

EFFORTS TO CONTROL VEE STEPPED UP IN TEXAS

Vaccine Delivered, Mosquito Spraying War Begins

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department announced plans Saturday to send 2.6 million doses of vaccine to Texas and surrounding states in a stepped-up effort to control a sleeping sickness that has affected thousands of horses along the Texas Gulf coast.

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin announced that the department also plans a massive mosquito spraying campaign along a buffer zone 5 to 30 miles wide in Texas and Louisiana in an effort to kill the mosquitoes which spread the disease known as Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE).

Rep. John G. Dow, D-N.Y., charged, meanwhile, that the Texas outbreak could have been avoided except for an Agriculture Department policy preventing commercial firms from producing a vaccine developed some years ago by the Defense Department.

A Pennsylvania firm applied for a license to produce the vaccine 10 years ago, Dow said, but was turned down because of a department policy "not to issue licenses for products produced from biological agents which cause disease exotic to this country."

"The Department of Agriculture was no doubt trying to be prudent in establishing this policy," Dow said, "but it does not take into account the very real threat posed by diseases alien to this country but which could easily be carried across our borders."

Hardin told newsmen that 45,000 units of the vaccine, developed by the Defense Department as a biological war defense, will be shipped to Texas Sunday night, with the remaining doses to follow.

The vaccine also will be supplied to veterinarians in Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma and New Mexico but will not be used in those states unless necessary because the vaccine is still considered experimental.

An Agriculture Department scientist said meanwhile that chances appear "very good" that the disease can be checked and predicted that substantial success will be apparent within four weeks.

The disease has worked its way northward from South America through Central America and Mexico into the United States. The disease often is fatal to horses, but rarely to humans, officials have said.

Hardin said latest figures available to his department indicate that 152,000 horses have been vaccinated in Texas. Approximately 1,000 suspected cases of the disease have been detected in horses within the state, with approximately 800 deaths.

In South Texas, Air Force planes sprayed wide areas to kill mosquitoes that carry the disease, and highway patrol planes carried about 65,000 doses of vaccine for horses to all sections of the state.

A member of the U.S. Public Health Service surveillance team at Harlingen said 43 persons have been hospitalized in two South Texas counties with symptoms of the disease, which causes a flu-like illness in human beings.

A 6-year-old girl died Wednesday at Wilford Hall Air Force Medical Center in San Antonio from what was believed to be a form of encephalomyelitis. A spokesman said it was unlikely VEE caused her death, but tests were being made.

Negotiations Persist In Train, Phone Strikes

By The Associated Press

Labor and management representatives negotiated Saturday as they tried to settle a two-day walkout by employees of the Union Pacific and Southern railroads and a violence-marred four-day nationwide strike against the Bell Telephone System.

National Mediation Board Chairman George Ives met separately in Washington, D.C., with negotiators for the AFL-CIO United Transportation Union and the railroads as the strike by the UTU tied up rails in the Deep South, Midwest and Far West. The talks were in secret locations.

Talks between the AFL-CIO Communications Workers of America and Bell System bargaining units were held in Washington and other sites across the country with little indication of a breakthrough in the deadlocked contract negotiations.

Meanwhile, a strike by 35,000 copper workers in Western states entered its 17th day, and no progress was reported in the walkout by 15,000 longshoremen that has tied up shipping in 24 West Coast ports since July 1.

A walkout by 20,100 United Telephone Workers and CWA members against Western Union kept telegraph offices closed across the country for the 37th straight day.

There was no reported progress in the U.S. Postal Service's efforts to negotiate its first contract with seven postal unions.

The rail strike over work rules idled 78,000 workers beginning 6 a.m. Friday. It involved carriers that transport 23 per cent of the nation's rail-shipped fruits and vegetables.

A union Pacific spokesman in Los Angeles said some trains were running with supervisory personnel at the controls, but the effort was apparently not enough to handle the Midwest wheat harvest.

Kellogg Co. cereal plant in Omaha, Neb., and food plants in Pocatello and Soda Springs, Idaho, faced the prospect of having to shut down if the strike continued. The lumber industry in the Northwest also was reported jeopardized by the strike.

Other railroads, under new work rules, were laying off firemen and requiring crews to ride longer distances for less pay. The Santa Fe Railroad said in Topeka, Kan., it had laid off 1,000 UTU workers under the new rules.

Shipments of steel delayed by the strike, threatened construction.

LOCAL STRIKE

The Big Spring office of Southwestern Bell Telephone was struck Saturday at 12:01 a.m. by members of the Communication Workers of America union Local 6101.

Supervisors and some vocational people are manning the switchboards and other vital equipment, according to Harry Sawyer, manager of the local office.

"We will do our best to provide dependable service for as long as the strike lasts," he said. "Things are going fine so far."

"Spirits are high," said Jim McCurtain, president of union Local 6101. "We hope a settlement can be reached soon. We should know something Sunday afternoon, and if the settlement is acceptable to the national executive board, we could be back at work Monday," said McCurtain.

Meetings Begin Monday On Peking Trip Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers plunges into diplomatic talks Monday amid signs of many difficulties ahead for President Nixon's dramatic new China venture.

Asian allies around the China mainland from South Korea to Thailand are among those anxious to hear from Rogers what Nixon's journey to Peking will mean for those whose defenses are linked to Washington.

Rogers, returning from the San Clemente White House late Sunday, plans to assure ambassadors coming to the State Department Monday that the United States will not abandon its old friends in trying to improve relations with Peking.

Yet some Asian diplomats assess Nixon's trip as a pilgrimage enhancing Peking's status as a great power in their area.

And this, they say, could induce China's smaller neighbors—who have unequal bargaining power with the Communist giant—to make concessions to Peking in seeking their own accommodations with Red China.

The impact of Nixon's travel is expected to be felt soon at the United Nations, where Red China is given improved prospects of winning a seat this fall.

The Nixon administration is against Peking's entry into the United Nations at the cost of expelling Nationalist China, as Peking's supporters demand.

Yet the bandwagon momentum for Peking's admission is now so strong that some Washington officials doubt they can keep Formosa seated. And if the U.S. ally is kicked out of the world body, it will be a diplomatic defeat for Washington.

The Vietnam issue raises other questions. Red China has eased her once militant stand on the war, but many experts doubt that she is going to drop her support for Hanoi. Many also believe that Peking's influence with the North Vietnamese is limited.

If so, the main path toward a Vietnam peace would still seem to lie through the Paris talks with North Vietnamese and Viet Cong envoys—with a Chinese role only secondary even if Nixon should reach an Indochina understanding with Premier Chou En-lai.

On the establishment of formal Washington-Peking diplomatic relations for the first time since the Communists took over the Chinese mainland in 1949, U.S. officials expect many difficulties. Nixon said he is meeting Chou "to seek the normalization of relations between the two countries."

Present prospects are that formal Washington-Peking diplomatic ties will not be set up until some time after Nixon's stopover in Peking.

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

The past week has been one of the worst for violent deaths in our area. There were no less than five deaths so recorded. Archie Segrest Jr., 15, was killed when his motorcycle was struck on an access road Saturday night a week ago. Elwyn Scitern, 45, was killed at Lamesa in the accidental discharge of a gun. Dolly Major Bell, 55, was slain in what appeared to be a robbery of a service station IS 20 at Colorado City. Jim Ty Maddox, 21, Colorado City, was killed when his car was in a mishap south of Roscoe; and Mrs. Annie Simpson, Stanton, died here of injuries received when her car overturned July 9 on IS 20 northeast.

The city moved toward a referendum Aug. 3 on whether or not to recall three members of the commission named in petitions submitted a week ago. At the same time, some candidates for successors, should a recall succeed, had announced. Some ground rules were suggested by attorneys representing opposing points on the proposed recall, but ballot marking could get confusing.

Martin County, which for years couldn't buy a wildcat oil test, much less get a producer, continues its amazing activity. Last week it was tied for the lead in Permian Basin drilling. It has been no lower than third place for many months. Howard County appeared to be picking up a new producer in the Hutto (Wolfcamp) field, and got (See THE WEEK, Page 2-A, Col. 3)

Harold Davis Candidate For City Council Post

Harold Davis, president of GAMCO Industries and a leading civic worker, announced Saturday that he will be a candidate for a place on the City Commission, subject to action of the voters in the recall election set for August 3.

With the exception of a two-year interlude in El Paso, Davis has been a Big Spring resident since 1947.

"I am not running against any one," Davis said, "but if the people desire a change at this time, I am willing to put forward my best efforts. I want to work with the elected authorities and with all the people at any time, and this will be true after August 3."

NO CONTROVERSY
"During the campaign, or if elected, I do not intend to be drawn into any controversies over past issues. Decisions have been made on these, and my only concern is for our people to regroup and look ahead, working together for a better Big Spring."

HAROLD DAVIS

with what could be considered a successful record. This is not because of my greater knowledge, but because of getting people to work together, earning their respect, molding them into an effective team with a desire to win.

RESPONSIBILITY
"My present position is president of GAMCO. This company has four divisions, each with a manager. My responsibility is directing over-all budgeting and expenditures, in employing proper management personnel, and supervising their efforts for an effective and profitable operation. Each of these managers is given authority and carries the responsibility for his particular division. I feel the City of Big Spring is a big business that ought to be operated the same way. I would accept responsibility for the major policies incumbent upon the commission, and I would work to see that management has its authority for personnel and operations. Management, to be effective, must be given that authority."

Frosty Robison Enters Name For Commission

Announcement that he will file for a place on the ballot which will go before Big Springers in the recall election of August 3 was made Saturday by Frosty Robison, assistant director of industrial relations at Cosden Oil & Chemical Company and a leader in many civic and youth programs in the city.

He has been a resident of Big Spring since 1949.

He said in a statement:

STATEMENT
"I am offering my candidacy because I feel that our city is at a point where it needs to develop stability through wider cooperation of everyone. It is my hope that I can help Big Spring again to the status of a progressive city by overcoming the wide division and stopping the bickering we have had in the past. I place no blame on any one for the differences that have developed and have had no part in any of the controversies, but I feel that the people want to see the turmoil stopped and I would like to help achieve this goal."

"NO ANIMOSITY"
"Whatever happens, I will not engage in any personal exchanges either before or after the election. I have no animosity toward any one.

"Big Spring has been good to me and I hope that in some measure I can repay this kindness. I have been encouraged by many to seek this office but have made no obligations or commitments of any nature to any individual or any group. I would take action as a commissioner on what I think is for the good of Big Spring. I will support efforts to bring in new industry and to help in other phases of city improvement, and I feel that my immediate action of helping bring harmony to the administration will be a step in that direction."

PERSONNEL

"My business career has been in dealing with people and handling personnel matters. My work has shown me the importance of following lines of authority in any business enterprise, and the business of our city calls for following the lines of authority which are set out (See ROBISON, Page 2-A, Col. 1) its people. If I can be of help in the area of public service at this time, then my services are available at the wish of the voters."

IN MARINES

Davis, native of Denton, holds a B. S. in Business from Louisiana Tech and an M.S. in Business and Education from North Texas State. He joined Howard County Junior College as its first basketball coach in 1947, became head basketball coach at the University of Texas, El Paso, in 1959, then returned to Big Spring to become vice president of GAMCO in 1961. Three years later he became executive vice president of the corporation, and then president in 1968. He also is a vice president of Siboney, a related company.

Davis holds the distinction of being a colonel in the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve and commands a Volunteer Training Unit at Midland. He served in the Marines during World War II, was wounded on Iwo Jima, and also received the Silver Star for heroism in combat. He was recalled to the service during the Korean conflict, and since then has participated in the Reserve program.

PUBLIC SERVICE

Davis has a long list of public-service activities. He has been campaign chairman and president of the United Fund; vice chairman of Boy Scouts; a director of the American Business Club; chairman of the Chamber of Commerce sports committee; a C-C director; member of the city parks and recreation board; director of the YMCA; coach of Gray-Y and Little League baseball teams; manager of a Teen-Age baseball team; coach of basketball in the summer recreation program. He is member of the executive committee of the Security State Bank, and a member of the First Baptist Church.

Davis and his wife Janell reside at 701 Capri. They have a son, Alan, a BSHS sophomore, and a daughter, Chris, an eighth grader at Goliad.

Robison with his wife Judy and three children, Doug, 14, Dan, 11 and Michelle, 5, resides at 3202 Drexel. He was graduated from Big Spring High School and Southern Methodist University, having been a star football player for both. He has been associated with Cosden all his business career. He is 34.

ACTIVITIES

Robison has been president and zone chairman of the Downtown Lions Club; a camping and activities chairman and later district commissioner for Boy Scouts; on the YMCA board of directors; president and a manager of the local Little League; president of the BSHS Quarterback Club; trustee of the United Fund, and campaign chairman for the National Foundation (March of Dimes). He has been named Man of the Year by the Big Spring Jaycees.

Robison is a member of the National Society of Safety Engineers, and on the board of trustees of the First United Methodist Church.

HORSE LOVERS PICKET — Horse pickets go into a "mass sign" formation as they demonstrate in front of the U.S.D.A. office in an attempt to get a vaccine for Louisiana to keep the horse population free of contracting Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis.

Horse Lovers Press VEE Battle On Many Fronts

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — The battle against the spread of Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE) was pressed on many fronts Saturday as the disease killed horses and sent people to hospitals.

Dr. Steve Bowen of the U.S. Public Health Service hospital surveillance team at Harlingen said Saturday 48 persons have been taken to hospitals in Cameron (Brownsville) and Hidalgo (Edinburg) counties with VEE symptoms. Five of those have been confirmed as having the disease which strikes humans with flu-like symptoms for several days.

Bowen said those in hospitals in the two counties since the outbreak include 23 at Mercy Hospital in Brownsville, seven at Doli Vinsant Hospital in San Benito, six at McAllen general hospital, four at Valley Baptist Hospital in Harlingen, three each at Edinburg General Hospital and Mission Municipal Hospital, and two at Knapp Memorial Hospital in Weslaco.

Bowen said this does not include those who have been treated by private physicians. He was unable to estimate how many persons may have been treated in that manner.

He also said this does not mean that all 48 are still in hospitals. Several have been discharged.

Speaking of the length of the outbreak of VEE in humans, Bowen said "it will be with us for a while—as long as we have warm weather."

VEE is a rare strain of "sleeping sickness" which strikes the central nervous system of horses and is usually fatal in equines. It is much milder in humans.

THOUSANDS DEAD
The disease has killed thousands of horses in South and Central America and Mexico since it was first detected in horses two years ago.

The main "fronts" in the battle against the spread of VEE includes the vaccination of horses in all sections of Texas. Vaccine supplies were reported running short late this week, but new shipments were expected.

The vaccine being used in an effort to halt the spread of the disease was developed under the Defense Department's Germ Warfare program to protect humans.

It has never been used on such a massive scale and officials at the Animal Research Service of the Agriculture Department near Washington say its use to inoculate horses is still regarded as experimental.

SUPPLIED FREE

The vaccine, which is being supplied free by the federal government to veterinarians in Texas, is stored in Beltsville, Md., a Washington suburb. Couriers flying commercial airlines are carrying thousands of doses to Texas daily.

Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, said in Washington he has received reports that horsemen from all over Texas are descending on the distribution centers in the southern part of the state to see if they can get the vaccine.

Horse owners in the East are also requesting it, Poage said, but at present it is all being supplied to the Texas areas where the epidemic is worst.

THE WEEK

a semi-wildcat location in the Schimenz (Spraberry) area near Knott; also a deeper wildcat just northeast of Luther.

Oil values in Howard County, incidentally, dropped off by $1,414,000, according to figures received from oil valuers, but increase in personal properties associated with petroleum increased by $253,000 to reduce the net decline on the roll to $1,160,000. Since oilfields don't have a source of recharge, reserves ultimately decline unless new pools are discovered.

The telephone strike finally came to our area Saturday morning, although it had been in effect in other areas since mid-week. Automatic equipment made little difference in local service, and supervisory personnel manned the toll board. Workers noted that the need for repair and maintenance would keep this from being an indefinite arrangement.

The city came up with some proposals for improvements and changes which would improve quality of effluent from the sewage plant, in accordance with Texas Water Quality board specifications. Part is conditioning a main outfall line to prevent salt water intrusion, an effluent which would be more adaptable industrially. Price tag on the changes may be around $100,000.

There was no horsing around in these parts due to the quarantine imposed by the animal health commission. All horse owners were asked to keep their mounts at home until 14 days after the animals can be inoculated against the new VEE strain. Our own junior rodeo was postponed, and several other area shows were shot out of the saddle. But maybe better some inconvenience than sick or dead horses.

Howard County Commissioners Court reinstated two small rural boxes last week — those at R-Bar and Vincent. But nothing was done about the jumbo boxes in town — and that's where the trouble comes in counting votes.

One of our new industries, the IJB garment factory, is about ready to take initial steps toward getting into production. The plant is ready and first worker training could start this week. Framework for the Eagle Mobile Homes building is up. Sid Richardson Carbon is increasing the capacity of its plant, and some others may have new developments to announce soon.

A couple of former Big Springers are now back home. Owen Gee, who served as production manager of the Cabot Carbon Company plant here until November, 1958, has returned as manager. He was in Pampa for a time, overseas in Holland and France for 1 1/2 years, and then back to Pampa to manage the plant there before being assigned to the Dixon (Big Spring) plant. Rev. Patrick Casey, who was pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic Church before leaving seven years ago, was back as pastor of Immaculate Heart of Mary, relieving Rev. Theo Francis, who is taking semi-retirement.

When the license for the KWAB-TV (Channel 4) comes up for renewal, a Midland firm, Pictronics, Inc., wants to have its name in the hat. It has asked the Federal Communications Commission to consider its application. Grayson Enterprises, the present holder, may be expected to ask for relicensing. Pictronics has asked for support locally, but chances are that local people will stand on a statement of wanting network and local origination.

Horse Sales Will Go On

By The Associated Press

Officials at two New Mexico horse racing tracks said the epidemic in Texas of a sleeping sickness affecting horses will have little effect on major horse sales scheduled the next two weeks.

The horse sales involved are the annual auction of thoroughbred-yearlings at La Mesa Park in Raton Friday and Saturday and the brood mare sale scheduled at Ruidoso Downs in connection with a seminar of the American quarter horse racing industry.

Chet Robertson, head of Haymaker Sales Co., in Raton, said the auction at La Mesa Park "won't be affected by the Texas quarantine."

He said, "We have lost only three of our sale entries due to the quarantine and will be offering 141 well-bred yearlings on Friday and Saturday evenings." La Mesa Park President Eric N. Culver said the precautions being taken by La Mesa are to require health certificates from incoming out-of-state horses and brand inspection papers on state horses so their points of origin will be known.

Walt Wiggins of Roswell, co-ordinator of the inaugural Quarter Horse Racing Congress scheduled for Ruidoso Downs Aug. 5-8, said a few quarter horses scheduled for the event may be dropped, "but their results to the Congress will be minimal."

He said brood mare sale and an exhibit of America's leading quarter horse racing stallions are scheduled during the Congress.

Most of the horses already are in the state, Wiggins said, and "I've received word from many horse owners that their horses already have been vaccinated and will meet the 14-day quarantine period."

Club Maps Plans For Coming Year

The ABC Big Hat Club met in regular session at Coker's Restaurant for breakfast Friday morning to map plans for the next year.

The Big Hatters will shortly adopt a special project for the year but will continue to offer support for the Boys' Club, Rehabilitation Center and other projects.

Garner McAdams will serve as ramrod of the ensuing 12-months' period. Dewitt Bunn, immediate past president of the "Ambucs," presided at Friday's session.

Of the 24 members of the Big Hatters, 14 were present for the breakfast.

At the Friday club luncheon, Mack Nugent, of the Big Spring district office, outlined various new Social Security laws and benefits.

Agnew Attitude Toward Peking May Be Problem

'Dump Spiro' Move Because Of Anti-Communist China Statements?

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who considered it disastrous when an American table tennis team went to Communist China, may not have a place on the 1972 ticket of a President who is going there himself.

Republican sources report a growing feeling in GOP congressional circles that Agnew will not be Nixon's choice as a running mate next year.

One GOP senator said that feeling existed even before Nixon's announcement, that he will visit mainland China, revived memories of past Agnew dissent against administration overtures to Peking.

Agnew was in Kinshasa, Congo, when Nixon made his dramatic announcement Thursday night. The first comment from the vice president was no comment.

A Republican source in Washington expressed surprise at Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sunday, July 18, 1971 3-A that, saying the White House had urged GOP members of Congress to issue statements on the Nixon decision.

Agnew has been on a world tour, and there was no indication as to whether he had been briefed in advance on Nixon's plan to go to China.

His misgivings about U.S. policy toward Communist China became known when he talked off the record, with a small group of reporters, and then with Republican governors, at a conference in Williamsburg, Va., April 19.

Agnew is known to have raised in the National Security Council early this year questions as to the effect of U.S. overtures to Peking on American ties with the Nationalist government on Formosa.

At the time of the Williamsburg meetings, one source said Agnew seemed to be implying that there should not be a thaw in U.S. relations with Peking.

Agnew was specifically critical then of the Chinese tour of the American table tennis team, and at the way it was reported, calling it a propaganda victory for Peking, and a disaster for the United States.

The White House later quoted Agnew as saying he supported conciliatory Nixon moves toward Communist China. But a distinction clearly remained between supporting a policy and agreeing with it.

The issue looms the more important because Nixon has repeatedly told congressional leaders in private meetings that the improvement of U.S. relations with China is one of his great foreign policy goals.

Nixon's decision to go to Communist China spells certain trouble with the more conservative wing of his own Republican Party, where dissent was quick in coming.

Agnew's political muscle has developed with that branch of the GOP. But one GOP senator questioned whether Agnew, in view of his past position on the pace of U.S. moves involving China, could now serve as a credible emissary to conservatives dismayed at the Nixon trip.

MADRID (AP) — Spiro T. Agnew declined comment again Saturday on President Nixon's plan to visit China.

"I am not free to comment on anything concerning President Nixon's announcement regarding mainland China," the touring vice president told newsmen aboard Air Force Two en route from Kinshasa to Madrid.

TRIP INCREASES ASIA PEACE PROSPECTS?

Mansfield Still Wants Total Troop Withdrawal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield said Saturday President Nixon's plan to visit Communist China increases prospects for peace in Southeast Asia. But he said Congress must still call for total withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam within nine months.

The Montana senator said Nixon's proposed trip to mainland China should boost the President's stature and help end the war, but it does not diminish Congress' responsibility to help end the fighting.

Mansfield said his troop-recall amendment to the military draft extension bill, now the subject of Senate-House compromise efforts, does not block the President's avenues for reaching a settlement of the war.

He specifically rejected any suggestions that the China trip announcement might lead

Mansfield to give up efforts to keep his amendment in the bill.

The Senate on June 22 added Mansfield's amendment to the draft bill by a 61-38 vote. It was no force of law but declares it national policy that all U.S. forces be pulled out of Southeast Asia within nine months from the date of enactment. The House version of the bill excluded any similar position and the measure is now stymied in a joint conference committee that will meet again Tuesday.

The Nixon administration has opposed as congressional efforts to set a certain time for U.S. troop withdrawal, arguing this would only weaken the American bargaining position at the Paris peace talks.

Mansfield said "I'm not adverse to giving consideration to any changes" the conferees might propose in his amendment. "I'm a reasonable man. But I think the amendment passed by the Senate is excellent."

Mansfield said Nixon's plan to visit China "increases prospects for a settlement on Vietnam."

He called it "part of a mosaic which I think is coming into shape" on ending the war.

Mansfield called Nixon's Thursday night surprise announcement "the most effective and briefest speech of his career with the most impact—and deservedly so."

"For the time being Mansfield said, 'it has increased his stature.'"

THE MAYOR IS A DEE-JAY—Atlanta mayor Sam Massell spins a platter as he plays disc jockey on a local radio station Friday. Massell, who called himself "Fat Sam" while on the air, took the air for an hour and played rock records and gave the weather and reported traffic conditions.

Viet War Called Because Of Rain

SAIGON (AP) — Typhoon-spawned winds and rain lashed South Vietnam's northern region Saturday and washed out the war for the third time in two weeks.

The typhoon, named Jean, swept northward in the South China Sea without directly hitting the South Vietnamese coast but its outer winds buffeted the northern provinces and dumped six to nine inches of rain there.

U.S. air strikes were called off. Even the B52 bombers, which fly at 30,000 feet above the foul weather, interrupted their daily pounding of the sector just below the demilitarized zone.

While not directly affecting the B52s, the storm conditions prevented flights by their protective escort of smaller fighter-bombers.

Other B52 bombers, however, flew in from their Thailand base to keep up a relentless U.S. pounding of the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos. This bombing campaign against Hanoi's main supply route, the most sustained of the war, hasn't missed a day since last October.

Forecasters said Typhoon Jean was moving up the Tonkin Gulf and would hit North Vietnam in the Hanoi area late Sunday or early Monday if it continues on its present course.

Once over land, weathermen said, the typhoon would break up rapidly in much the same manner as Typhoon Harriet and Tropical Storm Kim during the past two weeks.

The only ground action was reported by South Vietnamese military headquarters, which listed a series of small clashes at scattered points throughout the country that took place Friday.

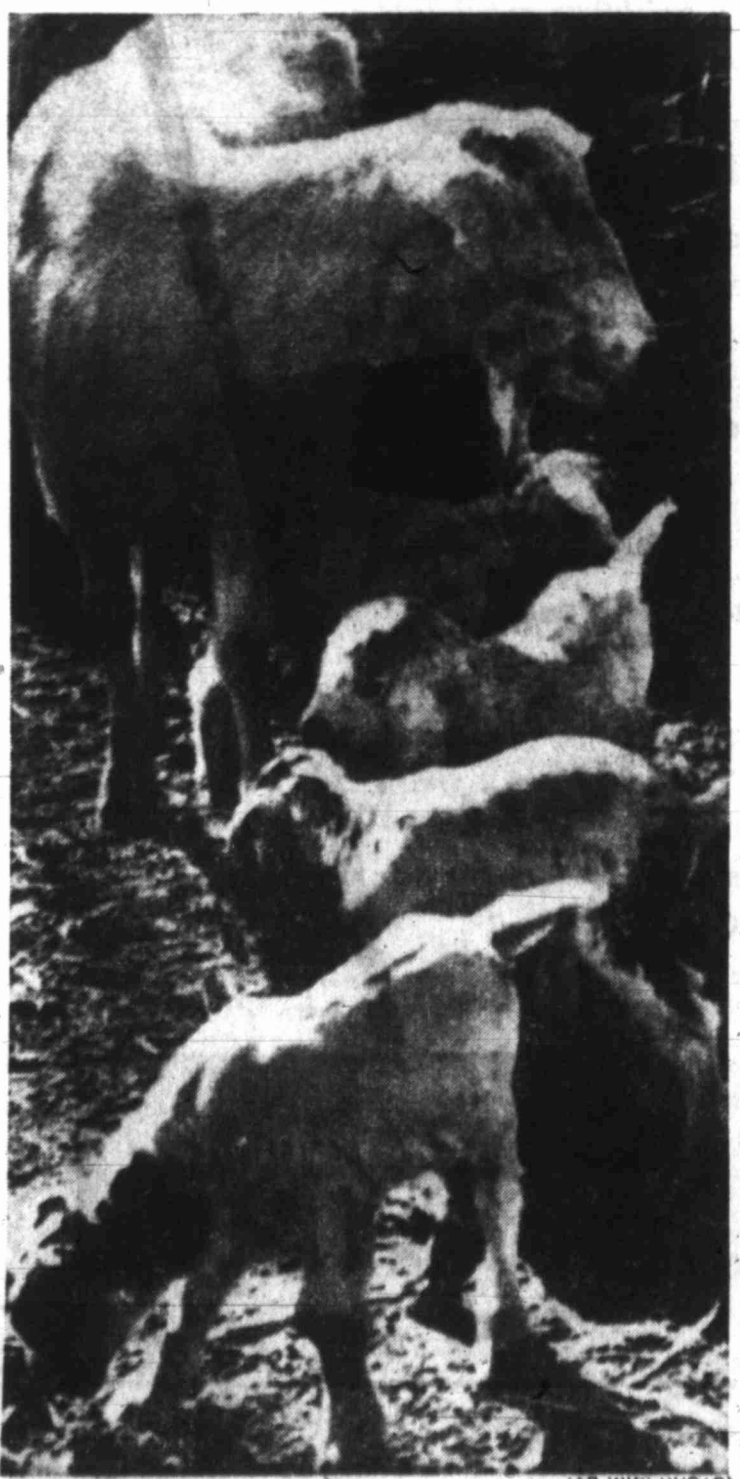

In these actions, headquarters said, South Vietnamese troops killed 77 enemy soldiers and suffered casualties of seven men wounded and none killed.

Martha Changes Mind, Backs Visit

LONDON (AP) — Martha Mitchell has changed her mind about Communists. "I think we now have become almost one world," the attorney general's wife told newsmen Friday, in announcing her approval of President Nixon's plans to visit Communist China.

"There is no reason to have these little wars, with the weapons we have today."

