Hoover Appeals to American Bankers to Shorten Business Depression with Special Aid

Personal Address Before Annual Convention of American Bankers Association Urges Feeling of Assurance Be Instilled in Clients; Prosperity Predicted

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Oct. 2. (AP)—President Hoover told the nation's bankers tonight the business depression "will be shortened largely to the degree that you feel you can prudently, by counsel and specific assistance, instill into your clients from industry, agriculture, and commerce a feeling of assurance."

Prefaced by expressions of belief in the power of American enterprise, his word went to them in a personal address before the fifty-sixth annual convention of the American Bankers Association.

Much Accomplished

"You already have done much," he said, "and at this juncture the responsibility of those in control of money and credit is great. Without faith on your part and without your good offices, the early return to full prosperity can not be accomplished.

"We know that one of the prerequisites of ending a depression is an ample supply of credit at low rates of interest. This supply and these rates are now available through the cooperation of the banks and the Federal Reserve system.

"The income of a large part of our people is not reduced by the depression but it is affected by unnecessary fears and pessimism, the result of which is to slacken the consumption of goods and discourage enterprise. Here the atmosphere of your offices will affect the mental attitude and, if you please, courage, of the individuals who will depend upon you for both counsel and money."

System Praised

Mr. Hoover praised the federal reserve system as furnishing "an admirable center for cooperation of the banking business with the pro-

Students Are to Be Admitted Free to Fair Grounds

EYES of the Western Texas and New Mexico college world will be centered upon Lubbock today as College Day is being observed at the Panhandle-South Plains fair and the New Mexico Aggies invade the city for a football game this afternoon with the Texas Tech Matadors.

Yesterday's attendance at the fair was 14,434, officials announced last night.

Invitations have been scattered by local fair officials to every college in the section with reservations made for free attendance to all college students. As was the case on Children's Day, when thousands of school kiddies from all parts of the South Plains were admitted free, college students today will be similarly treated and officials state that special attractions have been arranged that the day might be one of pleasure for the older students.

Tech To Dismiss

It is understood that Texas Tech will dismiss classes at least for a half day period in order that students and faculty members might attend the exposition. No high school football game has been scheduled at fair park today in order to avoid conflict with the Matador-Aggie attraction at Tech field starting at 3:15 o'clock.

While attendance at the annual show Thursday fell considerably below that of Wednesday, large delegations were in the city from other counties and surrounding communities.

Officially designated as Hale, Floyd, and Lynn County Day, many automobiles bearing license plates from the three counties could be seen in slow moving lines en route

Three Die In Colorado Tornado

One Man Missing, Five Are Injured After Freak Storm Cuts Narrow Path in State

Weather Bureau Observers at Loss to Explain Tornado Near Pueblo; Origination Point and End Are Not Learned; Victims Meet Death When Two Buildings Collapse

PUEBLO, Colo., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Three persons were killed, one is missing and five were injured by a freak toronado which swept a narrow path near Fowler, 30 miles east of here, late today. The tornado was about a quarter of a mile wide, reports said, but its originating point and end could not be learned.

The dead were: G. W. Lackey, Mrs. John H. Downing, both of Fowler, and Collie Noble, 58, of Manzanola, Colo.

Another Thought Dead

J. W. Lawler of Fowler was not accounted for and was believed a victim of the storm. He had gone into the tornado swept area today with a herd of cattle and no word has been received from him.

Mrs. Downing and Lackey were in an automobile in the path of the storm. They sought shelter in a small building near the highway. The storm flattened the building, crushing them both.

Noble was a ranch foreman. He took refuge in a ranch house which collapsed, injuring him fatally. He died within a few hours at a Rocky Ford hospital.

Names to those hurt and the extent of their injuries could not be determined and details of the twister were lacking because of crippled communication lines.

Weather bureau observers here were at a loss to explain the tornado. They said it developed without any apparent barometric indication.

From Poverty to Luxury Overnight

Job-Seeker One Day, Baltimore Girl Finds Herself Moving in Society the Next in New Avalanche Serial Story

CELIA ROGERS, pretty and 18, daughter of estranged parents, lived with her mother, a seamstress, who worked to support them.

Celia faced the necessity of finding a job after her graduation from high school.

Then her father, a wealthy attorney whom she had never seen, claimed Celia and suddenly she found herself in the midst of luxury, wearing beautiful clothes, riding in expensive cars, attending gay house parties and living a life of ease.

Two lovers played important parts in Celia's life.

One was Barney Shields, rising young newspaper cameraman of 23, whom she some day planned to marry.

And then she met Tod Jordon, a handsome, well-groomed young man who traveled in society, but whose means of livelihood was cloaked in mystery.

About these characters Laura Lou Brookman, whom you will remember as the author of "Rash Romance," has woven a fascinating new serial story, called "Heart Hungry," which begins October 5 in the Sunday Avalanche-Journal and continues daily in the Lubbock Morning Avalanche.

It is a swift-moving story, crammed with human interest, and it is true to life.

You'll want to read "Heart Hungry," beginning next Sunday.

Parade Broken Up After Reds Attempt Break

Banners Denouncing Hoover and Capitalism Carried as Six Hundred Demonstrators Defy Cleveland Policemen

Fireman Is Injured

Tear Gas Bomb and Clubs Are Used by Officers; President at Bankers Meeting Unaware of Demonstrations

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, October 2.—A parade of communists, estimated by police to number 600, was broken up here tonight when it attempted to break away from a police escort and head for Public Hall, where President Hoover was addressing the annual convention of the American Bankers association.

Mounted and motorcycle officers threw tear gas bombs into the ranks of the demonstrators and police-men used their clubs before the short-lived demonstration was broken up.

Fireman Injured

James Kehoe, a fireman on traffic duty, was slugged and taken to a hospital, possibly in serious condition. Several other persons were reported victims of clubs or fists, but none was believed badly hurt. Three women were knocked down by the rush. One youth was arrested.

Many of the banners denounced Hoover and capitalism.

As they marched along with their banners they sang "The International," "Madamoiselle from Armentieres," and "Hail, Hail, The Gang's All Here."

After the marchers were dispersed they returned to public square, where the line of march formed and listened to impromptu orations. Police said the demonstration was organized several days ago and they were prepared for it.

Unaware Of Riot

The president was unaware of the demonstration in the streets. Scores of mounted patrolmen were

Hankins Held Charged with $200 Forgery

Former Plainview, Levelland Minister in Amarillo Jail After Arrest Here; Grand Jury Takes No Action

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, October 1.—C. B. Hankins, former Plainview and Levelland minister, was held in jail here tonight on a charge that he forged the name of Dr. J. E. Nunn to a check for $200.

He was brought here from Lubbock last night, and the grand jury adjourned until Monday without taking action.

Hankins disappeared Aug. 20 after sending a letter to his mother from Amarillo. Two days later a bloodstained automobile was found near Erick, Okla., and foul play was feared. A note in the car indicated the former minister had been slain and his body hidden, but a search disclosed nothing.

Admits Forgery

Thursday of last week Hankins was arrested at a Lubbock hotel, after placing an anonymous telephone call to his wife at Levelland. Saturday he confessed to officers he forged Dr. Nunn's name to a check, using the name of Fred Short, bought a wedding ring with a down payment, giving the name of B. E. Ferguson and then sold the ring for $25.

In the statement he traced his movements after his disappearance, saying he was stuck in mud near Farwell, New Mexico, decided to make a getaway, went to Elk City and wrote the note found in the automobile in Oklahoma. He put the stains on the car, the statement recited, and then deserted it. After two days in Oklahoma, he returned to Amarillo, thence journeying to Lubbock, where he gave a check for $25 for a used automobile.

INJURED IN COLLISION

CORSICANA, Oct. 2.—(AP)—S. Goforth, 21, of Breckenridge, was injured probably fatally tonight in the collision of two gravel trucks, one of which he was driving. The accident occurred at Angus, eight miles south of here. Goforth was brought here to a hospital.

Northcott Is Hanged After Suicide Faked

Gallows Claim Life of Youth for Murder of Three Boys; Leaves Written Confession of His Crime; Collapses

(By The Associated Press)

SAN QUENTIN, Calif., Oct. 2. (AP)—Gordon Stewart Northcutt, 23, chicken rancher of Wineville, Calif., was hanged here today for the murder of three young boys after he had left a written confession of his crime and faked a suicide attempt.

Northcutt was led blindfolded to the gallows and collapsed as he stumbled up the 13 steps to the scaffold platform. Guards held him until the trap was sprung at 10:09 a. m., just as the Rev. Larry Newgent, Los Angeles evangelist, was intoning verses of consolation from the fourteenth chapter of St. John. Northcott exclaimed "don't don't!" and fell through the little door to the beyond he averred he did not fear. He died of strangulation twelve minutes later while 140 witnesses watched in silence. One man fainted.

Calls for Warden

About an hour before the electrocution Northcott sent a hurry call for Mr. Newgent and Warden James B. Holohan and said to the warden: "Well, I've done it. I've beat the noose."

A small bottle crashed to the floor. The warden hastily called Dr. L. L. Stanley, prison physician who applied a stomach pump but found no trace of poison.

Arguments Scheduled Today in J. J. Maple Murder Trial

HOUSTON, Oct. 2. —(AP)— The prosecution's evidence against J. J. Maple, confessed killer of two policemen, and the short answer of the defense were presented in less than four hours this afternoon in Maple's murder trial. Arguments will be heard tomorrow.

The state's side was a dark story of how the holdup man's levelled and experienced pistol cut the two officers—Edward Fitzgerald and W. B. Phares—down when they attempted to arrest him for the robbery of the Touchy Furniture company the night of September 20. It was the Fitzgerald slaying for which the 35-year-old paper hanger was tried.

DISMISSED FROM HOSPITAL

Ray A. Lamb, Western Union messenger, of 1801 Avenue D, who suffered a cut on the back of the head late Wednesday night when his bicycle skidded and he was struck by an automobile at Sixteenth street and Avenue R, was dismissed from Lubbock sanitarium, Thursday. D. T. Worley, 1801 Eighteenth street, was driver of the car which hit Lamb.

Young Aviator Has Hard Luck

Robert Buck Forced Back to Amarillo After Takeoff for Albuquerque in Attempt for Transcontinental Record

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Oct. 2—Robert Buck, boy flier, ran into hard luck today in his effort to beat Eddie Schneider's junior transcontinental record, and was forced to return to Amarillo for his second night, after a bad start for Albuquerque, N. M., and points west, today.

Leaving the field here at 8:45 a. m. (C. S. T.) he was forced down at Glenrio, N. M., 70 miles west of here, on account of motor trouble. A mechanic was sent to him from here. It was necessary to install a new cylinder in Buck's motor.

To Seek Record

The ambitious 18-year-old flier calculated he was about one hour up on Schneider, based on the same distance covered and continued confident of setting a new low time for the trip. He announced that when he reached the Pacific coast he would attempt a west to east record for juniors.

He flew to Amarillo from Wichita, Kansas, yesterday, retarded by strong headwinds and storm clouds. He had hoped to make it to Albuquerque last night.

