WHITE BOY'S SLAYER SENTENCED TO DIE

THEFT CHARGES DUE TODAY FOR ROBBERY TRIO

City Police Jail Men After 7 Robberies Monday Night

LOOT IS RECOVERED

Men Make Admissions Of Long Series of Jobs In the City

Charges of burglary will be filed this morning in the state courts against three Wichita Falls men, following their arrest early Tuesday by city police and subsequent acknowledgement on their part of implication in eight different burglaries in the city Monday night. The three were being held at the city jail Tuesday night and will be turned over to county officers today to be held pending action of the grand jury.

Police late Tuesday had on hand a large amount of loot taken by the three in Monday night's pillaging, this including fifteen casings, some inner tubes, automobile accessories and a safe taken from the Piggly Wiggly grocery store at Tenth and Broad. The automobile used in the night's work, a large Buick touring car, was also in the hands of the officers, together with a sledge hammer, iron bar and a pair of bolt cutters, tools used in breaking into the places.

Officers Get Tip.

The three arrests were made by Officers Carmichael and Laye Tuesday morning, acting on a tip that a certain car had been used in connection with a number of thefts reported from the night before. This car was found at a Burnett street garage, the two officers waiting there more than an hour before the two appeared and started to drive away. They were arrested and brought to the city hall, where search of the car revealed a sledge hammer bar, bolt cutters, and a 32-20 double action pistol later identified as having been stolen from a garage at 1404 Broad Tuesday morning.

Following some questioning by officers one of the three stated he would lead officers to some loot which had been taken from the eight places robbed Monday night and Tuesday morning. The offer carried with it acknowledgement of breaking into the Piggly Wiggly store at Tenth and Broad, where a small iron safe was taken, the Faith Drug store, 2509 Tenth street, nothing taken; the American Refining company filling station, Tenth and Bluff nothing taken; the Hines filling station, Avenue F and Monroe, casings stolen; the M System store at 12th and Grace, nothing taken; the Orient Refining company station, Holliday and Sibley avenue, casings stolen; the filling station on Jefferson street, corner Burkburnett and Iowa Park roads, casings stolen; and the drug store at 25th and Holliday, door kicked in but nothing taken. In addition, one of the three volunteered that a few nights ago two of them had been responsible for the safe breaking at the Citizens Lumber company on Austin avenue.

Officers Laye and Belcher accompanied one of the men to Bugs Point on the south shore of Lake Wichita where the Piggly Wiggly safe was found in a clump of bushes, its bottom neatly ripped out. $100 in cash had been extracted. This, the men said, had been divided between the three. The officers were then led to a storm cellar on a farm about six miles from town where casings and the automobile accessories were recovered.

According to the story told police, the three had taken the safe from the Piggly Wiggly store to Bugs Point and hidden it, returning to town to get tools to use in opening it. It was following their return to town after the second trip to Bugs Point that they were arrested.

There was no acknowledgement on the part of either of the three of participation in either the Mahaney or Beacon shoe store jobs of Sunday night, in the light of full acknowledgement on their part of the other jobs, police do not believe that they are responsible for these two, although it was stated Tuesday that investigation had not been completed.

Police Chief George Hodgins said Tuesday that loot recovered and held at his office would be returned to owners upon their calling. The men themselves identified the places they had obtained it.

One of the three men arrested served as a city motorcycle officer several years ago and later served a short term in the penitentiary on a felony charge. One of the other two men also has a prison record, officers said. The third member, so far as is known, has not been involved before in a criminal charge.

San Antonio's River Will Be Real Fairyland

Ambitious Plans of Mayor Call for More Beauty Than Venice Canals

SAN ANTONIO, June 8.—(AP) Conversion of the San Antonio river in the downtown district into a fairyland, rivaling in beauty the canals in Venice, will be undertaken at once, according to plans outlined by Mayor John W. Tobin Tuesday. Business men co-operating with him, will remove all unsightly overhanging walls and small out buildings along the banks.

A half-mile of the river, extending from Travis street to Commerce street will be festooned with vari-colored lights with electric fountains playing from the center of the channel at short itervals. Covering the lights on each bank will be feathery green vines lending a softening effect.

The fountains, which will play day and night, will be operated from a pipe, concealed in the center of the channel. The fountains will be spaced so they will be visible from each of the bridges in the downtown section. Shrubs of every kind will be planted along the bank just above the channel walls.

The work, Mayor Tobin said, would be begun as soon as landscape architects can work out the scheme.

CUMMINS' LOSS WORRIES PARTY

Old Guard Leaders Thoroughly "Peeved" at Upheaval In Iowa

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP)—The Brookhart upheavel in Iowa hurled an overwhelming wave of political commotion into the national capital today, splashing at the gates of the White House and churning up half-buried enmities as it stormed through congress.

Riding high on the whirling waters farm relief was lifted into a commanding prominence among the issues that agitate political Washington and hidden whisperings of a definite disagreement between President Coolidge and Vice President Dawes were cast up for the first time into the open.

At the height of a senate debate which started as a diagnosis of Iowa's political state and ran into a political economic analysis of farm relief a staunch administration senator from General Dawes' native state of Ohio —Simeon D. Fess—declared the "Dawes-McNary-Haughen plan" of farm legislation would "ruin the country."

From none of the titular leaders of the majority party was there any word of comment on the Brookhart victory to match the triumphant shout that went up from democrats and insurgent republicans at the vanquishing of the veteran republican stalwart Cummins in yesterday's primary.

Senator Butler of Masschusetts committee of the republican national committee and Senator Curtis of Kansas, the party floor leader, declined to express an opinion and when a question about the Iowa turnover was handed in to the White House spokesman he ignored it.

Senator Cummins himself merely issued a statement thanking those who supported him.

BLAME THEMSELVES; Fort Worth Motorists to be Watched By Plain Clothesmen

FORT WORTH, June 8.—(AP)—Motorists here don't like to be slipped upon but they have only themselves to blame for the installation of plain clothes officers at boulevards, stop crossings, Chief of Police Lee said here this afternoon.

Lee was led to make the substitution of plain clothes for uniformed men by the universal excuse that "I saw the stop but didn't see you," which indicated, he said, that they never stopped unless they saw an officer.

From now on they will not know if an officer is watching.

VERA ENGAGED TO FINANCIER

"We have already got the engagement ring and the marriage takes place next week."

The Graphic quotes Mr. Boissevain Cathcart as saying:

"Although my fiance looks so English, he is really an American. So I shall be an American too."

Boissevain is 25 years old and well known in English society, the paper adds and has often been described as "the best dressed young man in London.

Vera's supposed betrothal to Ralph Neal, English playwright, is mentioned by the Graphic but without explanation.

Prisoners Denied Coffee But Guards Drink it A-plenty

STN ANTONIO, June 8.—(AP)—Conditions on South Texas prison farms show an improvement Mrs. J. E. King, chairman of the supervisory board of the Texas prison system, said Tuesday after an inspection trip. She charged, however, that investigations had revealed theft of all coffee and sugar alloted to one negro farm since January 1.

Mrs. King was prevented by serious illness from visiting more than four of the farms. She has just returned from the trip.

Investigations on the farm where the theft was discovered has revealed a long continued practice for the entire year, amounting to a large sum in coffee and sugar, she said. It was established that the prisoners have been allowed neither coffee nor sugar and only a small amount of bacon for the entire year, despite the fact that they have been working hard in the fields during the spring season. They were given rations consisting largely of beans and corn bread. At times they were able to hoard up the grounds of coffee provided for the guards and boil them again in order to have the beverage.

Wichita Falls To Be Political Capitol Of State Early Next Week

Wichita Falls will be the political capitol of Texas next week when the state democratic executive committee and the three leading candidates for governor are in the city. Or, rather, two of the leading candidates and the accepted representative of the third.

This section of the state has thus far escaped the baptisms of gubernatorial fire that are bestowed without stint when the commonwealth's highest office is the object of embattled saviors of the public good. Neither Dan Moody, Lynch Davidson or Governor Miriam A. Ferguson have as yet made official appearance in north texas, but the political gales are shifting in this direction and on Monday will break in full fury over this territory.

If present plans go through, the city will have the unique spectacle of two of the leading candidates for governor here on the same day. That is, one candidate and the accepted representative of a second will be here. And with them will be the state democratic executive committee, in session for the consideration of important matters.

Dan Moody, youthful attorney general, will be the first to lay his case before the voters here. He is scheduled to speak Monday night at a big rally now being arranged by the "Dan's the Man" club organization formed by his local admirers some time ago.

While he is speaking, James E. Ferguson, former governor and husband of the present governor, will also be in Wichita Falls. He is scheduled to talk in the afternoon at Vernon, but expects to be on hand for the sessions of the state committee and will, it is believed, return here immediately after his appearance at Vernon.

Ferguson will have his inning Tuesday when he speaks in the evening at a big rally also being arranged by his friends. He will leave Tuesday night to continue his speaking engagements in other parts of the state.

Lynch Davidson of Houston, the third member of the triumvirate, will appear here Friday night, June 18, at a rally which is expected to draw delegations from as far away as Childress.

Tuesday was another typical milk and ice fund day. It was one in which a brilliant sun sent the thermometer to 98 degrees for a maximum and which made fresh milk and cooling ice more than a luxury all over town.

This fund, as it has been explained before, is raised every year in behalf of the unfortunate youngsters who without some aid of this kind would go toroughout the summer, devoid of what has come to be a summer necessity for juvenile health.

Contributions for the fund are still being received.

SECOND LOVE

Malcolm Duary

COPYRIGHT 1926 BY EUGENE MACLEAN

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters

Audrey, rich and not long married, has been reminding John Parrish, her husband, a little too often that it is her money that runs the household, and they have had several tiffs. They invite Marcie Allen into their home, when her father orders her from his household because of her free and lively views on what young women may do nowadays. She is dark, very lovely, and she twice contrives to kiss Parrish against his protest in a few days after her arrival. His wife has offered to buy him a good car, but he refuses, preferring his old flivver. Marcie, however, offers him her own yellow roadster to use in payment of her board, and as the last chapter ends, the two girls, sitting on the front porch, see Parrish come driving up in Marcie's car.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

(Names and situations in this story are fictitious.)

CHAPTER XIII

Fanning himself with his hat, Parrish came and sat on the steps, at Marcie's feet. The girl stole a glance at Audrey. The latter was still staring at the yellow car.

Marcie's foot stole out, touched Parrish with its narrow toe, and was hastily withdrawn. The young man looked up at her startled, and then let his gaze rove toward the street, in elaborate unconcern.

"Well, you are a funny one," said Audrey to her husband. When she turned, Marcie's feet were primly drawn together under the swing, and Parrish was examining his hat.

"When I offer to buy you a car, you turn me down with your nose in the air," Audrey continued. "But the first chance you get to use somebody else's machine, you hurry home, all excited, and get it, and go out driving."

Her manner displayed some irritation. "You're not ashamed to let me pay your salary, and settle the household bills, and buy gifts for you—I even bought your underwear—but when it comes to saving me from humiliation by throwing away that wretched little tin can you've been riding in—"

Her voice dropped. Parrish had risen to his feet, and clapped his hat on his head.

"Goodnight," he said, walking down the steps.

"Where are you going?" Audrey called.

Parrish did not answer, but planting his feet emphatically at each stride he went out the front gate and turned down the street. They could see him, through the iron palings of the fence and the vines that draped them, until he passed behind the hedge of the yard next door.

"John!" Audrey called once, but there was no response.

"Now what do you know about that?" demanded Audrey, turning to her friend.

"I should say," said Marcie, coolly, "that a fairhaired and beautiful young lady named Audrey has just nagged her husband out of house and home."

Audrey sank back with a sigh.

"Probably he thinks I'll rush after him, but I'll not," she said. "There was absolutely no reason for his going away. Marcie, I didn't nag him. What makes you say I did?"

Marcie explored her handbag, and drew forth a box of cigarettes. Before she replied, she took time to light one of the monogrammed rolls.

"Nagging," she explained, with deliberation, "means rubbing somebody constantly on a sore spot. That's what you've been doing to him."

"But why should it be a sore spot with him that I've got money?"

"It isn't that," Marcie said. "The sore spot is that he's poor. And you keep mentioning it."

Audrey rose to her feet. "I'm disgusted with him. I suppose he'll come dragging in tonight, wanting to make up. I've just about determined to give him a piece of my mind."

She flung into the house, while Marcie, with a twinkle of amusement in her eye, remained on the porch puffing her cigarette.

After a time, the girl arose, and going to the driveway, mounted into the driver's seat of the roadster. The starter whirred, and she drove the machine, with a rush, back through the yard and into the garage.

The two girls ate dinner alone. Later they went into the yard and sat under one of the trees. The maid had brought out a wicker chair lounge, and a deep rattan rocking chair, with a footstool, and the girls sprawled comfortably, talking.

"There's a lot of piffle about marriage, isn't there?" said Marcie.

Audrey waited for her to go on.

"I mean here you are married to John. You're mad at each other. He's gone down town. Now, why shouldn't he just stay away? There isn't any real sense in your living together, if you bother each other."

Later, Marcie and Audrey went into the yard and sat under one of the trees. "There's a lot of piffle about marriage, isn't there?" said Marcie.

Audrey sat up straight. "I don't think so at all," she said, indignantly. "We got married because I liked him and he liked me. Just because he's unreasonable is no excuse for us separating. I'll tell him exactly what I think of his conduct, but I wouldn't want to lose him."

"Supposing he doesn't come back," suggested Marcie.

Audrey quiffed. "He'll come, all right," she leaned back in the chaise lounge, with her hands behind her head.

"Men are queer, though," she proceeded. "Before you're married, they run around carrying wraps for you, and think every thing you say is so smart, and are so pleased if you're nice to them. Then you marry them, and what happens? They go around the house, absent-minded, and only half listen to what you say, and they get mad at the least little thing—why, you'd think a wife was only a sort of servant."

