NURSE TELLS HER STORY IN SHEPARD CASE

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 31 — Mrs. Clara Wax, who nursed Mrs. Zenana Shepard in her fatal illness at Fort Riley in 1929 and whose testimony at the first trial of Maj. Shepard, accused of poisoning his wife caused the supreme court to call for a reversal of the conviction by the first jury testified again Wednesday.

Maj. Shepard, his wife, the former Alice Watts of Denver, and her daughter, listened closely, but the sensation of the former trial when Mrs. Wax said the deceased told her the major had poisoned her, did not come.

In the supreme court decision it was held that this statement, not given as a dying statement, was not admissible and that it would create such a prejudice in the minds of the jurors as could not be overcome. In consequence it was not repeated.

"About 15 minutes after I got on the case, Maj. Shepard told me no record was to be kept, but I kept one for my own information," Mrs. Wax said.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 — Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh is Chief Caterpillar of the Army Air Corps Caterpillar club — he has made four forced parachute jumps.

The Caterpillar club is composed of men and women who have had to "bail out." At the first of the year, 688 names appeared on the club's register.

Twenty-eight of the "Caterpillars" have made two jumps. Captain Frank O'D. Hunter, Air Corps, ranks next to Lindy with three leaps. In all the Air Corps estimated that 721 life-saving jumps thus far have been made in this country.

Club members include 154 Air Corps officers, 67 enlisted men, 21 Air Reserve officers, one Medical Reserve Corps officer, four officers of other branches of the Regular King Victor Emmanuel III will present several bronze tablets, recalling Franco-Italian fraternity of arms, to the war veterans, and a bust of Dante Alighieri will be given to Mussolini, which will later be transferred to the Casa Dante in Florence.

Minister of Pensions in the Doumergue and Flandin cabinets, Georges Rivollet, has given his stamp of approval to the giant pilgrimage, and may himself become a member of it.

Special trains will take the pilgrim-veterans from all over France, Brittany, Normandy, Gascony, Burgundy and Provence, to the frontier stations of Modane and Vintimiglia, going from there to Rome via Genoa.

Arrangements have been made for the French war veterans to take part in or witness the various Holy Week ceremonies which will be staged in Rome while they are there.

The selection, buying and preparation of the right kinds of Turkish tobaccos for making Chesterfield Cigarettes is a business in itself . . . WE have buyers in all the tobacco markets of Turkey and Greece, including Xanthi, Cavalla, Smyrna and Samsoun. And at Smyrna Chesterfield has built the most modern tobacco plant in the Near East. Here the spicy, aromatic Turkish leaf is sorted and graded under the eyes of our own tobacco men. Then it is put away to age in its own climate for two years or more to make it milder and better-tasting. When you blend and cross-blend the right kinds of aromatic Turkish tobacco with mild ripe home-grown tobaccos as we do in Chesterfield you have . . . the cigarette that's milder the cigarette that tastes better On the air — MONDAY LUCREZIA BORI WEDNESDAY LILY PONS SATURDAY RICHARD BONELLI Kostelanetz Orchestra and Chorus 8 P. AGGIES HAVE CONFIDENCE IN CHAMPION NINE

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 31—Confident, but not overly so, the Texas Aggies are checking their ranks preparatory to beginning the defense of their Southwest Conference baseball championship. Practice will begin about Feb. 1 with batteymen slated to get a week or more work before the other candidates report.

Capt. Russell Higginbotham, who has turned out two championship diamond teams for the Aggies within five years, will have more than enough veterans available for the first time in his Aggie coaching history. With eleven lettermen, including at least one for every position, it is probable seasoned players will make up the entire Aggie lineup for most of the games this season.

Higginbotham's teams won the conference banner in 1931 and 1934. He thus is the only conference coach credited with winning more than one banner away from the University of Texas Longhorns of "Uncle Bill" Dusch, dean of all conference coaches.

Stiff Schedule
 The Aggies plan a stiff schedule this year. They probably will open their season early in March and play a number of strong professional and semi-pro teams before beginning their conference campaign early in April.

The Aggies have lost Ike Loewenstein, left fielder and one of their leading hitters and smartest players of the past year, but have regained Bill Sodd, 1933 leading swatsman who was injured in the first 1934 conference game. Loewenstein hit 309 in 1933 and Sodd 468 in 1933. Others lost through graduation or eligibility expiration include Capt. (1934) Wilson Moon, pitcher; Johnny Weaver, outfielder; Dan Alanis, outfielder.

The Aggies probably will rely strongly on the pitching of Capt. Jack Mooty, of Fort Worth. Mooty pitched and won six out of seven conference games the past year, pitched three other games in the outfield and ranked fourth in hitting with an average of .293. He had an earned run average of 2.53 in 1933, when he was voted the Aggies' most valuable player, he occupied second base when he wasn't hurling.

Martinez Back
 Homer Martinez, Hebronville, is another letterman pitcher who will be available. His hitting ability also might send him to the outfield on other days. Sophomore candidates include Homer (Doc) Pitner, Denton, who won four out of five, including two in one day, for the Freshman the past year; Kyle Riddle, Devatur; and Valentine Ramirez, Hebronville.

Ed Steves, San Antonio letterman, should give the Cadets power behind the bat, but they probably will lack reserve catchers. Steves, however, played the entire 1934 season without much relief. If Pete Dowling, Houston, sophomore, recovers from a pre-season football injury, he probably will be chief aide to Steves as well as performing in the outfield. Clyde (Hop) Reynolds, Bastrop, letterman outfielder, also might see some mask duty.

Tommy Hutto, Coahoma, letterman and leading hitter in 1934, seems a cinch at first base. He batted .302 the past year. Other candidates include Mike Langley, Fentress, and Mike Dillingham Fort Worth, squander; Bill Stages, Fort Worth, and Jimmy Spivey, Lufkin sophomores.

Professionalism In Debate Is Charged

AUSTIN, Jan. 31—Not all commercialization in amateur competition is confined to football, it is apparent from an editorial comment in a recent issue of the Intercollegiate League, published for the Texas Interscholastic League by the University of Texas Bureau of Public School Interests. The editorial decries the practice that has become manifest of using "ready-made" debate speeches, as follows:

"Debate hath its commercialism no less than football. The selling of ready-made speeches, both main and rebuttal, and the use of them by high-school coaches of debate very seriously threatens the educational value of this time-honored contest. The rule against this practice is exceedingly difficult to enforce. Teams some way manage to get by with memorized rebuttal which is the work of others. The plagiarism rule is intended to afford a means of punishing this form of dishonesty. But judges are frequently inexperienced, and the glibness of memorized rebuttal often deceives them. The use of such material teaches dishonesty, and it is difficult to see how the conscientious coach can yield to the seduction of the commercial bureaus.

Passing of John Barton Payne

The American Red Cross will long feel the inspiring example of Judge John Barton Payne, its chief for 14 years. He assumed the hard post at an age when many men seek release from strenuous duties. Following floods, hurricanes, droughts and unemployment, he directed successfully tremendous relief undertakings. Without salary, he said he had the largest pay in the world—the satisfaction of easing the sufferings of others.

