QUARTERBACK CLUB EVENT

Bumgardner to Speak At All-Sport Dinner

Max Bumgardner, one of the foremost junior college coaches in the nation, will be featured speaker at the Colorado City Quarterback Club's second annual All-Sports Banquet, April 3.

Bumgardner, head football coach and athletic director at San Angelo College, has twice been named Texas Junior College Coach of the Year during his eight-year tenure at the West Texas school.

Over 200 Colorado High boys and girls are to be honored at the banquet in Primary School Cafeteria. The group includes all participants in boys and girls sports in the high school, plus members of the Wolf Band and Wolverines pep squad.

A. M. Holman, Quarterback President, said the club was "extremely happy" to obtain a speaker of Bumgardner's caliber.

A native of Wichita Falls, where he was an all-state performer, Bumgardner went on to greater fame as an end on the University of Texas grid team. He was an All-Southwest Conference end in 1946 and 1947, serving as captain of the team in '47. He was also named to several All-American teams in '47.

He played one year of professional football with the Chicago Bears before entering the coaching ranks.

His first two grid teams at San Angelo won the Pioneer Conference crown in 1950 and 1951. In 1952 he was voted Texas Junior College coach of the year, in addition to being named the Outstanding Young Man of the year by San Angelo Jaycees.

Again in 1955, his team won the Pioneer Conference title and he received the coach of the year award for the second time.

ON LORAIN OVERPASS

Sleet Causes 3-Car Crash

Rain, sleet and ice moved in on Colorado City area again Thursday, causing a three-car wreck on the Interstate 20 freeway overpass north of Lorain.

One person was injured in the automobile pile-up at 6:50 a.m. soon after the first icy conditions developed.

Highway Patrol reported that condition of roads throughout this area became more dangerous with sleet later Thursday morning and during the afternoon.

Most dangerous were overpasses and bridges where ice was quick to form with below freezing temperature.

Drivers for Greyhound buses reported highways east and west of Colorado City "nasty and mushy" Thursday afternoon, especially on bridges and overpasses. However, they said traffic was moving through all right with caution.

All three automobiles involved in the Interstate 20 multiple accident were traveling west on the highway.

Mrs. Frances M. Retherford of Chicago, Ill., who was traveling with a woman companion, was taken by ambulance to Root Memorial Hospital here in Colorado City and hospitalized with a broken leg.

The pile-up began when a 1958 Chevrolet two-door sedan, driven by Lucius Hardy Jr., 28, of Fort Bliss, El Paso, skidded out of control. The soldier's car careened across the freeway's center dividing markers and slammed into the south guard rails of the overpass.

Mrs. Retherford, driving a 1957 Chevrolet sedan, applied the brakes to her car as she saw the first wreck. Then her car skidded across the freeway and struck the already wrecked Hardy auto.

Third car involved was a 1953 Ford sedan driven by Everett Johnson, 32, of Sweetwater.

Johnson's auto also careened out of control to the overpass' south side, plowing into Mrs. Retherford's sedan, according to Highway Patrol.

Chambers-Womack Nuptials Are Solemnized At Baptist Church

Nuptial vows of Joann Chambers and Raymond Junior Womack were solemnized Saturday evening in a single ring service in the Plainview Baptist Church, read by the Rev. W. W. Young, pastor of the church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Chambers of 715 East 11th Street. Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Womack of Cuthbert are the parents of the bridegroom.

Background for the ceremony was formed by twin candelabra holding white tapers, which were banked with emerald foliage, centered with a large basket of white stock and greenery.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a floorlength gown fashioned from lace and tulle. The gown was styled with a molded bodice, sabrina neckline, which was enhanced with appliques of the lace encrusted with seed pearls and sequins. The sleeves were three-quarter and she wore lace mitts. The bouffant skirt of the tulle was also accented with the appliques.

The veil of nylon tulle, which was edged with the lace, was caught to a tiara of sequins and pearls.

Her bouquet of red rosebuds, tied with satin streamers, was carried on a white ribbon.

Wedding music was presented by Mrs. P. C. Smith, pianist, and Miss Lana Shurtliff, soloist. Miss Shurtliff sang "Wedding Prayer" and "I Love You Truly".

Miss Jewel Howell, acting as maid of honor, chose a taffeta sheath in pale orchid, fashioned with a high bateau neckline and Empire lines. She carried a nosegay of white mums.

The bridegroom was served by his brother, Freddie Womack, as best man.

Brenda Chambers, sister of the bride, was flower girl. She was attired in a dress of orchid and carried a tiny pink basket filled with white petals.

Candles were lighted by Richard Chambers and Don Womack, brothers of the couple.

Guests were David Chambers, Jim and Robert Womack. After the nuptial service, guests lingered for a reception in Fellowship Hall of the church. The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth over pale orchid. The three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with white and orchid sugar roses, was the focal point on the table. Barbara Stanley poured punch and Mrs. Freddie Womack served the cake.

