HEDDA HOYT TALKS ABOUT THE THINGS THAT INTEREST THE BUSY WOMAN OF 1926.

Fashion Notes

(By HEDDA HOYT
Written for the United Press)
NEW YORK June 4—More Moire! Moire coats are perhaps the prettiest of all the season's silk wraps. And, odd to say, they are not as numerous as black satins and taffetas which also makes them more interesting to women who dislike styles that are worn by the multitudes.

One of the smartest coats seen thus far is a straightlined model of gray moire trimmed on collar, down the front and about the hem with an ample band of black monkey fur. Black moire trimmed in monkey fur is also very chic in effect. In fact, to look extremely smart, moire needs to be combined with some sort of fur. We have seen it combined with squirrel, mink, fox and black or black and white monkey fur.

The vagabond hat is quite the rage with society women this season. It is strange how very well these little mannish shapes become women whose locks are bobbed in boyish fashion. They are as chic as can be. The vagabond is a little felt shape with a medium brim which turns softly down about the head. It resembles a man's soft-brimmed felt hat and has no trimming other than the hat band. It keeps to neutral tones rather than brilliant colorings and is worn with sports costumes only.

Tailored suits of doublebreasted type are being worn by the fashionables for sports wear. Fox furpieces and vagabond or small felt hats accompany them in most instances. Tailored suits are numerous at smart country resorts. An unusual model combined a blue coat trimmed in brass buttons with gray cloth skirt. As a rule, however, these suits are of plain blue or of mixed tan or gray weaves.

Among the new sports dresses are polka-dotted jerseys. We find the polka dot invading sports clothes as well as the lingerie garments. Monograms of rhinestones can now be ordered at most jewelry and millinery shops as well as in department stores. They are worn on hats, frocks and about the wrist on ribbon after the style of wrist-watches.

Prize Beauty Is Starving in Rags

NEW YORK, June 3.—"Paths of glory" led a shivering emaciated young girl to a cell in Raymond street jail. Wednesday, a girl who will not tell her real name because she doesn't want the folks back at Saratoga Springs to know of her disgrace.

Three years ago, this girl who went begging for food and shelter from a patrolman, threatening suicide if she was refused, won a beauty contest in her home town. Then she came to New York to find fame and fortune through a Broadway chorus. "I couldn't put up with it," she whimpered. "I chose to quit and work in a factory over at Brooklyn. Now I've lost my job and my looks and I'm starving."

The authorities are holding the girl in the hope that she will disclose her identity. If her story about the beauty contest is true, a photograph as she looks today would be no means of identifying her, as only traces of her former beauty remain.

"For Goodness Sake! Look at Helen"

"THERE she goes in her newest dress and with a run down the back of each stocking!" "I wonder when she'll use good judgment and wear Gotham Gold Stripes, like the rest of us!"

Gotham Gold Stripe Silk Stockings are garter-proof. And that's an important point when you consider that a garter run can spoil the effect of a hundred dollar costume. Besides this freedom, Gold Stripe Stockings have many other advantages—long wear, purest silk, repair service and free dyeing, for instance.

And another of the great comforts of full-fashioned Gold Stripes is their price. So much satisfaction for so little money is seldom equalled.

Black Crepe Satin and Lace

After a New Paris Model

Adherence to the formula of the slender waist complemented by a full skirt, characterizes this handsome frock of Paris design. The trimming may be diversified in a number of ways.

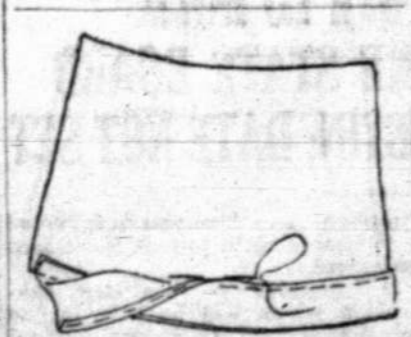

The best features of the mode have been embodied in this frock of black crepe satin for afternoon wear. The bodice fits the figure rather closely as far down as the hips, and then the silhouette changes to meet the demands of the fared mode. The skirt is attached to the bodice with bands of fancy ribbon and another row of the trimming is centered upon the front of the bodice.

Interesting, however, are the Ladies' and Misses' Dress No. 299, cut in sizes 16 years and 20 to 34 inches bust, will be mailed, postpaid, upon receipt of 15 cents. Be sure to list correct number and size of pattern desired when ordering. Send your name and address plainly. Send orders to Pattern Editor, this newspaper.

sleeves and the collar, which are made of rich cream colored lace. As a matter of fact, the extensions may be omitted, if preferred, but Paris shows unmistakable partiality toward the long sleeve this season. All of the trimming is centered below the elbow in this design and the lace is brought closer to the color harmony of the dress by having the design outlined with black rope silk. The lower edges are gathered into narrow bands of insertion, which, in turn, have their lower edges finished with lace frills.

This same idea is repeated in the development of the collar, the lace design being continued to the collar with black silk soutache braid.

The diagram shows how the lower edge of the skirt is treated, for it is a difficult matter to hem a fared skirt and make it hang perfectly. The most effective method is to turn up the edge of the skirt about half an inch all the way around. Then make a perfect bias of self-material, turning under both edges and pressing them to be sure that they are quite flat. Do not stretch the edges of the bias facing while pressing. Bands over the turned under edge of the skirt as shown and hem invisibly top and bottom.

Black satin and white lace are in great vogue in Paris. In fact, black and white combinations have lost none of their prestige despite the reign of bright colors in the world of dress.

TECH-NICAL TOPICS

CONVOCATION TODAY AT TEN O'CLOCK

Regular convocation will be held this morning at ten o'clock at the stock judging pavilion at which time the Board of Directors will be presented to the student body. Regular routine matters of the school will be attended to followed by a fifteen minute discussion by the students relative to the Tech year book, La Ventana, which will be out next week.

Short talks by members of the board will also be given. This will be the last convocation until June 11, at which time the close of school will be heralded together with the opening of the summer session. Dr. C. C. Seligman, president of S. M. U., will make the principal address. The winners of the scholarships for the year will be announced at this time also.

INTRAMURAL CONTEST VERY SUCCESSFUL

The all-college boxing contest which was held at the college Thursday night proved to be a success in every way and the officials are well pleased with the work done by the boys. All of the bouts were fine exhibitions of skill and sportsmanship and void of any rough or unruly conduct.

In the featherweight class Barton Atchison outpointed Mathias Coker. His brother, James Atchison won over Hayden Barron in the lightweight class. In the welterweight Fred Cornelius won from Walter Schenck. Marvin Pynes and Charles Woodridge fought to a draw in the middleweight which was later forfeited. Heavyweight Vaughn Carlye won from Everett Hale in a very interesting fight. The draw between Woodridge and Pynes was one of the most thrilling of the contests and both men were equally matched.

Judges for the matches were Attorney T. E. Vickers and R. D. Campbell. Dr. Leroy T. Patton acted as referee and Dr. George was time keeper. The winners will be the title of all-college champion in their respective class.

LA VENTANAS TO BE DELIVERED MONDAY

Delivery to the students of the first copies of the Tech year book will begin Monday afternoon, according to word given out by the staff late yesterday afternoon. Every student who has bought an annual is asked to bring his receipt and the remainder of the price. No checks will be taken because of the nature of the business handled by the staff. Every student is urged to do this and trouble will be avoided. Come to the College Book Store for your copy.

HEMPHILL WINS SINGLES CHAMPIONSHIP SHIP, DOUBLES TO BE PLAYED

Kenneth Hemphill of Littlefield emerged victor in the all-college tennis tournament which has been in session this week and now holds the title of Tech singles champion.

He advanced steadily toward the title defending himself with apparent ease in each match until the semi-finals. In the preliminaries, Hemphill defeated Webb 6-0, 6-0; Hitt won from Painter, 13-11; Dow bowed to Wisdom, 6-1, 6-2; Jordan went down before Boyd, 6-2, 6-2;

Dalton defeated Winston, 6-3, 6-4, and Brady, 6-3, 9-7; Lahm won from Coleman, 6-1, 6-0; and Bond won from Whitlow by default.

In the first bracket of the semi-finals, Hemphill bowed Hitt, 6-3, 6-1; Dow defeated Grinke, 6-4, 6-4; Boyd won from Dalton, 6-0, 6-2; and Lahm won over Bond, 6-0, 6-3.

In the second bracket, Hemphill won over Dow, 5-7, 7-5, 6-4, and Lahm defeated Boyd, 6-4, 9-7. In the finals Hemphill won from Boyd in a very interesting match which was featured by thrilling serves and returns, 7-5, 6-4, 8-6. The doubles advanced to the semi-finals, the following teams being left: Boyd and Hemphill, Lahm and Dow, Grinke and Winston and Boyd.

FINAL ALL-COLLEGE BALL TONIGHT

The final all-college ball will be held tonight on Cheri Casa roof garden according to word given out by the manager of La Ventana yesterday. The affair will be benefit for the Tech year book.

A gala time is scheduled and every student of the college is urged to be there. Music will be furnished by the Tech Treaders who have a line of new popular numbers.

GRADUATES HEAR TECH PROFESSORS

Several more addresses were delivered by Tech faculty members this week to the members of the class of 1926. Dean Gordon went to Estelina last night where he addressed the graduates there. Prof. Smallwood spoke at Estacado Thursday night and at Matador last night. President Horn is unable to speak and other members are filling his engagements. Dr. W. T. Read returned Thursday from Sherman where he addressed the members of the Austin College graduates. Prof. Gus L. Ford also spoke to college graduates at Weatherford college.

DAVIDSON SCHOLARSHIP FINALS HELD YESTERDAY

The final division of the Davidson Scholarship contest was held yesterday afternoon. Four of the contestants participated in this division. Their speeches were formal orations which were composed by the students. The subjects were timely. The following competed: Horace Grady Moore, Alton Hutson, Irvin Coleman and C. A. Hulcomb, Jr. The winner of the scholarship will be announced at the final convocation Friday, June 11.

SOPHOMORE PINS HAVE ARRIVED

The sophomore pins which the class ordered have arrived according to Walter Horn, chairman of the committee. The pins contain the seal of the college with the year on the guard. Students who ordered these pins are asked to see Walter Horn or Parham Calloway and get theirs.

CADETS SERVE PRESIDENT HORN

The cadets of the college corps are serving the president in a very pleasing manner the past few days. Each member of the corps are taking turns at serving as orderly for Dr. Horn.

Errands over the building, mailing of letters, and other tasks comprise the duties of the boys. They carry out every detail in a military manner.

Y. W. C. A. OFFICERS TO BE INSTALLED SUNDAY

Installation of officers of the Y. W. C. A. for the year 1926-27 will be held at the home of Mrs. John C. Granbery, 1622 Avenue X, at 6:30 Sunday evening, June 6. Mrs. Granbery will preside. Newly elected officers are Lucille Davis, president; Rena Smith, vice president; Marie McDonald, secretary, and Inez Medlock, treasurer. At the same time Miss Davis will announce her cabinet for the ensuing year. The cabinet is composed of the chairman of the standing committees and of the student representative.

All members of the Y. W. C. A. are invited to be present. Student members are asked to sign in the dean of women's office if they expect to be present.

Hardware Dealer Says Crops Better Than Since 1915

"Crops are better for this season than has been the case since 1915," B. Sherrrod, of Sherrrod Brothers Hardware Company, told the Avalanche yesterday following a visit over the territory surrounding Lubbock.

Mr. Sherrrod is especially pleased with prospects for the cotton crop and declared yesterday that if price conditions are favorable the South Plains will establish a record for wealth development during the coming harvest season.

METHODISTS MEET IN TAHOKA FOR TWO DAYS

TAHOKA, June 4—A two days' meeting of the Women's District Missionary Congress was held here at the Methodist church with more than two hundred delegates present. These delegates represent the eleven South Plains counties that make up the Lubbock District.

The delegates were entertained in the homes of the local members of this church.

