ROCKPORT, ARANSAS COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, NOV. 29, 1962

No. 35

Along The Waterfront

Fishing was really good all around the county during the holidays. Party boatmen were busy every day and all reported nice catches. Individual boatmen were here by the scores and brought in large catches. The ski basin was a popular place for wade fishermen and almost everyone had more fish than they knew what to do with. Out on the rocks from the Rockport Yacht Basin fishermen were lined up all the way to the end. Many nice catches were reported from the Fulton Basin and from Copano Bay as well as The Cove.

There must have been some pretty big ones that got away also, as one tackle repairman reported more broken rods and repair work on reels than he could do.

Looks like this may be a good year for winter fishing.

Taylor Oak trailerites had a good fishing week. G. A. Walters, of Casey, Iowa, got 6 large flounders. Mr. McClaren, of Boone, Iowa, got 30 trout. Charles Towne, of Jamaica, Iowa, got 8 nice reds and 2 trout. Earl Williams, of Lubbock, brought in 90 trout, ranging in weight from 2 to 4 pounds each.

Jim Tackett, of Wenoka, Okla., fishing with Art Grall, of Seminole, Okla., got 18 trout and 2 flounders. Archie Johnson, of Aitkin, Minn., fishing with Al Smith, got 60 nice trout, and Stan Heath fishing with Al Smith, brought in 30 trout.

Wilbur Randle caught 6 flounders, each one over 3 pounds. Mrs. Jim Stansell got 5 flounders and 28 trout, 2 of which weighed 4½ pounds. Mr. and Mrs. Guy Jellison, of Wichita, Kansas, got 38 trout, flounders, reds and drum.

Al/c Donald F. Isom has been Maintenance Tech., and friends, Ed Drummond and Jerry Funnell, of Dallas, combined their efforts to catch 258 speckled trout on a fishing outing last week. Aboard the charter boat "Sessy" of La-Mar, they fished around "Mills" Wharf for some six hours to bring in nearly 300 pounds of fish.

Kelly admits that its the most fish he ever caught or had seen caught at one time. Kelly's home is Dallas, he and his wife Linda, reside here in Rockport.

Ed Drummond, A/2 John Kelly, both of Rockport, Rep. Rufus Kilpatrick, of Beaumont, and James G. Tunnell, of Dallas, fishing with Harry Mills last Saturday, brought in 258 trout plus a few sheepshead and redfish.

Local Navigation District Alerted On Radioactivity

Local navigation district officials were alerted, along with those of the rest of the Texas coast, to the possibility of incoming shipments of radioactive materials starting early in 1963, at a meeting held in Houston.

The shipments will be from 26 foreign countries which now have 72 reactors in operation, and which will have to send radioactive parts from these reactors back to the United States for repairs starting next year.

It is doubtful whether any such shipments will enter at many of the smaller ports along the coast, but the Atomic Energy Commission called the conference in co-operation with the U. S. Coast Guard and the Southern Interstate Nuclear Board.

No ports in Texas have been approved so far for the handling of such radioactive materials, but applications were passed out at the meeting for ports to submit if they wish to qualify. The Coast Guard processes the applications.

Shipments will be to inland points, and it is yet too early to decide which ports will be logical ones for radioactive shipments to enter.

No special equipment is needed to handle such shipments, though methods of packing, unpacking and transporting them were discussed at the Houston meeting.

Other port cities represented at the meeting were Orange, Port Isabel, Harlingen, Raymondville, Victoria, Aransas Pass, Corpus Christi, Beaumont, Freeport, Anahuac, Galveston, Port Lavaca, Palacios, Brownsville, Texas City and Houston.

Rockport Man, Hit and Run Victim, Dies

Garcia, a resident of Rockport, was walking along the road when he was hit by a car.

Highway patrolman Donald Carr, who investigated, said Garcia was struck about 3:30 a.m. and died in a Sinton hospital at 4:50 a.m. of injuries received.

Carr said a second vehicle came upon Garcia lying on the highway some time after he was hit. Garcia was walking south and was hit by a car going in the same direction.

