Big Guns Duel Across Viet DMZ

SAIGON (AP) — Thunderous artillery and mortar duels between U.S. Marine and Communist gunners raged today across the demilitarized line dividing Vietnam.

Military reports said six Marines were killed and 109 wounded in the steady gunfire and Communist probes during the past 24 hours. Some South Vietnamese troops were also casualties but their number was not announced.

The bunkered fortress of Con Thien, the key to Marine defenses below the demilitarized zone, threw back an attack by 150 North Vietnamese regulars just before dawn.

The mounting Communist fire and thunderous response from American guns and bombers shook the scarred battle zone around the clock.

With ground fighting light elsewhere and heavy weather curtailing air strikes against North Vietnam, the area around the demilitarized zone was the major concern.

Eight-engine B52s made two more heavy raids on suspected North Vietnamese hideouts in the zone today. In the past 24 hours the big bombers have dropped about 750,000 pounds of bombs in the area.

Smaller jet fighter-bombers also roared over to blast Red gun positions in the zone and to the north where Soviet-made artillery with a range of 15 miles is dotted. Air Force officers said the Communists are also making another effort to bring their big Soviet surface-to-air missiles down to use aganst the B52s but so far haven't been able to get them into firing positions.

North Vietnamese gunners in the area brought down one Air Force Phantom jet on a photo mission Tuesday. The plane limped out to sea, the two crewmen parachuted into the Tonkin Gulf, and both were rescued.

A U.S. spokesman said the plane was hit by gunners in the southern half of the DMZ and therefore was considered the 204th U.S. combat plane lost in South Vietnam. Initially it was reported downed in North Vietnam, which would have made it the 675th combat plane lost there.

The big sandbagged fort at Con Thien, two miles below the DMZ, was the focus of renewed Red attacks. The fortress, largely underground, sits astride the easiest and quickest route south.

Cong Use Spiders

SAIGON (AP) — Troops of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division say the Viet Cong now are using poisonous spiders to protect their tunnels. The troops said seven spiders were found tied by strings to the ceiling of a tunnel 25 miles northwest of Saigon.

Competition Tough In Grid Picks

There was vigorous competition last week in the opening round of the Snyder Daily News Football Contest.

The winner of the first prize of $10 is Mike Boles, 202 Thirty - third, who missed three of 20 selections. One of the games was "scratched" since an erroneous schedule had listed wrong opponents for Lubbock Dunbar.

Thus, Boles' only losses were Lake View's squeaker over Winters, Mertzon's victory over Ira and Hermleigh's tie with Loraine. Tie games are counted as losses in the contest, unless of course, the contestant picks the tie.

Sharing the second prize were Randy Wright, Route 3, Box 118E, and W. E. Wright of the same address.

Another contest gets underway today and the list of games may be found in sponsors' advertisments on the football contest page of this issue of The Snyder Daily News.

CLASH INVOLVES THOUSANDS

Anti-Maoists Attack Guards

Canton Torn By Gunfire

HONG KONG (AP) — Thousands of opponents of Mao Tse-tung attacked Red Guards celebrating in the Canton stadium Tuesday, arrivals from the Chinese mainland said today.

One visitor said more than 30,000 persons were involved in the clash and that gunfire echoed throughout the city for several hours until the Chinese army intervened.

It was not known how many casualties occurred.

Visitors said anti-Maoists have been hijacking government-owned river boats at Kongmoon, near the Portuguese colony of Macao and holding them as bargaining weapons with the Red Guards. The boats were reported laden with food bound for Macao and Hong Kong.

Visitors also reported sporadic clashes between Maoists and anti-Maoists in other parts of Kwangtung.

Most visitors predicted the Red Guards would eventually win, however, as the army usually took their side during serious clashes.

Chinese Nationalist sources in Taipei claimed new clashes have flared from Szechwan Province in the southwest to Manchuria in northeastern China.

They said air, land, and water traffic was still being disrupted and distribution of food supplies hampered.

The report said almost the entire area of Manchuria, which is about twice the size of France, was embroiled, including the important port of Dairen and the nearby naval base of Port Arthur.

The report, distributed by Nationalist China's Official Central News Agency, also gave these reports of the situation in other areas:

Shen I Province: Fighting has broken out at Sian, Sienyang and other cities and traffic has been disrupted. Anti-Maoists at Sienyang, 20 miles northwest of Sian, strafed their opponents with machine guns last Friday, inflicting hundreds of casualties.

Hunan Province: Clashes are taking place in the provincial capital of Changsha, Hengyang and Changteh, scores of persons were killed or wounded on each side in a clash past Friday at Changsha.

Yunnan Province: More than 100 anti-Maoists were wounded in a clash Sunday at Kunming, the provincial capital. Artillery and machine-gun firing can be heard day and night at Kutsing, 80 miles northeast of Kunming.

The report said fighting was continuing in Tibet and in the provinces of Hupeh, Kwangtung and Szechwang.

In Kiangsi Province, anti-Maoists were said to be killing students, workers and other persons supporting Mao.

More Gunfire On Himalayan Border

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indian and Red Chinese forces exchanged fire for the third straight day today across the Himalayan border between Tibet and the Indian protectorate of Sikkim.

A spokesman for the Indian Defense Ministry said the Chinese, after a 12-hour lull, began shooting again at 2:30 a.m. across the 14,000-foot Nathu Pass, about 20 miles from Gangtok, the Sikkimese capital.

"This is perhaps the Chinese way of replying to our note suggesting a cease-fire beginning at 5:30 a.m. Wednesday," said the spokesman.

He said the firing was continuing on a "subdued" scale and indicated the Indian forces were shooting back.

There was no word whether the new exchange had caused casualties on either side.

The Defense Ministry had reported its border force suffered light casualties in the previous two days of firing. The Chinese claimed that 36 of their border guards were killed or wounded.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi said Tuesday that the clash at Nathu Pass, where Indian forces guard the mountain crossing between Tibet and Sikkim, "is not a new danger."

