Parking Squabble Settled

AUSTIN (AP)-The flap over parking fees for state employees came to an apparent end Friday as Speaker Bill Clayton negotiated a compromise.

Both the Texas Public Employees Association and the State Purchasing and General Services Administration agreed that unreserved spaces - which now cost $3 a month - should be free.

Free reserved parking spaces will be provided the handicapped and employees who ride in carpools of three or more persons.

Twenty percent of the parking slots in the Capitol Complex will be reserved for individuals who are willing to pay $10 a month.

The commission agreed to drop its appeal of a state district judge's decision that it had no authority to raise parking fees.

Cabbie Returns Coins

NEW YORK (AP)-"I should have had more faith," said Iris Morley, after a taxicab driver turned in her husband's missing $33,000 coin collection.

Her husband Tom should have, too.

Morley, meanwhile, had given up and left for home "extremely fatigued and frustrated" after spending Friday searching for his collection.

"We've got the coins back, but my husband doesn't know it yet," Mrs. Morley said Friday night. "I think it's super..The cab driver was so honest. I didn't think we'd ever get them back. I should had more faith."

South Has Record Low

By The Associated Press

Record low temperatures chilled parts of Florida and Louisiana early Saturday while a Great Lakes storm piled snow 3 feet high in western New York state.

A heavy snow warning was in effect for extreme northern Wisconsin just off Lake Superior, and traveler's advisories for 1 to 3 inches of new snow were posted for western New York State, along the Lake Superior shores of Upper Michigan and the Lake Michigan shores of Lower Michigan and Indiana.

Carter Delays Campaign

AUSTIN (AP)-President Carter's campaigners say the indefinite postponement of his Texas campaign swing won't stop their efforts to sell tickets to a $50-per-person fundraiser.

Senior Diplomats Still Held

Khomeini Support Questioned

HOUSTON (AP)-The Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini orchestrated the takeover of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran to hide the fact that most Iranians did not support his regime, which was falling apart, the head of a group of "leading Iranian international industrialists" said.

"The entire episode is a maneuver carefully executed at an opportune moment to create international conflict in order to cover up the economic and social failure of Khomeini's regime, and to head off the widespread dissent which was weakening his rule," said Ali Ebrahimi, president of two Iranian construction companies.

Ebrahimi is chairman of the Iranian Committee for Release of U.S. Hostages, which he said includes between 2,000 and 3,000 Iranian businessmen operating all over the world.

He sent an open letter Friday to Kurt Waldheim, secretary general of the United Nations, in which he said the "staged demonstrations" in front of the embassy "must not be mistaken as the true sentiment of 35 million Iranians.

"In almost any country where the government controls the media and where such government is prepared to lie to manipulated its people, similar hysteria and emotion can be induced, especially when it is done cleverly in the name of religions," Ebrahind said.

He asked that the United Nations Security Council hear testimony from Iranian leaders other than those currently in power.

Say Embassy Is 'Spy Nest'

By ALEX EFTY
Associated Press Writer

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)-Militant students occupying the U.S. Embassy said today the three senior American diplomats detained at the Foreign Ministry were "the head of the spies" and must be kept in Iran along with the 50 Americans held hostage at the embassy compound.

The statement came a day after acting Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh said the trio were free to leave. However, Ghotbzadeh said he could not guarantee safe passage to the Tehran airport for U.S. Charge d'Affaires L. Bruce Laingen, political officer Victor Tomseh, and the embassy's security chief, Michael Holland. All have remained at the ministry since the embassy takeover Nov. 4.

In a statement released throught Iran's official Pars news agency the students said Laingen "and his two companions are the head of the spies and their movements must be strictly controlled." They claim the embassy was a "spy nest" and say the Americans held there will be tried as spies unless the shah is returned for trial.

The three envoys are "not allowed to leave Iran or to make any contacts outside the Foreign Ministry," the statement said.

On Friday, Iran's new foreign affairs chief hinted that the shah's departure from the United States might ease the U.S-Iranian showdown, but said the Americans won't be released immediately anyway.

"Certainly the crisis will not be totally defused at that time...If the shah goes, definitely the hostages will not be released immediately," Ghotbzadeh told reporters.

Addressing his first news conference since taking over the Foreign Ministry on Thursday, he announced Iran will boycott the U.N. Security Council meeting on the crisis set to get under way Saturday night.

He denounced the council as a tool of the United States and said any decision it made "is not binding and we don't accept it."

Although adamant that the shah be returned to Iran, the acting foreign minister did not close the door on future negotiations and said Iran would maintain its contacts with the Security Council.

