Trustees to decide Monday where fifth grade to locate

Iowa Park school trustees delayed until Monday taking action on whether to continue neighborhood elementary schools, with grades kindergarten through fifth, or consolidate classes.

Board members heard reports from a study made of space available at Bradford and Kidwell elementaries, as well as the advantages and disadvantages of neighborhood schools.

The study was prompted when board members voted to close the Valley View campus, where the fifth and sixth grade classes have been held for a number of years.

A decision to hold sixth grade classes at the junior high had already been made. But trustees sought information concerning consolidating the other classes before making a decision whether to split fifth grade students between the two campuses, or keeping them together.

A called meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday, at which time a decision is expected.

Tuesday's regularly-scheduled meeting was moved to the junior high library in anticipation of a large turnout of interested parents. Approximately 30 were in the audience, including about half a dozen from the Valley View area, who are opposing the closing of the school there.

A printed report of the study was distributed to trustees, and commented on by Bob Cole, Kidwell principal, who said there was adequate room at Bradford and Kidwell for the additional classes absorbed from Valley View.

Also, contrary to allegations made by those opposing Valley View's closing that both Kidwell and Bradford buildings were in extremely bad condition, trustee Jimmy Howell said his inspection of the two buildings indicated both were in "excellent condition."

Several of the advantages and disadvantages of whether to consolidate or split fifth graders were made by teachers in the schools, Cole told trustees.

Listed as advantages for holding kindergarten through grade two at one campus, and three through five at another, were:

1. Eliminate competition between buildings and unify the educational system;
2. Teachers of the same grade levels would have better opportunity to coordinate their instructional program;
3. Avoid duplication of equipment and supplies, thus reducing the cost to the school district;
4. Student load could be more easily distributed evenly if the entire grade levels were in a single building;

5. Provide for optimum instruction through specialized teaching, i.e., teachers would be more qualified by specializing in a given area such as science, math, language arts, etc. (would apply primarily to grades 3-5);

6. Eliminate transfer of students between buildings;

7. Special programs, such as gifted-talented, Plan A, and corrective math, etc., would be easier to schedule due to the increased number of students from which to select for the same level of work;

8. Eliminate two P.E. teachers at Valley View by absorbing the sixth grade students under the current junior high staff. None would be needed at building housing K-2. Two P.E. teachers (male and female) will be needed at building housing grades 3-5.

Disadvantages include:

1. Causes children to have to be transported across town. This would entail an additional fuel expense;
2. A large number of students and teachers would be subjected to change;
3. Some children might feel less secure in grades 3-5 by having to change classes each period throughout the day;
4. Music teacher would of necessity be forced to reduce the amount of time spent with each room during the week, unless an additional music teacher could be employed.

Listed as advantages of maintaining kindergarten through fifth grade at each campus were:

1. Students would attend school in own neighborhood;
2. There would be no additional

Rate increase sought by Texas Electric

Texas Electric Service Company today filed a request for a $123-million increase in systemwide revenues.

"The primary reason for this request is the impact of inflation on the cost of providing electric service to our customers," said Wayne House, manager in Iowa Park.

The request, which was filed with cities served by TESCO and with the Public Utility Commission in Austin, represents an overall increase of 17.7 percent in revenues.

"Costs associated with providing electricity to the people we serve are higher today than they were a year ago because of inflation," House said. Hardest hit by inflation are construction costs of the power plants being built to provide customers with electricity made with lignite and nuclear fuels.

He also noted that the costs of service lines, distribution substations, meters, labor, office supplies and almost all other items necessary to provide electric service have gone up.

TESCO's major long-term contract for low-cost natural gas is scheduled to expire at the end of this year.

"When that Old Ocean contract expires," House said, "our customers' electric bills will go up because the gas we have under the contract will have to be replaced with gas or oil at today's prices."

However, he noted that their bills will still be lower than they would have been if the company had not built lignite-fueled generating plants.

