Hirohito Calls On MacArthur For 38-Minute Social Visit

Formally-Attired Emperor Greeted By General In Campaign Uniform

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Thursday, Sept. 27—Emperor Hirohito, in formal morning clothes and high top silk hat, broke all precedent today by leaving his palace for a 38-minute call on General MacArthur—tieless and wearing Army khakis.

The Mikado motored to the U. S. embassy building to pay the first visit ever made by a Japanese ruler to the foreign ruler of his own nation. MacArthur's attire was his campaign uniform—without medals.

Obviously Social Call

The call obviously was a social one. A headquarters spokesman said Hirohito a few days ago "expressed a desire to call on MacArthur." Today's meeting resulted.

The emperor definitely was not issued a "summons," the spokesman emphasized.

The emperor's five-car convoy, preceded by motorcycles, arrived at the U. S. embassy about 10 a. m. (9 p. m. Wednesday eastern war time).

MacArthur received the man through whom he is ruling the Japanese in the main living room of the American embassy—one of the few buildings in Tokyo spared by American bombs.

The emperor arrived and departed in his long, low car, one of a convoy in which he made the journey with the grand chamberlain, the minister of the imperial household, and an interpreter.

Motorcycle Escort

Correspondents stood on the sidelines as the emperor's party departed.

The emperor had a motorcycle escort for his five-automobile convoy for the 10-minute ride from his palace to the embassy. Two of the cars halted at the entrance to the embassy grounds; the other three entered.

MacArthur's aide, Brig. Gen. Bonner Fellers, met the Mikado at the embassy door and escorted him and his party into MacArthur's presence.

Such a visit had been expected for weeks. Previously, the emperor had received foreign emissaries only in his place.

Yesterday, MacArthur had issued new orders cracking down on the imperial Army and government.

Must Share Food

The Japanese Army and Navy were ordered to yield up food, clothing and arms. Food and clothing will go to civilians, impoverished by eight years of sacrificing everything to Nippon's war machine. Arms will be turned over to occupation forces.

President Truman said in Washington that an Allied reparations committee would decide the fate of fleet units.

A general shakeup was ordered in the central liaison office to rid it of domination by the foreign office, which worked hand in glove with the Army in Tokyo's military expansion. The liaison office is the agency through which the occupation force controls the conquered nation.

One of Nippon's noblemen demanded that the shakeup go all the way up to the emperor, removing him completely from

Revolt Leaves Great Damage

By VERN HAUGHLAND
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAIGON, Indo-China, Sept. 26 (AP)—Rebellious Annamite natives fought with fire and guns in Saigon today as the open revolt against the return of French colonial rule went into its third day.

Nine Frenchmen and one English officer, of 41 Europeans kidnapped Tuesday, were still missing at nightfall. British military authorities expressed fear they had been killed.

Burn Market Place

The Annamites waging an apparently leaderless, disorganized campaign, burned the Saigon market place last night and seized control of the Saigon slaughterhouse.

This left the city meatless and it was believed that much of the estimated four-day supply of fresh foodstuffs was destroyed in the marketplace fire. There was an ample supply of rice, however.

Electric power, which had been disrupted by the Annamites, was restored Tuesday night. The city was still without water service.

American Army air personnel were helping to guard hotels, where European civilians crowded for overnight protection.

Jap Toleration Seen

There was some suspicion that Japanese were tolerating, if not encouraging, the disorder.

Maj. Gen. Douglas Gracey, commander of the British Saigon Control commission, summoned the Japanese General Numata and advised him that return of his men to Japan would be prejudiced if they did not maintain order.

The British were attempting to control the situation until sufficient French forces could arrive.

Evatt Demands Voice In Peace

By JOHN A. PARRIS, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 26—Australia's foreign minister, Herbert Vere Evatt, demanded tonight that all nations which fought against the Axis—and not merely the Big Five—be given a voice in making the final peace settlements.

Evatt spoke at a news conference as foreign ministers of the Big Five powers neared the end of their discussions on peace treaties for Italy and the Balkan countries, as well as other questions referred to them by the Big Three at Potsdam or introduced since the talks began three weeks ago.

Expansion Urged

The Australian foreign minister urged that the Big Five either expand to include all nations whose armed forces contributed to "victory over tyranny" or else make clear that the present conference is merely advisory and a prelude to a full scale peace conference.

At the foreign minister's conference, meanwhile, France was reported pressing for consideration of her proposal that the Rhineland and the Ruhr's heavy industries be permanently internationalized so as to prevent any nation's using them to wage war.

Discussions were said to be proceeding on a more cordial basis than in the past few days.

Russia's proposal that an interallied commission be set up to guide Gen. MacArthur's occupation policies in Japan continued to stir comment in individual delegations.

Disarming Of Japs In Shanghai Finished

SHANGHAI, Sept. 26. (AP) — Disarming of Japanese in the city of Shanghai has been completed, 10 days after it began, military officers sai dtoday, but the second phase, that taking in outlying areas, likely will require until December.

Col. Morris Depass, Miami, Fla., Attached to the Third Army forward echelon charged with seeing that the Japanese lay down their arms, said the city proper is cleared of all Nipponese troops, and almost all civilians. Japanese who had been living luxuriously in Shanghai hotels now are housed primarily in the Hongken district, which was designated a ghetto for European Jews during the occupation.

Three Enter Pleas On Evasion Charge

HOUSTON, Sept. 26. (AP)—Three men, separately indicted late yesterday by the federal grand jury for alleged conspiracy to evade military service by bribing United States officers early this summer, entered not quilty pleas when arraigned before Federal Judge Allen B. Hannay today.

The defendants were Clyde William Wooster, manager of a lumber yard in Alvin; Alebrt William Charpiot, co-owner of a tire shop and garage here, and Oma Dixon Claunch, alias Oscar D. Claunch, a mechanic.

Singer Safe After Kidnaping Report

ROME, Sept. 26. (AP) — Rome police headquarters reported tonight that Beniamino Gigli, world famous tenor, was safe at his home after word had spread through the city that he had been kidnapped.

The Rome police announcement said Gigli left his home with an unidentified man who persuaded the singer to accompany them to a lawyer after telling him he was about to be arrested. Later, the police said, Gigli visited police headquarters and returned to his home. The police report said Gigli was not wanted on any charges.

The tenor's family notified police when Gigli failed to return after leaving with the men.

DEMONSTRATION IN ARGENTINA — A half million people thronged the streets of Buenos Aires in the most resounding repudiation of their government since it seized power June 4, 1943. At right is one of the allegories which lightened the parade with its defiant good humor but clearly showed the sentiment of the people whose shackles are cut by a chisel marked 'Democracy.'

Argentine In State Of Siege, Freedoms Suspended And Scores Are Under Arrest

By RAFAEL ORDORICA
Associated Press Staff Writer

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 26 — President Edelmiro Farrell told the nation tonight that the iron state of siege his regime clamped upon Argentina today "should be reagrded as a transitory measure" not altering his promise of a general election before the year ends.

Even as the president spoke, police continued raids which have brought about the arrest of virtually every prominent Argentine in fields of public service.

Constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech, press and assembly were suspended by today's unexpected decree. Up to 8 p. m., however, censorship had not been reimposed.

Farrell promised in his radio address tonight that the state of siege will be lifted "when the directive groups of the nation have shown they know how to make full use of liberty." He said the new repressive measures were brought about by "an unrestrained campaign" which had excited the nation.

The administration based its decree on the need to stem "a growing campaign aimed at alteration of the order" and conducted by "the oligarthy . . . certain sections of the press and professional men."

Signers of Decree

The decree was signed by President-General Edelmiro Farrell, Col. Juan Peron, vice-president and "strong man of Argentina," and nine cabinet ministers including Foreign Minister Juan Cooke and Minister of the Interiar Hortensio Quijano.

The Ferrell-Peron government struck just two days after the Cordoba Army garrison crushed a short-lived revolt led by Generals Arturo Rawson and Osvaldo Martin, avowed opponents of the administration.

"The real evolution in this country begins as of now because your newspapers have wanted it that way," Col. Filomeno J. Velazco, chief of police in Beunos Aires, told reporters as his men continued a roundup which had brought more than 50 Argentines into detention by late afternoon.

Among Those Seized

Prominent figures seized included Eustaquio Menéez Delfino, president of the Buenos Aires stock and commodity exchange; Louis Colombo, president of the Argentine Industril union; Raul Lamuraglia, its vice-president; and Rodolfo Moreno, ranking leader of the opposition conservative party, who formerly served as gov-

HST Rejects U. S. Isolationism Charge

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Diplomatic News Editor

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—Suggestions that the United States is developing a postwar isolationism all over again were brusquely rejected today by President Truman who said that was the road to ruin.

The President's off-the-cuff denunciation of any idea that the country wants to back away from the world stage as it did after World war I came at a news conference at which he disclosed that his message to Congress on the atomic bomb would answer the question whether he thought the bomb secret should be shared with other countries.

The President's news conference and a subsequent meeting of acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson with reporters produced an extraordinary variety of foreign policy developments.

Topping Acheson's list was release of a stinging denunciation of the Franco government of Spain contained in a letter to Ambassador Norman Armour from the late President Roosevelt.

This letter, which still forms the basis of American policy toward Franco, virtually expressed the hope that the Spanish people will soon throw Franco out because of his wartime Axis connections and his too late attempt to climb on the Allied band wagon.

Rapid-Fire Questions

Mr. Truman answered a rapid series of questions which brought out these pieces of information:

1. The Allied governments are agreed on basic plans for the occupation of Japan under General Douglas MacArthur, but there are no special channels for carrying on day-to-day Allied policy in Japan.

2. Any talk of failure of the Big Five foreign ministers council at London is surmise at this time, in Mr. Truman's view, and people should wait to see the actual results before calling the meeting a failure.

3. The chief executive has no plans for another meeting with Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Attlee.

No Council Proposal

He also has not received any proposal for setting up an Allied council to control Japan but he does expect that disposition of the Japanese fleet will be determined by the Allies.

The discussion of the question of American isolationism rose when a newsman asked Mr. Truman for comment on a statement by columnist David Lawrence, published yesterday, suggesting that people of the United States are in a more isolationist mood now than a little time back.

The President's response was quick. He said that he did not agree and added, if we ever get to that point we are on the road to ruin just as in 1920.

There have been reports that General Douglas MacArthur might come to Washington for a discussion of policy, but Mr. Truman said that he did not look for him and had no plans to bring him here.

Area Rotarians In Annual Meet

Approximately 400 Panhandle, Plains and Eastern New Mexico Rotarians from 23 surrending cities jammed the Aggie pavilion at Texas Tech college last night to hear Col. Ike Ashburn, assistant to the president and general manager of the Todd-Houston Shipbuilding corporation of Houston, address the 22nd annual intercity gathering on the "responsibilities to our returning service men."

Ashburn went into the many problems that face Texas in the approaching "greatest reconversion and construction period in history," along with the opportunities that are offered to the younger men of Texas.

Great Problems Ahead

"The next five years will be unparalelled in problems for our younger generation, but the same may be said for the prosperity of the era and the opportunities that it will present to the young men and woman of Texas," Ashburn said.

Ashburn spoke of the persons who did not serve in the war just ended as the trustees for the next generation and cited the responsibilities of that group, including the ones already fulfilled such as production to win the war, moral obligations to families of men overseas and the continuation of

Patton Called In To Report On Nazi Plan

FRANKFURT ON THE MAIN, Sept. 26. (AP) — Gen. Eisenhower ordered Gen. George S. Patton, jr, today to report to him personally early next week on the rooting out of Nazis in Bavaria

Eisenhower's action followed a statement by the Third Army commander that he believed it was necessary to keep some Nazi party members in responsible positions for a while to "insure ourselves that women, children and old men will not perish from hunger or cold this winter."

Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, Eisenhower's cheif of staff, said the U. S. occupation chief would permit no modification of his order that Nazis be removed "ruthlessly from public office, regardless of general efficiency."

Dec. 15 Is Tentatively Set By WLB As Deadline For Quitting

WASHINGTON Sept. 26 (AP)—The War Labor board today tentatively set its deadline for quitting the national scene at December 15.

