Ask Us

Q—Will the city of Snyder get relief from the proposed new rules on landfill monitoring?

A—No. The so-called small town exemption applies only to landfills that place 20 tons or less in the landfill on a daily basis. The daily production of refuse by Snyder is approximately 50 tons.

In Brief

Whitewater

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal regulator accused by Republicans of seeking to change an embarrassing finding in a Whitewater-related investigation testified today she didn't recall her statements to an investigator, who secretly taped them.

But Resolution Trust Corp. lawyer April Breslaw defended her conduct, "I had not behaved in an unethical manner," she told the House Banking Committee's Whitewater hearing.

Citing a transcript of the taped conversations, Republicans allege Breslaw told a criminal investigator that her bosses would like to conclude President and Mrs. Clinton's Whitewater land venture had not caused a loss to a failed Arkansas savings and loan.

INFERNAL SPECTACLE — Snyder firefighters hose down the former Neff Floral and Garden Center, which was destroyed by fire Thursday. Firemen were on the scene for more than six hours. The cause of the blaze is still under investigation. (Photo by Paul Gilbert)

Two treated at Cogdell...

Former florist shop burns

Fire swept through a former florist shop and nursery here Thursday afternoon, sending two firefighters to the hospital for treatment and disrupting traffic for over six hours.

The building, last occupied by Neff Floral and Garden Center, was destroyed in the fire, which began about 2:25 p.m.

Firefighters were hampered by the location, the possibility of chemicals and shifting winds. Located at 2804 College Avenue, the building was on the south bank of Deep Creek and just a short distance from a large grocery store, Don's Value King.

With assistance from city crews and others, a dike was quickly constructed to keep runoff contained. Firemen said a team from the water commission would be in Snyder today to determine what chemicals, if any, may have reached the creek.

Firemen said Hastagro, a fertilizer, was in the building, along with some other unidentified chemicals, apparently used in gardening.

As the fire raged, law enforcement officers rerouted vehicles in about a four-block area. Winds shifted about 3:30 p.m., causing the temporary evacuation of Don's Value King and the parking lot. Customers were allowed to go back in about 5 o'clock. College Avenue was blocked off until firemen left the scene, after 9 p.m.

Firemen said there was no danger of the fire spreading to other structures, but there was concern that fumes from burning chemicals might overcome firefighters or onlookers. Several firefighters were treated at the scene for smoke inhalation.

Two volunteers were transported to Cogdell Memorial Hospital emergency room. One, 40-year-old Jack Callaway, was held for observation after being treated for smoke inhalation. The other, 29-year-old Jim Pollard, was released after being treated for a cut finger.

Firefighters today refused to speculate on the cause of the fire, saying only that it is under investigation.

The building had originally been occupied by Everybody's Grocery. The grocery moved to a different location about 34 years ago.

Assisting in the effort were Snyder EMS, the ladies auxiliary, Fluvanna Volunteer Fire Department, Snyder Safety Service, Par Safety Service, Fluid Transports, TU Electric, the police department and city street, sewer and water workers.

Gov. Richards could visit Snyder during county fair

By JOHN McMILLAN
SDN Staff Writer

Gov. Ann Richards could be attracting more notice than the cattle at this year's Scurry County Fair, if everything goes right.

An aide for the Democratic governor, who is in the midst of a reelection campaign against George Bush, has expressed tentative interest in Richards attending the fair, a spokesman for the chamber of commerce said at Thursday's meeting of the chamber's tourism committee.

The chamber on Thursday sent Richards' office the fair schedule, and expects to receive official news from the governor by the end of this month on her plans in that regard.

The fair is scheduled for September 22-24 at Scurry County Coliseum.

Unlike the previous two years, the White Buffalo Days celebration of this year will occur on a different date from that of the fair. White Buffalo Days for this year, a special celebration of the event that will feature the unveiling of a bronze statue of the famous albino buffalo killed in this area in 1876, is scheduled for Oct. 8.

Aside from the schedule for White Buffalo Days, the county fair for this year is expected to be "pretty much" the same as in recent previous years, a chamber spokesman said.

In other news from Thursday's tourism committee meeting:

• Jeff James and Ken Wilson of the Midland Angels minor-league baseball team urged Snyder-area businesses to sell tickets, and local residents to purchase them, for the Angels' Aug. 20 game at Christensen Stadium in northeastern Midland. That game will be designated Community Night for Snyder.

• Jay Wesson, director and manager of Scurry County Coliseum, reported that the coliseum has sold about 10 advertising signs, each of them about four feet by eight feet, for permanent display inside the coliseum's agricultural annex.

The coliseum plans to sell about 20 more of the advertising-display signs for permanent display inside the annex. In all, the coliseum expects to earn about $3,500 from selling the signs, Wesson said.

• Chamber Manager Ricky Fritz reported that officials from Snyder Independent School District and Cogdell Memorial Hospital have each expressed a commitment to replacing messages on billboards along U.S. Highway 84.

• Fritz informed tourism committee officials that the chamber has decided against renewing its rental contract on a billboard sign in the Roscoe area that has proclaimed, "Snyder: The Scenic Route to Carlsbad Caverns." The lease agreement on that billboard sign ended in January, he said.

• Carolyn House suggested that the chamber consider displaying a tourism-promotion sign in the Colorado City and Big Spring areas.

• Fritz suggested that the chamber develop a unifying theme on its various tourism-promotion billboard signs. Among the possible themes cited by tourism-

Three plead guilty, all receive probation

Three probated sentences and two deferred adjudications were handed down Thursday in 132nd District Court.

Delores Ann Davis, 34, of 509 32nd St. was sentenced to eight years probated after pleading guilty to a June 18, 1993 offense of felony theft of clothing from Jackie Jackson.

District Judge Gene Dulaney also ordered Davis to pay a $500 fine and make restitution totaling $2,461.

Mary Ann Jalomos, 23, of 1904 Coleman, Apt. 4, was assessed a six-year probated sentence after pleading guilty to tampering with government records. Jalomos was charged with the June 4, 1993 offense of failing to report income of a household member in order to secure food stamps.

Jose Alfredo Bentinez Jr. pled guilty to a June 11 felony driving while intoxicated charge. Benitez, 25, of 3009 Ave. M was given a three-year probated sentence and fined $750. He was also ordered to spend 30 days in an in-patient treatment center.

Two persons pled guilty to charges of burglary of a building and each were placed on deferred adjudication which means that if the persons successfully serve out the conditions of probation, the offense will be removed from the records.