"The Chinese danger has always been there," Mrs. Gandhi told a news conference at Jullunder, 100 miles north of New Delhi.

The Chinese accused the Indians of crossing the frontier and launching the attack on Monday.

The Indians said the Chinese opened fire first with rifles and machine guns and followed this with 76mm artillery. Later, they said, the Chinese reduced their fire to 22mm cannon and grenades until they had destroyed a barbed wire barrier the Indians were erecting along the border.

Newsmen in the area reported there was no evidence of any substantial troop buildup along the frontier.

Sikkim, a tiny Himalayan kingdom of 170,000 people with an armed force of 300 palace guards, depends on India for its defense.

Saved By Coast Guard

NEW YORK (AP) — Five persons stranded aboard a storm-battered 42-foot sailboat in the North Atlantic were rescued this morning, the Coast Guard announced.

Efforts to put a tow line on the ketch Voile d'Or or remove the five persons by lifeboat were prevented earlier by 35-to 40-foot waves and winds of 25 miles per hour.

However, the Coast Guard cutter McCulloch sent a small boat to the side of hte ketch in 30-foot seas and evacuated the two women and three men aboard.

The Coast Guard said all appear in good condition.

Aboard were William Schnirring, 68, his wife, Alice, 57, who suffered bruises on her back before she was taken off the ketch; Schnirring's nephew, Lee Van Perk, 24, and his wife, Suzie, 21, and the skipper, Ivan C. Fox of Bermuda. The Schnirring's are from Larchmont, N.Y.

C-C Board In Session

Reports on activities and future plans were discussed Tuesday at the September meeting of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors.

A request was presented from the Scurry County Junior Livestock Association for Chamber support in efforts to provide livestock buildings near the Scurry County Coliseum. Manager Gene Merrifield and Lindy Clark, chairman of the Chamber's Agriculture Committee, will join Livestock Assocation officials next Monday in discussing the proposal with the county commissioners court.

The board also gave its approval for the manager, Merrifield, to serve as publicity chairman for the United Fund campaign.

Bentley Baize, Chamber President, who presided at the board meeting, said that a nominating committee to recommend a slate of potential directors to be voted on this winter would be appointed soon.

Beulah Edges Out To Sea

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tamed from a fearsome hurricane to a simmering tropical storm, Beulah edged her 50-mile-an-hour gales away from land in the Caribbean today while Hurricane Chloe built up steam far out in the Atlantic Ocean.

Beulah left 18 dead on the tropical islands, ravaged ripening crops on the Barahona Peninsula of Hispaniola and left thousands homeless in the Dominican Republic and Haiti before commiting suicide on Haiti's 8,000-foot mountains.

Fading to a minimal hurricane Tuesday, Beulah dealt the resorts of Jamaica a glancing blow with gales and tides five feet above normal before veering to the southwest at 8 m.p.h.

The U.S. Weather Bureau in Miami said conditions were not favorable for intensification.

Chloe brewed her strength to 110 m.p.h. Tuesday about 850 miles east southeast of Bermuda.

Arnold Sugg, forecaster at the National Hurricane Center in Miami, said, however, "Chloe's no threat to Bermuda at all and is not expected to threaten any land area for at least two days."

SANDAL SET UNHEALTHY

Problems Follow Hippies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Whatever the hippie life does for its believers, it is not healthy.

Dr. David Smith, who operates a free medical clinic in the Haight-Ashbury district, said today that upper respiratory infection is almost universal among the sandal set "and there's an awful lot of hepatitis and venereal disease."

Smith, who also heads the drug abuse screening unit at San Francisco General Hospital and teaches at the University of California Medical Center, also talked about the drug use incidence.

"Here the figure is 100 per cent," he said. "I haven't seen a kid in the clinic who hasn't used drugs, and most are using them right now."

"We are seeing an awful lot of Meth (methamphetamine, a stimulant) problems now," he continued, noting the clinic has been seeing 10 to 20 Meth cases daily, "mostly young kids who are hallucinating, very paranoid and suffering from malnutrition and sleep deprivation."

Of 20 Meth patients, the physician estimates that five are suffering toxic psychoses, so disturbed that they should commit themselves to a mental hospital for long-term therapy, "but usually don't."

Part of the upper respiratory infection problems undoubtedly result from San Francisco's chilly summer weather and the fog, which also must have contributed towards keeping the hippie population down.

"The cold climate (in Haight-Ashbury), particularly during July and August, discourage the hippies from remaining," says Police Chief Thomas Cahill who had worried publicly over a prediction that some 100,000 hippies would invade the city for a "summer-of love."

Both the chief and Mayor John F. Shelley appealed publicy to parents to keep their kids home and the Board of Supervisors passed a resolution yanking the welcome mat and ponting out San Francisco doesn't have the facilities for such an influx.

Despite city protests, some hippies did sleep in Golden Gate Park, as well as in the streets and in crowded communal pads.

The newly arrived hippie who crawled behind a clump of rhododendron bushes for some postmidnight shut-eye learned that the park's hidden sprinkler system was turned on at daybreak.

Wet and cold, he would head for a gasoline station across the street from the park—and find the restroom door locked.

Just how many hippies came and how many are here now may never be known since they wander and are not easily counted. However, city officials and resident hippies agree that about as many have moved out as arrived each week during the summer. With schools reopening, the population is dropping now.

Gusty Cold Front Brings Showers

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A gusty cold front swept through the Panhandle today, dropping temperatures sharply from Tuesday's hot weather and setting off showers from Hobbs, N.M., to the Wichita Falls area and dipping down into the Abilene region.

Amarillo reported another cool front following the first.

The wind gusted up to 35 miles per hour and the rapid movement was expected to spread the front over much of the state's northern half by tonight or Thursday.

Dalhart, which reported a 94-degree maximum Tuesday, awoke to a chilly 51 degrees today. Amarillo temperatures dropped to 55.

