Jury finds Mandel guilty

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel was convicted by a U.S. District Court jury today of 17 counts of mail fraud and one of racketeering, stemming from an influence trading scheme involving horse racing.

Five codefendants were also found guilty on the same 17 counts.

The jury delivered the verdict after being deadlocked during 13 days of deliberations.

The trial was the second for the governor and his five codefendants. The earlier trial was declared a mistrial after the jury found out about a jury tampering effort. Mandel was never linked to the charge.

The seven-man, five-women jury had not responded to an effort by U.S. District Court Judge Robert L. Taylor to end the deadlock.

Taylor had offered on Monday to repeat the instructions he had given the jury.

Under Maryland law, Mandel must give up his office.

On trial with the 57-year-old Mandel were his best friend, Irvin Kovens; W. Dale Hess, former majority leader of the House of Delegates; attorney Ernest N. Cory Jr., and Hess' business partners, brothers William A. and Harry W. Rodgers III.

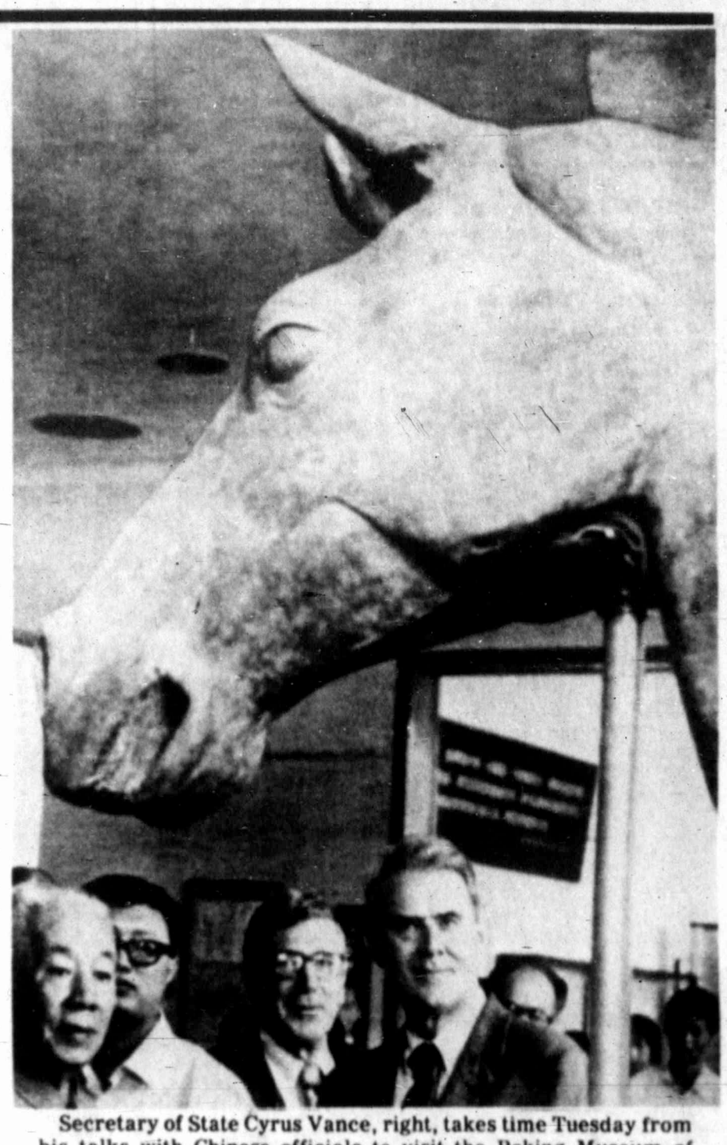

Each man was accused of 20 mail fraud counts. They were acquitted of three of those counts.

There was no visible reaction from any of the defendants as the verdicts were announced.

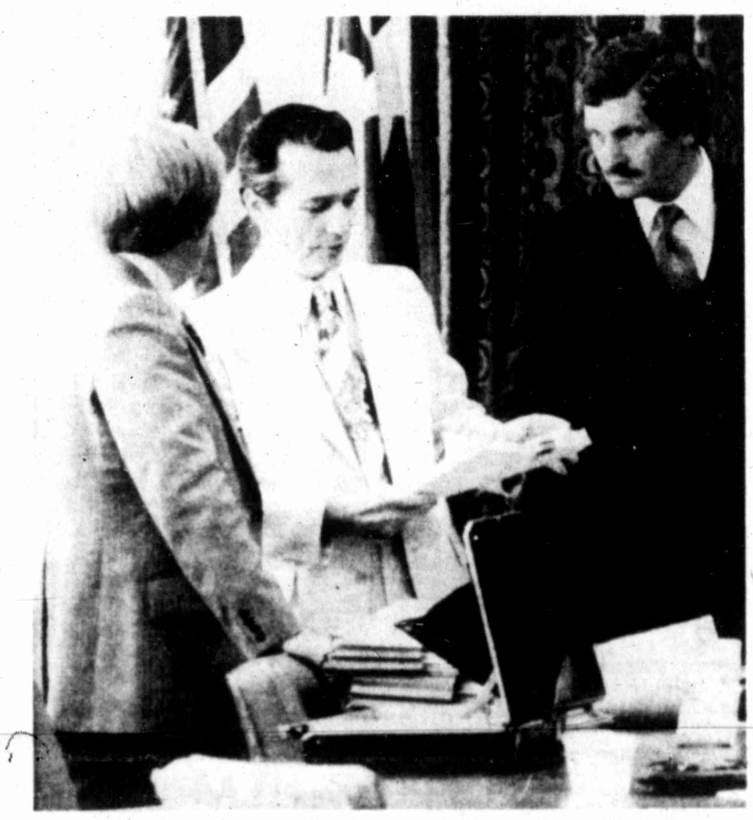

Each charge carries a top penalty of five years in jail and a $1,000 fine. Mandel, Cory and Kovens each were convicted of one racketeering count, the others two apeice. The maximum sentence for racketerring is 20 years and $25,000.

Mandel was charged with accepting between $300,000 and $400,000 in business interests, cash, bonds, Florida vacations, clothing and jewelry from the others.

Prosecutors contend the items were in exchange for his efforts to get the 1972 General Assembly to legislate benefits for Marlboro Race Track, then secretly owned by at least four of his codefendants. Kovens disputes a claim he owned 60 per cent of Marlboro.

3 commissioners approve budget

By LINDA SCHAFFRINA

The three Midland County commissioners present at their Monday meeting unanimously approved a $4,895,943 budget for the county for 1978.

County Judge Barbara Culver is out of town and Commissioner Jack Leonard is in the hospital.

The tax rate previously had been set at 95 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, the same rate as for 1977.

The budget approval came after a public hearing in which only one citizen suggested a change in the budget.

Attorney Robert Evans urged the commissioners to increase salaries of county employes by more than the approximately 6 per cent he said the budget allows.

The 1978 budget is $650,886 over the 1977 budget.

Among the major increases are $117,626 for judicial costs, including creation of a new district court and additional salaries for the district clerk's and district attorney's offices to help handle the additional court load.

Other major increases will come under financial administration and nondepartmental expenses. The budget approved Monday includes $130,000 for indigent hospital care in 1978. That item will be eliminated if voters approve creation of a hospital district.

The budget will take effect Jan. 1, 1978.

Also Monday, the commissioners postponed action on a resolution to participate in the National flood Insurance Program. Commissioner Durward Wright said the commissioners want to consult with an insurance advisory board on the mechanics of the program.

Wright said the flood insurance program will allow persons living in designated flood hazard areas to purchase insurance at low rates from the federal government.

When the final maps are drawn and the program goes into effect, new builders in those areas will not be able to obtain financing or purchase insurance unless the property meets construction requirements to minimize possible flood damage, Wright said.

Midland Soil and Water Conservation District conservationist Dick Hagelstein told the commissioners some areas which in the past have been flooded are not included on the present flood hazard map of Midland County.

The commissioners requested Hagelstein to find out why those areas are not included and seek an amended map if they should be included.

In other action, the commissioners extended the county's emergency ambulance service contract with the city through Sept. 30, at the city's request.

Action was postponed on a proposal to redefine justice of the peace Precinct 2 to include voting boxes 2 and 16 because the agenda for Monday's meeting contained a misprint.

Also postponed was a request from Alexandra Morris, acting director of the Midland Community Action Agency, for the county to provide space in the courthouse annex for the agency's administrative offices.

Mrs. Morris said the agency must vacate its present quarters in the former Bunche Elementary School by the end of this week because the school district needs that room. She said the need to move the offices was "one of those facts I stumbled on in the files" upon taking over the directorship.

Commissioner Win Brown said he is reluctant to allow the agency the space because other requests from noncounty organizations have been turned down in the past.

Wright, who presided at the meeting, said he did not think it would be proper for him to second the motion of Commissioner Charlie Welch to provide the space because the presiding officer traditionally does

District 5-4A to probe Rebels' grid practices

By BOB DILLON
and PAUL DOMOWITCH

An executive committee meeting of District 5-4A of the University Interscholastic League has been called for Wednesday to discuss a possible rules violation by Midland's Robert E. Lee High School football team, The Reporter-Telegram learned today.

The meeting is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. in the room at Big Spring High School.

The incident to be investigated was brought to light last week when head coach Jim Acree and his Lee football team were featured on a local television broadcast using blocking dummies while running through conditioning drills, a source close to the Midland High School athletic program said.

The meeting Wednesday will be chaired by Dr. James Nivens, superintendent of the San Angelo Independent School District. Also participating will be the five superintendents and althletic directors from Midland, Odessa, Abilene, San Angelo and Big Spring.

Focus of the investigation is the possible premature use of contact equipment by the Lee Rebels during practice sessions held prior to the UIL-authorized use of such equipment.

After the television film was aired, the possible infraction was reported to Bailey Marshall director of the UIL, by Sam Cox, Midland athletic director.

Marshall reportedly commended Cox for his actions.

It also was learned that trustees of the Midland Independent School District would be asked to discuss a personnel matter at their meeting today.

Dr. James H. Mailey, superintendent, said the board was scheduled to meet in executive session to discuss land acquistion, and that a personnel

Overnight low portent of record?

A record high minimum temperature reading this morning began a day that very likely has a chance to break an all-time record.

The overnight low of 79 degrees compared to a record maximimum low of 73 degrees set in 1963. The forecast for today's high was 102 degrees while the record for the date is 101 set in 1963, according to the National Weather Service at the Midland Regional Air Terminal.

The high temperature Monday was 100 degrees.

It was warm and clear this morning in Odessa, Rankin, Big Lake, Andrews, lamesa, Big Spring and Stanton.

Taiwan issue skirted in talks

By BARRY SCHWEID

PEKING (AP) — Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance completed an extensive outline of U.S. foreign policy for his Chinese hosts today, but a spokesman said the key issue of normalizing relations between the U.S. and Chinese governments was "only touched on."

Vance held his second meeting with Foreign Minister Huang Hua, who came to the government guest house where the secretary of state is staying for a 2½-hour session. U.S. spokesman Hodding Carter said the talk today and the first 2½-hour meeting Monday were "very useful, very serious and very businesslike."

"All we have had basically so far is an exposition of our own," Carter reported.

He said Vance presented "a great deal of material" but no written proposals. Huang asked no questions on Monday and only a few today, Carter said.

Huang emphasized the chief barrier to normalization of relations between Peking and Washington in a speech at a banquet for the secretary Monday night. He said Chairman Hua Kuo-feng's speech to the 11th Communist Party Congress last week expressed the will of the Chinese people and the Communist government's "consistent stand."

Hua in his speech repeated previous official statements that normal relations between the United States and China cannot be opened until the United States breaks diplomatic relations with the Nationalist regime on Taiwan, cancels its 1954 mutual defense treaty with the Nationalists and withdraws all its military forces and installations from Taiwan and the Formosa Strait.

"We are determined to liberate Taiwan," said Hua. "When and how is entirely China's internal affair, which brooks no foreign interference whatsoever."

Vance in reply affirmed the Carter administration's interest in normalization of relations with mainland China. But he gave no hint of meeting the Communist demand to cut Taiwan adrift.

U.S. officials say privately that Vance intends to avoid even the appearance of abandoning the Nationalists, who fled to the island after the Communist military victory on the mainland in 1949.

Autographed pictures remind 'mom' of past

ROUSTIN' ABOUT with Ed Todd

To take a sentimental journey, all she has to do is peruse through all those autographed photographs she has from those "troubadours" — recording artists.

Within that framework, most of her sentiment goes back to the 1950s.

There's a photo of country 'n' western singer Sonny James. He penned these endearing words to Beulah Holifield, whom many called "mom," "ma," or "mama."

"To my best girl, Mrs. Holifield, the sweetest," wrote James, who broke into the big time in the '50s with such songs as "Young Love."

Mrs. Holifield, who was in the retail record business in Midland, spoke fondly and admiringly of the entertainers, such as Elvis Presley and a host of others. In a very real sense, they were her living, and she certainly helped them out.

They did well for themselves. They gave life to the old "rags-to-riches" cliche.

"To rise above their environment . . . and make all that money" is an accomplishment worth lauding, she said.

Many of the recording artists before and after they became "stars" and household names dropped into her record shop in Midland or into her husband's (Cecil's) shop at Odessa.

Take this down-home guitar-plunking singer:

"Now this Johnny Cash is the sweetest thing that ever was." She said Cash would come to see her before he "made it big" and before he had lots of money to spend.

She'd feed him.

"Mom," Cash would tell her, "I've

Indigent care solution cited

By GEORGE H. JOHNSTON

A hospital district for Midland Memorial Hospital will relieve the burden of indigent care on the sick, according to Martin Allday, hospital trustee.

"It's the sick people (patients in the hospital) who are paying for indigents, rather than everyone paying their share," Allday said.

"I think the government ought to do for you only what you can't do for yourself," he added.

Allday said that because costs have risen so much for health care, it is no longer fair to ask the private sector to support a public problem through contributions.

Last year, Allday said, indigent care and bad debts totaled $700,000. Of that, Midland County paid $100,000 and the rest was covered by paying patients at the hospital.

The trustees began considering the possibility of a hospital district after they determined it would cost $10 million to update the present facility.

The trustees hired a private fund-raising firm to determine if it would be possible to raise $10 million from Midland's private sector, Allday said.

The firm, according to Allday, met with about 400 persons in 28 meetings from Oct. 4 to Oct. 9, 1976, to determine the feasibility of raising the needed funds.

The firm met with the public, hospital medical staff and hospital employes, Allday said. The prevailing opinion was that a hospital district was needed.

It was also determined the community could not provide the $10 million in donations.

"If we raised $10 million tomorrow, United Way, Midland Community Theatre, churches and all other similar charitable organizations would suffer," Allday said.

As a result, Allday said, the trustees decided to form a hospital district and to issue bonds for an addition to and renovation of the hospital.

An election has been called for Midland County voters to vote on the district and bond issue Sept. 17.

Through the help of a Dallas law firm that specializes in tax district legislation, the trustees wrote a bill to create the Midland Hospital district, Allday said.

State Sen. Pete Snelson and state Rep. Tom Craddick introduced the bill, Allday said. Gov. Dolph Briscoe signed the bill May 4, he added.

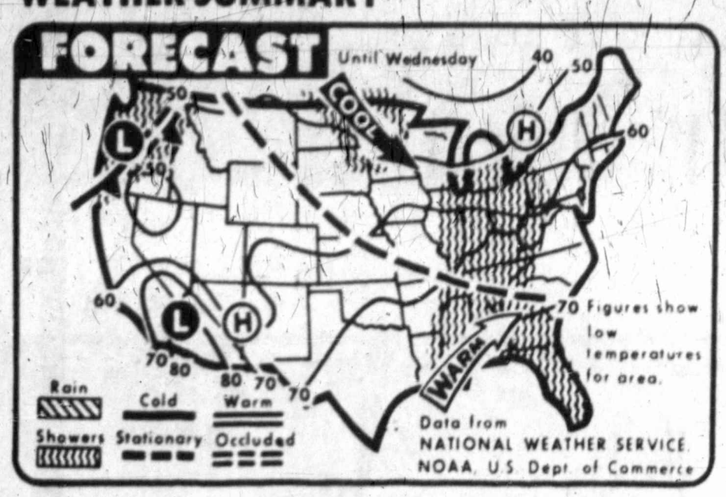

The temporary directors named in the bill are Frank Cowden Jr., William P. Franklin, Robert Pendleton, L. Decker Dawson and Edwin H. Magruder Jr.

Cowden, Franklin and Pendleton were selected by the hospital board of trustees because the three men were former trustees and had served on the trustees' finance committee, according to Allday.

dleton then selected Dawson and Magruder to be named in the bill, Allday said.

"They (Cowden, Franklin and Pendleton) were reluctant to serve at first because they were so busy, but they felt the hospital district was so important they did decide to serve," Allday said.

Cowden and Franklin will serve one-year terms, and Pendleton, Dawson and Magruder will serve two-year terms. Elections will be the first part of April each year, Allday said.

If the hospital district passes Sept. 17, Allday said, the hospital district board of directors will contract with Midland Memorial Foundation to operate the hospital.

Allday said most hospital districts contract with private hospital management firms to run hospitals.

However, he added, it was decided that since the trustees had experience, they would run the hospital for no charge.

The hospital trustees are currently appointed by Midland Memorial Foundation's board of governors to run the hospital, and the governors will continue to appoint trustees after the hospital district is formed.

A group of 16 citizens has been formed to provide community input to the directors and trustees, Allday added.

If the district is approved, Allday said, the directors will contract with the City of Midland to act as tax collector and assessor.

Using tax rolls from Midland Independent School District, which also contracts with the city, and the Greenwood Independent School District, all property in the county will be taxed.

Allday said the taxes would be assessed on 75 per cent of appraised property value, which is also the figure the city and Midland school district use.

A tax of nine cents per $100 of assessed value would be used to retire the bonds, if passed, and seven cents per $100 would be used for indigent care and bad debts, Allday said.

According to Allday, the seven cent figure for indigent care was arrived at by using the hospital's 1976 figure of $700,000 for indigent care and bad debt.

The tax of nine cents for bond retirement and seven cents for indigent care would total 16 cents per $100 of assessed value.

For a resident with a house appraised at $30,000, the assessment would be 75 per cent, or $22,500 and the yearly tax would be about $36, Allday said.

The prospective tax of 16 cents per $100 assessed value is considerably lower than that of other hospital districts of this size in the state, Allday said.

Other districts' taxes are higher, he added, because most hospital districts are paying for new hospitals, and are contracting with private firms to run the hospitals.

Fortune goes to family

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Elvis Presley, who gave diamonds to girlfriends and Cadillacs to strangers, left his fortune to his family and excluded his former wife and his fiancee in his will.

The will, filed for probate Monday, likely will be "the biggest ever filed in the state of Tennessee," said Probate Court Judge Joseph Evans.

Presley, 42, was found unconscious at his Graceland mansion last Tuesday and pronounced dead of a heart attack at Baptist Hospital.

An inventory of Presley's wealth, expected to be several million dollars, is being prepared and court officials said it may be longer than the usual two months before it can be filed.

"The size and complexity of it may cause them to run into difficulty in filing it in 60 days," Probate Court Clerk Bobby Dunavant said.

The rock 'n' roll superstar's 62-year-old father, Vernon Presley, once a Mississippi sharecropper, was named executor of the will.

The 13-page document was drawn up at Presley's Graceland mansion and dated March 3, 1977. It was witnessed by Charles Hodge, Presley's guitarist; Ginger Alden, his fiance; and Ann Dewey Smith, wife of Vernon Presley's attorney, Beecher Smith II.

The will was recorded and filed during a 20-minute session before Judge Evans. The elder Presley, Mr. and Mrs. Smith and Hodge were present at the filing.

In his will, the singer directed that the net income of his estate go to his father; his 9-year-old daughter, Lisa Marie; his grandmother, Minnie Mae Presley; and "such other relatives of mine living at the time of my death who ... are in need of assistance for health, education, support, comfortable maintenance and welfare."

The will directs that Vernon Presley receive his son's personal property, "including trophies and other items accumulated by me during my professional career."

Registration at MC slated

Official registration for the fall semester at Midland College begins Wednesday and continues through Thursday.

Registration hours are between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. and 4 to 8 p.m. both days in the Physical Education Building.

Those wishing to enroll for credit courses this fall who have not preregistered should visit the Physical Education Building as early as possible Wednesday. They will be issued at time permit to register on Thursday, according to registrar Dee Windson. All time permits for Wednesday have been issued.

With preregistration closing today, more than 1,630 students had obtained time permits by Monday afternoon.

There will be no later registration on Friday, since the registrar's office will be preparing class rolls for instructors.

Late registration will open on Monday. A late registration fee of $5 is charged students who do not register Wednesday or Thursday.

Late registration is handled in the Office of Student Services, Administration Building, between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, or in the evening office, room 130 of the Science-Faculty Building between 5:30 and 8:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

DOROTHY FRANCES COOK assumed duties Monday as an instructor in Odessa College's nursing program. Mrs. Cook has worked at Parkview Hospital in Midland as a staff nurse and as an acting supervisor. She also has worked at Women's and Children's Hospital as a relief supervisor. She has been a registered nurse seven years.

got a hungry on. Let's eat."

Years later, she was backstage with Cash and his wife, June Carter. It was the first meeting of the two women.

"I want to see the woman who helped my man in West Texas," Mrs. Holifield said June Carter told her.

"To Mama: Thanks a million. Love, Roy Orbison."

That left-handed guitarist and Western singer Slim Whitman ("Canadian Sunset") wrote: "Mom Holifield: Hope there's always a place for me with you folks. Maybe we won't stay away so long."

She remembered the Grand Ole Opry's loud-talking Minnie Pearl. "She has a master's degree in college. She's smart. She's not dumb," Mrs. Holifield said.

The "honky-tonk man," Johnny Horton, wrote this on his photo: "To Mom Holifield: My favorite girl friend. Love ya honey."

And so it went.

Sincerity and comradeship were there — between the record-seller and the recording artists. In the process, they helped each other.

"They (the touring singers) would patronize us, (and) we'd push their records," recalled Mrs. Holifield.

U.S. Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock will address the Downtown Lions Club at its Wednesday noon meeting in the Midland Hilton. Constituents may confer with Mahon Congressman George Mahon this morning advised The Reporter-Telegram from Lubbock that he will be in his office in the Federal Building here Wednesday afternoon and all day Thursday to confer with constituents who have matters to discuss with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Mahon will arrive here late this afternoon. They will be at the Midland Hilton. He will hold a press conference at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday at Midland Regional Air Terminal and will address the Midland Downtown Lions Club Wednesday noon. This will be Mr. Mahon's first formal address since announcing several weeks ago that he will not seek re-election next year to the congressional post he has held since 1934.

matter would be added to the agenda.

"We are going to discuss a personnel matter, but I don't anticipate any action will result today," Mailey said.

"This will have to be an added item. We are in the middle of proceedings on it right now as to the result of our investigation."

Cox said he had been asked to be available at the school board's meeting today.

All Class AAAA teams were allowed to put on pads Aug. 19, but were barred by UIL rules from any kind of contact or wearing contact equipment prior to that date.

Nivens, contacted today in San Angelo, confirmed the emergency UIL meeting but declined to be specific about the details.

"It involves naming a coach, and I'd hate to put that out until the violation is checked out," he said.

"However, there was an alleged violation and it's standard procedure that we meet and check it out."

The Lee football team, 1976 district champions, was placed on probation during the 1975 season for illegal spring workouts.

A spokesman for Midland school district said that following the 5-4A executive session the UIL could invoke sanction against Lee, which could include probation or suspension. Suspension would mean Lee could not compete for the district title, but could play its games.

Probation is considered a reprimand and does not affect a teams' eligibility for postseason honors.

Cox said, of the District 5-4A meeting, "Number one they will try to determine if it was a violation, and number two, if it is, what action should be taken."

Repeated efforts to contact Acree by telephone were unsuccessful.

Belinda Allen recently graduated from the Hendricks Memorial Hospital School of Medical Technology.

She has joined the Clinical Pathologist Laboratory in Abilene.

Her graduation from the school made her eligible to take the national registry examination of the American Society of Clinical Pathology in Dallas Aug. 19. Upon successful completion of the examination, she will become a registered medical technologist.

Miss Allen took her premedical technology training at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, where she was a member of Delta Social Club and Tri Beta Biology Honor Society.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Allen of 3304 Stanolind and is a graduate of Lee High School.

Gas rates hike adopted

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — The Railroad Commission Monday adopted new rates to be charged in unincorporated areas of Andrews County by Andrews Gas Co.

The action was taken at the weekly Gas Utility Division conference by Chairman Mack Wallace and commissioners Jim Langdon and Jon Newton.

The City of Andrews approved on final reading a 7.1 per cent increase in rates for natural gas service on Aug. 15, and the gas company filed a motion with the Railroad Commission seeking to implement the same rates for its 88 customers in unincorporated areas.

Hearing examiner Jeffery Hill told the commission the new rates will hike a bill for 10,000 cubic feet of gas from $19.45 to $20.83.

Hospital bond vote set today

MONAHANS — Ward County voters will decide today the fate of a $4 million bond issue to finance construction of a new hospital to replace the one heavily damaged by a tornado April 19.

If the voters approve the bond issue, it will take about two years to build the hospital, according to architect Tommie Huckabee of Andrews.

Ward commissioners have accepted a $375,682 insurance settlement for tornado damage to the hospital.

If absentee votes are an indication, voter turnout may be light, Ward County officials said.

not participate in making or seconding motions.

Welch is chairman of the board of directors of the agency and Brown is a former board member who resigned that position.

The commissioners agreed to postpone action on the request until the next regular meeting Sept. 12 so that the entire commissioners court may vote on the issue.

A scheduled MCAA board meeting at which the office situation was to be discussed was adjourned Monday night because a quorum was not present.

Welch said this morning he does not know what the agency will do for office space until the next commissioners meeting.

Illness at plant still mystery

Preliminary findings contain no clues as to what caused 150 employes to become ill last Tuesday night at the Texas Instruments plant at Midland Regional Air Terminal.

Although the final results of laboratory testing won't be known for several days, James B. Brown, area director of the U.S. Department of Labor's Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) office in Lubbock, today said on-site analysis of samples taken from the plant Thursday night turned up nothing that would have caused the nausea and fainting reported by employes.

"The tests were taken one day later and it's pretty hard to guess exactly what might have happened Tuesday," Brown said.

Because no physical cause could be found for the symptoms that rapidly appeared in TI workers, TI Medical Director Dr. Milton Schulman attributed the cause to a phenomenon of "mass anxiety and hyperventilation."

Renewal of convictions should be Midlanders' prayer, minister says

Midlanders should pray for renewal of convictions and commitment and for compassion, First Baptist Church pastor Dr. Daniel Vestal this morning told approximately 200 persons attending a Jaycees prayer breakfast.

The breakfast was held in conjunction with the Midland Alliance.

Dr. Vestal, taking his text from Psalm 85, said he fears 20th century convictions "are very shallow and superficial."

Renewed commitment to God is necessary, he said, but compassion is also needed.

Conviction without compassion "would make us Pharisees, hard and brittle," Dr. Vestal said. He defined compassion as "benevolent, creative, active good will."

He said the primary reason people should pray is "there is a God and there is ultimate accountability."

Also at the prayer breakfast, Dr. Robert Boynton Smith, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, led a prayer.

Among those attending the breakfast were city and county officials, as well as school trustees and officials.

Dr. Daniel Vestal, pastor of First Baptist Church, speaks to approximately 200 persons who attended a Jaycees prayer breakfast this morning.

President to reimburse bank for airplane trips

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential spokesman Jody Powell, conceding that Jimmy Carter and his campaign committee owe more than $1,700 for flights on an airplane owned by a bank Bert Lance once headed, says a complete review of Carter's campaign records may take four years.

Powell said Monday that the tab for flights in 1975 and 1976 on the plane of the National Bank of Georgia was $1,793.70.

He said the Carter campaign committee would use leftover campaign funds to reimburse the bank at least $865.80. Carter could end up paying the remaining $927.90 if it is determined that the flights involved were not legitimate campaign expenses, the spokesman said.

Powell said at the daily White House news briefing that "the President has decided he will personally reimburse any portion of the flights that were not campaign expenditures."

The press secretary said the five flights in the twin-engine Beechcraft airplane carried Carter around Georgia and into Tennessee for campaign events, meetings, a dinner with Lance and a vacation.

Lance, Carter's budget director, is a longtime personal friend of the President and was head of the National Bank of Georgia at the time of the flights.

Questions about the flights arose last Thursday when Lance held a news conference after the Comptroller of the Currency released a report on the personal finances of the budget director. The report said an investigation had found no evidence to warrant criminal prosecution of Lance in connection with his personal finances.

The biggest questions involve a flight on June 13 to Sea Island, Ga., from Americus, Ga., and a return flight on June 19. Powell said Carter has asked White House Counsel Robert Lipshutz to ask the Federal Election Commission to determine who should pay for the flights.

Conservatively-dressed Priscilla points finger

By MIKE COCHRAN

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Ice-blonde Fort Worth socialite Priscilla Davis took the stand again this morning to point a finger at her estranged husband Cullen —the "man in black" she claims shot her and killed her lover and her 12year-old stepdaughter.

"Good luck," a well-wisher said as he shook hands with Mrs. Davis who came to the courtroom surrounded by deputies and guards. The shapely Mrs. Davis, 36, wore a pink suit with a white ruffled blouse which contrasted with the revealing costumes she wore often at social affairs in Fort Worth.

As she has done previously, Mrs. Davis was expected to point to her estranged husband as the gunman who triggered the shooting spree at her showplace mansion last Aug. 3. She is the state's key witness in the case.

She spent much of the morning identifying color snapshots taken inside and outside the mansion and correlating them with a pointer on a large chart mounted in front of the jury box.

She testified only briefly Monday and did not touch on the shootings.

Davis is on trial for the slaying of his stepdaughter, Andrea, 12. He is accused also of the shooting death of Stan Farr, 30, and the wounding of Priscilla and a young visitor to the mansion, Gus Gavrel.

A bitterly disappointed Davis learned Monday that a Fort Worth judge had denied his application for bond, thus ending his temporary freedom after 48 hours.

He said nothing ever hurt him more.

State Dist. Court Judge Tom Cave, the presiding jurist in an earlier ill-fated attempt to try Davis in Fort Worth, exercised his jurisdictional authority and ended the defendant's freedom under $1 million bond.

Mrs. Davis was the second to testify Monday, following Domestic Relations Judge Joe Eidson of Fort Worth as the state's leadoff witness.

Eidson provided jurors background on the stormy divorce action between Davis and his wife which Mrs. Davis initiated in 1974 after six years of marriage.

It was Eidson who issued the order giving Mrs. Davis temporary possession of the mansion and prohibiting Davis from setting foot on the 181-acre estate.

The state used that order to construct a burglary charge against Davis, elevating the case against Davis to capital murder and permitting prosecutors to seek the death penalty.

It was Eidson who also instructed Davis, only hours before the shootings, to increase Mrs. Davis' support payments to $5,000 monthly and pay thousands of dollars in other expenses.

Speaking softly and dressed demurely in a high-neck, cream-colored dress, Mrs. Davis spent only a short time on the stand Monday before being interrupted by the overnight recess.

Liddy moved

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — G. Gordon Liddy, the only Watergate burglar still in jail, has been moved to another federal prison because of his involvement in a food boycott that could effect his scheduled Sept. 7 release on parole.

Liddy, who had been at the nearby Allenwood prison farm for about a year, was first taken to the maximum security Lewisburg Penitentiary Saturday — when the six-day cafeteria protest ended — and then was driven Monday night to Danbury, Conn.

L. R. Jenson, Allenwood superintendent, said five other inmates were transferred to Danbury with Liddy. He said all were "suspected of intimidating others" during the food boycott.

Allenwood, a minimum security facility, is part of the Lewisburg complex. It has around 500 inmates, most of whom participated in the boycott.

A report on Liddy's involvement will be sent to the U.S. Parole Board which fixed his release in July.

Liddy has served nearly 52 months for burglary, conspiracy and wiretapping.

Croce suit filed

DALLAS (AP) — A federal court suit claims that the plane crash that killed singer Jim Croce was the result of carelessness on the part of the pilot.

But attorneys for the defendants, Roberts Airways of Dallas and Mustang Aviation, told the federal court Monday that the pilot, Robert N. Elliot, "suffered an unexpected heart attack" that caused the crash in September 1973 shortly after takoff from a Natchitoches, La., airfield. Elliot and four persons associated with Croce's group also died in the crash.