Buck returned to Amarillo in his repaired plane. He will continue on his flight tomorrow morning, counting as time out that lost in the flight from English field here to Gen Rio.

King Released Under Bond on Bank Charges

Former Official of Tahoka Institution Charged with Misappropriation of Funds; Trial Expected Wednesday

(Special to The Avalanche)

TAHOKA, Oct. 2.—Following an indictment Wednesday by the Lynn county grand jury charging him with misappropriation of bank funds, Robert H. King, former vice-president of the Security State bank here, posted bond of $2,500 before District Judge George B. McGuire of Lamesa after surrendering to the sheriff this morning.

Trial of King probably will be called in district court next Wednesday, District Attorney Thomas L. Price of Tahoka said. King was charged with misappropriating about $2,500, the district attorney said.

Deficiency Found

The indictment was not reported until today although it had been returned by the grand jury Wednesday. District Attorney Price said he had been notified several months ago by the state banking department that its examiner had discovered the deficiency and that the matter was placed before the grand jury as soon as possible.

Since retiring from banking circles, King has been living on a ranch south and east of Tahoka.

District Attorney Price quoted King as saying, following notice of the indictment, that he had a draft covering the deficiency and had expected to use it for that purpose.

G. E. Lockhart, Lubbock attorney and state representative-elect is president of the Security State bank.

Three Hundred Are Expected to Support Westerners in Second Conference Battle; Train Leaves Saturday

The Westerner special train to the Lubbock-Wichita Falls football game which will be played Saturday in the Coyotes' ballywick was assured by railroad officials after sale of all except about 40 of the 200 round trip tickets necessary to charter the train, it was announced by M. Automobile Taken By Negro Is Found

FORT WORTH, Oct. 2. (AP)—The automobile taken by an armed negro robber last night from T. H. Hutson, 25, employee of a trucking company, who was left bound and gagged on the roadside, was found today near a negro settlement on the north side. A vest thought to belong to the negro was found in the car.

Hutson was reticent regarding the woman companion with him at the time of the holdup, and with whom the negro drove away. Hutson told police he picked up a woman on Paddock viaduct whom he did not know. He said she was a white woman and had told him she worked for a candy company. Accompanied by detectives, he looked at all women employees of the company without being able to pick out his companion.

Hutson managed to free his feet of the binding rope and walked to a house, where he kicked on the door and awakened the occupants. He said that when he slowed down in front of a northside house to let the woman out of the car a negro got on the running board and ordered him to drive on. The robbery occurred the negro miles 50 south,

Machine Gun Attack Carries Out Threat of Shelton Gang on Cuckoo Hoodlums from St. Louis; Two Wounded

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2. —Two men, one a reputed leader in the Cuckoo gang of St. Louis, were killed and at least two more were wounded today in a dawn machine gun attack on a shack and still operated by Cuckoo gangsters near Valmeyer, Illinois, about 28 miles south of St. Louis on the Illinois side of the Mississippi river.

Police viewed the attack as accomplishment of a threat by Shelton gangsters from East St. Louis that they would "make it hot" for St. Louis gangsters and bootleggers found operating on the Illinois side. The Shelton gang attracted wide attention several years ago when they warred with the gang of Charles Birger, executed racketeer, for control of liquor traffic in Southern Illinois.

The dead were Peter McTigue, 23, notorious Cuckoo gangster, and William E. Boody, 34, formerly business agent of the East St. Louis plumbers union. Those wounded were Sam Therina, 24, twice convicted bootlegger, and Joe Moceri, 28. All were from St. Louis.

First news of the shooting was brought to St. Louis by Sam Therina when he drove up to city hospital in a small sedan, shot through both hips by machine gun bullets and unable to get out of the car. Seriously injured, he managed to get from the shack in the woods near Valmeyer, into the machine and reach St. Louis.

One charge of swindling was entered against Johnson, who was fined $50 and sentenced to 10 days in jail when he appeared in county court about 10 days ago.

Local Fireman Injured And Rooming House Is Badly Damaged In Fire

FIRE of undetermined origin in a two-story stucco rooming house at 1302 Ninth street caused several hundred dollars damage and minor injuries to a fireman Thursday night.

Mrs. J. W. Palmer, operator of the Palmer house, owns the building, which was damaged extensively on both floors of the west side. Loss on the east side was confined to heat and smoke damage, firemen reported. An estimate of the loss was not available Thursday night.

Sam Hollingsworth, fireman, was overcome by smoke soon after arriving at the blaze and was taken to the fire station, where he was believed almost fully recovered several hours later.

The conflagration started in the lower front room of the house and was well underway when fire fighting apparatus arrived, firemen said. An investigation into origin of the fire will be conducted today, it was said at the fire station.

About two hours were spent in subduing the blaze.

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

THE story of the founding of the world-famous Mormon Tabernacle in the Utah wilderness reads like a chapter from the Old Testament. There were no railroads in the state when the church was erected and the materials had to be hauled with ox teams from the Missouri River. To save the importation of meal nails, the building was put together with wooden pins. It has a self-supporting wooden roof that is a marvelous triumph of engineering skill and the church people, to inspire the pioneer workmen sang the song which they still sing today:

"Come, come ye Saints,
No toil and labor fear—
All is well, all is well, . . ."

Whatever else one may think of religion, no matter how little he may admire creeds and dogmas, he must recognize that it serves as a great inspiration to followers and that people will do things for their religion that they will do for no other thing or person in the world.

IT'S HALLOWE'EN TIME

THE black and orange presaging Hallowe'en reminds us that this season is being heralded again and that for the next few weeks there will be a growing interest in goblins and witches and ghosts among the younger folk, climaxed with the All Saints eve celebration on October 31st.

Did you know that in England and Scotland it was long consecrated to harmless fireside revelries, with many ceremonies for divining of future sweetheart? Today we use the fireside scene and the witch and ghosts and other symbols without giving thought to their superstitious connections with the occasion.

IS THIS CIVILIZATION?

TWENTY cents in silver is the standard price for unwanted babies in Shanghai, according to a story which appeared in the New York Herald Tribune. "A year ago babies could be had for nothing, but the nuns of Siccawei Convent, to keep Chinese mothers from drowning infants into the river, started paying for children brought to their doors," the story continues. "Boy babies are placed in Chinese homes soon after their arrival. The girls are kept by the sisters and are taught to pray, read and write, sew and make lace and embroidery.

People of the world have a long way to go yet in order to become civilized. How much more happiness there would be if all of these unwanted babies should never be born! China has not been the only country in which babies were thrown into the rivers to perish or in which there has been so much grief for children and parents because the latter were unwanted. No child can face a greater tragedy than being born into a world where no individual loves him.

THIS IS INFORMATION

HERE'S an "information" who has the information. Miss Gladys Tyson, who serves at the Southwestern Bell Telephone company exchange, knows about 1,700 different numbers in Lubbock. T. A. White, manager of the company, called around this morning with this information and Miss Lois Stuart, chief operator, verified the statement latter in the day.

Miss Tyson has been working in the local office about four years and has been on the information desk for three years. Her hours are from 7 o'clock in the morning until 8 in the afternoon. Miss Stuart tells this story:

"The other day a man called "information" asking for five numbers at one time. Miss Tyson was able to give them all without stopping to look them up. A few minutes later the man called back and asked Miss Tyson how many numbers she knew.

"Oh, about 1,700,' she replied. To which the man hooted in derision and slammed his receiver on the hook."

A WASTE OF TIME

AFTER having attempted to swim the English channel for nine times, Miss Mercedes Gleitze, British woman swimmer, has again failed to cross. She claims to have crossed in 1927 but because there were some questions as to conditions under which it was done, the judges failed to recognize the feat.

What a lot of wasted effort this is. The first woman who crossed the channel received ovations and publicity that reached around the world and since then it seems that every other woman in England and on the Continent is attempting to repeat the act. The first woman accomplished something—nothing particularly vital as I see it—but it was at least a feat worthy of some notice. But I can see no particular point in others swimming across. It's another of these endurance stunts that leads nowhere.

Landslide Is Given Russell

Thirty-Two-Year-Old Bachelor Wins Democratic Nomination for Governor of Georgia, Tantamount to Election

ATLANTA, Oct. 2. (AP)—A primary landslide has given the Democratic nomination for governor, tantamount to election in Georgia, to Richard B. Russell, Jr., 32-year-old bachelor son of the chief Justice of the state supreme court. Russell, who has twelve living brothers and sisters, will be the youngest governor in the history of Georgia.

If he remains unmarried until seated in June, 1931, in succession to Governor L. G. Hardman, he also will be the third bachelor governor of the state, the others being General James E. Oglesthorpe, founder of the state, and Alexander H. Stephens, vice president of the confederacy.

Returns from yesterday's run-off primary gave Russell 330 county unit votes from 128 counties to 84 unit votes in 33 counties for George H. Carswell, present secretary of state. The incomplete popular vote was Russell 89,628; Carswell 40,091.

Under the Georgia system, 208 of the 414 county unit votes are required or the nomination of governors and senators. Each county has twice as many unit votes as it has representatives in the state legislature.

To Investigate Kelley Charge

Government Officials Seeking Conference with Former Head of Federal Land Office at Denver; to Give Proof

WASHINGTON, October 1. (AP)—Investigation of charges by Ralph Kelley, former head of the federal land office at Denver, that the government has maladministered Colorado oil shale lands came to a temporary halt today as officials sought in vain for a conference with Kelley.

Assistant Attorney General Seth W. Richardson, who is conducting the investigation, said he had telephoned the former Denver official "at least ten times" and had finally sent a messenger to his hotel but had failed to reach him.

Shortly after his arrival in Washington today, however, Kelley said he was prepared to "substantiate in full" all his charges. He added he not only intended to "give detail and proof" of his statements but would "insist upon the opportunity to do so."

Kelley submitted his resignation last Sunday to Secretary Wilbur, at the same time making public a letter charging the interior secretary had made "concession after concession" to large oil companies which, he asserted, were attempting to secure billions of dollars worth of oil shale land illegally. Secretary Wilbur refused to accept the resignation and called for an investigation asserting the charges were "nonsense."

Richardson said today as soon as he could reach the former land official he would "offer him an office and all stenographic facilities so that he can make a recorded statement of his charges and objections."

Only one of 891 prisoners received at the South Dakota state prison in the last two years had a college education, according to Warden G. T. Jameson.

The modern diet contains more protein and less carbohydrates than formerly, says the department of agriculture.

Three of Four Winners in Club Contests Members of Hurlwood Extension Program Club

Three of the four Lubbock County girls who will attend the annual 4-H encampment at the State Fair grounds, Dallas, October 21 to 23, are from the Hurlwood 4-H club. These are Miss Guyrene Horton, who will represent the first year girls; Miss Bessie Moores, fourth year, and Miss Virige Moores, third year. The Misses Moores are sisters.

These trips are awarded annually by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce to girls who exhibit at the Panhandle-South Plains fair. Each must enter exhibits representing her entire year's activities in 4-H club work and the one winning the most points for each class is sent to Dallas.

