NEW TRUCK ADDED

Trash, Garbage Schedule Zoned

The city has put to work a new $5,250 refuse packer in its regular trash and garbage collection.

At the same time City Manager Rollin K. Snethen said city crews Monday will begin revamping collection schedules throughout the city.

Revamping of schedules will allow for trash and garbage pickups to be made simultaneously at residences.

The new packer, purchased from Pak-Mor Manufacturing Company, was delivered to Colorado City this week. Chain propelled packers plates exert 50,000-pound compaction pressure for the loading of refuse. The new truck was placed in service immediately.

In the new schedule that will begin to take shape during the ensuing week, refuse pickups will be made as follows:

West of Hickory—Half of the area Monday and Thursday, half Tuesday and Friday.

East of Hickory—Half of the area Monday and Thursday, half Tuesday and Friday.

South Side — Wednesday and Saturday.

'Sands' and Latin America Area—Wednesday and Saturday.

The new schedule, which will be perfected over a period of days, will have garbage and truck picked up by the same truck. And it will provide at least one trash pickup every week for all residences, the city manager said.

Spraying of residential garbage containers is being conducted now by city crews to combat flies. A mixture of malathion,

Subscriber TV Plan to Get Council Study

City Council Monday night will consider granting a franchise to Rowley United Theaters Inc. for electronic programing into Colorado City homes.

Rowley United, which operates the city's theaters, has obtained franchises for the system in other West Texas cities.

The franchise would give the firm a permit to construct, operate and maintain a system that would provide programs on home TV screens on a subscription basis.

City Manager Rollin K. Snethen said the franchise will be considered at the regular City Council meeting Monday night in City Hall.

Specifically, the franchise up for council study states that the city would grant "to Rowley United Theaters Inc. and its successors and assigns, a permit to locate, construct, maintain and operate a system of exhibition of visual and audible entertainment in homes within the city of Colorado City and to construct, maintain and operate necessary equipment for operation."

The city manager said the franchise being considered to allow residents to pay for entertained piped by wire to their TV screens is not an exclusive permit. And it could not go into effect before Oct. 14 even if approved by council on first reading Monday night.

The Houston firm of Matkin & Fitch will have representatives before council Monday to discuss slum clearance and redevelopment in Colorado City.

Appearance of the Matkin & Fitch representatives is a follow-up to the council's study of possible slum clearance work here with the assistance of government financing. The study was started last year.

COUNTY AGENT WARNS

Insect Control Urgent With Cotton's Race Against Frost

Farmers looked to summer skies Saturday to aid them complete cotton planting in the wettest soil in years.

Farmers in every area of the county were putting cotton seed into the ground or operating cultivators on their driest land.

The same operation will follow as other soil dries out under hot summer sun.

Some, who accomplished planting before or between rains, were scratching to help young cotton plants to come through the top soil.

As the feverish rush for late planting developed with hot weather County Agent Jack Burkhalter warned against insect infestations.

And the agent urged cotton farmers to keep close watch for insects and to follow up with immediate, appropriate poisoning.

Burkhalter emphasized that early insect infestations could delay cotton maturity in the fall so that late planted crops could be seriously hurt by frost.

The county agent said data of Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in Lubbock shows that cotton planted now, and which is up by the 10th, will have approximately 120 days until the county's average frost date in November.

Data from the same station shows that the same cotton should be 25 per cent open in 130 days.

"Even if we do get frost on the average day," Burkhalter said, "that cotton which is mature, but not open, will still open up without damage by the frost."

Most effective fruiting period for cotton in this area is between July 20 and Aug. 10, the agent reported.

"That hits us just about right," he said, referring to this season's planting.

"Sept. 1 is considered usually about the last date for fruit to be set and go ahead to maturity before frost date.

"If we have a late fall, like last year, even cotton fruiting after Sept. 1 has good chances for going ahead and maturing."

But to provide best assurance for cotton maturing in face of the frost date, farmers must control early insects.

Burkhalter said thrips will delay maturity about two weeks.

