Jail continues to be hot topic for county court

Commissioners
meet at 10 a.m.
Monday.

By THOMAS JENKINS
Staff Writer

Howard County commissioners will mull over plans to bring the county jail facility within state compliance Monday morning, its last chance to do so before county officials are expected to meet Aug. 4 with the Texas Commission on Jail Standards.

Among the existing problems are a door that swings in the wrong direction, lack of a stand pipe to provide firefighters with water in the event of an emergency and an ineffective smoke evacuation system.

Phil Furquerson, who has been consulting with county officials on its two-pronged problem — designing and financing a new jail facility while bringing the current county jail up to state standards — is expected to make several reports to the commissioners, including ones on the stand pipe and smoke evacuation system.

Whether or not the studies, which are expected to give way to construction in the coming months, will placate TCJS — which has threatened to close the doors to the jail for not meeting state standards — is the real question facing commissioners.

Cleanup efforts underway for Coahoma RCCI

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

COAHOMA Community cleanup efforts are kicking into high gear here.

Citizens involved with the Coahoma Rural Community College Initiative (RCCI) have several projects in mind for the next few months, including two that will bring the new community slogan to the public's attention.

Jan Foresyth, facilitator of the RCCI effort, said one project will result in the refurbishment of the Coahoma Bulldog mural painted on the side of the old car museum on First Street.

County prisoners were at work Friday sanding and scraping the old mural down to the original brickwork. Within the next week or two, prisoners will refinish the wall using metal and stucco. After that, a new mural will be painted, incorporating both the familiar bulldog and the new community slogan, "Coahoma: Small in numbers, but big in pride."

"They have fulfilled every requirement that the RCCI founders envisioned. Coahoma ... is becoming the epitome of RCCI."

Salvation Army gearing up for back-to-school push

By THOMAS JENKINS
Staff Writer

As fall quickly approaches, many area parents are faced with a dilemma: How to purchase much-needed school supplies on an already depleted budget.

Luckily, the Big Spring Salvation Army is starting its annual back-to-school supply drive in an effort to make sure area children have the materials — notebook paper, pencils and pens — to start the school year.

"We're starting our back-to-school supply drive and gearing up for that," said the local Salvation Army's Capt. Russ Keeney. "We just got the backpacks in. We have to order them early every year so we can get a good deal on them. Otherwise we end up paying between $10 and $12 for them, and that can really put a dent in the funds."

Keeney said the program has been such a success over the years because of community support, and there are two ways for area residents to help.

ISRAEL GROUND CAMPAIGN

LEBANON BORDER (AP) — Israeli tanks and hundreds of troops moved in and out of Lebanon on Saturday, taking over a village and battling Hezbollah militants by land, sea and air as part of a limited ground campaign. The soldiers — backed by artillery and tank fire — moved into the large Lebanese village of Maroun al-Ras in several waves and took control, military officials said on condition of anonymity.

Tens of thousands of Lebanese fleeing north packed into the port of Sidon to escape the increased Israeli offensive.

U.N. Secretary-General Kofi Annan said the conflict had displaced at least 700,000

Victims recovering after knife attack at grocery store

By WOODY BAIRD

Associated Press Writer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Two victims of a knife-wielding grocery store employee remained hospitalized Saturday after the man attacked eight coworkers and was finally stopped by a witness who pulled a gun, authorities said.

Elartrice Ingram, 21, was charged with nine counts of attempted first-degree murder, police said. The attack Friday apparently stemmed from a work dispute, investigators said.

Ingram was taken to a hospital complaining of chest pains Friday before being released to police. He was in jail Saturday and was expected to appear in court Tuesday, according to a Shelby County Sheriff's Office database. It was not immediately known whether he had an attorney.

Two women remained hospitalized Saturday, one in serious condition, and the other in fair condition. The other victims were treated and released, according to a nursing supervisor at the Regional Medical Center.

Seven were stabbed, while another suffered heat-related symptoms while being chased, police said. Another person was threatened, resulting in the nine charges against Ingram, The Commercial Appeal reported.

Ingram, chasing one victim into the store's parking lot, was subdued by Chris Cope, manager of a financial services office in the same small shopping center, Memphis Police Sgt. Vince Higgins said.

Cope said he grabbed a 9mm semiautomatic pistol from his pickup truck when he saw the attacker chasing the victim "like something in a serial killer movie."

"When he turned around and saw my pistol, he threw the knife away, put his hands up and got on the ground," Cope told The Associated Press. "He saw my gun and that was pretty much it."

Police arrived within minutes and took the Ingram into custody.

"He just kept saying, 'I'm insane. I wish I was never born' and that kind of stuff," Cope said.

The attack started in an employee area of the Schnucks supermarket on the outskirts of Memphis. All the victims were employees of the store and no customers were involved, Higgins said.

Police said two large kitchen knives used in the attack were found at the scene.

Witness Frank Rector said the attacker held a knife high in a stabbing position as he chased a victim into the parking lot. The victim, Rector said, "was circling, trying to get away from him."

Higgins said police were pulling into the parking lot as Cope was confronting Ingram.

"We commend him," Higgins said. "But we don't encourage people to take that kind of risk."

SCHOOL

"If they would rather make a monetary donation instead of going out and buying the supplies, it actually saves a little bit of money," said Keeney. "The Salvation Army is tax exempt, so we don't have to pay the taxes on the fans. But if people prefer to purchase the supplies and bring them to us, it's fine as well. If they make a monetary donation, they also need to earmark it for the back-to-school supplies."

The program will be administered in much the same way as last year, according to Keeney.

"We're going to do it this year the same way we did it last year," he said. "Registration is Aug. 10 and 11, from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. The office will be closed from noon until 1 p.m. for lunch."

"We need people coming in to apply to bring a birth certificate or Medicaid card for each child. We also need to know what school the child is going to and what grade they will be in. Also, bring proof of income and expenses and a picture ID for the person applying for the program."

Keeney said qualified parents and guardians won't have to wait weeks to pick up their supplies, thanks to an expedited application process.

"If they qualify, they will be able to take the supplies home with them that same day," said Keeney. "That's instead of having them come back two weeks later. It helps cut down on the time it takes them and us to do this. It worked really well last year."

For some children, the annual program is the difference between going back to school armed with the proper materials and being forced to rely on the day to day generosity of their classmates, according to Keeney.

"This is very important. This gives a child an opportunity to go to school with brand new supplies," said Keeney. "Some children go to school and they don't have any supplies at all. They have to depend on borrowing their supplies or depend on a teacher to supply them."

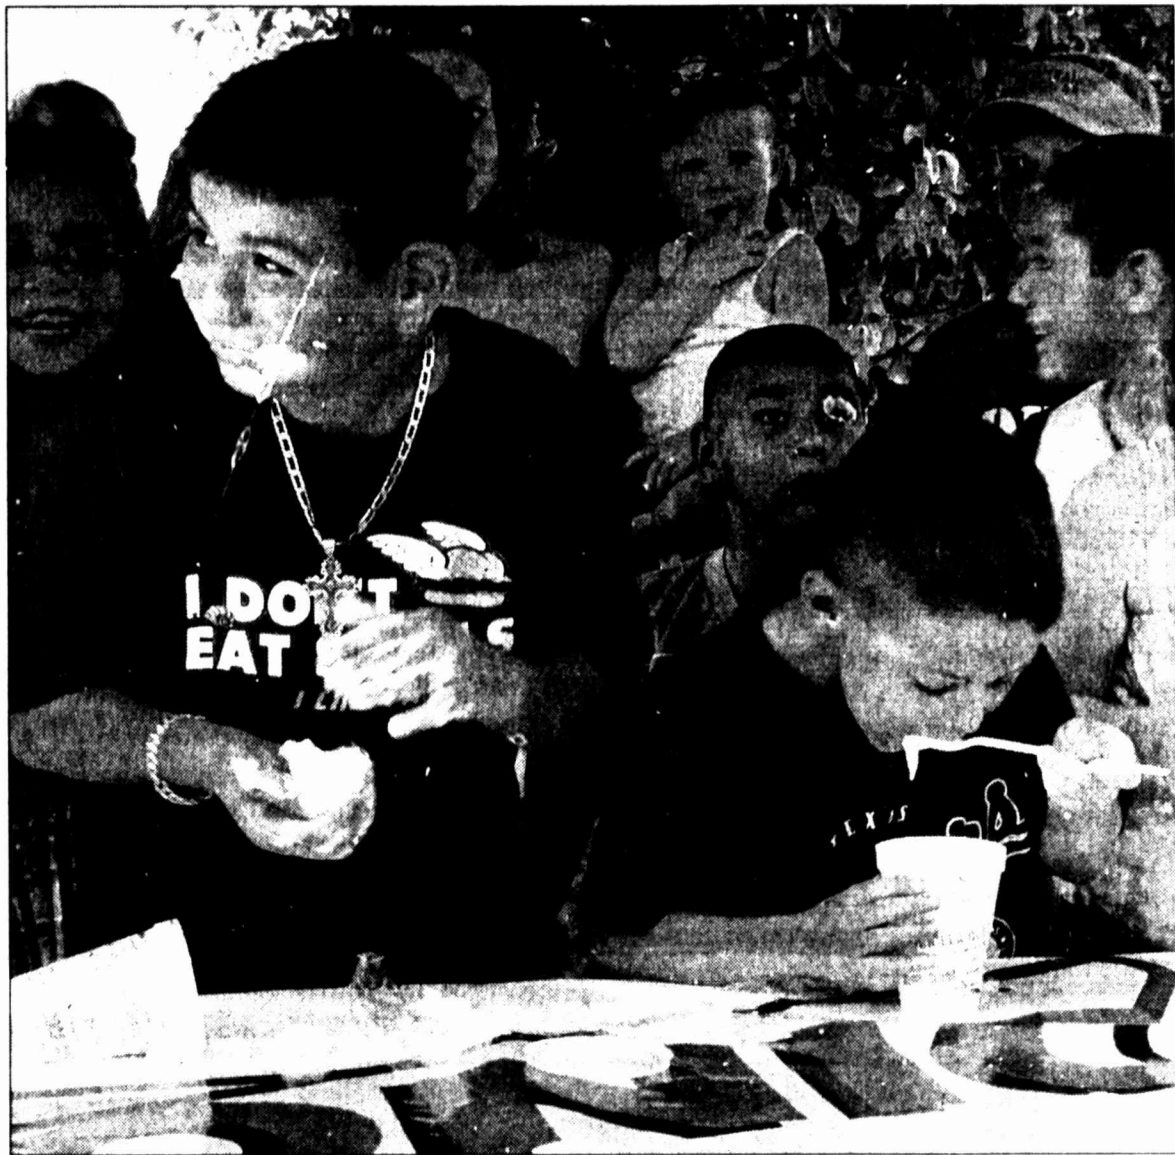

"When they go to school and have what they need, they fit right in. They're not being made fun of. And it's important to the family to be able to do that. It's also a great opportunity for the community to come together and help each other."

