Tight-Rein Budget Asked

State Projects In Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—Texas is slated to get more than $40 million in water-projects construction funds under the proposed Nixon administration budget submitted to Congress today.

In addition, the Manned Spacecraft Center at Houston will receive substantial new money, a Veterans Administration hospital at San Antonio will be activated and the Chamizal Memorial Highway will be completed.

Texas is always one of the largest recipients of Army Corps of Engineers money.

For the fiscal year starting July 1, President Nixon budgeted $35.5 million for construction and another $3.3 million for planning of Texas projects.

The largest request was $8.8 million to modify Lavon Lake and improve its east fork channel.

Other construction money: A flood-control project on the San Gabriel River, $3.99 million; a hurricane-and-flood-protection project at Port Arthur, $3.1 million; deepening of the Corpus Christi ship channel, $3.1 million and a navigation project on Wallisville lake, $3.1 million.

The major Army Engineers budgeted item for planning funds was for design of the Trinity River navigational project, $1.09 million.

In addition, the Bureau of Reclamation budgeted $8 million for the Palmetto Bend project, nearly $2.6 million in loans to South Texas irrigation districts, and $756,800 for other projects in the state.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration's budget includes $5.9 million for construction or improvement in facilities at the Houston center.

This includes $585,000 to modify the fire protection system; $2.5 million for additions to the systems integration and mockup laboratory, and $2.8 million to modify the vibration and acoustic test facility.

In addition, the center will get an unspecified portion of a $67.2 million budget for the space-shuttle program.

The Veterans Administration didn't give a dollar amount but noted in its budget that the new VA hospital in San Antonio would be one of six to begin operations in the coming fiscal year.

The department of Transportation budgeted $1.3 million for completion of the Chamizal Memorial Highway, which runs between West Texas and the Mexican Border.

The National Park Service has two construction programs due in Texas- a park lot at the Alibates Flint Quarries and Texas Panhandle Pueblo Culture park, for $45,000; and repair of bridges in Big Bend National Park, for $272,000.

Here is a breakdown on Bureau of Reclamation projects in Texas:

Palmetto Bend project, $8 million in construction; loans to the Cameron County Water Control and Improvement District No. 5, $1.3 million; the Hidalgo and Willacy Counties district No. 1, $1 million, and the Santa Maria Control district, $291,000; and $756,800 in other programs.

These include $300,000 on an investigation, due to last until 1976, of the Elephant Butte reservoir of the Fort Quitman project; $235,000 for regional water use in the Southwest; $50,000 for a salinity study at Lake Meredith and $171,800 on the feasibility of the Texas Basins project. A report on the San Antonio-Guadalupe navigational project is to be completed in fiscal 1975.

Programs Cut, Ended

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon demanded death for dozens of federal spending programs today, called on Congress for a rigid 1974 budget ceiling of $268.7 billion, and cautioned that greater spending would mean "high taxes, higher interest rates, renewed inflation, or all three."

"I oppose these alternatives; with a firm rein on spending, none of them is necessary," Nixon said in his fiscal 1974 budget message.

The document lived up to advance billing as an ax job on many social, health, housing, education, and antipoverty programs of his Democratic predecessors—programs Nixon said had failed after a fair trial.

Despite the domestic cutbacks, the budget called for $81.1 billion of military outlays, the second biggest defense budget in history even with the peace agreement in Vietnam. It provided no funds for reconstruction of South Vietnam.

Nixon called his budget a turning point in national policy though still written in the familiar red ink—a $24.8-billion deficit this year and a $12.7-billion deficit in fiscal 1974.

But the President pointed to 113 program cutbacks and terminations, worth $6.5 billion in savings in this fiscal year alone, and told the lawmakers:

"The 1974 budget is the clear evidence of the kind of change in direction demanded by the great majority of the American people. No longer will power flow inexorably to Washington."

The figures—some of them leaked in advance by Nixon himself—were:

For fiscal 1973: Outlays $249.8 billion, receipts $225 billion.

For fiscal 1974: Outlays $268.7 billion, receipts $256 billion.

Nixon invited an intensified power struggle with the Democratic-controlled Congress not only on spending but on two other old battle fronts.

He urged the bundling of 70 federal aid programs into four broad "special revenue-sharing programs" for the states and cities, with less federal control. And he repeated his call for a drastic governmental reorganization which Congress has resisted for two years.

"A thorough overhaul of the federal bureaucracy is long overdue, and I am determined to accomplish it," the President said.

Nixon proposed no new spending programs. Yet the 1974 budget will bring an $18.9-billion increase in spending over the year that ends June 30, largely because of military pay and price increases and what Nixon called "uncontrollable items"—including a $1.9-billion increase in interest costs on the climbing federal debt.

Nixon called for phasing out all federal hospital construction under the Hill-Burton act and some other health programs. He provided no more funds after June 30 for the $1-billion-a-year program of public service employment, now supporting 130,000 municipal jobs.

The Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), centerpiece agency of the late President Lyndon B. Johnson's "war on poverty," was ordered liquidated.

Some programs were killed, some sent to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and other agencies. Another Johnson pet, the 1965 Aid to Education Act, was earmarked for deep cuts.

Nixon scuttled his own proposal for welfare reform; the plan, embracing family-assistance payments, was not mentioned. Nixon has pressed it on Congress without success for four years.

The President also announced that the 18-month freeze on approvals of subsidized low-income rental and sale housing will be broadened to apply to seven other housing programs—urban renewal, model cities, water and sewer grants, rehabilitation loans for run-down housing, neighborhood-facilities grants, public-facilities loans and open-space grants.

The long list of programs to be halted, revised or phased out includes the "disappointments and failures" among the government's human-resources programs, Nixon said; they were given "the benefit of every doubt" before the ax fell upon them. He added:

"But only by halting the unproductive programs here and

Shortage Of Housing Here

Snyder is suddenly confronted with a housing shortage again, the Chamber of Commerce reported this morning.

An upsurge of inquiries has occurred in the past few days concerning availability of houses and apartments.

Mickey Nunley, Chamber Manager, urged everyone who might have living quarters that could be made available to make it known by listing it with real estate brokers or by advising the Chamber office.

"We have had calls the past few days seeking houses to rent or purchase," said Nunley," And many of them would take apartments. But suddenly we seem to have difficulty in locating housing of the type most of them are looking for."

Nunley said there already are some who live in neighboring towns and work in and around Snyder who would like to move here if they could find suitable housing. In addition, there are others who are moving into the area.

STALLING PEACE-KEEPING APPARATUS

Say VC Delegates Refuse To Present Credentials

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong delegation refused at two sessions today to present its credentials to the four-party joint military commission, stalling the entire peace-keeping apparatus, a source close to the talks said.

Hundreds more cease-fire violations were reported across South Vietnam.

A third meeting was called for tonight in efforts to resolve the presentation of credentials and another diplomatic snag. Nearly 150 additional North Vietnamese delegates flown from Hanoi to Saigon aboard two U.S. Air Force C130 transports staged a plane sit-in at Tan Son Nhut air base, apparently refusing to fill out customs and immigration forms.

It was learned that U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker had personally intervened for the second time in two days in efforts to resolve the haggling.

The four parties — the United States, South Vietnam, North Vietnam and the Viet Cong — met for a total of three hours in morning and afternoon sessions but accomplished "absolutely nothing," the source said.

The United States, South Vietnam and North Vietnam presented their credentials at the first commission meeting attended by all parties in the morning, the source said, but the Viet Cong refused, without citing a reason.

The protocol on the joint commission makes no mention of credentials.

The stalled conference of the four parties marked the first time the United States, North and South Vietnam and the Viet Cong met face to face across a conference table in Saigon.

Two U. S. C130 transports landed shortly before noon at Hanoi's Gia Lam airport, which American jets bombed last month. They picked up about 150 North Vietnamese officers and men for the joint military commission and flew them to Saigon. It was the first time an American military plane had landed in Hanoi since before the Tonkin Gulf incident in August 1964.

On their arrival at the Saigon airport, however, the North Vietnamese refused to leave the plane, apparently because the Saigon government demanded that they fill out its customs and immigration forms. A group of Viet Cong delegates had balked similarly on Sunday, until the government waived the requirement, but another group of North Vietnamese who arrived Sunday had submitted to the formalities without objection.

Representing the United States at today's initial meeting was the deputy chief of the American delegation, Brig. Gen. John A. Wickham Jr., who formerly was the U.S. Command's deputy chief of staff for economic affairs.

Officials said the meeting of all four parties paved the way for the four-nation International Commission of Control and Supervision to send out men to begin policing the truce, probably Tuesday.

First Peacetime Casualty

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. helicopter pilot, wounded while flying an aircraft reported to bear marks intended to indicate its neutrality, died today. He was the first American killed in Vietnam since the cease-fire went into effect Sunday morning.