The United States, which is looking to the 15-member Council meeting for a declaration calling on Iran to release the Americans, has refused to extradite the shah to Iran to face trial on charges of corruption and mass murder.

An estimated one million demonstrators jammed the streets of the Iranian capital Friday, the second of two Shiite Moslem days of mourning, for a mixture of Moslam prayer and anti-American protests.

Grapevine Opry Favorite...

Cindy Likes To Sing

By JOHN LONG

Cindy Hataway recalled a time shortly after she began singing when she was doing a number with her sister. Instead of doing one song together, the girls began singing two songs separately.

At first they were petrified, but after a few moments they broke into giggles.

It has been a little like that ever since.

"I guess I'm a ham," said the 28-year-old singer from Snyder. "I like to sing. I like sit-down audiences, and I like big audiences. It's hard to sing at home. It's easy with strangers."

Although her sister has retired from singing now, Mrs. Hataway is hardly pulling the load all by herself. She has her husband and two children to help her.

She began singing while going to Fluvanna High School. At first, her engagements were small, like doing Hootenannies in Towle Park, or singing at PTA meetings in Fluvanna. Gradually, though, the engagements grew larger and better.

Once, while singing at a Farm Bureau banquet, she was spotted by a man who arranged for her to compete at the district Farm Bureau contest in Big Spring. She won that and went to the state meet in Abilene. From there she went to Atlantic City.

She went to Nashville, too, and cut two singles, "Heartbroken Heartbreaker" and "Tammy."

Although the records never sold very well, she learned a lot from the experience.

"It was a learning experience," she said. "We had a lot of fun. I'd like to do it again. If I had another chance I wouldn't be quite so frightened this time."

She's been to the Grapevine Opry outside Dallas, and goes there about once a month even now. She was a nominee for female vocalist of the year there, and was named female vocalist of the year at the Odessa Opry.

One of her favorite places, however, is the Grapevine Opry. A family woman herself, Mrs. Hataway said she likes the family-type atmosphere that pervades the theatre. Many big name, popular singers also stop by during flight layovers at Dallas.

Her favorite type of music is progressive country. There is a certain lively beat to the music she likes.

Mrs. Hataway has also tried her hand at writing songs. To date, she has written one. It is "I Wonder."

"I have to be in the right mood," she confessed. "I'm not much on that song writing."

She is helped by husband Emmitt. He serves as her recording and booking agent. Sons Royce, 8, and Ross, 4, lend moral support.

Mrs. Hataway said she also helps herself by practicing two to three hours daily. "That is," she added, "if I don't have a sore throat."

Yugoslavia Gets $21 Million Loan

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $21 million loan has been made to Yugoslavia for the reconstruction and rehabilitation of roads damaged in an earthquake earlier this year.

The SDN Column

Although the federal government has done a lot of talk about helping needy families with their fuel bills this winter, nothing definite has reached the consumer level.

There were rumors going around recently in counties to the north that Uncle Sam was going to pay 25 per cent of the utility bills of senior citizens. This proved to be false.

Meanwhile, the federal government is still trying to get its hands on more oil money via the so-called "windfall profits tax."

We still can't understand why it is acceptable to pay $40 per barrel (some purchases on the international spot market were reported going for that figure recently) to a foreigner, but evil to pay more than $6.50 per barrel to an American for crude oil.

There were a few raised eyebrows and light-hearted remarks a few weeks ago when some estimates on Scurry County's 1979 cotton crop went as high as 100,000 bales.

The past week, however, some of the people who have crops this year told us that the 100,000-bale figure might be a bit conservative.

Incidentally, each one of those modules you see in area cotton fields represents around nine bales. The modules are enabling many farmers to get their crops off the stalk much earlier than usual, and, although gins can't keep up and there aren't enough trailers at the peak of the harvest season, there is much less deterioration in the module than on the stalk when winter weather sets in.

Anyway, a 100,000-bale crop would be valued at around $27½ million, not counting the seed--something that's never been seen around old Scurry County before.

A lot of stories are credited to Will Rogers, most of them true, but a few obviously are hoaxes. For example, we read one in a "slick" publication recently about Will Rogers suggesting that the Allied Forces during World War II should merely heat the Atlantic Ocean to 212 degrees and then they could pick off the enemy submarines as the heat drove them to the surface. When asked how to go about generating that much heat, Rogers was said to have replied, "I'm not going to worry about that. It's a matter of detail, and I'm a policy maker."

That sounds a lot like a Will Rogers story. The only problem with its credibility is that Will Rogers was killed in a plane crash several years before World War II got going.