SHORT STAPLE COTTON IS HIT TEXTILE MAN SAYS HALF AND HALF WILL HURT TEXAS PRICES

Hugh Hutton of Savannah, in the south Texas plains inspecting crops in the interest of eastern textile mills, yesterday waxed eloquent in his condemnation of "half and half" cotton for textile mill purposes. He said that Texas cotton was suffering in the eyes of eastern cotton millers on account of the growing prevalence of this cotton, which he declared possessed too short a staple for the mills.

David Easton, county farm agent, said that forty per cent of the south plains cotton was short staple, a greater percentage than has yet been planted. Mr. Hutton declared that whereas the eastern mills had formerly been eager to get Texas cotton, now they are going largely to Egypt to get long staple and that if the planting of half and half continued, Texas cotton would be discriminated against to the extent of from three quarters to a cent and half per pound.

He said the textile mills needed staple of an inch or more such as is being encourage by the better cotton contest now under way here.

Queried as to the possibility of getting a textile mill in this section, he said it would never be possible until long staple cotton is produced here.

FAMILIES GOING TO PIECES?

"In past days," says a leading American social worker, "the family was a unit. Everything centered in it. Home life was the means of expression of our fathers and mothers. They and their children stood one for all and all for one. I believe the family does not center in the home any longer. The woman is seeking self-expression, finding new pheres and endeavors, reaching out for new goals. Her position in the home is changed. She is a business woman today, perhaps. A worker, a woman of affairs, an intellectual or merely a seeker for new truths, who shrinks at the mere thought of home duties. The modern family is scattered. Every member is out for himself or herself. There is no more harmony, no more sympathy." Really, is it so bad as all this? Granting that there exists the tendency spoken of, and many lamentable examples of it, let us look at the other side. How many wives and mothers in the average American community—in this community for instance—seek outside "careers" instead of looking after their own homes and families? As many as 20 per cent? Or 10 per cent? How many families in this community have gone in for selfish individualism, each for himself regardless of the others? Can't you count over, among your acquaintances, more families living a real family life, hanging together thick and thin, than the other kind? Can't you count more women who are enthusiastic about modern housekeeping efficiency and improved methods of baby-culture and child-rearing than those who are going in for careers alien to the home? More freedom there is, of course, among members of the family. And that has its dangers. But through this new freedom and the new enlightenment and interests that come with it, is not the typical American family working out a family unity and relationship bigger, wiser and possibly better than the old?

MURDERERS

"Almost 118,000 crimson-handed men and women who have unlawfully taken human life are at large, unpunished and unafraid," said Superior Judge Cavanaugh of Chicago in a speech to the National Metal Trades Association. In an address to the Newton Kiwanis Club, Robert T. Bushnell, the first assistant District Attorney of Middlesex County, Massachusetts, stated that approximately 135,000 murderers are unpunished and unafraid in the United States. Coming from two different and widely separated sources and from jurists of note in each case, it would seem the statement may have some truth. There are 50,000 more slayers at large than policemen is a further declaration of the second speaker. Thugs, gunmen, swindlers and murderers cost the 98 per cent of honest men and women in the country twelve times as much each year as do the Army and Navy combined. One billion dollars is carried off by the bucket shop, land and stock swindlers per annum. Burglars escape with $525,000,000. Embezzlers and forgers make away with another $250,000,000. Political grafters steal $200,000,000. The cost of prevention, detection and prosecution of crime foots up $1,000,000,000. That these criminals are free goes unchallenged. That they are "unpunished and unafraid" may be questioned.

OTHER JOBS FOR MINERS

A speaker at the American Mining Congress urges idle coal miners in this county to go into agriculture. "They could produce food as well as coal," he says, "and reduce living costs for themselves and the public." Of course they could. Only half our coal mines are being operated, only half our coal miners are needed. Half of them might go to farming altogether, or those subject to intermittent employment might do so during the idle mining periods. But they don't. For some reason or other, the typical coal miner doesn't seem to care for any kind of work except digging coal. The sun and air don't seem to appeal to him as they should. Farming itself is a part-time job, Henry Ford says. He proposes to alternate farming and factory work. He might try factory work for the miners, who need some side line more than the farmers do. That could be done at the mines, and might suit the miners better.

TEACHERS' SALARIES

Salaries inadequate to their proper maintenance have always constituted the lot of American school teachers. Some 300 years ago, according to the records school masters found it necessary to eke out their meager salaries by marrying well-to-do widows, taking in washing, and in various other ways make sufficient for the daily bread. Many of them still must supplement their salaries. Of course the salaries of school teachers have advanced, but so has the cost of living, and in all too many cases the discrepancy is still as great, if not greater. Also, the standards of living are much higher and the cost of preparation for the work of teaching much greater. Few men, even though they feel the urge to teach, feel justified in asking a woman to face the difficult struggle of bringing up a family on the inadequate salary of a school teacher. They seek occupations where the monetary remuneration is greater, and the teaching profession, perhaps one of the most important professions in the world loses them. The teaching profession is worthy of the best, but until the salaries are made adequate to the needs of the best, it cannot hope to attract and hold them.

PRODUCTION PROBLEMS

In his "Principles of Economics" Frank Paxton Bye as a fundamental principle that "the productivity of the economic organization depends on the state of science and the arts attained by a people." This fact accounts for the unprecedented development and prosperity of the United States in no other country have the successive discoveries of science been so universally employed in productive industry. While in some special lines other nations may have excelled, taken as a broad proposition America has led the way. A great economist has pointed out that while nature's part in production tends to diminish returns, man's part tends toward increasing returns. Thus the application of steam and electricity to new fields of usefulness is continuing the phenomenon witnessed as a result of the industrial revolution of the early nineteenth century. Mr. Rye declares that "our future progress will largely depend on a continuance of the epoch-making strides in scientific discovery and inventive genius which have characterized the last hundred years." Plainly stated this means that we must not only encourage scientific research and invention, but that we must employ the new implements for production which these activities shall bring forth. This applies to the farm, as well as to the factory. More and better machinery, increased transportation facilities and a wider use of electricity are among the important factors which will enable production to keep pace with our growing population and meet its demands for the luxuries as well as the necessities of life.

SPELL IT "MUSCLE."

There are still a few editors who assume to exhibit superior knowledge by spelling it "Muscel" Shoals. They base their vagary on the supposition that this is the only correct spelling of the name of the bivalve from which the Shoals take their name. As a matter of fact, the name of this marine animal is spelled either "muscel" or "muscle" as consultation of any standard dictionary will disclose. But "Muscel Shoals" early came to be recognized as the official form as evidenced by that spelling on the following maps: "A Correct Map of the Georgia Western Territory," published by C. Dilly Poultry in 1798. "Map of the Tennessee Government from the Latest Surveys," engraved by Payne's Geography, 1799. Smith's Atlas, published at Hartford, Conn., in 1843. Morse's Geography, published by Harper Brothers, 1851 edition, etc. All documents of the United States government employ the usual form as do all writers of standing, whether of newspapers, magazines or books, excepting only the few who like to display their eccentricities. The spelling of Muscle Shoals has long been settled, even though the disposition of the important development there has not.

HOW ABOUT THE WEEDS?

A southern newspaper complains bitterly that its own town is "growing as gorgeous a crop of weeds as one can find in America. On vacant lots, along residence streets, in untrodden nooks and corners over the city, weeds and high grass are thriving like the proverbial green bay tree. Well, it's a safe guess that no American can pick out the town from that description. Clean-up weeks, observed a little earlier in the spring throughout most of the country, accomplished much good in private yards and around public buildings. But they didn't eliminate all the weeds, which are getting their best growth right now. Aside from the facts that weeds tend to choke out lawns and become a fire menace toward the end of the summer, they wouldn't be so objectionable in themselves. But the things that always go with them make the most trouble and increase the unsightliness. Where weeds grow unchecked, tin cans and other junk mysteriously assemble. Both the weeds and the rubbish should be permanently expelled from any self-respecting community.

THE IDLE HOUSE

Of all the deadly mistakes mankind has ever made in its attempts to solve the problem of the criminal, probably the most foolish is "The Idle House." There are three general theories of imprisonment: Segregation, punishment and reform. Punishment seems the least useful of these three. It is supposed to deter those outside the jail from criminal acts, lest punishment befall them also. Bales of statistics are available on both sides of the question—but whether it does, really nobody knows. Whether society can reform a criminal once in its charge depends on a number of factors—his age, his mental ability, the wisdom of the means used, etc. Segregation—that is, the locking up of the criminal lest he go on with his crimes, setting him aside for the protection of society from him—is a sane theory and possibly the fundamental one. None of these purposes are served by the idle house. What has society done that it should be punished by supporting able-bodied criminals in idleness? And what does it gain by injuring their bodies, minds and morals? The idle house is a relic of the time when laborers outside prison walls still held to the outworn economic theory that there was only so much work to go around, and prison work should not be allowed to compete with "honest" work. Most workers know better now. Prisoners ought to be made to support themselves and their dependents, just the same inside prison walls as out. They should keep their own surroundings clean and self-respecting. They might learn trades. They might grow their own food.

Unduly Feted

So Think We

We think that a lot of fellows do not have any respect whatever for those who may be passing down the sidewalk. It may be a gruff old miner, a cowboy, a farmer or a negro, an old man or a refined lady and it might be a minister or it might be a small girl or boy or even a modest newspaper editor, who hears some vile mouthed fellow belch out a nasty oath that contaminates the atmosphere for fifty feet around him.

We think there is a great deal that we do not know about the city ordinance known as the "milk ordinance," but there is one thing that we do know and that is it is hurting business in Lubbock. It is also causing people to go to a great deal of extra expense in order to carry out some details of the ordinance that possibly could be eliminated without contaminating the milk supply.

We think about the funniest thing we have seen lately was two men talking, one of them was tabulating his shortcomings, and the other one began to agree with him which made fellow number one as mad as a wet hen, and there came near being a scrap on hand.

We think a lot of us make a great mistake when we say we would have done so and so, should so and so have happened to so and so, but possibly it would be altogether different should it have actually happened to us.

We think the guy who said that necessity was the mother of invention was right, and it is also the mother of a lot of other things. It is the cause of the publication of a lot of things in this newspaper that none of us believe.

We think many of the avenues have been greatly improved during the past few weeks, and with the new equipment the city will soon receive we are looking forward to a general improved condition of the streets.

We think there came up a question where there was room for an argument that some one did start one, and very often an argument starts when there is really no room for one.

We think a big dam across the Canyon would create a great lake of water that would be of great benefit to the town and a fine thing for people who enjoy boating, fishing, etc.

We think that if nature did not adjust things this old world would be in a terribly warped condition.

We think about the only difference between law enforcement and law violation is merely a matter of indifference.

We think that counterfeiting will be a mighty poor business in France if the Francs do not quit their downward trend.

It Is Reported

It is reported that we are sure to have a man for governor after the first of January. We think this is quite likely for some of the men running will capture the "bobbed" hair vote in Texas because the women running for Governor do not wear bobbed hair, and therefore, have not gained much favor with the bobbed hair bunch.

It is reported that there are a number of people who are still old fogey enough to think that cattle will die of the hollow horn, even though the cow may be a mule. And that is not much worse than the guy who says that ones character can be determined by their handwriting when there is no more handwriting.

It is reported that the milk ordinance is all right and does not interfere with the selling of cream and butter. We will confess to our readers that we do not know. Some say it does and some say it don't, anyway it seems to have a lot of folks excited about something.

It is reported that some fellow has written into the question and answer department of one of the papers down in the state and asked if the dogwood tree bites. We do not know about that but we are pretty sure that it barks.

That the reason some people cannot get through the world any better is because they offer themselves so cheap that people look upon them with the same suspicion that they do bargains and refuse to take them.

It is reported that the skyline in Lubbock is heartened to the extent of a seven story building.

It is reported that some of the politicians have put the ku klux out of business, put the tar on the roads and feathered their nest.

This and That

BOY HERO

Port Jervis, N. Y.—When their boat capsized on Highland Lake, Harry Splzbach, aged 11, swam ashore, returned when he saw his companion, Joe Machatta, who weighed 260 pounds in distress and towed him to shore. Six men on shore lustily cheered him and his companion ashore and resuscitated Marchetta.