The U.S. Command identified the pilot as WO Anthony Dal Pozzo, 22, of Santa Barbara, Calif. It said he was wounded by small-arms fire from the ground while flying a courier mission 10 miles southwest of Can Tho, capital of the Mekong Delta.

A second American aboard the helicopter suffered minor wounds. He was identified by the command as Lt. Col. Daniel Rickard of Williamsburg, Va., senior U.S. adviser in An Xuyen southernmost province in Vietnam.

The incident occurred about 9:45 a.m., an hour and 45 minutes after the Vietnam cease-fire formally went into effect, the command reported.

Spokesmen declined comment on the report that the helicopter bore special markings, but knowledgeable sources said it was painted with vertical white stripes which have been selected, subject to approval of the four-nation Joint Military Commission, as neutral markings for aircraft that it would use on field missions.

"The chopper had the zebra stripes and it was flying right down on the deck so anyone could see it," said one source. "There was no way they (the enemy) could have missed it."

US, 11 Allies To Vienna For Talks

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Writer

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The United States and 11 of its North Atlantic allies decided today to go to Vienna for the opening of talks with the Communist bloc on mutual and balanced force reductions in central Europe.

The talks in the Austrian capital begin Wednesday.

The decision of the NATO group was announced in a statement after a meeting of the North Atlantic Council, where all 15 members of the alliance are represented. France, Portugal and Iceland will not take part in the talks.

The Western countries had invited East Germany, Poland, Hungary and Czechoslovakia to take part in the talks. The Soviet Union has said it is also bringing along Romania and Bulgaria.

NATO officials said the West would not object so long as the two additional countries had the same status as their own members of the flanks of the alliance: Italy, Greece, Turkey, Norway and Denmark. None of these seven countries has large numbers of foreign troops on its soil.

Procedures and participants are likely to be among the first subjects of discussion.

The meetings would attempt to set the groundwork for substantive talks in the fall dealing with the reduction of military strength on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

Seventeen nations will take part in the preliminary talks, 12 members of NATO and five from the Soviet Bloc's Warsaw Pact. The Russians reportedly agreed to this lineup after the NATO nations said the Vienna group could take up the Soviet proposal that the substantive talks be open to all interested European nations.

The Soviets are reported to want the talks broadened to include Romania and Bulgaria, the only two members of the Warsaw Pact excluded.

Nobody expects speedy agreement once negotiations begin. Officials point to the strategic arms limitation talks (SALT), which have only two participants and cover only one class of weapons. They took three years before their first agreement was reached.

The talks on reduction of forces are a companion to a conference on European security and cooperation, long a pet project of the Russians. Preliminary talks to arrange for those negotiations are now being held in Helsinki.

Watergate Case To Jury Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government rested its case in the Watergate political espionage trial today.

The government rested after calling 51 witnesses including seven members of President Nixon's White House and campaign staffs and two officials of the Democratic party.

The case grew out of the break-in and alleged bugging of the Democratic headquarters in the Watergate building complex last June 17.

The defense was expected to complete its presentation briefly, and presiding U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica scheduled closing arguments for both sides in the afternoon.

Sirica said he would deliver his charge to the jury, which will run some 40 pages, at the opening of court Tuesday. The case then would go immediately to the jury.

The government wound up with only two witnesses today—White House lawyer Fred Fielding and Democratic official R. Spencer Oliver.

Oliver testified only briefly, but said his telephone at Democratic National Committee offices in the Watergate complex was tapped

Oliver is executive director of the Association of State Democratic Chairmen.

Fielding, an associate counsel to President Nixon, testified about the opening of a safe in the Executive Office Building used by E. Howard Hunt, a former White House consultant who has pleaded guilty in the Watergate case.

The trial moved into its fourth week today.

No hand holding until a doctor's at hand

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have never seen a problem like mine in your column. I am a 15-year-old girl and I never let a boy hold my hand because I have ugly warts on my fingers and I am so ashamed of them. My family can't afford to send me to a doctor to have them removed and I have tried every kind of compound and even rubbing potato on them, but they don't go away.

Please help me. LOVE FROM FT. MYERS, FLA.

DEAR LOVE: Ask your school nurse if there is a free clinic in your area. Some doctors donate their services, and perhaps one would agree to remove your warts and solve your problem. [P. S. Write to tell me if you have any luck.]

DEAR ABBY: I am a blind and partially paralyzed vet-eran who has been home from Viet Nam since 1968, and one of my biggest pleasures was listening to you on CBS radio. It was only about five minutes a day, but I never missed it, and it sure cheered me up. Lately I can't find it. Did they take you off or what? DISAPPOINTED IN N.Y.

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: No! I am still on CBS radio six days a week, but they changed the time of my program all over the U. S. Telephone your local CBS radio station and ask them what time Dear Abby is now on. And God bless!

DEAR ABBY: Years ago when one received an R. S. V. P. invitation to a wedding no response was taken to mean the answer was negative. Who changed all that?

About a month ago, I received a wedding invitation from out of state. The groom is my cousin, and I never met the bride. Well, I didn't respond one way or the other because I had no intentions of going.

Yesterday, I received a very formal-type letter from the bride asking to please let her know at my "earliest convenience" whether I am coming or not!

Several other members of my family received the identical letter. We all think this is very peculiar to get such a letter from a total stranger. Have things changed?

ANONYMOUS

DEAR ANONYMOUS: Nothing has changed. All R. S. V. P. invitations should be acknowledged promptly with either an acceptance or a decline. [Wherever did you get the idea that to ignore an invitation was to decline it?]

DEAR ABBY: I never thought I'd be writing a letter to Dear Abby, but maybe if I put this down on paper it will strengthen my resolve.

A woman who objected to dirty jokes wrote and asked you what to do when someone told one in her presence, and I think your answer to her was so good, I am cutting it out and taping it up on my mirror where I will see it often. You said:

"Don't permit ANYTHING which offends you to be said in your presence without challenging it. Silence implies tacit approval. Respectable people will respect you, and don't worry about what the others think."

Never again, I hope, will I sit in my white, suburban living room politely acquiescing to statements like these:

"I'd like to sell my house to a Negro family, but I'm afraid of what the neighbors will say."

"What else can you expect of him? Look at the family he comes from!"

"All Jews are alike."

"All the Irish are big drinkers."

"Don't ever trust an Italian."

The list could go on and on. If you don't mind my taking your answer out of context in this instance, sign me. . . . ABBY FAN IN ROCHESTER, N.Y.

DEAR FAN: Be my guest. The principle is the same.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

TIGHT BUDGET

now can we assure ourselves of the money needed to pursue those programs that will get results."

Painting a grim picture of future tax boosts if spending goes unchecked, Nixon said that, if Congress exceeds his budget totals, it "must find financing for the additional aamount," otherwise the legislation will revive inflationary pressures.

"And it will be subject to veto," the President added.

"I will do everything in my power to avert the need for a tax increase, but I cannot do it alone. The cooperation of Congress in controlling total spending is absolutely essential."

He added: "Should the Congress cause the total budgeted outlays to be exceeded, it would inescapably face the alternatives of higher taxes, higher interest rates, renewed inflation, or all three. I oppose these alternatives; with a firm rein on spending, none of them is necessary."

With apparent intent to set a cost-cutting example, Nixon announced a shakeup of his executive office under which five of its agencies will be abolished or moved elsewhere and its staff will be cut from the present 4,250 to 1,686 in 1974.

The five are the OEO, the Office of Science and Technology, the Office of Consumer Affairs, the Office of Emergency Preparedness and the National Aeronautics and Space Council.

This was the budget's impact on some major segments of government:

DEFENSE

Nixon said the budget "assures us of sufficient strength to preserve our security and to continue as a major force for peace," even without relying on a peacetime draft.

The $81.1-billion budget will permit continued development of the Trident sea-based ballistic-missile system and the B1 advanced manned strategic bomber, and begin development of a strategic submarine-launched cruise missile.

SPACE

Instead of the expected cuts, the space program won a $74-million increase in funds for 1974, to a total of $3.133 billion. The reusable space shuttle will get $475 million instead of the present $200 million.

Skylab, a three-man experimental space station, also is being pushed forward. It will test man's ability to live and work in space for up to 56 days.

HEALTH

The President invited a tussle with Congress by calling for an end to federal hospital construction under the Hill-Burton program, but his budget calls for an over-all increase of 14 per cent in outlays for health programs, mostly on Medicare and Medicaid.

A $91-million increase in funds for cancer research and $28 million more for heart research—programs favored by Nixon—are requested. But other research programs of the National Institutes of Health would be decreased or held even.