Also assisting at the reception were Mrs. Curtis Shurtliff, Mrs. W. W. Young and Mrs. R. C. Howell.

For a wedding trip to Carlsbad-Caverns and other points in New Mexico, the bride wore a suit of blue with white accessories.

The newlyweds will make their home at 415 1/2 East 14th Street.

The bride is a student at Colorado High School. The bridegroom, a 1957 graduate of CHS, is employed at Jay Adams Chevrolet Company.

Out-of-town guests attended from Snyder, Midland, Hemphill, Westbrook and Cuthbert.

DISCUSSES 'CAREERS FOR EVERYONE'

Mrs. Richter Speaker For B&PW Program

"Careers For Everyone" was the program topic presented by Mrs. Jewell Richter last Tuesday evening during a regular dinner, program and business meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club in Civic House.

Hostesses were Mrs. Richter and Miss Ruth Hightower, committee for career advancement. Tables were decorated with red carnations, and red hearts and guests received Valentine favors.

"Take a glance at other people, you are going to have them around you all your life," Mrs. Richter said. "Judge other people. Then take a look at yourself."

"To see ourselves as others see us is not so easy. Often we see only what we want to see. We hear only what we want to hear," Mrs. Richter added.

In her talk, Mrs. Richter made a few suggestions concerning daily living. "To get along with others be tactful, be honest and sincere," she said. "Be cheerful, be cooperative, be friendly, be self-confident, be natural, have the right attitude and smile. It takes fewer facial muscles to smile than it does to frown."

"You are what you are that is true, but you can make yourself into a more likeable human being if you try," Mrs. Richter added.

"The pains of life have the power to make great souls out of little people. Problems of life make some people wise," Mrs. Richter concluded.

A guests attending was Melanie Parsons, members present were Mrs. Cophae Tidwell, Mrs. Travis Pritchett, Mrs. Lena Porter, Miss Etta Copeland, Mrs. Maude Charters, Mrs. H. I. National Security' Topic Zetagathian Club Program

The Zetagathian program featured a discussion of "National Security" with Mrs. Eidon Mahon and Martin Weaver as program speakers last Thursday in the home of Mrs. H. H. Bodine.

"Peaceful Uses of Atomic Energy" was Mrs. Mahon's topic. Mrs. Weaver discussed "U. S. Proposals for Control and Reduction of Arms."

"From the first the United States has sought also to unlock its infinite possibilities for peaceful use," Mrs. Mahon began in her talk concerning peaceful uses of atomic energy. "Addressing the General Assembly of the United Nations, Dec. 8, 1953, President Eisenhower said . . . The United States pledges before you—and therefore before the world—its determination to help solve the fearful atomic dilemma, to devote its entire heart and mind to find the way by which the miraculous inventiveness of man shall not be dedicated to his death, but consecrated to his life."

In her talk Mrs. Mahon spoke of the many facets of atomic research at present in the United States, such as in the fields of medicine, science, agriculture and industry.

"Atomic science is a new and perhaps the most promising tool of all. Its enormous potentialities for peace are now being put to increasing use," Mrs. Mahon concluded.

In presenting a discussion of United States Proposals for the Control and Reduction of Arms Mrs. Weaver began, "Throughout modern history mankind has pursued a concept of peace through disarmament that might ultimately put an end to the recurring tragedy of warfare among nations."

"But a long progression of efforts toward universal peace has almost wholly failed."

"From these failures, however, the nations of the world now know that if a worthwhile peace is to be gained, it must mean not merely the absence of a condition of war, but must mean a positive, safeguard peace, one with justice and durability. The unprecedented horror of a war in the future lends an urgency to this task that is inescapable.

"As never before, and especially in the nuclear age, there is no alternative to peace," Mrs. Weaver stated.

"The United States believes that a workable system of armaments control, backed by adequate, effective inspection measures, offers one of the most promising means in achieving such a peace."

"To this end, the U. S. has redoubled its efforts toward the achievement of these initial objectives (1)—To lessen the increasing nuclear threat over the world; (2)—To reduce the high level of non-nuclear arms and the related burden of armaments; (3)—To provide against the danger of and to meet apprehensions about surprise attack."

Mrs. W. S. Rhode was program leader for the afternoon meeting.

Mrs. Trevor Crawford, vice president, presided during a brief business meeting.

Those present were Mrs. Paul Boston, Mrs. Clarence Collins, Mrs. J. S. Craddock Jr., Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. Curtis Latimer, Mrs. Mahon, Mrs. Sam L. Majors Jr., Mrs. Don McCoy, Mrs. Rhode, Mrs. Bob Robinson, Mrs. Brady Warren, Mrs. Weaver, Mrs. George Witten, Mrs. Henry Lewis and the hostess, Mrs. Bodine.