"These plants become money savers for our customers as soon as they go into operation. And because of this lignite fuel, our customers will continue to save money throughout the lives of the plants. By continuing its construction program and thereby holding down the use of natural gas and oil, the company can continue to help minimize the effect rising oil and gas prices have on customers' bills," House said.

In addition, the lignite plants and the Comanche Peak nuclear plant, which is under construction near Glen Rose, are necessary to help make sure the people served by TESCO continue to have the electricity they need for their homes and their jobs.

Customers' bills will increase next year both as a result of the rate increase and as a result of the expiration of the Old Ocean natural gas contract.

A typical residential customer whose electric bill averaged $40 a month would pay about $5 more per month because of the need to replace the Old Ocean gas with market-priced gas. The customer also would pay about $10 more per month because of the rate increase if the full amount were approved.

As a result of both factors, the customer's typical bill would increase from $40 to approximately $55 per month. The actual increase will depend on such factors as the time of year and the customer's conservation efforts.

Although the increase conceivably could take effect on June 19, in the past the PUC and city councils have postponed the effective date to study the request further. Therefore, it is not expected to take effect before next fall.

Drug abuse program set

In cooperation with an area-wide Community Drug Abuse Awareness Week, May 12-18, a program primarily designed for parents and adults will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Iowa Park Junior High cafeteria.

Bob Cole, local representative to the drug abuse committee of the Sheppard Area Community Relations Council, said a panel composed of a representative of the Iowa Park Police Department, Bobby Lott, drug coordinator for Region IX Service Center, Mark Wilson, former drug abuse coordinator for Wichita Falls, and a team from Sheppard AFB, will be at the meeting.

Similar programs are being held in Burkburnett and at the public schools in Wichita Falls, as well as on the base at Sheppard.

The purpose of the program is to make parents aware of the drug problem, said Cole, who stressed drugs were not a serious problem in Iowa Park, but a problem, never the less.

"We want to help parents be aware of what to look for if their children should be experimenting or using drugs," he said.

A proclamation declaring Drug Abuse Week was signed by the mayors of Iowa Park, Johnny Crawford, Kenneth Hill, Wichita Falls, and Doss Hamilton, Burkburnett, along with Maj. Gen Robert Bazley, Sheppard Technical Training Center commander.

Mobile home ordinance dead issue, for awhile

Any move by the city to limit locating of mobile homes here apparently is a dead issue, for at least a couple of months.

Aldermen considered an ordinance which would prohibit mobile homes from locating anywhere other than in approved mobile home parks during Monday's meeting. It was one in a series of meetings on the same topic, each attracting a house full of irate mobile home owners.

Council members voted to table the issue until a new comprehensive plan for the community is completed, and work on it is not expected to begin until sometime in July.

An ordinance repealing sections 11-5 and 11-7 of the code of ordinances would have caused the restrictions on mobile home placements. The sections reportedly conflict with the city's original zoning ordinance, passed in 1968, which prohibits mobile homes locating other than in approved parks.

Another ordinance was considered at the meeting, which would set out requirements for mobile homes when moved into the city. Aldermen said they wanted to know the requirements placed on mobile homes by state and/or federal laws before they made any final decision.

An ordinance which did pass Monday was one governing new portable trash containers, which will be used at those homes that are not served by the large metal trash containers due to lack of alleys.

It establishes where and when residents with the portable containers are to take the containers to the street for pickup by the collection truck, and prohibits parking in the streets those days, in order for the truck to reach the containers.

The containers are to be distributed as soon as they are received from the manufacturer, complete with the name of the city and serial numbers on them.

Another ordinance, increasing sewer rates, was approved.

Designed to increase income to the city to average $2 per water meter each month, residents will retain the $4 per month minimum rate, but will pay 30 cents per 1,000 gallons of water purchased for the next 2,000 to 10,000 gallons purchased.

Commercial customers will pay 30 cents per 1,000 gallons of water purchased above the 2,000 minimum to 10,000 gallons, and 15 cents per 1,000 over 10,000.

Rates are also set out for garages, service stations, churches and schools.

