Burglars Hit Local Firms Monday Night

Two Snyder business houses were burglarized last night with losses at one place totaling approximately $469, and $29 at the other.

The safe at Snyder Truck and Tractor Co. on the East Highway was opened and completely cleaned out. Employees and early customers stood around open-mouthed as police officers checked and fingerprinted all parts to the safe.

"My goodness, did they make all that scatter?" one employee queried as he gazed wide-eyed at the litter covering the office floor.

Papers, wrappers, endorsed checks, and boxes were strewn about the floor, while nearby stacks by the side of the safe were the tools used to break the lock.

Discovery of the tools sent employees scurrying for their workbenches. The tools, including a Marshall Boyd's tool chest in the front part of the building had been broken open by the burglars. The tools hanging on the wall, out in the workshop, Vennie Gifford's tool box had been pried open.

All the tools missing so far were found stacked by the safe-crowbar, pinch bars, and a sledge hammer.

The arrival of Oleta Jackson, the cashier and bookkeeper, put to rest the "How much did they get?" whispers that were running around the store as all comers gathered in groups to discuss the happening.

All Mrs. Jackson could think of, as she scrambled among the debris, scavenging for checks so she could ascertain the amount taken, was "there were three $100 bills in there; I saw them."

Balancing the total of the checks found on the floor against the total deposit for yesterday and adding the $200 cash always kept on hand for change, she arrived at a total of $469.32 missing.

As yet police are unable to determine how the building was entered.

Daniel To Offer Five Tax Plans

By ED OVERHOLSER

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel said today he will present five different tax plans to his State Finance Advisory Commission after the first Democratic primary.

He said each plan will retire the debt and most presently anticipated needs without a state income tax or a general sales tax.

"If anyone wants to know what these plans are not proposed prior to the full commission meeting, simply say that we do not want them lobbed to death before they are heard by the citizens' committee," he told a six-man "task force" of the commission which met today.

The 6-member group will assemble information for study by the commission to be named later. Thirty members will be named to the commission before its first session May 16.

"I do not ask that you or anyone else present any specific tax proposals or suggestions until the first meeting of the full commission," he told the group.

"The surest way to cripple all possible tax proposals would be for the governor or the commission to involve them in partisan political campaigns. Most of these will be over by May 16 and by then I hope everyone will be working together in the patriotic and cooperative frame of mind which is essential to solve the problems which confront us," he said.

Members of the task force include Jess Irvin and Jon Ford of the governor's staff; Secretary of State Zolzie Stealey; John McKee of Dallas; Dr. John Stockton of Austin and Hugo Lowenstein of Amarillo. McKee, Stockton and Lowenstein served on a tax study commission after the 53th Legislature. Its recommendations to the last Legislature generally were turned down.

Increase In Crude Demand Is Forecast

AUSTIN (AP)—The Bureau of Mines estimated today an increase in the demand for Texas oil during May, the Railroad Commission reported.

Inquiry Asked In African Discontent

By RICHARD KASICHKE

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—A call for an inquiry into the causes of African discontent was voiced today by the leader of the United party, the parliamentary opposition to the wounded Hendrik F. Verwoerd's government.

Sir de Villiers Graaff, United party leader, said he and his followers intend to bring pressure on the government for an investigation of the reasons for Negro unrest once the present state of emergency is ended.

Graaff spoke at a news conference in Cape Town while police

$12 Million Wasted, Says Texas Solon

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Texas congressman claims government scientists wasted 12 million dollars in research on an atomic airplane engine at Lewis Flight Propulsion Laboratory at Cleveland.

The accusation, by Rep. Albert Thomas, was quickly denied by officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. They said they acquired knowledge for building the final engine.

The exchange came up during a closed hearing by a House Appropriations subcommittee, headed by Thomas. The transcript was made public today.

"You know we have been working on an atomic reactor for an airplane for nine years now," Thomas told the Silverstein, director of space flight programs and former associate director at Lewis.

"We have thrown away about 12 million dollars out of your place on this reactor in duplication, duplication, duplication."

"I think not, sir," Silverstein replied, "from the standpoint of duplication. The work we are doing is fundamental in character leading to a situation where we will not throw money away when we go into manufacture."

Space administrator Keith Glennan, and his deputy, Hugh Dryden, also insisted there was no duplication.

14 Injured In 2-Car Crash

HENRIETTA, Tex. (AP)—Fourteen persons, including six members of a college baseball team, were injured in a two-car crash near this North Central Texas town today.

Involved were a station wagon carrying members of the Midwestern University baseball team to Dallas for a game and a car occupied by seven Negroes from Lawton, Okla.

The accident occurred about 2 a.m. on U.S. Highway 287 about 2½ miles east of Henrietta.

Only one of the college youths, Aaron McDonald, 18, of Wichita Falls, was reported seriously hurt. He was brought to a Henrietta hospital where attendants said he suffered two cracked vertebrae.

Michael Melvin Norris and five other players suffered minor cuts and bruises.

A Negro woman also was reported seriously hurt.

Investigators said the university baseball team left its Wichita Falls campus in two vehicles. Norris was driving the station wagon that was involved in the accident.

The Lawton, Okla., car was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Otis Timmer, their two children and another woman and her two children. All were injured.

Showers Are Due Today

By The Associated Press

Scattered showers and thunderstorms were forecast for most of Texas Tuesday and Wednesday. Light drizzle fell in portions of Central Texas early Tuesday and cloudy skies and strong southerly winds covered the state.