The board was created immediately following the Pearl Harbor attack to settle wartime industrial disputes

A national labor-management conference beginning Nov. 15 is expected to set up new machinery to handle peacetime problems.

Chairman George W. Taylor and Vice Chairman Lloyd K. Garrison conferred today with Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach, who now presides over the board's liquidation. It was transferred to the labor department a week ago. They announced no decisions and will meet again.

Principal problems at the moment are what to do about wage reductions and enforcement of WLB orders.

The wage reductions question is a new one. The board had authority during the war to grant reductions to correct inequities, but nobody asked for them then. Employers had enough trouble getting manpower to turn out their products and wages were going upward, not downward.

Now some applications for reductions are coming into the regional War Labor boards. Something must be done about fixing a policy. If the board sets a policy, who will take it over when the board is gone? Members are asking themselves that.

The board's 12 regional chair-

Captured Jap Document Details Farcical Jap Trial Of Fliers

By RICHARD CUSHING
Associated Press Staff Writer

SHANGHAI, Sept. 26—A captured Japanese document disclosed details of the farcical 30 minute court martial—entirely in Japanese—which sent three of Jimmie Doolittle's fliers to their execution by shooting Oct. 15, 1942 nearly six months after they flew from the Carrier Hornet to a spectacular raid on Japan.

Officials annuonced the details today, confirming the execution of three out of eight airmen captured after their two B-25s crashed in China.

All eight received the death sentence but the unpredictable Japanese chose to execute the two pilots and a machinegunner. One machinegunner on another plane pleaded successfully that his gun was not functioning.

The document charged that the plane piloted by Lt. Dean Edward Hallmark, 27, of 808 Wayne Ave., Dallas, "bombed and strafed the city (of Tokyo) blindly and indiscriminately and hurriedly with 12 other planes about 1 p. m. (Apr. 18, 1942) and killed scores of civilians and destroyed several civilian buildings." Hallmark was executed. His plane had made a forced landing at Ningpo, Chekiang province.

Another executed flier, Lt. William Glover Farrow, 23, of Darlington, S. C., piloted a Mitchell which the trial text charged flew blindly to get away from Nipponese defenses, "dived and strafed a Nagoya grammar school building and children playing on the grounds." The plane exhausted its gas and the crew parachuted at

Refinery Operations Strangled By Strike

Production Cut Almost In Half By Emergency Order; Protests Start

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Sept. 26—Texas' huge oil-producing industry today was ordered to cut its allowable production 400,000 barels daily effective Oct. 1 as a direct outgrowth of strike-strangled refinery operations.

The railroad commission, Texas' oil regulatory body, issued an emergency order putting oil fields generally on a 12-day producing month in place of a 21-day month, shortly before the Oil Workers International union, CIO, from Chicago announced authorization of a nation-wide strike if present government-sponsored conciliation fails.

Strike Spreading

The strike, which thus far has made idle 22,000 workers, shutting down 16 refineries or affiliated plants in the gulf coast area, was spreading to the big East Texas field. At Kilgore workers of the East Texas Salt Water Disposal company have set midnight tomorrow for a walkout. Gulf pipeline workers took a strike vote last night and membership of the Oil Workers International union No. 207 set a strike vote for Saturday. Approximately 17 companies were affected in this area.

The Salt Water Disposal company returns salt water produced with oil in East Texas fields to the oil formation. This serves the double purpose of disposing of the sale water and maintaining pressure in the oil pool. Handling of the salt water has always been a prime problem in the East Texas field.

No Point In Waste

Col. Ernest O. Thompson, member of the railroad commission, commenting on its order, said that there was no point in letting oil "pile up on top of the ground, wasting and unwanted by anyone."

The railroad commission's emergency order brought an immediate kick-back from one East Texas refiner. J. E. G. Craig, manager of the Gladewater Refining company, said he would protest to the commission because cutting the East Texas field to 11 producing days in October would result in shutting down the refinery. He said it would be unfair to shut down East Texas refineries, just because coastal plants are having trouble.

The latest gulf coast refinery to shutdown was the Sinclair plant at Corpus Christi. At Houston, E. W. Johnson, president of the Oil Workers Local 227 said the union was contemplating immediate strike action against the Crown Central Petroleum company because the company has advised the union it will begin wholesale layoffs of workers Saturday.

Picket lines placed yesterday at the Shell City distributing depot at Houston, were extended to Gulf and Pure oil stations there. Extension of the strike to other plants in the Houston area at which strike votes have been com-

Labor, Management Still At Loggerheads As Nationwide Tieup Threatens Industry

CHICAGO, Sept. 26. (AP) — Oil industry labor and management continued at loggerheads today over a union 30 per cent wage increase demand as government conciliators strove to effect a settlement and avert a threatened nationwide oil workers strike.

The CIO Oil Workers International union exploded an announcement that its executive council had authorized a nationwide strike if this conference fails—a conference which Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach said "must not be permitted to fail."

Would Affect 250,000

A union spokesman said a national strike would affect 250,000 workers, the men who run the refineries, principally, which produce the gasoline now available to motorists without ration cards but already curtailed by a seven-state stoppage of 35,000 men.

"Nothing has been accomplished; the position of both sides is unchanged," said an industry spokesman, Daniel T. Pierce of Sinclair Refining company, during one recess.

"There is no tangible evidence of any change in the position. of industry," said O. A. Knight, Fort Worth, Tex., union president, during another interval.

"No news," said Justice William L. Knous of the Colorado Supreme court, presiding member of a three-man conciliation panel attempting to settle the dispute in which about 35,000 men are already off the job in seven states.

Alternate Sessions

Justice Knous arranged rapid-fire, alternate sessions, all closed, with labor and industry representatives after the union announcement of the national strike authorization.

"We realize that if the issue is not settled here plants throughout the United States will come down (be struck)," Knight told reporters. "We have advised industry and the panel that we will not call a general strike as long as there is any possibility of a settlement here, but the (union) executive council has authorized me to take whatever action is deemed necessary."

Although Knight and the union public relations director, Harvey O'Connor, declined to give the union's membership, O'Connor said a nationwide strike would affect 250,000 men in the industry.

Pierce declared that the oil companies were "more or less com-

Dealey Says MacArthur Is Man To Handle Jap Occupation Plans

DALLAS, Sept. 26 (AP)—Ted Dealey, president of the Dallas Morning News, who was one of the American newspapermen to witness the Japanese surrender on the USS Missouri, today gave a luncheon club additional hitherto unpublished quotations from General Douglas MacArthur on the Japanese.

Three hundred Texas business and professional men applauded Dealey when he said:

"General MacArthur is the best man the United States could have in authority in Japan. He knows the Japanese people, their psychology and how to deal with the whole problem of Japan. The American government will be smart if it lets MacArthur handle the situation in the Far East."

Off-The-Record Quote

Dealey said that at the luncheon he attended at MacArthur's residence in Yokohama on Sept. 4 where the Japanese surrender ceremonies were discussed, MacArthur said, informally, and off the record:

"I felt like leaning over the surrender table and spitting in their faces, but I thought it might detract from the dignity of the occasion."

MacArthur also discussed with his American newspaper guests the problem of the Japanese Army, and the future of the atomic bomb.

Returning Japs from Abroad

MacArthur said that his immediate problem with the Jap Army was to disband and return to Japan 4,000,000 Japanese soldiers outside Japan. Unless they were disarmed quickly, Dealey quoted MacArthur as saying, these Japs might take to the hills and become a problem as guerrillas. In addition, 3,000,000 Jap soldiers in Japan remained to be disarmed. This could be done quickly, MacArthur said.

"What's going to happen when 7,000,000 disarmed Japanese soldiers are let loose in Japan?" Dealey asked MacArthur.

"That's their problem," MacArthur answered.

"There will be no soft handling of the Japanese by MacArthur," Dealey said. "He will be tough—firm and just."

Asked about the future effect of the atomic bomb on all nations, MacArthur said:

"The atomic bomb has made big armies and big navies obsolete. Future armies will be small, air-borne, highly-trained."

"I am a big Army and a big Navy man, but I have a little common sense," said MacArthur, who added that scientists would likely concentrate now on counter measures for the atomic bomb.

Dealey made no reference to a recent statement in which he said MacArthur told him and several other publishers that American troops could be withdrawn from Japan within six months if "we are not too ruthless and cruel."

MacArthur, through a spokesman yesterday, said his remarks had been misinterpreted and that instead troops may have to be kept in Japan for many years.

First War Plane Using Jet And Conventional Engines Is Revealed

By JAMES J. STREBIG
Associated Press Aviation Editor

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—The Navy revealed the FR-1 Fireball today—the world's first war plane using both jet and conventional engines with a propeller.

The Fireball incorporates other aviation firsts, including the first tricycle landing gear accepted for aircraft carrier use.

In the nose the plane has a conventional Wright engine of 1350 horsepower. A General Electric 9-16 thermal jet engine is in the tail. Both engines can be used simulaneously, or it will fly on either.

The speed of the Fireball was not disclosed. But it is one of the world's fastest aircraft, and its performance varies little from sea level to 25,000 feet, the efficiency of the jet increasing as that of the conventional engine declines during a climb to altitude.

The plane was demonstrated to a group of Navy and aviation officials and writers at Anacostia (D. C.) naval air station, with Al Conover, Ryan Aeronautical company's chief test pilot at the controls.

Hamburger, Sausage And Luncheon Meats To Be Ration-Free

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26. (U.P.)—Hamburger, sausage and luncheon meats are among the meats that will become ration-free Oct. 1, it was disclosed today.

The Agriculture department said that red point values on these types of meat will be reduced to zero at the beginning of the new ration period.

At the same time, about 15 per cent of the whole meat supply will be made ration-free by reducing to zero the points required for the three lower grades of beef—eanner, cutter and utility.

There has been speculation that lower grades of lamb and veal also will be made point free.

Taxicab Licensing Is Profitable In Dallas

DALLAS, Sept. 26. (U.P.)—More revenue is given Dallas by its taxicab licensing system than that brought in through systems at Houston or Fort Worth, J. W. Monk, acting supervisor of public utilities, has announced.

The city has received $295,291.75 in franchise taxes since 1937 from the City Transportation company, operators of Yellow cabs, and Nichols Brothers cabs, which was an average of $280.16 for each cab operated during 1944. Monk said that last year Houston received $35 for each cab operated and Fort Worth obtained $25.

Two Citizens May Collect From Uncle Sam But Their Bill Is Running Powerfully High

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26. (U.P.)—If the Messrs. George A. Carden and Anderson T. Heard should live so long, which is doubtful (and I say so with no knowledge of their health) they may eventually collect 320,000,000 from their Uncle Samuel.

All I know about them is that they are humble citizens, who have gone around in frayed and tattered garments for a generation, trying to collect what is coming to them. Rep. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, said so.

Situation Is Incredible

The situation was one of those utterly incredible ones. Here was Congress called back from its vacation by President Truman to take up urgent problem of World War II and here was the House of Representatives getting itself into an all-day lather over the money the ragged ones said the government cheated them in World War I. Boy!

The frayed Carden and the tattered Heard, who were New York ship brokers in 1917, have tried at every session of Congress to get the $6,000,000 they claim that Uncle is owing them, plus six per cent interest. That's been going on now for 28 years, compounded, and according to Rep. Earl C. Michigan, so help him, the bill today is better than $20,000,000. Another 28 years and it'll be the biggest item in the federal government.

Then War Was Declared

There were, in any event, seven Austrian ships, including the Anna, a rusty tub built in 1882, interned in America shortly before America entered the first World war. Heard and Carden bought all seven for $6,476,073 and sold 'em to a syndicate of financiers for $7,371,141. The syndicate also promised to give Carden and Heard five per cent of the profits for operating 'em. (Don't give up; we're getting to the interesting part in a minute.)

War was declared before the ink on the contract was dry; President Woodrow Wilson appealed for all available boats at cost. Carden and Heard turned over their seven ships and got the government's promise to let them operate same at the usual five per cent.