Judge Barton Payne, was former Secretary of the Interior and chairman of the American Red Cross under four presidents.

"Again the nation mourns the loss of a great man," President Roosevelt said in a statement. "And those of us who were privileged to know John Barton Payne as a co-worker and friend know how unfortunate and untimely is his passing."

"His was an unselfish service. To the lasting memory of this man it should and will be said that he never knew a boundary line, either within or without the United States when flood, fire, earthquake or other great adversity called the 'greatest mother' to help the needy."

Judge Payne's long career followed the traditional American pattern from poverty to outstanding success. He was successively farm boy, country store clerk, judge, government counsel, chairman of the shipping board, director general of railroads, Cabinet member under President Wilson, and Red Cross chairman.

The greatest disaster relief operations ever undertaken were directed by Judge Payne. These included the Mississippi Valley floods of 1927, the Florida hurricanes of 1926 and 1928, the West Indies hurricane of 1928, the drought relief of 1930-31, and unemployment relief prior to the organization of federal relief.

On his own stipulation, Payne never received salary, or even traveling expenses for his Red Cross job, at which he kept regular office hours.

"I get the highest salary in the world—personal satisfaction," was his answer to comments on this subject.

Born at Pruntytown, Va., Payne began his career as a store clerk when 15 years of age at a salary of $50 annually. Studying law at night he soon was admitted to the bar and practiced in Virginia and Chicago. In the latter city he became judge of the Supreme Court in 1895.

A long line of offices which he held in the government culminated in the Secretaryship of the Interior under President Wilson, to which he was appointed in 1920. He also served as chairman of the shipping board and director-general of railroads under the war president.

He made numerous large gifts to schools and other institutions in Virginia, in addition to a $500,000 art collection to that state.

Three Texas Parks Open

Three large state parks in the Panhandle section of Texas, recently opened to the public, give west Texans opportunities for recreation and nature study which few of them have ever known.

For West Texas, with its great prairies and plains, has been conspicuously lacking in play spaces. Unless one had access to a few privately owned and carefully guarded areas, it was a problem to find a spot suitable for even the simplest picnic.

Tireless effort on the part of some public spirited west Texans, extending over a period of years, began to bear fruit in 1933 and continued through 1934. The attention of the Texas State Parks Board was directed toward the Texas Panhandle. The result is that now the Panhandle has a system of public parks that might compare favorably with any in the United States.

Palo Duro State Park, including 15,103 acres in the Palo Duro Canyon 23 miles southeast of Amarillo, is the principal park development in the section.

The Palo Duro project, with the aid of government work relief funds and CCC labor was begun July 13, 1933, but the larger portion of the work has been done in 1934.

Palisades State Park, 320 acres, 12 miles south of Amarillo, was given to the State Park Board by a group of Palisades property owners and is being rapidly developed and improved. Windy Rim Road connecting the parks has been built and is proving a popular automobile drive from Amarillo through the two parks.

The third park project along Tierra Blanca Creek and adjoining the city limits of Hereford, Texas, comprising 520 acres and including the Hereford golf course, a great camping and picnic ground, a swimming pool and a lake, completes the Panhandle park system.

Tree culture has been a major project in each of the three parks.

AUSTIN, Jan. 31 — There are but five women on the staff of the University of Texas who hold the rank of full professor. It is shown in the annual report of Registrar E. J. Matthews for 1933-34. There are 104 men who hold this rank. Four women are ranked as associate professors, 19 as adjunct professors, 31 as instructors and 13 as tutors. Men who occupy similar positions on the staff number 29, 44, 78, and 41, respectively. Of the 369 persons who have teaching positions on the University staff 72 are women and 297 are men. Of the 53 individuals on the teaching faculty of the school of medicine, only two are women, while of the 14 on the faculty of the college of nursing, only one is a man.

AKRON, O., Jan. 31 — A 200-pound piece of concrete broke loose from the flooring of a high bridge here during a noon hour and fell 100 feet into the valley below. No one happened to be underneath.

Texas Topics

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, Jan. 31 — The rabies serum that the state formerly bought for $12 per treatment is now being manufactured in the state laboratory, Austin, at 50 cents. Rep. R. L. Reader of San Antonio has pointed out, Rep. Reader two years ago secured a small appropriation to permit Dr. S. W. Bohns, director of the laboratory, to manufacture this and other vaccines, toxins and serums for state use and for distribution to the local health authorities for charity work.

The Texas laboratory now has been built up to where it ranks second only to that of New York. Rep. Reader said. Under plans he will submit to the appropriations committee, he would push it to first place in the nation. The plan calls for adding a fourth story to the laboratory, and securing a national equipment for the manufacture of other vaccines for use in the state by public health agencies.

The rabies serum, for instance of the reduction of the cost when the state manufactures its own products. Rabies serum now is made available to the health authorities in 17 counties of the state at only four per cent of its former cost. It is available without charge for use in charity cases, as are the other serums made in the laboratory. Such free service products are secured only by city or county health authorities, on certificate that they are to be used exclusively in their charity work.

Mr. Reader, pharmacist, has taken a particular interest in the state laboratory throughout his service in the house. Last year he secured an appropriation of about $4,000 which enabled the laboratory to begin the production of anti-typhus serums.

Former Sen. R. S. Bowers of Caldwell, member of the state board of education, has stated he welcomes the investigation proposed by members of the house into the purchase of refunding bonds for the permanent school fund. "If these refunding bonds are not safe investments," he said "then the present law should be amended or repealed, and place them beyond our right to purchase. We have placed every possible safeguard in our bond purchases. We want to commend the attorney general's department, the comptroller and treasurer for their faithful performance of duties in these matters, and we believe that the matters are in safe hands, and will be under the new attorney general."

Sen. Bowers supported recommendations that a bond expert should be employed to assist the board and also urged that an assistant attorney general be provided whose duties will be to work on school land matters and collect money due the school funds.

300 ABANDONED MINES SEALED POMEROY, O. Jan. 31 — Five hundred abandoned mines in Meigs county have been sealed since last March by PERA workers. Their closing is expected to stop the flow of polluted water into streams.

SHIPPING FOR TEXAS CITRUS IS EXTENDED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 — The season for shipping citrus fruit under the Mexican fruit fly quarantine regulations from the Texas counties of Willacy, Cameron, and Hidalgo has been extended provisionally to include April 15, 1936. Lee A. Strong, chief of the bureau of entomology and Plant Quarantine announced today. If conditions of reinfestation occur or if growers fail to observe sanitary requirements and to comply with cleanup restrictions, it may be necessary to set an earlier date. The shipping season normally closes under the quarantine in March.

The extension was announced after consultation with the Texas state department of agriculture and is concurred in by J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture. Quarantine officials of the State Department of Agriculture of Texas and the United States Department of Agriculture anticipate the same cooperation heretofore extended in this work by growers and packers of the lower Rio Grande Valley.