Planes strike targets in Bosnia

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina (AP) — NATO warplanes reportedly struck targets around Sarajevo today, in retaliation for the seizure of a tank and other heavy weapons from a U.N. depot by Bosnian Serbs.

French and Dutch jets carried out the strikes, CNN in Washington quoted Pentagon sources as saying.

The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. John M. Shalikashvili, said he could not say whether the strikes took place. He would not say whether U.S. aircraft were involved, or comment on the size of the operation.

He spoke at a brief news conference after the U.S. Central Command change of command ceremony in Tampa, Fla., at MacDill Air Force Base in Tampa.

Bosnian Serbs seized a T-55 tank, two armored personnel carriers and an anti-aircraft gun from a U.N.-guarded site near Sarajevo today and shot a U.N. helicopter sent to track the tank.

The United Nations summoned the planes to enforce a NATO order banning heavy weapons from around Sarajevo. The official would not say how many NATO jets were in the air over Bosnia as part of the mission.

The Serb theft of weapons indicated increasing desperation a day after Serbia cut off crucial support to them for rejecting the latest international peace plan. They also threaten an increasingly shaky truce that has spared Sarajevo heavy bombardment since February.

Maj. Dacre Holloway, a U.N. spokesman, said the Serbs had parked a stolen tank and an armored personnel carrier near a hospital and a school. That would make it nearly impossible for NATO planes to try to hit the weapons because of the danger of hitting civilians.

U.N. officers were negotiating with the Serb military for the return of the weapons. But "it could be very long," said another U.N. spokesman, Maj. Gregoire Verdun. "It's like a game."

Maj. Rob Annink of the U.N. peacekeepers also reported that Serbs on Wednesday fired two rounds of 82mm mortar fire into a Sarajevo neighborhood in clear violation of the weapons exclusion zone around Sarajevo.

It was the first time the United Nations had confirmed heavy weapons were fired on central Sarajevo since NATO ordered the Serbs in February to remove heavy weapons out of the 12.5-mile exclusion zone or turn them over to U.N. control.

Any violation of the exclusion zone would be grounds for U.N. commanders to call NATO air strikes. Firing on the U.N. helicopter is also grounds for an air strike.

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

Russell Skiles, in the Lamesa Press-Reporter, is the typical editor. He thinks all communications should be brief and to the point. He wrote:

"Wordiness is a liability that afflicts many. Avoid the heavy use of superlatives and adjectives. Don't talk for 15 minutes to say what could be better stated in three. Don't be a bore."

He added that precedent is all on the side of brevity.

--The Lord's Prayer has 71 words.

--The Ten Commandments contains only 297 words.

--The Gettysburg Address has 271.

--The legal marriage vow has just two.

--General McAluliffe at the Battle of the Bulge made his point in only one word: "Nuts!"

The fuse is short everywhere this summer, according to Kim Pease in the Rotan Advance. He suggested an attitude adjustment.

"Some have been pretty verbal in expressing their objection to remodeling being done to the Rotan downtown median. People say the work is causing taxes to go up. "Not so," said Pease.

"People making that kind of remark are just not informed. We have said time and again that taxes are not going up because of the remodeling, but some insist on making statements that are incorrect.

"Mayor Marshall alluded to a statement made by a Rotan resident recently that was completely inaccurate. However, the person the mayor was talking to took great pride in stating that they didn't read 'that blankety-blank newspaper.'

"Another case of ignorance. If people can't take a few minutes to be informed, they should be required to only discuss their opinions in the privacy of their bathroom. Some folks need an attitude adjustment."

We wonder if Rotan has an OK Corral?"

Judge terminates probation for woman who killed stalker

HOUSTON (AP) — A judge has terminated the 10-year probation sentence given a nurse who killed an AIDS-infected stalker after the woman was on probation for one year.

District Judge Bob Burdette Thursday ordered an immediate end to the deferred adjudication probation he gave Cynthia Moye, who pleaded no-contest Jan. 21 to a reduced charge of assault.

Ms. Moye, a worker at a Houston nursing home, said she was thrilled to have her sentence canceled. Since the sentence was deferred adjudication, all reference of the conviction will be removed from her record.

Her arrest for killing Henry Davenport, 50, can always be found if anyone checks her record, but she can truthfully say she has never been convicted of a felony crime.

The action was criticized by Assistant District Attorney Steve Baldassano.

"The agreement I had with the defendant was for her to serve 10 years deferred," he said, "and I wanted to see that lived up to by both sides."

Lana Gordon, Ms. Moye's defense lawyer, said the shots that killed Davenport outside the woman's apartment were too merciful.

He deserved a "public hanging" for what he did to Ms. Moye, she said.

"The prosecution is saying this (early termination) sends the wrong message to the community," Gordon said. "But I think the judge did the right thing. If you commit homicide after being battered by an AIDS-infected, syphilitic rapist and thief, you shouldn't be placed on probation in the first place."

Davenport had followed Ms. Moye around for months prior to the June 3, 1993 shooting. He lived in his car in front of her apartment, knocking on her door often and sometimes behaving menacingly when she spurned his persistent advances, Ms. Gordon said.

In 1992, he was sentenced to 60 days in jail for trespassing at the apartment.

Ms. Moye said that on the night of the shooting, Davenport began pounding on her door. After the two shouted at each other through the door, Ms. Moye said she fired a .25-caliber handgun through her closed blinds to scare him away.

Moments later, he returned and was shot in the side and foot and died at the scene, police said.

Bumper crop fills up all elevators

VICTORIA (AP) — A bumper corn harvest in Victoria County has created traffic jams at area storage elevators.

The high corn yields have filled county elevators' bins to the brim, causing delays for truckers who are unloading corn at the facilities.

John Whittenberg was one of the drivers waiting earlier this week at Guadalupe Grain Elevator to unload his truck full of corn — where the wait was running from 45 minutes to an hour.

There were similar delays at other elevators.

"I've never seen it like this year," said Whittenberg, who has been coming to Victoria County for the past eight years to custom harvest crops.

"These are the best yields I've seen here in eight years. The corn is yielding over 120 bushels per acre, with some fields as high as 140 bushels," he said.

According to the Victoria County Extension Service, the county averages about 90 bushels per acre in a typical year.

On Monday, efforts were being made to move out some of the corn in the bins so the remaining corn in the county's fields could be harvested and unloaded.