And fleahoppers will reduce the first forms, which also retards crop maturity date.

The agent said another 10 days of weather like Friday and Saturday will bring up a large percentage of the county's cotton.

Burkhalter cautioned persons

EIGHT ARE INDICTED

Guilty Pleas Given In Cow Theft, DWI

Two defendants Friday in 32nd District Court pleaded guilty to felony offenses.

Donnie Ray Lake of Lubbock admitted theft of a cow and calf May 24 at Tate Bros. Livestock Auction Company and received a three-year prison term.

However, the term was suspended by Judge A. S. Mauzey.

Lake, a truck driver, delivered a load of livestock to the local auction company for a Lubbock cattleman, then loaded the empty truck with the stolen cow and calf. The stolen animals were sold in Tulia.

His brother, Hershell Dwayne Lake, was no-billed by the grand jury this week in connection with the same case.

Max Champion Baugh of Snyder pleaded guilty before Judge Mauzey for second offense driving while intoxicated here May 18.

The DWI defendant was fined $100 and received a probated eight-month jail term plus automatic one-year suspension of driver license.

Under requirements of the probation, Baugh is allowed freedom provided he does not commit any felony, or misdemeanor, avoids injurious or vicious habits including the use of intoxicating beverages or narcotic drugs, works faithfully at suitable employment as far as possible.

Baugh and Lake were among eight men indicted this week by Mitchell County grand jury on felony charges.

Two Colorado City men Melvin Lunceford and W. Lee Moore were indicted with Samuel Cox of Big Spring on charge of stealing sweeps and tractor parts from Heston Redwine, who lives south of Colorado City.

All three of the men are now

TRAINING AT NORTH FORT HOOD

Guardmen Find Mosquitoes, Not Usual Dust at Cannoneer's Hop

Special to the Record

NORTH FORT HOOD, Two weeks of rugged summer camp training started this week for 61 members of Colorado City's C Battery of the 648th Armored Field Artillery Battalion.

The 49th Armored Division unit, organized in the Texas National Guard in March of 1947, is busy readying each man for combat readiness. All National Guard units are expected to complete the individual combat training by October of 1958 and 1/Lt. Forrest Yancey's battery is already tackling the assignment.

Visits Mrs. Dawson

Mrs. Stanley Moore and children, Joe and Brenda Jean, of Kirtland, N. M., are visiting here with Mrs. Moore's mother, Mrs. M. J. Dawson.

Howitzer section training, called the Cannoneer's Hop by artillerymen, is being conducted in the bivouac area. The instruction by section chiefs is in preparation for live firing practice next week in the hilly country of the Fort.

"We feel we're one step ahead Hood reservation.

"Lots of our men have had combat experience or previous training with the Guard that makes the job easier."

Sergeant First Class E.H. Robertson, a howitzer section chief, is a typical example. Sergeant Robertson, a butcher in Colorado City, had a summer of instruction at Fort Knox, Ky. and has attended camps for the last five years.

Talk about men suited for their jobs. Private First Class Don Fite, a former Colorado City track star attending Texas Western, is the cannoneer who dashes from the howitzer to place aiming posts with which the howitzer uses as a reference point. The posts are placed 100 yards from the howitzer. Fite runs the 100 in 9.8 seconds so the job is done in a hurry.

There's still another. Lt. Joe D. Burk, reconnaissance and survey officer for the battery, issues lots of orders during camp. His regular job, assistant football coach at Colorado City High, calls for orders and strict discipline.

There's something new in the way of weather this summer for Battery C and the division. During past camps it has been a boiling sun and chocking dust this year it's heavy thunder showers and mosquitoes.

But the rain has been a welcome change and the men aren't griping about it. Master Sergeant Dennis Patterson, the battery's top kick, says morale has been high and performance excellent.

The Battery had some practical military convoy experience when it rolled to Fort Hood last Sunday. It rained all the way during the 9-hour trip but it caused little more than ruffled tempers.