Estimated to generate an additional $57,000 per year, aldermen amended the ordinance to earmark the new money for sewer improvement projects only. The money will be put into escrow.

Also passed was an ordinance establishing new setback limits for detached buildings from the back line of residential property.

Those locations served by a 16-foot alley, setback minimum is on the property line, but not to overhand the alley right of way. Those with less than a 16-foot alley, the setback is eight feet from the center line of the alley right of way, and those without an alley, setback minimum is five feet.

The council held an hour-long executive session, which was closed to the public, to discuss a subject with the city attorney. No action on the topic was discussed after the meeting was re-opened.

After receiving a letter requesting the use of the fire siren to signal a call to a fire during daylight hours, signed by 19 of the fire department's 23 volunteers, council members agreed to the change in policy.

A notice will be published to inform the public before the practice is to be resumed, however.

Council members were told that the pager radios purchased for firemen were seldom used because they were unhandy, or broken, or not wanted, and therefore very few of the firemen knew when a signal was sent out to call them to a fire.

The siren to be used is the one located at the city hall. The others throughout the city will be used only in case of a tornado or other disaster.

Calls for firemen by using the siren, once the practice is resumed, will be used only between 6 a.m. and 10 p.m., with a 30-second blast. The pagers will still be used during the night time hours.

Koonce, Callahan wedding vows exchanged Friday

Miss Jill Koonce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B.W. Koonce, became the bride of Kevin Callahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Callahan, Friday evening at the Church of God.

Rev. W.F. Williams, pastor, was the officiant for the ceremony performed in the presence of family members and relatives. Parents of the couple stood with them as they exchanged their vows before an archway covered with boxwood and flanked by candelabra.

The bride wore a street-length white voile dress designed with elbow length sleeves, lace inserts on the bodice and full skirt. Her bridal bouquet consisted of tiny red sweetheart roses, white and very pale blue carnations accented with white satin streamers.

The groom wore a red sweetheart rose for a boutonniere.

The home of the bride's parents was the scene of the wedding reception. The refreshment table was covered with white lace over blue and centered with an arrangement of blue and white carnations. The beautiful two-tiered white cake featured Grecian dividers, laced frosting designs complemented with blue frosting roses. The top was adorned with three white satin wedding bells rimmed with pearls and softened with clouds of white net and ribbon.

Mrs. George Koonce of Fort Worth, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Verlie Evans of Gainesville, her grandmother, served refreshments during the reception.

The bride and groom were both graduated from Iowa Park High School. She was valedictorian of her class and was chosen the Outstanding Senior Girl of 1979 as a result of the 23 Study Club's project. She was a member of A Cappella Choir and a twirler in the band and pianist for United Methodist Church. She attended Rice University at Houston and will enter Midwestern State University next fall as a sophomore student. The groom belonged to FFA and ran track in high school. He is a member of Civil Air Patrol. Both are employed by Koonce Oil Co. and will live in Wichita Falls.

Other relatives who attended the wedding were Mrs. E.C. Koonce, grandmother of the bride, Cecil Marquart, grandfather of the bride, Mrs. E.E. Battle, the groom's grandmother, all of Iowa Park; Messrs. and Mmes. George Koonce of Fort Worth, Ronny Stevens, Jim Kuehler and Mickey Holler of Wichita Falls; Lester Stevens of Kamay; Mrs. Kenny Eib of Bellflower, Calif; Misses Florence Battle and Karen Callahan of Iowa Park.

Shower fetes bride elect

The refreshing and airy springtime colors of yellow and white dominated the decorative pattern for a miscellaneous shower given Friday evening as a compliment to Miss Holly Hughes, who is betrothed to Scott Sanders. The home of Mrs. Glen Miller was the setting for the party.

Others composing the list of hostesses were Mmes. Gilbert Mueller, James Adams, Ken Hines, Luke Coffman, Wayne Williams, Vern Horsky, Ray Featherston, John Cummings, Joe Ward, Howard Marlar, Robert McIlroy, Roy Smith, Herbert Davis, Alton Hunter, John Brown, Bill Curry, D.O. James, Jack Rallsback and Clyde Patterson.