"Consequently, I think we should all try to get together and be brothers and sisters, Communists or non-Communists."

HOW 'BOUT A RECOUNT?—A Bulawayo (Rhodesia) farmer was not surprised when a herd boy told him one of his goats had given birth to three kids—it has happened before—but when he went to see, he found she had produced quads. One goat expert called this a one-in-a-million chance, and possibly a record. Mother and kids are doing fine, but the farmer says he will have to find another goat to help out at meal times.

LOW PERCENTAGE OF SERVICEMEN USE HEROIN

'We Still Have Big Problem' Consultant Says

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon's consultant on the drug problem said Saturday that tests in Vietnam showed some signs of heroin use in only 4½ per cent of 22,000 U.S. servicemen.

Dr. Jerome H. Jaffe said that estimates had put the figure at 10 per cent. But he said "we still have big problems."

Jaffe was borrowed from the drug treatment program of Illinois to become Nixon's consultant in the field and he went to the Far East to look at the problem among American servicemen.

After meeting with Nixon, Jaffe told newsmen that of the 22,000 military men given urine tests for traces of heroin, only about 1,000 showed positive results. Not all of those with positive tests are necessarily addicts, Jaffe said.

He added that the results will require careful evaluation.

Jaffe said servicemen generally believe Nixon's assurances that no punitive action will be taken against persons seeking treatment, although he added that some still are skeptical. The program so far is restricted to men about to return to the United States. And Jaffe has said the number voluntarily seeking treatment rose from about 1,300 in May to 2,300 in June.

The testing is primarily for heroin users, Jaffe said, but is being expanded to users of bar-biturates and amphetamines. Nixon was spending his last full day of a 12-day stay at the Western White House. He flies to Washington Sunday and has meetings Monday morning with congressional leaders of both parties and with the cabinet to brief them on the background and plans for the visit he will pay to Peking sometime before next May.

'Nader's Raiders' Attack Regulations Of Pesticides

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Ralph Nader task force said Saturday that government regulators have bowed to "agribusiness" passions for profit at the expense of unsuspecting citizens who expect pure meat and an environment unpoisoned by pesticides.

The report centered on the Department of Agriculture, which is responsible for meat inspection and which handled pesticide registration and labeling until that function was transferred to the new Environmental Protection Agency last year.

The study said even farmers, half of the farm-industry complex called agribusiness, suffer at the hands of pesticide makers because the government provides no independent advice on pesticide use.

How's This For Real Condensing?

LONDON (AP) — The Massive Oxford English Dictionary is to be cut from 13 to two volumes, without slipping a syllable.

The Oxford University Press announced Friday it will market a special edition of the dictionary next October. A micrographic process will reduce four pages of the original to just one, in minuscule print.

The current 10,400-page dictionary costs $216. The special edition will cost $67 — and that includes a magnifying glass.

'MOST OF IT COULD LEARN MUCH'

Agnew Contrasts Leadership Of U. S. Blacks With Africa

MADRID (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew fired a sharp blast Saturday at black leadership in the United States, charging "most of it could learn much" from the strong man leaders of the black African nations he has been visiting.

The vice president contrasted the moderation and understanding of "international problems" he said is shown by the leaders of Ethiopia, Kenya and the Congo with the "querulous complaints and constant recriminations against the rest of society" by many U.S. black leaders.

Agnew volunteered the critical comparison—then refused repeated efforts by reporters seeking specifics—at the start of a news conference aboard Air Force Two as he flew to Madrid from Kinshasa in the Congo.

Agnew will be the highest ranking American ever to attend Spain's National Day ceremonies Sunday in honor of the revolt against the republican government by Gen. Francisco Franco in 1936.

"The black leadership in the United States, not all of it, but most of it, could learn much by observing the work that has been done in these countries by people like Emperor Haile Selassie and his prime minister, President Jomo Kenyatta and his distinguished ministers, and, of course, President Mobutu and president of the National Assembly (Andre) Bo-Bollo."

Asked which black U.S. leaders he was referring to, he replied: "I don't have to identify the leaders that I mean."

"If you read your newspaper over the past year and see how many of those leaders have been complaining and carping, you'll find out that they comprise a very substantial cross-section of what describes itself as black leadership."

Agnew was then asked if he could name a black leader or black leaders as exceptions to his criticism.

"Yes," he replied, "there are some certainly. I would not attempt to name them because by inadvertently excluding one, I would be including him, which I might not want to do."

It came at the end of a week of meetings with such authoritarian leaders as Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie, his country's unchallenged ruler for more than four decades; President Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya, who has made the transition from suspected Mau Mau leader to be elected head of a one-party regime; and Congolese President Joseph D. Mobutu, the onetime army commander who seized control in 1965 and recently put several hundred student protesters into the army for two years.

Such leaders, Agnew said, "have impressed me with their understanding of their internal problems, their moderation and their recognition of the difficulties" between their countries and the rest of the world.

"This is in distinct contrast—the quality of this leadership—to many of those in the United States who have arrogated unto themselves the position of black leaders, those who spend their times in querulous complaint and constant recriminations against the rest of society."

SENTENCED — Former Gov. William Wallace Barron, of West Virginia, was sentenced by a Charleston, W.Va. court Friday to 12 years in federal prison and fined $50,000 for bribing a jury foreman in 1968.

Rae Bourbon Returned Here

Rae Bourbon, 78, female impersonator convicted in February, 1970, in connection with the murder of A. D. Blount, Big Spring pet shop owner, was returned from Brownwood Thursday and hospitalized at Big Spring State Hospital.

Bourbon was ordered returned by 35th District Judge Joe D. Brell Jr. The Howard County sheriff's office dispatched a deputy and an ambulance to return the ailing former entertainer.

While in the hospital, Bourbon will be awaiting results on the appeal he has filed on his 99-year sentence. He was tried for murder in the Brownwood court on a charge of venue from Howard County.

OIL Martin Ties In Drilling First

Martin County jumped into a tie for first place among the most active counties in Permian Basin drilling last week.

Martin picked up five active rigs for a total of 18, while Pecos dropped off one to attain the same figure. Lea County, N. M., which had been the leader, dropped three rigs and had only 17. No other counties had as many as 10.

The record reported by Reed Drilling Tools showed these nearby counties: Borden one, unchanged; Dawson two, up one; Howard five, up one; Mitchell one, up one; Scurry two, unchanged.

Adobe Oil Co. staked four sites in the Spraberry Trend area of Martin County. They are No. 4-H Sale Ranch 1,320 from the north and west lines of section 10-37-1N, T&P; No. 5-H Sale Ranch, 1,320 from the north and east lines of the same section No. 6-H Sale Ranch, 1,320 from the south and east lines of the section; and No. 7-H Sale Ranch, 1,320 from the south and west lines of the section.

City Uses Still Smaller Cars

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The city plans to save money and fight smog by using subcompact cars that can run on low-lead or no-lead gasoline.

City Councilman Arthur K. Snyder said Friday that more of the smaller cars would be added after a successful nine-month experiment with 20 of the vehicles.

The cars cost about $1,950 each, $300 less than regular compacts that have been driven by city employees.

Shoemaker Takes El Paso Position

Don Shoemaker, dean of fiscal affairs for Howard County Junior College, has resigned his post here to accept a similar one with the new El Paso Community College.

In asking to be relieved of his contract with HCJC, he said that the new position offered a substantial promotion as well as challenge. He is the second member of the staff to be named, the first being the president, Dr. Alfredo de la Santos, who has asked him to report Aug. 2.

Shoemaker came here in 1965 from Alamogordo, N.M., and joined the HCJC faculty as an instructor in business education. Two years later he was named business manager and last year was made dean of fiscal affairs.

He is a graduate of Oklahoma State University and holds his masters degree from Highlands University in Las Vegas, N.M. Mrs. Shoemaker and their two sons are due to join him later in August.

Wilson Stops Short Of Stand Against Common Market Entry

LONDON (AP) — Former Prime Minister Harold Wilson stopped just short Saturday of a clear commitment to lead his opposition Labor party against British entry into the European Common Market. Officially, Wilson left the door open either way by convincing a special one-day party conference to delay a "yes" or "no" decision until fall.

The tenor of his 50-minute speech winding up the day-long session left no doubt that Wilson opposes entry on the terms explained so far by Prime Minister Edward Heath's Conservative government.

Wilson accused Heath of violating an election pledge simply to negotiate entry terms, no more, no less.

Instead, Wilson maintained, Heath already "has done a deal," even before Parliament debates the terms.

"He is ready to sign on a dotted line and he is ready to do so because he says that otherwise Britain is finished," Wilson declared.

This, Wilson added, "is selling Britain short." Heath, he claimed, is using this tactic to railroad the people of this country into making their decision in a mood of panic and hysteria.

On three key entry terms, Wilson said, Heath had not yet satisfactorily established that British interests would be protected. He said the terms in doubt were the effect on the balance of payments, freedom of capital movement, and safeguards for such Commonwealth exports as New Zealand dairy products and Commonwealth sugar.

The timetable approved by the conference permits Wilson to demand in parliamentary debate beginning Wednesday more details on entry terms.

Labor's national executive committee meets July 28 to set the party line for submission for rank-and-file approval at the party's annual convention in October.

The special conference Saturday, the party's first since 1918, had threatened to split the opposition wide open on demands for a rush commitment binding Labor lawmakers to vote against entry.

To avoid a split before a nationwide television audience, Wilson pressed behind the scenes for delay in the party stand.

The vote in Westminster Central Hall, by 1,037 delegates casting bloc ballots for the party rank and file, was 3,185,000 to 2,624,000 for delay.

Student's Trial Again Reset

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The murder trial for a former Fort Stockton student, John Russell Kincaid, has been reset for Nov. 1, by Judge John Benavides. Benavides granted the continuance Friday because of the illness of Kincaid's grandfather, Russell Menzies, of San Antonio. Menzies is a "key witness," Kincaid's lawyer told the judge. The trial had been scheduled July 26.

Kincaid is charged with the Jan. 12, 1970 shotgun slaying of his mother, Mrs. Ann Russell Kincaid, 38, and his stepfather, Bert Kincaid Jr., 51.

The former Texas Christian University student was to have been tried in West Texas but the trial was moved here on a change of venue more than a year ago.

The trial was originally set before Benavides in December, 1970, but was postponed because of the illness of a lawyer.

HOLDING THINGS TOGETHER — Former Prime Minister Harold Wilson sits during special conference of the Labor Party in London Saturday. Delegates of the opposition party approved Wilson's plan for debate on Britain's entry into the Common Market, but refused to bind Labor members of Parliament to vote either for or against the measure when it comes up for approval in the House of Commons Oct. 28.

Withdrawal Means Reliance More On Nuclear Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson says a sizable unilateral withdrawal of U.S. troops from Europe would imply a greater reliance on nuclear weapons early in any outbreak of hostilities.

"It would be foolhardy to leave the President with only the nuclear button in his hand in the event of trouble," the Washington Democrat said in an interview.

Such a withdrawal also would be preposterous at a time when there's a chance of serious East-West talks on mutual troop withdrawals in Europe and would be a grave blow to the Middle East military balance, Jackson said.

Jackson said the United States must have more than a token force in Europe, "not just something to be tripped over." The senator touched on these points in a question-and-answer interview.

Q. Despite defeat of his proposal in May, Sen. Mansfield says he may try it again later this year.

A. We are in Europe today because we have learned that the security of the United States is inextricably tied to the security of Europe. The American military presence in Europe is the hard nut of the Western deterrent. The chief purpose of these American forces is political; to deter a Soviet aggressive move against the NATO area by making it clear to the Russians that their forces would meet enough U.S. forces to make any crisis a Soviet-American crisis, not just a European one. This means that a token American force is not adequate. It has to be an effective American combat force, not just something to be tripped over, but a force capable of putting up a serious defense. Q. Some experts fear that a unilateral U.S. cut in troops would lower the nuclear threshold.

A. Clearly, a sizable unilateral cutback of American troops would imply a greater reliance on nuclear weapons and their incorporation in military operations at a very early phase of hostilities. We certainly don't want a one-option policy of flexibility to handle the variety of emergencies and crises that can arise. It would be foolhardy to leave a president with only the nuclear button in his hand in the event of trouble.

A vacant structure at 604 Johnson, which was being torn down, was reported ablaze at 11:29 a.m. Saturday. According to a police report, the fire was brought quickly under control.

Fire-Seekers Find Sick Boy

A mistaken address given to police Friday sent officers looking for a fire at 1700 W. 2nd where they found a small boy unconscious.

The lad, 3-year-old Gilbert Aguilar, was rushed to Hall-Bennett Hospital where he was revived. The cause of his condition was not definitely determined, but it is believed that the boy might have had a heat stroke.

The fire, a burning mattress and an old car, was at 1700 W. 1st.

Who'd Heist Pickup Hood?

Is there a market anywhere for a 1933 Ford pickup hood? If so, thieves who stole such a hood from a vehicle belonging to R. D. Anderson, who lives near Vealmoor, will be seeking it.

Anderson reported the theft Saturday to the Howard County Sheriff's office. He said the hood was taken from a truck parked at his home.

Swedish Visitor Likes Texas, But 'It Sure Is Hot Here'

By KERRY GUNNELS

LAMESA — The main problem Ake Hulenvik has faced since his arrival in West Texas from Sweden is the hot climate.

"The first thing I did was a catch a cold," said the Swedish student, visiting Lamesa on the Rotarians' International Living program. "Sweden is in the same temperate zone as Alaska. We just don't have weather this hot."

Hulenvik learned his English in school. Sweden requires all students to study English beginning at about age 9.

A great deal of the commercial and diplomatic activity in Europe is carried out in English, said Hulenvik. That, plus the fact that contact between Sweden and the British Isles is frequent, explains the emphasis on English in Swedish schools.

Hulenvik is a graduate of the University in Lund a small city of about 60,000. It is truly a university town, with a student population of 20,000 and many more of the adult population employed in various ways by the university, he said.

He is a psychology major and admits that his visit to America is an education in itself. Hulenvik will enter graduate school on his return to Sweden in August.

The educational system in Sweden is somewhat different from the system found in the U. S. Pre-school instruction takes place between the ages of 5 and 7. Mandatory school attendance is expected between the ages of 7 and 16.

The next three years offer the student a choice. In gymnasium — "not the same thing as the word means in English," Hulenvik is quick to explain — a student may either take courses in vocational training or enter the college preparatory division of gymnasium. Gymnasium is roughly equivalent to high school and the first year in college, he said.

College takes from three to four years, depending on the individual.

Hulenvik will begin work on the Swedish equivalent to the master's degree when he returns to Lund. His studies should take about two and a half years.

Ake (pronounced okay) is staying with several Lamesa families during his visit. His first "family" was the R. B. Snells. He spent almost two weeks with them. Now he is living with the Philip Whites.

"It's fun," said Mrs. White. "He's just been with us a day, but no problems have come up yet."

"One notices the open friendliness of the people here," said Hulenvik. He has been touring the country around Lamesa and speaking before various clubs.

"I have a little speech and slide presentation," Ake said.

He took a trip to El Paso and was amazed at the scenery.

"I did not know so much of the land was so desert-like," he said. "I do not think I would like to live there. But it is fascinating country."

Ake rode his first horse while in Lamesa. Sweden does have horses, but not very many. "It was quite an experience," he said.

Many people in Sweden have relatives in America. That is another reason that the countries are so close. During the latter half of the 19th century and the early 20th century, a million Swedes, out of a total population of 5 million, immigrated to the United States.

He knew before his trip that Texans were not still fighting Indians and taming a wild frontier, but Texas was not without its surprises.

"It is so flat," Ake said. "Sweden is very much up and down, but Texas does not have many mountains. Also I was surprised at the lack of rivers."

Hulenvik will not get a chance to do much traveling while in the United States. He spent eight days in the New York area after his arrival by air from Sweden. He then came to Lamesa. After his remaining six weeks in Lamesa are over, he will have a week on his own. He will spend it in New York state visiting relatives.

He says he would like to come back to the United States after his present visit is over.

"A person cannot really find out what a people think, why they think it and why they do the things they do unless he spends a long time in their country," Ake said.

Library Has New Films Available For Check-Out

New films are available for check-out from the Howard County Library, according to Mrs. Edna Nichols, librarian.

Included in the selection are travel and educational films. "Grand Canyon" explores the geography and the natural beauty of the canyon and the unchanged life of the isolated Havasupai Indians.

"White Mane" is the legend of a boy and his love for a wild stallion. "Red Kite" tells of a young father who is occupied with questions about life, death and God.

"Will Rogers, Cowboy Humorist," is a biography of Will Rogers. "This Is Farnborough" displays a collection of British model airplanes and precision flying teams.

"Sirene," a whimsical and serious comment on modern life through the animated story of a mermaid in a modern city harbor.

"Tuna Angling — The Art and Science of Big Game Fishing" gives an expert demonstration of baiting and fighting the powerful tuna.

"Adventure, Trent Severn Style" shows inland cruising along Ontario's Trent and Severn rivers. "Echoes of Gold" is a true recollection of early life in a British Columbia gold town.

"Jasper: All This And Winter Too" depicts a skier's paradise. "Laurentian Calendar" highlights vacation spots in resort areas north of Montreal.

"Spring Trout" follows three fishermen on their annual trek to Ontario's north woods fishing areas.

"Amazing New Zealand" presents a land of contrasts and notes the amusing oddities of nature.

"J. D. Goes Hunting" concerns a hunting holiday in New Zealand's Southern Alps.

"Leading the Parade" features the spectacular twirling performances of leading high school and college majorettes.

"Kangaroos" shows the kangaroo at home in Australia.

Bacteria Chews Up Oil Slicks, Dies

PORT ARANSAS, Tex. (AP) — A potent strain of bacteria that can literally chew up oil slicks is ready for its first environmental test, says the project scientist who developed it.

Dr. Carl Oppenheimer, director of the University of Texas Marine Science Institute, said the oil degradation project—begun originally at Florida State—has been transferred to the University of Texas, where it has recently received an 18-month extension and a $100,000 grant from the Environmental Protection agency.

"We have known for many years that micro-organisms were responsible for oil degradation and that they could help with the cleanup," Oppenheimer said during an interview.

Convinced that the solution was to be found in nature itself, the marine microbiologist set out to determine what strains of bacteria could most effectively attack the hydrocarbons composing crude oil.

Oppenheimer said his research team went to areas where oil had been spilling for years and looked for promising strains of bacteria. Working with cultures obtained from California, Pennsylvania, Louisiana and the oil-rich Republic of Kuwait, the researchers attempted to develop a usable strain which could be readily reproduced.

With the assistance of a national pharmaceutical firm, the bacteria will be mass-produced in much the same way penicillin is. The bacteria then will be freeze-dried and stored.

The bacteria are developed in a culture medium that stimulates their natural appetite. Oil provides the source of carbon which excites their appetite and completes the process.

Once the bacteria chew up the oil, they die. The end product produces fatty acids and other emulsified products which have no harmful effects on the existing marine environment.

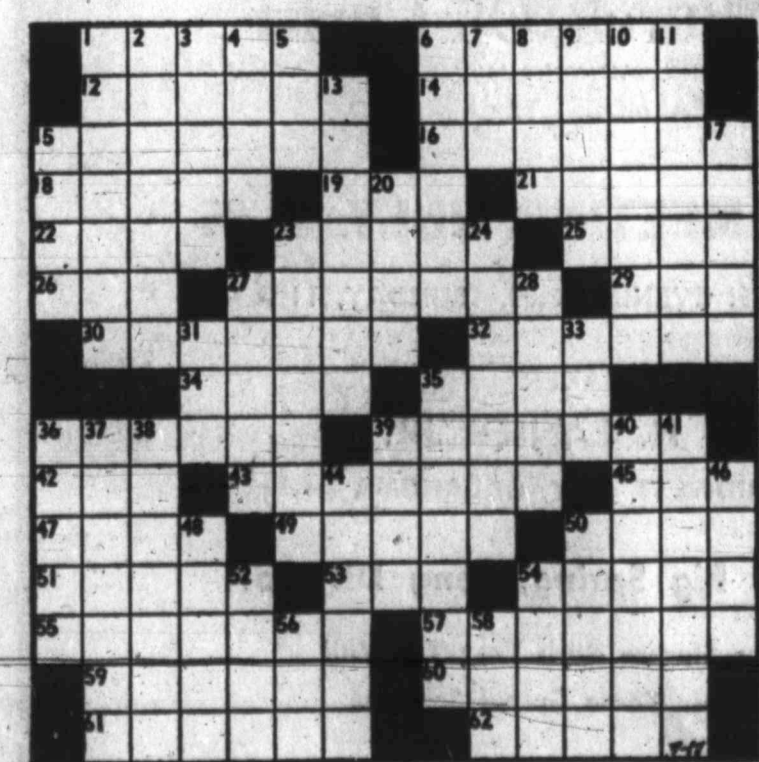

After the field test, the supplies of freeze-dried bacteria will be stored until an oil slick is discovered.

"When they are needed, a helicopter or crop duster can fly out and spread them over a slick," Oppenheimer said. "As little as a tenth of a pound of bacteria per acre of oil is sufficient to eat up the oil," he added.

Goodnight! He's Got Minimules

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Ed Goodnight acquired a strange hobby several years ago—breeding and raising miniature mules to race chariots in a rodeo. He says the little critters are a lot more controllable than their bigger brothers. Here's a look at the minimules.)

BARTLETT, Tex. (AP)—A miniature mule is more dynamite than you may imagine—especially when they're pulling chariots in a Texas rodeo, according to Ed Goodnight, who picked up the idea in Idaho—not Rome.

Goodnight has 16 mules on his farm. Although mature, they range in weight from 300 to 600 pounds.

Owner of a funeral home in this Central Texas town, Goodnight got the inspiration for his unusual hobby during a hunting trip to Idaho several years ago. "They raced chariots out there," he said, "using quarter-horses to pull them. I decided to use these little mules," he said.

RESEARCH
Goodnight got his first minimules from the Brazos River bottom near College Station, where they had been used for genetic research by Texas A&M University.

The white minimules were sired by a white Sicilian jack out of paint Shetland pony mares.

Goodnight now has 10 white minimules and six larger ones—weighing 500 to 700 pounds—of darker color. They were sired by a jack out of a Welsh mare on the Goodnight farm.

Once the minimules were acquired, the work began in earnest. It's not an easy job. Just ask Charles Thompson and Bobby Belyeu. Thompson and Belyeu took charge of breaking the mules to harness, and training them to pull chariots. The training sessions resembled rodeos, with the two men chasing and roping the mules, then struggling to get the harness on.

They began breaking the white mules last summer, working with them in their spare time. How does a minimule's temperament compare to that of a full-scale animal?

SMARTER
"They're worse than a typical mule," Thompson said. "They take the Shetland blood's meanness and they're smarter than the ordinary mule." He said they're particularly ornery "when they're in a bind. They're bad about biting and kicking."

The mules have acquired some colorful names.

Two of the larger ones, trained to pull a covered wagon, are called Hard Times and Welfare. "Hard Times does most of the work," Thompson said. "Welfare's a little lazy."

Others are called Tom and Jerry, Pet and Paint, Meg and Peg, Spot and Lady, and Jake and Sunshine.

Training the mules wasn't the only problem. Finding harness was another.

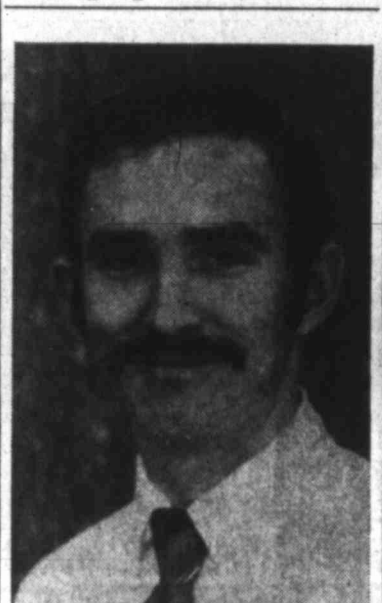

The collars were bought from Shelbyville, Tenn. A harness maker in Granger made the rest. A welder in Bartlett made the chariots, using Model-T spindles and Model-A wheels from old Ford automobiles.

The mules already have participated in a couple of trail rides and in the Rogers homecoming parade, where the covered wagon team won first place.

SWIFT, STRONG
Although small, the minimules are swift, agile and surprisingly strong. Ed Goodnight and his brother, Wayne Goodnight, of Holland, Tex., proved this during a swift chariot ride up, down, and around the steep hills on the Goodnight farm. The minimules never stumbled.

Ed Goodnight has more plans for his minimules. He plans to build a lighted arena on his farm where chariot races can be held.

"I'll bet Charlton Heston never did anything like this," Goodnight grinned.

JOHN W. ADAMS

New Canteen Officer At VA

The job of the canteen officer at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital is just like running a small business anywhere, according to John W. Adams, the new canteen officer at the hospital.

"We have a barber shop, food service, vending machines and a retail store," said Adams. "The operation is run just as any small business is run."

Adams and his wife, Sandra, came to Big Spring from Waco, where he was the assistant canteen officer in the Waco VA Hospital. "I also completed my education at Baylor while I was there," he said.

Adams was born and reared in Waco and entered college there. Before he entered college he served in the U.S. Navy from 1961 to 1965. When he returned he entered school and studied two years full time and then completed his education in night school, earning a degree in business administration.

"I want to earn a masters degree in business administration as soon as I can," said Adams.

Adams and his wife have two children, Michael, 3, and Stacey, six months. "We all like Big Spring, especially the climate. It was much more humid in Waco," he said.

Coahoma Hires 12 Teachers

COAHOMA — Twelve teachers have been elected for the 1971-72 school year by the board of trustees.

Those hired on recommendation of Supt. W. A. Wilson were Jody Sory, a high school coach; Wayne Nail, a junior high coach; Norman Roberts, high school basketball coach; Mrs. Jan East, junior high coach.

Also Mrs. Janis Hutter, high school; Jerry Gibbs, industrial art teacher; Doc Tindol, CVAE (vocational) teacher; Mrs. Sara Anderson, Mrs. Neva Swann, Mrs. Janie Parrish, all junior high; Mrs. Bettye Franklin, elementary; and Mrs. Charlene Cooley, kindergarten.

Mrs. Velma Ruth-Wood was employed as school nurse, and Mrs. Rae Nell Best as a teacher aide.

Rehab Center

The board of directors of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center will have its third quarterly board meeting July 27 in the conference room at the center, according to Jim Thompson, director of the center.

Postal Workers Get Cash Incentive Awards

Incentive awards in the amount of $625 have been presented to three Big Spring post office employees for superior performance of their duties over a period of the last two years, according to Frank Hardesty.

J. D. Buchanan, foreman for the mails, who has worked for the local office for 17 years, received a $200 cash award for outstanding performance, in addition to a $25 cash award for a suggestion adopted by the post office which resulted in a better method of handling outgoing parcel post mail.

Donald Trupp, city letter carrier, was awarded $200 for superior performance of his duties as a carrier for the past two years. He has been with the office for 19 years.

Leland Calvert, who started to work with the local office in 1960, received a $200 cash award for superior accomplishment in his performance as distribution clerk, and various other relief duties during the last two years. James Abbe is the chairman of the Incentive Awards Committee.

UTPB Names Engineering Dean

ODESSA — The University of Texas of the Permian Basin has announced the appointment of Dr. Lee Harrisberger as Dean of the College of Science and Engineering effective Sept. 1.

Dr. Harrisberger is currently Halliburton professor and head of the school of mechanical and aerospace engineering at Oklahoma State University. Prior to going to Oklahoma State in 1963, he had served on the faculties of North Carolina State University, Purdue University and the University of Utah. Dr. Harrisberger is vice president of the American Society of Engineering Education.

CLAUDE HARMON

Aborted Coup Traps Harmon

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — American golf pro Claude Harmon found himself in the middle of the attempted coup against King Hassan II in Morocco last week and was terrorized and beaten during a five-hour ordeal, the 1948 Masters champion disclosed Saturday.

The revolt erupted without warning as Harmon played the golf course at the summer palace. He said he didn't realize what was happening until a grenade blew the leg off a man standing 25 feet away.

A pro at Winged Foot Golf Club and Hassan's teacher for three years, Harmon was at the king's 42nd birthday celebration at the palace near Rabat when the unsuccessful coup took place July 10.

"We realized it was for real when a rifle bullet took a big chunk over the concrete clubhouse and a grenade that was tossed over my head took a man's leg off," said Harmon.

"I was kicked unconscious seven or eight times," Harmon said, "and the guy lying next to me was shot. I had his blood all over me."

Not only did the 55-year-old pro find himself mixed up in the coup, he had dinner the night before with Gen. Mohammed Medbouh, a leader of the attempted military takeover who was accidentally killed by his own men.

"I and my two daughters had spent the entire evening with him," Harmon said of his dinner engagement with Medbouh the night before the coup. Harmon's daughters, 11 and 12, were at a hotel during the fighting and were not harmed.

Harmon also said in an interview with the Westchester-Rockland Newspapers that he spoke several times with Medbouh the following day, the last time five minutes before the coup began.