Early morning temperatures from 70 at El Paso to 86 at El Paso and Texarkana.

The forecast calls for scattered showers and thunderstorms in the north portion of West and South Central Texas and in North Central Texas Tuesday night. Widely scattered thunderstorms were forecast west of the Pecos in Southwest Texas Tuesday morning and in the Pecos Valley eastward Tuesday afternoon and night.

Wednesday, scattered showers and thunderstorms were expected to hit West and South Central Texas and the southeast portion of North Central Texas.

pressed further raids for alleged subversives. The Cabinet made clear there will be no easing of South Africa's strict segregation policies during the convalescence of Verwoerd.

The United party's chief said the proposed inquiry would provide an opportunity for criticism of the government's handling of the present situation.

Both the United party and Verwoerd's dominant National party are for continued white supremacy in South Africa, but differ as to methods.

West Leaders Open Pre-Summit Talks

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP)—Allied foreign ministers start a round of pre-summit talks today with a blunt reminder that East-West leaders can't hope to settle their bitter disputes at a single conference.

"The road to peace is a long and hard one and no one can now say when the goal will be reached," the State Department said in publishing a book of background documents.

The series of meetings opens this afternoon with a strategy session bringing together Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

The three Allied foreign policy chiefs, meeting in an atmosphere of low-key optimism, were reported confident they could draft combined proposals their government chiefs will lay before Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev at next month's Paris summit meeting.

West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano joins them Wednesday and the Italian and Canadian foreign ministers will be brought into the discussion Thursday.

In a deliberate move to curb excessive hope, the State Department published a bulky document recalling how the 1955 summit at Geneva failed to break the East-West deadlock. The 478-page book of documents, nearly an inch thick also recalled the tangle of proposals and counter-proposals that led to the decision to have the Big Four leaders try again in Paris May 16.

"With an eye on this second round in a summary: 'It would be unrealistic to expect that these grave issues can be resolved at one head-of-government conference'."

Castro Rejects U. S. Plea To Release Captured Fliers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fidel Castro's Cuban government has rejected an American plea to return two American fliers down in Cuba after a sneak flight from Florida.

The State Department, disclosing this Monday, announced its own rejection of two Cuban protests on other matters.

At the time the two fliers were arrested, Cuba said they were trying to spirit out of the country a former agent of ex-President Fulgencio Batista, who was deposed by Castro's revolution.

U.S. authorities later said they obtained a statement from one of the American fliers, William J. Schergales, 34, that Castro's regime cooked up a flight to embarrass the United States.

Cuba's refusal to return the men heightened Washington suspicions

100 police, white and Negro, in raids today on African settlements in southwest Johannesburg. These were part of a campaign to root out alleged African gangster elements and to seize contraband weapons.

Newspapers were filled with government warnings that apartheid policies will be strictly maintained while Verwoerd, shot twice in the head by a white farmer Saturday, is on the sidelines.

Lands Minister Paul Sauer, heading the government in Verwoerd's absence, asserted that authorities are determined to stamp out Negro "inciters and intimidators," the government blames for continuing racial strife.

Similar statements were issued by Foreign Minister, Eric Louw, and Justice Minister Francois Erasmus.

Police announced their raids to seek out suspected subversives would continue.

There were also numerous warnings to foreign correspondents, some of whom were accused of sending exaggerated reports of the National party government's police actions against the Negroes.

Despite the obstacles, however, it pledged the United States would persevere in its drive to find area of agreement with the Communist bloc.

Hearings Open On Payola Curb Bills

WASHINGTON (AP)—A house subcommittee opens hearings today on measures aimed at preventing a recurrence of the quiz show and payola scandals.

Chairman Frederick W. Ford of the Federal Communications Commission was called as the opening witness on legislation to impose new curbs on the broadcasting industry.

Speakers for the National Assn. of Broadcasters and the big television radio networks — also were expected to testify during the initial round of hearings today and Wednesday.

Also, the House Commerce subcommittee has before it more than a dozen bills designed to eliminate deceit, cheating and other alleged irregularities in TV and radio.

Major attention is on two bills by Rep. Owen Harris (D-Ark.) stemming from the investigation by his Legislative Oversight subcommittee into rigging of TV quiz shows.

Among other things, the Harris bills would:

- 1. Make it a criminal offense to rig or fix a TV or radio program involving a contest of knowledge or skill with the intent of deceiving the public.
- 2. Outlaw payola by requiring that all broadcast matter for which a station has received a direct or indirect payment be accompanied by an announcement telling who made the payment.

Police ordered the press to stop printing the name of David Pratt, wealthy white farmer who shot Verwoerd twice in the head Saturday.

Pratt is being held under the emergency regulations now in effect which permit the government to file charges against him without a preliminary hearing. Police spokesman said he will appear in court at some future date.

Some papers speculated that Pratt—described by friends as a foe of Verwoerd's apartheid, or segregation, policy—will be charged with high treason, punishable by death.

On this score Cuba said Schergales and Howard Rundquist, 33, are subject to Cuban court for a crime against Cuba.

The United States had wanted to investigate Schergales and Rundquist for possible violation of American laws in making their secret flight.

One of three U.S. notes delivered to Cuba spurned a Cuban protest over a new U.S. clampdown on sale of helicopters to Cuba.

The U.S. reply said a policy was begun two years ago of closely studying all Cuban arms requests. It said arms shipments had been denied to Batista before Castro.