The battery took part in the Governor's Day review Saturday (June 8) when 1,200 armored and wheeled vehicles of the division paraded past Texas civilian and military dignitaries.

The unit heads for the field this week on a 4-day realistic combat exercise. It will return to Colorado City June 15 (Saturday).

Iatan Field Gains Two Drilling Sites

Three more drilling sites have been staked in the county's west and northwest area after completion of two oil producers in Sharon Ridge 1700 Field.

Two of the new locations are in Iatan-East Howard Field — Standard Oil of Texas No. 26 and No. 27 Foster. The other is Terrell & Bryant of Abilene No. 1 Mary Chalk, in Sharon Ridge 1700.

Adding to Mitchell County's oil production are Terrell & Son No. 1 and No. 3 R. J. Byrd.

The No. 1 Byrd was finaled in the Sharon Ridge with potential of 30 barrels of 28.5 gravity oil, plus 42 per cent water.

Production is from 11 sets of perforations between 1,500 feet and 1,650 feet after treatment with 1,000 gallons of acid and 1,000 gallons of fracture fluid. Site of the No. 1 Byrd is 330 feet from north and 2,147 feet from east lines, Section 196, Block 3, H&GN Survey.

The No. 3 Byrd has a daily pumping potential of 28.33 barrels of 28.5 gravity oil, plus 41 per cent water. Production is from 11 sets of perforations between 1,474 feet and 1,624 feet over total depth of 1,650 feet.

Site of the No. 3 Byrd is 990 feet from north and 330 feet from west lines of northeast quarter, Section 196, Block 3, H&GN Survey.

The new Sharon Ridge drilling site, Terrell & Bryant No. 1 Mark Chalk, will drill to 1,700 feet at location 11 miles northwest of Colorado City. The site, on a 230-acre lease, is 330 feet from south and 1,487 feet east lines, Section 194, Block 3, H&GN Survey.

In the Iatan-East Howard Field the Standard No. 26 Foster will drill to 3,000 feet at a site three miles southwest of Iatan and 1,300 feet from north and 1,650 feet from east lines, Section 6, Block 29, T-1-S T&P Survey.

The Standard No. 27 Foster, also scheduled for 3,000 feet, will be 1,300 feet from north and 330 feet from east lines, Section 6, Block 29, T-1-S, T&P Survey.

BIBLE COMMENT

Can't Shirk Duty To Self, Others

A lesson on personal responsibility seems very important in our age and under present conditions.

The indirectness of so many processes in our modern life makes possible a shirking of duty that was not always so easy.

The very bywords today indicate something of this lack of personal responsibility. We say, "Let George do it," or we speak of "passing the buck." Both phrases are expressions of slackness.

What has Ezekiel to say about personal responsibility? First, that sin and wickedness inevitably bring their results.

Long before Ezekiel, an older writer in Israel declared, "Be sure your sin will find you out." Man is accountable for his deeds and he bears their consequences.

It is not only the prophet who says so; it is life and experience that make that declaration.

Nor is a man responsible only for his own acts. He must watch out for those of others. The man who takes an attitude of indifference—who says, "I'll attend to my own life; I'll have no care for anyone else"—is himself assuming a wrong and wicked attitude.

A man has the duty of a watchman. It is his duty to dissuade others from evil, to warn them concerning its consequences, just as one would be bound to warn a fellow human being he saw walking toward a dangerous hole or cliff.

There is a stern and relentless law that affects us all in the matter of life and conduct. But Ezekiel is equally definite in declaring that God, the upholder of the universe, takes no great delight in penalties for evil. His great purpose is redemption.

This is borne out not only in the gospel of grace, but also in the law of nature.

MUST PUT RESEARCH TO USE

Cotton Needs Expanded Research Program For Survival, Presidential Group Reports

Cotton's greatest opportunity for increased consumption depends on quality improvement and cost reduction.

Quality improvement and cost reduction can come about only through:

(1) a greatly expanded and more efficient research program;

(2) an improved technical information service to increase use of research findings.