SURVEY MEXICAN MINES

Washington, D. C.—A survey which promises to be unusually interesting to the mining profession will be made of the ancient mines of Mexico by Dr. W. F. Foshag, a Smithsonian geologist, assistant curator of mineralogy and petrology in the Guajajuata silver mine, the largest in the world, which was in operation in the days of the Toltecs of Mexico, and which in historical time has provided almost $1,000,000,000 worth of metal.

AVIATORS KILLED

Cóatesville, Pa.—J. Harry Jones, pilot and J. Moyer, passenger, were killed when their plane crashed in a plowed field after both wings collapsed and the machine went into a nose dive.

AGAINST RATIFICATION

Metz, France.—In convention the General Association of War Wounded, passed a resolution against ratification of the Washington debt funding agreement which move the body proposes to pursue throughout France.

ABIE STILL STRONG

New York.—The play "Abie's Irish Rose," which has had a record run is now launched out into its fifth year, having been shown 1,721 times.
Brick and cement are to be used chiefly in the 10,000 buildings proposed for Madrid and Malaga, Spain.

WORLD TOPICS

The increasing popularity of motor boating as a sport and for recreation is certainly to be commended. A small cabin cruiser can provide a great deal of healthy fun. The queer feature of the present drift back to the water, however, is that most of the yachtsmen can't swim a stroke. If they fall overboard (as they are very likely to do at some time or other) they are unable to do a thing to save themselves or assist others. It would seem only the most rudimentary of common sense for a amateur yachtsman to be able to swim before he trusts himself on blue water.

It was bound to come. The General Federation of Women's Clubs is liable to come to grief on the rocks of state rights and home rule over the prohibition question.

A Little Talk on Thrift

By S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift

It is of special interest and importance to note that a national conference of educators has been called to meet in Philadelphia this summer for the purpose of furthering the thrift educational movement in this country.

Reports will be submitted on the progress that has been made in the work of teaching thrift in the school, and plans will be developed for still further developing this great movement.

It is appropriate that the conference will be held in Philadelphia—a city so closely affiliated with the career of America's great thrift apostle, Benjamin Franklin. It is appropriate, too, that this conference, coming as it will on June 29, will be on the eve of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the birth of our nation. Good thrift is good patriotism and any man who practices it contributes directly to the upbuilding of his country.

It will be interesting to learn just how far the work of teaching thrift in the schools has progressed. It was started at the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco in August, 1915, when the International Congress for Thrift sent resolutions to the National Education Association, recommending the advisability of teaching thrift in the schools. Accordingly, the National Committee on Thrift Education was appointed as one of the standing committees of the National Council of Education.

During the intervening eleven years, the work has progressed—somewhat slowly at first, but always steadily—and now moving forward with tremendous momentum.

As we all know, lessons in childhood take a much stronger hold upon us than those acquired later in life. No person is too old to learn to practice thrift but it is thrift of effort to concentrate our educational activities on children and young people.

Let the teachings of thrift in our schools be given every encouragement. By doing this we are laying a most substantial foundation for the future progress of our country.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE PLEASANT TASK
He would not do the thing called work.
Unless the task were pleasant,
His duty must not bind and irk.
Joy must be ever-present;
And so he searched the city through
To find the job he'd like to do.
Now there's a chasm which divides
Man's work from his playing.
And one can't occupy both sides;
Which goes without my saying;
There is no job on earth today
Which pleases one so well as play.

The thing we really like to do
Is seldom honest toiling.
It's seeing irksome duties through
Which keeps the kettle boiling;
And if it's work, beyond a doubt,
Somewhere it calls for courage stout.
And so from post to post he went,
To find a job which suited,
But everywhere in discontent
Away from tasks he scouted;
He wanted work which seems like play,
And that does not exist today.

CITY LEAGUE WILL OPEN TUESDAY

DATE SET AT ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING OF BASEBALL MEN AT AVALANCHE LAST NIGHT, TO MEET AGAIN MONDAY NIGHT

The Lubbock city baseball league will open Tuesday, June 8. This was the date set at the organization meeting of the league at the Avalanche last night. The officials and members of the league will meet Monday night at the Myrick Hardware store at 7:30 to settle further matters concerning the policy of the league.

Eight teams were represented last night and prospects are bright for a good season. The following officers were elected: Sled Allen, president; F. G. Shepard, vice president, and J. C. Sanders, secretary and treasurer. Several committees were appointed to determine the regulations and policy of the teams. They will make a report at the meeting Monday night. A committee composed of H. C. Gaitheys, J. A. Raley, Jr., and J. V. Spikes was appointed to select umpires for the league games. Score keepers named were Rankin Dow and Bennett Slagle. A committee composed of Frazer McCrummen, Rankin Dow and Bennett Slagle was appointed to make out the schedule for the league.

The entrance fee for each will be ten dollars for the season. This will go into the general treasury of the league. The games of the league are to be played only on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. No city league games will be played on the other days of the week.

The following teams were represented: Kuykendall Chevrolet Co., post office, tallers, bankers, hardware, Barrier Bros., four-eyed nine, barbers and Rice/Baker companies. This list is two more than was in the city league last summer. Each team is planning to produce a winning club and there will be plenty of competition.

Several of the teams will have uniforms according to word given last night by the representatives of the teams. Barriers, Myricks, Bankers, have already ordered them and it is likely that every nine will have new uniforms.

come the objection of increased cost of transportation, the sponsors believe.

Fans, just as they tire of too lengthy seasons, tire of seeing the same two teams play seven consecutive games, it is held.

The plan is patterned after the American and National league schedules, and Barney Dreyfus, owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, has agreed to assist in drawing the schedule for play in the Coast league next season.

Frank Lockhart Wins Speedway

Frank Lockhart, Pacific coast flash of the dirt tracks, led a field of fourteen tiny race cars to the finish of a 400 mile automobile classic on the Indianapolis speedway with an average of 94.03 miles an hour. He was out in front from early in the race and caught the checkered flag of victory two laps ahead of Harry Hartz, who finished second.

The high speed contest, which was run in exactly 4 hours 13 minutes and 37.78 seconds, was halted for an hour in the afternoon when rain flooded the track and stands.

60 YEAR OLD IS CHAMPION HIKER

BINGHAM, Me., June 4.—Burt Lister, camp cook, who will celebrate his 60th birthday next year, is regarded hereabouts as the super marathon runner of the age.

With a sixty-pound pack on his back, Burt is hiking 16 to 18 miles each day as part of his training program in the hope someone of his age will accept his challenge for a 100-mile race.

Lister, who has been marathoning these past 40 years, recently ran so fast in a 50-mile race at Caribou, that Romeo Sullivan, known as the "Bangor Ghost," fainted while trying to match his pace.

Burt finished far in the van, clocked at 7 hours, 15 minutes.

HELEN WILLS HAS APPENDICITIS OPERATION

By RALPH HEINZEN
United News Staff Correspondent
NEUILLY, France, June 4.—Helen Wills, American tennis champion, is recovering from an operation for appendicitis which was performed suddenly and successfully at the American hospital here Friday.

There is now no possibility of the California girl meeting Suzanne Lenglen in a return match in France this year.

Miss Wills wept when taken to the hospital, but her tears were those of disappointment because she must miss her chance to turn the tables on the French champion.

The doctor who performed the operation quieted Helen by assuring her that she would be able to play within a month, but this means that she will miss the all-comers tournament at Wimbledon as well as the rest of the hard court championships at Paris.

"Helen had been feeling badly for several days," Mrs. Wills, the American girl's mother, informed the United News. "It was only this morning that she had a severe attack."

"Of course, I called in the doctor immediately and he diagnosed the trouble as appendicitis."

"Helen, knowing this would mean the end of her tennis for a time, refused to have an operation at first, but about 5 o'clock this afternoon the pain became so severe that she had to give in and go to the hospital."

The American champion was forced to scratch from the Paris hard court championships, defaulting to Katarina Boumer of Holland. She was to have participated in the Wightman cup matches as well as the all-comers championship, but probably will be unable to play again before returning to the United States.

American tennis players forgot their forthcoming matches and many came to the American hospital seeking news of Helen.

Harry K. Browns, captain of the women's team, was admitted and reported Miss Wills was getting along nicely.

The sudden attack of appendicitis was admitted a great blow to the young Californian. She had set her heart upon meeting and beating Suzanne Lenglen and now may never have another chance. The French girl won, 6-3, 8-6, when the two champions met on the Riviera last winter, but Helen has been quite confident that she could reverse the decision at the next meeting.

Suzanne is now likely to defeat all comers in the hard court championships and probably at Wimbledon as well, for the other American women players had a difficult time at Paris Friday.

Modern whalers use seaplanes.

VICTORIA, B. C. June 4.—"There she blows."

It's the same old cry that used to be heard from the crow's nest and the forecastle head of the sailing ships of old.

But now the cry is drowned by the roar of powerful airplane engines, and the glad news of the whalers is signalled from an air instead of being belted back to the wheel-house by some husky seaman's lungs.

That is the way the whaling will be done in the Bering sea this summer.

Captain George L. Marquand, manager of a whaling company here, has chartered an airplane for each whaling venture.

Planes have been used with great success off Newfoundland in spotting seals on ice packs, but this is the first time that whales will be hunted from the air, so far as is known here.

Rose Harbor and Naden Harbor will be the bases for operations of the one set of planes.

The familiar spots of the ocean mammals will be visible from much farther away to the pilot of an airplane than they would be to someone standing watch on the deck or in the rigging of some ship.

Short Story Wins Place of Honor

By United News
EPSOM, Eng., June 4.—Viscount Astor won the Oaks with his highly rated filly, Short Story, today, the fourth time that this classic race for 3-year-old fillies has gone to the former American.

Short Story, joint favorite in the betting with Pillion, paid 5 to 1, with Respendent 100 to 6, second and Gay Bird, 100 to 8 third. Sixteen fans.

The victory of Short Story, which ran the mile and a half in 2:43.35 or 4 1/5 seconds faster than the time made by the derby winner, Coronach, over the same course Wednesday, repaid Lord Astor in a measure for the defeat of Swift and Sure, his entry in the previous classic.—The Astor filly won by four lengths, two lengths separating second and third.

Viscount Astor won the Oaks with Saucy Sue last year, with Pogrom in 1922 and with Sunny Jane in the war time race in 1917.

Ping Bodie Goes to Bears

By United News
SAN ANTONIO, June 4.—Ping Bodie, outfielder of the Wichita Falls club of the Texas league has been purchased by the San Antonio club according to announcement made here Tuesday by Harry Ables, president of the Bears. The sale price was not announced. Bodie will join the San Antonio club immediately.

Attention Ex-Service Men

Local ex-service men should take proper steps to reinstate their war insurance where it has been allowed to lapse. The government is making a special effort to secure the reinstatement of these policies before the time limits expire in July.

We are not an expert upon insurance matters, but we have seen the statements of prominent insurance officials, who state, very frankly, that no regular company can issue policies that will be as favorable to the ex-soldiers. If your policy has lapsed look into the matter at once.

BUBBLING OVER WONT COMPETE AT LATONIA

LATONIA, Ky., June 4.—Colonel E. R. Bradley, who won the Kentucky derby with Bubbling Over, is not seeing his crack 3-year-old after the Latonia derby Saturday, but is shooting with Bubbling Oter's stable companions, Boot to Boot and Bagenbaggage. The latter ran second in the Kentucky derby.

Other entries for the Latonia derby, for which $25,000 has been added, are Navigator, Recollection, Blondin and Rhinock, which ran third in the Churchill downs classic ball games.

Vance, voted the most valuable player in the National league in 1924 and a mainstay of the Robins pitching staff last year, has been suffering from boils. "Dazzy" dazzled the Giants, fresh from their hitting spree in Philadelphia, allowed New York but four hits. Brooklyn, assisted by four errors and homers by Herman and Fournier, won 10 to 1.

The Pirates gained a full game on the Reds, beating the Cubs to 1 while Cincinnati lost to the Braves 8 to 5. Lee Meadows, the spectacular Pittsburgh pitcher, held Chicago to five hits, Boston making 15 off Rixey and Lucas.

The world's champions are now only two games from first place.