Showers also cropped up in the Gulf of Mexico southeast of Galveston.

More showers and occasional thunderstorms were predicted for northern portions of Texas and a little shower activity was expected for most other areas.

The Panhandle-Plains readings compared with highs Tuesday afternoon of 94 at Dalhart, 96 at Amarillo and 97—a local record for the date—at Lubbock.

Top marks at other points Tuesday included 99 at Wink and 103 at Presidio in far West Texas Galveston was the coolest spot with a maximum of 83.

DECLINE LESS THAN EXPECTED

More Teachers Authorized

Snyder School Trustees last night took a look at enerollment figures and pupil distribution in the district's schools and then authorized employment of three more classroom teachers.

Authorized were one additional second grade teacher at East Elementary School, one new second grade teacher at Central Elemenetary School, and a combination history - English teacher at the senior high school.

The current school term had been launched with seven fewer teachers than the district employed last year, due to anticipated decrease in enrollment.

The enrollment decline failed to develop, at least in the quantity expected. Pat Falls, assistant superintendent, outlined the enrollment pattern in the district. Principal Herman Trigg of Central Elementary also was on hand to point out congested areas at his school.

The actual overall enrollment lacked about 40 reaching last year's figures, but a larger variance had been expected when the teaching staff for this year was approved. Moreover, Trigg advised that he had enrolled five more pupils at his school Tuesday and several other schools had enrolled new pupils since the figures were compiled.

The senior high school, with 739, has its largest enrollment in history, about 80 more than last year. When the figures were compiled Monday, Lamar Junior High had 501, Travis Junior High had 452 and the elementary schools had 1,801.

Following the presentation and the recommendation of Supt. Bill J. Hood, board members Max Von Roeder, Bill Schiebeel, Harold Lacik and Dan Cotton voted to authorize the addition of the three teachers to the faculty. Board members Dillard Teal and Ted Crenwelge voted against employing the additional teachers.

The board requested more information on costs before reaching a decision on whether to continue the school closed circuit television program. The program has been presented weekly during the past two school years from a studio at Northeast Elementary School. It is transmitted by Snyder Community Antenna Television as a public service.

The board approved Supt Hood's recommendation that the salary schedule for the director of cooperative school services be established at the regular teaching salary plus $1,750 and the special education teacher's salary at the senior high school be established at the regular teaching salary plus $900.

Regulations specifying vacation time for emeployes on 12 - month contracts were approved, with all such personnel to receive annual vacations of two weeks each. The board voted that mileage of eight cents per mile be paid principals and vice principals when they attend out-of-town school activities at the request of the administration.

A request by Louis A. Blanchard Jr. that his daughter who will be six years old on Sept. 20 be enrolled in the first grade, was rejected.

J. M. Kayser, coordinating teacher, gave the board brief resume of the Head Start, Title I and "MiamN" programs for children handicapped by language barriers and economic disadvantages.

Contracts were approved for Robert C. Adams, social studies teacher at Lamar Junior High; Mrs. Anne D. Adams, Titl I teacher at the Child Development Center, and Mrs. Janelle Burk, secretary in the counselor's office at the senior high school.

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl in my early twenties who works in an office with several older women.

The other women carry their lunches and eat them at their desks. I perfer to go out for lunch every day to get away from the office for a change of scenery. I don't do anything special. I just walk around for the exercise and window shop.

My problem is that several of the women in the office ask me to stop at the department store, which is just around the corner, or the drug store, next door, to pick up something for them. It's no trouble for me, and I enjoy doing these errands as it gives me something to do.

When I get back to the office I always find money on my desk for having done these errands. Abby, I do not like taking their money, but they insist. How can I have my way about this? I have even gone so far as to say that in the future I will not do their errands for them if insist on paying me, but when I come back, there is always money on my desk. What should I do? Sign me

Hard-Core Smoker Has Big Problem

By BRIAN SULLIVAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Cigarette smokers suffering from asthma, chronic bronchitis or emphysema find it harder to quit smoking than healthier persons, a physician says, because they develop a need to "scratch" their lungs with smoke.

"The chronic bronchitis of a heavy smoker may make him a [illegible] Dr. Borje Ejrup of the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center tobacco withdrawal clinic.

This smoker, Ejrup says, develops an "itching" sensation of the bronchial tubes, which is actually a manifestation of the illness. The smoker alleviates the "itching" with the "hot nicotinized smoke" from the next cigarette.

Ejrup said in remarks for the World Conference on Smoking and Health, which ends today, that if the smoker resists the temptation, the itching or irritation would disappear in a week or two.

"On the other hand," he said, "heavy smokers miss this sensation very badly. It is described as extremely pleasant and akin to sexual enjoyment, according to some smokers."

Ejrup's withdrawal clinic is intended for the "hard-core smoker." Of 154 patients who completed the treatment, he said, "good results" were achieved with 133 or 86 per cent.

The figure dropped to about 40 per cent after checks up to 12 months later, but Ejrup said that wasn't bad since these were patients who had tried "everything else without success."

He said "good results" meant quitting or cutting to a quarter of the patient's original cigarette consumption.

The conference, dedicated to spreading information on smoking hazards, is sponsored by several organizations, including the U.S. Public Health Service, the American Cancer Society and the American Heart Association.

Farmers Leave For Europe Tour

By PEGGY SIMPSON

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — "Hook 'em up and load 'em out!" was the order, and with it 100 farmers and ranchers guided their wives toward a Europe-bound jet airliner.

The object: More export markets for Texas through a farmer-to-farmer personal contact program.

"Farmers talking to the buyers directly are far more effective than a paid representative" of the farmers, said Steve Lilly of Nacogdoches, a dairy and feeder-pig farmer and an executive in the Texas Farm Bureau which organized the 15-day tour.