A--Early November mostly, but it has been known to come much earlier. Generally, the accepted "average" is around Nov. 5.

More Winners Of Santa Bucks Told

Another $250 has been won by nine area shoppers in the Snyder Daily News Santa Bucks Contest.

This week's $50 winner is Nickie Becerra, 110 35th. The eight $25 winners are Mrs. R.J. Kidd, Box 865; Darryl Boone, 3608 40th; Frances Thomason, Box 123, Hermleigh; Bernice Felton, 3108 Ave. B; Sammye Welsh, Rt. 3, Box 165; David Higgins, Rt. 2, Box 179, Hermeigh; Mrs. Charles N. Snyder, 3724 Rose Circle; and Charles Haddock, Snyder.

Winners may pick up their Santa Bucks at the SDN office and redeem them for merchandise at any of the 32 participaing merchants on the Santa Buck pages in each Friday's paper.

A total of $1500 will be given away during the five-week contest.

Three weeks are left in the contest, so check the Santa Bucks specials in Friday's paper and as you shop for them be sure to register for next week's Santa Bucks.

Cotton Harvest Still Rolls Here

Scurry County's 1979 cotton harvest has moved past the 61,000-bale mark by the end of the week, as work in the fields continued and gins were operating around the clock.

Billy Roach, county extension agent, reported that a survey of gins in the county Friday afternoon showed 43,703 bales ginned and 17,432 bales on the gin yards waiting to be processed.

"And a lot of fields haven't been touched, yet," said the county agent.

There appeared to be little doubt that this would easily be the county's biggest cotton crop in history and it is a tremendous increase over the 1978 crop. At this time last year, less than 15,000 bales had been ginned in the county.

The weekend reports by gins:

Museum Set For Annual Santa Visit

The Scurry County Museum will host its annual visit with Santa Claus Sunday afternoon, and adults with or without children are invited to join the festivites starting at 1 p.m.

Santa will bring candy treats for the children, and adults will be treated to punch. Musical treats for all will be provided by the WTC Vocal Ensemble under the direction of Jane Womack. They plan to sing about 2 p.m. and again about 2:45.

The museum is on the campus of Western Texas College, and visitors are also invited to see the annual faculty art show in the Fine Arts Building and to attend a planetarium show at 2, 3 or 4 o'clock.

Works by Mike Thornton and John Gibson are featured in the Fine Arts Building and they will greet visitors at a reception planned from 1-4 p.m. The show is to remain through Dec. 14 and may be seen each weekday without admission charge.

Coast Guard's Action Defended By Clements

By KEN HERMAN
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Bill Clements says no matter what Sen. A.R. Schwartz believes, the Coast Guard has done an "admirable job" at the scene of a gulf ship collision.

"I think most of that is political rhetoric," Clements said of Schwartz's criticism of the Coast Guard. He said the Coast Guard has "done an admirable job...I think they did all they could under the circumstances."

The Coast Guard is in charge at the scene of a Nov. 1 ship collision that killed 32 men and sent thousands of barrels of oil into the gulf near Galveston. The tanker Burmah Agate is still on fire.

Schwartz, D-Galveston, had hoped to question a Coast Guard captain about the handling of the collision, but the captain did not show up Thursday for Schwartz's Senate Natural Resources Committee hearing.

Rear Adm. Paul Yost of New Orleans told Schwartz the captain will be at a similar hearing in Washington next week, so there was no need for his testimony here.

Schwartz angrily promised to subpoena the captain and Yost.

Clements said the Coast Guard "brought in men and equipment in a timely manner." But Schwartz said it took 57 hours to get set up on the scene - while Coast Guard officials once told the Legislature they could respond in six hours.

"In a word, the governor is not (adequately) informed," Schwartz said after Clements, Friday news conference.

The senator was here Friday for a meeting of the Texas Coastal and Marine Council, which he also chairs. He said the Coast Guard also was inefficient in its handling of the Mexican oil spill.

"If the winds had not changed, we would have had a major environmetal disaster in the bays and estuaries of South Texas. ... That is not proficiency. That is not the kink of behavior you commend. ... I do not believe the governor has the same degree of anxiety about the Texas coast as the people who live on the coast have every day," he said.

Pat Parker, a University of Texas marine scientist, told the council Texans were "lucky" the effects of that spill more not worse. He said shifting currents protected the Texas coast and estuaries.

"This country does not have the equipment needed. I saw no gear that could have stopped the oil from coming into Aransas Pass," he said. Adding a continued flow would have left Corpus Christi residents scraping oil off their yachts.