The $8 million damage suit was filed by Croce's widow, Ingrid, and relatives of other victims.

Howdy, George, Helen

Yes sir, Congressman George Mahon is coming to town!

And, as always, Midlanders are as pleased as can be at the opportunity of once again being hosts to this distinguished West Texas statesman, who always is welcome in the Tall City.

Mr. Mahon, dean of the Congress and chairman of the powerful House Committee on Appropriations, will address the Downtown Lions Club Wednesday noon in the Midland Hilton.

He also will be in his office in the Federal Building before and after lunch to confer with constituents.

This will mark the Lubbock congressman's first visit to Midland since he announced a few weeks ago that he will not be a candidate for re-election in next year's balloting. He will, however, serve the remainder of his term, ending Dec. 31, 1978.

His many friends and supporters here and elsewhere regret his decision to step-down at the end of his present term, but none can really blame him.

Afterall, Mr. Mahon has served in Congress for more than 40 years. In fact, he was elected as the first congressman to represent the 19th District when it was created in 1934. He is the only representative the West Texas district has had .... and he has represented it and its residents nobly and well through the years.

He also has been a member of the Appropriations Committee since 1939 and has served continuously as its chairman since 1964 — longer than any other person in the history of the Congress. He also has served as chairman of the panel's Defense sub-committee since 1939.

And before he went to Congress, Mr. Mahon served as county and district attorney over in Mitchell County for a number of years. So, after devoting a major part of his adult life to serving in public office, he most certainly is deserving of a rest from his present assignments.

George Mahon, although one of the most powerful men in Congress, is one of the kindest, most considerate, most helpful of them all. He also is one of the most knowledgeable members of Congress, particulary in the areas of energy, agriculture, defense and finance. But even more important, he is one of the most popular, most admired and most highly respected members of Congress. He is a Christian gentleman in every respect.

He holds all kinds of honorary degrees and special awards too numerous to mention, all, however, pointing to the high esteem in which he is held by individuals and groups across the width and breadth of the land.

His conservatism and his continuing plea for fiscal responsibility in federal government are among the strong points which have gained for him tremendous support and appreciation from many persons interested in good government all over America.

But bringing it right down to home base, Rep. George Mahon has done so many great and good things for his district, its cities and its people that it is next to impossible to list them all. Let's just say that he has served nobly and well his constituents in the 19th Congressional District from its very beginning, and they are grateful for his dedicated service.

And through it all, Helen Mahon has seen right at her husband's side through thick and thin, an able associate representative, if you please, from this West Texas district.

So, it is no wonder that Midlanders are delighted when George and Helen Mahon come to town. Yes, the WELCOME mat always is out for the George Mahons!

ART BUCHWALD

There's no peace in summer, regardless

Art Buchwald

MARTHA'S VINEYARD, Mass. — If President Carter really wants to get the housing business on its feet I think he should talk to me. No matter where I seem to go on vacation, they start building a house on the next lot.

I don't know where they get the information, but I suspect the contractors have a nationwide computer that tells them where I'm going to rent a house for the summer. As soon as the word is out, they buy the lot next to the house and start constructing a home, a garage — or if that fails, a new sewer.

This year was no different. I rented a house in the woods. There wasn't another human being within three miles, when I signed the lease. The next morning two bulldozers arrived and starting smashing down all the trees. Three men were studying blueprints.

"How did you find me?" I asked.

"It wasn't easy," one of the men said. "We were told you rented the Fainsod House and we started building across the street. We had the home half finished when we realized we made a mistake. So we dropped everything and came out here to build this house first."

"Why me?" I asked desperately, "I only get a month off. Do you have to build a house in August?"

"It's nothing personal," one of the other men said. "We always build houses when people are on vacation. It's the best time of year to hammer."

"But nobody can get any sleep."

"Look, Mister. Everyone dreams of having his little vacation home by a rippling brook or next to a blue lagoon or on the sie of a mountain. But somebody has to build it. When it's built another person comes along and says, 'I'd like one just like that.' So he buys the next lot and starts building his dream house. The guy in the first house goes bonkers while the house next to him is being built. It's happening all over the country. The hills are alive with the sound of wood saws, electric drills and dump trucks full of bricks. Do you think you're special?"

"But I rent," I protested. "I should get special consideration."

All three men laughed and one said, "That's why we're here. You renters think you can get a free ride in the summertime and have a quiet vacation because you don't own a house. Well, you're living in a dream world. We'd rather start a house next to a renter than an owner any day. An owner will put up with a certain amount of hammering and sawing because he'll be there forever. But a renter has only three weeks or a month and we can really ruin his time."

"I've never done anything to you," I protested. "Why do you want to build a house next to me at this time? Can't you wait until September?"

"It's no fun in September," one of them replied. "The only enjoyment workmen get in the construction business is waking up everyone on vacation in the mornings. My men would just sit on their duffs if they didn't have the incentive of keeping the guy next door from enjoying the few weeks he has off.

"As soon as they see someone in a hammock taking a snooze or sitting on his porch enjoying a beer, they go ape with their hammers. When they know they aren't disturbing anyone, all they do is sit around and talk about the Red Sox."

"Then what you're saying is that no matter where I rent a house you'll follow me?"

"Those are our orders," one of the men said. "When a man goes on vacation we have to start building a house next to him. You'll have to excuse us now. We're bringing in the chain saws to cut up the trees."

"How many trees are you going to cut up?"

"How long are you staying?"

INSIDE REPORT:

President Carter retails the canal

By ROWLAND EVANS And ROBERT NOVAK

Evans

Novak

WASHINGTON — President Carter realized the political complexity of seeking quick Senate ratification of the Panama Canal treaty when his early barrage of telephone calls produced nothing immediate from the two notables whose help he needs most: Ronald Reagan and Henry Jackson.

The White House wanted passivity from Reagan to dampen opposition from conservative Republicans, and support from Sen. Jackson to bring along defense-oriented Democrats. Instead, both were noncommittal in response to the President's personal request. Reagan could well end up as an active foe of ratification and Jackson may levy a substantial price on unrelated matters before finally supporting the treaty.

Actually, Reagan and particularly Jackson are only secondarily interested in the canal itself. Reagan wants to keep his basic conservative constituency. Jackson, who has never shown interest in the canal issue, would like presidential commitments on arms control and national security.

Mr. Carter is vulnerable to such politics because he must sell the treaty at retail, not wholesale. Instinctive public opposition to transferring the canal to Panama is so overwhelming that Carter strategists doubt even the bully pulpit of the presidency can reverse opinion in time. So the President is reduced to a retail search for political leaders.

Gerald R. Ford and Henry Kissinger quickly granted approval (even without seeing the written treaty). But public rejoicing at the White House over the Ford-Kissinger endorsements was matched by private skepticism about their value. "Ford's support should do wonders with the Republican party, just like last year," a sarcastic Carter adviser cracked.

But Reagan's neutrality could help significantly. Reagan's response to the President's call — that he needed to see the treaty before deciding — was considered encouraging at the White House. Canal negotiator Sol Linowitz offered to travel to California to brief Reagan.

Indeed, some key Reagan aides were embarrassed last year by his dramatic use of the canal in primary elections against President Ford. They now worry that violence in Panama which might result from Senate rejection of the treaty could be blamed on Reagan. Besides, they reason, the charge of "secret" canal negotiations used against Ford so effectively no longer applies. So, when anti-treaty Senators asked Reagan to testify before a Senate subcommittee Sept. 8, Reagan's staff replied: sorry, the governor is busy that day.

Sensing what was afoot, other Reagan advisers were appalled — not so much by the canal itself but because they know a passive Reagan role would be viewed by hard-core Reaganites as betrayal. One key Reagan supporter, who had silently accepted Reagan's selection last year of liberal Sen. Richard Schweiker as his running-mate, told us neutrality on the treaty would be "a second Schweiker, and two is one too many."

Sen. Jesse Helms, leading the fight against ratification, called Reagan to argue his case — a precursor of an onslaught to come if he stays quiet. But Reagan is an experienced politician who knows that abandoning a base of support can be political suicide. On Aug. 16, he began edging toward clear opposition.

Reagan informed Linowitz there was no point in coming West without a written treaty (which does not exist yet). Anti-treaty Senators were told Reagan might attend that Sept. 8 hearing after all. Reagan flatly advised CBS what he had left ambiguous when talking to Mr. Carter: he opposes any treaty which relinquishes the canal. While aides will keep him from leading the fight, that is not the same as neutrality.

Scoop Jackson's role is less public but probably more important than Reagan's. The President cannot win ratification without defense-oriented Senators such as Jackson and Georgia's Sam Nunn — both of whom so far say nothing about the treaty. Whereas Reagan's ambiguous attitude with Mr. Carter encouraged the White House, an identical attitude by Jackson was discouraging.

Although he has kept quiet, Jackson is not happy about the Carter administration's softened arms control (SALT) proposals. The White House suspects, therefore, that Jackson wants to trade his Panama vote for national security matters he really cares about.

This is possible for a simple reason: the President cannot quickly wholesale the treaty to a nation which still views the Panama Canal as a lingering remnant of national pride. Visiting Panama in 1912, Franklin D. Roosevelt wrote his mother that the nearly-completed canal was "greater than the Tower of Babel or the Pyramids . . . (Col.) Goethals (builder of the canal) said in his quiet way last night, 'We like to have Americans come down, because they all say it makes them better Americans.'" The persistence of that sentiment has driven Jimmy Carter to the telephone to plead with politicians.

Mark Russell says

The obvious thing about Bert Lance, which doesn't seem quite right, is that he is not a Republican.

Some people get into financial entanglements because of cunning, unethical behavior or larceny. Perhaps, in Lance's case, it's because of a $5 calculator.

Jimmy Carter, putting his hand on Lance's shoulder, said, "Bert, the Bible says to forgive, so I forgive you. I'll miss you, but I still forgive you."

Having the director of the budget in such financial trouble is an embarrassment. It's as if the secretary of agriculture's plants died.

Mood of Taiwan: moving toward totally free society

Nick Thimmesch

TAIPEI — The American notion of the good society — the American democratic dream — is more aspired to than realized in a world where free peoples are a shrinking minority. This is especially true in Asia, where nations granting its citizens even a semblance of freedom are indeed a precious few.

Taiwan is not a totally free society, but the fact that it moves that way should encourage those Americans who fret about the decline of freedom in the world. Taiwan has come a long way since president Chiang Kai-shek established his government here as the Republic of China in 1949.

The combination of American prodding and the fact that Chiang's son, Chiang Ching-kuo has actually ruled Taiwan for the past five years, has led Taiwan into an economic boom and made it a generally open society, since the KMT-Nationalist Party dominates, the government has always pushed a fierce anti-Communist line and a pledge to one day recover mainland China.

But that dogma fades, and a new generation of leaders will likely emerge someday, satisfied to put aside the clarion call to regain the mainland, and more determined to protect the island integrity of Taiwan.

Taiwan, about the size of Indiana, has few natural resources, but, through incredibly hard work, has raised the per capita income from $132 in 1952 to about $1,100 this year. Moreover, the boom has meant a better distribution of income and commendable land reform. Taiwan is one of the few developing countries where the gap between rich and poor has been quickly narrowed. In Taipei, nearly every family has a television set and a refrigerator, some 57 per cent have telephones, and 33 per cent own motorcycles.

The basic economic statistics are spectacular. The gross national product (GNP) grew 11.7 per cent in 1976, and expands in 1977. Unemployment is under 4 per cent, and inflation of consumer products is at 3.1 per cent. Taiwan had a $455 million trade surplus in 1976 on its $8.1 billion in exports.

U.S. trade with Taiwan is 10 times larger than that with Communist China — a country 50 times the size of Taiwan. Moreover, U.S. investments and loans in Taiwan total $4.5 billion — a significant stake for us.

Despite the rush of nations to recognize Communist China and drop diplomatic ties with Taiwan, foreign investment remains fairly steady. The Japanese and Europeans gave Taiwan a vote-of-confidence in 1976 with substantial investments in manufacturing facilities.

One of the best tonics Taiwan ever received was in 1972, just after Nixon-Kissinger made their celebrated trip to Communist China. In the wake of that, Ford Motor Co. came through with a $36 million commitment — the largest single American investment in Taiwan — to develop auto manufacturing which, by the way, will turn out 61,000 units in 1977.

"No matter what you do about our status," says Dr. Chang Kwang-shih, vice-minister of economic affairs, "our economy will grow. Status is a temporary psychological problem. The facts are with us."

Indeed, Taiwan has an ambitious program of 10 major construction projects, including a giant shipbuilding yard, a sizable steel mill, a north-south freeway system, new harbors and the island's first nuclear generator.

Average age of the shipyard workers is 26. Nearly all these young men were recruited and trained, para-military fashion, live in commodious dormitories, and seem unusually dedicated to their work. Taiwan has what we in the United States would call "company unions," only in Taiwan, they are tied to the ruling KMT party. There is no collective bargaining and strikes are prohibited. The "unions" are used to effect liaison between management and workers, and for counseling purposes.

For all the patriotism and belief in the system that the Taiwanese have, they are still short on what Americans and Europeans would regard as hallmarks of a democracy. The press follows the government lines, elections deal with lesser officials, while criticisms of how the government and its officials work are allowed, there is no voice raised against dogma or basic policy. Nor is it easy for a Taiwanese to get a visa to visit another country.

By Asian standards, Taiwan is quite free, however. People come and go on the island as they please. The government emphasizes education, and 99 per cent of school-age children attend school (better than in the United States, certainly). The literacy rate is 95 per cent. There is considerable cultural life, plenty of free-swinging night clubs, no curfew, and an impressive program of athletics (Taiwan's youngsters are constant world champions in Little and Junior League Baseball).

The island's birthrate was reduced to 1.8 per cent in 1975, but then came the "Year of the Dragon" (1976) and it soared to 2.4 per cent. Abortion is prohibited, but contraception flourishes. No one in government knows what the "Nights of the Typhoon" did to the 1977 birthrate.

The Taiwanese live on a very crowded island and, while they are proud of their economic achievements and being likened to Japan, they also voice misgivings about the clutter and the smog. The middle class increasingly moves to the hills and mountains, and there is fear of that day when automobiles are so prevalent that Taipei becomes one glut of cars and motorbikes. At that, life expectancy has climbed sharply, with women expected to reach 73 years and men about 70.

Everything seems improved in Taiwan except the weather, which promises heat and humidity in its good moments, typhoons and occasional earthquakes in the bad ones.

Taiwan is such a success story that its own people would willingly fight to keep it from communist domination. In this sense, President Chiang Ching-kuo has wisely seen to it that native Taiwanese are well represented in the military and in the government. This is a nation growing, watching U.S. moves carefully, and hoping.

R-T section to note women's groups

As a service to Midland club women, The Reporter-Telegram is planning a special supplement noting the achievements of the Tall City's women's clubs.

Although there are more women's groups in the city than the ones which will be featured in the section, we will include the local clubs which fit the traditional scope of women's clubs - garden, auxiliary, social, study and service groups.

The section, to be called "Women With a Purpose," will not include teen clubs, bridge groups, women's clubs of individual churches or ad hoc fund-raising groups.

The Reporter-Telegram photo staff has set aside specific periods when the presidents of participating clubs may have their photographs made at the newspaper office at 201 E. Illinois St.

Those times are Wednesday, Aug. 24, between 2 and 4 p.m. and Thursday, Aug. 25 between 1 and 3 p.m.

Each club president should make an appointment to have her picture made during one of those times, by phoning the Women's News Department.

Appointments will be necessary to avoid long waiting lines. Special arrangements have been made to make these particular photographs during the times listed above. It will not be possible for the photo staff to handle drop-ins at other times.

In addition, the president of each club will need to complete a form outlining her club's history, special projects and current officers.

The forms may be picked up at the time of the photographic appointment and returned later, or they may be picked up in advance in the Women's News Department anytime between 8 and 5 p.m Monday through Friday.

Forms must be completed and returned to the Women's News Department by 5 p.m. Sept. 5.

"Women With a Purpose" will be published as a tabloid supplement to the Reporter-Telegram's Sunday edition on Sept. 18.

Picnic, chicken go together

By MARJORIE RICE
Copley News Service

The picnic gets its name from the French "piquenique," (to pick up a trifle), but some picnics are far from trifling.

Whatever the menu, be sure to pack plenty. There's something about eating outdoors that puts an edge on appetites.

keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold. Fried chicken should be chilled immediately after it leaves the frying pan. Carry it in an insulated container so it remains cold, preferably below 40 degrees.

Meat — especially ground meats — should be kept cold until they go onto the grill. The U.S. Department of Agriculture warns that 60 to 125 degrees is the "danger zone" for food — the temperature at which bacteria grow quickly. For safety, keep hot foods at 140 degrees or hotter, and cold foods at 40 degrees or lower.

The picnic recipes here should get you well on the way to an outdoor feast.

BASIC FRIED CHICKEN

1 broiler-fryer chicken cut into pieces
One-half cup flour
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. paprika
One-fourth tsp. pepper
Shortening or oil

Mix dry ingredients in plastic or paper bag.

Rinse chicken in cold water; shake off excess but don't dry chicken. Drop two or three pieces at a time into flour mixture; shake until coated.

Place chicken on a rack and allow to dry for about 30 minutes. Sprinkle moist spots with more flour before frying.

Heat about one-half inch of oil in a large skillet over medium-high heat until drop of water sizzles in oil. Place chicken, a few pieces at a time skin side down in pan. Turn pieces to brown evenly; reduce heat to medium-low; cover and cook until tender (about 10 minutes). Drain on absorbent paper. Refrigerate immediately.

COLE SLAW WITH SOUR CREAM DRESSING

4 cups finely shredded cabbage
One-half cup sour cream
One-half tsp. mustard
One-half tsp. paprika
1 tsp. sugar
1 tbsp. lemon juice or vinegar
Salt, pepper, to taste

Combine sour cream with remaining ingredients and blend. Add cabbage and toss lightly until shreds are coated. If a more tart dressing is desired, add a little more vinegar or juice. Makes six servings.

PIQUANT GREEN BEAN SALAD

2 (10-oz.) pkgs. frozen green beans
One-half cup wine vinegar
One-fourth cup oil
1 tbsp. each, dill weed, lemon juice
1 tsp. salt
One-half tsp. pepper
One-half cup finely chopped onion
One-third cup chopped peanuts

Cook frozen beans according to package directions. Cool; combine vinegar, oil, dill weed, lemon juice, salt and pepper. Mix well.

Toss together beans, onions and wine-oil mixture. Cover tightly and marinate overnight. Just before serving, stir in peanuts. Makes six to eight servings.

For dining outdoors, nothing beats fried chicken, potato salad and watermelon. Just remember to keep the hot foods hot and cold foods cold. (Copley News Service Photo)

Mom keeps number unlisted for sitting

By ERMA BOMBECK

When plump, apple-cheeked grandmothers were passed out (who insisted on babysitting while you were still carrying the child), my mother was out getting an unlisted phone.

Don't get me wrong. She loves her grandchildren. As she puts it, "I also love Smokey the Bear and Harry Reasoner, but I wouldn't want to sit with them on a regular basis."

She considers grandchildren a special bonus for having outlived her own children. "When you're a sitting sit-in," she declares, "you lose your role as a grandparent. Of course," she said,"if you get desperate you can call me at this number at a candy store. They know where to reach me."

I called the number last week. "Mom, I haven't had a vacation away from the kids since my honeymoon."

"What kind of crack is that?" she asked.

"I told you I was desperate. Do you suppose you could sit with the kids for a few days?"

"They hurt me the last time," she said.

"That's my fault," I replied. "I should have told you that when you stand the baby up on your lap, he pushes his head against your chin and cuts your tongue in half. Besides, the kids are teenagers now. It'll be easier."

"Then what?" she asked.

"The problems of teenagers are overdramatized," I told mother. "Actually, there is nothing to sitting with them.

"First, I have hidden the distributor from the car in the flour cannister. This will give you a warm, secure feeling when the announcer comes on TV and says, "It's ten o'clock. Do you know where your children are?" They'll be tearing the house apart looking for the distributor.

"Second, don't worry about meals. They'll eat anything as long as it is in a carry-out bag.

"Third, keep a supply of dimes. You'll need them when you have to make a phone call at the gas station." on the corner.

"Fourth, if you want them to wear something clean, put it in the dirty clothes hamper. It's sneaky, but it's the only way you can get them to rotate their clothes.

"Fifth, you'll get used to the records, especially if you spend your evenings crouched in the utility closet next to the hot water heater.

"Sixth, don't ever say you understand them. It breaks down the hostile relationship between you that it takes to understand one another. Now you know all there is to know about teenagers. I am off to the city."

"Hold it!" shouted mother. "In case I need you where can I get in touch with you?"

"Here's the number of a candy store," I said. "I'll check in from time to time."

DEAR ABBY

Man decides self-pity for the birds

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am the man who wrote to you about the mockingbird. My wife had loved that bird so much, she even recorded his song on tape. Then my wife died last year, and the bird returned. His song recalled so many memories, I felt that if I didn't destroy that mockingbird, I would surely go mad!

How grateful I was for your concern. You said time and faith in God would heal my broken heart, and you urged me not to harm the bird. Then you asked your readers to write in with suggestions and told me to watch your column.

Imagine my joy when on June 20th your entire column was filled with letters from others who had lived through a similar torment, offering suggestions to comfort me.

The best solution was to re-enter the wonderful world of matrimony, and that's exactly what I have done! I recently married a beautiful woman, and all the loneliness and despair is behind me.

Thank you, Abby. Please sign me, FORMERLY DESPERATE, NOW BLESSED, or . . .—RALPH

DEAR RALPH: Thank you for letting me know that the advice from my readers helped you. Self-pity and dwelling on an irretrievable loss is for the birds. Good luck to you both.

DEAR ABBY: I am the editor and publisher of the Daytona Beach Morning Journal, which has carried your column for many years. I couldn't believe my eyes when I read your quote: "Emerson said, 'Pay every debt like God wrote the bill.'"

I knew that Emerson never in the world would have written such a line, so I looked up the quotation and sure enough it read, "Pay every debt as if God wrote the bill."

Abby, how could you?—HERBERT M. DAVIDSON

DEAR MR. D.: I plead guilty as charged. Will you settle for a "mea culpa" and a promise to be more careful in the future?

DEAR ABBY: Our 12-year-old daughter received a lipstick for her birthday. Should she be allowed to use it, even though her father objects?—WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: No. Parents make the rules for their children. (If someone gave her a motorcycle, would you allow her to drive it?).

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this news paper. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Purchase lumber suitable for job

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

The price of lumber, like that of everything else, has gone up considerably over the years. This and the wider selection of available species and items make it imperative that lumber be bought carefully no matter what the size of the project.

Economic considerations dictate that the purchaser never lose sight of the number one rule, which is to buy the kind of lumber most suitable for the purpose. Fundamental as that sounds, it is often disregarded, not deliberately, but purely because of lack of knowledge. It is just as much a false economy to buy wood that is too good for the job and, therefore, too expensive, as it is to buy lumber that will not fill the bill.

When you aren't sure, ask, ask, ask. Don't fall into the common mistake of being afraid to admit you don't know too much about lumber. Your local lumber yard sells service as well as materials. I have found that most lumber yards employ a larger percentage of knowledgeable sales personnel than nearly all other retail establishments. Find such a person and ask him what kind of lumber he suggests for your particular project. (Ask "her" if necessary, because the best lumber expert in our local lumber yard is a woman.)

In the meantime, one of the things you should know is that the usual lumber sizes aren't exactly as stated. That 2 by 4 you hear so much about is really only 1½ by 3½ inches. It was 2 by 4 before it was surfaced and seasoned. The first figure, by the way, is the thickness, the second the width. The fact that the stated sizes are nominal (before being surfaced and seasoned) should be kept in mind when making measurements. When lumber is sold by the board foot, the measure is equivalent to a piece one inch thick and 12 inches square. Thicknesses less than one inch generally are charged as a full inch.

Most woods purchased by do-it-yourselfers are softwoods, which come from coniferous or needle-bearing trees.

NOTICE TO PARENTS OF ELEMENTARY PUPILS

The majority to minority pupil transfer policy provision is an important part of the desegregation plan of Midland elementary schools. This transfer policy allows eligible young children to attend the same school as older brothers and sisters in grades 4, 5, and 6. The majority to minority transfer policy states:

A primary level pupil (grades 1, 2, or 3) may transfer from a school in which the pupil's race or ethnic background is the majority to another school in the assigned elementary school cluster, serving the residence, in which the pupil's race is the minority. Transportation is provided by regularly scheduled bus routes which transport intermediate level pupils (grades 4, 5, and 6) within the elementary cluster.

Pupils in grades 1, 2, and 3 may transfer to another school in the elementary cluster when their race or ethnic background is a majority in the home school. Also, the race or ethnic background must be in a minority in the receiving school. Transportation is provided by regularly scheduled bus routes within the elementary cluster.

You may receive more information by contacting the principal of any elementary school. Application forms are available from any elementary school principal or may be obtained at the central administration office at 702 North "N" Street.

Party fetes bride-elect

Jana Schweitzer, bride-elect of Mike Lane, was honored with a miscellaneous bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Kenneth H. Griffin, 904 Sorrel Lane East.

Hostesses included Mrs. Raymond Nicholas, Mrs. Louie Koonce and Mrs. Griffin.

A floral arrangement in the bride's chosen colors centered the serving table covered with embroidered voile and lace.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Schweitzer of Midland. Her fiance is the son of Mrs. Ralph Lane.

Special guests included the prospective bridegroom and his mother; Mrs. Lester Grimes of Lubbock, his grandmother, and Mrs. Walter Augustine of Ozona, grandmother of the bride-to-be.

The couple will be married at 7 p.m. Oct. 1 in St. John's United Methodist Church in Lubbock.

Dinner honors Kemps on 40th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross Kemp of Midland will be honored on their 40th wedding anniversary with a dinner party today in the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joe T. Lynch, 1005 Shell St.

The dinner will be given by children of the couple, Lynn Lynch and David Kemp of Odessa, and their four grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Kemp were married Aug. 23, 1937, in Abilene, and have lived in Midland 20 years.

HOROSCOPE

By CARROLL RIGHTER
(Wed. Aug. 24)

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have a good chance to get your affairs on a more solid and secure structure so look for a combination that has proven successful in the past to gain the advancement that appeals to you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 10) Confer with a bigwig and learn how to have greater success in the future. Seek new means through which to handle duties more efficiently. Avoid danger of all kinds now.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Put those new ideas to work that will please new contacts you recently made and will lead to mutual benefits. Listen to what a partner has to say about a trip or how to advance in near future.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Handle obligations in a most conscientious way and you have added profit. A new attitude toward loved one brings good results.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Please associates more and come to a better understanding, have more success. Do whatever will give you more respect with the public in general.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Put more originality into your regular work and you get better results now. Taking some new health treatment will help to revitalize you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Enjoy some form of amusement you like during spare time. Creative work can also be toned up and made more ideal. Take no risks where your credit is concerned.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Do whatever will bring more accord at home with kin and don't lose your temper. Some new interest you have in mind must be placed on a firm foundation first of all.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Talk over big plans with associates and work them out intelligently. An expert could be of assistance to you also. Avoid those who are costing you too much money to entertain.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Your monetary matters should be handled conservatively if you are to make progress. Talk it over with an expert who can be helpful.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study personal goals and do whatever will help to gain them. Later get together at some group affair with friends and get good results.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Organizing your interests more intelligently will lead to greater success in the future. Don't confide in others either. Taking a loved one for granted is not wise; show more devotion instead.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Do whatever will improve friendships that are wearing out at the seams. Take time for worthwhile entertainment, but first get important work out of the way

Transcripts show U.S. policy worries Chinese

By MURREY MARDER
and
GEORGE C. WILSON
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — Peking's leadership told a prominent American visitor last month that China and the United States "must use joint efforts in dealing with the (Soviet) polar bear."

That blunt language was coupled with criticism of the United States for pursuing an "appeasement policy" toward the Soviet Union, according to the visitor, retired Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt, former chief of U.S. naval operations.

Transcripts and summaries of Zumwalt's July conversations with Chinese leaders were released to The Washington Post. They include talks with China's senior vice premier, Li Hsien-nine, and with Foreign Minister Huang Hua. Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance's first talks in Peking Monday were with Huang Hua.

Li was named one of the Chinese Communist Party's four deputy chairman last week by the 11th Party Congress.

The Zumwalt transcripts contain blunter language about parallel American-Chinese interests in checkmating the Soviet Union than either Peking or Washington ever officially admits. Public transcripts of any private talks with Chinese leaders are a rarity.

These records, Zumwalt said, were made by his daughter Ann, a Catholic University graduate who accompanied him and served as notetaker. "The time required for translation, she said, enabled her to produce virtually verbatim accounts. Zumwalt said a copy of the records was given to the State Department.

Zumwalt, a critic of past American policy on Soviet detente, or relaxation of tension, was one of a series of recent visitors welcomed to China as hard-liners on relations with the Soviet Union. He is a member of the Committee on the Present Danger.

The records he made available showed that Vice Premier Li, while praising former Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger for the Nixon administration's opening to China in 1971-72, said of Kissinger: "He fears the Soviet Union very much. I think the United States should be toughter with the Soviet Union."

Zumwalt, an arch critic of Kissinger, agreed with Li. He said Zbigniew Brzezinski, President Carter's national security adviser, "asked me to state that the present administration does not share the last administration's tragic view. It has an optimistic view of the future. It is prepared to compete with the Soviet Union if necessary."

Among the points made by Zumwalt's Chinese hosts in the course of his month's stay were these:

—Chinese leaders have concluded that the Soviet Union is focusing its energies on Western Europe rather than on either China or Africa.

—African developments are going well from China's standpoint and Peking will continue to support African nationalist aspirations.

—The idea of bartering surplus Chinese oil for American arms collides with current Chinese policy, but buying U.S. oil-drilling equipment does not.

The discussions revealed no new flexibility, however, on the central issue of China's unresolved demands for the United States to sever official relations with the Nationalist Chinese government on the island of Taiwan.

Miners' strike temporarily stopped

By HELEN DEWAR
The Washington Post

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — Top leaders of the United Mine Workers Monday ordered a temporary halt to a wildcat strike that has crippled Appalachian coal production for two months. Local union leaders representing the strikers promptly bowed to the order.

But the union's top officials threatened to call a nationwide coal strike in 60 days if cutbacks in miners' health benefits — the immediate cause of the work stoppages by as many as 85,000 miners in five states since mid-June — are not restored in the meantime.

Previous back-to-work orders have been ignored by the militant miners, but union leaders expressed confidence that this one would be heeded. "It gets the men back to work and it buys us some time," said one official.

The agreement came at the end of a stormy six-hour meeting between the UMW International Executive Board and officials of the Charleston-based District 17, the union's largest and most militantly pro-strike district.

UMW officials said after the closed meeting at the Daniel Boone Hotel here that the frequently divided executive board voted unanimously to order the strikers back to work for a 60-day period, during which the union would attempt to negotiate a settlement of the benefits dispute with the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, the industry's bargaining arm.

If settlement is not reached within the 60-day period, UMW officials said the contract between the UMW and BCOA would be terminated and a nationwide coal strike would be called.

Price freeze expected

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican businessmen will freeze prices until the end of the year in an effort to combat 18 per cent annual inflation, according to a business group spokesman.

Businesses belonging to the Business Coordinating Council will also pay the equivalent of 15 days pay to each worker, based on the minimum salary before the end of October.

Public and private banks will make over $170 million dollars available to medium and small businesses for credit.

Memo indicates Park courted Senate committee

The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON — Federal investigators probing the Korean influence-buying scandal have obtained a memo indicating that South Korean businessman Tongsun Park and his aides once courted members of the Senate Armed Services Committee on behalf of their government.

The memo, dated July 29, 1975, suggests that invitations to visit Seoul at the expense of the Korean government were extended — apparently without success — to Sens. John C. Stennis (D-Miss.), the committee chairman, John G. Tower (R-Tex.) and Dewey F. Bartlett (R-Okla.), members of the committee.

A fourth senator referred to in the document as "Sen. Bird" could be either Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr. (Ind.-Va.), also a member of the Armed Services Committee, or Sen. Robert C. Byrd (D-W.Va.), now majority leader and then majority whip.

The memo said Tower, Bartlett and Byrd "would like to be invited by a foreign govecment and travel as a guest of such host government." The senators, however, said they never made such a trip.

The memo, addressed to Park from Spencer Robbins, one of his top aides, surfaces at a time when Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III (D-Ill.), chairman of the Senate Ethics Committee, has said his panel soon will begin examining efforts by South Korean agents to unduly influence senators.

