COURT TAKES OVER KLAN

160 Los Angeles Cops Cheer Clara Phillips

SCORES THRONG TRAIN WINDOWS TO SEE SLAYER

Woman Will Not Be Taken Immediately To San Quentin Pen

HUBBY DISAPPOINTS

She Expected Him At El Paso But He Fails To Show Up

Associated Press Dispatch

EL PASO, May 31.—Los Angeles policemen to the number of 160, en route to a convention in Buffalo, N. Y., serenaded Mrs. Clara Phillips, alleged slayer of Mrs. Albert Meadows at Marfa, Texas, late today.

While their band played lively tunes, the "tiger woman" received Chief Louis D. Oaks and several other Los Angeles police acquaintances in her compartment aboard the Sunset Limited.

The meeting of the two trains was arranged by Southern Pacific officials at the request of the Los Angeles officers.

Still Has Chance.

Apparently cheered by this unusual demonstration in the heart of the desert country Mrs. Phillips' physical condition had improved somewhat by the time she arrived in El Paso at 9 o'clock tonight.

When she was informed here that plans to take her to San Quentin penitentiary at once had been abandoned, she sat erect and with a smile declared "that's the best news I have had for days. It means that I still have a chance to fight my way to freedom."

Hundreds gathered at the station for a glimpse of the prisoner were disappointed. Mrs. Phillips remained in her compartment with her sister under guard. A few minutes before the train left, she raised the blinds at her window, after she had switched off the lights. A score of persons collected about the window while some one in the crowd played a flashlight on her face. She accepted the reception with a smile and waved good-bye as the train pulled out.

"Lies! lies! All horrible lies!" was her replies to stories that she was in Juarez while she was a fugitive in Mexico.

"I have never been in Juarez," she continued. "I went to St. Louis by way of Salt Lake City, thence to New Orleans and then to Mexico.

"Everytime I read a newspaper story that described me as a habitue of the underworld in Juarez and a drug addict I could scream."

She declared she had never heard of Jack Miller, Juarez saloon owner, nor William Cousins, alias "the scurvy kid" who were supposed to have been her protectors in the border city.

"In Juarez it was said that Miller and Cousins spread the stories that Clara was in Juarez to throw officers searching for her off the trail, while she was hurrying over the northern route to St. Louis. "If that is true, it was not done with my knowledge. I never heard of either of them," she said.

Expected Husband.

Mrs. Phillips nervously folded and tore a telegraph blank into small strips while several El Paso detectives, patrolmen and department of justice agents crowded into her compartment to shake hands.

"This thing of being looked upon as a freak is annoying to say the least," she said aside to one of her guards.

Clara wore a handsome brown afternoon gown with a ribbon about her forehead. Her sister, who sat across the table from her, wore a pretty net dress.

The "tiger woman" expected her buband to meet her here. She was disappointed. "You could easily pick him out in a crowd. He is tall and very handsome," she explained.

She spoke with a soft southern drawn, while a faint, tired smile occasionally played about her lips.

FIVE MILLIONS MUST BE SLICED

Neff Vetoes Nine Major Appropriations Of $39,000,000

Associated Press Dispatch

AUSTIN, May 31.—The third called special legislative session had before it tonight the task of reducing appropriations made at the last session by approximately five million dollars.

This resulted when the governor today sent vetoes of nine general appropriation measures to both of the branches, aggregating $39,000,000.

The governor's action was taken he said, because of a possible deficiency estimated at eight million dollars during the next two years. Both houses this afternoon began the task before them, with the passage of two of the appropriation measures in the senate and introduction of four in the house.

It is estimated by legislative leaders that it will be impossible to reduce the appropriations greatly over $5,000,000. Such a program was outlined by the senate finance committee when it reduced the appropriations approximately that amount.

The appropriation vetoes will prolong the present session at least until the 30-day constitutional limit, it is believed.

Bills vetoed follow: Departmental $6,670,000; eleemosynary, $7,235,000; educational $11,899,000; rural aid $3,000,000; emergency school aid $6,000,000; judiciary $3,235,000; miscellaneous claims, $639,000; supplemental $335,000; supplemental eleemosynary $2,000.

LEE OIL STOCK FAILED TO PAY WITNESSES SAY

Array of Elderly Men And Women Are Called As Witnesses

GEOLOGIST RIDICULED

Leader of Firm Declared To Be Related To Confederate General

Associated Press Dispatch

FORT WORTH, May 31.—The entire day in the trial of the defendants in the General Lee "oil fraud" was taken up by the government, introducing witnesses who testified they had bought stock in the Lee interests companies and for which they received no return on their money.

The government presented an array of elderly men and women, most of them aged and gray, who from the witness stand told how they had had faith in "General" Robert A. Lee, one of the defendants, and had placed their money with him on promises of great and quick returns.

Witnesses From Afar

These witnesses came from all parts of the country and their testimony upheld the stories told yesterday by other witnesses who had bought stock in the alleged fraudulent companies; how the defendants proceeded in their alleged fraudulent scheme. The witnesses also included a clergyman and prosperous-looking and professional business men.

The witnesses today testified they had bought blocks of stock ranging from $25 to $10,000 and for which they received nothing. The purchases were all made, according to the testimony, after they had received the flowing literature of the General Lee interests, claiming that "General" Lee was a "miracle geologist" and a descendant of the Gen. Robert E. Lee of the Confederacy.

Sent Through Mails

This "high-powered" literature was sent to them through the United States mails or they heard of the Lee companies through advertisements in oil papers, the witnesses testified.

William H. J. Chaney of Clinton, N. Y., was the bolder of the biggest stock that cropped out in today's testimony. He testified that in all he purchased approximately $10,000 worth of the Lee interests stock, giving cash, liberty bonds and securities in payment. However, he redovered $3,100 in registered Liberty bonds and in securities, he said, when he became suspicious of the company. When asked if he received any returns on his investment by Asistant Attorney General David Cahill, the witness replied "not one cent." Other witnesses, testifying to the same thing were: Mrs. W. M. Strowbridge of Cincinnati; W. C. Fulks of Western, W. Va.; Mrs. Julia Funderbuk of Shreveport, La.; Mrs. Sarah Rowland of Phoenixville, Pa.

Chillicothe Girl Sobs For Sheer Stockings Then Shoots Herself

16-Year-Orphan Is Heart Broken When Harsh Words Greet Her Return Home.

Special Dispatch to Record News

VERNON, Texas, May 31.—Bertha Holley, orphan, 16 and bobbed haired, is making a losing fight against death in the Standifer sanitarium here tonight and physicians say it is only a matter of a few hours until she will slip into the land of shadows.

Bertha is dying because, like other girls, she wanted pretty clothes. Silk hose were the indirect cause of a bullet being fired into her frail body where it lodged near the spine.

Never Had Money.

The girl had been living with an uncle, Henry Morgan, at Chillicothe, since she was orphaned several years ago. Money has been a scarce article in her young life, and so have pretty clothes. All this did not make so much difference when Bertha was just a kid. Being a game sport and having no daddy of her own like other girls had to ask for clothes, she just smiled and bore the chagrin of being poorly dressed.

But all the time she was dreaming of that day when she would be "a young lady" and wear pretty dresses. Also, she had planned to obtain an education so that she could work and support herself. As she grew older, though, she found money as scare as ever and the work put upon her became harder and harder.

She Bobbed Her Hair.

When bobbed hair came in style that was one luxury in which she could indulge, even if she couldn't wear fine clothes.

Tuesday afternoon Bertha hoed peas in her uncle's garden. It was hot and the weather was sultry—just a few hours before a storm broke. But Bertha hoed peas just the same.

When late afternoon came, after having hoed over 30 rows, Bertha put

$28,000 Collected For Black Star's African Kingdom

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, May 31.—"Sir Sydney De Bourg, of Trinidad, Knight commander, Order of the Nile, Duke of Niagara and of Uganda," made his first appearance today at the trial of Marcus Garvey, head of the Black Star Line and "provisional president of the African republic," who is charged with using mails to defraud.

The witness, who was appointed leader of the western province of the Universal Negro Improvement association by Garvey, in 1920, told of selling Black Star Line stock here and in the West Indies.

In 1921, said the witness, he and Garvey made a stock sales tour of Cuba and Jamaica, disposing of $28,000 worth. None of the proceeds was deposited to the account of the line, he testified.

Under cross examination by Garvey, Sir Sydney said his salary was set at $6,000 a year but he was still trying to collect most of it.

VERBAL BOOZE BATTLE IN N. Y.

Governor Sits For Four Hours Listening To 30 Orators

Associated Press Dispatch

ALBANY, N. Y., May 31.—Governor Smith today listened, inscrutable of feature, but attentive, to a flood of oratory for and against his signing of the legislative repeal of the Mullan-Gage state prohibition enforcement act. For 4 hours and 30 minutes with one five-minute interlude, speakers in turn presented their arguments.

When both sides had talked their bill and weighted him down with briefs, the governor walked silently from the room without having betrayed by a single gesture or a word the answer to the momentous question.