AT REGULAR PROGRAM

'Alaska' Studied By WMU Members

"Alaska" was the program topic last Tuesday during a regular monthly business meeting and Royal Service program of the Women's Missionary Union of First Baptist Church.

Mrs. A. H. Jackson was program leader for the morning meeting. She was assisted in presenting the program by speakers, Mrs. Art Love and Mrs. Newt Miller.

"Alaska was purchased from Russia in 1867, at the rate of two cents per acre," Mrs. Jackson stated in presenting background material for the program. "Shortly thereafter, there was a gold rush in Alaska, and the United States realized more from this than the entire purchase price."

"One of the missionaries stated they felt that their best work was done with the children there. The people there are beginning, though, to desire Christian homes, and this shows the workmen with these people much hope," Mrs. Love added.

"Some of the Eskimos live in one room, and they have from eight to 20 children. Their diets are mainly fish, muskrats and wild game," Mrs. Miller said. "Greatest need for Baptist work is the prayer of the Christians everywhere. There is a great need for workers and school teachers."

The circle, of which Mrs. Frank Webber is chairman, retained possession of the WMU pin, as their circle had the most members present at the meeting.

"Birds have a fascination for artists, sculptors and poets," Mrs. Willbanks added.

Mrs. Ruth Airhart presided as judge during the horticulture exhibit of daffodils, which have been grown here this year.

CONCERNING A COMPOSER, CONDUCTOR

Mmes. White, Hale Present Hesperian Club Program

"Immigrants of Musical Importance" was the program topic last Thursday afternoon at a regular meeting of the Hesperian Study Club in the home of Mrs. Cal C. Wright.

Mrs. J. D. White and Mrs. J. E. Hale were speakers for the afternoon program. Mrs. White presented a paper concerning composer, Percy Aldridge Grainger; and Mrs. Hale, conductor, Walter Damrosch.

In the discussion of George Percy Aldridge Grainger, composer, Mrs. White quoted the words of Charles L. Buchanan: "When Percy Grainger came to this country, I was instinctively, unreasonably, I might almost say petulantly prejudiced against him. But, I met Grainger."

"I found him not only the most amusing and ingratiating musical personality of our time, but, precisely, one of the most extraordinary and radiant human beings I have ever met."

"His means of expression shift with his moods, and his moods are many. For Grainger himself is as human as Falstaff, as unhuman as W. B. Yeats, as precious and illusive as Debussy, as dynamic as John Philip Sousa. As poet, as any poet, he can be as practical as any plumber. He is one of the rarest, most sensitive dreamers of our age, but he is an active dreamer. A delightful, youthful, fantastic creature, who has amused us with his droll discrepancies and acrobatic impertinences, may have become, for all we know, a great creative musician."

Grainger was born in Melbourne, Australia, in 1882. His father, a well-known architect and his mother a musician of note," Mrs. White added. He began to play at the age of five, studied with his mother till 10 years old and was educated in Germany.

Grainger went to London at the age of 17. By the time he was 33 he had played many hundreds of concerts in Great Britain, Holland, Scandinavia, Russia, Austria, Germany, Switzerland, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand. He had had 14 command performances before the royalty of Europe," Mrs. White said.

"The world-famous concert pianist, composer of popular appeal, man-about-the-world extraordinary, a man of bouyant personality has said: 'Every person has a talent for music, but we do not become musical by merely listening while others make music; however, well they may do it. To be really musical we must take part in music ourselves, not occasionally, but regularly, often. The main thing in music is that we make it an expression of our lives.'"

"Some of his better known compositions are 'Country Gardens,' 'Nordic Princess,' 'The Warriors,' 'In A Nutshell,' 'Molly On the Shore,' 'Shepherd's Hey,' 'Gurnesher's March' and 'Marching Song of Democracy,' which Grainger regarded as his finest work from the point of view of beauty and sound."

"Whether Mr. Grainger is still living or not could not be ascertained," Mrs. White concluded. "It does seem incredible, however, that a man, an artist, could be so popular a scant few years ago and be nearly forgotten today."

"Walter Damrosch, famous conductor, can indeed be called an immigrant of musical importance," Mrs. Hale said. "For our Nation gave this man credit for opening the door to fine music for everyone."

Damrosch was born in Prussia. His father, Leopold, was a very famous conductor. As you can easily imagine, this boy grew up in an atmosphere of music. In the Damrosch home, music was played, sung and discussed."

"Damrosch came to America at the age of nine with his father, who was to become conductor of the Arion Society and later, the Metropolitan Opera. At the death of his father, Damrosch took into his hand the baton, and for 42 years he stood at the conductor's desk. He took the somewhat undisciplined orchestras of those early days and by searching the world for artists, built up a perfect orchestra," Mrs. Hale stated. "He drilled it until it became famous for its clarity and brilliance of tone. He not only played the recognized classics from week to week, but began to introduce to his audiences new and modern works. He played Wagner to them, and to this day, Wagner still holds supreme place among composers."