The Korean influence scandal so far has pointed only to Representatives, principally Democrats.

Stennis said through a spokesman Monday that he "never considered going to Korea" in 1975 and that "it's just somebody's imagination." He said he did not know either Park or Robbins.

Tower has accepted a few dinner invitations from Park but did not travel to South Korea in 1975 and was not invited, a spokesman for the senator said.

An aide to Sen. Harry Byrd said he did not know if Byrd was the one referred to in the memo but that Byrd had never been to South Korea.

"He has met Tongsun Park on social occasions but has no particular personal relationship with him," the aide said. "The senator has never traveled at the expense of a foreign government."

Bartlett has never met Park or Robbins and has never gone to South Korea, his office reported. Sen. Robert Byrd could not be reached for comment.

Robbins, who wrote the memo to Park, was chief executive officer of Park's Washington-based Pacific Development, Inc., a personal investment firm.

Under the heading "U.S. Senators' visit to S. Korea," the typed memo reads:

"1. Senator Stennis will not visit S. Korea during the month of August, 1975.

"2. Senators Tower, Bartlet (sic), Bird (sic) and others are interested; however, these gentlemen do not like to travel officially via government aircraft, with military escorts and in accordance with U.S. arrangements. Rather, they would like to be invited by a foreign government and travel as a guest of such host government. If this is feasible, normal invitations can be extended and rapid decision reached as to acceptance. Official invitations could then be extended by the host government and arrangements made.

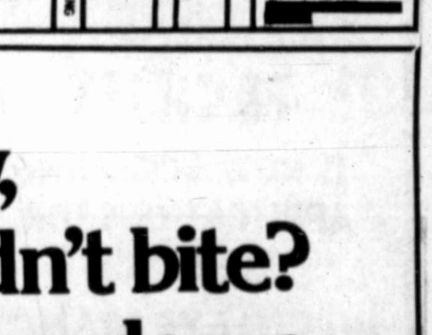

"3. Your direction is needed in order to proceed. Time is of the essence."

Robbins and Bong-Yang Lee, another principal aide to Park, reportedly have been cooperating with the Justice Department and the House Ethics Committee in their parallel investigations of Korean lobbying efforts.

Park and other agents are accused of plying members of Congress with cash, gifts, entertainment and other gratuities.

Jim Baum considering 1978 race

BIG SPRING — Jim Baum, Big Spring radio station manager and a former Midland resident, said Monday that he is contemplating making the race for U.S. representative of the 17th Congressional District next year if necessary funds can be arranged.

Omar Burleson of Anson has announced that he will not seek re-election to the congressional post next year.

Baum, who started his radio career at Abilene in 1958, was with Radio Station KCRS at Midland before moving to Big Spring a number of years ago.

A 1954 graduate of Abilene High School, he attended Abilene Christian College, McMurry College and Hardin-Simmons University, all in Abilene, and Sul Ross State University at Alpine. He was an all-district outfielder for the Abilene High baseball team in 1954 and later played two years of professional baseball with the Pittsburgh Pirates' farm system.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Baum have been active in civic affairs during their residence here.

City teachers have barbecue

Approximately 175 persons attended a barbecue Monday night to acquaint new teachers with Midland and to let teachers who have been in Midland for awhile get reacquainted.

Master of ceremonies was C. W. Craig, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce education committee. Speakers included Harrell Feldt, president of the chamber; Dr. James H. Mailey, superintendent of schools; Dr. Al G. Langford, president of Midland College, and Dr. Edwin Becht of the University of Texas of the Permian Basin.

Sebastian Cabot

Actor dies at his home in Canada

VICTORIA, Canada (AP) — Actor Sebastian Cabot, who played the bearded butler in the television series Family Affair, died early today of a stroke at his home here. He was 59.

Born in London, England, Cabot moved with his wife and family to the United States in 1955.

A rotund, bearded man, he appeared in the movies of "Kismet," "Terror in a Texas Town," "The Time Machine" and "The Family Jewels."

Cabot also played in the TV series Checkmate from 1959 to 1962. But he was best known for his playing of the staid but softhearted British butler in Family Affair, a series about the trials of a bachelor raising two small children in New York City.

Cabot is survived by his wife, two daughters and a son.

Courts-martial trials resume

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP) — Military legal officers geared today for resumption of courts-martial trials for nine black Marines accused of raiding a barracks room occupied by white Leathernecks last Nov. 13.

The trials have been in limbo since March, when defense attorneys asked the Court of Military Appeals in Washington, D.C., to remove the cases from Marine Corps jurisdiction. The court refused last month.

Initially, 14 blacks were charged with barging into the room where seven white Leathernecks were holding a beer party. All but one of the whites was hospitalized for injuries inflicted by clubs and sharpened screwdrivers.

In pretrial hearings, the blacks testified they were attempting to carry out a retaliatory raid against a base Ku Klux Klan cell, but struck the wrong room.

The Naval Investigative Service subsequently said none of the injured whites were KKK members.

The incident, however, revealed the existence of activity by the white-supremacist group on the base, the nation's biggest Marine installation.

Courts martial were slated to reopen today with Pvt. Eddie Page Jr. of Bay Springs, Miss., and L. Cpl. Rickey C. McGilvery of Dallas, Tex., to face trials.

In trials already conducted, Cpls. Curtis Jones, El F. Henry and Dean Edwards entered guilty pleas to assault counts and received sentences, while Cpl. Glenn R. White was found innocent.

Walter Pidgeon listed in critical condition

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actor Walter Pidgeon, debonaire star of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's golden era, has lapsed into critical condition with a blood clot on his lung, a hospital spokeswoman says.

Pidgeon, 78, was recovering from surgery he underwent last week for a blood clot on the brain when the new clot was discovered in his lung on Monday.

He was placed in the intensive-care unit of St. John's Hospital here.

Doctors said he suffered from a phlebitis-like condition — clotting of blood in the lower extremities. They performed a tracheotomy on Pidgeon Monday, placing a small tube in his windpipe to facilitate breathing. They also placed a tiny umbrella-like device in a vein to prevent further clotting, the hospital spokeswoman said.

Pidgeon was one of Hollywood's romantic box office attractions in the 1940s, making his name in a series of movies opposite British actress Greer Garson.

Among them was "Mrs. Miniver," the 1941 story of an English family's courage during the German blitz of World War II. Years later, Pidgeon still was being called "Mr. Miniver" on the streets of London and Paris.

Though he often spoke of "taking it easy," Pidgeon remained active in films and appeared in three minor roles in 1976. His last major role came in 1973, when he portrayed an aging pickpocket in "Harry in Your Pocket."

DBCP chemical alert expected

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — A pest-controlling chemical suspected of causing sterility in men and cancer in animals is "too hot to sit on" and a national alert on the hazards of the chemical may be issued soon, a federal official says.

Federal officials said after the disclosure Monday of a National Cancer Institute study of DBCP — dibromochloropropane — that they will await further test before issuing an alert.

Animals injected with DBCP in the study got cancer, said Dr. Channing Meyer, chief of the medical section for hazard evaluation at the National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH).

The cancer study "in and of itself should raise suspicion as to whether it is a human carcinogen (cancer producer)," Meyer said.

Meyer said NIOSH "is definitely leaning towards" issuing a national alert on DBCP if results of further tests on chemical workers substantiate earlier findings of sterility.

Boris Osheroff, principle environmental officer of public health for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said Monday that DBCP is "too hot to sit on," and confirmed in Washington that the chemical probably would be the subject of a national bulletin.

He declined to discuss the recent NCI study, but said a 1973 study found stomach cancer in rats and mice given high doses of DBCP, which is used to control pests in soil.

Meyer said more data should be available by the end of the week, when Dow, Shell Oil Co. and Occidental Chemical Corp. — which also market DBCP — report further results of sterility tests they are conducting.

Etcyl Blair, Dow's director of environmental health and research, and Dr. H. Charles Scharnweber, corporate medical director, were unavailable for comment on the possible link to cancer.

Meanwhile, The Washington Post reported today that Dow and Shell were aware more than 20 years ago that DBCP caused sterility in animals.

The Post said that tests conducted in the 1950s by Dow and Shell, the two biggest producers of DBCP, and published in 1961 in the Journal of Toxicology and Applied Pharmacology, showed that the chemical caused several medical problems in animals, including the shrinking of testicles and sterility.

Three services held

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three memorial services were held for Groucho Marx. Two, held by his family, excluded Erin Fleming, the comedian's longtime companion. A third was held by Miss Fleming.

"We're just having a good time," the 37-year-old Miss Fleming said Monday night. "There are a lot of writers, entertainers and contemporaries of Groucho's here. Carroll O'Connor, Eric Segal, all the boys ... and all the dames, too. They're bringing me presents, like a 'You Bet Your Life Game.'"

Miss Fleming's get-together came only hours after the family held a private service before the body of the 86-year-old comedian was cremated.

Carter to pay for trips

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential spokesman Jody Powell, conceding that Jimmy Carter and his campaign committee owe more than $1,700 for flights on an airplane owned by a bank Bert Lance once headed, says a complete review of Carter's campaign records may take four years.

Powell said Monday that the tab for flights in 1975 and 1976 on the plane of the National Bank of Georgia was $1,793.70.

He said the Carter campaign committee would use leftover campaign funds to reimburse the bank at least $865.80. Carter could end up paying the remaining $927.90 if it is determined that the flights involved were not legitimate campaign expenses, the spokesman said.

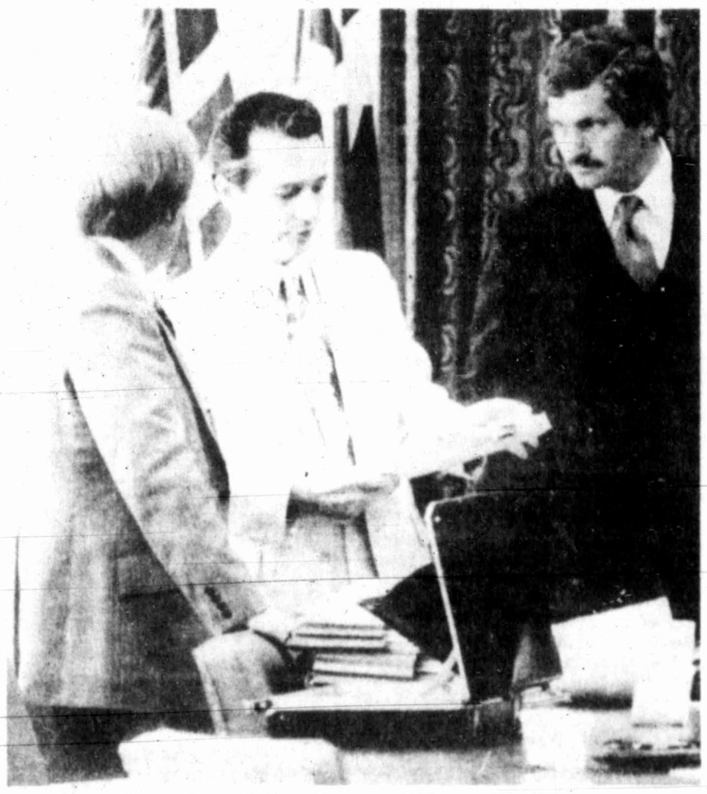

Powell said at the daily White House news briefing that "the President has decided he will personally reimburse any portion of the flights that were not campaign expenditures."

The press secretary said the five flights in the twin-engine Beechcraft airplane carried Carter around Georgia and into Tennessee for campaign events, meetings, a dinner with Lance and a vacation.

Lance, Carter's budget director, is a longtime personal friend of the President and was head of the National Bank of Georgia at the time of the flights.

Questions about the flights arose last Thursday when Lance held a news conference after the Comptroller of the Currency released a report on the personal finances of the budget director. The report said an investigation had found no evidence to warrant criminal prosecution of Lance in connection with his personal finances.

The biggest questions involve a flight on June 13 to Sea Island, Ga., from Americus, Ga., and a return flight on June 19. Powell said Carter has asked White House Counsel Robert Lipshutz to ask the Federal Election Commission to determine who should pay for the flights.

Mrs. Davis expected to incriminate spouse

By MIKE COCHRAN

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Blonde socialite Priscilla Davis returns to the witness stand today to tell a jury of the "man in black" who triggered a savage shooting spree last summer at her showplace Fort Worth mansion.

And, as she has done previously, she is expected to point to her estranged husband as the gunman who killed two and wounded two in the midnight Aug. 6 assault.

The small, shapely Mrs. Davis, 36, is the state's key witness in the capital murder trial of Fort Worth millionaire Cullen Davis, 43.

She testified only briefly Monday and did not touch on the shootings.

Davis is on trial for the slaying of his stepdaughter, Andrea, 12. He is accused also of the shooting death of Stan Farr, 30, and the wounding of Priscilla and a young visitor to the mansion, Gus Gavrel.

A bitterly disappointed Davis learned Monday that a Fort Worth judge had denied his application for bond, thus ending his temporary freedom after 48 hours.

He said nothing ever hurt him more.

State Dist. Court Judge Tom Cave, the presiding jurist in an earlier ill-fated attempt to try Davis in Fort Worth, exercised his jurisdictional authority and ended the defendant's freedom under $1 million bond.

Mrs. Davis was the second to testify Monday, following Domestic Relations Judge Joe Eidson of Fort Worth as the state's leadoff witness.

Eidson provided jurors background on the stormy divorce action between Davis and his wife which Mrs. Davis initiated in 1974 after six years of marriage.

It was Eidson who issued the order giving Mrs. Davis temporary possession of the mansion and prohibiting Davis from setting foot on the 181-acre estate.

The state used that order to construct a burglary charge against Davis, elevating the case against Davis to capital murder and per-

3 commissioners approve budget

By LINDA SCHAFFRINA

The three Midland County commissioners present at their Monday meeting unanimously approved a $4,895,943 budget for the county for 1978.

County Judge Barbara Culver is out of town and Commissioner Jack Leonard is in the hospital.

The tax rate previously had been set at 95 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, the same rate as for 1977.

The budget approval came after a public hearing in which only one citizen suggested a change in the budget.

Attorney Robert Evans urged the commissioners to increase salaries of county employes by more than the approximately 6 per cent he said the budget allows.

The 1978 budget is $650,886 over the 1977 budget.

Among the major increases are $117,626 for judicial costs, including creation of a new district court and additional salaries for the district clerk's and district attorney's offices to help handle the additional court load.

Other major increases will come under financial administration and nondepartmental expenses. The budget approved Monday includes $130,000 for indigent hospital care in 1978. That item will be eliminated if voters approve creation of a hospital district.

The budget will take effect Jan. 1, 1978.

Also Monday, the commissioners postponed action on a resolution to participate in the National flood Insurance Program. Commissioner Durward Wright said the commissioners want to consult with an insurance advisory board on the mechanics of the program.

Wright said the flood insurance program will allow persons living in designated flood hazard areas to purchase insurance at low rates from the federal government.

When the final maps are drawn and the program goes into effect, new builders in those areas will not be able to obtain financing or purchase insurance unless the property meets construction requirements to minimize possible flood damage, Wright said.

Midland Soil and Water Conservation District conservationist Dick Hagelstein told the commissioners some areas which in the past have been flooded are not included on the present flood hazard map of Midland County.

The commissioners requested Hagelstein to find out why those areas are not included and seek and amended map if they should be included.

In other action, the commissioners extended the county's emergency ambulance service contract with the city through Sept. 30, at the city's request.

Action was postponed on a proposal to redefine justice of the peace Precinct 2 to include voting boxes 2 and 16 because the published agenda for Monday's meeting contained a misprint.

Also postponed was a request from Alexandra Morris, acting director of the Midland Community Action Agency, for the county to provide space in the courthouse annex for the agency's administrative offices.

Mrs. Morris said the agency must vacate its present quarters in the former Bunche Elementary School by the end of this week because the school district needs that room. She said the need to move the offices was "one of those facts I stumbled on in the files" upon taking over the directorship.

Commissioner Win Brown said he is reluctant to allow the agency the space because other requests from noncounty organizations have been turned down in the past.

Wright, who presided at the meeting, said he did not think it would be proper for him to second the motion of Commissioner Charlie Welch to provide the space because the presiding officer traditionally does

Overnight low portent of record?

A record high minimum temperature reading this morning began a day that very likely has a chance to break an all-time record.

The overnight low of 79 degrees compared to a record maximimum low of 73 degrees set in 1963. The forecast for today's high was 102 degrees while the record for the date is 101 set in 1963, according to the National Weather Service at the Midland Regional Air Terminal.

The high temperature Monday was 100 degrees.

It was warm and clear this morning in Odessa, Rankin, Big Lake, Andrews, lamesa, Big Spring and Stanton.

Taiwan issue skirted in talks

By BARRY SCHWEID

PEKING (AP) — Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance completed an extensive outline of U.S. foreign policy for his Chinese hosts today, but a spokesman said the key issue of normalizing relations between the U.S. and Chinese governments was "only touched on."

Vance held his second meeting with Foreign Minister Huang Hua, who came to the government guest house where the secretary of state is staying for a 2½-hour session. U.S. spokesman Hodding Carter said the talk today and the first 2½-hour meeting Monday were "very useful, very serious and very businesslike."

"All we have had basically so far is an exposition of our own," Carter reported.

He said Vance presented "a great deal of material" but no written proposals. Huang asked no questions on Monday and only a few today, Carter said.

Huang emphasized the chief barrier to normalization of relations between Peking and Washington in a speech at a banquet for the secretary Monday night. He said Chairman Hua Kuo-feng's speech to the 11th Communist Party Congress last week expressed the will of the Chinese people and the Communist government's "consistent stand."

Hua in his speech repeated previous official statements that normal relations between the United States and China cannot be opened until the United States breaks diplomatic relations with the Nationalist regime on Taiwan, cancels its 1954 mutual defense treaty with the Nationalists and withdraws all its military forces and installations from Taiwan and the Formosa Strait.

"We are determined to liberate Taiwan," said Hua. "When and how is entirely China's internal affair, which brooks no foreign interference whatsoever."

Vance in reply affirmed the Carter administration's interest in normalization of relations with mainland China. But he gave no hint of meeting the Communist demand to cut Taiwan adrift.

U.S. officials say privately that Vance intends to avoid even the appearance of abandoning the Nationalists, who fled to the island after the Communist military victory on the mainland in 1949.

Autographed pictures remind 'mom' of past

ROUSTIN' ABOUT with Ed Todd

To take a sentimental journey, all she has to do is peruse through all those autographed photographs she has from those "troubadours" — recording artists.

Within that framework, most of her sentiment goes back to the 1950s.

There's a photo of country 'n' western singer Sonny James. He penned these endearing words to Beulah Holifield, whom many called "mom," "ma," or "mama."

"To my best girl, Mrs. Holifield, the sweetest," wrote James, who broke into the big time in the '50s with such songs as "Young Love."

Mrs. Holifield, who was in the retail record business in Midland, spoke fondly and admiringly of the entertainers, such as Elvis Presley and a host of others. In a very real sense, they were her living, and she certainly helped them out.

They did well for themselves. They gave life to the old "rags-to-riches" cliche.

"To rise above their environment . . . and make all that money" is an accomplishment worth lauding, she said.

Many of the recording artists before and after they became "stars" and household names, dropped into her record shop in Midland or into her husband's (Cecil's) shop at Odessa.

Take this down-home guitar-plunking singer:

"Now this Johnny Cash is the sweetest thing that ever was." She said Cash would come to see her before he "made it big" and had lots of money to spend.

She'd feed him.

"Mom," Cash would tell her, "I've

Indigent care solution cited

By GEORGE H. JOHNSTON

A hospital district for Midland Memorial Hospital will relieve the burden of indigent care on the sick, according to Martin Allday, hospital trustee.

"It's the sick people (patients in the hospital) who are paying for indigents, rather than everyone paying their share," Allday said.

"I think the government ought to do for you only what you can't do for yourself," he added.

Allday said that because costs have risen so much for health care, it is no longer fair to ask the private sector to support a public problem through contributions.

Last year, Allday said, indigent care and bad debts totaled $700,000. Of that, Midland County paid $100,000 and the rest was covered by paying patients at the hospital.

The trustees began considering the possibility of a hospital district after they determined it would cost $10 million to update the present facility.

The trustees hired a private fund-raising firm to determine if it would be possible to raise $10 million from Midland's private sector, Allday said.

The firm, according to Allday, met with about 400 persons in 28 meetings from Oct. 4 to Oct. 9, 1976, to determine the feasibility of raising the needed funds.

The firm met with the public, hospital medical staff and hospital emplyees, Allday said. The prevailing opinion was that a hospital district was needed.

It was also determined the community could not provide the $10 million in donations.

"If we raised $10 million tomorrow, United Way, Midland Community Theatre, churches and all other similar charitable organizations would suffer," Allday said.

As a result, Allday said, the trustees decided to form a hospital district and to issue bonds for an addition to and renovation of the hospital.

An election has been called for Midland County voters to vote on the district and bond issue Sept. 17.

Through the help of a Dallas law firm that specializes in tax district legislation, the trustees wrote a bill to create the Midland Hospital district, Allday said.

State Senator Pete Snelson and state Rep. Tom Craddick introduced the bill, Allday said. Gov. Dolph Briscoe signed the bill May 4, he added.

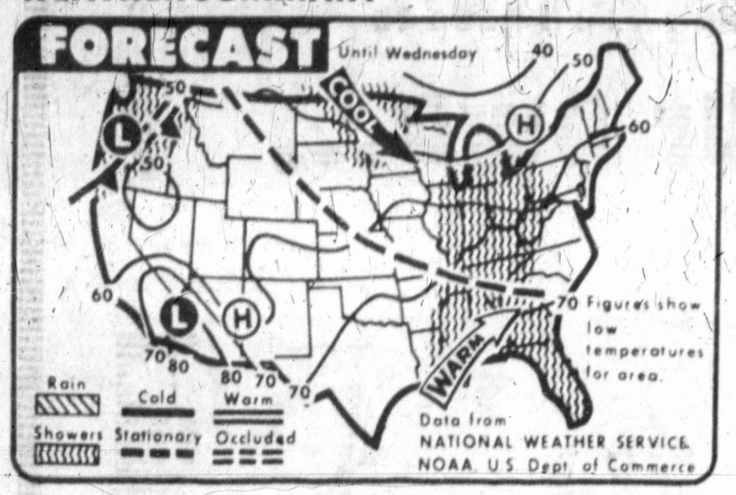

The temporary directors named in the bill are Frank Cowden Jr., William P. Franklin, Robert Pendleton, L. Decker Dawson and Edwin H. Magruder Jr.

Cowden, Franklin and Pendleton were selected by the hospital board of trustees because the three men were former trustees and had served on the trustees' finance committee, according to Allday.

dleton then selected Dawson and Magruder to be named in the bill, Allday said.

"They (Cowden, Franklin and Pendleton) were reluctant to serve at first because they were so busy, but they felt the hospital district was so important they did decide to serve," Allday said.

Cowden and Franklin will serve one-year terms, and Pendleton, Dawson and Magruder will serve two-year terms. Elections will be the first part of April each year, Allday said.

If the hospital district passes Sept. 17, Allday said, the hospital district board of directors will contract with Midland Memorial Foundation to operate the hospital.

Allday said most hospital districts contract with private hospital management firms to run hospitals.

However, he added, it was decided that since the trustees had experience, they would run the hospital for no charge.

The hospital trustees are currently appointed by Midland Memorial Foundation's board of governors to run the hospital, and the governors will continue to appoint trustees after the hospital district is formed.

A group of 16 citizens has been formed to provide community input to the directors and trustees, Allday added.

If the district is approved, Allday said, the directors will contract with the City of Midland to act as tax collector and assessor.

Using tax rolls from Midland Independent School District, which also contracts with the city, and the Greenwood Independent School District, all property in the county will be taxed.

Allday said the taxes would be assessed on 75 per cent of appraised property value, which is also the figure the city and Midland school district use.

A tax of nine cents per $100 of assessed value would be used to retire the bonds, if passed, and seven cents per $100 would be used for indigent care and bad debts, Allday said.

According to Allday, the seven cent figure for indigent care was arrived at by using the hospital's 1976 figure of $700,000 for indigent care and bad debt.

The tax of nine cents for bond retirement and seven cents for indigent care would total 16 cents per $100 of assessed value.

For a resident with a house appraised at $30,000, the assessment would be 75 per cent, or $22,500 and the yearly tax would be about $36, Allday said.

The prospective tax of 16 cents per $100 assessed value is considerably lower than that of other hospital districts of this size in the state, Allday said.

Other districts' taxes are higher, he added, because most hospital districts are paying for new hospitals, and are contracting with private firms to run the hospitals.

Presley leaves fortune to family

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Elvis Presley, who gave diamonds to girlfriends and Cadillacs to strangers, left his fortune to his family and excluded his former wife and his fiancee in his will.

The will, filed for probate Monday, likely will be "the biggest ever filed in the state of Tennessee," said Probate Court Judge Joseph Evans.

Presley, 42, was found unconscious at his Graceland mansion last Tuesday and pronounced dead of a heart attack at Baptist Hospital.

An inventory of Presley's wealth, expected to be several million dollars, is being prepared and court officials said it may be longer than the usual two months before it can be filed.

"The size and complexity of it may cause them to run into difficulty in filing it in 60 days," Probate Court Clerk Bobby Dunavant said.

The rock 'n' roll superstar's 62-year-old father, Vernon Presley, once a Mississippi sharecropper, was named executor of the will.

The 13-page document was drawn up at Presley's Graceland mansion and dated March 3, 1977. It was witnessed by Charles Hodge, Presley's guitarist; Ginger Alden, his fiance; and Ann Dewey Smith, wife of Vernon Presley's attorney, Beecher Smith II.

The will was recorded and filed during a 20-minute session before Judge Evans. The elder Presley, Mr. and Mrs. Smith and Hodge were present at the filing.

In his will, the singer directed that the net income of his estate go to his father; his 9-year-old daughter, Lisa Marie; his grandmother, Minnie Mae Presley; and "such other relatives of mine living at the time of my death who ... are in need of assistance for health, education, support, comfortable maintenance and welfare."

The will directs that Vernon Presley receive his son's personal property, "including trophies and other items accumulated by me during my professional career."

The document gave the elder Presley "complete freedom and discretion as to disposal of any and all such property so long as he shall act in good faith and in the best interest of my estate."

The will said that upon the deaths of Minnie Mae Presley and Vernon Presley, a trust will be created for Lisa Marie Presley, which will be turned over to her when she reaches age 25.

Besides excluding his former wife and his fiancee, the will named no charitable organization as a beneficiary.

Registration at MC slated

Official registration for the fall semester at Midland College begins Wednesday and continues through Thursday.

Registration hours are between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. and 4 to 8 p.m. both days in the Physical Education Building.

Those wishing to enroll for credit courses this fall who have not preregistered should visit the Physical Education Building as early as possible Wednesday. They will be issued at time permit to register on Thursday, according to registrar Dee Windson. All time permits for Wednesday have been issued.

With preregistration closing today, more than 1,630 students had obtained time permits by Monday afternoon.

There will be no later registration on Friday, since the registrar's office will be preparing class rolls for instructors.

Late registration will open on Monday. A late registration fee of $5 is charged students who do not register Wednesday or Thursday.

Late registration is handled in the Office of Student Services, Administration Building, between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, or in the evening office, room 130 of the Science-Faculty Building between 5:30 and 8:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

DOROTHY FRANCES COOK assumed duties Monday as an instructor in Odessa College's nursing program. Mrs. Cook has worked at Parkview Hospital in Midland as a staff nurse and as an acting supervisor. She also has worked at Women's and Children's Hospital as a relief supervisor. She has been a registered nurse seven years.

got a hungry on. Let's eat."

Years later, she was backstage with Cash and his wife, June Carter. It was the first meeting of the two women.

"I want to see the woman who helped my man in West Texas," Mrs. Holifield said June Carter told her.

"To Mama: Thanks a million. Love, Roy Orbison."

That left-handed guitarist and Western singer Slim Whitman ("Canadian Sunset") wrote: "Mom Holifield: Hope there's always a place for me with you folks. Maybe we won't stay away so long."

She remembered the Grand Ole Opry's loud-talking Minnie Pearl. "She has a master's degree in college. She's smart. She's not dumb," Mrs. Holifield said.

The "honky-tonk man," Johnny Horton, wrote this on his photo: "To Mom Holifield: My favorite girl friend. Love ya honey."

And so it went.

Sincerity and comradeship were there — between the record-seller and the recording artists. In the process, they helped each other.

"They (the touring singers) would patronize us, (and) we'd push their records," recalled Mrs. Holifield.

Allen on dean's list

Michael Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Allen of 3304 Stanolind and recent graduate of New York University School of Orthotics and Prosthetics, has been placed on the dean's list for the past term in recognition of his high scholastic achievement.

U. S. REP. George Mahon of Lubbock will address the Downtown Lions Club at its Wednesday noon meeting in the Midland Hilton. The veteran congressman, dean of the Congress and chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, is expected to discuss major legislation which will be before the Congress after its summer recess. mitting prosecutors to seek the death penalty.

It was Eidson who also instructed Davis, only hours before the shootings, to increase Mrs. Davis' support payments to $5,000 monthly and pay thousands of dollars in other expenses.

Speaking softly and dressed demurely in a high-neck, cream-colored dress, Mrs. Davis spent only a short time on the stand Monday before being interrupted by the overnight recess.

Mrs. Davis identified her estranged husband at the state's request as "the third man from my right" at the defense table.

She used a magnifying glass to read documents introduced into evidence, saying she experienced eyesight and back problems as a result of the shooting and remains under a doctor's care.

The defense knows it must discredit Mrs. Davis' testimony if it is to win acquittal and move swiftly to identify Farr as her lover.

"I'm not saying I'm Miss Goody Two-Shoes, but their only defense of Cullen is to destroy me," Mrs. Davis told a reporter before taking the witness stand.

Hospital bond vote set today

MONAHANS — Ward County voters will decide today the fate of a $4 million bond issue to finance construction of a new hospital to replace the one heavily damaged by a tornado April 19.

If the voters approve the bond issue, it will take about two years to build the hospital, according to architect Tommie Huckabee of Andrews.

Ward commissioners have accepted a $375,682 insurance settlement for tornado damage to the hospital.

If absentee votes are an indication, voter turnout may be light, Ward County officials said.

not participate in making or seconding motions.

Welch is chairman of the board of directors of the agency and Brown is a former board member who resigned that position.

The commissioners agreed to postpone action on the request until the next regular meeting Sept. 12 so that the entire commissioners court may vote on the issue.

A scheduled MCAA board meeting at which the office situation was to be discussed was adjourned Monday night because a quorum was not present.

Welch said this morning he does not know what the agency will do for office space until the next commissioners meeting.

Illness at plant still mystery

Preliminary findings contain no clues as to what caused 150 employes to become ill last Tuesday night at the Texas Instruments plant at Midland Regional Air Terminal.

Although the final results of laboratory testing won't be known for severl days, James B. Brown, area director of the U.S. Department of Labor's Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) office in Lubbock, today said on-site analysis of samples taken from the plant Thursday night turned up nothing that would have caused the nausea and fainting reported by employes.

"The tests were taken one day later and it's pretty hard to guess exactly what might have happened Tuesday," Brown said.

Because no physical cause could be found for the symptoms that rapidly appeared in TI workers, TI Medical Director Dr. Milton Schulman attributed the cause to a phenomenon of "mass anxiety and hyperventilation."

Ex-Midlander graduates

Belinda Allen recently graduated from the Hendricks Memorial Hospital School of Medical Technology.

She has joined the Clinical Pathologist Laboratory in Abilene.

Her graduation from the school made her eligible to take the national registry examination of the American Society of Clinical Pathology in Dallas Aug. 19. Upon successful completion of the examination, she will become a registered medical technologist.

Miss Allen took her premedical technology training at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, where she was a member of Delta Social Club and Tri Beta Biology Honor Society.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Allen of 3304 Stanolind and is a graduate of Lee High School.

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — The Railroad Commission Monday adopted new rates to be charged in unincorporated areas of Andrews County by Andrews Gas Co.

The action was taken at the weekly Gas Utility Division conference by Chairman Mack Wallace and commissioners Jim Langdon and Jon Newton.

The City of Andrews approved on final reading a 7.1 per cent increase in rates for natural gas service on Aug. 15, and the gas company filed a motion with the Railroad Commission seeking to implement the same rates for its 88 customers in unincorporated areas.

Hearing examiner Jeffery Hill told the commission the new rates will hike a bill for 10,000 cubic feet of gas from $19.45 to $20.83.