Up to Governor

"Will he sign or veto?"

His decision will be announced sometime between tonight and midnight Sunday, at which hour the repeal bill, if the governor does not act, will automatically die.

The great importance of the decision he is to make was driven home by speculators for both sides with all the fervor and earnestness at their command.

Would Nullify Booze Act

The principal arguments of the enemies of the repeal who numbered in all about 30 speakers, were that to sign the measure would be to turn loose on the state a gang of bootleggers, bandits and crooks of every description; to "nullify" the eighteenth amendment; to "secede" from the Union and to deprive the federal government of the most powerful instrument now being used to enforce prohibition.

The principal arguments of the proponents of repeal, whose speaking strength about matched that of the opponents, were that the Mullan-Gage act ought to be repealed because it subjected persons accused of violating the dry law to "doubt jeopardy" in the courts; that it was exclusively the governments' function to enfore prohibition and that shouldering part of the burden on the state entailed an unnecessary and useless expense.

Several of the pro-repeal speakrs even denounced the Volstead act and the eighteenth amendment as iniquitous and subversive of state rights urging the governor to approve the repeal as the first step in a campaign to wipe the federal enforcement law and the amendment off the books.

Substitute Gas Measure Finally Passed In Lower Branch

WOMAN LOSES FIGHT

Her Bill For Tax On Divorce Defeated; New Funds Suggested

Associated Press Dispatch

AUSTIN, May 31.—The substitute Cowen gasoline tax bill was passed finally by the house late today after amendments completely changing the tax and method of levying, were adopted.

The chief amendment by Patman, provides for an occupation tax of one-third cent on each gallon of gasoline refined in Texas. This amendment was adopted after several hours of debate by a vote of 68 to 40. Final passage vote was 92 to 11.

It is estimated the revised gasoline bill will net the state $3,500,000 annually.

The Baldwin bill levying an occupation tax on carnival companies, based on the number of exhibitions and number of railroad cars, was passed finally without debate, 77 to 30 as was the Downs bills relating to tax collections.

Representative Wilmans of Dallas, only woman legislator, lost her fight for an occupation tax on lawyers for each divorce petition filed when her bill proposing such a tax was postponed indefinitely, 74 to 30. A similar bill by Representative Wilmans was ruled out of order recently.

New Revenue Bills.

In view of the governor's vetoes on general appropriation bills, four of such measures were introduced in the house today. They follow:

Henderson, emergency school appropriation, $4,000,000; Chitwood, et al, $1,200,000 annual rural school aid; Quaid, eleemosynary appropriation, reduced approximately $500,000 from that passed by the last session; Quaid, judiciary reduced $48,000.

8 RACE HORSES LOST IN BLAZE

Thoroughbreds Perish When Five Barns Are Destroyed

Associated Press Dispatch

CLEVELAND, May 31.—Eight thoroughbred race horses and a pony were burned to death in a fire, which destroyed five barns at the Ohio State Jockey club's race track at Maple Heights, near Bedford, Ohio, late today. Nearly 150 racers were trapped in the barns and that not more were lost was due to the heroism of scores of race-goers and attendants who cut the animals loose and let them run at large. Several were so badly burned they may have been destroyed.

Those killed were well known to followers of the running race horse. They were Susiana, a 3-year-old, winner of two events at the present meeting. Huron II (7), and Shortstop (8), ownd by J. A. WIZARD EVANS EXPENDITURE OF FUNDS BLOCKED

He and Simmons Using Klan As Personal Machine Is Charge

REVOLT THREATENED

Some of Realms Likely To Secede and Set Up Independent Orders

Associated Press Dispatch

ATLANTA, Ga., May 31. — The Fulton county superior court today assumed temporary control of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, ordered temporary discontinuance of the expenditure of its funds and set June 9 to hear a motion for the appointment of a receiver for the order.

This action followed filing of a petition by David M. Rittenhouse of Philadelphia and others, alleging gross mismanagement of the klan's funds by Imperial Wizard H. W. Evans and his associates; charged that he and Emperor Joseph Simmons had turned the klan into a "personal machine for the enrichment and grandizement" of themselves and declared that the organization was breaking up through threats of "some of realms" to secede and establish independent orders.

Expenditure Enjoined

The petition alleged also that Imperial Wizard Evans had called a meeting in Washington, D. C., tomorrow and Saturday "of his personal henchmen throughout the invisible empire." It was charged that Dr. Evans and others intended to spend between $100,000 and $150,000 of the klan's funds to pay the expenses of the Washington meeting. They were temporarily enjoined from such expenditure by order of the court.

The employes of the imperial palace, as the general headquarters of the klan on Peachtree road in this city is called, said on being informed of the suit that all of the imperial officers were in Washington. Imperial Wizard Evans, Emperor Simmons and other high officials of the klan were said to have departed for Washington before the court action began.

Kloncilium Named

The imperial kloncilium appointed by Imperial Wizard Evans in April, were named defendants in the petition for a receiver, together with certain employes of the imperial palace. One of the members of the kloncilium, according to the petition, is Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, who is to carve the Confederate memorial on the face of Stone mountain. The membership of this body, the petition stated, are H. W. Evans, William Joseph Simmons, Fred L. Savage, H. K. Ramsay, H. C. Montgomery, Brown Harwood, Gutzon Borglum, P. S. Etheridge, E. H. Sullivan, N. B. Forrest, C. A. Ridley, all of Atlanta; T. J. Shirley of Birmingham; A. B. Booth, New Orleans; D. C. Stephenson, Columbus, Ohio; Charles J. Orbison of Indianapolis; J. A. Comer, Little Rock; Henry A. Grady, Clinton, N. C., and Debarr of Oklahoma City, Okla. These, with Tom Akers, T. J. McKinnon and N. N. Furney of Atlanta, constituted the defendants.

The action was brought by David M. Rittenhouser, Thank B. Collins, Robert A. Bradshaw, William Goudie, R. Oaks and B. F. Graham of Philadelphia; John Jeffries, New York; J. H. Lomis, J. D. Norris and John D. McDonald of Little Rock; F. C. Duggan, George C. Alley and George Perry of Chattanooga, Tenn.; R. O. Dunning, Columbia, S. C.; M. O. Dunning, Sanford, Florida; L. E. Rogers, Charleston, S. C.; and T. C. Smith of Atlanta, Ga. They described themselves as members in good standing of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan "and occupy in law as such toward said corporation the relation of stockholders."

Dividing Fees

The petition states in part:

"Said Evans, while usurping said office of imperial wizard, as aforesaid, is farming out the propagation of said order in an illegal manner, paying not only salaries and expenses to persons in charge of said propagation, but also dividing illegally between himself and the said persons a large portion of the initiation fees received from candidates who joined said order.

"He, said Evans, as usurping imperial wizard, is drawing a salary of $15,000 a year, besides his extravagant and unlimited expenses aforesaid. He has under control, as aforesaid, 12 or 14 states, from which he receives and appropriates to his own use the funds of said corporation, arising from the propagation department. He has appropriated to his own personal use $3.00 from the initiation fee of every klansman coming into the order from said states. He maintained a vast system of espionage over all the officers and other departments

Lightning Rocks Wichita Falls Early Today, Blowing Phone Connections

An electrical storm early today rocked Wichita Falls.

Bolts of gray flashes were heard to crack across the skies.

All night restaurants, newspaper offices, hotels and other places were thrown into darkness at 12:40 o'clock in the morning for a moment.

Telegraph wires, bringing in the news of the day, hesitated, clicked and grew silent. All lights went out for a moment. A bolt of lighting shot down upon the city. Men grew white, shocked by the dazzling flash of fire. A second bolt followed and then the flashes continued, followed by rain and wind. A storm threatened in the north.

Reports from the telephone company after the storm struck, indicated that about half of their wires north and west of here were out of commission. The winds were not strong, but a terrific electrical display played havoc with the lines. Wires burned out and that peculiar trouble, always present in thunder storms, completely crippled the systems of communication.

Out to the north and west an omnious-looking gray cloud, clearly discernable when the lightning streaked out, moved slowly in and covered the city. It was not the black cloud of wind, but the sinister gray, filled with electricity.

It hung like a pall over town for a time, emitting incessant streaks of lightning, and then moved on to the south. Finally it disappeared without having done any particular damage.

Rain fell heavily for a few minutes, stopped, started in again, and finally spattered out completely.

Generous-Hearted Open Their Purse For Babes Crying For Ice and Milk

Contributions to The Record News milk and ice fund had reached a total of $127.50 Thursday night, which, in view of the fact that the fund was not started until Wednesday morning, is considered exceptionally good. A total of $103 was sent into The Record News Wednesday and $24.50 came in Thursday.

Although a gratifying start has been made on the fund that means life and health to many of the city's worthy poor during the blistering days that are to come, use can be found for a much larger total. Cases are being called to the attention of Ma and Pa Burdick of the Salvation Army, asking that milk be supplied for under-nourished babies or that ice be furnished to homes where it is absolutely necessary.

With the summer period a reality now, the good people of the Salvation Army are expecting calls in increased numbers.