EDUCATION

Nixon proposed a $1.7-billion special revenue-sharing program to combine a number of education programs, and called for a $1.3-billion cutback in funds under the 1965 Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

A deep cut was proposed in special aid for schools in areas where federal installations add to education costs—the "federally impacted areas." The budget called for $131 million for the program, as against $467.5 million this year.

WELFARE

In tacitly conceding defeat for Nixon's welfare-reform plans, the budget says Washington instead will help states remove ineligibles from the welfare rolls and eliminate inequities in the system.

A cutback of $1.2 billion in state-federal public-assistance programs is anticipated, for a total of $12.7 billion. Most of the decline will result from the transfer of aged, blind and disabled beneficiaries to a newly federalized program in the Social Security system next Jan. 1.

Texas Chilled

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wintry weather sent subfreezing temperatures knifing through Texas all the way into the semitropical Lower Rio Grande Valley today.

A weekend chill intensified as skies cleared throughout the state, and slowly- dropping winds accented the effect along the coast.

Although the mercury dropped to 27 at Brownsville and 28 at McAllen in the Lower Valley's citrus and winter vegetable belt, growers said readings apparently stayed a degree or so above a point where damage could be expected. They looked for a warming sun to prevent harm.

Among the regular reporting stations, only the resort island of Galveston on the Upper Texas Coast saw thermometers stay above freezing around dawn—and it was a brisk 34 degrees there.

Colder spots included Junction and Wink at 15, Dalhart and San Angelo at 16, Childress at 17, Abilene, El Paso at 18 and Amarillo, Lubbock and San Antonio at 20.

Readings elsewhere included Cotulla and Mineral Wells 21, Beeville and Fort Worth 22, Dallas, Tyler and Wichita Falls 23, College Station, Cotulla, Del Rio, Midland, Victoria and Waco 24, Lufkin and Texarkana 25, Alice, Austin, Houston and Longview 26, Palacios 27, Beaumont-Port Arthur 28, Corpus Christi and Kingsville 31 and Laredo 32.

Forecasts called for clear to partly cloudy skies and a warming trend tonight and Tuesday.

Two Vehicles Are In Mishap

Minor damage resulted from a two-vehicle collision on Twenty-fifth Street near Avenue Q at 3:40 p.m. Saturday. Involved were the 1965 Model Ford pickup of Josh P. Phillips, Route 2, Rotan, and a 1968 Model Chevrolet operated by E.H. Kinney, Route 3, Snyder.

Guilty Plea Is Entered

Steve Daugherty pleaded guilty in district court Friday to a charge of theft of cattle. He received a 3-year probated term.

The offense occurred Oct. 25. He admitted taking three steers, a heifer and a bull from the W.C. Hart place south of Snyder last Oct. 5. The charge was filed Friday.

In other action, Wesley Jewel Floyd filed a writ of habeas corpus this morning. He claims that he involuntarily "pleaded guilty." He was originally charged with theft over $50. He received a 6-year probated sentence on Aug. 12, 1971.

Then, on Oct. 21, 1971, he was charged with being drunk in a public place in Knox City, and the probation was revoked.

Many Visit LBJ Historic Site

STONEWALL, Tex. (AP) — More than 7,000 persons visited the grave site of former Lyndon B. Johnson during the past weekend, Alex Gould, National Parks Service superintendent of the LBJ Historic Site, said today.

Snyderites Are HSU Candidates

ABILENE—A Snyder man and another former Snyder resident are candidates for offices in the annual election of the Hardin-Simmons University Alumni Association.

Roy Carter, a 1953 graduate who is assistant principal of Snyder High School is a candidate for first vice president, and Bill Wiman, a 1969 H-SU graduate and now pastor of Second Baptist Church in Dublin, is a candidate for fourth vice president. Wiman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wiman of Snyder and is a graduate of Snyder High School.

Officers elected at the balloting will begin their terms at the 1974 homecoming.

10 Perish In Fire

PLEASANTVILLE, N.J. (AP) — At least 10 persons were killed early today in a fire that raced through Street's Nursing Home, a two-story, wood-frame home for the elderly.

Six other persons were known to have escaped, Fire Chief Walt S. Schlundt said. All the victims were believed to be elderly, he added.

The building, estimated to be at least 50 years old, was destroyed by the blaze.

The home's fire alarm did not work, Schlundt said. He said it had been inspected recently as required by state law.

The first alarm was turned in by Absecon Police Sgt. James Mong, who spotted the blaze while patrolling a street that serves as the Pleasantville-Absecon border.

Fire Marshal William Poley said most of the dead were found in or near their beds.

Schlundt said inititial indications were that the fire had begun in a linen closet.

Draft Board Still Intact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The draft that raised armies and drove hundreds to flee their country has been retired.

But the Selective Service System which monthly sent "Greetings" to thousands of young men is still intact.

The nation's 18-year-old men will still have to register for the draft—and carry their credit-card-size draft cards. Standby lotteries still will be held every year.

Only inductions have ended, and the Nixon administration retains authority to resume them until June 30. On that date, the administration's draft power will expire unless Congress renews it.

But now, for the first time since 1948, men between 18 and 35 don't face induction.

Vandals Active

Vandals entered Stanfield Elementary School over the weekend, according to a City Police report. Officers said they took a box of frozen potatoes from a freezer and scattered them back of the school.

Fire Put Out

City Firemen extinguished a blaze in a garbage container at Twentieth Street and Avenue E at 2:50 p.m., Sunday.

Pleas Entered In County Court

Several guilty pleas were entered in county court this morning.

Bennie Anderson pleaded guilty to carring a prohibited weapon. He received a $100 fine. He was arrested Saturday by City Police.

Earnest James pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated. He received a $100 fine plus court costs and a 30 day jail term, which was probated six months. He was arrested Sunday by Highway Patrolmen.

Richard M. Stinson pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated. He received a 100 fine plus court costs and a 10-day jail term, which was probated for 30 days. He was arrested Saturday by Highway Patrolmen.

Actress Likes France For Raising Children

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

France is a great place for raising children "because it is 40 years behind the times," in the opinion of actress Olivia de Havilland, who lives in Paris. Her children are Benjamin Goodrich, 23, and Gisele Galante, 16.

"A lot of people have the erroneous impression that the French are very sophisticated, but they aren't really ... In fact French boys are terrified of English girls. When they are sent off to England to learn a language they are warned the girls are very precocious. At 16 my son was telling me how fast the English girls were and he has been leery even of having his English cousins visit him when I am not around."

One French mother was appalled that her son, who had lived with an English family while attending school, "became involved." She sadly told Miss de Havilland "it has happened."

Though they are behind "in the ways" of American children, they are more fluent in languages — some study Latin and Greek for seven years. In fact schooling keeps French children so busy they have time for little else.

"Learning is the child's profession" in the opinion of Miss de Havilland, who is in favor of the heavy emphasis on school. Gisele began school at 4½ years, and is at school six days every week at 8:10 a.m. and doesn't return home until 5:30 p.m. — with lots of homework. On Thursdays and Saturdays she has half-day school holidays and might go horseback riding. But, she might study. Their examinations are rugged and the final one, at the end of the 12th year "is horrendous."

"But at the end of that time many children are so well educated, they need no more schooling," she commented.

Gisele may be "too young in spirit" even at 18 to cope with American life and its schools, she observed. "She has never been anywhere, not even a movie, with a boy."

But this summer she will take her on an educational tour of America, retracing its early development, beginning at Jamestown and going on to visit Plymouth Rock, Sturbridge, Washington and Philadelphia before going West.

Benjamin is still studying — advanced math and physics — at the Faculte des Sciences and plans to aim for a "high degree" in America when he has received one in France. But like many American mothers, Miss de Havilland says she doesn't know what her son is up to.

"I suspect he has made up his mind what sort of career he wants, but he doesn't find it necessary to tell his mother," she observed. "However — French children do not usually treat their parents casually..."

She cannot guess how long French children will maintain their lack of sophistication because "more French youths are being affected by traveling American youths." American youth with its mode of dress, music and the type of cigarette smoked is leaving its stamp all over Europe, she says. But French youths have a long way to go to catch up.

Benjamin was born in America and has lived in France since he was 4, but he is extremely American-minded and subscribes to two American news weeklies. In fact he was so involved abroad in the recent American elections, she says, that when President Nixon was reelected, "I sent a wire of congratulations to Benjamin."

THE AMERICAN WAY!

'Peace Dividend' Was Spent Before Cease-Fire

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Obscured at first by the exhiliration of a cease-fire, the realization is widespread now that the Vietnam war has bequeathed to the American people a financial and social burden that will remain very heavy.

The cease-fire agreement is signed, but the country is left with severe budgetary problems and social unrest. There is no "peace dividend;" it vanished bit by bit long before the cease-fire.

The disappearance of the dividend is no mystery; it was based on a sudden ending of the war and, as everyone knows, the war "wound down" over a period of many months. And so, what dividend there was is already spent.