"During the Damrosch era, America grew up, musically. And no small part of the credit for this must go to the man, who dreamed that America might be musical and was faithful to his dream. Many conductors are admired, Damrosch is loved," Mrs. Hale concluded.

During the business meeting a report was presented by Mrs. Charles C. Thompson, chairman of nominating committee and the following officers were elected: Mrs. Lynn Halbert, president; Mrs. R. K. Snethen, first vice president; Mrs. G. O. Thrower, second vice president; Mrs. V. V. Shropshire, recording secretary; Mrs. O. L. Simpson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. E. H. Winn, treasurer; and Mrs. Arthur Barry, federation counselor. Newly elected club officers will be installed in the fall.

The club voted to contribute to the nurses scholarship fund. The hostess served refreshments to 13 members.

"Nature's Landscape" was the topic for the cultural program with Miss Mary D. Hickman as speaker.

"A man can pass a lifetime surrounded by majestic scenery and remain to the end, oblivious to its beauty," Miss Hickman said.

"To understand the artists view of nature first consider this fact—Though nature has existed in the world far longer than has man, comprehension and appreciation of it are quite recent development in human history," Miss Hickman added.

"Primitive men found the forces and aspects of nature terrifying. To them flood, droughts, volcanoes were to be personified as Gods."

"Once the great artists became interested in nature, they have painted thousands of landscapes," Miss Hickman said.

The hostess, Mrs. Merket, served refreshments during the social hour following the

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Special Notices

Ranch problems are becoming more complicated as rural areas become more metropolitan. City people as well as country people, looking for recreation, are apt to feel that a pasture belongs to "anybody" and some of the thoughtless ones leave the pasture in worse condition than they found them. Rustling, too, increases in a district of many roads, trucks, deep freeze units. Ranchers just can't afford to let Tom, Dick and Harry in their outfits unannounced. Think this over, neighbors. Accordingly, all lands of Rennerbrook (Spade) Ranch in Mitchell, Sterling and Coke counties posted according to law.

All lands belonging to the A. E. Maddin Estate situated in southeast part of Mitchell County are posted according to law, and all trespassers will be prosecuted.

All lands owned by C. E. Van Meter situated north of the filter plant and south and southeast of Col-Tex Refinery are posted according to law, and all trespassers will be prosecuted.

AT PRAIRIE VIEW THIS WEEKEND

Wildcat '5' Makes Bid For State Cage Crown

Colorado City's D. W. Wallace-High School basketball team makes its most serious bid in history for the Class B Negro high school championship of Texas this weekend at Prairie View College.

Coach W. D. Harris and his team were to leave Thursday for the long trip to the college located at Waller near Houston.

The Wildcats received a bye in the first round of play and are scheduled to play the champion of District 10 at 10:50 a. m. Friday.

Names of the towns were not listed on the bracket but Harris said he believed the District 10 winner would be either Slaton or Floydada. The Wildcats downed Floydada twice during the regular season, 104-46 and 96-38.

If they win the first round game, they will probably play Center or Tenaha from deep East Texas at 10:50 a. m. Saturday.

The Class B finals are slated Saturday, 6:30 p. m.

The Wildcats carry one of the best records in the state into the tourney fracas. They have won 25 games and lost only 1 while averaging over 75 points per tilt.

They have two potential all-state players in center Ernest Biggers and guard Charles Lindsey. Biggers, one of the few seniors on the club, will be closing out a brilliant career at Wallace, playing four straight years. As a freshman, he started for the Wildcats and helped take them to the state tourney.

Last year was the first time in Biggers' four-year high school career that the team failed to make the trip to Prairie View.

A number of major colleges in the nation are seeking the 63 cager who has averaged 20 points per game and been the top rebounder.

The Wildcats won their way to the state tourney by beating the defending state champion Crane in the district finals here, 74-69.

Prior to the district meet, Biggers had scored 444 points in 26 games for an average of over 76.5 points per tilt. Coach Harris has used a fire-bait, fast-breaking offense to overcome all 25 opponents this year. The lone Wildcat loss was to Big Spring in the season opener, 58-62. But that defeat has long been avenged with an 88-68 win over the same Big Spring team.

Wallace season's record is as follows:

Track Season Begins For Wolf Squad

Track workouts began this week with six meets on the agenda for the Colorado High team.

Coach Win Talley said many of the boys will wait until next week to report. Several will participate in both track and baseball until the district track meet is held April 11 in Sweetwater, then they will devote full time to baseball.

First competition for the thinly-clad is Feb. 28 at a practice meet.

On March 14, the squad will enter the Canyon Reef Relays in Snyder, then the San Angelo Relays the following week.