Other brilliant pitching performances were turned in by Zachary of the Browns, who shut out the White Sox, allowing five hits, and by Edwards (who allowed St. Louis but four until Thurston relieved him in the eighth. The Browns won 3 to 0. The Indians made but five hits off Whitehill and Collins while the Tigers made ten off Miller, but the Speaker tribe won the game, 4 to 3.

MOVIES EMPLOY HUGE NUMBERS

350,000 PERSONS ON WAGE OF MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

HOLLYWOOD, June 4.—The motion picture industry, one of the largest businesses in America, permanently employs 350,000 persons in all its branches.

This does not include approximately 40,000 principal and extra players given work from time to time.

The average weekly attendance at picture theaters throughout the country is estimated at fifty million. Admissions paid annually total five hundred millions.

Employees of studios and distributing exchanges are paid wages and salaries amounting to ninety millions annually.

Nine thousand theaters throughout the country are operated from six to seven days each week.

Fifty-five hundred operate from four to five days a week.

Forty-five hundred operate from one to three days a week.

Three hundred million linear feet of film were exported during the year 1925.

In 1915 forty million feet were exported.

It is estimated that ninety percent of the films shown abroad are made in America.

Of the 425 foreign films sent to the United States for sale in Europe, only six were bought. Out of these six only two were considered financial successes.

Americans Lose Ryder Golf Cup

By United News
VIRGINIA WATER, Eng., June 4.—American professional golfers, including Walter Hagen, failed completely to live up to the performances of their fellow countrymen, the Walker cup team amateurs, Friday.

British pros won all five matches from the Americans in the first day's play for the Ryder cup, offered for international professional team competition.

E. R. Whitcombe and H. C. Jolly beat Emmet French and Joe Stein, 3 and 2.

Aubrey Boomer and Archie Compston beat Tommy Armour and Joe Kirkwood, 3 and 2.

Ted Ray and Frederick Robinson beat Cyril Walker and Freddy McLeod, 3 and 2.

George Gadd and Arthur Havers beat Bill Mehlhorn and Al Watrous, 3 and 2.

Abe Mitchell and George Duncan beat Jim Barnes and Walter Hagen, 9 and 8.

Royalty Competes at Wimbledon

POLICE ALERT ON N. Y. CRIME WAVE

FRIDAY'S FINDINGS SHOW "CLEAN-UP" PROGRAM WELL UNDER WAY

By Frank Getty

United News Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, June 4.—The murder of a paymaster, the capture of an international thief with $137,000 in loot, the indication of a former college girl who stole $100,000 "for a thrill" and the exploits of a lone gunman who fled with $3,000 from a busy Brooklyn corner kept police of New York and vicinity busy Friday.

This sudden outbreak of crime, partly successful and partly otherwise, followed a period of several weeks during which Police Commissioner McLaughlin had been working desperately to "clean up" greater New York and as a result the city was enjoying comparatively immunity from serious lawlessness.

The murder of Paymaster Theodore Conway and the wounding of Hugo Schwernitz, a 62-year old guard, occurred in Newark and so could not be charged against the New York police, but the proximity of the holdup in conjunction with the day's record for this days record for this city gave Commissioner McLaughlin little satisfaction.

Five bandits in a Ford automobile attempted to hold up the pay car of the Public Service Railway company. The men climbed aboard the pay car during the lunch hour, no one paying any attention to their intent. As the aged guard drew his revolver he was put out of commission by a shot through the arm.

The intruders opened upon Copway, who sat helpless at his desk until his body, riddled with bullets, crashed through a window of the car. Sacks of money totalling $14,000 lay at hand, but when employees attracted by the shots, came running, the bandits lost their nerve and fled.

Eclipsing in its interest the attempted robbery in Newark was the story of the arrest of Albert Rosenberg, international mail thief, aboard the United States liner George Washington.

Rosenberg was one of five men who escaped in a motor boat from Ellis Island last November while they were awaiting deportation to Germany.

He and a seaman, Frank Barra, were in irons when the George Washington docked Friday. Rosenberg had been caught after he had ripped open registered mail sacks during the vessel's eastward journey to Bremen. He had made away with $137,000 worth of mail when apprehended. All the loot was recovered.

Barra, employed aboard the George Washington, is accused of assisting Rosenberg to get at the mail. The latter stowed away and began his deceptions after the liner was several days out of New York.

The thief is declared to be the same one who rifled the mails aboard the Minnehaha a few years ago, for which he served two years in Atlanta penitentiary.

"If I'd been left alone, I'd have made good my threat about that $2,000,000," he bragged to his captors.

An accountant's wife, a former college girl, went haughtily to the jail Friday when held in $25,000 bail, charged with being the thief who has stolen more than $100,000 in jewels from Fifth avenue jewelers during the past four years.

The accused woman's husband was "amazed" at the charges. She, herself, obviously in affluent circumstances, declined to comment, and her small son by a previous marriage tugged at her skirts and pleaded that "mama, couldn't have done anything wrong."

But police have pieced together quite a plausible story which leads them to charge that Mrs. Dervoe stole "for a thrill." They say she never disposed of any of the stolen goods.

Brooklyn "mystery" gunman perpetrated a daring morning holdup on one of the city's busiest corners, making away with $3,000 from a candy store. Although the store doors were locked, the robber suddenly appeared before William J. Moriarty, assistant manager, pointed a revolver, took the $3,000 and vanished as mysteriously as he had come.

Shrinkage Farmers' Capital National Problem—Lowden

By United News

NEW YORK, June 4.—The American farmers combined capital has shrunk $5,000,000,000 in five years, Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois and a presidential nominee, told the National Farm School conference Friday.

Agriculture must be considered a national problem, he declared. "In 50 years, a point of saturation, as regards population, will have been reached in the United States," Lowden predicted. "There is grave danger of repeated food famines unless steps are now taken to improve the quality of agriculture by making it more scientific and productive."

He cited figures tending to show that this condition would obtain not only in the United States but in every other country.

"We could not hope to receive agricultural imports from other countries when the situation reverses itself," he said, "and we had become a nation consuming more than we could produce."

Quoting from a department of agriculture publication, Lowden referred to 1924 as a better year for the farmer than any of the preceding four years. "Yet, after a wage allowance of less than common labor receives in other industries his net return upon capital was 3.6 per cent, without deduction for depreciation of machinery or depletion of the soil."

Combined farmers' capital declined from $37,000,000,000 in 1919 to $32,000,000,000 in 1925, he said.

CORN BELT MENACE TO ADMINISTRATION

MONDAY'S ELECTION WILL TEST CAL'S STRENGTH AMONG FARMERS

By United News

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Out in Iowa where the tall corn grows, the Coolidge administration is about to undergo its first real ordeal of fire. Lacking many of the complicating factors that have obscured the real meaning of previous primaries such as those in Pennsylvania, Illinois and Oregon, the Iowa senatorial primary next Monday will be essentially a vote on Coolidge and the order of things for which he stands. This issue is embodied in the two leading republican senatorial candidates—Cummins, the incumbent who stands with Coolidge—except on farm relief and former Senator Brookhart, the insurgent.

There are sideshow issues and sideshow candidates but they matter only incidentally. If the verdict is for Coolidge, there will be a prompt end to the whispering that the president is slipping politically. If the verdict is unfavorable, there will be a visible increase in the activity of potential presidential aspirants, whose ambitions are beginning to surge.

So much importance is attached to Iowa because it is the center of the corn belt revolt—the biggest since Mr. Coolidge faces. If he can lick the enemy in his strongest area, he need worry little about the outposts. Lowden is the idol in Iowa. Although he now claims Illinois as his residence and was governor there, the real force behind his presidential surge is Iowa and the corn rebels.

The immediate protagonists, of course, are not President Coolidge and Lowden. They only hover in the background while Cummins and Brookhart do the fighting.

Brookhart, the insurgent, lost his seat in the senate this spring when the vote of Senator Butler of Massachusetts, chairman of the republican national committee and Coolidge's campaign manager, turned the tables in favor of Steck, a democrat.

Steck was declared to have been elected over Brookhart in 1924, who now is making much of this in Iowa, declaring that the Coolidge administration sought to nullify the verdict of the Iowa voters. He is a consistent insurgent and is regarded by the Coolidge forces as of no more value in the senate than a democrat.

Cummins has sought to keep Coolidge in the background and has emphasized that he stands on farm relief exactly where Brookhart does on all other issues. He is regular and usually has voted with the administration except on the tariff. He is converted insurgent.

government by the Royal Academy of Agriculture, asking for an appropriation to finance further experiments with electrically heated and lighted hot houses and hot beds.

So far nearly one half of the farm area in Sweden has been electrified, the "white coal" of the waterfalls driving farm and dairy machinery, but in winter fresh vegetables are usually imported from the South of Europe.

Now the Academy of Agriculture, which does the advance thinking for the Swedish farmers, believes that fresh strawberries, cucumbers and cauliflowers may as well be raised inside the country by means of electric heat and light. In general Sweden is one of the most highly electrified countries in the world, having no coal of its own but plenty of hydro-electric energy.

PRISONERS' COURT FINES ALL INMATES

By United News

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 4.—A "Kangaroo court" with all the dignity and decorum of higher courts of justice in the land, is in full swing and motion in the Delaware county federal jail. The prisoners have their own rules, fines, and penalties, and represent another phase of self-government in this country.

When a new prisoner is sentenced in the jail, "court" immediately convenes and the man is "fined" 2 for "breaking into jail." If he can pay, the money goes into a general fund. If he is "financially embarrassed" Wayne Moore, the "judge" orders him to work scrubbing floors or washing dishes.

Fines are imposed for indulging in profanity; for leaving a "ring" in the bathtub; for spitting on the floor for making a noise after 11 o'clock; for "rubbering" when a fellow prisoner has visitors, and kindred other infractions.

Wayward Son Joins Divorced Parents

By United News

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 4.—The possibility that Harry K. Thaw and his divorced wife Evelyn Nesbit may have approached a reconciliation in common indignation against charges of hotel-beating brought against their 15-year old son, Russell, was seen when Harry and Evelyn dined together with Russell and an attorney at the Hotel Ambassador Friday night.

"We buried the hatchet and decided not to fight any more," Evelyn said afterward, but neither would confirm of a prospective reconciliation.

The dinner party of four was watched excitedly by more than 200 persons, many of whom gathered when word spread that Harry and Evelyn were in the dining room.

Their primary reason for meeting, the two said, was to "vehemently deny," the report from Chicago that Russell had lavishly entertained women and himself at the Congress hotel and then fled, leaving heavy bills.

They issued a joint statement regarding Russell's recent movements which was said to have been prepared by Thaw and signed by his former wife.

May Be Wrong Boy

CHICAGO, June 4.—"Well, if that's the case, I guess somebody put a good one over on us," Frank Florentine, manager of the Congress hotel, said when informed by the United News that Harry K. Thaw and Evelyn Nesbit Thaw had denied that their son, Russell, had left without paying his bill at this hotel.

"Of course, I don't know Russell Thaw personally," Florentine said. "But the boy registered that way and said he was Thaw, so I took him at his word. The fact that he gave so many parties rather strengthened my belief in him."

"But if was an imposter that is too bad and hope we have not caused the Thaws any embarrassment."

All firms in Esthonia must register details of their business with the government according to a new law.

WOMAN PASTOR WILL RETURN ON JUNE 16, SAYS INFORMANT

By United News.
 SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—Aimee Semple McPherson is alive and well, according to information received here by Mrs. Frances B. Marshall, mission worker who is affiliated with the Los Angeles evangelist's church.
 A telephone message to Mrs. Marshall Friday from a man who said he was one of Mrs. McPherson's assistants, informed the mission worker that the evangelist "will return to Angelus temple in Los Angeles about June 18."
 "I have asked this man to prove his identity," said Mrs. Marshall, and if he is the man he claims to be he is trustworthy and his statement is true.
 "Aimee McPherson is not dead," said the telephone statement. "She was not drowned. She was not kidnapped. She is not sick. There is a reason for her remaining in seclusion which must not be known now. She has a right to live her own life in privacy. She will return to Angelus temple in Los Angeles about June 16, with reasons for her actions."
 Mrs. Marshall was asked to give the statement publicly in order to stop "ridiculous rumors" about the evangelist who was reported to have drowned at Venice 17 days ago.