These are the principal conclusions in the report of the Cotton Task Group of the Presidential Commission on Increased Industrial Utilization of Agricultural Commodities.

"In the opinion of the Task Group, no factor has been as important as the lack of an adequate research program in the gradual chipping away by competitors of certain end use markets for cotton," said M. Earl Heard, chairman of the group, and vice president and director of research at the West Point Manufacturing Company, Shawmut, Ala.

"By the same token, no single factor is as important as an increased research program in the further development of expanded markets for cotton."

The task group's analysis of ways and means for increasing cotton consumption entailed a careful study of the fiber's relationship to the national economy. The size and nature of present markets and consumption trends, as well as potential for expansion, were considered.

The group pointed out further that the equivalent of more than 13 million bales of other materials is now consumed annually in end uses supplied partially by cotton. A large portion of this 13-million-bale market is potentially for expanding cotton consumption.

There is a further possibility of taking a larger share of the consumer's dollar in competition with such other industries as producers of electric appliances and automobiles. The report noted, too, the tremendous potential for expansion by increasing per capita consumption, especially in foreign countries.

Other recommendations of the report are:

1. A really significant expansion in funds available for research, including research done under contract to domestic research agencies and to foreign agencies.

2. Appointment of a commission to study and make recommendations concerning: (a) the organization of a federal cotton research and development program; (b) methods for attracting the best qualified research brains to cotton problems; (c) ways of providing maximum flexibility in operation of the research program, including, but not limited to, the use of grants fellowships, development contracts and assistance in commercializing new or improved products.

3. Appointment of a special assistant for cotton affairs within the Department of Agriculture to serve as the central contact for the entire cotton industry.

4. Development of more adequate methods for evaluating the quality of cotton, the incorporation of these methods into the official quality classification system of the Department as they are proved practical, and the maintenance of adequate supplies of all quality descriptions in stocks to assure maximum consumption.

Other members of the task group were: Walter Regnery, vice president of Joanna Cotton Mills, Joanna, S. C.; Otto Goedecke, president of Otto Goedecke Company, cotton merchants, Hallettsville, Texas; Dr. C. H. Fisher, director of the Southern Utilization Research and Development Division of the USDA, New Orleans; J. Russell Kennedy, general manager of the California Cotton Cooperative Association, Bakersfield; and Wm. Rhea Blake, executive vice president of the National Cotton Council of America, Memphis.

* * *

One of the cotton industry's best informed leaders has challenged American growers to meet worldwide competition by accepting lower prices and increased volume or to abdicate to alternative materials and reconcile themselves to a declining business in an artificially sheltered market.

Speaking from the floor of the Dallas Cotton Exchange, Lamar Fleming Jr., board chairman of Anderson, Clayton & Co. world cotton merchants, critized the level of present price supports as well as acreage allotments at the American Cotton Congress meeting.

Fleming's talk to members of the American Cotton Congress came at the close of a one-day meeting which also featured an address by Samuel C. Waugh, president and chairman of the Export-Import Bank, Washington, D. C., and a panel discussion of long-range effects of the soil bank on cotton economy.

Fleming told the cotton industry to look beyond the limits of the United States for the greatest future use of end-products of cotton and pointed out "it is by no means assured that expansibility of cotton production in the foreign countries is as great as the expansibility of foreign demand for cotton products."

"Foreign consumption of cotton products is increasing at an annual rate of more than a million bales. With reasonable prices and peace in the world, I believe that annual foreign demand will increase within several years by a pound per person, or five million bales, and by double that amount within a few years, provided the supplies are available. I do not believe foreign production of cotton can increase in step with this increase in foreign end-use demand," Fleming said.

U. S. cotton growers must be ready to meet this future market with competitively priced cotton or "we can present this market to rayon and other alternative materials on a silver platter if we do not plan to serve it," he declared.

