Federal Grand Jury Ordered to Investigate Sea Tragedy

EFFICIENCY IN RESCUE WORK TO BE PROBED

BULLETIN
NEW YORK, Sept. 11 — Two officers of the steamship Morro Castle left the burning ship in two lifeboats carrying a total of about 50 members of the crew but apparently only three passengers, they told a federal inquiry today.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 — The story of the destruction of the Morro Castle at sea was unfolded to a federal inquiry today with testimony from men driven by smoke and fire from their posts in the liner's engine room.

Eben S. Abbott, chief engineer of the ship which was destroyed with loss of at least 137 lives, was the first called today by D. N. Hoover, conducting the inquiry for the commerce department. The U. S. attorney's office also took the investigation before a federal grand jury considering possible criminal charges.

A life boat put out from the burning ship with only two passengers among the 32 persons aboard, Abbott testified. "There were no other passengers around," Abbott said.

"What effort was made to get any passengers?" he was asked.

"There were no more to be seen and the wind forced the lifeboat away," Abbott replied. Evidence brought out at the preliminary investigation disclosed startling charges of inefficiency and ineffectiveness on the part of the crew.

Federal Dist. Atty Martin Connolly was so impressed by the testimony that he ordered a grand jury investigation.

The jury will try to discover the cause of the mysterious blaze and seek the answer to the question why a large percentage of the crew in proportion to passengers were saved, and whether the crew made the proper, disciplined effort to get passengers off in lifeboats.

MORE BODIES TO BE SOUGHT ON WRECK
ASBURY PARK, N. J., Sept. 11 — Salvage workers planned a thorough search of the bulk of the liner Morro Castle today for the bodies of 50 persons still on the missing list from one of the greatest maritime disasters of modern times.

PILOT KILLED IN LEAP FROM STUNTING SHIP

WICHITA FALLS, Sept. 11 — Herschel Johnson, 30, amateur pilot, was killed today when he jumped from his stunting plane at an altitude of 300 feet and failed to pull the ripcord of his parachute. The plane swooped to the ground and was only slightly damaged.

Observers said the pilot had been practicing a series of spins and that he believed he thought the plane was out of control when he decided to jump.

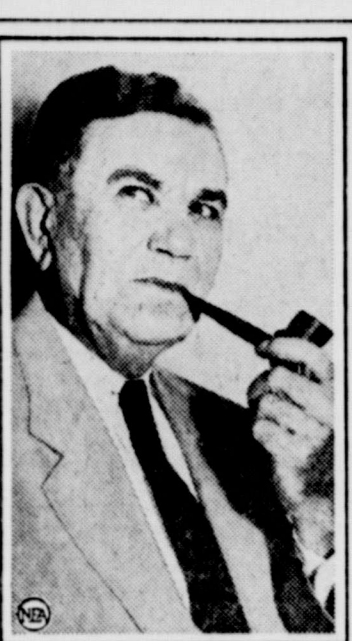

They said it appeared that Johnson either was too excited to pull the ripcord or that he was struck by the spinning plane and knocked unconscious. The plane landed almost directly on Johnson's head and he was killed.

Golfers Called to Meet This Evening

A meeting of the golfers of the Cisco country club has been called for 7:30 this evening at the chamber commencing. The meeting was described as urgent and all players are requested to be present.

ALIVE AFTER 100-FOOT LEAP
CINCINNATI, Sept. 11 — Hans F. Weusthoff, 62, was saved from death after he jumped from a bridge, 100 feet high, into the Ohio river. Two lifelines, seeing him jump, seized him and pulled him up. Weusthoff, who had been in the river for 10 minutes after his jump, landed in the water and was rescued by lifelines. He suffered only two broken ribs. Police blamed despondency for his jump.

Judge New Head Of '98 Veterans

MURDER TRIALS OF THREE SET FOR OCTOBER 1

The trials of Clifford Doggett, Elmer Van Cleave and Mary Lou Howell, charged by indictment with the murder of Levi F. Threet, Cisco rancher, have been set for October 1 in 8th district court at Eastland.

Trials of Oual Tomlin, Frank Brown, M. C. Bell, M. J. Sellers and Feline Houston, charged with automobile theft, are to come up in 91st district court for trial Monday, September 17.

June Timmons, negro, was given a total of 17 years in 91st district court yesterday upon his pleas of guilty in three cases in connection with the shooting and attempted robbery of L. A. Maddox, Cisco truck driver for the West Texas Produce company, near here in June. Maddox and his wife were held up on Highway 23 and Maddox received a bullet wound in the thigh in the course of a brief encounter. City Policeman Gustafson traced a car said to have been used in the holdup to a house in north Cisco and arrested Timmons, who was visiting in Cisco.

Eight years each was assessed for assault with a knife and murder and one year for driving while intoxicated. The sentences were made to run concurrently.

Gov't Starts Buying 12,000 Sheep Daily

AUSTIN, Sept. 11 — AAA purchases of Texas sheep in 44 counties began today at the rate of 12,000 head daily according to C. Z. Crain, head of the commodities distribution department of the Texas Relief commission.

Sheep will be bought by the AAA at a flat rate of $2 per head. The commission will act as agent in shipping animals from pens to processing plants.

Application for sale of two and a half million head of sheep to the government has been made. Crain anticipated that number or more will be purchased in the program.

Strike Leaders Deny More Responsibility

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 11 — Union leaders warned today that beginning tomorrow they would refuse to accept responsibility for further violence in the textile strike which has brought troops out in five states. "Violence is worse today than it has been before and it is going to get worse," Strike Chairman Francis J. Gorman said. "If it continues after tonight, that is not our fault. We have made our peace proposal."

The proposal called for closing all mills while President Roosevelt's board mediates the strike.

2 RR COMM'N HEARINGS ARE SLATED HERE

Two hearings before representatives of the Texas Railroad commission are scheduled in Cisco this month. The first will be on the application of the Consolidated Gasoline Corp. for the operation of a carbon black plant in the Cisco or Eastland territory. It has been set down for Monday, September 7, at the Laguna hotel probably before Chief Supervisor Laten Stanberry of the oil and gas division of the commission.

Hearings on application of the Cabot interests for extension of permits to manufacture carbon black in the county will also take place at that time.

On Monday, September 24, a hearing on the application of A. L. Barton permit to operate a daily bus schedules between Cisco and Coleman via Rising Star, Cross Plains and Burkett, will take place, also at the Laguna hotel. Mark Marshall, director of the bus division of the commission, and former Ciscoan Victor B. Gilbert, assistant director and counsel for the division, are expected to be here for this hearing.

Commission Offer To Official Bared

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 11 — Testimony that the Curtiss-Wright Export Corp. offered to pay a five cent commission to the controller-general of Bolivia in 1933 on sales of airplanes to his government was presented today to the senate munitions committee.

Correspondence between company officials referred to the Bolivia officials as Lopez.

A letter from Clifford Travis, Curtiss-Wright Bolivian agent, to a vice president on Sept. 21, 1933, spoke of the necessity of "playing ball" with Lopez "as he is the deciding factor in all purchases—more so than the president himself."

Moody Argues Fag Tax Law Invalid

AUSTIN, Sept. 11 — Former Gov. Dan Moody today closed a four-hour argument in district court, most of which was an attack on validity of the state cigarette statute.

The former governor appeared as one of the counsel for former Atty-Gen. Claude Pollard charged with consenting to the use of counterfeit cigarette tax stamps. Moody's argument was an effort to quash the indictment against Pollard.