The money turned into The Record News is handed to Ma and Pa Burdick each night and the ice and milk purchased and distributed by them at their discretion.

Donations received Thursday were:

Marie Grooms, $20.

It's all a matter of taste

A MAN can kiss a cow if he wants to—after all it's nobody's business but his own.

A man can use valve cups, that fail to deliver the goods, year after year—his own pocketbook is the one that suffers.

For 15 years oil men everywhere have known the name Darcova as a mark of the valve cup that wears longer and pumps more oil.

Those who buy valve cups with the ultimate cost in view are boosters of Darcova. Those who prefer to save a few cents at the time of buying and waste labor, oil and money at the time of using, are satisfied with substitutes.

It's all a matter of taste.

Public Invited to Big Barbecue On Sunshine State Oil Lease Saturday

A public barbecue at which 500 persons are expected is to be given Friday by George Parrish in behalf of the Sunshine State Oil and Refining company on the company's wildcat well in Archer county. Announcement of the plans were made Thursday.

The Sunshine company recently brought in its test a mile and a half south of the Peterson poo. in strictly wild cat territory. Present indications are that it will be good for at least 500 barrels. The test is on property owned by Mr. Parrish and he is providing the treat for the Sunshine company and others who may wish to attend.

Two beeves are to be barbecued and a cordial invitation is extended to the public to come out and enjoy the fun.

Richardson No. 1, Northeast Of Discovery Well, Reaches Sand

MEGARGEL, Texas, May 31.—The latest well to reach the sand in the Swastika field is Richardson No. 1 of Lee Wilson, located 200 yards northwest of the discovery well. The sand was found at a depth of 1,394 feet. Cement will be set in the hole and it will be a week before the well is brought in. The Eagle Creek Oil company set casing on the sand found at 1,348 feet 300 yards east of the discovery well.

Both the American Refining company and the Sun company will change to cable tools before bringing in their wells. The former is rigging up for an additional test on the 10-acre lease north and east of the discovery well.

Offset wells are to be drilled by the Swastika Oil Syndicate opposite wells of the American Refining company and the Eagle Creek Oil company. The Shamrock Oil company and Clark et al, probably will erect two derricks each.

O'Neal, La Neve et al, are rigging up on their completed derrick just across the line in Young county and half way between the Swastika field and the Kemp No. 1. This test is sure to be watched with interest.

PRODUCTION UP DESPITE BREAKS

Curtailment Is Objective But Increase Is Shown In Output

International News Dispatch

TULSA, Okla., May 31.—Although curtailment of out-put is the primary objective of Kansas, Oklahoma, North Texas and Louisiana and Arkansas operators right now, the weekly survey of the Oil and Gas Journal shows that for the mid-continent as a whole, daily production instead of showing further decline, slightly increased.

In its compilations the Journal now divides Oklahoma into north and south fields showing the whole state's production as 497,308 barrels. Bristow has not been carried before and Lyons-Quinn is discarded.

CITY IS AHEAD $1,350 ON BONDS

Finance Commissioner Buys Wichita's Own Bonds And Saves

The city saved itself $1,350 cool smackers Thursday when the city council, on recommendations of Finance Commissioner Shepherd, authorized the purchase of a block of waterworks No. 1 five per cent bonds. The issue was to expire in February 1960.

Word was received from an Austin broker that he had the bonds for sale but that they were in demand by another party. He asked what the city would bid and an answer was sent back that nar was the best the city could offer. This was accepted and the deal closed.

By making the purchase, 5 per cent interest on $1,000 from now until 1960 was saved.

ART TEST BAILING

Art and Haynes test on the Luke Wilson lands, block 41, located southeast of the Shipley test, is bailing considerable oil and is expected to make a good producer. The well is in wildcat territory and has caused some little excitement with many operators rushing for acreage.

LEWIS GETS WELL

The Lewis Oil corporation made a producer of their No. 6 on the Gibson tract in the Waggoner pool, south Electra, yesterday, when a light shot of nitroglycerine started oil which has pumped at the rate of 15 barrels daily. The well had previously failed to make oil.

Big Firms Accept Suspension Agreement

NEW YORK, May 31.—Tulsa, Okla., dispatches state than an agreement for suspension of drilling operations in the Tonkawa field until there is improvement in general conditions has been received by the large producers of that territory. E. R. Perry, vice president of the Cosden company, is chairman of the committee in charge.

MANN ACT GETS ONE IN TOILS

Wife Files Charges Against Hubby After Family Argument

White slave charges were filed Thursday afternoon against a young man here following confessions made by his wife that he and another man, now at large, had transported a girl from Oklahoma to this state for immoral purposes. The complaints were made by Chief Deputy Sheriff Jack Miller and filed before United States Commissioner Lantz. Temporary bond of $750 was set by the commissioner and a final hearing of the case set for Saturday of this week.

According to stories told officers by the wife of the defendant, she, her husband and the other man had been in Tonkawa, Okla., and a short time ago came to Gainesville. Later they came so heated that officers were on up to Electra.

Wednesday night, while staying at a hotel, some domestic arguments became so heated that officers were called and it was there that Deputy Miller learned the facts of the case. He brought the two women and the one man to jail here, but the second man was not with the party when officers arrived and has not as yet been found.

Confidence was expressed that he would be located within a short time, however.

The women are being held in custody to serve as witnesses in the case.

DIAMOND DRILL USED IN SWASTIKA

MEGARGEL, Texas, May 31.—A diamond core drill is to be on the ground in a few days for several test holes to be cored by the Sun company in southwestern Archer county, according to Mack Caudell, field superintendent of the company. The drill is to be used in exploring the Farmer ranch, six miles northeast of town.

Diamonds usually have followed rather than preceded the discovery of oil, and the use of the diamond core drill has not been of wide aplication in oil work. Oil men here are extremely interested in the forthcoming tests, they professing never to have seen a diamond core drill in operation.

MORE DERRICKS FOR SWASTIKA

American Refining Company Will Put Down Second Well

Special Dispatch to Record News

MEGARGEL, Texas, May 31.—Next week probably will see six or eight additional derricks up in the Swastika field. The Swastika Oil Syndicate is to drill offsets to the wells of the American Refining company and the Eagle Creek Oil company. The American Refining company is drilling a second well on its 10-acre lease. Clark et al and others probably will have additional derricks.

Lee Wilson should reach the sand at any time in his Richardson No. 1, 200 yards northwest of the discovery well.

A faint showing of oil in a sand at 1,805 feet was found in Richardson No. 1-B of the Swastika Oil Syndicate. Additional streaks in deeper sands would center interest on this well.

The Sun company and the American Refining company will change to cable tools before bringing in their wells.

Refinery Will Be Built in Swastika

MEGARGEL, Texas, May 31.—A pipe line is to be run to the tracks of the Gulf, Texas & Western railroad from the Swastika oil field, four miles east of here, and a 1,000 barrel refinery is to be built by G. O. (Dent) Cozart and associates of Wichita Falls and Graham. Arrangements have been made whereby the total output for the next six months of the Swastika Oil Syndicate, discoverer of the field, will be taken by the pipe line.

The production will be in excess of requirements of the refinery, but as the oil is of 43 degrees gravity it will command a premium at several refineries of 25 to 50 cents a barrel. The oil will be taken at market price as produced.

COTTON SEED OIL

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK May 31.—A tendency to await Friday's government report was noticeable in today's cotton seed oil market. Prices showed little change, business was mostly local and the steadiness of the market was derived from the improvement in lard. Last prices showed a partial two-point per loss. Sales 5,600 barrels. Prime crude 10,000 nominal; prime summer yellow spot 11.80 bid; July 11.53; September 11.20; December 9.02, all bid.

EURIKA WELL DRILLED FOUR FEET IN SAND

After picking up rich pay at 1,394 feet the Eurika Drilling company's well on the Lee Wilson land in the southeast corner of Le Eurika lease in the Richardson land in the Swastika district, has been drilled four feet in the sand with all the appearances of a good producer. Casing is being set at 1,390 feet and cemented and the well will probably be completed within the next few days.

The well is an offset to the Swastika company's No. 1-B the Richardson tract, which came in ten days ago as a dry hole. The Swastika well, which is south of the new Eurika hole, was nabndoned at 1,410 feet.

SUN TO DRILL

The Sun company has contracted with Mel Richards to drill a standard test on the northwest corner of section 8, Palo Pinto school lands, abstract 339 of the H. S. Griffin ranch. Derrick is being built and the well will be started at once.

PIGG DERRICK UP

Derrick is up for the test of Pigg and Murchison on their Foster-Allen tract, block 833 in the Hirschi district, Wichita county. It is east of Bob Waggoner's No. 2 and north of Moore's No. 2.

CLARK TO DRILL IN ARCHER CO.

No. 1 On Anderson Ranch Already Classed As Good Well

C. H. Clark has made location and will drill at once Nos. 2 and 3 on the Richardson tract on the South Anderson ranch, in Archer county.

No. 1 well on the tract has been completed as a producer, being a small extension to the proven area, and the two new wells will offset it. They will be drilled in as soon as material that is being rushed to the location is erected.