Renewal of convictions should be Midlanders' prayer, minister says

Midlanders should pray for renewal of convictions and commitment and for compassion, First Baptist Church pastor Dr. Daniel Vestal this morning told approximately 200 persons attending a Jaycees prayer breakfast.

The breakfast was held in conjunction with the Midland Alliance.

Dr. Vestal, taking his text from Psalm 85, said he fears 20th century convictions "are very shallow and superficial."

Renewed commitment to God is necessary, he said, but compassion is also needed.

Conviction without compassion "would make us Pharisees, hard and brittle," Dr. Vestal said. He defined compassion as "benevolent, creative, active good will."

He said the primary reason people should pray is "there is a God and there is ultimate accountability."

Also at the prayer breakfast, Dr. Robert Boynton Smith, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, led a prayer.

Among those attending the breakfast were city and county officials, as well as school trustees and officials.

Dr. Daniel Vestal, pastor of First Baptist Church, speaks to approximately 200 persons who attended a Jaycees prayer breakfast this morning.

Proposed regulations may save family farm

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department, hoping to save the family farm, is proposing regulations that would force huge corporate interests in 17 states to sell more than a million acres in the arid West.

The regulations, which would go into effect in 90 days unless blocked by lawsuits, would require corporations, investors and other large landowners to sell property they hold in excess of amounts allowed in a little-enforced 1902 law.

The law was passed to place a 160-acre limit on the property a landowner may irrigate from federal water projects.

In announcing the proposal Monday, Interior Secretary Cecil D. Andrus noted that Congress designed water projects worth billions of dollars "primarily to place small farmers on the land." He said the new regulations are designed to carry out that congressional directive.

"Let me emphasize that these proposed regulations are not designed to jeopardize legitimate family farm operations," Andrus said. "They are designed to help the family farmer, not agribusiness."

Officials said they expect the rules to be challenged by landowning interests.

For more than 20 years the federal Bureau of Reclamation has financed water projects that convert marginal land into some of the nation's most valuable agricultural acreage. But critics have maintained that large corporations and absentee owners benefitted most from the policy.

The department's new regulations would apply only to "excess lands." But Andrus said restrictions for other lands "will be prepared as soon as practicable."

Keith Higginson, Bureau of Reclamation commissioner, said the regulations would force large landowners to divest themselves of 1,074,000 acres of excess land, which would then be offered for sale to small farmers.

While the increasingly valuable fruit and vegetable acreage was, in effect, being divided in checkerboard fashion by the business interests, the government was doing little to enforce the 1902 congressional act. The law limits ownership of land receiving water from dam projects in the Rocky Mountains and on Western rivers to 160 acres. The department said it plans to enforce the law now.

The regulations would zero in on absentee owners by requiring future purchasers of excess lands to live within 50 miles of the land they wish to buy.

The rules also would require Interior Department approval of all sales of excess land to prevent current owners from receiving windfall profits.

The proposed acreage limitation does not mean farms using federal water would be limited to 160 acres. A farmer and his wife, for example, could each own 160 acres. Each also would be permitted to lease an additional 160 acres.

Farm exports predicted to rise by 5.4 per cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department now expects U.S. farm exports for the year ending Sept. 30 to rise by 5.4 per cent in value from a year earlier despite a forecast decline of 6.7 per cent in volume.

That would mean 111.1 million tons of commodities shipped out, compared to almost 117.8 million a year earlier, but the products would be worth $24 billion compared to last fiscal year's $22.76 billion.

USDA also foresees a jump of one-third, from $10.5 billion to $14 billion, in the value of agricultural imports, shrinking the favorable balance of trade by 18.4 per cent to $10 billion.

While meat imports have been smaller and the increased sugar imports have been cheaper, higher prices for coffee, cocoa, tea, vegetables, fruits and nuts are responsible for the import boosts, a recent analysis said.

Negating beneficial impacts for most farmers from the record $24-billion in exports are the movements in both value and volume of wheat and feedgrains. The value was down nearly 15 per cent to $7.8 billion for the first nine months of the fiscal year and is projected at only $10 billion for the full year, an 18 per cent drop.

Wheat export volume after bumper crops is off about 24 per cent; feedgrain, about 3 per cent.

Other commodities have done well, however. Cotton exports in the first three quarters were up 56 per cent in volume and 106 per cent in value; rice, 21 per cent in volume; vegetable oils, 28 per cent; and animal fats, 37 per cent.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 641.99 million pounds of red meat in cold storage July 31 was 12 per cent below the June 30 mark and 1 per cent less than last year, the Crop Reporting Board says.

Frozen beef holdings totaled 391.1 million pounds, up 2 per cent, and frozen pork, 177.4 million, up slightly.

But supplies of butter in cold storage were more than double, while those of potatoes, cheeses, fruits and eggs also were up sharply.

Group calling in chits

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Consumer Federation of America, which threw its considerable lobbying weight behind the successful House campaign last month to assure substantially higher government supports for 1977 wheat and feedgrain crops, is calling in its chits.

"Consumer Federation would like to continue working with farmers on mutually beneficial legislation, particularly the creation of an Agency for Consumer Protection, the federation's No. 1 priority," a recent three-page news release from the organization says.

That's the closest the release comes to a pitch for "cards and letters to your congressman" in support of the consumer-agency bill, tentatively scheduled to be voted on in the House next month.

But congressional staff aides say privately that there should be no doubt about a trade-off of votes after the effort it took to secure the higher supports in the face of opposition from President Carter, the Agriculture Department and the House leadership, all of whom support the proposed consumer agency.

Accompanying the news release was a letter from Iowa Democratic Rep. Tom Harkin's office, thanking the consumer federation for "your active support ... (in) helping smaller family farmers to stay in business."

Twelve other Democrats from grain states signed the letter. It reviewed the consumer group's past activities on behalf of small farmers and its refusal to support the 1973 beef boycott that produced long-lasting antagonisms between the cattle industry and consumer groups.

"Unfortunately, many farmers and consumers have operated under the mistaken notion that there exists an inherent and irreversible polarity between farmers and consumers. There does not!" the letter says.

Howdy, George, Helen

Yes sir, Congressman George Mahon is coming to town!

And, as always, Midlanders are as pleased as can be at the opportunity of once again being hosts to this distinguished West Texas statesman, who always is welcome in the Tall City.

Mr. Mahon, dean of the Congress and chairman of the powerful House Committee on Appropriations, will address the Downtown Lions Club Wednesday noon in the Midland Hilton.

He also will be in his office in the Federal Building before and after lunch to confer with constituents.

This will mark the Lubbock congressman's first visit to Midland since he announced a few weeks ago that he will not be a candidate for re-election in next year's balloting. He will, however, serve the remainder of his term, ending Dec. 31, 1978.

His many friends and supporters here and elsewhere regret his decision to step-down at the end of his present term, but none can really blame him.

Afterall, Mr. Mahon has served in Congress for more than 40 years. In fact, he was elected as the first congressman to represent the 19th District when it was created in 1934. He is the only representative the West Texas district has had .... and he has represented it and its residents nobly and well through the years.

He also has been a member of the Appropriations Committee since 1939 and has served continuously as its chairman since 1964 — longer than any other person in the history of the Congress. He also has served as chairman of the panel's Defense sub-committee since 1939.

And before he went to Congress, Mr. Mahon served as county and district attorney over in Mitchell County for a number of years. So, after devoting a major part of his adult life to serving in public office, he most certainly is deserving of a rest from his present assignments.

George Mahon, although one of the most powerful men in Congress, is one of the kindest, most considerate, most helpful of them all. He also is one of the most knowledgeable members of Congress, particulary in the areas of energy, agriculture, defense and finance. But even more important, he is one of the most popular, most admired and most highly respected members of Congress. He is a Christian gentleman in every respect.

He holds all kinds of honorary degrees and special awards too numerous to mention, all, however, pointing to the high esteem in which he is held by individuals and groups across the width and breadth of the land.

His conservatism and his continuing plea for fiscal responsibility in federal government are among the strong points which have gained for him tremendous support and appreciation from many persons interested in good government all over America.

But bringing it right down to home base, Rep. George Mahon has done so many great and good things for his district, its cities and its people that it is next to impossible to list them all. Let's just say that he has served nobly and well his constituents in the 19th Congressional District from its very beginning, and they are grateful for his dedicated service.

And through it all, Helen Mahon has seen right at her husband's side through thick and thin, an able associate representative, if you please, from this West Texas district.

So, it is no wonder that Midlanders are delighted when George and Helen Mahon come to town. Yes, the WELCOME mat always is out for the George Mahons!

There's no peace in summer, regardless

MARTHA'S VINEYARD, Mass. — If President Carter really wants to get the housing business on its feet I think he should talk to me. No matter where I seem to go on vacation, they start building a house on the next lot.

I don't know where they get the information, but I suspect the contractors have a nationwide computer that tells them where I'm going to rent a house for the summer. As soon as the word is out, they buy the lot next to the house and start constructing a home, a garage — or if that fails, a new sewer.

This year was no different. I rented a house in the woods. There wasn't another human being within three miles, when I signed the lease. The next morning two bulldozers arrived and starting smashing down all the trees. Three men were studying blueprints.

"How did you find me?" I asked.

"It wasn't easy," one of the men said. "We were told you rented the Fainsod House and we started building across the street. We had the home half finished when we realized we made a mistake. So we dropped everything and came out here to build this house first."

"Why me?" I asked desperately, "I only get a month off. Do you have to build a house in August?"

"It's nothing personal," one of the other men said. "We always build houses when people are on vacation. It's the best time of year to hammer."

"But nobody can get any sleep."

"Look, Mister. Everyone dreams of having his little vacation home by a rippling brook or next to a blue lagoon or on the sie of a mountain. But somebody has to build it. When it's built another person comes along and says, 'I'd like one just like that.' So he buys the next lot and starts building his dream house. The guy in the first house goes bonkers while the house next to him is being built. It's happening all over the country. The hills are alive with the sound of wood saws, electric drills and dump trucks full of bricks. Do you think you're special?"

"But I rent," I protested. "I should get special consideration."

All three men laughed and one said, "That's why we're here. You renters think you can get a free ride in the summertime and have a quiet vacation because you don't own a house. Well, you're living in a dream world. We'd rather start a house next to a renter than an owner any day. An owner will put up with a certain amount of hammering and sawing because he'll be there forever. But a renter has only three weeks or a month and we can really ruin his time."

"I've never done anything to you," I protested. "Why do you want to build a house next to me at this time? Can't you wait until September?"

"It's no fun in September," one of them replied. "The only enjoyment workmen get in the construction business is waking up everyone on vacation in the mornings. My men would just sit on their duffs if they didn't have the incentive of keeping the guy next door from enjoying the few weeks he has off.

"As soon as they see someone in a hammock taking a snooze or sitting on his porch enjoying a beer, they go ape with their hammers. When they know they aren't disturbing anyone, all they do is sit around and talk about the Red Sox."

"Then what you're saying is that no matter where I rent a house you'll follow me?"

"Those are our orders," one of the men said. "When a man goes on vacation we have to start building a house next to him. You'll have to excuse us now. We're bringing in the chain saws to cut up the trees."

"How many trees are you going to cut up?"

"How long are you staying?"

INSIDE REPORT:

President Carter retails the canal

By ROWLAND EVANS And ROBERT NOVAK

Evans Novak

WASHINGTON — President Carter realized the political complexity of seeking quick Senate ratification of the Panama Canal treaty when his early barrage of telephone calls produced nothing immediate from the two notables whose help he needs most: Ronald Reagan and Henry Jackson.

The White House wanted passivity from Reagan to dampen opposition from conservative Republicans, and support from Sen. Jackson to bring along defense-oriented Democrats. Instead, both were noncommittal in response to the President's personal request. Reagan could well end up as an active foe of ratification and Jackson may levy a substantial price on unrelated matters before finally supporting the treaty.

Actually, Reagan and particularly Jackson are only secondarily interested in the canal itself. Reagan wants to keep his basic conservative constituency. Jackson, who has never shown interest in the canal issue, would like presidential commitments on arms control and national security.

Mr. Carter is vulnerable to such politics because he must sell the treaty at retail, not wholesale. Instinctive public opposition to transferring the canal to Panama is so overwhelming that Carter strategists doubt even the bully pulpit of the presidency can reverse opinion in time. So the President is reduced to a retail search for political leaders.

Gerald R. Ford and Henry Kissinger quickly granted approval (even without seeing the written treaty). But public rejoicing at the White House over the Ford-Kissinger endorsements was matched by private skepticism about their value. "Ford's support should do wonders with the Republican party, just like last year," a sarcastic Carter adviser cracked.

But Reagan's neutrality could help significantly. Reagan's response to the President's call — that he needed to see the treaty before deciding — was considered encouraging at the White House. Canal negotiator Sol Linowitz offered to travel to California to brief Reagan.

Indeed, some key Reagan aides were embarrassed last year by his dramatic use of the canal in primary elections against President Ford. They now worry that violence in Panama which might result from Senate rejection of the treaty could be blamed on Reagan. Besides, they reason, the charge of "secret" canal negotiations used against Ford so effectively no longer applies. So, when anti-treaty Senators asked Reagan to testify before a Senate subcommittee Sept. 8, Reagan's staff replied: sorry, the governor is busy that day.

Sensing what was afoot, other Reagan advisers were appalled — not so much by the canal itself but because they know a passive Reagan role would be viewed by hard-core Reaganites as betrayal. One key Reagan supporter, who had silently accepted Reagan's selection last year of liberal Sen. Richard Schweiker as his running-mate, told us neutrality on the treaty would be "a second Schweiker, and two is one too many."

Sen. Jesse Helms, leading the fight against ratification, called Reagan to argue his case — a precursor of an onslaught to come if he stays quiet. But Reagan is an experienced politician who knows that abandoning a base of support can be political suicide. On Aug. 16, he began edging toward clear opposition.

Reagan informed Linowitz there was no point in coming West without a written treaty (which does not exist yet). Anti-treaty Senators were told Reagan might attend that Sept. 8 hearing after all. Reagan flatly advised CBS what he had left ambiguous when talking to Mr. Carter: he opposes any treaty which relinquishes the canal. While aides will keep him from leading the fight, that is not the same as neutrality.

Scoop Jackson's role is less public but probably more important than Reagan's. The President cannot win ratification without defense-oriented Senators such as Jackson and Georgia's Sam Nunn — both of whom so far say nothing about the treaty. Whereas Reagan's ambiguous attitude with Mr. Carter encouraged the White House, an identical attitude by Jackson was discouraging.

Although he has kept quiet, Jackson is not happy about the Carter administration's softened arms control (SALT) proposals. The White House suspects, therefore, that Jackson wants to trade his Panama vote for national security matters he really cares about.

This is possible for a simple reason: the President cannot quickly wholesale the treaty to a nation which still views the Panama Canal as a lingering remnant of national pride. Visiting Panama in 1912, Franklin D. Roosevelt wrote his mother that the nearly-completed canal was "greater than the Tower of Babel or the Pyramids . . . (Col.) Goethals (builder of the canal) said in his quiet way last night, 'We like to have Americans come down, because they all say it makes them better Americans.'" The persistence of that sentiment has driven Jimmy Carter to the telephone to plead with politicians.

Mood of Taiwan: moving toward totally free society

Nick Thimmesch

TAIPEI — The American notion of the good society — the American democratic dream — is more aspired to than realized in a world where free peoples are a shrinking minority. This is especially true in Asia, where nations granting its citizens even a semblance of freedom are indeed a precious few.

Taiwan is not a totally free society, but the fact that it moves that way should encourage those Americans who fret about the decline of freedom in the world. Taiwan has come a long way since president Chiang Kai-shek established his government here as the Republic of China in 1949.

The combination of American prodding and the fact that Chiang's son, Chiang Ching-kuo has actually ruled Taiwan for the past five years, has led Taiwan into an economic boom and made it a generally open society. since the KMT-Nationalist Party dominates, the government has always pushed a fierce anti-Communist line and a pledge to one day recover mainland China.

But that dogma fades, and a new generation of leaders will likely emerge someday, satisfied to put aside the clarion call to regain the mainland, and more determined to protect the island integrity of Taiwan.

Taiwan, about the size of Indiana, has few natural resources, but, through incredibly hard work, has raised the per capita income from $132 in 1952 to about $1,100 this year. Moreover, the boom has meant a better distribution of income and commendable land reform. Taiwan is one of the few developing countries where the gap between rich and poor has been quickly narrowed. In Taipei, nearly every family has a television set and a refrigerator, some 57 per cent have telephones, and 33 per cent own motorcycles.

The basic economic statistics are spectacular. The gross national product (GNP) grew 11.7 per cent in 1976, and expands in 1977. Unemployment is under 4 per cent, and inflation of consumer products is at 3.1 per cent. Taiwan had a $455 million trade surplus in 1976 on its $8.1 billion in exports.

U.S. trade with Taiwan is 10 times larger than that with Communist China — a country 50 times the size of Taiwan. Moreover, U.S. investments and loans in Taiwan total $4.5 billion — a significant stake for us.

Despite the rush of nations to recognize Communist China and drop diplomatic ties with Taiwan, foreign investment remains fairly steady. The Japanese and Europeans gave Taiwan a vote-of-confidence in 1976 with substantial investments in manufacturing facilities.

One of the best tonics Taiwan ever received was in 1972, just after Nixon-Kissinger made their celebrated trip to Communist China. In the wake of that, Ford Motor Co. came through with a $36 million commitment — the largest single American investment in Taiwan — to develop auto manufacturing which, by the way, will turn out 61,000 units in 1977.

"No matter what you do about our status," says Dr. Chang Kwang-shih, vice-minister of economic affairs, "our economy will grow. Status is a temporary psychological problem. The facts are with us."

Indeed, Taiwan has an ambitious program of 10 major construction projects, including a giant shipbuilding yard, a sizable steel mill, a north-south freeway system, new harbors and the island's first nuclear generator.

Average age of the shipyard workers is 26. Nearly all these young men were recruited and trained, para-military fashion, live in commodious dormitories, and seem unusually dedicated to their work. Taiwan has what we in the United States would call "company unions," only in Taiwan, they are tied to the ruling KMT party. There is no collective bargaining and strikes are prohibited. The "unions" are used to effect liaison between management and workers, and for counseling purposes.

For all the patriotism and belief in the system that the Taiwanese have, they are still short on what Americans and Europeans would regard as hallmarks of a democracy. The press follows the government lines. elections deal with lesser officials. while criticisms of how the government and its officials work are allowed, there is no voice raised against dogma or basic policy. Nor is it easy for a Taiwanese to get a visa to visit another country.

By Asian standards, Taiwan is quite free, however. People come and go on the island as they please. The government emphasizes education, and 99 per cent of school-age children attend school (better than in the United States, certainly). The literacy rate is 95 per cent. There is considerable cultural life, plenty of free-swinging night clubs, no curfew, and an impressive program ot athletics (Taiwan's youngsters are constant world champions in Little and Junior League Baseball).

The island's birthrate was reduced to 1.8 per cent in 1975, but then came the "Year of the Dragon" (1976) and it soared to 2.4 per cent. Abortion is prohibited, but contraception flourishes. No one in government knows what the "Nights of the Typhoon" did to the 1977 birthrate.

The Taiwanese live on a very crowded island and, while they are proud of their economic achievements and being likened to Japan, they also voice misgivings about the clutter and the smog. The middle class increasingly moves to the hills and mountains, and there is fear of that day when automobiles are so prevalent that Taipei becomes one glut of cars and motorbikes. At that, life expectancy has climbed sharply, with women expected to reach 73 years and men about 70.

Everything seems improved in Taiwan except the weather, which promises heat and humidity in its good moments, typhoons and occasional earthquakes in the bad ones.

Taiwan is such a success story that its own people would willingly fight to keep it from communist domination. In this sense, President Chiang Ching-kuo has wisely seen to it that native Taiwanese are well represented in the military and in the government. This is a nation growing, watching U.S. moves carefully, and hoping.

THE BIBLE CAN YOU QUOTE IT?

By LAVINA ROSS FOWLER

1. There is a legend or tradition which tells of Noah's daughter-in-law, Sibyl, as having foretold the building of the Tower of Babel, Alexander's conquest and the birth of Christ. The ancient Greeks and Romans regarded some woman named Sibyl as an oracle. How may of Noah's family does the Bible name? Genesis 9:18

2. What two words invited Matthew into the apostolic group? Matthew 9:9

3. Why does the expression "feet of clay" denote instability? Daniel 2;35

4. Who was Vashti? Esther 2:7

5. Jeptha and Herod each made a rash vow, one was to God, the other to woman. Tell. Judges 11:30. Mark 6:23

Mark Russell says

The obvious thing about Bert Lance, which doesn't seem quite right, is that he is not a Republican.

Some people get into financial entanglements because of cunning, unethical behavior or larceny. Perhaps, in Lance's case, it's because of a $5 calculator.

Jimmy Carter, putting his hand on Lance's shoulder, said, "Bert, the Bible says to forgive, so I forgive you. I'll miss you, but I still forgive you."

Having the director of the budget in such financial trouble is an embarrassment. It's as if the secretary of agriculture's plants died.

Transcripts show U.S. policy worries Chinese

GEORGE C. WILSON
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — Peking's leadership told a prominent American visitor last month that China and the United States "must use joint efforts in dealing with the (Soviet) polar bear."

That blunt language was coupled with criticism of the United States for pursuing an "appeasement policy" toward the Soviet Union, according to the visitor, retired Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt, former chief of U.S. naval operations.

Transcripts and summaries of Zumwalt's July conversations with Chinese leaders were released to The Washington Post. They include talks with China's senior vice premier, Li Hsien-nine, and with Foreign Minister Huang Hua. Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance's first talks in Peking Monday were with Huang Hua.

Li was named one of the Chinese Communist Party's four deputy chairman last week by the 11th Party Congress.

The Zumwalt transcripts contain blunter language about parallel American-Chinese interests in checkmating the Soviet Union than either Peking or Washington ever officially admits. Public transcripts of any private talks with Chinese leaders are a rarity.

These records, Zumwalt said, were made by his daughter Ann, a Catholic University graduate who accompanied him and served as notetaker. "The time required for translation, she said, enabled her to produce virtually verbatim accounts. Zumwalt said a copy of the records was given to the State Department.

Zumwalt, a critic of past American policy on Soviet detente, or relaxation of tension, was one of a series of recent visitors welcomed to China as hard-liners on relations with the Soviet Union. He is a member of the Committee on the Present Danger.

The records he made available showed that Vice Premier Li, while praising former Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger for the Nixon administration's opening to China in 1971-72, said of Kissinger: "He fears the Soviet Union very much. I think the United States should be toughter with the Soviet Union."

Zumwalt, an arch critic of Kissinger, agreed with Li. He said Zbigniew Brzezinski, President Carter's national security adviser, "asked me to state that the present administration does not share the last administration's tragic view. It has an optimistic view of the future. It is prepared to compete with the Soviet Union if necessary."

Among the points made by Zumwalt's Chinese hosts in the course of his month's stay were these:

—Chinese leaders have concluded that the Soviet Union is focusing its energies on Western Europe rather than on either China or Africa.

—African developments are going well from China's standpoint and Peking will continue to support African nationalist aspirations.

—The idea of bartering surplus Chinese oil for American arms collides with current Chinese policy, but buying U.S. oil-drilling equipment does not.

The discussions revealed no new flexibility, however, on the central issue of China's unresolved demands for the United States to sever official relations with the Nationalist Chinese government on the island of Taiwan.

Miner's strike temporarily stopped

The Washington Post

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — Top leaders of the United Mine Workers Monday ordered a temporary halt to a wildcat strike that has crippled Appalachian coal production for two months. Local union leaders representing the strikers promptly bowed to the order.

But the union's top officials threatened to call a nationwide coal strike in 60 days if cutbacks in miners' health benefits — the immediate cause of the work stoppages by as many as 85,000 miners in five states since mid-June -- are not restored in the meantime.

Previous back-to-work orders have been ignored by the militant miners, but union leaders expressed confidence that this one would be heeded. "It gets the men back to work and it buys us some time," said one official.

The agreement came at the end of a stormy six-hour meeting between the UMW International Executive Board and officials of the Charleston-based District 17, the union's largest and most militantly pro-strike district.

UMW officials said after the closed meeting at the Daniel Boone Hotel here that the frequently divided executive board voted unanimously to order the strikers back to work for a 60-day period, during which the union would attempt to negotiate a settlement of the benefits dispute with the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, the industry's bargaining arm.

If settlement is not reached within the 60-day period, UMW officials said the contract between the UMW and BCOA would be terminated and a nationwide coal strike would be called.

Price freeze expected

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican businessmen will freeze prices until the end of the year in an effort to combat 18 per cent annual inflation, according to a business group spokesman.

Businesses belonging to the Business Coordinating Council will also pay the equivalent of 15 days pay to each worker, based on the minimum salary before the end of October.

Public and private banks will make over $170 million dollars available to medium and small businesses for credit.

Memo indicates Park courted Senate committee

The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON — Federal investigators probing the Korean influence-buying scandal have obtained a memo indicating that South Korean businessman Tongsun Park and his aides once courted members of the Senate Armed Services Committee on behalf of their government.

The memo, dated July 29, 1975, suggests that invitations to visit Seoul at the expense of the Korean government were extended — apparently without success — to Sens. John C. Stennis (D-Miss.), the committee chairman, John G. Tower (R-Tex.) and Dewey F. Bartlett (R-Okla.), members of the committee.

A fourth senator referred to in the document as "Sen. Bird" could be either Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr. (Ind.-Va.), also a member of the Armed Services Committee, or Sen. Robert C. Byrd (D-W.Va.), now majority leader and then majority whip.

The memo said Tower, Bartlett and Byrd "would like to be invited by a foreign govecment and travel as a guest of such host government." The senators, however, said they never made such a trip.

The memo, addressed to Park from Spencer Robbins, one of his top aides, surfaces at a time when Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III (D-Ill.), chairman of the Senate Ethics Committee, has said his panel soon will begin examining efforts by South Korean agents to unduly influence senators.

The Korean influence scandal so far has pointed only to Representatives, principally Democrats.

Stennis said through a spokesman Monday that he "never considered going to Korea" in 1975 and that "it's just somebody's imagination." He said he did not know either Park or Robbins.

Tower has accepted a few dinner invitations from Park but did not travel to South Korea in 1975 and was not invited, a spokesman for the senator said.

An aide to Sen. Harry Byrd said he did not know if Byrd was the one referred to in the memo but that Byrd had never been to South Korea.

"He has met Tongsun Park on social occasions but has no particular personal relationship with him," the aide said. "The senator has never traveled at the expense of a foreign government."

Bartlett has never met Park or Robbins and has never gone to South Korea, his office reported. Sen. Robert Byrd could not be reached for comment.

Robbins, who wrote the memo to Park, was chief executive officer of Park's Washington-based Pacific Development, Inc., a personal investment firm.

Under the heading "U.S. Senators' visit to S. Korea," the typed memo reads:

"1. Senator Stennis will not visit S. Korea during the month of August, 1975.

"2. Senators Tower, Bartlet (sic), Bird (sic) and others are interested; however, these gentlemen do not like to travel officially via government aircraft, with military escorts and in accordance with U.S. arrangements. Rather, they would like to be invited by a foreign government and travel as a guest of such host government. If this is feasible, normal invitations can be extended and rapid decision reached as to acceptance. Official invitations could then be extended by the host government and arrangements made.

"3. Your direction is needed in order to proceed. Time is of the essence."

Robbins and Bong-Yang Lee, another principal aide to Park, reportedly have been cooperating with the Justice Department and the House Ethics Committee in their parallel investigations of Korean lobbying efforts.

Park and other agents are accused of plying members of Congress with cash, gifts, entertainment and other gratuities.

Other survivors include five sons, four daughters, a sister, 51 grandchildren and 36 great-grandchildren.

Redford sworn in

PROVO, Utah (AP) — Actor Robert Redford was sworn in as chairman of the Provo Canyon Sewer Service District.

Redford and his family live in the canyon and he owns a ski resort in the mountains just east of town.

Redford, wearing denim trousers and an open-necked western shirt, told the Utah County Commission Monday that preliminary studies on feasibility of a sewer system in the canyon are under way.

Three services held

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three memorial services were held for Groucho Marx. Two, held by his family, excluded Erin Fleming, the comedian's longtime companion. A third was held by Miss Fleming.

"We're just having a good time," the 37-year-old Miss Fleming said Monday night. "There are a lot of writers, entertainers and contemporaries of Groucho's here: Carroll O'Connor, Eric Segal, all the boys ... and all the dames, too. They're bringing me presents, like a 'You Bet Your Life Game.'"

Miss Fleming's get-together came only hours after the family held a private service before the body of the 86-year-old comedian was cremated.

Chip, Caron Carter plan Plains move

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chip and Caron Carter are returning to Plains, Ga., with their six-month-old son after saying good-by to friends in Washington and to reports that their marriage is on the rocks.

Without fanfare, the pair plans to depart from the nation's capital today with James Earl Carter IV, their son.

"I think they're very happy with the decision to go to Plains," said Deputy Press Secretary Ann Anderson. She said no formal farewell dinner was planned for Chip and Caron, whose marital status came under increasing public scrutiny in recent weeks.

Chip, the President's 27-yearold son, wound up some business on Monday at the Democratic National Committee, where he had held an $8,000 part-time job. Caron entertained friends at the White House.

Chip will work in the family peanut warehouse business in Plains.

Sebastian Cabot

Actor dies at his home in Canada

VICTORIA, Canada (AP) — Actor Sebastian Cabot, who played the bearded butler in the television series Family Affair, died early today of a stroke at his home here. He was 59.

Born in London, England, Cabot moved with his wife and family to the United States in 1955.

A rotund, bearded man, he appeared in the movies of "Kismet," "Terror in a Texas Town," "The Time Machine" and "The Family Jewels."

Cabot also played in the TV series Checkmate from 1959 to 1962. But he was best known for his playing of the staid but softhearted British butler in Family Affair, a series about the trials of a bachelor raising two small children in New York City.

Cabot is survived by his wife, two daughters and a son.

Courts-martial trials resume

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP) — Military legal officers geared today for resumption of courts-martial trials for nine black Marines accused of raiding a barracks room occupied by white Leathernecks last Nov. 13.

The trials have been in limbo since March, when defense attorneys asked the Court of Military Appeals in Washington, D.C., to remove the cases from Marine Corps jurisdiction. The court refused last month.

Initially, 14 blacks were charged with barging into the room where seven white Leathernecks were holding a beer party. All but one of the whites was hospitalized for injuries inflicted by clubs and sharpened screwdrivers.

In pretrial hearings, the blacks testified they were attempting to carry out a retaliatory raid against a base Ku Klux Klan cell, but struck the wrong room.

The Naval Investigative Service subsequently said none of the injured whites were KKK members.

The incident, however, revealed the existence of activity by the white-supremacist group on the base, the nation's biggest Marine installation.

Courts martial were slated to reopen today with Pvt. Eddie Page Jr. of Bay Springs, Miss., and L. Cpl. Rickey C. McGilvery of Dallas, Tex., to face trials.

In trials already conducted, Cpls. Curtis Jones, El F. Henry and Dean Edwards entered guilty pleas to assault counts and received sentences, while Cpl. Glenn R. White was found innocent.

Walter Pidgeon listed in critical condition

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actor Walter Pidgeon, debonaire star of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's golden era, has lapsed into critical condition with a blood clot on his lung, a hospital spokeswoman says.

Pidgeon, 78, was recovering from surgery he underwent last week for a blood clot on the brain when the new clot was discovered in his lung on Monday.

He was placed in the intensive-care unit of St. John's Hospital here.

Doctors said he suffered from a phlebitis-like condition — clotting of blood in the lower extremities. They performed a tracheotomy on Pidgeon Monday, placing a small tube in his windpipe to facilitate breathing. They also placed a tiny umbrella-like device in a vein to prevent further clotting, the hospital spokeswoman said.

Pidgeon was one of Hollywood's romantic box office attractions in the 1940s, making his name in a series of movies opposite British actress Greer Garson.

Among them was "Mrs. Miniver," the 1941 story of an English family's courage during the German blitz of World War II. Years later, Pidgeon still was being called "Mr. Miniver" on the streets of London and Paris.

Though he often spoke of "taking it easy," Pidgeon remained active in films and appeared in three minor roles in 1976. His last major role came in 1973, when he portrayed an aging pickpocket in "Harry in Your Pocket."

DBCP chemical alert expected

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — A pest-controlling chemical suspected of causing sterility in men and cancer in animals is "too hot to sit on" and a national alert on the hazards of the chemical may be issued soon, a federal official says.