Last They Saw of Them

That's the last they saw of their boats. Some were sunk by U-boats; others were turned over to European allies. This made Carden and Heard sore; they figured their boats would have earned $50,000,000 and their percentage would have been $2,500,000. They said furthermore that the ships were worth $4,000,000 more than they were paid. Accordingly they submitted their bill, but all they received (aside from $550,000 expense money) was hocuspocus. Congress after Congress debated their claim, the court of claims finally turned 'em down upon what they said was a technicality and that, I believe, brings us up to today.

Before the House was a new bill to let the ship dealers appeal the decision to the Supreme court. Unfortunately it was 1 o'clock, or lunch time. It took two quorum calls to get the membership in to do business. Came then the arguments and a lot of the boys sneaked down for their dessert.

Rep. Daniel A. Reed of New York said the way the frayed plaintiffs had been treated was a national tragedy; made Uncle Samuel look lige a crook. Rep. John J. Cochran of Missouri, said they had no money coming. Many other congressmen shouted into the microphone and the bill, four hours later, lost out by a third roll call, 147 to 142.

That means the atttered ones can come back next year, if they still think $20,000,000 is worth while; it'll probably be $25,000,000 by then, anyhow.

No Enemy-Directed Sabotage Said Found In Texas During The War

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff

Eighty-five cases of sabotage were uncovered by the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Texas during the war—but not one single case was enemy-directed.

Suspicions and rumors that wrecks, explosions and fires in war plants and mechanical breakdowns of various sorts were caused by enemy agents were entirely groundless

Investigated 694 Cases

In a report prepared in Washington by the FBI for the Texas bureau of the Associated Press, the FBI said it had investigated 694 cases in Texas.

Sabotage was discovered, but all cases were traced to spite, carelessness, greed, prankishness and similar motives.

An instance was explained: a mechanic was cutting electrical wires in a plane, hoping the mechanical failures would lead to the dismissal of the foreman and the promotion of himself to the job.

Aliens Were Rounded Up

While bombs were still falling at Pearl Harbor, FBI agents began rounding up alien enemies in Texas. A total of 542 were apprehended. They included 295 Germans, 117 Japanese, and 130 Italians.

A major job was the rounding up of escaped prisoners of war. There have been 261 escapes in Texas. Up to September 7, 1945, only four enemy prisoners were still at large.

The FBI handled the Selective Service cases of enough men in Texas to form a fairly good-sized fighting force. During the fiscal years 1942 to 1945, the four Texas field divisions of the FBI handled 18,425 draft cases. In each instance, these men were made available to the military services or otherwise disposed of according to law.

Excise Tax May Hold Long Time

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—Persons delaying purchase of such things as fur coats, jewelry and luggage in the hope of lower excise taxes may have to wait a long time.

In its first action on postwar tax-cutting, the House Ways and Means committee today ruled out any immediate reductions in the excise list.

Some members said the quick action is calculated to remove some of the present resistance to the purchase of such items prior to the holiday buying season.

Emphasis on Slashes

Meeting for the first time in 16 years to consider legislation reducing—not raising—taxes, the committee put its emphasis on cuts in individual and corporation income levies.

Impelled by the necessity of getting a bill on the statute books by November 1 if 1946 incomes are to be affected, the group voted to dispense with public hearings. It invited Secretary of the Treasury Fred M. Vinson to appear in executive session next week to present the administration tax-reducing program.

Under present law the high wartime excise rates run until six months after the official end of hostilities, as proclaimed by the President or by Congress. No one knows now when this official termination will come.

The Woman's Angle

IN THE MAIL

TO the anonymous writer of the letter concerning the peace time draft of 18-year-olds: That subject has already been discussed thoroughly in the column, The Plainsman Says, in the Evening Journal, and in The Woman's Angle. If you had overlooked them and will call by the editorial rooms, we'll be glad for you to look at the files.

IT WORRIED US

A popcorn eating teen-ager, sitting by another P. E. T-A., and both of them near us at the movie, "Over 21," was frightfully disturbed to note Miss Irene Dunne looked "so awfully old." At least that was her opinion and it must have worried her because she kept nudging her companion and exclaiming in that delightfully shrill voice so natural to youngsters, "Now look at her, doesn't she look old?"

Being neither so young as the young critics nor so old as the actress, we weren't interested in the age question but there was one item we think the technical advisor overlooked and that was the matter of the telephone. If you saw the movie you recall the wife is called to the telephone in her apartment bungalow about ten minutes after her arrival. How in the world did her husband get the telephone installed?

You may say that the telephone was already there. Well, but we thought it didn't matter if the telephone was there or not; when a new person moves in, the telephone is disconnected and goes to the next one on the list.

Perhaps there were more telephones near Florida officer candidate schools than in Texas cities. Oh, well, it's none of our affair really but it worried us more than the teen-agers' views on Miss Dunne's looks.

BUYING CLOTHES

BUYING a civilian outfit isn't as easy as simply going in to a store and trying clothes on for size. At least that seems to be the concensus of military folk turned civilian we have talked with lately.

"I look like a cross between my Dad and Joe Palooka," laughed a young Army Air Corps officer on terminal leave and interested in getting a fall wardrobe. "I had worn a uniform so long I had forgotten how loosely a coat fits and the colors get me. To tell you the truth, I feel as silly as the devil in them and plan to walk around the house, around the yard, around the block and finally branch out and go down town."

"I had forgotten clothes cost so much before the war," said a young Lubbock woman recently discharged from the service, "or did they?" she asked, gazing proudly at a handsome black gabardine suit and checking her pocket book where the "folding money" had been.

EARRINGS

LONG earrings are being shown this season for the first time in many years. Some of the buyers expect them to be popular, particularly those earrings with modified drops and loops. Others feel the vogue will be limited. All agree, however, that long earrings are becoming part of the "dress-up" picture, and all buyers hope women will refrain from wearing "longies" for casual occasions.

As the writer views it, so-called glamorous costume jewelry loses its appeal because so many wearers put it on when they get up in the morning, wear it to work, whether to a desk, a store, an office, or to do their marketing. They do not save it for a "dress up" occasion and consequently look rather silly wearing it in the middle of the day with sweaters, dirndls, cotton frocks, slack suits or what have you.

Civil Liberties Union Asks For Dismissal Of Laredo Libel Suit

AUSTIN, Sept. 26. (AP) — The American Civil Liberties union today asked the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals to dismiss a criminal libel conviction under which William Prescott Allen, publisher of the Laredo Times, had been given a six months jail sentence.

Allen's indictment grew out of publication of statements criticizing operation of the Laredo Rotary club's student loan fund. The court of criminal appeals on June 20 reversed and remanded the case for a new trial on the grounds it had been "too generally" submitted to the jury. The court also held however, that it deemed the evidence sufficient to support the conviction, declaring that the article complained of in its entirety did "attribute to the board of directors (of the Laredo Rotary club) a libelous 'act' in 'hounding' the members of the armed forces of the United States for repayment of money loaned them."

Union's Argument

The Civil Liberties union friend-of-the-court brief filed today by Attorney Gerald Weatherly of Corpus Christi, contended that the article complained of does not bear out the innuendo of the indictment.

The case is now before the court, Texas' highest in criminal matters, for a second time on oral argument. Allen's pending motion for rehearing followed the June 20 reversal. It is scheduled to be argued Oct. 3. A number of civil libel suits in connection with the publication of the article have been dropped by agreement.

Sinister Background

"The union originally interested itself in the cause because of what appeared to be a sinister background behind this prosecution and cases connected with it," the agency's brief declared.

"Having aided in bringing about a settlement of those connected cases, the union hopes it may be of assistance in the case at bar and thus help to terminate finally the whole deplorable imbroglio begun in connection with appellan't doubtless well-meant efforts to protect service men from what he considered unkind and unpatriotic pressure.

Act of Hounding

"The court's second opinion in the present has, as we apprehend, narrowed the case down to the question of whether the indictment should be sustained because it charges that the newspaper article accused the Rotary club's board of directors of the act of having hounded, or relentlessly pursued, service men for collection of their debts to the club. And it is true that the indictment does have a direct innuendo to this effect.

"When, however, we read the newspaper article itself, it is plain to use it does not bear out the innuendo. It does not accuse the moard of directors of the hounding.

"Since the innuendo is not borne out by the article, we respectfully submit that the indictment must surely be quashed and the case dismissed.

Moisture Inadequate For Crops In Texas Except In Southeast

AUSTIN, Sept. 26. (AP) — The United States Department of Agriculture reported today that soil moisture was inadequate in all areas of Texas except the southeastern for the week ending Sept. 24.

Cotton picking and pulling made good progress, becoming fairly general in all areas except late planted acreages in the northwest. As harvesting progressed the adverse effects on heavy weevil infestation in the north central and northeastern counties became more apparent.

Some Plant In Dust

Although there was some planting of small grains in the dust, most farmers preferred to wait for more moisture. Field preparations were almost at a standstill with insufficient moisture to germinate planted fields.

The sorghum harvest continued in a limited way on the high plains where rains were badly needed. In other areas harvest was well along.

Early planted commercial vegetables were making satisfactory progress in all areas. Considerable acreage of snap beans was planted in areas outside of the lower valley; peppers and tomatoes were making good growth.

Winter Garden Area

In the winter garden and Laredo districts tomatoes were holding ga good set of ruit. Part of the non-irrigated coastal bend has sufficient moisture to plant cabbage, carrots and spinach. Most of the onion seed beds are growing nicely.

Continued dry weather over most of the state began to show its effect on livestock. Early movement before livestock lose flesh was anticipated in western and northwestern counties where range feed was short and stock water low.

Dixon Leaves Hawaii And Suddenly Finds Tentative Nostalgia

By KENNETH DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WESTBOUND FROM HONOLULU—There's an old saying among GI's that the American soldier isn't really at home any place overseas until he has come to hate that particular foreign spot with a passion peculiar to the unwanting wanderer.

And the second half of that saying is that he never learns to like a place until he has his orders to leave.

Kenneth Dixon

Both are true. But it is especially of the latter that I'm thinking at the moment. For now I've left Hawaii — the place where I stopped to make a phone call and stayed a month — and although I've been itching to leave all that time, suddenly I now find myself already waxing tentatively nostalgic about Oahu.

GIs Tell Him Off

Since it meant missing a chance to help cover the surrender ceremonies in Tokyo bay, I wasn't too happy about Hawaii from the outset. Then I began to run into servicemen who'd been stationed there for many months and they gave me the business.

"Pearl of the Pacific, huh?" they'd exclaim with tones of men who have just been played for suckers by circus sideshow barkers. "Boy, just wait until we get back and tell those steamship lines off!"

"Women," they'd say "women for whom?" And they had a legitimate gripe there. Nobody has issued any official figures on the ratio of women to men in Honolulu, but with servicemen jamming the city about one to 50 seems a fair estimate.

Preconceived Notions

We form fantastic preconceived notions about what we will find there and then are so busy being bitter about not finding them that we don't bother to look around for what is to be found.

Already I'm remembering the brilliant beauty of those blood-red sunsets through the palm trees. And the way the full moon hung high and white over Diamond Head. And that spectacular motion-frozen appearance of surfboard riders skimming the crest of waves into Waikiki beach.

Even Waikiki itself already is a pleasant memory for it was a good place to swim. And there were women there—beautiful women in bathing suits. True, for most of us they were just there to look at.

Purely Relative View

But something tells me there's many an atoll farther west where GIs would give six months pay just to spend a couple of afternoons lying on Waikiki's sands.

So okay Oahu. There's no hula band on Hickman Field's black-topped runway. But nostalgia's fatal spell, which always goes hand in hand with a farewell, already is working and I'll come back someday.

Parley Watched For New Wage Policy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26. (AP)—Belief that the government lacks enforcement machinery to back up any new wage policy of its own prompted Labor department executives today to look to the Chicago oil strike conference for a postwar pay pattern.

John W. Gibson, assistant to Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach expressed the view to newsmen that the government could not set the formula—as it did in the "Little Steel" decision early in the war—because its enforcement powers were scant.

Nevertheless, the government still holds the power to seize gasoline and oil refineries and may do so if the Chicago conference fails to produce a settlement of the seven-state strike.

Schwellenbach said, after absorbing the War Labor board in his reorganized department, that he would exercise the wartime authority to recommend seizure only in critical situations.