"When I saw him directing the troops I just couldn't believe it," said Harmon.

Harmon said he stayed face down in sand and gravel, was searched, beaten with rifle butts and kicked.

Crampton And Nichols Share Western Lead

Aaron Homers As Braves Rip Dodgers, 10-0

CHICAGO (AP) — Bruce Crampton and Bobby Nichols shared the lead after three rounds of the $150,000 Western Open Golf Tournament Saturday, while Lee Trevino obviously in the throes of a let-down—ceased to be a factor.

Crampton, an Australian veteran seeking his tenth title, tapped in a six-inch birdie putt on the final hole for a two-under-par 69 and a total of 208.

That five-under-par figure for three trips over the 6,749-yard Olympia Fields Country Club course tied him for the lead with Nichols, a former PGA champion, who had a third-round 70.

Trevino, who completed a sweep of the U.S., Canadian and British Open titles only last week, had to birdie the last two holes for a two-over-par 73.

At 221, he is 13 strokes back of the leaders, and out of title contention.

Nichols and Crampton, each seeking his first victory of the season, held a single stroke lead over sturdy Dick Lotz, who matched par 71 for 209.

Young Jerry Heard, Tommy Aaron and rangy Bert Greene followed at 211. Aaron and Greene notched 70s, while the 24-year-old Heard slipped to a 74. Stocky veteran Phil Rodgers was alone at 212 after a 72 and was the only other man in the field able to beat par figures for 54 holes.

Billy Casper, 1970 player of the year but a non-winner this season, had a 70 for 215, just seven strokes off the pace and still a possible contender.

CHICAGO (AP) — Third-round leaders Saturday in the $150,000 Western Open Golf Tournament on the 6,749-yard, par-35 Olympia Fields Country Club course:

Bruce Crampton	69-73-69-208
Bobby Nichols	71-67-70-208
Dick Lotz	69-71-70-209
Jerry Heard	71-68-72-211

ATLANTA (AP) — Hank Aaron, Ralph Garr and Darrell Evans smashed home runs and southpaw George Stone hurled a five-hit shutout Saturday as the Atlanta Braves crushed the Los Angeles Dodgers 10-0 in a nationally televised game.

Stone, 3-3, gave the Braves a 2-0 lead in the second inning when he slashed a two-run double down the left field line. He had worked out of a major jam in the top of the inning when Los Angeles loaded the bases with none out.

The defeat was the eighth in the last 10 games for the Dodgers.

Atlanta put the game on ice with a six-run explosion in the sixth after the first two batters were retired. Earl Williams, Sonny Jackson and Marty Perez singled to load the bases off the rookie Doyle Alexander, 1-1.

Stone then drew a walk off reliever Jose Pena, Felix Millan cracked a two-run single to right before Garr delivered a three-run homer over the right field fence, his seventh of the year.

Aaron's 617th career homer and his 25th of the year carried over the center field fence in the third. Evans belted his fifth of the season in the seventh.

Yankees Sew Up Soph Pennant

The Yanks clinched the last half championship in the Sophomore league and, with it, the full season crown by defeating the Red Sox 14-4, behind Darrell Miller here Saturday night. A nine-run third inning brought the Yanks from behind and insured the win. Miller allowed the Sox only two hits.

The Yanks ended second half play with a 6-1 record. Overall, they were 13-1. The Red Sox won five and lost two the last half.

Marsha Talley Twice Winner

LUBBOCK — Eight Garden City athletes, including three girls, won ribbons in the Lubbock Invitational Track and Field Meet here Saturday.

Marsha Talley of the Glasscock County school system made perhaps the best showing. She won both the 100 and the 220 in the intermediate class.

Charles Hayden copped second places in both the shot put and discus, senior class. Gerald Hoelscher was second in the broad jump and David Smith claimed a second in the 440, both in the Senior Division.

Coach Wynn Talley plans to take the team to the TAAF meet in Fort Worth next week. Garden City entries:

SENIOR DIVISION

CHARLES HAYDEN—2nd in shot put, 45-9/16; 2nd in discus, 119-0; 6th in broad jump, 17-4; and anchored 340-yard relay team to 3rd place. Guy Newell, Gerald Hoelscher, David Smith were other members of team.

GERALD HOELSCHER—3rd in discus, 112-0; 4th in shot put, 40-6; 2nd in broad jump, 18-10.

DAVID SMITH—2nd in 440-yard dash, 59.5.

JUNIOR DIVISION

GIRLS DIVISION—JUNIOR

EVETTE COFFMAN—4th in 100, 12.6; 5th in 50, 6.5; 3rd in 220, 29.8.

MARSHA TALLEY—1st in 100, 11.4; 1st in 220, 28.8.

OAKLAND (AP) — Jim Northrup and Bill Freehan backed Joe Coleman's seven-hitter with solo home runs Saturday, powering the Detroit Tigers to a 2-1 victory over the Oakland A's.

Both homers came off losing pitcher Jim Hunter, 11-9, who lost his fourth straight game. Coleman, 9-6, struck out 10 and gave up three walks.

Northrup hit his 10th homer of the year in the first inning. Joe Rudi leaped above the left field fence to take a homer away from the next batter, Willie Horton.

The A's tied it in the second inning on a single by Mike Epstein, a double by Rick Monday and a sacrifice fly by Dave Duncan.

Freehan's homer over the center field fence, his 12th of the year, provided the winning margin in the fourth inning.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Fred Haney, a young Oregon golfer with pro tour ambitions, shot a two-under-par 70 Saturday to win the 46th U.S. Public Links golf championship here.

Haney went into the final day deadlocked with Robert Blomberg, Alameda, Calif., but pulled away early in Saturday's round to win by five strokes. Haney had a 74-71-75 for a two-over-par 290 on the 6,956-yard Papago golf course. Blomberg carded a 75 Saturday to finish at 295.

Four players tied for third at 297. They were Ken Rucker of Spring, Tex., who had a 74, Tom Olson, Phoenix, who carded a 75, and Gary Balliet of Rochester, Mich., and Archie Dadian of South Milwaukee, Wis., who shot 76s.

Locals Claim 33 Ribbons

LUBBOCK — Coach Bobby Zellars brought 11 boys to the Lubbock Invitational Track and Field meet here Saturday. Between them, they won 33 ribbons in the final meet of the summer season.

The Big Springers took eight first places, eight seconds, six thirds, six fourths, four fifths and a sixth in three divisions of competition.

Nathan Baker and Everisto Pineda of Big Spring each won five ribbons in as many starts. Louie Smith won both of the events he entered — the shot put and discus.

The Big Springers competed on three levels of competition, with the bulk of the awards coming in the intermediate class.

Results involving Big Spring entries:

4. Tie between Noel Luevanos and Joe Rios, 64.6; 6. Celestino Correa, 64.7.

Meet Format Is Altered

An 18-hole Louisiana Draw tournament, rather than a scotch foursome, will be held at the Municipal golf course today. Entry fee will be $1.50 per person.

The meet will be sponsored by the Comanche Trail Ladies Golf Association. Registration will continue through this morning, since another 18 male players are needed to fill out the field.

Eighteen women had signed up for the tournament late Saturday. Merchandise awards will go to the winning teams. A shotgun start will be used to get the field off and running.

Plan To Move

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors will be renamed the Golden State Warriors and will play their National Basketball Association home games in San Diego this season.

Riddlehoover Will Play In Contest

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — Four more schoolboy stars joined the Texas ranks Saturday for the Aug. 13 Oil Bowl game against Oklahoma's finest high school football players.

Those added to the roster included Charles Franklin, a defensive safety at Haskell High School, John Riddlehoover, an offensive guard and defensive tackle at Abilene Cooper, Tommy Frank, a tight end and defensive end at Austin Reagan High School, and Jim Frasure, a center from Houston Westchester.

CHICAGO (AP) — Deron Johnson slammed three doubles and drove in two runs Saturday to lead the Philadelphia Phillies to a 5-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Johnson doubled home a run in the first inning, triggered a three-run, game-winning rally with a leadoff double in the seventh and then doubled home another run in the eighth.

The triumph ended Cub domination over the Phillies, who defeated the Cubs in their initial season clash but then lost seven straight to Chicago.

Johnson opened the seventh with a double and one out later scored the tying run on a double by Don Money. Oscar Gamble singled home the lead run and, after the Cubs botched up a double play, pinch hitter Ron Stone singled Gamble home.

The Cubs picked up their first run in the fifth on a double by Jim Hickman, a single by Joe Pepitone and a sacrifice fly by Brock Davis to tie the game.

They took the lead in the sixth when loser Bill Hands, 9-10, singled, took second on a sacrifice and scored on a double by Glenn Beckert.

PHILS starter Woody Fryman, 6-3, left for a pinch hitter in the seventh and reliever Joe Hoerner protected Fryman's sixth straight triumph.

Davis Was Top Rebounder

By TOMMY HART

Bob Davis, the new head coach at Sands High School, never had a soft scoring touch when he played for the HCJC basketball team but he was one of the finest rebounders in the history of the school. He established a record for pulling down cars that may still stand.

One of Davis' teammates that year, Benny Carver, is now employed by Texas Instruments in Dallas. The Houston Astros went over the 500,000 home attendance mark one day earlier this year than in 1970, passing the magic figure on their 33rd appearance in the domed stadium.

JACKIE ROBINSON

but UCLA was strictly minor league before the late Kenny Washington and Jackie Robinson played football with the Bruins. I saw Washington and Robinson play in the same backfield. Washington was probably the better player of the two — he gained 1,915 yards rushing and passed for another 1,300 paces in gains. When he was in his prime, Kenny was affectionately known as The General, Kingfish or Ken Bones. When Dr. Bob Johnson played in the Big Spring Partnership Golf Tournament here last month, he said the Country Club course was the best he'd tried in West Texas, quite a tribute to pro C. G. Griffin and his corps of workers. Johnson, who now resides in Brownwood, also had kind words for the friendliness of the people here. From their games alone, the three or four top tennis pros are now making more loot than the top three or four golfers. Interest in pro tennis never really picked up until the purses started getting fatter, which is the same injection golf used to stimulate interest in its game. Netter Rod Laver's projected winnings this year are $400,000. Bill Barker, the 79-year-old former Big Spring, recently shot his age over the Midland Country Club, at which time a hole-in-one helped him achieve a 78. Barker has shot his age no less than 29 times since he started chasing a ball down the fairway. Hank Aaron, the Atlanta slugger, was sent 600 boxes of Wheaties after connecting with his 600th home run. Call in the neighbor kids and bring along a herd of Holsteins. BSHS coaches will report for work as early as July 26. In all, 17 Steer mentors will be attending next month's coaching school in Fort Worth.

Boyce Hale, who coordinates the softball effort here for the City, says he expects as many as 20 teams to enter the Slow Pitch League in 1972. The league now in operation has stimulated great interest, he adds, especially among teenagers. There's no great hunger to win in the circuit, instead everyone seems to have a good time. ABC-TV will be airing the British Open golf tournament, at least through 1975. CBS-TV will broadcast the U.S. Open Tennis Championships at Forest Hills, N.Y., Sept. 11-12, with Bud Collins, Jack Kramer and Anne Haydon drawing assignments as commentators. Houston has given the San Francisco Giants so much trouble this season because it is primarily a line drive hitting club. Both the Astros and the Dodgers string out the rope when at bat against the Giants and San Francisco invariably looks bad against that kind of team. Big Spring had already been granted the 1973 Little League Sectional Tournament when word came through that the sectionals would be abandoned and 16 districts would proceed directly to State. The decision, needless to state, didn't set well here. By 1980, the University of Houston and Rice will be closing their football seasons against each other. It'll take that long for the schools to clear their cards of commitments already made. Louisiana State is campaigning to serve as host of the 1973 track and field championships, although track isn't particularly emphasized in the Southeastern Conference. Ex-Ole Miss coach Johnny Vaught, who was always tight-lipped around writers, will himself write a football column for newspapers. Those who have seen him play (this writer included) think Snyder's Stewart Sims will make it big in baseball. He's now in the Detroit organization. Only San Francisco charges as much for tickets as do the Houston Astros but the stadium parking fee ($1) at Houston ranks the lowest in the big leagues. In some places, they hold your car for ransom. Because he had three knee operations, TCU's John Ruthstrom wasn't given a tumble by the pro football team, so he'll teach school. Big Spring's R. J. Englert is playing sandlot ball in Moberly, Mo., again. His younger brother, David, will attend UT-El Paso on a partial scholarship. If he makes good under coach Andy Cohen, David will get a free ride through school.

IN INTER-CITY BATTLE TODAY — Five members of the Big Spring Cardinal baseball team, whose last names all begin with the letter M, will play here today against the Big Spring Tiger Cubs in a 2:30 contest that perhaps could be billed as the championship game in Big Spring sandlot baseball. From the left, they are Tony Martinez, Pat Martinez Jr., Felix Martinez, Junior Mendoza and Joe Martinez. The Red Birds will take a 13-7 won-lost record onto the field. The two teams clash in Steer Park.

Trevino Is Shooting For Nebulous Record

CHICAGO (AP) — It's almost certain that streaking Lee Trevino will break the single season money-winning record for a pro golfer this year—but it's not all certain just what that record is.

It all depends on where you look in the record book. In one place it's listed as $205,168 by Billy Casper in 1968. But that one carries an asterisk noting "Total money listed beginning in 1968."

In another place it's listed as $211,556 by Jack Nicklaus in 1967. But that was before the record book started recognizing "total money" and went with "official money." And his "official money" earnings that season was $118,998.

DOESN'T COUNT

The difference is this: "Official money" is actual prize money won in 72 hole events co-sponsored by the Tournament Players Division of the PGA. It does not include pro-am winnings or any prize money won in the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am or the Bob Hope Desert Classic, in which the pros play three or four rounds in the company of amateur partners.

"Total money" includes pro-am winnings from events played in conjunction with TPD co-sponsored tournaments, plus prize money from the Hope and Crosby.

Until 1968 the record book recognized "official money" only. Now it's the "total money" figure that goes into the book.

Just to make things more confusing, "total money" does not include such things as the British Open, the World Series of Golf, the World Cup, the Piccadilly World Match play championship or money won in events off the regular American tour.

Those figures appear nowhere except, presumably, in the player's report to the Internal Revenue Service and in his bank account.

STILL MORE

For example, Nicklaus is listed with $142,149 in "total money" winnings for 1970. But that does not include $50,000 from his victory in the World Series of Golf, nor his first prize money in the British Open and Piccadilly World Match Play, or second in the Volvo Open in Sweden, a total of about $80,000.

But, barring major illness, injury or a complete collapse by Trevino, it really doesn't matter much. He's almost certain to break the record no matter how it's figured.

Going into this past week's Western Open, he had $195,869 in "total money," which does not include his $13,200 check from the British Open. That put him less than $10,000 back of Casper's total and less than $16,000 back of Nicklaus.

He has averaged about $3,900 a start, including three tournaments in which he withdrew.

And he's scheduled to play in about a dozen more events that count toward the money winning total, including next week's $250,000 Westchester Classic, the richest event on the tour this season.

He's going to that one armed with a suitcase-full of alarm clocks.

"I ain't gonna sleep through it this time," said Trevino, who was disqualified in last year's Westchester when he overslept and missed his tee time.

Cowboy Rookies Flatten 49ers

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — San Francisco 49er rookies had all day today to figure out what went wrong Friday when the Dallas Cowboy rookies team-roped then 34-7 in a controlled scrimmage.

One thing was that the 49ers had four practices compared to the Cowboys' 10 at Thousand Oaks before the fray. "The Cowboys used more plays on the first drive than we had all told," said head coach Dick Nolan.

Joe Orduna, who scored the 49ers lone touchdown, caught five passes for 44 yards and ran the ball five times for 27 yards.

New Attitude Is Lauded By Oiler

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A 3-10-1 record isn't the easiest thing to live with during the off-season, so Houston Oiler veteran linebacker Garland Boyette is doing all he can to see it doesn't happen again.

"I'm doing things this year that I haven't done in eight years," said the former All-Canadian League star, who is entering his eighth season as a pro.

"With this staff we've got now, they're really going to bring this team along," Boyette said. "It's much harder this year than I can ever remember."

Boyette has been here with the Oilers each year since he signed as a free agent in 1966 after starring at Montreal.

"I got the impression even before we got to camp, that we're going to have the winning attitude," Boyette said.

"This staff won't let us rest on our laurels. We're having to make this team all over again. I think Coach (Ed) Hughes has put together one of the best staffs in pro football."

There's still the nagging thought of that 3-10-1 season in 1970. How do you forget it?

"Naturally, we were all disappointed with the record," Boyette said. "But we all know we weren't that bad of a club."

There were only a couple of teams that walloped us bad. "Look at the two Super Bowl teams. We split with Dallas and Baltimore beat us in the last 46 seconds."

Boyette said the Oilers also took into consideration the unbelievable string of injuries that caused 13 major operations at various times last season.

"After all those injuries we didn't really know who was going to play where," Boyette said. "You can't lose people like Charley (Johnson) and George (Westley) without feeling it."

Part of Garland's extra work this year can be blamed on the weight schedule set up for him by Hughes.

"He wanted me to report at 230 pounds," Boyette said. "I'm 234 right now, but I'm not worried. I've taken off 27 already so another four shouldn't be too difficult."

"I'm paying the price this year because if I don't someone else will."

"A lot of these guys were here when we won our division in 1967," Boyette said. "We're anxious to get back on the winning line. You have to live with a losing record."

But he hopes not again this year.

Coaching School Likely To Lure Record Throng

FORT WORTH — If you assemble 44 of Texas High School super football players, 24 of the state's top basketballers along with around 6,000 High School Coaches, you will put together the 39th Annual Texas High School Coaches Assn. Coaching School. This will take place on Sunday, August 1, in Fort Worth. Plenty of activity is scheduled the entire week of the school.

Registration will start Sunday in the Sheraton Fort Worth Hotel and 6,000 coaches are expected to register during the week. This figure will surpass the record registration of 5,540 that attended the Houston school last year, making it the ninth consecutive year that a new enrollment record has been set.

As usual highlight of the week will come Wednesday night with the North-South All Star Basketball game to be played in the Tarrant County Convention Center and the Thursday night football contest to be played at Amon Carter Stadium on the TCU campus.

The week will be filled with demonstrations and lecture presented by some of the top coaches throughout the country highlighted by football lectures by Coach Darrell Royal of the University of Texas (Austin) and one of the most successful University Basketball coaches from North Carolina, Coach Dean Smith. Other coaches to appear will be Floyd Gass, Oklahoma State, Eddie Robinson, Grambling, Melvin Robertson, U. of Houston, David Nobel, Howard Payne, Ben Boekke, Blinn Jr. College and Bill Sachs, of Long Island, New York, a veteran of 25 years coaching in the high schools.

The center of activity will be in the Sheraton Ft. Worth Hotel and the newly constructed County Convention Center, located across the street from the hotel. Exhibits for all types of sports will be shown throughout the week.

Fort Worth holds the record for a football game when 39,100 fans attended the game in 1964 and holds the fourth spot in basketball attendance with a 7,224 mark, also set in 1964. The last two meetings held in Fort Worth have seen the school past the 4,000 and 5,000 marks in registration and all indications it will set the 6,000 mark at this year's school. The basketball attendance record of 10,826, set at last year's game in Houston could easily be surpassed with the Convention Center available for the game this year for the first time. A total of 12,500 can be accommodated at the center.

Tickets are now on sale for both contests and can be purchased or ordered by contacting Mr. Frank Windeger, P. O. Box 29400A, Ft. Worth, 76129 or by going by the ticket office at the TCU Athletic Offices. Price of the tickets for football are $2.50 advance and $3 at the stadium on the day of the game. Basketball tickets (advanced) are $2 with the price going to $2.50 the day of the game and at the Convention Center at game time. A 25 cents mailing fee as well as a self addressed stamped envelope should be included with each request.

The football game will start at 8:30 p.m. and the basketball game will have an 8:00 p.m. starting time.

Hicks Motor Is League Leader

The Joe Hicks Motor Company Freaks (self-styled) have assumed the lead in the Slow Pitch Softball League with a 3-0 record.

The Hicks team remained undefeated by trouncing the Untouchables, 6-2, and Sand Springs Baptist, 19-6, the past week.

Three teams — Goodyear, the Jaycees and the Caldwell Pavers — are in a second place deadlock with 2-1 records.

Home runs were hit during the week by Franklin, Hillcrest Baptist; Holly (2), Intech; Wiedel (2), Intech; Reasor, Intech; Hyatt, Sand Springs Baptist; Bussell, Sand Springs Baptist; L. Smith, Caldwell Pavers; Conway, Hicks Motor; Clendenin, Hicks Motor; Akins, Goodyear; Pirkle, Jaycees; and Tarbet, Jaycees.

Week's results: Hillcrest Baptist 14 Intech 11. Winner — James Baker; Caldwell Pavers 5 Sand Springs Baptist 4. Winner — Boyce Hale; Joe Hicks Motor 6 Untouchables 2. Winner — North; Goodyear 9 Jaycees 2. Winner — Joe Dobry; Joe Hicks Motor 19 Sand Springs Baptist 6. Winner — North; Jaycees 22 Hillcrest Baptist 8. Winner — Wortham; Caldwell Pavers 12 Untouchables 10. Winner — Hale; Intech 10 Sand Springs Baptist 8. Winner — Holly.

Schedule for week: MONDAY — Jaycees vs Caldwell Pavers, 6:30 p.m.; Intech vs Untouchables, 7:40 p.m.; Joe Hicks Motor vs Hillcrest, 8:50 p.m.

TUESDAY — Goodyear vs Intech, 6:30 p.m.; Sand Springs Baptist vs Jaycees, 7:40 p.m.

THURSDAY — Caldwell Pavers vs Hillcrest Baptist, 6:30 p.m.; Sand Springs Baptist vs Untouchables, 7:40 p.m.; Goodyear vs Joe Hicks Motors, 8:50 p.m.

Hixson Is Added To Grid Squad

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Quarterback Chuck Hixson, record-breaking passer from Southern Methodist, is the newest addition to the Collegiate squad for the All-Star football game against the Baltimore Colts July 30.

Hixson joins Stanford's Jim Plunkett and Santa Clara's Dan Pastorini as All-Star signal-callers in the Chicago Tribune's charity classic at Chicago's Soldier Field.

Wynn, Walker Fight; Writer Threatened

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Houston Astros General Manager H. B. Richardson indicated Saturday he was taking no action on a clubhouse shouting, cursing match between Manager Harry Walker and outfielder Jimmy Wynn.

"I have the report but Harry Walker is in charge of running the clubhouse," Richardson said.

"I have nothing to add," a Houston Chronicle sports writer said Wynn threatened to whip the writer if anything about the incident appeared in the newspaper. The Chronicle carried the story on the front page of its Saturday edition, by-lined by the writer, John Wilson.

The incident resulted from Wynn's action in Friday night's game in which the Astros defeated the New York Mets, 9-4.

SWUNG ON PITCH

The Astros and Mets were tied 1-1 in the bottom of the first. Houston had the bases loaded with only one out when Mets pitcher Nolan Ryan ran the count to 3-0 on Wynn. Wynn swung at the 3-0 pitch and popped up. Ryan already had walked three men in the innings.

The Astros scored two more runs before the inning was over. Wilson said Walker called Wynn into his office after the game. A short time later, Wilson said, Wynn came out angry and cursing. Walker followed him into the main clubhouse room and began shouting.

"I'm not going to take that stuff off you or anyone else," Walker shouted.

"Why can't you shut up," Wynn said. Wilson said Wynn began throwing objects toward a trash can that was between him and the manager.

Wilson said Wynn then threatened the writer if anything about the incident appeared in the newspaper.

Wilson said he told Wynn it would appear.

"Then I'll beat the — out of you if you ever come back into this clubhouse," Wilson quoted Wynn as saying.

Wilson, who has been covering the Astros for many years, said he assured Wynn he would be back in the clubhouse.

MUST LEARN

"I'm tired of bending over backwards and being the fall guy," Walker said later. "These guys are going to have to learn to play as a team some day. I called him in and tried to talk to him and he said, 'You've got to let me hit, I had him (Ryan) in the hole.' He wouldn't listen and blew up when I tried to talk to him."

Wynn didn't comment on the incident but Wilson said second baseman Joe Morgan, a long time friend of Wynn, told him Walker called Wynn in to tell him he was being fined.

"Wynn was wrong for swinging at the pitch and deserved a fine," Wilson quoted Morgan as saying. "He also was wrong about what he said to you. Wynn said Walker called him in and told him he was fining him $100. Walker then said 'And I don't want to hear a bleeping word out of you.' Harry can blow up awfully quick and he started cursing and ranting. That's when Wynn blew up. That's the way Jim says it happened."

Gil Hodges, New York manager, said he was surprised at Wynn's swinging at the 3-0 pitch in that situation.

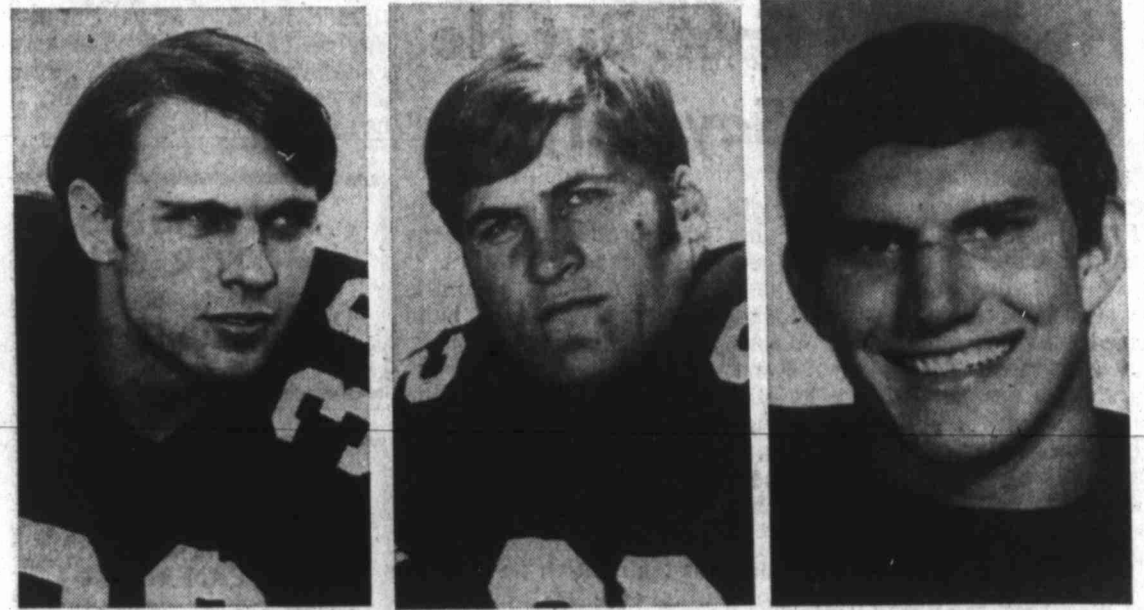

"Ryan was throwing the ball all over the place — up, down, inside, outside," Hodges said. "You wondered if he had ever pitched before. I thought somebody on the bench was going to grab and strangle Wynn — I mean the way he's been hitting and the way he's been pitching."

The Astros pulled off the first triple play in their history in the game. The victory snapped a six-game Houston losing streak.

WON'T SIGN CONTRACT — Quarterback Joe Kapp holds news conference in front of his Milton, Mass., home Friday after quitting the New England Patriots training camp. Kapp refused to sign a standard players' contract, on advice of his attorney. The commissioner's office notified the Patriots that Kapp could not work out with the team until the contract was signed. The Patriots said that Kapp had signed "a pro-tempore agreement" to enable him to play for the club.

White, Cater Propel Yankees By Chicago

NEW YORK (AP) — Singles by Roy White drove in one run and set up another and Danny Cater laced a two-run double as the New York Yankees beat the Chicago White Sox 4-2 Saturday behind Steve Kline's seven-hit pitching.

The Yankees took advantage of errors by second baseman Mike Andrews to score in the first and fourth innings. Horace Clarke reached first on Andrews' first boot as the Yanks' leadoff batter, moved around to third on a sacrifice and infield out and scored on White's single.

In the fourth, Andrews muffed Bobby Murcer's liner and White singled Murcer to third, from where he scored on Ron Blomberg's sacrifice fly.

Meanwhile, Kline, 8-8, allowed only a fourth-inning single by Rick Reichardt while facing the minimum number of 15 batters until the sixth. Then, Mike Hershberger and Luis Albarado opened with singles. Loser Joe Haden bunted into a force at third but Jerry Kenney's throw to first trying for a

Ellis Notches 15th Victory

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Dock Ellis won his 15th game of the season and 13th in a row and the Pittsburgh Pirates rode a five-run third inning, including a three-run homer by Bob Robertson, to a 9-2 victory over the San Diego Padres Saturday.

It was the ninth consecutive victory for the Pirates, who scored all five runs in the third with two outs.

Willie Stargell and Manny Sanguillen singled and Robertson, who won the second game of the series Friday night with a tie-breaking home run, drove his 18th homer over the left center field wall.