Federal officials said after the disclosure Monday of a National Cancer Institute study of DBCP — dibromochloropropane — that they will await further test before issuing an alert.

Animals injected with DBCP in the study got cancer, said Dr. Channing Meyer, chief of the medical section for hazard evaluation at the National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH).

The cancer study "in and of itself should raise suspicion as to whether it is a human carcinogen (cancer producer)," Meyer said.

Meyer said NIOSH "is definitely leaning towards" issuing a national alert on DBCP if results of further tests on chemical workers substantiate earlier findings of sterility.

Boris Osheroff, principle environmental officer of public health for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said Monday that DBCP is "too hot to sit on," and confirmed in Washington that the chemical probably would be the subject of a national bulletin.

He declined to discuss the recent NCI study, but said a 1973 study found stomach cancer in rats and mice given high doses of DBCP, which is used to control pests in soil.

Meyer said more data should be available by the end of the week, when Dow, Shell Oil Co. and Occidental Chemical Corp. — which also market DBCP — report further results of sterility tests they are conducting.

Etcyl Blair, Dow's director of environmental health and research, and Dr. H. Charles Scharnweber, corporate medical director, were unavailable for comment on the possible link to cancer.

Meanwhile, The Washington Post reported today that Dow and Shell were aware more than 20 years ago that DBCP caused sterility in animals.

The Post said that tests conducted in the 1950s by Dow and Shell, the two biggest producers of DBCP, and published in 1961 in the Journal of Toxicology and Applied Pharmacology, showed that the chemical caused several medical problems in animals, including the shrinking of testicles and sterility.

Murrell's muscle sinks Cubbies, 9-5

Amarillo's Gold Sox and Ivan Murrell in particular cluttered up Midland's rose-strewn path to the pennant with toe-stubbing bouders again Monday night.

The Gold Sox, now leading the five-game series 2-1, kept the Cubs from opening any daylight in the Texas League West with a 9-5 win and a couple of late inning homers by Murrell got the job done.

Murrell hit a solo homer in the seventh as Amarillo scored three runs for a 6-2 lead and just when it looked like the Cubs might rally to pull it out after Mike Umfleet's three-run double, Murrell applied the coup de grace with a three-run homer in the eighth.

The blows were the 23rd and 24th of the season for the former major league outfielder and the eighth and ninth for him against Midland.

JUAN EICHELBERGER, 11-7, needed relief help from lefty Don Alfano, but hung around long enough to get the win, his seventh in his last eight decisions. It also gave him a 3-2 edge on the Cubs this season.

Jack Ledbetter, 11-8, was tagged with the loss, although it was Byron Wilkerson who was the unfortunate victim of Murrell's big homer.

Two were out in the fatal eighth, but a couple of runners were on as a result of infield hits. Manager Jim Saul, playing the percentages, lifted lefty Larry Groover to bring in the righthanded Wilkerson to face the righthanded Murrell.

Ivan liked the first pitch he saw and when last seen the ball was rising in the night toward Lamesa. As it turned out, the way Alfano finished up, it was superfluous.

Tonight it will be Greg Wilkes, 6-6 for Amarillo against Randy Martz, 3-2, the Cubs No. 1 draft pick in the recent free agent draft.

UMFLEET, DESPITE the loss, had another big night at the plate with four runs batted in singling home Kurt Seibert, who had led off the fourth with a triple, Midland's first hit off Eichelberger.

Then in the eighth, Jimmy Buckner's single and walks to Carlos Lezcano and Seibert had the bases loaded with two out. Manager Dave Campbell lifted Eichelberger and Umfleet greeted Alfano with the vase clearing double to left center. However, that was the only bad pitch Alfano made, facing the minimum seven batters in the final 2⅓ innings.

Amarillo jumped on Ledbetter for three runs in the fourth as Broderick Perkins hit his second single, Luke Wrenn tripled, Gene Quirk doubled and Steve Smith singled.

Perkins then belted a solo homer over the fence in center to make t 4-1 in the fifth.

SINGLES BY Duane Gustavson, Lezcano and Scott Boras got a run back in the home fifth.

In the seventh, Murrell's first homer plus a single by O'Neill and Wrenn's second triple upped the Sox' lead to 6-2, to set the stage for Umfleet's double and Murrell's boulder roller in the eighth.

CUBPRINTS — Home runs have haunted Wilkerson this season. Murrell's was the 10th he has surrendered in 56 innings...Wilkes is 3-2 against Midland, winning 3-2 and 6-1. Martz is 1-0 against Amarillo, the win coming against Wilkes 9-4 in Amarillo August 14...Murrell now has knocked in 27 runs against Midland and has three hom runs in the current series...

Watson doing well

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Watson neared the $300,000 mark in 1977 winnings on the professional golf tour this week with a sixth-place finish in the Westchester Classic.

Watson won $10,200 at Westchester to increase his total on the money list to $291,678, compared to $273,348 won by Jack Nicklaus, the second leading money winner so far this year.

Andy North's victory at Westchester vaulted him from 45th on the list to 13th with $112,688.

The only changes in the top 10 from last week saw Bill Kratzert move from 11th in ninth with $120,536 and Andy Bean advance from 13th to 10th with $119,720.

Diablos take over first

By The Associated Press

El Paso, behind the combined pitching efforts of Jim Dorsey and Carlos Perez, claimed undisputed possession of first place in the West Division of the Texas League Monday, while Arkansas stretched its lead to 2½ games in the East.

The Diablos went ahead of San Antonio 3-2 in the fourth inning when Terry Stupey's sacrifice fly scored Floyd Rayford. El Paso finally won 8-2, and cling to a 1-game lead over Midland.

Dorsey boosted his record to 10-7, with Perez picking up a save for El Paso.

The Arkansas Travelers scored three runs in the ninth inning to defeat Tulsa Drillers 3-2.

To pull the game out in the bottom of the ninth, Arkansas combined an error, a passed ball, four walks and two singles. The game was decided when reliever Mike Arrington walked Ron Farkas, forcing in the winning run.

In Jackson, Miss., meanwhile, Mike Scott set a club season record of 14 victories as he scattered six hits and lead the Jackson Mets to a 6-4 triumph over Shreveport.

Scott, 14-9, broke the mark of 13 wins held by himself and Jeff Grose.

Chris Batton, 4-5, was the losing pitcher for Shreveport.

Four of Shreveport's hits came in the first inning when the Captains scored four unearned runs with the help of two Met errors.

BOBSERVATIONS

Cowboys roll out the red carpet

By BOB DILLON

IRVING — The Dallas Cowboy organization really knows how to treat the working press, especially those who come into Texas Stadium to cover a game.

Saturday night was a good example for this particular sports writer. Doug Todd, Public Relations Director, rolled out the red carpet for everybody.

Todd and his assistant, George Heddleston, are kept busy before, during and after each Cowboy game.

After filing the dressing room story on Dallas after midnight Saturday, Todd offered me a ride back to my hotel.

The Cowboys have a special driver for this purpose when visiting scribes need a lift back after meeting deadlines for their respective newspapers.

Heddleston appeared a little tired and after the long conversation with him in the car on the way back to the hotel, it was understandable.

"WE REALLY put in the hours at pre-season camp in California. The first two weeks are fun, but after six weeks, we get pretty weary and are ready to get back to Dallas, " commented the Ohio native.

Heddleston loves his job and rates the Cowboy organization as the best in the business. "I've only been with them (Dallas) four months and I couldn't have hand picked a better organization in pro football."

He was anxious, however, to get to his hotel hotel room in order to fly to Columbus, Ohio Sunday to pick up his wife whom he had not seen for over six weeks.

"There was plenty to see out on the West Coast, but then you wouldn't believe the hours we put in. And I thought I was on my feet a lot while serving in the Navy!"

Meddleston quickly went on to say that it was worth the long hours. "The Cowboys are a closely-knit team and there - are no smartaleck-acting players in the group. If they are, they don't last long around here, because it is a first-class operation and they don't have time for them. Everybody is just super."

THE COWBOYS are going to have to cut the squad down to 45 players soon and Heddleston says it will be awfully tough picking the running backs and No. 3 quartemback for the coming season.

"Scott Laidlaw and John Smith were running well before injuries in Thousand Oaks, but now they both will be lucky to stick with the team."

Dallas can only put two players on its taxi, squad and it will need to keep a spot open for All-Pro tackle Rayfield Wright when he returns. "It's going to be tough and I'm glad that I'm not the one to make the decisions. Take for instance back Larry Brisnon against Miami. He looked good, but he could be gone by next week. That's kind-of tough isn't it?"

HEDDLESTON SAYS that quarterbacks Steve DeBerg and Glenn Carano are both fine prospects, but one will have to go. "Dallas can put one on waivers, hoping to pick up back up later, but that's a big gamble."

DeBerg is a 6-2, 205-pound signal-caller from San Jose State while Carano is a 6-3, 195-pounder out of the University of Neveda at Las Vegas.

"Both can throw well. In fact, both can throw a football through a brick wall and DeBerg throws the sideline and hook patterns as well as anybody in camp. Carano is physically tough and a real competitor, so it will be awfully close as to who will become the No. 3 quarterback this year."

The way injuries have hit Dallas and they way some of the Cowboys played against the Dolphins Saturday, the Cowboy faithful grateful should be for the six exhibition games they play before regular season play opens. "Can you imagine opening next week in Bloomington, Minn. against the Vikings with the problems we have right now? It would be murder!"

"IT'S GOING to be difficult enough when we play Minnesota on Sept. 18 anyway."

The Cowboys got another injury scare Saturday in the Miami game when tackle Ralph Neely suffered a twisted knee. "We certainly don't need to lose any more offensive tackles. If we do, I don't know what we will do." He went on to say that Pat Donovan, the three-year veteran from Stanford, is the only healthy tackle right now.

Dallas faces the Colts Saturday in Texas Stadium and then the Houston Oilers and Pittsburgh Steelers to wind up the exhibition schedule. The Pittsburgh game is set for Thursday, Sept. 8. Then Dallas has 10 days to get ready for the Vikings in its NFL opener for 1977.

"There's no love lost between the Cowboys and Steelers, naturally, because of the Super Bowl battle between those two rivals two years ago, chuckled Heddleston. "Those 10 days will really help us to get ready for that big opener, " said Heddleston.

ANYWAY, IT was a gratifying experience to be in Texas Stadium last Saturday to view the Dallas-Miami game and to be treated so well by everyone in Dallas.

I just might get spoiled if given many more chances to journey to Texas Stadium to cover the Cowboys.

Borowiak breezes to net title

TORONTO (AP) — Jeff Borowiak knows the importance of being able to stage comebacks.

He took only 44 minutes to dispose of Chile's Jaime Fillol 6-0, 6-1 and win the men's singles title at the Canadian Open tennis championships Monday night. But despite the convincing score, the 27-year-old Californian had to bounce back several times.

Twice in the first set, Fillol had Borowiak on the run, down 0-40 on his serve, then made unforced errors to blow both games.

In the beginning of the second set, Fillol appeared to be shaking off his control problems, winning seven points in a row to lead 1-0 and 0-40 on Borowiak's serve. The near-capacity crowd of more than 5,500 gave the Chilean a cheer of encouragement, but his control once again evaporated and he only managed four more points the rest of the match.

"Recently, I've found myself getting out of 0-40 and 15-40 situations," said Borowiak, a jazz pianist and flutist who is majoring in music at the University of California-Berkley. "Those comebacks are the type of thing that can win a tournament for you."

He said he hadn't known what to expect from Fillol.

"I felt that Jaime never got warmed up," he said. "I felt slightly jittery myself. But I made some forcing shots in the beginning and I kept the errors down."

It was the third tournament victory this year for the 12thseeded Borowiak, making 1977 his best season since joining the pro tennis tour in 1971. He took home the $20,000 first prize while the 31-year-old Fillol, seeded sixth, won $10,000.

Borowiak defeated Britain's Buster Mottram in straight sets at Dayton, Ohio, and Jean Caujolle of France in the Swiss championships.

Moving rapidly around the court, Borowiak kept relentless pressure on Fillol, even during the five games where the Chilean managed to put together enough points to run the score to deuce.

Fillol tried to vary his tactics, sometimes rushing the net to volley, other times staying back and exchanging ground strokes. He also experienced trouble placing his first service and could not keep his returns in the court.

Fillol said he was not able to find the form that carried him past second-seeded Manuel Orantes of Spain in a quarterfinal matchup.

Eagles upset Pats, 21-10

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rookie quarterback Mike Cordova, who is not even listed on the three-deep depth chart, led two second-half touchdown drives as the Philadelphia Eagles upset the New England Patriots 21-10 Monday night in a National Football League preseason game.

Cordova, from Stanford University, threw a 14-yard touchdown pass to Vince Papale in the third period, giving the Eagles a 14-10 lead.

In the final quarter, Piladelphia rookie Herman Edwards returned an intercepted pass 25 yards to the Patriots' 34. Cordova then directed the Eagles to a touchdown, scored on a three-yard run by rookie Jim Betterson.

The Patriots had taken a 10-0 lead on a one-yard touchdown run by Andy Johnson in the first quarter and John Smith's 35-yard second-period field goal.

The Eagles started their comeback in the second quarter on a two-yard touchdown pass from Ron Jaworski to Keith Krepfle.

The loss was the first of the exhibition season for the Patriots, who had won twice without giving up a touchdown. For the Eagles, it was the second victory in three games.

Connors beats Riessen in toughie

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Jimmy Connors, battling to retain his No. 1 position in the Association of Tennis Pros' rankings, rallied for a 3-6, 6-1, 6-4 victory over Marty Riessen Monday night in an opening round match of the 50th U.S. Pro Championships at Longwood.

Connors, plagued by a hand injury and beaten badly in two tournaments since bowing to Bjorn Born in the Wimbledon final, had to pull out all stops against Riessen, a 35-year-old warhorse.

Top-seeded in a bid to capture the title he won here in 1973, Connors fell behind quickly as he lost his serve in the second game. He broke back in the third game, but lost on his service at love in the sixth and was broken again in the eighth.

High school gridder dies from injuries

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A 16-year-old high school football player is dead from injuries suffered in a weekend football scrimmage, school officials said.

Kenneth Bennett, a junior at St. Augustine High School, died Sunday after underdoing emergency surgery, athletic director Andrew Davis said.

Bennett had complained of stomach pains following a scrimmage at Capitol High of Baton Rouge on Saturday. However, his injury was diagnosed as an internal bruise by a hospital in Baton Rouge and he was sent home, Davis said.

Saturday night, the boy complained of more severe pains and he was taken to a hospital here. After being operated on Sunday, Bennett died.

Waltrip holds off Pearson for win

Darrell Waltrip, of Franklin, Tenn., held off veteran David Pearson and outlasted Cale Yarborough and Benny Parsons Monday to win the rain-delayed 400-miles Grand national stock car race at Michigan International Speedway in Cambridge Junction, Mich.

The victory, at an average speed of 137.944 miles per hour, was worth $15,370 to Waltrip. The race, scheduled for Sunday, had to be postponed a day because of rain.

Argentinian Guillermo Vilas, winner of 35 straight matches on clay, will tune up for the U.S. Open with an appearance beginning Thursday in the $25,000 Tennis Week Open at Westchester Country Club in Rye, N.Y.

Vilas, who has won five consecutive tournaments, will lead one of two groups in the four-day round robin event on clay. Others entered include Ilie Nastase, Ion Tiriac, Roscoe Tanner, Marty Riessen, Jan Kodes, John McEnroe, Ricardo Cano and NCAA champ Matt Mitchell.

Jess Kersey, Billy Oakes and Ken Faulknem have been dropped from the National Basketball Association's roster of referees, a league spokesman announced Monday. No replacement have as yet been named, although one spot is expected to go to Joey Crawford, the son of baseball umpire Shag Crawford who filled in during the referee's strike last season. . .

Dale Berra, son of baseball Hall of Famer Uogi Berra, made his major league debut Monday night with the Pittsburgh Pirates. He was called up from the Bucs' AAA affiliate in Columbus, Ohio the day before. . . The San Diego Chargers waived wide receiver Chip Myers and cornerback Tom HaVes Monday . . . The Tom Hayes Monday...The Committee will open a three-city inspection tour in New York Saturday and Sunday to discuss plans for hosting the 1984 Olympic Games. E. Newbold Black IV, chairman of the committee, said the group also plans to visit Los Angeles Sept. 10-11, and New Orleans Sept. 17-18. The executvie board ot the U.S. Olympic Committee also will hear formal presentations by the mayors cf the three-candidate cities in Colorado Springs, Colo., on September 25. . .

Jean-Guy Talbot, who was an assistant coach with the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League last season, was named head coach of the club Monday, replacing John Ferguson. Ferguson will remain as general manager.

The Rangers failed to make the Stanley Cup playoffs last season for the second straight year. . .

The Golden State Warriors of the National Basketball Association announced Monday that they have signed their No. 1 and No. 2 picks in the NBA draft, guard Rickey Green of the University of Michigan and forward Wesley Cox of the University of Louisville.

Green, who was the 16th player picked in the first round of the draft, told a news conference Monday that he had expected to be chosen sooner.

Red Sox suffer 4th straight loss

By The Associated Press

Larry Hisle's single with two out in the ninth inning scored Jerry Terrell with the winning run as the Minnesota Twins gained a 5-4 victory over Boston Monday night, handing the slumping Red Sox their fourth straight loss.

Hisle drilled a 3-2 pitch from ex-teammate Bill Campbell up the middle and Terrell, running for Rich Chiles, scored easily. Chiles led off the ninth with a single off loser Bill Lee, 4-3. Campbell then replaced Lee and allowed a single to Butch Wynegar.

Twins' relief ace Tom Johnson retired one Boston hitter and earned his 13th victory against five losses.

Minnesota starter Paul Thormodsgard was one out away from his 11th victory when George Scott singled and Butch Hobson followed with his 24th homer to tie the score 4-4.

The Twins rocked Boston starter Rick Wise and Lee for six hits and four runs in the second. Glenn Adams slammed a 440-foot home run to start the inning. Wynegar doubled home another run and Hisle and Rod Carew contributed RBI singles.

In other American League action, Oscar Gamble singled in the winning run in a three-run eighth inning as the Chicago White Sox broke an eight-game New York winning streak, beating the Yankees 5-3. Lou Piniella, Mickey Rivers and Chris Chambliss homered for the Yankees runs.

Hal McRae drove Frank White home from second base with an infield single, capping a three-run ninth inning as the Kansas City Royals won their sixth consecutive game edging the Baltimore Orioles 8-7.

Jim Sundberg bases-loaded two-run single in the bottom of the seventh led the Texas Rangers to a 8-7 come-from behind victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Fernando Arroyo fired a five hitter to lead the Detroit Tigers to a 5-1 win over the California Angeles, while Willie Crawford blasted a pinch hit three-run homer powering the Oakland A's to a 5-2 win over the Toronto Blue Jays.

Jim Bibby pitched a two hitter, Buddy Bell hit his third career grand slam and Rico Carty drove in five runs leading the Cleveland Indians to a 12-1 trouncing of the Seattle Mariners in the first game of a twin-night doubleheader.

Pinch hitter Roger Freed's three-run homer with two out in the ninth capped a seven-run rally that led the St. Louis Cardinals to 8-6 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Rick Reuschel chalked up his 17th victory of the season as the Cubs edged San Francisco 3-2. Gene Tenace rapped a home run in the fourth inning while Bob Shirley and Rollie Fingers combined to limit the Pirates to seven hits as San Diego Padres blanked Pittsburgh 1-0.

Pinch hitter Bruce Boisclair's two-run double in the seventh inning enabled the New York Mets to snap a five-game losing streak with a 2-1 victory over the Houston Astros.

Sam Mejias drilled three hits and Warren Cromartie hit a two-run homer as the Montreal Expos ended a four-game Cincinnati winning streak with a 51 victory over the Reds.

Pinch hitters Tim McCarver and Dave Johnson sparked a two-run seventh inning that carried the red-hot Philadelphia Phillies to a 5-4 win over the Atlanta Braves.

Little League series opens today in Williamsport

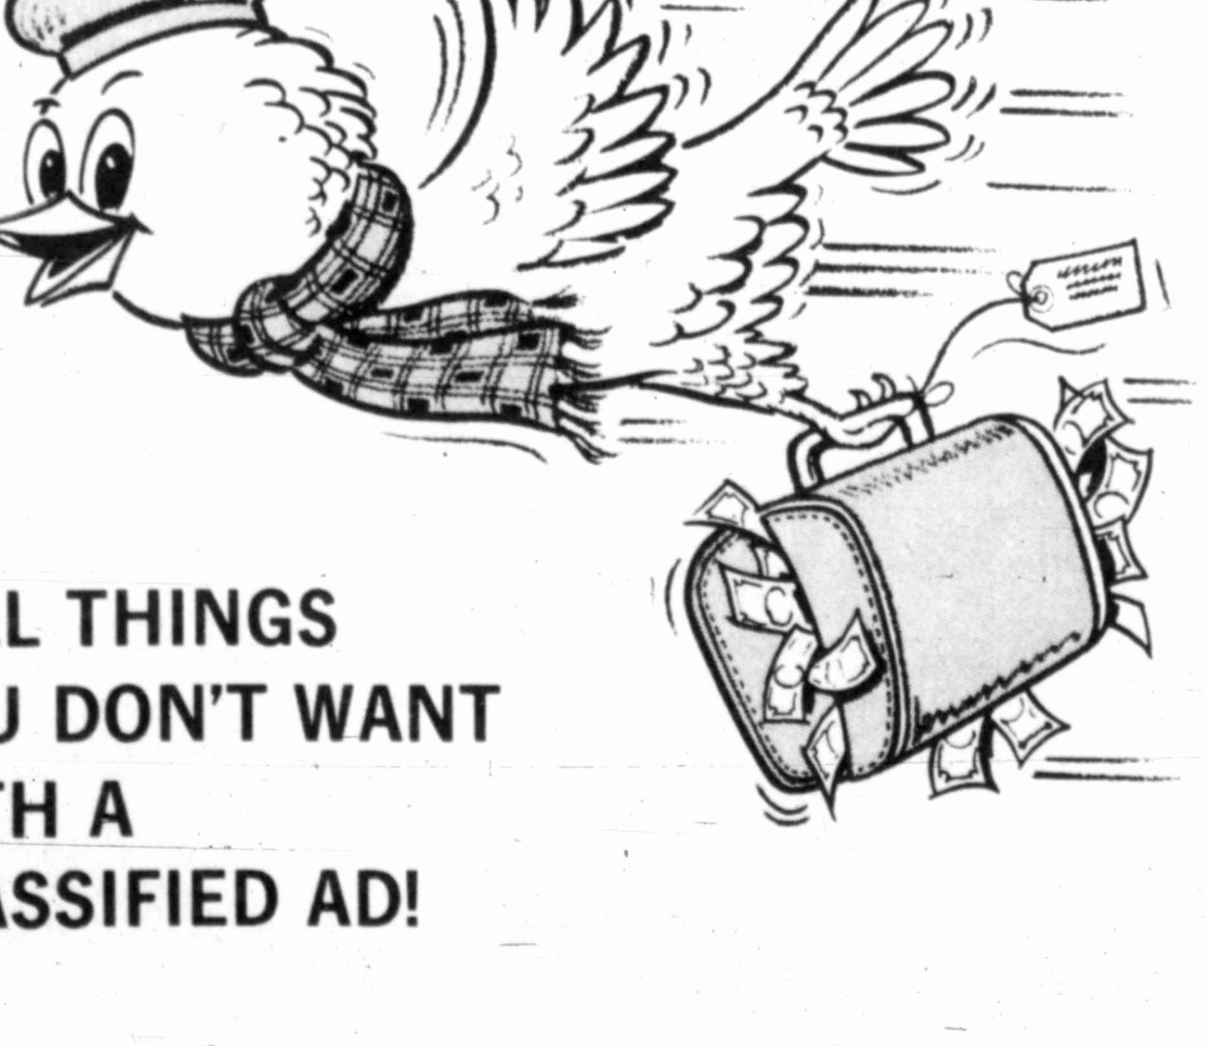

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Coquicacoa, Venezuela, the South American representative, will play the European representative from Torrejon Air Force Base team of Madrid, Spain, in the opening contest Tuesday of the Little League World Series.

El Cajon, Calif., the Western U.S. representative, takes on Hattiesburg, Miss., the Southern U.S. winner, in the second game.

More than 65,000 spectators are expected to attend the tournament, including more than 25,000 for the championship game Saturday at Howard J. Lamade Memorial Stadium, according to Little League spokesman George Gedon.

Rounding out the eight-team field are the Central U.S. winners from Youngstown, Ohio; the Eastern U.S. representatives from Rotterdam, N.Y.; the Lethbridge Norcrest All-Stars of Alberta, Canada; and the Li-Teh Little League of Kao Hsiung, Taiwan. Their first games will be Wednesday.

DR. NEIL SOLOMON

Here's diet for Day Six

Dear Readers: In response to your requests, I have printed, in previous columns, menus and recipes for Days One through Five of my one-week reducing diet. Day Six appears today; Day Seven will appear in a future column.

DR. SOLOMON'S REDUCING DIET
DAY 6

BREAKFAST

½ C. diet applesauce on 3-oz. cottage cheese
2 slices diet toast
Coffee/Tea with artificial sweetener

LUNCH

White meat turkey roll sandwich
Cucumber salad
Orange

DINNER

Diet lasagne*

DIET LASAGNE*
(Serves 4)

1 lb. ground beal or beef
¼ C. minced onion
1 8-oz. can tomato sauce
1 tbs. cooking oil
1 tsp. basil
1 tsp. parsley
1 tsp. oregano
Dash garlic salt
Dash pepper
1 4-oz. can mushrooms, drained
1 10-oz. pckge. frozen chopped spinach, thawed
8 oz. cottage cheese
4 oz. mozzarello cheese cheese

Saute onion and ground meat in oil until onion is transparent. Add tomato sauce, basil, parsley, oregano, garlic salt, pepper, and mushrooms. Squeeze liquid from thawed spinach and combine with cottage cheese. Cut mozzarella cheese in strips. In 7 inch x 11 inch baking dish arrange in layers spinach mixture, meat mixture, then mozzarella cheese. Repeat, ending with hard cheese. Bake in 375 deg. oven for 15-20 minutes or until hot and bubbly.

ALMOND CREME WITH ORANGES

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
½ C. powdered skim milk, liquified
Dash of salt
4 packs Sweet 'n Low
1 egg yolk, slightly beaten
½ tsp. almond extract
1 egg white
¼ C. evaporated skim milk, chilled in refrigerator until ice crystals form around edges
1 C. canned, dietetic mandarin orange slices

1—In small sauce pan, sprinkle gelatin over liquefied skim milk. Stir to soften gelatin. Add salt, 2 packs sweetener and egg yolk. Place over low heat and stir to dissolve gelatin. Remove from heat and stir in almond extract. Chill until mixture mounds slightly. (About 8 minutes.)

2—Beat egg white until peaks form. Add gelatin mixture to egg mixture and beat until thick and creamy.

3—Whip chilled evaporated skim milk until thick. Add remaining sweetner, beat again. Fold into gelatin mixture. Pour into 4 dessert dishes. Chill to serve. Arrange mandarin orange segments in petal design. Serves 4.

Organized Dixie clout now fading

By EDMOND Le BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) -While Jimmy Carter, flashing his smile from the White House, fills Southern hearts with pride, organized Southern clout on Capitol Hill is probably at its feeblest in 40 years.

Ironically, Carter's election as the first post-Civil War president from the Deep South and the decline of Southern bloc power in the Congress are two aspects of the same historic evolution, the return of the South to the national political and social mainstream.

It was Southern isolation and defensiveness that built a once effective third force in a twoparty legislative branch.

As recently as five years ago, six of the 12 major committees in the House, seven of 11 in the Senate, were headed by Southerners.

But there currently is only one Southern chairman in the House, Texan George H. Mahon of the Appropriations panel, and he is retiring from Congress next year.

Next in line to head the purse strings committee is another Southerner, Jamie Whitten of Mississippi. But next in line no longer means automatic succession, and Whitten faces a fight.

The change is less dramatic in the Senate, but the trend is clear. Six of the key chairmanships still are held by Southerners. But only two of these men are under 70 and nonSoutherners are waiting in the wings.

When the great civil rights battles of the 1960's were being fought, a cohesive opposing band of about 100 Southern Democratic representatives was led by generals like Howard Smith of Virginia. He commanded as chairman of the Rules Committee, incomparably more powerful and independent then than it is now.

In the Senate, Richard B. Russell of Georgia led a force proportionately as strong.

The Southern Democratic strategists, skilled at trading votes and forming coalitions with Republicans, could not stop the march of civil rights legislation. But they succeeded in slowing it, to the frustration of Democratic presidents and even of the legendary Speaker Sam Rayburn.

Rayburn was the last southern speaker, and one who came to see the need for legislation to foster social justice and better race relations. His confrontation with Smith and the resulting reconstitution of the Rules Committee was an early milestone on the road to the new House.

Speaker Thomas O'Neill of Massachusetts has much clearer lines of authority and party discipline to help him preside over the Democratic majority. Rayburn operated with personality, prestige and persuasion.

Revitalization of the Democratic caucus and steering committee, subjecting chairmanships to caucus vote — which led in 1975 to the ouster of three Southern chairmen — and conversion of the Rules Committee into an arm of the Democratic leadership are among the changes whose effects are still developing.

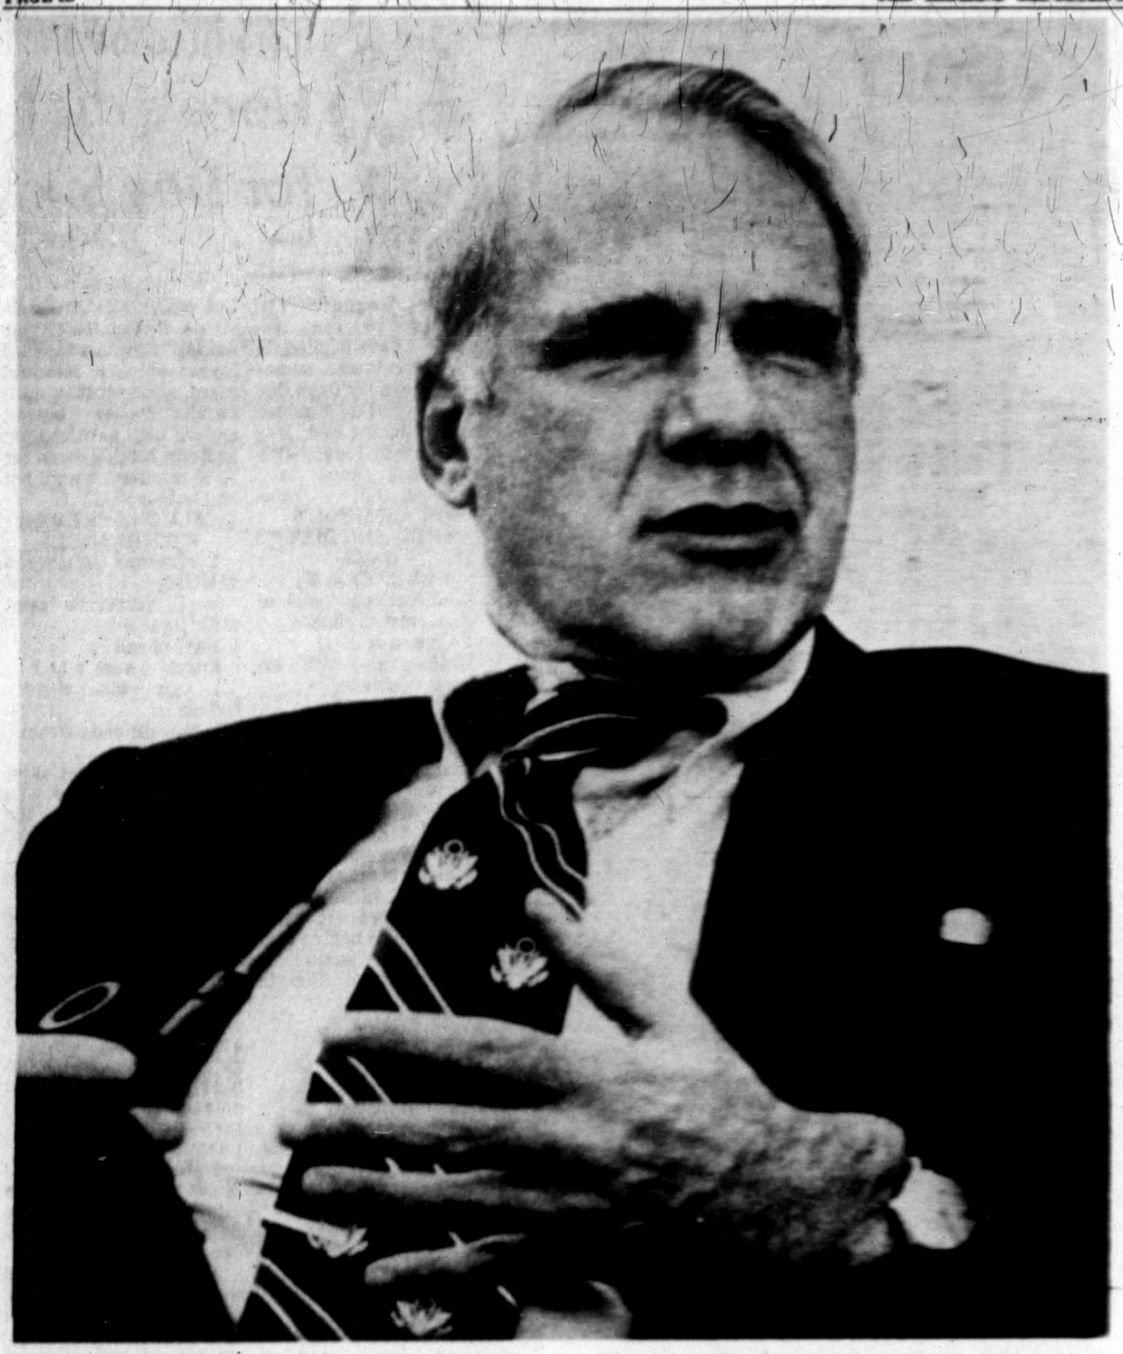

But there are more profound forces shaping Congress in the 1970s and their Southern contingents, deep-seated changes in attitude in the country as well as among those who are elected to legislative seats.