Russia And Hungary Resume Relations

LONDON, Sept. 26. (AP)—Russia has restored diplomatic relations with Hungary in consideration of Hungary's aid in the war against Germany and her "loyal fulfillment of the armistice treaty," the Moscow radio said tonight.

Meanwhile the Vienna radio reported that the Austrian conference of provinces had approved a resolution calling for general elections Nov. 25 and that a new "all Austrian" government, headed by provinsional Chancellor Karl Renner, had been formed.

Short Run Public Works Program Is Said Necessary For America

By HOWARD S. ELLIS
Professor of Economics,
University of California
(Distributed by the Associated Press)

If we are to bring about an orderly transition to a satisfactory economic level now that the war has ended, immediate action must be taken: to prevent an excessive boom; to shape our tax laws favorably to enterprise capital; to open up international trade and finance to expansion; and, finally, to combat monopoly in all fields. Such measures can make it possible eventually to reduce public spending. But in the short run public works programs will be necessary.

Public works, when properly handled, can strengthen private enterprise. They must be governed by long-term productivity. They should be utilized to restore competition in monopolized fields, or operate in those fields not well covered by private competition. And they should be timed to offset the business cycle.

Policies Are Advocated

What are we going to need most are policies aimed to break up monopolistic restriction of output so that we can restore competition and flexibility to our economic system. I would advocate the following policies:

1. Measures to encourage investment of savings in private competitive fields—to ease the way for new firms, innovators, and small enterprises.

2. Government research and economic education—to reveal monopoly restrictions. To improve industrial processes. To educate consumers.

Should Remove Support

3. Removal of government or legal support of monopoly—to reduce tariffs, to reform taxation hindering small competitive businesses, to repeal price-maintenance acts and state trade-barrier laws, to reform the patent system.

4. Action to strengthen anti-trust agencies to unify the law of unfair competition, to enact a federal corporation statute, and to supervise corporate mergers, trade associations and interlocking directorships.

Should Regulate Monopolies

5. Government regulation of "natural monopolies"—where monopoly is the natural tendency it should be regulated.

6. Government ownership and operation to compete with certain monopolies.

Government competition with monopolies would represent an intelligent outlet for public investment. By converting war-expanded industries to compete with monopolies we could kill three birds with one stone: (1) over-capacity, (2) monopoly restriction of employment, and (3) the reduced flow of money income generally.

Many Invitations To Nimitz Are Declined

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26. (AP)—So many cities want to honor Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific fleet, on his return to the United States next month that the Navy was forced today to send out regrets to many. It said the urgency of demobilization tasks made it necessary that his stay in the country be cut short.

However, Nimitz will be able to attend celebrations in San Francisco on Oct. 2, in Washington, D. C., on Oct. 5, in New York City on Oct. 9 and at Dallas and Austin in his home state of Texas on Oct. 12.

In offering regrets for not being able to accept other invitations the Navy announcement said Nimitz and the Navy "are grateful to the many cities which have sought to have him visit them so they may pay tribute through him to the fighting men of the fleet."

Heifer Gives Dallas 'Cowboys' Merry Time

DALLAS, Sept. 26 (U.P.)—City boys lived up to their "city slicker" titles when they straightened out a Dallas traffic jam.

It seems that a sleek Jersey heifer had parked herself in front of the Farm and Ranch building on Main street. Despite the long lines of vehicles she had stopped and the honks and clanging of street car bells, the heifer wouldn't budge an inch.

Three police cars arrived on the scene.

Finally, a little country ingenuity was used. Cow-punching tactics brought the undisturbed animal off the streets. She was "tied short" off the main thoroughfare, and traffic resumed.

Auto Hits Trolley, One Woman Injured

DALLAS, Sept. 26 (U.P.)—A privately owned bus with 17 passengers sideswiped a street car here today and turned over on its side with only one woman passenger slightly injured. She received a cut right hand, Traffic Investigator C. L. Brown reported.

T. H. Owens, superintendent of traffic for the Dallas Railway and Terminal Co., said the street car stopped and the bus driver swerved to avoid a collision. The bus struck the end of the street car and, apparently out of control, turned over on its side, preliminary reports revealed, Owens stated.

Regents To Discuss Lifting Of Probation

DALLAS, Sept. 26 (AP)—Action to lift the probation status put on the University of Texas by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools will be discussed at the board of regents' meeting in Austin Friday and Saturday.

Chairman Dudley K. Woodward Jr., of Dallas, said yesterday the board has asked the association what must be done to lift the probationary status ordered last July and has notified the association of the meeting Friday.

A postwar building expansion for the university also will be considered at the meeting. First on the program is a $2,000,000, 600-bed hospital to be erected at Galveston for use by the university medical branch.

Woodward said the board expects to begin discussions of plans for establishing a medical center for students at the main university at Austin and for a new biochemistry research laboratory there.

Slash In Production Would Close Refinery

GLADEWATER, Sept. 26 (AP)—J. E. G. Craig, manager of the Gladewater Refining company, said today that cutting the East Texas field to eleven production days in October would result in shutting down the refinery.

He said a strong protest would be made to the railroad commission The protest, he said, would claim it is unfair to shut down refineries here just because coastal plants are having trouble.

The refineries of East Texas are going ahead with normal production There was a run on them last week, out Craig said sales were about normal this week.

Stilled Voice Of Roosevelt Deals Stinging Blow To Franco Regime

By GRAHAM HOVEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26. (AP)—The still voice of Franklin D. Roosevelt delivered a stinging indictment of Generalissimo Franco today and expressed fervent hope that Spain would get rid of its Fascist regime.

The late President's denunciation was contained in a letter he wrote last March 10 to Norman Armour, United States ambassador to Spain, which was made public by the State department.

Helped By Fascists

He asserted bluntly that Franco had been helped to power by Fascist Italy and Nazi Germany; that Franco's government was "totalitarian" and that it had tried "to spread its Fascist party ideas in the western hemisphere." The letter contained at least an implied threat that the United States would withhold substantial economic assistance from Spain until the Franco regime was thrown out.

Mr. Roosevelt said he would "be lacking in candor" if he did not assert "that I can see no place in the community of nations for governments founded on Fascist principles."

Publication of the letter was the latest in a series of verbal punches thrown by the United States and the United Nations at the Franco government.

Surprised At Inquiry

Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson was asked at his news conference to outline United States policy towards Spain. He expressed surprise that anyone was still unfamiliar with that policy because, he said, it had been stated forcefully at the United Nations conference at San Francisco and in the Big Three Potsdam communique.

Acheson added that President Roosevelt had outlined the policy very clearly in a letter last March.

Fifteen minutes after the Acheson conference, newsmen were handed mimeographed copies of the letter.

Official Viewpoint

In contrast to Russian and British policies, the official American viewpoint toward Franco had been expressed only in relatively brief, negatice fashion in the following ways:

1. The United States collaborated in the San Francisco declaration which said, in effect, that the Franco regime could not join the United Nations.
2. President Truman joined Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Attlee at Potsdam in an ascertion that the Big Three governments would not accept any application for United Nations membership from Franco.
3. The President subsequently told a news conference that the American people did not like anything about Franco.

Although it contained little new information, the Roosevelt letter was more positive in nature because it practically told the Spanish people that the United States would aid them in every way possible once they got rid of Franco.

HST Refuses To Take Defeat Of Pay Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—President Truman took his severest rebuff from Congress with a smile today, and let reporters know he considers the jobless pay liberalization bill not dead, but sleeping.

Unwilling to concede defeat, he invited the Democratic members of the House ways and means committee to his office, at 10 a. m. tomorrow, for a talking-to.

Sudan Man Member Of Naval Guerrillas Behind Jap Lines

WASHINGTON—It can now be revealed that Lt. (jg) Travis J. Parker, Route 1, Sudan, Tex., played a role in one of the most romantic and dangerous episodes of the war against Japan—as a member of a Naval group of guerrillas, intelligence agents and weather observers behind the Japanese lines in Asia.

The group, now known as SACO—Sino-American Co-Operative Organization—began shortly after Pearl Harbor as strictly a weather reporting unit.

The project grew until it was providing the U. S. Fleet, the Army's 14th Air Force and the Chinese and American Army Headquarters with weather reports and with intelligence on movement of Jap ships, troops and supplies. Finally, it became a dangerous fighting outfit, killing Japs, blowing up trains, raiding Jap outposts. Its activities finally extended all the way from Indo-China to the Gobi desert.

SACO intelligence allowed the 14th Air force to mine coastal waters, forcing Jap shipping out to sea, where they were attacked by American submarines, on information from SACO.

Weather information helped the Navy decide when to stage invasions on Jap islands and raids on the Jap homeland.

Usually it was possible to enter or depart from Jap territory by air, but SACO Americans became adept at Chinese disguises and, guided by SACO Chinese, slipped through enemy lines when they chose. Through months and years not one SACO member was detected.

Hike In Service Pay Voted Down

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26. (AP)—A $25 a month pay boost for soldiers and sailors was turned down by the Senate today in passing legislation designed to encourage volunteering for the Army and Navy.

Senator Morse (R-Ore) proposed the pay rise but was beaten 64 to 13. He argued pay will have to be more attractive if the armed services are to get the men they need by volunteer methods alone.

Majority Leader Barkley (Ky) and Senator Hill of Alabama, the Democratic whip, paced the fight against it.

Barkley disagreed with Morse's main argument.

With the Morse amendment out of the way, the Senate approved the measure on a voice vote. It already has passed the House but must return there for action on Senate amenments.

Its principal provisions:

1. Allotments for dependents of volunteers on the same basis granted draftees.
2. All benefits under the "GI Bill of Rights."
3. Mustering out pay ranging from $100 to $300 for men now in the Army who volunteer for enlistment
4. Optional retirement on part pay after 20 years of service. This is now permitted by the Navy but present Army retirement rules require 30 years service.
5. A travel allowance of five cents a mile for a furlough home for those now in the service who reenlist.
6. An optional money allowance in lieu of quarters for dependents.

Over objections from the War department, the Senate voted 63 to 16 to permit soldiers with six months service to enlist for as short a time as one year. A like provision was approved by the House.

The Senate also voted to permit original enlistments for only 18 months, adopting an amendment by Senator Revercomb (R-WVa). This was not in the House-approved measure.

Retained were optional enlistments for two-year or three-year periods.

An amendment by Senator Hayden (D-Ariz) to authorize use of 50,000 Philippine Scouts in the occupation of Japan went in on a voice vote.

Senator Morse got approval the same way for an amendment making allowances for dependents until 18 months after the war is officially declared ended. Under present law, they are to expire six months after the war's end.

Westerners Polish Defense For Big Spring Grid Game

The Lubbock' Westerners will taper off today with a final polishing of the attack to be used Friday night against the Big Spring Steers in Lubbock's home opener at Texas Tech stadium.

Coach Dixie White put the boys through another rugged scrimmage session Thursday afternoon, doing some work on offense, but putting the stress on defense.

Boys Look Better

The Westerners looked much better Wednesday than they did the day before, and the backfield men were handling the pigskin with better skill.

John Lanham, working at fullback, after taking over that post last week at San Angelo, looked very impressive Wednesday afternoon, while Don "Speck" Austin and Noel Sikes continue to battle for one of the halfback posts with both looking good.

Austin, to date is the leading scorer of the Westerners, getting 12 of the club's 20 points for this season. Sikes, however, has been a consistent ground gainer, and will continue to see plenty of action with the club.

The other backfield posts, handled by John Paul Jones and George Brewer, are settled affairs, and have been handled nicely by the two boys.

Line Is Weakened

The Westerner line will be weakened somewhat for the Big Spring game, but is not expected to be far under par. Wayne Cobb, regular right tackle, has been on the sidelines this week with a cracked rib, and O. C. Foster, a veteran at the other tackle, went home with a touch of flu Wednesday. Both may be out Friday night.

Cobb injured himself early in the season, and reinjured his rib in the Odessa game. It began to bother him this week, and he was taken to a doctor, who advised he sit out this week. It is hoped that Foster will be back in harness by Friday.

Reserves Look Good

Kemper McGowan, who handed over his center post to Captain Charles Presley at San Angelo last week, has been shifted to right tackle, to replace Cobb. McGowan has been showing up well at this new post, and may make himself hard to dislodge when Cobb returns to form.