For more information on the program, contact Keeney at 267-8239.

good progress," said Commissioner Bill Crocker following a recent meeting. "We're going to have to prepare for our appearance before the Texas Jail Commission in Austin and I think we'll have some noteworthy information and progress to report to them."

"Of course, we can't get the construction work done by then, but we can show the progress we've made and the stages we're in. We're taking each item at a time and trying to keep the jail open."

Also among the items Furquerson is expected to present is a report on the status of the plans and designs for a new jail facility, which is expected to be a 144-bed facility to be located in the northern part of the city near the intersection of Highway 87 and Interstate Highway 20.

Consideration of a new jail facility began more than two years ago when commissioners identified jail overcrowding and non-compliance with state jail laws as an ongoing and long-term problem.

Earlier this year, following a meeting between commissioners and representatives of the Texas Commission on Jail Standards, the county was given a 90-day deadline to present the commission with a detailed plan for correcting the items currently out of compliance.

Also on Monday's agenda, County Auditor

Jackie Olson will present the commissioners with invoices and purchase requests, as well as hold a budget workshop, while County Treasurer Teresa Thomas is expected to present commissioners with personnel considerations.

County Road and Bridge Administrator Eddy Jameson will present the court with pipeline crossings and a report on county road maintenance, and is expected to request commissioners hire a mechanic and mechanic helper.

The meeting is to get under way at 10 a.m. in the commissioners' courtroom, located on the second floor of the courthouse.

That slogan will also be displayed from a sign at the abandoned Fina Station next to Christine's Cafe on the Interstate 20 north service road.

"That way, you'll be able to see it traveling east, and traveling west," Foresyth said.

Inmates from the Big Spring Federal

Correctional Institute will get into the cleanup act within the next few weeks when they perform trash pickup, mowing and edging work along city streets, Foresyth said.

Then, residents will get into the act Sept. 10, when a community-wide cleanup day is scheduled. Foresyth said plans call for the demolition of four or five dilapidated buildings.

She said the concerted efforts in Coahoma is what RCCI developers had in mind when the effort was created.

"It's exactly the concept of RCCI," Foresyth said. "They have fulfilled every requirement that the RCCI founders envisioned. Coahoma ... is becoming the epitome of RCCI."

CISD's package shows increases created over time

Coahoma Independent School District taxpayers are about to experience something everyone in the county will experience later this year when county commissioners decide to hold a bond election to build a new jail facility — things cost more today than they did the last time these taxing entities tried to take care of their needs.

CISD officials are about to take a second try at a bond issue to finance construction and refurbishment projects at the district's campuses.

Coahoma trustees are putting the finishing touches on a bond package very similar to one voters rejected last year.

The only real difference will be increased costs. That's right, less than a year later, cost increases associated with petroleum and other materials, means the new bond issue will be about $2 million more.

CISD trustees are expected to formally call for a November election when they hold a special meeting on Aug. 29.

Construction costs, according to Allan Wolf, an architectural consultant working with the CISD, have escalated considerable in the last year. That is due in part to a shortage of some materials and skilled labor, not to mention the fact that any material made with petroleum is going to cost considerably more than it did a year ago.

As the package stands now, CISD voters will be given two options at the polls in November. The first includes $10.3 million worth of projects. If they approve that issue, they can also vote on an additional $3.6 million in projects.

Together, the two options have a price tag of $13.9 million, an increase of right at $2 million from the bond package rejected by voters last fall.

That's especially scary when you consider not only Howard County commissioners, but the city of Big Spring and Howard College are also considering putting bond issues before voters in the near future.

Commissioners still do not have a solid estimate on what kind of bond issue it will take to build a new jail, but there's absolutely no question that the costs will be substantially more than they were the last time the county put the question before voters almost a decade ago.

We are somehow reminded of the television ad for oil filters where the mechanic turns to the camera and tells us, "You can pay me now or you can pay me later."

That's exactly what we have done here in Howard County.

All sorts of facility needs need to be met, because we really haven't addressed them in the last 30 or 40 years. As a result, almost all of our taxing entities find themselves needing to pass bond issues.

Now we find ourselves really facing the gun in some respects. Not approving the bonds — particularly those which the CISD, Howard County and Howard College — will simply make matters worse. Putting things off will only cost more the next time around.

Sticking our heads in the sand won't solve any problems.

YOUR VIEWS

TO THE EDITOR:

It takes the effort of many people to plan and execute an event like Pops in the Park. I want to personally thank our major sponsors and the many individuals and businesses that contributed financially to make Pops 2006 possible.

I also want to thank the many workers who contributed countless hours of their personal time as well as the Pops Committee which provided leadership and expertise that made this year's even the great success that it was.

JAN HANSEN

POPS IN THE PARK COMMITTEE

A SMALL PRAYER

by K. Rae Anderson

May we ask for Your good counsel, Lord, before going ahead with a decision.

Amen

What are they really doing?

Talk about progress... The U.S. Senate voted 98-0 Thursday to extend the Voting Rights Act for 25 years. What a surprise! Now don't get me wrong, there's really nothing in the Voting Rights Act that I could possibly oppose.

But one does have to wonder why Congress is having to renew the Voting Rights Act for another 25 years, rather than amending the constitution so that the law doesn't have to be re-approved.

Not that this Republican-controlled Congress is any different than those previously controlled by Democrats on the issue, really. But these are the people that felt Congress needed to vote on a constitutional amendment banning burning of the American flag, that needed to consider an amendment to define marriage as a union between a man and a woman... You know, really important stuff.

President George W. Bush is expected to sign the extension bill within a few days. He featured the expected Senate passage in a speech to the NAACP earlier in the day Thursday. Apparently that was really important for the Republican Party to let me know, because they sent me an e-mail announcing the vote Friday morning.

The GOP's e-mail noted that Bush received a kind reception and applause from the NAACP in his first address to the nation's oldest civil rights organization as president.

He previously had addressed the predominately African-American group as a candidate in the 2000 election but declined five invitations to speak at the organization's annual convention after he was elected.

"I see this as a moment of opportunity," he said. "I have come to celebrate the heroism of the civil rights movement."

Yeah, right.

Something tells me he saw it as an opportunity to patronize people he's turned his back on during his entire presidency. Now that he's a lame duck president, he finally accepts the NAACP's standing invitation when it's time to try and mend as many fences as possible for the Republicans in Congress that have to run for reelection in November.

Of course, it should be noted that much of the Voting Rights Act is now permanent law. But a few provisions — including requirements for bi-lingual ballots in districts with large numbers of voters who do not read English — require renewal.

That's got to sit well with Republicans and some Democrats in the House that want to send 10 million or more illegal aliens now in this country packing. The same people that at almost every turn tell us how English should not only be the official language of the United States but feel everybody should have to learn it.

Speaking of Republicans, our own Congressman Randy Neugebauer, is still trumpeting the GOP line.

The latest e-mailing from his office let me know in no uncertain terms that he believes, "America is One Nation Under God."

Neugebauer, his release said, believes that the United States is one nation under God and argues the Founding Fathers who wrote the Constitution would agree with him.

"The judges and activist groups who are trying to strike the words 'Under God' from the Pledge of Allegiance are attempting to write God and faith out of public life," Neugebauer said. "This was never the intent of our Founding Fathers, who themselves understood that faith is a part of public life."

To prevent judges from unilaterally striking the words 'under God' from the pledge, Neugebauer and a majority of the House approved the Pledge Protection Act, H.R. 2389, by a vote of 260-167. The legislation removes cases involving the pledge from the jurisdiction of federal courts. In turn, the bill gives state courts the authority to rule on the constitutionality of the pledge for their state only.

"The Pledge of Allegiance reflects the truth that faith in God has played a significant role in America since the days of the founding of our country," Neugebauer said. "Therefore, it is appropriate that when we pledge our allegiance to Old Glory, we recognize that America is, indeed, one nation under God."

Huh?

It's up to the state courts to rule on the constitutionality of the pledge to the American flag?

Does anyone but me see some flawed logic there?

Some of us would argue a couple of other points.

Originally, the Pledge of Allegiance actually wasn't worded "one nation under God," but simply was "one nation indivisible with liberty and justice for all."

The "under God" part was added in the 1950s during the McCarthy era.

The better to differentiate ourselves from those "Godless Russian commies," right?

And some of us would also say these so-called "activist groups and judges" aren't trying to write God and faith out of public life, but just making sure that we do live up to the Founding Fathers' wishes by not forcing our individual beliefs on others.

OK, go ahead and label me a liberal if you must, but I will tell you I am a Christian and it seems to me there is less and less Christianity displayed in government with every passing day.

Of course, what are we to expect?

Christianity is about love. Loving God with all your heart and soul; and loving others as you love yourself.

Politics and government in today's world is about power and telling other people how they should live their lives.

What a pity.

The heat is melting his brain

Have you ever had one of those days when you don't exactly feel like a dunce, but complex thought is just thiiiiis much out of your reach?

Welcome to my world.

Maybe this constant heat is gradually making me more stupid ("What do you mean gradually, Reagan?"), but I'm just having trouble stringing together coherent sentences right about now. And as I am in the middle of my weekly column, you can understand why I'm somewhat concerned by this turn of events. As shocking as this may sound, this is not the first time I've had to struggle against this situation. No, kind readers, I'm not always loquacious, witty and charming. Sometimes, I'm less like a reporter and more like a wind chime — just swaying this way and that and making the occasional noise.

And I wonder why I'm still single. Anywho, now that I've got my weekly confessional out the way, what do you say we take a peek at the Associated Press wire and see what our fellow men and women are doing?

I've heard of police officers moonlighting, but this is new:

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — A policewoman has been censured for some unauthorized "undercover" work — a stint moonlighting as a prostitute — but is being allowed to keep her day job after giving up the night duties.

While prostitution is legal in New Zealand and police are allowed to take approved second jobs, a top officer said sex work and police work don't mix.

The policewoman had worked for a limited time as a prostitute in the northern city of Auckland before her clandestine activity was uncovered, police said. Her name and rank have not been made public.

Police media communications manager Jon Neilson said he understood the officer had taken up "secondary employment due to financial difficulties," but had not sought police approval to work in the sex industry.

She has been counseled over the matter, which "under police procedures ... amounts to a censure," said Deputy Police Commissioner Lyn Provost.

"I can assure the public that ... this type of secondary employment would never be approved given that the type of work is inappropriate and incompatible with policing," Provost said.