The honoree sat with her mother, Mrs. Pete Hughes, and the future groom's mother, Mrs. Billy Sanders, to greet guests and unwrap her handsome assortment of gifts for display. Each wore a corsage of yellow and white daisies. Miss Vanessa Brandt sat with the trio to keep a record of the gifts and donors.

The refreshment table reflected the delicate colors chosen by the honoree in a special way. Covered with ecru lace, the center arrangement was an artistic grouping of white silk roses, baby's breath and lilies of the valley accented with a tracery of pearls flanked with crystal hurricane globes holding lighted yellow tapers. The refreshments repeating the colors completed the yellow and white decor.

The couple will be united in marriage in a nuptial service June 28 in First Baptist Church.

Iowa Parkan may become state FFA prexy

Iowa Parkan Wendy Hicks will be a candidate this summer for president of the Texas Association of

Letter series can save cash

Consumers can "get the cost of living down," instead of vice versa, according to a new letter series on shopping at sales, currently offered by Barbara Cornelius, Wichita County Agent.

"Consumers can save as much as 30 percent by shopping wisely at sales—and this letter series tells them how. It explains why articles are on sale, which sales to expect throughout the year, and how to distinguish the real bargains from the 'lemons' so the consumer can plan to save at sales," she added.

The series, "S.O.S. - Smart on Sales," is available from Mrs. Cornelius by writing 1626 Midwestern Pkwy. or by phoning 766-0131.

The "S.O.S." letters, mailed each month, also will feature such topics as buying appliances, household linens, mail order seeds and plants, holiday foods and toys, along with a calendar of annual sales and a shopping log to help consumers "chart their sales course through economic rough seas," the agent added.

Vanessa Stucki named Girls State delegate

Miss Vanessa Stucki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stucki, has been selected to attend the American Legion Auxiliary Bluebonnet Girls State at Texas Lutheran College in Seguin, June 10-20, according to an announcement by the Leo H. Smith Jr. American Legion Auxiliary.

Miss Stucki will be among 560 young women from all over the state of Texas who will be Bluebonnet Girls State Citizens for the 10 days.

The American Legion Auxiliary Bluebonnet Girls State is sponsored as a public service to the community, state and nation by the more than 20,000 members of the American Legion Auxiliary Department of Texas. Its purpose is to instruct the youth in the duties, privileges and rights of American citizenship. The auxiliary believes that "from active individuals participation in governmental affairs of a mythical state will come a broader understanding of the responsibilities of citizenship in a democracy and a deeper appreciation for its great privileges, and those attending will carry back to their schools what they have learned."

Girls State is a mythical 51st state organized and administered for citizenship training purposes; it is a laboratory of government. The entire program is nonpartisan, and problems are considered without reference to any existing political party.

The purpose of the mythical state is for the girls to grasp the meaning of some of the responsibilities which they will be called upon to assume when they become adults. They will learn a general outline of the functions and duties of city, county and state offices. They will establish their own government in these areas and elect officials to run them. They will make and enforce their laws and conduct elections, using the existing Constitution and State Statutes of Texas as their guide.

In the event that Miss Stucki can not attend, Miss Tracy Hale, daughter of Mrs. Donald Hale, has been chosen as the alternate by the school.

Miss Stucki and her mother will accompany Mrs. Frank Farnsworth, unit president, to a special luncheon in Dallas May 31 where they will meet former Girl Staters and view a film with 40 other girls and their mothers from the North Texas area.

Miss Stucki was chosen because of citizenship, leadership and school projects. She has been a member of the Hawk marching band three years and the 1979-80 feature twirler. She is a member of the yearbook committee where she is doing graphic designs. She is in Vocational Office Education, a member of OEA and holds the office of vice-president. She participated in the OEA area leadership conference in Fort Worth this year.

Among high school interests and achievements, Vanessa made Div. 1 in twirling solo at the Greater Southwest Music Festival, participated in the UIL typing contest and was chosen as Crisco's outstanding student in home economics in 1977. Since 1978, she made a Div. 1 in flute ensemble, twirling and flute trio at UIL. She has been named Who's Who Among American High School Twirlers.