Strong points out that the federal department of agriculture desires to assist in every possible manner in the movement of the Texas citrus crop. At the same time there must be full appreciation of the department's responsibility to prevent the building up of infestation and spread of fruit fly. Strong hopes and believes that the growers will at all times realize the importance of full compliance with the cleanup regulations. Discovery of any infestation, necessarily require immediate eradication and precautionary cleanup measures in any area which may be involved.

MANCHUKUO TO HAVE WORLD'S FAIR IN 1936

HINKING, Jan. 31 — Manchukuo is going to have a World's Fair in August and September, 1936, the government has announced.

In the meantime the task of providing shelter for the millions it expects to entertain has been left to a commission that will handle the problem along with other construction matters. Plans are still nebulous but the government believes that an exposition on a large scale will do more to give the world accurate information on the country than any other program that could be undertaken.

Official Announcement According to the official announcement: Its purpose is "to introduce to the world the newly established Empire of Manchou and at the same time to aid the empire's industry and commerce to contribute to the cultural progress of the people of Manchoukoo, and to promote international good-will and understanding." Every nation is cordially invited to participate in the exposition. The event is to be known as "Manchoukoo World Exposition." It is to be sponsored by the government and held at the Shengshih, Kinking Special Municipality from August 5 to Sept. 25, 1936. For this purpose the government is to appropriate the sum of 2,000,000 Yuan.

Did you ever stop to think

EDSON R. WAITE
Shawnee, Okla.

E. P. Chase, editor and publisher of the Atlantic (Iowa) News-Telegraph, says: "The American people read the newspaper ads. They read the magazine ads. They read the billboards and they listen to the advertising talks over the radio. They are advertising conscious. The slogans of well known advertisers have crept into our language, so thoroughly is the influence of advertising established. Advertising is no longer something to 'help out' the paper. The time since it was a 'catch penny' is so far in the past as to be no longer remembered. "Good readable, honest advertising, which tells its story in simple language is worth anybody's time to read. Many a thrifty buyer saves a lot of money during the year by watching the advertisements closely."

The newspaper function of carrying advertising has become as important to the people as its other function of printing the news, for in fact, advertising is news, store news, news of importance to those with money to spend. There never was a time in the history of the United States when the reading of the advertisements was as important as it is today, for in many homes a few dollars have to go a long way. The advertisements help stretch the budget."

Students Earn Own Way in University

AUSTIN, Jan. 31 — Practically half of the students who attend the University of Texas last year earned all or part of their school expenses, either before entering or while actually in school, according to the annual report of Registrar E. J. Matthews. A total of 2,819 men students, or 64.03 per cent, out of a total enrollment of 4,401, earned all or part of their school expenses, while 453, or 20.12 per cent, out of 2,252 women students earned all or part of their way through school. More than half of the working students earned all of their expenses, 1,438 men students and 254 women students receiving no financial assistance outside their own efforts.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The Senate committee investigating the munitions trust may be incubating the Republican party's team of 1936 candidates for president and vice president.

As good a bet as any in Washington is that Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, 50-year-old Grand Rapids lawyer, and Gerald P. Nye, 42-year-old North Dakota editor, will carry the tattered banner of the Grand Old Party to the next battlefield.

Both are able and ambitious. Michigan's Vandenberg is one of the party's "Young Turks;" North Dakota's Nye a lusty Son of the Wild Jackass.

Vandenberg is eloquent, and is something of a statesman. He has written books on Alexander Hamilton, and is a student of government. He is as good presidential timber as the party seems to have.

Nye is a hard-bitten young agrarian and rebel. With this team, the liberals of the party are arguing, the last vestiges of the Old Guard would be cast away and the way cleared for a New Deal for Republicans.

Here is a man from the industrial north east and one from the great open west.

A SERIES of hefty tomes have been issued from the Interior Department's National Resources Board on land, minerals, water, power, and other wealth. The proposals to these reports had a singular literary quality, and people wondered if the department harbored some unsusured Milton.

It has just been discovered they were written by a well-known New York newspaper man.

Something fairly good about the "fight" to unseat Progressive Republican Senator Bronson Cutting of New Mexico. After heraldings from the Sunshine Dennis Chavez, defeated Democratic ex-congressman, finally his protest to the Senate.

Instead of filing a bill of particulars charging fraud in the election, Chavez sent only a note of intention to contest the Cutting seat.

Washingtonians are wondering whether Chavez did this only to save his face or whether it was business.

Postmaster General Earley, credited with having put Chavez up against Cutting and to come afterward, is becoming more and more bashful about the affair.

Parley's confidant on Capitol Hill is Senator Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming. Joe said the other day he had no great excitement over a contest among senators.

"There are so many Democrats now," he said, "that there is a political issue in it."

ANOTHER valuable New Deal has been enticed from the government's employ to a sheltered campus life. It is Dr. Walter Riefler, unofficially known as the "president's economic advisor," as he's just accepted what may be his life position with the famous Princeton Institute of Advanced Study.

Riefler, as Federal Reserve Board economist, head of the Central Statistical Board, and economic adviser to the National Emergency Council, has been one of the government's most effective young brain trusters.

Only 28, he will join Dr. Eames and other grayhairs in working out abstract truth. Of late the campuses have been enticed back number of bright young men back to the New Deal.

Grofe Will Satire Chicago Gold Coast

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Ferde Grofe, nationally known composer and orchestra leader, shortly will present a musical satire on Chicago's famous "Gold Coast" district. At its height sophisticated rhythms depicting the clank of society's cocktail glasses and the hum of gossip will intermingle with undertones of machine gun fire and the babel of foreign voices which make a rhapsody in noise of the poverty that hides behind the magnificent front of the Gold Coast.

In diminishing, the satirical theme is completed with Grofe's interpretation of summer on the Gold Coast, when residents of the slum areas make a Coney Island of the free bathing beaches along the rich lake shore.

RANDOLPH NOTES

By CRYSTAL JACKSON
Lucille Bacon is still learning things about botany — or maybe it's bovineity. Anyway, she saw a cow eating paper, and wondered if madder cows gave Tums to their children.

Miss? or Mrs. is the name? That is the question confronting Charles Elmore.

Ola Sikes gave her hair a henna rinse and Coleman Williams thought she had spilled monkey blood (mercurochrome to some) on her head.

Reenie Bernolds is living up to tradition. She said "Good morning" twice today.

Why didn't Dixie Bills go to the country club last night? She started.

Rev. J. T. McKiscek of Marfa, delivered a very interesting talk in chapel this morning. His son, Charles, is enrolled in Randolph for the remainder of the semester.

Remember: The ball game between the Badgers and Clifton College is still scheduled for Friday night in the Randolph gymnasium.

Easter Pageant To Have New Setting

LAWTON, Okla., Jan. 31 — The colorful Easter pageant, held annually in the Wichita Mountains will be staged this year in a huge amphitheater with accommodations for more than 100,000 spectators.
Preliminary work has been started on the project of constructing a new site for the pageant, Ron Stephens, Comanche county PERA administrator, said today.
Mount Sheridan and Mount Roosevelt will tower in the background of the impressive service.
The state PERA has approved a project, calling for the building of permanent structures on the site and improving the highway system to prevent the usual traffic congestion.
A long-time improvement program proposes further work that will require nearly two years for completion. All structures will be built from native rock, gathered in the area. A 100-foot wall about 10 feet high, with three arches and a tower on each side will be erected.
The stage will be 46 by 50 feet, with a manger where the birth of Jesus Christ can be depicted. Another 50-foot wall about 12 feet high with wooden arches and towers will form the background for the stage.
Other structures will be reproduction of the tomb, a rock garden with a wall in the background two dressing rooms and three large crosses. The stage and buildings will be electrically lighted.