Marcie gave an emphatic nod of her head. "I'll never be a servant to any man," she said. "I think the new era for women is here now, in earnest. If I ever decide to take a man, I'll shut up the house when I want to, and go where I please, and do just exactly what I want to do. He can eat down town if he wants too—and if he wants to leave me, he can just leave."

"Who'll furnish the money?" Audrey asked.

"He will, of course," Marcie said. "You know I haven't any money—unless dad forgives me, and leaves me a lot when he dies."

"Would you work to help support the family?" Audrey pursued.

"I should say not!" Marcie was emphatic. "Do you suppose I'd work to buy clothes for any lazy man? It's up to him to support me."

She lit another cigarette.

"Would you keep house for him, if he couldn't afford any servants?" Audrey was interested.

"I would not. He'd have to be able to afford servants." Marcie turned her round, glowing face toward the sky. "I want a man who can support me in luxury, and who'll do what I tell him, and when I want to travel, won't insist on tagging along. I want to be free, free Free!"

"You're a grafter, Marcie," Audrey declared. "You want the man to give you everything, and you don't intend to give him anything. You ought to be ashamed of yourself."

"Well, he'd have me, wouldn't he?" Marcie rolled her wide eyes toward her hostess.

"What use would you be to him?"

"I'd be his pride and joy. I'd be the ornament of his home, and wear the pretty clothes he'd buy me, and the lovely hostess to his friends. Isn't that enough? Listen here, Audrey—do you ever entertain Parrish's friends?"

Audrey thought a moment. "I've introduced him to an awfully nice circle," she said. "We've had guests here twice a week or more ever since we're been married."

"But did you ever have his friends," Marcie insisted. "I mean the fellows he ran around with before you were married."

"Certainly not." Audrey turned on her side, the better to view her companion. "You ought to see them! Do you know who his particular chum was? A fellow in a garage, who tinkers that flivver of his for him! John declares he's the jolliest man in the world, but I told him I positively could not have him in my drawing room."

"Hmm!" Marcie hummed thoughtfully. "Well, you call me a grafter, I know what you are—you're a snob. I'll bet John just abominates those friends of yours. I'd treat him differently. I'd give my gang the go-by and have his crowd at the house. They could come in overalls if they wanted to. I wouldn't care. We'd have a good time."

Audrey laughed. "I know—you'd do that because they're men. Anything that has to shave—that's all you need for a party."

"Absolutely. I just hate women—except you of course, dear."

Marcie yawned, stretched, and dropped her feet to the ground.

"Here's the difference between you and me, Audrey," she continued. "You get a man and give him a house, and buy tiepins for him, and pay his grocery bills—and lecture him daily about his short comings, and won't let him see his friends, and afflict him with a lot of people you like and he can't stand. Now me, I wouldn't do a darned thing for him—except show him a good time."

"And flirt with his cronies, I suppose," said Audrey.

"Yess. I'd do that too," yawned Marcie. "Gee, I'm tired. Guess I'll roll into my downy couch, Audrey. I think we're both selfish and mean, when it comes to men. Goodnight, dear."

She languidly took her departure, and a minute later, Audrey could see the light flash on in Marcie's room.

Audrey herself waltzed in her comfortable lounging chair, for Parrish's return. The warm June breeze turned cool, and she shivered a little. After a time, she went in the house, and brought out a silk cape—one she had worn on her honeymoon.

An hour passed by, and another. Lights in the houses across the way began to wink out. Motor cars passed less frequently. Wayfarers on foot walked with the brisk stride of those who are on their way home and to bed, instead of in the easy stroll of folk who walk for pleasure on a summer's night.

Midnight came, and 1 o'clock. Audrey, her face showing white and still above her enveloping cape, still waited.

It was 2 o'clock when she finally arose and went slowly into the house, with dragging feet and head bending forward.

Parrish had not come home.

CAPACITY OF REFINERY IS UP 2,000 BBLS.

Olney Refinery Now Has Storage Capacity Of 40,000 Barrels

OLNEY, Texas, June 8.— Now shipping gasoline regularly into all sections of the United States and to Canada, the Olney Oil and Refining company has just completed a modern continuous treating plant in connection with the big plant north of Olney and is now able to manufacture all grades for export, announces Charles T. Wolverton, manager.

Storage capacity of the plant has been increased to 40,000 barrels, with the completion of a 10,000 barrel tank and two 1,500-barrel gasoline run-down tanks. The plant employs 18 men and is running almost to its capacity of 2,000 barrels of crude daily.

One hundred and twenty-five carloads of gasoline are shipped each month besides 80 carloads of by-products, not including fuel oil, which is sold here for drilling and in industries.

Scattered through the oil fields of Texas are independent refineries that are idle and abandoned with the sun, wind and rain gradually destroying the costly investment. But the Olney refinery, which opened in January, 1924, has never stopped a day. It was built by O. T. Anderson and Jack Marcell, both of Olney, who are the sole owners. The plant represents an investment of approximately $100,000. High grade straight run gasoline is produced, the crackling process not being used.

SCOTT, TEXHOMA GOES TO SIMMS

Popular Sales Manager Is Head of Simms Crude Purchasing Dept.

W. L. Scott, formerly salesmanager for the Texhoma Oil and Refining company, has resigned his position with that company effective June 1, it is announced, and has taken a place with the Simms Oil company as manager of the crude oil purchasing department in Texas. Mr. Scott's headquarters will be in the Waggoner building in Wichita Falls, although his duties will take him over most of the state.

Defraud Is Alleged

EL DORADO, Ark., June 8.—(AP)—Alleging that they had been defrauded in the deal by which the H. L. Doherty company of New York City, entered the Arkansas oil fields two years ago, William Coats and J. B. Sowell, wealthy local oil men, yesterday filed suit in Union chancery court for $4,000,000 judgment against their former partner, T. H. Barton of this city, H. L. Doherty and company and the Natural Gas and Fuel corporation, also of this city.

The complaint alleges that two years ago when Coats, Sowell and Barton, then operating a partnership known as the Eldorado Natural Gas company, found themselves heavily involved, Barton was chosen to go to New York to negotiate for the sale of their interests. He returned, according to Coats and Sowell with the proposal that all three sell out for $100,000 each, which the plaintiffs agreed to do.

Subsequently, Coats and Sowell allege, they discovered that Barton had not sold his share, but was remaining in the local field with a one-third interest as Doherty's partner and sharing in the "immense profits" of the new company.

Largest Shot Given

One of the largest shots ever used in a well in the southwest will be given the Majamar Oil company's No. 1 Baish, permit, in 21-17-32, Lea county, New Mexico, approximately 45 miles east of the Artesia field of Eddy county.

On Wednesday, according to telegraphic reports, from Artesia, 900 quarts will be lowered into the above test, to shoot the sand from 3,640 to 3,950 feet.

This well has attracted much attention since March 22, when 10,600,000 feet of gas was encountered at 3,115 feet this sand having been penetrated but six feet. At 2,300 feet, the well had a showing of high gravity oil.

The past few days, however, it has created new interest, when on two occasions, oil was blown several hundred feet from the hole, due to the tremendous gas pressure.

Land Grant Cases

AUSTIN, June 8.—(AP)—Two important questions yet to be settled in the courts of Texas will be submitted in argument to the supreme court Wednesday.

The cases are, according to briefs filed that of the state of Texas, J. D. J. Coyle and Coyle-Concord Oil company, vs Grubstake Investment association, et al, investigating the old Spanish land grants, on lands on which it is claimed the owners hold title to land to the middle of the beds of streams and that of Lee Hager et al vs D. W. Stokes, Orange county tax collector, involving the question of whether oil royalties is subject to taxation, real estate or personal property for such.

The land grant case is over oil and gas permits granted by the land commissioner on Frio river in McMullen and Liver Oak counties. R. J. Randolph, assistant attorney general, will argue for the state.

Okla. Wells Down

The daily average production of the 66 of Lincoln county's pools and two of Payne county, for the week ended Monday, June 7, shows as follows:

Davenport in 14-5, 190 wells, 10,837 barrels, an increase of three wells, but a decrease of 313 barrels.

Stroud pool in 14-6, 68 wells, 2,977 barrels, a decrease of 48 barrels, with same number of wells.

Gulf Wins Long Suit

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 8.—(AP)—By direction of Judge R. M. Gibson, a federal court jury today returned a verdict for the Gulf Production company in the suit of J. M. Guffey to recover $180,000 with interest from 1901, claimed due from the sale by Guffey to the Gulf company of oil and gas leases in Texas and Louisiana. A previous trial resulted in Guffey being awarded $348,695. The Gulf company appealed from that verdict and was granted a new trial. Guffey based the action on a contention of a verbal agreement by which he retained ownership of a lease on a tract in Jefferson county, Texas, which later was sold for $180,000. The company contended no exceptions were made in the transaction.

TO SUCCEED BYNG

BOILS FOR YEARS NOW ALL GONE

Alabamian Says Dodson's Liver Tone Gave Him Brand New Liver Worth Fortune.

Experience seems to indicate that people store up in their systems certain poisons that break out all at once in a series of boils. Sometimes they are fatal.

Willie Hapes says: "Every since I grew up boils broke out on me just when the planting season began, and I had to lay up. Blood remedies were worthless. The only known remedy was calomel but it seemed to turn my stomach inside out. This spring I got a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and I feel sure it put a new liver into me worth a fortune, for it cleared off the boils and for the first time in years they didn't come back."

The reason for this is the fact that a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone loosens up the liver, lets go of a gorge of impurities, sour bile, fermented food and gas and breaks up the most obstinate constipation. And yet it never makes you sick—no gripe, no pain—even though it may drive out quarts of sour bile as black as ink. And this result is absolutely guaranteed.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel did in all your life, and without griping or making you sick, go back to the store and get your money.—Adv.

STATE TAXES CARRY JOKER SAYS GEORGE

Humble Tax Case Reveals Citizens Right to Refuse Payment

AUSTIN, June 8.—(AP)—A citizen has the right to pay the amount of an ad valorem tax listed against him, and has the right to decline to pay the amount of any one tax, Ballard W. George, of Corsicana, Navarro county attorney, was informed today in a ruling by Assistant Attorney General Randolph.

The inquiry was made because the Humble Oil and Refining company paid all its tax in that county except the road tax and the ruling cites the authority that a "citizen always has the right to pay the amount of any one tax listed against him. In view of such a holding by the supreme court, we beg to advise that if one has the right to pay the full amount of any one tax, he has th right to decline to pay the amount of any other separate tax, listed against it. The road tax mentioned being a separate tax, the Humble Oil and Refining company had the right to exercise the same in offering to pay all other taxes which has been assessed against it for the year 1925.

"We beg to advise further that if the Humble Oil and Refining company made a legal tender of all the taxes due, excluding the road tax, that it was the duty of the tax collector to receive the same and that he is authorized now to accept the tender as of date January 30, 1926, such legal tender having the effect to prevent accrual of any penalty and interest."

Auto of Missing Doctor Is Found

SAN ANTONIO, June 8.—(AP)—The automobile in which Dr. J. A. Ramsey, 65, retired physician of Mathis, Texas, left his home last month and never returned, was found in a local garage Tuesday afternoon by officers, who now expect the search for the missing man to reveal either his whereabouts or his body in two or three days.

A note, believed to be a forgery, was found inside. It read:

"Store my car until I come back for it. Dr. J. A. Ramsey."

No one at the garage remembered who brought the car in and it is believed that the slayers or abductors of the aged physician drove the car and left the note.

THE SPHINX "MUTILATED"

NOT so long ago the civilized world was asked to rejoice because the Sphinx of Giza, marvel and mystery of centuries had been expertly restored. Is it possible that this bit of pious rescue work by Egypt's archeologists was nothing but a fraud and a crime?

If we are to believe a writer in the Manchester Guardian, it was something much worse—in fact, a catastrophic mistake. Far from restoring, he says, the restorers "mutilated" the colossus, possibly beyond any hope.

To the irate Englishman, the Sphinx's head looks like the head of a man who has been operated on, bolstered up with cottonwool, and then laid in plaster." The profile has been ruined. While it is true, of course, that the ravages of time had torn clefts in the head, these clefts were "organic" and offered points of support to the eye. Imagination easily filled in the gaps.

Now, nothing is left to the imagination. Immersed up to the breast in sand the Sphinx was as perfect as it could be, we are told. The traveler's fancy, aided by a Baedecker, was invited to complete the hidden body. Alas, with the structure standing forth in all its naked entirely, half the old mystery is gone.

In many more paragraphs, and in terms sometimes sharper than those quoted, Mr. Meier-Graefe (for that is the critic's name) laments the misdeeds perpetrated on a sacred relic. To what summits his wrath must have risen had the restorers dared cement a nose into the cavity where presumably once that organ figured, we hestitate to guess. Yet we understand that the men in charge of the Egyptian department of antiquities are contemplating even that furher sacrilege.

There is one hing Mr. Meier-Graef omits to go into. By all accounts, the work of mutilation has left the Sphinx fortified for many a jolly millenium of existence. Without some kind of a drastic operation being informed soon, the head threatened to drop suddenly from the neck only to be buried in desert sand drifts beneath which the base of the structure had for many hundreds of years been buried. Sooner or later, we should not have as much as a mutilated Sphinx to gaze on, and it is doubtful if tourists would continue to flock to the spot simply to evoke mental pictures of the wonder that once existed there.

GEOGRAPHY BECOMES INTERESTING

ASK your neighbor at the bridge table what he knows about Uruguay, and the chances are about five to one that his information accurate and otherwise) will be exhausted when he said, "Oh, just one of them little South American countries where they have revolutions instead of elections."