Many Southerners in Congress still share a conservative bent, especially in fiscal matters, a commitment to a strong military and a suspicion of foreign policy accommodations.

But there is no overriding passionate issue to weld them together. Southerners can argue persuasively that their region has made its adjustments and that the issue of race relations is much more divisive in cities such as Detroit and Boston than below the Mason-Dixon line.

There are many moderates and some liberals of both races in the current Southern delegations. It would be unthinkable today that only a few could feel free to refuse signing something like the Southern Manifesto of the 60s, which vowed opposition to civil rights legislation.

On other issues Southerners divide much as do representatives of other sections.

GE to develop kelp to produce methane

The Los Angeles Times

LOS ANGELES — In the scramble to develop new energy sources, General Electric Co. now says it will pursue development of one of the most unlikely sounding ideas yet: harvesting of huge kelp farms off the California coast for conversion to methane gas.

GE engineers have already designed a one-fourth acre underwater structure to house an experimental farm, to be built by Global Marine Development Inc. of Newport Beach, Calif. It will be moored five miles off Laguna Beach, Calif., by next spring.

Giant California kelp will be planted on the structure, made up of concrete poles interconnected by plastic or nylon lines. The module will be floated 40 feet below the surface, and a pump will draw nutrients for the kelp from depths of 1,000 feet or more.

The project, sponsored by the American Gas Assn. and the U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration, should produce about 12.5 tons of dry kelp per year, says Armond J. Bryce, GE's technical director for marine biomass.

That in turn will be drumped into a bacteria-laden processor on shore which literally digests the kelp, much as sludge and garbage are consumed at the Los Angeles Hyperion sewage treatment plant. In both cases carbon dioxide and methane are produced, and the carbon dioxide is then filtered out.

"Technically, we know we can do it," says Wheeler North, a California Institute of Technology marine scientist who is in charge of cultivating the kelp. "The only question is economics."

The methane, a form of natural gas, will clearly be expensive. GE's Bryce estimates prices for natural gas may have to climb as high as $4 per thousand cubic feet to make methane-from-kelp competitive, but the development program could prove that estimate to be high.

ENERGY

Ultimately GE hopes to install farms up to 100,000 acres in size off the California coast by 1985. One such farm's kelp, which would grow at the rate of two feet a day while being fed the undersea nutrients, could generate 1.2 billion cubic feet of gas, GE estimates. That translates into roughly a two-month supply for the 12 counties served by Southern California Gas Co.

Bryce and North contend the environmental impact will be slight. "We hope that a profitable sidelight will be fish farms around the kelp farms," Bryce says.

California giant kelp can weigh up to 400 pounds. The harvesting technology is already in use on kelp beds around the world to extract iodine and other products.

Barges equipped with reciprocating blades will chop the kelp at the top, scoop it up, and return for another harvest when the kelp grows back.

The enormous amounts of energy needed to cultivate, harvest, and process the kelp raises questions about the net energy benefit. But GE officials contend that commercial-sized operations should produce 50 per cent more energy than they consume.

The kelp project is one of several efforts by the nation's gas utilities and the federal government to tap energy in plants and refuse, called biomass conversion.

Energy prices for consumer will rise says Gulf chairman

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The chairman of Gulf Oil Corp. says consumers are going to pay more for energy because costs are rising and will continue to rise for the producer.

"To be perfectly honest, there is no price relief in the future," Chairman Jeffy McAfee told a Pittsburgh Press Club Newsmakers Forum on Monday.

"What is important is that if we pay the right price to the right user we will, hopefully, have energy for ourselves and our grandchildren and future generations as they come down the road," McAfee said.

The oil executive claimed a national energy bill passed by the House does not make good use of the energy dollar.

A large portion of the consumer's energy costs will go to the government as taxes or royalities to be used for "social security, disbursements, rebates, salaries for congressmen — all these worthy causes," McAfee said.

"In the present energy program — so called, a great deal of what he's paying does not get plowed back into the ground by the oil companies or anyone else," McAfee said.

McAfee also repeated his firm's claim that it did no wrong by joining a world uranium cartel.

"Our position is quite firm and quite clear," he said. "We are comfortable in our conviction that we have no problems legal or otherwise."

Gulf has maintained that the Canadian government required Gulf Minerals Canada Ltd. to join the cartel as a matter of policy.

Another Pittsburgh-based firm, Westinghouse, is the defendant in a $2 billion suit over its failure to fulfill contracts for uranium deliveries to 24 utilities in the United States and Sweden.

The company has sued 29 cartel members, including Gulf's Canadian subsidary, for allegedly conspiring to raise the price of uranium.

"It is our contention that Gulf cannot and should not be blamed for Westinghouse's mistakes. We sympathize with them. We suffer with them. But we will refuse to take blame that is not rightfully ours," McAfee said.

Four East Basin areas draw explorer sites

Exploration has been scheduled for Edwards, Coke, Menard and Runnels sectors.

North American Royalties, Inc., operating from Midland, has scheduled No. 4-19 Ragsdale as a 5,500-foot wildcat operation in Edwards, ¾ mile northeast of the Campanero, North (Canyon) gas field.

Drillsite is 1,980 feet from south and 1,250 feet from east lines of section 19, GC&SF survey, abstract 1047, nine miles northeast of Rocksprings.

COKE COUNTY

WES-TEX Drilling Co., Abilene, staked cite for No. 1 L. G. Roane, a 7,000-foot venture in Coke, five miles southwest of Robert Lee.

Drillsite is 467 feet from north and 2,170 feet from west lines of section 312, block 2, H&TC survey, ¾ mile east of the depleted Robert Lee (Palo Pinto) field.

MENARD PROSPECTORS

Petrotex Oil & Gas, Inc., Cross Plains, has slated two additional wildcats in an exploratory region of Menard, about five miles northeast of Menard townsite and five miles southwest of the Bar F (Cross Cut) gas field. Both have a projected depth of 2,100 feet. No. 1-A Jo Anne Potts spots 467 feet from south and east lines of R. Schwerin survey 1, abstract 695. No. 1 Potts-Clark, five miles northeast of Menard, is 467 feet from south and east lines of Antone Brinkerhoff survey 33, abstract 119.

RUNNELS WILDCAT

Energy Operations Corp., Dallas, No. 1 Annie T. Halfman is planned as a 4,500-foot wildcat in Southeast Runnels, eight miles southeast of Ballinger.

Location is 2,200 feet from south and 1,000 feet from east lines of J. T. Russell survey 520, abstract 1346. It is ½ mile south of a recent Capps lime discovery. It was Trans-Texas Energy No. 1 Halfman, completed to open the TJC field, for a calculated, absolute open flow of 2 million cubic feet of dry gas per day, through perforations at 3,560-3,572 feet.

Reeves gets gas strike

Dyco Petroleum Corp. of Tulsa, Okla., operating from its Midland office, has announced the completion of a Devonian gas pay opener in the San Martine (Fusselman) gas field of Reeves County, eight miles west of Toyah.

The firm's No. 1 Caldwell-State gauged a calculated, absolute flow potential gauge of 2.810 million cubic feet of gas per day. Production is through perforations at 10,684-10,762 feet. The pay section had been acidized with 4,000 gallons and fractured with 406 barrels of fluid, plus 26,000 pounds of sand and 200 barrels of carbon dioxide.

Drilled to 11,302 feet, it has been plugged back to 10,960 feet. Casing size and seat has not been reported.

Location is 1,650 feet from south and 1,320 feet from east lines of section 9, block 71, PSL survey.

Wells final, sites slated

Two West Texas fields gained extensions and one drew sites for stepouts.

Atlantic Richfield Co. finaled its No. 18-B-TG Roy Parks as a current second Strawn well and 1⅝-mile northwest extension to that pay in the Ector part of the Dora Roberts field 3½ miles southeast of Odessa.

The 24-hour flowing potential was for 249 barrels of 39.3-gravity oil, and five barrels of water, through an 18-64-inch choke and perforations at 9,902-10,054 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 2,209-1. The pay section had been acidized with 3,000 gallons.

A former Ellenburger well in the Dora Roberts field, it has been plugged back from 13,297 to 10,480 feet. Casing (5½-inch), is seated at 13,259 feet.

Location is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 32, block 41, T-2-S, T&P survey.

TIPCO, Oklahoma City, has completed two wells and staked sites for two stepouts in the Dixon (Strawn) oil field of Mitchell County, five miles north of Silver.

No. 5 Edwin Parks gauged a daily flowing potential of 94 barrels of 43.5-gravity oil, and 1.4 barrel of water, through a 16-64-inch choke and perforations at 6,193-6,221 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 2,191-1. The section had been acidized with 500 gallons and fractured with 100,000 gallons and 122,000 pounds.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and 1,880 feet from west lines of section 2, block 1-A, H&TC survey.

No. 6 Edwin Parks gauged a daily potential of 96 barrels of 43.5-gravity oil and 1.2 barrel of water, through a 12-64-inch choke and perforations at 6,170-6,199 feet, following 500 gallons of acid, plus 100,030 gallons of fracture fluid, and 97,500 pounds of sand. Gas-oil ratio was 2,094-1.

Wellsite is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 2, block 1-A, H&TC survey.

TIPCO will drill two ½-mile west stepouts to production in the field.

No. 9 Edwin Parks spots 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 1, block 1-A, H&TC survey.

No. 10 Edwin Parks spots 660 feet from north and 560 feet from east lines of section 1.

Crockett strike finals, two sectors extended

Crockett County gained an oil pay opener and two pool extensions, while an outpost site has been staked in a Mitchell County area.

Texas Oil & Gas Corp., Midland, No. 1-B Bean, has been finaled as a Canyon oil opener in the Ozona field of Crockett, 16 miles southwest of Ozona.

It gauged a 24-hour flowing potential of 144 barrels of 45.7-gravity oil, no water, and gas-oil ratio measuring 2,580-1.

It finaled on a 16-64-inch choke and through perforations at 6,669-6,894 feet. The pay section had been acidized with 6,000 gallons and fractured with 130,000 gallons and 81,500 pounds of sand.

Top of the Canyon sand was picked at 2,105 feet, and top of the Canyon lime at 6,050 feet, under ground elevation of 2,495 feet. Total depth is 9,100 feet, and it is plugged back to 9,027 feet, in 4½-inch casing set at 9,078 feet.

Wellsite is 660 feet from south and 2,000 feet from west lines of section 2, block M, GC&SF survey.

Texas Oil & Gas also completed a ½-mile east extension to Canyon gas production in the Ozona field, 10 miles southeast of Ozona.

Its No. 1-9 Montgomery gauged a calculated, absolute open flow of 8.7 million cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations at 6,099-6,459 feet. The section had been treated with 3,600 gallons of acid and fractured with 122,500 gallons, plus 100,170 pounds of sand.

Total depth is 10,322 feet. It has been plugged back to 6,983 feet, in 4½-inch casing seated at 7,061 feet.

Wellsite is 804 feet from north and 1,004 feet from east lines of section 9, block NG, GC&SF survey.

A current seventh Queen oiler has been finaled in the Vaughn field of Crockett by M. C. Vinson of Midland.

No. 3-18 Shannon gauged a 24-hour pumping potential of 43 barrels of 32-gravity oil and 23 barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio of 1,349-1.

Completion was effected through perforations at 1,014-1,100 feet, after acidizing with 750 gallons, and fracturing with 4,506 gallons and 7,500 pounds of sand.

It is 990 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines of section 18, block UV, GC&SF survey, 12 miles northwest of Ozona.

R. L. Burns Corp., operating from Dallas, has scheduled No. 1-16 Ellwood as a 1¼-mile west outpost in the Mitchell portion of the Jameson (Strawn) field, seven miles north of Silver.

Drillsite is 660 feet from northeast and southeast lines of section 16, block 15, SPRR survey, planned depth is 7,000 feet.

Firm makes stock offer

LOS ANGELES — Atlantic Richfield Co. has announced that Goldman, Sachs & Co. will resume acting as broker for the purchase of the company's common stock for its employe stock ownership plan and various thrift plans of the company and certain of its affiliates.

The purchases, to be made on the open market, will commence immediately, said a spokesman.

Since April, substantially all purchases of ARCO stock for the thrift plans were made directly from the company. During part of this period, ending in July, Goldman, Sachs was purchasing common stock for the company's treasury.

All purchases made by Goldman, Sachs have been and will continue to be subject to certain volume, timing and bidding restrictions imposed by the securities and exchange commission, said the spokesman.

Hammond gets award

DALLAS — John P. Hammond, 1957 Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME president and director of several Tulsa-based concerns, has been named recipient of the SPE Distinguished Service Medal, an award established in 1947.

Hamond will be honored during Awards Luncheon ceremonies at SPE's 52nd annual technical conference and exhibition scheduled to be held in Currigan Exhibition Hall Oct. 9-12 in Denver, Colo.

The citation accompanying Hammond's medal reads, "For outstanding leadership and dedicated service over many years to the SPE, and especially in recognition of his contribution as member and chairman of numerous committees, Board member, and first President of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME."

Hammond has been active in AIME activities since joining the organization in 1937 after receipt of a BS degree in petroleum Engineering from the University of Tulsa. He was 1948-1949 chairman of the Mid-Continent Section, chairman of the 1952 Transactions editorial committee, and vice chairman of the Petroleum Branch in 1953. He also has served as director and chairman of several committees.

Hammond's professional career began in 1936 at Royal Petroleum Corp. in Tulsa. He joined Mid-Union drilling Co. in 1940 and in 1941 became a petroleum engineer with Amerada Petroleum Corp. He advanced through management posts with Amerada until becoming president of the Amerada Division of Amerada Hess Corp. in 1969. He retired from Amerada Hess in 1971, and has remained in Tulsa, where he is director of the First National Bank & Trust Co., Transok Pipeline Co. and Apexco, Inc.

Explorers scheduled

Andrews County drew site for a wildcat, while attempt will be made to reopen one Pecos area and to extend another.

Mobil Oil Corp. intends to reenter and plug back to 13,655 feet as a Fusselman wildcat at No. 3-U Texas A⅜⅝C 2, former Devonian and Ellenburger well in the Magutex field of Andrews.

The project, drilled to 13,898 feet, spots 1,980 feet from south and 2,280 feet from east lines of section 17, block 8, ULS, 11 miles northeast of Andrews townsite.

PECOS ACTIVITY

Texas Oil & Gas Corp. has filed application to drill No. 1-B-15 University in attempt to reopen Wolfcamp gas production in the Hokit, Northwest field of Pecos, 15 miles west of Bakersfield.

Located one mile northwest of the depleted dual Wolfcamp and Pennsylvanian discovery in the field, it spots 467 feet from south and east lines of section 15, block 19, ULS, and it is slated for a bottom depth of 7,000 feet.

Also, Getty Oil Co. has scheduled its No. 1 Idol as a 1¼-mile northwest outpost to the three-well Puckett, East (Strawn) gas field of Pecos.

Drillsite is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 1, block 101, TCRR survey, 30 miles southeast of Fort Stockton. It has a projected depth of 12,400 feet.

DRY HOLES

CONCHO — Fisher-Welsh, Inc. No. 1-A Hoch Ranch, in the Hartgrove field, 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 48, block 70, H&TC survey, five miles northeast of Millersview, td 2,460 feet.

EDDY — Amoco Production Co. No. 26 Old Indian Draw, in the Indian Draw field, 2,325 feet from north and 940 feet from east lines of section 7-22s-28e, seven miles east of Carlsbad, td 2,450 feet.

GARZA — William N. Buckle III No. 1 John E. Lott, in the Lazy "JL" (Spraberry) field, 939 feet from south and 2,760 feet from east lines of section 39, block 1, Jasper Hays survey, 15 miles east of Post, td 3,000 feet, temporarily abandoned.

IRION — Reese Oil & Mineral Co. No. 1 Myra Tankersley, wildcat, 660 feet from south and 467 feet from east lines of San Antonio Ditch Co. survey 1, five miles southwest of Mertzon, td 7,000 feet.

MENARD — Anadarko Production Co. No. 1 J. C. Sorrell, wildcat, 660 feet from south and west lines of J. S. Tisdale survey 132, (CLARK), abstract 1727, 10 miles northwest of Menard, td 6,300 feet.

Anadarko No. 1-A J. C. Sorrell, wildcat, 660 feet from north and 1,320 feet from west lines of section 4, block C, 2647 survey, abstract 728, 10 miles northwest of Menard, td 6,200, junked and abandoned.

RUNNELS — North American Exploration Co. No. 1 Cathey Estate, wildcat, 2,000 feet from northwest and 2,000 feet from northeast lines of John Early survey, one ½ mile west of Winters, td 3,330 feet.

STONEWALL — A. U. Souther No. 1 Morgan Mitchell, et al., wildcat, 2,173 feet from south and west lines of section 284, block D, H&TC survey, five miles northeast of Stevenson, td 1,460 feet.

DRILLING REPORT

ANDREWS — MGF No. 1 Bedford; drilling 4,250 feet.

BORDEN — Western Reserves No. 1 Smith, no report.

CRANE — Wynne No. 1-22 Dawson; drilling 1,825 feet in dolomite and shale.

Cleary No. 8-DV State University; still a location.

CROCKETT — Gulf No. 1 Hoover; drilling 10,788 feet in chert and lime.

Cox No. 1-9 University; drilling 3,817 feet.

Hendon No. 1-28 University; drilling 1,120 feet.

CROSBY — Brown No. 1 Poulson; still a location.

DAWSON — Dyco No. 1 Echols; td 11,675 feet, shut in, waiting on casing pullers.

ECTOR — Holt No. 1 Holt; 7,360 feet, eight hole depth. Operator will release only drilling depths.

EDDY — Gulf No. 2-FT Eddy-State; drilling 10,687 feet in lime. Gas surfaced in 77 minutes, no gauge, on a 1¼-hour drillstem test taken from 10,587-10,640 feet, which recovered 220 feet of gas-cut drilling mud.

Gulf No. 1-GF Eddy; drilling 5,462 feet in lime.

Gulf No. 1-WI Shugart; td 12,000 feet; flaring to pit at the estimated, daily rate of 54,000 cubic feet, through perforations at 11,862-11,884 feet.

Gulf No. 1-GE State; drilling 1,388 feet.

Southland Royalty No. 1 Featherstone; td 11,200 feet, running 4½-inch casing.

Mesa No. 1-B Potter-Federal; td 9,300 feet. Flowed to pits 24 hours through a ¾-inch choke and perforations at 8,084-8,113 feet, making a small stream of water and gas rated at 500,000 cubic feet per day.

Mesa No. 1-J Strong-Federal; drilling 11,105 feet in lime, shale.

Bennett & Ryan No. 1 Lone Tree; drilling 5,622 feet in lime, shale.

Cities Service No. 2 Little Box Canyon; td 980 feet in lime.

GAINES — Cotton No. 1-B Terrell; drilling 6,430 feet in lime.

Estoril No. 1 Medlin; waiting on rotary.

GLASSCOCK — Texaco No. 1-F Glasscock; td 3,284 feet, preparing to run casing.

Adobe No. 1-A Currie; drilling 5,750 feet in lime, shale.

HOCKLEY — Gulf No. 42 Haymes; td 7,990 feet, still pumping, no gauge, through perforations at 4,471-5,010 feet.

LEA — Tipperary No. 1-28 State; drilling 13,361 feet in lime, shale and chert.

V-F No. 1 Landreth; drilling 9,696 feet in lime, shale.

Gulf No. 12 Christmas; drilling 5,014 feet in lime.

Gulf No. 1 RL Lea; drilling 15,788 feet in shale.

Adobe No. 1 Maralo; drilling 8,914 feet in dolomite and shale.

Texas Pacific No. 1 Reed-Federal; td 5,100 feet, shut in.

Mewbourne No. 1-G State; drilling 12,310 feet in lime.

Estoril No. 1 Trainer-State; waiting on rotary.

Estoril No. 1 Southland-State; waiting on rotary

LUBBOCK — Brown No. 1 Huffacker; waiting on rotary.

LYNN — Brown No. 1 Swann; td 5,344 feet, circulating and preparing to run logs.

MARTIN — Miller No. 1 Heald; td 10,745 feet, taking a drillstem test on which interval and results will be held "tight."

Hanley No. 1-7-31-A University; drilling 8,120 feet in lime, shale.

Adobe No. 1 Zimmerman; drilling 4,171 feet in lime.

MITCHELL — Mallard No. 1-6 Ellwood; td 6,436 feet; it pumped 16 barrels of load oil and 34 barrels of water in 24 hours, through perforations at 6,340-6,347 feet.

PECOS — Gulf No. 1 Emma Lou; drilling 20,828 feet in shale and sand.

Gulf No. 3 Shelton; td 3,550 feet; preparing to test; through perforations at 3,279-3,451 feet, which have been treated with 1,250 gallons of acid and fractured with 1,500 gallons and 3,000 pounds.

GMW No. 8 Raymal-Eagle; drilling 16,822, feet in lime and shale.

Flag-Redfern No. 1-X Moore-Gilmore; drilling 7,212 feet in lime and shale.

Getty No. 1-24 Mendel; drilling 10,982.

Getty No. 1-38 Montgomery; drilling 11,142 feet; had a drilling break from 10,862-10,874 feet, gas rate was 5,000-2,000 cubic feet per day and from 10,940-10,945 feet, gas rate was 5,500-2,000 cubic feet per day.

Brown No. 1 CITGO; waiting on rotary.

Berry No. 2-A Mar-State; td 1,640 feet; pumping, no gauge, from open hole section 1,528-1,640 feet, which had been fractured with 20,000 gallons and 20,000 pounds.

REEVES - Texaco No. 1-BA Reeves; td 10,177 feet; circulating.

Getty No. 2 Howe td 4,250 feet; preparing to swab, through Delaware perforations at 4,165-4,175 feet, which had been acidized with 1,000 gallons.

Brown No. 1-A Lloyd; drilling 13,785 feet.

SCHLEICHER — Gulf No. 1-SX State; td 7,886 feet; flowing, to clean through perforations at 7,819-7,823 feet, which had been acidized with 2,200 gallons.

Gulf No. 1 UF State; td 8,005 feet; cleaning out.

Gas Development No. 105 Olsak; td 4,030 feet; drilling out cement.

SCURRY — Lario No. 4 Schuler; td 7,157 feet; preparing to convert to a pressure maintenance well.

Lario No. 1 Longbotham; drilling 6,771 feet in shale.

STERLING — Texaco No. 2-G Sterling; td 8,130 feet; preparing to run casing.

STONEWALL — Desana No. 1-132 Flat Top, td 3,400 feet; waiting on tank battery.

TERRELL - Gulf No. 1-C White; drilling 4,210 feet in shale and lime.

TERRY — Cleary No. 1-15 McCallister; drilling 1,620 feet in salt anhydrite and sand.

UPTON - Gulf No. 18-M McElroy; drilling 5,758 feet in shale and lime.

VAL VERDE — Resources Investment No. 1-18 Mills; drilling 12,757 feet in lime and shale.

WARD — Gulf No. 1 Cadenhead; drilling 13,948 feet in lime, sand and shale.

Gulf No. 3 Pruett; drilling 17,942 feet in lime

Gulf No. 1-13-18 University; drilling 7,934 feel in lime and sand.

Union Texas No. 1-58 Sealy; td 11,581 feet; still circulating and conditioning.

WINKLER — GMW No. 1 Dull Knife; drilling 19,750 feet in lime.

GMW No. 1 Roman Nose; drilling 15,500 feet.

YOAKUM - MGF No. 1 Lowe; td 7,000 feet; pumped three barrels of oil and 52 barrels of water in 18 hours, through perforations at 5,386-5,396 feet.

'Cherry picker' saves plenty by buying bargains

By LOUISE COOK

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — 3:25 p.m. Heinz Biesdorf enters the supermarket.

With the instinct of a homing pigeon, he heads straight for the first bargain of the day — 10 pounds of potatoes for $1.19.

He ignores displays that would tempt a less-determined shopper.

Forty-five minutes and three supermarkets later, Biesdorf has finished this week's shopping for himself and his wife. He has spent $16.82. Everything he bought was on sale.

Biesdorf, a consumer economist and Cornell University professor who came to this country from West Germany in 1950, is a super shopper, the kind of person who is known in the grocery business as a "cherry picker." He buys only the specials.

The slender, balding educator believes that professionalism in shopping can save consumers thousands of dollars. He looks on shopping and buying as a challenge. A tour of his house — "I bought it at half price" — is accompanied by a running commentary on prices and discounts for products ranging from appliances to clothing.

"That's a $189 typewriter. I picked it up hardly used, three or four years old, for about $60. ... My eyes are always going."

Biesdorf never skips an opportunity to hunt for a bargain. Waiting for a visitor whose plane was delayed, he drove to a nearby shopping center — just to see what was available.

"I said, 'Look, what have you got?'" Biesdorf recalls. He was told there were $10 shirts on sale at three for $10. "I said, 'Hey, that's interesting. Let me see.' I probably have 30, 40, 50 shirts at home. I wear out a lot of shirts. And I'm never going to pay $10 for a $10 shirt. Why should I? So I bought two — $3.33 for a $10 shirt. Half of the stuff in my house was bought just that way."

Biesdorf concedes that most people would not want that many shirts, but he argues that the principle is important. It is a principle which forms one of his basic rules for shopping: Buy when the price is right. And when the price is right, buy a lot.

Biesdorf, along with two colleagues at Cornell, has turned his principles into a kit, "Besa Better Shopper — Buying in Supermarkets," first published by the New York State Extension Service nine years ago and recently issued in a revised edition.

The tour of his house includes a look at what he calls "my own supermarket in my own home." He has a separate room for storing groceries — five 26-ounce containers of salt, bought at a nickel each instead of the regular 23-cent price; cases of canned peaches, nine pounds of spaghetti, vinegar by the gallon, noodles.

This supply is the reason that Biesdorf spent less than $17 on groceries this week. He bought only the bargains. Anything else he needs, he will draw from his storeroom, replacing items only when the price is right.

Biesdorf and his wife, who is studying for a degree in social work, share the shopping chores, depending on who has more time. He starts his shopping each week by going through the newspapers to check the specials advertised by each store. He circles items that are of interest.

Biesdorf's savings come mainly on products such as canned goods and nonfood products which can be stored. Perishables like meat and fresh produce are replaced weekly, with menus planned by his wife around the specials. He did not own a freezer until late last year.

Biesdorf estimates he spends about $22 a week on food for himself and his wife, including spot expenditures and items from storage. That's about the same amount as the U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates it takes to feed two people on a bare-bones thrift plan. "But I eat much better," he says.

He scans the newspaper specials. Lemon juice at 59 cents a quart. The regular price is 89 cents. "I will buy six. I save $1.80." Other "interesting" items include carrots at 19 cents a pound, cantaloupe at 39 cents. He rejects canned tomato paste at four cans for $1. "I have 20 cans ... at 13 cents each."

What if you don't like the brand of lemon juice on sale? "Food is cheap and taste is expensive," Biesdorf says. Besides, he contends that most people cannot tell the difference between store brands and the better-known items. "Most stores have two or three different qualities of house brands. It's not quite fair to compare their lowest quality house brand with the national brand. You compare the best quality house brand with the regular brand. ...

"If you do discern, with the wrapper off, that one product is consistently more tasteful to you and it happens to be also more expensive, then all I can say is you get your money's worth for two reasons: one, you like it, and two, you know what you're doing. There is nothing wrong with anyone spending anything they have any which way they want if there is no alternative and they know what they're doing."

Knowing what you are doing is a key to Biesdorf's spending. He contends that most people do not know where their money has gone over the years.

Setting out for the supermarket in his Volkswagen — purchased at the lowest possible price just before the new models arrived — Biesdorf continues pointing out possible savings. He has never purchased a national brand of gas, for example.

In the first supermarket, he buys only the potatoes and a box of crackers for 39 cents. He is out of the store in 10 minutes.

He never loads his cart with item after item. He is buying even less than usual this Thursday afternoon because he has meat at home in the freezer and because he is taking a three-month sabbatical later in the year and does not need to keep his home storeroom fully stocked.

It's 3:40 p.m. — 15 minutes after the shopping expedition started. Biesdorf enters the second supermarket, drapes the newspaper ads for that store over the handle of his shopping cart and sets off. Chopped chuck is available at a good price, but he doesn't like the look of the meat. He laughs as he passes potatoes at 10 pounds for $1.99. Cheddar. Not advertised, but a good price. "That lasts pretty well," he says, picking up two packages. The advertised carrots, three heads of lettuce at 29 cents each, peaches and cantaloupes are added to the shopping cart. The bill is $5.28. At 3:50 p.m., he is heading for the parking lot.

For his third stop, Biesdorf has a choice of two stores, both with tempting specials. A good price for salami puts one supermarket "over the top."

He is in the third store at 3:55 p.m., conceding that he is lucky to have so many supermarkets clustered in a relatively small area of Ithaca. He looks briefly at a display of dented cans and boxes, day-old produce and other less-than-perfect items offered at low prices. "It doesn't hurt to look briefly," Biesdorf says, but finds nothing tempting. "They want to sell me an old lettuce at 39 cents. I have a much better one at 29 cents."

He buys a salami — "Who makes it?" he asks the clerk — after making sure that the price and weight are carefully marked on the tag. A jar of peanut butter, a container of cottage cheese and a case of beer complete his purchases. The beer is a special. It is not his favorite brand, but he has never tried it and says it doesn't matter anyway. To a German, none of the American beers is really satisfactory. He leaves the third store at 4:10 p.m.

Biesdorf admits that he sometimes makes mistakes. He did not foresee the surge in coffee prices and rejected $2-apound coffee as too expensive. He has too much jam and jelly in his storeroom. "We wanted to get a whole bunch of varieties, they were on sale ... and I figured, well, I'll just drag 'em home. Somebody will eat them eventually ... but there's no need having $12 worth of jam and jellies sitting around. For us, $6 would have been just enough. But I made that mistake. I didn't consult with my wife."

The day ends much the way it began. The visitor's departure is delayed and Biesdorf has a suggestion for filling in the time. "Why don't we run over to the shopping center?"

Nursing home complaints growing, says newspaper

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Nursing homes run by the largest proprietary nursing home chains in the country generate a disproportionate number of consumer complaints and compliance problems in Texas, the Austin American-Statesman says.

"One giant corporation owns 12 per cent of the nursing homes in Texas, but draws 28 per cent of the penalties imposed by state regulators for poor nursing care," said the story written by Dave Mayes.

ARA Services Inc., which is also the nation's largest food service-vending machine company, has 157 nursing homes, according to its annual report, and 111 of them operate in Texas under two subsidaries.

The story said the largest subsidiary is the National Living Center Inc., Houston, with 89 homes. The other 22 are run by a Colorado-based subsidiary, Geriatric Inc.