Announcement of the winners was made yesterday by Miss Ruth Stockton, county home demonstration agent.

This very wearable little suit worn by Jeannette MacDonald, film star, is of brown crepe accompanied by a biege blouse a felt hat with drooping brim, and a sable scarf.

How Old Are You?

Today Said She — I'm 43

Am I Fat?—Not Me

Yes! A year ago I had twenty-two more pounds of fat than I needed—I was fat—and very sensitive about it—but now I say it is foolish for anyone to be overweight.

What did I do? Nothing very hard, I can assure you—I cut out pies—candy and all sweets — ate moderately and every morning before breakfast I took one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water—Never missed a morning.

I lost fat — gained in energy—vigor—charm — and vivaciousness and have a shapely figure I am proud of—anyone can do the same.

A North Carolina woman lost 47 pounds in 3 months — a Montana woman lost 19 pounds in 4 weeks—Wisconsin woman 11 pounds in 6 weeks.

Bowen's Drug, Bowen's Hilton Pharmacy, the Lubbock Drug, the City Drug, and every druggist in the world sells Kruschen Salts—a Bottle that lasts 4 weeks—costs 85 cents.—Adv.

TAXES COMING IN

LUBBOCK county has not yet gone to the "demolition bow-wows" as far as finances are concerned, one may judge from the statement of the three men here who are engaged in collecting taxes from property owners.

Tax collecting is a hard job at best. Despite the old saying that "nothing is sure but death and taxes," payment is generally put off as long as possible. Paying taxes is like pulling teeth, the last thing to be done.

So, the report of the tax collectors that more than $6,000 was paid in on the first day of the four month period for tax payment indicates there is still some money in the country.

A. J. Clark, county collector, reports his first day's receipts were $1,748. A. C. Jackson says the school district received $1,131 and R. A. Holland, city collector, reports $1,275.

Mr. Clark reported to an Avalanche reporter that so far as he knew his first day's colections this year were better than the office had ever recorded while the other collectors expressed themselves as being entirely satisfied with the results.

The information is at least cheering to those who have held all along that economic conditions in this country have been painted as worse than they really are.

PRACTICAL CONSERVATION

The American Tree Association estimates that 10 million Christmas trees will be cut, trimmed and cast aside this year. Wanton waste? Yes and no.

Those forest conservationists, to whom a cut tree represents an irreparable loss to society, see in this wholesale cutting of Christmas trees a catastrophe. Their zeal for forestation prevents them from seeing good in any program of deforestation. They are unable to see the futility of all planting and no cutting.

Over the more progressive and practical-minded conservationists a great change has come in their attitude toward the Christmas tree. No more do they frown upon it or bewail the destruction that was supposed to follow in its wake. Christmas trees, they tell us, have become a valuable farm and timber crop. Thousands of farmers and others are growing these trees on land unfit for any other purpose. They replant as they cut, in order that the supply shall be continuous. This ancient Christmas custom fosters reforestation rather than obstructs it.

But without this materialistic and utilitarian consideration, this annual tree slaughter would profit more than injure mankind. It would be a barren world, without its glittering Christmas trees, much more barren than the hillsides and valleys where the trees are cut, only to be replanted that they may produce another crop of joy and sunshine to brighten a winter's day for boys and girls, young and old.

THE WHY OF THE DROUTH

C. D. Hill, of Kendalia, W. Va., believes the heat and drouth have been caused by "the universal dissemination of electricity by the radio stations throughout the country," and has written to President Hoover asking that they be closed down for 60 days to see if his theory is correct.

Last week a gentleman whose name slips from memory averred that the hear and lack of rain were caused by the fact that there were no clouds. He had noticed, he said, that it never rains unless the weather is cloudy. But this theory is contradicted by that of another gentleman who claims that the hot, dry spell is occasioned by the enormous consumption of gasoline. The exhaust gases, rising, have overlaid the country with a moisture-proof blanket which has interfered with the orderly process of nature.

There is still another theory that the drouth in America is caused by the war in China. The burning of powder, accompanied by the reverberation of firearms, has centered the world's supply of rain in the Yang-tse valley and left none for us. It will be recalled that a similar explanation was brought forward for the wetness of the trenches in the first year of the World war. The scientists laughed, but they aren't laughing now.

Again, some people say that the heat is due to the summer weather, and the drouth to a lack of rain. But those folk are unreasonable. Surely there is a clearer explanation than that.

Man earns his bread by the sweat of his brow, but during these heat spells it's worth a little cake.

There's always another side. Those who trimmed the prodigal son may have needed the money.

On the Firing Line at the Nation's Capital

FIGHT IN CONGRESS ANTICIPATED AFTER POSTMASTER GENERAL URGES HALF CENT STAMP INCREASE

By Charles P. Stewart
(Central Press Staff Writer)

ASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Postmaster General Walter F. Brown says Uncle Sam ought to charge more for handling first class mail—that is, ordinary letters.

He has announced that, at the next session of congress, he will ask for an increase—presumably to 2.5 cents an ounce; a .5-cent an ounce advance.

Already he is economizing on personnel.

The law does not allow him to cut pay or discharge men, but, according to a recent statement by his department, "Where resignations or retirements have taken place, the vacancies will be permitted to lapse."

The official explanation is that postoffice business has fallen off appreciably on account, it is conjectured, of the last few months of slack times. Third Assistant Postmaster General Frederic A. Tilton is quoted as estimating it at 15 to 25 per cent of a slump.

Reducing the staff (though the department denies that a failure to fill vacancies is equivalent to reducing) hardly seems consistent with President Hoover's encouragement of industry to stimulate employment when trade is depressed, but it may be sound financiering.

However, it has not been accomplished without slowing up the mail service to some extent. Deliveries and collections continue as usual at the commercial centers of big cities. Elsewhere they have been slightly curtailed as unostentatiously as possible.

According to Postmaster General Brown, these economies and 2.5-cent stamps are absolutely necessary to wipe out the postal deficit, which has reached a point where it passes the $50,000,000 mark every year.

He reminds us that everything else costs more than formerly; why not stamps on our letters?

As he told an audience in Detroit a few nights ago:

"There is no more justification for asking the government to transport your mail at a loss than there would be in asking an electric company to light your house or a telephone company to give you long-distance calls for less than cost."

Logical as this sounds, Postmaster General Brown will find that it will be disputed in congress, and in no very mild language, when he submits his request for 2.5-cent stamps next winter.

Uncle Joe Cannon once described the postal service thus:

"It is like a great root spreading many feet underground and nourishing a mighty oak. It is the tap root of our civilization."

Suppose it does cost $50,000,000 or $60,000,000?

Such is the question that the postmaster general is sure to be warmly invited to answer.

Moreover:

If a deficit is to be cancelled, how about cancelling it in part through a reduction in some of the subsidies the service pays—or "subventions," to use the term Postmaster General Brown favors.

In 1916 the railroads received $63,880,0000 for carrying the mails; for the fiscal year 1929 the figure was $120,000,000. The interstate commerce commission granted the boost against the postoffice department's objection, and the federal supreme court sustained it, but, says Representative Clyde Kelly of Pennsylvania, generally recognized as congress' foremost authority on postal problems, "neither additional weight nor mileage will justify such an increase."

To shipping companies, on contracts for mail transportation via vessels aimed given by the government to their operators, Representative Kelly puts the 1929 fiscal year's loss to Uncle Sam at $11,225,000.

To aviation, for the same year—$7,000,000.

"And any profit making company," continues the Pennsylvanian, "would slash off rural free delivery at one stroke, reducing expenses more than $100,000,000.

Perodical carrying is a heavy item of loss.

The really substantial one, however, is the parcel post.

Not that the Pennsylvania congressman is unduly critical; he does insist that the allowances he mentions account conclusively enough for a big deficit—but, as he sees it the mail service's function is to give "service" to the public; not to make money.

SMOKE CHEATS CITY FOLK OF SUN'S HEALTH RAYS

By Dr. Morris Fishbein, Editor Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Investigations made in various large cities since the development of the realization that little sunlight actually comes through the smoke clouds, have revealed the fact that city dwellers cannot depend on the sun for ultraviolet rays.

Studies made by the department of physics of the University of Chicago and the health department of the city of Chicago some years ago indicated that sufficient sunlight to be of value comes through the smoke of Chicago only for two hours a day during three months of the year.

The contamination of the atmosphere by smoke from the chimneys of private houses, office buildings, industrial plants and boats is a serious matter in several of the large cities of the United States.

The presence of particles of soot and ash and of the vapors of various acids produces injury to trees and plants and is a definite detriment to health. In sections of Chicago, New York, Pittsburgh and other large cities it is impossible to cause an evergreen tree to grow.

A part of the injury to health is due to the loss of daylight or ultraviolet rays. Some of the injury to health must be due to the inhalation of the particles that have been mentioned.

Representatives of the United States Public Health Service have recently made available the result of a simultaneous record of daylight made in New York on the roof of the United States Marine hospital at the lower end of Manhattan Island where the air was unusually smoky and on the roof of the United States Quarantine Hospital on Hoffman Island, nine miles south of Manhattan Island, where the air was comparatively clear.

The results of the study of the loss of daylight measured by photoelectric cell indicate that the average daily loss at the lower end of Manhattan Island was at least 50 per cent on some days. The average percentage loss of the whole year was 16.6 for clear days, 34.6 for cloudy days, and 21.5 for all days.

The loss of light depends, among other things, on the altitude of the sun and on the nature of the daylight available, that is to say whether from clear or cloudy sky, and whether in the presence or absence of strong wind. The percentage loss of light was found to decrease as the velocity of the wind increased. Apparently strong wind is able to move the smoke particles in the atmospheric contamination out of the range of interference.

Since sunlight has been shown to be of definite importance in the maintenance of the state and city health departments have given greater consideration to the elimination from the atmosphere of the interfering particles.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

HAROLD BRAGG WAS IN SOLITARY CONFINEMENT FOR 33 YEARS

Harold Bragg, a U. S. Lieutenant of Artillery, stationed at Fort Sumter, was convicted of a treasonable act in 1859. The sentence of the court-martial was, in 1861, modified by President Lincoln, who directed that the punishment should consist of Bragg's complete ignorance of his country's fate. Accordingly Bragg was placed aboard the U. S. ship "Medusa," outside of the territorial waters of the United States, and although he was transferred twice (to the "Caroline" and "Neptune") President Lincoln's sentence was followed to the letter. At the time of his death in 1894 Bragg never knew the outcome of the Civil War.

THE GRAMMATICAL ERROR IN THE U. S. CONSTITUTION

The first sentence of the preamble says: "We the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union . . ." The term "more perfect" is not grammatically correct, as anything can only be perfect or not perfect. The term "more nearly perfect" should have been used.

TOMORROW—THE CHAMPION GOAL KICKER

The Hollywood Story

COPYRIGHT 1930 by NEA SERVICE Inc. by ERNEST LYNN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Beginning as an extra, ANNE WINTER has progressed rapidly and is now under contract at Grand United, one of the largest of the Hollywood studios.