He urged District Judge W. J. Robertson to declare the indictment insufficient and also to hold the law invalid at once so it may be corrected at the present session of the legislature.

Roosevelt, Johnson Map NRA Revision

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 11 — President Roosevelt today reported progress in mapping out an NRA reorganization program with Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, modeled after the structure of the federal government.

Ambassador Sevier Is Ill at Santiago

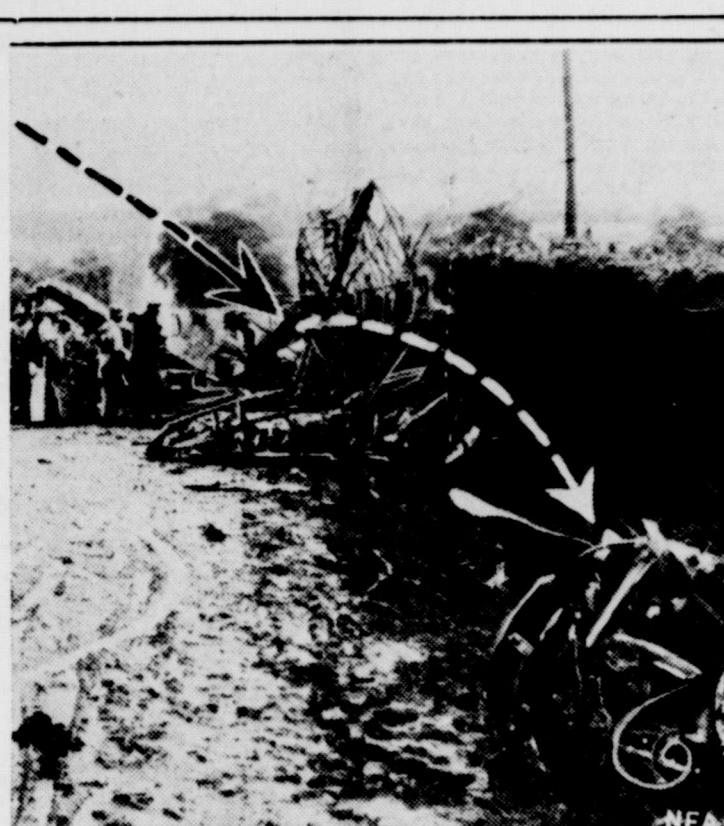

SANTIAGO, Chile, Sept. 11 — United States Ambassador Hal Sevier, of Corpus Christi, is seriously ill of colic, and is attended by three physicians, it was revealed today.

Record Vote Being Cast in New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 11 — Despite dripping skies, citizens of embattled New Orleans turned out in orderly fashion today and apparently in record number as a climax to weeks of bitter political war.

From every ward and precinct came reports of rapid voting. No police or militia were allowed around the polling places. The election was handled by a board of arbitration agreed upon by the fighting factions. Its word was final.

Where Five Died in Missouri Plane Crash

Blinded by a terrific rainstorm, the pilot of an Omaha-bound Rapid Airlines plane attempted an emergency landing in a field near Oregon, Mo. The pilot and his four passengers were killed when, instead of landing on the adjacent field, the ship plunged into a roadside embankment with such force that one of the motors was thrown the distance indicated by the white line.

BRECKENRIDGE WINS TOURNAMENT BY 6-1 VICTORY

Breckenridge won the Cisco invitation softball tournament last night with an exhibition of airtight pitching equalled rarely during the two weeks of play. The Breckenridge team collected 10 hits, assisted by six errors, to score six runs, while Throckmorton, allowed only four scattered hits by Hicks, counted once when two successive overthrows allowed Tucker to score after he had reached first base on an error.

More than 3,000 people, largest crowd of the series, witnessed the contest. Many of them were from Eastland and from Breckenridge and Throckmorton.

Throckmorton's lone score came in the fifth. Tucker reached first on an error. Another Throckmorton player struck out and the Breckenridge catcher threw too enthusiastically to first. A fielder snatched up the wild ball and hurled it to second, likewise overthrowing, and Tucker racing around the circuit, crossed home plate before the second throw could be redeemed.

Well in Hand
Before and after that wild moment, the Breckenridge team held their opponents well in hand. The victors scored one each in the first four innings and added two more in the sixth to clinch the flag. Breckenridge was the only undefeated team in the tournament.

The pitching of Hicks was easily the feature of the contest. Smith and Strapp were leading hitters of the evening, each getting two hits.

Baker Glenn, former Cisco merchant and now manager of the J. C. Penney store at Breckenridge, has been one of the most consistent hitters for Breckenridge. He plays right field and is one of the sponsors of the team. Mathis, third baseman for Breckenridge, played third base for Billy Ditch's Texas Longhorn team the past two seasons. A cash prize was awarded the Breckenridge team for winning the tournament.

The outstanding pitching performance of the entire tournament was given last Friday evening when Throckmorton defeated Eastland one and nothing for the right to enter the finals with Breckenridge. The Throckmorton pitcher, identified only as "Tiny," struck out 18 men in a seven inning game, allowed no hits and only two walks. Tully, Eastland pitcher, yielded but two hits. "Tiny" did not pitch for Throckmorton last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Hibbert of Albany visited Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Barnhill Sunday.

TYRANNY SEEN BY HOOVER IN RELIEF EFFORT

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11 — Government by the people has been abolished and tyranny expected wherever fascism, socialism, or communism has taken over the state, former President Herbert Hoover said in an article published today in the Saturday Evening Post.

"From the examples of national regimentation that we have examined," says Mr. Hoover, "it is obvious that many of these measures represent not reform or relief within the boundaries of liberty, but that they are emulating parts of some of the other systems with the hope of speeding recovery from the depression."

He excluded relief and reform measures from his discussion of regimentation, observing that "proper action in relief of distress is inherent in the social vision of the true American system."

Benefit Games to Be Played Monday

The Cisco A. G. Motor company All-stars will play both Breckenridge and Eastland softball teams at the lighted field Monday evening, September 17, in a benefit double-header proceeds of which will go into a fund for Orbie D. Jacobs, Cisco youth who was made an invalid by a football training field accident several years ago.

Al Shapiro will pitch for the Cisco team, it was announced.

Huffmyer Qualifies In Fair Trip Contest

Roy Huffmyer, manager of the Nance Motor company's service station at Tenth and D avenue, has qualified in the Goodyear Rubber company's World's fair trip contest. He will go to Dallas Friday where the winner of the contest will be selected.

Sale of a certain amount of tires and tubes was required for qualification.

SIGN TOLD REASON

MYSTIC, Conn., Sept. 11 — A proprietor of a West Main street store, leaving for a short vacation, hung a sign in the window reading: "Owing to a slight attack of N. P. L. similar to B. O. (see soap ads), caused by a complication of the NRA, CWA, CCC, FERA, AAA, etc., this concern will be closed until Wednesday at 8 p. m., d. s. t."

CISCO MAN IS HURT IN FALL AT NEW BRIDGE

Price Rainbolt, Cisco, was in Graham sanitarium this afternoon with chest injuries of an undetermined extent, including several broken ribs, sustained when he fell from a ladder a distance of about 20 feet while painting a bridge over Little Leon river on Highway 23 south of Cisco. The bridge, a new structure, is part of a 10-mile highway reconstruction project now under way between Cisco and Romney.

Brought to a local physician's office, Rainbolt's hurts were found of a nature to require hospital confinement and he was transferred to the Graham sanitarium immediately.