CROWE OUTWITS CHICAGO ENEMIES

ORDERS INVESTIGATION OF CHARGES OF BALLOT CORRUPTION

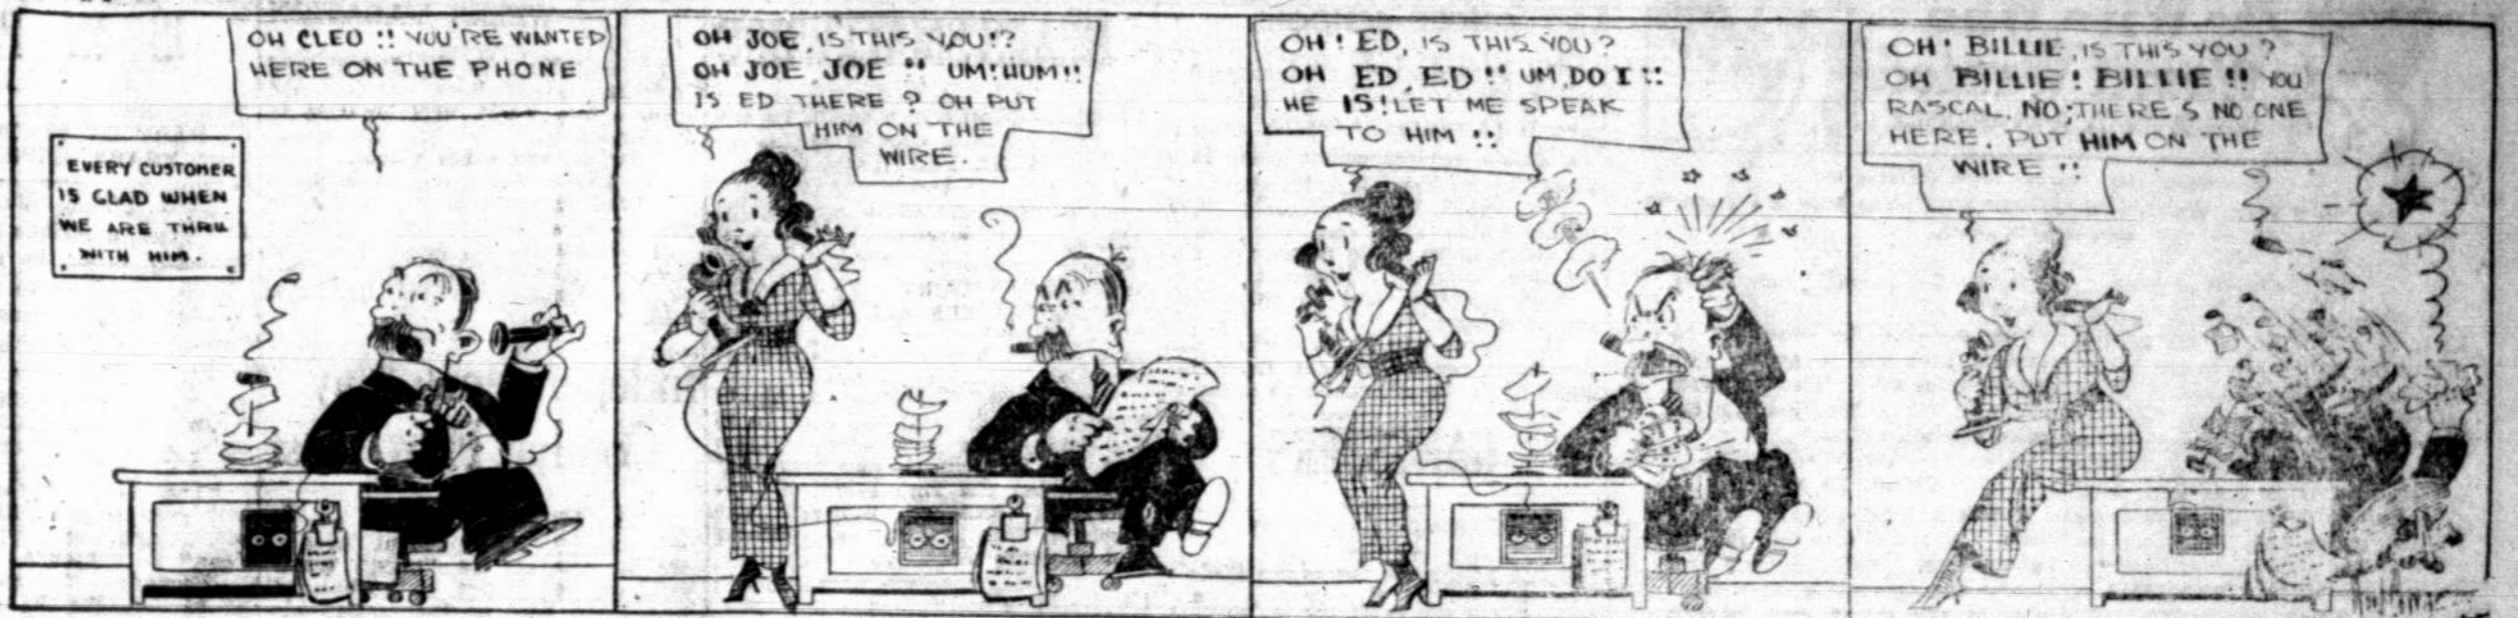

By United News.
 CHICAGO, June 4.—State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe outwitted the forces which are attempting to link his name with Chicago's "gun rule" primary Friday by making the first move to investigate the charges of election fraud.
 Crowe went before Justice Thomas Lynch of the criminal court, and obtained writs for a special grand jury which will sift the allegations of County Judge Daniel P. Trade that gunmen hired by the state's attorney and Scarface Al Capone, notorious gangster, established terrorism at the polls.
 Judge Lynch gave the special grand jury wide powers to look into the alleged alliance between gangsters and politicians and named former State Representative Joseph P. Mahoney as a special assistant to conduct the probe.
 The jurisdiction of the inquiry will be broad enough to continue the investigation of the machine gun murder of Assistant State's Attorney William H. McSwiggan from the point where the special crime quiz has left it involved.
 Crowe's action goes a step beyond that of Judge Trade, his accuser, as Trade merely demanded a recount of the ballots. Trade was defeated for re-nomination on the republican ticket by Joseph Savage, one of Crowe's assistants, and claims that armed gangsters were employed by Crowe to see that Savage won.

Germans Insure Trade With Soviet Russian Business

BY ERIC KEYSER
 United News Staff Correspondent.
 BERLIN, June 4.—The German Ministry of Economics has just issued regulations for the government's guaranty scheme, for indemnification of losses which German industry may suffer in trading with Soviet Russia.
 According to these regulations the Reich government and federal states jointly will indemnify such losses of German exporters up to 60 per cent of the net selling price. Thirty five per cent of the risk is to be borne by the Reich and 25 per cent is to be insured by the federal state in whose realm the firm involved is situated.
 Indemnification is to be made only for losses resulting from transactions which have been or will be concluded between German producers and the Soviet Trade Delegation in Germany, or any Department of the Soviet government in Russia. The German producer has no legal claim to indemnification. Whether or not it is to be granted rests with the decision of a special committee, to be formed by members of the various German government departments.
 The total sum thus guaranteed by the state amounts to 180,000,000 gold marks, so that business transactions under this scheme must not exceed the sum of 300,000,000 gold marks. Half this sum is to be devoted to contracts for the construction by German firms of mines, oil wells, machinery, paper, and sugar factories in Soviet Russia. German materials are to be used. Credits which fall due after December 31, 1930, may be granted to the Russian recipient for this group. The other half of the 300,000,000 gold marks is to be devoted to the delivery of accessories and to repair-work by German firms in Russia. For this group, credits, which fall due not later than December 31, 1928, may be extended to the recipient.

The Wife Who Wasn't Wanted
DOROTHY A. F. MARCELL

Copyright, 1925, Warner Bros. Pictures Inc.
"THE WIFE WHO WASN'T WANTED" with Irene Rich is a picture of this week.

SYNOPSIS
Bob Manning, the country club party in celebration of his twenty-first birthday having ended, is accompanied by Diane Bledsoe and another couple to Calkin's Inn for more dancing. He is doing this in spite of the tears of Margaret Patterson, who is in love with him. The Saturday is too sleepy to drive the car safely and Bob takes his place at the wheel, with Diane at his side, constantly imploring him to "drive faster, step on it."

"Don't," objected Bob sharply as he gripped the wheel anew to meet their fresh crash.
As if beset by a demon of recklessness Diane laughed wildly and pressed again and again upon the accelerator until the car was leaping through the night at a terrific pace.
"Diane, stop it," protested Bob sharply, and when she still persisted, "If you want to drive—drive."

There followed a moment of confusion and started cries from the half asleep passengers on the back seat as the car swerved suddenly, as if uncontrolled.
Then, like a mad thing unleashed, it rushed onward faster ever faster—rushed onward amidst the excited cries of its occupants, careless of a motorcycle policeman banging doggedly on its trail, heedless of a crossroads before it and of a distant honk which came down the breeze.
In the flash of a second brakes screamed, a roadster seemed to leap out of the darkness into the ware of their lights. There was a glimpse of a woman white faced and horrified, staring at them. Shriek, frightened screams pierced the night. Then, crash.

In that second ruin was wrought. The boasted mechanical achievements of man became a tangled mass of wreckage. Aye and there was human wreckage, too. Perhaps, for from that shattered pile came groans and faint cries, while blood—human blood—ran forth to form a red pool upon the black surface of the roadway.
Straight towards this horror came the Manning car, bearing Eileen and Marjorie. Disturbed though she was by Bob's unceremonious desertion of Marjorie for Diane Bledsoe and the doubtful joys of Calkin's Inn, Eileen had found some crumbs of comfort. It might be no more than a sweetheart's quarrel, a passing outbreak, to be healed by the sweet balm of forgiveness. The trip to Calkin's Inn a flash of waywardness for which Bob would promptly repent, Eileen thought she knew her Bob and, knowing him, was reassured.
To such a conclusion had her thoughts led, when suddenly the car slowed, then stopped.
"There is trouble ahead, ma'am. The road is blocked, and I can't get through," reported James, the chauffeur.
"Walk ahead and find out what it is, please, James. And hurry," she added with a premonition of trouble.
He moved off, but was back in a few moments, his countenance very grave.
"There has been a bad wreck, ma'am. Mr. Saturn's car was in the crash. I recognized it as soon as I saw it."
Marjorie gave a cry of alarm; but, shaken by dread as she was, Eileen managed to speak.

"Oh, yes, sir, I was in the car, but I wasn't driving."
The words seemed to arouse Bob. Shaking off the lethargy which held him, he glanced up with a startled air.
"See here," he protested wildly. "Not him—don't send for him! No, no!"
The sergeant's eyes dropped to the page before him. Then he raised them to shoot a curious glance at Bob, but only to quickly center his attention upon Theo Saturn.
"The big car is registered in your name. It is your car. Were you driving at the time of the accident?"
There was something almost frantic in the eagerness with which Theo responded.
"No, no, sir, I wasn't near the wheel. I had given it up. I was very tired, sir. I gave up the wheel a long time before the accident, away back along the road. It must have been five, ten, fifteen miles back—maybe more—"

"Hold on—you were in the car, weren't you? If you keep on, you never started."
"Oh, yes, sir, I was in the car, but I wasn't driving. I'm an awful careful driver myself. You can look up my record—I never had an accident in my life—that is, a real accident. I'm very careful about all the traffic rules and everything." Now there was a note of triumph in Theo's tones. "You see, being tired, I wouldn't even drive, that's why I gave up the—"

"So you said," interrupted the sergeant dryly. "Too bad you got so tired—things might have been different. You are quite sure you hadn't been drinking any bad bootch, are you—to make you so tired?"
Theo looked shocked, also even more flustered than before.
"Drinking? Oh, no, sir. I never, that is, er—I hardly ever—"

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE TO BE HELD AT NEW HOPE SCHOOL
The third quarterly conference for the Lubbock circuit will be held at New Hope Sunday afternoon, according to an announcement made late yesterday by Rev. C. A. Norcross.
Rev. D. B. Doak, presiding elder of the Lubbock district, will preach Saturday night while Sunday morning Rev. Norcross will preach.
Basket dinner will be served at the noon hour.
The pastor will go to Carlisle for preaching service Sunday night instead of in the afternoon as usual.