Another well to be drilled on the South Anderson ranch, the Richardson tract, is the Shamrock Oil company's No. 3. No. 1 of the Shamrock company is drilling on the same tract, having been started some time ago.

Munday Will Give Cash Premiums For Winners in Its Big Poultry Show

MUNDAY, Texas, May 31.—Catalogues are now being printed for the Mid-West Poultry show to be held here Nov. 7 to 10. Liberal cash premiums are being offered in the different classes, and several hundred dollars worth of specials. One of the specials is $25 in cash for grand champion display, all breeds competing. The local management states they are confident of cooping more than 1,000 birds. Breeders over the state are already writing to say that they will exhibit at this show.

The first show held here was in the spring of 1921, at which only about 150 birds were cooped. In the fall of 1922, there were cooped more than 600 birds from 12 West Texas counties. Judging from the steady growth of the show, the Mid-West Poultry show promises to become one of the largest held in West Texas each year. A new feature of the shows this year is the Boys' and Girls' club department of Knox county, under the direction of Miss Bessie Gillis, home demonstration agent for the county. Quite a nice premium list has been made up for the youngsters. Judge Walter Burton of Arlington will place all awards this year. POTENTIAL WEALTH OF COTTON

Aaron Sapiro, wherever he goes in the cotton belt states, tells of the potential wealth of cotton. Texas produced a crop of 3,000,000 bales last year. This placed in the hands of the producers and others directly interested $500,000,000 but this vast sum does not represent the potential wealth of 3,000,000 bales of cotton that sold for $500,000,000.

Its potential wealth consists of the 75 cents per pound that accrued to the spinner after it had left the hands of the grower. This estimate was made to the writer by Rogers W. Davis of Charlotte, N. C., representative of the Saco-Lowell shops, a $25,000,000 manufacturing plant which turns out the machinery for cotton mills and which was established more than 100 years ago.

Rogers W. Davis is a native of Georgia. He is a product of Georgia Tech. He graduated from the Georgia Tech 23 years ago. At that time Georgia Tech had an enrollment of 200. Now it has an enrollment of 3,200 and Davis says it is to the cotton states of the southeast that which the Boston Tech is to New England.

There are 175,000 spindles in Texas and the plant that Davis represents has furnished more than $2,000,000 of machinery to Texas mills since 1903. But back to the matter of potential cotton wealth. After having been turned into the finished product, the 3,000,000 bales of Texas cotton produced in 1922 represented a value of $2,000,000,000. A fourth of this was paid to the producer who furnished the land, the seed, the labor and ran the risks of bad crop years, the pink boll worm, the boll weevil and other pests. If the 3,000,000 bales of Texas cotton had been turned into the finished product by Texas spinners, the $2,000,000,000 would have remained in the pockets of Texans instead of only the $500,000,000 paid to the growers.

Governor Neff at San Angelo, predicted commercial supremacy "if Texas learns to turn into finished products by building cotton and woolen mills by the side of the cotton fields and the sheep and the goat ranches." "Texas with 400 miles of coast line and with the greatest production of agriculture and other resources of any other state in America can dominate the trade of Latin America. Unless she does she has failed to fulfil manifest destiny. One has but to glance at the map of the world to see that the divine hand which has shaped the contour of Texas coast line meant that this state should be vested commercial supremacy of all the south, of Latin America, and of the Gulf of Mexico, and the Carribbean Sea."

Governor Neff called a spade a spade. He stated facts and he stated them bluntly when he said "the New England states had been made rich and powerful by the agricultural resources of Texas" and that Texans were to blame. He reminded the vast throng of West Texans that in the economic history of the world that no people who gave all their time to producing ever became wealthy and that wealth has ever come with the manufacturing of the raw materials into the finished product.

This fits in to a "T" with the potential cotton wealth emphasized by Aaron Sapiro and the estimate made by the technician from Charlotte. This picture painted by the governor is true to cotton life.

"When the first tendrils of the cotton plant breaks through the soil to get its first touch of Texas air, the economic world is affected and the mercury of finance rises and falls in sympathy with the prospects of the Texas cotton crop. Yet the people of Texas permit her more than 3,000,000 bales of cotton, one-fourth of the cotton production of the world, to be shipped to the east to be manufactured into cloth. Texans pay a freight to the eastern mills and then buy goods manufactured from cotton grown in their own fields at the eastern manufacturer's own prices."

And this is the pospel truth. Texans are showing signs of an awakening. There are a limied number of cotton mills in the state with a total of 175,000 spindles. All these mills have been successful. All are paying splendid dividends, yet there is one cotton mill in a Virginia town that has more than 5,000,000 spindles and every dollar of its stock is held by Virginians. Virginia money, pluck, thrift and vision made possible the success of the great enterprise.

There is one county in North Carolina with an investment of more than $50,000,000 in cotton mills. The capital did not come from New England. It represents the earnings and the savings of the people of Gaston county. There is a cotton mill in Georgia. One of the largest in the South, and one of the most successful. Ninety-five per cent of its stock is held by Georgians and only five per cent by outsiders.

Go to Alabama, the most flourishing cotton mills as well as one of the largest dividend payers in that state, was established by Alabamans and they own all the stock. These facts were made known to Texas by Rogers W. Davis of Charlotte and L. W. Robert, Jr., of Atlanta, who are members of the Texas Textile special party.

Four of the largest and most successful cotton manufacturers of the South began life as country merchants, wout special training in the manufacturiline. These were additional facts given the people of Texas with the volunteer information that a superman or heaveorn genius isn't required to make a suca of the cotton manufacturing business.

Really the growth of the textile lustry in the South is one of the mara of the age. In 23 years, the number obindles in New England increased 4per cent: the number of spindles in the theastern states increased 320 per centhis should be a true index as to the gth of manufacturing in Virginia, thearolinas, Georgia and Alabama.

Governor Neff has sounded the tan for Texas. No people can become why who devote all their thought to theoduction of raw materials and neglto manufacture the finished product.

QUEERING HIS SHOT

—By Albert T. Reid

The BLOOD SHIP

By NORMAN SPRINGER

THE ACTION UP TO THIS POINT

Captain John Shreve, a commander of sailing ships, tells the story. It is the tale of a voyage, his first as an able seaman in the clipper ship The Golden Bough. Shreve, just come to sea manhood, becomes a lodger at the "Knitting Swede's" one of the lowest sailors' resorts in San Francisco. He notes one lodger of quite, austere manner with a scar on his face. Young Shreve defeats the Swede's runner and wins his girl, but determines to go back to sea. He and the mysterious man, known as Newman, sign for a voyage in The Golden Bough, in spite of the ship's reputation for cruelty. Shreve encounters a wreck named Beasley and Newman sees him. Beasley confesses to Newman his part in many dirty plots against Newman. He speaks of a Mary and an unprincipled man who is master of a ship. Taken aboard the Golden Bough by the Swede, Shreve and Newman learn that there is a lady aboard.

Captain Swope lives up to his reputation as a brutal master by beating Nils, a young sailor. Swope's wife appears on deck. The men learn that she is the angel of the floating prison.

When the watches are told off Newman appears on deck for the first time during the voyage. Captain Swope is shocked at the man who calls him Angus. The lady greets Newman as Roy.

"He Is Desperate."

A man apart Newman was. We instinctly recognized that fact from the beginning. We sensed that he was glad that he was at sea in the Golden Bough, that he was there for some peculiar purpose of his own. We felt he was not one of us.

Because of this aloofness of Newman, I suddenly found myself occupying the proud position of cock of the starboard watch.

Six within half an hour after going below for that first time, I found myself giving orders to men and being obeyed. They were the first orders I had ever given, and, oh, they were sweet in my mouth!

In my watch Newman, myself, and four "squareheads" could be called seamen. The other nine were "stiffs" broken men all, with the weakness of dissolute living stamped upon their inefficient faces.

Except two men. These two were "stiffs," right enough, and their faces were evil. God knows, but they plainly were not to be classed as weaklings.

They were medium-sized men, as pallid of face as Newman, himself, and their faces gave one the impression of both shrewdness and force. A grim looking pair.

I already knew the names they called each other—"Boston," for the blonde fellow with the bridge of his nose flattened, and "Blackie" for the other, a chap as swarthy as a dago, with long, oily black hair, and eyes too close together.

Even as I watched, Blackie got up from the bench and crossed over to Newman's bunk, leaned over, and whispered into his ear.

I saw Newman straighten out his long body. For an instant he lay tense, and then he slowly turned his head and faced the man who leaned over him.

Blackie could not withstand that deadly gaze. He backed hurriedly away, and sat down beside his mate. Then Newman spoke.

"I play a lone hand," he addressed the pair. "You will keep your mouths shut, and work, and play none of your devilries in this ship unless I give the word. Otherwise" —The scar on his forehead was blue and twitching, and his voice was deadly earnest.

He did a thing so expressive it made me shudder. He lifted his hand, and carelessly placed his forefinger on the outer side of his bunk, and when he lifted it, two of the myriad cockroaches that infested the foc'sle were mashed flat on the board.