U.S., EUROPE DIVIDE HONORS FOR RESEARCH

CHICAGO, Jan. 31—Europe and America share research honors in the United States in utilizing electricity in its homes—but lead us in employing vapor lighting electricity an American invention.

This opinion was expressed by Samuel G. Hibben, director of Westinghouse Lamp Co., New York, at a recent meeting here before a group of prominent lighting engineers, electrical men, and the Western Society of Engineers, at the Chicago Lighting Institute.

Hibben based his conclusions on observations made during a study of lighting conditions abroad. Although Europe apparently enjoys a slight edge over American in number of discoveries which led to the development of electricity, it lags far behind in its use, even in home lighting and convenience, he said.

The sodium vapor lamp invented and patented by American scientists in 1917, lights miles of highway in Europe, although it was not until 1932 that a glass was developed that could withstand the etching effect of sodium vapor. In spite of this America is first beginning to study thoroughly its economic practicability.

New Mercury Lamp

The most recent development is a new type of mercury vapor lamp. It is more efficient than the tungsten filament lamp giving more light for the same amount of wattage consumed. The vapor lamp, it was pointed out, is more efficient in operation and color.

First installation of the new mercury lamps were made in the main exhibition hall of the Ford Building at A Century of Progress. The light of combined colors of these lamps give an illumination remarkably like that of daylight.

"Britains use gas lighting extensively and this condition," Hibben says, "is largely responsible for their trailing us in the use of electrical lighting."

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 31—Motion picture actors have their pet desires.

They range from trips abroad to getting an autographed picture of Greta Garbo, they reveal the human, "just folks," feelings of stars. Among the Hollywood desires are:

Douglas Montgomery intends going to England next summer to make a picture.

Evelyn Venable intends traveling by airplane to the Mayan ruins.

Ken Maynard wants to build that tennis court at his home he has been planning for two years.

Nydia Westman is going to Europe in the summer regardless what it costs her professionally.

Alice White is starting plans for her own home and wishes it to be a "dream house."

to spend another holiday away from Hollywood and her friends.

Francis Lister vows to take off his friendship list those English pals who dislike Hollywood.

Kay Johnson wants to go skying at St. Moritz next winter.

John Cromwell wants to raise turkeys at his ranch.

Raquel Torres will never spend another winter away from Los Angeles and lose her sun-burn in New York.

Marion Marsh wants to make a trip to Europe every year because she had so much fun the last time.

Cora Sue Collins wants Greta Garbo's autographed picture.

IT'S GOT WHAT IT TAKES

The proved power, speed, economy of the V-8 engine . . . plus improvements that make it a more rugged hauler than ever

THE Ford V-8 Pickup has always been a car that could take punishment. This year, improvements have been added that enable you to use the Ford V-8 Pickup harder than ever—and to do it at less cost.

Even the proved V-8 engine has been made more economical, more dependable. It has new crankcase ventilation that rid's the engine of water vapor, minimizes sludge, reduces oil dilution and corrosion. It has copper-lead connecting rod bearings that resist burning and pounding out. It has cast alloy camshaft and crankshaft that outwear forged steel.

The front axle is stronger—20%. The frame has been strengthened—with a new X-member, double reinforced side rails, new cross members at front, center and rear. The chassis is mounted on the Ford Full-floating Springbase—giving more uniform tire wear, longer brake life, better brake action, improved over-all operation, easier riding and handling.

But the way to find out what this new Ford V-8 Pickup will do for you—and save for you—is to put it through a tough trial on your own job. Your Ford dealer will let you have one any time you say.

BS SEE RIGHTEANDED HITTERS AS ANSWER IN PENNANT CHASE

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—The Chicago Cubs are going back to right handed hitters. They won the National League pennant in 1929 with only left-handed hitters in the lineup.

Manager Charlie Grimm plans to have only two left-handed hitters in the Cubs' lineup—Klein and himself.

The Cubs' probable batting order: Cuyler, cf, Herman 2b, Klein rf, Lindstrom, 3b, Stainback, lf, Jurgens, 1b, Hartnett, c.

Grimm won the pennant in 1929 with only left-handed hitters, said Grimm. "It has been proved that left-handed hitters are tough on right-handed batters. My plans now are to have six right-handed batters in the lineup every day. Not including Cuyler."

Grimm will make a lead-off man of Kiki Cuyler, who has one of the best batting eyes in the league and frequently gets on base. If Cuyler fails to come through as a lead-off man, Billy Herman will be moved up to the lead-off position.

There is a possibility that Cuyler may not even be a regular as he has to compete with Frank Cowens, Coast League rookie, for the Demaree led the Coast League in batting last season with a .383 average. He had a brief try-out with the Cubs in 1931, and hit a home run with two men on during a World Series game. He is a right-handed hitter.

Lindstrom or Stainback will be the clean-up hitter, and the other one will bat in fifth place. Both Lindstrom and Stainback are very fast, and the opposition will have a tough time making many double plays on them. Stainback is probably one of the three or four fastest men in the league.

If Grimm's various physical ailments crop up again, and keep him out of action any length of time young Phil Cavarretta will play first base. Cavarretta is still in high school, but he showed in the few games he played with the Cubs last season that he is a fine major League prospect. He may need more seasoning, but he has the best first base tutor in baseball to assist him in Manager Grimm.

Most of the reserve players are right-handed hitters—Catchers Gobel and Stevenson, and infielders Woody English and Eddie Chiswick. Augie Galan, who will be converted into an outfielder by Grimm, bats from either side of the plate. Stanley Hack, third baseman,

So on the Cubs' entire squad, not counting pitchers, there are only five left-handed batters.

TEN MILLION AT STAKE IN COURT FIGHT

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 31.—Estimated annual revenue of $10,000,000—is the stake for which the State of Illinois is fighting in a suit before the State Supreme Court to compel private and publicly owned utilities to pay the state two per cent sales tax.

The case is before the court on a petition for rehearing filed by Attorney General Otto Kerner following a recent opinion in which it was held that the utilities were not required to pay the tax.

One Point

In the rehearing petition Kerner has relied on only one point in his efforts to have the high tribunal reopen the case and reverse its previous ruling. The point is "whether the utilities are engaged in the sale of tangible property at retail."

The court in ruling that the tax does not apply to sales of electricity, gas and water service did not rule on the question of whether such commodities were tangible and whether the company was engaged in selling them at retail.

The only point cited by the court in holding that the utility services were not taxable under the law was that it apparently was not the intention of the Illinois General Assembly, when it enacted the sales tax law, to have the utility companies within its scope.