It was the profound hope of the United States that with the establishment of the present government of Cuba, peace and tranquility would be restored to the Caribbean area," the note said.

"This hope has not been realized," the note said. "The United States rejected an unfounded Cuban charge that former Batista army men are being employed at the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo. The note also refused a request to return a Cuban labor leader who had been fired at the base."

The third note turned down a Cuban request to keep U.S. inspectors in Cuba. These Agriculture Department inspectors had been sent to Cuba in 1955 to help Cuban shippers meet U.S. marketing standards for fruits and vegetables.

The note said the inspectors were needed elsewhere and that Cuba had been notified last December that they would be withdrawn by the end of February.

Big Cyclone Photographed

WASHINGTON (AP)—America's weather-eye satellite has photographed a tremendous cyclonic cloud movement in the middle of the Pacific far bigger than earthbound weathermen knew was possible.

The whirling clouds covered an area 2,000 miles across.

William Strand, Tiros I satellite project manager, said Monday it was the largest cyclonic cloud movement ever observed.

Cyclonic movement is the term meteorologists use to describe any circular or spiral air movement. In this case it does not refer to the kind of violent, localized storms called cyclones, hurricanes or typhoons.

Tiros radioed back its pictures from 450 miles up.

Dress A Salad
A favorite European way of dressing salad is to add a tablespoon or two of Spanish olive oil first to the salad greens; then add the vinegar blended with salt, pepper, and other condiments. The greens are less likely to wilt when blended first with the olive oil and they seem to absorb the seasonings more effectively.

A Nursing Mother Needs Extra Rest

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

AP Newsfeatures

Mrs. O'Sullivan had set her heart on breast feeding Mike. She started in soon after his birth, followed her doctor's instructions to the letter and all went well.

Mike was a big, healthy, husky baby who thrived on his mother's milk. Mrs. O'Sullivan was delighted, felt a little superior to some of her friends who had not been as successful as she.

Then when Mike was about 4 months old his usual happy disposition seemed to vanish. He was cross and irritable, he didn't sleep as well as usual. Mrs. O'Sullivan phoned her doctor. "He is not sick," she said. "Just cranky."

"Could he be hungry?" asked the doctor. "I don't think so," said Mrs. O'Sullivan. "He ate an extra large dish of cereal this morning and he sucks well."

Nevertheless the doctor suggested that a bottle of milk be given after the next feeding. With dismay, Mrs. O'Sullivan watched Mike guzzle down the milk and go off to sleep. He was just plain hungry.

"But what is the matter with me?" wailed Mrs. O'Sullivan. "I want to nurse him until he is ready for the cup. Why has my milk disappeared?"

Tired Mother
A careful look at this young mother told the story. She was trying to do more than her body could take. With her new baby she was trying to keep her house absolutely spotless she was an excellent cook who scorned the prepared foods. She even baked her own bread (which her husband adored) always had a delicious and luscious dessert for dinner. In addition to her supper housekeeping she was a super wife and mother too. Not only did she do everything possible for her baby but she typed reports for her husband and was eager to entertain their friends.

It was just too much. She was tired and her body balked. She needed all the energy she could muster just to keep going. She had none left over to make milk.

Her doctor pointed this out to her.

What to Do
If you really want to nurse Mike the doctor said, "I will give you a plan, but warn you it is going to be tough. You must make up your mind whether nursing is important enough to you to change your way of life."

Mrs. O'Sullivan insisted there was nothing she wanted more than to be successful at breast feeding. "Very well, this is what you must do," said the doctor.

"Feed Mike at the breast—and use both breasts each feeding every three hours, night and day, if he is awake and hungry. Offer him a bottle after each feeding. Give him his solids as usual, as much as he wants. For you cut out all your extra activities as far as possible, the barest minimum of housework, no company, no typing. Lie down four or five times a day, drink as much as possible—water, tea, juice, soup, milk, eat a good diet and take some vitamins. If you can really do this," went on the doctor, "in two weeks time, Mike will not want any milk from the bottle."

It was the promise of two weeks that encouraged Mary Jane to follow the doctor's plan.

It worked. By the end of 10 days, Mike was back on a regular hour schedule and sleeping a 12 hour night.

Mrs. Andrus is the former Dorothy Nell Merritt, daughter of W. and Mrs. Homer Merritt, 1801 Ninth Street Snyder. She is a sister to Mrs. W. B. Lee, Jr., 2611 Thirty-seventh, Dr. Sherman Merritt, and Wayne Merritt, 802 Avenue H. She finished high school in Snyder in 1943.

Started in 1952
Dr. Andrus' wife is a former practical nurse. She is now 34 and six years after they were married in 1946 they decided to adopt Steve Allen, 7, and Patricia Ann, 11 months old. They are not able to have children of their own.

The next year, they adopted Debbie, 13, and the year after that, Larry, 16. Debbie and Larry are now married and live in the Anson area. Larry has a daughter of her own, the Andruses' first grandchild.

"Once we got started one thing led to another until we finally had 10," Dr. Andrus said. "We just like kids."

They took five at once—3 to 11 years old—from the Taylor County Welfare Unit in 1958. The children they adopted are not all orphans. Some are from broken homes or the children of parents the courts have declared irresponsible.

Adopted 10th Last Year
They adopted their 10th child last year. He was Michael, four days old when Dr. Andrus and his wife took him home.