The rest of the legacy stands out in bold relief in the current budgetary plans of the federal government:

—Budget deficits, in part related to big military expenditures, appear to be unavoidable, even though both the President and Congress are aware that massive government overspending can be explosively inflationary.

—Domestic social needs, some of which can be traced to neglect resulting from the exigencies of Vietnam, may remain unattended because the consequences of war continue to force funds into other channels.

One simple illustration of this is to compare the strict budgeting for education, health and housing, and the relatively liberal military expenditures, resulting in part from the need to pay higher salaries to an volunteer army.

But, while the current stress in many social areas can be traced to the war to some extent, the precise degree of blame will always be debated. That is not so when budget deficits are iscussed.

Since 1965, there has been only one year in which federal income exceeded outgo. That was in fiscal 1969, and it amounted to only $3.24 billion.

These deficits can more readily be traced directly to war, defense and other military needs. As the war built up so did the budget deficits and so did the rate of inflation. They were like interacting gears.

Now both Congress and the President would like to see some of these excesses corrected, but they find that their choices are limited. Because the war forced us into inflation, our options are reduced.

In the view of the President, security matters demand a big share of the budget. In the view of Congress, domestic social matters deserve more attention. Perhaps both deserve more money, but where is it coming from?

A solution of sorts could be arrived at by agreeing to more big budget deficits, but that would be an illusion quickly to be dispelled by the reality of galloping inflation, such as we had two years ago.

And so the domestic battle, aftermath of the Vietnam war, begins.

Louisiana Has Energy Shortage

By CHARLES LAYTON
Associated Press Writer

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Louisiana now finds itself in the embarrassing position of being the nation's largest exporter of natural gas, and yet not having enough gas to supply industries within the state.

The energy shortage seems to be getting worse faster in Louisiana, to the point where many gas-based industries are wondering how long they can survive if the pipeline companies close the valves on them.

Just this month paper mills, milk processing plants, sugar mills and various other plants suddenly had their gas supplies curtailed. Some had to shut down for a few days.

Other plants whose contracts with the pipeline companies are about to expire can't get any assurances that they can renew.

"Let's face it and be honest about it," a Baton Rouge cement company executive said last week, "it's something that's facing all the industries in Louisiana.

"If we can't get the gas there are just a lot of industries that are going to have to go out of business, leave and find other places."

The irony is that these industries are within short driving distance of some of the richest gas fields in the world.

Andrew Martin, the chairman of the state Mineral Board, says other hydrocarbon fuels, particularly jet fuel and diesel fuel, also are growing critically short.

"I know a distributorship in this area that used 750,000 gallons of diesel fuel to service the industry in New Orleans," Martin said. "He got cut down to 500,000 gallons a month.

"And I had Union Barge Lines call me trying to buy diesel fuel. They've got a push boat coming from Ohio right now with a bunch of barges, and when he gets to the dock down here he's gonna be completely out of fuel, and he can't get any fuel in Louisiana."

But the major problem remains the lack of natural gas, and the questions is, where did it all go?

State officials say it's the fault of the rather cavalier attitude the state used to take towards natural gas.

There was plenty of it, so they let the companies drill it out and pipe it out of state. The state collected its one-sixth percentage in royalty plus a severance tax at the wellhead, and everybody was happy.

LETTER TO EDITOR

To The Daily News:

Life has so many meanings to so many people. If I write about you it would have to be fictitious, and maybe it would not be pleasing to you. So, when I say I, we or me, don't be offended and throw this in the waste basket. In telling you what I did or did not, hope you don't lose interest. I didn't fall out of a tree (but it's a wonder). I did fall off our chicken house.

Tell you how it was. A peach tree grew partly over the chicken house. I was gathering peaches. I leaned my ladder against the tree, climbed upon the chicken house, a basket in one hand, filled the basket, got two big peaches in the other hand. Both hands full, I stepped over on the ladder, or intended to, and missed. Well, don't try it. It won't work. The peaches were scattered all over. I had a skinned head and leg and very low ego. I looked to see, but no one had seen me. That helped some. After I sat there a while I tought of the boy who put his hand in the cookie jar, couldn't get it out, unless he turned the cookies loose, which was unthinkable.

Next time I'll do differently, maybe. This is the way of life sometimes. I hate to be in a class by myself. So may I ask did you ever do the unexpected? Glad there didn't anyone see you, or it might have been embarassing? Such is life. We will make mistakes as long as we live. I am glad we have an all-wise Creator watching over us. Or do we wish He did not see us sometimes? We are frail, but God looks down on us with compassion if we trust Him.

Yours for victory,
John D. Curtis Sr.

Unusual Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Ruane and Laffit Pincay were riding side by side in the stretch at Aqueduct race track. When Pincay passed Ruane he said "Hey, you've got my stick."

"What happened," Ruane said after the race was over, "I was hitting my horse left-handed and Pincay was hitting his right-handed. I was going down and he was coming up with his whip hand. I ended up with two sticks. Then I dropped Pincay's."

Ruane's horse finished third, Pincay's second.

Age Scares More Than Weather

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Age scares more people than the weather.

They fear each upcoming year more than the outgoing one, and dread it will mark them more with the tattletale scars and wrinkles of time.

But age or youth really is determined by the attitude of others toward you and your own attitude toward life.

For example, you aren't getting too much older if —

At least half the teen-agers you know still call you by your first name — and you like for them to.

If you get a seat on the bus going to or from work, it's by an act of ingenuity on your own part and not a charity bestowed by someone else.

You are still two inches bigger around the chest than around the waist.

Enough of your high school geometry remains in your mind so that you remember how to prove that the sum of the square of the hypotenuse of a right angle triangle is equal to the sum of the squares of the other two sides.

In the back of your head there lurks the childish delusion that some stranger you befriended unknowingly will leave you a lot of money in his will.

You can hear someone whistle in the office without having a wild desire to throttle him or seal his lips with paper clips.

There are at least four girls you wouldn't mind taking out for a little fun — that is, if you weren't so happily married.

Some mornings you don't just kiss your wife absent-mindedly on the cheek before leaving. You bend her backward halfway to the floor in a mock-passionate embrace — and then give her a peck on the nose.

Your life insurance salesman is still trying to get you to buy more.

When you get a checkup, the doctor tells you that you are medically uninteresting.

You can throw a baseball hard enough to sting the hand of a 12-year-old boy through his fielder's glove.

Yep, young-timer, you don't have to worry yet about what the marching years are doing to you. You're still sitting tall in the saddle of life.

Trouble On UNM Campus

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — A University of New Mexico spokesman said a disturbance developed Sunday evening outside Johnson Gym on the UNM campus, and 20 State Policemen were called.

The spokesman, Jesse Price, said there were "four to six arrests" but no serious injuries reported.

He said about 20 state policemen were called to the campus after "some trouble developed in a group of 25-50 people who started throwing rocks through the glass doors and into the lobby on the west side of the gym."

He said, "We are not sure what caused the trouble."

He said when problems began, 8-10 university police went into the gymnasium and a group of persons began throwing rocks into glass.

Price said the policemen remained in the building to "keep from getting hit by rocks."

He said the gymnasium received heavy glass damage.

Price said, however, the rock concert, featuring rock groups known as "The Traffic" and "Free," continued.

Canada has some 70,000 miles of pipe lines.

Violent Deaths Less Than Usual

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas counted far fewer violent deaths than usual during the past weekend.

One reason may have been a wintry cold spell, which presumably tended to cut down on motor travel.

A late tabulation for the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday included half a dozen traffic fatalities, five shootings, two fire deaths, a stabbing, a drowning and a fatal beating—a total of 16.

These were among the victims:

Three members of a Mexia family died and two persons suffered serious injuries Sunday when a car and a pickup truck collided on a farm road near Teague. The crash killed were Jerry Burleson, 37, and his wife Dorothy Jean, 18, and their son Jerry Gene, 3. Another son of the Mexia couple and the driver of the pickup, Leslie Steen of Teague, were injured.

Rodriguez Rubio, 22, of Houston was fatally shot late Saturday night on a city street. Officers said Rubio, a laborer, was hit three times. He died Sunday.

A pistol shot killed Herbert Ray Doss, 13, Sunday evening in West Dallas. Companions told police he had found the .38 caliber revolver and was examining it when the weapon fired.

Frank W. Diggle, 24, critically burned Saturday in a three-alarm blaze that struck an apartment complex, died Sunday in Dallas' Parkland Hospital.

A little Fort Worth girl, Paige Applegate, 5, was kidnaped Friday, held prisoner 18 hours and then killed by what police described as a blow like "a karate chop." The body was found Saturday. Police mounted a massive search for the killer.

Gary H. Fitzgerald, 24, was killed Sunday when his car went out of control on a Houston street and hit into a parked truck, police said.