DAN RORIMER, former New York newspaper man, now a scenario writer, is in love with Anne, but he is not meeting with much success and he regards his feeling for her as a rather hopeless one. Anne has been living with two extra girls, EVA HARLEY and MONA MORRISON. The former, embittered by her failure, has left Hollywood, but Mona, being made of more cheerful stuff, still hopes to "get a break."

PAUL COLLIER, who writes a daily movie column for a string of newspapers, shares Dan's apartment. He has great faith in Rorimer's ability. A play that he had written for the stage while in New York is returned to Dan, unaccepted, and Anne and Collier read it and are enthusiastic. They urged him to revise it for the movies.

This he does. Evidently it is accepted by Grand United, and Dan, knowing that Anne would like a dramatic role, suggests to studio executives that she be given a test for the leading feminine part. GARY SLOAN is to direct the picture. He gives her a test and she wins the role. Sloan is the biggest director in Hollywood and he begins to show some interest in her and takes her out.

Rorimer proposes to Anne, but she tells him she is not at all sure that she loves him. He thinks it will be better for Anne if he does not show her too much attention; he does not want to arouse Sloan's jealousy. On the eve of her biggest scene in the picture, Sloan suggests that she have dinner with him. At dinner he asks if she has ever been in love.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Chapter XLI

She smiled at him. "Do you think I have"?

And Sloan raised his eyes and looked at her thoughtfully. He said, "No, I don't."

Anne laughed, and she let her eyes drop to evade the look in his own. There was a bold searchingness in them that made her feel that her secrets would not be safe from them. She said, "How do you tell—or are you just guessing"?

Sloan chuckled and gave the waiter a bill. "It's something more than a guess. One of the requirements of a director is clairvoyance, you know. . . . Shall we go?" He gestured to the waiter that he did not expect any change.

When she was beside him in the car once more he continued where he had left off. "Was I right, Anne?"

"I'm afraid you were," she smiled. "What's to be done about it?"

"Something should be done about it—immediately," he added, seriously. "You're going to fall in love some day, Anne, and when you do you're going to be a better actress."

"Haven't heard something like that before?"

"I wouldn't doubt it," he admitted. "Old truths are the truest ones, after all."

"But how do we know they are truths? Doesn't that sound like an sort of thing. And of course any for success—to fall in love?"

Sloan shook his head. He was driving through a darkened stretch and Anne could not see his face. "You're laughing at me," his voice came to her presently, "and I'm telling you something that's good for your soul. . . . You're young Anne, and you're untouched by life, and—"

He paused, and Anne wondered then if he was going to add something trite—something after the manner of fiction writers, about bringing out the woman in her in order to bring out the actress.

But he didn't. He said instead, "You've a great talent, Anne, but you don't use it all. You haven't learned yet to let yourself go; there's something that—I don't know—there's something inside of you that you're keeping locked up. I said that when you fall in love you're going to be a better actress, and I mean it. I know it doesn't sound original, because there's an awful lot to guff printed about actresses having to live their parts in order to act them, and all that. And Anne wonderingly did as he sensible person knows it isn't true."

Anne said humbly, "I'm sorry." She said, "I don't understand, though, what you mean about locking something up inside of me."

Sloan pressed his foot on the

Woman Gives $25,000 Demonstration In Golf to Win Decision of Jurors

CHICAGO, Oct. 2 (AP)—Mrs. Alice Barber gave a $25,000 golf demonstration in superior court today. She showed a jury the way she swings a brassie and won her freedom from a claim of $25,000 damages.

The group that watched her may not have been as big as some of Bobby Jones' galleries but it was undoubtedly as attentive.

It wasn't distance, or slices, or hooks that worried Mrs. Barber's gallery—she wasn't even swinging at a ball. The spectators' concern can best be explained by the fact that she was demonstrating a similar stroke made May 31, 1927. This stroke was the basis of the suit filed by Mrs. Marie Finn who charged the Mrs. Barber's brassie ended up in her face, permanently impairing her sight.

Takes Exhibit "A"

With the court's permission, Mrs. Barber took exhibit "A"—the brassie—and started her story. She and Mrs. Finn and another woman were just starting to tee off, Mrs. Barber related.

"I looked around to see if anyone was in striking distance, kept my head down—"

She started on her upswing but was stopped by the pleas of the jury. She took up her stance on the other side of the counsel table but was stopped again. This time the lawyers fled to the other side of the room and she was allowed to proceed.

Keeps Head Down

"I kept my head down, as all golfers should, hit the ball and followed through," she swung neatly, at least it looked that way as long as no ball was there. The court sighed as one man and the case went on.

Other witnesses were heard, including Mrs. Finn who testified Mrs. Barber hit the ball without giving her time to get out of the way.

But exhibit "A" was carefully kept on the judge's table.

The jury, after deliberating but five minutes, returned a verdict for Mrs. Barber. Attorneys for Mrs. Finn, asking $25,000 damages, served notice they would seek a new trial.

Abilene Woman Says She was In Much Misery

All Her Troubles Have Now Gone Since Taking Orgatone And She Says She Would Like To Tell The Whole World About It

"Nobody can ever realize the tortue I suffered for nearly five years until Orgatone restored my health," said Mrs. Gladys Watts, residing on rural route 1, Abilene, Texas, when talking to the Orgatone representative in Harvey Hays Drug store a few days ago.

"I had the most terrible dizzy headaches that any human being ever suffered with," she continued, "and sometimes for several days at a time I was so bilious and upset I was unable to even do my own housework. I lost my appetite completely and there have been times when I wouldn't even touch food for days at a time. Of course all this suffering got me in an awful weak, rundown condition and very often I would just have to stay in bed too miserable to move.

"Well, sir, this medicine just seemed to make me all over again. I haven't had a single headache since I started taking it. I feel so much better that I just want to go out and tell the whole world what a wonderful medicine Orgatone is. Everything I eat now tastes so good and I have such an appetite that I am almost ashamed of myself. Why my family accuses me of eating between meals. I have gained in weight, I don't know how much, but I can tell by the way my clothes are all getting tight that its a whole lot, and I sleep fine every night and get up full of energy. I'm not troubled with constipation any more and I just feel strong all over."

Rank and File Of Pro Agents Are Instructed

Lessons Learned by Corps of Prohibition Officers Now Being Taught to Enforcement Organization

By RICHARD L. TURNER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. (AP)—Lessons learned by a crops o picked prohibition agents in a month's schooling at headquarters here are now being taught to the rank and file of the enforcement organization throughout the country.

The thirty men who made up a student body are now teachers. Two were chosen from each of the 12 administrative districts and they are now back in the field to conduct schools of their own. The six others are being held in reserve to act as substitutes when needed.

Expects Improvement

Prohibition director Amos. W. W. Woodcock, who is counting heavily upon this educational system to improve the general efficiency of the enforcement personnel, is watching it expectantly. Primarily he is hopeful of three results: A vigorous and effective warfare against violators of prohibition laws, conducted in a lawful way; a vastly increased public respect for the enforcement service and the creation of an esprit de corps within the service itself.

In their month's training here, the teacher-agents were drilled in the principal policies of the enforcement bureau, the basic points of law involved, methods of investigation and the preparation of evidence.

Requirements Listed

They were told to inform their students the law must be enforced lawfully; that strong-arm and third degree methods will not be tolerated, and that the personal conduct of the agents must be beyond criticism at all times, whether they are on or off duty.

In addition, Colonel Woodcock made it clear the bureau is no longer interested in test cases, that it wants clearcut cases of commercial violation, so thoroughly investigated that convictions will follow.

GAS PLANT RAZED

ENID, Okla., Oct. 2. (AP)—Approximately $70,000 damage was caused and Roy Winters, an employe, was slightly burned today by fire of undetermined origin which destroyed the ethyl gasoline mixing plant of the Champlin Refining company here. Thirty seven drums of ethyl mixture exploded before firemen checked the blaze. The plant will be rebuilt at once, officials said.

Toads Suffer No Indegestion Pangs From First Meal in Over 300 Years

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 2. (AP)—Three small toads apparently suffered no pangs of indigestion today after partaking of what archeologists believed was their first meal in more than 300 years.

The toads, found near Gate, Okla., by J. B. Thoburn, state historical society curator, while excavating in an Indian mound, were fed flies yesterday. They were not eager for food, apparently, after their fast of undetermined length, but ate when food was placed in their mouths.

Dr. Frank Brooks, biologist at Oklahoma City university, classified the toads as belonging to the pelobatidae family and to the genus scaphiopus.

As the three toads do not conform in description to the one species listed in scientific catalogues, Dr. Brooks, said it was barely possible they belong to a hitherto unknown branch.

No opinion was expressed by Dr. Brooks as to how long the toads had been buried or as to whether they could live if buried 300 years. Thoburn, however, was vigorous in defense of his estimate.

"It would have been impossible for the toads to have buried in recent years," he said. "The ground was packed too tightly."

BURY ACCIDENT VICTIM

KINGSVILLE, Oct. 2. (AP)—Funeral services were held today for W. P. Lawrence, 62, victim of an accidental discharge from his own gun the first day of the Kleberg county dove hunting season. He was cleaning a shotgun Wednesday when the weapon was discharged. Lawrence came to Kangsville from Robstown several months ago. He is survived by his widow, three sons, six daughters, and a brother.

Cards Beaten 6-1 When A's Lambast Rhem

Connie's Men Take Advantage of Opportunity to Score Runs on Nearly Every Hit; Earnshaw Gives Up Six

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

SHIBE PARK, PHILADELPHIA, October 2. (AP)—Again giving a perfect demonstration of how to recognize old man opportunity and accord him a handsome welcome, Connie Mack's Athletics subdued the St. Louis Cardinals today for the second straight time and continued to move rapidly toward another world's baseball championship.

Picking up where Bob Grove left off in the opening game, but adding considerably more fire-bulling to the proceedings, big George Earnshaw shot the Red Birds down on the wing while his long-range artillery support knocked Flint Rhem out of the box and gave the Athletics a decisive triumph, 6 to 1.

Gate Receipts Duplicated

Before another capacity crowd of 32,295 roaring cash customers who contributed to a "gate" of $152,735, exactly duplicating the figures for the first game, Earnshaw overpowered the Cardinals in decisive fashion, allowing six hits altogether but only two in the last seven innings and bagging a total of eight strike out victims with his rifle-shot speed and baffling curve.

Watkins Homers In Debut

The only Cardinal run was due to a homer over the right field wall in the second inning by young George Watkins, in his series debut at bat, after which Earnshaw bore down and easily tamed the St. Louis flock despite a brand of support that fell far below the sparkling standard of the Macknen yesterday.

The Athletics again cashed in on every opportunity to score. They collected only seven hits altogether but all of them were gathered off the delivery of Rhem in less than four innings and all of them figured in the run-making.

A's Use Heavy Artillery

Again it was the heavy artillery that did the damage and struck another severe blow to the bopes of the Red Birds.