Previous Ruling

As a matter of fact, Kerner says, the legislature followed closely a previous ruling by the Supreme Court that a sales tax law was unconstitutional because it exempted gasoline and farm products from the tax. The assembly made a specific effort to exempt no one from the tax, according to Kerner.

If the Supreme Court declines to rehear the case and stands on its original ruling in the utility case, attorneys predict that it will be the basis for another attack on the constitutionality of the entire act, which has been declared valid by the court.

ESSO

A NEW MOTOR FUEL THAT DELIVERS AIRPLANE PERFORMANCE IN YOUR CAR

We are proud of Aerotype Esso because we have satisfied ourselves that it far surpasses even the best premium fuels of the past. We believe that its performance will please you, too. So we ask you to try it, to give it an opportunity to demonstrate its power, its anti-knock qualities, its acceleration, its easy starting, in service in your own automobile. You can demand of it as nearly as you can what the aviator demands of his motor fuels, you can put it to any road or traffic test; we are confident that Aerotype Esso will please you. Test it today—the cost is only two cents per gallon more than the regular grade of motor fuel, and full performance makes it worth the difference.

NEW RULES CUT ENTRY LIST IN STEEPLECHASE

By H. L. PERCY
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON, Jan. 31.—The unusually small entry of 60 horses for the Grand National Steeplechase, to be run at Liverpool, March 29, is due to new regulations which permit only the best jumpers to compete.

Actually the entry is 13 below last year, and six below the record field of 66 in 1929, when there were 121 entries. Experience has shown that about half the entries go to the post, so it may be expected that around 30, the same number as last year, will be under starter's orders two months hence.

The chief point about the entries is that some 50 owners have felt it worth while to put up the entrance fee of approximately $50 knowing that they would have to compete with Miss Dorothy Paget's Golden Miller which won last year in record time.

Since it could not be that they are willing to spend $50 just to see what weight the handicapper would give their entries, it must be assumed that most of them think they have a chance if only Golden Miller is allotted top weight of 175 pounds — which is almost a certainty.

Carrying several pounds less, and with a bit of luck at the jumps, at least half a dozen of the entries are conceded a sporting chance of beating "The Miller."

With the weights announced Jan. 24, the field will begin to dwindle to manageable size. At least 20 are not expected to answer the first acceptance Jan. 29, when a further $250 is due, and the probable starters will be known with the final acceptance, March 19, when still another $250 must be paid.

No owner is likely to hand over a total of $500 unless he considers he has a good chance and intends to run his entry. There is little doubt that they will be banking on two things.

Firstly, the big possibility that Golden Miller cannot carry such a load as 175 pounds around the 4 1-2 mile course; and secondly, that only two horses in nearly a hundred years have won the cross-country blue ribbon twice in succession—namely, Ab-el-Kader, in 1880 and 1881; and "The Colonel," in 1869 and 1870. Poethlyn won twice in succession in 1918 and 1919, but the first occasion was a wartime substitute race at Gatwick.

In addition, only four horses, Cloister, Manifesto, Jerry M, and Poethlyn, have won carrying such a weight as 175 pounds.

Among those who are likely to go to the post on March 29, besides Golden Miller, is C. M. Uarsonage's Borbra. These two are the only past winners entered, Borbra winning in 1932.

Curio Collection Sold At Auction

BALTIMORE, Jan. 31.—Louis E. Baer, who collected everything from a cigar-store Indian to an octopus, has parted with all his curios save a petrified mouse.

Baer, a carpenter, maintained an interest in his collection of oddities until his wife's death on Christmas Day. Now, an auctioneer's hammer has brought him $165 for the assortment.

The collection was divided into 168 groups. Many of the butterflies and other specimens were gathered by Baer during his childhood.

Baer discovered his wooden Indian in the basement of a building about 20 years ago. He purchased the octopus from a Negro for 50 cents. It had been found in a barrel of fish.

The collection also included a bottle of pre-prohibition beer, keys, locks, old newspapers, World War souvenirs, posters, placards, old guns, minerals, petrifications, and antlers.

For old time's sake, however, Baer retained a petrified mouse found beneath a stone hearth on one of his journeys around Baltimore.

AERIAL VIOLINISTS OFF TO MAKE FILM ABOVE ALASKAN VOLCANOES

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 31.—A group of aerial violinists, who play roaring crescendos with acrobatic airplanes, will accompany the "Renegade" film-making expedition to Alaska soon to write a new chapter in the scientific defying of death.

Traversing uncharted routes across the Arctic wastes and diving into smoking volcano craters will be all in a day's work for pilots under Ewing Scott, who will direct Gary Cooper and Carole Lombard in the new Paramount exploration picture.

To Herb White, chief pilot of the expedition, falls the task of guiding a "Jenny" type plane of 1918 vintage through a series of acrobatics never before used by stunt fliers. For a starter he will attempt a barrel roll to a landing—and go on from there.

From circling camera planes and vantage points on the ground, Director Scott and his cameramen will focus their lenses on the Jenny while it composes a new alphabet of gymnastics in the sky. White is busy now rehearsing the convolutions he will perform for the cameras, and for the crowd of sourdoughs who will gather at Fairbanks this winter to watch the filming of sequences for "Renegade."

The stunt events will be photographed while the expedition is at Fairbanks for the annual spring breakup of the Yukon River, another sequence in the picture. White hopes to crowd the experience of a dozen years of stunt flying into a few hundred feet of film.

"Aerial stunting has progressed with aviation in general," White says. "Early day pilots went through 'crash maneuvers' by turning everything loose and seeing what would happen. Modern planes are far more powerful and stable, and they permit precision stunting on a scale impossible a few years ago."

Performing these acrobatics, according to White, is like playing a violin. The controls are manipulated by a sense of precision, and an error of an eighth of an inch can spoil a whole stunt.

the Pacific Coast, where it is already in effect.

Officials pointed out, however that the new dirt track regulations will have no bearing on the annual 500-mile Memorial Day International Sweepstakes at Indianapolis.

CONTAGION OF T. B. TO BABIES POINTED OUT

AUSTIN, Jan. 31.—Speaking of children and their susceptibility to tuberculosis, Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer, said: "Few people realize that babies and young children are very likely to catch tuberculosis if they are kept in the rooms with people who have the disease, use the same dishes, sleep in the same beds or are handled and kissed by people who have tuberculosis."

"Babies and young children pick up the germs of tuberculosis just as readily as they pick up the germs of measles or whooping cough or of any other of the so-called children's diseases. But tuberculosis is different from other diseases in certain particulars. Unlike most diseases, it has more than one form. Babies who get tuberculosis may not show the symptoms we associate with the disease in older people. But the disease in most cases develops rapidly and is likely to end fatally. Tuberculosis in babies and young children is a very serious matter but recent studies have shown that if young children are removed promptly from contact with the disease and given the necessary care many lives can be saved."

"A great deal can be accomplished whenever tuberculosis develops whether in young or old, if the presence of the disease is recognized when it is in its early stages and if medical attention is secured promptly."

"Tuberculosis doesn't just simply happen. Nobody is born with the disease. Everybody who develops tuberculosis gets it from some other source. Children and young people who have been in contact with persons ill with tuberculosis are especially likely to contract it."