See, this type of stuff is why I love the English language so much ... they don't say the officer is "moonlighting as a prostitute."

Instead, she has taken up "secondary employment due to financial difficulties." These are probably the same type of folks who call a shovel a "soil displacement tool."

I'm going to try that next time I'm in one of my current moods. Instead of "zoning out," I will simply be "taking a brief pause from normal mental activity."

Let's move on, shall we?

From the "Wacky World of Animals" comes the following:

CORONA DEL MAR, Calif. (AP) — There was good news and bad news when Crash, the California brown pelican that earned her nickname when she flew beak-first into a car windshield, was released back into the wild.

As soon as workers with the Wetlands and Wildlife Care Center released Crash on Big Corona Beach on Thursday, she stumbled and fell beak-first into a pile of rocks.

But after taking a few moments to gather her bearings, Crash shook her tail, bobbed in the surf and then headed for the heavens.

"She took off just fine and she was flying really well," said Debbie McGuire, the center's wildlife director.

McGuire blamed Crash's stumble on reporters and photographers who distracted her.

"What happened was, there were so many cameras," she said. "She looked back and then took a step."

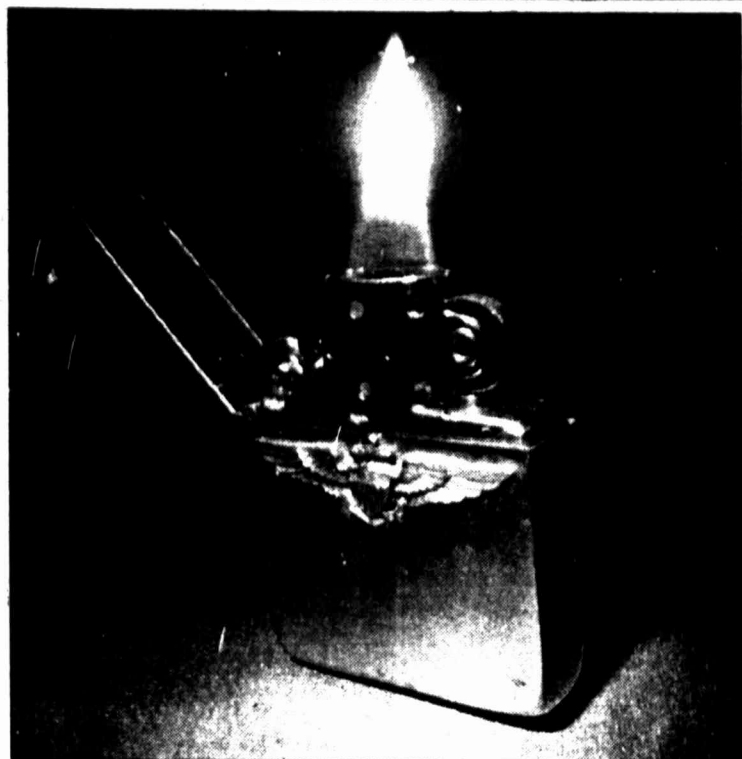

Oh, sure, blame the press. Why, it was probably a reporter's car windshield the poor bird hit in the first place.

I wonder just how well this bird will do in the wild and what kind of company she'll be able to keep.

Maybe it's just me, but I can't imagine that very many birds would care to keep company with such an accident-prone animal.

And for darn sure I wouldn't want her giving my young ones flying lessons.

Lighter side: Zippo fanatics gather in small Pa. community

By GENARO C. ARMAS

Associated Press Writer

BRADFORD, Pa. — Derrick Stainton can't stop talking about his old flames. He's got more than 1,000 of them at home in Scotland.

"My daughter thinks I'm crazy," the 54-year-old welder said.

The objects of his affection: Zippo lighters, 1,056 of them to be exact. And he's not alone in his hobby.

Thousands of fellow fans, dealers and curiosity-seekers are gathering this weekend here to celebrate the shiny, rectangular windproof lighters that flick open with a distinctive clicking sound.

"So simple. So basic. The design is so nice," Stainton said. "I eat, sleep and drink Zippos."

Fanatics congregate at Zippo Manufacturing Co. headquarters in this northwest Pennsylvania city every other year for an international "swap meet."

They stroll around under huge tents to look at seemingly endless number of display cases in search of a must-have Zippo and trade stories with other enthusiasts. The meet is held in conjunction with a similar gathering for collectors of W.R. Case & Sons Cutlery Co. knives, which is owned by Zippo.

It's the lighters that grab the spotlight.

There are thousands of different designs on Zippos: Team logos, travel scenes, landscapes, band names, military designs or nudes. They are all on a lighter that measures 2 1/4 inches tall by 1 1/2 inches wide and weighs about 2 ounces.

A plain Zippo lighter costs about $15, but many designer ones have price tags of at least several hundred dollars.

For many fans, the connection gets personal. They can recount stories about how they got their first lighter and where they have traveled with it. But not every enthusiast is a smoker.

"We only collect lighters," said Gerard Klivvingh, 48, of the Netherlands, who has about 500 in his collection. "It's the handcrafting, that's what I like about it. You don't have to smoke."

Zippo estimates it has produced 425 million lighters since George D. Blaisdell founded the company in 1932. Company president Greg Booth estimates there are 4 million collectors today.

Employees and attendees talk of a family atmosphere at the company; Zippo, with more than 1,000 workers, is the largest employer in McKean County. Hugs and warm handshakes were the greetings at the auction among collectors.

Josef Jorik, 65, who owns a booth at an antiques market in Lambertville, N.J., sells old lighters from other companies like Ronson and Dunhill. He said Zippos seem to be the most popular and have the biggest profit margin.

But you won't find him lighting his cigarette with a Zippo.

"Unfortunately, I use matches," he said, almost sheepishly, looking around briefly to make sure no one else was listening. "It doesn't take up too much space in my pocket."

Emmy-winning actor Jack Warden dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jack Warden, an Emmy-winning and Academy Award-nominated actor who played gruff cops, coaches and soldiers in a career that spanned five decades, died Wednesday, his business manager said. He was 85.

Warden was nominated twice for supporting-actor Oscars in two Warren Beatty movies. He was nominated for his role as a businessman in 1975's "Shampoo" and the good-hearted football trainer in 1978's "Heaven Can Wait."

He won a supporting actor Emmy for his role as Chicago Bears coach George Halas in the 1971 made-for-TV movie "Brian's Song" and was twice nominated in the 1980s as leading actor in a comedy for his show "Crazy Like a Fox."

Warden

During the 1950s his career flourished. Besides TV work, he appeared on Broadway in shows such as Clifford Odets' "Golden Boy" and Arthur Miller's "A View From the Bridge."

He had small roles in 1953's Oscar-winning "From Here to Eternity" and the submarine thriller "Run Silent, Run Deep" but his breakthrough role was Juror No. 7, a salesman who wants a quick decision in a murder case, in 1957's "Twelve Angry Men."

Over the years he had a number of recurring or starring TV roles. He was a major in "The Wackiest Ship in the Army"; the coach on "Mr. Peepers"; a coach again on the small-screen version of "The Bad News Bears"; detectives in "Asphalt Jungle," "N.Y.P.D." and "Jigsaw John"; and a private investigator in "Crazy Like a Fox."

His numerous big-screen roles included a news editor in 1976's "All the President's Men," Paul Newman's law partner in 1982's "The Verdict" and the president in the 1979 Peter Sellers movie "Being There."

His later roles came in Woody Allen's 1994 "Bullets Over Broadway"; Beatty's 1998 political satire "Bulworth" and the 2000 football movie "The Replacements."

State denies State Farm rate hike

By JIM VERTUNO

Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN — Texas insurance officials on Friday rejected proposed homeowner rate increases by State Farm, the state's largest home insurer.

State Farm had filed for a pair of statewide rate increases on May 31: a 9.1 percent boost to cover costs related to reinsurance and a second 10.7 percent average hike to cover projected claims and losses.

Reinsurance is the coverage insurance companies buy to protect against large or unexpected catastrophes. And although the increases were calculated as a statewide boost, most of the customers who would have been affected live in Texas' coastal counties, company officials said.

Friday's order from state Insurance Commissioner Mike Geeslin determined those rate hikes to be excessive.

"We find TDI's decision disappointing and puzzling," said State Farm spokeswoman Sophie Harbert. "It doesn't seem to take into account what's happening in the marketplace. Companies have to be able to charge enough to offset their loss. That's good business."

Harbert said State Farm would consider whether to appeal the ruling and ask for a hearing on its request.

She said it was too early to tell if the decision would force the company to cut back on the number of policies it writes in Texas.

State Farm was ordered to reduce its rates in 2003 but has not done so while it fights the order in court. State Farm officials have defended their rates as fair and competitive.

Alex Winslow of the consumer advocacy group Texas Watch, was critical of State Farm's original rate filing. On Friday, he said State Farm customers should be "cautiously optimistic."

"This is only good news if TDI follows through and forces State Farm to not only reduce its current rates, but pay back every penny it owes," Winslow said.

But Jerry Johns, president of the Southwestern Insurance Information Service, suggested Friday's decision could ultimately hurt consumers in an insurance market with a shrinking number of providers.

"Insurers are fleeing the Texas market because they simply do not have the rates to pay claims," Johns said, adding that since 1999, the number of companies writing homeowners policies in Texas has fallen from 380 to 120.

"That is not good for consumers and should send a wake-up call to Commissioner Geeslin," Johns said.

Police arrest one, search for second suspect in brutal slayings

HOUSTON (AP) — A little more than three years since four young people were killed in a suburban Houston home, police investigators on Friday announced they had arrested one person in the brutal slayings and are seeking a second suspect.

Tiffany Nichole Rowell, 18; Marcus Ray Precella, 19; Rachel Ann Koloroutis, 18; and Adelbert Nicholas Sanchez, 21, were killed in a south Houston home on July 18, 2003. An autopsy report stated the victims were all shot multiple times and died from those wounds or a blow to the head.

Capt. Dale Brown, with the Houston police homicide division, said a Crime Stoppers tip led authorities to arrest Christine Marie Paolilla, 20, in San Antonio on Wednesday. She was brought back to Houston.

A second suspect, Christopher Lee Snider, 21, is still being sought but police believe he is in the Greenville, S.C. area. Houston police investigators are in South Carolina looking for Snider.

"We are seeking the assistance of anyone who can help us locate Snider so that he can be arrested and brought to justice and bring closure to this very horrific crime," Brown said.

Both Paolilla and Snider have been charged with capital murder and were expected to be the only suspects in the case, police said.

Investigators would not comment on a motive for the killings or what relationship Paolilla and Snider had with the victims or each other, Brown said.

But at a news conference last year, police indicated the killings were likely drug-related. Authorities said the slayings were particularly brutal.

