Drum, Bugle Corps Feature For Air Meet

To Play Wednesday Evening At Reception For Night Plane

Formations and drum and bugle corps will feature the program planned in celebration of the inauguration of night mail and passenger service here Wednesday evening. Fred Drew, director, announced the corps would begin its activities at 9:30 p. m. The ship from the east is scheduled to arrive at 10:45 p. m.

A special cachet will be placed on air mail letters sent on the inaugural plane. Wednesday. The same stamp will be placed on similar letters on the first eastbound night ship at 5 a. m. Thursday.

Carl Blomfield, chairman of the reception committee, will make the welcoming address on the ship's arrival. Passengers on the craft will be taken to the hotel by the local chamber of commerce, Manager C. T. Watson said.

Ira M. McConaughy, veteran American Airways pilot, will guide the inaugural plane to Big Spring on the Dallas-San Diego hop. Colonel Eddie Rickenbacker, credited with twenty-five victories as an American ace during the world war, will be co-pilot. Eddie Rickenbacker, vice-president of American Airways, will be his co-pilot.

"I wish to urge all who can to mail air letters on the first ships," said Watson. "The letters will make excellent souvenirs in time to come. They will bear the special cachet with the following inscription: 'First Night Flight, June 15, 1932, Big Spring, Texas,' and some day will be prized highly."

Letters may be left at the local chamber of commerce offices in the city, or at the postoffice or airport with instructions to hold until Wednesday night.

The proposition made to Howard county whereby Highway 9 grade and drainage structures and two overpasses on Highway 1, the Broadway of America, will be built in consideration of presentation by the county of right-of-way, fenced, still holds good.

That was the assurance given your humble servant Sunday by W. A. French, division engineer for the highway department. Mr. French said that the new order passed by the commission offering to build grade and drainage structures on No. 9 through the county, and through Dawson county, in return for right-of-way furnished by the counties would not nullify the previous order affecting the section from Big Spring to Glasscock county only, with the No. 1 overpasses included.

We can, therefore, look forward to development of this project.

The highway commission, always the most shrewd at department of the state government, is to be commended for the policy it is assuming toward the counties.

Realizing that voting of county road bonds now would be foolish, that highway department funds most of which are derived from gasoline taxes paid by all automobile owners in every part of the state, should be distributed for benefit of the state at large, the commission is discouraging counties in assuming any further bonded indebtedness and is in many instances offering to pay for improvements where right-of-way is provided.

This policy should still the mouths of many who all along have argued that the state, not the counties, should pay all cost of improving state highways.

But, notwithstanding this new policy that is in line with their expressed opinions, many of the chronic batters of public officials will just continue bailing.

The highway commission in the past six years has made some mistakes. But they have been honest ones. They are always persons, who, if they were on the commission would be subject to raking off a little, who naturally cannot understand why those on the commission

Primary Balloters Would Decide On Re-Submission By Congress

BULLETIN
AUSTIN (AP)—The state democratic executive committee Monday afternoon voted to submit the question of repeal of the eighteenth amendment to a referendum of voters participating in the July party primaries. The vote was 16 to 13.

AUSTIN (AP)—The state democratic executive committee Monday selected Lubbock for the September state convention where primary nominations will be ratified and a platform adopted.

Wright Morrow, Houston, withdrew as a gubernatorial candidate.

A resolution that the proposed re-submission of the 18th amendment to the states be ordered by congress go on the primary ballot was ready for presentation to the executive committee Monday afternoon.

Wet-Dry Proposals Puzzle G. O. P. Men

CHICAGO (AP)—A hailstorm of wet and dry proposals pelted Republicans Monday as a decade of accumulated prohibition troubles monopolized attention of assembling Republican delegates.

So serious was the cross current opinion that the party leaders virtually abandoned hope that a proposal acceptable to all would be ready when the convention opens Tuesday.

Impetus of New York's declaration for submission of a straight repeal plank was carried forward by New Jersey's proposal, which was about as far-reaching.

Drys were buttonholing their old friends from the prohibition states and while they had apparently lost hope for a dry pronouncement they seemed confident the plan for repeal likewise would fail.

Meanwhile party captains labored, with many telephone calls to Washington, to find the long elusive formula which would give the greatest satisfaction to the greatest number.

During the morning Secretaries Stinson, Hyde and Doak joined the high council.