Uruguay doesn't seem particularly important to an American. Its name has no lustre of reputed wealth or opportunity. As it happens, however, the little nation of Uruguay bought two and a half million dollars worth of automobiles from United State, manufacturers last year—and paid for them.

British South Africa is a territory well enough identified by its name, but being much more remote, is almost as little known. The very mention of "Africa" is likely to suggest nothing so much as jungle and glistening black savages. It is more than mildly surprising that South Africa bought 11,990 automobiles from the United States alone in 1925, and paid us $10,805,000 for the same.

Figures almost as unexpected might be cited in behalf of a score of far-away countries, usually dismissed as unimportant. Few persons, asked to make a guess, would name Australia as the greatest foreign market for American automobiles, or suspect that from that continent on the other side of the world the staggering total of $34,336,000 was remitted in one year in payment. The figures are from the compilation of the department of commerce.

Geography, commercial or otherwise, has been a much-neglected study in this country. There is some reason to suspect that it will receive increasing attention in the futur.

MR. BLANK'S HOUSE

SOMEBODY told a little stenographer a lie to the effect that Blank's, a business house down the street was in a bad way; and that Blank had had to mortgage his house to keep going.

The girl powdered her nose thoughtfully. "I'm going out and buy something in Blank's this very noon," she said. "I couldn't bear to see him lose that beautiful home of his."

She didn't save the business. She didn't have to for Blank was prospering beyond expectations.

The point of the story is altogether different.

A good deal is said about the envy in which the well-to-do are held by people in moderate circumstances: the Have-Nots hating the Haves. Perhaps there is far less envy than there is admiration. The feeling in most cases is not hatred but gratitude. Nobody can build a beautiful home without affording other people pleasure, even though they may never go inside of it. The little stenographer was rejoiced that Mr. Blank had a fine home. It cannot be said too often that you don't have to be in possession of things to enjoy them. Beautiful homes and grounds ought to be as much a source of community pride as fine parks and public buildings.

IT IS TO WEEP

A MILLION ordinary Americans must have read with profound emotion that letter of Atlantic City, to the mayor of Louisville, complaining that he had been the victim of extortionate taxicab charges on Derby day. The thought of any Atlantic resident, much less the mayor of that city, being compelled to pay an exhorbitant price for a personal service away from home is more than sad. It is scandalous. Not many instances of legalized graft could as greatly arouse the indignation of the nation, but it is possible to imagine a few, as follows:

A Miami realtor duped by a professional from Los Angeles.

The mayor of Herrin complaining of the lack of courtesy shown a stranger in St. Louis.

A Cook county state's attorney unjustly accused of something or other.

Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, the tennis champion, shocked by the immodesty of modern styles.

COST OF A SENATORSHIP

PENNSYLVANIA is the second American state in point of population and wealth. Pennsylvania is the banner republican state. After a real campaign it is possible for the party leaders to roll up a majority of six or seven hundred thousand.

Well, they had a senatorial primary not long since. William S. Vare won the nomination. He had been declared a scrub by the friends of the other contenders. He has filed his expense account at Harrisburg. His race cost him $71,435 in cold cash. There is no telling what his friends spent.

Governor Gifford Pinchot, who ran last, filed an expense account showing an expenditure of $43,707 and Senator George Wharton Pepper, who ran second and was defeated by Vare, according to his expense account, only spent $2,500. Senator Pepper was backed by the Mellons and the Grundys. He was backed by the regular republican organization of Western Pennsylvania, which is controlled by the Mellons and the Grundy's. If he only spent $2,500 how would it have been possible for him to have made the race he did? Those who opposed Pepper declared to newspaper correspondents, in and out of Pennsylvania, that an expenditure of more than a million dollars was made by the backers of Pepper. He did not spend it.

Pepper is an honest man. He would not swear to a lie. No doubt his friends and backers spent it for him. His friends and backers did not have to go before a notary public and swear to the sums they lavished on the voting electorate of Pennsylvania and known or understood to be personal expenditures for a candidate or candidates for political office.

Pepper is a wealthy man; Pinchot is a wealthy man; Vare is a wealthy man. A senator receives a salary of $10,000 a year. He is elected for a term of six years. Vare will be compelled to serve seven years to get his money back. If he were a poor man, depending on his salary, it would be impossible for him to live in the city of Washington unless he found shelter in a house where hall bedrooms are for sale.

A senate committee is to investigate the expenditures of these three candidates. It will be a waste of time and the money of the taxpayer.

Mickey (Himself) McGuire

The Drum---By Britten Austin

"She was married. It was in 1916. I'd got pipped and was home on convalescent leave. I met her by accident—and you know all sorts of funny things happen during the war—I don't think there was a soul from first to last who had the least idea we even knew each other. When we met we vanished into a secret world of romance. The whole thing used to bewilder me."

"Why?"

"Well—I could never make out her attitude to her husband. She wouldn't even speak of him if she could help it. He was at the front, hadn't had leave for months. She was afraid of him, I could see that—but that wasn't all. I had a sort of feeling that she loved him, too—in a different sort of way from loving me. With me, she just went mad. And then afterwards I'd catch her crying, and then she'd kiss me and try to laugh and tell me she'd given up everything in the world for me so wasn't it obvious she loved me. But when I talked of arranging a divorce so that we could get married, she'd just sit miserable and silent and look at me as though she hated me. It was the end of it that fairly baffled me—has baffled me ever since."

"What happened?" said the doctor.

"Well, in due course I had orders to go out again and the night before I wen she had a wire to say her husband was coming home on leave. She was scared stiff. Of course, I consoled her—told her I should surely come back to her, as I had every intention of doing if I were alive. There was only one woman in the world for me. She pretended to believe it—gave me a charm that she said would always keep me safe." He twiddled a ring on his finger. "She'd had it blessed—she was a Catholic—said that wherever I was, if I remembered her with love, good influences would protect me. I've had so many near shaves since, that I've almost come to believe it—who else should I think of in a tight corner? She had no fear for me, I'm sure of that. That doesn't explain the end."

"What was the end?"

"I don't know myself till I was in the trenches a day or two later. We got the newspapers there, you remember. I was looking through one of them when her name caught my eye. It was the report of the inquest." He stopped, bit on his pipe-stem. "She had poisoned herself—before her husband's return. He told the coroner that he knew of no reason for it."

He poured more whiskey into his mug, drank it down. The sinister booming throb of the drum still filled the little silence. He stared in front of him, unaware of the doctor's eyes upon him.

"What was her name?" asked the doctor quietly.

"Daphne," he answered mechanically, lost in his thoughts.

"I mean her surname?"

"Her surname?" He spoke still with his thoughts far away. "Stee—" The name, unfinished as it was, awoke something in him. He switched round to the doctor, his eyes staring, gasping with a sudden horror he would not yet admit to credibility. "Why—Good God, man . . . it wasn't . . . your're not—"

The doctor was looking at him with a face that seemed carved in stone, his hand on his revolver holster.

"Yes," he said, with grim succinctness.

"My God!" said the other, appalled. "My God!"

The macabre reverbration of the insistent drum seemed to emphasize the diabolic irony of it.

"You're the man I've been looking for for six years," said the doctor in a slow, quiet voice, charged full with deadly menace. "It happened just as you say—she was dying when I got home—and she confessed everything—everything except your name."

His fingers unfastened the strap of his holser, while his eyes held the other.

The man seemed oblivious of his peril. "My God!" he said. "And I never connected the names! I never guessed!"

"Nor I," said the doctor, grimly. "But there it is. Your friend the witch-doctor saw something after all." He pulled out his weapon with a quick jerk.

Quick as he was, the other was as quick. A pair of revolvers confronted each other over that table. They looked into each other's unflinching eyes, each man's features sterni set, elemental hostility surging up in each. Neither quailed. The imminence of death, sardonically dooming both, filled the little tent like an atmosphere. The maddening throb of that uncanny drum went on incessantly.

It was the officer who spoke.

"Steevens, before God! it was you who killed her—not I. She was afraid of you."

"You lie!" said the doctor. "She loved me—before you soiled her soul. She died loving me. Go down to hell with that ringing in your ears!" His revolver pointed straight at the other's heart. The throbbing of that accursed drum, where foam-mouthed, grotesquely bedevilled Juju men danced for the weaving of their spells, quickened suddenly in a paroxysm of rapid rhythm, as though incantations mounted to a climax. Outside in the night a sentry challenged. Neither heard him.

"Move your trigger-finger and I fire!" said the officer. "We go together! And before we go I tell you that it was I she loved. She was afraid of you. Without you she would have been my wife at this moment."

"Have you nothing better to say?" commented the doctor, grimly. "No prayers? I'm going to shoot you like a dog."

"I shoot the same instant," said the other. "I want to kill you every bit as much as you want to kill me. I've sworn it to her ghost a thousand times."

There was a pause.

"What are you waiting for?" said the officer.

"I don't want it to be too sudden," replied the doctor. "I've lived for this moment for six long years."

"It's mutual," was the grim reply.

They sat and looked at each other across that table, each conscious of the little, round black muzzle below the level of their gaze focussed into each other's eyes, alert for the flicker in them that would fractionally precede the fatal double stab of flame.

It was the officer who spoke again.

"Steevens," he said, "I'm not quitting—but will you listen to something?"

The doctor's face did not soften.

"Be brief," he said.

The officer spoke over the unwavering level of his revolver.

"Steevens," he said, "we're both going we don't know where. We don't know what we're going to see—or whether we're going to see anything at all. Shall we look at her face for perhaps the last time—both of us?"

The doctor's grim features twitched.

"It's fair play?" he queried. "No tricks?"

"D'you think I'd soil her memory?" said the other angrily.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

THE DISTURBANCE

When chairs are jostled out of place,
When pictures shake upon the wall,
An earthquake hasn't hit the place,
Oh, no, it isn't that, at all.
When cats are trampled under feet,
And 'round the house the people run,
It's not a cyclone, I repeat,
Although it much resembles one.

When doors are opened, doors are slammed,
When tables all are pushed aside,
It doesn't mean a flood has jammed
Against the house where we abide.
When all the place is upsidedown,
In ev'ry room, on ev'ry floor,
It doesn't mean a mob in town,
Or that the world has gone to war.

When frantic persons rush about,
Poke under bureaus, under beds,
And questions ask, and answers shout,
It doesn't mean they've lost their heads.
It doesn't mean some fit of his
Has crazed poor Dad, or things like that.
No, not at all, the trouble is
That Father cannot find his hat.

Origin of Corn.

One of the mysteries of agricultural botany is the origin of corn. The Indians had cultivated it for thousands of years, but though repeated search has been made nobody has been able to find any wild corn. Of course there is corn that has escaped from cultivation, which is not the same thing as the primitive wild ancestral grass from which the Indians developed corn. It is often asserted that corn was developed from the the teosinte grass of Mexico, which is certainly its nearest relative, and a great plant breeder claimed to have reversed evolution and made corn into teosinte grass. But just at the time he made this claim a fossil was discovered which showed that millions of years ago corn was growing wild in a condition essentially like the corn of today, so that the Creator had more to do with the development of corn than the Indians, and so the origin of corn is as much a mystery as ever.

Now what do you know about that?

Answers to yesterday's questions:

1. Cambium is the layer of green cells that may be seen just under the bark of any plant that is alive; cambium is the only part of a plant which contains living protoplasm.

2. The function of the pitch of plant stems is to conduct water. plant stems to conduct water.

Tubers, that is, subterranean outgrowths of the stem where food is stored.

4. A tree dies when the bark is peeled off partly because the cambium dries out, and partly because the system of communication between the leaves and roots is broken.

5. The wound of a tree made by pruning should be painted to keep out fungi and borers.

6. Birches, sycamores and eucalypti shed their bark.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

BY MARY BLAKE

GEMINI

Today's planetary aspects are favorable until noon. Then they become adverse and continue so for the balance of the day. Only the morning is auspicious and, if any action of an important nature is contemplated, it should be consummated during the early hours of the day. Later on, there will be sensed a tendency to cavil, and there will prevail an atmosphere of cynicism, which will bode no good for either speech or action. If however, you curb hasty impulse and only speak and act after deliberation no evil effects need be experienced. Under any circumstance, it will be advisable to restrain your efforts to essentials and not try to force conclusions at a time when none of a fortuitious nature can be anticipated.

Children born today will, according to the signs, enjoy normal health during their infancy, although such an assurance does not relieve parents of their responsibility for careful nutrition and wholesome environment. There are some faint indications of accident just prior to the attainment of adulthood, but this can be warded off if the proper vigilance be exercised. These children will have variable dispositions. At times, they will charm. At other times, they will repel. Their characters will, however, be very firmly established and they will possess great will power. Whether this determination is for good or for evil will altogether depend not only on the precepts, but on the examples of the parents.

If today is your birthday, you are not a very congenial companion, as you have always preferred, and do still, solitude to the association of others. You are a student, and take little stock of, or show slight interest, in the idle chatter and doing of those around you. Disraeli once wrote "Solitude is the nurse of enthusiasm and enthusiasm is the true parent of genius. In all ages solitude has been called for—has been flown to." You are a deep thinker, but your thoughts do not engender action. You conscientiously discharge the duties that you are compelled to discharge, but are without ambition. You, therefore, look on what is going on around you dispassionately, think a great deal, but say nothing.

Your companionship is not often solicited, your advice rarely requested. Your existence brings a great deal of self-happiness, but does not benefit others. This, of course, is selfish, and much could be accomplished by you if you would translate your meditations into actions, and give to others from that store house of information that you have erected.

Successful people born on this date are:

Samuel Slater, cotton manufacturer.
Sylvanus Thayer, soldier.
John Howard Payne, actor and poet.
Richard W. Thompson, lawyer and judge.