"We're interested in finding markets for citrus, onions, carrots, beets, possibly tomatoes—just about any agricultural produce we grow which we can ship over there," Lilly said.

Beef already is being shipped from Texas to Europe and Lilly said he hoped pork markets could be opened up soon.

The group will stop in France, Switzerland, Germany, Holland, Belgium and England.

The trip will combine business with sightseeing jaunts.

The Texans won't be hard to spot, with a majority of the men wearing Stetsons and each traveler carrying a bright red plastic shoulder bag lettered "Texas Farm Bureau."

The Farm Bureau sponsors the tour—its third one to build up export markets—but individuals pay their own way.

"We hope to get the export business built up, especially in Germany and Holland," said J. W. Tole, president of the Wichita County Farm Bureau who lives on a cattle and grain farm 8 miles northeast of Wichita Falls.

"Cotton, cattle and vegeteables are the ones I'm most interested in selling abroad," said Otto Rietehmayer of Lamesa, who hopes to take a side trip to the German village of Erdmannhausen, near Stuttgart, where his father was born.

MCCLELLAN ASKS CHANGES

TFX Said Costly Blunder

By GAYLORD SHAW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan charged today that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's claimed $1 billion savings on a controversial warplane has become "a multibillion-dollar blunder."

And the shaggy-browed Arkansas Democrat predicted that uness the Pentagon chief makes drastic changes in the program, the cost of supplying the Air Force and Navy with a fleet of the multiservice F111s, commonly called the TFX, could top original estimates by $6 billion.

McClellan is chairman of the Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee which is continuing its 5-year-old inquiry into the TFX program.

His comments came in an interview as a Senate Appropriations subcommittee prepared to release the censored transcript of a hearing at which, sources report, Pentagon officials conceded the Navy version of the F111 still is unsutable for service.

The controversy dates back to late 1962, when McNamara awarded General Dynamics Corp. a contract to develop a supersonic swing-wing combat aircraft that would satisfy the combined needs of the Air Force and Navy.

By using identical parts, McNamara contended he could save $1 billion in building the all-purpose craft. Research and development costs originally were estimated at $711 million, but McClellan says they now wil exceed $2 billion.

"That's no billion-dollar savings" he added. "That's a multibillion-dollar blunder in itself." McClellan declined to give a more specific figure.

McClellan also said the initial estimate for producing 1,700 of the planes was $5.8 billion but "now we are told that to produce 1,300 planes, or 400 less, it is going to cost $10 billion to $12 billion. In other words, we are going to get fewer planes and we are going to pay double."

Five years ago, it was estimated that each F111 would cost about $2.8 million. Now officials say each F111A Air Force tactical fighter will cost $5 million while each Navy F11B will cost $8 million.

Defense Department officials attribute the higher unit cost to program changes, reduced quantites, changes in deployment concepts, and added firepower capabilities.

McClellan places the blame "on the fact that the engineering has been done in the Defense Department rather than being left to competent technical engineers."

HE MAY BE DANGEROUS

Beware That Cuddly Bear

By BOB LEERIGHT

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (AP) — The beggar beside the road in Yellowstone National Park may have a blue ribbon in one ear, a pink ribbon in the other, and a bleach spot on his rump.

He may look cuddly, adorable and fun-loving.

But he isn't. He's a wild animal—capable of chawing off a chunk of arm or taking a swipe at a face with his long, sharp claws.

But thousands of tourists each year ignore warnings and feed and tease the bears which line the park highways seeking handouts. And each year about 50 to 100 tourists wind up with bear claw scratches or bear teeth marks on their face and hands.

It's been several years since any tourist has been mauled sufficiently to require hospitalization, but just south of the park near Ashton, Idaho, a man was severely mauled last spring. Two girl employes were attacked and killed by grizzly bears in Glacier National Park in Montana this summer. But Yellowstone rangers said the tourists still aren't heeding their constant warning to stay away from the 400 to 450 black bears which roam the park.

Most of the damage incidents occurred at the campgrounds where bears scrounge for food left open by campers. If the food is left uncovered at night the bears go right through convertible tops, car windows or tents to reach it.

Park rangers said most of the personal injuries occur alongside the park highways where bears beg for food and block traffic on the narrow two-lane roads. Tourists are given written warnings about the bears when they enter the park and it is a federal crime to feed them. But you can rarely drive through Yellowstone when traffic isn't backed up while motorists feed the bears cookies, crackers or popsicles while another member of the family snaps a picture.

Despite warnings that the bears are wild, some tourists try to get pictures of their youngsters sitting astraddle one of the bears. Park rangers said they can't verify the truth of the story, but there is a rumor among park employes that one tourist even spread honey over his small son's face so he could get a photograph of a bear licking it off.

A recent survey by the Colorado Cooperative Wildlife Research Unit at Colorado State University shows that the black bears spend from 14 to 210 minutes a day parked along the highways begging for food.

Maybe you've wondered about the blue and pink ribbons and the bleach spot. Park rangers receiving reports that a bear has clawed or bitten a tourist or raided a compound brand the bear with a bleach spot and move it to another location within the park. They shoot tranquilizing darts into the bear to temporarily immobilize him while they bleach the bear—with the same kind of hair bleach used by women. Whenever a bear with a bleach spot gets into trouble again, he's disposed of.

The ribbons in the ear designate that the bear is being studied by the Colorado Cooperative Wildlife Research unit. The color of the ribbon in his right ear indicates the bear's age and the ribbon in the left ear indicates the general area of the park in which he was first observed so his migration habits can be studied.

Gathering This Mail Won't Be Easy

PITTSBURGH (AP) — In the 200 miles between here and Harrisburg lie rugged mountains, farms, villages—and 29 mail sacks.

U.S. mail officials said Tuesday the sacks, containing first-class mail, fell through an open door of an airplane Friday.

They said nothing was turned up in a search around the airports in the two cities, and indicated helcopters may be used to search the entire distance.

The 30-inch nylon bags are green and will blend with the foliage.