He fell when loose earth, in which the ladder was planted, gave way. In the fall he struck his chest against an end of the ladder, inflicting his most serious injuries.

He was brought to Cisco in a car.

Guard Doomed Man To Forestall Suicide

TYLER, Sept. 11 — John B. Willis, 4, former Louisiana convict, cowered in his cell here today closely guarded by officers who feared he might attempt to "cheat the electric chair."

Willis was sentenced to death last night for criminally attacking Mrs. Maxwell Herring, 18-year-old bride, who with her husband, was kidnapped and robbed the night of August 25.

When Willis was told the verdict he almost collapsed, crying "they got the wrong man." Several days ago, while waiting trial Willis wrote a note to relatives denying guilt and saying that he intended to kill himself. Guards were posted at his cell to prevent any attempt to fulfill the threat.

Monday Vote Victory For New Deal Forces

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 11 — Maine democrats, who tied their campaign to the New Deal, have captured the governorship, held their grip on two of the three congressional seats and have a slight chance of winning a U. S. senatorial seat, nearly complete returns from yesterday's state election showed today.

Gov. Louis J. Brann, apostle of the New Deal, has been re-elected—the first democratic governor in Maine's history to win a second term.

The state also voted to repeal its prohibition amendment by about 9 to 5.

Members of Country Club Called Tonight

The Cisco Country club annual membership meeting will be held this evening at 7:30 at the country club building. President J. A. Bearman will preside.

The meeting, which was postponed from its regular time in the summer, will elect officers for the new year and take up other matters of business of importance.

Educator's Daughter Missing a Month

PINEDALE, Wyo., Sept. 11 — Virginia Gates, 23, daughter of Thomas Gates, president of the University of Pennsylvania has been mysteriously missing for a month, it was learned today.

AGAINST CONSTABLE "STAR" PAULDING, O. Sept. 11 — Disputing a "star" handcuffs and gun will set back Constable A. S. Sheerer of Blue Creek township, exactly $17.77 unless he has his equipment returned to the hardware store for a refund. A state examiner so ruled after an audit of the township books, which revealed that the shiny star on the constable's chest had been charged to the township. The expenditure was not admissible, it was said.

Films Bring Out "Debutante"

Like a social deb kept in seclusion until time for her coming-out party, blond, 19-year-old June Lang has been hidden away in a studio training school for acting. Now, after three years of intensive study, she's ready to crash the screen with her first picture. They say it was worth the wait.

TWO AMERICAN COMPOSITIONS UPON PROGRAM

DALLAS, Sept. 11 — Devotees of music probably will be able to hear two important American compositions presented by the Dallas Symphony orchestra this season.

One will be the Second Symphony of Howard Hanson. The other will be the Douglas Moore's "Barnum Suite." Hanson composed the "Merry Mount" opera, which the New York Metropolitan Opera company produced last season. "Barnum Suite" relates the tone of the colorful career of America's great showman.

Dr. Paul Van Katwijk, conductor of the Dallas Symphony orchestra and dean of music at Southern Methodist university, announced plans for the year, following his return from a vacation in Colorado.

A comprehensive list of other novelty numbers is available for production this season.

As dean of music at Southern Methodist university, Dr. Van Katwijk will appear with Ivan Dneprov, tenor, in the first faculty recital early in November. The concert will be in McFarlin auditorium.

During the university's anniversary celebration in the spring, Dr. Van Katwijk will direct the S. M. U. Oratorio society in Haydn's "The Seasons."

An increasing interest in music is interpreted by Dr. Van Katwijk to indicate an encouraging note in recovery.

Dr. Van Katwijk expects to present his piano pupils in a program of movements from concertos some time next spring.

Improved Business Reported by Stores

Fall, signalling the beginning of school and resumption of activity by many institutions that customarily remain dormant during the summer, has stimulated business in Cisco, according to reports of the merchants.

C. G. Whitaker, manager of the A. and P. grocery, said today that the business of his store last week exceeded in volume that of any other week since 1932, not omitting the heavy sales of Christmas week, 1933.

Other merchants also reported increases.

DEMAND MADE BY BOBBITT IN KEYNOTE TALK

GALVESTON, Sept. 11 — A demand for submission of prohibition promptly to the voters of Texas was made in the keynote speech of R. L. Bobbitt of Laredo at the state democratic convention here today.

Bobbitt made the speech as temporary chairman of the convention. "Our party is a liberal party, believing in fundamental principles of local self-government and of state's rights, and we're going to stand for those principles," Bobbitt said.

"The people of Texas are more interested in bread than they are in booze. They are more concerned in hog and hominy than they are in hooch and horse racing."

"They are more interested in the wide and just safeguards around the homes and the schools than they are in boxing arenas, pool halls or any scheme of so-called legalized gambling."

"Let us promptly submit the question to the voters of Texas and then as honest democrats who believe in the majority rule, abide by the results."

A number of disagreements appeared in prospect for the convention.

Tom Love, Dallas dry, was ready to fight submission.

A proposed plank condemning horse race betting also may cause a scrap.

Selection of Jim Kilday of Houston as permanent chairman may be fought by the delegation from his county, although Tom Connolly, who was opposed to his selection, has said he will not actively fight Kilday.

"MAD MAN" IN WHITE HOUSE GOP TOLD

HOUSTON, Sept. 11 — The White House is occupied by a "mad man surrounded by a bunch of radical socialists" and the NRA is "the rottenest curse ever imposed on anybody," N. K. McDowell of Del Rio told delegates to the republican state convention in his keynote speech here today. McDowell was named temporary chairman after the meeting was called to order.

STANFORD HAS GOOD OUTLOOK FOR FOOTBALL

By HENRY SUPER
United Press Staff Correspondent

PALO ALTO, Cal., Sept. 11 — A backfield that sparked it to a three-way tie for the 1933 coast conference; a line that boasts four regulars of a year ago; and a coach starting his second season after turning out a team that played in the Rose Bowl in his first attempt. That's the picture as Claude E. "Tiny" Thornhill begins grooming his Stanford football squad for the 1934 season.

Needs Guards

All Thornhill needs to do is weed out a pair of guards to replace the All-American field-goal kicker, Bill Corbus, and his co-worker, Bob O'Connor, develop an end to play the opposite side of the line from Monk Moscrip, and "Tiny" will be ready for a blazing season.

Some are already booming California for the coast conference title but Stanford will be in there fighting. And we're inclined to string along with the Indians, because they have plenty of power, speed and material—three requisites for any football team. Add to that the desire to make up for that Columbia licking in the Rose Bowl, and you have a team that's a good bet for any man's money.

Large Squad

Stanford starts practice with a large squad, including 18 lettermen, of which eight are regulars, most of them juniors who are good for another year.

The Cardinals lost only nine lettermen through graduation, three of them regulars — Corbus, O'Connor and Al Norgard, end who was declared ineligible shortly before the Rose Bowl game.

EMPLOYEES WILL SHARE HOUSTON FIRM PROFITS

HOUSTON, Sept. 11.—Employees of the Myers-Spalti Manufacturing company of Houston have entered into a cooperative contract with the organization and will share in profits, announces President W. S. Myers.

The Myers-Spalti company manufactures furniture and has 240 employees.

In announcing the contract, Myers explained that it will give employees "a chance to develop any talent they may have in management and also an opportunity to share, to some extent, in any excess earnings."

The contract became effective September 1.