Questions From the World of Love Answered by a Noted Authority

Modern Wives Are Discontented Because They Are Lonesome and Unappreciated by Their Husbands. A Few Compliments, Theatre Tickets and Real Kisses Would Solve Feminine Cross-Word Puzzle.

A man asks me: "What's the matter with wives?" He says that wives used to be meek and mild and humble and patient and satisfied and subservient to their husbands, and that now they are restless and discontented and peevish and not willing to stay put in their homes, and they flout their husband's authority. And he wants to know why this is thus, and what's the matter with wives anyway.

Well, I think that the chief thing that is the matter with wives is husbands.

The average man seems to think that just being married to him is picnic enough for any woman, and that every time she looks at her wedding ring she should pass into a state of ecstatic bliss. He feels that he bestowed such a favor upon her in saving her from being an old maid that she hasn't a right to expect anything more from him.

His whole conception of the duty of a husband consists of paying the rent and the grocery bill and giving his wife a few clothes. It never enters his head that he is under any moral obligation to make happy and pleasant the life of the woman he has taken into his hands.

Possibly men have always felt that way about their wives. Probably wives have always resented this attitude of their husbands but in the past there was nothing for the woman to do but to put up as best she could with such luck as fate sent her in a husband.

But nowadays, when any able-bodied, intelligent woman can support herself, and three-fourths of the girls who get married give up good-paying jobs to do so, wives are demanding more of husbands than their grandmothers did, and they are not pulling any suffer-in-silence - and - be - strong stuff when they don't get it.

They have made a big sacrifice on the altar of matrimony. They have given up their freedom, their good pay envelopes, their pretty clothes, their good times and the thrill and excitement of work that brought them in continued contact with the outside world, so that they are not saying any particularly fervent "Thank you" to any man for the privilege of slaving in his kitchen and doing his cleaning and his scrubbing and baby-tending and working twice as hard as they ever did before and without wages.

They look upon matrimony as a fifty-fifty proposition, in which a man is just as much married as a woman is; in which his duty to her is just as great as her duty is to him, and they feel that it is just as much up to the husband to do his part in making a home as it to the wife

Men may take the modern woman or leave her, as they please, but they may be sure of this one fact: that the patient Griselda wife is as extinct as the dodo.

Never again are women going to keep the home fires burning for husbands who come home only to change their clothes and eat, and then fare forth to amuse themselves. Never again are women going to endure the abuse of high-tempered husbands, the grouchiness of surly ones, the tightfistedness of miserly ones. Never again are women going to sit up and twiddle their thumbs waiting for the wecks of unfaithful husbands to come back to them to be nursed and cared for when they are too old and broken to philander any more.

The passing of this generation will see the end of the financially dependent woman. The woman who can get out and earn her own living and that of her children is going to chuck out of the house the husband who doesn't give satisfaction, just as she would break up any other partnership with a man who didn't carry out his part of the obligations.

Goodness knows, when you see the kind of husbands that a lot of women have got, you can't blame them for being disappointed.

When a girl gets married she thinks that she is securing to herself a perfect lover, a man who will always be tender and affectionate to her, who will always admire her and never weary of telling her how beautiful and wonderful she is, and how lucky he feels himself to have got her for a wife. But, alas! the great majority of men stop their lovemaking at the altar. They never show to their wives by word or deed thereafter that they have the slightest affection or interest in them.

A simple but very lovely lace dress (right) has long bell-shaped sleeves and a circular skirt with slightly uneven hem.

Casing Thieves Keeping Busy In Wichita Falls Now

A warning that casing thieves have made their appearance in Wichita Falls and that in the last week or 10 days between 25 and 30 complaints of thefts have been received by the police department was made Tuesday by Chief of Police George Hodgins. Of those 25 or 30 complaints, a "checking" system wherein all dealers in second hand casings are visited by the police in attempts to identify the stolen property has resulted in the recovery of a large number of the stolen tires and in eight or nine arrests, the chief states. There are still, however, a large number of casings unrecovered and the culprits still at large.

The "fence," or person to whom the casings are sold is as much at fault as the thief himself, Mr. Hodgins says. The prices for the stolen casings, according to statements of those arrested, range ordinarily from $3 to $4 for casings valued at $25 to $40. "It is impossible for a man to pay so small a price for a second hand tire in good condition and not know that it is stolen," he says. "The police department, in checking for stolen tires is working on this principle."

Car owners can be of material assistanse in stopping the thefts by locking the spare on, and by prosecuting the thief once he is arrested. The chief stated Monday that in two instances where the culprit had been arrested and the property recovered the owner had refused to prosecute.

Concrete Streets, like Concrete Roads, are a good investment —not an expense

Concrete Streets Are Skid-proof

Suppose you are out for a ride with your family tonight. What will happen if it should be necessary to set your brakes in a hurry? Will your tires grip the surface steadily and stubbornly?

Yes! If you are driving on a concrete pavement.

Concrete streets and roads are skid-proof. They are unyielding, too. No matter how hot the day their surface remains true and even.

Built according to present-day high standards, they meet permanently all the requirements of modern traffic. And they grow stronger with age.

You can tell a concrete pavement by its pleasing light gray color. It is made of a definitely proportioned mixture of sand, pebbles or broken stone, and water, held together by the everlasting grip of that tenacious binding material, portland cement.

You want your pavements to be an investment—not an expense. That means portland cement concrete pavement.

Our booklets R-3 and R-4 tell many interesting things about Concrete Roads and Streets. Would you like us to send them? There is no charge.

Oklahoma Indian Princess Crowned

PAWHUSKA, Okla, June 8.—(AP)—Miss Sarah Jane Mayes of Pryor., Okla., today was queen of the third annual convention of the Society of Oklahoma Indians, in session here.

Attended by 40 Indian princesses and sponsors representing every tribe in Oklahoma, she was crowned last night amid a gorgeousness of Indian costume perhaps never before seen in Oklahoma. The young maidens wore buckskin gowns, such as their ancestors wore on gala occasions. For the most part they were cream colored skins, set off by beading and embroidery.

One of the striking features of the ceremony was the oration of Chief Bacon Rind, who appeared in all the splendor of raiment that has made him famous. In honor of the occasion he had added wide, heavy gold bracelets and a gold star was suspended on his chest.

Fort Worthians To Observe Anniversary Of First Railroad

FORT WORTH, June 8.—(AP)—At 11:25 a. m. Monday, July 12, Fort Worth will complete its first half century as a railroad point, for on that day and hour in 1876, the first tiny locomotive hauled a Texas and Pacific train into the roaring cow town. In honor of this tiny beginning of the city's railroad importance, an appropriate celebration is being arranged.

Division passenger headquarters of the Texas and Pacific railway at Dallas stated Monday night that an investigation is being undertaken to determine what rolling stock of early days it can produce to put on exhibition in connection with the semi-centennial celebration. The railroad plans to cooperate to the fullest extent in the event, it was stated.

There are still many people living in Fort Worth who saw the first train puff in, and it is planned to give them leading roles in the festivities.

Notorious Women In Films Opposed By American Labor

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP)—Hugh Frayne, national organizer of the American Federation of Labor, caused a furore at a testimonial luncheon today to Will H. Hays, motion picture "czar," when he announced that he and his organization were opposed to ticket scalping, top-price motion picture theatres and to women of "unpleasant notoriety" appearing in films.

He said the American Federation of Labor would do its utmost to combat these conditions, going to the extreme, if necessary, of advising its members to refuse to work in theatres or studios where the countenanced ticket scalping or the production of films with "notorious personages" as the stars.

SENATOR COMES OUT FOR LIQUOR

Wadsworth Declares Self In Favor of Volstead Law Modification

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP) Senator Wadsworth, republican of New York, who is offering for renomination, came out flatly today for repeal of the 18th amendment and the substitution for it of "a simple grant of power to congress to deal with the liquor question."

He expressed the hope that with this done congress and the states through congressional authority could establish in this country in accordance with local sentiment and desires some such system as prevails in the province of Quebec. He added that this plan as a "result of the government taking over the sale exclusively of all alcoholic beverages and forbidding the consumption of those beverages upon the premises where sold, does away with the saloon and the private liquor traffic."

Senator Wadsworth's statement took the form of a letter of an unnamed constitutent which was made public after the announcement that Franklin W. Christman, former state senator, had formally accepted the request of the organized dry forces of New York that he be an independent republican candidate against Senator Wadsworth.

Giant California Trees Threatened By Raging Flames

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—(AP) Forest fires continued to burn in California today in three widely separated areas, the Sequoia national forest, Trinity national forest and Angeles national forest.

The Angeles forest fire, southeast of Pasadena, was blanketed last night by a thick fog which prevented the approach of airplane observers who were anxious to obtain an overhead report on the area over which the blaze is burning in San Gabriel canyon.

Lightning struck the Trinity national forest in northern California yesterday and set off three forest fires which defied the efforts of a small band of fighters who attempted to get the blazes under control. A call was out for reinforcements today.

In the Sequioa national forest a blaze was making its way after having been started by lightning three days ago.

TELLS HOW SHE AVOIDS HAVING BAD HEADACHES

The home of Mrs. John L. Pence, Broadway, Va., is one of the thousands of homes in which Black-Draught has been in successful use for the relief of constipation and similar ills requiring laxative or a cathartic. Mrs. Pence says she has kept Black-Draught on hand for a period of nine years.

"My health is generally pretty good," she says, "but occasionally I am troubled with spells of constipation. I always use Black-Draught when I feel a spell of this kind coming on, for it gaves me a bad headache.

"My color gets sallow at times. I get real yellow. I have found Black-Draught to be the finest kind of a remedy for this. I take Black-Draught and make a tea out of it, and take it along in small doses for several days. I have never found anything that served me so well. I can't speak too highly of it, for it has been so beneficial for me.

"My husband also takes Black-Draught and he thinks it is splendid. I have told many of my friends about it and they agree with me that it is a good remedy.

"Since I have known about Black-Draught, I have not suffered nearly so much with headache caused from indigestion. If I find my tongue is coated, and I wake up with a bad taste in my mouth, I know I have been eating indiscreetly and I immediately resort to Black-Draught to straighten me out."

Thedford's Black-Draught is a purely vegetable cathartic or laxative medicine, composed of selected medicinal herbs and roots. Black-Draught is finely powdered which enables the juices of the stomach to extract its medicinal properties in an easy, natural way. It is good for children, grown men and women, and those of advanced age.

Fort Worth Avalanches Wichita Falls By 11 to 4 Count In One-Day Stand

Umps Gives Spud Skipper the Gate, But Crippled Crew Flounders On Manfully

The Spudders stumbled into disaster again yesterday at Fort Worth, closing a rather rough-on-old-clothes sort of two-day jaunt down to Dallas and Cowtown. The Cats bunched blows on the assiduous Paddy Martin in the early frames to score six runs, then combined a couple of base hits with a hit batsman and two errors, scoring three more in the fifth. Paddy went out at this stage and young Buster Ross took up the heaving burden. Bus hurled a creditable game the rest of the way, but the damage was already done. The Cats took the tilt by a 11 to 4 score.

After It's Too Late

After it was too late, our boys got to Lou North for a quartet, scoring one in the seventh and three in the ninth. A double to center by Distel followed by Query's single scored the seventh inning run. Singles by Distel and Query again in the ninth started the Spudders off. Ross followed with a bounder to second that Lindimore booted. Distel scored. Lamb forced Ross at second. Then Turgeon forced Lamb, Query scoring. Jenkins doubled to left, scoring Turgeon.

Brainard was given the gate in the fourth inning by Umphs Osborne over a balls and strikes argument. Score another boot for Osborne, Mr. Doak Roberts, please.

All Changed Around

The Spudders, already crippled by the absence of Mule Washburn from first base, were forced to shift around some more. Before the game ended, Distel was playing third, Lapan first base and Lamb and Jenkins had exchanged outer gardens.

Martin had a tough day of it. He gave up nine hits and seven runs in four and a third innings.

The victory, of course, lost ground for the Spudders, and put Fort Worth six games out of place, the Bears dropping a double header to Beaumont.

Look What Jeems' Boys Went and Did To Those Grizzlies

BEAUMONT, June 8.—(AP)—Caldera and Ross southpawed the league leading Bears into a double loss today when the Exporters finished ahead 12 to 0, and 5 to 3, in two snappy games featured by the slugging of Dunning and splendid fielding by Deviveros, who hit his eleventh homer of the season with the bases loaded in the eighth inning of the first game. Ward was slugged for nine runs in one inning when he replaced Lindsay after a pinch hitter.

Caldera's pitching was superb, only one San Antonio runner reaching third base, the first to pass second, when Najo got a two-base Texas leaguer in the ninth. Ross was little less effective, a single following Rabbitt's triple for one of the runs and an error on a double play ball making the other possible.

Panhandle Wins Final Game Of First Half Race

Hatton Hurls Great Ball And Is Given Wonderful Support

Jess Winters' Panhandle refining company nine, champions of the Twilight league first half of pennant drive added finishing touches to their victory record yesterday by winding up the schedule with an 8 to 2 win over Hugh Cotner's Security National bankers.

Henry Hatton boasted a wonderful assortment of curves and slants. He was aided by great fielding and batting and was never in very much danger. Hatton struck out eight.

Pee Wee Hinds had a great day in the field. The little fellow flashed everywhere and snared balls from all angles. Hinds also scored three of Panhandle's eight runs.

Riley Rawls poled two doubles in four times up while Pig Iron Murrell slapped out a pair of three-base knocks in three times at the platter. These two were all who could get over one safe smack. Red Hicks started the fireworks in the fifth when the little maskman slapped out a long homerun with two mates on the runways.

The Security nine made numerous shifts in their lineup in a vain effort to stem the Panhandle tide. Three Security slabsters were used, Fittager, Rice and Murrell facing the Panhandle onslaught.