GANGSTERS
Chicago police and the office State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, were commended for their efforts toward ending the gang wars but the report said that they could not be expected to succeed while the community persists in demanding liquor.
In recommending the removal of Jenkins and Colvin the grand jury, which was directed in its inquiry by Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom, reported the findings of the Will county grand jury which recently demanded complete reorganization of the state penitentiary system.
"The impression has been created in the penal institutions and among the people at large that money, and money alone, will secure the release of convicts from imprisonment," the report said.
Referring to its failure to solve the McSwiggan case, the report said that "silence and sealed lips of gangsters make the solution of that crime, like many others, thus far impossible."

"Motorizing of the police department must be continued," said the report. "Crime today travels in high powered automobiles and the police must at least be placed on an equal footing if crime is to be stopped."
Showing how gangsters cover up their tracks, the jurors said they found that after a murder has been committed a conspiracy of silence immediately operates and that any one who does give information to the officials is likely to be "taken for a ride."
The speed with which murderers escape is one of the reasons why the crimes are unsolved, the jurors said. Self-appointed and self-styled reformers such as the better government association which went to Washington with a complaint regarding officials here were denounced as a "public detriment."
"They neither know nor respect the truth," the report declares.
McSwiggan, who was slain presumably because of the large number of hanging sentences he had obtained, did not meet death while on a shady errand in Cleero, according to the jurors, who found "no evidence whatsoever indicating culpable conduct on his part, either in being at the place where he was killed or in company with which he was found."
McSwiggan was killed with two underworld companions, James J. Doherty and Thomas Duffy.
The jury found crime conditions had improved in the last five years; that convictions had increased and the city and the state's attorney's office were in complete co-operation.
The report was returned to Judge William V. Brothers in criminal court.

Local Farmers To Give Ideas On Better Work
HEREFORD, June 4—Various club members over Deaf Smith county will be selected from time to time to give helpful suggestions on better ways of living, such as keeping home gardens, better sanitation on the farm, etc. Recently Mrs. John P. Slaton gave an educational talk on good health, to the members of the White Face Club in Hereford. The program is meeting with success in every community.

Utilities Company Shows New Fans
The Texas Utilities company, retail department, in this season showing something new in electric fans, and the display has attracted a great deal of attention.
One of the most noticeable of the large stock of new fans is the 16 inch Rotaire ceiling fan, which represents an entirely new development by the Westinghouse engineers.
In effect the new fan is an adaptation of the standard 16 inch oscillating fan to ceiling mounting. By eliminating the base and providing it with a ceiling mounting the fan is capable of developing 1600 cubic feet of breeze each minute, sending it in all directions.
Plans for an intensive sales campaign have been worked out at the local office of the Texas Utilities company.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES FOR LARGE CLASS HELD THERE YESTERDAY
P. F. Brown, county superintendent of public instruction, and Prof. George Smallwood of the Texas Technological College, went to Estacado yesterday where Prof. Smallwood delivered the principal message at the school commencement exercises.
Supt. Brown stated he was highly pleased with the work carried on in the Estacado school during the term that has just closed, and especially commended the fine spirit of co-operation existing between the teachers, school trustees, patrons and students there.

Small Grain Is In Fine Shape At Hereford
HEREFORD, June 4—Recent rains have left small grain prospects in a very promising condition in this section. Wheat harvesting around Hereford will begin about June 20, and indications are that the yield will be heavier in years.
Over two inches of rain have fallen here during the last two weeks and a good season is in the ground for all kinds of field crops. Oats are good, and all the row crops that have been planted are doing fine.

CALIFORNIA QUAKE IS IN PROSPECT
TREMORS WILL GRIP SOUTH PART OF STATE IN FIVE YEARS, EXPERT SAYS
NEW YORK, June 4.—Within five years a serious earthquake will probably occur in southern California, according to a prediction by Bailey Willis, president of the Seismological society of America which appears in the Eastern Underwriter, an insurance publication.
On the other hand, the Atlantic coast is in little danger of a similar shock for many years, Willis said.
"The Santa Barbara earthquake last year is generally regarded by seismologists as a premonitory incident," he contends.
Discussing the mechanical action of earthquakes, he coins a phrase, "earthquake habit" meaning the succession of shocks which is characteristic of a given district.
"The California earthquake of 1906 was a relieving shock," the Willis article goes on. "It relieved the strain that had been accumulating for many years. It has been followed by the period of inactivity which has lasted twenty years and may continue for some years yet, as the relief of the strain was more complete than usual.

"Eventually there will follow a certain number of premonitory shocks, the heralds of another major earthquake. This forecast is the best we can make with our present knowledge of the actual phase, but it is limited to the area within which the 1906 earthquake was effective in relieving the strain, that area does not extend south to the latitude of Monterey.
"For southern California, the last great relieving shock was in 1857 and the local disturbances of the last eight years of which the Santa Barbara quake was the latest."
"The Atlantic coast presents an entirely different earthquake habit," he says. "The interval between shocks seems to be a century or more, the premonitory shocks, when they occur are too weak to be strikingly evident and the relieving earthquake is not of excessive intensity at the surface."

MILLERAND BACK IN FRENCH POLITICS

ATTACKS GERMANY AND RUSIA AND WANS AGAINST ILLUSIONS OF LOCARNO

By United Press.

PARIS, June 4.—Alexandria Millerand, former premier and minister of foreign affairs, and president of France from 1920 until 1924, has returned to the forefront of French politics to attack Germany and soviet Russia and to sound a solemn warning against "illusions of Locarno."

Following Premier Briand's challenge to the senate that it must ratify the Locarno treaties before adjournment or accept his resignation, Millerand, in one of the most important speeches the senate has heard in months, pointed out that Germany is joining the league of nations "only to better her position and to gain modification of certain treaties."

Millerand prefaced his remarks by agreeing that the Locarno treaties must be ratified.

"Locarno created certain advantages," said the former president. "It tends to fill the gap created by the United States when that country repudiated the action of President Wilson in Paris. But when France sought accord with England it was with the preliminary understanding that there would be a reciprocal guarantee between the two countries. The treaties of Locarno only give reciprocal guarantees between France, Germany and Belgium. England gets none, nor does Italy. If England and Italy are prevented from moving with the allies then the experiences of 1914 are lost."

Millerand then turned to the Versailles treaty. "I asked Briand if the military clauses of the Versailles treaty are still maintained, despite the Locarno agreements. He replied they were."

To refute Briand, the French statesman cited facts which he declared made it impossible to know whether Germany is fulfilling these clauses.

"The signing of the Locarno treaties puts Germany back in her proper position," Millerand continued. "The past can be pardoned but must not be forgotten. We must not be blind and deaf to statements being made in Germany, even by President Von Hindenburg, showing that Germany is not renouncing any of her former territories."

"I want the Briand government to give this senate assurance that Germany is not mixing in the present separatist movement in Alsace. If France has lived under an armed peace for fifty years, it was the fault of Bismarck, Poland, Czechoslovakia and other allies of France. The effects of Locarno as far as Germany's eastern frontiers are concerned, France wants Versailles to remain a fact."

Russian Waifs Go To Roads During Spring

By United Press.

MOSCOW.—With the coming of spring the Russian waifs whose numbers are estimated at from two to three hundred thousand, are on the move.

There are two main migratory currents among the waifs. Some of them who sought a warmer climate during the winter are now returning to Moscow. The Soviet capital, with its many stores and markets, offers rich pickings to the waifs, who are mostly expert pickpockets. One now sees increasing numbers of the ragged, soot-faced little grimes, wandering through the streets gambling with copper coins or perhaps intently stalking a row of street peddlers in the hope that one will turn his back and give them a chance to rush in and take to their heels with their booty.

Leading a vagabond life, dependent on what they can beg and steal, the waifs have developed an extraordinary number of ingenious tricks. Sometimes they lie in wait for the sleepy peasants who jog into the city in the early hours of the morning with bags of farm produce. It is a comparatively simple matter for an alert waif to slip onto the back of the cart, cut a slit in the bag and pick up the vegetables as they roll out. Another trick is for a gang of waifs (they usually go about singly but in groups) to attack a passerby, snatch his purse and then all run in different directions, to put the pursuers off the trail.

While the waifs in Moscow now seem to be more in evidence than was the case during the winter months, some of them are also going to the warm regions of Turkestan, the Lower Volga, the Crimea and the North Caucasus, where they can stuff themselves with grapes and melons and incipiently turn a dishonest penny or two by pilfering baggage from incautious travelers to the Russian summer resorts, which are mostly located in the Crimea, the North Caucasus and along the coasts of the Black Sea.

Long experience has made the waifs experts in beating rides on railroad trains. They hop moving freight cars and stow themselves away in every conceivable nook and cranny. A railroad accident, even a minor one, is likely to claim as a victim some waif who was riding surreptitiously in an exposed part of the train.

During the last winter the problem of the waifs has been very much to the fore in public attention in Russia. Newspapers and public organizations have started subscription lists and concerts and recitals for the benefit of the waifs have become a regular feature of Moscow life.

Among the difficulties to be overcome in this connection, keeping the waifs in the children's homes where they are placed and overcoming their almost instinctive habit of stealing

ROACH TO HOLD CITY PROPERTY

Mr. Roach is thoroughly pleased with prospects on the plains and believes Lubbock is just entering into the most prosperous era of development ever witnessed here.

CITY FATHERS PREFER MOVIES TO PETTING

By United Press.

DELTA, Ohio, June 4.—Sunday movies are better than petting parties for the young folks, was the official view of Mayor V. W. Taylor and the village council here, when they voted on a resolution branding the war on Sunday movies as "harmful."

The resolution, in response to a move through the courts to make this town as "blue as indigo here on Sunday," by forcing the only motion picture house to close on the sabbath, was passed when the village fathers became convinced that young people "can't be driven to church."

"It only tends to embitter them and keep them away from all church services," officials say. "We would

TERRIBLE PAIN

Alabama Lady Tells How She Obtained Relief by Taking Cardui. Feels Fine and Enjoys Life Now, She Says.

Talladega, Ala.—Mrs. Mary Hardy, 406 Henderson Avenue, this city, says that seven years ago she "got down sick" and was unable to attend to her household.

"I have never been so weak before or since," she says. "I had a terrible pain in my side—so sore in my side and the lower part of my body.

"Across my back ached, and I was so nervous I couldn't stand up. I had just about given up when some one who came to see me began talking about Cardui. This caused me to get it. I took about two bottles before I saw much improvement.

"After this, though, I picked up right away. I slept better at night. I was hungry, enjoyed my food, which I hadn't done for some time.

"The pain and soreness gradually left my side. I regained my strength. I took about six bottles and left off for awhile, then took two or three more. . . I feel just fine, enjoy life and can work now, too."

Cardui is purely vegetable, and contains no harmful drugs. It has helped thousands of suffering women and should help you, too. NC-168

John E. Roach, owner of extensive real estate interests in Lubbock, has just returned from a trip over the northeastern states where he learned that so much interest is being shown in West Texas that, coupled with the splendid prospects here, convinced him that a phenomenal increase in real estate value will be made here and he has withdrawn all his land from the market to hold it until a more opportune time.

Mr. Roach is thoroughly pleased with prospects on the plains and believes Lubbock is just entering into the most prosperous era of development ever witnessed here.

CITY FATHERS PREFER MOVIES TO PETTING

By United Press.

DELTA, Ohio, June 4.—Sunday movies are better than petting parties for the young folks, was the official view of Mayor V. W. Taylor and the village council here, when they voted on a resolution branding the war on Sunday movies as "harmful."

The resolution, in response to a move through the courts to make this town as "blue as indigo here on Sunday," by forcing the only motion picture house to close on the sabbath, was passed when the village fathers became convinced that young people "can't be driven to church."