Other meets will be March 27 in Andrews; ABC Relays in Big Spring on April 3-4 and then the district meet on April 11.

SMU-Tech to Vie Saturday

Texas Tech plays its next-to-last home basketball game against the Southern Methodist Mustangs in the Coliseum Saturday night.

Second place in the Southwest Conference race will be the probable award for the winner, as Texas Christian almost has a mathematical clinch on the title.

Texas Tech will be trying to avenge its worst defeat of the season, a 73-59 loss to SMU in Dallas last month.

Remaining games are with Rice at Houston Feb. 24, Baylor at Waco Feb. 25, and Arkansas at Lubbock Mar. 3.

72 BOYS TO REPORT MONDAY

10 Baseball Tilts On Wolf Schedule

A 10-game schedule has been lined-up for the newly-organized Colorado High School baseball team.

Coach Ronnie Gurley announced the schedule Thursday and said approximately 72 boys will report for workouts beginning Monday.

New grey suits with "Wolves" across the front have been ordered.

Four district games are on the schedule with the Wolves playing Lamesa and Snyder two games each on a home-and-home basis. Sweetwater and Lake View do not compete in baseball.

Of the six non-conference games, two are with Robert Lee, a class B team; two with Merkel, Class A and two with Big Spring, Class AAAA. Each opponent is being played on a home-and-home basis.

All games are afternoon affairs except the second game with Merkel to be played at 7:30 p. m. on Merkel's lighted field.

The complete schedule follows:

March 24, 4 p. m.—Robert Lee, there.
March 26, 4 p. m.—Big Spring, there.
April 1, 4 p. m.—Big Spring, here.
April 7, 7:30 p. m.—Merkel, there.

IN SEASON CAGE FINALE

Wolves Upset Lamesa 43-41

Wolves really wanted that last game.

And they got it Tuesday night, edging past Lamesa High Golden Tornado basketball team, 43-41.

It was just a matter of fighting fire with fire. "Lamesa" a club that plays a hustling, rugged-type brand of ball found the Wolves employing the same tactics here Tuesday night.

Coach Homer Jefferson's Wolf quintet mixed it up with the Tornadoes, threw up, a terrific defense and took advantage of every break to knock the Lamesa crew out of second place in District 3 AAA.

Wolves' win could be called the upset of the year in district play since the Tors downed the C-City squad 70-31 in the first meeting in Lamesa. Lamesa had counted heavily on beating Colorado City, and Snyder upsetting Lake View to provide a tie in the district race between Lake View and Lamesa.

But Lake View came through at Snyder with a 61-54 win for the title . . . and Lamesa suffered its first loss at the hands of the Wolves since C-City entered the circuit three years ago.

The loss dropped Lamesa into a tie for second place with Sweetwater with a 23 mark.

And it enabled the Wolves to finish in third place, with a 26 record leaving Snyder in the cellar with a 17 mark.

Leading the way to the Wolves' victory were the team co-captains, guards Joe Merritt and Jerry Treadwell, plus junior forward Jerry Haley.

Treadwell was at his best in picking up charity tosses and he took advantage, dropping in six, plus three field goals, to lead the game scoring with 12 points.

Merritt found the range on long one-hand push shots to garner 10 points while Haley used his jump shot around the backboard for his 10.

Ken Barr topped Lamesa with 11 points from his guard position while the Tors' young 6-5 center, Bruce Ashton, picked up nine from under the basket.

The game was close all the way with the score tied seven times and no more than six points spread at any time.

The count was tied 31-31 as the fourth quarter got underway.

Lamesa's burly forward Howard Westmoreland and Wolves' Kerry Kendrick exchanged goals early in the period to make it 33-33.

Merritt hit a long shot to send the Wolves ahead 35-33 but Barr connected on a free toss to make it 35-34.

Ashton sent the Tors ahead 36-35 with a bucket but Haley brought the Wolves ahead with two free tosses with 4:52 left.

Treadwell's crisp shot with 4:12 left gave the Wolves a three-point cushion, 39-36.

Lamesa's Nat Self and Wolves' Raymond Weaver exchanged a pair of free throws to leave the Wolves ahead 41-38 with 2:56 left.

Ashton hit a free toss to make it 41-39 and give Lamesa a chance to tie up the game with a field goal.

But the Wolves put on the freeze and Ken Barr fouled Merritt.

The little senior guard calmly dropped in the two charity tosses with 25 seconds remaining to put ahead 43-39.

Ashton managed a goal for Lamesa with 10 seconds left but the Wolves held onto the ball till the buzzer as the Tornadoes fought desperately to gain control.

Wolves managed a 13-9 lead at the end of first quarter by virtue of the free throw route. The officials were onto Lamesa's rough-style play and consequently, C-City picked up 9 of their 13 points at the free throw line in that period.