Vivian T. Robinson, 34, was shot to death in Houston Saturday night when a bullet aimed at a straying husband hit her in the chest. Police said they would charge the woman who fired the shot with murder—when they found her.

Police said Leo Seals, 71, was shot to death in his Houston bedroom Saturday by an apparent burglar.

Charles E. Sanders Jr., 9, drowned Saturday at a YMCA pool in Waco.

Victor Wiedenfeld, 75, died of smoke inhalation in San Antonio late Friday night when fire gutted his home, firemen said.

Ricky W. Zachery, 16, was stabbed to death in South Dallas, police said, when he complained of the loudness of a neighbor's phonograph. A middle-aged man was arrested.

A freeway accident in Houston Saturday killed Lloyd Goodwill, 19, when the car in which he was riding hit a guardrail.

S-Viet Marines Are Trapped

By RICHARD M. BLYSTONE
Associated Press Writer

STREET WITHOUT JOY, Vietnam (AP) — Heavy shell fire trapped South Vietnamese marines today on a peninsula at the mouth of the Cua Viet river 28 hours after the cease-fire.

Newsmen in helicopters overhead saw one South Vietnamese tank burning and shells bursting around 20 other tanks at the mouth of the estuary seven miles below the demilitarized zone.

The marine commandant, Brig. Gen. Bui The Lan, said two companies were trapped in an area less than one mile square. He said the North Vietnamese had fired 1,000 artillery rounds and "thousands" of mortar shells since they launched the attack at 2 a.m. Monday.

Twenty marines have been killed so far and 70 wounded, the general reported, and his men have lost four M48 tanks and three armored personnel carriers.

Inspection teams of the International Commission of Control and Supervision were not due to start operating in South Vietnam's northernmost provinces until Tuesday, and Lan said he did not know when they would arrive.

"We need them right now," he said. "The North Vietnamese are abusing the cease-fire all around the countryside."

Lan said a marine force reached the mouth of the river two minutes before the cease-fire hour Sunday. They had made a swift rush up the beach in the area that the French named the Street Without Joy because of the numerous ambushes they suffered there.

The enemy kept fighting for 45 minutes beyond the cease-fire, Lan said, adding, "They want to get that position back at any cost."

Lan said North Vietnamese troops mingled with about 200 civilians and herded them behind marine lines Sunday afternoon, nearly isolating the marine forward unit.

South Vietnamese tanks, ambulances and supply trucks churned up and down the wet sand Monday as marines gathered men and armored vehicles for a relief force.

U.S. Marine advisers, who have been pulled out of battalion-level headquarters since the cease-fire, said they did not know anything about the attack.

"We're out of it now," said American officers at one brigade command post behind the front.

Catholics, British Clash

BELFAST (AP) — Roman Catholic guerrillas hurled gasoline bombs and fired more than 800 rounds of ammunition in numerous clashes with British troops during the night in Belfast.

Two soldiers were slightly wounded, and the British Army claimed to have wounded eight gunmen. But only one was captured and hospitalized.

Explosions wrecked a pub in Enniskillen and damaged a telephone exchange in Ballyronan.

In Lurgan, southeast of Belfast, a group of men approached a militiaman as he sat in his parked car and ordered him to get out. Instead he drove away in a hurry, and the men opened fire. The militiaman's only injury was a finger wound.

The upsurge of shooting coincided with the first aanniversary of Londonderry's "Bloody Sunday" Jan. 30, 1972, when British troops opened fire on a group of marching Catholics and killed 13 of them.

Thousands of Catholics attended church services and held vigil in memory of the shooting, and British troops generally stayed out of sight in Londonderry, Northern Ireland's second largest city.

The first United States gold coins were struck in 1795. The last appeared in 1933.

Search Continues For Eight

VERACRUZ, Mexico (AP) — A search continued today for eight persons feared lost in a small plane which disappeared after leaving here shortly after midnight Saturday en route to Mexico City.

Authorities said the secretary general of the National Confederation of Campesinos (CNC), Alfredo V. Bonfil, was among the missing.

The Mexican army searched on the ground Sunday because bad weather prevented operations in the air.

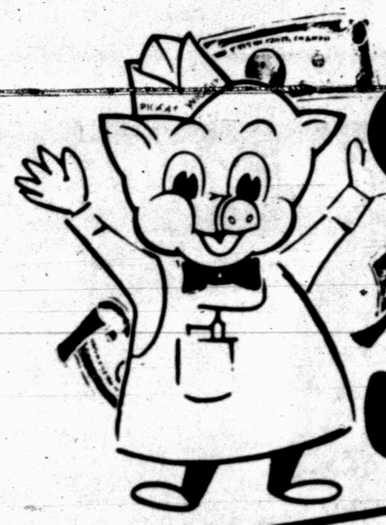

Witnesses around San Julian Lagoon, 13 miles from this Gulf of Mexico port, reported hearing a loud explosion after the plane took off.

A spokesman for the Veracruz airport said those with Bonfil were his secretary, Oscar Santos, and his press relations man, Fernando Gutierrez.

Those of the party came here to confer with leaders of a strike which involved hundreds of poor farmers at several sugar mills in this area. The CNC represents the majority of Mexico's campesinos and is a government organization.

The strike leaders were arrested Jan. 6 when they defied a government order for their union to work. Bonfil intervened Saturday and they were freed.

Bonfil, 38 and in charge of the CNC since 1970, is the son of Deputy Education Minister Baron C. Bonfil.

DURING PRESENTATION—Maj. Gen. Everett S. Simpson moves down the line presenting awards to Snyder National Guardsmen for work during the flood of Aug. 13, 1972. Nine members of Detachment 2, 342nd Engineer Company, received the Adjutant General's Award for Meritorious Achievement for their rescue operations and other work while Deep Creek was on a rampage through Snyder.

THANKS FROM THE COMMUNITY—County Judge Preston Wilson presents plaque to Lt. Lynn Mendenhall, commander of local National Guard Unit, expressing appreciation of county, city and Chamber of Commerce for the Guard unit's community service.

Guardsman Here Gets High Award

Maj. Gen. Everett S. Simpson came to Snyder Saturday and presented 10 awards to National Guardsmen, including the coveted Lone Star Medal of Valor award to Sp. 5 Jimmy D. Townsend.

The awards were earned last Aug. 13 during a devastating flood which sent Deep Creek on a rampage through the heart of Snyder.

The Medal of Valor is the second highest award available to a Texas National Guardsman and is the highest award ever actually presented to a member of the National Guard.

Sp. 5 Townsend earned the award for rescuing a man who was stranded in the floodwaters and apparently beyond help. However, Sp. 5 Townsend drove a National Guard truck close enough to the man that he could make it to safety, despite the fact that water was actually flowing over the hood of the truck.

Gen. Simpson, in making the presentation, revealed that it was subsequently learned that Sp. 5 Townsend could not swim.

"He was so dedicated to performing his duty that he did not even take time to learn the man's name, but went immediately to help others," said Gen. Simpson.

Another highlight of the ceremony Saturday was the presentation of a special plaque to the local National Guard Unit on behalf of Scurry County, the City of Snyder and the Snyder Chamber of Commerce. County Judge Preston Wilson made the presentation to Lt. Lynn Mendenhall of Abilene, Commander of Detachment 2, 342nd Engineer Company, Texas National Guard. The plaque expressed the community's appreciation for the heroic work performed by the unit during the flood.

Receiving the Adjutant General's Award for meritorious achievement were Capt. Cecil D. Vineyard, Sgt. Donald R. Walser, Sgt. Murray C. Bell, Sgt. Drewell D. Clark, Sp.5 Ricky D. Evans, Sp. 5 Terry J. Voss, Sp. 4 Billy R. Potter, Sp. 4 John B. Walker, and PFC Lannie Covey.

In comments during the ceremony, Gen. Simpson noted that the local National Guard Unit has an excellent record for its work in emergency situations. He recalled that the unit here was among the first on the scene to help in cleanup and salvage operations in Lubbock following a tornado there in 1970.

City, County and Chamber of Commerce officials were on hand Saturday to witness the ceremonies, along with National Guard officers.

Three Arrested With Pot

LAWTON, Okla. (AP) — An informer's telephone call has led to the arrests of three persons and confiscation of marijuana valued at $10,000.

Two men and a woman were taken into custody Sunday after their car was stopped by authorities on the outskirts of Lawton in southwestern Oklahoma.

Police said they were part of a three-state drug operation involving the transportation of marijuana from El Paso, Tex., to St. Louis, Mo. Lawton, where all of the suspects resided, was described as a "resting place."

Ron Rutledge, Lawton narcotics officer, said 29 marijuana bricks weighing more than two pounds each were seized. He set their value at $10,000.

The arrests climaxed a two-week investigation that began with phone call that the suspects were making weekly trips from El Paso to St. Louis.