The probability increased with time that the convention itself would have to fight out the question at Wednesday's platform session.

Mexican Volcano In Eruption; Lava Flow Is Feared

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Colima dispatches said the semi-active Colima volcano, 50 miles north of here, erupted Sunday, belching a sheet of flame and huge towers of smoke high into the air.

Subterranean rumbling accompanied the eruption.

Nearby residents prepared to vacate the vicinity hastily, fearing a flow of lava.

Coast dispatches said quantities of dead fish were washed onto the beach, indicating a disturbance under the sea.

Two Hi-Jackings, Car Theft, Here

Two hi-jackings and a car theft Saturday night featured criminal activities here for the week-end. Mayor J. B. Pickle and his wife attempted to hi-jack and take him for "a ride" early Saturday evening when he drove his car and two captors into a scenic mountain tourist camp against the commands of his abductors. The pair fled after clubbing Pickle and leaving their car behind.

Deputy Sheriff Andrew Merrick said police had reported a couple held up on Scenic Drive some four hours later. Keys of the driver were taken along with other valuables.

Still later a car belonging to Dave Leatherwood was taken from his home six miles southwest of Big Spring. Officers suggested the possibility of the three crimes having been committed by the same pair which attempted to hi-jack Pickle.

American Airways Changes Operators

H. P. Miller has reported at the American Airways station here to relieve E. O. Crews, radio operator, who is being transferred to Houston.

Crews, one of the most popular members of the local American Airways staff, both with fellow employees and the public, has been stationed here more than a year. He served an enlistment in the United States army as a radio operator before joining American Airways' staff.

Webb, son of County Judge Henry Webb of Ector county, holds a transport pilot's license in addition to the airplane mechanic's license and rumor has it that he may soon be assigned as a supply pilot, in addition to his ground duties.

General Fund Of City Is Up $1785 In May

Further Reductions Effective June 1 Expected To Improve Fund

Cash in the general fund of the City of Big Spring increased $1,785.66 during May, according to report of the financial condition as of May 31 submitted to the city manager by the city secretary.

The over run in the administrative department was due to payment of premium on the city treasurer's bond, said the city secretary, Merle J. Stewart. #### Flier Is Treated Aboard Ship; Too Exhausted To Talk ABOARD STEAMSHIP CINCINNATI SHELL, AT SEA (AP)—Stanislaus Hausner, transatlantic flier rescued by this vessel 500 miles off the coast of Portugal, was under treatment Monday aboard the ship. He was too exhausted to tell his experiences.

The ship, a slow freighter, is scheduled to arrive at New Orleans next week. It was impossible to salvage Hausner's monoplane in the darkness. It was abandoned.

Hausner left a New Jersey airport June 3. Hope had been exhausted so completely by his friends that motion picture operators' organization of which he was a member had decided to pay his wife insurance.

He had hoped to fly to Warsaw, Poland.

Through the master of the ship the flier thanked the Associated Press for its messages of congratulation on his rescue and through the organization asked to send his love to his relatives.

Dirigible Finds Conditions Much Different Than Previously

Big Spring and towns all along the Texas & Pacific railway from El Paso to Fort Worth, most of them deprived of a view of the majestic craft on her journey westward recently, got a good look at the U. S. navy dirigible Akron Sunday.

The world's largest dirigible with Commander Rosendahl and a crew of 84 men aboard, floated across this region in perfect weather, in sharp contrast to the terrific storms that buffeted her up and down West Texas for 24 hours on the westward flight.

The ship passed over Big Spring at 4:25 p. m., central standard time. While in this sector she received the routine El Paso-Fort Worth weather conditions report broadcast by station KCAP, Big Spring, the department of commerce airways station located in City Park.

The Akron also was given by the local station special reports on wind conditions for Fort Worth and Houston, which Commander Rosendahl requested.

Planes Stop Here

The local station handled a number of government traffic messages relayed by the Akron. These included messages Rosendahl sent to stations ahead and instructions to Lieutenants Herrigan and Young, pilots of the Akron's two airplanes, which had been cut loose west of the Guadalupe mountains to lighten the load.

One of the planes attempted to establish contact and be taken aboard the dirigible over Pecos but failed due to a strong north-east wind. The two planes proceeded to Big Spring airport, where they re-fueled and were relayed orders to proceed more or less independently.

