicing kinds are A & C, Straight Eight and Cubic. Squash are easy to grow and are heavy producers. Hutchison says from six to twelve plants will provide plenty of squash for the average family. He suggests the Early Prolific Straightneck, the Yellow Crookneck, White Bush Scallop or the Zucchini as good home garden varieties.

It will soon be tomato planting time in most sections of the state and the specialist says, the plants should be hardened off before they are set in the garden. Pritchard, Rutgers and Marglobe are good home garden varieties for most sections of the state. However, in West Texas, gardeners may be more successful if they turn to the more heat-tolerant varieties such as Red Cloud, Porter or Summer Prolific.

Cutworms are always a threat to young garden plants and Hutchison says reports indicate they are plentiful in many sections this year. He says they can be controlled by applying 10 per cent chlordane dust to the soil before the seed are planted or in the case of plants to be set, mix the dust into about a square foot area of soil surrounding the plant. The dust can be sprinkled on top of the soil after the plants are growing if it is then worked into the soil. One application is sufficient for the entire season. To give the tomato plants a fast start, Hutchison suggests the use of a starter solution. It is made by mixing two tablespoons of 5-10-5 or 8-8-8 commercial fertilizer in a gallon of water. It is best to make the solution a day ahead so the fertilizer will have plenty of time to dissolve. Use about one pint of the solution on each plant after they are set.

Plenty of fertilizer should be used to boost yields and after the plants are up and growing the gardener who keeps the insects under control will be the one who will keep the family table well-supplied with top quality vegetables.

Texans Buy Insurance in Record Quantity

AUSTIN — Texans bought fire, windstorm and extended coverage insurance in record-breaking quantities in 1951, Fire Insurance Commissioner Paul H. Brown has announced.

Fire insurance premiums reported through the Texas Insurance Checking Office last year totaled $63,478,359, an increase of 10.7 per cent over the $57,366,114 in fire premiums collected in 1950. Windstorm and extended coverage insurance premiums jumped to $43,348,500 in 1951, an increase of 13 per cent over the $38,350,365 buyers paid for this type of protection in 1950.

Commissioner Brown said that the over-all increase in fire, windstorm and extended coverage premiums is 11.6 per cent above 1950 totals according to Checking Office reports. Property owners got an even higher percentage of protection for their money, however, because of rate reductions made by the Board of Insurance Commissioners in 1951. Last April, windstorm and extended coverage rates were reduced more than $600,000 and in October, fire insurance rates were lowered $2,303,000.

"An estimated $3,000,000 in premiums collected by companies not using the Checking Office still are to be reported," Commissioner Brown said. "Indications are, however, that these companies will show an increase in line with those reporting through the Checking Office."

Home Gardening Makes Progress

COLLEGE STATION — With spring just around the corner, the recent rains in parts of the state should step up the tempo of the home gardeners. John E. Hutchison, horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says if the early sales of vegetable seeds are an indication of the amount of gardening to be done, chances are good that the 1952 goal of 600,000 home gardens in Texas may be reached.

In most sections of the state, points out the specialist, the time for planting cool season vegetables is about over and the warm season crops should now receive attention. Green beans are a favorite with most families and Hutchison suggests Tendergreen, Topcrop and Contender for the bush old favorite, Kentucky Wonder are good pole snap bean varieties. type. The 1952 All-American winner, the Wade snap bean, may be worthy of a trial planting. Stringless Blue Lake, Blue Lake and the Bean seed should be treated with a seed protectant to improve stands.

Stagger the planting date for the sweet corn, says Hutchison, so the supply will last longer. Good home garden varieties are Ioana, Aristogold and Aristogold Batam Evergreen. Cucumbers may be planted in either hills or rows but

Advertising Assn. Honors West Texas Utilities

Recognition of outstanding achievement in the field of utility advertising came to West Texas Utilities Company Friday when it was named winner of two first place national awards in the 1952 Better Copy Contest of the Public Utilities Advertising Association. The awards were announced Friday morning at the annual convention of the Association in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

A First Place Award was received for "newspaper advertising promoting the use of electric service". Also, a First Place Award was presented to the company for advertising promoting "Electrical Appliances."

These winning advertisements were produced by the company's advertising department and appeared in this and other newspapers in the company's service area.

This year's contest attracted a record total of nearly 1400 entries in 22 different advertising classifications. Electric, gas, and transportation utility companies from practically every state in the Union and from Hawaii and Canada were represented.

The Better Copy Contest of the Public Utilities Advertising Association is the oldest continually conducted advertising competition in the United States. The Contest just closed was the 29th of its kind, and it has grown steadily both in importance and size over the years. Today, the awards presented in this Contest are regarded as representing the highest recognition obtainable in the utility advertising field.

Judges in the 1952 Contest were without exception high in their praise of the quality of material submitted and stated that they found final decisions exceedingly difficult.