Two other runs scored in the inning, one on a run-scoring single by Ellis.

The Pirate right-hander, 15-4, held the Padres to just seven hits, three coming in the fourth inning when San Diego scored its first run.

The Pirates got a run in the first on singles by Gene Clines, Roberto Clemente and Sanguillen. They added two in the sixth on Clemente's third hit, a run-scoring double and another hit by Sanguillen.

Harrelson To Make Tour Debut In $20,000 Event

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Ken Harrelson, former Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox baseball player, is to debut as a pro golfer in the $20,000 Little American Golf Classic at the Firestone Country Club here Aug. 24.

Harrelson, who retired from the Indians in June and said he wanted to be a touring pro golfer, will compete in a field of 100 for a top prize of $4,000.

Harrelson was one of six players exempted from regular qualification rules for the 54-hole Little American tournament, which will be played in advance of the American Golf Classic at Firestone Aug. 5-8.

The Little American will be held on Firestone's new North Course and the top five finishers will be granted exemptions to play in the $150,000 American Golf Classic.

Firestone officials said that since this retirement, Harrelson has worked with teaching pro Bob Toski at Saratoga, Wyo., and is now practicing at the Savannah Inn and Country Club at Wilmington Island, Ga.

Pokes Missing Two Players

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — There were two empty saddles in the Dallas Cowboy corral Friday as the deadline passed for veterans to report to the California camp of the National Football Conference champions.

Running back Duane Thomas and linebacker Chuck Howley failed to show and subjected themselves to $100 a day fines.

Coach Tom Landry said, "I talked to Chuck yesterday (Thursday) and he was still up in the air whether he was going to play or retire."

Landry wasn't sure if contract problems were bothering Howley.

Landry said, "He's always been a level-headed guy and there's never been a problem. I think we've been fair with the contract and he does too."

Howley was the most valuable player in the 1970 Super Bowl loss to Baltimore. He's a 12-year veteran and is 35 years old.

Thomas was the NFL offensive rookie of the year in 1970. He is under a multi-year contract but has vowed retirement if the Cowboys don't tear it up and renegotiate.

Gridder's Men Shop Prospers

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Dick Post doesn't look like a professional football player. So it may be fitting that his off-season place of business doesn't look like an exclusive haberdashery.

Post overcame his lack of size, at 5-foot-9, and became the American Football League's leading rusher in 1969 for the San Diego Chargers.

His original store in San Diego includes a barber's chair, a large beer barrel, a spool for thick wire cable, and a clothes display hanging above a horse watering trough.

Now he owns two stores, Dick Post Ltd., dealing in expensive mod clothes such as $10 and $20 shirts, multi-colored ties, flowered belts and pants—lots of pants—in all colors and designs.

In these tough economic times, when many are struggling to make ends meet, professional athletes are having a particularly bad time in business ventures, usually because they don't have experience or training to draw upon and may have tied in with less-than-reliable managers.

More than one has found himself in bankruptcy.

But not Post. He won't talk figures but he says flatly: "We're successful. As long as I've got the doors open I'm making money."

Yet, he says, he could have been among those athletes who have been burned.

"I had zero business background when I went in," he admitted. "I think the glamor attracted me more than anything else. I had no idea how much was involved. I thought you just put clothes in the store and people came in and bought them."

What about the name Dick Post? How much of a factor has that been?

"It helped to get it started," he said, "but it doesn't carry through. It still gets attention and adds an extra little spark, but we carry a good line of clothes—that's why we're successful. You can't fool people about how they look."

Despite his success as a mod clothier, Post says his basic interest remains football.

"I know what I enjoy and what makes the adrenaline run for me, and that's football—or any other sport, really. It's the competition—I like that."

In a sense, Post is a lucky man—lucky that the Chargers were willing to take a chance on a 5-9 running back.

But while Post readily admits to being lucky to get that chance, he knows it wasn't luck that won him a starting job.

Aspermont Loses Coaching Aide

ASPERMONT — Jerry Allen, line coach in football and head track coach at Aspermont High School, is resigning to go into business with his father in Clifton.

Aspermont won the District 7-A track championship last spring. Allen took two members of the team to the state meet in Austin.

The position has not yet been filled.

THAT'S FRED PATEK Top Thief Leads Royals To Win

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Royals blended singles by Fred Patek and Lou Piniella with Cleveland miscues for three first-inning runs Saturday and went on to a 7-2 victory over the Indians.

Patek, top base stealer in the major leagues, led off with a single and stole second, his 33rd steal. Paul Schaaf walked and Cookie Rojas reached first on an error by losing pitcher Ray Lamb, 5-6, loading the bases.

Ed Kirkpatrick scored Patek with a sacrifice fly and, after Gail Hopkins was walked intentionally, Piniella singled Schaaf across. Rojas then scored when a balk was called on Lamb. The Royals added two runs in the third when Hopkins and Piniella each doubled. With the bases loaded, pitcher Mike Hedlund, 8-5, hit into a double play, scoring Piniella.

The Indians got their first run in the third after a leadoff double by Jack Heidemann, who came in on pinch-hitter Chris Chambliss' grounder. Graig Nettles drilled his 15th home run, a two-out blast into the right field seats, for the other Cleveland run in the fourth.

CHARLES QUAILS WON FIRST TOURNAMENT Sand Greens, Elevated Tees Once Used Here

The present Big Spring Country Club golf course has sometimes been described as an "Oasis in the desert" because it boasts lush greens and grassy approaches.

It wasn't always that way. In the early 30s, the layout — which since has been moved — was situated in a mesquite tree-lined pasture and had sand greens.

In that era, club members thought nothing of playing on sand. Most West Texas courses had the same kind of "greens."

The Country Club here was situated on acreage now housing the Coronado addition and the Coronado Apartments, immediately south of the VA Hospital.

The only West Texas Amateur tournament ever staged here was conducted on the old Country Club layout. That occurred around 1933, when Carnes Wilson was the best of the area simon-pures.

Although the nation was in the grips of a depression, many of the golf sticks had wooden shafts and golfers played under conditions they perhaps wouldn't tolerate in this day and time, the amateurs may have had more fun in those days than do their present-day counterparts.

Big Spring was a member of the old Sandbelt Golf League, which had as other members Midland, Sweetwater, Colorado (later Colorado City), Lamesa, Snyder, Sweetwater and Odessa. The league's schedule called for games on Sundays through the summer.

The sand on the greens had a special texture. Not only was it strained but was oiled as well. A leveler was kept nearby to keep the composition from becoming sand dunes.

At one time the local course had an elevated tee box. Several feet high, it was re-enforced with stone. Players felt their shots would carry several yards farther down the fairway by using the tee.

One of the course's first clubhouse was a Spanish-style building, with locker rooms and showers located in the basement. The course had two approaches, one from what is now the old San Angelo highway and the other which bisected the course from an entrance on what is now the Coronado Shopping Center area.

Charles Quails, then postmaster at Post, won the first two Big Spring Invitational tournaments ever staged. He captured his first crown in 1931, defeating Bob Scott of Colorado City in the finals, 1 up, after Frank Rose of Lamesa had earned medalist honors with a 70.

Quails turned back Obie Bristow, Big Spring, in the finals the next year, 2 up. That time, John Northington of Big Spring scored a hole-in-one on his way to the low medal score, a 68.

Shirley Robbins, later the Country Club pro, broke Quails' stranglehold on the Big Spring championship in 1933 when he beat E. C. Nix, then of Colorado City, in the title match, 3-2.

Some of the most famous names in golf, among them Bobby Nichols, Bobby Maxwell, Denny Shute and Marlene Bauer, played the old course, but that was after the layout had been converted to grass.

Bucs Decision Cee City To Earn Playoff Spot

COLORADO CITY — David Newman pitched the Big Spring Bucs into the District Senior Teen-Age baseball playoffs by stopping Colorado City here Friday night, 13-1.

The lean right-hander limited the Cee City team to one hit. The league's ten-run rule was put into effect after the Bucs had scored five runs in the sixth inning.

Steve Banks had Colorado City's only hit and it was a home run in the second round, tying the score at the time.

Turk Brewer paced Big Spring's 11-hit attack with three hits. He also scored twice. Jesse Olague had two safeties for Big Spring.

The district tournament will be unreeled in Colorado City July 27-31.

Randy Hoyle, one of two Cee City pitchers to see action, was saddled with the defeat.

Of the Big Spring starters, only Jeff Murdock failed to connect safely and Murdock scored a run.

The Bucs are 6-2 in the standings while Colorado City slumped to 4-5.

Robison was the batting standout for the Giants. He had four hits in as many efforts. One went for a home run, another for a triple.

Extra base hits were also smashed by Mark Wiley, Bennett and Randy Pittman of the Giants.

Kemp Hoop led the Lions at bat with two singles in three official tries. Mike Mounce smashed a double in the seventh for the Lions to propel home Pat Carroll.

Robert Stevenson was charged with the mound defeat.

Giants Close Soph Loop Campaign With Triumph

The Giants tamed the Lions, 10-6, in Sophomore League play here Friday night. The game wound up the season's play for both contingents.

Weidner Repeats As Pool Champ

For the third consecutive year Captain John Weidner, 3560th Pilot Training Squadron, is the Webb AFB pool champion. He won over a field of 15 players without losing a single contest.

Along with his trophy, Capt. Weidner earned 150 Commander's Trophy points for his unit. Second place in the event went to First Lt. Jeffrey Edmondson, 3561st Pilot Training Squadron and Sgt. James Sunderman, Supply Squadron, copped third place honors. Taking fourth was AIC Martin Miller, assigned to the Webb hospital.

Other entries in the tournament, conducted at the John H. Lees Service Club, were AIC John Mendelak, Kim Jones, Charles Frederick and Mike Allebuff; S.Sgt. Elmo Gladden and Marvin Mize and Airmen Bernard Ham, Robert D. Campbell and Charles Cook and Sgt. Wilfred T. Jeanpierre.

Ron Butler Again To Coach Stars

RANGER — Ron Butler, coach at Ranger College, has again been named coach of the Texas girls' all-star basketball team, which will oppose Oklahoma's all-stars at Lindey, Okla., July 24. Burl Plunkett, Corpus Christi Tuloso, will assist Butler.

Pam Raughton, Wylie, and Anita Smith, Spearman, have already been named to the Texas squad.

Bass Club Slates Visit To Abilene

Local Bass Club members plan to attend a seminar and film presentation on bass fishing at Madison Junior High School in Abilene July 22 at 7:30 p.m.

During the approximately two-hour program, two professional fishermen, John Powell and Folland Martin, will present demonstrations.

All club members and other interested persons are invited to attend the seminar. They should meet in front of the TG&Y Store in College Park by 5:15 p.m. so the number of cars needed can be determined. The party will leave at 5:30 p.m.

Entrance fee to the program is $3 per person. The proceeds from the seminar will be used to pay for law suits in pollution of public waters cases.

The local club is holding a challenge tournament with the Andrews Bass Club at Coleman Lake July 24-25.

The public is welcome to enlarge bass of both days. A trophy will be given for the largest string — up to 10 fish — for either day.

Entry fees of $5 for both days or $3 for one day can be given to Jerry Avery, 2717 Carol, 263-1753, Ted Hicks, 4061 Vicky, 263-4105, or other club officers.

Field House Toil Nearing An End

STANTON — Bill Young, head coach and athletic director at Stanton High School, has announced the new Stanton field house will be ready by the time fall football training opens here August 16.

Inside painting was recently completed on the facility. The coaches are now building lockers for the field house.

An open house will be held in conjunction with the annual "Meet the Buffaloes" night, which will be held some time before the Bisons play their first game.

Young is now supervising the summer recreational program

Cubs, Cards Tangle Today

Two local sandlot baseball teams, the Tiger Cubs and the Cardinals, square away in a single game in Steer Park here today, starting at 1:30 p.m.

The Cubs dropped a decision last Sunday to the Marfa Indians in Marfa, 9-3, despite the fact that the hits were almost even.

Marfa collected nine safeties, Big Spring eight. A four-run first inning got the Indians off to an excellent start.

Billy Diaz, Emilio Ramirez and Fred Mendoza scored the runs for Big Spring, all after the fifth inning. Ramirez's tally was the result of a home run, which arrived in the ninth inning.

Billy Delk went the distance on the mound for the Tiger Cubs. T. Lujan, Willie Rubio and M. Rivera led the assault against Delk with two safeties each.

The Tiger Cubs will be trying to improve upon a 7-10 won-loss record today.

Hospital Links Team Triumphs

While the other squadrons were just playing golf, the players from Webb Hospital were burning up the course.

It paid off when the Hospital men grabbed all the marbles in the Webb intramural golf league. Bob Edwards, Frank Marshall, Dan Casullo, Dick Bryde, Greene Campbell and Don Adams were the medics making up the Hospital contingent.

The 60th Pilot Training Squadron grabbed second place honors, Supply finished in third position and the fourth spot went to 3560th Air Base Group.

Scholar Works For All-Star Cage Contest

NEW YORK (AP) — For Heyward Dotson, former Columbia University star now studying under a Rhodes Scholarship at England's Oxford University, basketball is just one part of a many-faceted existence, which includes an awareness of the world around him.

Dotson, working this summer for Operation Sports Rescue under New York City's Youth Services Agency, has accepted an invitation to play in the third annual Sammy Davis Professional Basketball Game July 22 at Clifton, N.J.

The line-ups also will include pros Rick Barry, Billy Paulitz and Manny Leaks of the New York Nets; Nate Archibald and Sid Catlett of Cincinnati; Mike Davis of Buffalo; Mike Warren of Cleveland; Julius Erving of Philadelphia; John Brisker of Virginia and John Brisker of Pittsburgh.

Willis Reed of the New York Knicks, Wes Unseld of Baltimore and Austin Carr of Cleveland will be at the game but will be unable to play because of injuries.

Proceeds of the game will be used to help pay medical expenses of Davis, a 12-year-old Passaic, N.J., boy who lost his legs and an arm in a railroad accident two years ago.

"I'm just happy that my playing basketball for one night will benefit someone like Sammie Davis," said Dotson. "It's the least I can do."

Dotson teamed with Jim McMillian, now with the Los Angeles Lakers, to lead Columbia to a combined 63-14 record from 1967-1970. The 6-foot-4, 210-pound guard from Staten Island was selected by both pro leagues in their 1970 drafts, and is on the negotiating lists of the New York Knicks and the Kentucky Colonels.

But like Bill Bradley of Princeton and the Knicks, Dotson decided to postpone a pro career to attend Oxford under a Rhodes Scholarship. Dotson will enter his final year this fall as a modern European history student at Oxford's Worcester College, the same college Bradley attended.

SILENT
Dotson won't say whether he'll try pro ball when he finishes his studies at Oxford. "I've already made up my mind," he said, "but I'm not ready to tell the world yet. A wise man always waits."

But he does plan to attend the Knicks preseason training camp for the second year in a row.

"I've been in constant touch with Coach Red Holtzman of the Knicks and he's even sent some basketballs to England for me," he said.

Operation Sports Rescue provides an opportunity for Dotson and other basketball players to use athletic skills in a broader context.

Bobby Beall Top Scorer In Loop

Bobby Beall of Team F paces the Summer Basketball League in scoring after 11 games with a total of 379 points. That averages out to 29.1 points a start for the boy who will be a senior at Sands High School next season.

Runnerup in the scoring race is Robert Wallace of Team B, unbeaten now in 11 games. He has 314 points for a 28.5 average.

The race resumes Monday night, with Team B boasting a two-game bulge in the standings.

Bob O'Day Named WTC Golf Coach

SYNDER — Bob O'Day, who has been teaching driver's education in Big Spring this summer, has been named golf coach at Western Texas College here.

O'Day will continue as physical education director at Northeast Elementary school in Snyder. At one time, he was a varsity baseball assistant coach at Snyder High School.

O'Day, a well known basketball official, is a native of Kissimmee, Fla.

The new coach has signed six golfers to letters of intent. They are Bobby Wine, Brownfield; Tim Stuerzenberger, Abilene; Berry Hays, Borger; Blake Atkinson, Burleson; Frank Woner, Sweetwater; and Max Tenorio, Amarillo.

Waiting May Have Hurt Ellis, Too

HOUSTON (AP) — Muhammad Ali isn't the only fighter who ever had to play the waiting game in boxing — he's just the most publicized.

Ali spent 3 1/2 years out of the ring — he likes to refer to it as his exile — while his draft evasion case was being battled in the courts. Debate continues over how much it took out of the former champion.

But others have had to wait too, if not as long.

Jimmy Ellis, who will meet

Ali in a 12-round match July 26 in the Astrodome, was out 17 months before he fought Joe Frazier and he says it hurt him.

"I'm not making excuses about the Frazier fight," Ellis said. "I just got tagged and I never came back. But I'd been out 17 months and had a lot of frustrating things happen. I wasn't in top condition."

Ellis' manager, Angelo Dundess, says Ellis "weighed 202 pounds for the Frazier fight and he stunk."

"I feel it when I'm out for one month," said heavyweight contender George Foreman of Houston. "But I can't predict how much Ali has left. I don't predict I fight."

"It's just that when you get older, the time you lose is more important. The talent you have as a fighter is given to you by God to use for awhile, and you have to make the best of what you have when you have it."

"As you get older, when you lose something, it's not easy to get it back."

All says he is past his prime and is in his last days as a fighter. He looks forward to the day he can mow his yard and "go down to the hardware store and eat ice cream and get fat," he said.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

He Earned Spot, But He Can't Play, Says Snyder

Dear Sir:

I read with much interest and was pleased to see how some of the citizens jumped to the aid of Tito Arencibia's son and helped him become eligible to play with the Little League All Stars after some claimed he was ineligible to play. Now I have a similar case to bring out — only we lost.

My grandson, Gary Moore, has played in Little League under the National League banner for five years; on the Pee Wee Aces, the minor league Drillers, and for the past three years on the major league Cardinals. When he first started on the Aces we had no idea that he was supposed to play in any particular league, according to the district where he lives; we were not told of this by anyone when he was registered.

It was finally brought up at the first of this year's season (now that he is 12 years old) that he lives outside the National League district, but since he had played in that league all these years, he was allowed to continue there; however he would not be eligible for The All Stars. Then we were told a few weeks later that he and one other boy (on a different team) would be eligible for The All Stars, after all. At the end of the season, Gary was chosen to play on the National League All Star team, and he made a couple of practices.

Then, we were told the first part of this past week, again, that he was ineligible, and would not get to play after all. It seems very strange to me and others I have discussed this with, for anyone to come along now and protest his playing because he made All Stars. It is my understanding that Little League was invented to build boys, teach them sportsmanship and fairness, build character, etc., besides teaching them the game of baseball. It certainly is ridiculous for adults to be so petty at the expense of one little 12-year old boy.

We do want to thank Tommy Hart for taking such an interest in Gary's case and trying to help in this matter.

Another First For The Moon -- An Automobile

Astronauts Preparing For Longest Moon Mission Ever

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Man has walked on the moon. Now he's about to drive on it.

The trip will only be 22 miles. And in the most expensive auto ever: $8 million, which boils down to about $360,363 a mile.

David R. Scott, commander of America's fourth moon-landing mission, looked up at the Saturn 5 rocket that will carry him and two other astronauts moonward.

Mission commander Scott, James B. Irwin and Alfred M. Worden are to ride the Saturn 5 toward the moon July 26. Twelve days later they hope to return to earth with enough information to enable scientists to map 20 per cent of the lunar surface.

The landing site is in a beautiful basin, about five miles by seven miles in size, and is hemmed in on three sides by the mountains and on the fourth by a 1,200-foot gorge called Hadley Rille," Scott explained.

"We really have a 5-in-1 geology site at Hadley-Apennine," he said. "We have the mountain front which may contain original lunar crust; we have the mysterious rille, which could have been formed by lava flow or volcanic gases.

"We have a cluster of craters believed formed by the impact of material thrown out by a larger crater; we have craters which may have been volcanoes, and we have another mare (flat plain) for comparison with the mare visited by the Apollo 11 and 12 crews."

The major new piece of equipment is the four-wheel, battery-powered vehicle they call Rover 1—and which has gained them the nickname "The Rover Boys." They'll be able to steer this jeep-like runabout at up to 10 miles an hour around and through the crater and boulder fields.

Some scientists feel the major scientific research on Apollo 15 won't be done on the surface, but in lunar orbit by Worden.

In an equipment bay of the command ship is a package of cameras and scientific experiments designed to chemically and photographically analyze the 20 per cent of surface over which Apollo 15 will fly. One of the two cameras contains over a mile of film — 6,700 feet — to take high resolution stereo photos.

To retrieve the film, Worden will take a space walk after the astronauts start home — a hand-over-hand trip to the equipment bay 200,000 miles from earth. The space walk is necessary because the bay is jettisoned before re-entry and does not return to earth with the astronauts.

Even after Scott and Irwin have completed their surface exploration, the trio will spend an extra two days in orbit to operate the experiments. That totals six days in moon orbit and extends the flight to 12 days, two days longer than any previous Apollo journey.

Just before heading home, they'll eject a 78.5-pound satellite intended to orbit the moon a year or more, studying gravity, magnetic and electrical fields.

Emphasizing the scientific nature of the mission, the astronauts named their command ship Endeavour, after the first vessel to sail the seas for science — Capt. James Cook's ship which explored the South Pacific in 1768.

Col. Scott, Lt. Col. Irwin and Maj. Worden, all Air Force officers, selected Falcon, the Air Force Academy mascot, as the name for the lunar lander.

The commander, 39, is a veteran of two previous space flights. Irwin, 41, and Worden, 39, will be making their first trip.

Blastoff is scheduled for 9:54 a.m. EDT Monday, July 26. If all goes well, Apollo 15 will coast the quarter million miles to the moon in three days and fire into orbit July 29.

The next day, Scott and Irwin will detach the Falcon and start their exacting descent.

Previous Apollo landings were near the equator, but Hadley-Apennine is 465 miles north. Touchdown is scheduled for 6:15 p.m. July 30, a Friday.

Ninety minutes after landing, Scott plans something new. He'll open the top hatch of Falcon and poke the upper half of his body outside. For about 30 minutes he will photograph and describe the site to Mission Control in Houston.

"This will give us an early look from an altitude of about 25 feet above the surface at how well we're going to be able to drive the Rover along the traverse routes we have planned," he explained. "I'll also take a photographic panorama, with a stereo base of the whole 360 degrees around the lunar module," he said. "We've got 12,000-foot mountains and a 1,200-foot-deep gorge, and I guarantee it will be the most spectacular picture you ever saw."

After a night's rest, Scott and Irwin will make their first of three descents to the surface on July 31. They'll unstow their Rover from a storage bay, load their tools and strike out for the Apennine front, two miles away.

The Apennine range rims the edge of the very large Imbrium Basin and geologists believe it was lifted up by a giant fault that occurred long ago," Irwin said. "We hope some of the moon's original crust was lifted with it."

If crustal material is found, it could date back 4.6 billion years to the beginning of the moon and our solar system. The oldest rocks found by earlier Apollo crews date back 3.7 billion years and the oldest on earth 3.6 billion.

"The first billion years of earth's history have been eroded away by wind, water and atmosphere," Scott said. "There is no such erosion process on the moon. If we can find original lunar material, we may be able to understand the formation and creation of resources there, and in turn we might extrapolate the first billion years of the history of the earth."

From the Apennine front, the astronauts will drive to Hadley Rille, the gorge that meanders for 70 miles. Near the landing site it is a mile across and 1,200 feet deep.

Rilles are common on the moon, but their origin is a mystery. They have been attributed by various experts to water flow, the flow of hot gases due to volcanism, lava flow and collapsed lava tubes.

From the rille they will drive back to Falcon to deploy the atomic-powered science station. Most of this task will be done by Irwin while Scott drills three holes into the surface.

The science station will record such things as moonquakes, meteor hits, magnetic fields and temperatures. Similar stations set up by Apollo 12 and 14 still are operating, and the third still will enable scientists to triangulate data received. This will be particularly important in locating moonquakes.

Then they'll plant the American flag and, after seven hours outside, the astronauts will return to the lunar module for a night's rest.

The second excursion, also scheduled for seven hours on Aug. 1, will take them the farthest distance from the lander, five miles to another area of the Apennine mountain base.

"We'll range along the base, looking for geologically interesting places to stop, with emphasis again on finding crustal material," Irwin said.

Next stop will be a cluster of small craters believed carved by the impact of debris thrown out of a larger crater to the north. Then on to a flat mare area in the Marsh of Decay to collect rocks and conduct a soil analysis test.

The third Rover excursion on Aug. 2 is to last six hours and take them to another section of Hadley Rille and then about two miles north to a group of craters known as North Complex which are believed to be dormant volcanoes.

If they are volcanic, it will solve an ages-old scientific debate on whether the moon's craters all were formed by impact or whether some resulted from volcanism.

After a final stop for rock collecting in the Marsh of Decay, the moonmen will head back to Falcon for the last time and store their moon treasure. Before closing the hatch, Scott will drive Rover 1 about 330 feet away and point the television camera at the lander, in position to relay, for the first time, live pictures of a liftoff from the moon.

Blastoff comes at 1:12 p.m. Aug. 2 after 67 hours on the surface, twice the stay-time of any previous mission.

For two more days they'll stay in orbit, conducting the scientific tasks. Worden had been performing while circling alone for three days.

Apollo 15 will shoot out of lunar orbit at 5:18 p.m. Aug. 4, and the next morning Worden will take his space stroll to retrieve the film cassettes from the two cameras.

The astronauts then will settle down for a long homeward trip, with splashdown in the Pacific ocean.

Medical experts have decided lunar materials pose no hazard, and Apollo 15 will be the first moon landing crew to escape post-flight quarantine.

Officer, Bride Die En Route To Webb

A 21-year-old Air Force lieutenant en route to Big Spring for assignment in the Webb AFB Information Office and his bride were killed near San Antonio Friday in a crash at a farm road intersection where a stop sign had been stolen.

The collision of their small car with a pickup truck killed 2nd Lt. William McDonald, 21, and his wife Andrea, 19, of suburban Universal City. The pickup driver was injured.

Lt. McDonald had already visited Big Spring and placed a deposit on an apartment here, and he and his wife were due here this weekend. Webb was his first duty assignment with the Air Force.

Officers said the missing stop sign would have halted the foreign car, moving west on FM 1604 across FM 1535.

BORDEN 4-H YOUNGSTERS — Nine Borden County representatives, all from Gall, took part in the 12th annual 4-H Electric Camp sponsored by Southwestern Public Service Company and held from July 12-16 at Camp Scott Able in the Sacramento Mountains of New Mexico. Bill Harr of the Lubbock office of the electric company instructed the local group which included, front row, left to right: Harr, Mike Toombs, Ken Don Jones, Roy Hendley, J. W. Holmes, Agent. Back row: Lisa Dennis, Advisor, Melissa Taylor, Paula Smith, Janice Browne, and Connie Ogden.

Big Spring Dress Company Ready To Start Production

The Big Spring Dress Co., Inc., will start production Wednesday, according to Tom Cottone, production manager for the IBJ Corporation.

"We will begin with five to eight women and train them to be instructors," said Cottone. "Then we will add workers until we have a work unit of 50."

"Once we get the first unit working well, we will add other units until we reach our goal of 200-250 workers," he said.

The Big Spring factory will assemble dresses and pants suits from material cut to size in Dallas and shipped to Big Spring.

The last of the more than 50 sewing machines were being installed in the factory Saturday by Cottone and Ira Cabaniss, head sewing machine man from the Dallas plant.

"We will have everything ready by Wednesday," said Cottone. "The office clerk will be here Monday, as will our instructor, who has been training in Dallas for the last two weeks."

"The manager of the Big Spring operation will be Harold M. Legendre, a man with more than 30 years experience now working in Kansas City. He will be here in three or four weeks," said Cottone.

Jobs are still open, according to Cottone, and women interested in sewing can go to the Plant at West Eighth of the applicants have been and Andree, formally known as from Big Spring," said Cottone. Skateland, for an application "We are interested in experienced persons now, but we will talk to anyone who signs up."

"So far more than 90 per cent of the applicants have been and Andree, formally known as from Big Spring," said Cottone. Skateland, for an application "We are interested in experienced persons now, but we will talk to anyone who signs up."