Blackie's face set sullenly, and the angry blood darkened his cheeks. Boston wriggled uneasily on his seat, and cleared his throat as though about to speak.

But, at that instant, Lynch's booming voice came into the foc'sle calling the watch on deck, and putting an abrupt end to the scene.

I had the second trick at the wheel that watch, from 10 o'clock until midnight. When Mr. Lynch had gone forward to a job the lady suddenly stepped out of the companion hatch and flitted aft toward me. Then when she was close enough to discern my features she stopped. I heard a sort of sigh that meant, I knew, disappointment.

I knew what was wrong. She had expected to find Newman at the wheel; she was eager for a private word with him.

Her body seemed so slender and childlike. Too fine and dainty to hold the woe of a hell-ship, and Heaven knew what private sorrow besides. She suddenly buried her face in her hands and her shoulders commenced to heave. It stabbed me to the quick, the sight of that noiseless grief.

I heard Mr. Lynch coming aft and called softly to her. "Lady! They come!"

She came swiftly to me.

"God bless you, boy," she whispered. "You are his friend? Tell him I come forward in the morning. Tell him—for my sake—as he loves his life—to look behind him when he walks in the dark!"

With that she turned and sped toward the hatch, and was gone below. And up the poop-ladder tramped Lynch with two tradesmen following him.

The Golden Bough carried neather junior officers, nor bo'suns, an unusual circumstance, considering the size and character of her crews.

Instead, she carried two sailmakers and two carpenters, and these tradesmen lived by themselves in the roundhouse, ate aft at a special table, and save when emergency work prevented, stood watch and watch. They stood their night watches aft, with the officer on deck.

This arrangement worried us a good deal, when in due time, we began to talk mutiny.

But I was not talking, or even thinking, of mutiny this night, or for many nights, though there was mutiny in the air on the Golden Bough from that very first day of the voyage.

To understand the Golden Bough you must understand the knock-and-drag-out system in vogue on a good many American ships it day, and later. A hell ship w just the result of senseless b on the part of the officers. S the product of a system.

It was, of course, a matter lars. If owners did not have wages to a crew, they woul money, wouldn't they? So th per made it so hot the crew out at the first port of call, their wages behind. So was th ship born.

Now, brutality feeds upon Some officers, after living und system for a time, became fiends. They came to enjoy beat men.

As in the Golden Bough, truth, there was blood split watch! Always, after the fir out, did the foc'sle bunks cont miserable wretch or two laid cause of manhandling.

Lynch kept his hands off Ne and me, not because he was of us—I don't think Lynch anything—but because we kne work and did it. Oh, I got mine with interest—in the Golden but not from Lynch.

The mate was a different type was all brute, a natural bully, like most such, at heart craven.

Lynch used his bare fists upo men, Fitz used brass knuckles.

And Swope! Well, I canno plain or judge his character. H his two mates rolled into one, brains. I can imagine his per soul living in former lives—as millar of the inquisition, or the clad torturer of some medi prince.

When I went forward at eight I immediately called Newman and delivered the dady's words, whispered somewhat brokenly, "T you, Jack"—an exhibition of em that startled as much as it pleased he being such a stern man.

Came morning, but not the And the foc'sle was in sad nee her administrations. Quite hal crew needed salves and band And the lad Swope had manha had again fallen afoul of the mas The hurts Swope had inflicted vented the boy moving about as q ly as Mister Fitzgibbon desired past: the bucko had laid him out and v ed upon him during the midwatc

We found the poor chap daft, babbling, and on fire with fever.

After breakfast Newman a stepped into the port foc'sle. injured youth looked bad, no misti

"It is a task for her," New said to me. "She has the healing The boy is badly hurt."

But two bells went, and then th and the lady did not come. At Wong, the Chinese steward, came ward.

"All slick man go aft," says "Lady fix um."

"Is she not coming forward?" ed Newman.

"No can do. Slick man lay

COOK DESERTS SCOUT CAMP

Roberts Rushes To Cache With Another After One Goes A.W.O.L.

It's bad enough to keep hordes of hungry mouths filled, even with a competent cook, but when the lord of the kitchen leaves A. W. O. L., with a crowded boy scout camp left with no culinary experts whatsoever, it's a situation calculated to inspire profanity in almost any one.

That, at least, is the opinion of officials of the Wichita Falls boy scout camp at Cache, Okla., who sent in a frenzied call for help Thursday. After three days in camp, the chef who originally went up with the scouts left things cold Wednesday night, leaving also dismay and forebodings.

I. H. Roberts, chairman of the scout council, and Chester Powell, scout executive, launched a prompt campaign for assistance and landed Ben Hamilton, an expert cook, who was rushed to the camp Thursday afternoon.

Dr. Grafton Tells Of Bryan's Part At Church Meet

The weekly meeting of the Rotary club, held at the Kemp hotel yesterday noon, was featured by a report by Dr. N. F. Grafton of the Presbyterian general assembly, which he recently attended at Indianapolis. In a humorous manner Dr. Grafton told of the activities of William Jennings Bryan, bringing many smiles with his remarks concerning the prominent opposer of the Darwinian theory.

A challange made by the Burkburnett Rotary club that members of the two organizations form baseball teams and have a game, was accepted and Abe Marcus was elected to captain and manage the nine.

An open discussion of the recently proposed traffic regulations failed to end in any action by the club, although City Attorney Mann outlined the subject and many other members discussed it both favorably and in opposition.

An invitation from the Electra Rotarians that local members join them at luncheon next week was accepted, and 20 are expected to accept the favor. The week following the Electra club will be the guests of the local body.

Charity Statements Are Being Sent Out

Statements were being mailed out Thursday by Mrs. E. B. Gorsline Jr., welfare council secretary, for the second quarterly payments of the United Charities campaign. These payments are now due and it is reported that funds are needed.

Remittances should be made to Mrs. Gorsline's office at the city hall.

On the Waiting List.

Percival—Philippa, when I make my fortune I'm going to ask you to marry me. Will you mind waiting for me?

Philippa—Not at all, Percy; not at all. The longer I have to wait for you the better I'll like it.

CANTWELL TAKES CHARGE JUNE 1

Dr. J. W. Cantwell, who was elected some time ago by the school board to succeed Lee Clark as superintendent of the city schools, will assume his duties in that capacity June 1. The rush of summer work in the schools necessitated his coming here at that date rather than Aug. 1, as was previously planned.

Superintendent Lee Clark, who will assume his duties in the Gainesville school Aug. 1, will remain in Wichita Falls until that time.

More Truth Than Poetry

—By James J. Montague—

IMPOSSIBLE!

(As it was once or twice in the past.)

Whenever all Europe was peaceful
Prime ministers said, with a shake of the head
"It is nice, but it never will last!
A row will break out in the Balkans;
Perhaps it will start with the Turk,
But more likely the din will be due to begin
When the Bulgars and Serbs get to work."

These bold and belligerent peoples
Didn't think they were functioning right,
Unless they bore arms and marched forth to alarms
That told of an old-fashioned fight.
Peace weighed on their souls like a millstone,
It burdened their hearts with ennui;
If they had half a chance, to the battle they'd prance
And fight with a heart thrilling glee.

The Serbs were the folks, you remember,
Who after a peace of some years,
Began the big row which is unfinished now
And set the whole world by the ears.
And when they decided—though wrongly—
Which party seemed likely to win,
And a prospect of gain loomed invitingly plain,
The envious Bulgars joined in.

And now the despatches inform us
Though still there is fighting in Greece,
The Bulgar and Serb have determined to curb
Their tempers and sign up for peace.
This news would be glorious tidings
For persons like me and like you,
Who want times to mend and all bloodshed to end,
Could we only believe it was true!

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE

"ONE BEST BET"

The shrewd gentlemen who compute the chances that the entries at the race track have of winning usually are kind enough to supply their readers with "one best bet."

On one particular horse they are urged to place their money, this steed, on his "form," being considered by th expert more likely to bring home the bacon than any other.

This is not an editorial on gambling, or a defense of horse race betting. Even the experts sometimes guess wrong about the horses, as any bettor who follows them will sorrowfully tell you.

But ther are certain chances in life that must be taken. And there is "one best bet" for you, in your journey through the world, and that bet is yourself.

Trust others you must. Believe in others you must. But unless you can trust in yourself, there is little likelihood that your trust and belief in others will do you any good.

"Alas!" said Cardinal Newman. "The fearfu' unbelief is unbelief in yourself."

The only way to believe in yourself fervently and whole-heartedly is to know that you have done and intend to do your best, to know that you have met measurably well all the tests that have been given you, and that you will let nothing interfere with your purpose to get the best out of yourself while you live.

Be sure of that and you will have self-confidence, which is far different from and far superior to self esteem.

You are reasonably safe in the conviction that you can compete even with men of more talent, provided they lack your determination, and gain success in the face of all sorts of opposition and handicap.

But you must believe in yourself.