Don Holton filled in at the other tackle in place of Foster during Wednesday's workout, and was doing a bang up job of it. He has been making a strong bid for a tackle job for some time, and may get his big chance Friday night.

The return of Stoney Wall and Charles Presley to the line will give the Westerners one of the strongest lines of several years, and perhaps develop into one of the best in the history of the school.

Red Raiders Set Defense For Ags

Taking warning from the 54-0 score rolled up by the Texas Aggies against Ellington Field last Saturday, Coach Dell Morgan turned his attention to defense Wednesday afternoon as the Red Raiders drew a second rugged scrimmage session in preparation for Saturday night's game at San Antonio.

The Aggies rolled up 420 yards offensively, 310 on the ground and 110 through the air, and registered 17 first downs in humiliating the Flyers last week.

Preston Smith from Bryan was the hero of the day for the Aggies, and Morgan sought a defense that would slow down the 175 pound Aggie flash. Smith took the scoring leadership in the Southwest conference, going over the double stripe four times, and converted once for 25 points, seven better than the runnerup man.

Smith rated second in the conference as a ball carrier, and first among the one game stars, carrying the ball 15 times for 151 yards.

At the same time, the Aggies held the Flyers to a minus yardage on the ground, and somthered nine soldier passes without a completion.

Morgan put the Red Raiders through a long session of pass defense Wednesday afternoon, and followed this with a longer session on ground defense, and promises more rough work for the boys today, which will be the last rough session before leaving for San Antonio.

The Red Raiders will not be without support from the stands at San Antonio, and plans are being made for sending the band, Saddle Tramps and a number of the students.

Throwing passes with the second stringers Wednesday afternoon, Jiggs Jackson showed up well, with Bill Kelley and R. W. Moyers both coming up with a fair share of the catches. But as a whole, the second stringers were finding the regulars pretty tough to combat.

Floyd Lawhorn, big guard from Temple, and Otis Turner, co-captain and center from Wink, were showing up especially well from the defense from their line backing positions.

Coach Margon likely will name his traveling squad today.

Cubs Protest As Cards Cop Tilt

CHICAGO, Sept. 26. (AP)—In one hilarious inning which featured just about all the comic touches in the book, as well as a few new laughs, the St. Louis Cardinals waltzed five runs home to crush the Chicago Cubs 11 to 6 today and keep the fading fires of their National League pennant hopes burning.

And when it wound up, there was still a joker in the deck, for Jolly Cholly Grimm, the Cubs' pilot whose antics in the third base coaching job are part of the show here, had played the game under protest from early in the seventh inning onward, when the four umpires handling this set reversed themselves in the Cards' favor.

The protest was made officially before any of the five St. Louis runs romped across the plate in the silly seventh. The entire squads of both clubs took turns chasing the umpires around the premises.

But after the comic-relief seventh, which saw errors, balks, and a parade of three Chicago elbowers, including long Lon Warneke and Ray Starr, and Ed Hanyzewski, who hadn't pitched since last April 22—and made it obvious with his efforts today—the Cubs were out of it for keeps.

Pounding out their win with 18 hits off a parade of seven Chicago chunkers, the Cardinals climbed to within a game and a half of first place in the air-tight National League race again today. But they're rapidly running out of elbow room as the season zips toward the wire.

As a result of their split in this bob-tailed two-game series, St. Louis dandies are left in a spot where they still must win all four of their remaining games and then hope that the Cubs lose at least two of their five remaining.

Detroit Assured Of Tie In Junior Loop

BRIGGS STADIUM, Detroit, Mich., Sept. 26 (AP)—Steve Gromek, a Detroit boy who got away, pitched the Cleveland Indians to a tense 3-to-2 victory over the Tigers in the second game of todays vital double header after the Detroiters had clinched a tie for the American League championship by slugging out an 11-to-0 win in the opener.

More than 41,000 fans who jammed into Briggs Stadium in hopes of seeing the Bengals sweep the twin bill and sew up the pennant instead saw the Tribe claw from behind with a three-run rally in the sixth inning of the nightcap and w ingoing away as Gromek throtted the home team with a single hit in the last four frames.

As a result of the spilt the Tigers will leave for St. Louis Friday night still needing to win one of their final two games against the Browns to take the title and avert a play-off with the Washington Senators here next Monday. The St. Louis games will be played Saturday and Sunday.

There was not too much gloom in the Tiger dressing room tonight, principally because Lefty Hal Newhouser pitched one of his finest games of the year in shutting out the Indians in today's first game, and he will be rested and ready to fire away at the Browns in the final battle on Sunday.

The slender southpaw looked virtually unbeatable as he racked up his eighth shutout of the season, struck out ten and scored his 24th victory against nine defeats. He ran his strikeout total to 206 for the campaign. Three fast double plays helped pull him out of what few jams he encountered.

Unfortunately for the Tigers, they got most of their hits out of their systems in this game, and they looked pretty helpless against Gromek's fast ball and sweeping curve in the nightcap, once he settled down and got some batting support.

Unbeaten Teams Due Tough Tilts

(By The Associated Press)

Three districts start playing for keeps Friday but the feature of Texas schoolboy football for the week-end will be sectional battles matching Amarilol with Vernon, Wichita Falls with Breckenridge and Temple with Austin.

The Wichita-Breckenridge tilt tops the field. It sends a West Texas powerhouse against the top-rated team of the North. Both are unbeaten and untied and are high-scoring units.

Amarillo, ranked No. 1 in the Panhandle, entertains the undefeated Vernon Lions from North Texas. The Temple-Austin tilt will be an all-central Texas struggle.

The Fort Worth district starts the conference grind with Arlington Heights meeting Fort Worth Tech. Dallas continues its double round-robin, which now is being led by Woodrow Wilson; District 10 has Ennis at Waxahachie and Cleburne at Bryan, and in District 11 Tyler plays at Henderson and Texarkana at Gladewater to open the conference race.

Sharp Cutback In Oil Is Ordered

pleted or are in process would bring the total of idle workers there to about 6,500.

Also from Houston it was unofficially reported that a compromise agreement allowing an approximately 20 per cent increase for some 6,000 employes of the Humble Oil and Refining company's Baytown plants was about to be reached. Neither company officials nor officers of the Baytown employes federation would verify the report. The federation, representing a majority of Humble's Baytown workers, has asked wage increases similar to the 30 per cent increase sought by the CIO Oil Workers union.

Regular Order Set Aside

The railroad commission's emergency order ,which set aside the regular October proration order issued just three days, cut the number of general producing days for the industry from 21 to 12 "due to refinery shutdowns, pipeline proration and unequal withdrawals."

The original October order called for an average daily allowable production of 1,785,000 barrels, near the pre-war level. This was 207,152 barels below the average daily allowable reported on Sept. 15.

The reduction was accomplished by slashing the number of producing days by nine on what commission engineers described as a "straight-through" basis. Thus, fields which had been allotted the general 21 producing days were cut to 12; those with 17 producing days may produce just eight, and so on. Fields exempt from shutdown days for engineering reasons will continue to be exempt, as under the original October order.

Pipeline Proration

From Fort Worth it was reported that pipeline proration continued to spread in West Texas as a result of the strike in coastal refineries .Pipeline and purchasing companies have made reductions amounting to approximately 65,000 barrels daily. Latest to join in pipeline proration were the Atlantic Pipeline company and the Stanolind Pipe Line company. Magnolia increased its curtailment of purchases.

The Chicago announcement from the oil workers union brought from railroad commission sources comment that additional shutdowns of refineries would logically result in additional cuts in production.

The commission may issue an emergency order, effective for 15 days, at any time without a hearing.

"This emergency is caused by the fact that some pipe lines are taking oil and others are refusing to take it because they have no place to run the oil," Thompson said.

Aids Unfair Takings

"This makes for unfair and unratable takings from wells within the same fields and works unfairly as between the various fields of the state.

"It is hoped that the permissive allowable under this order of (approximately) 1,300,000 barrels per day will meet the greatly reduced demand for crude. We had previously reduced the state's oil production 395,000 barrels, effective Sept. 1. Then by recent order we reduced the permissive output by 207,000 barrels Oct. 1.

"But on account of the shutting down of various refineries it seems necessary to immediately put into effect a further cut of 400,000 barrels per day during the refinery shutdowns."

Estimates Declined

CIO union officials declined to estimate the number of persons involved in the East Texas situation. The vote Saturday will affect these companies operating in East Texas: Sabine Valley, Tide Water, Danziger, Sinclair, Parade, Arkansas Fuel Oil Gasoline plants Gladewater refinery, Atlantic Refinery company, Petrolite, General Crude and Arkansas Fuel Production company.

Names of other companies were not announced by the Kilgore OWIU Local 207 which says it has contracts with 17 companies.

Rig builders from the East Texas field were meeting tonight at Kilgore to discuss a strike vote. They also are affiliated with OWIU.

Tabulate Strike Vote

Meanwhile, results were still being tabulated of strike votes taken at the Gulf pipeline and Pan-American companies.

Demands of the East Texas workers in general follow the national OWIU wage aims of 52 hours pay for a 40-hour week.

The gasoline supply situation had not yet been affected.

R. W. Lawrence, state representative for the Oil Workers International union, made the announcement at Kilgore that worker sof the East Texas Salt Water Disposal company will walk out at midnight tomorrow. Officials of the company said at Kilgore, however, that the company will continue to operate.

NEARLY TWO MILLION INVOLVED IN DISPUTES

(By The Associated Press)

Labor disputes from coast to coast put an enormous force or more than 1,850,000 on the postwar production sidelines yesterday.

In addition there wa sa threat of a nationwide oil workers strike which might affect 250,000 employers.

New York and Chicago were key points in the troubled scene.

Although a strike of New York City elevator operators and building service employes actually involved only about 15,000 workers, police estimated that a grand total of 1,500,000 or more were off the job or otherwise affected.

AFL union leaders threatened to extend the stoppage to some 1,200 apartment buildings and from Manhattan into Brooklyn, Queens and Staten Island, although the Regional War Labor board ordered a hearing to rtomorrow in an effort to end the strike.

In Chicago the CIO Oil Workers International union announced it has authorized a nationwide strike if government-sponsored conciliation conferences fail to bring settlement of a stoppage which already has taken 35,000 off th job of producing gasoline in seven states.

NORTH PERMIAN OIL MEN ASSUME WAITING ATTITUDE

Oil men of the North Permian basin kept a watchful eye on the strike situation Wednesday, although little alarm was expressed.

Whether the strike now affecting refinery activities of the industry will spread to the production department of the industry was a matter of conjecture, but local oil men were of the opinion the strike would fail to affect this area.

They pointed out that membership of the CIO oil workers union in this area was not as large as in other fields even, and that is a different situation when you have a strike in a refinery where there is a closed shop than in the fields with their open shop policy and crews miles apart.

Third Show Staged By Circus Here Due To Overflow Crowd

Circus fans numbered in the thousands jammed the big tent of Cole Bros. Combined circus Wednesday for the matinee and evening performances, and several thousand overflow customers necessitated a third and previously unannounced performance last night.

An estimated 15,000 persons, one of the largest circus turnouts here in at least a decade, saw the three shows. The first two performances drew throngs which filled all available seats and spilled over "onto the straw."

Last night's final show began soon after the regular evening performance ended at 9:30 o'clock.

Police and highway patrolmen were given a tough traffic problem by thousands of cars which "stacked up" on Broadway at one time early last night from the circus grounds, near the fair grounds, to the eastern edge of the downtown section. Cars filled to capacity parking lots and parking spaces on streets in the vicinity and were parked as far east as Mackenzie State park.

Opening Spectacle

Of breath-taking lavishness was the "Caliph of Bagdad" spectacle that opened the show. Following the colorful parade around the arena of bedecked elephants, horses and camels, ridden by girls in exotic oriental costumes, the three rings of the circus became the stage for the production number which featured singing by Florence Tennyson, the show's prima donna, and the dancing of three groups of girls.

Featured acts were Con Colleano, who took the breath of the crowd with his backward somersaults on the tight wire; the Guistino Loyal troupe from England, bareback riders; the Orantos, high perch gymnasts; three massed herds of elephants presented by Eugene Scott assisted by Marion Snowlton, Ruth Nelson and Dorothy Lewis; educated horses in their drills and waltzes, and the boxing horses, trained by Paul Nelson, John Smith and M. F. Campbell.