TODAY AND TOMORROW
—CAROL RICHTER

SUNDAY
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A wonderful day and evening for you to use your fine mind to make decisions that are important to you and your future. Make a point however, not to be too wrapped up in the logical reasoning processes which could result in too little time wasted and very little accomplished. ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Important to attend to the services of your choice today and get the inspiration you need of this time. Come to right conclusions and make right plans for the new week ahead. Have fun with friends tonight. TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Think of ways to achieve greater success and abundance. Study new opportunities well. Study your newspaper for good ideas. Other sources should be used to obtain data. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) The planets are favorable for you today. You are able to obtain a great deal in whatever is important. You can meet interesting people in the social world. Show that you are a fascinating conversationalist. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Concentrating on a philosophy that appeals to you brings fine results in the future. Find the right allies you need for a new project you have in mind. Don't be too talkative. LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Ideal day for the social since you are at your best and others are at their best. Show your finest qualities. Telephone first before going out to see friends. Show that you are a confident person. VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Pursue whatever brings you greater favor from higher-ups and you will have greater income in the future. Make these plans with allies that are vital. Curb temper. Don't argue. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Search for persons with lofty ideas who can help you work out a fine plan for living that is ideal. You have several new interests that require study. Spend your time constructively. SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you do some concentrating, you can get the inspiration that will help make the future brighter and solve your problems. A fine evening for romance with the one you love. Have a more positive outlook on life. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Discuss with associates today about future plans and make certain you are completely satisfied with the arrangement. Then enjoy fine recreation together. Avoid arguments. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) An ideal day to plan how to accomplish more in the future. Plan how to cooperate more with co-workers. Show appreciation to one who has been loyal to you in the past. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have a perfect day to spend with good friends you can trust. This is the right time to get activity you have long looked forward to. Try to get to bed early tonight so you get a good start in the morning. PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You can get home affairs on a fine basis now by being thoughtful with kin and showing that they are important to you. Engage in civic work that you can do so well. Become an inspiration to others.

MONDAY
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Much that is new and untried enters the picture for you now. It is essential that you consider matters carefully and not get off on any tangents, or you could lose the benefits of excellent aspects otherwise in effect. Make a point of showing you value the goodwill of influential persons. ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Spend time gathering needed information instead of arguing with others or trying to make new plans with friends right now. Go to the right sources. This is the time to start expanding. TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Be patient in dealing with others who are in a rather trying mood. Stick to practical affairs. Good day for purchases, but make sure they are the right ones. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You will personally go after what you want for success if you are to get it. Avoid social activities now. Contact only those who can give you the assistance you need. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Quit procrastinating and put their plan to work that will bring you success. Get advice from experts, but do not confide in others. Make the most of your potentials. LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Find the right answers to questions that have had you puzzled for a long time. You can now gain aims difficult for you before. Show others that you have much ability. VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get involved in work that will increase your prestige, then you can handle all those pressing obligations easily. Be active in civic affairs that will improve your standing in the community. Avoid arguments with others. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You now have the excellent feeling that you need to start new activities that can be profitable and interesting. You have an open mind so that you get varying views from others, which can be most helpful to you. SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study more modern views and you will then be able to keep promises you have made to the letter without delay. Make fine ideas that coincide with your own. Make progress by carrying them out. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) After a frank talk with others, you can get to work on mutual plans with vim and vigor. All situations arise that can benefit you if you take care of them promptly. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have problems connected with your work that require expert and intelligent handling now. Try to please both co-workers and bosses. Use new systems that can benefit you greatly. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are affectionate by nature and can now come to a meeting of minds with others easily if you show people you like them. Work at hobbies with an eye to income. PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) A new attitude and approach gains the goodwill of kin and others very easily. Give the little gifts for relatives that please them. Entertain them in your own unique way.

BARGAIN PRICES

And one terrifying question to ask yourself:
Do you know an economy car when you see one?
The fact that a car is small doesn't necessarily mean it's economical.
If it's not carefully built and serviced, it could cost you a considerable amount of money to run.
So how do you find out which small cars are really economy cars?
Ask questions that require specific answers.
Like these, for openers.

1. How much?
Brace yourself.
It's going to cost you several hundred dollars more than you think.
Because on top of the inevitable sales taxes and delivery charges, wait the inevitable optional charges.
That's where you can really throw your money around.
On an electric telescoping antenna, peek-a-boo headlights, or a sports console.
Or on a bigger engine that'll do 110.
But where can you legally do 110?
To say nothing of what all that useless power will do to your gas mileage.
Even more bizarre is the new small car that offers optional power equipment.
A small car is supposed to be easy to drive.
So what's it doing with power steering and power brakes? Instead of all that mechanical power, you'll need a little will power.
To keep from being fast-talked into a lot of things you don't need.

2. Is it a small car?
Or big car made small?
In the rush to get into the growing small-car market, some car makers have made small cars out of big cars.
So you may unwittingly buy a small car that's really a big car. With a shortened wheelbase. A snoozy restyled body.
And a lot of practical problems nobody bothered to work out.
You may also buy a small car suffering from an identity crisis.
It may not know what it is.
Because its engine may have been lifted from another car. Its transmission borrowed from yet another.
Or maybe its chassis plucked from still another car.
And all cleverly camouflaged with some eye-catching body work.
Why not look for a small car with just one goal in life:
To be a small car.

3. What improvements were made this year?
If a car maker's serious about making his car better each year, he'll make it better each year.
With improvements that are meaningful. And not just cosmetic.
Lots of flashy sheetmetal and fancy chrome won't make a car run better. Or last longer.
But a more efficient engine and a smoother suspension system will.
Of course, if the car's a first edition, it won't have any improvements.
In which case you should do some soul searching before you buy it.
Because it takes a car maker years of improving and refining to work the bugs out of a car.
You don't really want a car to work its bugs out on you.
Do you?

4. How long does it take to replace a fender?
Depends on which small car you buy.
Buy one that changes its looks every year and it will probably take longer to repair the body.

Because dealers can't stock all the parts for cars that get an annual face-lift.
It may also take longer for mechanics to service a car that's changed frequently.
Because a mechanic will have to relearn the inner parts. Frequently.
And heaven help you if you take your brand new small car to a mechanic who's never seen the car before.

The easiest way to reduce the possibility of such frustrations is to buy a small car that's sensibly designed to begin with.
And never changed for the sake of change.

5. Can I talk with the Service Manager?
Hardly anyone ever asks this one.
But why not?
You should know how good (or bad) the dealer's service is.
Before you buy the car.
You might save yourself a lot of grief. And money.
So ask him what kind of service schedule he has for your car.
What kind of diagnosis service.
Some dealers have an elaborate array of electronic diagnosis equipment. Which can spot little problems before they become big problems.
And while you're at it, ask to see the service department.
Is it well organized? Or sloppy, with tools and equipment strewn all over?
How many repair stalls do they have?
When you buy a new car, don't let the showroom in front dazzle you.
Better you be impressed by the showroom in back:
The service department.

6. How long is the warranty?
One of the best questions you can ask.
You see, how long a car manufacturer's willing to repair or replace major parts at his expense tells you something about him.
How good he thinks his car is.
If he feels it's sturdy and dependable, he'll give you a generous warranty.
Something better than the usual 12,000 miles/12 months.
But if he doesn't give you better than that (or even that), ask another question:
"Why?"

7. Can I take it for a test drive?
Curiously, a lot of people never test drive a new small car before they buy it.
But obviously, you should.
To make sure you like the way it performs.
Do you feel comfortable driving it? Is the steering precise?
Does the car seem well designed?
If you decide to buy the car, check it out meticulously when it's delivered.
Be sure everything's working perfectly before you drive it away.
If you find anything wrong, tell the salesman. And have it fixed.
After all, it's one thing to spend hundreds of dollars on a new small car.
But it's another thing to spend hundreds of dollars on a new small lemon.

8. What can I sell it for?
Asking what you can get for it before you get it may seem like a dumb question.
But the resale value of a car is a tip-off on what people think about it.
If the car's been a loser over the years, with heavy repair bills, you'll probably take a beating when you unload it.
If the car depreciates hundreds of dollars the minute you buy it, you're losing money even before you drive it home.
And if it has no resale value yet because it's brand new, who knows what you'll get for it when you sell it.
So while you're thinking about buying low, think about something else:
Selling high.
Good luck.

YOUNG POLITICO BEING COMPARED TO OLD PRO LBJ

Ben Barnes Could Be President--If He Wants The Job

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — At 33, when many ambitious young men are just awakening to politics, L. Gov. Ben Barnes of Texas already is being compared to old pro Lyndon B. Johnson. Some say he's better.

Just eight months out of office, former President Johnson told Texas Democrats Barnes could be president some day if he wanted the job.

Barnes was flattered but later said, "President Johnson, I think, perhaps went too far in his remarks."

Johnson's statement was bold, but Barnes, as young as he is, appears to be the Texas Democratic party's strongest candidate for governor in 1972.

In announcing for governor against incumbent Preston Smith, 59, former U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, 68, and Uvalde rancher Dolph Briscoe, 48, Barnes said he "certainly had been interested in being U. S. senator from Texas," but he thought that in 1972 he could make his "greatest contribution" to the state as governor.

He could become the youngest Texas governor since Dan Moody was inaugurated in 1927 at the age of 33.

Barnes has said that under Smith's administration "there has been a void in pursuing greatness," adding that his No. 1 campaign issue would be "the loss of faith and confidence in state government."

He discussed his political career — which started when he was barely old enough to

Named Envoy To Sierra Leone

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Howard P. Mace, a career Foreign Service officer, has been named ambassador to Sierra Leone, President Nixon announced.

Mace, 55, a resident of Arlington, Va., has had assignments in Germany, Japan and in the State Department as deputy assistant secretary of organization and management. Since 1969 he has been director of personnel and deputy director general of the Foreign Service.

vote — in a 2½ hour interview recently.

It seemed a good time to ask him if he expected to pick up some "political scars" soon — something he has avoided in becoming the youngest House Speaker and youngest lieutenant governor in Texas history.

"I would say — and I don't want this to sound vain or wrong — that some Republicans consider me their No. 1 enemy in Texas right now, their No. 1 political enemy. I would say this is a scar from the standpoint that these people are working on me every day."

If Barnes is a Republican target, Johnson helped make him one.

The former president let Barnes sit in on Cabinet meetings and exposed him to "top level people in the educational world and in the world of government" by appointing him to national commissions. He even sent Barnes to a United Nations session in Geneva, Switzerland.

Increasingly, in recent months, such Democratic presidential hopefuls as Sens. Edmund Muskie of Maine, Birch Bayh of Indiana and Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota have sought Barnes' support in recognition of his prominent role in the Texas Democratic party.

One reason Barnes has the time to do special favors is that since 1960, when he won an upset victory for a seat in the legislature, he has never had a hard campaign. He won his first statewide race for lieutenant governor in 1968 with 1,967,021 votes — more than John Connally got for governor in 1964.

Coahoma School Hearing Is Set

COAHOMA — Public hearing on the budget for the school year 1971-72 for the Coahoma Independent School District has been set for 8 p.m. Aug. 2 in the board room in the junior high building. Copies of the budget are on file in the office of the superintendent.

The Coahoma school board also has designated Clyde R. Hollingsworth of Big Spring to be the auditor for the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1971.

Barnes pledged his support to Connally the first day of Connally's first campaign for governor in 1962 and they have been friends since.

And now Barnes says that since President Nixon's appointment of Connally as secretary of Treasury, Connally "told me on several occasions he would support me for governor or senator" and "repeated the pledge of support" after getting the Cabinet post.

Connally is one of Barnes' political advisers. Others include Robert Strauss, treasurer of the Democratic National Committee; George Christian, White House press secretary under Johnson; Dee Kelly, former aide to the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn; and Johnson himself.

Comanche Trail LGA

By JO BRIGHT

Regular Sunday golfers at Big Spring Municipal Golf Course may find it a little harder to keep their eyes on the ball this afternoon.

The newly-organized Comanche Trail Ladies Golf Association is sponsoring its first Scotch Foursome. The event will begin at 1:30 p.m. with a shotgun start, and the ladies are expecting a good turnout for the 18-hole competition.

Mrs. Charles R. Brantley, wife of the club pro, has served as sponsor and has assisted in organizing the association. Serving as the first officers are Mrs. D. Michael Moore, president; Mrs. Richard Pachall, vice president; and Mrs. Don Horton, secretary. Business meetings will be held at 9 a.m. on the last Tuesday of each month.

Tentative plans call for golf lessons for the members. The instructor will be Charles R. Brantley who will meet with the golfers on Mondays, starting July 26. The schedule lists two morning classes as well as a late afternoon class for women who work.

The association fee is $3 per year, plus green fees; the initial membership fee being kept low to encourage beginners to join and become regular golfers.

The association has several projects for which it hopes to initiate action in the coming weeks. The women would like to procure ladies' tee boxes, a rest room on both the front and back nine and ladies' lockers for the clubhouse.

Charter members of the Comanche Trail LGA are Mrs. Brantley, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Pachall, Mrs. Horton, Mrs. Arnold Marshall, Mrs. W. T. Rutledge, Mrs. Bill Grace, Mrs. Jennie Lawson, Mrs. Ted Gross, Miss Verna Sue Elliott, Mrs. H. D. Stewart and Mrs. Kirby Brown.

Also, Mrs. Claude Vaughn, Mrs. Clyde Falvella, Miss Karon Welch, Mrs. Abe Gonzales, Mrs. Fred E. Carson, Miss Kellye Kirkpatrick, Miss Vicky Wallin, Mrs. Buck Buchanan, Mrs. Jackie Thomas, Mrs. Paul A. Malone and Mrs. James D. Foresyth.

ON THE BALL — Mrs. Don Horton gives her ball a good start, but the outcome is still in doubt, as she practices with Mrs. Jimmy Foresyth, left, and Mrs. Clyde Falvella near the clubhouse at Big Spring Municipal Golf Course. The three are among charter members of the Comanche Trail Ladies Golf Association.

KEEPING AN EYE on the ball isn't easy when you're also trying to watch your "p's" and "q's." Mrs. Jackie Thomas gets a lesson in both from Muny pro Charles R. Brantley, and listening to the good advice is the remainder of the foursome, Mrs. Arnold Marshall, Mrs. H. D. Stewart and Mrs. Richard Pachall.

SUNSHINE AND EXERCISE add extra pleasure to the pastime when ladies make golf their game. Among those who are taking up the sport as

Mrs. Charles R. Brantley holds a poster advertising the event. From left are Mrs. Jennie Lawson, Mrs. W. T. Rutledge, Mrs. D. Michael Moore and Mrs. Abe Gonzales.

'Sesame Street' Characters Give Color To OWC Brunch

"BIG BIRD," a familiar fellow to followers of "Sesame Street," was a provocative guest at Thursday's luncheon for the Officers Wives Club at Webb Air Force Base. The costume, made by Capt. Vasken Moomjian, was worn by Mrs. Lawrence Redman.

"Big Bird," who makes his home on Sesame Street, the widely-acclaimed children's TV program, set the mood for Thursday's brunch for the Officers Wives Club at Webb Air Force Base. The fancy fowl was portrayed by Mrs. Lawrence Redman in a costume created by Capt. Vasken Moomjian.

"Sesame Street" was the delightful theme chosen by the host group, wives of students in Class 72-08, with Mrs. Vasken Moomjian as general chairman. Other chairmanships were held by Mrs. Lawrence Whittemore, decorations; Mrs. Clayton Cole, program; Mrs. Al Amos, menu; and Mrs. Robert Hudson and Mrs. Lyle Ratzel.

The program climaxed with Mrs. Whittemore playing the part of "Oscar, the Muppet" to a recorded song, "I Love Trash."

WELCOME

The welcome was extended by Mrs. David Little, OWC president, who introduced the honorary vice president, Mrs. John Grow and Mrs. William Kilpatrick, along with other guests, Louise Van Horn, Christie Harveson, Sharon Jistel, Audrey Pankay and Beth Galvin.

Mrs. Porter Medley, first vice president, welcomed newcomers and bid farewell to Mrs. Tom Brandon who will soon be leaving the base. Wives of students in the newest class, 72-08, were introduced by Mrs. Timothy Danforth, coffee co-chairman. The wives in Class 72-01, which has graduated, introduced themselves and told where their husbands would be assigned.

ACTIVITIES

Mrs. Henry Rimmer Jr., second vice president, announced upcoming OWC activities, including bridge, which is set for July 29. She said volunteers are needed by Girl Scouts, the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center and Family Services. The base nursery is in need of plastic or wooden toys. Members were reminded of the stationary, books and other items being sold by the ways and means committee. Also, it was noted that Big Spring Night at the Globe Theatre in Odessa is slated July 31 at a charge of $2 for adults and $1 for students.

During the business session, Mrs. Larry Funk assisted with election procedures as Mrs. Michael J. Karaffa was elected treasurer.

FIRE HOUSE

Guest speaker was Dr. (Capt.) Samuel J. Laufer of Webb AFB Hospital, a volunteer worker with the Firehouse No. 6 project, who briefly explained its purpose and operations in assisting troubled persons in the community. "Initially, the project was drug-oriented," said Dr. Laufer, "but it has since evolved into a type of community mental health center. We are now equipped to provide drug information, walk-in counseling, crisis intervention and suicide prevention and community referrals for various personal problems." He said that at the present time there are 35 volunteers including three doctors, three psychologists, one pharmacist and one lawyer. The workers include civilians and base personnel.

A training period is required for all volunteers; subjects covered being legal aspects of counseling, drug information, suicidology, counseling techniques, sensitivity training and medical problems such as how to "talk patients off bad trips." At the conclusion of Dr. Laufer's program, a volunteer worker, Mrs. Howard Groming-er, told what she had gained from her work at the Firehouse. The theme was carried out in decorations which included rag dolls in centerpiece arrangements, colorful posters and "ABC's" suspended from the ceiling. The main table held a centerpiece of yellow and bronze mums and gladioli, and a "Sesame Street" scene accented the stage.

'ROUND TOWN

BY LUCILLE PICKLE

Recently I saw a movie that had the tenderest theme, the most beautiful scenes and the foulest language that I have come across in some time. Even stage plays haven't come close.

Realizing that the heroine was the type that was well-educated, beautiful and from a middle-class family who had a sense of values but used filthy language, it still doesn't make a good excuse for the writer's choice.

Not only did she use those four-letter words that we don't want our children to use, but there was a liberal sprinkling of nine-letter ones as well as a few five-letter ones. They took the tenderness out of the tenderest scenes. There just must be a better way of writing dialogue.

The two daughters of MRS. DICK TODD are here for a visit with her and Mr. Todd. They are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Craig and their children whose home is in Westchester, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Blackwell of Wichita Falls.

Friends here have received cards from vacationers, among them DR. and MRS. CARL AAGESEN who are having a great time on Mackinac Island in Lake Michigan . . . and from MRS. HORACE GARRETT who with her daughter, Sue, and her sister, MRS. HOWARD KEMPER are in England. They have been to Warwick Castle, the London Tower, Windsor Castle and the National Galleries.

The ROSCOE CONESES are having a family gathering today and are also having a celebration of sorts. One is their little granddaughter's (Kellie Cone) third birthday and the other occasion is their daughter's (Kathy Cone) graduation from Texas Tech University.

Here for the weekend are MR. and MRS. JOHN CONE and Kellie of Lubbock, MR. and MRS. DAN CONE, Shannon and Kristi, of Independence, Mo., Kathy, who plans to teach beginning in the fall, and Mr. Cones' cousins, MR. and MRS. A. L. GIFFORD and Larry, of Midland, And, of course, Carol who is still at home, will be a member of the reunion.

The J. A. COFFEYS and the LUTHER BEANS had a sort of Bastille Day celebration Wednesday when their daughters' husbands came back from Thailand. MAJ. BOB TARTLETON was met by his wife and children, Mike and Michelle, and CAPT. JAY BAKER had his wife, the former Susan Bean, and little Scott waiting at the gates at Terminal Airport.

SGT. and MRS. AL CHRISTENSEN left early Saturday morning for an automobile trip to near Salt Lake, Utah, where they will spend their vacation with their parents.

MRS. C. C. (Clara) COFFEE went by private plane Thursday to Oklahoma City where she will undergo additional therapy. She suffered a stroke several months ago. Her address in Oklahoma City will be 3009 Orlando Road, 73103.

MR. and MRS. LUTHER McDANIEL and their four children left Thursday to return to their home in Weisbaden, Germany. They visited their parents, MR. and MRS. OLLIE ANDERSON and MR. and MRS. C. H. McDANIEL and other relatives.

Another of those couples bound for Colorado are the MONROE GAFFORDS who plan to stake their spot at Creed where they will rest and fish.

Guests of the W. F. TAYLORS and the JOHN TAYLORS are Mrs. W. F. Taylor's niece, MRS. F. D. COVEY and her children, Margaret and Bruce of Salt Lake City, Utah. The group visited the O. B. CAVES in Stanton Thursday night and Friday were guests of the WAYLAND TAYLORS in O'Donnell.

STUART POOLE of Roxboro, N.C., an uncle of BARRY CANNING, is a guest in the HAROLD CANNING home this week.

MR. and MRS. SAMPSON CHRISTIE, who now live near Barksdale in the Nueces canyon country, made a pop visit Friday to their daughter and families, MR. and MRS. RANDELL SHERROD and MR. and MRS. G. D. HARTLEY at Garden City. They report they have just about completed work on their new home. Incidentally, he also has completed work on a manuscript which another daughter, MRS. FRED YOUNG, Lubbock, is working into shape for submission to a publisher. He wrote a book based on his experiences as a trapper and called it "Longfang." Not long ago when he sold four copies to a ring peddler in Villa Acuna, Mexico, the peddler took the ring tray off his shoulders and extended it to Christie, saying: "Here, circle the block. As good a salesman as you are, you might sell out by the time you get back."

MR. and MRS. M. M. PARCHMAN of Dallas are visiting this weekend in the home of MRS. W. D. McDONALD and with other friends.

Tiled Bookshelf Is Useful Accent

If your closets and storage areas are full to overflowing, don't despair. You probably have the space — you just lack the means. Shelves hung on the wall and narrow multiple purpose cabinets will solve the problem.

One decorating ploy is to cover the shelves with the same tile used on your floors. Adhesive-back tile is ideal for this purpose. It is easy to handle — all you do is peel a paper from the back and press the tile in place — and it can be cut to fit with an ordinary scissors. Standard edging trim may be used if desired.

Miss Mata Is Wed Saturday

Wedding rites for Miss Maria Esther Mata of Ackerly and Federico Martinez Munoz were performed at 10 a.m. Saturday in St. Thomas Catholic Church.

The Rev. Leo J. F. St. John conducted the ceremony at an altar decorated with arrangements of white chrysanthemums, gladioli, and pom-poms.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Miguel Mata, Ackerly Route; and Munoz is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jose R. Munoz Sr., 105 NE 10th.

Chantilly lace overlaid the bride's formal-length satin gown which featured long lace sleeves and a Sabrina neckline. The back of the dress was fashioned in cascading ruffles which extended to a chapel-length train. Her veil of illusion was held with an oval tiara of seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Irene Munoz, the bridegroom's sister, and Miss Rosario Casillas of Del Rio served as maids of honor, and both wore white Empire-style floor-length gowns fashioned in bonded crepe. Miss Munoz's gown featured half sleeves trimmed with silk lace, and she carried a bouquet of miniature white roses. The white crystalline top of Miss Casillas' dress was accented with white lace and bead trim, and she carried a nosegay of yellow chrysanthemums.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Charles Upton, Miss Martha Padilla, Miss Christina Hilario, Miss Betty Tovar, and Miss Jesusita Jara. Serving as junior bridesmaids were Miss Emma Ramirez and Miss Lupe Martinez, while cushion maids were Miss Estrella Martinez and Miss Mary Martinez.

The attendants wore light yellow gowns styled like Miss Casillas', and carried nosegays of yellow chrysanthemums backed with matching satin and yellow ribbons.

Manuel Martinez Munoz served his brother as best man, while groomsmen were Charles Upton, Raymond Martinez, Fernando Mata, Ramon Velasco, Oscar Cervantes, Henry Madrid and Miguel Mata Jr. Ushers were Bruce Hicks, Ray Ramirez and Marcelino Chavez.

The couple was honored at a reception in the Sacred Heart Youth Center following the ceremony. The refreshment table was covered with a white embroidered linen cloth, appointed with crystal and silver. The three-tiered cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Arrangements of pink gladioli and white pom-poms accented the table.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. A. G. Martinez, Mrs. E. G. Martinez, Mrs. Joe Lopez, Mrs. Felipe Munoz and Mrs. Lorenzo Heredia of Midland.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Eva Munoz and Mr. and Mrs. Roberto Lara, all of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Munoz Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Chavarria and Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Montes Jr., all of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Garcia, San Jose, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Martinez Jr., Abilene; Mrs. Aleja Flores, Ciudad Durango, Mexico; Mrs. Rafaela Lozoya, Hayward, Calif.; and Mr. and Mrs. Eliseo Flores, Irving.

Munoz, a graduate of Big Spring High School is employed by Estah's Flower Shop. The bride is a junior at Big Spring High School. Following a trip to Fort Worth, the couple will reside in Big Spring.

Rainbow Girls Planning Party

Plans were made Tuesday at the Masonic Temple for the local Order of the Rainbow for Girls to observe the birthday of Mark Sexson, who founded the national organization 49 years ago. The girls will meet at 5:30 p.m. Monday at the

Bare Or Jeweled Legs Are Vogue

The long, leggy look can be bare or bedazzled. Leg jewelry is coming into vogue. There was a time when garters weren't meant to be shown, but in this age of great exposure they show in gold, in stripes and lots of really wild colors.

Some watch companies have even begun making leg watches which nestle snugly on the upper thigh.

Easy Fashion

This summer, beach coversups for bikini-clad little girls will include ankle length skirts — a fashion easy to run up on a sewing machine.

Quilts Completed By Sewing Club

Quilts made for sale by members of the Sew and Chatter Club were exhibited at a meeting Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Ruby Martin, 1503 Vines. Proceeds from the sale of quilts are given to charitable organizations. The women also worked on individual handwork for items to be used in the Philathea Sunday school class bazaar at First United Methodist Church in the fall. Guests were Mrs. Dock McClain, Galveston; Mrs. Laura Anderson, Gilmore; Miss Beth Porter, Premont; and Miss Roberta Gay. The next meeting is at 3 p.m., Aug. 14 in the home of Mrs. A. C. Moore, 1907 Main.

VFW Unit Wins National Award

Mrs. Homer Petty displayed a trophy received by the local Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary from its national headquarters, Wednesday evening in her home, 707 N. Gregg.

The trophy was awarded to the unit for obtaining 100 per cent membership. The auxiliary also received a certificate from Mrs. Mary Cottone, national president, and a citation of merit from Mrs. Janie Ashworth, state president.

Mrs. E. J. Cass presided, and members showed items they made to sell at the national convention in August at Dallas. The next meeting is at 7 p.m., Aug. 11 in Mrs. Petty's home.

Couple Recites Vows In Church Ceremony

The wedding of Miss Cheryl Ann Colclazer and Sandy Zeh Sandlin was held at 7 p.m. Friday in First United Methodist Church with Dr. David Ray, pastor of First Baptist Church, Lubbock, officiating.

Nuptial music was by Larry Landusky, pianist, and Charles Gunn, organist, both from Lubbock. The vocalists were Mrs. Mike Perry, Lubbock, and Miss Annette Fitzhugh, Lamesa. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Colclazer, 1700 State, and Mr. and Mrs. Horace E. Sandlin, Lubbock.

The wedding party stood before an altar accented with tree candelabra, fern and baskets of spring flowers.

The bride's two-piece wedding attire was a shirtwaist blouse in white organza over peau de sole with sheer silk organza Edwardian sleeves, and a floor-length gathered skirt sprinkled with rose appliques. Matching appliques adorned a blue cummerbund which was covered with white organza. Her chapel-length chiffon veil flowed from a white garden hat, and she wore a blue velvet choker with a cameo. She carried a cascade of white carnations and lily-of-the-valley topped with an orchid.

Mrs. Bob Hedges, Abilene, sister of the bride was matron of honor, and Miss Fitzhugh was maid of honor. They were attired in blue, lime and white floral print skirts with shirtwaist blouse of blue organza over peau de sole with sheer Edwardian sleeves and white peau de sole belt. They wore blue picture hats, and each carried a single blue carnation.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Mike Perry, Lubbock, and Miss Vina Bass, Muleshoe. Sherry Lee, Hobbs, N.M., was junior bridesmaid.

Their costumes were similar to the other attendants', except that blouses, hats and carnations were in lime green. Taffi Hedges, Abilene, was flower girl.

The bridegroom's father was best man, and groomsmen were Larry Landusky, David Howie and Bert Kiker, all of Lubbock. Rusty Summar, Del Rio, was junior groomsmen. The ushers were Mike Colclazer, brother of the bride; Bob Hedges, Abilene; Danny Beavins, Lubbock; and Steve Anderson, Tapers were lighted by Tracy Summar, Del Rio, and Chuck Lee, Hobbs, N.M.

RECEPTION

Mrs. Donnie Hester, Brownfield, registered guests at a reception in the fellowship hall.

House party members were Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Hayworth, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. John Minnick, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Zant, Mr. and

British Wives Club Discusses Decorating

Mrs. Charles Madry, guest speaker for the British Wives Club, spoke about ornaments and methods used in interior decorating Thursday in the home of Mrs. Robert Bauer, 132-A Dow.

Mrs. Madry displayed a variety of decorative items, and showed how they should be used to obtain a particular effect. She said paintings in a set should never be placed more than half the width of their frame apart, and that mirrors should not be used in a dining room, "because people should not have to watch themselves eat." In addition, Mrs. Madry suggested buying decorative items that will blend with decor in two or three separate rooms, so they can still be used when the person gets tired of it one place.