Murrell received credit for all three putouts in the first inning while working behind the plate. He handled a chance on a strike out and then pulled an unassisted double killing at the plate. Rawls had doubled, scoring Hinds and sending Hargrove to third. Hargrove attempted to score on a passed ball and Murrell tagged him out after making a long lunge back to the pan. Rawls figured that Murrell was too far off his balance to get him at the plate and he attempted to score. He was tagged out.

Ruth Slams 20 And 21 During Yanks' Victory

Meusel, Collins, Add Circuit Clouts to Beat Ty's Nine, 11-9

DETROIT, June 8.—(AP)—Ruth's twentieth and twenty-first home runs of the season added to circuit clouts by Pat Collins and Bob Meusel, were factors deciding today's 11-innings game in favor of New York, 11 to 9. Detroit which at one time was six runs behind climbed into a tie in the 9th on Koenig's error, Cobb's single add Heilmann's sacrifice fly, only to lose in the 11th when the Babe smashed the ball out of the playing field, scoring Gehrig ahead of him. Ruth's first homer came in the third, also scoring Gehrig, who had doubled. In the first inning with Gehrig on second and two out Ruth was purposely passed, but Meusel hit over the fence to score both of them. Score:

BUZ FANS OUT AT HOME

OAKLAND, Cal., June 8.—(AP)—Russell W. "Buz" Arlett, outfielder of the Oakland baseball club, leads the Pacific Coast league in batting honors, but he fanned out at home yesterday. Mrs. Arlett was granted a divorce on grounds of cruelty. She said "Buz" nagged and scolded and stayed away nights. A property settlement was made.

Waco Sells Hudlin To Indians for 25 Grand, Two Players

WACO, June 8.—(AP)—Willis Hudlin, 19-year-old pitching sensation of the Waco baseball team, has been sold to the Cleveland American league club for a consideration of $25,000 cash and a pitcher and shortstop, together valued at $15,000.

Hudlin stays with Waco for the remainder of the season, although a shortstop will be sent by Cleveland to Waco at once.

Hudlin was reported sold to the New York Yankees last Saturday, but this deal was made with the Yankee scout and was not confirmed by the business manager of the New York club.

Negotiations were re-opened with Cleveland and the deal consummated Tuesday morning. It is final and has been confirmed by the Cleveland business manager.

A part of the $25,000 will be paid "down" on Hudlin and the remainder next spring if he makes the grade, which critics believe he will. The shortstop in mind is Urban, now with the Rochester, N. Y., club. In case he cannot be secured at once either Briscoe, now with Ardmore, Okla., or Ussatti, now with Cleveland as utility, will be sent to Waco.

The pitcher will be sent next spring if Hudlin is kept.

The deal involves, so far as is known the highest consideration ever paid for a Texas league baseball player.

Grimm's Homer, Walks And Single By Adams Wins

Cubs Beat Scott, Turning Giants Back By 2 to 1

NEW YORK, May 8.—(AP)—The New York Giants lost to the Chicago Cubs today 2 to 1, giving the visitors an even break in the abbreviated series. Grimm's homer followed by two passes and Adams' single gave the Cubs their pair of tallies in the second. Young's homer accounted for the Giants' lone run. Root allowed only six hits and chalked up his sixth victory of the season. Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus and Princess Louise of Sweden were in attendance.

Hull Slaps Kayo To Ray McPeck

Clyde Hull, the St. Paul welterweight and one of Wichita Falls' fistic favorites, knocked out Ray McPeck in the eighth round of a scheduled 12-rounder Monday night at El Paso, it was learned by wire from Dick Griffin yesterday sent to Barney Morgan.

McPeck is rated as one of the toughest boys in the welter division. That El Paso fans and promoters think much of his ability is displayed in the fact he immediately was rematched with Hull for next week.

Pirates Grab Even Break With Robins

BROOKLYN, June 8.—(AP)—Pittsburgh gained an even break in the series with Brooklyn by winning today 4 to 3. Cuyler tripled off McWeeney in the 8th, scoring on a wild throw to the plate by Felix. This tied the score. With two on the bases in the same inning Boehler relieved McWeeney and passed two men, forcing across the winning run. Score:

COMMISH SUSPENDS RUBY

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP)—Ruby Goldstein, sensational New York lightweight, was suspended indefinitely today by the state athletic commission after claiming that illness prevented him from boxing Mike Dundee of Rock Island, Ill., at the Coney Island stadium Friday. Goldstein's reinstatement is conditional on fulfillment of a series of engagements for which he is already signed.

BREWERS WIN 15 STRAIGHT

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 8.—(AP)—Milwaukee established a record for consecutive games won in the American Association by defeating Minneapolis here today, running her string of wins to 15, surpassing the mark set by Louisville last year.

The New York Americans have the season's record for major league teams having won 16 straight which was three games behind the record for that league made by the Chicago club in 1906.

Tennis Players Organize Tonight At Landon-Hill For League And Tourney Combat This Summer

Team Competition to Begin Next Week If Plans Go Through, Sights Levelled On State Meet

Wichita Falls netsters gang up at Landon-Hill's this evening at 8 o'clock for the purpose of organizing the 1926 municipal tennis association, election of officers and the laying of plans for the summer racquet campaign, announced Preston Beck, Wichita Falls tennis representative to the Texas amateur athletic federation executive committee, Tuesday.

It is tentatively planned, said Beck, to organize a tennis league composed of from four to six teams for a six-week round robin play on municipal courts. The teams are to consist of three to five players, ranked according to their hypothetical status of tennis ability. The league would function six days a week. At the end of the six-week span which, if plans go right, will begin next week, there is to be a large all-city tournament. The victor in this tourney is to be sent to the state federation championship tournament in Dallas this fall, said Beck.

There are many players who probably will join the association tonight among whom are Leo Haney, Stanfill Bailey, Earl Dosch, Ed Ellis, Ed Bebb, Mike Ellis, John Tyson, Jack Thurman, John Clary, Beck, Agee, Paul Hines, Tom McCarty and Red Williams. There are numerous other players whose names have not been listed, some merely overlooked, others because they are not known. But all are invited to attend the meeting and take a hand in the organization, said Beck. Several players who will participate in the league race, if any, are not in the city at present.

U. S. Netsters May Cop Grapes Despite Helen Wills' Illness

PARIS, June 8.—(AP)—The United States may have a share in the finals of the women's singles in the hard court championship after all, despite the sudden illness of Helen Wills that seemed at first to crush all hopes. Miss Mary K. Browne, captain of the American Wightman team, today restored confidence in a measure when she defeated Mrs. L. A. Godfree, the former Kathleen McKane, one of the strongest among the English women players in straight sets, 7-5, 6-0.

Miss Browne's victory carries her into the semi-finals against Mlle. K. Bouman of Holland and with what is considered an excellent chance of meeting Suzanne Lenglen in the last bracket.