Schwartz - who said, "God willing," he and Clements will always disagree - called for the governor to open the 1980 special legislative session to consideration of coastal issues. Schwartz wants legislation to require harbor pilots on board ships entering or leaving Texas ports.

The senator also wants "a state agency I can depend on to do better" in oil spills.

Sr. Citizens Center Sets Fund Raiser

The Scurry County Senior Citizens Center will hold a "garage sale" as a fund raising project on Dec. 15, Gloria Shaw, Center director, has announced.

The sale will be in the Towle Park Barn from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Items are now being collected for the event, and anyone who would like to donate merchandise is invited to bring it to the Senior Center at 2603 Avenue M or to call the Center office at 573-0104.

"We would like to have almost anything that is saleable," Mrs. Shaw said. "We do not plan to include clothing in this sale, but there should be a good variety of other interesting things by the sale date."

Proceeds from the sale will go to help pay the operating expenses of the Center.

Court Hears Guilty Plea

Gail Aurthor Baker Jr., no current address available, pleaded guilty in 132nd District Court Friday to a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. He received a $500 fine and a two-year jail sentence that was probated two years.

He was charged with taking without proper authorization a 1967 International pickup from Guy Adams. The incident occurred Aug. 24.

A charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, stemming from the same incident, was also filed against Alicia Hermosillo, also known as Alicia Baker, but it was dismissed.

Traffic Deaths Still Climbing

AUSTIN (AP) - Traffic accidents have claimed 3,645 lives in Texas this year, the Department of Public Safety reported Friday.

This was a 6 percent increase over the 3,451 fatalities recorded during the comparable period of 1978.

'Hot Check Mama' Gets Record Jail Sentence

DALLAS (AP)-Jacqueline Taylor's "lying and conning" will cost her nine years in the Dallas County Jail - the longest sentence anybody at the jail can remember.

"I did what I did because I want her in jail," said criminal court judge Tom Price, who imposed the sentence.

"Good Lord!" said jail detention director O'Byrne Cox. "I've never heard of that. It's definitely not usual."

But then, neither is Mrs. Taylor's case.

She said her problems began when her husband went to Vietnam in 1971, leaving her with no money, and she started writing hot checks to support her six children.

Court records indicate she has written 150 hot checks the past eight years, totaling more than $5,000 on banks in four cities.

"You get sucked into it and before you know it, it's over your head," Mrs. Taylor, 41, told a jury between sobs. "You think that sometime, something will happen to clear it all up. But it just doesn't happen that way."

Price said he tried for two years to rehabilittate Mrs. Taylor, but she would not cooperate. So Thursday, after she pleaded guilty to nine hot check charges, Price gave her the longest sentence possible: nine years.

Not only that, Price said he will never approve a work release program for her.

If the sentences are not overturned on appeal, Mrs. Taylor could be out on good behavior in eight years.

Mrs. Taylor first was arrested in Dallas County on hot check charges in May of 1977.

Since then, eight more cases have been filed with the Dallas County district attorney's office and Price said he became determined to "work with the woman" to make restitution.

He accepted her guilty plea on one charge in return for probation, and a trust account was set up to collect the restitution money. But Price said she kept making excuses about why she couldn't make payments.

"She never paid a thing," Price said. "She was doing the same thing to me - lying and conning me just like she did the merchants and the probation officer."

After 10 months with 18 new hot checks and not a cent of retribution, misdemeanor prosecutors filed a motion asking Price to revoke the probation.

This week, Mrs. Taylor pleaded guilty to the nine charges, each with a maximum one year sentence, and the jury recommended the maximum on each charge.

Prosecutors then filed a routine motion asking Price to set the sentences one after the other instead of concurrently.

And Price, saying Mrs. Taylor has cost merchants, banks and Dallas County thousands of dollars, granted the motion.

"The last thing I remember like that was 20 years ago," said Cox. "And, as I recall, I think that case was just two 2-year sentences."

Misdemeanor Marijuana Arrest Made

A misdemeanor marijuana arrest was made early Saturday morning by Sgt. Wade Norris.

Taken into custody was a 17-year-old man. He was picked up in the 2200 block of Ave. E about 1:45 .m.

Three minor traffic accidents were investigated Friday.

The first occurred at 1:05 p.m. in the 400 block of Austin. Involved in it were a 1978 Camero driven by Teresa Gallagher and a 197- Chevrolet driven by Troy Lynn Grisham. The accident was worked by Sgt. Bill Wright.