Mrs. Ronald-Huntley won a bouquet of flowers to be sent to her mother in England. Members made preliminary plans to have a dinner meeting Aug. 5, the place to be announced. Mrs. Bruce Lynsky was a guest.

Pre-Nuptial Party Held Thursday

Miss Becky Hedrick, bride-elect of Jimmy Deeter, was honored at a shower Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Carlton Black, Sand Springs.

Attired in a blue knit A-line dress, the honoree was presented a corsage of sewing notions arranged around a yellow flower. Her mother, Mrs. Leroy Hedrick, was given a corsage of yellow carnations.

Miss Hedrick's chosen wedding colors of yellow and white were used in the decorations. A white linen cloth with lace trim covered the refreshment table, which was centered with an arrangement of summer flowers. Crystal appointments were used.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Albert Hill, Mrs. Don Kennemer, Mrs. R. G. Segrest, Mrs. Marshall Day, Mrs. Cecil Drake, Mrs. Jarrell Barbee, Mrs. Wayne Pantelemon, Miss Charla Meacham and Miss Vicky Wallin.

Miss Meacham and Miss Wallin presided at the guest register table which was covered with a white satin cloth overlaid with nylon net.

Deeter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Deeter of Bellingham, Wash. The couple plans to marry Aug. 14 at the First United Methodist Church in Coahoma. They will reside in Washington.

MRS. DAVID M. LEYVA

Couple United In Marriage

Miss Mary Luevanos and David M. Leyva exchanged wedding vows in a candlelight ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Friday at La Fe Baptist Church.

The Rev. Glenn Howard Smith of Slaton performed the rites at an altar centered with an arch of candelabra with white cathedral tapers. Baskets of white spider chrysanthemums, daisies and carnations flanked the arch, and fern trees completed the setting.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Aubrey Hyden, pianist, and vocal selections were by Mike Ramirez.

The couple's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Rafael Luevanos, 506 Eleventh Place, and S.M. Sgt. and Mrs. Noah Leyva, 4110 Parkway.

The bride was attired in a white satin, formal-length gown with long, full sleeves. The three-button cuffs were trimmed in lace. Matching lace formed a wedding ring collar which extended to form a band of lace and buttons the length of the A-line skirt. The natural waistline was belted and accented with a bow at the front, and her chapel-length train fell from the waist. A bandeau of tulle flowers highlighted with seed pearls held her floor-length veil, and she carried a cascade of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

Miss Mary Soto of Petersburg was maid of honor, wearing an Empire-style gown fashioned in pink crepe and featuring a high round collar. White lace accented a waistline entwined with pink ribbon. She carried a basket of yellow, blue and pink daisies with satin streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Sally Ann Kitchen, Miss Laura Lee Bickford, Miss Olivia Her-

andez, Miss Emma Polanco, Mrs. Mike Ramirez, Mrs. Tom Soto, Mrs. Don McCray, Miss Frances Billalba and Miss Lesvia Mendoza. They wore gowns styled like the maid of honor's in either blue, green or yellow, and also carried baskets of daisies.

Capt. Noah Pete Leyva of St. Louis, Mo., served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Jesse Soto of Petersburg; Rafael Luevanos, Noe Luevanos, Rene Luevano, Mike Ramirez, Paul Flores, Andy Gamboa, Tommy Soto and Don McCray. Serving as ushers were Albert Acosta of Ackery and Viron Hartin.

Miss Amanda Solis was flower girl, and ring bearer was George John Solis. Altar taper lighters were Rafael Luevanos and Noe Luevanos.

A reception honored the couple in the church fellowship hall, where the refreshment table was covered with a white satin and lace cloth. White candles and yellow, blue and pink carnations accented the table. Crystal appointments were used, and the four-tiered cake was topped with miniature pink wedding bells.

Serving were Mrs. Herbert Rubio, Mrs. Roy Salame, Mrs. Ramona Polanco, and Mrs. Lasilaso Abreo. The guest register was presided over by Mrs. Taylor Rudd and Mrs. Victor Lopez.

Mrs. Leyva is a graduate of Big Spring High School, and Leyva graduated from Rudyard Township School in Rudyard, Mich. He is presently stationed at Carswell Air Force Base in Fort Worth, where the couple will reside.

Out-of-town guests at the ceremony included Mrs. Noe Leyva of St. Louis, Mo.

Top Honors At Dress Revue

Kayla Gaskins and Patty Peugh, both of the Knott 4-H Club, were named winners in the Howard County Dress Revue following the style show presented by 4-H Club girls in the ball room of the Cosden Club Thursday evening.

Kayla, senior division winner, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins. Patty is the junior division winner and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Peugh. They will represent Howard County in the District 2 Dress Revue which is to be held in Lubbock July 22.

Named as alternates to the district contest were Mollie Adkins, senior, from the Lomax 4-H Club, and Ann Nichols, junior, from the Knott 4-H Club.

Kayla modeled a striking outfit of all cotton fabric. She combined corduroy and knit into a fashionable ensemble which includes a maxi skirt, vest, blouse and hot pants. Beige suede knee lace sandals, a matching shoulder bag and a black fitted head cover completed her entry.

Patty capitalized on the popularity of fake fur (which is making its appearance again this fall) in making her entry for the dress revue. Her A-line skirt and sleeveless, waist-length vest were complemented by a blouse of polyester crepe. The blouse features a roll collar and long puffed sleeves.

In addition to Kayla and Mollie, senior entries receiving blue ribbons awards were Darla Buchanan, Carla Hunt, Annette Couch and Joan Crawford.

The junior division was divided into two groups. Girls in the first group chose to participate in the County Dress Revue, but did not want to compete on a district level. Blue awards in this group were given to Stacy Parker, Toni Mundell, Jaylene Saunders, Terri Thompson, Jill Floyd, Tami Nichols, Kathy Harrell and Cindy Russell. Ladene Hartin, Kay Willbanks, and Lita Cox were awarded red ribbons.

Junior Group Two girls competed for representing the county at district. In addition to Patty and Ann, blue awards in this group went to James Harrington, Donna James, Cindy Shaw, Carol Adams, Dee Dee Adkins, Leola Jones, Tricia Jackson, Karla Homan, Gena Gross and Paula Adams. Donna Witt and Lunda Williams were awarded red ribbons.

Mrs. Mildred Crump, Dawson County home demonstration agent, and Debra Buchanan, 4-H teen leader from Howard County, were the judges for the junior divisions. Senior judging involved the senior girls judging one another for a part of their score with Mrs. Crump judging for the remainder of the total score. Debra served as 4-H chairman for the dress revue.

and was narrator for the style show.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by the Howard County senior Share-the-Fun team. Participants in this group are Joey Shaw, Janette Nichols, Leah Roman, Anita Jones, Molly Adkins, Darla Buchanan, Keith Nichols, Kayla Gaskins and Debra Buchanan.

The dress revue gives 4-H Club girls between the ages of 9 and 19 an opportunity to plan, construct and model a garment that they "will enjoy having and one that can be used in their wardrobe." Through this program the girl develops important skills and gains in poise and self-confidence.

Use Silver Every Day

NEW YORK — The easycare rules that guarantee the warmth, the lustrous pleasure of sterling to future generations are:

1) The daily use of silver gives it the softly radiant patina or "finish" that makes it a glowing prize as an heirloom. Rotating the silver service during daily use insures a uniform patina.

2) Wash silver immediately after use in hot, sudsy water, rinse with hot water and dry thoroughly. To remove the stains of eggs, mustard, olives, a reliable silver polish is recommended.

3) Don't crowd the silver and don't use wool or soap pads on it.

4) With daily use, an over-all cleaning with silver polish every month or so is sufficient. Use lengthwise strokes on flatware, follow the contours of the hollowware.

5) Keep seldom-used pieces in tightly closed chest and tarnish free cloths.

Rick McKinneys Announce Birth

Phyllis Wynn Given State Training Award

Phyllis Faye Wynn, Howard County 4-H Club member from Coahoma, has been named to receive the 1971 Danforth Leadership Training Award for Texas.

She will attend about two weeks of summer training at the American Youth Foundation Leadership Training Camp at Stoney Lake, Mich., Aug. 2-14. The announcement was made by the state 4-H office at Texas A&M University.

Miss Wynn is the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Wynn of Coahoma.

The camp is sponsored annually by the Ralston Purina Company in memory of its founder, the late William H. Danforth, who for many years was interested in developing the leadership capacities of outstanding young people. Penzoil United provides transportation.

Miss Wynn has been in 4-H work for eight years and has served as a junior leader for two years. She has claimed first place awards for her record books at county and district levels on several occasions.

She has also won public speaking awards at county and district levels and has been given county citizenship and achievement awards. The award winner has served as president, vice-president, and secretary in her local club while also serving as county council secretary.

The award winner has been given a silver cup for taking top honors in district competition in foods and nutrition. She has been chosen as a county delegate to the district level five times and was once named a district delegate to the state level.

level. She has participated on demonstration teams in share-the-fun nutrition and electric cooperative demonstrations.

In high school, Miss Wynn has been a member of the National Honor Society, FHA chapter, science club and the band.

Besides these activities she has been active in community affairs working with the Head Start Program, Easter Seal Drive and March of Dimes, among others. She attends the Coahoma Church of Christ and teaches vacation Bible school and helps teach regular Bible classes.

Re-Elected District President

Mrs. Joe Jacobs was re-elected president of District 19, Veterans of World War I Auxiliary, at its joint convention with the men's group July 13-15 at the Baker Hotel in Dallas.

Others attending from the local barracks and auxiliary were Mrs. Mary E. Brown, official auxiliary delegate; Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Mundt, Fritz W. Mogford of Colorado City, district commander for the men, also attended.

The welcoming address for a u xiliary members was presented by Mrs. Thyza Emish, District 5 president. Opening remarks were also heard from Mrs. Maxine Aldridge, national representative; and Mrs. Robbie Crabb, department president.

New regional, departmental and state officers were elected during the July 14 meeting, and installation and closing ceremonies were performed July 15. A highlight of the convention was a banquet hosted by district presidents July 14 at the hotel.

Various memorial services for deceased members were conducted during the convention, and reports were heard concerning projects of individual barracks.

High Tallies In Games At Club

Results have been announced for two duplicate bridge games held at Big Spring Country Club.

Six tables were in play Friday with first place going to Mrs. James Duncan and Mrs. R. H. Weaver. Other winners were Mrs. J. D. Robertson and Mrs. John Stone, second; Mrs. Rogers Hefley and Mrs. A. Swartz tied for third and fourth with Mrs. Ayra McGann and Mrs. Jim Raoul; and Mrs. Hayes Stripling and Mrs. Don Newsom tied for fifth and sixth with Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow and Mrs. Elmo Wasson.

In Wednesday's games, the winners were Mrs. McGann and Mrs. Wasson, first; Mrs. Ray McMahan and Mrs. D. A. Brazel, second; and Mrs. Hefley and Mrs. Ward Hall tied for third and fourth with Mrs. Weaver and Mrs. Duncan.

Rook Club Names Game Winners

When the Rook Club met Friday in the home of Mrs. S. P. Jones, high score winners for guests went to Mrs. S. R. Nobles and Mrs. T. G. Adams. Mrs. Felton Smith won high score for members. Refreshments were served to 10 members and the two guests. The next meeting will be Aug. 27 in the home of Mrs. Clyde Lowry, 1406 Eleventh Place.

Toddler's Toy From Old Bottle

With the swimming season under way, little tots are as anxious as anyone to hop in their back yard pool. But once the novelty begins to wear off, it takes water toys to keep them happily in place — while Mom basks in the sun.

One inexpensive and easily replaceable toy that will fascinate tots, is the opaque plastic bottle in which baby shampoo comes. It can easily become a bubble blower.

All it takes is a shake of the bottle and a gentle squeeze and through the small opening on top the bubbles float up, up and away, as the sunlight adds the sparkle of rainbow colors. It's the kind of toy that can occupy a little one for a whole lazy summer afternoon, and maybe capture the observation of a baby brother or sister as well.

MRS. LARRY DON MULLICAN

Miss Barrett Weds Larry Don Mullican

Miss Betty Kay Barrett and Larry Don Mullican were united in marriage at 7 p.m. Saturday in the home of the bridegroom's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mullican Jr., 3713 45th Street, Lubbock.

The garden ceremony was performed by Don Williams, youth director of Broadway Church of Christ, Lubbock before an improvised altar and archway decorated with summer flowers. Background music was provided by a recorded cappella choir.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Price Barrett of Shamrock; and Mullican is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mullican Sr., 2700 Clanton.

The bride wore a street-length dress fashioned in white silk shantung which featured a shallow scoop neckline, cap sleeves and an A-line skirt. The bodice was accented with a band of Venice lace. Her matching coat was styled with a turned collar, fitted bodice highlighted with Venice lace, and jeweled buttons. Her shoulder-length veil fell from a matching bow, and she carried a bouquet of white daisies, roses and pompons.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Marva Taylor served as maid of honor and wore a sleeveless, yellow chiffon dress with a flared skirt. The bodice was overlaid with white lace. She carried a nosegay of yellow daisies.

Tommy McMahon of Hale Center was best man, and Jimmy Pierce served as the usher.

A reception was held in the Mullican home following the ceremony. The refreshment table was covered with a yellow cloth, overlaid with white lace. The centerpiece was an arrangement of yellow and white daisies, and the three-tiered cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hood, Kregg and Kerl, Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Mullican, Scott and Tracy, Austin; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mullican, Timmy and Julie, Houston; Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Fore, Plainview; Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Cantrell and Amy, Shamrock; Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bradbury, Ackerly; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Forsyth, Midland; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mullican Sr., Big Spring.

RESIDENCE

Following a trip to Colorado the couple will reside at 2405 35th Street, Lubbock. Mullican is a graduate of Big Spring High School and served four years in the Air Force. He is presently a junior at Texas Tech, majoring in secondary education.

The bride graduated from Shamrock High School and received a bachelor of science degree in education from Abilene Christian College. She is presently employed by the Lubbock Public Schools.

CARD OF THANKS

TO OUR KIND FRIENDS, NEIGHBORS AND RELATIVES WE WISH TO EXPRESS OUR SINCERE APPRECIATION FOR SYMPATHETIC ATTENTION, BEAUTIFUL FLORAL TRIBUTES AND OTHER COURTESIES EXTENDED TO US AT THE PASSING OF OUR BELOVED SON.

Calcium In Cells Helps Digestion

A cup of coffee consumed after a large meal may intensify that full feeling according to the latest research conducted at the University of Mississippi Medical Center.

"Smooth muscles in the digestive tract contract to push food along for the digestive process," researcher Suzanne McFarland says.

"Caffeine in the coffee weakens the contractions of these muscles." Muscle contraction depends upon the presence of calcium in the cell. Miss McFarland points out, and caffeine probably interferes in some way with the available calcium. Best finish up with a glass of milk packed with calcium.

Miss Stembridge Is Honored At Showers

Miss Elaine Stembridge of Gilmer was honored by local hostesses at two separate gift showers during the week. Miss Stembridge is the bride-elect of Clifton Talbot, and the couple plans to be married July 24 in Gilmer.

The bride-elect was honored Tuesday at a recipe shower hosted by Mrs. Walter Ross and Mrs. Curtis Driver in the Ross home on Country Club Road.

The honored, attired in a beige dress, received guests with her mother, Mrs. J. D. Stembridge of Gilmer, and her fiance's mother, Mrs. Harold Talbot. Also in attendance was Mrs. Talbot's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Guy Talbot.

Refreshments were served from a polished table accented with a brass bowl arranged with fresh fruit.

On Wednesday, Miss Stembridge was the honoree at a kitchen gadget shower in the Tom South home, 1703 Kentucky Way, where hostesses were Mrs. South, Mrs. Tommy Gage, Mrs. Morris Patterson and Mrs. Toots Mansfield.

Approximately 30 attended, with an out-of-town guest being Mrs. Dakin Williams.

The polished refreshment table featured a centerpiece which was a robot made of orange canisters. Cookie cutters were used for the robot's face, and the body was trimmed with kitchen gadgets. The arrangement was presented to Miss Stembridge. On one side of the table was a teapot holding Mexican paper flowers. Coffee and Cokes were served.

The honoree was attired in a beige slack suit.

Pink, Blue Party Held Thursday

Mrs. Ray Strobes was honored at a baby shower Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Raymond Lackmiller, 2605 Lynn. Cohostess was Mrs. Stephen Curran.

An arrangement of pink and blue streamers hung over the crystal punch bowl which was encircled by miniature pink baby cradles in the center of the refreshment table. Silver and crystal appointments were used.

Mrs. Strobes is staying in Big Spring while her husband attends pilot instructor training at Randolph Air Force Base in San Antonio. He will return to Webb AFB as an instructor pilot in September.

Following the opening of gifts by Mrs. Strobes, guests played games.

Miss Morris To Teach At Loraine

Miss Deanna Morris, daughter of Mrs. Marjorie Morris, 106 E. 17th, has accepted a teaching position at Loraine High School beginning in the fall. Miss Morris graduated from Texas Tech May 15 with a degree in secondary education. She was on the dean's list during the last two semesters for maintaining a grade point average of 3.0 or better. At Loraine she will teach chemistry, biology and general sciences.

A LOVELIER YOU

Youthful Eyes Have No Maximum Age

By MARY SUE MILLER
A lovely asks: Do you think false eyelashes are appropriate for a grandmother, even for a young one like me? My eyes look sort of unfinished. The upper lashes are very sparse and the lower lashes are non-existent. I suppose nothing can be done for the lowers. But what advice have you about the upper tiers?

The Answer: By all means wear false eyelashes — two sets, upper and lower. These now come teamed for color, length and density. In order to avoid exaggeration, look for silky lashes of normal length and thickness. Either black or dark brown, depending on the shade of your eyebrow, make for a safe color choice.

An equally important requirement is an invisible backing or band — transparent and delicately knotted at long intervals. If possible have the expert behind the cosmetic counter show you how to apply your new lashes. Be sure in any case to keep and read the instructions in the package until you become the expert at applications.

When's that? Why, when you can attach lashes in a trice to look exactly as though you grew them. Then your eyes will look wide, wide open and filled with youthful allure.

AGELESS BEAUTY
Some women age before their time; some retain their youthful beauty and charm. Why? The secrets of non-stop attractiveness are revealed in "Beauty Knows No Age." Advice covers ways to a youthful figure, skin and hair; to flattering makeup, hairstyles and fashions. For your copy write to Mary Sue Miller in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

BRIG. GEN. JEANNE M. HOLM

Lady General For Air Force

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Jeanne M. Holm is a pretty, petite, hazel-eyed miss with an avid interest in skiing, boating, SCUBA diving and archaeology. She is also the Air Force's first and only woman general officer and director of the Women in the Air Force (WAF), a post she has held since 1965. She was promoted to the rank of brigadier general on July 16.

When she first assumed her present post, there were about 5,700 women on active duty in the Air Force. Now there are over 1,000. Plans call for 15,000 by the mid-1970's to support the volunteer force.

"Women have always been true volunteers," she says.

As director, she is the first to point out that the acronym WAF is really no longer meaningful.

"It implies a separate group or corps of women and we aren't... we are members of the United States Air Force and it is coeducational. Women in the armed forces have always had equal pay and a wide variety of responsible jobs."

But General Holm feels that over the years they had gotten bogged down into the usual rut. "For the most part, women found themselves restricted to those jobs considered 'women's jobs' in our culture... administration, personnel, clerical, medical, etc. Also, by law, promotion to the higher ranks (colonel and above) was pretty well closed to us. This meant that the really responsible, key positions were closed as well."

MANY CHANGES

This has all changed since General Holm assumed the job. The Air Force stopped identifying jobs as 'his' and 'hers' several years ago. The full range of officer non-combat jobs are now open to qualified women officers and promotions to colonel have improved greatly. Now, with the general ranks opening up, a whole new vista opens for career-minded Air Force women.

"This may not seem very dramatic, but this is what equal opportunity is all about," she said.

There have been a lot of policy changes recently, too. "It is Air Force philosophy today that all policies which affect military people should be the same for men and women unless there are good reasons for differences," General Holm believes that there are some legitimate reasons for differences which must be accommodated and there are others based on law. "But there are not as many as we once thought," she explained.

One of the most obvious differences is maternity.

"It was essential that we come to some reasonable accommodation to the normal desires of many career women to have families," she stressed. "I am proud that the Air Force has led the way with new policies which have made a reasonable compromise between the desires of the individual and the needs of the Air Force."

OVERSEAS

Opportunities for women officers to serve overseas have always been excellent. Most can look forward to at least one such tour, almost anywhere in the world, including Southeast Asia. The ratio of enlisted women overseas has more than doubled, and today, the Air Force offers the widest options of any of the services, with additional locations in Japan, Turkey, Greece, Crete, Taiwan and Southeast Asia.

Doctor Supports Marriage Life Style

"Marriage is not an institution, but a life style that is social," according to the Rev. Michael F. Gallagher of St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York. "It is not just two people saying, 'I love you.' It is the backbone of our society. It is a stabilizing base upon which you can let your relationship grow," he said.

What a time and temper saver! Who wants to do all that unnecessary extra work? ... Mrs. J. Malena

Dear Heloise: Don't throw away those outside wrappers that the five sticks of chewing gum come packed in.

Save these little wrappers and later they may be partially filled with water saturated cotton, resulting in a makeshift container for a single rosebud, carnation, etc.

Makes a perfect carrier. Kathy Demanase

Dear Heloise: I'm 88 years old and need to use a walker, but I like to do things for myself, especially in my garden.

My daughter purchased a nine-pocket shoe bag. She cut off the top section that had three pockets and the holes used to hang the bag. She used only this portion and tied ribbons through the holes of the bag onto the top rod of the walker.

I use it as a carrier for seeds when I plant outdoors and can even pick tomatoes, etc., and bring them indoors myself. It comes in handy for other things 'oo.

NTSU Opens 'Rush' To Freshmen Women

DENTON — For the first time at North Texas State University, first semester freshmen women will be eligible to participate in the 1971 fall semester sorority rush.

Beginning Aug. 28, interested women will have the opportunity to participate in NTSU's sorority rushing period, which will continue through Sept. 4.

Incoming freshmen women with a "C" average in high school will be eligible for rush as will all other university women who have a college overall grade point average of 2.0 out of a possible 4.0.

Prior to Aug. 1, each rushee must have completed 12 application forms, accompanied by a wallet-size photo, which will be distributed by the NTSU Panhellenic Council to each of the sororities. References from a sorority alumnae or collegiate members are, in some cases a necessity.

The reference blanks should be filled out by friends of the rushee who have been or are active members of the sororities represented on the NTSU campus, Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Kappa Alpha, Alpha Phi, Alpha Xi Delta, Chi Omega, Delta Gamma, Delta Phi Epsilon, Delta Sigma Theta, Delta Zeta, Kappa Delta and Zeta Tau Alpha.

Rush week will be filled with planned parties, hosted by the 11 national sororities, to which the rushees will be invited.

Rushees will attend open house in each of the sorority chapter rooms in the College Inn near the NTSU Panhellenic Center of the College Inn near the NTSU campus. The following days will be filled with theme parties, GRADUATE — Suzanne Hardison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hardison, 3606 Dixon, will graduate July 31 from Mary Meek School of Nursing at Hendrick Memorial Hospital, Abilene. The ceremonies will be held on that day at 7 p.m. in the Pioneer Drive Baptist Church. Miss Hardison is a 1968 graduate of Big Spring High School.

TIMES ARE CHANGING — Brig. Gen. Jeanne M. Holm, Director of Women in the Air Force, is pictured in her library showing pieces of Roman artifacts she found in the Mediterranean Sea to Capt. Audrey J. Page, her Assistant for WAF Management. Gen. Holm combines two of her hobbies, SCUBA diving and archaeology.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I'm sure this has happened to everyone and I'm also sure you will agree that it's pretty aggravating.

You have a line full of clothes hanging out to dry and suddenly you realize you are going to be blessed with a sudden summer shower. It's really a chore to take in those clothes for the short time the shower is in progress and then rehang each and every one.

My clothesline happens to be one of the umbrella-type lines and this is how I solved this age-old problem.

CAREER-LESS THAN YEAR OLD

Minister's Wife Wanted Something For Church Bazaar, So She Started Painting

By JEAN FANNIN

Pat Hildebrand is a minister's wife — and that's part of what started her career as an artist.

"I wanted something to sell in our church bazaar, so I decided to do some miniatures," she said. From there she went to art lessons, and now she has an exhibit at the Howard County Library.

She never really considered herself artistic. Most of her art work was confined to pen-and-ink drawings in college, an elementary education course in college which dealt mainly with crafts, and decorations for her little boy's nursery.

"I've always been able to look at something and then draw it the size I want it."

She still likes to have a model when she paints.

"I paint things from post-cards, note cards, magazine pictures, paintings by other artists." She has painted a few flower arrangements, and she has done some still-lives.

"My husband's favorite is a picture painted from a photograph of a barn on his father's farm in Vernon. We gave it to my father-in-law for Father's Day," she said.

Even when she paints original scenes, she takes a photograph first and then paints from the photograph.

"It's difficult to paint a scene just looking at it. You have to block out just what you want in the picture and what you don't want in. And it's always changing ... the light, composition, even the artist changes position," she said.

"I don't think I'd want to make my living from my paintings, mostly I just give them at gifts. But it can be an expensive hobby."

All of her work to date — except for the pen-and-ink drawings — has been in oils, and she does plan to experiment in medias as well as subjects and styles.

"I'd like to do some water-colors, and I'd also like to try some abstracts. I don't think I would like to paint portraits, it would be hard trying to paint it so that it looked just like the person."

She prefers something with a lot of color and more or less free.

One of the paintings on display in the library is a street in New Orleans, which she and her husband visited in January.

"It took me about three two-hour sittings to paint that from a notecard. I don't like to paint anything with that much detail in it."

Also included in the display is a flower arrangement painted on a shingle and several miniatures painted on wood and copied from birthday cards and notecards.

The miniatures she usually completes in one sitting, while her two youngsters, Jon, 5½, and Cathy, 2½, are napping. The larger pictures take longer, and some occasions the two children join her, painting pictures on flat rocks which the family collected while on vacation.

Mrs. Hildebrand graduated from high school in Pampa and received her degree in elementary education from McMurry College in Abilene, where she met her husband.

Following their marriage she taught school in Garland three years while he attended Perkins School of Theology in Dallas. Later she taught school for a year during their two-year stay in Abilene. They lived four years in Lubbock before coming to Big Spring where her husband, the Rev. Caleb Hildebrand, took over the pulpit of Wesley United Methodist Church.

vote to RECALL commissioners ACRI WATKINS CHOATE

The real issue is whether Commissioners Acri, Watkins and Choate are running or ruining our City. We think their actions have completely demoralized City employees and caused seven, competent, well-trained individuals to leave the City of Big Spring within a two-month period, and accept jobs elsewhere. With Acri, Watkins and Choate in office, the City of Big Spring cannot attract qualified people to fill the vacancies.

Citizens who CARE ask that you vote to recall Commissioners Acri, Watkins and Choate and replace them with Commissioners who will run our City, not ruin it.

Dear Mr. Crow:

Please accept my resignation as Director of Finance effective July 15, 1971. I have accepted a similar position with the City of Lake Jackson, Texas, which I believe to be an excellent opportunity for me and for my family.

This has not been an easy decision for me, but due to the prevailing conditions present which cannot be ignored, I feel it has been a necessary one.

These have been meaningful years for me in Big Spring. It has been my pleasure to have been associated with you both personally and professionally, and I wish the best for you and your family. This is equally true of all the other fine people at City Hall.

Honorable Mayor and City Commission:

Since our meeting yesterday I have given a great deal of thought to my current position as City Manager of the City of Big Spring, and the professional responsibilities of that position.

Following our discussion, I have come to the conclusion that my priorities and goals are substantially different from those of some of the City Commissioners. Feelings on these run deep. I see little possibility of a change in attitudes and attainment of the team work so necessary to a successful municipal government operation.

Therefore, I submit to you my resignation as City Manager of the City of Big Spring, effective June 30, 1971.

Dear Larry:

It is with regret that I hereby inform you of my resignation as City Attorney, to be effective July 1, 1971. I have accepted the position of Assistant City Attorney with the City of Dallas, and will be entering employment there on July 1, 1971.

I have enjoyed working with you and have the deepest respect for you personally and for your ability as a City Manager. I have benefited greatly from my association with you and the City of Big Spring.

However, I feel that due to the present circumstances in the City Government, that the position with the City of Dallas offers me much more certainty and opportunity for growth in my chosen profession than my present position with the City of Big Spring.

Please accept my resignation as Director of Public Works of the City of Big Spring, Texas, effective July 31, 1971.

I have been offered the same position in the City of Victoria, Texas, and under prevailing conditions in Big Spring, I feel that the position there offers greater future opportunities.

It is with regret that I will be leaving some of the finest city employees anywhere. All have contributed in his own way to the knowledge and experience I have gained in the past twelve months.

Dear Jay:

As I leave my position with the City of Big Spring, I am faced with the usual problems of cleaning out the office and other trivia that goes with the circumstances. However, in addition to this, I feel that there are some things which should be a matter of record between us and for your use if you seek employment elsewhere.