Myers sent copies of the contract to President Roosevelt, Gen. Hugh Johnson of the National Recovery Administration, Labor Secretary Frances Perkins, and William H. Clegg, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Committees will handle details of management and policy, instead of one or two officers, as formerly, said Myers. "We believe the main benefit should accrue to the stockholders, but we believe the stronger and more permanent organization," he explained.

The company will divide with employees any excess earnings above the 5 per cent paid stockholders. Employees and stockholders will share in excess profits on a percentage basis, computed from the number on the payroll and the total capital.

Meetings of the cooperative will be held at least once a year, if not more often. The contract reads:

"A majority vote of the members present and voting at any such meeting shall decide all questions submitted to the meeting and shall be binding upon all members."

A majority vote of cooperative members will fix salaries and fill all positions in the organization.

Daily Newspaper Is Issued at Graham

GRAHAM, Sept. 11.—The first issue of the Graham Daily Reporter was published on Labor day.

Geo. T. Spears, owner of the Graham Leader, which for 38 years has been published in this town, is also owner of the Daily Reporter, but will operate the two separately.

Two months ago the businessmen of Graham through the chamber of commerce petitioned Spears to start publication of a daily paper, and as soon as arrangements could be completed the Daily Reporter was started in compliance with their request.

Museum Enlarged To Care for Relics

KERRVILLE, Sept. 11.—Frontier relics donated by early settlers became so numerous that the size of a pioneer museum which receives about 100 visitors a month at Bandera, 25 miles south of here, had to be doubled in size. M. J. Hunter, newspaper publisher, maintains the museum, which he established with funds raised from the sale of his books on early Texas characters and on donations. The museum building is made of native stone.

NEW MEMBERS
CANYON, Sept. 11.—The Pecos-El Paso Historical society recently admitted five Amarillo citizens to membership. It was announced here at the society museum the new members are: Mr. and Mrs. A. Hardin, who hold life memberships; and W. D. Smiley and H. G. Hendricks, annual members.

Waiting for Trouble in Textile Strike

These South Carolina National Guardsmen didn't have to wait long before going into action as a result of the textile workers' strike. They are shown encamped outside a cotton mill at Seneca, S. C. A few minutes after this picture was taken they were called on to quell a strike riot in which seven men were arrested.

Arkansas has had in the past six years.

Southern Methodist's 23 returning lettermen include Robert Wilson, 147-pound junior, who was the outstanding back in the conference last year. He will be the spark plug of the 1934 season. Harry Shuford, 180-pound junior fullback, will bear watching. He is a good kicker, passes some, and is good at backing up the line. Coach Ray Morrison is depending upon Shuford to provide the goal line punches, the lack of which has been S. M. U.'s most glaring weakness in recent years. Shelby Burt, 175-pound halfback, probably will star as a passer. The Methodists will have a veteran line averaging about 185 pounds.

T. C. U. Have Rugged Team

Texas Christian University, with 10 lettermen returning, will depend largely upon Darrell Lester, center, and Jimmy Lawrence, halfback. The Christians will have a rugged team, with probably no other outstanding stars. Coach Dutch Meyer and line Coach Raymond Wolfe have long been noted for their ability to produce a strong club in every department out of a rough assortment of material.

Baylor university will have trouble replacing its great pair of ends, Jim Petty and Frank James, who went the way of all seniors, last year. The attack will be built around Capt. Joe Jack Pearce, a consistent runner and a flashy passer. With a relatively easy schedule, if Baylor can find a couple of good replacements, it may be in the thick of the fight throughout the season.

Texas University Not Strong

The University of Texas, in general, does not look strong. However, Jack Coats, 200-pound center, Jack Gray, end, and Bohn Hilliard, halfback, represent a three-man powerhouse. Hilliard, without question is one of the greatest players in the current conference personnel, nursed an injured ankle most of last year.

There probably will be no outstanding players on the Texas A. & M. club, where teamwork will be the watchword. A. & M. might prove the dark horse.

Rice Institute will be possessed of what many critics hail as the best backfield in the conference, with the return to eligibility of John McCauley and Bill Wallace, halfback seniors, but probably will not go far because of a woeful lack of reserve linemen.

Kill Moccasins at Rate of 119 an Hour

DEATUR, Sept. 11.—Two Deatur men recently killed water moccasins at a rate of 119 an hour.

The men, Dorrel P. Jones, Deatur printer, and his brother, D. I. Jones of Fort Worth, came upon a snake-filled slough and started popping away with 22-calibre rifles. Sixty minutes later 119 reptiles were dead.

The slough was going dry and the snakes gathered there to feed on trapped minnows.

COLLINS HARDWARE

1,500 ALREADY REGISTERED FOR A. P. I. MEETING

DALLAS, Sept. 11.—Hotel reservations for the annual American Petroleum Institute convention in Dallas, November 12-15, has reached 1,500 mark, and it is indicated the 1934 meeting will be the largest in history. R. B. Whitehead, chairman of the reservations committee, has announced.

Setting the pace for 5,000 oil men who are expected to attend, 80 of the 35 A. P. I. directors already have reserved hotel space, Mr. Whitehead said. Although the number of rooms reserved is mounting daily, plenty remain available.

The American Petroleum Institute is the national trade organization of the oil industry, and the extent of its activities is nation-wide in scope. It includes in its interests all branches and all phases of the petroleum industry. Originally founded as a war-time organization to aid the government, the Institute today is considered one of the best developed and well organized trade associations. In addition to continuing the policy of cooperation with the government in matters of national concern, the Institute now carries on a vast amount of technical and practical activities for the benefit of the industry.

Important Southwest

To the Southwest, the meeting this year probably will be the most important in the history of the mid-continent oil area. For the first time high officials of the industry will gather in a body within the boundaries of the greatest oil producing state in the nation. Some of the more old visitors, other are new, and all are aware of the important position the Southwest holds in the nation's petroleum industry and the critical situation confronting the industry at the present time. But it remains for the citizens of the Southwest to familiarize them with the living conditions and the mutual advantages the region offers.

A number of new features are being arranged to take care of the incoming visitors in the most convenient manner possible. Advance registration will eliminate the confusion usually attending a convention of this size. Each visitor will know in advance the location of his reservations, and steps are being taken to see that all are settled without the slightest delay. Incoming trains will stop under a special shed, and the visitors will be transported to their respective locations directly from this shed. Extra effort will be made to handle baggage in as orderly manner as the amount will permit. Arrangements have been made at Love Field to house and care for the special planes that will bring many of the oil men. Special parking privileges for autos will be granted, each car bearing a sticker stating that the owner is a visitor to the convention.

The registration office, located at 1311 Magnolia building, Dallas, has been open since December, 1933. Leaflets concerning the convention are available and may be obtained by writing to that address.

Plan Floral Parade For Rose Festival

TYLER, Sept. 11.—Active preparations have been launched for the floral parade which will be a feature here next month during the East Texas Rose festival.

Stop Chills and Fever!

Rid Your System of Malaria!

Shivering with chills one moment and burning with fever the next—that's one of the effects of Malaria. Unless checked, the disease will do serious harm to your health. Malaria, a blood infection, calls for two things. First, destroying the infection in blood. Second, building up the blood to overcome the effects of the disease and to fortify against further attack.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic supplies both these effects. It contains tasteless quinine, which kills the infection in the blood, and iron, which enriches and builds up the blood. Chills and fever soon stop and you are restored to health and comfort. For half a century, Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic has been sure relief for Malaria. It is just as useful, too, as a general tonic for old and young. Pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. Safe to give children. Get a bottle at any store. Now two sizes—50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2 1/2 times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25 per cent more for your money.—Adv.