* * *

To meet this challenge, Fleming called for a lower loan rate to cotton farmers, a lower domestic price and greater freedom of planting, "perhaps ultimately toward substantially a free market, with price supports at levels designed only to prevent debacles of price, and ultimately toward complete liberation from price controls."

"A cotton industry freed of government controls, on a gradual basis, is the answer if cotton's choice is the broadening market," Fleming continued. "There must be the boldness to challenge reality and ride with evolution instead of continuing to hide from them both."

"Artificially high prices," Fleming said, "no doubt are the only means that will make cotton raising possible on obsolete, uncompetitive lands. Continuation of cotton on these lands unsuited to modern equipment can offer at best only a poor, precarious living, even though subsidized by an artificial price."

"On the other hand," Fleming continued, "these same price supports for lands adapted to modern mechanization and irrigation have become an incentive to producers to raise more cotton."

He sharply criticized acreage controls, pointing out that limitation of planted acreage and limitation of production "are very different things." With less acres planted, more care, fertilizer and insecticides have increased the yields per acre.

25 YEARS SERVICE

This is the tenth in a new series of special Col-Tex presentations recognizing long and valued service of those employes who have been associated with Col-Tex 25 years or longer. Col-Tex is proud of its workers who have contributed their efforts so many years for the company's success.

Exact blending is one of the major steps in the manufacture of quality gasoline for modern automobile motors. And it is why experienced employes like Lee Nixon are important to Col-Tex Refining Company.

For Nixon is treater in the refinery, a person in the treating department who sees that gasolines are blended to the right, powerful specifications.

The Col-Tex employe is a native of Temple, but he moved here with his mother and brother in 1917. Twelve years later he joined the Col-Tex staff and he has been with the refinery ever since.

It was Feb. 14, 1929, to be exact, when Nixon became a member of the Col-Tex family. His first job was in maintenance and later he was assigned to the treating department.

In 1933 Nixon and the former A. V. Moates, a native of Mitchell County, were married. The couple has a son, four-year-old Eddie Lee Nixon.

Nixon's hobbies are outdoor. But right now, by his own words, he is pretty wrapped up with the son.

"He and I have been to the lake a few times for fishing," the father says. Quail hunting, a favorite of Nixon, is sure to come soon for the boy, too.

The checked gingham suit was never so fashionable as in this three piece traveler from Julie Clark. A red lining adds zest to the detachable shoulder cape, which is just brief enough to reveal the natural curve of the waist. Without the cape, the costume becomes a two-piece dress of classic simplicity, dressed up with a white collar and taffeta bow.

Girl Scouts Leave for Boothe Oaks

Five local Girl Scouts are to leave today for Camp Boothe Oaks near Sweetwater for the first session of camping this summer.

They are Myrna Feaster, Anita Louise Fox, Arla Joe Payne, Myra Ellen Robinson and Ann Ryburn.

The first session of camp will end June 21, according to Miss Margaret McAdams, camp director.

Summer camping program for Girl Scouts of West Texas is reaching a wider span than ever before, Miss McAdams said recently.

Camp Boothe Oaks, the established camp site for West Texas Girl Scouts is located eight miles southwest of Sweetwater among beautiful trees, and boasts a lovely swimming pool, large mess hall, a caretakers house and a dispensary and counselor's retreat.

Campers live in tents arranged for four units of sixteen girls each with three staff members assigned to each unit of girls.

Girls enjoy planning their own program, living in a tent, swimming, crafts, campfire, singing, outdoor cooking, star gazing, nature lore and other activities that fit into the adventure of living in the out-of-doors.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. McFaul of Roscoe.

The evening ceremony was June 1.

Rev. Ted Cotton, pastor of the Lakeview Baptist Church in San Angelo, read the double ring vows before a double window, flanked on each side by white baskets of giant daisies. Bouquets of pink and white roses marked other points in the homes.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a white linen sheath dress, fashioned with a rounded neckline and brief sleeves. Completing her wedding attire were a white nylon lace duster and matching lace hat.

She carried a bouquet of white gardenias and white carnations with a white Bible.