Sam Houston Wins Shootout

NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (AP) — The 3,500 fans who jammed into tiny Shelton Gym thought they were seeing the battle for the No. 1 ranking in The Associated Press small college basketball poll between No. 1 Sam Houston State and No. 2 Stephen F. Austin.

No so, said a confident Sam Houston Coach Archie Porter after his Bearkats had upended the Lumberjacks 83-68 Saturday night on SFA's home court where the 'Jacks had not been beaten in 52 straight Lone Star Conference games dating back to 1966.

"We had more trouble playing against our second team getting ready for Stephen F. Austin," Porter drawled. "We have three players over there who ran Stephen F. Austin's offense better than Stephen F. Austin did."

Still, none of the 3,500 fans, among the 9,000 who waited all day outside for a chance to see the "Big Shootout No. 1", felt cheated.

Porter may have felt the real battle went on during Bearkat workouts, but Stephen F. Austin and Sam Houston, cornerstones of Texas history, never fought more fiercely on the battlefield than did their namesakes on the basketball court.

Sam Houston, who had beaten Stephen F. Austin on its home court only once in 14 years, ignored their surroundings and blasted their way to an 18-point 51-33 halftime lead on the shooting and rebounding of James Lister.

SFA stayed in the game on the shooting of senior forward Pete Harris, who hit 27 points, mostly from the outside. The Jacks used an effective full court press to cut SHS's lead to eight points twice in the second half.

But the Bearkats, who have tied for the LSC title four times but never won it outright, were not to be denied.

"I guess maybe they (SFA players) just felt like they were invincible on their home court," a disappointed SFA Coach Marshall Brown said. "But you can't start feeling invincible against a team like Sam Houston.

"What you saw was us getting a good ole country whipping. Everyway we turned, they just outdid us."

The victory gave Sam Houston a 16-0 record this season and extended its winning streak to 22 in a row. Stephen F. Austin, third in the NAIA championship tournament last year, dropped to 17-2.

Sam Houston has won only half of the 1973 war. The second battle will be fought Feb. 7 in the Sam Houston gym, which seats only 2,200.

Big Shootout No. 2 should be another battle of highly ranked teams—unless Porter's second unit forces the Lumberjacks too far down in the poll.

Davis To Head Colonial Tourney

FORT WORTH (AP) — Bryon L. "Pete" Davis has been named for the third time as tournament committee chairman for the Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament.

The spring classic, scheduled May 10-13, has boosted prize money $25,000 this year to $150,000.

Lamar 8TH, 9TH Win First Place

COLORADO CITY—Lamar 8th and 9th grade won championships at the Colorado City Basketball Tournament here last weekend.

Lamar 9th defeated host Colorado City in the finals 60-43 after beating Hamlin 72-58 in the second round and Ballinger 61-45 in the first round. Lamar 8th defeated Sweetwater 42-41 in the finals after beating Colorado City B 48-22 in the second round and Andrews 37-28 in the first round.

In the 9th grade finals, Lamar 9th led all the way, holding a 13-9 lead after one quarter, a 33-32 advantage at halftime, and a 48-32 lead after three frames. Randy Gressett sparked the Lamar attack with 20 points. Larry Gee contributed 12. For Colorado City, Apperson and Crowell were high point men with 12 and 10 points respectively.

Lamar 9th broke open the game with Hamlin in the fourth quarter. They led by only one point, 14-13, after one period and 27-26 at halftime. They were only three points ahead, 48-45, after three frames, but they outscored Hamlin 24-13 in the last quarter. Randy Gressett was high point man with 31 points. For Hamlin, Phariss pitched in 24 points.

Lamar 9th built a steady lead in the opening round game with Ballinger, leading 8-7 after one period, 24-18 at halftime, and 42-26 after three periods. Randy Gressett again was the man of the hour. He tallied 27 points. Proffitt posted 16 and Rodriquez scored 10 for Ballinger.

Lamar 8th grade led Sweetwater in the finals game 10-9 after one period, 21-17 at halftime, and the score was tied at 32-32 after three frames. However, Lamar held a 20-19 advantage in the last quarter to win. Ricky Beard and Kerry Young sparked the Lamar attack with 13 and 11 points respectively. Kirk Johnson sank two free throws after time had run out to give Lamar the victory. Todd and Anguilar netted 17 and 11 points respectively for Sweetwater.

In the second round game, Lamar 8th took an early 19-2 lead over Colorado City B and easily breezed to victory. Ricky Beard was high point man with 10 points. Love scored 10 for Colorado City.

Lamar had to overcome a first half deficit in the first round game against Andrews. Lamar trailed 7-9 after one quarter, and 11-14 at halfime. However, they took the lead, 27-18 in the third quarter. Kerry Young paced the attack with 18 points. Tompkins scored 16 points for Andrews.

Lamar will be at Lamesa tonight.

Nicklaus Wins Golf Playoff

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus lifted his eyes to the skies and murmered: "How in the world did I ever win this one?"

He's just picked up his 42nd tour triumph and his first of the young season in Bing Crosby's National Pro-Am Golf Tournament and he got it in a fashion that Nicklaus described as "one of the most unusual I've ever won."

He and Ray Floyd were given a second chance when Orville Moody three-putted for a bogey on the 72nd hole and set up a three-way playoff for the $36,000 first prize.

Nicklaus won it, just as he did in a playoff with young Johnny Miller for this title a year ago.

Moody and Floyd both had missed their birdie tries when the Golden Bear stepped up to a 12-foot putt for a three on the par four 15th hole, the first playoff hole.

Nicklaus surveyed the situation, then glared at the hole in characteristic fashion—as if daring the cup to refuse his putt. He stroked solidly and a smile broke out. He began walking away before the ball got to the hole.

Tigers Host Whitefaces

Snyder's Tigers will face their stiffest challenge to date in the District 4-AAAA basketball race when they host Hereford's Whitefaces at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the Scurry County Coliseum.

The game will match the preseason favorite against the Tigers. Hereford has a respectable 19-8 record for the season and they are 2-1 in district play. The Tigers are 18-7 overall and 3-0 in league action.

Coach Bob Moore of the Tigers probably will start five of the following seven players: Jerry Brooks, Gary Brooks, Fred Liner, Kevin Jones, Welton Cobb, Moell Blalock and Jimmy Don Dyess. Several other Tigers are ready to help out. They include Charlie Anderson, Tim Jones, Larry Mosier, Richard Gorman, Larry Johns, and V.T. Roberson.

The Whitefaces are led by Terry Scott and David Duvall. Others starters probably will be Mayberry, Harris and Hicks.

The program begins at 6:15 p.m. with the junior varsity squads of each team meeting. The Snyder JV is 11-13 for the season. Probable starters for Coach Ken Plumlee's team are Roy Lee Carter, Robert Alderete, Willie Tippens, Larry Johns and Larry Mosier.

Texas Tech Leads SWC

By DENNE H. FREEMEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas Tech, with another ice-water in the veins overtime performance, is alone atop the Southwest Conference basketball standings but Southern Methodist, the pre-season favorite, and unheralded Arkansas are closing fast.

Ed Wakefield, who scored 10 points in overtime, paced the Red Raiders to a 73-64 victory over Texas Saturday night while SMU was surviving the 'Bear Pit" at Waco with an 81-69 victory. Arkansas bombed TCU 90-75 and Rice upset Texas A&M 81-75 in the other SWC games.

There is an immediate showdown Tuesday night between the second place teams when Arkansas is at SMU. Both clubs are 3-1.

Tech (4-0) plays the first of two games on the road at Texas A&M.

Wakefield, who had scored only four points in regulation play, said "I just happened to be in the right place at the right time. Passes from Don Moore and Richard Little did more than any one thing that I did."

The loss all but put a halter on any hopes for co-champion Texas, now 0-4, returning to the SWC throne.

Tech Coach Gerald Myers gave credit to the Red Raider fans, saying "Our fans really exploded. They put us over the hump and picked us up...which is the first time I can remember that happening in two or three years."

Tech defeated SMU on the previous Saturday night in overtime at Lubbock. SMU became the first SWC team to defeat Baylor in Rena Marrs Gymnasium this year. The gym is being used until Heart O' Texas Coliseum is repaired from storm damage.

"It was a great win for us," said SMU Coach Bob Prewitt.

Baylor Coach Bill Menefee added "When you have a player who hits 12 field goals on 17 shots (SMU's Ira Terrell) that team is in pretty good shape."

Terrell also grabbed 10 rebounds.

Arkansas Coach Lanny Van Emans said he wished his club would show a little more emotion.

"It is a tribute that we can win without playing our best," he said. "We did do the things that were necessary to win."

He said it was a "must" game because Baylor upset the Razorbacks in Fayetteville Tuesday night.