Rowell lived at the small wood and brick home located in a south Houston suburb.

Neighbors said Koloroutis had moved into the house with Rowell weeks before the slayings. Precella was Rowell's boyfriend while Sanchez was Precella's cousin.

Brown said investigators poured over thousands of leads in the case until Crime Stoppers of Houston received one last week that proved to be fruitful. Crime Stoppers had offered a $100,000 reward in the case, the largest in the group's history.

State briefs

Man in custody after high speed chase

HOUSTON (AP) — A man was in police custody after he led police on a 90-minute high speed chase through highways, rural roads and a golf course before crashing into a creek.

Police said Kenneth Ray Pool was suspected in four robberies, including one at a Pasadena dry cleaning business that kicked off the chase Friday afternoon.

During the pursuit, Pool often veered into oncoming traffic lanes, forcing other cars off roads to avoid collisions. The fleeing pickup scraped several cars, including at least one police cruiser, and stopped only briefly after hitting a red pickup's passenger side.

The chase spread from south Houston to Pearland and back, with Pool alternating between Highway 288, rural roads and finally the Sam Houston Tollway south of downtown Houston. At one point, he turned off Highway 288 and sped through a golf course before returning to the highway.

The chase ended when Pool, who was northbound on the tollway near the Houston Ship Channel, left the roadway and drove into a creek.

Pool remained in his white pickup truck for about an hour afterward before he finally surrendered. During negotiations, police said Pool kept a gun pointed in his mouth.

Capt. A.H. "Bud" Corbett, spokesman for Pasadena Police Department, said Pool was a suspect in three other area robberies, and police said Pool would face charges of attempted capital murder and aggravated robbery. Pool was convicted on a misdemeanor drug possession charge in Colorado County last year, records show.

Officer accused of extorting traffickers

LAREDO (AP) — The deputy commander of a narcotics task force who accepted tens of thousands of dollars to protect drug dealers pleaded guilty to extortion charges Friday.

Julio Alfonso Lopez, 45, pleaded guilty to conspiring to extort money from drug traffickers, U.S. Attorney Don DeGabrielle said.

An accomplice, 32-year-old Meliton Valadez, was convicted Friday for his role as Lopez's middle man with the traffickers.

Federal investigators accused Lopez of using his position to ensure safe passage of drugs through sparsely populated Zapata County along the Mexican border. They said that beginning in 2005 at least four payments totaling $44,500 were made to Valadez, who was acting as Lopez's middle man.

The men also were accused of giving traffickers sensitive police information and providing a place to store cocaine. Lopez allegedly used his position to divert task force officers away from places where drugs were loaded.

The men, both of Zapata, are awaiting a sentencing date.

Lopez, who remains free on bond pending the sentencing hearing, faces up to 20 years in federal prison and a $250,000 fine.

Apartment quarantined after bats found

LAKE JACKSON (AP) — Health officials in Brazoria County have ordered about 300 residents to vacate their apartments after two out of the thousands of bats nesting in the building complex tested positive for rabies.

"It's too risky for people to be here", said Leo O'Gorman, Brazoria County's health department director. "The potential of bats biting and people handling bats — dead or alive — were of main concern."

The displaced residents were being placed in area motels and provided with vouchers for food until the bats could either be relocated or exterminated from the Casa Del Lago apartments.

It was unclear how long the complex would be quarantined.

East squads get sweep at All-Americans

• Hise, Jacobs too much for West all-stars in Garden City

By TROY HYDE

GARDEN CITY — The girl's East all-stars pulled away in the fourth quarter Friday night in Garden City behind solid scoring efforts from Aspermont's Laryssa Hise and Throckmorton's Halle Jacobs.

Neither team mounted much of an early advantage through the first three quarters, but the East scored the first 10 points of the fourth quarter and held on to win, 52-45, at the fourth annual All-Americans basketball game.

Garden City officials handed out three MVP awards in the game. The school gave an MVP award to one player from each team and then handed out an overall MVP.

The overall or game MVP was Hise, who finished with 15 points in the game, while the East and West team MVPs were Jacobs and Water Valley's Alix Flores.

Jacobs made a late push for the award as she scored 10 of her 13 points in the fourth quarter. Eight of those 10 points came during the decisive 10-0 run to begin the final period.

Flores might have been the best player on the floor as she finished with a game-high 22 points. She scored seven points in each of the second and third quarters and always seemed to keep the West team in the game when the East squad looked to make a run.

The West squad answered the East's 10-0 fourth quarter run with six straight points of its own to make it 43-38. Hise put the East up seven after that, but Flores added two free throws and Klondike's Mackenzie Gregory scored two points on a jumper to make it 45-42.

A free throw by Hise made it a four-point East advantage, but Garden City's Tracy Eggemeyer, the lone local athlete featured in the game, hit a huge 3-pointer to make it Garden City's Shaun Maxie prevents Paducah's Cory Hemphill from scoring on an easy layup Friday night in Garden City during the fourth-annual All-Americans boy's basketball game. Maxie was the MVP of the West all-stars, while Hemphill's game MVP performance led the East all-stars to an 11-point victory.

GARDEN CITY — Playing with just six players didn't phase the East all-stars in the boy's portion of the fourth annual All-Americans basketball game Friday night in Garden City.

The East got strong performances from Class 1A player of the year Cory Hemphill of Paducah, Westbrook's Josiah Hannon and Crowell's Mark Thomas as their squad got off to a strong start and cruised to the 79-68 win.

Hemphill, who will play at Western Texas College next season, scored 15 of his game-high 22 points in the first half while the East was building its big lead. The winners led by seven after one quarter and took a 43-28 lead into halftime. Hannon came on in the second quarter, scoring eight of his 17 points. Hemphill won MVP honors in the game, while Hannon took home the team MVP hardware, just beating out Thomas, who finished with 16 points.

Garden City's Shaun Maxie won team MVP honors for the West squad. He did not score in the first quarter, but put in six second quarter points and nine second half points to finish with 15 for the game. Borden County's Austin Tarleton scored 13 points for the West, as well.

However, Maxie and Tarleton were no match for the best of the East. Five of the six players from the East squad scored in double figures and the team never trailed after Crowell's Freddy Benton scored on a layup in the first quarter to make it 8-6.

Benton scored 11 points and Evan King of Vernon Northside added 10 for the East, while Curtis Evans of Fort Davis and Blaine Paul of New Home scored 11 and 10 points, respectively. Paul scored eight of his 10 points in the second half. The West also got nine points from

Black, Bryan find success at junior golf tournament

Sarah Black started strong and never looked back in a runaway victory Wednesday in the North Texas PGA Ryan Palmer Foundation West Area Championship.

She carded a 1-over par score of 37 on the back nine of the Quail Golf Course at Hogan Park in Midland Tuesday to get out to a 10-stroke lead. She capped the victory by shooting a 39 on the same nine Wednesday to coast to a 12-stroke victory.

LARRY BRYAN

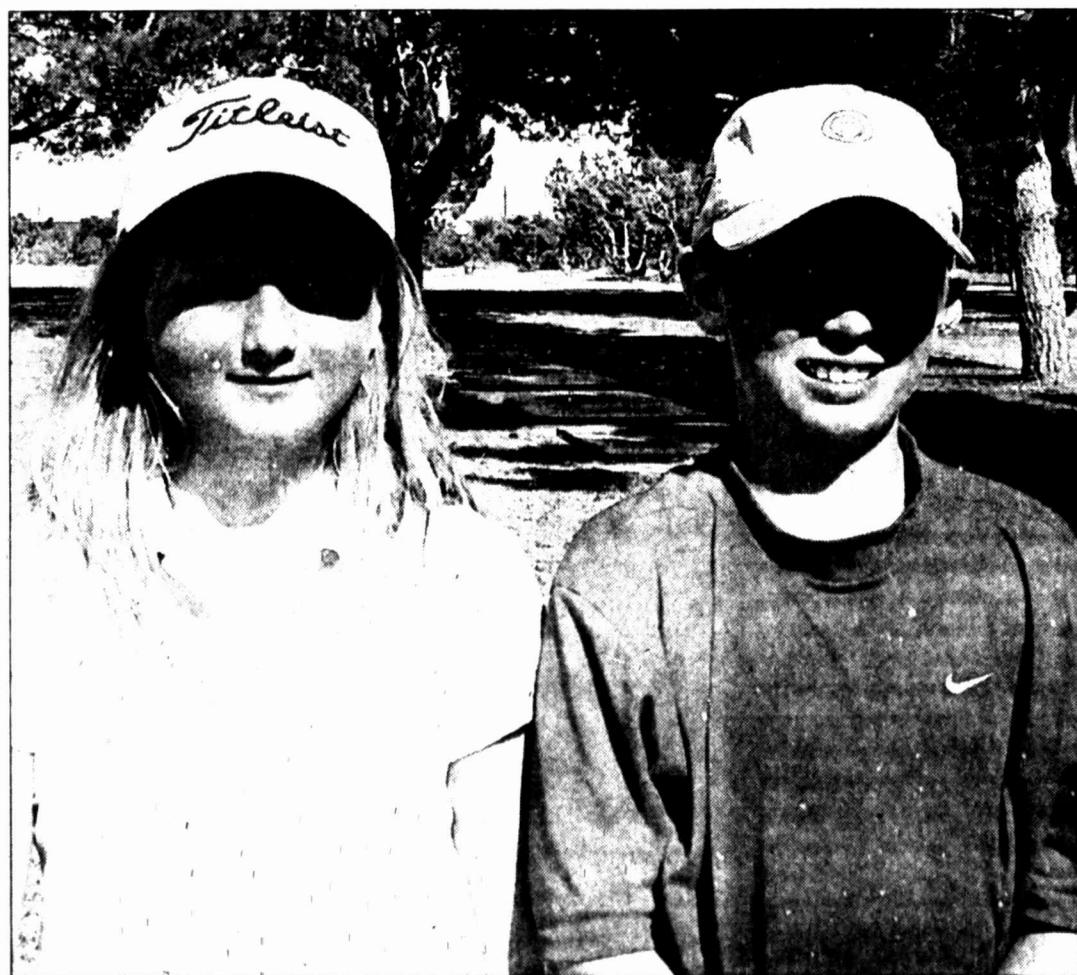

The area championship brought together junior golfers who have won a junior event throughout the summer.

Black has played in 11 events this summer winning eight times and finishing second in the other three. This is Black's first year competing in the 10-11 girl's division. Black will be making her first appearance at state.