Wolves got their biggest lead of the night in the second frame when Weaver grabbed a rebound and followed up with a beautiful hook shot. Merritt ripped the net with a long shot to shove the Wolves ahead 19-13.

But Lamesa pulled up even at 21-21 with 1:11 left in the half and Ashton tipped in one to leave Lamesa ahead 23-21 at intermission.

Weaver, with another beautiful hook shot, and Treadwell with his deceptive dribbling enabled the Wolves to hold a 31-31 tie at end of third quarter. See WOLVES, Pg. 6

Editorially Speaking

Their Face-Lifting Draws Second Look

Business improvements, especially new buildings and remodeling projects, speak loud on their own. That's because they are clean and attractive, up to date for shopping conveniences and lure for more trade.

Colorado City through the years has had at least a group of business firms and property owners who were able to keep their commercial facilities prominently modern. This group has built new or remodeled existing store and office buildings.

Right now, Landau's is expanding into a new, enlarged and entirely remodeled site. Baker Hotel is expanding and remodeling three commercial areas for new lease tenants. Sam L. Majors has just completed a new front and other improvements. And so has Hardcastle Refrigeration & Appliance.

But Colorado City, like many towns throughout Texas, needs more and more. The need for modernization is not just an architect's dream. It is being appraised and realized every day by solid business men.

Sometimes, the appraisal comes as old, main street business districts lose shopper appeal to newer shopping locations in outlying or residential areas. Sometimes, the realization comes as dull appearing towns see trade slipping away to more attractive centers in busy, progressive nearby cities.

No matter the reason, though, the dollar value of business face-lifting is becoming apparent to more firms and cities everyday.

Among those who have noticed the need for modernization are a group of business men in Corsicana led by one of the town's bankers, Jack R. Young. Their objective is to have virtually every store and business in the central downtown area up outmoded fronts and up-to-date them.

Spearheading the campaign is a Downtown Improvement Committee. And the committee's campaign weapon is not pressure, but education — education with statistics, architectural drawings, shopping aid data, answers for parking problems, the value of group shopper pull as compared to individual drawing power, even films of modernization in other communities.

And even the toughest problem — cost and financing — is getting attention. Young's bank is backing up its talking interest in the program with a special fund that provides loans for improvements at a reduced interest rate.

News reports from Corsicana make it plain that the leaders there do not expect their face-lifting campaign to snowball through every store and business in one year. But the earnest, persuasive campaign is going forward with a permanent effect.

Other towns are paying attention, beginning to make inquiries. Colorado City should too.

Since the close of World War II there has been a growing number of merchandising concerns who apparently have felt that the only way they can sell merchandise to the buying public is to mislead them by offers to sell their merchandise at "wholesale" prices.

In other words, these suppliers' operations are similar to the legitimate retail operation with one exception: they promise to sell the consumer at the same price at which they purchase the merchandise from the manufacturer or at "wholesale" cost.

Since, if the concern intends to stay in business, such transactions are not economically possible, it is one of the best examples of misleading advertising and the public pays the penalty.

Editor's note: The Shiner's Flat Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bone Hollow Creek is talking about new cars this week in a theoretical sort of way.

I have always contended that American business must know what the American public wants, as it always manages to keep the latter's income tied down in installment payments for months and years ahead. But I read an article in a newspaper last night that makes me wonder.

According to it, car manufacturers, waking up to the fact more and more of these little foreign cars are showing up on the streets of this country, have decided to go into the small-car business themselves.

But, the article pointed out, while the cars will be shorter and generally smaller, their price won't be a lot less than present cars.

This is what I'm talking about. I don't think anybody really objects to a long car, it's the long payments that hurt. It's not the fact that riding around in a tail-finned, chrome-plated automobile is embarrassing, it's just that it's sometimes embarrassing to pay the gasoline bill to keep the thing going.

I know it's hard to park one of the long models, but if you cut it half in two and sold it to two people instead of one, both of them would still be contending for the same parking.

I know some people say in horse and buggy days we didn't have any parking problems, but if we had as many horses and buggies as we have cars, the problem would be worse. Or have you ever measured the distance from the head of the horse to the tail end of the buggy? And have you ever tried to parallel park in a buggy?

What appeals to a lot of people when it comes to foreign cars isn't the fact they're foreign, it's not that they're easier to park. It's simply that they're easier to pay for and cheaper to drive. People don't mind how much car they get for their money, what stumps them is how much money they give for their car.

Of course though I could be wrong, I don't own any automobile — a manufacturing plant and a vehicle is cheap. Most of the advice I've had on farming has come from people who don't own a farm.

Idea too. If you don't look, one of 'em will hit you. Yours faithfully, Everywhere you look, you see new cars. And it's a good J. A.

Legislators Get Full Dose of 'Hard Luck' Story in Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

The season of the "hard luck story" is in full swing. Legislative committees having to do with taxing and spending are in almost constant sessions. On the one hand they hear from the state agencies that want more money — of their dire needs, of the gloomy future that awaits the state if their programs are under-financed.