Rice threw the league into a three-way tie for third place by stunning the Aggies as Scott Fisher scored 23 points.

WTC, Clarendon Tangle Tonight

Western Texas College's Westerners will tangle with Clarendon Junior College's Bulldogs at 7:30 tonight in Clarendon in a Western Junior College Athletic Conference basketball game.

The Westerners are still very much in the title race. They are 11-6 for the season and 5-3 in conference play. The Westerners have momentum for them. Last week they registered two big wins—a 93-91 triumph over Howard Junior College and a 104-90 verdict over Odessa Junior College.

Coach Sid Simpson of the Westerners employed some different strategy in the game with Odessa, using a three-guard attack. Tonight, however, he'll probably go back to a two-guard attack. Probable starters are Steve Sparks of Krum and Fred Allen of Little Rock Central at guard, Ronnie Allen of Fort Worth North Side at center, and Walter Hanibal of Fort Worth Kirkpatrick and either James Houston of Charlotte, N.C. or Harold Ward of Passaic, N.J. at forward.

Ward had the flu last week and saw only limited action against Odessa. Danny McDaniel a guard from Little Rock Central, still has a shoulder separation. He will be out of action indefinitely. Lius Blanco, guard from Fort Stockton, and Jimmy Hill, forward from Amarillo Tascosa, both are on the ailing list, but they could see spot duty tonight.

Johnny Neff of McAdoo and Eric Grant of Hondo both will see action at guard, and Kent Horsley will see action some on the inside. Also ready for service are James Batteau, post man from Hondo, and Joel Dyess of South Garland at post.

Tonight's clash should be exciting if it is anything like the first meeting between these two teams back on Nov. 30. In that game, Steve Sparks hit a corner shot with 8 seconds remaining to give the Westerners an 80-79 triumph. It was the first conference game played in the Scurry County Coliseum.

The Bulldogs are tough on the inside. Their leader is Joe Pride, a 6-6 center from Philadelphia, Pa. He is the leading rebounder in the conference. He and Homer Brown, 6-5 forward from New York City, each hit 25 points in that first game. Other starters for the Bulldogs are Jake Rogans, 6-4 guard from Wolfforth; Brent Sherrod, 6-4 guard from Channing; and, Lorenzo Wheeler, 6-4 forward from Albuquerque, N.M. Rogans and Sherrod also finished in double figures in that first affray.

Unsung Hero

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Chet Gladchuk Jr., of Amherst, Mass., who came back from a serious illness to play football as a Boston College senior last fall, will be honored tonight at the Boston Tobacco Table's 24th annual Unsung Hero Award dinner.

Although he missed spring practice because of Hodgkin's Disease, Gladchuk remained with the BC team as a reserve center, snapping the ball on punts, field goal attempts and conversions.

His late father was a star center for the BC Sugar Bowl champions three decades ago. Several members of that team will join in honoring young Gladchuk.

Shah's New Ultimatum Adds Interesting Chapter

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — A new ultimatum by the Shah of Iran has added another interesting chapter to that nation's petroleum history.

In another sharp reversal of position, Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi has said he will not renew a 25-year agreement that expires in 1979 with a consortium of foreign companies.

The agreement with the 14-company consortium was signed in 1954 after three years of nationalization had practically wrecked Iran's petroleum industry.

The new ultimatum marks the third sharp reversal of position by the Shah in less than two years. Last June, he said he would extend the agreement to 1994 by signing three five-year extensions. Just a year earlier he had indicated continuation of the contract would be foolish in that oil could be moved from wells to tankers just as efficiently by Iranians as by foreigners.

Shifting trends in non-Arab Iran prompt American concern well beyond the fact U.S. firms hold an interest of about 40 per cent in the consortium that operates the agreement area in the southern part of the Middle East nation under a 50-50 profits split arrangement.

Oil imported into the United States exceeded 6 million barrels a day the first time in history the week ending Jan. 19. Current industry and government projections indicate dwindling domestic reserves and spiraling domestic demand will force petroleum imports to increase to 15 million barrels or more a day by 1985.

Only about 5 per cent of current imports come from the Middle East. This is expected to increase sharply, however, in that the supply projections earmark the Middle East as the source of the bulk of the increases that will be needed the next decade or so.

With 1972 production averaging about 4.9 million barrels a day, Iran is the world's fourth leading oil producing nation, exceeded only by the United States, Russia, and Saudia Arabia.

The Shah's new ultimatum also warns the consortium of British, America, French, and Dutch interests to boost production from the government owned facilities to 8 million barrels a day or Iran will do so and market the oil.

Members of the consortium have remained silent but undoubtedly are concerned that the Iranian developments could affect recently completed negotiations under some of the other Middle East nations, including Saudi Arabia, are to acquire a 25 per cent interest in the foreign companies operating in their areas; with the interest eventually increasing to 51 per cent.

In Congress, Senator Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., is among those certain to watch the Iranian developments closely. As chairman of a Senate Committee that is nearing completion of a two-year National Fuels and Energy Policy Study, Jackson visited Iran, Saudia Arabia and other Middle East areas late last year.

Upon his return, Jackson said he believes there is too much optimism about the security of Middle East investments by foreign companies.

"The desire of the nations of the Middle East to control their own destinies, to manage their own resources and to own both production and downstream oil facilities has a momentum that is greatly underestimated by the oil industry and the U.S. government," he said.

Iran nationalized its petroleum industry in early 1951 when the then premier, Mohammed Mossadegh, evicted the British from the Billion dollar Anglo-Iranian Oil Co.

At the time, Iran was the Middle East's leading oil producer at 700,000 barrels a day.

By the time the Mossadegh regime fell in 1953, Iran was in financial chaos, was in danger of falling under the cold war influence of Russia, and her oil production was down to just 19,500 barrels a day.

Meanwhile, the lost Iranian oil was quickly replaced. By the time Mossadegh fell, output in both Kuwait and Saudi Arabia was approaching the million-barrels-a-day mark.

The agreement between Iran and its National Iranian Oil Co., on the one hand, and the consortium known as the Iranian Oil Operating Companies became effect Oct. 29, 1954. Production was back to 187,000 barrels a day by the end of that year, exceeded 700,000 in 1957, and broke the million-barrel mark the first time in 1960.

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Airline hostess training manager Darlene Fuentes should pack her human relations advice between the covers of a widely read book. Because Mrs. Fuentes, who trains and counsels more young women — and some young men — in the course of a year than most of us see in a lifetime, has needed ideas about the qualities of caring and concern for others to be applied in the workplace.

THE TOP TRAINING CHIEF, blonde and 32, is as warmly sleek as the gleaming aircraft of her employer, Continental Airlines. She has quite a job. In addition to preparing hostesses for her company, Mrs. Fuentes also trains flight attendants for other airlines at Continental's Los Angeles training center – and members of at least a dozen outside groups yearly. Some of these outside groups are unusual.

Mrs. Fuentes has trained 38 Air Force men as stewards for Air Force One, the aircraft used to carry the U.S. President. When Playboy magazine publisher Hugh Hefner launched his "Big Bunny" jet, she trained the first 10 bunny hostesses. Mrs. Fuentes once gave grooming lessons to an order of Catholic nuns. (The nuns were modifying their dress to engage in social work and received neatness and poise counsel, not glamor tips.) She has also trained AMTRAK (railroad) hostesses, and most recently finished training Continental's first 6 hosts. (Men are increasingly becoming flight attendants on U.S. airlines.)

WHAT ADVICE would Mrs. Fuentes give to young women workers in any job field? Her recommendations can be divided into 3 parts, each inseparably tied to the other, Darlene Fuentes:

1. ATTITUDE. A main problem handicapping many of the young people I see daily is a perspective of self-focus. In our company we have a little different golden rule: "Do not unto others as you wish them to do unto you – do unto others that which they wish you to do." The only way to live this golden rule is a purposeful, consciousness-raising determination to build your awareness of what the other person wants. Being aware, open, helpful and sensitive to the needs of your coworkers and customers, is the way to survive in a world where people are becoming very, very concerned about the lack of caring and dedication to one's work.

In our company, we see many thousands of young women each year to select a few hundred for flight attendant training. Last year we had to terminate over one-third of the hostess students, the basic reason was a bad attitude on the part of the terminated employees. In my opinion, self-centeredness and a lack of previous responsibility (as children or students) are the chief culprits of a bad attitude. While a lovely smile is golden, the feeling behind the smile is all-important.

2. APPROACH. We believe that women employees should be graciously aggressive, words not normally linked. Being graciously aggressive is the epitome of poise and charm in a woman. The opposite is obnoxiously aggressive, which no one can warm to. The essence of being graciously aggressive is approaching other people – by words or by an alert, helpful manner – and offering service or assistance. The nicest thing in life is to be comfortable with someone, to be made to feel at ease around them. This is the accomplishment of a graciously aggressive woman. Phonies are easy to spot; this quality must spring from an aware and open attitude.