Trained Seals

"Harry," the bareback riding seal, trained by Paul Nelson, and other trained seals in the side rings got a good hand from the crowd for their juggling, baton twirling, playing of horns and other tricks. The Flying Thrillers, the Voices and the Harrolds darted from one high trapeze feat to another while Mlle. Cyse O'Dell, aerial gymnast and Bert and Corrine Dearo completed the aerial displays.

Climaxing the performance was the finale, "American," which challenged the opening number for lavish costuming and glittering display to end two hours of exciting, awe-inspiring acts that are to be seen at only one place —the circus.

Doolittle Fliers

Nanchang, Kiangi province.

The third man executed was a machine gunner, Sgt. Harold A. Spatz, 20, of Lebo, Kas.

The three were shot in an old Chinese cemetery at the edge of Shanghai. Evidently the execution followed the usual Japanese pattern in which the doomed man is tied in a kneeling position to a wooden cross and shot through the temple from one side.

The strange text showed the trial was conducted before Lt. Col. Nakajo Toyama and two minor judges and the fliers were prosecuted by the judicial officer, Hata Itsuro—all now sought as war criminals.

MOTHER CLINGS TO HOPE TO VERY LAST

DALLAS, Sept. 26. (AP)—Not until she received word from the War department that he was dead did Mrs. O. D. Hallmark, Dallas, abandon hope for her son, Lt. Dean E. Hallmark, one of the fliers in the Doolittle raid on Tokyo.

The War department informed Mrs. Hallmark in a telegram Sunday that her 31-year-old son was dead. In Washington today the department announced that Lt. Hallmark and two other Doolittle fliers were executed by the Japanese in China.

Lt. Hallmark was born in Bronte, Tex. He graduated from Greenville High school, attended Paris Junior college, Polytechnic university at Auburn, Ala., and the University of Texas. In the two years before he entered the Army Air corps in 1940, he worked in South America with the Humble Oil company.

His mother received his Distinguished Service Cross awarded in absentia in ceremonies at Love Field here.

Training Command To Release More Men

RANDOLPH FIELD, Sept. 26 (AP)—Nearly 1,800 bombardier and navigator officers will be released from the AAF Central Flying Forces Training command headquarters at Fort Worth says.

This quota of officers to be separated from the service is in addition to those who qualifiy under existing separation directives, the command said.

Tech May Get Research Office

AUSTIN, Sept. 26. (U.P.)—Cotton research activities at the University of Texas with 40 Technicians will be transferred to Texas Technological college at Lubbock, the Daily Texan, a campus newspaper, reported today.

University information offices admitted knowledge of the matter but said they were not authorized to make an announcement yet.

The Texan said formal action transferring the research is expected at the meeting of university regents here this week-end.

WHYBURN GONE, NO COMMENT AVAILABLE

Dr. W. M. Whyburn, president of Texas Technological college, was out of the city Wednesday and was not available for a statement regarding transfer of cotton research activities from the University of Texas to Tech.

L. E. Parsons, head of the department of textile engineering, said that he was not at liberty to comment on the report.

An announcement on the matter must come from President Whyburn, who is a member of the State Cotton Research committee, along with the presidents of Texas A. and M. college and the University of Texas.

A. and M. carries on plant research, Texas U. studies uses of raw cotton, and Tech cotton fabrics under the research activities.

ernor of Beunos Aires province and ambassador to Japan.

Others taken to police headquarters included Carlos Saavedra Lamas, woh received the Nobel priez in 1936 for his contributions to world peace when foreign minister; Octavio Amadeo, former ambassador to Brazil and the nation's leading historian and biographer, and Nerio Rojas, leader of the Unioncivica Radical, Argentina's majority party.

Socialist Leader Flees

Alfredo Palacios, a leading figure in the Socialist party who recently returned from exile in Uruguay, and Ramon F. Vasquez, former judge who recently charged the federal police with inflicting brutalities on political prisoners, fled to the Uruguayan embassy for refuge.

New arrests were being reported hourly. Jose Maria Cantilo, former foreign minister and another organizer of the march, was among the latest to be taken into custody.

Under the state of siege, which had been lifted only last July after being in effect more than three and one-half years ,one of the government's first acts was against newspapers.

Police detachments took over the premises of the two largest evening papers, Critica, which claims the world's largest Spanish language circulation, and Noticias Graficas.

AP Reporter Warned

The leader of the detachment which raided Noticias Graficas scanned a copy before letting the edition go on sale. An Associated Press reporter got as far as the front door of Critica and was told he would be placed under arrest if he proceeded inside.

A foreign office spokesman had told newsmen that a decree proclaiming a state of siege would be issued at 6 p. m. shortly after lunch, however, reports in increasing volume told of numerous persons disappearing .

Today's measure climaxed a period of mounting internal opposition to the Ferrell-Peron regime. It was a sharp blow to hopes for the general election promised by Farrell—an election which Foreign Minister Juan Cooke only yesterday had said might possibly be held before the coming Rio De Janeiro conference.

mitted to a 15 per cent wage increase, but they (the union) are not going to get one penny above it."

His assertion that the union was injecting issues such as shift differentials, closed shop, added holiday pay, sick leave and termination pay, as well as the "take home" pay key issue, was disputed by Knight who said "these other concessions are not at issue at this time."

Pierce's Contention

The union demand for a 30 percent boost is designed to give the men 52 hours pay for a 40 hour postwar week Pierce contended what they're really after" is 52 hours pay for 36 hours.

A union statement asserted that "the oil industry has forced the international union into a strike situation through unilateral action on the industry's part to reduce hours and earnings."

Brewster B. Jennings, president of Socony-Vacuum Oil Co., Inc., one of the conferees, in a telegram to Secretary Schwellenbach characterized the 30 per cent increase demand as "an impossible objective if we are to meet the desire of the government and of the citizens of the USA to avoid drastic increases in the cost of living."

STOCK PRICES RECEDE

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (AP)—Stock market prices ended their recent rise to eight-year highs today by declining fractions to around 3 points although a few scattered leaders managed to chalk up slight plus signs.

Principal losers were among steels, retail stores, airlines and oils. Rails were off as much as a point.

Volume totaled 1,040,000 shares against 1,180,000 yesterday. The Associated Press 60-stock composite was down .2 of a point to 70.2. The utility average rose .1 of a point to 48.2—equaling that of March 17, 1937, and compared with the previous high of 48.4 on March 12, 1937.

Lower were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, American Airlines, Western Union "A," Du Pont, Johns-Manville, Philip Morris, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and Texas Co. Gainers included Chrysler, Caterpillar Tractor, Douglas Aircraft, Air Reduction and Union Carbide.

Bonds were irregularly lower.

Airton manufacturing and Cities Service declined in the curb while Electric Bond and Share, Humble Oil and Illinois Power rose fractions. Transactions amounted to 470,000 shares against 380,000 Tuesday.

Marquis Yoshichika Tokugawa said this was the only way to eliminate the ruling clique which still dominates the nation and pave the way for a democratic government. Under Tokugawa's proposal the Mikado would remain only as the country's spiritual leader.

Allied demands for sterner control of Japan were reported from London. Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov of the Soviet Union assertedly termed American occupation too soft and sought establishment of an Allied Control commission.

Complaints Unreported

President Truman said he had heard nothing of such complaints and that MacArthur's occupation organization was approved in advance by the Big Four.

A Chungking spokesman announced that Chinese occupation forces would join Americans in Japan.

General Stilwell, former American commander in China who now directs occupation forces in islands south of Japan, arrived in Tokyo today from Okinawa, presumably to confer with MacArthur.

the status quo.

The reconstruction period now beginning is to be as full of dangers and disasters as was the war, Ashburn said, and it will be "our duty to aid the veteran through counsel and patient listening."

The number one problem in America today is quick and easy reorientation of returned veterans to a peacetime living standard, the shipbuilding executive said.

"Home," first in the thoughts of servicemen during these weary war years, must be cleaned up physically, spiritually, morally and politically, Ashburn said.

Texas In Industry

Ashburn mentioned the future of Texas as an industrial country when "the eyes of the world will be on us," but cautioned that "naturally there must be some dislocation during the first stages, but then will come the greatest of expansion to absorb unemployment."

No more industrial warfare was asked by Ashburn when he said he hoped Texas would always remain, primarily, an agricultural state and would always concentrate on quality rather than quantity in its building, and in its citizenry."

"We are to need the same courage and inspiration that drove our fathers and their fathers to establish our great state and empire," he said.

Introduced By Strange

Ashburn was introduced by W. T. Strange, jr., local Rotarian, once a student under the colonel at Texas A. and M. college. Alex McDonald, Lubbock Rotary president, welcomed the visitors and Ben E. Cole was master of ceremonies. George Dupre gave the invocation and group singing was led by Mancil Hall of Littlefield. Frank Day, Plainview Rotarian, gave two solos, "Bells of St. Mary's" and "My Wild Irish Rose."

A barbecue opened the meeting. Presidents and secretaries of other Lubbock civic clubs were introduced.

Cities represented were Littlefield, Plainview, Amarillo, Canyon, Hereford, Sudan, Levelland, Brownfield, Seagraves, Seminole, Midland, Lamesa, O'Donnell, Tahoka, Slaton, Post, Spur, Ralls, Floydada, Lockney, Sweetwater, Clovis, N. M., and Portales, N. M.

Papers Want Value Set On News Matter

QUEBEC, Sept. 26. (AP)—Canada's newspaper publishers today asked Parliament for a law putting a definite property value on news published in daily newspapers, based in the expense and effort of obtaining it.

At a special general meeting of The Canadian Press, cooperative newspaper association, publishers adopted this resolution, aimed at "piracy" published news stories by competitors:

"That htis special meeting of members of the Canadian Press express its unanimous belief that property right should be established by law in the news gathered through the enterprise of Canadian newspapers for the benefit of the Canadian public; and in the urgency of such establishment by the Parliament of Canada."

Printers, Publishers Fuss Still Unsettled

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 26 (AP)—The labor dispute between San Antonio's three daily newspapers and the printers is still unsettled in the fifth week of the strike.

The publishers of the San Antonio Express, the Evening News and the Light have offered the San Antonio typographical union's scale committee a $5 per week wage increase for 37½ hours.

Further, the publishers have offered two weeks vacation with pay in 1946, and two weeks pay in lieu of vacations in 1945.

The papers are publishing daily from engraved plates.

The noun burnsides, meaning side whiskers with smooth chins as worn by Gen. A. E. Burnside, dates from the Civil war.

News Briefs

Two Dickens county brothers were released from Lubbock county jail Wednesday afternoon after they had been investigated in connection with the $17,000 Sept. 5 robbery of the Morton State bank. They were viewed yesterday by several witnesses of the holdup.

Police said J. V. Avery, 52, of 712 Ave. N, suffered several minor injuries in a collision of two cars at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Ninth and Ave. N. Avery received a bruise on the right knee, cuts on the back, a cut on the right eyelid, and a "knot" on the head. He later was released, hospital attendants said. Driver of the other car was identified as Lucille Sikes, 16, of 2411 Ninth. Police said she received a bruise on the right arm but that she did not require medical treatment.

Firemen found that the trouble lay in an overworked drop cord when they made a run at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday night to a residence at 2007 Fifth. Operating off one cord, they said, a light, a refrigerator, an air conditioner, a waffle iron and other fixtures.

Peanut Harvest Now In Full Progress

DALLAS, Sept. 26 (AP) — The peanut harvest in the central Texas area, where continued dry weather brought early digging, is now in full progress, the U. S. department of agriculture said today.

A review by the department gave this picture:

Prolonged dry weather resulted in rather short yields in many localities.

Of peanuts picked so far the sound meat content is averaging about five per cent less than last year.

Labor shortages are interfering with operations.

Conditions in north Texas are still favorable.

Demand continues good for peanuts.

Dallas Traffic Jam Caused By Lightning

DALLAS, Sept. 26 (AP)—The heaviest congestion of downtown traffic in recent years was caused late today when a bolt of lightning burned out a Dallas Railway and Terminal company switchbox on a main street.