Dan Gillar, who operates the Guadalupe, Wood Hi and Densman elevators, was moving corn out of those bins and hauling it to his elevator in Goliad, which he said still has room for about 8 million pounds of corn.

Some elevator bins have been filled with a bumper crop of grain sorghum, and have also had to make room for soybeans, which were harvested early this year due to heat and dry weather.

Astrograph

By Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

Saturday, Aug. 6, 1994

In the year ahead you might be fortunate in establishing friendships with influential individuals who could prove very helpful to you commercially.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) This is not a good day for you to make last minute changes in something that is already moving along a prescribed course. Don't derail the endeavor. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 4465, New York, N.Y. 10163.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Guard against inclinations today to oversell. You're pretty good at convincing people, but if you talk too much, you could undo what you already sold.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Sometimes we can get a better deal from strangers than we can from friends. This could be one of those days, so be careful if doing business with pals.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Today you might be too indecisive about your objectives. This could severely lessen your chances to achieve anything for which you're aiming.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you are not selective and discerning today, there is a possibility you might share confidences with a person who cannot be trusted.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Disappointment is likely today if the price tag you put on merchandise or service you have to offer is excessive. I'm afraid you won't find many satisfied takers.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) For expeditious purposes you might make some promises or commitments today you may not be able to fulfill at a later date. However, you will be held accountable.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you do not believe in yourself or your abilities, don't expect others to believe in you. Persons with whom you'll be involved today will perceive you as you perceive yourself.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) An arrangement you're presently contemplating with some friends might not be as rosy as it appears on the surface. Before you plunge in, take more soundings on the depth of the water.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If possible, forgo decision making until another day. Because of inclinations to expedite matters, you might do something counterproductive.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It might take more self-discipline than you're able to muster today in order to complete some tedious assignments. Disinterest destroys productivity.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Lady Luck is your pal today, but only up to a point. If you start taking foolish risks, she might abandon you in favor of someone who isn't trying to beat the odds.

Understanding leukemia prognosis

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have a co-worker who has chronic leukemia. Would you comment on the different types and expected life span?

DEAR READER: For practical purposes, leukemia — cancer of the white blood cells — is divided into acute and chronic forms; either type of blood cell (lymphocytes or myelocytes) can be affected. Thus, a patient can have either acute or chronic lymphocytic leukemia or acute or chronic myelocytic leukemia.

In general, the acute forms are much more dangerously aggressive, causing rapidly progressing illness and death, unless treated.

On the other hand, chronic leukemia is less serious. For example, the affliction may be discovered by accident during a blood test in a person who is free of symptoms.

Nonetheless, chronic leukemia must be treated or it — like acute leukemia — will progress to death, albeit at a somewhat slower rate than its acute counterpart.

Symptoms of leukemia include fatigue, weakness, weight loss, pallor, fever, easy bruising, and swollen glands.

The diagnosis is made by blood tests and examination of the bone marrow.

Most cases of chronic leukemia can be successfully treated with drugs, such as hydroxyurea; radiation therapy and steroids may be required.

Although some types of chronic myelocytic leukemia may be fatal within three or four years, some patients live much longer. Chronic lymphocytic leukemia has a more favorable prognosis, with some patients living as long as 20 years.

The cause of acute and chronic leukemia is unknown. Some studies have suggested a genetic disposition. Massive exposure to radiation (such as occurred during the Chernobyl incident) usually leads to a particularly vicious type of leukemia. A few authorities suspect that strange virus infections may produce the disorder.

During the past two decades, the most striking benefits in cancer therapy have been in the treatment of leukemia, especially in children. While therapy for most cancers has not affected the death rate — or changed it only slightly — treatment for leukemia has been revolutionary.

Therefore, the diagnosis of leukemia no longer carries with it the horrendous stigma of an early and uncomfortable death. Rather, the affliction is treatable — even curable — in the majority of cases.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Viruses and Cancer." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2433, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to mention the title.

Texas prison inmates seeing red over new pants design

The new design — eliminating the button-up fly — is being phased in as the pants come off the inmate assembly line to replace the old ventilated style.

That means prisoners with full bladders and new pants can get relief only by dropping their drawers, and some aren't happy about it.

Inmate Alan Wade Johnson, who is imprisoned at the Mark Stiles Unit in Beaumont, was concerned enough to fire off letters to Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock and some legislators.

Johnson, serving a life sentence for rape and robbery, called the pants problem "an explosive issue," the Austin American-Statesman reported Thursday.

"You (may) crack a smile and laugh about it," Johnson wrote. "But give it time to sink in and think about the consequences of over 100,000 male prisoners wearing female attire and I believe you'll understand (it's) not so funny.

"You must understand, masculine identity ... is so much stronger in prison than in society, and the majority are not going to stand for it," Johnson wrote.

Standing, it turns out, is a key aspect of discontent with the change. One bemused prison official said angry inmates' primary beef to him has been that the new outfits will force them to assume a ladylike position when nature calls.

Female inmates have a choice between a skirt and pants similar to the new men's trousers. A prison official said most of the women choose to wear the pants, which, like the new men's version, lack even the cosmetic touch of a fake fly on the front.

Johnson, in his letter to Bullock, urged the state's second-highest official to "consider the emotional impact on those of us who will be forced to dress like women."

2 men indicted for murder

LONGVIEW (AP) — Two men have been indicted on capital murder charges in a Kilgore bar shooting that killed four patrons and wounded another.

The Gregg County grand jury returned indictments Thursday against Ray Don Mosley, 31, and his nephew, Daroyce Lamont Mosley, 19.

The men remained in Gregg County Jail Thursday on $1 million bonds each.

A 16-year-old Kilgore boy who was also arrested in the robbery and slayings remains in juvenile detention pending a hearing on whether he should be prosecuted as an adult, officials said.

The indictments allege the Mosleys shot four people in the head as they lay on the floor of Katie's Lounge during a robbery a July 21 robbery.

A fifth person, waitress Sandra Cash, also was shot.

About $400 was taken in the robbery, according to the indictment.

Family members have said Ray Don Mosley was recently paroled from a state prison after serving time for felony theft. Relatives described the younger Mosley as a straight-A engineering major at Kilgore Junior College.

Kilgore, population 11,000, is about 115 miles east of Dallas.

Dear Abby

Wife Who Stays Fashionably Thin Is Unfashionably Dumped

by Abigail Van Buren

© 1994 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this for "Fat but Not Happy."