She apparently was using but seven of her eight motors, according to Bob Gray, civilian pilot who keeps his plane here. Gray took off when the Akron hovered into view west of here and flew around the vessel several times.

The ship was flying at an altitude of 2,300 feet over this city. It apparently had ascended to approximately 4,500 feet when it passed over Abilene at 6:30 p. m.

9:25 A. M.

The Akron entered Texas at El Paso at 9:25 a. m. Sunday, central standard time. Over Pecos she encountered the only unfavorable weather of the West Texas passage. A northeast wind threatened to blow her off her course but at higher altitudes favorable weather conditions were found. Commander Rosendahl told the radio station here the Akron had had no trouble over Texas except at Pecos.

The ship was sighted at Wink at 11:30 a. m.

Property taxable values for the entire county were reduced about $2,000,000 to approximately $52,000,000. The Yates field being cut one-half million dollars to $38,000,000. The commissioners said they hoped the tax rate could be reduced 10c on the $100.

A Lesson From 1929

ALMOST every day something happens to give us a clearer vision of the sort of civilization that we had in this country before the 1929 crash.

Most recent were the tales about easy money in Wall street, told to the Senate commission in Washington by a series of witnesses.

These stories make a strange, rather surprising picture.

The Raab pool, it seems, cleaned up $5,000,000 in a week. A group of other traders organized by a free-lance put through an operation that netted the free-lance a million in five weeks, although he had not put up any of his own money. Another company whose stock was being manipulated by a big pool managed to pay out dividends of $1,500,000 on net profits of $1,000,000.

And so it went. High finance seems to have been just a little bit higher, in those gay days, than most of us ever realized. Now that it is too late, we are learning things.

We are learning, for instance, that our famous prosperity had a hectic, unhealthy tinge to it. It was too turbulent, too feverish; it made us lose sight of the fact that what goes up is apt to come down, sooner or later, with a bang.

It will be a good thing if we can keep all of that in mind. For we are very apt, these days, to long wistfully for a return of the bright days of 1928 and 1929, to look back on the prosperity of those years as something to which we must return just as soon as we have found out how to clamber out of this depression and the days of easy money are not, really, worth returning to.

For those days paved the way for these days in which we are suffering now. The time when a group of clever market manipulators could knock off $5,000,000 in a week, the time when a trader could clear a million without investing a cent of his own, were directly responsible for the time of $5,000,000 unemployed.

When we look ahead to prosperity, let's look ahead to a saner kind; a kind that won't strew as much easy money about Wall Street, but that will be a little bit more enduring.

Threaded screw holders have been invented to grip the points of screws in wood so light that the screws are easily loosened.

Ackerly And Tigers Split

Pap Payne Registers His Ninth Consecutive Victory

After dropping a game by a one-run margin Saturday to Ackerly, the Tigers came back Sunday with a victory over the same team by the same margin. Tigers lost the first game 5-4 and took Sunday's tilt 6-5.

At Ackerly Lefty Davis handled the Mexican sluggers in great style to let them down with seven safe blows. Meanwhile his mates were rapping Subia for more bases but for only one more safety. White and Daws led the Ackerly attack with three for four times at bat.

Sunday the old maestro of local sand lots administered another timely lesson. Pap Payne registered his ninth consecutive victory of the season with no defeats to mar his record. He limited the Ackerly crew to six hits, most of which were bunched in the first and seventh.

In the second Tigers took to Sam's chunks and drove in six runs before Rose replaced him on the mound. Thereafter Rose was the master twirler of the game, but the damage was already accomplished. The game was featured by splendid catches by both outfielders.

Erskine Williams On Tour In Northeastern Texas Finds Support

On journeys to the homes of the voters in central Northwest Texas, Judge W. Erskine Williams, Fort Worth lawyer and candidate for Congressman-at-Large, Place No. 1, circled through the towns in central Northwest Texas, in which he had not before been on his campaign.