"It only tends to embitter them and keep them away from all church services," officials say. "We would

TEACHERS EXAMS BEING HELD HERE

CLASS OF THREE START WORK EARLY FRIDAY THAT WILL BE COMPLETED TODAY

Frank E. Jackson, of Plainville, Miss Evelyn Porter, of Grovesville and Deward Freedland, of Lubbock reported at the office of P. F. Brown, county superintendent of public instruction here yesterday for the examination for teachers, in which they were busy throughout yesterday and will probably not complete their work until late this afternoon.

Others are expected to take the examination, Prof. Brown said.

Alabama Lady Tells How She Obtained Relief by Taking Cardui. Feels Fine and Enjoys Life Now, She Says.

Talladega, Ala.—Mrs. Mary Hardy, 406 Henderson Avenue, this city, says that seven years ago she "got down sick" and was unable to attend to her household.

"I have never been so weak before or since," she says. "I had a terrible pain in my side—so sore in my side and the lower part of my body.

"Across my back ached, and I was so nervous I couldn't stand up. I had just about given up when some one who came to see me began talking about Cardui. This caused me to get it. I took about two bottles before I saw much improvement.

"After this, though, I picked up right away. I slept better at night. I was hungry, enjoyed my food, which I hadn't done for some time.

"The pain and soreness gradually left my side. I regained my strength. I took about six bottles and left off for awhile, then took two or three more. . . I feel just fine, enjoy life and can work now, too."

"IN THE PUBLIC SERVICE" M SYSTEM

OPEN EVERY NIGHT UNTIL 12 p. m.

By United Press.

STOCKHOLM—A special theatre for school children, where only the best plays will be presented by a stock company, is being organized in Stockholm as an offset to the influence of the more commercial forms of entertainment.

At the outset only matinees will be given at the Oscar theatre in Stockholm. Under the leadership of their teachers the pupils of the Stockholm schools, public as well as private will form an organization, the membership fee in which will entitle each member to attend at a very low cost a certain number of performances. Classical plays, high class comedies, and recitals by capable artists will make up the program. The idea is to train discriminating audiences, rather than amateur performers.

"SPIRIT" FUMIGATION CAUSES SUFFOCATION

By United Press.

TOKYO—Superstition, which still prevails in the rural districts of Japan, caused Sakujiro Hamade, a fisherman of Toyama Prefecture, to be fumigated to death by his wife.

Hamade was suffering from mental affliction and his wife, thinking him possessed of the devilish "Fis Spirit" bound him while he slept and subjected him to a thorough fumigation with sulphur fumes. The man was suffocated.

More than four times as much industrial machinery is exported from this country than before the war.

OLD CHINESE FAMILY SYSTEM DISRUPTED BY "NEW LOVE" AND DECLINE OF CONCUBINAGE

By RANDALL GOULD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
PEKING, June 5.—"Free love" has come to China.

But the term "free love" like every other term imported into the perplexing Orient, when defined, turns out to mean something else than in the West.

"Free love in China, while no less shocking to the conservative Chinese mind than to the conservative Occidental mind, actually means freedom to see one's future mate before marriage, and to exercise a voice in the selection. In China this is revolutionary.

For centuries it has been the practice in China for the parents to pick mates for their offspring. Often the vows were plighted through the proxy of parents, as soon as the children were born. For prominent families to join thus as a matter of policy, or for old friends to consolidate their friendship by engaging their boy and girl babies, was not only a matter of course but the very highest social practice.

New China, the China of the Republic and other Occidental ideas, sees the matter differently. New China wants to jazz at the foreign hotels, to spin about in motorcars, to "pet." Free love in the Occidental sense has not come in, but free love in this new sense of picking one's own wife or husband has come in most decidedly.

Often most distressing situations are caused by the transition.

Bright young Chinese boys show talent as scholars and are sent away to Europe or America for higher education. Presently they return, always with new ideas and often with a wife—either another foreign educated Chinese student, or even an Occidental.

Then the youth discovers, probably for the first time, that his parents had provided a wife for him many years before. There is a grand crash. Talk, more talk, heated words possibly vituperation.

One must not overlook the fact that there is another factor which, to the unformed Occidental observer, seems to favor far more of "free love" than what has just been outlined—the concubinage system.

Concubines seems to most foreigners in China as a highly spicy and immoral part of Chinese life. From a Chinese point of view concubines are nothing of the sort. They have their place in the world and there is nothing exciting about it at all.

Any Chinese is entitled by Chinese law to have one wife and any number of concubines. The status of the latter is very clear. Their legal status, in fact, is almost on a par with that of the first wife. Concubines may not be discarded at will, but only for the reasons for which a wife may be divorced; they are entitled to financial support; the estate of the father is shared among children by concubines as well as by the "No. 1 Wife"; and if the wife is childless, a concubine who is a mother may precede the wife in settlement of the estate.

Concubines are a result of the tremendous urge, born of ancestor worship, for every male Chinese to have male progeny. A one-wife system would be an inadequate guarantee of sins—and without sons who will keep up the ancestral graves and worship at them? To a Chinese the argument is unanswerable.

And since concubines are a part of the regular Chinese life, they are not considered in any way immoral but quite the contrary. The man who, from poverty is unable to have more than one wife is considered unfortunate and even somewhat lacking in sense of duty to his ancestors. Therefore it will be seen that the new "free love" in China is actually a tendency toward the most conservative Occidental practice. A man free to choose his own wife, a wife, whom he loves, is not apt to desire concubines even for the perpetuation of the family line.

The new Chinese and his intelligent modern wife whom he has wooed and won think of concubinage as associated with all that is old and undesirable in Chinese life; to them "free love" is a freedom indeed, a freedom from parental dictation and from the endless bickerings and financial difficulties of the old-style No. 1 Wife-and-concubine ménage.

"BOOTLEGGING HORSES" RUN LIQUOR OVER BORDER

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico, June 4.—American prohibition enforcement officers are confronted with a novel problem and a new foe in the latest bootlegging development on the border, which involves the use of trained horses and mules as the medium of transportation of contraband liquors across the line.

Inspectors near here recently saw a horse heavily laden with what appeared to be cases of whiskey carefully picking his way across the river some distance below the city.

They rushed out to capture him, but he succeeded in gaining the bank on the American side and carrying his cargo off into the sagebrush.

FARM RELIEF IS IOWA BALLOT CRY

CORN REVOLT WILL GO TO
POLLS IN BROOKHART
CUMMINS FIGHT

By United Press.

DES MOINES, Ia. June 4.—Here in Iowa, where prosperity fluctuates with the price of corn the voters are going to the polls Monday to select statesmen whose efforts they hope will bring relief to agriculture.

The so-called corn revolt against the farm policies of President Coolidge, which began here last autumn, will then be estimated in terms of ballots and the action will know in the Iowa farmer feels about the treatment his industry has received at the hands of the Washington administration.

Colonel Smith W. Brookhart, who was ejected from the senate in favor of Daniel Steck, a democrat, after a recount of votes in the last general elections, predicts there will be a tremendous anti-Coolidge upheaval in Iowa and that he will be nominated by the republicans again to make the senatorial race.

Brookhart's opponent in the primary selection, Senator Albert B. Cummins, believes the Iowa republicans are satisfied with the representation he has given them in the senate and is confident of re-nomination. But Cummins is classed as a Coolidge republican, so the contest between these two simmers down to another test of strength for the Coolidge administration.

Brookhart has made capital of his loss to Steck and is seeking the nomination on an anti-administration platform calling for immediate farm relief.

The re-nomination of Senator Cummins would indicate, therefore, a certain measure of confidence in the president and satisfaction among the farmers with the treatment they have received.

Taking advantage of this situation, Howard J. Clark, the only other candidate for the republican senatorial nomination strong enough to count in the forecasts, insists that he is the only one who could win in the fall elections. The nomination of either Brookhart or Cummins, according to Clark's forces, would cause a huge shift of votes to the democratic column in November.

Many country pickling stations
— just to keep them crisp

HERE is one secret of the tender crispness you want: The pickling is started on the very day the cucumbers are gathered, before any of their freshness is lost. That is why Libby's maintains many country pickling stations. And that is one reason Libby's pickles always have that special, tempting crispness which has made them famous.

STOCKS WHEAT COTTON

New York Finance

By United News.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Stocks rallied toward the close Friday and finished again substantially up for the day. The strong tone of the market in the final hours was due almost entirely to the signal strength of several of the leading rail issues. Early in the day U. S. Steel and General Motors led the industrials higher in continuation of the advance inaugurated previously. Reports from Washington, however, that an investigation would be made into the question of recent advances in oil and gasoline prices, took some of the strength out of the oils and selling served to check the advance in the balance of the industrials. Before this became a real menace to the market, however, the upswing in the rails got underway and the market resumed its balance again. Call money returned to the 4 per cent rate, bearing out the predictions that the settling price would be around 3 3/4 to 4 per cent after the first of the month settlements had been made. So far as can be observed from surface indications, the stock market's tone has not suffered from the recent strong advance in both rails and industrials. The measure of Friday's trading could easily be construed to indicate continued confidence on the part of advocates of higher prices. Furthermore, the fact that the professional element allowed the unsteadyness in the oils to pass without making any sort of an attempt to capitalize it, proved further that bears are again in the minority. The street is counting on the program of the new Nickel Plate to carry the rails for a time although buying incentive is not lacking in current earnings and car loading reports. However, if the re-vamped Nickel Plate plan shows signs of meeting with more success than did its predecessor, the outlook for the general merging of the country's rail systems will be much brighter and the street can gear its machinery in readiness for a broader market in railroad securities.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 4.—Cattle supplies were about normal for Friday and the great bulk of the arrivals were Texas grassers. The market on that class was about steady with most Texas steers selling around $5.50 to $6.00. There was not enough fed stuff on the native side to quote a market. There was no quotable market on stockers and feeders. Hog receipts at the five western markets were materially lighter than a week ago or a year ago. Trade everywhere was active with the prices sharply higher. The market here was generally 15 to 25c higher, but sales were at the highest level for several years. Stock pigs were strong to 25c higher. Best pigs ran around $15 to $15.75; top fat hogs brought $14.50. The bulk of hogs sold from $14 to $14.40. Heavies sold around $13.85 to $14.20; mediums $14.10 to $14.40; light $14.25 to $14.50. Hogs receipts 5,000; active, 10 @

ARMISTICE PULLMAN

Compagnie.—Plans sponsored by this village to perpetuate the famous private pullman car, in which Marshall Foch and the German plenipotentiaries signed the armistice in the Forests of Compiegne and house it as a memorial, have fallen through because the village was not able to raise the $10,000 francs and the government could not assume the expense.

BUSSES FAIL IN HOOSIER LAND

MOTOR TRANSPORTATION IN INDIANA IS NOT SUCCESSFUL

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 4.—Motor bus lines, in many states the bugaboo of steam and electric carriers, have failed in Indiana. The most ambitious attempt ever made to operate an intricate system of motor transportation has met with complete failure after a trial of only six months. Ward B. Hiner, who made a clean-up in the Red Ball motor truck freight lines during the war, dreamed a dream of becoming a transportation magnate. He established a few bus lines through fairly populated centers which seemed to do very well.

Enthusiastic over the prospects, he organized the Union Bus Station company, leased a down town vacant lot of 99 years and erected thereon the largest bus station in the world at a cost of $150,000. It was opened with a parade, speeches by the governor and mayor, extensive decorations and a great ballyhoo as the large, luxurious passenger cars made their maiden trips to 157 towns and villages on the various radiating lines.

Six months later the system was put into the hands of a receiver, whose first statement was that the lines never had paid. A higher rate of fare was granted, but to no avail. The company then was liquidated.

Hiner, who incidentally was defeated as a candidate in the recent republican senatorial primaries, had believed that he could operate far under the rates charged by steam and electric lines. In this he was right, but he neglected the fact that the carriers could enter his own field and best him at the same game.

And that was what they did. In conjunction with their rail services traction companies established bus lines to complement their coverage of the territory.

"It is becoming apparent," declared Fred Jones, receiver for the Red Ball lines, "that operation of motor busses must be co-ordinated with steam and electric transportation systems. The busses find it impossible to stand alone."