Many men actually prefer women with a few curves and a little meat on their bones. I have noticed that some men don't care for skinny women. I am a thin woman, and I watched my weight so I wouldn't get fat, and guess what? My husband dumped me for a fat woman — not "chubby," mind you; 5 foot 4, weighing 210.

THE OTHER SIDE

DEAR ABBY: I, too, have struggled with weight all my adult life. I am 36. The man I was married to for 11 years constantly threatened to leave me if I ever became fat. (I was pregnant at the time.)

Well, I spent most of my married life wishing he would leave. As I got heavier and heavier, topping 300 pounds, he didn't leave me, but I left him!

After that I slimmed down, dropped 60 pounds and remained single for four years; then I met a wonderful man and we have been happily married for a year.

My weight started creeping up on me again, and when I mentioned it, he laughed and said he loved me just the way I was, and I shouldn't expect to become a slave to a thin body just because that's what society expects.

Abby, "Not Happy" needs to love herself and be happy with who she is. And her husband needs to love the person inside of her. With age, accidents, surgery or having babies, our bodies change.

Oh, one more thing ... my complaining, degrading ex-husband cheated on me when I was fat — and thin. Explain that!

CHEERFULLY CHUBBY IN SLIDELL, LA.

DEAR ABBY: I found an abandoned photo album in the vast mountain of junk that a disgruntled tenant left for us to clean up in an old Victorian mansion near downtown Los Angeles.

The tenant was a notorious scavenger and, as such, went through people's trash (literally). Most of the stuff was worthless, but at least one item could be priceless.

It is a photograph album containing photos from the late '30s through the '50s. It apparently had belonged to a Japanese couple whose last name was "Tsunekawa."

Smack dab in the middle of this album are photographs of (presumably) the Tsunekawas and fellow Japanese Americans in an internment camp at Poston, Ariz. I cried when I saw how they did their best to be gracious in the midst of a civil liberties travesty.

Will you please help me locate this family? I'm sure they would be grateful to have this album.

ELLEN S., LAKEVIEW TERRACE, CALIF.

DEAR ELLEN S.: How generous of you to make an effort to locate the Tsunekawa family. If they write to me at P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069, I will put them in touch with you.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I go to Florida for three months every winter, and we have made a habit of calling our married children every Sunday. (They live in Illinois.) All of a sudden, my husband decides that it is our children's place to call us in Florida. "If they want to talk to us," he says, "why can't they pick up a phone and make a call?" To be honest with you, Abby, it never dawned on me that we were doing all the calling.

A few of my friends have the same problem, and we would all appreciate your answer.

My husband reads your column every day, so please put your answer in the paper.

GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: Question: Who is better able to pay for these long-distance calls? If it's not a strain on your budget, you might as well continue calling your children. On the other hand, if the kids can better afford it, they should call you.

Warden fires one guard; 12 suspended after probe

ABILENE (AP) — A prison warden has fired one guard and suspended 12 others after an investigation showed that three inmates were apparently abused, officials said Thursday.

Two employees of the French Robertson Unit resigned earlier this week as the investigation continued into the prisoners' claims that correctional officers roughed them up last month.

Administrative discipline by Warden Ron Drewry against the guards was taken late Wednesday.

Assistant Warden J.V. Young said some of the officers' actions remain the focus of a criminal investigation by the state prison system's internal affairs division.

"It basically was mistreatment," said Young. "That could be from excessive force to harassment."

Young and a Texas Department of Corrections spokesman in Huntsville declined to name the officers involved or detail the alleged abuse. Both cited the ongoing investigation.

The inmates were scratched and bruised during the attacks, said Young.

An employee, speaking on condition of anonymity, told the Abilene Reporter-News on Wednesday that part of the investigation involves guards who deliberately provoked fights with inmates.

A similar incident led to the dismissal of three officers earlier this year, Young said.

Officials said that, of the 19 people reportedly involved in last month's scrape, two resigned, one was dismissed, 12 were suspended without pay, and three were found to have committed no violation of prison procedure.

Action toward the remaining officer will be considered when he returns from vacation next week.

Resignations included those of a supervisor and a guard. The fired officer also was a supervisor.

Against O.J. Simpson...

Authorities hone in on stalking motive

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In a letter he wrote before fleeing police, O.J. Simpson said he loved his ex-wife and insisted: "All her friends will confirm that I have been totally loving and understanding."

They don't.

"She was the ultimate possession. That's how he saw her," a friend of Nicole Brown Simpson told The Associated Press. "He didn't see her as his wife. He didn't see her as the mother of his children. He saw her as the ultimate possession."

The source, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said Ms. Simpson's friends describe Simpson as a possessive and obsessed man prone to physical and psychological violence against his ex-wife.

Their statements, if allowed in court, will give prosecutors ammunition for arguing that Simpson killed Ms. Simpson and her friend Ronald Goldman out of jealousy and rage.

The source said Simpson was "relentless," hiring people to follow her and getting information from restaurant employees who worked where she was dining.

"He would always know where she was," said the friend. "He would know in advance, and then he'd be hiding in her bushes before she got home sometimes."

Simpson, 47, has pleaded innocent to two murder charges. Trial is scheduled Sept. 19. Simpson's attorney Robert Shapiro didn't immediately return a telephone call for comment.

Sources confirmed for The AP that police are interviewing Ms. Simpson's friends about the couple's relationship and that they are trying to establish a pattern of stalking.

The Los Angeles Times reported Thursday that police have seized tapes from Ms. Simpson's answering machine, which she reportedly used to screen unwanted calls from Simpson.

The friends' statements mirror those made to a grand jury by Ms. Simpson's ex-boyfriend, Keith Zlomsowitch. He described how Simpson showed up unannounced on the couple's dates and once spied on them having sex.

Combine that with the dramatic 911 tapes — in which Ms. Simpson pleads for help while Simpson can be heard swearing in the background — and prosecutors could make a strong case that Simpson exhibited a pattern of abusive behavior.

And a pattern is just what they need to show.

Prosecutors are not allowed to introduce a defendant's past misdeeds, or even convictions sometimes, unless the information is relevant enough to make up for the shock value it will have on the jury.

Lawyer Harland Braun, who represented Officer Ted Briseno in the Rodney King beating case, encountered a similar situation when prosecutors wanted to tell the jury about a past abuse allegation involving Briseno.

The judge wouldn't allow the evidence, in part because the alleged abuse occurred too long ago and involved someone other than King.

But Braun said evidence of Simpson's stalking probably will be allowed because it was more recent and was against one of the slaying victims.