In a group like that, the only way to keep down confusion and fights is to keep them busy," Dr. Andrus said. "Each child takes care of his own room and each has a little detail around the house."

Prepare Yourself Before Traveling Foreign Lands

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Many of America's representatives abroad go to their posts ill-prepared for the jobs ahead, says Marguerite Cullman, who had a concentrated course in diplomacy during the service of her husband, Howard Cullman as commissioner general of the Brussels World's Fair.

"The chief requirement of a United States ambassador is to have enough money to foot the bills which go along with the job," says this sprightly and charming New Yorker, who has chronicled her Brussels experiences in her new book, "Ninety Dozen Glasses."

"The result is we're sending in the class treasurer instead of the first lady."

Mrs. Cullman, well-known as a successful Broadway angel, footed particularly strongly about American ambassadors who go to foreign posts with no knowledge of either the language or the customs of the country.

"How can an ambassador understand a people or a country when he can't even converse except in English?" she asks.

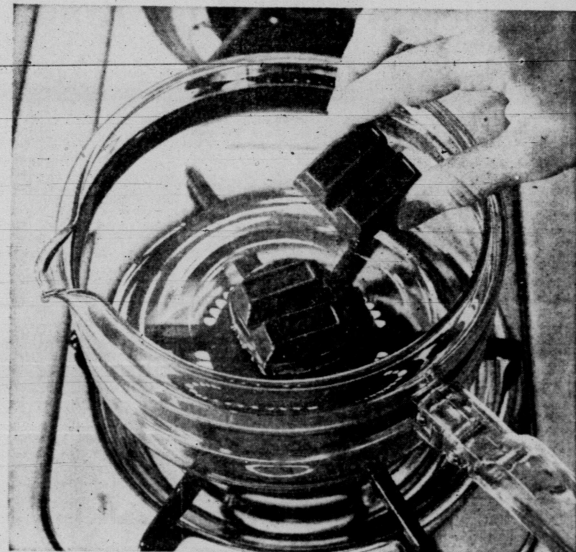

Mrs. Cullman feels that our government asks the impossible when it sends in an amateur to do a professional diplomatic job. "When my husband and I prepared to go to Brussels, where he had ambassadorial rank, we were both fairly sophisticated people, and were at least able to communicate with the Belgian people. But we moved in unaware of many of the small amenities that are all-important in any country, she says.

Professional training is vitally important for U.S. representatives around the world, in the opinion of this gracious critic.

"There is a tremendous future for young people who are interested in world affairs to start training early for diplomatic careers—to study languages, take every opportunity to travel and equip themselves to become able representatives of their country."

Monticello's Dining Room Is Scene Of Festive Meal

By ART EDSON
CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—Not in 136 years has the old house seen anything like this.

Here in Monticello, the beloved home of Thomas Jefferson, Adlai Stevenson dined in high style Monday night. The last similar dinner, according to the curator at Monticello, probably took place in 1824.

That was when Jefferson—old, tired and feeble—held a dinner for General Lafayette on one of his return visits to America. After Jefferson's death in 1826 the house was sold and, while entertaining was done, it was on a much smaller scale.

For years now Monticello has been a national shrine, closed at 5 p.m.

Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee in 1952 and 1956, is here to make a Founder's Day speech tonight at the University of Virginia, set up according to the plans of Jefferson.

Monday night Stevenson was joined by 21 other guests, some of them students at the university, and they ate in a manner as like Jefferson's as can be duplicated in this complicated time.

The place was lit by candles—there's no electricity in the upstairs of Monticello—and the food was brought in from the outside by a caterer. Unlike in the old days, when slaves prepared the meals, the food was passed from hand to hand somewhat in the nature of the old fire bucket brigade from downstairs to the elaborate dining room above.

To a hungry reporter, let in to observe the great occasion but not allowed to share in the food, it was a maddening experience. Course after course was floated in and as Jefferson was a great lover of good wine, each course was washed down with a new delicacy.

It wasn't possible to pick up much of the conversation, which was filled with anecdotes of Jefferson's life. But at one point Thomas J. Mickie, Charlottesville mayor, explained that Jefferson had so many visitors drop in to stay for a considerable length of time that he went broke playing host to them.

"Ate him out of house and home," said Frank K. Houston, board chairman of the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation. "Everybody felt sorry for poor old Jefferson—and took it out in drinking wine."

Hitchhike Champion To Raise Sights

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—A 13-year-old boy who hitchhiked free plane and train rides for a 1,200-mile joy ride halfway across the country says next time he'll try for a through flight to the West Coast.

Dean Sterling of Sea Cliff, N. Y., was found by police in a hotel Monday shortly after he had arrived from Chicago on a New York Central train.

His grandmother, Mrs. Robert L. Sterling, of Sea Cliff, said: "I'll see that he gets home but we're going to let the proper authorities escort him here."

The youngster prepared for the trip with two heavy backpacks Sunday morning at the home of his grandparents, with whom he lives. His parents are separated.

Then, impeccably in a charcoal gray suit and horn-rimmed glasses, he set out for New York's Idlewild Airport, carrying $25 he had saved.

He told United Airlines officials he had lost his ticket and they had "better take me because my aunt was waiting for me" at O'Hare Airport.

In Chicago, he slipped away from airline officials while they were checking a fictitious address he had given them. He took a taxi downtown and boarded a New York Central train.

"I lost my ticket," he said. "They're waiting for me in Buffalo."