The pilot of the mail-taxi plane said he and his co-pilot felt a draft in the plane, then discovered a door open and the bags missing.

Has There Been A Change In Port-Bombing Policies?

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara apparently changed their minds under pressure about stepping up the bombing in North Vietnam.

The story goes like this:

McNamara went before a Senate subcommittee with a long—it took a full newspaper page to print—and detailed explanation of why bombing the ports in the North could not by itself win or shorten the war.

He said the three North Vietnamese ports of Haiphong, Cam Pha and Hongai were among 57 targets recommended for bombing by the Joint Chiefs of Staff. But, he said, they had not yet been authorized.

This could be interpreted as a conflict between McNamara and the Joint Chiefs but Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana not long afterwards rushed to McNamara's defense.

Mansfield, leader of the Senate Democrats, told the Senate McNamara speaks for President Johnson. He said he was disturbed by attacks on the integrity and policies of McNamara. He said "these in reality are attacks on the President of the United States."

Then the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, which had listened to McNamara and some of the nation's top military leaders, issued a report highly critical of the defense secretary.

The unanimous report said all the military leaders who had testified stated that closing or neutralizng or isolating the port of Haiphong was "the single most important thing which could be done in North Vietnam from a military standpoint."

The subcommittee itself called for an immediate increase in bombing all important militacy targets in North Vietnam, even if it risks war with Red China. "What is needed now," the report said, "is the hard decision to do whatever is necessary, take the risks that have to be taken, and apply the force that is required to see the job through . . .

"We cannot in good conscience ask our ground forces to continue their fight in South Vietnam unless we are prepared to press the air war in the North in the most effective way possible."

Then Johnson held a news conference, one of those spur-of-the-moment sessions whose main purpose seemed to be to give public assurance there was no split between his administration and the Joint Chiefs.

He denied there was any "deep division" within his administration on how to fight the war. And he said there was a very surprising and very agreeable amount of unanimity and harmony, despite the differences between McNamara and the military chiefs.

And about a week after all this the Air Force began to bomb the bridges at Haiphong and the wharves at Cam Pha. The wharves at Haiphong apparently are still off limits to the bombers, which would indicate the administration still hasn't been able to bring itself to doing an all-out job on that important port.

McNamara explained to the subcommittee that the Joint Chiefs had recommended a total of 359 targets, of which only 57, including the three ports, had not been authorized by the Johnson administration. Now, since two have been hit, only one port so far seems unauthorized, though docks at Haiphong have not yet been hit.

Why the reluctance to hit these ports, particularly since McNamara said North Vietnam's daily imports are around 5,800 tons and that perhaps 4,700 of those tons move through Haiphong?

He explained that cutting off North Vietnam's sea imports would not prevent it from "continuing its present level of military operations in the South" where its forces need only about 100 tons of supplies daily and that they can be moved in by truck, despite U.S. bombing.

The Johnson administration hasn't acknowledged any switch in its thinking, or tactics, but the ports which McNamara said didn't have to be bombed have been bombed.

Every Town Needs A Man Like This

By WICK TEMPLE

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — Every city in America should have a man like Walter Marshall.

You know, the kind of guy who forgets about accumulating money and turns to the thankless jobs that put a city on wheels; the guy whose personality gets into the foundations of a town.

Walter Marshall is a chunky, restful little man who finds more than 24 hours in a day. He isn't a mayor or a civic club president, although he could be, and he could be well-to-do from his livelihood, which is selling advertising in Helena.

But many years ago, Walter decided how much time he would give to making money, and how much to nonpaying work. The nonpaying variety turned out to be more fun.

He wears a half-tie that looks like it was dunked in soup and had to be cut off. He has a gravelly voice, and, yes, sometimes he bugs people. But he gets the job done, any job, wherever the town can use him.

Walter took charge of a decaying old brewery on Helena's Last Chance Gulch and, with the help of his teacher wife, Doris, turned it into one of the finest summer theaters in the Northwest.

He built a stage, an auditorium and dormitories for the actors. Then he stumped the city for support and signed college talent from all over the country.

The result is standing room only virtually every night of the summer. Walter and Doris are always in the wings, although there is no cash in it for them.

When John F. Kennedy came to Helena campaigning in 1960, Walter had the job of driving him back to the airport. "You've got to see our theater, Jack," he said, and promptly drove there.

Kennedy enjoyed the tour, glanoing impatiently at his watch, but what he didn't enjoy were Walter's two large dogs which rode with them in the station wagon.

Seems the dogs liked the senator and spent most of the trip licking the back of his neck.

A couple of years later, Kennedy came back as president. When he stepped off the plane he spotted Walter in the welcoming committee and said:

"Hello, Walter. Do you still have those damned dogs?"

The Montana Centennial Commission sent a special train around the country to promote the state. Walter went, of course. They wound up in Washington, needing a big splash to get the promotion going. Everyone else was trying to figure an angle when up to the depot drove Walter with a fleet of black limousines hauling two cases of champagne and virtually every secretary in the White House.

Junior Editors Quiz on FOSSILS

QUESTION: When and how were fossils formed?

ANSWER: Fossils are impressions or traces of animal or plant life from ancient periods, which have been preserved, usually in rocks. Since it is possible to determine the date of the different kinds of rock, it is also possible to date the fossils whose imprints are found in them. Such imprints were made by plants or creatures which died and were covered with mud or other material, which later turned to stone. The creatures and plants rotted away, but their imprints on the rocks remain. Scientists think the first animals and plants (as at upper left) were probably so soft-bodied that few prints could be made in this way. But in the Cambrian period of about 500 million years ago, animals and plants had body parts hard enough so that many very clear imprints could be made. Below, Joel and Margie have identified an imprint they have found as that of a trilobite, a swimming creature of the Cambrian period. Besides such prints of whole animals, many shells, bones, teeth and other hard parts of ancient animals have been found. It is from these that we have our knowledge of the dinosaurs, huge reptiles which lived between about 200 and and 600 million years ago.