Meanwhile, court records suggest Simpson and his ex-wife had not lived separately while working out their differences, as had been reported. Instead, they were living together in Simpson's mansion up until 19 days before the June 12 murders.

According to custody papers filed by the grandparents of the Simpson children, Ms. Simpson moved out of the mansion in March 1992, but moved back on Jan. 15.

She didn't move out with the children until May 24, the papers say.

Tyler couple sues police over mistaken drug raid on July 8

TYLER (AP) — A retired couple whose home mistakenly was raided by city police in search of drugs say they are suing the police over the incident.

Robert Pullins, 64, and his wife, Christine Pullins, 63, were at home with their 10-year-old grandson July 8 when six police officers burst through their front door with guns drawn, the lawsuit said.

Pullins said his grandson was forced to the ground by officers and now has an aversion to police.

Mrs. Pullins suffered a knee injury when an officer knocked a door into her leg. Mrs. Pullins was treated and released from Mother Frances Hospital after the incident, nursing supervisor Denise McClellan said.

Assistant Police Chief Bob Bond confirmed on Thursday that officers entered the wrong house when they set out to execute a search warrant at the Pullinses' home. He also confirmed the existence of the suit.

However, details of the suit were not immediately available Thursday night.

"We were in the back bedroom and we heard a lot of hollering," Pullins, a retired welder, told the Tyler Morning Telegraph. "I came out and they (officers) had our 10-year-old grandson down on the floor. He was terrified — still is."

Pullins said that when he ran out of the bedroom, he was met in the kitchen by two officers, one with his gun drawn.

"He told me, 'Get your hands up, get your hands up. We want the drugs!' Then he got me down on my knees and handcuffed me," Pullins said.

"I was standing in the bathroom," Mrs. Pullins said. "I thought there were robbers in the house. Then he (an officer) kicked the door into my knee. It still bothers me. I already have rheumatism and high blood pressure."

The handcuffs were released after about 10 minutes and the officers remained in the couple's house about 30 minutes, Pullins said.

"They looked in the clothes closet in the bedroom, and when they didn't find anything there, they figured they were in the wrong house," he added.

The correct house was raided last week and resulted in the confiscation of 20 rocks of crack cocaine and five arrests, he said.

An internal affairs investigation is under way into why the wrong house was targeted in the first raid.

Is change for the best?

By Phillip Alder

King Whitney, Jr., the former President of Personnel Laboratory Inc., once said, "Change has considerable psychological impact on the human mind. To the fearful it is threatening, because it means that things may get worse. To the hopeful it is encouraging, because things may get better. To the confident it is inspiring, because the challenge exists to make things better."

There has, of course, been change in bridge, usually for the better, but sometimes for the worse. In some areas, players don't lead fourth-highest from their longest and strongest against no-trump contracts. Instead, they use Attitude Leads, which don't give count. In principle, the lower the card led, the stronger their holding in the suit. It does depend on the strengh of the rest of their hand, but in general from, say, J-7-6-4, they lead the six or seven. But from K-J-6-4, they lead the four.

It is a method that has its triumphs, but also its disasters — as in today's deal.

South's sequence showed a balanced hand with 23 or 24 points.

As West, you or I would lead the diamond seven, after which we should defeat the contract. But playing attitude leads, West selected the diamond three. Dummy's four won the first trick! The declarer, benefiting from the extra dummy entry, took a winning spade finesse. South continued with two top clubs. When West discarded on the second, declarer played a diamond to dummy's ace, repeated the spade finesse and claimed nine tricks: three spades, two hearts, two diamonds and two clubs.

Vice President Millard Fillmore succeeded to the presidency on July 10, 1850, following the death of President Zachary Taylor the day before.

Fishing Report

Lake E.V. Spence - The pace of fishing slowed, however the big striper catches increased over the weekend. One 25-pound catch was reported, and there were some respectable black bass including a 6-pounder.

Wildcat Marina - Debbie, Frank, Diana and Terry Brown, Odessa, pulled in 20 striped bass, using live shad, ranging from 4-6 pounds, but the catch of the day was Terry's 25-pound striper; Cole Mashburn, Odessa, worked with a white jib and plastic worm to pull in 9-pound and 24-pound stripers; Terry McGinley, Robert Lee, used a red shad power worm to land a 6-pound black bass.

Paint Creek Marina - Bob Edwards, Odessa, reeled in a 4 1/2-pound black bass on a red shad worm; Jerry Long, San Angelo, caught 10 stripers trolling, ranging 4-6 pounds; Anthony Pender, Eunice, N.M., caught a 3-pound striper.

Lake Ivie - Excellent black bass fishing from 12 to 16-inches were reported. The bass took crank, spinner and all types of topwater lures. Results were especially good when fishermen spotted them feeding on shad near the surface. The 18-inch or more keeper bass were in deeper water during the day. A few smallmouth bass were mixed in with the black bass.

Impressive stringers of white bass were being taken where fishermen moved to where shad was breaking the surface during a feeding frenzy. There were only poor results on yellow and channel catfishing. Crappie have moved to deep river and creek channels.

Players, owners remain divided

NEW YORK (AP) — Although fuming over a huge payment they didn't get, baseball players decided to keep their walkout date set for next Friday.

"We see this as an act of war," Kansas City Royals pitcher David Cone said of management's decision not to make a $7.8 million payment to the union's benefit plan.

With words and stances sharpened, many players wanted to strike today. However, the executive board of the players' association listened to the advice from union head Donald Fehr, who urged them to stay with the Aug. 12 date the board set last week.

"Just because the owners are behaving in an irresponsible and provocative manner doesn't mean the players have to do so," Fehr said at a news conference Thursday.

Players throughout the majors had prepared for a strike to start today. Chicago Cubs player representative Randy Myers tacked up a note in the clubhouse that said: "All players pack and send home excess equipment. Will inform later on details."

About three hours before gametime at Dodger Stadium, the stereo in the Los Angeles clubhouse was playing a song by "The Clash" called "Should I Stay Or Should I Go?"

For now, the answer was stay.

"We feel that they were trying to push our hot button to get us to go out earlier than the date we specified," Dodgers player representative Brett Butler said.

Fans, enjoying the most entertaining season in years, showed their anger when about 500 of them walked out during the third inning at Arlington, Texas, where the Chicago White Sox were playing the Rangers. The 500 fans who walked responded to the urgings of a radio announcer and almost all returned to their seats after the inning.