Your discharge by the City Commission on a 3-2 vote. In my opinion, was contrary to our City Charter. However, I believe such action was to be expected after my refusal to comply with their request.

So there will be no misunderstanding, I want it clearly understood that at no time did any member of the City Commission give me reason why they felt you should be discharged, nor did any member of the Commission discuss the matter of discharge with me at any time.

Further, you and I were both present in the closed meeting where two of the three who voted to discharge you refused to state any charges, and the third freely admitted his allegations were hearsay.

I left that meeting with the clear understanding that they would set another closed personnel meeting at which you would be given the opportunity to face your accusers.

Of course, this meeting never took place and I consider the subsequent action a breach of faith.

At this time it would be normal to write a letter of recommendation. In this case, I feel that none is needed; that the reputation of the Big Spring Police Department is far more eloquent than anything I might write, but I do want you to know that you are free to use me as a reference at anytime you desire to do so.

Much more could be said after 9 years of association, but I will close with best wishes for you, your family and future happiness.

Sincerely,
L. M. CROW, JR.

Road, Bridge Department Takes Kinks, Bumps Out

By KERRY GUNNELS
Howard County's road and bridge department, which takes the biggest chunk of the county's budget money, is gearing up to get more permanent roads for that money.

In fact, the department's objective this year is an additional 19 1/2 miles of surfaced roads by October 1. Admittedly, it is an ambitious goal.

"Last year we paved only about six and a half miles of road," said County Judge A. G. Mitchell. "This work was at a cost of $425,000. Right now we have 19 1/2 miles ready to shoot with asphalt, and we've spent $184,000 so far."

PLENTY OF WORK
Organizational plans are developing under guidance of Hollis Randell, road-bridge administrator, so that the work can go forward. Also, 20 miles of seal-coat is planned before October.

Road building is a part of the department's major function.

In addition to constructing and maintaining the county roads, the departmental crews are responsible for keeping Howard County Airport in shape. They also look after the barns at the rodeo grounds, keep the seven county fire trucks in repair, and maintain county-owned buildings.

MAINTENANCE
Road maintenance is a big chore, and crews are constantly at work in this area. Potholes caused by tractor tires and hard rains are filled with patching material.

Sometimes, when a road is left for long periods of time without repairs, the patching can get expensive.

Last month, for example the department spent $2,000 on patching material for just one road. Potholes were the main problem to be remedied.

"In a year's time, we use about 100 tons of patching material," said Randell.

EMPLOYEES
George Adkins, Glen Barber, Bobby Dodson, Harold Gilmore, Fred Kennemer, D. E. Powell and Willie Speaker are blade

operators in the department. Utility men are Gary Chrane, Jose Dominguez, Lewis McKee, Gilbert Rodriguez, Ralph Rowe and Billy Weatherall.

W. H. Davis and Lawrence Gilmore operate the county's front-end loaders. Mowers are driven by Frank Mathews and William Mendoza Jr. Billy Pineda and Charles Tate drive the rollers used to crush and flatten a road before it is shot with asphalt and to pack the gravel into a road just shot with asphalt.

Raymond Lopez, Bill Morris, and Grady Redding are drivers. James Cotten is a tireman, Richard Gilmore operates a distributor and Marvin Hanson is a finish blade man.

OTHERS
Arvin Hart does repairs. Frank Montgomery is a serviceman and George Snowden is a mechanic in the department. Clifford Hart is a survey man, Sid Johnson is a driver-operator and Austin Morton is a mechanized dozer operator. Alva Thomas drives a bulldozer. Ernest Wallace is a patch man and Wayne Wallace is purchasing agent for the road and bridge department. M. L. Watts is sign man and W. B. Averitt is shop foreman.

Hollis Randell heads the department and J. D. Nixson is road superintendent.

The county commissioners court, which controls the purse strings of the road and bridge department, is well pleased with its operations so far this year.

"A GOOD JOB"
"I think the men have done a wonderful job," said Judge Mitchell. "I'm real proud of the work they've done."

To give some idea how much work is involved in paving 19 1/2 miles of road, Randell explained the steps the crews go through.

First, the dirt road must be graded up and leveled. Then approximately six inches of base material, usually caliche, is placed on the dirt road, or a road made from the native soil of an area, and the road is graded again.

The caliche — a road material made up of 50 to 85 per cent rock — forms a base on which the primer, or MC-1, is applied.

"The MC-1 kills any dust on the road," said the administrator. "This is necessary because asphalt will not bond with dust. After the primer is put down, we shoot the asphalt."

ASPHALT, ROCK

The asphalt bonds with the MC-1 and the final steps in the process follow. A grade three rock is poured on the asphalt. It is crushed and then another grade, grade five, is spread on the nearly completed road. After the rock is crushed once more, a newly paved road is added to the county's mileage.

The department will operate from a budget of approximately $475,000 this year. Several items of equipment have been purchased for the department since the first of the year, when the new commissioners court took office and Randell later was employed.

Five trucks have been bought and converted into firetrucks, making a total of seven county-owned firetrucks: one each at Gay Hill, Knott, Jonesboro, Silver Heels and Sand Springs, and two at the county warehouse. All the trucks are manned by volunteer firemen, except the two at the warehouse, which are manned by the road and bridge crew when they are needed.

OCT. 1 GOAL
Also purchased was a new crew-cab pickup, a low boy trailer and a rock-crushing grid roller.

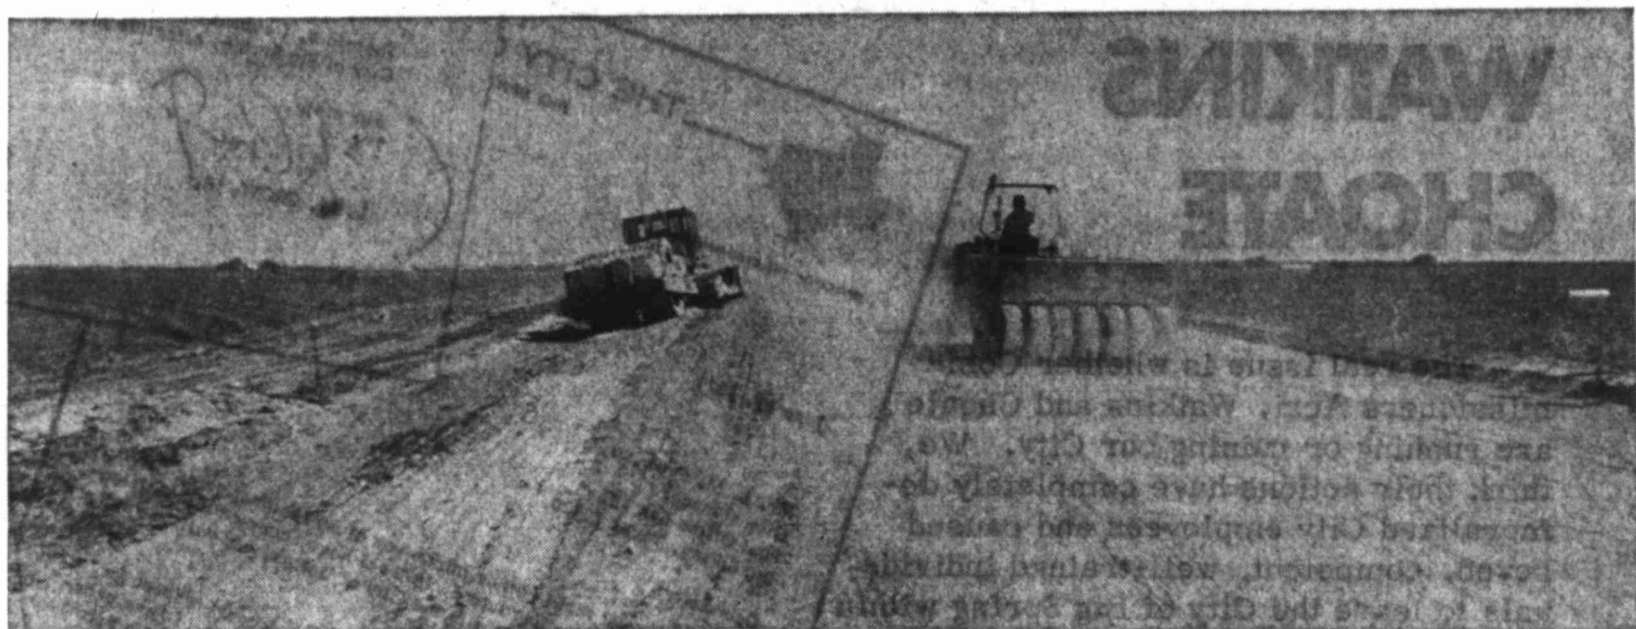

If no great problems occur, the department will reach its projected goal of 19 1/2 miles of paved road by Oct. 1. But what about the "bridge" part of its name?

"I guess the name originated when there were several of the old wooden type bridges in the county," said Randell. "Now a bridge is considered to be anything longer than 20 feet. Anything under 20 feet is called a culvert."

"We don't have many bridges in Howard County, but we do have plenty of culverts."

Air pollution is a big problem. In fact it may seem to be too big a problem for the man on the street. But it's not. There are a lot of things all of us can do to clean up the air we breathe.

We can reduce automobile exhaust by maintaining our car's anti-pollution devices. Or by buying a car with just enough horse power to meet our driving needs. Or by having its engine tuned every 10,000 miles or every year.

We can keep gasoline-powered tools in top operating condition; we can support local, state, and national clean-air programs; and as employers we can initiate anti-pollution measures. There are a lot of things we can do. Let's.

People start pollution. People can stop it.

Cash-For-Cans Doing Well

The D.K.T. Co. Inc., Adolph Coors Company distributor for the Midland, Odessa, Kermit and Big Spring area, has announced that the first half of 1971, aluminum collections in the Coors "cash-for-cans" is running "substantially ahead" of 1970.

From January through June local collections totaled 297,976 pounds of aluminum, equivalent to about 6,853,448 cans. In the comparable six month period a year ago, the distributorship received 42,769 pounds of aluminum.

Like all other Coors distributors in the regional brewery's 10½ state marketing area, the D.K.T. Co. pays a dime a pound for aluminum containers as part of a Coors effort to fight litter and solid waste.

Since the cash-for-cans program began in January, 1970, the local distributorship has paid out $2,879.30 to individuals and organizations which have collected the aluminum. Participating civic and service groups have re-channeled much of that money into a wide variety of community projects.

All aluminum received in the program is forwarded for recycling. At the Big Spring warehouse cans are accepted Monday and Thursday from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m.

The program is not restricted to Coors cans. All clean aluminum containers are accepted.

MAKE MUSIC FOR REUNION — Playing for the traditional dance for the Howard-Glasscock County Old Settlers Reunion here Friday evening (July 30) will be the Country Cousins. From left are Memory F. Alderman, Billy Ray Dane, Vandoyl Murphree, Mrs. Vandoyl (Dollie) Murphree, Lois McElrath and Louise Burgess. The Murphrees are officials in the Reunion, he serving as president, she as secretary-treasurer.

'Just Fun' Becomes 'Busy Band'

Local Group To Entertain Settlers

Home jam sessions of country western music turned into a busy-bee band for Vandoyl Murphree and his friends.

As for Murphree and his wife, Dollie, they will be doubling in brass for the Howard-Glasscock Old Settlers Reunion. He is the new president of the association and she is secretary-treasurer. The big job of putting on this year's production of the gathering that dates back more than four-score years is in their hands. In addition, they head up the Country Cousins, the band which will furnish music for the traditional reunion dance.

Vandoyl, who has lived here all except four years of his life, has been playing a fiddle almost since he can remember. Mrs. Murphree, who plays the 12-string guitar, has been a resident since 1950.

He has been active in IOOF

Lodge 372, and several friends in the order were fond of playing music, and from this stemmed a custom of meeting at each other's home to play for the fun of it.

But their fame began to spread, and soon they were accepting bookings for dances and other functions. They have played engagements all over this part of the country from Menard to Seminole, and from Ozona and Pecos to Big Spring.

However, they reserve the second Saturday evening for Big Spring, for this is the big get-together at the Municipal Auditorium under auspices of the Big Spring Country Western Music Association.

Other members of the band are Memory F. Alderman, vocals and guitar; Billy Ray Dane, lead guitar; Lois McElrath, mandolin; Louise Burgess, rhythm guitar.

Attempt To Get Off Welfare Rolls Thwarted

SEATTLE (AP) — A zoning regulation has thwarted a Seattle man's attempt to get off welfare rolls and go into business.

For two days Sheridan Brown, 26, operated a swap shop and earned $150 until a building inspector told him the shop was not in an area zoned for selling used merchandise.

The notice came one day after he had told the welfare office he could make it on his own.

Brown says his motto is "when there isn't a job, create one."

He had obtained a business license from the city, but apparently when his license application was processed, the Building Department was not consulted as is customary.

Brown, a former Boeing Co. employee, had pooled his family's resources to open the shop.

President's Calculated Venture

There is one point of agreement about President Nixon's decision to visit Red China — it was a surprise if not a shocker.

But at that point, agreement gives way to a typical polarization of views much as iron filings zipping to the attracting poles. At the moment, the weight of opinion seems to favor the dramatic visit by the President; yet there is a substantial block of reserve, if not skepticism. And at the extreme end, there are those who are vehemently opposed to any official contact with China.

At any rate, there will be months before the journey is undertaken, and these can be employed in cautious preparation. There seems to be a growing feeling that major powers must communicate with less rigidity in an effort to find some ground of mutually satisfactory accommodation to promote the hope of peace and diminution of tensions. Some skepticism is an asset so long as it does not give way to intransigent cynicism.

This is a delicate mission for Mr. Nixon. Some may accuse him of a timetable with an eye on the 1972 presidential race, but this adventure, also has a potential for an opposite effect if it were to fall flat. Manifestly, the President feels the potentials for understanding and lessened tensions justify the gamble.

We May Need Tasaday Secret

Anthropologists have discovered a tribe of primitive Stone Age people living in the mountain forests of Mindanao Island in the Philippines.

The small tribe, called the Tasaday Manube, will provide a rare chance to study primitive man. It has survived without the standard tools of civilization. The Tasaday have no metal, no agriculture, no knowledge of the sea and may be the only people in the world today who do not know about or use tobacco.

This means the tribe has lived off the world as it is, without the many changes wrought by modern man. Tasaday live without salt, sidewalks, corn, cars, sugar, ships, cigarettes and television.

The tropical rain forest tribe lives without the benefits or drawbacks of technology.

Their way of life, their relationship to their circumscribed environment should be carefully studied and compared to what is known about previous Stone Age men.

But the anthropologists should be careful about introducing them too rapidly to the 20th Century. Other primitive men — the American Indian, the Australian aborigine — have found the shock of civilization and the often devious ways of modern man too much to absorb.

Besides, considering the way we mess things up, the primitive tribe's method of survival might be useful, should modern man destroy his civilization.

Hail, The New 'Post'

Around 'The Rim'

Bob Whipkey

Maybe the world won't go to the dogs after all. Maybe it will return to some degree of normalcy. Maybe that vague period known as the "good old days" will return.

What lends some hope is the appearance on the news stands of an issue of the Saturday Evening Post which in many ways is so similar in format and content to the "good old Post" that it will evoke pleasant nostalgia for many people of an advancing generation.

YOU REMEMBER the decline and fall of the Post. A changing world first dealt it a blow, and a succession of publishers and editors, in desperation, changed it around, altered its appearance, threw out some popular writers and features and tried to make it a "mod" book. It turned out that a lot of people didn't want a mod book, but wanted the Post the way it was since the days of their childhood. So the Post — that generation of it — passed from the scene.

NOW A NEW group has acquired title and whatever else it took to restore an old-timer, and the "new" Post has emerged remarkably like the "old" Post.

Strong emphasis is put on the paintings of famed folk artist Norman Rockwell, and he's on the cover again, as well as in several other pages.

Tugboat Annie is back, and so is that supersalesman of the tractor world, Alexander Botts. There's an Elly Queen mystery, and there are choice Ted Key (remember Hazel?) cartoons. There are some new authors, of course, because many of the original staff of the SatEvePost have gone on, in all likelihood, to writing for the Celestial Gazette.

BUT THE old atmosphere is there.

Ben Franklin's likeness is back on the masthead; the shaded headletter type jumps out of the page like an old friend.

The letters from the public in this inaugural issue indicate a warm welcome; some people are greeting the Post as though it were the prodigal son.

NOT ONLY do they want the magazine for reading; many of them hasten to recall how, as youngsters, they delivered the SatEvePost in their home communities. You may recall this type of lad. With his special bag over his shoulder, he trudged around town each week delivering copies and soliciting subscriptions. The probability was that he earned his first bicycle — or at least a flashlight or a baseball glove — as a premium for signing up Post subscribers.

NO MAGAZINE, ever, wended its way into the very heart of America as did Cyrus H. K. Curtis' original SatEvePost. It was, next to the Bible, the most standard reading in many a home. Kids learned to read by the pages of the Post. They picked up some knowledge of the basic moralities of a wholesome society through the stern presentations of the Post. They were exposed to good writing, too; both in entrancing articles and stirring fiction. The serials kept members of the family looking forward to Post day, and then scrapping to see who got the magazine first.

THIS WAS an era in U.S. history. An old-timer cannot but hold hope that the revival of the "old" Post returns us to some of the gracious ways we knew in that era.

'Slow Progress'

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Any effort to describe the economic condition of the country today requires a careful selection of words from the vocabulary of economic terminology. Some statisticians who are familiar with business surveys call it a "creeping recovery" that is supposed to be on the way, as they declare that "slow progress" is being made, though there are signs of a "moving up."

ALL IN ALL, it is clear that the results so far are less than what were hoped for or estimated in January. Yet there is a satisfaction that the business trend has encouraging symptoms. Thus, for instance, retail sales in June rose 8 per cent over a year earlier. Even with the higher prices, this can be reckoned as a 4.3 per cent gain in quantity. Unemployment last month went down from 6.2 per cent to 5.6 per cent of the civilian labor force.

THE LATEST WORD on industrial production, which the Federal Reserve Board has just issued, shows an increase in June, though the index figure remains 3.8 per cent below the peak that was recorded in July, 1969, which was before the long slide began. The index, however, is only 0.5 per cent below its level of August, 1969, the last month before the auto strike produced a sharp drop in industrial output.

The new data reveal that the production of television sets, furniture, some appliances and consumer staples increased in June, whereas industrial and commercial equipment decreased. Steelmaking went down last month, apparently because stockpiling in advance of the threatened strike had been completed. THE SIGNIFICANCE of the figures is that the economy isn't exactly stagnant but isn't making rapid progress either. The indications are that, while some parts of the business structure are faring better than others, recession as a whole hasn't been cured and inflation hasn't been curbed.

TALK STILL GOES on here as to what President Nixon will do about the situation. Will he ask Congress to put into effect earlier some of the tax cuts that are scheduled to start next year? Certainly any such move would stimulate buying by consumers and increase the demand for many products. Also, any changes in the tax laws which give business a chance to get the benefit of lower rates would mean that more capital would be available. It would be especially helpful to small enterprises. All this would be advantageous in a broad sense to business and industry.

THE ADMINISTRATION is confronted, too, with the problem of job creation, particularly for the veterans of the Vietnam war who on returning to the United States have been finding it difficult to get employment. Special efforts unquestionably will be made to take care of the men released from military service, and these steps may mean public funds for certain industries in connection with their programs of expansion.

There is no doubt that during the next six months, the administration will try to accelerate the progress of the economy so that unemployment figures will be cut down and the business of the country will be given a chance to restore profits.

World Tinderbox

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — Pinning the tag of isolationism on left-of-center critics who call for a complete withdrawal from Vietnam is part of the game in the bitter Vietnam dispute. Pulling out from Vietnam must be a prelude to pulling back everywhere and, therefore, the isolationist tag.

BUT IF that is isolationism there is another form that has more serious implications for America's role in the world. That is simply doing nothing or following long-outdated patterns. This kind of isolation is evident in what is for the long pull the most threatening situation on the entire planet.

It is not merely that the conflict between India and Pakistan could result in open warfare, although that possibility cannot be ruled out. The fact of 6,700,000 refugees in a country trying to climb out of the pit of poverty is in itself enough to destroy whatever chance Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government had to live up to her campaign promises to start giving the Indian people a better life. And the stream of refugees from East Pakistan is continuing at the rate of perhaps 40,000 a day.

AT THIS writing neither the President, the Secretary of State nor anyone in high office in the Administration has spoken a word about a catastrophe at least as menacing as, say, Vietnam was a decade ago. In this instance events promise to move much faster than in Southeast Asia.

The White House, far from taking any affirmative action, has, according to well-founded reports, vetoed a proposal from the State Department. This would have stopped shipments of arms to Pakistan after the ruthless slaughter in East Pakistan by the army of President Yahya Khan.

THE WHITE House argument was that Yahya Khan's army was the only force keeping the order in East Pakistan after the slaughter by that same army of up to 200,000 persons, most of them Hindus, and destruction of cities said by eye-witnesses to be comparable to bombed German towns. Without small-arms replacements, necessitating withdrawal of the army, chaos in East Pakistan would be total.

THE UNITED STATES favors continuing economic aid to Pakistan in opposition to the view of the other Western partners in the consortium that over the years has been putting billions of aid into the country, according to Peter M. Cargill, head of the World Bank's South Asia Department. The opposition view is that at this stage, when long-range economic development has become all but impossible, aid will be diverted for military purposes.

OUTSIDE RELIEF for the refugees in India and for the frightened battle-scarred people of East Pakistan has come in a trickle.

The trickle is pitifully inadequate. It may be that the very scale of the disaster produces paralysis. Doing nothing is in itself a policy. It is isolationism. When the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse ride, their course cannot be stayed by political boundaries.

A VERY LIVE SPECTRE

Strikes Add To Economic Woes

By LINDA RUBEY
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Labor problems plagued business this week as telephone workers walked off their jobs and other strikes loomed across the nation.

A strike by 400,000 of American Telephone Co.'s one million employees began Wednesday when the Communication Workers of America rejected the company's latest contract offer. Over three years the offer contained a wage and fringe increase of more than 30 per cent.

Meanwhile, the United Transportation Union prepared for a selective strike of five major railroads. A top railroad official said such a strike "would not be much different than a nationwide rail strike."

SHIPPING STALLS

In other labor problems, hundreds of ships were idle on the West Coast as a strike by longshoremen ended its second week. Walkouts by 39,000 copper workers and 17,000 Western Union workers continued, as did a strike by 5,000 members of the United Automobile Workers against the J. I. Case farm equipment company.

Joseph A. Beirne, president of the Communications Workers of America, said the telephone company and the union were only about 1 per cent apart now on wages. Pay now averages $13.3 a week.

Union sources said the key issue blocking a settlement is the distribution of the wage package. The union demands what it considers more equitable distribution of pay to workers in various sections of the country and better pay for female operators in relation to male craftsmen.

SERVICE MAINTAINED

Service was maintained throughout the Bell network by the company's 300,000-member supervisory staff who manned the largely automated switchboard system and performed emergency repair and installation services.

The United Transportation Union, which represents about 190,000 firemen, brakemen and other train operators struck the Southern Railway and Union Pacific Railroad. A temporary restraining order was issued preventing a strike against the Chicago & Northwestern Railway until July 23.

CONTINUES GAIN

Two other railroads, the Northern Pacific and the Norfolk & Western Railway, are scheduled to be struck by the UTU July 24.

The Federal Reserve Board

reported this week that industrial production rose in June for the fourth consecutive month. The June increase of 4 per cent was less than the brisk rise in May.

But analysts said the figures substantiated the fact that the economy was making a steady if unspectacular recovery. George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, said the imposition of direct wage and price controls seemed to be the only answer for halting inflation.

He also noted that organized labor was not "advocating controls."

Wilson Seeks To Avoid Labor Split Over Common Market

LONDON (AP) — Former Prime Minister Harold Wilson is trying to hold his opposition Labor party together today as rank and file delegates debate whether Britain should enter the European Common Market.

The majority of those attending the special Saturday conference support union militants, who are against market entry on any terms. The militants are expected to oppose joining the market when the House of Commons decides the issue Oct. 28.

But sentiment in the parliamentary wing of the party favors British entry into the economic community. About 100 of the 287 Labor members of Parliament favor entry and many refuse to be bound by a conference decision.

Wilson is reported determined to avoid at any cost a vote that would split the party. He wants to debate the issues fully and defer an official decision on Labor's position for a national executive committee meeting July 28. He was scheduled as the final conference speaker.

But some of the cards already were stacked against the former prime minister. Ian Mikardo, the leftwing lawmaker presiding at the conference, opposed joining the Common Market.

A special Conservative party conference in the same hall Wednesday solidly backed Prime Minister Edward Heath's call for market membership.

Heath's government, with a majority of 28 in Commons, can win approval for entry on its own benches no matter how Labor votes.

But some union militants want to push through a motion at the conference pledging that the next Labor government, when elected, would withdraw from the Common Market if Britain is by then a member.

Market supporters were encouraged Friday by two public opinion polls which showed opposition to joining the market has fallen in the last two weeks from nearly 60 per cent to 44 per cent.

What Others Say

If consumers want to buy bread in half pound loaves and a bakery wants to sell it that way, why should the state tell them no, they have to settle for a full pound? There can be no sensible answer. But there is a reason: Present law prohibits half pound loaves, and some big bakers would find it inconvenient, perhaps costly, to have to meet competition from half pound bakers.

Another bill would tighten state tolerance of underweight loaves, which now can be one ounce less than their advertised weight of a pound. An ounce isn't much, but systematic short-weighting can add up to a massive cheating of consumers.

MILWAUKEE JOURNAL

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The Internal Revenue Service has ruled a summer weekend at a country home, or a resort, is tax deductible as entertainment, providing business is discussed during the period in question. The host must be able to prove that he has a logical business relationship with the person entertained, and the weekend invitation was not just for pleasure.

While the IRS cited no examples as to what would constitute a tax deductible weekend, we believe the following would be acceptable:

"WELL, MISS Goodheart, I guess you're wondering why I brought you out here to the Secret Valley Hotel for the weekend."

"The idea did pass through my head, Mr. Rathbone."

"Drink?"

"Thank you, I'll have a teeny weensy double vodka on the rocks."

"Miss Goodheart, I was wondering if you had any ideas on how we could increase our sales on hydraulic turbine fluids."

"I'VE ONLY BEEN with the company two weeks Mr. Rathbone, and being in the secretarial pool I really haven't had much chance to think about it."

"I'm going to ask you something very personal now, Miss Goodheart, and you don't have to answer if you don't want to."

"Yes, Mr. Rathbone?"

"If we were going to set up a Midwest sales office for the company should we do it in Akron, Ohio, or Springfield, Ill.?"

"GOSH, MR. Rathbone, they both sound great to me."

"Miss Goodheart, I knew when I first saw you that you had a head for business. Tell me something. If we merged with Cleary Plastics and spun off our interest in Alpha Containers do you think the Justice Department would give us any trouble?"

"I say do what you want as you only live once. My, Mr. Rathbone, your hands are warm."

"YOU DO something to me, Miss Goodheart. I've never felt this way about a woman before."

"I don't want you to get any ideas, Mr. Rathbone, that just because I came to the Secret Valley Hotel with you for the weekend, that I can be trifled with."

"And I respect you for it, Miss Goodheart. I want you to know I brought you out here because I see in you a person who can make a great contribution to the company. You're young and fresh and pink-cheeked and that's what the company needs."

"MR. RATHBONE, you're chewing on my earring."

"Sorry. What I'm trying to find out from you is a way we can cut costs, up production and still compete with the Japanese."

"That's a big question, Mr. Rathbone. Maybe we should sleep on it."

"Miss Goodheart, you have made me and my accountant the happiest men in this world."

All Artificial

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — The new amusement park at California Magic Mountain contains over two million gallons of water in its artificial lakes and streams. An automated sprinkler system annually provides the equivalent of 52 inches of rainfall.

My Answer

Billy Graham

When our minister asks us to come forward what must I do and say? Should I pray silently or aloud?

You must come with a sense of need. "And my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory." You must come confessing your sins. "If we confess our sins he is faithful and just to forgive our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." You must come turning from your sins. "Let the wicked forsake his way and the unrighteous man his thoughts." You must come believing. "He that cometh to God must believe that he is and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him." You must come receiving Christ. "As many as received him to them gave he the power to become the sons of God."

As to praying aloud or in secret, God judges our prayers by sincerity and earnestness, and not whether they are vocal or silent. If your heart cries out for God, it matters not how it is expressed, for the Bible says, "Whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved."

A Devotion For Today...

When the people read the letter, they were filled with joy by the message of encouragement. (Acts 15:31, TEV)

PRAYER: Father, we thank You for friends who encourage us in difficult times. Help us to be channels of Your grace and love. Amen. (From the 'Upper Room')

Taking a chance

That's a high fence for a young man to walk, but take a good look at his face, and you'll see that he's not only determined to do it, but confident that he can.

Chances are, with this attitude, he won't slip. At least, he'll have far less chance of slipping than if he approached "fence-walking" plagued by self-doubt.