The next accident was at 1:09 p.m. in the 3800 block of Austin. Reports show that a 1969 Ford driven by Terence Dennis was in collision with a parked 1977 Vega owned by Bert Sellars and a parked 1976 Oldsmobile owned by Shauna Reeder. It was worked by officer Kerry Fritz.

Friday's final mishap was at 4100 College Ave. at 8:07 p.m. Involved in that accident was a 1974 Ford driven by Rod McCulloch of Hermleigh and a 1965 Chevrolet driven by Barbara Leatherwood of Hermleigh. The accident was worked by Don Whittenburg.

City Firemen Called Twice

Two fires, one a house fire, were doused Friday by city firefighters.

The house fire was reported at 11:53 a.m. at 612 29th St. Reports show the house is owned by Stella Webb but occupied by Billy Livington.

The fire was confined to a bed mattress and a portion of a wall.

The second fire was a grass fire at 3:05 p.m. It occurred south of the Leisure Lodge Nursing Home.

MATADORS--Entertainment at the half of the Duster-Howard College basketball game Monday night will be provided by twirling students of Sandi Arnesman at WTC. Twirling as a group will be The Matadors, including (left to right) Terri Bowlin, Robin Anderson and Julie Hall. Not present for the picture is Chris Ashley, a regular member of the group.

College Offering Twirling Classes

SOLO--Rebekah Powell will be performing the contest solo number she is preparing at Monday's night's half-time. Rebekah began twirling classes about a month ago. The Duster-Howard College game begins at 6 p.m. in the coliseum and will be followed by the men's game at 8 p.m.

Community Services classes in twirling are being offered at Western Texas College this year with Sandi Arnesman as instructor.

Miss Arnesman came to WTC from Kansas. She has taught twirling for four years, and has been involved in contest twirling for 15 years. Students who would like to enroll for twirling are invited to contact Miss Arnesman through the Community Services office for information.

Twirling as a group will be The Matadors. They are. Terri Bowlin, 11, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bowlin; Robin Anderson, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Anderson; Julie Hall, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Thomas, and Chris Ashley, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ashley.

Performing as soloists will be Rebakah Powell and Shelby Hildebrand. Rekebah, 10, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Powell. Shelby, 7, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Hildebrand. Both Rebekah and Shelby are preparing solo routines for contests.

The students will be performing at the half of the Duster-Howard College basketball game Monday night in the Scurry County coliseum. The game is the first conference game of the season for the Dusters and gets underway at 6 p.m. The Westerner-Howard College game follows at 8. Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students and are available at the door.

YOUNGEST--Shelby Hildebrand, one of Sandi Arnesman's youngest twirling students at the age of seven, will also be performing her contest solo routine Monday night. She began twirling instruction about two months ago.

Military Band Sets Concert

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)- The 49th Armored Division military band will give a pre-Christmas concert Saturday, Dec. 8, at 2 p.m. in the Capitol rotunda, Gov. Bill Clements said Thursday.

The concert is dedicated to the governor, Clements' office said.

Allen B. Clark, Clements' special assistant for administration and a decorated Viet Nam combat veteran, will represent the governor at the concert.

Happiness Grows With Age, Researcher Finds

LUBBOCK—For any who believe that old folks just sit around thinking about the joys of youth, there is one Texas Tech University researcher who has found evidence to the contrary.

The happiest years are for the people over 65, according to sociology graduate student Debra Kunkel. Her paper on the subject, "Correlates of Life Satisfaction as a Function of Age," won second place in a contest conducted recently by the Mid South Sociological Association.

In her study Kunkel equated the term "life satisfaction" with happiness and found that people over 65 were the most satisfied with their lives. Those between the ages of 56 and 65 years old were almost as happy and then in third place, were the youth between the ages of 18 and 25 years old.

The oldest group considered health and formal sociability -- participation in organizations -- the most important factors in contributing to happiness. Informal sociability, on a persons' or intimate level, was important although not as important as health and formal sociability. Women appeared happier than men in this age group.

Informal sociability ranked as an important contributor to happiness for each age group and so did health. Formal sociability was least important between the ages of 18 and 25 and between 46 and 55.

The youngest group valued education the most, while the 46 to 55 age group valued it least as a factor in happiness.

Being single and living alone were negative factors in all groups, but marriage was most important to people between the ages of 36 and 45. Living alone was felt a detriment to happiness most keenly by people between the ages of 46 and 55, although older people also considered it a negative factor in their degree of happiness.

Women appeared happier than men except in the age group between 36 and 45. Whites indicated a slightly greater degree of happiness than nonwhites until the age of 65, when being nonwhite became a slightly positive factor.