Whistlers 'Mother' Finally Gets Its Epsom Classic

BY RALPH HEINZEN United News Staff Correspondent

PARIS, June 4.—After years of wanderings, hanging in strange corners and even having been in storage in the dusty garrets of museums, Whistler's famous portrait of his mother which is perhaps America's best known contribution to the world's art, has finally reached a place of honor in the Louvre. For thirty three years, since its purchase at the insistence of M. Georges Clemenceau, the artists masterpiece in oils portraying the charming profile of his mother and termed by him "An Arrangement in Gray and Black," wandered. Today it hangs in the Salle des Etats with the great French masters of the 17th century.

It was back in 1893 that the French Government purchased the picture for 4,000 francs and Whistler was persuaded to give it up only by a promise that it would find its way to the great Louvre collection when the customary delay of one decade after his death had elapsed. The picture was highly prized by Whistler and he would have preferred to keep it in his studio than dispose of it to a private buyer.

But difficulty after difficulty arose, arousing sarcastic outbursts from Americans and a stubborn defense of their policy by the French curators of the museum. Whistler died more than two decades ago, but after the first decade passed there was no move to take the picture from the Luxembourg to the Louvre. At that time there was no American picture in the greatest halls of art fame, the Louvre.

Real bitterness crept in when some of the 4,000 francs and Whistler was taken out of the Luxembourg and hung in a still smaller, shabby museum beside the work of living American artists. While the picture occupied a place of honor in this hanging, Whistler's friends recalled that he had never admired his American contemporaries.

But the Louvre is blanketed with tradition and the directors follow the suggestions of a certain group of great connoisseurs in finding positions for the pictures. These connoisseurs favored keeping Whistler's masterpiece in an outside museum until it could be surrounded by a collection of the work of the new American school.

American visitors to the Louvre continued to ask for the Whistler painting and finally, just to satisfy this great proportion of the museum's visitors, the directors brought the picture to the Louvre. Instead of hanging it, however, they stored it away in the attic, along with some of the surplus works of Rosa Bonheur.

Continued American insistence finally won out over French tradition. The picture was brought downstairs, dusted off and hung in a prominent place, although there is still criticism heard that it is out of sympathy with the seventeenth century work surrounding it.

Says Backed Lillian Gish With Millon

New York, June 4.—Lillian Gish was to have been made America's premier cinema actress and to achieve this end W. Averell Harriman, wealthy member of New York's social aristocracy, put a million dollars into Inspiration Pictures, Inc., with whom she was under contract. It was testified Thursday at the perjury trial of Charles H. Duell.

The action is the result of alleged mis-statements made by Duell last year when he brought suit against the star because of contractual matters. Miss Gish is expected to take the stand immediately after her arrival from England.

WELLINGTON WILL ASK FOR 1927 RURAL CARRIER MEETING

WELLINGTON, June 2.—Wellington will be a candidate for the 1927 convention of the Texas Rural Letter Carriers Association. The convention has not been held in a West Texas city for several years and Wellington's excellent highway, ideal tourist parks and facilities, it is believed that her chances for securing the next convention will excel. An extensive campaign is made for the security of the convention by the Wellington Chamber of Commerce, and it has been pledged the support of practically every city in the Panhandle and to further her candidacy a delegation will be sent to the convention at Nacogdoches, July 19-21.

JAPANESE NAVAL BILL TOTALS $150,000,000

TOKYO, June 4.—A measure calling for naval expenditures of upwards of $150,000,000 gold will be introduced in the Diet early next year as part of the government's budget estimates, according to reports in the vernacular press. The expenditure would be spread over four years, starting with 1927.

Agriculturalists Will Speak at Hereford, Texas

HEREFORD, June 4.—Experts from the A. and M. College of Texas will be secured to give lectures on the various phases of farming, at the Agricultural Short Course which will be held here the last week in August. The work will be especially for the club boys and girls of this section, but men and women of the community will also be encouraged to attend. The Short Course will not be limited to Deaf Smith county, according to County Agent R. O. Dunkle, but an effort will be made to secure the co-operation of neighboring counties. A camp site, somewhere on the beautiful Tierra Blanca stream will be selected, for the three day course.

RECOVERY OF COMMISSION UPHELD IN COURT OF CIVIL APPEALS

Peerce and Triplett, local attorneys, have just received notice that the case of C. T. Miller vs. J. W. Eldridge had been affirmed in the court of civil appeals at Amarillo.

The law firm represented Eldridge who recovered $1,200 in commissions in the suit.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

RECONCILIATION

Golden Text—Be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving each other, even as God also in Christ forgave you.—Eph. 4:32.

(Lesson Text—Genesis 33:1-11)

Our first lesson about Jacob told of a deceitful fraud upon his old father, Isaac, and a wrong accomplished against his twin brother, Esau, robbing him of the birthright and paternal blessing. Our present lesson tells of the reconciliation of the brothers twenty years later and presents forcibly the mutual pleasure and benefit which resulted from forgetting the past and living for the future.

Fourteen years Jacob served his father-in-law and uncle, Laban, without pay as a dowry for his two daughters, Leah and Rachel, especially the latter who was the object of Jacob's undying affection primarily. At the end of that period Jacob suggested the advisability of leaving Laban's service, but was persuaded to stay on wages thereafter, although the crafty Laban thought the terms of payment would work only in his favor.

Jacob's keen ability, however, saw that his interests were protected and Jacob grew wealthy year by year until Laban adopted a new attitude. While Jacob was laboring to make Laban rich it was well and good, but now that Jacob was profiting Laban's friendliness declined. Jacob saw this and, after talking the matter over with his two wives decided to depart secretly, fearing that Laban might take his property and wives from him by force otherwise.

It is well to note the character of the relationship between Jacob and Laban. The latter was crafty and selfish, having fooled Jacob in the matter of marriage, having changed his wages ten times in an effort, presumably, to get the better of him, and always proving a hard taskmaster and an exact employer. Jacob reminded him how he had been required to answer for cattle torn by beasts as stolen by night or day, "of my hands hast thou required it."

Jacob's service had been efficient; he had come to Laban small in resources and built up for him great possessions; he had been unsparing in his efforts for Laban, "in the day the drought consumed me and the frost by night, and my sleep departed from mine eyes," that proper care be taken of Laban's flocks.

Stealthily Jacob started on his return journey to his own native land. Laban pursued him; but after overtaking him they parted forever in friendship. Mizpah was built and it has come through the ages as a symbol for the separation of loved ones, "thou shalt watch between me and thee when we are absent one from another."

So, Jacob continued his return journey, but no sooner had he eased his mind on the subject of Laban's anger and vengeance than new species presented themselves to disturb the peacefulness of his soul. Jacob was going home, what of his brother Esau, whom he had wronged, and from whom no token had come during these score of years? What fate awaited the home-coming Jacob?

The fear of Esau's wrath possessed Jacob, as well as it might, for had not Esau openly proclaimed a purpose to kill him? Jacob did his best to avert such an evil and proceeded diplomatically in his efforts to allay Esau's anger. Messengers were dispatched to "my lord" Esau by "thy servant" Jacob, but the only information they could bring back was that Esau was approaching with 400 armed men.

No wonder Jacob was greatly afraid and distressed in mind, and in his need he went to God in prayer, the proper thing for mortal man to do. Confessing his unworthiness, admitting his fears, Jacob pleaded with God for deliverance. At the same time he continued his efforts to propitiate Esau. Goats, sheep, camels, kine, and other animals were sent forward in groups under different servants as gifts, and peace offerings to Esau in an effort to make right the wrong of years ago.

No man can avoid responsibility for wrong-doing, however, and the inevitable day of judgment comes. Jacob journeying homeward and Esau coming to meet him hastened the hour when in the distance Jacob saw the signs of Esau's approach. Perturbed in mind he resolutely faces the future, places his beloved Rachel and her son, Joseph, in the rear of all his company, and, trusting in his God, Jacob bravely moves to the advance of his caravan to meet the oncoming brother.

What surprise and sweetness awaited him! "And Esau ran to meet him, and embraced him, and fell on his neck and kissed him, and they wept." Severe heavily for Esau, who could forget and forgive, and remark upon the good fortune of Jacob who had wronged a man with the capacity of mercy. Esau had prospered and was unwilling to allow a wrong-out wrong to rob him of the happiness life could yet afford by the reconciliation with his brother. How badly the world needs such a spirit today!

MAN-EATING LEOPARD FINALLY DESTROYED

By United Press.
ALLAHABAD — A man-eating leopard, credited with having disposed of 125 human beings during the past seven years, met its Waterloo recently in East Garhwal. British and Indian Sikaris rounded up the beast and riddled it with gun shots. So immune from death had the leopard been previously that it was believed to have supernatural powers by the Garhwals. Bullets, traps and poison had no terror for this veritable fiend of the jungle and its name became a by-word throughout the Garhwal country.

INDIAN POPULATION DENSEST IN NORTHWEST

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The Dutchmen who bought Staten Island for $24 would have had to pay more if they had started their land investment out in Washington, along the Columbia River. The Columbia river region harbored one of the densest populations of pre-historic America, according to a Smithsonian Institute survey by Herbert W. Krieger, of the National Museum here.

Krieger found a chain of home-sites stretching for nearly 500 miles along the river. Before the horse was extensively used in redskin migration, the Columbia river region, according to Krieger, was more metropolitan and more thickly settled even than the Pueblo and Aztec regions of the southwest.

SWEDISH PRINCE RIDES IN FLIVVER

THOMAS EDISON INTRODUCES ROYALTY TO FORD'S FAMOUS CAR

By United Press.
EAST ORANGE, N. J., June 4.—The Swedish crown prince rode in a flivver Thursday.

Thomas A. Edison, the electrical wizard, was his companion and host. After Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus and his princess, Lovise, had inspected the Edison laboratories here and had discussed with the wizard the experiments he was conducting, the future queen of Sweden stepped into an expensive limousine and sped away as a similar car was driven up for the prince and Edison.

"No, no, not that," Edison said, waving the car away.

Turning to his chauffeur, he said: "Get my car, please."

Four wheels, a motor and other accoutrements of a Ford—Edison and Henry Ford are fast friends—took the place of the impervious limousine. After the "trip, the crown prince smiled his enjoyment.

The inventor brooked no formalities. When his personal representative, William Meadowcroft, had sought to introduce him to his royal guest, Edison interrupted saying, "that's all right, Meadowcroft, I know him."

TWO WOMEN RUN FOR TREASURER IN LYNN

TAHOCA, June 4.—T. B. Preston and Wesley Simpson are candidates for sheriff of Lynn county. W. E. Smith and T. B. Cowan are making the race for county and district clerk, while Mrs. Joe Lowery and Miss Viola Ellis are candidates for county treasurer.

GOLD RULE DAY

Washington, D. C.—The Near East Relief will observe International Golden Rule Day December 5. The plan has been endorsed by President Coolidge.

Says Screen Love Leads to Real Love

By JOHN P. MILES

United News Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD, Calif., June 4.—Can a screen actor love his leading lady through a series of six reel films without feeling genuine love towards her? Screen celebrities that have tried it say no.

While love on the silver sheet is nothing more than a few hundred feet of celluloid in form, it nevertheless is the greatest aid to Cupid Hollywood has ever known.

An actor who plays through three pictures with the same leading lady is in the same position as the young high school law who calls five times on his best girl.

He has got to marry her or people will start talking.

Harold Lloyd who married Mildred Davis when they both were playing together says that making systematic and regular love to your leading lady is another way of paying court.

"Constant association with your leading man can not help but awaken a spark of love," says Mary Prevost who ought to know because she married Kenneth Harlan.

CROPS WELL ADVANCED AROUND O'DONNELL

O'DONNELL, June 4.—Crops are advanced over this trade territory better than usual at this season of the year. Plenty of planting moisture is largely responsible for this, while the recent rains insure a good growing season.

Cudahy's Puritan Ham

Finer Flavor because ripened naturally

The special Cudahy process of "ripening naturally" is responsible for the delicious finer flavor and tenderness for which Puritan Hams are so distinguished.

This exacting Cudahy method slowly and naturally diffuses the piquant, spicy pickle and the rich juices of the young meats selected for Puritan without hurrying or forcing.

Puritan Hams are then smoked just right, which enhances their finer flavor. There is no need to parboil.

You'll be delighted with Cudahy's Puritan Ham. Like all other Cudahy products—"The Taste Tells."