3. APPEARANCE. The worst grooming faults I see constantly are inappropriate hairstyles (messy, or wrong for a particular individual – hairstyles that dominate rather than compliment); exaggerated, distracting eye makeup; poorly coordinated wardrobes, jumbles of taste and confusion; poor posture and overweight; and scrubby, uncared-for nails. Again, an unattractive appearance reflects a lack of concern, caring, awareness. A woman who has self-discipline will never be a "plain" woman.

Budget In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is a look at President Nixon's fiscal 1974 budget in brief:

SPENDING—Total is $168.7 billion, up $18.9 billion over the current fiscal year.

REVENUES—The administration expects to collect $256 billion from the tax system, an increase of $32 billion.

BUDGET CONCEPT—Nixon continues, as last year, to budget under the assumption that income would be slightly greater than spending if unemployment were 4 per cent or less. This is the so called "full employment" concept. But since he predicts at the same time that unemployment won't be that low, diminished receipts and slightly greater spending mean the budget will have an estimated $12.7 billion deficit rather than a $300 million surplus if unemployment dropped to the 4 per cent mark.

DEFENSE—As the Vietnam war ends, the budget nonetheless proposes spending $81.1 billion on defense, up $4.7 billion from the current year. The budget attributes the bulk of the jump to payroll and price increases. It includes transformation of the armed services into an all volunteer force.

DOMESTIC—The budget is dotted with scores of program reductions and terminations. Spending increases in some programs are traced principally to higher payrolls or increased benefit levels fixed by law, as in Social Security. The program terminations range from abolution of the Office of Economic Opportunity to an end for Hill-Burton hospital construction grants. These reductions and terminations total $17 billion.

1975 PREDICTIONS—The budget looks ahead to fiscal 1975 and anticipates spending in that year of $288 billion. It envisions another $22 million in program terminations and reductions.

Jordan Royalty Plan US Visit

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — King Hussein and Queen Alia will visit the United States next week.

The Royal Palace announced Sunday that the king is scheduled to call on President Nixon at the White House next Tuesday. He also will have talks with State Department and Defense officials.

It is generally believed here that the king will raise the feasibility of reactivating American diplomatic efforts toward achieving a settlement between the Arabs and Israel.

Last US Casualty From Michigan

By PATRICK CONNOLLY
Associated Press Writer

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich. (AP) — He was the last American to die before a semblance of peace began in Vietnam, but those close to him say they hold no bitterness for the cruel quirk of fate.

They say he was doing what he wanted — helping a suffering people for whom he cared deeply.

Lt. Col. William Nolde, 43, of Mount Pleasant, died in a Communist artillery barrage 11 hours before the cease-fire began Saturday. The senior American adviser in Binh Long Province, Nolde was talking with his Vietnamese counterpart on how to get the country moving again.

"My husband was simply doing what he wanted to do," Joyce Nolde said Sunday. "He was a very, very sensitive man who cared a great deal about people."

Mrs. Nolde described her husband as a career soldier who had studied Vietnamese history and culture.

"He really believed in the people and felt it was time the people stopped fighting among themselves," she said.

While saying her outward calm belied her true emotions, Mrs. Nolde said, "I'm not bitter at all. My husband believed in the whole thing (the war)."

Mrs. Kenneth Olsen, a sister who lives near the family home in Menominee, expressed similar feelings.

"I feel bad that he didn't make it home," she said. "But he wanted to be over there.

"Bill believed he was doing the right thing. He felt he was needed."

Said Teed Cook, a friend from Central Michigan University in Mount Pleasant where Nolde spent four years as an ROTC instructor:

"For him this was a military assignment but not a combat assignment."

In a recent letter to Cook, Nolde wrote, "We tend to think only in terms of what this war has cost us, the United States. But by comparison to what it has cost so many Vietnamese, our price pales."

In a statement read by Mrs. Nolde, the couple's oldest son, Blair, 19, said his father's life "revolved around three principles — God, country and family, in that order. Each in turn would take care of the other. By putting God first he never did injustice to the others." Blair has three other brothers and a sister.

For Mrs. Nolde, the news came as no surprise.

"I knew he was dead," she said. "I dreamed that a rocket came in and hit him and he said 'Don't worry honey, I'll be okay.' The blast woke me up."

She said she had the dream Saturday night and told the children the next morning to get prepared in case of bad news.

Nolde was killed in An Loc by a direct artillery round hit.

Man In Wheelchair Gets Life Sentence

HOUSTON (AP) — William Johnson Jr., 24, has been sentenced to life in prison for shooting to death a woman he said caused him to be permanently disabled.

The wheelchair-bound Johnson pleaded no contest on a charge of murder in the Nov. 15 pistol slaying of Carolyn Ann Venters, 28.

District Court Judge Joseph M. Guarino directed a guilty verdict Wednesday.

Mrs. Venters was shot to death just after she left a courtroom in the Harris County Criminal Courts Building where she was on trial for the shooting of Johnson. She had been charged with shooting Johnson at her home June 30, 1971. She said he came at her with a tire tool.

Connie's Drapery Offers Many Decorating Materials, Ideas

Connie Smith, owner and operator of Connie's Drapery Shop in the Cogdell Shopping Center since April 1, 1972, when she purchased Bennie's Drapery, has had a lot of success in the new business.

An entire wall at Connie's Drapery is devoted to samples of their work. In addition, Connie has many hanging samples, bedspread valances, trims, latice shades and many sample books.

"We invite you to visit us in our shop," said Connie. "We're always glad to show visitors around the shop. We have various displays and are always glad to discuss decorating with anyone." She said she would be glad to discuss decorating either in hershop or in her customers' homes.

"Give us a call or come in to see us," Connie suggested.

Connie's Drapery makes any kind of table cloth or bedspread.

"Bring us a picture of what you want, and we can make it," Connie said. If you don't have a picture, then perhaps you have an idea of what you want. Connie and her employes also have many ideas for table cloths or bedspreads and will be glad to share them with you.

"Our desire is to help you in any way that we can," Connie said.

Connie's Drapery makes many beautiful shades--laminated and of many different shade materials. They also will sell you the material so that you make your own shades or drapes.

"We have beads, fringe and trims of many colors and types," Connie pointed out.

Connie's Drapery also has large display of decorative rod samples. All you have to do is come in and select the rod you like best.

The firm has new venetian blinds or can repair your old ones.

"We restring rods, make cornice boards of any type, and many different valances," Connie said. She also said she has upholstery material and they do upholstery work. Connie's Drapery also has a nice selection of carpet samples.

UNLOAD GLASS—Glenn Clarady (left) and Wayne Lawler, employes of Snyder Glass and Mirror, Inc., 2007 Twenty-sixth Street, are busy unloading plate glass from one of the firm's trucks.

Snyder Glass and Mirror will be moving into new headquarters soon on Thirty-third Street between College Avenue and Avenue T.

Snyder Glass And Mirror To Move Into New Headquarters

Snyder Glass and Mirror, Inc., 2007 Twenty-sixth Street, will be moving into new headquarters soon.

"We're going to locate on Thirty-third Street between College Avenue and Avenue T," said Roy E. Bailey, who has been associated with the firm since 1963. He purchased the business in 1965 and has over 25 years experience in the glass business.

"We'll be better able to serve the public from new facilities on Thirty-third Street," said Bailey.

Bailey said that, since the flood disaster, Snyder Glass and Mirror has re-stocked practically all of its automotive windshields.

"We specialize in windshield installations," Bailey said. "And we also specialize in redoing store fronts, metal wall covering and aluminum fronts and glass."

The firm keeps up to 108-inch by 126-inch plate glass and 48-inch by 60-inch double strength and single strength window glass on hand. Also in stock is non-glare picture glass. Insulated glass units have become a popular item in recent years, especially in sliding doors.

"We still give free hand mirrors to our customers when we install a mirror for them," Bailey said.

The owner said that, during the past year, the firm has begun handling quite a few patio covers and carports. The firm also makes glass enclosures for porches and sliding door units for closing in garages for extra rooms.

"We keep a large supply of storm doors and special order storm windows on hand," Bailey said.

Snyder Glass and Mirror also has glass furniture tops, shower doors, custom-size mirrors, framed mirrors and sliding mirror units. They also sell formica cabinet topping, GAF floor tile and sheet floor covering.

Other products they handle are steel doors and frames, door thresholds and weather stripping, decorative shelf brackets, glass shelves, plexiglass acrylic sheet plastics, aquarium cements, putty, all types of caulking, heavy doors closers, door closers and storm door closers and latches.

Bailey's family helps him run the business. His wife, Sallie, is bookkeeper and secretary. Their daughter, Nancy, is the office assistant.