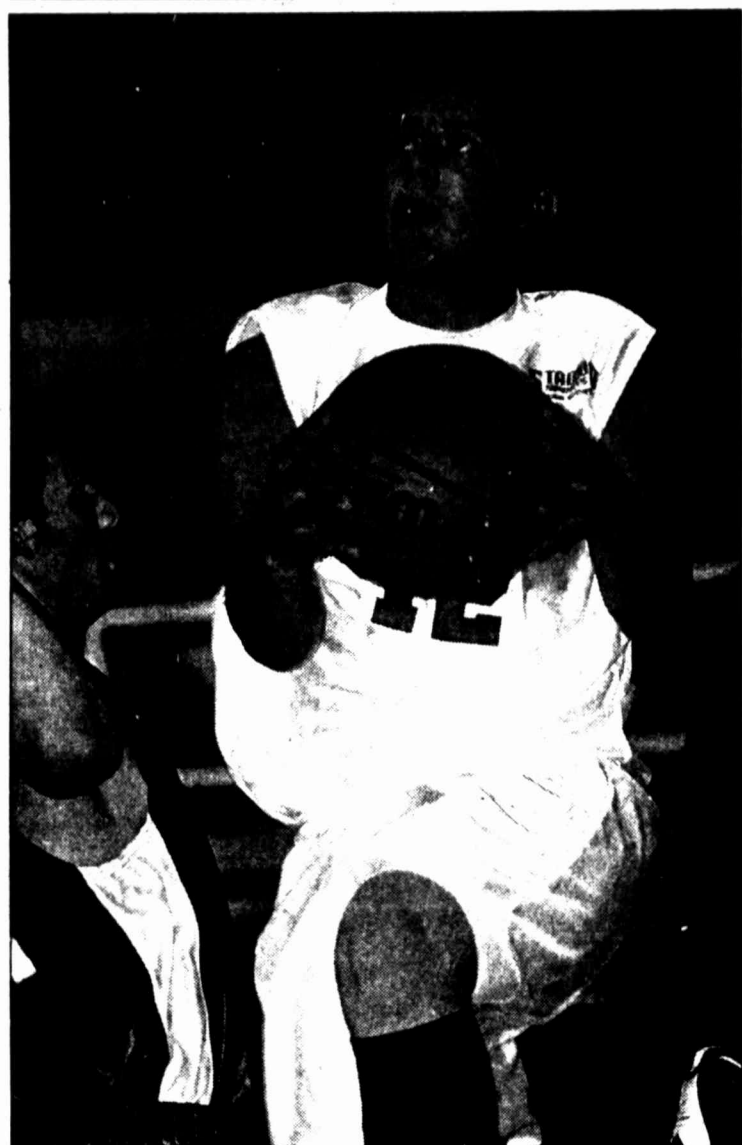

Also competing in the tournament in the 7-9 coed division was Tyler Bryan. Bryan shot 38-36 on the back nine of the Quail Golf Course to finish second in his division.

New Home's Ryan Wied.

The East pulled away from the West in the second quarter as Hannon provided a big scoring lift. He scored 10 points in the period and put in three straight shots at one point to give his team a 37-19 lead.

Neither team gained much of an advantage in the third quarter, which played in the East's hands as it still held a significant advantage on the scoreboard. The West managed to trim two points off its deficit in the period, but still trailed by 15 heading into the final frame.

The lead stayed fairly large until about midway through the final frame. Wied scored on a putback and a layup to trim the East's margin to 11, but a 3-pointer from MVP Hemphill with 35 seconds to go in the game locked up the win for the East.

The West got the lead down to nine with five straight points after that, but Hannon scored a layup on the final possession of the game to make it a double-digit victory for the East.

46-45 with less than two minutes to play in the game.

However, the West squad was unable to score again as Jayton's Jenna Bleker hit a free throw, Jacobs added a steal and a layup and Robert Lee's Cara Eaton drained two clutch free throws to make the final 52-45.

Gregory scored the first six points for the West in the first quarter, but didn't score again until the start of the third quarter.

The East led 13-11 after one period, 25-24 at half-time and 33-32 after three frames. Bleker had nine points for the winners and Ashley Lisle of Rule finished with six points.

Gregory scored 11 points behind Flores' 22. Stefani White of New Home scored five points, while Eggemeyer scored three.

strokes to Tanner Montgomery of Andrews. Bryan has played in nine events this summer, finishing first in eight and his lone second place came at the area championship.

Bryan is making his fourth appearance at state, having qualified in his age bracket since he was 6.

Cassie Guinn competed in the area championship in the 15-18 girl's division.

She shot 90-87 on the Quail Course but failed to advance to state.

The top three finishers from the area championship advance to the state tournament. One can also qualify for state by winning three tournaments.

Both Black and Bryan compete in nine hole divisions of the Ewing Automotive tour sponsored by the North Texas PGA. Both juniors play at Big Spring Country Club and are often found practicing their games and picking on older players.

We are excited to have these fine junior golfers coming up through the ranks. We wish them all the best at the state tournament next week.

One can follow their progress on the North Texas PGA Web site at www.ntpga.com. Click on junior golf foundation and go to the tournament.

Woods, Els fire record rounds, move into lead at British Open

By PAUL NEWBERRY

AP National Writer

HOYLAK, England — Tiger Woods stood in the middle of the 14th fairway with a dazed look, so far away from the green he couldn't tell where his ball landed.

"It went in?" Woods asked his caddie.

Yes, it did.

With another amazing shot in a career filled with them, Woods seized the lead at the British Open with a 7-under-par 65 Friday and cast aside

THANK YOU!

We the family of Pfc. Kristian Menchaca would like to take this time to thank the people of Big Spring and surrounding communities for all the support and concern that was shown to us in our time of great loss.

There are never enough words or ways to express the way we were shown comfort and love by friends and neighbors alike.

In this time of war and turmoil, there is no greater gift than to know we are all united. My husband believed in what he was doing and he, like all of us, loved his freedom.

I would like to express my deepest thanks to all the men and women who serve in the armed forces and to their families who encourage them with support.

Also I'd like to offer special thanks to the Rev. Joel Miller, LULAC, American Red Cross, Ben Bancroft, Joseph and Jennifer Patton, Cynthia Dutchover, Wendy Walker, Hilda Uribe, Irene Nieves and Ben Flores, Imelda Melendez and family, Molly Turner, Judi Rios, Herbey Acevedo and all the wonderful people who sent condolences and money.

the notion that his poor performance at Winged Foot was anything more than a rare off week for the world's greatest golfer.

Woods pulled out his 4-iron at No. 14, the flag rippling in the breeze 209 yards away, and ripped a shot for the ages. The low drive came down at the edge of the green and hopped three more times before striking the stick, dropping straight in for eagle.

Walking toward the green, Woods heard the gasps from the gallery but didn't know where his ball ended up. When told it was in the cup, he broke into a wide grin, gave caddie Steve Williams a high-five and shrugged his shoulders, almost as if he was apologizing.

Williams jokingly attempted to put the bag on Woods' shoulder as the two made a triumphant walk up the fairway.

"It's a bonus," Woods said. "Trust me, I'm not trying to put the ball in the hole. I'm just trying to put it on the green and get out of there with a 4." Instead, he wrote down a 2 on the way to 12-under 132.

So, is this another Tiger runaway? Not yet.

Ernie Els, a three-time major winner who took the claret jug in 2002, didn't fade away in the afternoon, even with the winds off the Irish Sea kicking up just a bit.

The Big Easy matched Woods with a 65 that was more workmanlike than his rival's — seven birdies, no bogeys — and they'll see each other up close Saturday when they're paired in the final group.

Els was a shot behind Woods at 133.

"Obviously I've got to keep it up," Els said. "I'm playing with the world's No. 1 player on the weekend. It should be fun."

Also in on the fun: a resurgent Chris DiMarco, yet another player shooting 65 to get three strokes off the lead, and two-time U.S. Open winner Retief Goosen, whose 66 left him four back on another good day for going low at sunny Royal Liverpool.

Phil Mickelson didn't take advantage of it. Trying to make up for his final-hole collapse at the U.S. Open, Lefty could only manage a 71 that left him a daunting eight strokes behind Woods.

"I'm obviously not excited about being eight shots back," Mickelson said. "But I still feel that a good round tomorrow will give me a chance Sunday, and that's the goal."

Granted, Mickelson still has a chance. Among those projected to miss the cut: former winners John Daly, Nick Faldo and Ben Curtis; major champions Fred Couples, Vijay Singh and Davis Love III; and European stalwarts Colin Montgomerie, Padraig Harrington and Darren Clarke.

Daly had one of his notorious meltdowns, going to the final hole in good position only to make a triple-bogey 8.

The more fortunate get to chase a player who's never been beaten when he has a 36-hole lead in a major.

Woods is 6-0 as a front-runner, a spot he was in most recently a year ago at St. Andrews. He went on to a five-stroke victory and claimed the claret jug for the second time.

Woods, who also rolled in a 50-foot putt at No. 8, said it was far too early to claim victory even before he knew Els' score.

"I'm not here with the jug," Woods said. "We've got 36 more holes to go.

Unless there's some kind of rainstorm coming and it's canceled after two days, we have a long way to go."

DiMarco, clinging to hopes of making the U.S. Ryder Cup team, had a painful choice to make after his mother, Norma, died two weeks ago from an apparent heart attack. Instead of dropping out of the British Open, he decided this historic links course in western England would be an ideal place for everyone in his family to do some healing.

So far, golf has been the perfect salve.

"I certainly have a great peace about me this week," DiMarco said. "My mom has always been a huge supporter of mine. She followed me around so many times, drove me around as a junior player everywhere. She would be absolutely (ticked) off if I didn't play."

The American broke Graeme McDowell's 1-day-old record for the best Open score at Royal Liverpool.

Woods and Els matched it before the day was done, while McDowell didn't come close to duplicating his 66 from Thursday, fading out of contention with a 73.

DiMarco hasn't won on the PGA Tour in four years, and his hopes of making the Ryder Cup team plummeted this year after he injured his ribs while skiing and struggled to regain his form.

He's certainly played well for the red, white and blue, earning 2 1/2 points in the Ryder Cup two years ago and clinching the Presidents Cup with a 15-foot putt last fall.

A strong performance at the British Open could be a major factor in at least being one of the captain's picks should he not crack the top 10.

Chicken Drumsticks with Lemon and Garlic

Adapted from "Chicken on the Grill," Cheryl and Bill Jamison Morrow Cookbooks 2004

Serves 4

- 8 chicken drumsticks
- 2 TBLS olive oil
- 2 TBLS minced garlic
- 3 lemons, zested and juiced
- 1 tsp salt
- 1/4 tsp black pepper

In small skillet over medium-low heat, combine olive oil, garlic and lemon zest. Cook until garlic begins to color, about 2-3 minutes. Remove from heat and cool. Stir in lemon juice, salt and pepper. Place in zippered plastic bag. Add chicken drumsticks; toss well to coat. Refrigerate and let marinate at least one hour or up to overnight.