"It's a little like the guy facing the firing squad," Royals chairman David Glass said in Kansas City. "He's got to wonder if there's real bullets in the gun or not. But I'm optimistic. I think there are enough intelligent, rational people involved that the bullets may not be real. There is a solution that will happen."

The union presented its ideas on revenue sharing late in the day — a plan that doesn't include a salary cap — leaving the sides stuck on different ideological poles with just a week to go until the strike date. The working groups are scheduled to meet again today, but no formal session is scheduled.

Texas knocks off Sox

ARLINGTON (AP) — It may only be early August, but the Texas Rangers are behaving like they're in a pennant race.

Urgency is necessary because of the impending Aug. 12 strike date set by the players union. The Rangers continue to distance themselves from meager competition in the American League West.

Lefthander Brian Bohanon provided his best start of the season and rookie-of-the-year candidate Rusty Greer went 2-for-4 with a two-run homer in the eighth as the Rangers stretched their lead to 41/2 games over the Oakland A's with a 4-1 decision over the Chicago White Sox Thursday night.

With six games left until the strike date, including a key three-game series this weekend at Oakland, the Rangers find themselves in a strong position.

"I've been managing like this is the end of the season for the past two weeks," Rangers manager Kevin Kennedy said.

Jeff Frye and Juan Gonzalez added RBI singles to help the Rangers move to within four games of .500 (52-56) and extend their advantage over the Oakland A's, 5-2 losers to the Kansas City Royals Thursday afternoon.

Robin Ventura went 3-for-4 for the White Sox, who saw their lead dwindle to a half game over the Cleveland Indians in the AL Central.

Chicago had won four straight before dropping the final two games of the three-game series to Texas.

"We were playing well coming in but I thought we played poorly the last two nights," White Sox manager Gene Lamont said. "I wish it wasn't that close. We've got to get back on track. You don't want to hit a bad streak."

Lamont said it's difficult to totally ignore all the talk of a strike.

"It affects everybody some," he said. "you have a hollow feeling and hope it doesn't happen. But I don't think the reason we lost the last two games was because a strike is coming up."

Bohanon (2-1), battered for seven runs over 3 1-3 innings by the California Angels in a 14-4 defeat in his previous start, gave the Rangers 6 1-3 quality innings.

Bohanon allowed one run and seven hits with five strikeouts and one walk in his longest outing of the season. Tom Henke got the final three outs for his 15th save.

Houston chills Rockies

HOUSTON (AP) — Impending baseball strike aside, the most popular topic in the Houston Astros clubhouse had to be: Is the Colorado jinx over?

It appeared that way Thursday night after the Astros took a 6-2 victory over the Colorado Rockies, giving them three straight victories over Colorado for the first time ever.

It's not a long history, but the Rockies dominated the series, 11-2, in their inaugural season and held a 4-2 series lead this season before coming to town earlier this week.

They won the first game of the series to take a 5-2 lead, but then the Astros moved back even with Thursday's victory.

Colorado Manager Don Baylor thinks his team's domination of Houston may be over, especially after Astros starter Darryl Kile worked out of a serious jam in the first inning.

"That was the kind of situation we've been looking for for the last week," Baylor said. "We had men on second and third with no out. Six pitches later, he has two strikeouts and then he gets (John) Vander Wal to ground out.

"That had to give Kile an extra boost. If he comes out of that inning down 2-0, they have to think we have the advantage because of the way that we've beaten them in the past.

"But that's all that is now, it's in the past."

The Astros were a little cautious about saying emphatically, however, that the jinx is behind them.

"I hope we do (think it's over)," Manager Terry Collins said. "I think we can beat anybody.

"But maybe in the past we didn't respect Colorado enough. I think you've got to respect other teams all the time. I don't know if it's over. We'll have to wait until we play them again."

Luis Gonzalez, who had two doubles, scored twice and drove in a run, figured this victory was important.

Mavericks lottery pick must support ex-girlfriend, son

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Basketball star Jason Kidd must pay $4,000 a month to support his 9-month-old son, a judge ruled Thursday.

The monthly figure will be reevaluated when Kidd signs an expected multimillion-dollar contract with the Dallas Mavericks, said Alameda County Superior Court Judge Roderic Duncan.

A hearing to modify the support was scheduled Nov. 23.

Brown had asked for $10,000, a $25,000 car, a house, $10,000 in furniture and medical insurance. Those requests could be considered during the November hearing.

Kidd also faces misdemeanor hit-and-run and speeding charges in connection with a May 22 high-speed collision on an Oakland freeway. His trial on those charges was expected to start Sept. 30 in Oakland Municipal Court.

Cotton Bowl not in Alliance

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) The Orange, Fiesta and Sugar bowls are breathing easier, while the Cotton Bowl might not be breathing for long.

The Bowl Alliance chose the Orange Bowl in Miami, the Fiesta in Tempe, Ariz., and the Sugar in New Orleans as Tier 1 games and sites for a possible national championship game, beginning after the 1995 season.

That left the Cotton Bowl on the outside and with critics wondering if it should continue as a second-level game.

"If you're here for a funeral march, then you can leave," said John Scovell, who led the Cotton Bowl's pursuit of an alliance berth. "The sun is still shining on the Cotton Bowl. We'll still be able to choose from 98 Division I-A teams. The three bowls plus the Rose Bowl will eliminate only eight teams."

Several Dallas city officials said before the alliance announcement that failure to be included might lead to the demise of the Cotton Bowl.

The bowl choices were made by a group of Division I-A conference commissioners. Their decision left the Cotton Bowl in a tough situation.

Dream Team II victorious despite first half letdown

HAMILTON, Ontario (AP) — The question before the 1994 World Championship of Basketball started was whether Dream Team II could beat the original Dream Team that won the 1992 Olympics.

When the U.S. team trailed late in the first half Thursday night, the question was whether it could beat Spain, fifth in the European championships and a 41-point loser to Dream Team I in the Olympics.

Dream Team II went on to win its first-round, Pool A game 115-100 behind the outside shooting of Joe Dumars and Reggie Miller. But the ease with which Spain scored on the Americans leaves some doubt about how the heavy gold medal favorites will fare the rest of the 11-day tournament.

Dumars scored 21 points and Miller had 20 for the Americans, who pulled away in the second half as Spanish coach Manuel Sainz benched several of the players who did so well in the first 20 minutes.

Dumars, the only U.S. team member with an NBA championship ring, scored 12 points in the first 10:07. When his 3-pointer with 9:53 left in the first half gave the United States a 34-22 advantage, the Americans looked unstoppable.