Fourteen new "Erskine Williams for Congress" clubs were formed, which added to those already functioning total 120 in that many towns and cities in east, north and west Texas. The organization at Decatur was completed with the selection of John M. Scott as chairman. Emory Menefee, mayor of Haskell, was chosen as the chairman of the club formed at that place and Oma T. Burleson, County Attorney of Jones county, was made the chairman of the Anson "Erskine Williams" club. Other chairmen selected include: Frank Turner, president Bridgeport National Bank, Bridgeport; R. L. Morris, president of Chico State Bank, Chico; E. N. Miller, Jacksboro; Frank Beard, Newcastle; Bruce Neely, Olney; R. F. Burnett, Archer City; Judge M. F. Billingsley, Munday; W. F. Hooser, Seymour; I. H. Terry, president City School Board, Stamford; and T. J. Res, Albany. The chairman at Breckenridge is to be selected.

Erskine Williams, connected with the Morrison Stores at Graham, a cousin and namesake of Williams, offered to serve as chairman of the organization in that locality.

Ranger Youth Is Golf Champ

Phillips Beats Satterwhite Of Texon 9 To 8 In Final

SAN ANGELO.—Jimmy Phillips, 120-pound youngster from Ranger, will wear the golf crown of West Texas for the next year. The 18-year-old star won the title here Sunday by scoring a surprising one-sided victory over Jack Satterwhite, Texon, by a 9 to 8 count. In their scheduled 36-hole match, Satterwhite, also 18 years old, displayed little of the fine golf that carried him through the upper bracket into the finals and played his poorest round of the tournament to lose the title.

He won but three of the 28 holes played and five over par was the nearest he came to perfect figures on any nine. Phillips did not score sensationally, but he played steadily, took advantage of his opportunities and won easily.

Before the match started, Satterwhite was a slight favorite because of the great golf he turned in during the quarterfinals and semifinals. He was obviously off his game as the championship battle started and was never square after the second hole. His game, from tee to green was wobbly and his putter cost him many holes, especially during the morning round.

Phillips also was shaky on his first nine but he shot the last 21 holes in six over par. The match was played from the championship tee, which added several hundred yards to the course and many strokes to their medal scores.

During the morning round they started by halving the first hole with par fours. Phillips took the second with a bogie four and led the rest of the day. He took three to go two up and after they halved four and five, the Ranger star look six with a par and seven with a bogie. They halved eight and nine with sixes to turn the first nine with Phillips four up.

On the second nine they started shooting better golf. They halved 10, 11, 12 and 13 with pars. However, Phillips took 14 and 15 in a row to go six up. Satterwhite then grabbed 16 with a birdie four, his only hole on the morning round. Phillips came back to take 17 and they halved 18 to go to lunch, with Phillips six up.

All during the morning Satterwhite had numerous opportunities to win holes, but he missed several two-foot putts. The Texon youngster opened the afternoon round by taking the first hole with a par four and was only five down. Phillips came back, however, to take the second and after they halved the third, he won four and five in a row to go eight up. He then won seven and was nine up and it was only a matter of time. Phillips messed up nine and lost it to a par five, but he won 10 with a par three to end it, 9-8.

Bob Scott, veteran Colorado left-hander who slipped on his qualifying round and got in the second flight, came through to win that title by a 4-3 count over Penrose Metcalf of San Angelo. Scott played neat par golf to defeat the state representative who is also a first flighter who slipped on qualifying day.

W. W. Nelson, Brownwood, won the third flight crown by defeating H. F. Templeton, San Angelo, two up in a well played match.

George Pace, Fort Stockton ranchman, won the fourth flight crown by defeating Ros Stevenson, Lubbock youngster, one up, 20 holes.

Olin Blanks, San Angelo, won the championship consolation prize by defeating Dr. J. N. Arvin, Brownwood, 3-1.

C. C. McBurnett, San Angelo, was the winner of the second flight consolation by default from W. P. Murphy, Brownwood. M. Pittman, coach of the Anson High School, scored a one up victory over Heazle Carson, San Angelo, for the third flight consolation prize.

Phillips' victory here was his first

After all, living a la mode is just living comfortably—according to sensible American standards. If it were all simmered down to the very minimum of what we are pleased to call "necessities" and "luxuries," the people of many other nations might still consider us to be very extravagant.

To be clothed—by our standards—means to be fairly well-dressed. To be sheltered means to be housed in comfort, in decent surroundings. To be fed means to enjoy, in balanced proportions, an adequate fare of wholesome, nutritious food—and, occasionally, a dab of ice cream on our pie!

Domestic budgets may be curtailed, but actual misery and stark want happily are absent from most homes.