REBEL STARTERS — These two Snyder products will be in the starting lineup Saturday night when the University of Texas at Arlington opens the 1967 football season with Los Angeles State. Finley, A's Bury Hatchet

NEW YORK (AP) — Charles O. Finley and his Kansas City Athletics' players have buried the hatchet and restored, at least temporarily, the serenity of baseball's player-owner relationship.

The feud ended Tuesday after 20 hours of unprecedented meetings with Commissioner William D. Eckert when the Major League Player's Association dropped its unfair labor practices charges filed against the controversial Finley.

In return, Finley, owner of the A's, agreed not to interfere with the right of his players to air grievances in an orderly manner.

Thus, what started as a test case of the labor-management relationship in baseball, with Finley indirectly representing the major league owners he has long antagonized, ended quietly in compromise.

In a prepared statement, Commissioner Eckert said the parties agreed to settle future differences "by mutual discussion rather than by resorting to news media."

Fear of retaliation had led the A's to request the meeting with Eckert, who adjourned the gathering Monday with the avowed purpose of bringing peace before the situation reached the National Labor Relations Board.

The Players Association, represented by its director, attorney Marvin Miller, had accused Finley of threatening and coercing players in trying to get them to withdraw their complaints.

LITTLE WORRY

Hogs Tough Defensively

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —The only thing Arkansas has real concern about is offense which has relegated the Razorbacks to no better than a runner-up spot in the Southwest Conference football race.

If Arkansas' opponents would study the record, that may be to the advantage of the Razorbacks.

In 1964 Arkansas was picked to finish third and won the title; in 1965 it was placed second and won again, and in 1966 t was picked for first and finished second.

The 1967 season is more or less wrapped up in Ronny South, who was redshirted last year after lettering the previous two seasons. South will be the quarterback and because he is a talented passer, it would seem likely that Arkansas won't accentuate the running game as before when its quarterbacks leaned toward the ground.

But Coach Frank Broyles says there'll be no letup in running because that's the best way to win.

He seems to have the men to make the running game go, too, although it will be a sophomore and a redshirt supplementing David Dickey, who had a great season as a sophomore. The new comers are Russ Cody, a redshirt soph, and Mike Hendren, both causing Broyles' eyes to glow.

There are 21 lettermen, two of whom are kicking specialists only, and that's the least experience Arkansas has put on the field in a long time. It means there will be eight sophomores among the first 22 and there will be more soph starters than ever before.

But there are some high quality sophomores and up from the squad comes Glen Hockersmith, who Broyles thinks will be quite a runner. He played sparingly at tailback last year.

Defensively, Arkansas appears to have little to worry about. And since most coaches think defense wins more games than offense anyway, perhaps Arkansas can again reverse the predictions as it did in 1964-65.

Leading that lusty defense are all-conference Hartford Hamilton at end, halfbaks Gary Adams and Tommy Trantham and a senior nose guard named David Cooper, all with most excellent credentials.

Kicking should be very good with Paul Conner, who booted for an average of 39.9 lsst season; Bob White, who kcked 23 extra points and five field goals, and South, who in 1965 got 60 points with his toe, back and ready.

It isn't advisable to mark Arkansas off as a contender.

RECALLING HIS PERFORMANCES — Chicago White Sox pitcher Joe Horlen had this expression in dressing room as he talked with newsmen after hurling a no-hit ball game against the Detroit Tigers at Chicago. (AP Wirephoto)

Fans Cheer Bob Cousy

By DAVE O'HARA

BOSTON (AP) — Bob Cousy, cheered by overwhelming support of friends and fans in the darkest hour of his 21-year basketball career, is looking forward to his fifth season as head coach at Boston College.

"The support has been tremendous and I'm very grateful," the 39-year-old Cousy said in an interview today. "I'm feeling better each day."

Cousy, who became known as "Mr. Basketball" as an All-America at Holy Cross and 13 years as a pro star with the Boston Celtics, gradually is regaining his composure after a nerve-wracking period.

Only a week ago, he tearfully defended his reputation at a news conference he called after a national magazine linked him with an alleged gambler.

Cousy admitted a close friendship developed over 12 years with the man, Andrew Pradella of Springfield, Mass., but denied any wrong-doing. He said between sobs: "I suppose I'm guilty of indiscretion, but I'm not guilty of anything else."

HARD-HITTERS

Stamford Is Worthy Foe

"They only go up the middle about 10 per cent of the time," said head coach and athletic director Wayne Tyrone.

He gave a scouting report on Stamford's Bulldogs — the team the Snyder Tigers collide with at 8 p.m. Friday in Stamford. It will be the second non-district clash of the young football season. The occasion on which Tyrone spoke was the weekly meeting of the Quarterback Club, held Tuesday in the high school cafeteria.

"They still have a winning tradition," the coach continued, "and they like to hit. The only way we'll be able to beat them will be to go over there and get with it."

He said the Tigers will outweigh the Bulldogs at four or five positons, but that the teams are about equal in weight from tackle to tackle. The Bulldog nose guard is a tough boy, and their quarterback likes to run with the ball. Most of the Stamford offensive plays are end sweeps, although they like the fullback counter play, he added.

Quarterback Club members saw films of last week's opener at Andrews. The film revealed that Merce Hernandez looked good on defense. In fact, the entire defensive effort was impressive. Untimely penalties were a factor in the final outcome. Jack May, 215-pound senior letterman tackle for Andrews, was perhaps the outstanding individual performer in the contest.

Tyrone said he promoted a couple of "B" teamers — Eddie Ray McClain and Larry Greene — so that the staff "could have a look at them." A few changes in the starting alignment are contemplated this week. For instance, Craig Bell and Ronnie Shields will concentrate on defense while O. L. Cooper has been installed as flanker back. David McGinnis has been moved to halfback, and Steve Holder will go full time as the offensive quarterback. Most of the squad is in reasonably good health. Only David Wilson remains a doubtful starter. He's been sidelined for the past couple of weeks with a neck injury.