But for the next four minutes, the Spaniards dominated, outscoring the U.S. team 20-7 for a 42-41 edge with 5:26 left. Backup forward Alberto Herreros scored eight of his 11 first-half points in the run, including a shocking 3-pointer that put Spain ahead.

The slim advantage lasted just six seconds, however, as Kevin Johnson converted a three-point play that put the United States ahead to stay. Johnson's free throw with 3.7 seconds left made it 59-51 at halftime.

Spain trailed just 62-55 early in the second half before the Americans pulled away with a 16-0 run capped by two 3-pointers from Miller and one by Dumars, who had three 3s in the second half.

The burst gave Dream Team II a 78-55 lead with 14:10 left, and it went on to lead 99-74 before Spain closed to 110-98 with 2:37 left behind Jordi Villacampa, who scored 23 of his 28 points in the second half.

House OKs foreign aid bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed a $13.7 billion foreign aid bill that provides more than $1.2 billion for former communist bloc countries and gives $50 million in aid for Rwanda.

The measure, approved Thursday on a 341-85 vote, includes $99 million as a down payment on President Clinton's promised $700 million in debt forgiveness for Jordan. The money will leverage the first $220 million in loan cancellations.

The bill was sent to the Senate for final approval before going to President Clinton to be signed into law.

Clinton's gesture came after Jordan's King Hussein and Israel's Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin officially ended four decades of hostility between their countries. Further installments to pay down the debt will depend on continued progress toward a final peace agreement, lawmakers said.

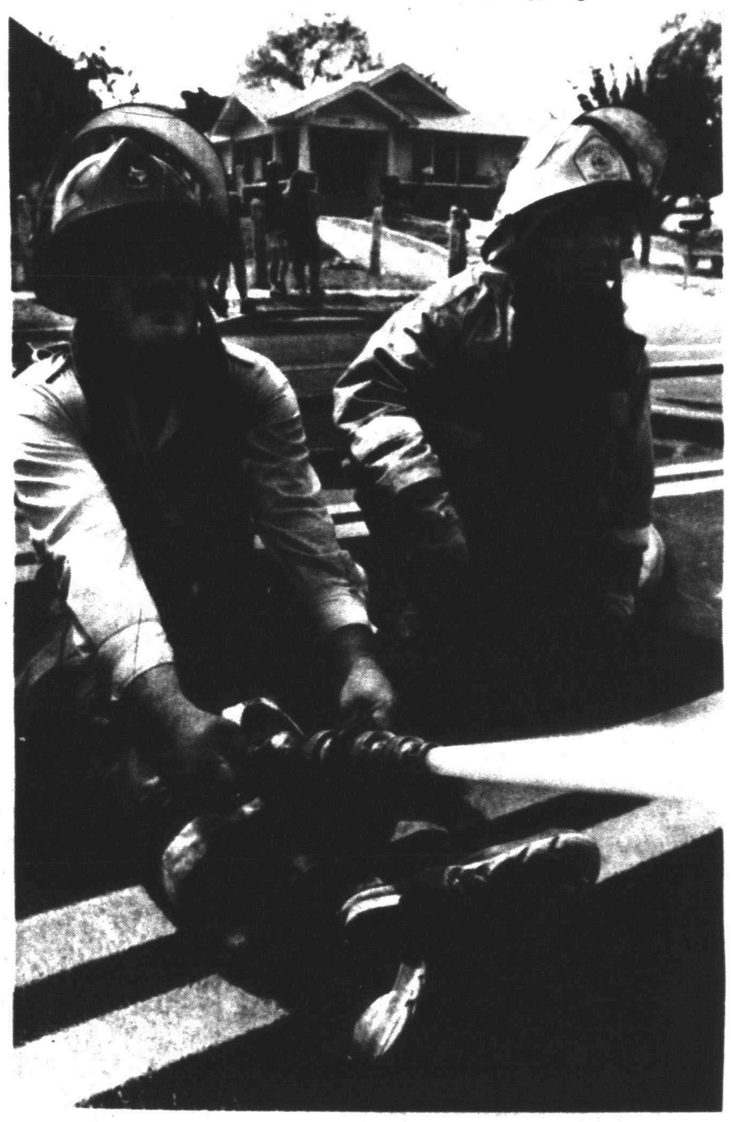

In addition, the bill provides $50 million in emergency relief for Rwanda — $20 million through disaster aid programs and $30 million through refugee funds.

Also in the bill is $850 million for former Soviet republics, $359 million for Eastern Europe and the Baltic states, $802 million for the Development Fund for Africa and a set of restrictions on military aid to Indonesia, Greece and Turkey.

The measure also contains the traditional military and economic aid to Israel, $3 billion, and Egypt, $2.1 billion. The two are perennially the largest recipients of U.S. foreign aid, a vestige of their 1979 Camp David peace agreement.

Washington says the fuel rods can be chemically treated so they can be stored while the talks continue.

North Korea insists its nuclear program is peaceful but has barred inspectors from the International Atomic Energy Agency from its Yongbyon facilities, 65 miles north of Pyongyang.

Odessa College ponders financial crisis

ODESSA (AP) — Investment problems have caused a financial crisis at Odessa College, officials say.

Moody's Investors Services, a national credit rating service, is reviewing the school's bond rating. Depending on the results, the ratings on 1985 and 1992 bond series could be downgraded, said Moody's account representative Anita Russell.

"It's hard to tell exactly how far the rating will go down, or if it will go down. We don't have all the information," Ms. Russell told The Odessa American.

In May, college officials publicly announced that a $22 million investment portfolio lost about half its market value in the wake of rising interest rates.

The portfolio consisted mostly of high-risk securities called mortgage-backed derivatives.

The problems stem from securities now considered so risky and volatile that they are known in some Wall Street circles as "toxic waste."

"The reason: If you touch 'em and they blow up on you, you're killed. You're dead. That's why they're very hard to sell," said Thomas M. Poor, managing director at Scudder, Stevens & Clark, a mutual-fund manager in Boston. "They were big bets on the direction of interest rates."

The securities had been bought with all of the college's available money, including the rest of its 1993-94 operating budget. Consequently, the collapse of the portfolio's value caused a major cash crunch and forced Odessa College to borrow millions of dollars to meet immediate expenses.

Odessa College had to borrow $5.2 million from a local bank to meet June debt payments and other expenses. It is getting more operating money from a $6.24 million bond issue.