If you are ill-equipped for the work you have chosen to do, go get the equipment. It will take time that you would rather spend on other things, but the time will be returned to you in earned leisure by and by. And earned leisure is the only kind worth having.

If you find that you have habits of mind that interfere with your progress, get rid of them. That can be done by trying. You may not be able completely to change your nature and become another person, but you can as easily improve your nature, as a horticulturist can improve a tree by grafting on it a branch from a better tree.

But believe always that you are going to get ahead, and that you can get ahead. Then all there is left is work. There will be plenty of it and much will be drudgery. But it will get you to worthwhile goals—provided you have confidence, based on knowledge and experience.

What Today Means To You

By MARY, BLAKE

Today insures success in any uncertain action and whatever decision is made will undoubtedly prove valuable. This applies as well to love affairs and marriages.

A child born today will have much difficulty to face because of its ambition to become famous, but it is written that it will achieve its desired success.

If today is your birthday yours should be a nature which will bring as much if not more happiness to others than to yourself. You are in fact one of those generous and idealistic people who are often imposed upon by a materialistic world.

You are naturally enthusiastic and hopeful and you possess in no small measure the rare quality of instantly recovering when your hopes are dispelled by accident or the design of others. You are a good winner and even a better loser.

You are erratic both in mind and body and frequently in spirit. When your brain is focused on a problem nothing else will detract your attention. Your concentration is acute and determined.

You will even answer irrelevant questions without losing the thread of your thoughts and not realize you have done so. This is a habit which will bring you no end of trouble, for your associates will wait to ask favors of you until such time as you are entirely pre-occupied and, as otfen as not, you will unconsciously grant their requests in order to rid yourself of their presence.

Temperamentally you are nervous and moody, and somewhat given to needless worry over fancied ills. This is because you are gifted with an extraordinary imagination which may either make or mar your life, according to the use to which you put it.

In the development of this faculty there are several paths open to you. You have a distinct talent for writing, one that might well serve your fancy in prose, poetry or fiction. Likewise you have marked musical ability and you might prosper in a musical career.

You are furthermore endowned with the patient scouting necessary to scientific investigation but what success you have in such fields will be in spite of your temperament.

Your love affairs will be varied and never of a serious nature.

Spuds Cop Slugfest From Exporters, 14-6

LOCALS HOLD THIRD PLACE AS THEY PILE UP TALLIES IN LAST GAME WITH THE EXPORTERS

Fancy Catch By White Feature of Long Drawn Out Contest. Spudders Batsmen Knock Slappey Out of Box in Second

The Spudders won another slugfest at the expense of the Exporters at Athletic Park yesterday, trimming the visitors to the tune of 14 to 6. Wild and wooly stuff was pulled by both sides. Ruth, pitching for the locals, had enough stuff on his throws to keep the visitors tagging way behind. Salm's sluggers did away with Slappey before the last half of the second and Eberhardt, a one time Spudder, was only able to keep the locals down for two innings.

Al White's jumping, one-hand catch of Lamb's hot liner, and then doubling Huber off first was the most sensational play in the contest.

Long Winded.

The game as a whole was one of those long winded, one sided affairs such as all slugfests are. The Spudders took the lead in the first inning. At the end of the second stanza the locals had piled up enough tallies to give them a comfortable lead and at no time during the remainder of the contest were the Spudders frightened that it might prove a close game.

The local boys forgot all about their Sunday school lessons and committed a large number of thefts right from under the very eyes of the Exporters.

The Spudders heavy artillery opened up in the second stanza. White walked and Berger singled to left. Huber threw wild to first on Bischoff's grounder, White scoring. Berger taking third and Bischoff second. Ruth walked, filling the bases. Eberhardt relieved Slappey at this point. Bescher forced Ruth at second, Berger scoring. Coombs flied to DeMaggio and Bischoff scored after the catch, Bescher stealing second. Tanner selected a trusty willow and clouted one over left field fence scoring Bescher ahead of him. Cotter popped out.

Get Big Bat.

Not contented with a score of six to nothing, Salm's men drove in two more tallies in the third, two singles, a double by Ruth, and a complimentary base on balls brought these men across the dish and the Spudders were satisfied.

The Exporters, tired of seeing the locals bringing in all tallies, opened up in the fourth stanza, bringing two of their men across the home sack. Brown started the fireworks with a double. Kirkham grounded out, Brown taking third. Edington walked. Strong doubled to left scoring Brown, Edington being held at third. Huber grounded to Tanner and Edington was safe when Bischoff dropped the ball.

The visitors repeated similar performances in the sixth and eighth innings of the contest. The locas proceeded to garner in three counts in the sixth. A little bit of everything mixed into the pay being responsible for the tallies. White as usual got his double and his regular amount of stolen bases.

Jonnard Shows Up.

The boys from home pounded in two more runs in the seventh and one in the eighth, bringing the total score up to 14.

Clarence Jonnard, the new Spudder catcher appeared on the field in uniform for the first time yesterday afternoon. He displayed a good deal of pep warming up before the game began. His peg to second occasioned admiring comment and from all appearances another substantial asset has been added to the Spudder team.

Ace Elliot Sold To Cubs

ACE ELLIOT

Ace Elliot, first baseman who joined the Spudders at the opening of the season, and whose performances at first and at bat brought favorable comment from all fans, has been sold outright to the Chicago Cubs, according to an announcement made by Manager Walt Salm yesterday.

There has been a good deal of speculation regarding what was going to happen to Elliot. Cotter, who has been playing first for several days, has been showing exceptional ability in the infield, and it was freely predicted that Elliot was due for a change.

According to the announcement, Elliott will leave at once and report to the Cubs upon his arival in Chicago.

Elliot has always held a warm place in the hearts of Wichita fans and more than a few will join in wishing the ex-Spudder good luck.

Keeping Pace In The Chess Match

Or a Wee Bit Ahead Houston in Cold Storage Quanah at Bat

Wichita Pawn to King Bishop 4,
Wichita	Pawn to King 4
Quanah	Pawn to King 4

"Hold 'er Newt"—here's some lively dope for the Wichita Falls chess fans. Two moves a day in a match with a live bunch. That there may be many flowers born to blush unsees, and waste their fragrance on the desert air is unquestionably true; but then there are others that—well anyhow, a chess player blew into Wichita two days ago, who satisfied everybody he stacked up against that he carried with him a storage battery charged to the brim and running over with a particular brand of chess strategy that earned for him the title of "Capablanca Junior," and made the star performers of Wichita Falls sit up and take notice. The gentleman was Harold McKee, of Quanah, Texas, secretary of the Quanah chess and checkers club. He looks like a preacher and one you would hardly expect that sort of language from, but he waxes eloquent on the Damianno gambit which we take to be a second cousin or something to the giuoco piano, the Muzio or salvio or some of the other variations of the Italian or Sicilian gambits. At any rate, these gambits are the gambits wherein he shines, and he intimated that Quanah was a burg wherein a bunch of real chess players flourished and a bunch that was full of pep and vinegar, so on the gentleman's guarantee that the Quanah Chess club would come back with immediate answers every day we took them on for a game and will consider for the immediate present the Quanah club as the principal game with Wichita, and will temporarily side track and place in cold storage the Houston board. We expect at the outset to give Houston some moves to puzzle over, but we hardly expected to put 'em to sleep about every second move. It is our intention to keep a record of the Houston game as they every, now and then, send us a Rip Van Winkle move and make a record of the move, but some of the chess players in this contest have a longing to play at least one more match game before they die, so they have decided to side track Houston as the principal game and tackle Quanah instead, and every time Houston comes to life, record the move for the perusal of future generations and possibly for them to finish.

EXPORTERS BUY 'POP' KITCHINS OUTRIGHT TO TAKE UP POST OF MANAGER; EDDINGTON RESIGNS

Veteran Spudder Backstop Sold After Long Service With Wichita Falls; He Leaves Here In Charge of Beaumont.

Frank "Pop" Kitchins, veteran Spudder backstop, was sold outright Thursday night to the Beaumont Exporters with whom he will serve as manager. "Stump" Edington, Exporter pilot since the first of the year, resigned when the deal was completed and left immediately for Beaumont after placing everything in Kitchins' hands. Kitchins goes with his new charge to Houston where he will direct hostilities with the Buffs.

Around the Texas League Loop

WITH "COMP"

Ah, Ha! Dallas is on her "high-horse." They wanted Carlson but were too slow so now are appealing to the "Lord High All" of baseball, Commissioner Landis. Ike Sablosky of the Steers has made a special trip to interview the man with the "big stick."

Dallas claims to have accepted the price asked by Dreyfus of the Pirates for Carlson. This, they say, was ignored, and the twirler sent to the Spudders.

Well, I don't think we have to worry much about losing our ex-big league twirler. Maybe next time that bunch wants a star they will loosen up with some dough.

GRAND STAND CLOSED

For the first time in a number of years, seven teams in the Texas league have a chance to romp their way through the entire season with an almost equal chance of staging a grandstand finish and coming out on the top rung of the ladder. Rumors have already been circulated of another split season in the league this year. Why do that? Shreveport is the only club that really can be called out of the running. The suggestion has been made that other clubs lend the Gassers a helping hand rather than split the season. That isn't baseball. However, because one out of eight teams is in a rut, it would not be justice to make the other seven clubs suffer.