A homelike scene in Capital Terminal here was Dean's undoing.

He tossed a towel across a concession stand counter. On the towel he had written "Kidnapped Help. It's the man with the brown suit."

Then he walked out of the terminal and took a taxi to a downtown hotel. Police traced him by checking taxi drivers.

Dean told newsmen that next time he'd try for a through airplane flight to California.

When police asked why he took the trip, Dean said: "Just say it's domestic trouble. That's really all you need to know."

"He's got to learn to curb his more than ample imagination," his grandmother said. "He thinks he's been kidnapped."

Beer License Opposed By SMU Student

DALLAS (AP)—A lot of good church men drink beer, Judge W. L. Jack Thornton said Monday after telling a Methodist social worker that one person's opposition to alcohol is no reason to deny a legitimate restaurant a license to sell beer.

Thornton interrupted testimony of a Southern Methodist University student to say he "knows a lot of good church men who take a glass of beer."

Personally, the judge said, "I wouldn't have a single beer tavern in Dallas, but at the same time, if I assumed that attitude, I would be unfair to a large segment of the population."

"The point is: young man, that you are opposed to drinking, isn't it?" the judge asked.

Jack Gorham, in court to oppose a beer license for a restaurant, objected to the judge's remark. Beer in the right place might be OK, he said.

"If you're going to be a reformer, and obviously you are," the judge told Gorham, learn that selling beer is legal.

Gorham is a social worker, at Wesley Community Center, across the street from the proposed location of the restaurant.

Methodists opposed giving a beer license to the restaurant contending that some of the 300 children who use the youth center will have to pass by the cafe to get there.

"Your point is that no tavern or beer place should be on the street," he asked Gorham.

"The only way I see to permit that is put the cafe on a back lot and build a wall around it," the judge continued.

No decision was reached at the hearing.

Top Embezzler Gets 25-Year Sentence

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A heating contractor has been sentenced to 25 years in prison for an embezzlement termed by prosecutors "the largest in the nation, if not in the world."

John A. Hendrickson, a heating contractor, was accused of misappropriating $3,714,610 from the former Long Beach National Bank. He denied it, was convicted by a jury, and later admitted his guilt. Sentence was passed Monday.

U.S. attorneys said the nation's biggest embezzlement came to light when George Albert Hewlett, an official of the bank, committed suicide. In his garage investigators found 83 checks, ranging from $15,000 to $25,000 all payable to Hendrickson.

Youngest Mayor Of Ohio Town Is Dead

He was an early Texas wildcat oil operator and a pioneer in the book match industry.

Born in Bainbridge, he was elected mayor of the city at 19 after the Ohio Legislature passed a special bill reducing the minimum age limit.

He entered the Southeast Texas oil fields in 1918 and continued in the oil business as wildcat and independent operator in Southeast Texas and the Wichita Falls area until 1932 when he moved to Dallas.

Funeral services and burial will be in Dallas Wednesday.

Rios Trial Gets Underway In Gail

GAIL—The murder trial of Adam Rios, 23, of Lorraine, got underway Monday in Gail, exactly two months to the day from the time he reportedly shot to death his wife's mother, two half-sisters, and a young girl, his wife's stepfather, in the Plains Community near Lamesa.

Killed instantly on Feb. 11, were Sabath Amaya, 24, and Rosabel Espinoza, 18, half brothers Mrs. Felicitas Espinoza, 50, died in a Lamesa hospital several hours later.

Mrs. Rios told officers that she had left Rios in Lorraine had taken their baby and gone to the home of her parents. Rios arrived and shot the two brothers and her mother. She further stated that her stepfather had been wounded when she dodged behind him as he fired the .22 pistol at her.

A mass manhunt involving county officers, spread over a great area of West Texas. It was discovered that Rios had reached Lorraine before all roads had been placed under surveillance and had left the baby with friends.

By midnight, Rios had been traced as far south as Brady. At 4:30 Sheriff Harper Morris of Karnes County announced that Rios had surrendered to him in that south Texas town, having awakened him from sleep.

By mid-morning of Feb. 12, District Attorney Wayland Holt had filed murder charges against Rios. He was later returned to the Scurry County jail to await trial.

A panel of 150 jurors was called Monday for the selection of 12 to sit on the case. District Attorney Holt stated Monday night that 32 members of the panel had been questioned and from those four were selected.

A man, had been selected. He stated that they hoped to complete the selection of the jury today.

Jay Robinson To Get Another Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The District Court of Appeals has reversed actor Jay Robinson's conviction on narcotics charges and granted him a new trial.

The court criticized the judge who presided at Robinson's trial for interrupting the prosecution and for taking the latter's duties repeatedly. It also ruled the trial judge erred in letting the prosecution introduce allegedly self-incriminating statements.

Robinson, 29, played Emperor Caligula in "The Robe." He was convicted on four counts of possession and use of narcotics in May 1959.

Degree Mills Are Listed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Texas schools were listed Monday by Secretary of Welfare Arthur Flemming as what he called degree mills.

Flemming listed the schools as Four State Cooperative University at Jefferson in East Texas and Texas Theological University at Fort Worth.

The secretary told newsmen the list was compiled largely on the basis of information provided by the schools themselves. The list contained about 30 institutions in nine states. Some operated overseas.

He said this was another step in his program to "help combat the educational blight known as degree mills."

He gave this definition of a degree mill: "An organization that awards degrees without requiring its students to meet educational standards of such degrees established and traditionally followed by reputable educational institutions."