Mickey Cochrane, a home run hero of the first game, led the big barrage with his second successive circuit clout, in the first inning, after which Al Simmons, Jimmy Foxx and Jimmy Dykes, with the helpful bat of Bing Miller, fired the big shots that brought about the downfall of the ill fated Rhem.

The combination of these heavy howitzers on attack, with Earnshaw's sharp shooting on the defense, was simply too much for the Cardinals in a game that packed little of the drama or excitement of the opening day.

In St. Louis Saturday

The battle will be resumed Saturday in Sportsman's Park, St. Louis, in the third game, with the A's needing only two more victories to clinch the defense of the championship and complete a rout of National league forces.

Just A Ball Game—Mack

Today it was "just a ball game," in the words of Connie Mack, after all the hullabaloo of the opener and the enthusiasm inspired yesterday by the presence of President Hoover as well as the performances of the home town favorites. Treating it as such, the A's went about their business in a very workmanlike manner, sprang out in front before their rivals had a chance to get warmed up and then, behind Earnshaw's great hurling, closed the door to any belated bid by the National league champions.

Lindsey And Johnson On Mound

After Rhem had been shelled into retirement, the Cardinals sent out a brace of relief men, Jim Lindsey, and Sylvester Johnson, who throttled the world's champions in their tracks. Not a hit or a run was registered off this pair by the Mackmen in the last four and two-thirds innings, but this brilliant work came too late to do any good.

Mustangs Hope To Beat Micks

Weldon Mason's Eligibility Will Give Ponies Chance to Win; S. W. Conference Teams Off for Games

Southern Methodist's chances against Notre Dame Saturday at South Bend were enhanced something like 100 per cent by the decision of a Southwest Conference sub-committee that declared Welon Mason eligible for play.

Without their backfield flash the Mustangs might have made a dismal showing against the National Champions. The team's offense has been built around Mason. With him, the Methodists are capable of giving anybody's football team a thoroughly exciting afternoon. They might lose with the speedy one in there, but it will be a different game than had Mason been forced to sit on the side line.

Dr. Penick, Pleased

The committee's ruling cannot prove other than popular with the section's football fans. While it overrode a prior decision of Dr. D. A. Penick, president of the conference, declaring Mason technically-ineligible, there was good reason to believe Dr. Penick secretely pleased.

Bears Must Improve

The Baylor Bears will have no past standings of success to maintain in Saturday's joust with the Purdue Boilermakers. In fact, almost anything they do likely will be an improvement over their intersectional record to date.

In 1922 the Bruins, with a conference championship under their belts, were given a whaling by Boston College. Again, in 1925, they went up to South Bend for an early game and were chastised thoroughly by Notre Dame.

Aggies Drill at Corsicana

CORSICANA, Tex., Oct. 2—Taking a last work-out before facing the University of Nebraska Cornhuskers Saturday at Lincoln, Nebr., 36 members of the Texas Aggie football squad halted here today en route from College Station to Lincoln and raced through a drill under the watchful eyes of Coaches Coaches Matty Bell and Kelpto Holmes.

The loss of three men because of sprained ankles, just before the start of the trip, cut the reserve forces on which Coach Bell had been counting. The Aggies Mentor was not overly optimistic over the fate of his own team or any other southern or southwestern team engaging in a battle with any middle west team Saturday. He refused to prophesy victory.

Game Promises to Be Full of Interest as Aggies Come to Lubbock for First Time; Matadors Are Outweighed

Texas Tech's Matadors are primed for their second game of the year and the first meeting with the New Mexico Aggies. The teams clash on the Tech field at 3:15 this afternoon.

Coach Pete Cawthon has sent the Matadors through a most trying week of practice, and, although he offers no comment on the possible outcome of the game today, it is evident that he feels better about his charges than he did this time last week, on the eve of their first game of the season. His team has shown considerable improvement this week on the practice field and in the daily scrimmage sessions with the freshmen gridsters and reserve men the Matadors have displayed an offensive game that was a missing quantity last Saturday when the Wayland Jackrabbits won a 6 to 0 decision.

Aggies Are Heavier

The New Mexico Aggies come to Lubbock confident of a victory over the Matadors. They outweigh Cawthon's boys on an average of 17 pounds to the man, and can plabe a line on the field that weighs nearly 1,400 pounds. They have had considerable experience, and are not new at the game. In their last appearance they defeated the New Mexico Teachers of Las Vegas 25 to 0. The absence of eligibility rules make it possible for the Aggies to fashion a lineup out of experienced material.

Introduce New Plays

Several new plays have been introduced to the Matadors this week as Coach Cawthon sought ways of making his offensive strength capable of going against powerful lines. If his charges succeed in mastering the new plays, they will be exceptionally hard to hold today. Overconfidence and overeagerness has been whipped out of the Matador ranks, and they will take the field today with the feeling of underdog, but determined to give good accounts o fthemselves.

Quite a few squad members who did not apepar on the playing field against the Wayland Collegiates have been showing good form in practice sets this week. The starting lineup, which can be only tentative now, includes men who played last Saturday, but some of the others are likely to see service in today's game.

Tahoka Beats Floydada High At Fair Field

Washam's Bulldogs Score Two Touchdowns Over Barksdale Whirlwinds in Fast Game as Fair Attraction

Weir Washam's Tahoka High school Bulldogs tolk off first prize at the Panhandle-South Plains fair yesterday when they defeated the Floydada Whirlwinds 13 to 0 in the special attraction on the fair grounds. The game was one of the most interesting of the week, both teams playing clean games and fighting to the limit.

Aside from the natural enmity that characterizes all opposing gridiron teams, both organizations were fighting for their coaches yesterday. The mentors of the teams are former athletes at Baylor University and are coaching their own teams for the first time this season. Washam, Tahoka coach, was freshman football coach at Baylor last season, while Barksdale, Whirlwind mentor, was assistant coach to Denton Teachers college last year. Both teams showed signs of having been ably coached to the minutest details, and their manner of playing would have done credit to a leading Class A high school team.

No Scoring Till Fourth

There was no scoring until the fourth quarter, when Tahoka got off to a couple of lengthy runs that finally resulted in touchdowns. For three quarters, the lines held, with Tahoka having something of the advantage all the way, but failing to put across counters when they were within striking distance. The line play of both teams, which were evenly matched in size and endurance, was outstanding. There was no individual star in either line, but both forward walls were well nigh impregnable to plunges. Only once did Tahoka pierce the Floydada line and that was when the latter team was about fagged out. It was late in the game, and Tahoka, desperate to score once more, completed a long pass, taking the ball to the 9 yard line. Finton, Tahoka halfback, hit the line twice, placing the ball on the scoring side on the second plunge.

Lister and Kelner Stars

Tahoka's first touchdown came just as the fourth quarter started. The third period ended with Taho-

Lubbock Westerners Depart For Wichita Falls to Meet Holton's Coyotes Tomorrow

Frnka Puts Men Through Light Workout on High School Lot Before Entraining for Falls City; Makes No Comment

Following a light workout on the high school practice field yesterday afternoon, Coach Henry Frnka sent his Lubbock High school Westerners to the station where they departed early last night for Wichita Falls. They will meet the Wichita Falls Coyotes there tomorrow in an important football game, the second game for Lubbock, the first for Wichita Falls.

Twenty-five men made the trip, not including Coaches Henry Frnka and Bill Keeling. They should have arrived in Wichita Falls early this morning, and will workout on the Wichita Falls Junior College gridiron this afternoon in a light signal drill.

Dope Favors Westerners

Dope gives the Westerners a slight edge over the Coyotes, in spite of the 12 to 9 defeat handed the former in their first league game here last Friday. The teams will be evenly matched in size and weight, with Lubbock having a slight lead in veteran material and experience. Coach Frnka would make no statement on the eve of his departure other than to express the belief that the Coyotes would give the Westerners one of their hardest games of the season, and that he would look for Lubbock to be playing one of its best games.

The team, the student body, and the citizens at Wichita Falls are looking forward to one of the greatest games of the season tomorrow, and have made extensive preparations to treat 2000 or more Lubbock visitors with all due courtesy and to entertain them on a large scale, and at the same time to hand the Westerners a defeat. The Coyotes will be fighting for a clear slate after their first league game and for revenge. Last year the Westerners defeated the Coyotes 6 to 0 here, and Wichita Falls went home pleased with the reception they had received as visitors, but with a burning desire to have the opportunity to seek revenge because of the defeat.

Coach Barry Holton has drilled his men with plays that Lubbock used against Pampa last Friday and is openly optimistic over the outcome of tomorrow's game. He has fought overconfidence in the ranks of the Coyotes, a thing on which Coach Frnka has had no cause for meditation or worry since last Friday's story. The Westerner mentor has spent his time workout out new plays and building up a stronger defense. His team has displayed a wonderful spirit in preparing for the game, and is ready to give the Coyotes a real grid battle.

A special train carrying some 200 high school students and Lubbock townspeople will leave at 5:30 in the morning from the local Fort Worth and Denver station. Attractive rates of $4.95 for the round trip have been made, and tickets are on sale today at the station or at high school.

By special arrangement, and through the courtesy of the Panhandle Refining Company, mainly through the efforts of Logan Brothers, local representatives of the company, the game will be broadcast from the playing field, Station KGKO, operating on an assigned frequency of 570 kilocycles, will start the play by play broadcast at 2:30 tomorrow.

James Shaw Is Defendant in Damages Suit

State Banking Commissioner Characterizes $1,260,000 Case as Smoke Screen; to Make Legal Rejoinder

AUSTIN, Oct. 2. (AP)—Based on allaged unwarranted "harrassment" of building and loan and finance firms, James Shaw, state banking commissioner, was named defendant today in a suit for $1,260,000 brought by A. L. Moon, president of the Mutual Deposit and Loan association of San Antonio.

Shaw was served late this afternoon. He characterized the suit as a "smoke screen," and prepared to make legal rejoinder.

Held Responsible

Shaw was named personally as responsible for damages of $1,250,000 and his bondsman, the National Security company, was held liable for $10,000 damages in the suit.

Two of the complaintants in the suit, the Tex Development company and the Bexar Investment company, have been placed in the hands of a receiver, John Naas of San Antonio having been named to administer their affairs in bankruptcy.

William Wade, assistant attorney general, who has handled the investigation of the firm on which the suit was based, said many of the facts alleged in the suits transpired more than two years ago.

Sums asked were: $100,000 for Moon; $500,000 for the Mutual; $500,000 for the Texas Development company and the Bexar Investment company jointly; $150,000 "penal chargee" against Shaw; and $10,000 from the bonding firm.

The allegations were that Shaw had illegally initiated an investigation by the attorney general, causing notoriety, and a run on the company, causing lack of confidence in it.

Cubs, White Sox Even City Race

COMISKY PARK, CHICAGO, Oct. 2. (AP)—Effective pitching by Fred Blake and a batting punch in the eighth inning today gave the Cubs a 4 to 2, victory over the American League White Sox to square up their city championship series.