Spudder fans were treated Wednesday to one of the most remarkable exhibitions of pitching ever witnessed in a minor league ball game. Bradshaw of the Exporters was responsible and although the twirler is credited with the first shut out administered the Salm men this season, local fans are quick to appreciate a remarkable pitcher. Bradshaw deserves a great deal of credit and if Wednesday's exhibition is any criterion we are of the opinion he will not remain in the Texas league long. Good luck, Bradshaw.

BISCHOFF SLUGGING

Sonny Bischoff, catcher for the Spudder club, besides being one of the best receivers in the league is rapidly mounting to fame as a slugger. In the first game of the double-header played Wednesday, Bischoff's hitting was the most sensational point in the hectic contest. Bischoff faced Jacobus five times during the game, and in the five trips to the plate, the Spudder catcher hit everything Jacobus had to offer, getting a home run clout two doubles and a single.

Bischoff has always held a warm place in the heart of every Spudder fan and it is needless to say how the home folks feel toward him after his exhibition in the double header.

THE HARD LUCK BEARS

Bob Coleman's crew of fence busting Bears went down to defeat at the hands of the Dallas Steers Wednesday after securing more binges than the Dallasites. Hitting is one of the biggest assets in baseball, however, bunching them is what wins games. Veteran Bob Coleman held the Steers to six hits but the Steers launched a rabid assault in one inning, winning the game and sending the Bears below the Spudders on the uncertain ladder of standings.

Varied Career

In Kitchens' departure, the Spudders lose a man who for the past four years has been an alternate godsend and storm center. He has had in his service with the Spudders more ups and downs, perhaps, than any other single member of the roster. In leaving, he finds scores of Spudder fans believing firmly that he cannot be replaced, while other scores are as firmly convinced that his value to Wichita Falls is a thing of the past.

Kept On Bench

Last year "Pop" Kitchens adorned the bench most of the time, being used as a relief catcher occasionally, as a pinch hitter frequently and as a strategic advisor constantly. It was in this latter classification that his chief value was claimed to lay. His knowledge of opposing batters and his long service in the league, which gave him an intimate acquaintance with Texas leaguers in particular and general, made him an important cog in the Spudder strategic machinery.

In handling young pitchers, developing their strong points and correcting their weaknesses, he was a particular adept.

Still Can Hit

On the other hand, it was frequently claimed that even as a field general he lacked many essential qualities. And so far as actual work behind the plate was concerned, even "Pop" himself admitted that his effectiveness was dwindling. At the plate, he can still hit with the best of them and in a pinch he has more than once come through with timely blows that have spelled life.

Whatever his faults, the picturesque "Pop" will have the best wishes of Spudder fandom in his new position. If he be the strategical expert that is claimed for him, he now has ample opportunity to vindicate the faith of those who support this theory. In unrestricted command of the Exporters, it is his to make of them what he may.

Not Needed Now

In the acquisition this week of Clarence Jonnard, big league catcher, Salm now has a dependable backstop to share the catching burdens with George Bischoff. It was expected when the Jonnard purchase was announced that Kitchens would be released and considerable speculation has gone the rounds as to where and in what manner would be his passing.

BEAUMONT, Texas, May 31.—The acquisition of Frank Kitchens from the Wichita Falls club follows the resignation of Frank "Stump" Edington this afternoon, after the final game of the series in Wichita Falls. PENN'S DEFIANCE MAY MEAN DEATH TO RAILWAY BOARD

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The Pennsylvania railroad's open defiance of the railroad labor board, coupled with the fact that the board apparently has accepted this defiance in meekness and humility, was regarded in Washington today as constituting the board's death warrant.

The official expulsion, according to plans now being perfected by its enemies will take place early in the new congress. The entire transportation problem is opened up under a barrage directed by Senator Robert M. LaFollette and his supporters.

Although the Pennsylvania's most recent disregard of the board's orders is now more than a week old, the American Federation of Labor pointed out that thus far the board has taken no steps to brand officials of the Pennsylvania system as "out laws" as was done to shopmen last summer, nor has there been any appeal for public support of the board in punishing Samuel Rea or his road.

They can blow 40 horns if they want to," he said.

Before the party broke up, the storm came and rain poured down in sheets. It continued for several hours and Bertha deemed it best to remain all night with the Walker family. Wednesday, Mrs. Walker told her she would pay her to help with the family ironing.

It was a chance for the girl to buy a pair of the new silk hose she wanted, so she remained all day and ironed for Mrs. Walker and in the afternoon skipped home with her hard earned money.

"Uncle was in the garden when I got home," Bertha told her nurse during a rational period, and I went to him and asked him how he liked the way I had hoed the peas. He said he didn't like it at all. Then he said hard things to me because I did not come home the night before. He said things that hurt my feelings and made me mad, I guess, and I decided to end it all. I went into the house and shot myself."

This part of her story bore out earlier developments. She was found in her room, a .32 calibre revolver at her side and a bullet wound in the breast. The shot had barely missed the heart and lodged in the back near the spinal cord.

Members of the family did all that they could for her and late at night she was placed on a railway motor car and hurried from Chillicothe, to the Vernon sanitarium. Physicians, after an operation, declared that there was no hope for her recovery.

PLANS DRAWN FOR Y BUILDING

$50,000 Structure To Be Erected Under Present Arrangements

Architectural plans will be drawn at once for the new Y. W. C. A. building and a contract awarded for the work it was decided Thursday at a meeting of the building committee of the association. Under present plans, a $50,000 structure will be erected on property at Eighth and Burnett now owned by the Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. B. L. Fain, president of the Y. W. C. A. board, appeared before the committee and outlined the needs and plans of the asssociation. She pointed out that the association now had $24,000 in cash and notes, a $1,000 pledge from the Business and Professional Women's club, and had a clear title to the Eighth and Burnett street property. It will be necessary, she said, to raise the amount between the present holdings and the cost of the building by securing new donations.

Contract for the work may be awarded some time within the next two weeks, it was indicated Thursday, and work will be started at once.

The drive for building funds has been set for the week of June 11.

STOCK MARKET CLOSES SHAKY

Selling In All Shares Despite Reports Of Raise In Gas Price

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, May 31.—Erratic price movements took place in todays stock market with closing prices decidedly irregular. The upward movement, which has been in progress for the last week, was resumed at the opening, but trading became dull on the rally. Some selling then came into the oil shares, despite the announcement of another increase in the wholesale price of gasoline in the western Pennsylvania and mid-continent fields. This was accentuated later by selling said to be indirectly connected with the bankruptcy proceedings against the largest curb market house. Just before the close selling pressure was exerted against the equipment shares which previously had shown impressive strength.

California petroleum was again one of the most outstanding individual features, establishing a new top for all time at 117 3-8 and then slipping back to 116, where it was up 3¾ points on the day. Weakness of Mazland Oil, which closed 2¾ lower at 45 3-8, was attributed in some quarters to the liquidation of stock purchased for supporting purposes in the recent reaction. Phillips petroleum also was heavy.

Rails offered good resistance to selling pressure. Reports of the first 50 class one roads to report showed combined net income of $61,200,000 in April as compared with $60,600,000 in March and $36,200,000 in April a year ago.

End of the month requirements resulted in a stiffening in the call money rate which opened at 5 per cent and then advanced to 5½. Little time money was offered, the rate remaining at 5 per cent for all maturities up to four months. The commercial paper rate was unchanged.

The further collapse of the German mark to .0014 1-4 cents was the feature of the irregular foreign exchange market. Demand sterling advanced 3-8 of a cent to $4.62 3-8 and French francs dropped 8 points to 6.52 cents.

BULLS CONTROL GRAIN MARKET

Corn Pit Enlivened By Belated Shorts Who Boost Prices

Associated Press Dispatch

CHICAGO, May 31.—Indications that France and Germany were near to a settlement had a general bullish effect on the grain markets today and the corn pit was further enlivened by belated shorts who ran up the price of May corn at a rapid rate in the last few minutes of the board of trade session. Corn finished strong at 1c to 5 3-8c gain, May $2½@, the top price of the day, with July 78 5-8 to 78¾. Wheat closed unsettled at a range varying from ½c decline to 1½c advance, July $1.13 7-8 to 1.15, and September $1.13 1-4 to 1.13 3-8. In oats the outcome was 1-8c off to 5-8c@¾c up, and in provisions unchanged to 7c higher.

Scattered liquidation here, on the part of holders of May wheat made the wheat market nervous and irregular, especially as offerings of July and September were scarce at times, and shorts in these months who wished to cover found it difficult to do so except at a material advance.

Oats were helped upward by the strength of corn.

The provision market showed sympathy with the firmness of hog values.

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, May 31.—The publication of additional private crop reports failed to stimulate any general buying in the cotton market today and prices were generally lower under realizing in advance of tomorrow's government condition figures. After selling at 24.80 during the morning, October eased off to 24.58 or 24 points net lower, and closed at 24.63 with the general market closing barely steady at a net decline of 18 to 25 points.