"A degree mill either receives fees from its so-called students on the basis of fraudulent misrepresentation or it makes it possible for the recipients of its degrees to perpetuate a fraud on the public."

TMA Supports Bill On Care For Aged

FORT WORTH (AP)—The Texas Medical Assn. Monday voted to back a state bill which provides state and federal care of the aged.

At the same time the TMA President Dr. Franklin Yeager blasted the proposed Forand Bill which would make everyone who is eligible for social security payments also eligible for hospitalization and medical insurance.

The bill supporting medical attention for the aged that got TMA approval was introduced by Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro. It would allow Texas to participate in the federal "vender medical program."

This program provides emergency medical aid for the aged, blind and disabled.

It would offer free medical care to the 212,000 Texans on state welfare rolls and it is estimated it would cost from $17 to $20 million to start—with the state and federal government sharing the cost.

Dr. Yeager charged the Forand Bill would lead to complete socialization.

"I am amazed that labor unions are backing legislation in Washington that would increase everybody's social security payments to for the aged," he said.

The TMA also passed a resolution urging a mandatory medical examiner system for every county in the state.

A Cleveland, Ohio, psychiatrist said that "one out of every 12 persons is expected to spend some part of their time in mental hospitals before they die." He is Dr. Edward Harper, associate professor of psychiatry at the Western Reserve University.

Dr. Kenneth Lynch, a member of the class of 1910, urged the preservation of the old, three-story building where the University of Texas Medical School branch in Galveston was housed as a fledgling institution.

"Dr. Lynch, of Charleston, S.C. is president and dean of the faculty of the Medical College of South Carolina.

The building was constructed in 1880 and was one of the few to withstand the big hurricane that hit the city in 1900. It is little used now.

"Please don't let this building be destroyed," he said at a reunion dinner of his class held in conjunction with the medical convention.

Other members of the class of 1910 who attended were: Dr. Charles Bradford of Burlington, N.C.; Dr. James Bryson of Bas-top, Dr. T. S. Edwards of Knoxville, Tenn.; Dr. William Fisher of Albemarle, N.C.; Dr. Charles Gates of Houston; Dr. Thomas Grice of Fort Worth; Dr. Walter Haaskarl of Brenham; Dr. Taylor Gilbert of Dallas, and Dr. Ed Shipman of San Antonio.

Dr. W. Oxford of Floresville, class of 1906, also was present.

Firm Direction For Children Is Urged

FORT WORTH (AP)—Be firm and consistent with your child, a psychiatrist said Monday night, and above all never tell him, "I'm through with you."

Parental support, and direction must be firm, Dr. Edward Harper said in an interview. He is an associate professor of psychiatry at Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio, and is here as a lecturer at the Texas Medical Assn. convention.

He said adolescents need support, consistency and establishment of definite limits for their actions.

Without the setting of definite limits by parents on their actions children become terrified, he said.

Mrs. Edith Bolling Galt, who married President Woodrow Wilson in 1915, was a descendant of Indian maiden Pocahontas.

Storehouse Fire Destroys Chemicals

CINCINNATI (AP)—A fire destroyed at least a million dollars worth of chemicals at a storehouse of Matheson Co. Inc., in nearby Norwood Monday.

Kenneth Hoag, sales manager, estimated the loss at $1,300,000 or more. He said the fire apparently resulted from combustible chemicals falling on a concrete floor.

Beverly Gets A Test On Lie Detector

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Beverly Aadland underwent a lie detector test Monday night and re-told her story of the shooting of William (Billy the Kid) Stanciu.

The test was conducted as part of what homicide detectives termed "an intensive investigation" of the death of the aspiring young actor.

Members of Stanciu's family have hinted the youth may not have shot himself. Homicide detectives said the death was still listed as an apparent suicide.

Beverly, 17-year-old girlfriend of the late Errol Flynn, volunteered for the test.

She said Stanciu, a writer, came to her Hollywood apartment early Saturday, menaced her with a revolver in a game of Russian roulette, raped her at a gunpoint and then fired a bullet into his own temple.

He died Sunday at General Hospital, booked on suspicion of rape, on his 21st birthday.

Miss Aadland was taken to Juvenile Hall pending a hearing to determine if she has "adequate parental supervision." Her mother, Florence Aadland, 52, with whom she lived, was in a hospital at the time of the shooting—recovering, she said, from a beating administered her by Stanciu, who had dated the girl for six weeks.

A homicide detective said Miss Aadland's lie test "just scratched the surface of the investigation." He said several more people would be interrogated.

Ike Eases Up On Vacation

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower eased off the pressure of official duties today on his golfing vacation.

There was nothing on tap other than another electric cart tour of the Augusta National Golf Club fairways and a checkup on White House routine with staff secretary Andrew J. Goodpaster, who planned to fly down from Washington for a two-day stay.

Wayne Hawks, assistant White House press secretary, said there are no plans at present for any Washington officials to come to Augusta for consultations.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower flew down from Washington Monday to balmy spring sunshine.

An hour after Eisenhower landed, he was teeing off at Augusta National with Arnold Palmer, the new Masters tournament champion.

Bundy Denies Statement

DALLAS (AP)—Edgar C. Bundy, general chairman of the Church League of America, denied Monday that he had charged the Southern Baptist Convention had been infiltrated by communists.