The Sox got a man as far as third in the seventh with the aid of their third hit, produced by Cissell, a sacrifice and a walk, but could not score.

The National League entrant went to work on Caraway in the eighth. Blair and English singled after Blake had filed out and Kiki Cuyler drove a homer into the left field stands for three Cub runs. Stephenson lined a single off Cissell's glove and Caraway was removed.

Score by innings:

Cubs	000	100	030	—	4	8	1
White Sox	000	001	001	—	2	5	2

ka in possession of the ball on Floydada's 10 yard line, after Lister caught a beautiful pass on the 20 yard line and was downed. Lister then circled right end for ten yards as the quarter ended. On the next play Ketner went around right end for the touchdown. The ball was passed over the line for the extra point.

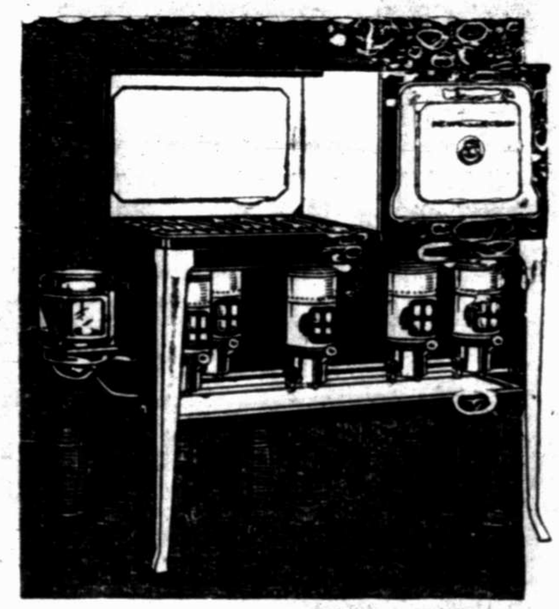

Floydada threatened more than once, when they recovered their own punts and passes that had been caught but fumbled, but the Greenies, playing a wonderful brand of ball, were unable to push over for the counter. Tahoka scored nine first downs to Floydada's four.

Concern Shown By the Public Enemies Held

Law's Campaign to Wipe Out Gangsters in Chicago Is Causing Real Worry; Capone Still at Large

CHICAGO, Oct. 2 (AP)—The "public enemies"—those thus far apprehended—have begun to show genuine concern over the law's campaign to clean them out.

George (Red) Barker has passed the world along to the 2,000 members of the coal teamsters' union he heads to pay three months' dues—nine dollars per member—in advance, the moned to be paid in by tonight. Barker, a "public enemy," needs the money, police suggest, to finance his defense against the charges of vagrancy by which the authorities hope to send him to jail for a year.

Darrow His Attorney

One of Barker's attorneys is Clarence Darrow.

"Mike De Pike" Heitlet, another "enemy," was taken from a hospital bed to court yesterday to post bond on vagrancy charges.

Terrence Druggan, an "enemy," faces Judge Wilkerson to determine how he will be able to appear to answer charges of income tax fraud. He also has been named in a vagrancy warrant.

"Spike" O'Donnell and "Dage Lawrence" Mangano have been ordered to trial late this month as "vags." Both are "public enemies."

"Dage Lawrence" walked into the detective bureau last night and tossed a $100 bill as bond for the release of another hoodlum, Tony Accardo. A moment later he, Accardo and four men who appeared to be bodyguards, walked out of the bureau.

"We public enemies must stick together," Mangano laughed, as they walked away.

Murder Charged

Danny Stanton, first of the 26 "enemies" to be arrested, is confronted with the most serious charge of all—murder. Wisconsin authorities have asked Illinois to turn Stanton over to them to stand trial for the gang murder of Jack Zuta, master plotter and conniver of the North Side gang.

"Three-fingered Jack" White, a "public enemy" who surrendered with Red Barker, also awaits trial.

The "No. 1 man," Al (Scarface) Capone, has succeeded thus far in avoiding arrest, as have many others of the more notorious characters listed by the crime commission as "enemies."

Frank J. Loesch, who has fathered the effort to rid the city of gangsters, said in an address last night that Capone is apparently unworried by the campaign against gangs and rackets.

"I once had a talk with Capone," Loesch said, "and I told him that in the end if the law did not get him, other gangsters would. He replied that the gangsters would."

Capone Guarded

Loesch said Capone now comes to the Loop at least twice a week, always accompanied by eight or more bodyguards.

"The bodyguard is not to protect him from arrest," Loesch added. "It is to protect him from the guns of gangsters."

Capone's "collector," as Jack Guzick often is called, faces legal trouble both as a vagrant and paradoxically, for failure to pay his full income tax.

TWO HOUSES RAZED

Scientists Discredit New Toad Story

Claim of Oklahoma Toads Living Three or Four Centuries Placed in Same Category with "Warts" Superstition

BY BESS FURMAN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. (AP)—To the same category as "pick up a toad and you'll get warts," or "step on a toad and it's sure to rain," scientists of the Museum of Natural History today consigned the story of three Oklahoma toads said to have lived in a state of suspended animation for three or four centuries.

"Just another of those old toady traditions," said Doris M. Cochran and Dr. Remington Kellogg, toad experts.

They agree the three toads found in the Oklahoma Indian mound probably were a species of "bufo compactilis," the burrowing toad, or "scaphiopus couchii," the spade foot toad, both occurring often in Oklahoma.

Go Down Every Year

"They go down every year before the frost hits," said Dr. Kellogg, "and it doesn't take them 300 years to get there."

He explained these toads burrow down backwards to great depth, the dirt falling in over their heads as they go. Once underground, they can suspend animation for some time, he said, but "not to the extent some archeologists, who can't all be experts on natural history, are willing to accept."

"Some careful experiments have been confined along this line," said Kellogg. "Toads were confined in especially constructed cavities in blocks of limestone and sandstone, and these blocks were buried three feet deep in the garden. The toads confined with sandstone were found dead when the boxes were opened at the end of 13 months. Those confined with limestone died before the end of two years. However, it has been experimentally shown a toad can live a year sealed up within a block of limestone.

"It is known the toad can live for some time without food, but the duration of an enforced period of starvation depends largely on the temperature, that is, on whether or not the toad is kept in a state of hibernation."

With regard to longevity, Kellogg mentioned "one account, no doubt authentic, which concerned a toad accidentally killed when it was known to be 36 years old." He labelled "more interesting than realistic" accounts of toads thought to be 200, 300 or 400 years old.

Iowa's total assessed valuation for 1930 is $3,250,852,998, according to the state board of review.

A municipal opera school has been formed by the Santa Monica, Calif., Bay Music association.

Discuss Plans To Discourage Bank Lootings

Signs Telling of Small Sum of Cash on Hand Found to Be Effective; Reward Plan Reported Satisfactory

CLEVELAND, Oct. 2 (AP)—Putting up signs announcing that only a small sum of cash is carried on hands and that all bonds and most of the reserve funds are in banks in other cities is an effective way of discouraging bank robbers, the American Bankers association was told today.

Another method of protecting funds in the vaults is to have the combination known to only one individual and that one not connected with the bank.

Reward Plan Works

George A. Starring of Huron, S. D., secretary of the Dakota Bankers association, said the "small sum" sign has been discouraging and the association's standing offer of a reward of $1,000 for the capture, dead or alive, of any bank robber in the state, has frustrated six robberies and resulted in killing of two robbers since the system was put in operation last November.

J. M. B. Pertrikin, president of the First National bank of Greeley, Colo., said his bank displays a sign reading "safes containing our securities cannot be opened by anyone in this room or building." The only man who knows the combination is not connected with the bank and is called every time bank officials wish to get bonds from the safe. The safes are elevated, and the only ladder on hand to reach them is locked up.

County Turns Down Sale of Hi'way Bonds

Two Proposals Are Rejected by County Commissioners Court in Session with Bond Buyers Here Wednesday

Rejection of two proposals to purchase road bonds from the county was made by the county commissioners court following a conference with bond buyers from Plainview and Dallas, Judge Robert H. Bean, county judge, said Thursday. Some 300 bonds were sought.

One of the bids was made by W. H. Simpson, of Plainview, who offered par and accrued interest with a small premium and also to pay for the expenses of printing and delivering the bonds.

O. L. West, representing Garrett and Co., of Dallas, offered par and accrued interest. He stated that his house had a client for the purchase of 200 to 300 bonds of the denomination of $1,000 each.

The commissioners, after listening to the offers, discussed the matter and decided that they would not sell the onds at this time. Chief reason for the decision was the lack of information on how much money will be needed in the spring to handle contemplated work. It was said that no funds would be needed on contracts until in the spring and that the present condition of the fund was believed enough to handle the situation up to the time new contracts are let.

A special meeting of the court was held on the request of the buyers, it was explained.

Association Handling Ninety Per Cent of Cotton Brought to Levelland Gins, Payne Reports After Visit

Texas Cotton Cooperative association is handling 90 per cent of the cotton received at gins in Levelland, it was reported Thursday by N. H. Payne, field representative of the association, upon returning from Hockley county.

The estimate was based on reports of bankers, business men and Ral Taylor, the cooperative organization's representative at Levelland, Mr. Payne said.

Contracts Signed

More than 100 new contracts with the Cooperative association have been signed by growers at Levelland since Mr. Taylor opened the branch office there, Mr. Payne reported.

Hockley county towns in which receivers have been named are Morton, Whiteface, Cobleland Whiteharrel, Claucne, Ropesville and Levelland.

Crop conditions in Hockley county were described as excellent and prospects are considered good for both large feed and large cotton production.

Each radiator makes its own steam, using gas fuel—each radiator operates independently—a gas burner in the base is enclosed in iron—control of steam pressure is automatic.

WHEN winter's icy blasts begin to blow it will give you a wonderful feeling of assurance to know that your home is adequately heated.

When you buy Clow Gasteam you will buy modern radiator heating, correctly installed, built to outlast the life of the building with little or no servicing or repairs. Yet, you will find that Clow Gasteam in the long run costs no more than old-fashioned makeshifts.

Clow Gasteam radiators heat all parts of a room evenly and uniformly. They are installed by heating experts who know the right size and the right location for each radiator in each room. There is no guesswork or forced selection from only a few different sizes of heaters. And so simple and rugged in construction are Clow Gasteam radiators that there is nothing to wear out, or get out of order. With Clow heating there are no "IFS" and "ANDS."

Of course, you want a radio, automobiles and all the other "necessary luxuries," but you will find that nothing will give your family more comfort and guard it against winter illness than the right kind of heating.

Find out now at what moderate cost you can have this dependable, modern heating system.

Easy terms if desired.

brake pedal, and when the car stopped he turned and faced her. "Look at me," he said.

And Anne wonderingly did as he told her, because she had become accustomed to obeying that authorative ring in his voice. So she looked at him, and Sloan gazed into her eyes without a word, and then he deliberately kissed her.

Anne drew back from him, and Sloan, with a little smile playing on his lips, continued to sit there and look at her.

"Well?"

Anne said quitely, coldly, "That was a cheap trick."