Income was rated as a contributor to happiness in only three of Kunkel's groups, those between the ages of 18 and 25, 26 and 35, and the people between the ages of 46 and 55 who considered it a major contributor to happiness. Being unemployed was a negative factor in all age groups except for people between the ages of 46 and 65 when it became a minimal contributor to satisfaction with life.

Education was highly valued most by the youngest group, those between 18 and 25, and was considered only slightly less important by those between the ages of 36 and 45. People between the ages of 26 and 35 and those over 65 thought it contributed to happiness, but those between 46 and 65 considered it a negative factor in happiness.

Data used in Kunkel's analysis was derived from the General Social Survey, 1972-1978, Cumulative Codebook, compiled by the National Opinion Research Center (1978) from the University of Chicago.

Insurance For Elderly Under Study

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)- The State Board of Insurance said Thursday it will wait until Dec. 27 to issue a preliminary report on insurance for the elderly and handicapped.

"The problems brought to our attention the last two months are so complex socially, legally and economically that they appear almost impossible to solve," Board Chairman Bill Daves said in a statement. "In spite of that difficulty, hard working people always seem to be able to do the impossible. We won't let that stop us."

He said the board is supplementing the information received in the two hearings to receive written remarks anyone would want to submit by Dec. 27.

Jerry West scored 25,192 points during his career with the Los Angeles Lakers of the NBA.

Storm Forecasting Criticized

By KEN HERMAN
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Davis Benton says he would have been shipped to Alaska if he had complained about the National Weather Service while he ran its bureau in Galveston.

But Benton took early retirement last month and is eager to talk about what he sees as poor storm forecasting by the NWS on the Texas Gulf Coast.

"They are just too slow in getting it out. It borders on being negligent," Benton told the Texas Coastal and Marine Council Friday.

Benton ran the Galveston bureau for 14 years and spent 35 years with NWS. He said Texas coastal residents do not get the service they need in an area frequently threatened by severe storms.

He said warnings of such storms now come from San Antonio after weather data is relayed from coastal stations.

"Obviously it can be handled at the coastal radar sites. The warnings should be issued from the radar sites, not remotely from someplace else," Benton said.

He told the council last summer's severe flooding in Houston proved his point. "The first flood warning went out after 26 inches of rain had fallen," he said.

He also said NWS provides insufficient staff for the coast. Only 20 percent of NWS 360 Texas employees are stationed in the area, he said. The Beaumont-Port Arthur station "is down to three or four people which is just ridiculous."

Weather forecasting for the Beaumont-Port Arthur area is further hampered by an insurance company building in Galveston, he said. The structure blocks the Galveston station radar cutting out 15 degrees of its 360-degree sweep. The blocked area is a 40-mile stretch in the Beaumont area, he said.

The blocked sector is covered by the Lake Charles, La., weather station's radar.

Class Schedules Now Available

The schedule of classes for the spring semester at Western Texas College is now available in the Student Services office in the Administration Building.

Registration for the spring semester is scheduled Jan. 14-15, with classes beginning Jan. 16.

Thursday Suppers At Senior Center

A covered dish supper each Thursday evening in the Senior Citizens Center is being planned as a regular activity for the Center, Gloria Shaw, director, has announced.

The first supper is scheduled to begin at 6 o'clock Thursday, and all Senior Citizens are invited to bring a favorite dish and join the group.

On Monday night, Burt Whitaker of Big Spring will be calling for Senior Center square dancing in the National Guard Armory. Whitaker calls on first and third Mondays of each month, with second and fourth Monday activities including folk dancing and games.

Jane Heath, activities director for the Center, will present a program on nutrition preceding the luncheon in the Center on Tuesday. A Sing-Along is planned before lunch on Friday. Other special activities will include an introduction to Experience Unlimited starting with a coffee at 10 a.m. Thursday.

The Senior Citizens Center, located at 2603 Avenue M, is open each weekday and men and women 60 years of age and older are invited to participate in the activities there.

Course In Defensive Driving Set

Defensive Driving will be offered at Western Texas College as a Community Services course in classes meeting on Dec. 17 and 20.

Each class will meet from 6-10 p.m. in room 101 of the Learning Resource Center, and students must attend both sessions to qualify for the certificate which entitles them to discounts on several types of automobile insurance.

Dr. James Palmer will be instructor for the course. Fees will be $12 per person and a minimum of 10 persons will be required to form the class.

Persons wishing to reserve space in the class are to call the Community Services office at 573-8511, extension 240. Fees may be paid between 5:45-6 on the night of Dec. 17.

Acreage Under Oil-Gas Lease At All-Time High

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON (AP)—After nearly two decades, the domestic petroleum industry has set another record for acreage held under lease.