The American-Statesman says that State Department of Public Welfare statistics show that ARA-run homes were slapped with 45 vendor holds so far this year or 28 per cent of the action taken during that period. A vendor hold is the state's withholding of Medicaid payments from a nursing home, usually because of serious nursing care deficiences found by state inspectors.

During the same period the department cancelled 44 contracts, and 20 per cent of them involved nine homes managed by ARA's National Living Centers.

Gary Allen, chief of nursing home certification for the state department, told the AmericanStatesman that for years the public welfare department had labored to bring small scale proprietary nursing homes operating on shoestrings up to standard.

Now, he said, the big corporations are coming in and buying them out and "we really can't see much improvement.

"We have two major corporations operating nursing homes in Texas and If I had to use them as a guide, I wouldn't say they's improved things much," he said.

Allen said both corporations have some very good homes but both also have some pretty bad ones.

Welfare department records show the state's No. 2 chain is Leisure Lodges Inc., a subsidiary of Stephens Inc,. an investment banking firm in Little Rock, Ark.

Leisure Lodges operates 52 nursing homes in Texas or 5.4 per cent of the facilities. During this year it has had 12 percent of the vendor holds and 9 percent of the cancellations.

Of the 2,957 complaints received by the state, 7 percent or 216 were registered against Leisure Lodges.

SHERIFF'S SALE
THE STATE OF TEXAS
COUNTY OF MIDLAND

WHEREAS, on the 28th day of August, 1977, in Cause No. T-1464, in the District Court of Midland County, Texas, wherein Midland Independent School District, City of Midland, Texas were Plaintiffs, Impleaded Party Defendants, and Intervenors, and recovered judgment against F. Rodriguez, Defendant, for taxes, penalty, interest, and cost against the hereinafter described property;

WHEREAS, on the 16th day of August, 1977, by virtue of said judgment and the mandates thereof the Clerk of the above mentioned District Court of said county did cause to be issued an Order of Sale commanding me as Sheriff of said county to seize, levy upon, and sell in the manner and form as required by law, the hereinafter described property;

WHEREAS, by virtue of said judgment and said Order of Sale and the mandates thereof, I did on the 16th day of August, 1977, seize and levy upon as the property of the above defendant the following described property, situated in Midland County, Texas, to-wit:

Lots 15, 16, 17, Block 8, Moore Addition, an addition to the City of Midland, Midland County, Texas as shown by deed from M. F. Fred & Josephine Rodriquez recorded in Vol. 349, Page 355 of the Deed Records of Midland County, Texas as dated: 1-5-72.

And I will, on the first Tuesday in the month of Sept., 1977, the same being the 6th day of said month, at 2 pm at the South entrance to the Midland City Courthouse to the highest registered bidder for cash; provided, however, that none of said property shall be sold to the owner of said property directly or indirectly or to anyone having an interest therein or to any party other than a taxing unit which is a party to this suit for less than the amount of the adjudged value of said property or the aggregate amount of judgments against said property in said suit, whichever is lower, subject also to the right of the Defendant to redeem same in the time and manner provided by law and subject also to the right of the defendant to have said property divided and sold in less divisions than the whole.

Said sale is to be made by me to satisfy the judgment rendered in the above styled and numbered cause, together with interest, penalties, and cost of suit; and the proceeds of said sale are to be applied to the satisfaction thereof, and the remainder, if any, to be applied as the law directs.

WHEREAS, by virtue of said judgment and said Order of Sale and the mandates thereof, I did on the 16th day of August, 1977, seize and levy upon as the property of the above defendant the following described property, situated in Midland County, Texas, to-wit:

Lots 5, 6, and 8, Blk. 7, Eastover 3rd Ext. Addition, an addition to the City of Midland, Midland County, Texas as shown by deed from Leland Wells et ux recorded in Vol. 133, Page 209 of the Deed Records of Midland County, Texas as dated: 12-22-50.

And I will, on the first Tuesday in the month of Sept., 1977, the same being the 6th day of said month, at 2 pm at the South entrance to the Midland City Courthouse to the highest registered bidder for cash; provided, however, that none of said property shall be sold to the owner of said property directly or indirectly or to anyone having an interest therein or to any party other than a taxing unit which is a party to this suit for less than the amount of the adjudged value of said property or the aggregate amount of judgments against said property in said suit, whichever is lower, subject also to the right of the Defendant to redeem same in the time and manner provided by law and subject also to the right of the defendant to have said property divided and sold in less divisions than the whole.

Said sale is to be made by me to satisfy the judgment rendered in the above styled and numbered cause, together with interest, penalties, and cost of suit; and the proceeds of said sale are to be applied to the satisfaction thereof, and the remainder, if any, to be applied as the law directs.

Drop in scores blamed in part on 'traumas'

By MALCOLM N. CARTER

NEW YORK (AP) — A steady 14-year decline in College Board scores was blamed today on national "traumas" such as the Vietnam war and Watergate, lower educational standards and the increasing number of minority, poor and inferior students taking the tests.

A special 21-member panel, headed by former Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, also blamed television and the nation's divorce rate in its 75-page report on the results of a two-year study.

The decline in Scholastic Aptitude Test scores constitutes "serious business warranting careful attention by everybody interested in education," the group said.

Since 1963, the average score in the Scholastic Aptitude Test verbal section has dropped 49 points, from 478 to 429. Mathematics scores declined 32 points, from 502 to 470.

Scores range from 200 to 800. The 2½-hour test is given by the College Entrance Examination Board to about one million high school students a year as a tool for colleges trying to gauge future academic success.

The report noted that the 14-year period was divided into two seven-year time brackets by societal events. The report said the decline before 1970 was due largely to a change in the kinds of students taking the test. In the seven years since, with the test-taking group stabilized, other developments in the schools and society were held responsible.

Between two-thirds and three-fourths of the decline until 1970 was related to the "notable extension and expansion of educational opportunity in the United States," the paned said.

With many more young persons staying in high school and going on to college, the panel said, there has been a greater proportion of test takers who have lower high school grades and who come from the low-income and minority groups which traditionally score low.

The growing number of women taking the SATs contributed to a decline in the mathematics scores, the study also noted. Women have traditionally scored higher than men in the verbal section.

However, the study rejected the interpretation that student makeup was the basic cause, using instead the explanation that lower scores resulted from "the incompleteness so far of the national undertaking to afford meaningful equality of educational opportunity."

The panelists — who were drawn from such institutions as the Ford Foundation, universities and high schools — said their analysis of causes since 1970 was based on "circumstantial evidence" because no clear causal relationships could be proved.

Fired official's wife expected to testify today

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The wife of fired Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. exectuive James Ashley was expected to testify today in the trial of $29 million damage suit against her husband's former employer.

Already, three of Ashleys' four children have taken the witness stand to describe the effect on their family of Ashley's dismissal from his $55,000-a-year job in October 1974.

The children said they lived in seclusion after their father's dismissal, fearing their friends would think that they were criminals.

Ashley's wife, Bonnie, was to testify near the end of the plaintiffs's case against the telephone company. The trial is in its third week.

The suit, filed by Ashley and the family of T.O. Gravitt, contends Gravitt was hounded to his death and Ashley wrongfully fired as a result of the Bell internal investigation.

Gravitt was head of Bell operations in Texas when he committed suicide at his Dallas home Oct. 17, 1974.

A Harvard University psychiatrist testified Monday that Gravitt was not insane or mentally ill when he killed himself.

The opinion of Dr. Shervert H. Frazier, psychiatry professor at Harvard and former commissioner of the Texas Mental Health-Mental Retardation Commission, contradicted testimony given earlier.

Testifying for Bell, Dr. Frazier said the investigation could not have driven Gravitt to kill himself.

"Had he (Gravitt) been completely innocent, he would not have been bothered by the accusations. The bad part of his life was about to be exposed. He didn't want to face the music.

"Events don't drive people to suicide, inner feelings do," he added.

In a suicide note, Gravitt said he was bothered by questions Bell investigators were asking his employes.

Earlier in the trial, which entered its third week Monday, a Houston psychiatrist testified for the plaintiffs that Gravitt was driven to insanity and suicide by the Bell investigation.

Carter to reaffirm support for ERA

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter will reaffirm his personal support of the proposed Equal Rights Amendment by meeting with the leaders of more than 70 groups planning to march Friday in support of the ERA, the White House says.

The President also will proclaim Friday as Women's Equality Day.

"The President is not only sensitive to Women's Equality Day, but is taking the opportunity to reaffirm his absolute belief in the ERA," presidential assistant Margaret Costanza said Monday.

The White House at first indicated that Carter had rebuffed appeals from two congresswomen to issue a Women's Equality Day proclamation. The day commemorates the 19th Amendment to the Constitution, which gave women the right to vote.

Rep. Margaret Heckler, R-Mass., who heads the Congresswoman's Caucus with Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., received a letter Monday from presidential council William Nichols saying that Carter had decided not to issue the proclamation.

Nichols said the President gets thousands of requests for proclamations and "there simply are not enough days, weeks and months in the years" to accommodate them. He said they usually are issued only on the request of Congress or for such issues of national importance as the Bicentennial.

THE KISSING bandit strikes again. A Kansas City policeman leads away a woman who vaulted onto the field Monday night and stole a kiss from Royal third baseman George Brett, right. What could George be telling her? (AP Laserphoto)

Murrell's muscle sinks Cubbies, 9-5

Amarillo's Gold Sox and Ivan Murrell in particular cluttered up Midland's rose-strewn path to the pennant with toe-stubbing bouders again Monday night.

The Gold Sox, now leading the five-game series 2-1, kept the Cubs from opening any daylight in the Texas League West with a 9-5 win and a couple of late inning homers by Murrell got the job done.

Murrell hit a solo homer in the seventh as Amarillo scored three runs for a 6-2 lead and just when it looked like the Cubs might rally to pull it out after Mike Umfleet's three-run double, Murrell applied the coup de grace with a three-run homer in the eighth.

The blows were the 23rd and 24th of the season for the former major league outfielder and the eighth and ninth for him against Midland.

JUAN EICHELBERGER, 11-7, needed relief help from lefty Dón Alfano, but hung around long enough to get the win, his seventh in his last eight decisions. It also gave him a 3-2 edge on the Cubs this season.

Jack Ledbetter, 11-8, was tagged with the loss, although it was Byron Wilkerson who was the unfortunate victim of Murrell's big homer.

Two were out in the fatal eighth, but a couple of runners were on as a result of infield hits. Manager Jim Saul, playing the percentages, lifted lefty Larry Groover to bring in the righthanded Wilkerson to face the righthanded Murrell.

Ivan liked the first pitch he saw and when last seen the ball was rising in the night toward Lamesa. As it turned out, the way Alfano finished up, it was superfluous.

Tonight it will be Greg Wilkes, 6-6 for Amarillo against Randy Martz, 3-2, the Cubs No. 1 draft pick in the recent free agent draft.

UMFLEET, DESPITE the loss, had another big night at the plate with four runs batted in singling home Kurt Seibert, who had led off the fourth with a triple, Midland's first hit off Eichelberger.

Then in the eighth, Jimmy Buckner's single and walks to Carlos Lezcano and Seibert had the bases loaded with two out. Manager Dave Campbell lifted Eichelberger and Umfleet greeted Alfano with the vase clearing double to left center. However, that was the only bad pitch Alfano made, facing the minimum seven batters in the final 2⅓ innings.

Amarillo jumped on Ledbetter for three runs in the fourth as Broderick Perkins hit his second single, Luke Wrenn tripled, Gene Quirk doubled and Steve Smith singled.

Perkins then belted a solo homer over the fence in center to make it 4-1 in the fifth.

SINGLES BY Duane Gustavson, Lezcano and Scott Boras got a run back in the home fifth.

In the seventh, Murrell's first homer plus a single by O'Neill and Wrenn's second triple upped the Sox' lead to 6-2, to set the stage for Umfleet's double and Murrell's boulder roller in the eighth.

CUBPRINTS — Home runs have haunted Wilkerson this season. Murrell's was the 10th he has surrendered in 56 innings...Wilkes is 3-2 against Midland, winning 3-2 and 6-1. Martz is 1-0 against Amarillo, the win coming against Wilkes 9-4 in Amarillo August 14...Murrell now has knocked in 27 runs against Midland and has three hom runs in the current series...

Watson doing well

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Watson neared the $300,000 mark in 1977 winnings on the professional golf tour this week with a sixth-place finish in the Westchester Classic.

Watson won $10,200 at Westchester to increase his total on the money list to $291,678, compared to $273,343 won by Jack Nicklaus, the second leading money winner so far this year.

Andy North's victory at Westchester vaulted him from 45th on the list to 13th with $112,688.

The only changes in the top 10 from last week saw Bill Kratzert move from 11th in ninth with $120,536 and Andy Bean advance from 13th to 10th with $119,720.

Diablos take over first

By The Associated Press

El Paso, behind the combined pitching efforts of Jim Dorsey and Carlos Perez, claimed undisputed possession of first place in the West Division of the Texas League Monday, while Arkansas stretched its lead to 2½ games in the East.

The Diablos went ahead of San Antonio 3-2 in the fourth inning when Terry Stupey's sacrifice fly scored Floyd Rayford. El Paso finally won 8-2, and cling to a 1-game lead over Midland.

Dorsey boosted his record to 10-7, with Perez picking up a save for El Paso.

The Arkansas Travelers scored three runs in the ninth inning to defeat Tulsa Drillers 3-2.

To pull the game out in the bottom of the ninth, Arkansas combined an error, a passed ball, four walks and two singles. The game was decided when reliever Mike Arrington walked Ron Farkas, forcing in the winning run.

In Jackson, Miss., meanwhile, Mike Scott set a club season record of 14 victories as he scattered six hits and lead the Jackson Mets to a 6-4 triumph over Shreveport.

Scott, 14-9, broke the mark of 13 wins held by himself and Jeff Grose.

Chris Batton, 4-5, was the losing pitcher for Shreveport.

Four of Shreveport's hits came in the first inning when the Captains scored four unearned runs with the help of two Met errors.

Jackson rallied for four runs in the sixth, with Bobby Bryant driving in the tying and winning runs with a two-out single.

Cowboys roll out the red carpet

By BOB DILLON

IRVING — The Dallas Cowboy organization really knows how to treat the working press, especially those who come into Texas Stadium to cover a game.

Saturday night was a good example for this particular sports writer. Doug Todd, Public Relations Director, rolled out the red carpet for everybody.

Todd and his assistant, George Heddleston, are kept busy before, during and after each Cowboy game.

After filing the dressing room story on Dallas after midnight Saturday, Todd offered me a ride back to my hotel.

The Cowboys have a special driver for this purpose when visiting scribes need a lift back after meeting deadlines for their respective newspapers.

Heddleston appeared a little tired and after the long conversation with him in the car on the way back to the hotel, it was understandable.

"WE REALLY put in the hours at pre-season camp in California. The first two weeks are fun, but after six weeks, we get pretty weary and are ready to get back to Dallas, " commented the Ohio native.

Heddleston loves his job and rates the Cowboy organization as the best in the business. "I've only been with them (Dallas) four months and I couldn't have hand picked a better organization in pro football."

He was anxious, however, to get to his hotel hotel room in order to fly to Columbus, Ohio Sunday to pick up his wife whom he had not seen for over six weeks.

"There was plenty to see out on the West Coast, but then you wouldn't believe the hours we put in. And I thought I was on my feet a lot while serving in the Navy!"

Heddleston quickly went on to say that it was worth the long hours. "The Cowboys are a closely-knit team and there are no smartaleck-acting players in the group. If they are, they don't last long around here, because it is a first-class operation and they don't have time for them. Everybody is just super."

THE COWBOYS are going to have to cut the squad down to 45 players soon and Heddleston says it will be awfully tough picking the running backs and No. 3 quartemback for the coming season.

"Scott Laidlaw and John Smith were running well before injuries in Thousand Oaks, but now they both will be lucky to stick with the team."

Dallas can only put two players on its taxi, squad and it will need to keep a spot open for All-Pro tackle Rayfield Wright when he returns. "It's going to be tough and I'm glad that I'm not the one to make the decisions. Take for instance back Larry Brisnon against Miami. He looked good, but he could be gone by next week. That's kind-of tough isn't it?"

HEDDLESTON SAYS that quarterbacks Steve DeBerg and Glenn Carano are both fine prospects, but one will have to go. "Dallas can put one on waivers, hoping to pick up back up later, but that's a big gamble."

DeBerg is a 6-2, 205-pound signal-caller from San Jose State while Carano is a 6-3, 195-pounder out of the University of Neveda at Las Vegas.

"Both can throw well. In fact, both can throw a football through a brick wall and DeBerg throws the sideline and hook patterns as well as anybody in camp. Carano is physically tough and a real competitor, so it will be awfully close as to who will become the No. 3 quaterback this year."

The way injuries have hit Dallas and they way some of the Cowboys played against the Dolphins Saturday, the Cowboy faithful grateful should be for the six exhibition games they play before regular season play opens. "Can you imagine opening next week in Bloomington, Minn. against the Vikings with the problems we have right now? It would be murder!"

"IT'S GOING to be difficult enough when we play Minnesota on Sept. 18 anyway."

The Cowboys got another injury scare Saturday in the Miami game when tackle Ralph Neely suffered a twisted knee. "We certainly don't need to lose any more offensive tackles. If we do, I don't know what we will do." He went on to say that Pat Donovan, the three-year veteran from Stanford, is the only healthy tackle right now.

Dallas faces the Colts Saturday in Texas Stadium and then the Houston Oilers and Pittsburgh Steelers to wind up the exhibition schedule. The Pittsburgh game is set for Thursday, Sept. 8. Then Dallas has 10 days to get ready for the Vikings in its NFL opener for 1977.

"There's no love lost between the Cowboys and Steelers, naturally, because of the Super Bowl battle between those two rivals two years ago, chuckled Heddleston. "Those 10 days will really help us to get ready for that big opener, " said Heddleston.

ANYWAY, IT was a gratifying experience to be in Texas Stadium last Saturday to view the Dallas-Miami game and to be treated so well by everyone in Dallas.

I just might get spoiled if given many more chances to journey to Texas Stadium to cover the Cowboys.

Eagles upset Pats, 21-10

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rookie quarterback Mike Cordova, who is not even listed on the three-deep depth chart, led two second-half touchdown drives as the Philadelphia Eagles upset the New England Patriots 21-10 Monday night in a National Football League preseason game.

Cordova, from Stanford University, threw a 14-yard touchdown pass to Vince Papale in the third period, giving the Eagles a 14-10 lead.

In the final quarter, Piladelphia rookie Herman Edwards returned an intercepted pass 25 yards to the Patriots' 34. Cordova then directed the Eagles to a touchdown, scored on a three-yard run by rookie Jim Betterson.

The Patriots had taken a 10-0 lead on a one-yard touchdown run by Andy Johnson in the first quarter and John Smith's 35-yard second-period field goal.

The Eagles started their comeback in the second quarter on a two-yard touchdown pass from Ron Jaworski to Keith Krepfle.

The loss was the first of the exhibition season for the Patriots, who had won twice without giving up a touchdown. For the Eagles, it was the second victory in three games.

Borowiak breezes to net title

TORONTO (AP) — Jeff Borowiak knows the importance of being able to stage comebacks.

He took only 44 minutes to dispose of Chile's Jaime Fillol 6-0, 6-1 and win the men's singles title at the Canadian Open tennis championships Monday night. But despite the convincing score, the 27-year-old Californian had to bounce back several times.

Twice in the first set, Fillol had Borowiak on the run, down 0-40 on his serve, then made unforced errors to blow both games.

In the beginning of the second set, Fillol appeared to be shaking off his control problems, winning seven points in a row to lead 1-0 and 0-40 on Borowiak's serve. The near-capacity crowd of more than 5,500 gave the Chilean a cheer of encouragement, but his control once again evaporated and he only managed four more points the rest of the match.

"Recently, I've found myself getting out of 0-40 and 15-40 situations," said Borowiak, a jazz pianist and flutist who is majoring in music at the University of California-Berkley. "Those comebacks are the type of thing that can win a tournament for you."

He said he hadn't known what to expect from Fillol.

"I felt that Jaime never got warmed up," he said. "I felt slightly jittery myself. But I made some forcing shots in the beginning and I kept the errors down."

It was the third tournament victory this year for the 12thseeded Borowiak, making 1977 his best season since joining the pro tennis tour in 1971. He took home the $20,000 first prize while the 31-year-old Fillol, seeded sixth, won $10,000.

Borowiak defeated Britain's Buster Mottram in straight sets at Dayton, Ohio, and Jean Caujolle of France in the Swiss championships.

Moving rapidly around the court, Borowiak kept relentless pressure on Fillol, even during the five games where the Chilean managed to put together enough points to run the score to deuce.

Fillol tried to vary his tactics, sometimes rushing the net to volley, other times staying back and exchanging ground strokes. He also experienced trouble placing his first service and could not keep his returns in the court.

Fillol said he was not able to find the form that carried him past second-seeded Manuel Orantes of Spain in a quarterfinal matchup.

Connors beats Riessen in toughie

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Jimmy Connors, battling to retain his No. 1 position in the Association of Tennis Pros' rankings, rallied for a 3-6, 6-1, 6-4 victory over Marty Riessen Monday night in an opening round match of the 50th U.S. Pro Championships at Longwood.

Connors, plagued by a hand injury and beaten badly in two tournaments since bowing to Bjorn Born in the Wimbledon final, had to pull out all stops against Riessen, a 35-year-old warhorse.

Top-seeded in a bid to capture the title he won here in 1973, Connors fell behind quickly as he lost his serve in the second game. He broke back in the third game, but lost on his service at love in the sixth and was broken again in the eighth.

Denton places 10th in PBA tournament

TRENTON, N.J. — Midland's John Denton finished 10th Monday in a $65,000 Professional Bowlers Association tournament here.

Second-year pro steve Westberg won the $7,000 top prize in the event, as he overcame early jitters to gain his first tour victory.

"I was so nervous I couldn't believe it," said Westberg, 27, who ran a drapery installation business before joining the tour. "It felt like the bottom just fell out of my stomach. I knew what I was doing wrong but I just couldn't do anything about it."

The Cottage Grove, Ore., pro started the final session of match play with a seemingly insurmountable 198-pin lead over Roy Buckley of Columbus, Ohio, but saw his lead dwindle to 80 pins after rolling games of 210, 312, 175 and 167.

Waltrip holds off Pearson for win

Darrell Waltrip, of Franklin, Tenn. held off veteran David Pearson and outlasted Cale Yarborough and Benny Parsons Monday to win the rain-delayed 400-miles Grand national stock car race at Michigan International Speedway in Cambridge Junction, Mich.

The victory, at an average speed of 137.944 miles per hour, was worth $15,370 to Waltrip. The race, scheduled for Sunday, had to be postponed a day because of rain. . .

Argentinian Guillermo Vilas, winner of 35 straight matches on clay, will tune up for the U.S. Open with an appearance beginning Thursday in the $25,000 Tennis Week Open at Westchester Country Club in Rye, N.Y.

Vilas, who has won five consecutive tournaments, will lead one of two groups in the four-day round robin event on clay. Others entered include Ilie Nastase, Ion Tiriac, Roscoe Tanner, Marty Riessen, Jan Kodes, John McEnroe, Ricardo Cano and NCAA champ Matt Mitchell. . .

Jess Kersey, Billy Oakes and Ken Faulknem have been dropped from the National Basketball Association's roster of referees, a league spokesman announced Monday. No replacement have as yet been named, although one spot is expected to go to Joey Crawford, the son of baseball umpire Shag Crawford who filled in during the referee's strike last season. . .

Dale Berra, son of baseball Hall of Famer Uogi Berra, made his major league debut Monday night with the Pittsburgh Pirates. He was called up from the Bucs' AAA affiliate in Columbus, Ohio the day before. . . The San Diego Chargers waived wide receiver Chip Myers and cornerback Tom HaVes Monday . . . The Tom Hayes Monday. . .The Committee will open a three-city inspection tour in New York Saturday and Sunday to discuss plans for hosting the 1984 Olympic Games. E. Newbold Black IV, chairman of the committee, said the group also plans to visit Los Angeles Sept. 10-11, and New Orleans Sept. 17-18. The executvie board ot the U.S. Olympic Committee also will hear formal presentations by the mayors of the three-candidate cities in Colorado Springs, Colo., on September 25. . .

Jean-Guy Talbot, who was an assistant coach with the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League last season, was named head coach of the club Monday, replacing John Ferguson. Ferguson will remain as general manager.

The Rangers failed to make the Stanley Cup playoffs last season for the second straight year. . .

The Golden State Warriors of the National Basketball Association announced Monday that they have signed their No. 1 and No. 2 picks in the NBA draft, guard Rickey Green of the University of Michigan and forward Wesley Cox of the University of Louisville.

Green, who was the 16th player picked in the first round of the draft, told a news conference Monday that he had expected to be chosen sooner.

Red Sox suffer 4th straight loss

By The Associated Press

Larry Hisle's single with two out in the ninth inning scored Jerry Terrell with the winning run as the Minnesota Twins gained a 5-4 victory over Boston Monday night, handing the slumping Red Sox their fourth straight loss.

Hisle drilled a 3-2 pitch from ex-teammate Bill Campbell up the middle and Terrell, running for Rich Chiles, scored easily. Chiles led off the ninth with a single off loser Bill Lee, 4-3. Campbell then replaced Lee and allowed a single to Butch Wynegar.

Twins' relief ace Tom Johnson retired one Boston hitter and earned his 13th victory against five losses.

Minnesota starter Paul Thormodsgard was one out away from his 11th victory when George Scott singled and Butch Hobson followed with his 24th homer to tie the score 4-4.

The Twins rocked Boston starter Rick Wise and Lee for six hits and four runs in the second. Glenn Adams slammed a 440-foot home run to start the inning. Wynegar doubled home another run and Hisle and Rod Carew contributed RBI singles.

In other American League action, Oscar Gamble singled in the winning run in a three-run eighth inning as the Chicago White Sox broke an eight-game New York winning streak, beating the Yankees 5-3. Lou Piniella, Mickey Rivers and Chris Chambliss homered for the Yankees runs.

Hal McRae drove Frank White home from second base with an infield single, capping a three-run ninth inning as the Kansas City Royals won their sixth consecutive game edging the Baltimore Orioles 8-7.

Jim Sundberg bases-loaded two-run single in the bottom of the seventh led the Texas Rangers to a 8-7 come-from behind victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Fernando Arroyo fired a five hitter to lead the Detroit Tigers to a 5-1 win over the California Angeles, while Willie Crawford blasted a pinch hit three-run homer powering the Oakland A's to a 5-2 win over the Toronto Blue Jays.

Jim Bibby pitched a two hitter, Buddy Bell hit his third career grand slam and Rico Carty drove in five runs leading the Cleveland Indians to a 12-1 trouncing of the Seattle Mariners in the first game of a twin-night doubleheader.

Pinch hitter Roger Freed's three-run homer with two out in the ninth capped a seven-run rally that led the St. Louis Cardinals to 8-6 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Rick Reuschel chalked up his 17th victory of the season as the Cubs edged San Francisco 3-2. Gene Tenace rapped a home run in the fourth inning while Bob Shirley and Rollie Fingers combined to limit the Pirates to seven hits as San Diego Padres blanked Pittsburgh 1-0.

Pinch hitter Bruce Boisclair's two-run double in the seventh inning enabled the New York Mets to snap a five-game losing streak with a 2-1 victory over the Houston Astros.

Sam Mejias drilled three hits and Warren Cromartie hit a two-run homer as the Montreal Expos ended a four-game Cincinnati winning streak with a 51 victory over the Reds.

Pinch hitters Tim McCarver and Dave Johnson sparked a two-run seventh inning that carried the red-hot Philadelphia Phillies to a 5-4 win over the Atlanta Braves.

Little League series opens today in Williamsport

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Coquicacoa, Venezuela, the South American representative, will play the European representative from Torrejon Air Force Base team of Madrid, Spain, in the opening contest Tuesday of the Little League World Series.

El Cajon, Calif., the Western U.S. representative, takes on Hattiesburg, Miss., the Southern U.S. winner, in the second game.

More than 65,000 spectators are expected to attend the tournament, including more than 25,000 for the championship game Saturday at Howard J. Lamade Memorial Stadium, according to Little League spokesman George Gedon.

Rounding out the eight-team field are the Central U.S. winners from Youngstown, Ohio; the Eastern U.S. representatives from Rotterdam, N.Y.; the Lethbridge Norcrest All-Stars of Alberta, Canada; and the Li-Teh Little League of Kao Hsiung, Taiwan. Their first games will be Wednesday.

Market pushes ahead

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pushed ahead today, following through on Monday's moderate technical rally.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 2.86 at 870.15, after a 3.81-point advance Monday.

Gainers outpaced losers by a 4-3 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said the market's upswing Monday, when it scored its first gain in a week, attracted some additional buying today.

They also noted hopes for a respite from the recent sharp rise of short term interest rates.

On Monday a quarter-point increase in the prime lending rate, to 7 per cent, spread rapidly through the banking industry. The increase had been initiated Friday by New York's Citibank.

Sears Roebuck topped the active list, down ⅛ at 31⅞ despite the company's report of higher second quarter earnings.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks added .09 to 53.58. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .30 at 119.17.

Volume on the Big Board increased to 8.75 million shares by noontime from 6.92 million at the same point Monday.

Dreyfus Corp., which has announced plans to offer $10 apiece for up to 600,000 of its own shares, climbed 1¾ to 9¾.

DR. NEIL SOLOMON

Here's diet for Day Six

Dear Readers: In response to your requests, I have printed, in previous columns, menus and recipes for Days One through Five of my one-week reducing diet. Day Six appears today; Day Seven will appear in a future column.

DR. SOLOMON'S REDUCING DIET
DAY 6
BREAKFAST

½ C. diet applesauce on 3 oz. cottage cheese
2 slices diet toast

LUNCH

White meat turkey roll sandwich
Cucumber salad
Orange

DINNER

Diet lasagne*

DIET LASAGNE*
(Serves 4)

1 lb. ground beal or beef
¼ C. minced onion
1 8-oz. can tomato sauce
1 tbs. cooking oil
1 tsp. basil
1 tsp. parsley
1 tsp. oregano
Dash garlic salt
Dash pepper
1 4-oz. can mushrooms, drained
1 10-oz. pckge. frozen chopped spinach, thawed
8 oz. cottage cheese
4 oz. mozzarello cheese cheese

Saute onion and ground meat in oil until onion is transparent. Add tomato sauce, basil, parsley, oregano, garlic salt, pepper, and mushrooms. Squeeze liquid from thawed spinach and combine with cottage cheese. Cut mozzarella cheese in strips. In 7 inch x 11 inch baking dish arrange in layers spinach mixture, meat mixture, then mozzarella cheese. Repeat, ending with hard cheese. Bake in 375 deg. oven for 15-20 minutes or until hot and bubbly.

ALMOND CREME WITH ORANGES

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
½ C. powdered skim milk, liquified
Dash of salt
4 packs Sweet 'n Low
1 egg yolk, slightly beaten
½ tsp. almond extract
1 egg white
¼ C. evaporated skim milk, chilled in refrigerator until ice crystals form around edges
1 C. canned, dietetic mandarin orange slices

1—In small sauce pan, sprinkle gelatin over liquefied skim milk. Stir to soften gelatin. Add salt, 2 packs sweetener and egg yolk. Place over low heat and stir to dissolve gelatin. Remove from heat and stir in almond extract. Chill until mixture mounds slightly. (About 8 minutes.)

2—Beat egg white until peaks form. Add gelatin mixture to egg mixture and beat until thick and creamy.

3—Whip chilled evaporated skim milk until thick. Add remaining sweetner, beat again. Fold into gelatin mixture. Pour into 4 dessert dishes. Chill to serve. Arrange mandarin orange segments in petal design. Serves 4.

Organized Dixie clout now fading

By EDMOND LeBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) - While Jimmy Carter, flashing his smile from the White House, fills Southern hearts with pride, organized Southern clout on Capitol Hill is probably at its feeblest in 40 years.

Ironically, Carter's election as the first post-Civil War president from the Deep South and the decline of Southern bloc power in the Congress are two aspects of the same historic evolution, the return of the South to the national political and social mainstream.

It was Southern isolation and defensiveness that built a once effective third force in a twoparty legislative branch.

As recently as five years ago, six of the 12 major committees in the House, seven of 11 in the Senate, were headed by Southerners.

But there currently is only one Southern chairman in the House, Texan George H. Mahon of the Appropriations panel, and he is retiring from Congress next year.