"Are you angry?"

She made no answer, and Sloan laughed softly. "There you are," he said. "You're angry, of course, but instead to being nice and primitive about it and slapping my face, you give me the high-hat treatment. Anne," he declared, "you're too ladylike—you're too cold. God gave you emotion. Use it."

And then he apoliged for kissing her. "Not that I didn't want to, though, he added with a grin. "It was a clinical experiment, but it was something more, too. If you showed me any encouragement at all, I'd fall for you pretty hard, Anne."

He drove her home then and advised her to get a good night's rest, and Anne obediently went straight to bed. She lay awake for a long time, though, thinking that Garry Sloan was a very strange person, wondering if what he had said about her could be true. "Too ladylike—too cold—God gave you emotion—use it."

She was troubled.

But on the set the next morning he greeted her as though nothing at all had happened. He said "Good morning, Anne. Feeling fit?"

"I had nine hours' sleep," she answered, smiling. "I should be."

"Good." There was something else to be done, he said, before he would be ready for her. So Anne waited, talked for a while with Dan Rorimer, who did not longer near her long, however, but found things to keep him busy. Anne thought he was a little abrupt, but she quickly excused t. She thought, on the way to her dressing room: "I'm nothing but nerves."

It was nearly noon when her turn finally came and she stepped beneath the blinding lights, Rorimer watched her, and he watched Garry Sloan, and he saw almost at once that Sloan was not satisfied with her. But director said nothing for perhaps two minutes; merely sat and frowned. Then he commanded:

"Cut!"

Anne looked at him questioningly and Sloan shook his head. They would listen for a playback, he said; perhaps Anne would discover what was wrong when she heard it. He rose from his chair and went over to her, and Dan saw him say things to her in a low tone that did not carry to him. Bue he gathered from his gestures that the director was criticizing her appearance as well as her voice.

Anne's voice came from the loud speaker and Sloan shrugged and lifted his hands. Presently he came back to his seat, but he stood instead of sitting, rested one footh on the chair and leaned forward.

Someone commanded silence again; Anne, alone on the set moved over to a telephone which rang faintly and lifted the receiver. A sharp cry from her and the receiver fell from her gasp and dangled on its cord from the table.

Rorimer, with a cigaret unheeded between his fingers, looked on anxiously as she covered her face with her hands, let them fall slowly. Tears swam in her eyes; her voice faltered, was strangled.

But Sloan shook his head again and called her over to him. "Anne," he said, "you—you're just crying, that's all. It's more than that; it's got to be something that'll simply wring their hearts with pity."

He struck his leg sharply with his open hand. "You know what I want, Anne. Now give it to me." He asked her if she remembered Lillian Gish in "Broken Blossoms." He mentioned other pictures.

Ane Anne nodded mutely, "I'll try," she said.

She went through it again, and this time Sloan, with a glance at his watch and a sigh that told of patience sorely tried, told her to forget it until after lunch. He took her to lunch himself, had it brought to them in the cottage that he had on the lot.

Anne told him falteringly, "I'm sorry I'm so stupid, but I can't seem to get it." She began to dab at her eyes with her handkerchief. "I'm afraid I've let you down terribly."

"I haven't that excuse," she replied, and Sloan took her hand. "I'm not going to give up, Anne. You've got it and I'm going to have it."

He told her he was going ahead with the afternoon schedule that had been planned. "We'll return to your scene afterward. You're all tightened up; I want you to relax." And he mentioned something about not wanting to waste any more money. They would work until late in the eevning if nencessary.

Rorimer, returning after lunch, saw Sloan come back alone, and he conferred with the script clerk and then went to Anne's dressing room The door was open and she was lying down. She said, "Hello, Dan," in a weary voice, and he saw that she had been crying.

And instantly he was hot-eyed with resentment. "Nobody but a chump would browbeat you like that," he said.

But Anne protested. "You mustn't say that. It's my fault entirely. He hasn't browbeaten me, Dan; you're quite wrong. He's been very patient."

Dan went back to his office; Phillips wanted him. When he returned late in the afternoon, the red light was burning over the stage door and he had to remain outside for a long time. But he saw Lester Moore departing and Moore told him, with a sympathetic smile, that Anne and Sloan were "at it again."

When he did finally go in he found Sloan talking to Anne, who sat dejectedly beside him. He heard Sloan say: "You're having a terrible off day, Anne. Haven't you ever known any real grief in your life? Don't you know what it means to be crazy with it? You're doing just what I spoke about last night—you're holding back."

She did it again for him, and again Sloan drove her on implacably. His temper was fraying and his criticism took a sharper edge. Rorimer got up and wandered on because he couldn't stand to watch her. Off in a corner, the set screened from view, he smoked nervously and wondered why he didn't go home. Sloan, he knew, didn't want him for anything.

But he remained, because he wanted to know the outcome, and while he sat there remembered what Miller had told him about Sloan working a star into a fit of hysteria. He thought: "He'll have her ready for a strait-jacket if he doesn't let up on her."

He looked at his watch. It was after seven, and he walked softly back and saw Anne come dejectedly off the set again and Sloan look at her disgustedly.

"You're going to do it right if I have to keep you here all night," he said with sudden savagery. "I'm going to get some dinner, and so are you. And then we're coming back."

He looked around him, glaring and he saw Rorimer and nodded coldly. He left then to issue an order to his assistants.

Dan sat beside her and tried to give her comfort. But there was nothing to be said except "Don't feel badly, Anne." She managed to smile ... that was all. And Rorimer clenched his fists.

Dan nodded and they went out, Sloan grumbling on the way that they had wasted a couple of thousand dollars that day. And for the first time Anne replied with some spirit. She said, "I've done my best, Mr. Sloan."

"You haven't anything of the sort. You're exasperating. You know you've got the stuff. Why in the devil don't you let go of it?" Sloan's voice rose until it was almost a shout. "Why don't you let yourself go, in the name of God!"

It was dark, but Rorimer saw her bite her lip and turn her face away, and he knew he no longer could keep silent. So he said quietly, "Why rub it in?" She told you she was doing her best."

And Sloan turned on him hotly. "Because," he said in sudden anger, a little ham! What's it—"

"You're just a big chump," Dan said, and swung his fist.

Cotton Market Is Quiet And Easy Thursday; Livestock Steady Prices in Livestock Market; Grain Domestic Demand For Wheat Good

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 2. —(AP)— The cotton market was rather quiet and easier most of the day but rallied sharply in the late trading and closed at a moderate net advance. Liverpool was a good deal better than due but the opening here failed to meet the improvement abroad with gains of only 1 to 2 points. The market then eased off slightly but soon rallied 4 to 5 points. Later in the morning prices eased off under pressure of hedge selling and on the disappointing stock market, losing by early afternoon 23 to 26 points from the highs.

In the later afternoon the market bulged sharply on news that a big New York operator had covered 25,000 bales which started shorts covering and Wall street buying advancing prices 23 to 32 points from the lows. The close was a shade under the best, but steady at net gains for the day of 5 to 9 points.

Liverpool came in 3 to 4 points better than due. After easing off a couple of points prices rallied to 10.60 for December and 10.70 for January, up 3 to 5 points compared with the previous close.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. (AP)—Declines from a slight opening advance were followed by renewed firmness in cotton here late today with prices advancing sharply during the last half hour on covering and commission house buying. New December contracts after selling at 10.65 at the opening declined to 10.38 but rallied to 10.72 on the latespurt on demand and closed at 10.68 compared with 10.61 at the close of the previous day. The general market closed steady at net advances of 7 to 16 points.

The opening was steady at net advances of 1 to 5 points in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables and some overnight buying orders which were probably brought in by the action of yesterday's market.

The opinion was expressed in some quarters here that part of the late buying may have been promoted by Washington advices referring to investment possibilities in commodities, and proposed international discussions regarding the disposition of surpluses, while others were inclined to attribute it to a renewal of pre-bureau covering and a comparative scarcity of contracts in the late trading.

Another Amateur Withdraws Clubs

OMAHA, Oct. 2. (AP)—The high cost of competitive golf has forced another nationally known knight of the links to retire from championship play.

Following closely on the announcement of George Von Elm of Los Angeles, formerly national amateur titleholder, that he would quit amateur tournament play because he could not afford the $10,000 it cost him last year, Johnny Goodman of Omaha, who defeated Bobby Jones in the title event last year, formally withdrew from the big events for similar reasons.

Steady Decline in Thursday Market Halted Late in Session for Advance

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. —(AP)—A steady decline that had all but eliminated yesterday's advance in stock prices came to a sudden halt in the late trading today and the market rebounded sharply, although it failed to make full recovery and closed lower than yesterday's final prices. The average loss was nearly 2 points.

Profit-taking from the Wednesday rally began promptly at the opening and continued in a constant dribble until the last 15 minutes. The decline, which reached points or more in the leaders, encouraged short selling and also brought sales of stock that had been held for just such a recovery as yesterday's. Traders who had bought at the Tuesday lows were eager to dispose of their purchases profitably; but on the other hand the bear faction was equally desirous of getting out with a whole skin and drew in its lines rapidly toward the close.

Activity was desultory, although the pace increased on the covering movement. Sales totaled 2,315,770 shares.

Wall street was particularly interested in the loan statistics published after the session. Federal reserve brokers' loans had shown a gain of $120,000,000 for the first three weeks of September, despite the heaviness of the market; consequently the monthly stock exchange member borrowings figures which are much more inclusive than the loan totals for member banks, were awaited eagerly.

duction and distribution of industries and the government in the development of board and detached policies of business stability."

He called upon the bankers to consider "what further effective measures can be taken either in the business " world or in cooperation with the government in development of such policies, both or the present depression and for the future."

"I know of no greater public service," he said. "It is a service to every business man, to every farmer, to every worker, whether at the desk or bench. I am not assuming you can do it all, or that all disturbance, domestic or foreign, can be wholly prevented or cured.

Should Cooperate

"The Government should cooperate. It plays a large part in the credit structure of the country. Its fiscal system has most important bearings. For instance, I believe an inquiry might develop that our system of taxes upon capital gains directly encourages inflation or strangling the free movement of land and securities."

"This business depression is world-wide," the President said. "Its causes and effects lie only partly in the United States. Our country engaged in overspeculation in securities which crashed a year ago with great losses.

"A perhaps even larger immediate cause of our depression has been the effect upon us from the collapse in prices following overproduction of important raw materials, mostly in foreign countries.

"These major overexpansions have taken place largely outside of the United States. Their collapse has reduced the buying power of many countries. The prosperity of Brazil and Columbia has been temporarily affected from the situation in coffee; Chile, Peru, Mexico and Australia from the fall in silver, zinc, and copper.

"The buying power of India and China, dependent up on the price of silver, has been affected. Australia, Canada and the Argentine have been affected by the situation in wheat; Cuba and Java have been depressed by the condition of the sugar industry; East India generally has suffered from the fall in rubber.