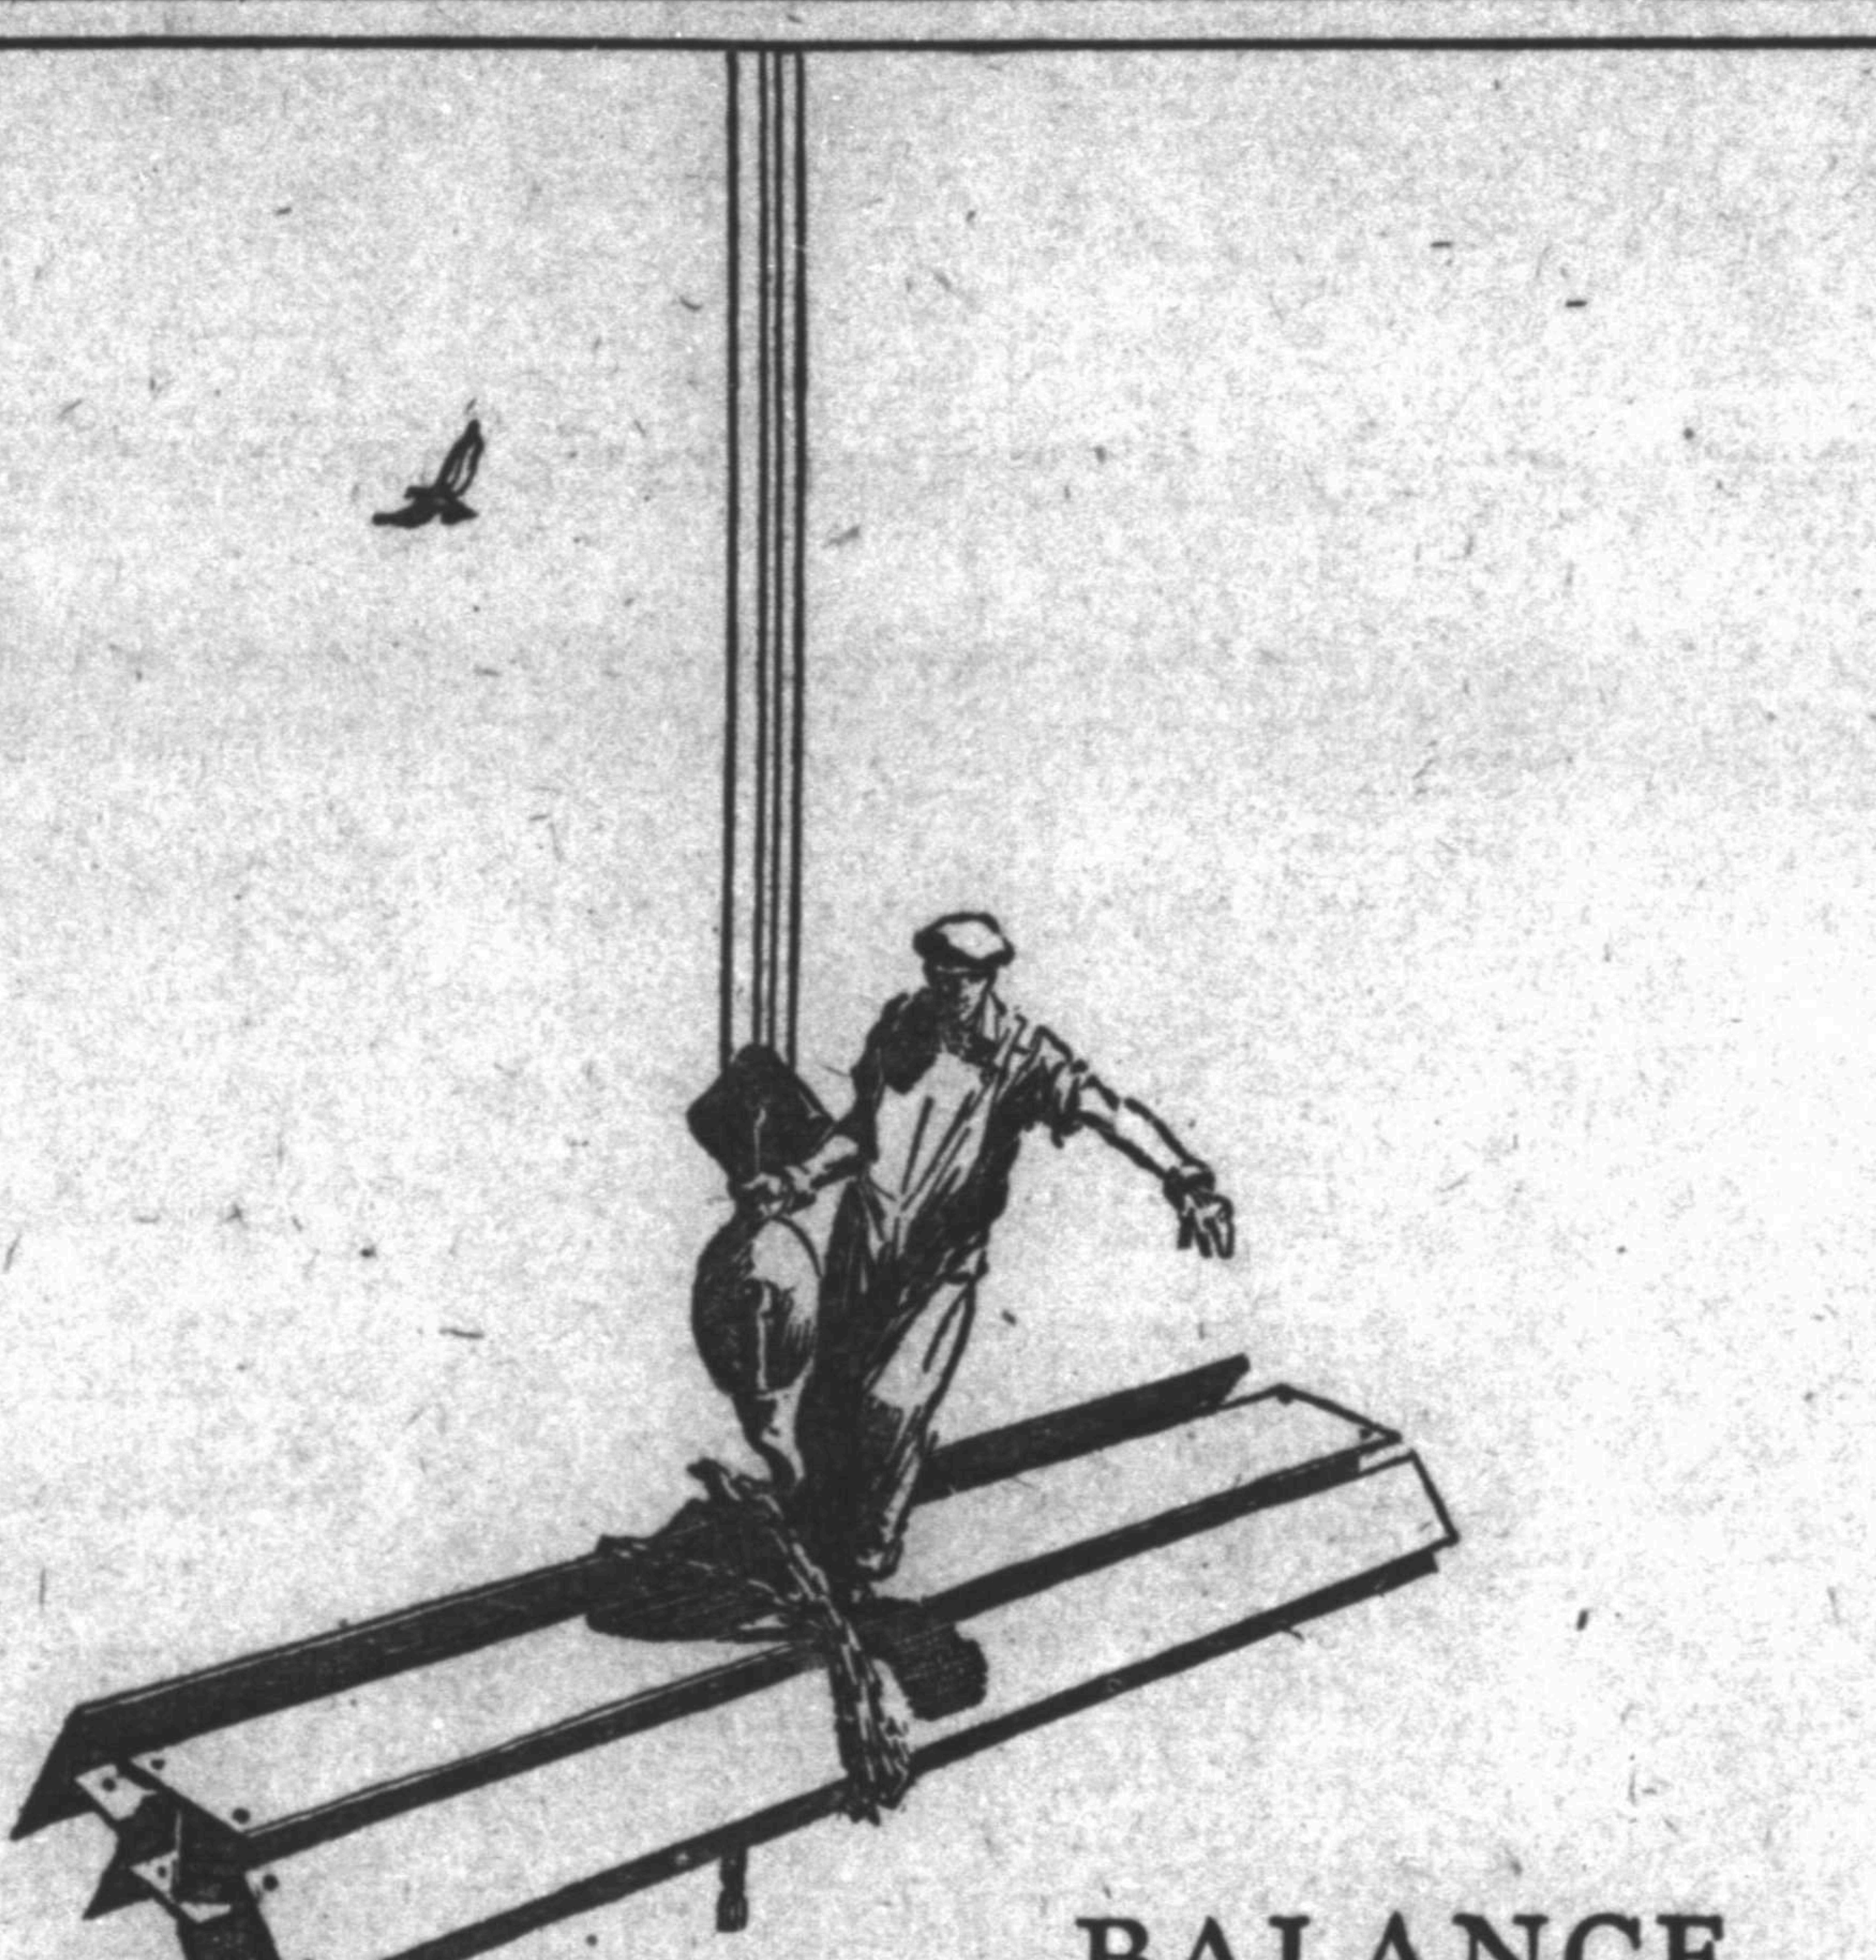

Mlle. Bouman today defeated Mlle. Contostavos of France 6-2, 7-9, 8-6.

Miss Browne shared the honors with Howard Kinsey and Vincent Richards, both of whom won their way into the quarter finals. Kinsey by defeating the Belgian crack M. Aslangul, 6-4 6-0, 6-3, and Richards by taking the measure of the sterling young British player, J. C. Gregory, in straight sets, 7-5, 6-3, 6-2.

Mehlhorn Second In First Day's Play Of British Tourney

LIVERPOOL, June 8.—(AP)—Turning in a card of 71 for the 18-hole round, William Melhorn of Chicago, American born and bred player, today came within two strokes of leading an international field of 150 contestants in the first day's play for the English northern professional championship at Formby.

By equalling the course record of 70, George Gadd of Roe Hampton and W. L. Davies of Prenton took first place. The qualification test will be completed tomorrow with another 18-hole round. All players within 21 strokes of the leader at the close of the first 36 holes will be eligible to continue in the final two rounds of 18 holes each Thursday. A prize of 1,000 pounds sterling will go to the low scorer for the complete 72 holes. An outstanding surprise in today's play was the poor exhibition of the American professional champion Walter Hagen. His card of 82, if he does no worse tomorrow may not keep him out of the final 36 holes, unless one of today's leading trio comes within a stroke or two of the record again.

BRAINARD BACK TODAY WITH J. J. ATZ AND CO.

It Looks Like Keifer And Head on Throwing Knob

Our noble Spudders after two days devoted to helping Dallas and Fort Worth along in the Texas league race, returned today with the Cats for a game this afternoon. The contest starts at 4 o'clock, regulation time everywhere but in Beaumont, and what could you expect there?

The Brainardian aggregation spent one hectic afternoon in Dallas. That was Monday, and then another exciting p. m., taking it from a stockyard angle, in Fort Worth Tuesday.

The Cats and Steers scored enough runs over the Spudders to win four or five games, or maybe to last them the rest of the season.

If that last crack means anything, then Dallas and Fort Worth shouldn't cop another contest from Wichita Falls this summer. Having allowed the Steers and Panthers their full quota of runs in advance, it stands to reason (or doesn't it) the Spudders will tag it on both clubs in all games of the future.

The Panthers are on hand this afternoon only. Tomorrow, Mathes' blustering Buffs come out of the wilds of the bayou regions and invade north Texas civilization for a three-day stand. After them, the San Antonio Bears.

It's a fair guess Harlem Joe Keifer will be given the Wichita Falls chunking assignment this afternoon. In that case, Fort Worth may not score so many runs. Ralph is liable to be Jake's choice.

Delaney May Get Chance at Light Heavyweight Title

Young Stribling and Paul Berlenbach fight at the Yankee Stadium in New York on June 10. This ought to be a great fight, and it may bring out a new light-heavyweight champion. Stribling is one of the cleverest fighters in the country, but when he is fighting the tough fellows he likes to get in and rough it. If he can beat Berlenbach he will be matched with Jack Delaney, unless he uses a champion's prerogative and changes his mind. A Stribling-Delaney fight would be the real fireworks. If Berlenbach beats Stribling he is to fight Delaney again, probably for Fugazy, the new promoter who is rivalling Tex Rickard. Cleverest of all boxers in any class today, and probably the hardest all-around puncher, Delaney may take the title. If he does he'll be a champion fit to compare with any boxer in the world, past or present.

Delaney might have been a champion before this but for a series of misfortunes. He had the flu a few weeks before his last fight with Berlenbach. He has been laid up two or three times when he had a big fight in prospect. Delaney has an ambition to take the light heavyweight championship and then go after the heavyweights. There are very few of them that he can't trim with ease, right now. He is the only man who has ever knocked out Paul Berlenbach. He knocked out Roger Flowers, present middleweight champion, twice. Recently he knocked out Mike McTigue, from whom Berlenbach won the light heavy title on a referee's decision. Delaney weighed 169 pounds in his last fight. Bob Fitzsimmons weight less than 158 pounds when he won the heavyweight title. With his punch and skill Delaney might duplicate that feat if given a chance.

Fussell Works Hard

Fred Fussell, of the Texas southpaw, was left behind when the Spudders trekked to Dallas and Fort Worth Monday and Tuesday But the wronghander has been working away diligently and expects to be ready to jump onto the slab at a moment's notice.

Freddy didn't get off to a very good start this year. He's buried some great ball and some that was pretty poor, but it is generally believed that he's ready now to step into a winning role again.

Douglas Team Resigns Berth In Ball League

Twilight to Carry on With Five Clubs Playing Out Slate

Doc Douglas and his Water department nine have stepped down and out, Resigned from the Twilight league.

Douglas has been carrying the managerial toga single-handed, according to League President L. O. Landon. On top of it all, the Water boys realized an exceedingly tough time of it afield throughout the first half of the pennant scramble, could hardly get 'em out. So it was decided the club would quit the race, unable to go any further.

The league continues on through the last half schedule, dropping games with the Water nine. That leaves five clubs in the organization. Panhandle, American Refiners, Wichita Falls Electrics, and the Security Nationals.

It is understood both the Bankers and Electrics are strengthened considerably for the second half fight.

Morgan Makes Hit

Tod Morgan, world's junior lightweight champion, made a great hit in New York by stopping Steve Kid Sullivan in six rounds in his first fight in the big city. Morgan showed boxing ability that can be compared to the skill of Jack Delaney; and a junior lightweight Delaney punch. He is the first clever junior lightweight champion since Johnny Dundee held the title. A few weeks ago Morgan gave Jimmy Goodrich six pounds of weight and a hard fight. In another year he will be a lightweight and it wouldn't be at all surprising if he becomes a champion.

Twilight League Clubs Behind In Paying Off Dues

Treasurer Cotner Sends S. O. S. for Expense Money

Wichita Falls' twilight baseball league treasury is tottering along at the moment with something like $1.67 balance, confided Treasurer H. Cotner yesterday.

Whereupon an immediate S. O. S. is broadcast to league members for pecuniary assistance.

All six twilight club owners paid in their preliminary dues of $17.50 each at the start of hostilities in April, but have omitted their monthly payments. The second month of the race will have been completed by the middle of next week. The first half of the drive was finished yesterday.

The league is slipping behind in payment of running expenses, hence Cotner urges that all clubs pay up as promptly as possible.

Sandlot Slants

The Panhandle club has sailed the first half Twilight pennant away and is ready for the last half grind. The Longhorns have a fast ball club and one that will be hard to stop. The team is very confident of going into the state games with the hopes of winning its way to the state championship.

* * *

The Wichita Falls Electric company team enters the last half drive with plenty of confidence and expects to win the last half of the race with their hands down.

* * *

The Electricians have strengthened their team and are prepared to put up a very good front. They have added Dick Gordon, hard hitting first baseman, and Bill Andree, utility man. Andree is a good pitcher as well as an infielder and an outer gardner. Both these men are hard hitters.

* * *

The Electrics have released Fritz Taylor to make room for Dick Gordon and have suspended Lee Courtney to make room for Bill Andree.

* * *

Good news comes from the Texhoma stronghold to the effect Jimmie Parker will be able to ascend the hill in the last half. Parker has been out for some time with a sore arm, but with his return to the mound Texhoma chances for the last half flag will be more than doubled.

Top 'O Morn Stuff

By "Blondy" Cross

Motto: "RAZZ THE RAZZERS"

A Mean Break.
It is a shame, more or less, that such a magnificent organization of baseball athletes as the Spudders is forced to struggle along with its chunking corps in the present sad plight it is. Man for man, starting with the lead-off and running back through the lower eight in the batting order, Brainard's boisterous outfit stands head and shoulders above everything over the Texas circuit.

* * *

Joe Seems to Hit'e the Godds.
Spudder officials have endeavored whole-heartedly but almost futilely to strengthen a sorely shot mount staff. When they brought in Joe Kiefer, the Harlem wonder, one angle of the ultra geometrical proposition was solved, evidently. Kiefer has started two games since his advent Sunday a week ago and won them both. He went in as relief man the other day and received credit for another victory.

* * *

The Outlook.
As the situation lies at the moment, Wichita Falls has two winners, apparently, and three possible winners. Jim Roberts and Kiefer have displayed consistently winning form so far. Carl Williams, the veteran right-hander, Lester White, the youngster although bumped rudely Monday in Dallas, and Paddy Martin, the southpaw, line up as the possibilities.

* * *

If Brainard can get the last three named strung out in a winning way, all will be fair but much warmer for seven other Texas league clubs. If not, it's just too bad for the Spudders.

* * *

The Season.
Illness and injury has gone a great distance toward disrupting an apparently powerful pitching staff. This series of poor breaks has caused Brainard to use his twirlers out of turn, forced him to pitch men on little or no notice with only from one to two days' rest. No hurler can stand up for long under such a strain.

* * *

Not So Good.
Wichita Falls is a thriving city, all right, all right. Very progressive and growing rapidly. But she's very much of a back number in one instance. It is doubtful that there is another city of the same population anywhere throughout the United States that has no Y. M. C. A. building, no municipal gymnasium, not even a private enterprise of the same nature.