The accident occurred about two miles south of Bayside.

Garcia, 22, was a painter and shrimp boat worker. He had lived in Rockport 12 years. He was an Army veteran and a member of the Catholic Church.

Councilmen were in agreement that the plumbing ordinance would be enforced to the hilt in the future, and the ignorance of the law would not be accepted as an excuse.

Council Plans Revenue Bonds for Sewer, Water

Will Also Ask for matching Federal Funds

Completely Modernize Water and Sewer Systems

Which Are Becoming More and More Inadequate

The City Council, in a regular meeting Monday night, after listening to preliminary estimates from engineers on needs of the water and sewer system, and faced with a shortage of money, is taking preliminary steps to ask for a revenue bond issue of approximately $200,000, and to apply for matching Federal funds under Public Law 345.

"We don't have all the money necessary," Mayor Herman John-

said, "and these Federal funds are available. If we can obtain them, it will mean that we can modernize both sewer and water systems, which were originally designed for many less people than we now have in Rockport."

State Representative-elect Leroy Wiething, present at the meeting, explain the intricacies of the Federal grant, and projects outlined for immediate attention if the program is approved by the people of Rockport and the Community Facilities Administration of the Housing and Home Finance Agency were detailed by Gene Urban, of McClendon and Associates, Corpus Christi engineering firm.

First, the council hopes to install a water treatment plant, to remove iron and other impurities causing red water from the city's mains. There have been many complaints about this in the past, and

Engineer Outlines Community's Needs To Rotary Club

Homer Innis, of Lockwood, Andrews and Newnam, Corpus Christi engineering firm, was principal speaker before the Rotary at its regular meeting, and told members that there were two kinds of communities, "The Quick and the Dead."

Innis said he saw great possibilities for this area. It is located between Houston, with its NASA and other growth, and the Rio Grande Valley, on a natural highway north to South Texas, and is easily accessible from Corpus Christi, Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio and the Gulf of Mexico.

Its climate is mild, tempered by its proximity to the coast, and it is in the midst of extensive natural resources. The area has harbors and ports, recreation areas for fishing, swimming, hunting, birdwatching, a commercial fishing industry, oil and gas production, farming and cattle raising but, Innis thinks, tourism is beginning to outstrip all of these, and he pointed out that it's a lot easier to harvest a tourist than it is a bale of cotton.

The engineer pointed out that there are excellent motels and

Student Council To Present Program

On Dec. 4, at 1:30 p.m. the Aransas County High School Student Council will present another one of their southern school assembly programs, to the students and faculty of the Aransas County School and Junior High.

Bill Jacobs will entertain the school with his hobby as a yent toward inventing unusual gadgets that produce music. His musical goose horns are very different and comical to watch. Combining clever puppetry with music he has accomplished another "first" and this is one of the highlights of his program.

One of his highly guarded secrets is the way he is able to produce music from ordinary frying skillet and his set of musical chromatically tuned bottles.

Until recently, Bill Jacobs was the director of instrumental music at Lincoln High School in Des Moines, Iowa. He was also director of Des Moines American Legion Senior Drum and Bugle Corps, which he guided to seven state championships. He has been a featured player with name orchestras as well as having been featured many times on radio and television.

Mr. Jacobs is often called "King of the Vibraharp," and is the only one ever to play it with any degree of accuracy, using as many as six mallets at the same time. He will also play solos on the drums and trumpet, and he is considered an expert on each.

As each instrument is played, he will explain them in detail and it should prove helpful to those interested in music, and at the same time this is one of the most entertaining programs in the school assembly field.

WESLEYAN SERVICE GUILD HAS MEETING

The Wesleyan Service Guild met Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m. at the Methodist Fellowship Hall, Mrs. Tom Jessee presiding. Mrs. E. N. Adams gave the opening prayer. The reports were given by the secretary and treasurer.