Equally mournful are the stories of those who would be the targets of new taxes. It would be like putting up a "Keep Out of Texas" sign for new businesses and accompanying prosperity, say many business and civic leaders of the sharp new tax bites.

Texas communities trying to build up their areas by bringing in money-making enterprises would have the rug pulled out from under them, say the tax critics.

In this arena of clashing viewpoints, the legislators must serve as both judge and jury. Few lawmakers expect to collect any nosegays for their efforts — no matter how sincere or well-considered. Some expect they may have to displease both groups — by cutting spending requests and raising taxes — all in one woeful session.

As expected, businesses, large and small, take a dim view of Gov. Price Daniel's proposal to increase corporation franchise taxes.

Industry spokesmen told of probable increases of from 50 to 250 per cent in the amount they would have to pay. They complained, too, that they'd have to pay a tax whether they were making money or not, since the tax would be on capital, rather than income.

Rep. J. E. Winfree of Houston, sponsor of the bill, told the business representatives, in effect, "It's this or something else."

University officials asked for a two-year appropriation of about $34,006,067. Budget Board recommended $27,920,624.

Dr. Logan Wilson told the House Appropriations Committee that people seemed willing to pay broad-based taxes for highways. Why not for higher education?

Herman Jones, Austin attorney and spokesman for alumni, emphasized the importance of improved education to this country's position in international affairs. "I don't want it put in the history books that this generation kept the budget low and let the nation die," said Jones.

UT officials also said they would be opposed to establishing a third medical branch — at San Antonio.

Austin or elsewhere — until they have gotten enough money to make "first class" the existing Dallas and Galveston branches.

PRISON PROBLEMS — Even more impassioned are the pleas of those concerned with appropriations for the Department of Corrections.

Texas Prison System is operated at about half the national average cost per inmate, says Supt. O. B. Ellis. For some years Board members have been warning of dangerously overcrowded conditions, and the need for more buildings.

A slash in funds and personnel, as proposed by the Legislative Budget Board, would bring sheer ruination to the bulging prisons, in Ellis' view.

Prison System has an even more immediate pinch in that it hasn't money to finish out this fiscal year. It had a crop failure last year, when floods wiped out cotton on the prison farms.

Since the Prison System is heavily dependent on its own production, it like any hard-hit farmer, needs some "cash money" about $500,000 to tide it over for this year.

SOMETHINGS GOTTA GO — We can't continue our present services and take a budget cut too, Texas A&M Extension Service officials told legislators.

Budget Board recommended a slightly lower Extension Service appropriation for 1960 than it had for 1959. Service had asked for sizeable increase to help offset extensive loss of county agents to better-salaried jobs in industry.

Spokesmen for the Farm Bureau and numerous other rural groups appeared before the House Appropriations Committee to plead the importance of Extension Service work.

Refinery Link Opened To Mid-west, East

A 47-mile pipe line link connecting Cosden Petroleum Corporation and Col-Tex Refining Company facilities in Big Spring and Colorado with mid-western and eastern markets has been placed into operation.

Valve turning ceremonies Friday in Wichita Falls marked completion and operational start for the pipe line between Wichita Falls and Duncan, Okla.

The line connects Cosden's Wichita Falls Terminal with Oklahoma - Mississippian River Products Pipe Line at Duncan. Attending from Cosden and Col-Tex were R. L. Tollett, president; Marvin M. Miller, senior vice president in charge of exploration and production; Dan M. Krause, senior vice president in charge of refining; Richard M. Johnson, vice president of sales; R. W. Thompson, vice president of pipe lines; Douglas Orme, vice president of transportation.

Carl W. Smith, sales director; Jack Womack Odessa-Midland advertising representative; Vernon Adams, Odessa, photographer for Womack; George Grimes, superintendent of refineries; and Garth Reed, sales manager.

River Pipeline Company, a Cosden affiliate, is the owner of the 6.5/8 inch line, which is leased by Cosden and will be operated under Interstate Commerce Commission regulations. River Pipeline facilities at Duncan include a products terminal with four 30,000 barrel storage tanks.