* * *

No Getting Around It.
That Wichita Falls should have built a Y. M. C. A. years ago or a municipal gym isn't doubted in the least. There's no way of circling this particular matter with argument, no need to go into detail. Columns of type could be burned up in expressing the many reasons why there should have been a Y. M. C. A. building or municipal gym placed in this city many months ago, but that's not necessary. Any openminded citizen already cognizant of this fact and premises that constitute its foundation.

Tom Has Tough Task.
Tommy White meets Speedy Sparks in a 12-rounder next Wednesday, that is, if Sparks makes the weight agreed. And Tommy may find it far more difficult to tag Sparks than many fans seem to believe. The short-armed Tommy is bucking a large handicap in tackling the rangy and equally as fast Sparks. Sparks, at that, probably is faster than White. He is stronger and has the Texas City fighter bested by a wide margin on the reach.

Dick Still After Londos.
Efforts still are being taken to get Jimmy Londos on the canvas with Dick Daviscourt, the Washington man-mountain. Jimmy, you know, ran out on Rough Richard here reecntly. That would be a whale of a battle, these giant wrestlers on the mat together, especially considering the ill feeling that exists.

Settle defeated Harold Key of Eastland and Texas university in straight sets 6-2, 6-0, in the third round, thus putting him in the fourth round. Key received a default from Louis "Red" Thalheimer of Dalals, former national intercollegiate doubles champion and Southwestern conference singles and doubles champion in 1925. Yaqui Joe, Tutored By Matsuda For Stuart Match, Breezes In Prepared For Thursday's Scrap

Indian in Great Condition, Bearing the Jap's Stamp of Approval, Scotchman Due Here Today

Yaqui Joe, the Sonora Indian mat flash who tangles with Alexander Stuart, the Scotchman, in finish match Thursday night at the Eleventh and Ohio arena under direction of the Wichita Falls Wrestling association, arrived in Wichita Falls early Tuesday morning in great condition for the battle. Stuart is expected in the city this morning.

The Indian looks better and declares he is in better shape for this match than ever before. He has just completed a series of training matches with Matty Matsuda who wrestled Stuart twice.

The clever Jap lost his first tiff to the Scotchman but came back last week and won two falls out of three, losing the first fall. These two bouts gave Matsuda a wonderful insight to both Stuart's strong and weak points if any. He has carried his knowledge on to the scrappy Indian, instructing him in the Scotchman's style of attack and defense.

Matty Believes in Joe
After the final workout Sunday in El Paso, Matsuda declared belief that Joe has more than an even chance to defeat the champion of the British empire.

Stuart after cleaning up in the old country, winning the Lord Lonsdale belt three times, has been in the United States approximately six months. The only defeat registered against him was the Matsuda victory of the past week in El Paso. The foreigner has taken all comers, a number of first class welterweights into camp, including the highly touted Indiana speed king, Jack Reynolds, who disputes Matsuda's claim to the world's championship.

Matsuda has won quite a little fame through uncanny use of flying holds, but it is said that Stuart is deadlier and more spectacular with the flying mare than even the Jap.

Fox Sensation in Dallas
Charley Fox, the New York light heavyweight, who has been drawing the largest houses ever pulled in by a wrestler at Dallas, hasn't been given a main event in Wichita Falls although he's been the feature of practically every card he ever performed on elsewhere. Fox is to meet Gus Anderson, the Mississippi sensation, in a one-fall finish match preliminary to the Stuart-Yaqui encounter.

Fox has proved the sensation of the mat game in Dallas, but wrestles only a preliminary here as introduction to Wichita Falls fans.

Hamilton Farm Noses Texhoma In Electra Game

A GREATER TELEPHONE SYSTEM FOR TEXAS

Texas Telephone News

Vol. I — A Journal of Telephone Information Published by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company — No. 6

"My God, it talks."

Brazilian Emperor Assisted Bell in Securing First Public Approval

June 5, 1876, was an important day in the history of the telephone.

Alexander Graham Bell, the young inventor, had the infant telephone on display in an obscure corner of one of the buildings at the Philadelphia Centennial Exhibition.

He was hopeful that the distinguished group of scientists making a tour of inspection that afternoon in company with the Emperor Dom Pedro would inspect the telephone.

It was late; the afternoon was hot and the judges were about to pass by the telephone booth without interest.

The scientists were suddenly surprised to see Dom Pedro step forward and greet Bell. He remembered him as the pale young teacher of deaf mutes whose classes he had visited in Boston.

THE TELEPHONE TALKS

Bell asked him to try the telephone. Dom Pedro put the receiver to his ear while Bell went to the transmitter. Suddenly Dom Pedro cried "My God, it talks."

With one accord the now interested scientists gathered about the table and experimented with the instruments until far into the night, and next day the telephone was moved to the place of honor in the judges' pavilion.

YOUR VACATION

These warm drowsy afternoons, it's pretty hard to keep your thoughts on the work at hand. But your time will come!

Then, it'll be great to shed the burden of business and worry, and hie for the great open spaces. Rest, but keep in touch by telephone.

If you're bent on touring, be sure of a bath, a bed, and a good meal—call ahead and make your reservations. Don't worry about home—you can reach there any time in a few minutes by telephone.

Use station-to-station service—call by number. This is lowest cost long distance.

REPEATERS

Looks like one of the vacuum tubes in your radio set, doesn't it, with its filament, plate, and grid? But it isn't.

It is a telephone repeater which makes telephone talk over long distances possible by picking up the weak voice currents and strengthening them so they may be heard clearly at their destination.

Repeaters are located at intervals of about 250 miles on long distance lines. As a result, long distance conversation is possible between practically any two points in the country.

IN 1896

The telephone as it appeared on its twentieth birthday.

The telephone above is the type used in 1896, just before it became of age.

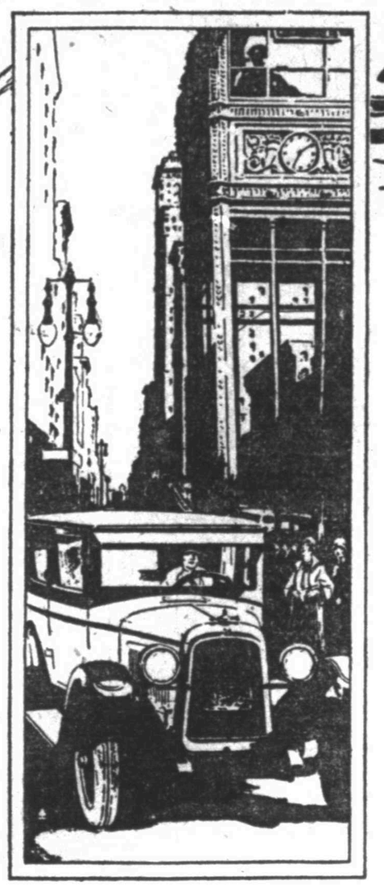

At this time nation-wide service was but a dream of the future as there were only 400,000 telephones in the United States and conversations could not be held at distances of more than 1,000 miles.

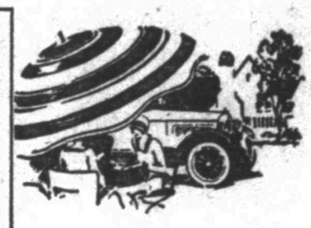

STATION-TO-STATION RATES ARE LOWER

These great engineering advantages

will change your whole conception of motor car value

MODERN engineering science has made some important new discoveries of interest to every man who is considering the purchase of an automobile this year.

Discoveries that throw an entirely new light upon present-day performance standards. Discoveries that will change your whole conception of motor car value.

The Overland Six is a completely engineered, harmonious, integral unit.

It is not a five-year-old chassis, with a modern body. Instead, the whole car was modernly engineered to meet present-day performance standards.

It was designed for road speeds of from 40 to over 55 miles an hour.

You can drive it at a maximum speed hour after hour without wear and tear on the engine. It has the most modern full pressure-feed oiling system. A positive water pump circulation.

Its low center of gravity gives a feeling of security at high speed never enjoyed in any car of this type before.

As you look up at the heavy, cumbersome, bulky cars you pass on the road, you will realize what it means in performance, in comfort, in downright satisfaction to own a modern car such as this Overland Six.

* * *

Imagine if you can, a car that will give you the thrilling performance of 55 miles an hour whenever you want it.

That will pick up in high gear from 5 to 40 miles an hour in 21 seconds.

That is the first closed car that ever took the famous Sierra Grade at San Jose, California, on high.

This is the average performance of the Overland Six in the hands of the average owners . . . the kind you can expect when you drive this car.

Get the utmost for your money. Ride in this car . . . test it in comparison to the value others offer. In fairness to yourself buy no car until you do.

A START FROM HUMBLE BEGINNINGS

Mr. Campbell, who was a lawyer, felt somewhat irritated on reaching his office at 8:30 in the morning to find the fire in the grate unkindled and the floor unswept and the place generally in a state of disorder. It was nearly 9 o'clock before Ike, his black servant, appeared.

"Good Lord, Ike," said Mr. Campbell petulantly. "What's detained you?"

"Mist' Campbell," apologized Ike, "you must please, suh, scuse me fur bein' late dis one time. I sort of overslept myse'f. De truth of the matter is dat I wus kept up de best part of de night on 'count of jinin' a cullid lodge."

"What office did they confer upon you?"

"Imperial Supreme King."

"What?"

"Dat's whut dey calls it—Imperial Supreme King of de Universe."

"Why, naw, suh, Mist' Campbell, dat's de lowes' office dey is in dat lodge. W'en I's been in a spell longer dey is goin', give me somethin' really wuth while."

Daylight Saving On Royal Estate

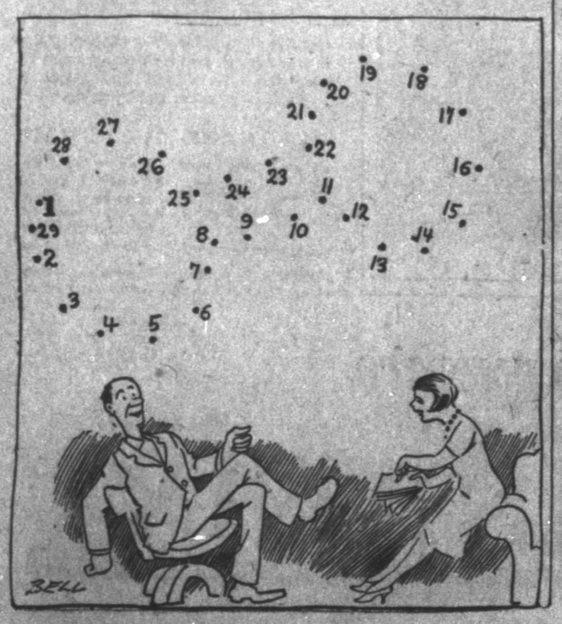

LONDON, June 6.—Recent introduction of "summer time" has brought to light that all the year round the clocks of the royal estate at Sandringham, Norfolk, are kept half an hour ahead of time elsewhere. The custom was inaugurated years ago after King Edward was late for an important engagement because of a slow clock.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP)—The cotton market was irregular today with July relatively firm on covering while new crop positions felt the influence of favorable weather advices and talk of crop progress. July sold up to 18.42 or 17 points net higher, and closed at 18.35, while December, after selling up to 17.42, or five points net higher, closed at 17.32, compared with 17.37 at the close yesterday. The general market closed steady at an advance of one to three points in response to relatively steady cables and a renewal of price fixing or covering by July shorts.

Selling developed on the good weather reports and Manchester advices stating that spinners of American cotton in Lancashire were considering the advisability of closing down their mills every other week owing to the coal situation and unsatisfactory state of trade.

Earlier offerings were readily absorbed, however, and the market worked up during mid-day, new crop months showing net advances of five to nine points at the best. There was a good deal of switching from July to later months at widening differences and the strength of the more favorable view of weather and crop conditions.

When demand for July tapered off later in the day, offerings of new crop positions increased and closing prices were the lowest of the day on these deliveries. Final quotations showed a July premium of 96 points over October compared with a difference of only 83 points at the close of the day before and July was selling fully a cent over December.

June 25 will be the first July notice day here and the advance of today was attributed partly to belief that an increased premium might be necessary to attract cotton from the south for delivery.

Port receipts today 10,0[illegible]. U. S. port stocks 815,943. Exports 11,896, making 7,579,087 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 8.—(AP)—The cotton market developed a little more activity today, particularly in the early hours of trading. The main feature was the strength of the July option for which there appeared to be a good demand from shorts in that month in advance of the approaching date for the liquidation of the near position. Apparently there is still a considerable interest in July which may endeavor to liquidate between now and the first July notice day on June 25. The near month advanced 15 points over the previous close. The strength of the near month, helped by reports of a good spot demand and a forecast for unsettled weather in the belt caused new crop months to improve in sympathy and at the highest of the morning they showed net gains of 10 points. Practically all of this gain was lost during the afternoon despite the strength of July and the close showed a net gain of four points on October and no change on later months.

The opening was steady as Liverpool came in a shade better than due. First trades here were unchanged to two points up, July trading at 17.60, October 17.00, and December at the same figure. These prices proved to be the lows of the day. Later in the morning July advanced to 17.71 and October and December to 17.10 or 10 to 13 points above the previous close. These were the high points of the day except for July which traded up to 17.73 in the late trading.

Although July held firm and even gained after mid-session the later months turned easier and lost all of the early gain, finally closing at or near the low points.

Exports for the day totalled 11,896 bales.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP)—Heavy selling of the motor shares, based on the announcement of a price cut by one of the leading manufacturers, developed considerable irregularity toward the close of today's stock market after an early period of outstanding strength. Trading showed a substantial increase in volume, the day's sales aggregating 1,662,100 shares as against 1,107,300 yesterday.

The early buying movement was generally attributed to the unexpected announcement by Secretary Mellon that no new financing would be necessary this quarter, tax payments and other receipts being large enough to meet government maturities and other obligations from now until September. Prospects of easier money rates when the June 15 payments are out of the way, accompanied by rumors of another decrease in the New York federal reserve bank rate in the near future, also had a bullish effect on sentiment.