The industry moved into 1979 with leases on an estimated 432.1 million acres.

That is 19.1 percent of the total land area of the 50 states.

The 432.1 million total exceeds the old record of 424.2 million acres recorded at the end of 1959.

Between the two records, the industry let its leaseholdings slip sharply as it moved through a 15-year drilling slump that cut well completions from an all-time high of 58,160 in 1956 to a modern low of 27,300 in 1971.

Huge blocks of leases were dropped as drilling operations continued to decline. Acreage holdings were slashed in eight of nine years before lease totals hit a low off 325.1 million acres at the end of 1967. That was 14.3 percent of the nation's total land area.

As the drilling slump eased off, leaseholdings began another upward swing. As opposed to only 27,300 well completions in 1971, last year's completions totaled 48,513.

Alaska figured prominently in both the old and new lease records.

When admitted as the 49th state in 1959, Alaska had only 3,500 productive acres under lease but 34.2 million acres in non-productive leases boost the industry over the 400 million mark the first time.

The new record was compiled during 1978 operations despite sharply revised Alaskan figures.

Since statehood, Alaska's productive leases have increased to 320,490 acres but its non-productive leases have been slashed to just 4,810,410 acres.

The new lease estimates were published in the 1979 edition of "The Oil Producing Industry in Your State." The Independent Petroleum Association of America annual publication presents 120 pages of statistics on oil operations nationwide and in 32 individual states.

The new record of 424.2 million acres includes an all-time high for productive acreage but a non-productive lease total still well below the 1959 level.

Productive leases at the end of 1978 involved 48.5 million acres, compared with only 25 million at the end of 1959. The new record, however, includes only 383.6 million non-productive acres are opposed to an all-time high of 399.1 million at the end of 1959.

The number of producing oil wells also dropped sharply during the long drilling slump.

The nation had 617,057 producing wells in 1961 but abandonments over 13 consecutive years dropped the total to 494,352 in 1974.

Increased drilling operations and a reduced rate for abandonments, particularly for stripper wells, shoved the number of producing wells back to 516,238 by the end of 1978.

Stripper wells, those that produce less than 10 barrels of oil a day, accounted for 13 percent of nation's crude oil output last year.

While the number of oil producers dropped sharply between 1961 and 1974, natural gas producers increased from 79,359 to 126,997, recording increases in all but four of the 13 years. By the end of 1978, the nation had 153,655 natural gas wells.

Excluding service wells, all-time records indicate the industry had drilled 2,476,932 wells through 1978.

Of that total, 1,465,385 or 59.2 percent were completed as oil wells and 250,244 or 10.1 percent as gas wells. The remaining 761,303 or 30.7 percent were dry holes.

Domestic crude oil production peaked in 1970 at 9,636,849 barrels a day. By 1976, the daily average had dropped to 8,131,641 barrels.

The start of production from Alaska's Prudhoe Bay area boosted daily output to 8,244,562 in 1977 and to 8,701,170 in 1978.

The independents have estimated current crude output at about 8,560,000 barrels a day.

New Sr. Citizen Program Due

The Scurry County Senior Citizens Center will introduce a new program called Experience Unlimited at a coffee at 10 o'clock Thursday morning in the Center.

Jean Beasley of Austin, founder, organizer and now executive director of Experience Unlimited, will be a special guest for the coffee and for a training session.

Experience Unlimited serves as a "skill bank," clearinghouse for persons 55 years of age and older who want to continue to work, Mrs. Beasley says. It does not solicit jobs for these individuals, but it serves as a referral system by giving potential employers the names and phone numbers of three registered applicants in the category requested.

The Senior Center will sponsor the program and RSVP members will coordinate it, maintaining lists of persons who wish to work and taking calls from prospective employers. Employers may call 573-0104 to obtain information about hiring workers. There is no charge to the employee or the employer.

"We are excited about this program," Gloria Shaw, Senior Center director, said. "The Center has had numerous calls from individuals and businesses asking about hiring Senior Citizens. Many Senior Citizens live on fixed incomes and would welcome the opportunity to earn some extra money. Experience Unlimited provides a meeting place for employers and those 55 and over, and we will be happy to provide any additional information needed by employers or employees."

The Senior Center is located at 2603 Avenue M and is open each weekday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Appointment Announced

AUSTIN (AP)-Mrs. Paula Schuhmacher, Houston, was named Thursday to the State Commission of the Blind.

Gov. Bill Clements said she would replace Charles Sapp, Houston, who resigned.