The market opened barely steady at a decline of 6 to 11 points owing to relatively easy Liverpool cables and rather better weather over the holiday than anticipated. The weekly report of the weather bureau was considered favorable as to conditions in Texas but indicated poor progress in other parts of the belt, and probably prompted some buying during the morning. On the whole, however, the action of the market was regarded by local traders as indicating that an end-May condition of between 70 and 71 had been pretty well discounted, and that if the official report tomorrow was not out of line with these figures, prices might show a tendency to decline in the event of favorable early June weather. This idea combined with unsettling Wall street reports and prospects for improvement in the weather, accounted for the afternoon decline which extended to 27.07 for July and 24.03 for December, or about 24 to 30 points net lower on the general list. The close was four or five points up from the lowest on most positions. According to a canvass of local cotton exchange members a government report of 70.3 is expected on the average. Exports today 4,542 bales, making 4,434,325 so far this season. Port receipts 7,024. U. S. port stocks, 387,467.

SUGAR MARKET.

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, May 31.—The raw sugar market was easier and prices were 1-8c lower to the basis of 6 1-4c for Cubas, cost and freight, equal to 8.03 for centrifugal. There were sales of 10,000 bags of Cubas for prompt shipment to a local refiner.

The raw sugar futures market was easier, final prices were at about the lowest of the day and from 17 to 19 points below the previous close. July 6.16; September 6.26; December 5.73; March 4.48.

Business in the refined market was light, and prices were unchanged at 9.75 to 9.90 for fine granulated.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, May 31.—Cotton goods were steady today with inquiries more general. Yarns were steady. Burlaps were in a little better demand. Silks were quiet with fall business beginning to move better. Dress goods were quiet and men's wear inactive.

COFFEE MARKET.

Associated Press Dispatch

The local spot market was quiet at 11 7-8 for Rio 7's and 14½ to 15 for Santos four's.

FT. WORTH LIVESTOCK.

Associated Press Dispatch

FORT WORTH, May 31.—The cattle market made moderately good progress Thursday despite the fact that packers had a day's supply on hand as a result of the holiday at the plants Wednesday. All useful kinds sold at prices that were steady and the yards were given a fairly seasonable clearance. Stockers and trashy cattle were slow sale, as usual. Receipts amounted to 4,200 head of cattle and 1,000 calves.

Competition for hogs was again rather spirited and the market was steady to 10c higher. Shippers paid $7.20 for hogs that had received an offer of $7.15 from packers. Most of run went at a spread of $6.85 to 7.15. Pigs were steady with the recent decline, most of the run going at $5.00 to 5.50. Hog receipts were close to 1,500 head.

Only 1,500 head were on offer in the sheep house. The market was steady, but slow.

Teachers Will Take Up Advance Work During Summer Months

Graduation exercises for the Clara school were held Wednesday night at which time three pupils were given high school diplomas and 17 seventh grade diplomas. Appropriate addresses and music featured the program.

With the closing of the Clara school the Fairview high school is now the only one in the county remaining open. It is to close for the summer tonight with an extensive program arranged.

Teachers who have been at work in the schools for the winter have gone to their homes from where many are planning to leave for summer session class work. A large percentage of those who have been teaching in the schools are to take certificate or advanced study work in various educational institutions of the country.

MANY CARS ARE NOT RENDERED

Tax Assessor Starts Check On All Machines In County

A considerable number of automobiles in the county have not been rendered for taxes, it is reported from County Tax Assessor Irvan Denton's office.

A check was started Thursday of all machines in the county and figures reveal that a large percentage of them were not turned in to the assessors with other property.

Mr. Denton reported that one make of car which, tables showed, was represented by 80 machines in the county, had been rendered only 31 times.

After a complete check is made, notices will be sent out to those who have not rendered their machines and if this brings no result, the cars will be rendered by the assessor.

$25,000 TAKEN IN AS TAXES

$16,000 For City and $8,000 In School Funds Collected In May

Collections at the city tax office for the month of May reached a total of $25,084.54, according to reports compiled Thursday on the month's business. Of this amount, $16,290.88 was for city taxes and $8,793.96 for schools.

The average month's collections for this period of the year is about $5,000, it is reported.

The big increase is explained by the fact that delinquent taxes for years prior to 1920 have been paid in constantly for the past two weeks. Threats of the city to file suits against delinquent property owners has resulted in an unprecedented run at the office.

57 BOOZE CHARGES FILED WITH LANTZ

Informations on 57 liquor violations have been filed with U. S. Commissioner Lantz by Prohibition Enforcement Agent Tyler. The cases are to come up for trial at the summer term of federal court which opens here June 25.

A number of the cases are hold overs from the spring term, their disposition having been blocked at that time by failure of witnesses to appear or by inability of the state or defense to go to trial.

Williams Store In Old McClurkan Stand

Williams Store, one of a chain of men's furnishing stores owned by William Levine, of Gainesville, will open in the building formerly occupied by the McClurkan store soon.

According to Levine who will have active charge of the local store, it will be modern in every respect and will handle all the best grades of men's furnishings. The date of opening has not been set yet but will probably be within a few weeks.

BAUM STORE MOVES

Fixtures and stock of the Harry Baum company store was moved Thursday from the old stand in the Kemp hotel building to the first floor rooms of the Bob Waggoner building, formerly occupied by the Howell store.

Announcement was made several days ago that the change would be made and that the same complete line of men's furnishings would be available at the new stands as has been on the shelves in the past.

NINTH STREET IS IMPROVED

Boulevard Now One Of Beauty Spots With Grass And Shrubbery

Considerable improvement has been made along the Ninth street right-of-way of the factory car line during the past few days.

Traction company workmen have graded down the boulevard along which the rails are laid in the center of the street and have removed the unsightly piles of rock and rubbish that have accumulated there since the tracks have been improved.

The boulevard down the center of Ninth street, west of Kemp, is now one of the beauty spots of the city. It has been carefully tended by the city park department and the grubbery and grass is now as pretty as that in any of the parks.

Old Home Town Stuff

THINGS YOU SAY, DO AND SEE AND SOME YOU DON'T

Mrs. Ben Kaufman is back from Dallas after a brief visit with relatives.

Mrs. Elmer Fyle and children have gone to Clovis, N. M., for a visit with relatives.

J. A. Gardner, from the Fort Worth office of the Gulf Production company, is in the city on business.

Several matters are to be brought up today at the chamber of commerce business council luncheon. A full attendance of the council members is hoped for.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Suits have left for California, where they are to make their home. They are driving through in their car.

It seems that the city's tax suit threats really bore fruit as was expected. The tax office report for May is the only proof that need be cited.

Ten cases came up in the city police court session Thursday morning, most of them being based on charges of drunkenness and fines were passed out by Judge George.

A $50 fine was assessed Thursday by Judge Guy Rogers of the county court at law against J. A. Bruce when the defendant plead guilty to a charge of rudely displaying a pistol.

What with trying on brand new uniforms and answering an uninterrupted stream of calls, the city police force had its hands full Thursday. The cases docketed filled up almost an entire page on the blotter.

Remember: Those peculiar whistles you'll hear today aren't the postman. Don't run and open a fire alarm box to get a letter. The cops are raring to try 'em out.

The reports on an inventory of all property owned by the city, compiled recently by the various department heads for submission to the city council, were accepted Thursday by the commissioners.

Three dozen shining new caddy badges for the municipal golf course arrived Thursday and are to be distributed at once to the youngsters who chase balls and flying turf at the city's new links.

Hila Donaldson, clerk in County Superintendent of School Burl Bryant's office, leaves today for Austin to take up summer school work in the University of Texas. She is to teach in the Burkburnett schools next fall.

The resignation of Miss Lottie Hooper, superintendent of the primary grades in the public schools, has been accepted by the school board, at the request of the teacher. Miss Hooper will return to the University of Chicago to continue her studies.

It looks like another hard time ahead of the booze violators. Fifty-seven informations filed by prohibition enforcement officers looks as though Detroit and El Paso weren't the only ones that had an over abundance of liquor traffic.

"The Retrovert Jew" will be the subject of Dr. David Goldberg's sermon at the Temple Israel tonight. Services will begin at 8 o'clock and this will be the last sermon until September on account of Dr. Goldberg leaving for New York and other eastern cities, where he will study during the summer.

Seventeen Ways to Avoid Meeting Judge on Traffic Violation Charge

In summing up his new traffic regulations, Chief of Police George Hoddins has laid down the following "Thou "Shalts" and "Thou Shalt Nots."

1. Drive cadefully.
2. Vehicles on the right have the right of way.
3. There is a right side of the street to drive on. Keep there.
4. Slow down at crossings and be ready for a quick stop.
5. Turn out of street car tracks on signal from motormen.
6. Watch for "School Signs" and slow down accordingly.
7. Do not try to pass a vehicle going in the same direction when the chances are against you.
8. Be sure that both head and rear lights are in good order.
9. Be sure your brakes are in good working order.