Building and Cleaning of Tanks Urged For Conservation of County Rainfall

"Not a drop of muddy water should ever leave Eastland county."

That is the slogan proposed by J. M. Bird, Cisco vocational teacher for a campaign to clean out old tanks and build new ones while the time is opportune. Said he:

"Now is the most opportune and economical time to scrape out old tanks and to erect new ones. Most water reservoirs of the character are dry and may be easily cleaned out. Stockmen and farmers ought to gain a lesson from the effects of the recent drought and prepare to guard against similar conditions in the future."

"Every available tank site ought to be converted into a reservoir large enough to accommodate the drainage from its watershed. Such reservoirs will conserve the water that falls in the county give the farmer or the stockmen the maximum insurance against drought and, if the program is carried far enough, even increase the rainfall over the county by increasing the amount of water that is held and, hence, the amount of evaporation."

He offered his assistance and the assistance of members of his agricultural classes at the high school in running surveys for the tank dams and in working out the simple engineering data that each dam requires.

He also suggested planting grass over earthen dams to hold them against washing, and rip-rapping spillways with stone.

Maine Gives the New Deal Its Blessing

Maine, republican stronghold, appears to have given the New Deal its blessing after two years of experience. For the first time in its history since the Civil war a democratic governor has been returned to office. Gov. Louis J. Brann, "New Deal" standard bearer, has been re-elected over republican demands that the state elect his opponent, Alfred K. Ames, wealthy retired lumberman, and thus repudiate the program of the national administration. As another indication that the political revolution is still under way in the most northeasternmost tip of the American continent, early returns indicate that the people of Maine are overturning a half-century of rock-ribbed tradition and are repealing their ancient state prohibition law. Maine was a pioneer state in prohibition. It forbade the sale of intoxicating drink long before any other state was ready to step into the dry column, and it continued dry. National prohibition was an event of little more than academic interest to the political minds of Maine in 1919. The state had long been dry. Now that tradition seems about to be overturned; fifty years of experience appears to have ended in failure. The prohibition forces may well ask themselves what has happened and why. Is it not a fact that the failure must be laid at their doors, because it is true that they were responsible for the adoption of the ban in the first place. Perhaps they considered that a law was all that was necessary, and that there was no need for further moral and educational activity. Eternal vigilance is the price of success, in bringing about temperance and abstinence even as in winning a lawsuit.

Meantime, the anti-New Deal forces are going to be worried about something else. Their appeals to the voters of one of the most consistently republican states in the union, a state regarded as the political weather-vane of the nation, having failed to cause the desired repudiation of the New Deal, they are faced with another two years of Roosevelt policies. It has been pointed out that the quiet but influential strategy of anti-New Dealers in high places is now to paint the economic picture as darkly as possible. All barometers of business upon which this influence can be exerted will tell pessimistic stories, it was explained. Thus will business men and industrial leaders seek to oppose what they fear are leftist tendencies of great potential danger to their business welfare. They had hoped for a time that the national administration's policies would turn back into the old rut and that what they oppose as a radical in nature would be quietly sloughed off in time. But the administration has given clear indication that it means to pursue its program of reform. Another two years will put it well on the road to the realization of some of its fundamental purposes. To do so, congressional working majorities are needed. The Maine vote indicates that the New Deal has not lost its potency as a vote getting platform.

Something That Ought To Be Done

One project, very apropos, that came close to attention but failed of specific mention at the Boosters meeting the other night was the subject of business men visits to the series of community fairs being held about Cisco this fall. Today Nimrod is having such a fair and tomorrow the three communities of Pleasant Hill, Word and Shady Grove will group their efforts in a display at the Pleasant Hill school house. T. C. Williams, school principal, suggested to the group that a policy of closer personal contact with the people of the Cisco trade territory ought to be adopted. But the hour was late and the group was tired after two hours of discussion of other matters and the suggestion failed to evoke the response it was entitled to bring forth.

Our editorial self is to blame, perhaps, for failure to call the subject to earlier attention of the business men and the chamber of commerce. But whatever the lack of diligence, the amends should be made in quick action, and groups of Cisco citizens ought to arrange to visit these fairs and make their presence and goodwill known. These community fairs, regardless of what people at a distance may think of them, are currently the biggest things in the lives of these communities. What a Fourth of July celebration or a county livestock show is to us, these one-day exhibits are to the people who sponsor them. They are important, because they are the means by which community standards are established and community rivalry and enthusiasm cultivated. The influence of the Nimrod community fair upon Nimrod will be vastly greater than the influence of a Cisco sectional fair or a state fair upon that community. Consequently, the interest that Nimrod takes in its own production will be greater. Cisco ought to capitalize upon this fact and endeavor to establish a liaison between itself and these rural centers that will work to the advantage of both.

It will be one of the last acts of this legislative session, but a tax penalty and interest remission law seems certain of enactment.

The law will be under the calamity clause of the constitution. Few will argue that the state has not been visited with a calamity in the conjunction of the depression and the drouth. The law will waive interest and penalties on delinquent taxes, and set into effect a new graduated scale of charges to be made after specified periods. Rep. W. E. Pope of Corpus Christi, author of the initial bill, would create a remission period of a little more than two years.

A Couple of Candidates for Old Age Pensions?

ALLRED GRAVE WITH KNOWLEDGE OF PROBLEMS OF GOVERNORSHIP

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Sept. 11.—A new "Jim-mie" Allred has come back to Austin to be governor. He seems stunned by the prospect of following in the shoes of Roberts, Hogg, Culbertson and the other "great" Texas governors. A view of the impending task has aged the "boy."

It is not alone the fatigue of a long, hot summer political campaign that is apparent in the democratic nominee for governor. He shows that he is thinking ahead.

Allred will not take office as governor until mid-January. Already he has begun to feel many of his responsibilities. First to arrive were his political problems as titular head of the democratic party in Texas. That responsibility confronted him even before he had time to open the thousands of congratulatory telegrams.

A party split over democratic national committee threatened. Allred's coup in securing Vice President Garner's announcement that he would accept the post brought new laurels to the "boy." His real test as a party leader will come at the state democratic convention at Galveston next week.

Duties Rushing Him
Governor's duties, also, are rushing upon him ahead of his assumption of office. A legislative session will be under way when he takes the governor's oath. He must be ready to suggest plans to overcome a multi-million state deficit to pay off millions of relief bonds and to keep state machinery running.

More pressing, if less important, he must select a corps of non-elective state officials. The storm of job hunters swirls about him. Until after the general election, Nov. 6, he can, and must, refuse to promise appointments. He must be able to swear as he takes office that he has promised no place as a regard for political service. Though no political activity is needed to assure his election in November, technically Allred still is only a candidate.

"I will go in without any obligations or strings," he told the United Press.

It happens that the appointive jobs are more desirable plum than the elective jobs which aspirants must win for themselves. Many of them are for six years. Elective jobs are for two.

Chief Plums

Chief plum is membership on the three-man state board of control, which in turn dishes out the jobs in the many state institutions. The term of Chairman Claude Teer expires in January. He was an Allred supporter. Unsalaried, but of equal job power, is membership on the state highway commission. The term of Judge W. R. Ely, Abilene, expires.

As governor, Allred will have to select an adjutant-general, secretary of state, banking commissioner, auditor and efficiency expert and a state service officer for two years each. Six-year terms of a member of the industrial accident board and of one third of the members of the various state commissions and boards controlling state colleges and others that Allred will fill.