Laziness Is Blamed For Death Sentence

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Man is too lazy to devise a "sensible" way to deal with criminals, so he kills them, says Dr. William A. White, superintendent of St. Elizabeth's Hospital here.

Dr. White, one of the country's outstanding psychologists, believes capital punishment exists in most countries simply because man is naturally lazy. He said such punishment would have been abolished

AAA Will Change Dirt Track Racing

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—American automobile racing fans who are kept on the edge of their seats by thrilling speedway contests probably will need safety belts when a new dirt track racing program is inaugurated.

The Contest Board of the American Automobile Association has decided to revamp dirt track racing. It has ordered re-classification of drivers, cars and tracks. Keener competition is expected to result from the new arrangement.

Under the plan, cars of relative speed will be brought together in various classes, and drivers of like ability will comprise the entry list. The program will affect every section of the United States except long ago if it weren't for this fact. The superintendent does not believe in taking a life for a life. In his opinion, "man is so lazy that he won't put his wits to the job of figuring out some way of ending crime and so purging the world of criminals."

"If the criminologists would get together and find some effective way of dealing with the problem," he said, "there wouldn't be any need for capital punishment."

"As it is, we kill our criminals as the easiest way out of a tough problem."

Fish Bewildered In Strange New Waters

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Jan. 31.—Slightly bewildered in the strange waters, a unique fish — peristedion finium — whose habitat is in the Caribbean sea, was caught off shore with little trouble.

Carroll B. Akanson, a local ichthyologist, identified the fish. It had a weird appearance, seemingly to represent a cross between a modern armored tank and a fabled Chinese dragon. When it was captured the fish was colored blood red, but gradually lost its brilliant hues.

Passing of John Barton Payne

The American Red Cross will long feel the inspiring example of Judge John Barton Payne, its chief for 14 years. He assumed the hard post at an age when many men seek release from strenuous duties. Following floods, hurricanes, droughts and unemployment, he directed successfully tremendous relief undertakings. Without salary, he said he had the largest pay in the world—the satisfaction of easing the sufferings of others.

Judge Barton Payne, was former Secretary of the Interior and chairman of the American Red Cross under four presidents.

"Again the nation mourns the loss of a great man," President Roosevelt said in a statement. "And those of us who were privileged to know John Barton Payne as a co-worker and friend know how unfortunate and untimely is his passing.

"His was an unselfish service. To the lasting memory of this man it should and will be said that he never knew a boundary line, either within or without the United States when flood, fire, earthquake or other great adversity called the 'greatest mother' to help the needy."

Judge Payne's long career followed the traditional American pattern from poverty to outstanding success. He was successively farm boy, country store clerk, judge, government counsel, chairman of the shipping board, director general of railroads, Cabinet member under President Wilson, and Red Cross chairman.

The greatest disaster relief operations ever undertaken were directed by Judge Payne. These included the Mississippi Valley floods of 1927, the Florida hurricanes of 1926 and 1928, the West Indies hurricane of 1928, the drought relief of 1930-31, and unemployment relief prior to the organization of federal relief.

On his own stipulation, Payne never received salary, or even traveling expenses for his Red Cross job, at which he kept regular office hours.

"I get the highest salary in the world—personal satisfaction," was his answer to comments on this subject.

Born at Pruntytown, Va., Payne began his career as a store clerk when 15 years of age at a salary of $50 annually. Studying law at night he soon was admitted to the bar and practiced in Virginia and Chicago. In the latter city he became judge of the Supreme Court in 1895.

A long line of offices which he held in the government culminated in the Secretaryship of the Interior under President Wilson, to which he was appointed in 1920. He also served as chairman of the shipping board and director-general of railroads under the war president.

He made numerous large gifts to schools and other institutions in Virginia, in addition to a $500,000 art collection to that state.

Three Texas Parks Open

Three large state parks in the Panhandle section of Texas, recently opened to the public, give west Texans opportunities for recreation and nature study which few of them have ever known.

For West Texas, with its great prairies and plains, has been conspicuously lacking in play spaces. Unless one had access to a few privately owned and carefully guarded areas, it was a problem to find a spot suitable for even the simplest picnic.

Tireless effort on the part of some public spirited west Texans, extending over a period of years, began to bear fruit in 1933 and continued through 1934. The attention of the Texas State Parks Board was directed toward the Texas Panhandle. The result is that now the Panhandle has a system of public parks that might compare favorably with any in the United States.

Palo Duro State Park, including 15,103 acres in the Palo Duro Canyon 23 miles southeast of Amarillo, is the principal park development in the section.

The Palo Duro project, with the aid of government work relief funds and CCC labor was begun July 13, 1933, but the larger portion of the work has been done in 1934.

Palisades State Park, 320 acres, 12 miles south of Amarillo, was given to the State Park Board by a group of Palisades property owners and is being rapidly developed and improved. Windy Rim Road connecting the parks has been built and is proving a popular automobile drive from Amarillo through the two parks.

The third park project along Tierra Blanca Creek and adjoining the city limits of Hereford, Texas, comprising 520 acres and including the Hereford golf course, a great camping and picnic ground, a swimming pool and a lake, completes the Panhandle park system.

Tree culture has been a major project in each of the three parks.

AUSTIN, Jan. 31 — There are but five women on the staff of the University of Texas who hold the rank of full professor. It is shown in the annual report of Registrar E. J. Mathews for 1933-34. There are 104 men who hold this rank. Four women are ranked as associate professors, 19 as adjunct professors, 21 as instructors and 13 as tutors. Men who occupy similar positions on the staff number 29, 48, 78, and 41, respectively. Of the 366 persons who have teaching positions on the University staff 72 are women and 397 are men. Of the 53 individuals in the teaching faculty of the school of medicine, only two are women, while of the 14 on the faculty of the college of nursing, only one is a man.

AKRON, O. Jan. 31 — A 200-pound piece of concrete broke loose from the flooring of a high bridge here during a noon hour and fell 100 feet into the valley below. No one happened to be underneath.

Texas Topics

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, Jan. 31 — The rabies serum that the state formerly bought for $12 per treatment is now being manufactured in the state laboratory, Austin, at 50 cents, Rep. R. I. Reader of San Antonio has pointed out. Rep. Reader two years ago secured a small appropriation to permit Dr. S. W. Bohls, director of the laboratory, to manufacture this and other vaccines, antitoxins and sera for state use and for distribution to the local health authorities for charity work.

The Texas laboratory now has been built up to where it ranks second only to that of New York. Rep. Reader said. Under plans he will submit to the appropriations committee, he would push it to first place in the nation. His plan calls for adding a fourth story to the laboratory and securing additional equipment for the manufacture of other vaccines for use in the state by public health agencies.

The rabies serum is an instance of the reduction in costs when the state manufactures its own products. Rabies serum now is made available to the health authorities and hospitals of the various cities and counties of the state at only four per cent of its former cost. It is available without charge for use in charity cases, as are the other serums made in the laboratory. Such free service products is secured only by city or county health authorities, on certificate that they are to be used exclusively in their charity work.