Wall Street apparently was not surprised by the victory of Smith W. Brookhart in the Iowa republican primary which was without influence on the price movement of securtiies.

U. S. Steel common was the market leader, climbing 3¾ points to 131¼, the highest price on the current recovery, and closing at the top. Buying was said to be for the account of brokers who ordinarily act for banking interests identified with the corporation and was accompanied by the usual rumors of a special dividend distribution at the next meeting of the board of directors. Crucible and Gulf States advanved a point or so.

Public offerings tomorrow of a $10,000,000 note issue for the Bethlehem Steel Corporation was announced after the market closed.

Oil shares showed signs of activity and strength under the leadership of Atlantic Refining and Pan-American B, but the buying soon petered out. Private trade reports estimated a decrease of 10,000 barrels in the daily average of gross crude oil production last month. Local tractions which have been heavy recently, enjoyed a brisk upturn during the afternoon.

Hudson Motors broke from 66½ to 63½ as a result of the price cut, closing slightly above the low for a net loss of 2 points on the day. Other motors reacted in sympathy. Mack Trucks slipped from 114¼ to 112½. General Motors from 130⅝ to 129⅛. White from 56⅝ to 55¼ and Studebaker from 51⅝ to 50¼, all closing at or near the day's low levels. Pierce Arrow preferred responded to the resumption of dividends by soaring nearly 6 points to 97⅝.

Rails were quiet, but fairly steady. Special strength in Atlantic Coast Line and Louisville and Nashville, the so-called Walters stocks, led to a revival of rumors of a consolidation plan.

Call money renewed at 4 per cent and remained at that rate all day. Time money rates were slightly firmer, presumably in anticipation of a heavy demand for funds in connection with July 15 income tax, dividend and interest requirements, being quoted at 4½ to 4¼ instead of on a flat 4 per cent basis. Commercial paper rates were unchanged at 3¾ to 4 per cent.

Foreign exchanges were inclined to heaviness, but late quotations were around the highs of the day. Demand sterling held firm around $4.86⅛. French francs dipped to around 2.96 cents, but later rallied to around the 3-cent level. Italian lire were slightly easier around 3.70 cents. Polish zloty rallied 15 points to 9.15 cents.

Grain

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, June 8.—(AP)—Corn proved strongest today in a general upturn of grain values. All around market effects of reported damage by drouth were supplemented in the case of corn by results of the Iowa election which were regarded in some quarters as suggesting more likelihood of farm relief legislation. Corn closed firm, 1⅝c to 2⅝c net higher, with wheat unsettled, ½ to 1c up, oats showing ⅝ to ⅛c to ¼c gain and provisions at 15 to 27c advance.

Provisions ascended in line with hogs and grain.

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, June 8.—Considerably more grain arrived on the Fort Worth market Monday than has been seen here lately.

Demand for wheat for export seems increasing due perhaps to the drouth scare in Kansas. Slightly higher prices are no bar to this business.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, June 8.—(AP)—A famine sometimes follows a feast; so it proved in the matter of cattle and other receipts at the Fort Worth livestock market Tuesday. Receipts were less, far less, in every department than on Monday; 2,000 cattle, 200 calves, 400 hogs and 1,000 sheep against several times these numbers arriving on Monday. A week ago receipts 2,648 cattle, 358 calves, 447 hogs and 5,596 sheep; year ago 3,703 cattle, 425 calves, 768 hogs and 1,017 sheep.

Only two or three cars of beef cattle here, some 200 were on through billing. A steady trend to the steer market was seen.

Butcher cows, indeed all sorts of cows steady with Monday's decline. Beef cows up to 500 on early rounds, butchers 4.25@4.75; canners steady at 3.25@4.00.

Yearlings made a top of 9.50 for one car load, bulk offerings in young slaughter stock 6.00@7.50.

Bulls were scarce and unchanged.

Dullness cropped out in the stocker offerings.

Calves showed strength in heavyweights amounting to a quarter. Light veals again 10.00 for the day's top.

Two cars hogs from Oklahoma filled the bill in the swine division; these far from being choice lights, but took the same top as on Monday—15.10, one rail consignment taking even 15.00. Truck lights made the last named figure. Market called ten cents higher.

Two decks of prime wethers to Oklahoma packer at 8.25. This stamped sheep trade as a quarter higher. Lambs generally steady at 14.50 to 15.50. Feeder wethers 6.75 and deck of Louisiana stockers sold at 4.25.

Cattle receipts 2200 including 200 calves; market slow; generally steady; beeves 6.00@8.50; stockers 5.25@7.50; fat cows 4.00@5.50; cutters 3.50@3.85; canners 3.25@3.85; heifers 5.25@8.50; yearlings 5.25@9.00; bulls 4.00@6.00; calves 4.00@10.00.

"Love Pirates" Is New Screen Theme At the Palace

Ruthless love pirates, men who follow the guide of their primal impulses, far from control of law and order—these are the types that play out their drama in "Where the North Begins," the picture announced as the feature attraction at the Palace theater today.

The setting is in the snowy northern wastes, and specifically in a Hudson Bay trading post, where Shad Galloway, the factor, lords it with an iron fist. He has cast his eyes on young Felice McTavish, regardless of the fact that her heart is already given to Gabriel Dupre, a French-Canadian trapper. This brings out the high points of the action. Shad Galloway hires a band of of ruffians to become outlaws and do away with Gabriel, who is wounded and saved from the intrigue only by the unexpected arrival on the scene of a wild dog, who had strayed while a puppy and been brought up with the wild wolves.

It is a Warner Brothers classic of the screen, directed by Chester M. Franklin, with the following cast of players: Claire Adams, Walter McGrail, Pat Hartigan, Myrtle Owen, Charles Stevens, Fred Huntley and Rin-tin-tin, the clever police dog, around whom much of the action revolves.

"Where the North Begins" was filmed in the wild Feather River country, in Plumas county, California, a wild area given over to pines and snows.

'BUNK OF 1926' CLOSED BY JURY

Citizens Order Broadway Production to Ring Down Its Curtain

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP)—Ramsey Wallace, producer of "The Bunk of 1926," was in arms today against the closing of his show by a play jury of citizens selected by the district attorney's office in the first verdict rendered since the system was evolved five years ago.

Three other play juries visited shows that a three-minute skit was ordered eliminated from "The Great Temptations," produced by the Shuberts, who said the expurgation was made last night. "Sex," and "The Shanghai" were found inoffensive.

Juries have been assigned to visit three or four other plays, District Attorney Joab H. Banton said, but he declined to name the shows.

The Broadhurst theatre was reported sold out last night, but "The Bunk of 1926," was not shown and money refunded. The producers told the cast of the show would open tonight and that it was closed last night only because the verdict had been received too late to fight back.

Mr. Wallace said he would ask an injunction against enforcement of the order and if that failed costumes would be modified to meet the approval of the jury. Frank Martins, co-producer, said that the show featured nudity, but claimed that the young women of the cast displayed themselves in such a manner that it could only be called art.

"We have invested about $75,000 in the show and are employing more than 100 people who will be out of work if the show is closed," he said.

The Actors' Equity association is pledged to instruct its members against participating in a producion banned by a play jury. A three-fourths majority is required to close a show under the system evolved by Owen Davis five years ago.

Miss Beryl Halley, a dancer in "The Bunk of 1926," was arrested recently for appearing in a Garden of Eden scene in the production, but the case was dismissed.

UPHAM SUED BY EASTERN MAN

Proposed Panhandle Gas Line Thrown Into Court

A request for specific performance of an alleged contract between the Upham Gas company of Texas and E. N. Gillespie of Pittsburgh, is made the basis for a suit filed by the latter as plaintiff against the Upham interests in the federal district court Tuesday. The suit throws a proposed 16-inch gas line from the Panhandle to Wichita Falls into litigation. The Hope Engineering and Supply company, which was recently awarded the contract for construction of the line is named also in the suit as defendant.

The plaintiff's petition alleges the existence of a prior contract between plaintiff and defendant for the construction and ownership of the line in the name of the plaintiff to be operated by the defendant. This has been violated by the Upham interests in their procedure to build a line of their own to the Panhandle, it is claimed.

LYNCH THRUSTS AT FERGUSONS

Senator Witt Tells Waco Crowd Jim Knows He Can Beat Moody

WACO, June 8.—(AP)—Introducing Lynch Davidson before 5,000 people on the court house lawn, tonight State Senator Witt said "that if Jim Ferguson is elected governor of Texas again it will be because he has tricked the people of Texas into believing that Dan Moody is the man who can defeat him." Senator Witt said that Ferguson must be given credit to be one of the shrewdest politicians of the state and that when he turns his attacks on Moody and endeavors by every means to drive all anti-Ferguson votes into Moody's campaign. He has good reason to believe he can win against Moody."

Senator Witt said that he is for Lynch Davidson not only because of his ability but because "he is the man who can beat Jim Ferguson."

Davidson challenged Moody to prove the sincerity of his anti-Fergusonism by offering to withdraw from the race if Ferguson would do the same, in his speech here tonight.

"Dan says his only reason for getting into this race was to rid the state of Fergusonism. Here's a chance for him to prove that statement," said Davidson. "He could have done it when he accepted Ferguson's election bet and agreed to stake his $4,000 a year office on the election outcome," Davidson continued. "He could have hurled back the counter-challenge into Ferguson's teeth, that they both withdraw."

Davidson said that, "it looks very much like the young attorney general is a lot more pro-Moody than he is anti-Ferguson."

He asserted that "Moody is dodging a fight against the worst features of Fergusonism which Davidson declared are "Standard Oil domination and liquor domination."

"I charge that Fergusonism means the return to Texas of the liquor interests and their domination of Texas politics—and how does the 'red-headed hero' stand on that? Dr. Cranfill is defending him as a prohibitionist in North Texas and Oscar Colquitt is defending him as an anti-prohibitionist in south Texas, and the 'red-headed hero' is shouting 'hurrah for honesty,'" said Davidson.

Newspapers Prove Best Ad Mediums

A fact that is well known to advertisers throughout the country, that newspapers are the most successful mediums of advertising, was told by J. B. Price, manager of the Municipal Gas company, at the Wichita Falls Advertising club Tuesday noon in a talk on "Advertising Public Utilities."

"The public dependability upon newspapers for advertised merchandise increases daily and such a medium is becoming an indispensable factor in our lives. Statements made through the columns of the papers establish a mutual understanding with the public that is accomplished by two methods. The spoken word and the written word are these means. The power of the printed word carries more emphasis with it than a spoken statement."

Mr. Price told of the work accomplished by papers in the country in developing other utilities, in that since a utility is a power to satisfy human wants, a public utility is a beneficial service.

Some Boy's Opportunity

The wholesale agency for the Saturday Evening Post, the Country Gentleman and the Ladies Home Journal for Wichita Falls, will be placed with some live boy this week. Your boy may be just the fellow we wish.

This work pays well, only takes a few hours' time each week, fits right in with the school work, as the work can be taken care of out of school hours. The agency will pay from $50 to $75 per month.

The boy we select should be at least fifteen years old, have use of a car an hour or so each week, should live within ten blocks of business section, or have some downtown connections.

The boy we select should like to work with other boys, and be a leader with them. He must be a boy of high character and free from bad habits.

The agent will have to make a cash deposit with the Curtis Publishing Co., on which he will be paid his regular interest.

The boy we wish may not see this ad, so if you have a boy who you wish to put into business for himself, or if you have a friend you think this work would suit, you will do them a real favor to refer them to me.

This position not only will pay a boy well, but will develop him in leadership and general business.

Call me at Kemp Hotel.

Republican Candidates Of County to Make Various Races

Three republican candidates for offices from this district, subject to the primaries in July and the general election in November, have been announced by the Wichita county republican committee. Melville Peters will be a candidate for the office of congressman from the thirteenth district to oppose the winner of the Gwinn Williams-B. D. Sartin race in democratic circles. Wayland Sanford, an attorney, member of the firm of Bonner-Bonner-Sanford, will oppose William Thornton of Archer City for the office of judge of the 30th district court to succeed Judge H. R. Wilson's successor, who, it is expected will be named by the governor within a few days. La Verne Hull, manager of the Wichita Pipeline company, will make the race for senator in opposition to the winner of the Parnell-McFarlane fight in the democratic primaries. These three have been named in order to conform to state law requirements which make mandatory the filing of names of candidates for district offices prior to June 8.

Within the next week or ten days candidates for other county offices will be selected, it is announced by members of the committee. It is expected that a full republican ticket will be put forth, although it is possible, it is stated, some of the offices will be passed by for lack of a suitable man to make the race. The last day for filing of names of candidates of county offices will be June 19. Republicans will participate in the July primary elections this year just as the democrats, their poll of more than 100,000 votes in the last general election entitling them to this.

Those on the committee selecting the republican candidates are, O. R. Hartt, chairman; Melville Peters, Orville Bullington, L. V. Hull, Harry Gray and Ralph Marcle.

First Wheat Is Milled For 1926

The season's first loads of new wheat were brought to Wichita Falls mills Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning from Wichita county farms.

A. F. Laukhuff, owner of a farm southwest of the city, brought 60 pounds of extra quality dry wheat to the Mytinger Milling and Grain company which sold at $1.25 per bushel, basis No. 1, with a 25-cent premium on each bushel.

Monday morning Mike Emmert sold a small load of 21 1-2 bushels to the Wichita Mill and Elevator at $1.20 per bushel with a $25 premium.

Due to the fact that there has been no rain lately the wheat crop shows every indication of yielding a record profit. This year has been one of the best in years for the crop, according to Guy R. Jones, county agricultural agent.