Mrs. R. E. Hawes reported she had sent the box off containing clothing to the Methodist pastors kindergarten at Brownsville. Mrs. Jessee turned the meeting over to the program chairman, Mrs. E. N. Adams and she introduced Mrs. Fay Hartman, the leader of the last lesson of the study, "Responsible Adults for Tomorrow's World." Mrs. John Haynes read from the Scripture John 16:33 and gave an inspiring meditation on the theme "Peace that Passeth All Understanding."

Mrs. Hartman gave her talk on "Responsible Living in a Confused World"—family must find mission in world—home as place of renewal also in church, in neighborhood, and in the community.

Dismissed with Guild's prayer in unison. Mrs. J. D. Donaldson served refreshments to Mrs. Ben Bohmfalk, Mrs. Jack Horton, Mrs. B. W. Hamblin, Mrs. Fay Hartman, Mrs. R. E. Hawes, Mrs. John Haynes, Mrs. Tom Jessee, Mrs. E. N. Adams, Mrs. Minto Lancaster, and Mrs. Edna Snyder.

STATE DRAFT QUOTA FOR DECEMBER IS 235

Austin — The state quota for Texas draft boards in December calls for 235 men, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, announced Tuesday.

The state's December call of 235 compares with a quota of 153 for November and 160 for October. The December call is the state's share of a national quota of 6,000 men, all for the Army.

Colonel Schwartz also announced that local boards would send no men for pre-induction physical and mental examinations in December.

Local board quotas for the December call already have been figured and sent to the state's 137 local boards.

The December quota will be filled with men who are at least 22 years old on Dec. 1, except volunteers and those legally termed delinquent under the draft law, who may be younger.

DRAFT STATUS CLARIFIED BY BOARD

Since President Kennedy's proclamation or arms quarantine around Cuba, some men who have no legal obligation for draft registration or military service have been asking Texas draft boards about their "obligation."

If you were born on or before Aug. 30, 1922, you are not registered with a draft board and you have no legal obligation to register. Furthermore, you have no responsibility to keep a draft board advised of your current address.

If you were born after August 30, 1922, you are legally required to be registered, unless you are not yet 18 years old.

If you are registered and have reached the age of 35, you are no longer liable for military service under present law; but you are still obligated to keep your local board advised of your current address.

Some men are no longer liable at ages 26 and 28. At these three ages, where a man is no longer liable for service, he is classified V-A, and the little classification notice he is required to carry in his pocket is so marked.

Rockport Residents To Be Are Now In Troubled Vietnam

Mrs. R. B. Sipe, local real estate operator, reports a most interesting real estate sale this past summer to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Shipman, who presently live in Saigon, South Vietnam. Mr. Shipman is retired from military service but presently a civilian employee of the government, doing duty in Saigon. Mrs. Shipman works for the American Embassy there. They have a son, Jerry, age 8, and a daughter, Joyce, age 11. Mrs. Shipman was born and raised in Switzerland, has a variety of talents and speaks several languages.

Last January, Mrs. Shipman wrote to the Rockport Chamber of Commerce and also to the Chamber of Commerce in other towns up an down the Gulf Coast. When they got their month's leave in May, they flew from Saigon to San Antonio, Texas, where they rented a car and started their search for the location of their retirement home. Before reaching Rockport, they had made several brief stops and had other coastal towns south of here on their itinerary. After a full day of looking at property in this area with Mrs. Sipe, the family voted enthusiastically and unanimously to make Rockport their home after retirement. They selected three nice lots in Copano Ridge Subdivision where they plan to build their home next summer. They are all interested in horses, fishing and water skiing and the area is ideal for the pursuit of all these activities. With the decision made and the homesite selected, they cancelled the rest of their schedule and spent the remaining days of their leave getting acquainted with their future home.

These folks are living in a troubled area and looking forward with much anticipation to the time when they can leave all that behind them to come back to Rockport. Mrs. Shipman recently wrote to Mrs. Sipe "our place in Rockport is sort of the 'Nirvana' we all dream of reaching some-time soon."