A proposed division of duties so that the state labor department will no longer supervise boxing and wrestling will likely give the new governor appointment of both a state labor commissioner and a boxing czar.

"Suspicious" Pair Waiting on Meeting

BORGER, Sept. 11.—In response to a telephone call that two suspicious looking men were watching the store waiting for a chance to break in, Borger police hurried down to a grocery to confront two of Borger's most prominent citizens.

Now knowing that a meeting scheduled to be held at the store had been postponed, J. C. Knowles, high school coach, and A. M. Mormon Choir Is Presented by Ford

With one of the largest choral repertoires in existence, the Mormon Tabernacle Choir of Salt Lake City is presenting a series of programs of unusual range and versatility during a one-week's engagement of 14 concerts in Ford Symphony Gardens at a Century of Progress from September 10 to 16, inclusive.

The program for the week includes 161 compositions, ranging from the choral masterpieces of Mendelssohn, Tchaikovsky, Handel, Beethoven, Haydn and Wagner, to the more simply melodious compositions of Elgar, Dvorak, Lieurance and Stephen Foster.

Because of the nature of the 250-voice choir, religious music has been given a place of prominence in the week's schedule, although secular music will not be lacking in any concert. Familiar selections from the oratorios of Mendelssohn, Handel, Rossini and Mozart will be included, side by side with simpler forms of religious music, such as "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," "Lead Kindly Light," "Onward Christian Soldier," and other familiar hymns which will gain new majesty in a presentation by such a large and thoroughly trained group of artists.

Through arrangements with Columbia Broadcasting system, the music of the choir will be made available to millions of radio listeners as well as to the thousands who are expected to fill Ford Symphony Gardens during the week of the concerts. Broadcasts from 2:30 to 3 o'clock, central daylight saving time, on Tuesday, September 11, and Friday, September 14, and from 2:30 to 3:30 on Thursday, September 13, will be presented over a national network, the local outlets for which

BEACH CLUB GIRL

BEGIN HERE TODAY

BOOTS RAEBURN, 18, married RUSSELL LIND, handsome swimmer, instructor, because she doesn't want to face her parents' disappointment over learning she has been snubbed by the younger set of Larchmont, fashionable New York suburb.

Russ goes to Miami, promising to send for Boots later. She gets a job in a big department store and takes a tiny room in Greenwich Village. She becomes an author. Pennywise sets out to influence Boots to get her to tea at his apartment. There she meets beautiful KAY CHILLINGFORD, who is a possible winner toward Denis.

Just before her illness Boots received a telegram telling her Russ had been killed in a motorboat accident.

On Christmas Day she dines with EDWARD VAN SCIVER, one of Denis' friends.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIX

THE long, cold, dreary winter dragged on and presently there dawned a day when the light was golden instead of gray, and white clouds scudded across the surface of a sky of heaven's own blue. And there was the feeling of spring in the air.

Boots had seen Isabel twice, during the winter. She was starved for news of her own people. When Isabel had greeted her, enthusiastically, one day across the country, Boots had been quite simply glad to see her. She had made no pretenses, offered no explanations, for her being in Lucy's, Isabel had said something haltingly about being "terribly sorry" to hear about Russ's death. Boots had thanked her simply. Even now, when she heard his name and people spoke of his going, it didn't seem quite real. It was all part of an old dream.

Isabel had brought her news of the younger Larchmonts. Sylvia, Isabel contributed, had been home for Christmas vacation, "looking stunning" in a milk coat. ("But imagine," Isabel had interposed, "imagine milk on a girl her age!") And somehow this particular comment had made the old days seem very far away, the old struggles and heartaches unreal. Boots felt she had grown up. She was living a real life now. The big question of whether to spend 20 cents or a quarter for lunch, the saving for a new pair of shoes, the efforts to send one's sales totals up so that the end of the week brought approbation, or better still, a raise in one's pay envelope—all these were real. The other matters, parties at the Ritz, diamond wrist watches, silver fox scarves and tap dancing lessons, were so much embroidery. Nice but relatively unimportant.

Isabel herself, though sweet and friendly and confiding as ever, seemed very young, very frivolous to Boots now. But she brought news of her mother, and that was important. Mrs. Raeburn, Isabel reported, was well. "She misses you dreadfully still. Why don't you go up and see her?"

Boots shook her head, considering. No, she would not go up until they sent for her. It was not stubbornness that held her back but pride. Her mother was well—was going about. She must be happy. It was enough to know that. Later—much later—she would see her.

AND now spring had come to a waiting world. Last spring she had been so careless, so unawake. Now, in the span of a single year, will be announced by the individual stations. Negotiations are under way for additional broadcasts, which will be announced later by the Columbia Broadcasting system.

The programs at Ford Symphony Gardens will be presented from 2:30 to 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NRA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Some months ago this thousand-legged administration decided to experiment with a chain of government-sponsored local organizations of consumers which would fight unfair prices.

The County Consumers' Councils, subsequently organized under the wing of the National Emergency Council, will have a real tryout now that the drouth has brought a threat of profiteering in food.

Cities which have active, effective councils—only a few as yet—may consider themselves lucky. Several of these groups already have waged spectacular, successful battles against price-gougers who were using the NRA or AAA as smoke screens.

Here and there, according to current complaints, stores are trying to create minor panics by using customers to hoard canned foods in advance of the coming higher-price period. "Canning crops" are reported 16 per cent above last year's.

THE NEC's Consumers' Division, working with the NRA Consumers' Advisory Board and the AAA Consumers' Council, is preparing information as to the available supplies of canned goods, comparing this year's pack with last year's, and supplying the data to the councils so the latter will know exactly what's what.

The local councils can raise all the trouble they like, though NEC tries to see that they don't go off half-cocked. They receive plenty of ammunition from Washington in confidential summaries of the things the NRA and AAA consumer and from 8:30 to 9:30 in the evening.

ATHOL, Mass., Sept. 11.—Perry Smith got a "bite" but instead of going down into the Connecticut river, his line went skyward—a kingfisher had taken his bait to a nearby tree.

units have been learning about prices and quality standards this last year and advice on specific local complaints.

THE councils can act in many cases where the government can't. If local dealers combine to raise milk prices, they can urge the mayor to call a hearing, present evidence as to the fairness of the boost, and make all kinds of hubbub.

In coming months they will be collecting local food prices and comparing them with prices in other cities as published by the Consumers' Guide.

The most active and effective ones so far are in Indianapolis, Boston, Albany, Louisville, St. Louis, New Orleans, Bozeman, Mont., and Lincoln, Neb.

IN St. Louis a divisional NRA code authority last May announced a new retail price schedule which boosted standard coal 45 per cent. The local CCC made a careful study, focused public attention on the newspapers and everywhere else in town were hollering, insisting public hearings, and showed the increases were outrageous.

Back here, the Consumers' Division went to bat with NRA, as arranged consumer representation at emergency coal price hearings everywhere and eventually persuaded NRA to disapprove the St. Louis price determination.

Dr. Willard Thorp is the new director of the Consumers' Division and Henry B. Arthur, who set up the price analysis section in NRA and served with the CAB, heads up the county council activities.

(Copyright, 1934, NRA Service Staff)

"You're cute, do you know it?" Edward told her contentedly as she matched her smaller steps to his great ones.