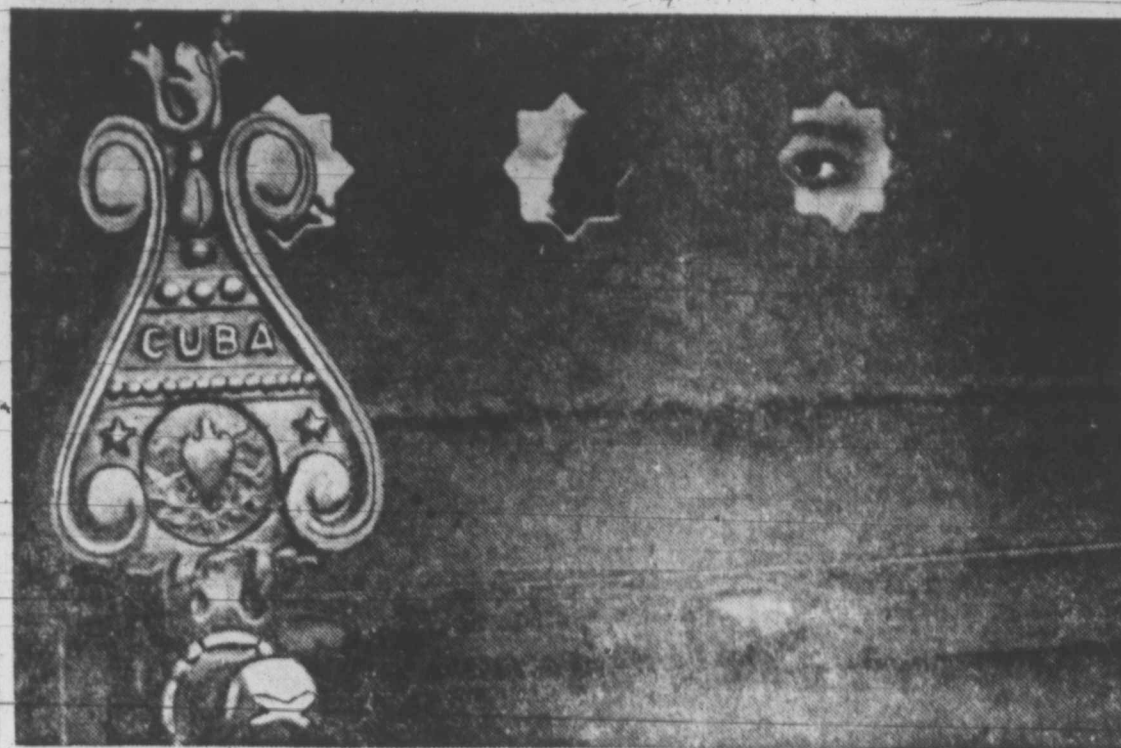

Designed capacity of the new line is 230,000 barrels per month. It can transport a variety of petroleum products, including everything from No. 2 fuel oil to butane. However, the bulk of the shipments will be automotive and aviation gasoline.

Connecting with the OMR Pipeline provides Cosden with access to 33 products terminals in 14 states through the Texas Eastern, Great Lakes, and Badger Pipeline systems. With markets already in the Mid-West, the new line will enable Cosden to extend its markets as needed and will afford better service to Cosden customers in the Mid-West area.

Continental Oil Company and American Petroleum Company, both of whom have refineries at Wichita Falls, will also probably make some use of the new link pipeline.

Pipe Line Technologists, Inc. of Houston handled all engineering, purchasing, and awarding of contracts. Holder Construction Company of Snyder, Texas, constructed the line; Chicago Bridge and Iron Company built the storage tanks, and Boyd McDaniel Construction Company of Abilene, Texas, built the pump station and terminal.

LORAIN — A group of long-time neighbors and friends who were reared in Pleasant Valley and Zellner community were entertained Friday night.

Hosting the party in their Loraine home were County Commissioner and Mrs. Moody Richardson.

Thirty-seven persons attended the fete which complimented 12 of the group whose birthdays are during February.

The communities which have tied a knot of special friendship for the group — Pleasant Valley and Zellner — are 4.5 miles northeast of Loraine.

Honorees were Mrs. Homer Mearse, Mrs. James Bennett, Wade Preston, Howard Preston, Ed Preston, Cline Taylor, Henry Taylor, Willie Taylor, Moody Richardson and Mrs. Charlie Hamilton, all of Loraine, and Mr. and Mrs. Bud Richburg of Colorado City.

There was plenty of talk and reminiscing about former school days and "yesterday" as the group viewed school photos.

The group enjoyed a sing-song and made photos of the honorees and the overall group.

Climaxing the evening of entertainment was the game "Snap," which brought back memories of courtship days of the group. "Snap" was the popular entertainment for Saturday night parties before the 1920's.

Refreshments were served by the hosts with a decor in Valentine theme.

"Unique" is how Mrs. John Quincy Wolf, of Memphis, Tenn., describes her set of singing glasses. Unlike glasses that must be filled with water to varying depths before being played, her tuneful tumblers are played dry. Mrs. Wolf states that it took her 10 years to assemble the chromatically matched set of glass and ceramic pieces, which she plays with two small, wooden mallets.

In addition to the Wolves' bustling type play, probably the key to the win was domination of the backfield with Haley showing remarkable agility against the advantage of Ashton's height.

Lamesa B team took a 62-36 win over C-City B with Everett scoring 14 and Crump 12.

Bodie Compton with 16 topped the C-City B.