Joyce Shipman, age 11, has also written some most interesting letters and articles about life in South Vietnam and here is one story she has written which we believe our readers will find interesting:

In the time of a long ago civil war between the countries of ancient Indo-China, Emperor Trieu planned to attack his neighbor Yen.

The ruler of Yen sent his ambassador to Trieu to plead the cause for peace.

"On my way here, said the Ambassador. I saw an oyster open its shell on the river bench. A stork swooped down suddenly and picked the oyster's meat. As a natural reaction the oyster clamped shut, grasping the stork's bill tightly. The stork could not withdraw his bill though he tried, and finally he said: "We don't have any rain today, and if we don't have any rain tomorrow you will die." "I don't care, replied the oyster, but if you can't draw your beak out of my shell you also will die."

While they were thus arguing with each other, a fisherman came by and caught them both."

"Now, said the Ambassador, you are preparing to lead your armies against your neighbor, the Yen. Of course the war will be long and will weaken both you and opponent. Then any of your other neighbors will be strong enough to take advantage of your weakness and defeat you both, just like the fisherman who came and caught the oyster and the stork."

"I have come to offer you my best advice and beg you to think carefully before taking any action."

Upon these words the Emperor realized his mistake and instead of attacking, entered into an alliance with his neighbor Yen—and both grew strong through friendship and unity.

JACK SANDERS' HAVE GUESTS FOR HOLIDAYS

Vaughan and her children Penn and Beth of Memphis, and Mrs. Sanders' sister and her family, Mr. and Mrs. David Robins and sons David and Bruce, of Borger. Also home for the holidays was the Sanders' son, Jack Frost Sanders, who is attending school at SMU in Dallas.

MRS. LEONA FARROW PASSES AWAY HERE

Mrs. Leona Farrow, 76, died at 9 p.m. Sunday in a Corpus Christi hospital after a brief illness.

Funeral services were at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the First Baptist Church with the Rev. C. Wilson Brumley, pastor, officiating.

Burial was at 2 p.m. in Palacios Cemetery under direction of Cagle-Marshall Funeral Home.

Mrs. Farrow, a native of Comanche, had lived 35 years in Palacios before moving to Rockport four years ago. She was a member of the First Baptist Church here.

Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Emory M. Spencer of Rockport; a sister, Mrs. Ella Hodges of Houston; five grandchildren, and nine great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Wright and sons, of Lake Jackson, spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Happer.

Mr. and Mrs. Ike Taylor and daughter, Jody, of Betram, spent Thanksgiving holidays with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Harrell and Sue.

SOCIAL SECURITY FOR FARM AND CITY WORKERS

During Farm-City Week each year at this time, we are reminded of the common goals of city and farm people. Social Security demonstrates how close these groups can be.

Farm and city workers enjoy exactly the same protection under the social security program, according to H. M. Cleveland, district manager of the Social Security Administration in Corpus Christi. Here, families are insured against the loss of earnings due to a worker's retirement, disability or death.

Both men and women may receive retirement insurance at age 65 or reduced benefits at age 62. The law now requires a shorter period of work to become fully insured and thus eligible to receive the benefits.

Cleveland says that many people who continue to work past retirement age may now earn more without losing all of their social security benefits.

The Social Security Office in Corpus Christi has some free booklets which describe these and other provisions of the social security law more fully. A representative of the Corpus Christi office makes regular visits through this part of South Texas to answer your social security questions and to help you make application for the benefits. Your post office can tell you when and where the social security representative will be.

In addition, a field representative will visit you at home when you have necessary social security business to attend to and you are too ill to travel to the contact station or the district office.

Social security tries to do its best to serve all workers equally, whether they live on a farm or in town. Old-age, survivors, and disability insurance is earned by workers everywhere during working years. Cleveland says that his office will be pleased to hear from anyone who would like additional information. Just address the Social Security Administration, 530 South Water Street, Corpus Christi, Texas.

In 1960 there were 9,140 murders in the U. S.

Rockport Makes The Headlines Again Last Week

Rockport made the headlines again last week in a number of publications and newspapers.