Buying continues—and well it might!—for the buying power of the dollar today is more than 15 per cent greater than it was in 1929.

It will buy not only the necessities, but will buy as well a great many of those things that we've been fooling ourselves into calling "luxuries"—the possession and enjoyment of which has much to do with sustaining morale under trying conditions.

After all, living a la mode is just living comfortably!

Under all circumstances—regardless of conditions—regardless of reduced purchasing ability—people look to advertising as their guide to obtaining their wants. They still read, still gather from advertising their impressions of quality and values, and from it make comparisons and reach decisions for the disposal of their means, whether ample or slender. It is so because advertising has proved its worth to the buying public. And public confidence has made advertising the keystone of modern commerce.

Home Town

mission do not "take off." Consequently they take for granted the commissioners do a little grafting.

The fellow who distrusts everybody cannot be trusted by others.

The commission has always, under the present regime, faced charges of fraud and mismanagement. No charge yet has been substantiated by proof. Remember a few years ago when an ambitious but glib young legislator from Ellis county decided he would make a big name by investigating the highway department?
The investigation had proceeded a few days when its investigator himself arose and directed the committee to go back to the house and tell it the highway commission's hands were clean. No irregularities could be found.

Not only in the face of legislative investigation but before the judicial as well as the commission under the Moody and Sterling administrations been found with a clean slate. The other day a district judge at Palo Pinto, who happened to have the courage to face political pressure, refused to grant an injunction against the highway commission that could have been granted only by evidence of fraud or mismanagement. The judge is running for re-election at the hands of the people who sought the injunction and who for months
have been worked up over it almost to the point of violence, but he followed his convictions and ruled according to the law and the evidence.

There have been highway commissions in this state who, when their records were examined in courts, could not show a clean slate. But the present commission is not among them.

The commission always has and always will be subject to plenty of criticism. Every time a highway fuss arises between two groups, the commission is blamed regardless of the decision it makes. One side has to lose in every case. The losing side always blames the commission.

And, people of Texas, especially West Texas, too often have a way of losing reason and sense of fair play when they become embroiled in highway disputes. That makes the criticism of the commission
more violent.

Howard county has not in recent years assumed the belligerent, badgering attitude of some counties and cities. She has held her own, looked out for herself,
accorded other counties the same right, and is today receiving a mighty liberal treatment from the commission.

Another reason why the commission inherits plenty of criticism is that you cannot change routing
of any highway without making somebody angry. Part of the folk become displeased because the road runs through or by their property. The others don't like it because it fails to do so. There you are.

So long as we have an appointive highway commission, free from political consequences at hands of disgruntled individuals, we can have fearless, fair commissioners who are not afraid to act according to what they consider best and wise. Such a commission we now have.

So long as the law allows the state highway commission to determine routing of state highways
we can look forward to development of a "connected" system of roads. If we ever lose our heads and take that right away from the state we'll have a crazy-quilt pattern of roads, representing more waste in first-cost and more unnecessary miles by every traveler thereafter than you can imagine.

These are some of the reasons why we have no patience with the politicians who attempt to take advantage of selfishly disgruntled
voters by hopping on the highway commission at every turn in the road, or because the road does not turn, if you please.

THE PHILOSOPHER SPEAKS

We have heard plenty from the politicians and the economic experts since the depression started. Let's give the philosopher a chance. Let's read Emerson, in light of what is going on today, and see whether what the philosopher says applies.
Here are excerpts from his "Essay
on Compensation":

"Every excess causes a defect;
every defect, an excess. Nature hates monopolies and exceptions.

"The waves of the sea do not more speedily seek a level from their loftiest tossing than the varieties of condition tend to equalize themselves.

"There is always some leveling circumstances that puts down the overbearing, the strong, the rich, the fortunate, substantially on the same ground with all others.

"The farmer imagines power and place are fine things. But the president has paid dear for his White House.

"Things refuse to be misman-
aged long.

"The no checks to a new evil appear, the checks exist, and will appear. If the government is cruel, the governor's life is not safe. If you tax too high, the revenue will yield nothing; if you make the criminal code sanguinary, justice will not convict. If the law is too mild, private vengeance comes in.

"Punishment is a fruit jar, unsuspected, ripens within the flower of the pleasure which concealed it.