Citing the troubled investments, the college has raised tuition 20 percent, cut its budget $2 million and dismantled its tennis and men's track teams. The college district also has proposed raising property taxes by 7.2 percent.

President Phil Speegle has given up his $122,458 salary for a token payment of $1 a year.

"To be real honest with you, I feel the college would be more hurt if I left than if I stay," he told The Dallas Morning News.

But Moody's concerns are not limited entirely to the college's cash loss.

Moody's said last week it was unclear whether the college had the authority to invest all its funds in the manner now under review.

The assets put into the failed portfolio included the college's bond reserve funds set aside to cover debt obligations in case revenue shrank, Ms. Russell said.

County man is injured

A 29-year-old Scurry County man, the apparent victim of a Thursday morning assault, was listed in good condition at Cogdell Memorial Hospital this morning.

David West suffered a broken arm and hand, fractured ribs and a head injury as result of the assault, which police say occurred Thursday morning outside a residence in the 2800 block of Avenue I.

Police were notified of the attack when a nurse at Cogdell emergency room contacted them at 12:03 p.m. Thursday to report an assault victim.

A police investigator said West was apparently beaten by several individuals.

No arrests have been made. A report for aggravated assault was filed and the case is under investigation, said Police Sgt. Jerry Parker. He said the assault apparently occurred over a disagreement, but declined to give further information until the investigation is complete.

Police note four arrests

Area law enforcement officers made four arrests and investigated cases of theft, assault and criminal mischief Thursday and early today.

Police arrested a 31-year-old man for public intoxication at 11:17 a.m. Thursday in front of City Hall. Minutes later, at 11:32 a.m., officers arrested a 62-year-old man at the same location, also for public intoxication.

At 12:57 a.m. today, officers stopped a vehicle in the 200 block of 26th Street and arrested the 24-year-old male driver for misdemeanor driving while intoxicated and a 17-year-old male passenger for minor in possession of alcohol.

John Bloom contacted police officers at 8:54 a.m. Thursday from Clark Lumber in reference to someone stealing a saw. A report for Class A theft was filed.

At 10:38 a.m. Thursday, a Landes Furniture employee contacted police in reference to a broken store window. A report for Class A criminal mischief was filed.

A man contacted police at 1:08 p.m. from Snyder Laundry in reference to a customer assaulting an employee. A report for Class C assault was filed.

U.S., North Korea resume nuke talks

GENEVA (AP) — U.S. and North Korean negotiators resumed talks on the communist country's nuclear program today amid hopes the death of North Korean leader Kim Il Sung won't affect its policies.

The talks, which began July 8 but were suspended a day later because of Kim's death, are intended to persuade North Korea to open its nuclear program to international inspections.

In exchange, North Korea wants U.S. diplomatic ties and a new nuclear reactor to replace its aging, Soviet-style reactor.

South Korean security officials met in Seoul today and confirmed their nation is willing to provide the North with a modern reactor if the North clears up suspicions it has been developing nuclear weapons.

"We are hopefully going to pick up where we left off when we met earlier," U.S. delegation leader Robert Gallucci said as he arrived for today's session. "I hope the atmosphere today is going to be as professional and businesslike as it was before."

The North Korean delegates, led by Vice Foreign Minister Kang Sok Ju, echoed the sentiments. Ho Jong, a former North Korean diplomat at the United Nations, said policy had not changed.

South Korea's Hankyoreh Shinmun, a dissident newspaper with good North Korean sources, predicted progress in the talks.

It said the North would pursue compensation for loss of energy during the next six to 10 years until a new reactor was built and would also demand compensation for the money it has spent on developing and building old-fashioned reactors.

North Korea is pressing the United States for an early resolution, saying some 8,000 used nuclear fuel rods now corroding in a storage poll must be reprocessed by the end of August.

The U.S. says reprocesdsing them could give North Korea enough plutonium to make as many as five nuclear bombs.

committee members on Thursday were the White Buffalo statue, the college golf course, or the designation that Snyder received a few months ago as a Proud Community.

• Tourism committee members learned that the Scurry County Area Foundation is about halfway completed in its collection of donations on behalf of purchasing bricks to be engraved in honor of local residents and institutions and laid on the sidewalk around the planned new White Buffalo statue. Bricks can be ordered by contacting the Snyder Chamber at 573-3558.

• Fritz informed tourism committee members that this year's annual chamber banquet will be held in mid- or late November.

Attending Thursday's meeting were Fritz, House, Aline Parks, G.A. Parks, and Bernhard Bartels, with Chairman Gay Hickman presiding.

Births

Randy and Brenda Alarcon of Snyder announce the birth of their son born at 6:38 a.m., Aug. 5 at Cogdell Memorial Hospital. He weighed seven pounds, 1½ ounces.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

THE HANDWRITING ON THE WALL

BELSHAZZAR, THE SON OF NEBUCHADNEZZAR, HAD MADE A GREAT FEAST BEFITTING HIS KINGLY STATION. WHEN THE MERRIMENT AND THE WINE FLOWED TO A HIGH PITCH BELSHAZZAR DECIDED IT WOULD BE GREAT SPORT TO BRING OUT OF THE TREASURY THE GOLD AND SILVER VESSELS WHICH HIS FATHER HAD TAKEN OUT OF THE TEMPLE IN JERUSALEM TO USE AS DRINKING MUGS FOR HIS PRINCES, WIVES, AND CONCUBINES. HE REALLY SHOULDN'T HAVE DONE THIS! BECAUSE THE END RESULT WAS, THE VISION OF A HAND APPEARED OVER THE GREAT WALL OF THE BANQUET HALL AND WROTE A MESSAGE ON THE PLASTER. WHICH TROUBLED THE KING MIGHTILY BECAUSE THE LANGUAGE THE MESSAGE WAS WRITTEN IN WAS FOREIGN TO HIM. DANIEL WAS THE ONLY ONE WHO COULD DISCERN THE IMPORT OF THE WRITING. AND WHEN BELSHAZZAR LEARNED WHAT THE PROPHECY STATED HE MUST HAVE REGRETTED USING THE HOLY VESSELS FOR FRIVOLOUS PURPOSES! FOR DANIEL INFORMED THE KING THAT HE WAS WEIGHED IN THE BALANCES AND FOUND WANTING AND HIS KINGDOM WOULD BE DESTROYED THAT VERY NIGHT. ALL OF WHICH HAS BEEN RECORDED IN THE BOOK OF DANIEL, CHAPTER FIVE.