Mr. Reader, pharmacist, has taken particular interest in the state laboratory throughout his service in the house. Last year he secured an appropriation of about $4,000 which enabled the laboratory to begin the production of anti-typhus serums.

Former Sen. R. S. Bowers of Caldwell member of the state board of education, has stated he welcomes the investigation proposed by members of the house into the purchase of refunding bonds for the permanent school fund.

"If these refunding bonds are not safe investments," he said "then the present law should be amended or repealed, and place them beyond our right to purchase."

We have placed every possible safeguard in our bond purchases. We want to commend the attorney general's department, the comptroller and treasurer for their faithful performance of duties in these matters, and we believe that the matters are in safe hands, and will be under the next attorney general."

Sen. Bowers supported recommendations that a bond expert should be employed to assist the board and also urged that an assistant attorney general be provided whose duties will be to work on school land matters and collect money due the school funds.

SHIPPING FOR TEXAS CITRUS IS EXTENDED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 — The season for shipping citrus fruit under the Mexican fruit fly quarantine regulations from the Texas counties of Wilbrey, Cameron, and Hidalgo, has been extended provisionally to include April 15, 1936. Lee A. Strong, chief of the bureau of entomology and Plant Quarantine announced today. If conditions of reinfestation occur or if growers fail to observe sanitary requirements and to comply with cleanup restrictions, it may be necessary to set an earlier date. The shipping season normally closes under the quarantine in March.

The extension was announced after consultation with the Texas state department of agriculture and is recommended by J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture. Quarantine officials of the State Department of Agriculture of Texas, and of the United States Department of Agriculture anticipate the same cooperation heretofore extended in this work by growers and packers of the lower Rio Grande Valley.

Strong points out that the federal department of agriculture desires to assist in every possible manner in the movement of the Texas citrus crop. At the same time there must be full appreciation of the department's responsibility to prevent the building up of infestation and spread of fruit fly. Strong hopes and believes that the growers will at all times realize the importance of full compliance with the cleanup regulations in every possible manner. Discovery of any infestation of the Mexican fruit fly will necessarily require immediate eradication and precautionary cleanup measures in any area which may be involved.

MANCHUKUO TO HAVE WORLD'S FAIR IN 1936

HINKING, Jan. 31—Manchukuo is going to have a World's Fair in August and September, 1936, the government has announced. In the meantime the task of providing shelter for the millions it expects to entertain has been left to a commission that will handle the problem along with other construction matters.

Plans are still nebulous but the government believes that an exposition on a large scale will do more to give the world accurate information on the country than any other program that could be undertaken.

Official Announcement
According to the official announcement, it is to introduce to the world the newly established Empire of Manchou and at the same time to aid the empire's industry and commerce to contribute to the cultural progress of the people of Manchou, and to promote international good-will and understanding. Every nation is cordially invited to participate in the exposition.

The event is to be known as "Manchoukuo World Exposition." It is to be sponsored by the government and held at the Shengtai, Kinking Special Municipality from August 5 to Sept. 25, 1936. For this purpose the government is to appropriate the sum of 2,000,000 Yuan.

Building Applications

All applications for constructing buildings and stands will have to be made on or before March 31, 1936. As regards the articles for exhibition, their names must be submitted on or before June 15, 1936, and the articles must be in Houston on or before July 15, 1936, and ready for exhibition on or before August 2 of the same year.

On the exposition ground there be 20 buildings, including a special hall commemorating the founding of Manchukuo, and a separate hall for each industry, in addition to separate halls for Japan and China and another building for exhibits from other foreign countries. A play ground will be also provided for children.

during the next five years to give the army 3,220 planes and the navy, 1,919, approximately 80 per cent above present levels.

That the secretaries of navy and war be empowered to make direct purchase of air equipment from manufacturers, supplementing the present competitive bidding system, but with the provisions that they report in detail to congress.

That government regulation of private flying be simplified as far as possible and kept to a minimum compatible with public safety.

The commission reported that the present American air transportation system leads the world but that many lines are facing financial difficulties, jeopardizing their continued operation.

Added powers, the report said, must be given the interstate commerce commission under present air mail laws to take emergency steps to insure continued maintenance of air mail lines pending enactment of the new permanent federal policy.

Speaking of near development of trans-oceanic flying, the report said, "America should participate in such services with both flying boats and rigid airships."

Flying post service should be developed along the same lines as domestic air transport, with direct financial aid as necessary allocated to the operation by the proposed air commerce commission.

Did you ever stop to think

EDSON R. WAITE
Shawnee, Okla.

E. P. Chase, editor and publisher of the Atlantic (Iowa) News-Telegraph, says:

"The American people read the newspaper ads. They read the billboards and they listen to the advertising talks over the radio. They are advertising conscious. The slogans of well known advertisers have crept into our language, so thoroughly is the influence of advertising established. Advertising is no longer something to 'help out' the paper. The time since it was a 'catch penny' is so far in the past as to be no longer remembered."

"Good readable, honest advertising, which tells its story in simple language is worth anybody's time to read. Many a thrifty buyer saves a lot of money during the year by watching the advertisements closely."

"The newspaper function of carrying advertising has become so important to the people as its other function of printing the news, for in fact, advertising is news, store news, news of importance to those with money to spend. There never was a time in the history of the United States when the reading of the advertisements was as important as it is today, for in many homes a few dollars have to go, a long way. The advertisements help stretch the budget."

Students Earn Own Way in University

AUSTIN, Jan. 31 — Practically half of the students who attend the University of Texas last year earned all or part of their school expenses, either before entering or while actually in school, according to the annual report of Registrar E. J. Mathews. A total of 2,819 men, students, or 64.65 per cent, out of a total enrollment of 4,401, earned all or part of their school expenses, while 453, or 20.12 per cent, out of 2,252 women students earned all or part of their way through school.

More than half of the working students earned all of their expenses, 1,438 men students and 254 women students receiving no financial assistance outside their own efforts.

SILKEN SPINDLES

by Laura Lu Brookman © 1935 NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Gale Westmore, pretty and 23, was a miller's daughter and her 19-year-old brother, Phil, support their invalid father. STEVE MEYERS, who also works in the mill, asks Gale to marry him. She promises to give him an answer in a few days.

Later that evening Gale goes skating on the river, goes through the ice and is rescued by BRIAN WESTMORE, whose father, now dead, built the mill. Brian asks Gale to wait while he gets his car but when he returns she is gone.

Brian has come home after two years in Paris, convinced he can never be an artist and eager to go to work in the mill with STEVE MEYERS, the son of BRIAN WESTMORE, general manager of the mill, because to captivate Brian.

Brian sees Gale in the mill and recognizes her. Next evening when she comes from work she finds Brian waiting. He asks if he can walk home with her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XIII
BRIAN WESTMORE was waiting for his answer.

Gale knew everyone was watching them. A stream of men and women was pouring from the mill and Gale could feel their eyes on her. She could imagine what they were saying, too. Her cheeks flushed.

And Brian Westmore stood there, waiting.

She said, "I'm sorry but— and then she saw Steve, not a dozen yards ahead. He had turned and was looking back at her. "There's someone waiting for me," Gale went on quickly. She raised her head, met Brian Westmore's eyes directly.