So many of us approach tasks, challenges, opportunities, with a nagging conviction of our own failure, even before we begin. We need more faith in ourselves. Self-faith comes only from a far greater faith! Faith in God.

Face up to your own "fence-walking." In the course of life, we all have to do quite a bit of it. Find the courage to start by listening to what your church has to say to you.

Most Reaction

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Of all the letters you have printed in your column, does any one stand out for having created more reaction than any of the others?

A MINISTER: Yes. This one. And it's worth repeating:

DEAR ABBY: I am the most heartbroken person on earth. I always found time to go everywhere else but to see my old gray-haired parents. They sat at home alone loving me just the same. It is too late now to give them those few hours of happiness I was too selfish and too busy to give, and now when I go to visit their graves and look at the green grass above them I wonder if God will ever forgive me for the heartaches I must have caused them. I pray that you will print this, Abby, to tell those who still have their parents to visit them and show their love and respect while there is still time. For it is later than you think. "TOO LATE!"

mind," I hear myself replying in my most agreeable manner. "Not at all. Go right ahead." Why? NONSMOKER DEAR NON: Because you'd rather put up with the smoke than bear the guilt of denying the smoker his nicotine lift, which he obviously craves. Every smoker knows that nonsmokers do not appreciate smoke in their faces. The hooked one asks only in order to reduce his own guilt feelings. Next time, tell the truth.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think it's a good idea for a man to make his wife jealous once in a while just to keep her on her toes?

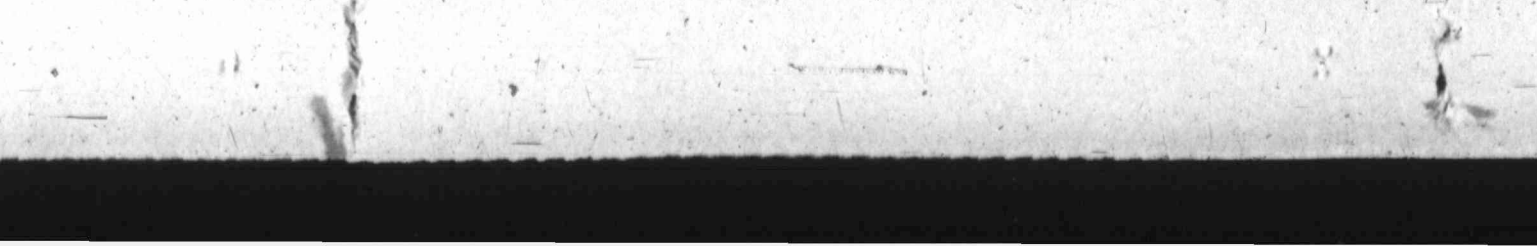

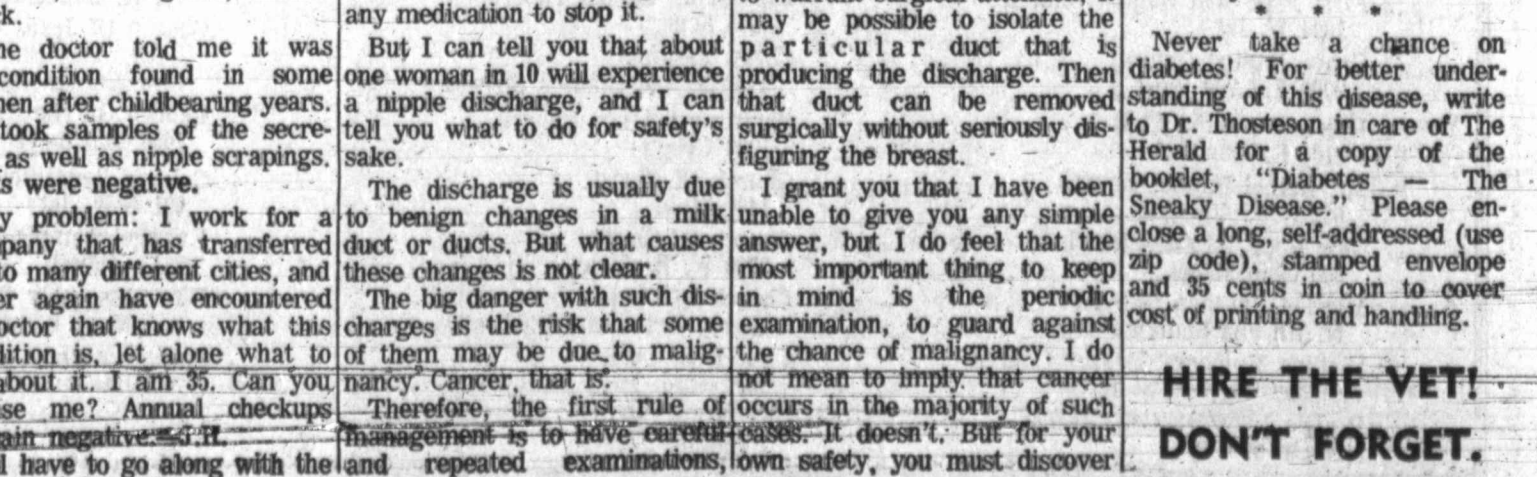

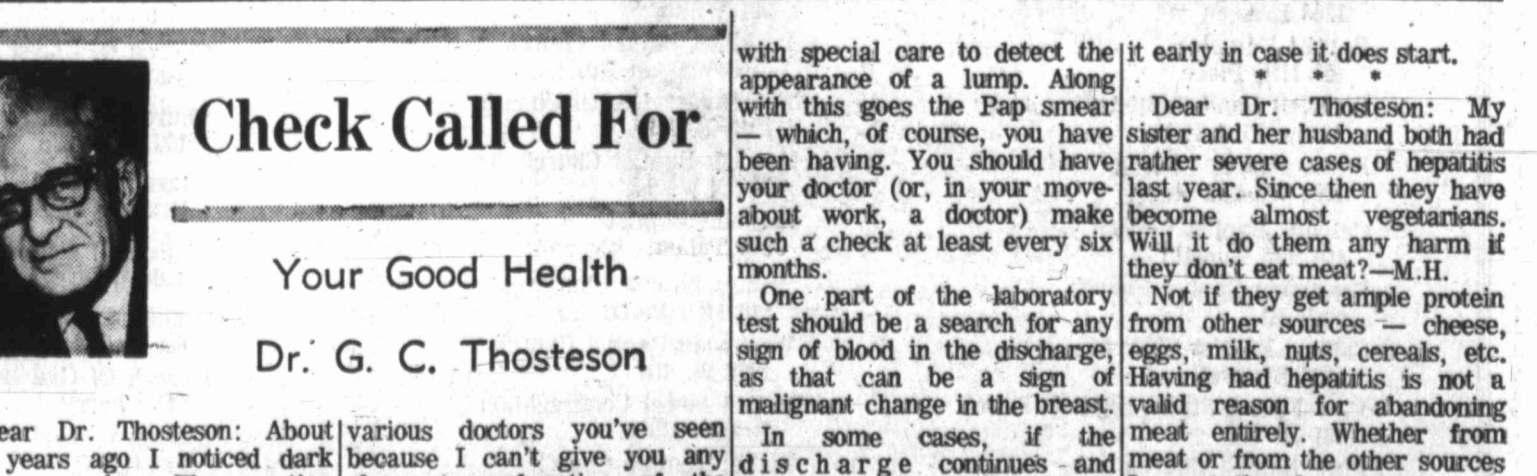

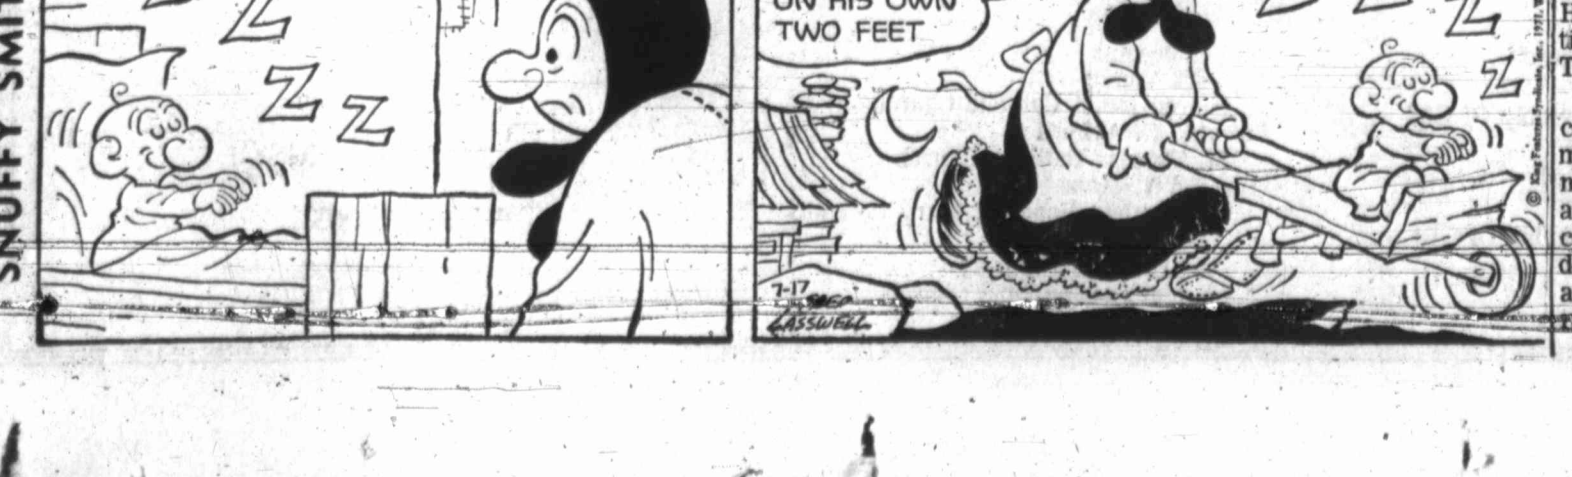

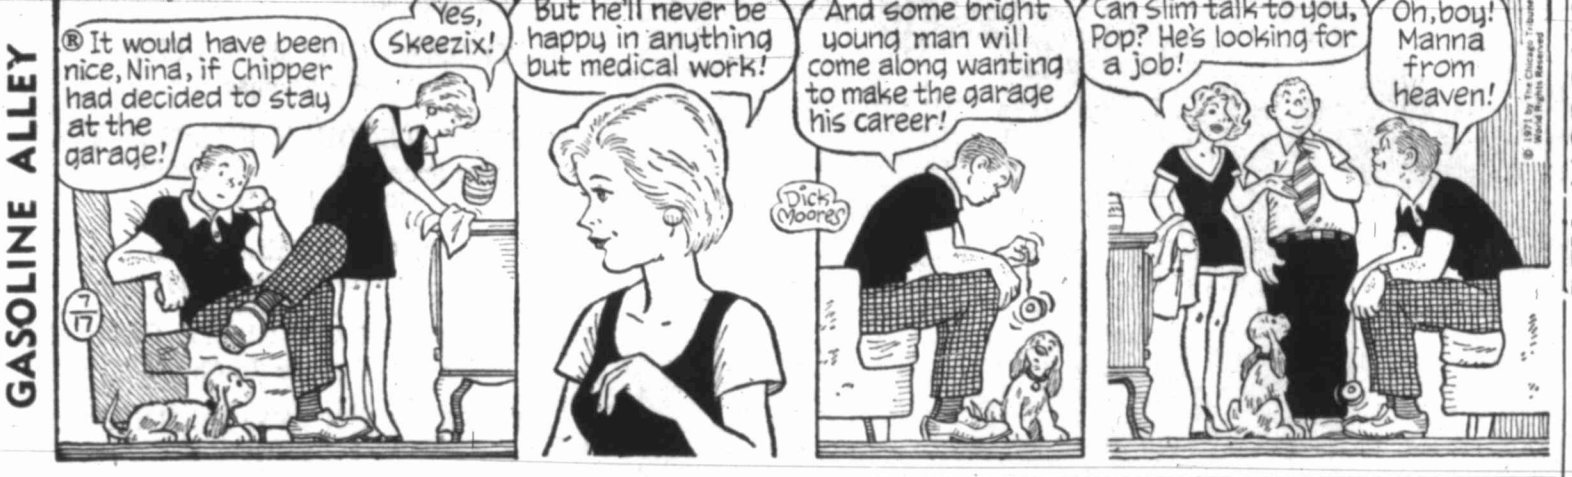

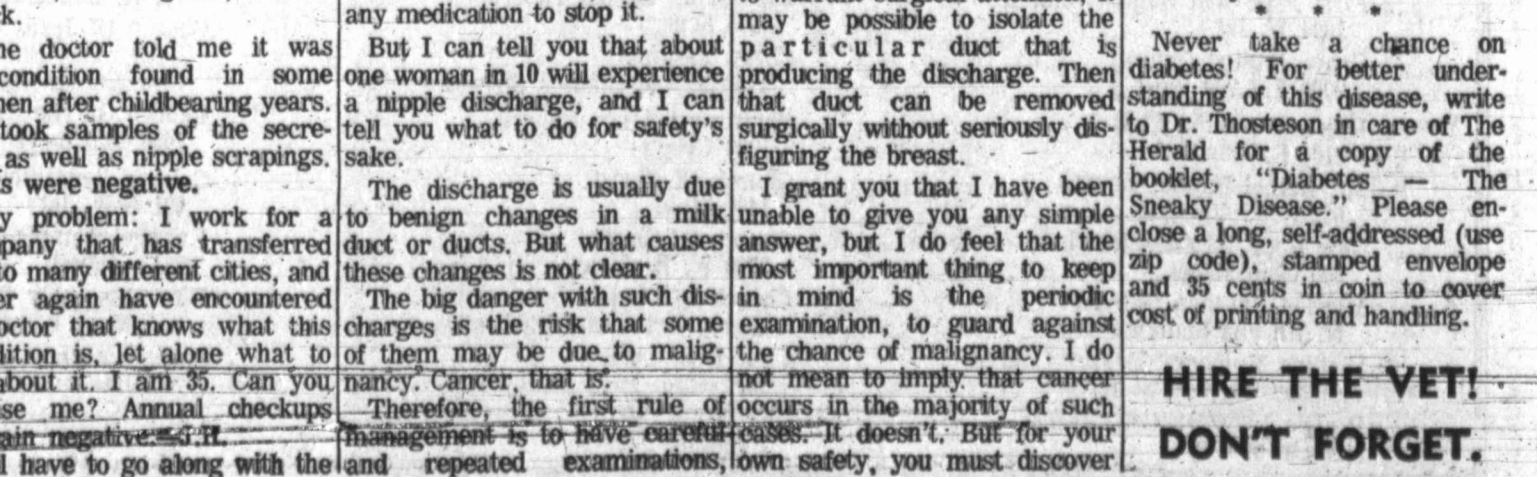

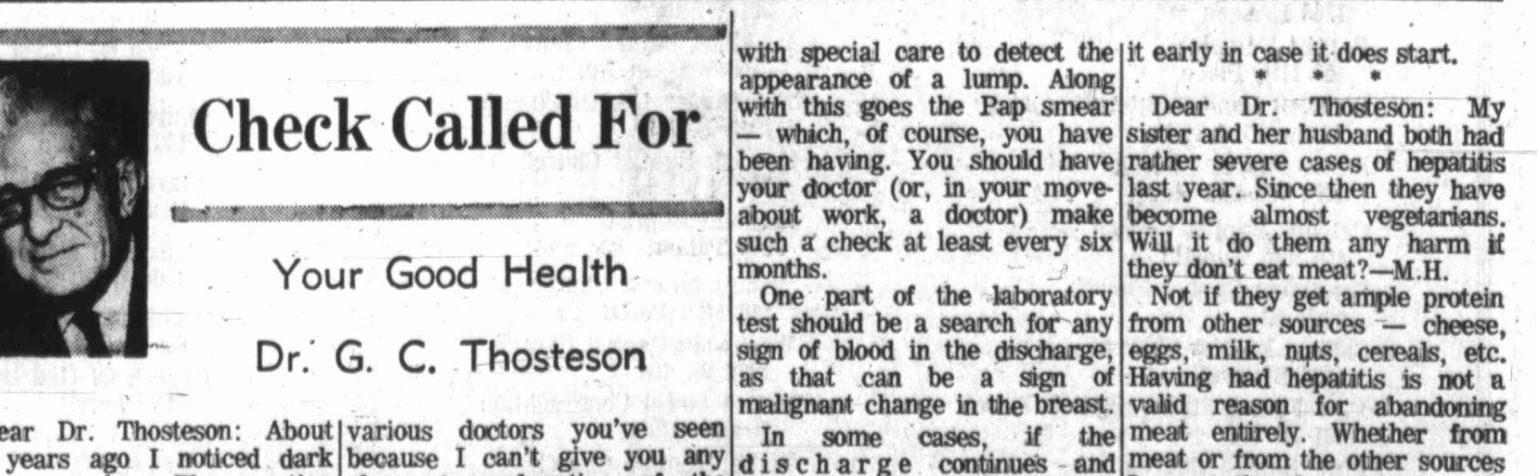

MAC: Forget it. Instead of keeping her on HER toes, you're apt to find her on your HEELS.

CONFIDENTIAL TO M.K.K. IN SIOUX CITY, IOWA: My answer ("Let the 15-year-old boy give his $100 ring to his teenage girl friend.") was not snap judgment on my part. The ring belonged to the boy, so it's his to give away, throw away or wear in his nose if he so chooses, and his mother has nothing to say about

Store Agrees To Withdraw Bands

NEW YORK (AP) — Tiffany & Co. has agreed to quit selling crocodile watchbands and remove all crocodile products from its inventory.

Check Called For

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: About six years ago I noticed dark spots on my breast. The secretion is clear, dark green, almost black.

The doctor told me it was a condition found in some women after childbearing years. He took samples of the secretion as well as nipple scrapings. Tests were negative.

My problem: I work for a company that has transferred me to many different cities, and never again have encountered a doctor that knows what this condition is, let alone what to do about it. I am 35. Can you advise me? Annual checkups remain negative.

I'll have to go along with the various doctors you've seen because I can't give you any clear-cut explanation of the cause of such a discharge, nor any medication to stop it.

But I can tell you that about one woman in 10 will experience a nipple discharge, and I can tell you what to do for safety's sake.

The discharge is usually due to benign changes in a milk duct or ducts. But what causes these changes is not clear.

The big danger with such discharges is the risk that some of them may be due to malignancy. Cancer, that is.

Therefore, the first rule of management is to have careful and repeated examinations, with special care to detect the appearance of a lump. Along with this goes the Pap smear — which, of course, you have been having. You should have your doctor (or, in your move-about work, a doctor) make such a check at least every six months.

One part of the laboratory test should be a search for any sign of blood in the discharge, as that can be a sign of malignant change in the breast.

In some cases, if the discharge continues and becomes enough of a nuisance to warrant surgical attention, it may be possible to isolate the particular duct that is producing the discharge. Then that duct can be removed surgically without seriously disfiguring the breast.

I grant you that I have been unable to give you any simple answer, but I do feel that the most important thing to keep in mind is the periodic examination, to guard against the chance of malignancy. I do not mean to imply that cancer occurs in the majority of such cases. It doesn't. But for your own safety, you must discover it early in case it does start.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My sister and her husband both had rather severe cases of hepatitis last year. Since then they have become almost vegetarians. Will it do them any harm if they don't eat meat? — M.H.

Not if they get ample protein from other sources — cheese, eggs, milk, nuts, cereals, etc. Having had hepatitis is not a valid reason for abandoning meat entirely. Whether from meat or from the other sources I mentioned, protein is necessary.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Wayne Keeps Film 'All In The Family'

"Big Jake" was a family affair for John Wayne. The rugged star, whose phenomenal decades, was joined by three of his sons in the production of the motion picture.

Also joining Wayne are Chris Mitchum (Bob's actor son), who recently appeared in "Rio Lobo"; singer Bobby Vinton (who has sold over 20 million records in the past five years) in his motion picture debut; and Bruce Cabot, who makes his 15th appearance in a Wayne movie as the Apache scout who joins the search for the kidnapped lad.

The legendary town of Durango, Mexico, where Pachito Villa led his group of bandoleros, was used for location filming. It remains one of the last remnants of the old Mexico, with its way of life barely changed in over a century. The famous arched courtyard of Don Luis Flores, where Villa and his men slaughtered 750 persons, was used for the climactic shoot-out.

"Big Jake," Wayne feels, combines all the classic elements of the Western film, brimming with rich characterization and the powerful action that audiences have come to expect of a Wayne movie. And with the debut of young John Ethan Wayne, the film contains the talents of three generations of the Wayne family.

Director George Sherman's association with Wayne goes back almost four decades when he guided the early Wayne series of two-reelers that went under the collective title of "The Three Mesquiteers." He

Cheapest Part Of Movie Is The Film

Producer-director Robert Wise, who began his career as a cutter, maintains that raw film is the cheapest component of a motion picture.

For this reason, he says, he never hesitated during shooting of his production of "The Andromeda Strain," now showing at the ... to use even as much as 10,000 feet of film a day.

"Far better to overshoot," said the noted moviemaker, "than to go into the cutting room at film's end only to discover you're lacking a fragment of celluloid that might spell the difference between a great scene and one that's merely passable."

"The Andromeda Strain," starring Arthur Hill, David Wayne, James Olson and Kate Reid, is based on Michael Crichton's best-seller of an outer-space microorganism that reaches Earth aboard a returning capsule and threatens man's survival.

Wise is one of film's most honored talents. He has won four Oscars, two each for "The Sound of Music" and "West Side Story," and also received the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences' Irving Thalberg Award for distinguished contributions to the screen. His first assignment as a film editor in the industry was on the Orson Welles classic, "Citizen Kane."

THE BAREFOOT EXECUTIVE
... Walt Disney feature

TV-Pickin' Chimp Not So Impossible

Although the basic premise of "The Barefoot Executive," in which a TV-oriented chimp proves to have the ability to pick the highest rated shows, seems incredible, it is actually based on fact.

At the Yerkes Primate Research Center on the sylvan campus of Emory University near Atlanta, Ga., the 136 resident gorillas, orangutans and chimps were getting bored. Bringing in television sets to amuse the primates seemed to be the answer. By all indications, the experiment is a huge success. In short, the apes have all gone bananas over television. They spend hours totally involved in it and have favorite types of shows. The sets remain on daily from 9 to 5.

One chimp named Dobbs was a ready-made fan by virtue of a year's residence at the home of a Santa Barbara woman. He got hooked on westerns, the more violent the better.

"Dobbs can even tell the bad guy," Dr. Geoffrey Bourne, the director of the research center, related. "He associates the bad guy with violence and often begins jumping up and down before the bad guy starts anything rough."

Lest anyone doubt the effects of TV on impressionable minds, Bourne told of one incident when an animal show depicted two chimps making a shambles of a house. "The next day Dobbs tore up his room," Bourne said.

The greatest contribution of TV comes when it is necessary to isolate an animal for long periods to conduct metabolic tests, Bourne explained. "They're locked away by themselves for months at a time and used to get terribly lonely before we introduced television."

"The Barefoot Executive," a comedy spoof on the television rating system, opens Saturday at the Jet, stars Kurt Russell, Heather North, Joe Flynn, Wally Cox, Harry Morgan and John Ritter. Directed by Robert Butler for producer Bill Anderson, the script by Joseph McEvety was based on an original story by Lila Garrett & Bernie Kahn and Stewart C. Billett. A Buena Vista release.

SHE LIES, SHE SCHEMES, SHE CHEATS

Soap Opera Viewers Love Lisa

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The mail pours in to Lisa Hughes, offering her advice, asking for dates, telling her what people are saying behind her back, warning her to mend her villainous ways.

To a large number of the 10 million people estimated to watch "As the World Turns" every afternoon on CBS: Lisa Hughes is a real person. She lies, she cheats, she schemes — they love to hate her.

She is equally real to actress Eileen Fulton, who throws as much fire and spunk into fighting for her own identity as she has in bringing Lisa alive for 12 years on television's No. 1 soap opera.

"There's a little bit of Lisa in me, the fire and the spunk, but don't carry that analogy too far," said Miss Fulton, a glamorous and petite ash blonde. For instance, she doesn't lie about her age — she just refuses to give it, saying, "I'm not going to tell my age until I'm a little old lady, then people can say, 'Goodness, I didn't know she was that old!'"

She sorts her mail into two piles, one addressed to Lisa Hughes and the other to Eileen Fulton. She happily notes that she is now outdrawing Lisa. Some of the mail takes her to task. She said, "I'm lovingly bad. That's what makes the role fun. People say, I love her, but she makes me so mad I could shake her."

Some people tell Lisa she had better be careful because when she is offscreen people are talking behind her back. One man asked Lisa for a date. Eileen declined politely and he wrote her parents to complain that she had not been brought up properly.

Eileen is establishing her own identity as a singer and night club performer and stage actress. She played a leading role in "The Fantasticks" for three years. At one time she was in "As the World Turns," the matinee performances of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" as the mousy, alcoholic wife, and the nighttime performances of "The Fantasticks."

"Of course, I want to do other things besides soap opera," she said. "Broadway. I particularly want to do a musical. Recording is important to me. I'd like to do some nighttime variety shows."

"But I see no reason to give up Lisa at this time. It gives me a very large audience and I want to make it work for me. People will drive 600 miles to see Lisa at a stock theater. Television is an intimate medium and people feel like they know you. It's like family. They come to see their little girl."

The networks take the soap operas as seriously as do the fans. Seventeen daily serials form the backbone of the three network daytime schedules. CBS, with eight soap operas, has a firm grip on first place in the ratings and the shows are among the most profitable on the network.

HOAX DEBUNKED Plant Doesn't Take Century To Bloom

By LINDA CROSS

Agave, A. Americanus has been hoaxing the Southwest public for a long time, but American Encyclopedia has exposed it. According to the encyclopedia, A. A.A., better known as a century plant, does not really take 100 years to bloom, but merely 10 to 50 years.

After heartlessly debunking a cherished legend, the encyclopedia went on to add that some sniveling species of the plant, which is not a cactus but a member of the Amaryllis family, actually have the nerve to bloom annually. Somehow, it does not seem fitting to apply the name century plant to these annual boudiers.

The true century plant, no matter how long it takes it to bloom, produces its yellow-green blooms only once and then dies. The remaining roots produce a new plant.

Recognizable by its saw-toothed, gray-green leaves which are tipped with a lethal-looking spine, the plant will produce bloom stalks ranging from 10 to 30 feet in height with several clusters of blooms.

The encyclopedia did allow a little romance of the century plant to remain. The lofty plant did form part of the diet of the Indians who once ranged the Southwest. The Indians cut the stalks just before the plant bloomed and roasted the bud stalks.

Heady beverages, mescal and pulque, are made from the sap of the century plant, and the tough leaf fibers, called sisal, are used in making rope.

United Fund Budget Planned

The screening and budget committee of the United Fund will meet Monday and Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. in the board-room of the First National Bank.

The committee will hear the budget proposals of all the United Fund agencies so they can be presented to the board of trustees. Trustees will set the 1971-1972 campaign goal from the information presented to them.

Members of the screening and budget committee are R. W. Thompson, chairman, J. D. Nelson, Alton Marwitz, Jimmy Taylor and Tom Locke.

Couple's Son-In-Law Takes NTSU Position

Royce Lumpkin, whose wife, Virginia, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Rankin, 1802 Johnson, has recently been appointed director of the campus bands at North Texas State University in Denton.

His appointment will be effective Aug. 24, according to Dr. J. J. Spurlock, vice president of academic affairs at the college.

Douglas Wiehe, former band director at Big Spring High School, left the NTSU post to take over duties as head of the band programs at Southwest Texas State University.

Lumpkin, currently on the faculty of Sam Houston State University, Huntsville, acquired his formal training at NTSU where he received the BM and MME degrees with honors.

His teaching experience prior to joining the faculty at the college includes one year at Sam Houston and five years with the Brazosport Schools, Freeport, as a junior and senior high band director.

Feast Or Famine For Patte Finley

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The life of a television performer can sometimes be a case of feast or famine, as actress Patte Finley will testify.

When you're a regular in a series, the money rolls in. And when you're canceled the checks stop arriving.

In 1969 Patte made "From a Bird's-Eye View," which is now being shown on NBC. "I was Mrs. Gotrocks that year all over Europe," she said.

In 1970 she made exactly $1,750 and her only job was a guest shot on "The Mary Tyler Moore Show." She said, "People ask me how I lived. Cheaply. No, off my savings. It was not the best of years. I got all my U.S. federal income tax back. My accountant, who charged me $250 the year before, offered to do it free."

"THE FUNNY SIDE"

Patte—pronounced Pat—is now taping NBC's "The Funny Side," which will take a humorous look at the American way of life.

Patte, daughter of a Supreme Court judge in the state of Washington, got her start Off Broadway 12 years, then landed parts in "Kiss Me Kate," "Damn Yankees," "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" and other stage shows. Her big break came when she got the second lead in "Hello, Dolly!" during the show's second year and stayed with it through the fourth year.