Next in line to head the purse strings committee is another Southerner, Jamie Whitten of Mississippi. But next in line no longer means automatic succession, and Whitten faces a fight.

The change is less dramatic in the Senate, but the trend is clear. Six of the key chairmanships still are held by Southerners. But only two of these men are under 70 and nonSoutherners are waiting in the wings.

When the great civil rights battles of the 1960's were being fought, a cohesive opposing band of about 100 Southern Democratic representatives was led by generals like Howard Smith of Virginia. He commanded as chairman of the Rules Committee, incomparably more powerful and independent then than it is now.

In the Senate, Richard B. Russell of Georgia led a force proportionately as strong.

The Southern Democratic strategists, skilled at trading votes and forming coalitions with Republicans, could not stop the march of civil rights legislation. But they succeeded in slowing it, to the frustration of Democratic presidents and even of the legendary Speaker Sam Rayburn.

Rayburn was the last southern speaker, and one who came to see the need for legislation to foster social justice and better race relations. His confrontation with Smith and the resulting reconstitution of the Rules Committee was an early milestone on the road to the new House.

Speaker Thomas O'Neill of Massachusetts has much clearer lines of authority and party discipline to help him preside over the Democratic majority. Rayburn operated with personality, prestige and persuasion.

Revitalization of the Democratic caucus and steering committee, subjecting chairmanships to caucus vote — which led in 1975 to the ouster of three Southern chairmen — and conversion of the Rules Committee into an arm of the Democratic leadership are among the changes whose effects are still developing.

But there are more profound forces shaping Congress in the 1970s and their Southern contingents, deep-seated changes in attitude in the country as well as among those who are elected to legislative seats.

Many Southerners in Congress still share a conservative bent, especially in fiscal matters, a commitment to a strong military and a suspicion of foreign policy accommodations.

But there is no overriding passionate issue to weld them together. Southerners can argue persuasively that their region has made its adjustments and that the issue of race relations is much more divisive in cities such as Detroit and Boston than below the Mason-Dixon line.

There are many moderates and some liberals of both races in the current Southern delegations. It would be unthinkable today that only a few could feel free to refuse signing something like the Southern Manifesto of the 60s, which vowed opposition to civil rights legislation.

On other issues Southerners divide much as do representatives of other sections.

GE to develop kelp to produce methane

The Los Angeles Times

LOS ANGELES — In the scramble to develop new energy sources, General Electric Co. now says it will pursue development of one of the most unlikely sounding ideas yet: harvesting of huge kelp farms off the California coast for conversion to methane gas.

GE engineers have already designed a one-fourth acre underwater structure to house an experimental farm, to be built by Global Marine Development Inc. of Newport Beach, Calif. It will be moored five miles off Laguna Beach, Calif., by next spring.

Giant California kelp will be planted on the structure, made up of concrete poles interconnected by plastic or nylon lines. The module will be floated 60 feet below the surface, and a pump will draw nutrients for the kelp from depths of 1,000 feet or more.

The project, sponsored by the American Gas Assn. and the U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration, should produce about 12.5 tons of dry kelp per year, says Armond J. Bryce, GE's technical director for marine biomass.

That in turn will be drumped into a bacteria-laden processor on shore which literally digests the kelp, much as sludge and garbage are consumed at the Los Angeles Hyperion sewage treatment plant. In both cases carbon dioxide and methane are produced, and the carbon dioxide is then filtered out.

"Technically, we know we can do it," says Wheeler North, a California Institute of Technology marine scientist who is in charge of cultivating the kelp. "The only question is economics."

The methane, a form of natural gas, will clearly be expensive. GE's Bryce estimates prices for natural gas may have to climb as high as $4 per thousand cubic feet to make methane-from-kelp competitive, but the development program could prove that estimate to be high.

ENERGY

Ultimately GE hopes to install farms up to 100,000 acres in size off the California coast by 1985. One such farm's kelp, which would grow at the rate of two feet a day while being fed the undersea nutrients, could generate 1.2 billion cubic feet of gas, GE estimates. That translates into roughly a two-month supply for the 12 counties served by Southern California Gas Co.

Bryce and North contend the environmental impact will be slight. "We hope that a profitable sidelight will be fish farms around the kelp farms," Bryce says.

California giant kelp can weigh up to 400 pounds. The harvesting technology is already in use on kelp beds around the world to extract iodine and other products.

Barges equipped with reciprocating blades will chop the kelp at the top, scoop it up, and return for another harvest when the kelp grows back.

The enormous amounts of energy needed to cultivate, harvest, and process the kelp raises questions about the net energy benefit. But GE officials contend that commercial-sized operations should produce 50 per cent more energy than they consume.

The kelp project is one of several efforts by the nation's gas utilities and the federal government to tap energy in plants and refuse, called biomass conversion.

Energy prices for consumer will rise says Gulf chairman

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The chairman of Gulf Oil Corp. says consumers are going to pay more for energy because costs are rising and will continue to rise for the producer.

"To be perfectly honest, there is no price relief in the future," Chairman Jeffy McAfee told a Pittsburgh Press Club Newsmakers Forum on Monday.

"What is important is that if we pay the right price to the right user we will, hopefully, have energy for ourselves and our grandchildren and future generations as they come down the road," McAfee said.

The oil executive claimed a national energy bill passed by the House does not make good use of the energy dollar.

A large portion of the consumer's energy costs will go to the government as taxes or royalities to be used for "social security, disbursements, rebates, salaries for congressmen — all these worthy causes," McAfee said.

"In the present energy program — so called, a great deal of what he's paying does not get plowed back into the ground by the oil companies or anyone else," McAfee said.

McAfee also repeated his firm's claim that it did no wrong by joining a world uranium cartel.

"Our position is quite firm and quite clear," he said. "We are comfortable in our conviction that we have no problems legal or otherwise."

Gulf has maintained that the Canadian government required Gulf Minerals Canada Ltd. to join the cartel as a matter of policy.

Another Pittsburgh-based firm, Westinghouse, is the defendant in a $2 billion suit over its failure to fulfill contracts for uranium deliveries to 24 utilities in the United States and Sweden.

The company has sued 29 cartel members, including Gulf's Canadian subsidary, for allegedly conspiring to raise the price of uranium.

"It is our contention that Gulf cannot and should not be blamed for Westinghouse's mistakes. We sympathize with them. We suffer with them. But we will refuse to take blame that is not rightfully ours," McAfee said.

Crockett strike finals, two sectors extended

Crockett County gained an oil pay opener and two pool extensions, while an outpost site has been staked in a Mitchell County area.

Texas Oil & Gas Corp., Midland, No. 1-B Bean, has been finaled as a Canyon oil opener in the Ozona field of Crockett, 16 miles southwest of Ozona.

It gauged a 24-hour flowing potential of 144 barrels of 45.7-gravity oil, no water, and gas-oil ratio measuring 2,590-1.

It finaled on a 16-64-inch choke and through perforations at 6,669-8,894 feet. The pay section had been acidized with 6,000 gallons and fractured with 130,000 gallons and 81,500 pounds of sand.

Top of the Canyon sand was picked at 2,105 feet, and top of the Canyon lime at 6,050 feet, under ground elevation of 2,495 feet. Total depth is 9,100 feet, and it is plugged back to 9,027 feet, in 4½-inch casing set at 9,078 feet.

Wellsite is 660 feet from south and 2,000 feet from west lines of section 2, block M, GC&SF survey.

Texas Oil & Gas also completed a ½-mile east extension to Canyon gas production in the Ozona field, 10 miles southeast of Ozona.

Its No. 1-9 Montgomery gauged a calculated, absolute open flow of 8.7 million cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations at 6,099-6,459 feet. The section had been treated with 3,600 gallons of acid and fractured with 122,500 gallons, plus 100,170 pounds of sand.

Total depth is 10,322 feet. It has been plugged back to 6,983 feet, in 4½-inch casing seated at 7,061 feet.

Wellsite is 804 feet from north and 1,004 feet from east lines of section 9, block NG, GC&SF survey.

A current seventh Queen oiler has been finaled in the Vaughn field of Crockett by M. C. Vinson of Midland.

No. 3-18 Shannon gauged a 24-hour pumping potential of 43 barrels of 32-gravity oil and 23 barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio of 1,349-1.

Completion was effected through perforations at 1,014-1,100 feet, after acidizing with 750 gallons, and fracturing with 4,500 gallons and 7,500 pounds of sand.

It is 990 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines of section 18, block UV, GC&SF survey, 12 miles northwest of Ozona.

R. L. Burns Corp., operating from Dallas, has scheduled No. 1-16 Ellwood as a 1¼-mile west outpost in the Mitchell portion of the Jameson (Strawn) field, seven miles north of Silver.

Drillsite is 660 feet from northeast and southeast lines of section 16, block 15, SPRR survey, planned depth is 7,000 feet.

Firm makes stock offer

LOS ANGELES — Atlantic Richfield Co. has announced that Goldman, Sachs & Co. will resume acting as broker for the purchase of the company's common stock for its employe stock ownership plan and various thrift plans of the company and certain of its affiliates.

The purchases, to be made on the open market, will commence immediately, said a spokesman.

Since April, substantially all purchases of ARCO stock for the thrift plans were made directly from the company. During part of this period, ending in July, Goldman, Sachs was purchasing common stock for the company's treasury.

All purchases made by Goldman, Sachs have been and will continue to be subject to certain volume, timing and bidding restrictions imposed by the securities and exchange commission, said the spokesman.

Explorers scheduled

Andrews County drew site for a wildcat, while attempt will be made to reopen one Pecos area and to extend another.

Mobil Oil Corp. intends to reenter and plug back to 13,655 feet as a Fusselman wildcat at No. 5-U Texas A-36-C 2, former Devonian and Ellenburger well in the Magutex field of Andrews.

The project, drilled to 13,898 feet, spots 1,980 feet from south and 2,280 feet from east lines of section 17, block 8, ULS, 11 miles northeast of Andrews townsite.

PECOS ACTIVITY

Texas Oil & Gas Corp. has filed application to drill No. 1-B-15 University in attempt to reopen Wolfcamp gas production in the Hokit, Northwest field of Pecos, 15 miles west of Bakersfield.

Located one mile northwest of the depleted dual Wolfcamp and Pennsylvanian discovery in the field, it spots 467 feet from south and east lines of section 15, block 19, ULS, and it is slated for a bottom depth of 7,000 feet.

Also, Getty Oil Co. has scheduled its No. 1 Idol as a 1¼-mile northwest outpost to the three-well Puckett, East (Strawn) gas field of Pecos.

Drillsite is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 1, block 101, TCRR survey, 30 miles southeast of Fort Stockton. It has a projected depth of 12,400 feet.

Four East Basin areas draw explorer sites

Exploration has been scheduled for Edwards, Coke, Menard and Runnels sectors.

North American Royalties, Inc., operating from Midland, has scheduled No. 4-19 Ragsdale as a 5,500-foot wildcat operation in Edwards, ¾ mile northeast of the Campanero, North (Canyon) gas field.

Drillsite is 1,980 feet from south and 1,250 feet from east lines of section 19, GC&SF survey, abstract 1047, nine miles northeast of Rocksprings.

COKE COUNTY

WES-TEX Drilling Co., Abilene, staked cite for No. 1 L. G. Roane, a 7,000-foot venture in Coke, five miles southwest of Robert Lee.

Drillsite is 467 feet from north and 2,170 feet from west lines of section 312, block 2, H&TC survey, ⅝ mile east of the depleted Robert Lee (Palo Pinto) field.

MENARD PROSPECTORS

Petrotex Oil & Gas, Inc., Cross Plains, has slated two additional wildcats in an exploratory region of Menard, about five miles northeast of Menard townsite and five miles southwest of the Bar F (Cross Cut) gas field. Both have a projected depth of 2,100 feet. No. 1-A Jo Anne Potts spots 467 feet from south and east lines of R. Schwerin survey 1, abstract 695. No. 1 Potts-Clark, five miles northeast of Menard, is 467 feet from south and east lines of Antone Brinkerhoff survey 33, abstract 118.

RUNNELS WILDCAT

Energy Operations Corp., Dallas, No. 1 Annie T. Halfman is planned as a 4,500-foot wildcat in Southeast Runnels, eight miles southeast of Ballinger.

Location is 2,200 feet from south and 1,000 feet from east lines of J. T. Russell survey 520, abstract 1346. It is ½ mile south of a recent Capps lime discovery. It was Trans-Texas Energy No. 1 Halfman, completed to open the TJC field, for a calculated, absolute open flow of 2 million cubic feet of dry gas per day, through perforations at 3,560-3,572 feet.

Reeves gets gas strike

Dyco Petroleum Corp. of Tulsa, Okla., operating from its Midland office, has announced the completion of a Devonian gas pay opener in the San Martine (Fusselman) gas field of Reeves County, eight miles west of Toyah.

The firm's No. 1 Caldwell-State gauged a calculated, absolute flow potential gauge of 2.810 million cubic feet of qas per day. Production is through perforations at 10,684-10,762 feet. The pay section had been acidized with 4,000 gallons and fractured with 406 barrels of fluid, plus 26,000 pounds of sand and 200 barrels of carbon dioxide.

Drilled to 11,102 feet, it has been plugged back to 10,960 feet. Casing size and seat has not been reported.

Location is 1,650 feet from south and 1,320 feet from east lines of section 9, block 71, PSL survey.

Hammond gets award

DALLAS — John P. Hammond, 1957 Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME president and director of several Tulsa-based concerns, has been named recipient of the SPE Distinguished Service Medal, an award established in 1947.

Hamond will be honored during Awards Luncheon ceremonies at SPE's 52nd annual technical conference and exhibition scheduled to be held in Currigan Exhibition Hall Oct. 9-12 in Denver, Colo.

Wells final, sites slated

Two West Texas fields gained extensions and one drew sites for stepouts.

Atlantic Richfield Co. finaled its No. 18-B-TG Roy Parks as a current second Strawn well and 1⅝-mile northwest extension to that pay in the Ector part of the Dora Roberts field 3½ miles southeast of Odessa.

The 24-hour flowing potential was for 249 barrels of 39.3-gravity oil, and five barrels of water, through an 18-64-inch choke and perforations at 9,902-10,054 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 2,209-1. The pay section had been acidized with 3,000 gallons.

A former Ellenburger well in the Dora Roberts field, it has been plugged back from 13,297 to 10,480 feet. Casing (5½-inch), is seated at 13,259 feet.

Location is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 32, block 41, T-2-S, T&P survey.

TIPCO, Oklahoma City, has completed two weils and staked sites for two stepouts in the Dixon (Strawn) oil field of Mitchell County, five miles north of Silver.

No. 5 Edwin Parks gauged a daily flowing potential of 94 barrels of 43.5-gravity oil, and 1.4 barrel of water, through a 16-64-inch choke and perforations at 6,193-6,221 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 2,191-1. The section had been acidized with 500 gallons and fractured with 100,000 gallons and 122,000 pounds.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and 1,880 feet from west lines of section 2, block 1-A, H&TC survey.

No. 6 Edwin Parks gauged a daily potential of 96 barrels of 43.5-gravity oil and 1.2 barrel of water, through a 12-64-inch choke and perforations at 6,170-6,199 feet, following 500 gallons of acid, plus 100,030 gallons of fracture fluid, and 97,500 pounds of sand. Gas-oil ratio was 2,094-1.

Wellsite is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 2, block 1-A, H&TC survey.

TIPCO will drill two ½-mile west stepouts to production in the field.

No. 9 Edwin Parks spots 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 1, block 1-A, H&TC survey.

No. 10 Edwin Parks spots 660 feet from north and 560 feet from east lines of section 1.

Veteran U-2 jockey respects fast craft

By WARD SIMS

EIELSON AIR FORCE BASE, Alaska (AP) — Marty Knutson's voice carries a great deal of respect when he talks about what he calls the "coffin corner."

For Knutson, who has logged more than 2,000 hours in the cockpit of a high-flying U-2 jet, that means the thin line between safety and disaster at 70,000 feet.

Knutson is chief of the Airborne Missions and Applications Division of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Ames Research Center at Moffett Field, Calif.

Four other U-2 pilots were in Alaska recently with two of the former super-secret spy planes for high-altitude photography and stratospheric research.

The Korean Was veteran says his U-2 flying has always been "in the test area. I've never flown a spy mission."

A sandy-haired man with piercing blue eyes, Knutson would be the casting director's answer as a movie test pilot. He has an easy laugh, but he is dead serious when he speaks of the U-2, and particularly about that "coffin corner."

It involves two phenomena which could spell death for the U-2 pilot — Mach buffet and stall speed.

Mach buffet is the indicated airspeed for a subsonic aircraft where over some portion of the plane's surface the air is moving at the speed of sound, or Mach 1.

"The airplane itself may not be moving at Mach 1, but as the air it is flying through is compressed and moves over different surfaces, it speeds up," Knutson explained.

"When the airflow reaches the speed of sound, that is the Mach buffet point."

The stall point is reached when the plane no longer has the speed to keep itself aloft, a condition withuncreasing potential as the U-2 ascends into the thin air of the stratosphere.

Stall means a spin, and spin for the fragile U-2 means breakup.

"The aircraft by its very nature, being lightly constructed so that it can attain altitude, has a limiting airspeed," Knutson said.

"If you go too fast, it gets into the Mach buffet, and that can tear the airplane apart. As you go higher and higher, you must fly at the Mach number that is below the Mach buffet point.

"For example, at 70,000 feet you're flying at an indicated airspeed of 99 knots, and the Mach buffet, if you've got a heavy groww load, may be at 101 knots.

"The aircraft, with a heavy load, may stall at say 97 knots. So you're flying between the stall and the Mach buffet.

"That's commonly known in this game as the coffin corner."

The Mach buffet and stall speeds are dependent on the gross weight of the aircraft, "how much fuel you have on board, how much payload — cameras, sampling gear, et cetera," Knutson said.

"So the Mach buffet and stall speeds vary by flight, and even at different times during the same flight, as fuel is consumed.

"You have to mind the store in flying the U-2. There's not an instant to relax. The airplane itself normally takes complete attention, every second of a flight."

Yet Knutson, 47 and the father of four children, has nothing but praise for the U-2.

"If everything is working right, and you're doing everything you should be doing, it's a dead, steady, stable platform. You have no sense of motion."

There's no great advantage in bidding a slam that depends on a finesse in an important long suit. That's the sort of finesse you can't get away from. A finesse in a short side suit is a different story.

The slam in today's hand may seem to depend on the club finesse, but you actually have many other chances.

Take tha ace of spades, draw trumps, ruff a low spade, cash the three diamonds and lead dummy's queen of spades.

If East has the king of spades and plays it, you are home. Discard a club and let East try to find a safe return.

If East plays a low spade, ruff dummy's queen and lead the seven of clubs from your hand. You plan t let the seven ride if West plays low; East will win and will be caught.

PLAYS HIGHER CLUB

If West plays the eight or nine of clubs, finesse with dummy's queen. If East wins with the king, he must return a club. You can play the ten of clubs and will still make the slam if East has the jack as well as the king of clubs.

The straight finesse in clubs is just a 50 per cent chance, but the correct play gives you a favorable odds of about 9 to 1. The important thing is to clear out the dimonds and spades before you takcle the clubs.

ANSWER: Bid 2 NT. This shows balanced distribution, stoppers in all unbid suits and about 13 to 15 points in high cards.

Radio preacher faces charges

CAPE MAY, N.J. (AP) — Fundamentalist radio preacher Dr. Carl McIntire was charged with obstructing traffic and using a sound truck without permission after he defied city officials and led 375 followers on a peaceful march to protest his local taxes.

City officials claim McIntire owes $723,000 in back taxes on 12 properties, including three hotels, and they threaten foreclosure. McIntire maintains the properties are tax-exempt because they are used for religious activities.

Hey Gang,

Only one more week to cram in all your summer freedom before the 77-78 school years begins. To start it off a few activities have already begun.

Rebelettes: Don't forget the last summer meeting at 6:30 p.m. today. Plans will be made for the egg sale and sophomore orientation. Make plans to rebelette at the Maroon and White Day picnic.

After much anticipation, practice for the football team has finally begun. Their first appearance is Friday, August 26 at 5 p.m. The Rebels will be challenging Clovis, in Lubbock at Chapman Field on 23rd and Avenue X. Rebel fans may meet all the mighty Rebel Football players, August 27 at the Maroon and White Day picnic next to the field house. The booster club is sponsering it.

Sophomore Rebels: Welsome to Lee High School. Your official welcoming will be Thursday, August 25 at 7:30 p.m. Meet in the auditorium for skits and information on school activities. Immediately following will be a pep rally in the gym and a reception in the Youth Center. All sophomores and parents be sure to attend. Junior Council members bring two dozen cookies Thursday afternoon between two and four.

Annuals will be ready to pick up August 26 on the dock behind the school. So don't forget.

The back to school dance last Thursday turned out to be a lot of fun. Thanks go to Cindy Canfield, Prissie Foster, Joni Reinli, Jeannie Carter, Dawn Smith, Diana Scott and our new sophs Sheri Bachamn, Anna Adkins, Cammy Canfield, Polly Lankford and Kristi Barron for setting and cleaning up.

Enjoy your last week, cause we'll sure try!

Hill says case threat to Texas

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill says a case pending in a New Orleans appeals court is a serious threat to any new natural gas discovered in Texas.

Hill charged the Federal Power Commission with trying to take gas away from Texans in violation of basic property laws in a brief filed Monday with the 5th U.S. Court of Appeals in New Orleans. He asked the court to overrule two FPC orders directed at Houston oilman Dan Harrison.

Hill said the FPC orders could mean that any new gas supply discovered in Texas would have to be sold to pipelines serving other states.

The FPC told Harrison to sell natural gas he discovered in Crockett County to Northern Natural Gas Co., an interstate pipeline serving the Midwest. The FPC blocked Harrison from selling to Intratex or LoVaca, which serve Texas consumers and industry.

The FPC orders say that John Crawford, another Houston independent, had previous sold gas to Northern from a lease covering the same area. The FPC claimed that, because of Crawford's sale, any gas ever found in the area would have to be sold to Northern.

Hill contended in his brief that Crawford's lease had expired before Harrison took a lease and drilled his discovery well. He said the order, in effect, says that Crawford could commit gas he did not own.

"The FPC orders pose a serious threat to Texas," Hill said, "because all over the state producers like Crawford once sold gas to interstate pipelines like Northern, under leases that have now expired."

Error in hours corrected

In a story Sunday on Page 1A, continued on Page 4A, of The Reporter-Telegram, it was reported that school would be from 8:40 a.m. to 1:40 p.m. for grades four and five and from 8:40 a.m. to 3:10 p.m. for grade six.

The correct times are from 8:40 a.m. to 3:40 p.m. for grades four and five and from 8:10 a.m. to 3:10 p.m. for grade six.

Tornado rips homes, boats, kills at least five in Illinois village

NEOGA, Ill. (AP) — Only a pile of rubble remains where a tornado ripped through this lakeside community, killing at least five people and injuring another 50. A two-by-four driven like a nail into the side of a mobile home attests to the storm's violence.

"In the path of the tornado, itself, there was nothing left standing," said Mark Busekrus, Coles County emergency services coordinator. "Everything in the path was reduced to rubble. No walls. Nothing."

A twister touched down at 1 p.m. Sunday, demolishing dozens of homes on the western side of Lake Mattoon in eastcentral Illinois and splitting buildings on the eastern shore.

Summer cottages were flattened, mobile homes blown from their pedestals and hurled into the lake. About 50 homes were destroyed.

Boats were swamped and overturned. Trees, telephone poles and power lines were smashed.

Although there were no reports of missing persons, several officials said they believed it likely that more dead would be found in the waters of the lake or under piles of rubble.

"There could be people still out in that water," said Fire Chief Elred Myers. "There was no way we could be sure if anyone was there or not."

State troopers and sheriff's deputies fought their way with trucks and ambulances past scores of gawkers who clogged the two access roads to the small vacation community. Some of the injured were taken to hospitals in vans because there were not enough ambulances available.

"There was debris all over the place," said Jim Russell, a volunteer fireman. "There were hurt people. People just looking for someone to tell them what to do. There was propane gas all over the place. The tanks were blown off their pedestals. A lot of places were so flat there was just no way I could get inside those trailers and campers to see if anyone was there."

Trudeaus together again

OTTAWA, Canada (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, his wife, Margaret, and their three children dodged reporters and photographers surrounding their first public reunion in almost three months.

Trudeau's office declined to say Sunday whether Mrs. Trudeau would return to the prime minister's official residence or would stay in the nearby apartment she has rented.

Mrs. Trudeau, 28, said in Vancouver on Thursday that she and the 57-year-old prime minisier would stay together in Ottawa as "mother and father, not husband and wife" but expressed optimism that they would eventually be reconciled.

Two U.S. Marines shot in Mexico

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP) — Two U. S. Marines say they were shot in a park without explanation after their car developed engine trouble late Saturday night.

The two, who walked to the border gate for help, were taken to Naval Hospital in San Diego and identfied as Lance Cpl. John Mears of Houston, Tex., and Pfc. Daniel Finley of Philadelphia.

They were listed in satisfactory condition Monday. Mears was shot in the chest and Finley in the hand.

Dancing lessons planned

The Sash-A-Ways Square Dance Club will start an 18-week series of lessons Aug. 30.

Persons interested in signing up for the lessons may contact club president Willard Daniels at 684-8231 or 694-2188.

The M-Squares will begin lessons Sept. 8 and the Grand Squares will begin lessons in January.

Alice police begin polygraph exams

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Alice, Tex., policemen began making the 50-mile trip to Corpus Christi by threes and fours Monday to take lie detector tests for which they volunteered.

Department of Public Safety officers administering the tests to 24 Alice officers said the process was going on schedule.

The polygraph examinations are part of an investigation into the department and into drug traffic in Alice.

The investigation was sparked when Alice Mayor Ren Reid requested action from the Jim Wells County grand jury. Texas Ranger Gene Powell is leading the probe, and he said results of the tests would be made available to the grand jury.

Powell said he would make no further comment until the investigation was completed.

Alice police Lt. Gabriel Chapa said he thought all officers should be examined by Friday.

Police Chief Juan Rodriquez said earlier that he and his men had volunteered to take the examinations. Rodriquez had said he would be the first in line to take the test.

Hill jury selection to commence

HOUSTON (AP) — Another chapter in the bizzare story of Dr. John Hill begins today with jury selection in a $7.6 million civil suit brought by Hill's family in connection with his slaying in 1972 at his plush River Oaks home.

The surviving Hill family alleges in the suit that Houston oil millionaire Ash Robinson masterminded a plot to have Dr. Hill killed to avenge the death of Joan Robinson Hill, Robinson's daughter and Hill's first wife.

Hill, a prominent plastic surgeon at the time of his death, was about to go on trial for the second time on charges of murder in the death of Joan Robinson Hill. Hill was accused of failing to give proper medical care to his wife in 1969. His first trial ended in a hung jury.

There are no criminal charges against Robinson but the Hill family hopes to prove Robinson's alleged part in the plot and to collect civil damages.

The scene in State Dist. Judge Arthur C. Lesher Jr.'s court Monday looked like a meeting of the characters in two books that have been written detailing the life of Dr. Hill.

The plaintiffs are Connie Hill, Hill's third wife; Robert Ashton Hill, Hill's son and Robinson's only grandson, and Myra Hill, Hill's mother.

At Monday's pre-trial hearing, they sat stiffly one row in front of Robinson, 79, and his wife Rhea. At the conclusion of the one-hour hearing, the Hill family sat patiently while the Robinsons walked out of the courtroom into the glare of television lights.

Two women now are serving prison sentences after being convicted in connection with the Hill slaying.

Marcia McKittrick, who identified Robinson as masterminding the plot, now is serving a 10-year term in connection with the conspiracy to kill Hill. Lilla Paulus is serving a 35-year term after being convicted of taking $25,000 to find someone to slay Hill.

Also charged in the Hill case was Bobby Wayne Vandiver, who was shot to death in Longview in a 1974 confrontation with police.

Ray Bass, attorney for the plaintiffs, said Paulus and McKittrick will be called to testify during the trial, which Bass said would take four to six weeks.

Attorney general filling request

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Comptroller Bob Bullock's request for information on tax delinquent files is being filled as fast as Atty. Gen. John Hill can do it, Hill said Monday.

Hill filed a brief in the Texas Supreme Court in opposition to Bullock's suit to force Hill to tell him the status of each of more than 5,600 delinquent sales tax cases.

Bullock filed suit in the high court against Hill Aug. 10.

In his reply brief, Hill says he has daily assigned a minimum of two clerks and two attorneys to compile the information.

Bullock has publicly criticized Hill several times since Hill said he is thinking seriously about running for governor next year.

Bullock, who also wants to be governor, earlier made a determination that Gov. Dolph Briscoe cannot be defeated, and he announced his support for Briscoe.

"By the terms of the constitution, the attorney general, not the comptroller, is the chief legal officer of the state with primary responsibility for legal proceedings," Hill said in his brief.

Since he is doing his best to furnish the information, Hill said, there is no issue about Bullock's entitlement to the data Bullock says he needs to computerize his records.

Neither is there an issue involving the Open Records Act, Hill said, because that law was not intended to apply between government agencies.

"The only issue is whether the comptroller of public accounts has a right to have access to and primary control over the tax files of the attorney general," Hill said.

"The files of the attorney general's office, contrary to the comptroller's perception of the breadth of his authority and responsibility as the comptroller of public accounts, are not the responsibility of the office of the comptroller of public accounts," Hill said.

Brothers free on bond

HOUSTON (AP) — Two Houston brothers are free on reduced bonds of $100,000 each today after being charged in federal court with operating an illegal drug manufacturing laboratory in Dallas.

U.S. Magistrate Ronald J. Blask reduced the bond for David Goodman, 45, and Herbert Goodman, 50, from $200,000 each after they agreed to surrender their passports. The case has been referred to a Dallas grand jury.

The two men were arrested here Friday by agents of the U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency.

Federal agents in Dallas last week raided a warehouse setup they described as the largest laboratory of its kind they had ever seen.

Department offers aid in battling theft of grain

HOUSTON (AP) — Assistant Commissioner Bob Williams says rural grain elevator operators will get help from the Texas Agriculture Department in combating organized rings of thieves who steal an estimated $3 to $5 million in grain annually.

Williams said his department has initiated a special alert program to warn grain elevator operators when the organized rings of thieves are suspected of operating in their areas.

At the present time, Williams said, the department thinks such rings may be operating in North Central Texas and moving south.

Williams said his department is working with the Department of Public Safety in putting all night stake outs on grain elevators.

Thieves can put electronic devices on weighing instruments to produce false readings or an employe can record a false weight, Williams said.

Others sell truckloads of grain at elevators and then resell the same grain to the same firm. These thieves switch tractors on the way to the unloading pits and take the grain back through the weighing area a second time.

Convict releases hostages

ANGLETON, Tex. (AP) — A convict at the Darrington Unit of the Texas Department of Corrections, angered by his parole status, held two persons hostage for eight hours with a straight razor Tuesday before releasing them unharmed.

Warden Loyd D. Hunt said the convict Donald Lynn Willtrout, 28, serving a 17-year sentence for robbery, released Philip Carona, 52, and Kathy Wootton, 30, unharmed late Monday night.

Hunt said Willtrout was in the officers' barber shop and climbed into the area between the ceiling of the first floor and the floor of the second level.

"He crawled and worked his way over to the education office," Hunt said, "kicked the ceiling out, dropped down and captured the two hostages and barricaded himself in the education office."

Willtrout was upset because the TDC parole board had passed over him for the third time, Hunt said. The warden said Willtrout was seeking a rehearing and was not trying to escape.

"I couldn't promise him anything on a parole because that's handled by a different department," Hunt said. "We were able to find something we could both live with though."

Hunt, exhausted after the long ordeal said "I told him nothing physically would happen to him if he surrendered, but I could not offer amnesty." In return, Willtrout released the hostages and surrendered.

Selection of jurors continues

HOUSTON (AP) — Jury selection continued today in Probate Judge Pat Gregory's court where two adopted sons of Candace Mossler are challenging a codicil that cut them out of a share of Mrs. Mossler's wealth, estimated from $12 to $20 million.

A petition filed by John Holloway, attorney for Daniel and Christopher Mossler, contends Mrs. Mossler falsely believed the two brothers would kill her or frame her on income tax evasion charges.

Mrs. Mossler died last October in her Miami, Fla., hotel room at the age of 62.

The brothers claim in the petition that Mrs. Mossler suffered from an insane delusion when she wrote the codicil, or addition to her will, in 1975.