The bolt put an automatic rail switch out of commission and streetcars and automobiles were lined up for blocks for an hour. The lightning struck during a rainstorm.

The Submarine Service

Its Share In Victory Is Great

THE United States Navy lost 52 submarines during the war, but its undersea raiders sank 1,256 enemy ships.

These and other interesting facts about the important role played by our undersea craft and the submarines of our Allies are just now coming to light. But the full story of the heroism of the gallant men who manned our submarines and their daring exploits will never be completely told, for some of their records rest at the ocean-bottom with them.

One interesting story of two daring victories scored by British "midget" subs was told this week in Chungking by Adm. Sir Bruce Frasier, commander-in-chief of the British Pacific Fleet. He related how three British two-man submarines sneaked into Singapore harbor by daylight three weeks before the end of the war, blew up a Japanese vessel, believed to be a light cruiser, and cut the cable between Hongkong and Singapore.

He also told how three other two-man subs helped to sink the German battleship, Von Tirpitz, in a Norwegian fjord several months ago.

The British Admiralty recently reported that the Allies had sunk 465 German and 65 Italian submarines up to the time of the Nazi surrender. The Allies also sank or captured 81 midget submarines in the Narth Sea. German records obtained since the close of the war credit the Allies with sinking 127 more U-boats than claimed by the Allies.

These figures all point to the Allies' success in this phrase of warfare, which has been one of the least publicized.

While the history of the submarine dates back to 1620 when Cornelius van Drebel, a Dutchman in the service of King James I of England, built an undersea craft, propelled by twelve rowmen, the United States was the first nation to use such a vessel for war purposes. In 1776, Americans used a small submarine, named "The Turtle," in an attempt to sink the British warship "Eagle," anchored off New York. The Americans tried to attach a powder charge with a time fuse to the bottom of the English ship, but were unable to fasten the explosive to the copper-sheathed ship. The powder was discharged without causing any damage.

One of the most daring exploits in submarine history occurred the night of Feb. 17, 1864 during the War Between the States, when the "Housatonic," blockading Charleston, was sunk by a spar torpedo fitted over the bow of a submarine. The submarine, which was swamped through her hatch, sank, drowning her nine-man Rebel crew.

The nine Southerner volunteers thus made submarine history. For this is the first recorded instance of a warship being sunk by an underwater craft.

Yet the idea of the submarine isn't new. Sketches made by Leonardo da Vinci, the great Italian painter and engineer (1452-1519), reveal that he was working on plans for one then.

We Should Be Wiser Now

FROM Washington comes word that American policy is to be supreme over that of all of the Allied nations in the control of Japan.

This is encouraging news, if we will keep in mind certain warnings voiced by Commodore Matthew Calbraith Perry, U.S.N., the man who forced Japan to open her doors to world trade in 1853.

Undeceived by the Japanese or their pretentions of friendship, Commodore Perry warned his fellow Americans then to "observe once and for all that spying and deceit pervade their entire policy."

Japan had a reputation as a black sheep among the nations of the world even before Perry, a hard-boiled old sea dog of the Navy, was chosen to make his show of force. Perry was not selected because of his tact, but because he had a reputation for being a tough, professional fighting man. He warned his men to be on guard against Japanese trickery.

He told his men that the Japanese could be expected to smile, bow and say one thing, then do something else.

If America had taken his warning against Japanese treachery to heart and remembered it, there might not have been a "Pearl Harbor," but this country preferred to believe the "Cherry blossom" legends of the little Nipponese who talked so sweetly of peace. Now that we have learned our lesson about the Japs the hard way, we should never forget it.

Perhaps, we can never teach the Japanese sincerity or honesty. But we should make them understand that the old alibi, "So, sorry, please," won't work any more.

"There are 100 women in the United States to every 97 men."—Newspaper filler. There must be an error in these figures. At least, we know there are more than 3 women out of 100 running around trying to take some other woman's man.

PLOT IS FOILED

X!

THE STORY: Leana sends a telegram. Meanwhile, preparations for moving X-999 go on. Bob has found an abandoned mine shaft in Tonto mountain, easily accessible. Carolyn accepts a telegram, reads its mysterious message, then discovers that the wire is addressed not to Bob, but to Leana!

* * *

Carolyn's eyes narrowed.

"This proves it!"

Her initial flash of regret over having opened a private personal message was completely gone. Quiet anger rose within her. Hurriedly she re-sealed the message—its envelope had been too loosely glued—and took it to Leana's desk. Leana was across the compound at the laboratory now.

Carolyn went there ,planning as she walked. She would have to think fast! The guards all knew her because she had hired and paid them. But there was the matter of door keys and physical help.

Ken Palmer would do anything she asked. The U-235, Bob had said, would be in four leaden boxes totaling some 150 pounds, perhaps more.

"When will you load the boxes on the freight car?" she asked Bob, when he had a moment to spare.

"Be ready tomorrow morning. Tonight, really. But too much activity again at night might excite suspicion. Best to move as if it were simple routine, don't you think?"

She nodded. She saw the boxes and went gingerly near to them, with Bob.

"One man could lift one box, couldn't he?" she inquired, in casual tone.

"Oh sure. It's safe now, encased in the lead." He smiled tolerantly as if at a child, then showed her how easy it was by moving one of the containers a few feet and that was precisely what Carolyn wanted to know.

Some time later a westbound freight train was moving at average speed across a nearby state. It was exactly like hundreds of other such freight trains, except that in the caboose rode four armed guards, carefully picked from those who had stood duty near the Schoenfeld Laboratory. They did not look like guards. They were dressed like railroad brakemen.

Dr. Hale had simply explained to the railroad authorities that he was shipping some valuable chemicals and had arranged for those four "caretakers" to go along. They would stay, in shifts, with the specially chartered freight car when it was shunted onto a siding at the remote village of Blair, Ariz.

Bob himself had thought to go along as guard but, as Carolyn pointed out, he could do nothing that trusted hired men couldn't do, and his presence on the train might arouse too much interest.

Then, too, Carolyn suggested, if the shipment went without him, Bob could wind up his business affairs at the laboratory, and fly west with Carolyn and her mother, in time to meet the train.

Leana Sormi was not present to discuss the matter when the train left. Bob told Carolyn that Leana had been unexpectedly called out of town. Carolyn said nothing, but her pulse quickened.

The train rolled with routine smoothness for several hours. The four men in its caboose had been instructed to sleep only in shifts of two even while moving.

There is little to do in a freight caboose. Monotony settled hard and was abruptly broken when the train slowed down in a forest on its first night out.

The conductor looked up first.

"Hey!" he called, to no one in particular. "Ain't no stop scheduled here. We ain't at no place, in fact!"

"Trouble on the engine, I reckon," a brakeman ventured.

He was more right than he guessed. The long train stopped completely, and at once two masked men appeared in the caboose door.

"Just sit tight!" one commanded, behind a stubby but fierce looking sub-machine gun. "With your hands high!"

News of the train robbery reached Carolyn Tyler at 1:40 o'clock next morning. The telephone jangled her awake. Bob was calling "Carolyn" He was literally crazed with anxiety. "It has happened again! Our train—it was held up! Robbed! The agent just telephoned me, too They took our stuff! Held up our men! The whole thing—all of it—all of it—took it away, Carolyn I—I—"

He was so nervous as to become inarticulate. And for her part, Carolyn had a sudden chilling sensation. For long seconds she stood breathless, staring at the table light by her phone But in her was no acute fear. She felt oddly enough—a peculiar elation

"Bob!" she cried. 'No! I—No Bob! They didn't. I know what I'm talking about! Look, I'll come to you at once and—"

"But they did, Carolyn! The agent said—"

"No, no, I tell you! I don't care what the agent said. Get hold of yourself, Bob and listen to me. It's all right. All right, I tell you. Your X—" she remembered not to mention the secret, even in this stress. "—Your shipment is safe, I—"

"They took the entire thing! All four of the boxes All!"

'No, I tell you Bob! I—listen, they may have stolen the boxes and everything from that freight car, Bob, but I tell you your precious stuff wasn't there! I—I took it out myself, Bob! Before the train left!"

ATHENS WOMAN KILLED

ATHENS, Tex., Sept. 26 (U.P) — Services will be held Sunday at Edom for Mrs. Dorothy Lawler, 76-year-old Athens resident who was injured fatally yesterday when she was struck by a Cotton Belt passenger train.

She was walking along the tracks when the accident occurred three blocks west of the station.

Centuries before Columbus discovered the new world, people living in Mexico enjoyed a civilization of high culture.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

DID you read that story from Mexia, Texas, about lightning striking the home of Wallace Welch and making a mess of the entire electrical system?

According to Welch, the whole business "has been screwy ever since."

When he turns on the radio, the radio doesn't play, but the light in the bedroom goes on. When he turns on the bedfloor lamp in the living room lights up. One circuit in the house won't work when a fuse is in the fusebox, but when he takes the fuse out the circuit functions perfectly.

BRANDEIS

Electricians from Mexia as well as nearby cities have checked every inch of the wiring and all the connections, but can't find anything wrong.

This story interested me primarily because I had just been talking with some friends who had intended to build a new house but are going to wait now until a lot of the ned postwar gadgets about which they have heard and read so much are ready for the market.

As they were talking of this new push-button age which we are about to enter, I was thinking of all the gadgets that most of us already have in our homes and of all the trouble these gadgets cause when they don't work.

Only a few days ago my water pump was out of order. It is a nice, electric pump and it is wonderful when it works. But last week it didn't, and the only fellow hereabouts who fixes pumps was at the Volunteer Fireman's clambake.

So here we were without a drop of water for almost three days and,for all our gadgets, we might as well have been somewhere in a Nevada desert in 1845.

A COUPLE of weeks ago we had a thunderstorm, and the telephone wires were down. Nobody could get us on the phone and an important telegram reached me two days later by mail, because all telegrams are phoned to us since we are eight miles from the nearest Western Union office.

I could tell you some more about our modern conveniences—such as the oil burner door that blew out and the electric lights that went off and my power lawnmower that had a broken gear which couldn't be replaced for five weeks while my lawn looked like a mess of weeds—but what's the need?

You know as much about these temperamental gadgets as I do.

Science is a wonderful thing, and I can hardly wait for the day when I lie in bed, push a button and in comes a nice order of ham and eggs, buttered toast and hot coffee.

The only thing I am afraid of is that one of these days the human race will be so dependent on gadgets and wheels and machinery that there won't be any more need for legs and hands—and perhaps brains.

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT TRUMAN, top Army-Navy officials and the majority of Congress are secretly jubilant over Gen. Douglas MacArthur's surprise announcement that only 200,000 men will be required to police the Japanese home islands after the occupation problems have been solved—probably by 1946 mid-summer.

State department wailings anent his alleged usurpation of its authority over fixing foreign policy can be discounted. They do not represent the official view. Had canny and realistic James F. Byrnes been on deck when the MasArthur message arrived, he would have welcomed it for taking the administration off an embarrassing spot.

TUCKER

The Supreme Allied Commander has not sought to change our basic principles in the Far East for the simple reason that we have no specific formula. The surrender came so quickly that neither the White House nor the State department had given a thought to the matter. The mixup over retention of Japanese officials in Korea attests that.

The War department's approval of the MacArthur program was evidenced in actions rather than words. Cancellation of three divisions' sailing for Japan was ordered, although it was subsequently discovered that two had already left a western port. The third, however, has been held back, and an exultant Assistant Secretary of War commented:

"That is probably the first time in military history that a general, instead of asking for reinforcements, said he did not want any more troops!"

POLICY: American Far Eastern policy, as determined at Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam, is comparatively simple, and it has not been affected by the Tokyo capitulation.

The United States and its Allies are pledged to break up the Japanese empire, to keep Japan in a state of military and economic disarmament, to build up a strong China, to give Korea its independence "in due course" and, finally, to set up safeguards for our national security in that troublous section of the universe.

The only suggestions of a political nature embodied in that program apply to China and the Hermit Kingdom, and those promises cannot be executed for many years. MacArthur did not Modify those decisions.

SUBJECTION: As the man on the spot, the Supreme Allied Commander has simply discovered that the Japs' willingness to obey the imperial rescripts which he writes reduces the need for a great occupation force.