Coaches in the school system gave reports on their teams.

Club members voted to elect new officers for next year at the conclusion of the final regular season game, and they approved the purchase of a drinking fountain for athletes at the high school.

Jerry Rice, club president, presided over the meeting.

LONBORG NOTCHES 20TH

Red Sox Thump KC, Share American Lead

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Zollo Versalles and Jerry Lumpe never stopped running but Jim Lonborg was the only one who really got where he was going.

The base running of Minnesota's Versalles and Detroit's Lumpe played key roles in the Twins' 5-4 loss to Washington and the Tigers' 6-4 triumph over Baltimore Tuesday night.

And Lonborg achieved a preseason goal when he won his 20th game, pitching Boston to a 3-1 victory over Kansas City and a share of the American League lead with the Twins.

Fourth-place Chicago meanwhile, suffered a jolt to its pennant hopes when Cleveland swept a twi-night doubleheader 4-3 and 7-1. That left the White Sox three games behind Minnesota and Boston. Detroit is one game back in second place and all four teams have 16 games left to play.

In the only other American League games played Tuesday night, California and New York split a doubleheader, the Angels taking the first game 2-1 in 12 innings and the Yankees capturing the nightcap, 2-1.

Home runs by Fred Valentine and Frank Howard keyed the Senators' victory over Minnesota and it was Howard who cut down Versalles trying to stretch a double into a triple with Washington leading 4-1 in the seventh inning. The Twins rallied for two runs in the inning after the play.

When Howard hit his 34th homer in the eighth, it gave Washington the cushion it needed to stand off a ninth-inning Minnesota rally.

Lumpe beat out an infield hit on a close play opening the fifth inning against the Orioles and before the inning was over the Tigers had rallied for two runs, tying the game. Al Kaline's two-run homer in the next inning won it for Detroit.

The Orioles jolted 20-game winner Earl Wilson with early home runs by Luis Aparicio and Dave Johnson.

Lonborg became the majors' second 20-game winner when he bested the A's. He drove in the tie-breaking run with an eighth inning triple and then scored an insurance run on Mike Andrews fly ball.

Reggie Smith homered for the Red Sox and Bert Campaneris for the Athletics.

Cleveland jolted the White Sox with Luis Tiant's four-hitter completing the sweep after Bob Allen's clutch relief pitching had saved the opener.

Home runs by Max Alvis and Vern Fuller backed Tiant, who retired the first 12 batters he faced before Pete Ward reached him for a homer, accounting for Chicago's only run.

Allene struck out pinch hitters Tom McCraw and Wayne Causey, leaving the tying, and lead runs stranded in the eighth inning of the opener.

Larry Brown cracked a two-run double and Chuck Hinton drove in one run and scored another as the Indians grabbed an early lead and clung to it.

Roger Repoz drove in California's winning run against the Yankees with a sacrifice fly in the 12th inning of the opener. New York came back behind Fritz Peterson to take the nightcap. The Yankees scored a pair of firs-inning runs and Peterson's four-hitter made them stand up.

PENNANT-BOUND

Cards Continue Drive 6-0, Reds Flatten Pirates 15-7

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds may be going down for the count, but they're still swinging from the heels.

While the pennant-bound St. Louis Cardinals continued their National League stretch drive Tuesday night with a 6-0 victory over Philadelphia, the third-place Reds punched out 23 hits and flattened Pittsburgh 15-7 for their fourth straight victory.

"Just getting by, that's all," chuckled Vada Pinson, who cracked three hits, including a two-run homer, in the pitchers' nightmare at Cincinnati.

Despite their hit parade, the Reds still trail the Cardinals by 11 games and are one-half length behind runner-up San Francisco with 18 games to play.

The Giants whipped Los Angeles 4-2; Atlanta edged the New York Mets 4-3 and Houston topped the Chicago Cubs 5-4 in 12 innings in other NL games.

The Reds jumped Pittsburgh ace Bob Veale for four runs and six hits in the first inning, then rocked reliever John Gelnar for five runs and six more hits in the next two innings before completing the assault against Billy O'Dell and Dennis Ribant.

Pete Rose hit a three-run homer and scored four times; Tony Perez lashed a single, double and triple, good for four RBI; Leo Cardenas went 4-for-4; Tommy Helms and Lee May stroked three hits apiece and winning pitcher Don Lee got into the act with a pair of singles.

The Reds' 23 hits fell nine short of the NL record set in 1901 by the New York Giants. The two-team total of 39 hits was 12 less than the nine-inning mark established by the Phillies and Cubs in 1922.

Bob Gibson, making his second start for St. Louis after being sidelined 1½ months with a broken right leg, collaborated with Larry Jaster for a five-hit shutout against the Phillies.

Gibson blanked the Phils for 6 1-3 innings in registering his 12th victory of the season and Jaster pitched hitless ball the rest of the way. Dal Maxvill drove in two runs for the Cards with a double and single.

Ray Sadecki handcuffed the Dodgers on four hits, struck out 12 and didn't allow a runner past first base until the ninth when Wes Parker's double and Lou Johnson's two-out homer ruined the shutout bid. Johnson's homer ended a string of 30 scoreless innings for the Dodgers.

Hank Aaron's sacrifice fly and Joe Torre's run-scoring single overcame a 3-2 deficit in the ninth inning as the Braves snapped a five-game losing string. Aaron also drilled his 36th homer while Ron Swoboda knocked in all three Met runs with a homer and single.

The Astros stretched a modest winning streak to three games as Rusty Staub, who had tripled and scored the tying run in the ninth, laced a run-scoring single with one out in the 12th to break a 4-4 deadlock.