Prepare gas or charcoal grill, or preheat broiler. Remove chicken from refrigerator and sit at room temperature about 20 minutes. Discard marinade.

Grill drumsticks uncovered (or broil) over high heat for 3 to 4 minutes, turning to sear all sides. Move chicken to medium-low heat and continue grilling for additional 12 to 15 minutes, turning every 3 minutes, until cooked through. Drumsticks should register 170 degrees on meat thermometer.

Elegant grilling

It's hard to run out of variations on the theme of grilling fruit. Apart from technique — what fruit you cook, how you handle it on the grill — there's always the flavor.

Fruit doesn't mean only sweet, perhaps not even only dessert. Sweet sometimes is better with a little spice. Here are three easy ways to prove that idea, using fruit of your choice, quickly grilled, for summer eating.

Note serving suggestions for having the fruit accompany other courses of your cookout meal.

Sweet and Spicy Fruit Skewers

- 12 wooden skewers, each about 6-inches long
- 3 medium ripe purple plums, each cut into 8 wedges
- 2 ripe medium peaches, each cut into 8 wedges
- 2 tablespoons green jalapeno pepper sauce
- 1 tablespoon honey
- 2 teaspoons grated ginger

Soak skewers in water to prevent burning, at least 30 minutes. Preheat grill to medium.

Toss plums, peaches, pepper sauce, honey and ginger in large bowl. Skewer 4 wedges of fruit on each skewer. Grill 5 to 8 minutes, turning once and brushing with any leftover mixture.

Makes 4 servings.

Serving suggestion: Serve as a dessert or as side dish with pork, chicken or ribs.

Spicy Island Grilled Pineapple

- 1 large ripe pineapple
- 1 tablespoon fresh-squeezed lime juice
- 1 teaspoon hot pepper sauce
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon

Preheat grill to high.

Remove skin from pineapple; core and cut into 1/2-inch-thick slices. Combine lime juice and hot pepper sauce in small bowl. Combine sugar and cinnamon in shallow bowl. Brush both sides of pineapple with hot pepper sauce mixture; dip into cinnamon-sugar mixture to coat well. Grill pineapple slices 8 to 10 minutes, turning once until golden on both sides.

Makes 4 servings.

Serving suggestions: Serve pineapple as a dessert with vanilla ice cream or whipped cream. Or serve it as a side dish with pork or chicken.

Fire-Roasted Stuffed Pears

- 4 large ripe pears
- 1/3 cup chopped walnuts
- 3 tablespoons brown sugar
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, softened
- 3/4 teaspoon hot pepper sauce
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- Hot pepper sauce

Preheat grill to medium.

Cut off tops of pears, 1 inch below stem; set aside. Core pears with spoon or melon baller; leave a cavity for filling. Combine walnuts, brown sugar, butter, hot pepper sauce and cinnamon in small bowl. Place one drop of hot pepper sauce in cavity of each pear. Spoon walnut mixture into each cavity; top with pear stems. Place pears on greased 9-inch square of heavy-duty foil. Carefully place on grill; roast until pears are tender, about 20 to 25 minutes, depending on ripeness of pears.

Makes 4 servings.

Grilled Beer-Glazed Pork Chops

Serves 4

- 3/4 cup Porter beer or stout beer
- 1/2 cup soy sauce
- 1/3 cup light brown sugar, packed well
- 1/4 cup rice wine vinegar
- 1 TBLS diced fresh ginger
- 1 TBLS sesame seeds
- 2 cloves garlic, crushed through a press
- 1 tsp toasted sesame oil
- 4 pork chops, center-cut, about 1-inch thick

Make glaze by combining in deep saucepan the beer, soy sauce, brown sugar, vinegar, ginger, sesame seeds, garlic and sesame oil. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat to medium-low; simmer 15 minutes or until mixture thickens and reduces to about 1 cup. Remove from heat and cool to room temperature.

Place pork chops in shallow baking dish in single layer. Pour half of sauce over chops, turning to coat thoroughly. Cover dish with plastic wrap. Marinate in refrigerator at least four hours or up to overnight.

Prepare gas or charcoal grill; lightly oil grill rack. Place chops on grill and cook, turning, about 6 to 8 minutes per side. Baste with remaining half of beer glaze sauce during last 5 minutes of cooking. Cook until chops are just cooked through in the center, and are nicely glazed.

Chicken-Mozzarella Melt with Pasta Bow Ties

Adapted from "Chicken on the Grill," Cheryl and Bill Jamison Morrow Cookbooks 2004

Serves 6

- 4 chicken breast halves, boneless and skinless, pounded to 1/2-inch thickness
- 1 cup fresh basil leaves, divided
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 1 clove garlic
- 1 tsp salt, divided
- 1 box (12 oz) bow tie pasta (farfalle)
- 12 ounces fresh mozzarella cheese, very finely chopped, at room temperature
- 1 ripe tomato, chopped
- 3/4 cup roasted red bell pepper, chopped
- 2 tps balsamic vinegar
- 4 TBLS extra virgin olive oil
- 1/2 tsp black pepper

Prepare marinade by pulsing in blender or food processor one-half cup basil leaves, one fourth cup olive oil, garlic clove and one-half teaspoon salt. Place chicken in zippered plastic bag; add marinade, seal bag and turn to coat evenly. Refrigerate chicken and let marinate for at least one hour and up to overnight.

When ready to grill, drain chicken, leaving the basil that clings to the breasts. Let sit uncovered at room temperature for about 20 minutes. Prepare gas or charcoal grill or preheat broiler. Grill chicken uncovered (or broil) for 10 to 12 minutes total, turning and rotating chicken to produce crisscross grill marks. Chicken is cooked when internal temperature measures 160 F.

While chicken is cooking, prepare pasta according to package directions. Drain and place in large serving bowl. Add mozzarella cheese pieces; toss well to melt cheese with pasta.

Cut hot chicken meat into 1/2-inch pieces. Immediately scatter warm chicken and juices over pasta and cheese; toss well. Add tomato, red bell pepper, balsamic vinegar, extra virgin olive oil, remaining one-half teaspoon salt and black pepper.

The bidding:

1♥ South Pass 3♥ North Pass
4♥ South Pass 6♥ North Pass

Opening lead — ten of diamonds.

It seemed impossible to avoid the loss of a trump and a club.

But South considered the matter carefully and saw that there was a legitimate chance to make the slam if either defender held length in both black suits. Accordingly, he won the diamond, ruffed a diamond and led the king of trumps. West took the ace and returned a third diamond, ruffed by South. Declarer then played two more rounds of trumps, West discarding a club to produce this position:

Every declarer occasionally finds himself in an apparently hopeless contract. Despite the grim outlook, however, a fine declarer should do everything possible to get home safely.

Consider this deal where South wound up in six hearts due largely to his partner's optimism. West led a diamond, and declarer could see at once that prospects were mighty dim.

South now led dummy's last trump and discarded a club on it, whereupon West found himself in deep trouble. He could not spare a spade, which would hand declarer four spade tricks, nor could he spare a club, which would likewise give South the rest of the tricks, and the improbable slam was home.

Dining at the Bus Stop

Small business growing into something much larger

By ANDREA MEDLIN

Special to the Herald

There's something cooking at the Bus Stop.

For the weary traveler or for a quick meal on the go, the Bus Stop has been a reliable convenience. The non-descript little cafe is nestled on a small lot just behind the Greyhound bus station near downtown Big Spring. It has been serving Mexican and American food to locals as well as travelers for many years. But the little cafe has a new owner with big plans.

Bobbi Miller and her husband, Ron, purchased the small business in May.