"Cause and effect, means and ends, seed and fruit, cannot be severed; for the effect already blooms in the cause, the end pre-exists in the means, the fruit in the seed.

"There is a crack in everything
God has made.

"In nature nothing can be given;
all things are sold.

"Our property is timid, our laws are timid, our cultivated classes are timid. Fear for ages has bowed and mowed and gibbered over government and property.

"We are idolaters of the old. We do not believe there is any force in today to rival or recreate that beautiful yesterday. We linger in the ruins of the old tent, where once we had bread and shelter and organs, nor believe that the spirit can feed, cover and nerve us again.

"The changes which break up at short intervals the property of men are advertisements of a nature whose law is growth."—Fort Worth Press.

SPORTS ON PARADE

By CURTIS BISHOP

The West Texas golf tournament is over. In the upper bracket young Jack Satterwhite of Texon marched through any and all opposition, making a perfect monkey out of an experienced star who informed the writer last week that Satterwhite's cockiness has ruined
his chances of ever being a golfing success. In the lower bracket, Jimmy Phillips, for three years a boy wonder but not until last week
a champion, defeated veterans right and left with machine-like golf. In the finals, as you know, it was all Phillips. Nine up and eight to play we think it was.

At that Satterwhite was the hit of the show, and it was a pretty good performance. Phillips has been hovering in the limelight
for years, but it was the first time in spite of any and all predictions that the Texon youth has ever landed in the championship flight of a tournament. He qualified himself with strokes to spare, and he was below that total in every one of his matches. Satterwhite in 1931 captured the first flight trophy in the Big Spring and San Angelo tourneys.

Annual P-T.A. Report

Heads Of Council And City Schools Summarize Year's Accomplishments

The Parent-Teacher Council of this city is an organization at which all P.T.A. units meet once each month to compare methods of work, to stimulate friendly competition in achievement, to receive suggestions from other units and to unite upon definite lines of work.

It also gives help and inspiration to weaker organizations or new units and forms a connecting link between the local associations and the district, state and national organizations.

The welfare of the child is the one aim that all P.T.A. organizations have as their goal. Their united effort is to promote child welfare in home, school, church and community, and to bring into closer relations the home and the school. That parents and teachers may cooperate intelligently in the training of a child is a work that all people should have a part.

I have served the Big Spring Council as president for the past year and am looking forward to the next year in the same place with the following council officers: Mrs. W. T. Bell, vice president; Mrs. Victor Mellinger, secretary; and Mrs. Jess Slaughter as treasurer.

Mrs. Victor Mellinger has served for the past two years as council secretary and I wish to thank her for her faithfulness in that capacity.

During vacation the council hopes to carry out successfully a summer round up and is also planning a school of instruction with district officers in charge. This school will be held sometime late in August.

Mrs. B. N. Duff is fifth district president and is always ready to give time and effort in furthering the P.T.A. ideals.

I want to praise greatly the past year's work of the six units of Big Spring's school and am looking forward to a bigger and better year in 1937-38.

Respectfully submitted,
MRS. CHAS. KOBERG,
Council President.

High School P.T.A.

Our first meeting of the year took place Tuesday, Sept. 22 with a good attendance. At this meeting we voted to sponsor a tonalamaty for a needy child. This work was under the supervision of Mrs. Showalter.

Mrs. Koberg was nominated as chairman to assist Mrs. Bumpass in helping the Museum to obtain the school bell which had hung for so many years in the Central Ward school and which is now in the Lutheran church. The idea was to replace it with a new one and take the old bell to the Museum.

On Oct. 27, the organization voted to study the P.T.A. series of Child Welfare lessons. All officers and members of the P.T.A. were asked to take this course with us. We met every Thursday to discuss the lesson and each week a leader was appointed to take charge of the work. I feel sure that each one who took this course was duly repaid for the time and energy spent on the lessons.

At the December meeting we were given a rare treat by the students of Miss McElroy's classes, who gave a very interesting and unusual musical program using the kitchen utensils as instruments.

After this meeting, refreshments were served by the members of the Home Economics Class.

Mrs. Low's classes also gave a demonstration of their typewriting work.

In January we had as visitors many mothers, also Mrs. J. L. Webb, the president, from Junior High. The object was to discuss the Girl Scout movement.

Our February meeting was held on the evening of the 23rd, so as to give the fathers an opportunity to attend and see what the association really meant.