Last year,
over a quarter million owners of other low-price cars were won over to Plymouth.
It started a movement, a momentum,
a beat.
And the Plymouth win-you-over beat goes on.
This is the 1968 Plymouth Fury.
It still looks long and low and wide. Only richer. And much more beautiful.
And the beat goes on.
Inside, Fury's options don't have that "added on" look.
The Auto-Pilot is on the turn signal lever.
Air conditioning outlets are part of the instrument panel.
And the beat goes on.
Plymouth Fury has the biggest brakes in its class.
And the biggest trunk.
It's also the heaviest.
And the most solid.
And the beat goes on.

This is the 1968 GTX.
One in a whole new line of mid-size cars for '68: GTX, Sport Satellite, Satellite, Belvedere, Road Runner.
We've given them all-new styling for '68.
And the beat goes on.
We made our 2-door sedans look like hardtops.
And we created a new low-cost, high-performance car called the Road Runner.
Its horn goes "Beep-Beep!"
And the beat goes on.
There are 64 new Plymouths for '68.
Full-size, mid-size, sports cars, wagons and compacts.
We could build a car a minute for an entire year. And never build two exactly alike.
And the beat goes on.

NEW DODGE CORONET — The Coronet is one of the 1968 Dodges that will make their debut Thursday at Thomas Chrysler-Dodge-Plymouth here. The local Dodge dealer will have new models on display in his show room at 2103 Twenty-fifth Street.

New Dodge Cars Show Tomorrow

Dodge automobiles for 1968 will make their debut tomorrow at Thomas Chrysler - Dodge - Plymouth in Snyder.

Included in the new models on hand for the kick-off of 1968 lines will be the Polara, the Coronet and the Dart.

The Dodge Polara and Monaco lines are expanding their market coverage for 1968 by moving into the traditional low-price market with the Polara and the Polara 500, while maintaning their medium priced position with a distinguished and upgraded Monaco and Monaco 500.

Coronet, Dodge's "bread-and-butter" car, has an all new look for 1968 and a "something for-everybody" theme. There is a new two-door coupe with a hardtop roof styling to replace the two - door sedan. Station wagons have wood-grained side panels, double - hinged tailgate and a rear window washer - wiper.

There are racing stripes, high performance V-8's and hood scoops for the sporty car enthusiasts. For the economy minded, there are six-cylinder engines and low axles ratios.

Dodge Dart, the automobile industry's most popular regular-sized compact in 1967, is seeking even greater sales through wider market appeal in 1968, according to Robert McCurry, Dodge general manager. Co-leaders of the Dart parade for 1968 are an exciting new specialty car — the GT Sport — and a powerplant built especially for it — an all-new 340-cubic - inch, 275-horsepower V-8.

Suggests Installing Free Transit Systems

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Lawrence L. Walters, professor of transportation at Indiana University, told a state transportation study committee recently that it might be more economical in large cities to operate transit systems free and "haul people just like we do the garbage."

He said he based this opinion on the high cost of building freeways.

Texas Solons Oppose Amendment To Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas Sens. Ralph Yarborough, Democrats, and John Tower, Republican, voted Tuesday to oppose requiring members of Congress and candidates to disclose their finances.

The amendment, which lost 46-42, was by Sen. Joseph Clark, D-Pa., to an election reform bill.

Trio Turned Over To Texas Officers

CLOVIS, N.M. (AP) — one man and two youths were arrested in Clovis Tuesday night and turned over to Texas officers, who said the three escaped from a Muleshoe, Tex., jail earlier in the evening.

Sgt. Mac Billing said the man, identified as Dru Fergerson Powell, 25, and the juveniles, who were not identified, were returned to Muleshoe.

He said the three were arrested at the Clovis bus station, where they apparently planned to board a bus en route to California.

Big Spring Bodies To Be Returned

BIG SPRING, Tex. (AP) — What were believed to be the remains of the five members of the Howard Loyd family whose Mexican holiday apparently ended in tragedy when their plane crashed on an icy volcano peak were expected to be flown here today.

An Alpine rescue group brought the bodies down from the snowy slopes of Popocatepetl, an extinct volcano. The bodies were given to the Gayoso funeral home for forwarding to River Welch funeral home here.

The U.S. Embassy has tentatively identified the bodies as Loyd, his wife, Ida Bell and sons Don, 19, Wayne, 11, and Darrel, 9.

The plane crashed into the extinct volcano Aug. 27. The Loyds were en route from Acapulco to Brownsville, Tex., at the time.

On Aug. 28, another plane carrying another Big Spring family crashed on another volcano, Iztaccihuatl, killing Mr. and Mrs. John Polone and their two children.

The Polones had been vacationing with the Loyds.

Test Your Skill...Win CASH PRIZES

HERE ARE THE RULES OF THE CONTEST

In each advertisement on this page you will find the contestants in a prominent football game being played in the country this week-end. Get an entry blank from one of the merchants who are helping sponsor this contest and whose message is on this page. Fill in your selection of the WINNING TEAM only . . . opposite the name of the firm on the entry blank. Then send your complete blank to FOOTBALL CONTEST EDITOR, THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS. Entries must be in the hands of the editor by 12 o'clock noon, Friday. Games ending in a tie score must be specified as a tie or else it will be considered a miss.

If there is a tie for first place the winners will divide the cash money of $12.50 and no second prize will be given. If there is a first place winner and a tie for second place, the second prize winners will divide the money for the place. If more than two persons tie for second place, no second prize money will be awarded and the cash will be added to next week's prize. Tie for perfect score will split $25.00. There will be fun for the entire family. Only one entry blank will be permitted from any one person. More than one will disqualify all of the person's entries. Scores listed on the entry blank will have no bearing on the choice of the winner. Sign your entry blank and list your address and phone number — and watch for the story on next Wednesday's front page for the winners. Hurry now, and get your entry blank from one of the merchants on this page. The contest blank must be in your own handwriting. Employes of The Snyder Daily News and their families are not eligible to enter.