"Oh, I see. Well, good-night—"

His smile was just as friendly as he moved away. Gale noticed how well he carried himself. He was almost as big as Steve, only straighter. And Steve was right about it; he certainly was good looking.

There was still color in Gale's cheeks as she hurried ahead to meet Steve. "I wondered if you waited," she began. "I didn't see you."

"Steve Meyers! If you're trying to be insulting you're certainly succeeding."

"I notice you haven't answered any of my questions."

"And what's more I don't intend to. Since when have I been obliged to account to you for the people I speak to. I'll talk to Brian Westmore or anyone else as often as I want to."

"So you did make a date with him? You're going out with him?"

"You can't talk to me like that!" Gale's face was white now. "You've no right to say such things!"

STEVE'S voice was level, dangerously level. "You seem to be forgetting," he said, "that I asked you a question a few days ago. An important question. You promised me an answer and I've been waiting for it—"

"Then you can have it right now. I'm not going to marry you—ever! I—I thought I would once, but I've changed my mind. You've changed it for me—right now. I wouldn't marry a man who wouldn't trust me and you don't or you wouldn't say the things you've been saying. I didn't know you could be so unjust and cruel and hateful!"

"And I didn't know you were the kind of girl to fall for a rich guy with a line—a guy who doesn't think you're any better than the dirt under his feet!"

With blazing eyes the girl faced him. "Will you please leave me," she said. "I don't care to hear the things you're saying and I don't want to be seen with you. Not ever again. I wouldn't have believed you could talk the way you have if I hadn't heard it with my own ears. Now I've heard it and I hope you'll leave."

"I certainly will, if you feel that way."

"It's exactly the way I feel!" Their eyes met and held. Steve said, in a voice suddenly lower pitched, "You're sure you mean that?"

"Every word of it!"

Gale shook her head, forcing a smile. "No," she said, "I'm crying, Katie. It's just that I—got a cold. Oh, dear, I'm going home!"

She dried her eyes with the kerchief. "I'd love to play with you," she went on, "but I have dozens of things to do. Some of them, though—"

"They walked with her, chatting, until they reached the head of the stream. Dusk had fallen and there was no light in the house. Gale let herself in and called "Father!"

"Yes."

He was sitting in his favorite chair before a window looking out on the street. "I saw you coming," he said. "Who were the child with you?"

"Two of the little O'Connors."

Gale was putting away her hat and coat. She said, "It's so dark in here, Father, you can't see a thing. You ought to have a light."

"I like it better this way," he told her. "Cold out, isn't it?"

"Yes, pretty cold."

"There must be quite a wind noticed the way the trees are being blown." He paused and then went on, "Steve didn't walk home with you?"

"No."

"Steve's a good boy, Gale. A boy." He paused as though he were something more he wanted say, but evidently changed his mind.

LATER, over the evening meal, Gale thought her father looked tired but he denied it. He'd been feeling unusually well all day, said. Put on his coat at noon, took a few steps outdoors to a breath of air.

"How about a game of crib tonight?" Tom Henderson as his son.

"I'll take you on," Phil told her. Gale, clearing the table and hanging up her water, was pleased. She was glad to have Phil at home, to have him entertaining the father.

She heard the cribbage platter keeping score as she hung the damp tea towels and put dish pan on its hook. Neither father or Phil looked up as slipped from the room.

She went into her bedroom closed the door. There was moon tonight, but Gale went to window and pressed her face against the pane. The dark was comforting. A big star, shining just over the roof tops, lit at her.

The star shimmered etched and suddenly its hard light seared cruel. Cruel and unjust as Steve had been.

Hot tears fell on Gale's cheeks and she brushed them aside, stared out at the star and black sky. She was angry at Steve—but that wasn't why she was crying.

Gale thought, "I wonder Brian Westmore wanted to come with me. I wish—"

The woman's permit barred against the entrance.

RANDOLPH NOTES

By CRYSTAL JACKSON

Lucille Bacon is still learning things about botany — or maybe it's botany. Anyway, she saw a cow eating paper, and wondered if mother cows gave Tums to their children.

Miss? or Mrs. is the name? That is the question confronting Charles Elmore.

Ola Sikes gave her hair a henna rinse and Coleman Williams thought she had spilled monkey blood (mercurochrome to some) on her head.

Rennie Reynolds is living up to tradition. She said "Good morning" twice today.

Why didn't Dixie Bills go to the country club last night? She started.

Rev. J. T. McKissek of Marfa, delivered a very interesting talk in chapel this morning. His son, Charles, is enrolled in Randolph for the remainder of the semester.

Remember: The ball game between the Badgers and Clifton College is still scheduled for Friday night in the Randolph gymnasium.

Enact Life Drama Of Colonial Times

SOUTH DENNIS, Mass., Jan. 31.—Townfolk here enacted a human life drama similar to that of colonial times.

The Pentecostal Assembly worshipped in a hired hall until they had enough money to purchase land upon which to build a church.

Recently the land was purchased and a church was built by voluntary hands. Substantial contributions of lumber, bricks and cement were given to construct the colonial designed building which seats 250 people, and is 34 feet wide, 47 feet long.

Cotton Industry Shows a Decrease

AUSTIN, Jan. 31—Activity in the cotton textile industry of Texas during December made a favorable comparison with November but was considerably below that of December, 1933, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Consumption of cotton during the month totaled 2,311 bales, a gain of 7 per cent over November but 32 per cent below that of December, 1933. The number of yards of cloth produced was 3,610,000, a decline of 4 per cent from the previous month and 10 per cent from December last year. Sales, totaling 4,33,000 yards, were up 25 per cent from November but 17 per cent under those of December, 1933. Unfilled orders totaled 8,845,000 yards on December 31, an increase of 30 per cent over those on November 30 but 13 per cent below the corresponding figure a year earlier.

Active spindle and spindle hours increased 5 per cent and 9 per cent respectively over November but were down 8 per cent and 6 per cent respectively from December, 1933.

Easter Pageant To Have New Setting

LAWTON, Okla., Jan. 31 — The colorful Easter pageant, held annually in the Wichita Mountains will be staged this year in a huge amphitheater with accommodations for more than 100,000 spectators.

Preliminary work has been started on the project of constructing a new site for the pageant, Ron Stephens, Comanche county FERA administrator, said today.

Mount Sheridan and Mount Roosevelt will tower in the background of the impressive service.

The state FERA has approved a project, calling for the building of permanent structures on the site and improving the highway system to prevent the usual traffic congestion.

A long-time improvement program proposes further work that will require nearly two years for completion. All structures will be built from native rock, gathered in the area. A 100-foot wall about 10 feet high, with three arches and a tower on each side will be erected. The stage will be 48 by 50 feet, with a manger where the birth of Jesus Christ can be depicted. Another 50-foot wall about 12 feet high with wooden arches and towers will form the background for the stage.

Other structures will be reproduction of the tomb, a rock garden with a wall in the background two dressing rooms and three large crosses. The stage and buildings will be electrically lighted.