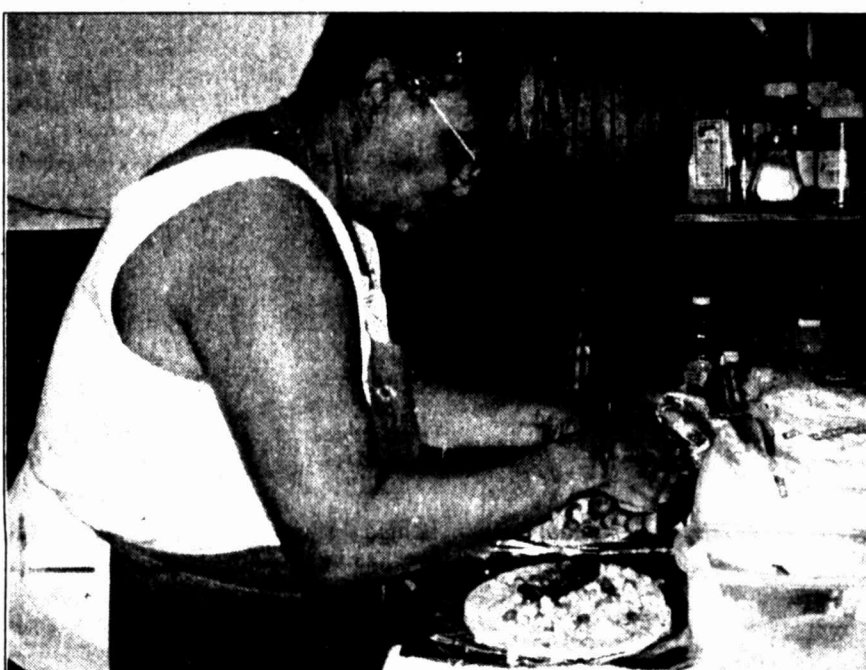

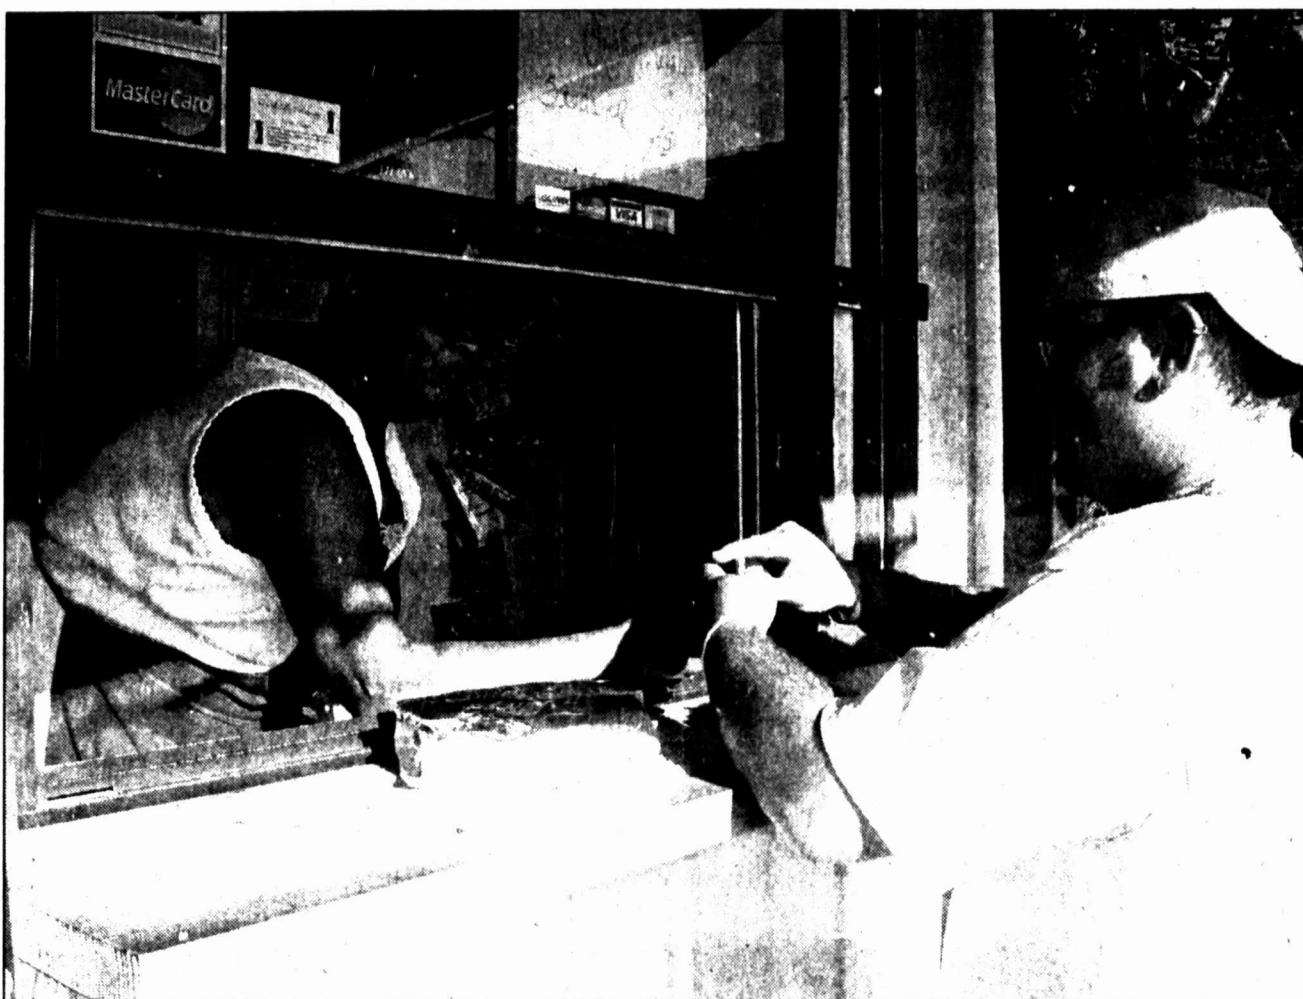

"We were voted as one of the 'Best' in Big Spring for our burritos," said Bobbi.

She hopes to continue the tradition while offering something different to the community. With the assistance of licensed chef Theresa Andrews, the two now offer a catering service. Tee's and Bee's Catering — a taste of elegance, features "Down home to uptown menus for every taste."

Tee's and Bee's offer event planning as well and can prepare a menu for corporate, business and home events.

"We can do anything from an intimate candlelight dinner to large parties of up to 700 people," explained Theresa.

Originally from Gulf Port, Miss., Theresa is classically trained in Italian cuisine and worked in several restaurants in New Orleans. The chef moved to Big Spring from New Orleans following the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina and wishes to offer her experience and expertise in the culinary arts to the community.

Kyle Nichols, right, pays for his sausage, egg and cheese burrito at the Bus Stop. The cafe, located at 305 E. Third, is now owned by Bobbi Miller and offers burritos, hamburgers and hot dogs. Miller has begun a catering service with the assistance of licensed chef Theresa Andrews. Tee's and Bee's Catering offers event planning and menus that include Cajun cuisine and seafood. For more information call 432-264-0579 or 432-935-1263. At left, Miller prepares a breakfast burrito.

Halliburton considering KBR tax-free spinoff

DALLAS (AP) — Oilfield services conglomerate Halliburton Co. said Friday it will pursue a tax-free spinoff of its engineering and construction unit KBR, the largest U.S. contractor in Iraq, rather than the previously announced initial public offering.

The Houston company plans to complete the separation within the next six to nine months, saying the environment isn't as favorable as it was when the IPO plans were announced in January.

"We remain committed to a full and complete separation of KBR from Halliburton," President and CEO Dave Lesar said in a conference call reviewing the company's second-quarter results, which disappointed Wall Street and sent the company's shares lower Friday. "However, as I'm sure you know, the IPO market right now is showing some pressure, resulting in many offerings being postponed or withdrawn."

Kurt Hallead, analyst with RBC Capital Markets, said learning the time frame helps investors as they look ahead, especially as the IPO had been expected to be complete by the third quarter.

"At least this gives us some certainty and clarity, something that didn't exist before," Hallead said.

The company said an IPO still might be the first option but that Halliburton doesn't want to delay the KBR separation longer than necessary.

"If we see market conditions as favorable, we would proceed with a spinoff, but perhaps do an IPO first," Lesar said. "But the IPO is not a necessary first step any longer."

Either way, analysts favor a separation.

"The market will value them more appropriately as two separate entities," said Jeff Tillery, analyst with Pickering Energy Services. "It's not like they need an IPO because they are flush with cash."

Texas gasoline prices up slightly

HOUSTON (AP) — Gasoline prices rose slightly across the state to reach $2.86 per gallon, marking the third straight week of increases, AAA Texas reported Friday.

Escalating tensions in the Middle East have renewed fears that supplies from the region may be disrupted, said Rose Rougeau, a spokeswoman for AAA Texas.

Corpus Christi held steady with the lowest average price, for regular self-serve, at $2.70 per gallon, according to the group's weekly gasoline price service.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

BY HOLIDAY MATHIS

The sun has come home to his throne in Leo. When the sun is in his native sign, Leos need attention and indeed may act as royalty or royal pains in the neck until they get it! Leo shows up in some capacity in every single person's chart. Let the Leo part of you be a little demanding — maybe it's about time you indulged your inner lion cub.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You usually play the wide-eyed kid, filled with wonder and awe when the magician pulls a rabbit out of a hat, but today, you'll want to know what the trick is. You'll figure it out, too.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). The new people coming into your life represent where you are emotionally now. If you think you don't belong, think again. Your vibration is being matched by your social circle.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Miscommunication drives you nuts — mostly because you're normally so adept at getting your message across. Share your needs with others. Until you do this, you may not even realize what your needs are.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Acceptance is important to you. You'll do what is sanctioned by a certain group and get the validation you need. Once you have this, you can move on to doing what really makes your heart fly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Spend time writing down what you want — no matter how outrageous or impossible it might seem. Long-distance relationships bring out your passionate side. Whoever and whatever is bad for you will also be featured.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You're breaking your own personal records today for things that wouldn't normally be recorded. For instance, most smiles given to perfect strangers and widest margin for error afforded to a loved one.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). You have complete control over the level of solitude and togetherness you want to experience. Sharing is good, but not all the time. You're a genius when it comes to graciously declining company.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Stick to your oddball ways. You're the round peg in a square hole now. For this reason, you'll be lectured to, marketed to, cajoled, tolerated and, ultimately, celebrated.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). You're dealing with some stiff competition now, but you'll make your way by doing what you always do — taking the road less traveled. The element of unpredictability is what makes tonight so exciting.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). The stars highlight the scientific part of your nature. You experiment and question, select, combine, disassemble, reassemble, taste, touch, smell and, ultimately, decide on (or at least come up with) a theory.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Your tendency toward idealism will be shaken up by a practical earth sign in your midst (Taurus, Capricorn, Virgo), who will want all progress to be absolutely tangible. Together, you'll make a perfectly balanced team.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Use technology to the fullest extent, even if it means you must educate yourself. Fear of the future is as common as the cold these days. Relax. You can learn something new without old stuff getting pushed out of your brain.

FORECAST FOR THE WEEK AHEAD: The Nile River is the birthwater of ancient Egyptian civilization and also of the legend of Leo. The drought of the summer would bring an annual event to Egyptian villagers living by the river — powerful, dangerous lions coming to drink from the Nile and feast on whatever living morsels they could find, no doubt! This must have been a feared and awesome occurrence for the Egyptians, and still to this day, the symbol of the lion adorns many a fountain and gate, demanding respect from all who observe. If you have Leos in your life, this is their time of year and they will likely let you know. Now is when Leos become more aware of who they are, who they think they are and who they want to be. Actually, we all have some degree of Leo in us. That's why stories like "The Chronicles of Narnia" and "The Lion King" are so effective. The theme being that we are royalty, but somehow forgot or didn't know it, and must journey and trial until we once again assume our royal title, finally understanding it for the first time. Embrace your inner "title" this week, and see if your world doesn't bow in respect.

Annie's Mailbox :
Advice for those in need

Dear Annie: I have been seething for two weeks over an incident that happened to me in a sportswear shop where I work part time.

I'm a 19-year-old female college student in a small northeastern town. I was preparing to close the shop one evening when a man entered and announced a robbery. He had an obviously fake gun, but we have a rule to cooperate in a holdup, so I gave him the $130 we had on hand. He then took out a flimsy shoelace and said he would tie my hands. It seemed ridiculous, but I let him tie my wrists behind my back just so he would leave. I figured it would take me 30 seconds to break loose.

Instead of leaving, however, the robber took a huge roll of duct tape from his pocket and, before I could react, I was gagged and bound from my shoulders to my ankles like a mummy. He left me lying on the floor of the backroom totally trussed up. The owner of the shop found me in the morning, taped up and exhausted from squirming.

The ordeal made me more furious than frightened, because I had stupidly allowed myself to be tied up without any resistance. Now I have an added problem. My mother is insisting I quit my job.

I love working in that shop, and I'm not the least bit afraid, only angry at myself for being such a dunce. How can I get my mother to understand that this was a freak thing? — Tied Up Overnight

Dear Tied Up: You did the right thing to cooperate. You had no way of knowing if this man had a gun, a knife or an accomplice. We called the Chicago Police Department and were told it does not advocate citizens putting themselves in a position where their safety will be compromised. You were very lucky.

It's actually healthy that you are angry rather than afraid, but it is pointless to be reckless. If you want to continue working in that shop, ask the owner if you can have an earlier shift and promise Mom that you will phone before you leave so she is reassured about your safety. Also, call your local police department and ask if they have a support group for victims of crime, or contact the National Center for Victims of Crime (nvc.org) at 1-800-FYI-CALL (1-800-394-2255).