Boots reflected that she liked Edward a lot. He was pleasant to be with. There were modern conveniences. His conversation was the light talk of the day. He knew all the newest restaurants, the latest catchwords. Door men, elevator starters, the captains in the big restaurants all had an expensive air and a wide smile for the rich young man.

The big motion picture theater was crowded. A tall cadet in a braided and buttoned uniform led them across the chaste, simple foyer. There were modern pieces of sculpture, angled, creamy white, all about. There were deep piled eastern rugs on the marble floor. Somewhere a great organ boomed and trilled and thundered. . .

"In the back. We liked to sit in the back," Edward said frankly. And presently they were seated side by side in deep upholstered chairs, the screen a bluish wash of light half a city block away.

"Nice!" Edward's big hand found her small hand gave it a friendly pressure, released it.

BOOTS settled back, sighing with exquisite relief. The big, cool vaulted place, with its dimmed lights, its hushed and waiting throngs, suited her mood exactly. Presently the film began to wheel past. A story of love, poignantly simple, devastating. The girl found her eyes wet with unwilling tears. Why, this was what she didn't want to be reminded of—how overwhelming a love could be. Only it wasn't Russ the picture reminded her of. The tall, disdainful young man in the hussar's uniform, keeping his cool, aloof profile turned toward the watching throngs, was ever so little like Denis. . .

"I must be mad," she told herself angrily, with a little shrug of disgust. "Denis is certainly nothing to me. He was merely kind—I didn't even like him at first. Besides he belongs to Kay."

The picture had played an odd trick upon her. She could not shake Denis' image from her mind. And beside her Edward Van Sciver, big and brown and wholesome and rich, squared about in his seat to watch her. Edward, too, was thinking new thoughts. The girl who had been just a delightful playmate for odd hours now presented herself to him in a new light. How lovely she was in this half light with that mysterious, provocative little smile playing about her mouth! Edward touched her warm hand again and it remained in his own as simply, as confidently as a child's might.

"She's darn sweet," Edward told himself. But the words had a new meaning now. He felt an urge to protect, to guard her from the world. Poor kid, she was having a hard time of it, wasn't she? The web of fate was tightening around them both. Boots, brooding over the memory of a dark, painful face; Edward in whose mind a slow dream was taking shape at last. A dream of a little stone house in the country, some place and dogs and roses tumbling over stone walls and in the background a graceful figure crowned by golden hair. . .

"Oh, I'd love that!" Edward told the doorman he would pick his car up later. Very good, M. Van Sciver, yes, the big blue one. I know it's sure to do.

AND now spring had come to a waiting world. Last spring she had been so careless, so unawake. Now, in the span of a single year, will be announced by the individual stations. Negotiations are under way for additional broadcasts, which will be announced later by the Columbia Broadcasting system.

The programs at Ford Symphony Gardens will be presented from 2:30 to 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon and from 8:30 to 9:30 in the evening.

ATHOL, Mass., Sept. 11.—Perry Smith got a "bite" but instead of going down into the Connecticut river, his line went skyward—a kingfisher had taken his bait to a nearby tree.

THE councils can act in many cases where the government can't. If local dealers combine to raise milk prices, they can urge the mayor to call a hearing, present evidence as to the fairness of the boost, and make all kinds of hubbub.

In coming months they will be collecting local food prices and comparing them with prices in other cities as published by the Consumers' Guide.

The most active and effective ones so far are in Indianapolis, Boston, Albany, Louisville, St. Louis, New Orleans, Bozeman, Mont., and Lincoln, Neb.

IN St. Louis a divisional NRA code authority last May announced a new retail price schedule which boosted standard coal 45 per cent. The local CCC made a careful study, focused public attention on the newspapers and everywhere else in town were hollering, insisting public hearings, and showed the increases were outrageous.

Back here, the Consumers' Division went to bat with NRA, as arranged consumer representation at emergency coal price hearings everywhere and eventually persuaded NRA to disapprove the St. Louis price determination.

Dr. Willard Thorp is the new director of the Consumers' Division and Henry B. Arthur, who set up the price analysis section in NRA and served with the CAB, heads up the county council activities.

Wethered Is Best Woman Golfer

By HARRY PERCY
United Press Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—Miss Joyce Wethered has proved what most here claim her to be—the best woman golfer.

She played an exhibition match against Enid Wilson, an amateur claimant for world supremacy, on two holes, after being given five to play, over 18.

match provided something of a surprise. It was the first professional match ever known. Wethered took her amateur when she took up the post of "adviser" at a large store here. She is now in "golfing retirement" for the time being.

Wilson, winner of the open championship in 1931, 1932, and 1933, lost her amateur status. It was due to a new definition of an amateur, which prevents her from playing in competition who has been on golf when his or her profession is not a journeyman.

Miss Wilson had been reported in different competitions, and she was also excluded from the match. She was also excluded from the match. She was also excluded from the match.

match, played at Bramley, attended more than 500 spectators. Wethered won the match. She was also excluded from the match.

FLORIDA HAPPY OVER PROSPECT OF LAND BOOM

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 11.—With Floridians busy predicting a banner 1934-35 winter season, the 300,000 residents of the other 47 states who own Florida property may be interested to learn there's an abundance of opinion that another real estate boom is under way.

Few Floridians are willing to forecast any such frenzied speculation as seized the entire state nine years ago in the offing, but astute observers are agreed that current signs bode a strong resemblance to those in the Peninsula state in the 1920's.

Newspaper Survey
A survey by Florida newspaper publishers in connection with the celebration honoring Col. Henry L. Doherty for his leadership in restoring Florida to prosperity, revealed that big gains have been recorded in virtually all fields of activity. Basic, of course, has been the record-breaking $300,000,000 1934-34 tourist season. Developing from this have been the spectacular advances in building construction and real estate.

Real estate, according to the Florida Realty Journal, official organ of the Florida association of Real Estate Boards, is perking up. In the first six months of 1934 sales totaled $9,133,300, reports the Realty Journal. In St. Petersburg an additional report in July added $2,475,500 to the previous aggregate.

One of the busiest sectors is Miami Beach, where a report showed a gain in sales of 2,000 per cent over 1933.

Building Soars
Soaring figures for building construction permits, meantime, mark the extent to which new homes, office buildings, garages and stores are sprouting on this active property.

Miniature of "Old Faithful" Is Built

EL PASO, Sept. 11.—R. D. Lorenz claims ownership of a synthetic phenomenon—a miniature replica of "Old Faithful" geyser in Yellowstone National park.

He spent several days constructing the "geyser" which casts a stream of water to a height of approximately 45 feet. The eruptions are timed regularly at 16 minute intervals.

The water falls back into a small basin which is slightly below the surface of the ground, spraying vines and shrubs on the way.

Lorenz secured most of the details on how to construct his "geyser" from various books on the subject and carefully inspected a miniature "Old Faithful" in the ranger station at Yellowstone National park.

CONFUSION ENDED ON BRAN

New Ruling Makes Labels Accurate
To protect the buying public, the United States Food and Drug Administration has advised that every package of cereal labeled "Bran" state on the label exactly what it contains.

Before this ruling, even part-bran products were sometimes mistakenly referred to as "Bran." It was not easy for the purchaser to distinguish between a cereal that was entirely bran, or all bran with flavoring, and another that was mostly wheat.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is labeled "ALL-BRAN. Deliciously Flavored with Malt, Sugar and Salt," a statement which describes the product fairly and honestly.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has won millions of friends because it corrects most types of common constipation safely and pleasantly. It furnishes generous "bulk"—needed to promote normal elimination.