He also feels that he can rely on our air and naval units, Russian strength in the near-by Kuriles and Sakhalin, and possible Chinese reinforcements, to keep Tokyo in utter subjection. With the former enemy's shipping and industry virtually destroyed, he figures that it will be a waste of men and money to settle down even semi-permanently.

As a sidelight on the MacArthur-Acheson controversy, it is noted that not a single top-level man in the State department has visited Japan for any length of time (Secretary Byrnes once touched there on a congressional junket), whereas our military commander is conceded to be one of our foremost experts on Oriental psychology and politics.

ALTERNATIVE: President Truman's delicate technique is manipulating his legislative program through a comparatively conservative Congress was unveiled for a few insiders during the legislators' discussion of his various requests for financial assistance to industrial workers who lost their jobs through cancellation of billions in war contracts.

His Monday morning quarterbacks—Bosses Bayburn, MacCormack, Barkley and McKeller—informed him that the ultrareactionary Senate Finance committee was hostile to many of his demands. They also reported that the Senate itself was in no mood to enact his full program, which they regarded as too CIO-ish and too generous to the temporarily jobless.

The Chief Executive did not scold or threaten a veto if he did not get everything he wanted. He sent a confidential memo to the Finance committee, which is packed with old personal friends, and submitted an alternative set of principles. In short, he advised them to do the best they could for the war workers, for the administration and for the party.

COMPROMISES: As a result of his cooperative spirit, the back-room boys did a fairly good job for all three beneficiaries. He had asked federal grants of $25 dollars a week for (26) weeks for people out of work; they authorized use of government funds to make up this total, provided that the states requested this outside aid.

More than 3,000,000 federal employes and maritime workers were brought within the unemployment insurance system for the first time. The sum of $200 was provided as travel pay for discharged workers seeking new jobs or returning home. Contrary to Mr. Truman's request, the United States Unemployment service was turned back to the states.

Further evidence of the President's behind-the-scenes compromises is reflected in the fact that three of the weakening amendments were offered by administration stalwarts—Senate Majority Leader Barkley, Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas and Sen. Scott W. Lucas of Illinois.

TEXAS

By Gordon Shearer

AUSTIN.—Texas legislators were offended by a national magazine's round-up of "soldier aid" activity of state that put Texas down with none.

That was before the last session of the Texas legislature and maybe, though erroneous, it stirred the legislators into extra activity on the topic.

For some reason or other, the session almost overflowed with "soldier" matters.

How extensive this consideration of veterans was can be appreciated from a recent compilation by Miss Doris H. Connerley, Legislative librarian.

This compilation shows that 33 bills affecting soldiers interests were offered in the House of Representatives and 17 in the Senate.

There were proposals in the House for five constitutional amendments affecting them, and two in the Senate.

The House had also seven concurrent resolutions and seven simple ones affecting soldiers or veterans. In the Senate there were seven concurrent and six simple resolutions on such topics.

VOTE: One of the constitutional amendments was made effective by voters' adoption of August 25. Under it the nonprofessional soldiers can vote through 1946 in Texas elections without having to pay a poll tax.

Another which proposed to insure war veterans the constitutional right to work regardless of membership in labor unions failed to be submitted.

The House passed a bill for the same purpose but it died on the Senate calendar.

Looking through the measures that were proposed and became effective soldiers will find that 21 passed. One of these puts in statutory form the voting-without-poll-tax provision. Several amended state laws to enable state banks and other financial institutions to extend the privileges granted veterans under the federal GI Bill of Rights. Another group facilitated the carrying on of a soldier's affairs while in the Army by providing various substitutes for the usual notary public's certification—permitted the certification to be by an immediate commanding officer of the soldier. There was a smilar provision for making valid soldier wills.

In our home town, courting curfew was 10 p. m., at which time the old folks whose daughter had a parlor date began tossing shoes out into the hall.

Jefferson Island Party Believed Futile

Truman Won't Promote A "Purge"

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The week-end outing in which President Truman joined Democratic members of Congress and other officials recalls a similar party in which the late President Roosevelt participated over seven years ago, in June 1937, at the same place—Jefferson Island in Chesapeake Bay near Annapolis.

The occasion serves to point up the political situations of the two men, particularly their relations with Congress. There is a contrast as well as a parallel.

Mr. Roosevelt, at the time, was in bad favor with many members of his own party in Congress. A bitter and serious rift had occurred within the ranks in previous months over the so-called Supreme court "packing" plan of the late President. Furthermore, party Conservatives, largely concentrated in the South, were growing restive over continued New Deal reforms which were beginning to hit more directly at the feudalistic industrial and agricultural economy of the South in such pending administration measures as the Wage-Hour and Farm Tenancy bills.

The June, 1937, get-together was an attempt to smooth over these party differences. There was much surface jollity and goodwill, but the meeting didn't accomplish much. It couldn't, for the differences were too deep-seated. The Conservatives just wouldn't go the President's way. A smile and a handshake could not erase their antipathy to further extension of the New Deal philosophy.

"Purge" Flan Splits Party

Certainly that could not do it when the overwhelming re-election of Mr. Roosevelt only a few months before hadn't done it. That was when he carried every state but Maine and Vermont. It was the "mandate' in that election which had encouraged the President to order more of the New Deal.

The party split was accentuated further about a year later when President Roosevelt decided to meet head-on the issue within the party. This brought forth the so-called "purge' in which Mr. Roosevelt undertook to defeat certain Conservative Democratic members of Congress in the party primaries, all but one in the Senate. He failed except in one case, that of the single House member he had picked for elimination, Rep. John J. O'Connor of New York.

Subsequently the Southern Conservatives began to join with Republicans, who gradually increased their own strength in Congress. This coalition has become increasingly effective.

PRESIDENT Truman inherited this party split. It exists today.

The new President meets his party associates in Congress in an entirely different basis from his predecessor. They all like Harry Truman. He does not need to court any personal goodwill. There is not the personal antagonism that colored Mr. Roosevelt's relations with Congress.

It is doubtful, however, that this personal feeling will help a great deal, or if the exchange of it at party social gatherings such as the Jefferson Island outing will contribute much.

For the President, despite cordial personal relationships, has just suffered his first defeat on his program in the Senate on the Temporary Unemployment Benefit bill. The vote on two features he recommended particularly, advocated as administration "musts," disclosed the same coalition of Southern Democrats and Republicans operating against him — and successfully — just as they did against his predecessor.

The President did get a compromise in the extension of the duration of unemployment benefits to 26 weeks, as he asked, but not an increase of the maximum to $25, as he urged. The measure still must go to the House which a year ago ripped to pieces the late President Roosevelt's program —similar to Mr. Truman's. It seems little better disposed now.

Nothing much has changed, in spite of the war and the last election. The Senate gave it to Harry Truman courteously, with no ill feeling exhibited. Nobody stood up to damn "that man in the White House." But still they gave it to him. The end result is the same.

Harry Truman is not the sort of fellow to step up and start another "purge" among Democrats.

If the job is done, the voters must attend to it.

Lt.-Col. Jimmie Britt Named Commander Of 397th Bomb Group

A 9TH AIR FORCE BOMBER BASE, France—Lt. Col Jimmie W. Britt of Lamesa and Odessa, Tex., has just been given command of the 397th Bombardment group, famed as the "Bridge Busters", according to an announcement from Ninth Air Force headquarters. His wife, Mrs. Roberta Britt, lives in Odessa, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Britt, live in Lamesa.

Formerly the group deputy commander, the 30-year-old flying colonel flew 18 combat missions against Germany. He holds the Air Medal with two clusters and the Distinguished Flying Cross. Unable to bomb the target on his first run and with his plane severly crippled by flak, he nevertheless succeeded in dropping his explosives on the objective to aid the advance of ground forces in a critical phase of the enemy counterattack. For this achievement he was awarded the DFC.

Before joining the "Bridge Busters" in June, Col. Britt was group deputy commander of the 323rd Bomb group, one of the oldest B-26 Marauder groups in the ETO.

Col. Britt entered the service in December, 1939, and arrived overseas in August, 1944. He holds the ratings of pilot and bombardier. Before coming overseas, he was director of flying of Midland Bombardier Training school. In civilian life, Col. Britt was in his fourth year of study at the University of Texas, where he played forward on the varsity basketball team. He is a graduate of Lamesa High school.

Hero Visits Graves Of Wife And Mother

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26. (AP)—A famed Leatherneck knelt before the graves of his wife and mother today in Arlingtgon National cemetery.

Lt. Col. P. S. Devereux, Marine hero of Wake island, was back home

Both of the women died during the four years he has been away. Most of that time has been spent in Japanese prison camps.

But there was a bright side, literally, to the picture today. It was supplied by the colonel's son, 11-year-old Paddy, who showed up at the station in a Chinese officer's cap, a blue sport jacket and green pants.

Paddy headed a Devereux clan that added up to 35 relatives, including nieces, cousins and in-laws.

Jobless Funds Said Financing Strikers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26. (AP)—Chairman Claude A. Williams of the Texas Unemployment Compensation commission charged today that organized labor schemed to use reserve jobless pay funds to finance strikes.

He said in a statement that strikes, under most state laws, are not entitled to unemployment compensation, while those laid off as a result of strikes are entitled to payments.

"Thus," he declared, "through a planned scheme, organized labor is using $7,000,000 of state reserves to finance their strikes, paralyze industry and retard conversion."

Cry Of 'Asiatic Federation' Raised; India Brands British Plan Vague

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26. (AP)—That magic phrase, "an Asiatic federation" made its first public post-war appearance the other day at Bombay, India.

WHITE

It came from the mouth of an Indian politician, Sarat Chandra Bose, whose family is strongly tainted with Japanese collaboration.

Bose had just been released after four years imprisonment. He spoke just as the All - India Congress' working committee had branded British proposals for gradual Indian evolution toward dominion status and independence as "vague, inadequate and unsatisfactory."

Other Countries Involved

The same committee earlier had made the demand that not only India, but Burma, Malaya, French Indo-China and the Netherlands Indies be freed from "imperialist domination."

The Indians, still not united among themselves, are hardly in a position to organize an effective movement to throw off Asia's centuries of control by remote European rulers.

It cannot be denied, however, that just now there is throughout Asia, as a direct corollary of Japan's defeat, a relative but vast emptiness of authority in many areas. In this emptiness sprout many forms of political movements today, but all having in common a demand for freedom.

Asia For Japan

Aslatics themselves realized that Japan's slogan, "Asia for the Asiatics" meant only "Asia for Japan," but the fact remains that they watched the Japanese drive out or imprison the white colonial rulers of pre-war years.

Indio-China is but one example. A transportation shortage which prevents the quick return of French forces has allowed Indo-Chinese natives to rise in an independence movement that seems as poorly organized as it is Japanese-inspired.

The Dutch are having trouble in Java for the same reason.

The British have got back much more successfully into Burma, Malaya and British Borneo.

Trouble In Siam

Even in Siam—a nation which managed through the past century to remain free by playing British and French imperialism against each other — there is trouble today, as disturbances are reported between Siamese nationalists and the Chinese minority.

In this sense, China is playing a double role—as a past victim of colonial exploitation and as herself a colonizer and potential leader of Asiatic nations where her large commercial communities in all the big southeast Asia cities might prove highly important in the future.

Mr. And Mrs. Michie Leave To Meet Son

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Michie, 2304 Seventeenth, left Wednesday afternoon for San Francisco to meet Mr. Michie's son First Lt. Robert E. Lee Michie who is being flown to Hamilton field from Guam. Lt. Michie was liberated from a Japanese prison camp near Mukden, Manchuria, a month ago Wednesday. He wired the Michies he is flying to the United States, reporting to the air base on the West Coast, and asked them to meet him there.

Lt. Michie is in the Air Corps but he was fighting with the 131st Field Artillery when it defended the island of Java against the Japanese and was taken prisoner along with the "Lost Battalion." His letters since his release have indicated the officer is in fine spirits his father noted Wednesday.

Bicycle Safety Club To Be Organized Here

Plans for organizing a Bicycle Safety club to train local bicycle riders in accident prevention were announced yesterday by J. J.