A feature story on Pat Greene, written by School Superintendent J. D. Gray and illustrated with photographs by E. G. Brooks, appeared in the Nov. 1962 issue of Texas School Business, a magazine with a wide circulation, and in Sunday's issue of the Caller-Times.

And stories on Rockport's building in the Caller-Times and the Houston Chronicle, and were sent to half a dozen other newspapers to which the story was sent as part of the Chamber of Commerce publicity effort to make the name of Rockport widely known.

These called attention to building activities at Lamar, at the Sea Gun Sports Inn, in West Terrace, at the Sandollar Motel, at Key Allegro and in the school system.

And an extensive article on Rockport also ran in the CP&L Magazine, whose editor was over last month to consult with Chamber of Commerce officials and others, who furnished some of the material and pictures with which was used.

In addition, pictures of the Audubon Society conventioners boarding boats here to travel to Aransas Wildlife Refuge are also in the hands of the editor of the organization's magazine and will be used in the Audubon Magazine's convention number.

Also, there was a story on a find of fossils at Key Allegro that made the Associated Press and appeared in quite a number of the dailies throughout the state.

An article on shrimp production also appeared in a number of state dailies.

SHRIMP LANDINGS—

for October a year ago, 5,103,600 pounds.

Farley said that trawlers operating from Texas ports worked adjacent waters south to the Mexican border, and that vessels from Brownsville ranged as far as Morgan City, La., and the Campeche Banks. Florida trawlers that have worked the Texas coast since July are making preparations to return home, via the Campeche shrimp grounds.

Small trawlers referred to locally as "mosquito fleet", have been making good to excellent catches in Trinity and Galveston bays. They have been very productive since early August, and have contributed about 70% of the total landings in Galveston County during the past three months, the statistician said.

Trawlers working inshore waters from Galveston north to the Louisiana line made good to excellent catches of white shrimp the last few days of October, after dropping water temperatures in the bays caused an exodus of this species from inside waters.

The Matagorda and Aransas bay systems did not make any significant gains over September in the Texas white shrimp fishery, Farley said.

Compared with previous years, both of them are a conservative fifty percent behind. But the Galveston Bay system, in addition to having one of the best white shrimp seasons in a number of years, produced more white shrimp in September and October than all the other bays combined in the three months of August, September and October.

Small, craft working seaboats around Sabine Pass, made good catches in October, although individual specimens were very small at the beginning of the month, making them a little difficult to sell. Seaboats were reported as far south as Pass Cavallo, but few were worked other than in the Sabine Pass area, Farley stated.

Blue crabs landed for processing amounted to about 268,000 pounds during the month. This was slightly above September, but not enough to meet demands for processed crab meat.

Finfish landings amounted to 200,000 pounds. This was 50,000 pounds below last month, but about normal for the time of year.

Ex-vessel prices of shrimp showed a downward trend throughout October. A few 15/20 count tails were bought at $1.07 per pound, but this dropped later to $1 a pound, with a five to seven cent break for each lower count size. Nevertheless, at the close of the month, average price per pound of shrimp landed in Texas was about 20 cents a pound above the corresponding 1961 period.

COUNCIL PLANS—

many expenditures have been tried, but none of them were successful in curing the trouble.

Second, a 500,000-gallon elevated storage tank is to be installed at the north end of Rockport, equalizing water pressures, giving better fire protection, and supplementing the present tank which the State Board of Insurance has told the city is inadequate, a deficiency raising the key fire insurance rate by two cents. Installation of the second tank would cause a reduction in this rate.

Third, lines of sufficient size would be laid connecting the tanks and the city's wells, allowing water to be pumped to either of the tanks or to circulate between them, equalizing pressure in all parts of town, Urban said. He also pointed out that this would make more water available at higher pressure in case of fire, which would also bring about a drop in the insurance key rate.

It would also aid in time of water shortage, Mayor Herman Johnson said. "Last summer there were plenty of times when the city was almost out of water in the day time, because it was being used as fast or faster than it was being pumped. With the proposed set-up we could refill the tanks at night, which would give us a surplus against which to draw in case of emergency."