Dear Annie: A few months ago, my family had a surprise birthday party for me. In a card from an aunt and uncle, there was a note explaining that a gift certificate was in the mail to a store in my area.

I have not received that certificate and am wondering what the proper next step should be. Should I call them and let them know it has not arrived? Do I write a thank-you note anyway? What is the proper etiquette in a situation like this? — Party Girl

Dear Party Girl: Write the note anyway, thanking your aunt and uncle for their generosity and saying you look forward to receiving the gift card. If they haven't actually sent it, this will remind them. If they have, your note will prompt them to call the store to check on the delay. Beyond that, there is nothing you can do. Happy belated birthday.

Dear Annie: I really didn't like the headline above your column on an abusive husband, using the term "Hubby." While we all know "hubby" is short for husband, it is commonly used as a term of endearment. It belittles the abuse by making it sound cute. Please don't use that in your headlines again. — Sue Down South

Dear Sue: Thank you for giving us an opportunity to explain something to our readers, who occasionally complain to us about the titles above our column. We do not write the headlines and titles. They are provided by your local newspaper. Most of the time, they do an outstanding job, but sometimes one will rub readers the wrong way. Folks, if this happens to you, please let your local newspaper know. They want to keep you happy.

Blum's

One beautiful place

Jewelers

Forty five years of being "THE Jewelry Store" in Big Spring has given Blum's Jewelers an unique perspective on the economy of West Texas.

Joe Blum, had been a jeweler in West Texas since 1942 when he opened a jewelry store (Lynn's) here in the early fifties with a partner.

A few years later the partnership was dissolved. Following a brief sojourn out of state, Joe and Pauline returned and opened Blum's Jewelers in May, 1961 at 221 Main. The economy of Big Spring was vibrant at that time and the Blums prospered in their new store.

In 1973, daughter and son-in-law, Lynette & Ralph Brooks, returned to Big Spring upon Ralph's retirement as a Colonel in the USAF. Blum's moved across the street to the corner of 3rd & Main. In 1982, the double whammy of the base closing and the drop in oil prices hit Big Spring heavily. To adjust to the new economy, Blum's downsized, streamlined and continued to do fairly good business for the next several years.

Blum's is also involved in the community.

Greg, (current store manager and third generation jeweler) is currently on the board of the Westside Day Care Center and City of Big Spring Parks & Recreation Committee, as well as a Rotarian. He was involved with the Downtown Merchants Association, The Heart of the city Festival and the Chamber of Commerce Board.

Betty Gamboa has been with Blum's for 35 years, and is a life long resident. Blum's Jewelers, after 45 years is now evolving and plans to remain "THE Jewelry Store" of Big Spring.

Water Water, Inc.

A Family Owned Business

Richard Wright knows the value of a cold, fresh glass of water; after all, it's been his livelihood for the past 27 years.

An established Big Spring business since 1945, Wright purchased Culligan Water Conditioning, now known as Water Water, Inc., in 1978.

"I didn't have any employees when I purchased the business," Wright said. "With hard work and dedication to service and our customers, the company has grown to its current staff of 18."

From its humble beginnings, Wright's company, which is co-owned by Clarinda Wright, has grown to include Wright Sprinkler Systems and a second store, The Water Shop, located at 3805 College Ave. in Snyder.

The company offers rentals, sales & service for household and commercial water conditioning equipment, bottled water delivery, salt delivery and drive-thru service for customers who prefer to purchase reverse osmosis water by the gallon.

"We provide a solution to the water quality problem that we have in this area,"

Wright said. "We service most brands of reverse osmosis drinking water systems and water softeners. We offer Rainbird and Hunter sprinkler systems replacement parts."

Water Water, Inc. prides itself on maintaining a top quality trained staff.

"On our staff are service technicians licensed in residential water treatment," Wright said. "We have three licensed irrigators and one certified backflow prevention assembly tester. Our employees attend classes as needed to maintain their certification."

Wright expects business to continue to grow, as the company plans to expand product lines to better serve our customers. Wright Sprinkler Systems offers a three-year warranty on sprinkler system installations.

Water Water, Inc. is open from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday. The store is located at 1509 E. FM 700. For more information about the company's services, call 263-8731 or if calling out of town, 1-800-269-8781.

Nobody cared more about good health than Mrs. Eva Nall. Health was so important that she opened a Health Food Center in 1965 known as The Big Spring Health Food Store. At the time there was no such store, so it was an important tradition to serve Big Spring. Big Spring Health Food Store has been in business now for 41 years, and remains the only Health food Center in Big Spring. Mindy Sedberry now holds the tradition of excellence. Just like Mrs. Nall she believes in the importance of people's health.

Big Spring Health Food Center carries Natural Supplements, Natural Foods, Body Care, and a lot more.

The Paint And Safety Store Is The P.A.S.S.

Established in 1982 The Paint & Safety Store most commonly called "THE PASS" began as an automotive paint distributor and in the late 1980's diversified into other markets. The P.A.S.S. sells safety, industrial, and janitorial products. Many people in Big Spring don't know The P.A.S.S. or what they do. One example is the contract they have at the college for all the janitorial products including the commercial cleaning equipment. The P.A.S.S. distributes products to many of the area schools, manufacturers and businesses. (The area mentioned includes most of West Texas) Mark Sheedy, an outside sales person for The P.A.S.S., can vouch for the area considering he travels weekly to Iraan, Sonora, Ozona, Big Lake & San Angelo. Brenda Austin in Big Spring and Cory Long in Midland are two other sales staff covering from Snyder to Odessa. But the company is not limited to West Texas. They ship products from Louisiana to Wyoming. Carrie Arnold is the inside sales person responsible for these accounts. The P.A.S.S. contributes their success to its staff.

Captain Jack... He's b-a-a-a-ck!

Of course, this should come as little surprise to anyone with a pulse, as the media and marketing avalanche pushing "Pirates of the Caribbean: Dead Man's Chest" began several months ago. However, it's still well worth heralding high and loud as one of the premier actors — and big screen characters — is back in the sequel everyone is talking about.

Of course the most pressing question, as with any high-budget sequel, is does it live up to the first film? In my opinion... absolutely! Is it better than "Pirates of the Caribbean: Curse of the Black Pearl?" No way.

I have to admit, I came away with mixed feelings about this film. But we'll get into that a little later.

In this chapter of our heroes' lives, Captain Jack Sparrow (Johnny Depp, "Secret Window," "Finding Neverland") — you'd better not forget the captain part — is on the run from the legendary Davy Jones (Bill Nighy, "Underworld: Evolutions," "Shaun of the Dead") and his army of equally bizarre slime balls.

It seems that Sparrow owes a debt to Mr. Jones. Unless the ever-crafty Jack figures a cunning way out of this Faustian pact, he will be cursed to an afterlife of eternal servitude and damnation in the service of Jones. However, if he gets his hands on something called the Dead Man's Chest, he can escape yet another dilemma — and yet another curse

Of course, this is Jack Sparrow and as is often the case with Jack Sparrow, things do not go as the Opera," "Johnny English"), while bringing in some new blood with Tia Dalma (Naomie Harris, "28 Days Later," "After the Sunset") and Cutler Becket (Tom Hollander, "Parasite," "Pride and Prejudice").

One of the best new characters in the film

"Curse of the Black Pearl" and it helped me make some sense out of a few things that happened in the sequel — and made me like both movies even more.

than the first. You begin to see the characters as real people, not just good guys and bad guys, who live in a world of gray between the black and white of society.

Bill Nighy does an acceptable job portraying Davy Jones, and if he falls short of expectations it's certainly through no fault of his own. Verbinski spent so much time — and special effects — dehumanizing Jones, it's really hard to buy the moments when he shows some slightly humanistic emotions. You also get the feeling Verbinski was trying to duplicate the chemistry and overall cohesion of Captain Barbosa and his crew took a page out of the George Lucas school of film making, making the second film much darker smoothly as planned. And as usual, there are a handful of other side stories.

Will Turner (Orlando Bloom, "Kingdom of Heaven," "Troy") and Elizabeth Swann (Keira Knightley, "Domino," "King Arthur") are to be imprisoned if they cannot turn Jack over to the British army. Bootstrap Bill Turner (Stellan Skarsgard, "Dominion: Prequel to the Exorcist," "Deep Blue Sea") makes his long-awaited appearance.

The film also re-introduces us to a slew of characters from the first film, including Norrington (Jack Davenport, "Deadwood," "The Talented Mr. Ripley") and Gibbs (Kevin McNally, "The Phantom of franchise doesn't have much of a resume, probably because he only exists in the digital world. The Kraken, an undersea behemoth that munches down ships like I can kill off pepperoni pizzas, brings a foreboding — almost horror-ish — air to the film.

My initial feelings after seeing "Pirates of the Caribbean: Dead Man's Chest" were rather mixed.

I thought the movie was slightly hard to follow at times, with plot-lines often spiraling off into the deep blue. The first half of the movie was great, the second half was even better and the ending was nothing short of fantastic.

However, after watching "Pirates of the Caribbean: Dead Man's Chest," I went home and re-watched in "Curse of the Black Pearl," but sadly, Jones and his crew fall well short. I'm not sure if that's because Verbinsky pulled up short or Geoffrey Rush (Barbosa, "Munich," "Shakespeare in Love") is really just that damn good as a pirate captain.

I'm voting for the later. And, as everyone was expecting, Depp turns in yet another stunning performance as Jack Sparrow. And while I was disappointed he seemed to have let go of his patented catch-phrase "savy," his newly acquired "oh bugger" was just as amusing.

Despite Jack's black-hearted ways — let's just say loyalty was never one of his strong points — the star-crossed captain gets his shot at heroism near the end of the film in a gut wrenching, face-to-face encounter with the Kraken.

I don't want to give away the films ending. It's just too good not to see for yourself. However, I will let you in on one little turn in the story that I not only didn't see coming, but stunned me beyond words. Captain Barbosa — yeah, I thought we was dead too — puts in a surprise appearance at the end of the movie, and it appears he will play a major role in the upcoming third film, "Pirates of the Caribbean: At Worlds End" (I believe that's the official title).

And, much like "Star Wars: The Empire Strikes Back," this film leaves you with plenty — and I do mean plenty — of unanswered questions for the third film.

Despite my bevy of mixed feelings as me and my daughter left the theater, "Pirates of the Caribbean: Dead Man's Chest" is without a doubt one of the best films of the summer.

And, while I'm usually a big proponent for waiting until films are released on DVD to see them, this one should be seen on the big screen to truly be appreciated. Its worth the sticky floors, overpriced concessions and screaming babies.