The couple was honored at a reception in the Reid home immediately following the wedding ceremony. Bridal table was covered with a white crochet cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink and white roses and daisies.

Mrs. George J. Schroyer of San Angelo, sister of the bride, registered guests. The three-tiered wedding cake and punch were served by Miss Janice Adams and Miss Mary D. Hickman.

For travel on their honeymoon trip to Ruidoso, N. M., the bride changed to an orchid linen dress, complimented by white accessories and a corsage taken from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside in Roscoe where the groom is employed by Pollard Chevrolet.

LAST MONTH WE CELEBRATED Mother's Day, and just so he won't feel left out of the picture, on June 16th, Father's Day, everybody puts the spotlight on Dad.
THE BEST TRIBUTE we have ever heard about fathers came from a youngster who said, "We have such good fun with my daddy that I wish I had known him sooner."
FATHERS ARE IMPORTANT PEOPLE to have. A father is a banker provided by nature. He takes care of all the important things, while mother makes the decisions about unimportant things. Of course, it is very seldom that anything important turns up, usually never.
FATHERS ARE, SOMETIMES TAKEN FOR GRANTED, but not in our pharmacy. We appreciate and understand them and welcome their visits to us.

Shower the bride with Lifetime Gifts
Give her gifts of steel
WHEN a special friend or relative is taking that important step from Miss to Mrs., show her your delight: Give her gifts of steel.
For steel gifts are stylish gifts that last a lifetime.
When you buy them for a shower or wedding, you're giving the bride much more than just an expression of your affection. You're giving gifts that will endure as long as she needs them.
Showering the bride with gifts of steel means choosing from countless items made to give stylish service—from coffee makers to canisters, folding chairs to flatware, trays to toasters, clocks to cutlery. No matter what you choose to give, she'll appreciate your good taste and thoughtfulness.
And any bride would glow with pleasure to see the lustrous quality shining through every gift of steel. And she can be assured these good-looking items will go to work in a thousand ways to prove their lasting value. For only steel can do so many jobs so well.
So when you shower the bride, make it a Steel Shower. And when you shop for the bridal gifts, make an investment that is fashionable and practical. Look for the store displaying the Steel Shower symbol—and get the gifts that will last a lifetime.
This symbol identifies the store that's a Bridal Center, where you can get a variety of gifts styled in steel . . . to last a lifetime.

Party selected should be well acquainted in the area, furnish good character reference, make and give decisions on their own, be available to start immediately, and member of or become member of local Chamber of Commerce, or other civic organizations. This is not a sales position, but sales, office or business management experience is helpful, but not necessary as you will be trained by our organization. You must have $2,000.00 cash plus temporary working capital for office, supplies, etc., and be bondable as you will be handling large amounts of money. Also willing to follow our supervision. This may be a life time connection for party selected. Immediate substantial guaranteed income. If you can fulfill all of the above requirements and definitely want to be placed in a position to earn $10,000.00 or more per year, then write A.M.C.A., Box 225, Kansas City, Missouri, fully about yourself, giving phone number for personal interview.

In regard to purchase of land for an emergency spillway for the Champion Creek Lake:

We own the E½ of Sec. 91, Blk. 26, Mitchell Co., Texas. We have agreed to consider selling a tract, along the east line of the above described land for said spillway, same being 600 feet east and west approx. 2,000 feet north and south, which will extend the spillway to Jayhawk Creek, then carry the flood water onto the Colorado River.

But it appears certain parties are making a desperate effort to induce the company building the lake to route the spillway across the west part of our farm, thereby covering the best farm land on the place. The engineers will tell them that to route the spillway from Champion Creek to Jayhawk Creek, along the east line of Sec. 91, will make for a larger and better lake and not have to raise the dam but very little. These spillways are put on a grade and the top soil is largely removed. We do not want to be contrary, and know Texas Electric Service Co. is doing a wonderful work in building dams and reservoirs in West Texas. However, we have a deal pending to sell this farm. We are too old to earn money and need to sell our farm.