The official publication of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, The Baptist Standard, had quoted Bundy as saying at Lufkin, Tex., that the communists are infiltrating the Southern Baptist Convention "church by church." The Baptist Standard said this was not true.

Bundy in a telegram denied making the statement. He said that in a question from the floor at Lufkin "I answered that there was no evidence in government files to show that the Southern Baptist Convention had been infiltrated with communists."

WHEN MISERY DOESN'T LOVE COMPANY

Uncle Sam Still Believes Husband Heads Household

By INEZ ROBB

Let us settle down in a comfortable chair with another cup of coffee while we contemplate the exasperating frustrations of the American woman. Many have been crying aloud in anguish at the indignity implied in describing themselves to the census taker by appellation so unglamorous, dull and degrading as "housewife."

Remember the lady who wrote the New York newspaper demanding the right to list herself in the census as "sweetheart of the home?"

Well, sir, I have news for her and the other women who joined her in decriing an unbearable description of their status as "housewife." Under the terms of Uncle Sam's census, they aren't going to be able to describe themselves as "housewife," "homemaker," "another dearest term" or, for that matter, "sweetheart of the home."

Uncle Sam's census form permits only one brief descriptive phrase for the married woman. It is "wife of head." Uncle Sam is still sufficiently old-fashioned to believe that "head of household" is still the traditional patriarchal family.

Of course, if the lady of the house wears the pants, I suppose she can insist on being listed as "head." What becomes of the husband then, I don't know, unless he shoots himself. Because on the census form I glimpsed, there is no provision for a displaced husband. He is "head" or nothing. And his spouse, like it or lump it, is "wife of head." Period.

All of which must be most frustrating for the gals who howled before they were hit. There is simply no such word as "housewife" in the bright lexicon of the national census. And if the ladies object to being called "wife," then why did they marry in the first place? To tell the truth, I feel a mite frustrated myself. Faithful readers may recall that I had announced my firm determination to list myself, come the census taker as a housewife, a term—in my fragile opinion—bright with glory.

But the census taker who called on the Robbs patiently explained that I could only settle for "wife of head." Hobson's choice, sure enough. The census taker, a bright young Ivy League type in Italian-tailoring, said the census seemed to be terribly frustrating to three out of every four persons.

He found his customers dying to tell all, and both threatened and annoyed to discover that, by and large, Uncle Sam is only making a head count. After asking the head of the clan and myself our names, age and if we had been born in the U.S.A., he seemed to lose interest.

The Ivy League said he felt sure the apartment was equipped with running water and my husband said it had three bathrooms. The league was delighted with the news and said, "The government seems to be more interested in plumbing than anything else."

My husband and I marvelled at this dedication of government to plumbing and let it go at that. It is hard enough to understand the government in these complicated days without trying to fathom its interest in plumbing.

The Ivy League said he felt Uncle Sam ought to ask more questions just to make the citizen feel helpful and important when, obviously, he so longs to talk about himself. Every fourth person questioned, he added, fills out a fairly long, but simple form about his education, work marital status, earnings, etc. The lucky fourths seem much happier than persons like myself who get the feeling that Uncle Sam doesn't care a hoot about them.

Far from being reluctant to talk our Ivy League said, people wanted to chew his ear. Almost everywhere he goes he has to sidestep about of true confessions. Even

ed my firm determination to list myself, come the census taker as a housewife, a term—in my fragile opinion—bright with glory.

But the census taker who called on the Robbs patiently explained that I could only settle for "wife of head." Hobson's choice, sure enough. The census taker, a bright young Ivy League type in Italian-tailoring, said the census seemed to be terribly frustrating to three out of every four persons.

He found his customers dying to tell all, and both threatened and annoyed to discover that, by and large, Uncle Sam is only making a head count. After asking the head of the clan and myself our names, age and if we had been born in the U.S.A., he seemed to lose interest.

The Ivy League said he felt sure the apartment was equipped with running water and my husband said it had three bathrooms. The league was delighted with the news and said, "The government seems to be more interested in plumbing than anything else."

My husband and I marvelled at this dedication of government to plumbing and let it go at that. It is hard enough to understand the government in these complicated days without trying to fathom its interest in plumbing.

The Ivy League said he felt Uncle Sam ought to ask more questions just to make the citizen feel helpful and important when, obviously, he so longs to talk about himself. Every fourth person questioned, he added, fills out a fairly long, but simple form about his education, work marital status, earnings, etc. The lucky fourths seem much happier than persons like myself who get the feeling that Uncle Sam doesn't care a hoot about them.

Far from being reluctant to talk our Ivy League said, people wanted to chew his ear. Almost everywhere he goes he has to sidestep about of true confessions. Even

Here's How To Heckle Psychiatrist

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that psychiatrists get tired of hearing:

"What do you guys really think about while patients are telling you their troubles?"

"How come you charge my wife $30 an hour to listen to her — and I've been listening to her 25 years for nothing?"

"Enough of my worries, doc. Now you lie down on the couch and tell me what's on your mind."

"There's nothing really wrong with me. I'm just a crazy, mixed up kid."

"No, he's not a real doctor. He's one of those head bangers."

"Now don't you try to tell me I secretly hated my mother. Why, when she died, I bought her the biggest headstone in the cemetery."

"Ever since I got that letter from the Internal Revenue Service, I've had the feeling I'm being followed. Is that a delusion of persecution, or a delusion of grandeur?"

"Night after night I have this weird dream of flying through the air with my neighbor's wife. I can't understand it. She's the homeliest dame in the block."