Her extracurricular activities and honors include being the reigning Miss Pecan of North Texas and Southern Oklahoma and will represent the area in state competition. She was chosen by the Iowa Park Evening Lions Club to vie for district queen honors at Abilene last weekend. She is a member of the Wichita Falls Super Star Twirling Team which holds the 1978-79 state championship. She has performed for the Nocona Chamber of Commerce, appeared in the American Heart Fund Association Show to raise funds, and performed on Midday Magazine on channel 6.

She is a member of First Baptist Church.

Vanessa holds the following titles: 1978 Texas state twirling and strutting champion; 1979 Miss Majorette of Texas and first runner-up in Miss Majorette of America Pageant; Miss Majorette of America Strutting Championship; Texas State Sweetheart and 4th runner-up in Miss Lone Star of Texas, and first runner-up in duet twirling.

Her other titles include: 1978 Miss Firecracker of Amarillo, Miss Wheat Capitol of Oklahoma and Miss Top of Texas Twirler; 1979 Miss Top of Texas Twirler and Miss Sweetheart of Oklahoma; 1980 Miss Springtime of Oklahoma and Miss Red River.

Upon returning from Bluebonnet Girls State, Vanessa will address the local Auxiliary unit, giving her experiences at Girls State, and will help with the selection for next year's girl to be chosen.

Minister leads third series

Rev. Mike Jackson led the third in a series of studies on "Human Rights" for the United Methodist Women in their meeting Tuesday morning.

He began the study by asserting, "It is clear that ever since the adoption of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights by the United Nations in 1948 there has been a dimming of human rights as a basis for governing the law and policy of the nations. Too many countries are not living up to what they agreed to do; and the more the world leaders have talked about human rights, the more elusive the rights have become."

He continued by stating that the trouble has been brought about because human rights have been divided into two categories, explaining that civil and political rights have been separated by economic and cultural rights. The speaker said the fact that the United States and the Soviet Union, as well as other nations, have emphasized the division in the world-wide struggle added to the difficulty.

Rev. Jackson stated "Our country has given supremacy to individual rights which are guaranteed under our Bill of Rights. The Soviets, on the other hand, have stressed group rights or the rights of the nation as a whole."

The twenty-two members in attendance took part in the discussion of assuring individual rights against the rights of a state and agreed that the general movement toward respect for the dignity of the individual must not be compromised, and that the issue of security should not stand as a reason for the denial of human rights.

The Living Word

Nothing! "What has been is what will be, and what has been done is what will be done; and there is nothing new under the sun. Is there a thing of which it is said, 'See, this is new?' It has been already in the ages before us" (Ecclesiastes 1:9-10). Solomon would have responded very skeptically to our question, "What's new?" Against the background of his great wisdom and his broad range of experience, he said that there is nothing that is really new; there is no genuine novelty.

This evaluation of life is depressing. Things and experiences which seem so new and glittering and inviting are new only to us. Other people in other ages and other places, probably even our own age and place, have known and have experienced the same things. Novelty is novel only once and then they become old and common for ever more. Such skepticism seems to be alien to the promise of progress which pervades our human pursuits. Such skepticism seems to contradict the exciting human ambitions to invent and discover. Our own age has witnessed such staggering advances in scientific inventions and discoveries that we may be skeptical of Solomon's skepticism.

Solomon's skepticism is not of the possibility or desirability of scientific inventions and discoveries, for Solomon himself had made so many innovations in the arts and sciences that he was a phenomenon in his own day. His skepticism is of those novelties that change man's basic nature. "The eye is not satisfied with seeing, nor the ear filled with hearing" (Ecclesiastes 1:8), throughout the seasons of time, human nature remains basically the same. There are

Summer is just around the corner.

So here are some tips to get ready for it.

1. Have a qualified serviceman inspect your home's air conditioning unit. His help before summer arrives can save you money later on.