New water mains, other than those laid connecting the tank and well system are also needed, Urban said. Most cities now install lines not less than four inches in diameter, and in many places use six and eight inch pipe. However, much piping in the older and more heavily settled areas of Rockport is only 1 1/2 inches in diameter, unable to carry needed water, especially in emergency.

Urban estimated that between 20,000 and 25,000 feet of new pipe in varying sizes would be needed, and recommended that all of it be of asbestos, rather than the galvanized and cast iron pipe now in use, which is deteriorating rapidly.

Hand-in-hand with revisions of the water system, the engineers propose a remodeling of the sewage system. Present lines were adequate at the time they were installed around 25 years ago, but overloaded now.

Basically, they say, a new and large main should be installed, leading south from the main sewage plant, and the present sewers should be diverted to discharge into this main, which would be equipped with bigger pumps and more efficient handling equipment. Pumps now in use at the main plant could then be used to replace smaller ones at various lift stations throughout the city. This would result in better flow through the lines, relief from overloading, and stop flooding of sewers in the courthouse area during times of heavy rainfall.

Mayor and council were in agreement that all these things were needed, but, as Johnson stated: "We just don't know where all the money is to come from unless we can get that federal grant. If we can't do that, some of these things are going to have to be left undone."

Wieting, who as Portland city manager before becoming state representative, had kept abreast of the recent Public Law 345, and explained to councilmen what the law said, its purpose, and how to apply for aid.

It was planned, he said, to directly increase local employment, stimulate local economy, and assist in developing community facilities necessary for economic development and improved living conditions. Grants may be made for any type of public works which the public body making the application has the authority to legally plan, finance and construct, except educational facilities, and housing projects other than employee housing incidental and necessary to an eligible project.

The council, after listening to Wieting and the engineers, empowered Mayor Johnson to start work preliminary to calling a revenue bond issue and to making application for the federal grant.

They pointed out that there would be no effect whatever on city taxes because of such a bond issue, because the bonds, if they are issued, would be revenue bonds, to be retired with revenue from the water and sewer systems, and that they would need no tax levy as a consequence.

ENGINEER OUTLINES—

hotels in the area, either completed or under way and that the beaches and bays surrounding Live Oak Peninsula are tourist assets.

There are two kinds of communities, he said, "the quick and the dead" and he pointed out the fact that many of those with which Rockport competes are endowed with resources and advantages equal or our surpassing those here.

The only manner in which Rockport can stay ahead of the rest, he said, was by planning ahead and then doing. There will be, Innis stated, an increase of population of the U. S. by 1985, and with this growth will come all sorts of demands for public works, pressure for expanding public services, from water to schools—and pressure for funds to finance this growth.

This growth of population, the engineer said also will mean more opportunities: new markets for established businesses, and new chances, new services, new centers of distribution, new installations and new construction. He emphasized, however, that success would come to a community only if all elements in the community supported the development, and that to take care of those developments when the time has come, the communities need to be planning now.

"As County Judge John D. Wendell has expressed it," Innis said, "and as James H. Sorenson, Jr., chairman of the Aransas County Planning and Development Board is emphasizing, this community is at the crossroads."

Innis said of greatest primary importance to the community is an adequate water supply. To attract greater growth and insure health, an adequate sewer system is also necessary. Drainage on a local and county-wide basis is important.

These are the three basic needs, but planning should also be done on transportation, education, religions and cultural institutions and recreational facilities. Summarizing, he said:

"A good citizen has no right to be a looker-on! Work closely with and support your city council in efforts to plan comprehensively for the future. Support your commissioners court in their efforts to provide sound government and to raise funds to meet expanding needs."

"Join your Chamber of Commerce and then work to promote the Aransas County area. This group is one vehicle you have for this type of joint community activity. Counsel with and support your Aransas County Planning and Development Board. They are proposing a county-wide conservation and reclamation district in the future to obtain a needed water supply, for essential sewage collection, treatment and disposal; for drainage when and as needed; and for certain shore protection works."