Newspaper clippings on what other state organizations were doing to benefit their schools were read. Mrs. Duff gave a talk and the pupils of Miss Butler's history classes presented a George Washington pageant. There were about 150 people present.

A musical program was sponsored by the association at which time we had the good fortune to hear Mr. Christian Thaulow, head of the violin department of Simmons University, at Abilene.

We also celebrated Founder's Day at which time Mrs. Koberg, our council president, gave us a talk on the meaning of Founder's Day. The birthday cake was donated by Currie's Home Bakery and the ice cream by the Dairyland Co.

At our last meeting officers for the following year were installed by Mrs. Duff, fifth district president, as follows:

Mrs. Albert M. Fisher, president; Mrs. W. F. Cushing, first vice; Mrs. J. A. Myers, second vice; Mrs. W. V. Nichols, third vice; Mrs. Harry Stalcup, recording secretary; Mrs. John Smith, treasurer.

Mrs. Fisher was also elected delegate to attend the district meeting at San Angelo this spring.

We equipped a rest room for use in emergency cases at the high school. We also gave instructions to pay for the engraving done on the loving cup won by the Latin pupils.

Our attendance has averaged about 35 members a meeting. I have presided at every meeting during the year with the exception of one. I have attended all council meetings except one when I was ill.

Our dues were paid to the council for the year and also our dues per capita to the state association. It has indeed been a pleasure to serve you as president and I wish to thank the faculty and all members of the association who have worked with me so diligently and faithfully during the past year. I hope to serve you even better in the next year and want to express my appreciation and thanks for bestowing the confidence in me to re-elect me for the coming year. May we all try and show what P.T.A. really stands for and let each parent be interested in the work and his child's welfare and join with us at our meetings.

MRS. ALBERT M. FISHER, Pres.
Junior High P.T.A.
Raised funds by membership dues, two bridge tournaments, sponsoring Cowboy band concert and by winning attendance prize at The Herald Cooking School.

In detail: sponsored one tonalamaty; observed national book week; observed thrift week; bought first-aid kit for school; gave $10 to the museum; bought track suits for Junior High boys; bought loving cup and awards for the interschool meet; spent $75.00 for lunches and supplies for needy children; bought sandwiches that many mothers furnished; voted to cooperate in securing Grade A milk, only for school children; members signed a petition to stop the sale of prize candies, etc., in stores; paid all dues requested by the association; and state and national associations as well.

MRS. J. L. WEBB, President
North Ward P.T.A.
The work of the P.T.A. A. has been under the direction of Mrs. T. Bell as president with the assistance of Mrs. Frank Wilson, vice president; Mrs. A. Smith, secretary and Mrs. Herbert Lee, treasurer.

The association has met on the third Tuesday of each month for business matters pertaining to the school. The report of the P.T.A. A. was only the interest of the mothers, but of the fathers as well.

At the beginning of the school year fathers voluntarily repaired and moved the old North Ward playground equipment to the new building and installed it properly.

They planted 20 Chinese elm trees on the campus and in December gave the school a Christmas present by paying the telephone bill for the year which enabled the school to keep its phone.

The mothers have worked faithfully during the entire year and purchased for the school the following: one set of Compton's encyclopedia, $63; one set of Junior class books, $24; books for individual rooms, $10; repair of piano, $5; first aid kit, $6.50; paying for telephone for 8 months, $48. Total, $160.50.

The reports from the other schools will follow in Tuesday's edition of The Herald.

B. C. D. At Sweetwater Made Clearing House For Canning Of Food

SWEETWATER—Reversing an age-old cry of "help the farmer!" an appeal issued here this week asked the farmers of the Sweetwater territory to help the city man.

With prospects of all farm homes having a bountiful supply of home-grown foods this year, charity officials and heads of the unemployment committee are asking that surplus vegetables and fruits be donated for distribution to needy families.

As an additional help an eight-acre farm has been secured for planting vegetables to be worked by needy families with the foods to be canned along with some meat for distribution this fall.

A clearing house has been opened in the offices of the Sweetwater Board of City Development to assist town people who are willing to furnish cans to farmers needing them but not able to buy, on a 50-50 basis, the board deducting five cents each from the persons growing the vegetables and those furnishing the cans. This toll will be delivered this winter to charitable agencies for relief work.