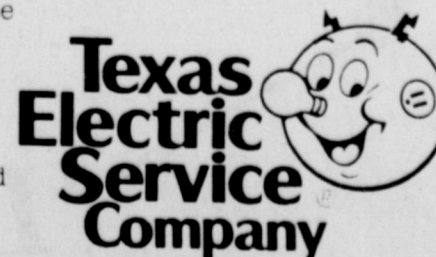

2. Trim grass and shrubs away from the outside compressor. Without obstructions, your unit can operate more efficiently and for less money.

3. Check your air conditioner's filter. It should be cleaned or replaced once a month.

4. Caulk and weatherstrip around doors and windows. The cool air will stay in, and the hot air will stay out.

5. Make sure your attic has adequate insulation. No sense letting the cool air you pay for escape through the roof.

For more energy-saving ideas, call Texas Electric and arrange to attend an Operation Tighten-Up meeting near you.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

Can you imagine paying good hard cash to a giant corporation, and then working on your personal time, free gratis, to help it make a few extra million in sales and profits.

People are doing it every day, and don't seem to realize it.

The oldest form of advertising was the town crier, who would walk or ride through a community, telling the people about a merchant who had wares for sale.

Later, persons were paid to carry signs through the business district, so those who could read would receive the message that Joe's Hamburger Place was ready to satisfy your appetite.

Are you getting my message yet? People are paying hard cash today for caps, t-shirts, jackets and signs which advertise the name of a company or corporation.

Of course, caps and things like that are given out by some companies, and charged against their advertising budget. The caps are used for customer relations, like ballpoint pens and other useful items. But they're advertising, just the same. Name identification.

You can look on the shelves of clothing stores today and find caps and t-shirts with corporations's name on them, like Coors, Budweiser, Coca Cola, and the list goes on and on. The price of the items isn't discounted, either. They're just as expensive as others without the company's name on them.

Some corporations make available clothing items, like caps, t-shirts and jackets, at a greatly-reduced price, also. They realize the value of name identification.

And for a while, it was a big deal to have a big decal on your pickup or car, with "Chevy" or "Ford" in hugh letters. Owners for some reason liked them. I can guarantee you the giant corporations and local dealers liked them. Especially since they didn't have to pay anything for them.

The manufacturers of Levi jeans may have been the first to recognize the value of name identification on wearing apparel. You know, those little red tags on the hip pockets?

Now the designers of ties are putting their names in pretty letters on the fronts of the ties, apparently making the buyer believe it is a status symbol to wear their name. It's for sure you will pay a premium for one of the ties. And you're advertising the designer's name when you do it.

I suspect these corporations may have gotten their ideas by reading Mark Twain. Remember the story about Huckleberry Finn, who convinced his friends how much fun it was to whitewash his aunt's fence. And while they were doing his work for him, he sat back against a tree and enjoyed himself.

Sorta reminds you of the circus owner who said, "There's a sucker born every minute."

Letters to the Editor

Nothing is more important to a community than its church, civic and educational organizations, and our town is richly endowed in all of these areas. Singularly or in combination these organizations are significant to the life-style of many of our citizens.

Two of our organizations are to be recognized and commended for their part in the life of our Senior Citizens.

The Methodist Church, which provided a place for our Senior Citizens to meet for several years, has generously served the community. Therefore, our Methodist Church is to be highly respected and appreciated.

Another group that has contributed to the health, happiness and well being of our Senior Citizens is the Evening Lions Club. They have made a most attractive place available to the Senior Citizens for their daily and special meetings. Therefore, every member of the Evening Lions Club deserves our appreciation.

Ken Cole, Pastor

busing, thus saving fuel costs to the school district;

3. A smaller number of students and teachers would be subjected to change;

4. The teacher gets to know the child better by having him most of the day. Some children feel more secure in this type of school environment.

Disadvantages:

1. Creates competition between campuses;

2. Less communication between teachers of the two schools;

3. Not as effective coordinated program as would be if entire grade levels were combined;

4. Duplication of materials and equipment resulting in greater cost to the school district.

There was a suggestion, but no discussion, that the Bradford campus might be better suited for the 3-5 grades and Kidwell for K-2.