"Continue to support your Aransas County Navigation District in its program of providing coastal projects of community benefit. For years this group has dedicated itself to the study of navigation needs and development of projects the citizens have approved. And, I am told, Mr. Little, Mr. Owens and Mr. Atwood are soon to present a program of improvements for the approval of residents of the district."

"Finally, as I once suggested to you nearly three years ago, I would recommend that a plan be under serious consideration now to combine the Rockport-Fulton communities into one municipal identity. Thus you can take advantage of your many opportunities here on this wonderful peninsula."

Visitors at the luncheon included Merritt Hulett, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.; J. H. Haup, Lamesa; L. S. Wood and Gilbert Edwards, both of Aransas Pass; Wallace R. Bacon, Ft. Smith Ark.; and S. H. Wilborn, of Corpus Christi.

WE'RE MOVING

A few weeks ago my Telephone Talk discussed the new Telephone Company Business Office and Plant Storeroom here in Rockport. Well, the building is complete, lights are up, flooring is down and the only thing left is to move in. We plan to do just that on Saturday, December 8.

Mrs. Christine McDonald, service representative, Messrs. C. F. Gillian, E. M. Perry, J. J. Stephens, installer-repairmen, are making all the preparations for their new office at the corner of Church and Wharf Streets. They are looking forward to their new quarters and hope that everyone will come and visit them.

I would like to take this opportunity along with all the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company employees to invite all of our customers and friends to come by the new office and enjoy with us the pleasure of growing with a growing community.

NEW MOVIE AVAILABLE

Like to learn more about Telstar, the world's first active communications satellite? Well, a brand new telephone company film is now available for your school, civic or church organizations.

SEALE, McCARTHY & MILLIKIN
Public Accountants
Beeville, Texas

October 12, 1962

The Honorable Mayor and City Council
City of Rockport, Texas
Gentlemen:

An examination has been made of the books and records of the City of Rockport, Texas for the fiscal year, October 1, 1961 to September 30, 1962. We have examined the accounting procedures of the city, and without making a detailed audit of all transactions, have examined or tested accounting records and other supporting evidences by methods and to the extent we considered appropriate. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards applicable in the circumstances, and included procedures considered necessary.

General Account

The taxes collected, as well as various other fees, were traced to the depository. The General Account in the First National Bank of Rockport, Texas is made up of three funds: General, Street Maintenance and Street Improvement Bonds Sinking Fund.

Tax Assessor-Collector

Schedules are shown for the 1961 tax roll, delinquent taxes and distribution of collections.

Bonded Debt

The total bonded debt at September 30, 1962 was $222,000.00. Of this amount $38,000.00 are tax bonds and $181,000.00 are revenue bonds. All paid bonds and coupons redeemed during the period were examined. Coupons totaling $245.00 have not been presented for payment from the revenue bond account. Bonds in the amount of $3,000.00 were paid ahead of schedule, from the Street Improvement Bonds, during the year. These bonds are callable February 1, 1963.

A schedule of the bonded debt together with maturity schedules of each of the issues is shown.

Waterworks and Sewer System

A schedule of receipts and disbursements is shown for the operation of the Water and Sewer System, with the exception of the repairs to the Sewer System spent out of the Federal Grant. A separate schedule, "Disaster Fund" is shown for the disposition of this grant.

Garbage Account

A schedule of receipts and disbursements is shown for the entire year as a separate account for this year.

Other

Investments in Certificates of Deposit, First National Bank of Rockport, Texas are owned, $15,000.00 by the Water and Sewer Revenue Interest and Sinking Fund and $7,000.00 by the Street Improvement Bonds Interest and Sinking Fund.

All past inter-fund obligations have been repaid except the amount of $13,766.88 that was paid out of the General Fund for the Street Improvement Construction Fund.

In our opinion, the accompanying statements of cash receipts and disbursements, together with the related schedules present fairly the cash transactions of the City of Rockport, Texas, which occurred during the fiscal year ended September 30, 1962.

Yours truly,
SEALE, McCARTHY & MILLIKIN