However, ALL-BRAN is not a "cure-all." Certain types of intestinal disorders should be treated only on a physician's advice.

When you buy a bran cereal, for the relief of constipation, read the wording on the package. The facts are there! Make sure by asking for Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It furnishes "bulk" in a form for satisfactory results.

COMINTERN PLANNING WORLD CONGRESS AFTER SIX YEARS

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD
United Press Staff Correspondent

MOSCOW, Sept. 11.—After a lapse of six years, the Comintern, or international revolutionary movement, will hold a world congress here soon.

The congress will gather in the midst of rapidly-changing social and economic conditions throughout the world which have altered political institutions. Its leaders will analyze those conditions to determine where and when the overthrow of capitalist regimes can best be attempted.

Purpose Described
To describe their purpose thus is not to raise a "Red Scare," or to exaggerate world revolution, by force if necessary, is the frank, publicly-avowed program of the comintern and its leaders would be the first to acknowledge it.

The congress will meet in the New Kremlin hall, a large and beautiful appointed building which was finished just recently. The 17th congress of the Russian communist party, represented in the Comintern, was held there last winter.

Delegates from all countries where communist parties exist are expected. Actual voters probably will not exceed two or three hundred. But, including prominent Russian communists and others who will attend, some 1,500 are likely to be present.

Secret Sessions
Sessions will be secret. What the non-communist world learns of what is said and done in the vast Kremlin hall will depend on how much information delegates give the press informally and on resolutions and manifestoes which may be published in the soviet press.

Something is known in a general way, however, of the subjects to be discussed. Gregory Dimitrov, who became a universally-known figure after he was tried by the Nazi regime in Germany on charges of having set fire to the Reichstag building in Berlin, will be one of the speakers.

Another "high-light" report will be that of Dmitri Manuilski, a member of the presidium or "steering committee" of the Comintern. He will tell delegates from other countries of the successes and problems encountered by the Russian communist party in its attempt to "build socialism" here.

HAUSNER WILL ATTEMPT NEW POLISH FLIGHT

DETROIT, Sept. 11 — Stanley Hausner, Polish-American aviator who for 14 of his 35 years has stuck doggedly to a dream of spanning the Atlantic, hopes to make the third attempt a success this fall.

Twice his non-stop flight, New York to Warsaw, Poland, ended in failure, but not despair.

The Newark, N. J., motion picture operator, who has wanted to cross the Atlantic since he was 21, is making final arrangements for a Detroit-Warsaw solo flight of some 5,000 miles.

First

If successful this time, he will be first to:

1. Negotiate the eastward crossing from American to Poland.
2. Span the ocean from a take-off west of New York.

The site of his starting point has not yet been definitely decided, although Hausner believes it will be Detroit, center of a large Polish group. He recently came here to study condition of the city's airports and to obtain support of Polish organizations for his proposed flight.

Hausner recalled then his previous attempts to complete the crossing in May and June, 1932. He first took off from Floyd Bennett airport May 28, returning shortly afterward, because of dense fogs. The second attempt started June 3. Both flier and ship disappeared for more than a week.

Luck Against Him

"Luck was against me and I crashed off the coast of Britain," he said. "Eight days I floated, drifting across the treacherous Bay of Biscay, and was rescued off the coast of Spain."

His new plane has been finished, Hausner announced, in part through the aid of Detroiters of Polish descent. He intends to try the feat about Sept. 16, depending upon weather conditions.

George Matiusinski, Polish consul of Pittsburgh whose territory includes Detroit, is actively interested in the proposed new flight.

Stanislaus Felix Hausner, who was born in Poland, was brought to this country when a child. He now is a naturalized citizen. Hausner studied for the jersey in New Orleans, then abandoned those plans.

Limited License

He held only a limited pilot's license when he started out from Floyd Bennett airport at 9:46 a. m. June 3, 1932, over the 4,350 miles by air from New York to Warsaw. His flame colored Bellanca monoplane, Rosa Maria, carried 525 gallons of gasoline. It had no radio equipment. Hausner's wife, Martha, 25, and the Rev. Paul Knappek, Polish Catholic priest of Newark, Hausner's teacher and close friend, watched him take off.

When the ordinary time which should have been consumed in crossing the ocean lengthened into days and then a week with him unreported, all but his wife and the Rev. Knappek gave him up for lost.

Then June 11 a cryptic message

HOOKS AND SLIDES

PHILADELPHIA—Connie Mack knows the AAAAAA's are loading, but professes not to know what to do about it.

So just run out to any American League park, pay your $1.65, and watch the boys loll away the afternoon. Don't blame them. They're discouraged.

Mack doesn't appear particularly exercised about the situation.

"We wouldn't draw 50,000 more people in Philadelphia during the course of the season were we slambang contenders," explained the tall tactician.

"It has been that way in Philadelphia ever since I broke in there with the American League in 1901. The fans will follow a club while it definitely is on the way up, but drop it like a hot potato once it scales the heights."

"It was lack of interest on the part of our patrons that forced me to dispose of Grove, Earnshaw, Walberg, Cochrane, Simmons, Haas, Dykes and Bishop. I dislike to sell players as much as anyone."

Success Potent Tonic

"It's disheartening, this business of losing. It takes a lot out of a fellow. Being with a winner is the most potent tonic I ever came across. You sleep and eat well when you're rolling along with a song."

"But I guess I'll have to speak to Roger Cramer the next time he runs to the dugout instead of first base when it is apparent that he is to be thrown out in the ninth inning. Cramer has done this several times, and it looks bad. I have been hoping that he would take a tumble to himself."

Mack said that Frank Higgins and Bob Johnson are the only two members of the Philadelphia club who have given their best efforts from the outset.

"Jimmy Foxx may think he is playing as well as ever, but he isn't. Balls get through him that shouldn't, and go for base hits, and at times he is equally careless at bat."

Sold Old Ones in Time

MACK declared that Ira Thomas and the remainder of his scouts were on the lookout for battersmen, and that he would like to strike back next year.

"Give us Mickey Cochrane and two or three Grade A pitchers, and we'd be right up there now," went on the lean leader, "but, as things turned out, we would have fared no better with the pitchers we peddled."

Mack referred to Grove, who developed a sore arm; Walberg, who suffered an attack of blood poisoning; and Earnshaw, who has pitched well only in fits and starts. "All that goes up must come down," observed Mack, by way of stressing the point that it is just as important for a manager to know when a player is going as it is to see one coming.

Profitable Hobbies At Vets Hospital

KERRVILLE, Sept. 11 — Profitable hobbies among patients at the U. S. Veterans Hospital at Legion include making artificial lures for fishing, and extensive use of the hospital library.

Paul F. Carrington, patient from San Antonio, is a devotee of angling and carves out his own game-fish lures. He has named his favorite "Tom Thumb," which is a minnow whittled from cedar and painted bright colors. Carrington has caught lures as long as 20 inches with his hand-made bait. He frequently adjusts hooks, spinners, and colors after trying out the lures.

Louis J. Magenis, native of Ireland also a patient entered from San Antonio, reads many books and newspapers and follows world affairs. He considered William Butler Yeats the greatest poet his native land has produced. Magenis has done newspaper work on the Paughkeensie Evening Enterprise (N. Y.) and Del Rio Evening News and San Antonio Express in Texas.

Many people are urged to bring their unneeded friends and relatives. There will be no admission charge, but a silver offering for picture expense will be asked.