Also discussed was probable construction of a physical education facility for the school with the upper grades.

Supt. Harold Cowley said a storm-resistant concrete and steel structure could be built for approximately the same cost of a steel building, between $70,000 and $75,000. It would "easily" house all students on the campus in case of a severe storm.

In other business taken up by trustees:

- * They approved a policy which permits a student who attends a minimum of four semesters at the high school to be eligible for being named salutatorian or valedictorian, if his grades here and at his previous school warrant;

- * Approved a request from Coach Tommy Watkins to use a practice field and weight room for a football clinic this summer;

- * Approved two basketball trips, to Childress and Decatur, outside the 75-mile limit;

- * Decided to advertise for bids for liability insurance;

- * Named Cowley as the district's representative to the Region IX Joint Committee;

- * Approved renewing an agreement to participate in the lunch fund program;

Cook of the Week

Mrs. Mike (Sue) Williams admits that her busy life style makes her appreciate the convenience of frozen foods, cold cuts and sandwiches in planning and preparing meals when she is pressed for time. But she does not rely on them consistently, as her recipes today show because she prepares many of her dishes from scratch.

Cold cuts, as part of the sausage family of meats, go back as far as 1000 B.C. Even though they were very popular in Rome, they are just as popular today. They are both convenient and tasty for lunch boxes, cold platters, hors d'oeuvres and salads.

Sandwiches are as old as bread and cheese. The Romans, Danes, Saxons and Normans must have eaten them before the Earl of Sandwich made them famous. Today's sandwiches are among the most compact and convenient forms of nourishment. Served with soup or a salad, they are a change of pace for dinner.

The former Sue Chesser, she attended Iowa Park High School and is presently the owner of the Soap Beauty Salon. She took her training from Mrs. Nettie Jim Carter in Wichita Falls. She has worked in the Kidwell P-TA for several years. Her hobbies include painting, skating and, of course, her beauty shop.

Mike, who is president of Little League, and Sue have three children. David a fourth grade student, Chad a second grader, and Crystal, who will be in the first grade next year.

Free kits help address change

If you're one of the estimated 36-million persons who plan to move their residence this year, you should begin notifying everyone who regularly sends you mail at least one full month before you move.

That's the advice from Jack E. Johns, Acting Sectional Center Manager/Postmaster, Fort Worth, who suggests you file change-of-address forms with your post office and send them to correspondents and publishers.

The Postal Service offers free change-of-address kits to make it easier to notify everyone. Available in post offices and from letter carriers, the kits include convenient postcards to alert the postmaster and for mailing to department stores, friends and relatives, utility companies, banks, newspaper and magazine publishers and others who do business with the family planning to move.

"Too often people who are moving wait until the last minute to notify their correspondents. The result is they add several days to their First-Class Mail delivery because it must be forwarded to the new address," Johns said.

Those who fail to give publishers at least a month advance notice must either pay additional postage for forwarding, if desired, or wait before the publisher changes the address. This means customers may miss one or more issues of their favorite magazine.

"Customers should also remember to include their account number when notifying stores and banks and to send their old address labels to publishers," Johns advises.

Sorority meets

Mrs. Gene Bond was hostess for the Monday evening meeting of Alpha Epsilon Omicron chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. Ten members answered roll call.

Rituals were led by Mrs. Wilbur Garrels and Mrs. Ron Fullerton. A program on "The Artist" was presented by Mrs. Danny Holman.

The chapter will close the year's work at a revealing banquet Monday evening at McBride's Sea Food and Steaks.

Cookout fetes IPHS senior

Johnna Frederick, a senior at Iowa Park High School, was honored at a cookout Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gratan Eiben.

In keeping with the school colors, the outdoor tables were covered with green and white cloths and centered with a wise old owl holding his diploma. Favors were mortar boards lettered with IPHS.

The honoree is a member of the pep club, basketball team and ornamental horticulture class.