"Before I lie down, I'd like to ask you one thing. Do you accept credit cards?"

"My problem is that lately my wife seems to be getting better looking. Do you think it's my eye that are going — or could it be my mind?"

"It's about my husband. He mumbles in his sleep. No, I don't want to cure him. I just want to find a way to make him speak more clearly."

"You're my last hope, doc. Just answer me one question. Can psychiatry help baldness?"

"You psychiatrists must have your own troubles, too. Who do you tell them to?"

Health Insurance Big 1960 Issue

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP) — The question of health insurance for the aged will be a big 1960 campaign issue. But it's doubtful the Democrats and Republicans will do anything about it before the campaign.

There are more than 15 1/2 million people over 65 in this country. The Democrats on a Senate Welfare subcommittee reported last February almost 60 per cent of them had less than $1,000 income in 1958.

President Eisenhower's administration has plenty of time to prepare a health insurance program for the older people and submit it to Congress. Instead, as in many other problems, Eisenhower has ordered an exhaustive study.

Eight of Eisenhower's own Republican senators got fed up waiting and proposed a plan of their own. Eisenhower hasn't approved. His secretary of welfare, Arthur S. Flemming, suggested a plan. Eisenhower hasn't approved that, either.

The President wants no part of a proposal by Rep. Aime J. Forand, Rhode Island Democrat, to add health insurance for people over 65 to the Social Security program by boosting the present 3 per cent tax on employees and employers to 3 1/2 per cent. This would be compulsory and it would be a government program.

Eisenhower condemned the idea at his March 30 news conference. "I have been against compulsory health insurance as a very definite step in socialized medicine. That's what the American Medical Assn. and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce say, too."

Although three of the Democratic would-be presidential candidates—Sen. John F. Kennedy, Hubert H. Humphrey and Stuart Symington—endorse Forand's idea he had less luck with his own Democrats in the House.

There the Ways and Means Committee, on which the Democrats outnumber the Republicans, turned down Forand's bill.

Roughly the kind of plan Flemming and the eight Republican senators were thinking of would require federal-state payments to help needy people over 65 pay the cost of hospital and medical care through private insurance firms.

The only kind of plan Eisenhower is reported to want is one that is voluntary and does not include any increase in the Social Security tax.

One of the main administration arguments against Forand's bill is that it is compulsory and would not benefit about four million older people not covered by Social Security.

SOUR NOTE THREATENS THE SUGAR INDUSTRY—Cuban workers gathering sugar cane—the backbone of Cuba's economy—are facing the "dead" season next month, and some Cubans fear serious trouble before it is over. The slow season starts toward the end of May, when the cane is all cut and processed. The campesinos, farm laborers, already pinched by dwindling take-home pay as a result of government deductions, will be dependent on credits to keep going, and the government is short of money. Castro's Followers Being Disillusioned

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

AP Foreign News Analyst

CHICO DE AVILA, Cuba (AP)

Fidel doesn't know it can't be he knows what is going on in Cuba. When Fidel knows, he will change things.

So speaks a little man who has been hurt, one who still clings to faith and hope in the Cuban revo-

But more and more in educated circles, those who had such faith are being disillusioned.

In the home of a man who once furnished supplies to "mountain fought with Fidel Castro against the Fulgencio Batista dictatorship,

I watched former 26th of July movement revolutionaries

seer bitterly as their onetime hero and idol shouted and gesticulated before television cameras.

In the home of a middle-class businessman, I heard curses for Fidel muttered by one who once hideouts of the embattled Fidelistas.

In a little provincial hotel of a tenor, worried town, a charmanan spat upon a Fidelista newspaper and hurled it to the floor.

On a city street corner I had a brief rendezvous with a man who once was a 26th officer. The meeting lasted only until two, over-casual characters, sauntered toward us. "Informers," whispered the former revolutionary, leaving quickly.

Constitution Revision Gets Backing

By IRWIN FRANK

Associated Press Staff Writer

A call for revision of the Texas

Constitution and praise for the state's prison system were voiced

Monday by candidates in the May 7 Democratic Primary.

Candidates skipped formal speeches during the day and spent their time at meetings, handshaking and coffee-drinking with voters.

Gov. Ben Ramsey said at Crockett and Bryan that the state prison system is a good example of how Texas can expand government services without waste.

Ramsey, seeking a sixth term, said a rehabilitation program lifted the prison system from one of the worst to one of the best in the past 10 years while keeping the cost to taxpayers among the lowest in the nation.

The call for a constitutional convention was voiced by Don Yarborough, campaigning for lieutenant governor in Fort Worth.

He said "One thing I want to see nailed down for all time in a revised Constitution is the principle that Texas women are the legal equals of Texas men."

A six-member task force named by Gov. Price Daniel who seeks reelection meets in Austin Tuesday to start work on possible solutions to the state's financial problems. Daniel will talk to the group in his office and will brief members on their assignments.

Jack Cox, running against Daniel, visited at McKinney and Greenville during the day and spent the evening at Denton.

Candidates for the attorney general's office campaigned at Houston and Waco. Incumbent Will Wilson made a series of appearances in Waco which were termed non-political while House Speaker

Waggoner Carr spent the day in Houston.

Also in Houston Monday was

Rep. Jerry Sadler, running for land commissioner against Incumbent Bill Allcorn.

Jim D. Bowmer, Temple attorney seeking election to the Court of Criminal Appeals, toured the