"These and other causes have produced in some of the countries affected some political unrest. These economic disturbances have echoed in slowed down demand for manufactured goods from Europe and ourselves, with inevitable contribution to unemployment . . . because the present depression is worldwide and because its causes were worldwide, does not require that we should wait upon the recovery of the rest of the world.

"We can make a very large degree of recovery independently of what may happen elsewhere.

"We shall need mainly to depend upon our own strong arm or recovery, as other nations are in greater difficulty than we.

"This is no time, an audience of American leaders of business is no place—to talk of any surrender. We have a thousand temporary setbacks, but the spirit of this people will never brook defeat."

again," was the warden's comment.

The confession, one of many, was written in long hand. It admitted in substance most of the charges against Northcott, implicating his aged father, Cyrus G. Northcott and by inference his mother, Sarah Louist Northcott and his cousin, Sanford Clark, who first told authorities of the murders. Mrs. Northcott is serving a life sentence here for her alleged participation.

Northcott was convicted of murdering Louie and Nelson Winslow, brothers, and an unidentified Mexican boy. Walter Collins, a fourth boy allegedly slain by the Northcotts, was slain by the father, after being mistreated, the confession said. Mrs. Northcott was convicted of the Collins murder but the father was exonerated.

Dallas Golfer Leads Pro Meet

SAN ANGELO, Tex., Oct. 2. (AP)—Ray Mangum of Dallas led today in the Texas Professional Golfers' Association tournament at the San Angelo Country club, with more than half of the field of 31 players completing the first 36 holes late today, Mangum turned in 73-68-143. The second 36-hole in medal play will be shot tomorrow.

Jack Burke of Houston, defending champion, rated fifth today with 77 on the first 18 holes and 75 on the second, for a total of 152.

Livestock

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Oct. 2. (AP). (U. S. D. A.)—Sales on low cutter cows here today denoted some strength or small advances, while other classes of cattle made a clearance at generally steady prices. Weighty grass slaughter steers were reported up to 6.25 and the best beef cattle topped at 10.60. Light weight yearlings moved at 7.85 and 8.00.

Cows traded from 2.00 to 5.25. Desirable fat cows were reported in the 4.00 range. Butcher grades changed hands mostly from 3.00 to 3.75.

Good stock steer calves moved out at 7.00. Good fat heavy slaughter calves sold at 6.50 and weighty averages of less attractive grades sold mostly under the 6.00 level.

Choice 176 pound rail hogs topped at 9.00. Truck hogs moved at 8.00 and 8.75. Shorn fat yearlings brought 3.65 and good wooled fat yearlings drew bids up to 4.50. Some shorn aged fat wethers were reported at 2.50 and feeder lambs moved out from 3.00 to 4.50.

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 2. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Curtailed hog receipts around the 11-market circuit prompted another price advance of 10 @ 35c, light weights showing the most gain. The day's extreme top of 10.00 was paid at Chicago and St. Louis. Offerings were around 33,000.

Fat lambs trade was spotted and uneven but on the average prices were little changed. Chicago had a top of 8.25 on both mediums and rangers while at Kansas City choice range lambs sold up to 7.75. The supply approximated 96,300.

Receipts of cattle were estimated at 22,600. Medium weight and heavy beef steers found a dull outlet at values weak with the recent sharp decline. Chicago had a top of 13.10 on yearlings but at the same market strictly choice heavy steers landed at 12.00. Fed steers with weight are going at 8.50 @ 11.00. Rough 1210 lb. grass steers in Kansas City landed at 6.25.

Wichita Daily Times, said in part:

"The loss of the Westerners last week has failed to jar the Lubbock supporters, and it is wonderful to note such a spirit as that displayed by the Westerner fans in following their team several hundred miles after a disappointing defeat.

"And just because of it, for one, we are going to pull like thunder for Lubbock to win the district championship if the Coyotes can't. That sort of spirit is worth pulling for."

Wichita Falls was urged by the sports writer to show the Lubbock contingent all possible hospitality, and Lubbock's reception of the Coyote aggregation here last year was described by the press representative as highly satisfactory. The Westerners defeated the Coyotes last year.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Oct. 2. —(AP)— Domestic demand for wheat continued good on the Fort Worth cash grain market Thursday with mills bidding 90 @ 91c for No. 1 hard wheat delivered Texas common points. Export demand was nil. Fair demand was reported for corn, oats and barley. Sorghums were slow sale.

Receipts were light, being estimated as follows: wheat 3 cars, corn 6, and barley 1.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn, No. 2 mxed 95 @ 96c; No. 2 white 97 @ 98; No. 2 yellow 99 1-2 @ 1.00 1-2.

Oats, No. 2 red 50 1-2 @ 51c; No. 3 white delivered Texas group one points 48 1-2 @ 49c, to which add one cent for delivery group three.

Sorghums No. 2 milo per hundred pounds nominally 1.75 @ 1.78; No. 2 kaffir 1.45 @ 1.47.

Barley, No. 2, nominally, 67 @ 68.

CHICAGO, October 2. —(AP)— Despite lively profit taking, wheat scored fresh price bulges today, with reports current that foreign countries were negotiating for big purchases on long time credit. Europeans were estimated to have taken more than 2,000,000 bushels of North American wheat today, including some from the United States. Chairman Legge of the Federal Farm Board was quoted as saying that countries overseas would purchase 100,000,000 bushels more wheat this winter, and that he thought they would have no trouble financing that amount.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm, 1c @ 1 3-8c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed at 1 1-8 @ 2c advance, oats 1-8 @ 3-8c up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 35c.

Sharp attention on the part of wheat traders was given to statements ascribed to Chairman Legge that commodities were down to an investment level. Another stimulating factor was word that drouth damage to wheat in Australia was serious and that desired general rains in Argentina were still lacking. Violent upturns in wheat quotations at Liverpool also were an incentive to friends of higher prices here, especially as the action of the Liverpool market was in the face of new reports of heavy selling of wheat abroad by Russia.

AMENDMENT FAILS

League of Nations Covenant To Outlaw War Defeated

GENEVA, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Efforts to amend the League of Nations covenant in a form that would outlaw all war, thus making it harmmonize with the Kellogg-Briand anti-war pact, failed tonight in the league assembly's judicial sub-committee by a vote of ten to two.

Heated discussion preceded the balloting, with the final tally showing only Lord Cecil of Great Britain and Dr. Chao Chu-Wu of China in favor of accepting immediately amendments to that end.

Band Concert Given

The Hale county delegation was headed by the Plainview High school band under direction of J. L. Hathaway. The band was the feature attraction in concert yesterday afternoon from 2 until 3 o'clock and also played at intervals during the football game between Floydada and Tahoka high schools.

The Lamesa band, under direction of Conway King, is scheduled to arrive early today and will play at the grounds during the afternoon. On Saturday the Littlefield band will be here, fair officials announce.

Club Boys' Exhibits Feature of Fair

An interesting feature of this years' Panhandle-South Plains fair is the splendid displays made by members of the boys' 4-H clubs. Particularly is this true of what is referred to as the 4-H Club Show, in which hogs, sheep, poultry and agricultural exhibits were shown.

This 4-H club show this year is distinguished by an innovation in exhibiting fat hogs in litters. These hogs were bred, fed, shown and finished for market by the boy exhibitors.

To Sell Litters

The fat litters entered in the show are to be sold to the highest bidders as market hogs this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The auction will be held in the swine ring of the livestock pavilion and all buyers and market men of Lubbock are invited.

First prize in the fat litter classes was won by Hiram Nance, of Liberty community of Lubbock county, according to W. W. Evans, Dawson county agent and superintendent of the 4-H club division of the fair. This litter was composed of a ton litter of 8 purebred Hampshire gilts and barrows.

Second prize in this class was won by G. W. Williamson, of County Line, Lubbock county, with six purebred Duroc Jerseys. Third place went to Adolphus Ashmore, of Hurlwood, who also exhibited a nice litter of eight purebred Hampshires.

Chester Potts of the Canyon community, Lubbock county, won first in single entries of fat hogs.

In the junior fat pig class G. W. Wilamson, of County Line, placed first, while Hiriam Nance, of Liberty, and Adolphus Ashmore, of Hurlwood, was third. Wayland Nelson, County Line, took fourth and Morris Webb, of Plainview, took fifth in this class.

Of the Poland China breeding class, Laverne Pounds, of Acuff, placed first and Curtis Lee Davis, of Acuff, followed in second place. In Hampshires, Morris Webb, of Plainview, took first, and Fred Elliott, of Grovesville, won second.

Dayle Terry, of Lynn county, won first, and Bob Rogers, of Farnsworth, Ochiltree county, won second in the Duroc junior sow class. Oscar Evans, of Tulia, and Bob Rogers, of Farnsworth, won first and second, respectively, in the Hampshire junior sow pig class.

As an encouragement to these youngsters in the show ring, Douglas Pounds, of Acuff, superintendent of the swine division of the fair, and the Lillard Stock Farms, of Arlington, swine breeders and exhibitors, offered special premiums of $5, $3 and $2 to the boys for showmanship as demonstrated in the ring. Winners of these prizes, in the order as given, are, Laverne Pounds first, Morris Webb second, and Adolphus Ashmore third.

Communists

stationed around the public hall and news of the rioting did not reach the president's audience until after they left the building.

The president went directly from the hall to his private car parked beside the auditorium.

The parade formed at public square at 7:30 p. m., at the call of communist leaders, according to police. As it headed away from the square squadrons of motorcycle policemen led several sections in different directions and attempted to keep them moving.

As one group numbering several score was being led down St. Clair avenue, between 9th and 10th streets, away from the auditorium police met what appeared to be a break from the escort by pouring exhaust fumes from their motorcycles and obstructing the street leading back to the auditorium.

A newspaper reporter was reported slugged over the head and sent to a hospital.

Another division of the separated parade, which halted at East Sixth street and Rockwell avenue, two blocks from the auditorium and sang "red" songs, was marshalled into line and marched away from the vicinity, police said.

Five Meet Death As Building Falls

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. (AP)—The old brick walls of a Greenwich Village tenement house groaned and collapsed today, burying the 12 occupants and killing five of them in their sleep.

The foundations of the house, on Greenwich avenue opposite Jefferson market court, had been weakened for years by adjacent excavations, and wreckers have been demolishing four adjoining buildings, one of which once housed the saloon of Luke O'Connor, where John Masefield, Poet Laureate of England, scrubbed the floors when he was 17.

All officers of the wrecking company which tore down the four houses were ordered arrested by District Attorney Crain, who blamed them for failing to shore up sufficiently the sagging walls of the neighboring structure.

TO AWARD CONTRACTS

Expenditure of $750,000 to Be Let October 20

AUSTIN, Oct. 2. (AP)—Contracts calling for the expenditure of between $750,000 and $800,000 will be awarded by the state highway commission at its next meeting October 20 and 21, according to a tentative list of projects given out here today.

The projects are scheduled in Livecak, Bee, San Patricio, Brown, Madison, Ector, Hopkins, Karnes and Liberty counties. The Livecak county project calling for a bridge across the Nueces river and for relief structures, will cost approximately $150,000, state highway engineers said.