Other appointments included: Mrs. Joan S. Anderson, Houston, to the Texas State Board of Examiners of Psychologists. She replaces Dr. John I. Wheeler Jr., Houston, whose term expired.

Mrs. Barbara Hutchins Mantooth, Houston, to the Dental Advisory Committee of the Texas Board of Health.

Currently, Japan ranks second only to Canada as a major buyer of U.S. pork, according to Sperry New Holland.

NEW SERIES--Evelyn Slater, Mariann Neblett and Nona Sutton, WTC Learning Resource Center personnel, are shown with a portion of a series of books titled "The States and The Nation" recently received by the LRC. The series will be shelved with other volumes in the WTC library and may be checked out by persons interested in reading them. Community residents are invited to use the WTC Learning Resource Center materials and to inquire at the circulation desk for information in locating the materials they would like to see.

New Series Of State Histories In Circulation At WTC Library

A new series of state histories titled "The States and The Nation" has been received by the Western Texas College library and is ready for circulation, Larry V. Anderson, Director of Library Science, has announced.

The series was published for the national Bicentennial of the American Revolution by W.W. Norton & Co., Inc., and the American Association for State and Local History with financial support for editorial work from the National Endowment for the Humanities. Forty-seven of the proposed 51 volumes (including one for the District of Columbia) have been completed and the LRC at WTC will receive the remaining volumes when they are available.

The Library Journal has cited the series as a distinguished publishing achievement, unequaled since the Federal Writers' Project states series in the 1930s.

Recognized historians were enlisted to prepare the written materials for the series, and each volume also includes a picture essay.

Joe B. Frantz, chairman of the History Department of the University of Texas and director of the Texas State Historical Association, wrote the Texas history.

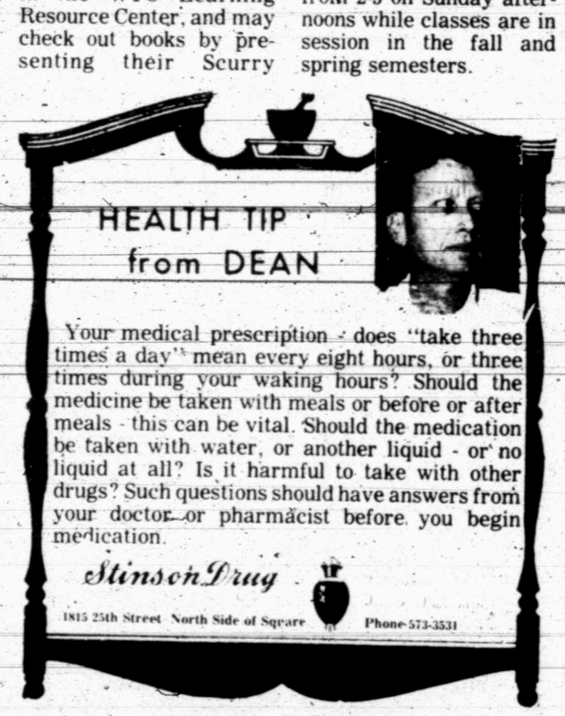

"Writing a history of Texas with a short deadline, even a history more long on interpretation than loaded with fact, requires a carload of leaning on historians who have plowed ahead of me," Frantz wrote in the preface.

"A number of authors have already felt what I felt and said what I said, and I'll never know whether my interpretation is original or was shaded by them. But in the book ahead what I have tried to squeeze out are my own feelings, not theirs."

Frantz says he utilized what he feels are the three best factual books on Texas, Rupert N. Richardson's "Texas, the Lone Star State," Seymour V. Conner's "Texas: A History," and T.R. Fehrenbach's "Lone Star: A History of Texas and The Texan" as well as borrowing "outrageously" from his own writings and those of other authors.

The volume on Texas begins with a chapter titled "A Creature Called Texan" and concludes with Chapter 16, "Texas Now."

Non-students are welcome to use the materials in the WTC Learning Resource Center, and may check out books by presenting their Scurry County library card or other indentification. A card index will help library patrons locate the items they are seeking, and personnel at the circulation desk can give additional assistance. The LRC is open each weekday from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. and from 2-5 on Sunday afternoons while classes are in session in the fall and spring semesters.

Spokane Perks Up From Film Crew Activity

By SUE MANNING
Associated Press Writer

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) - John Dahmen was paid to turn over his Elk Drug Co. to the film crew for a day. He won't say how much he was paid, but he did say, "It will pay for a real nice trip to Hawaii for mama and me."

A family rented their home at $150 a day for four days. But the filmmakers didn't like the interior decor. So they got the family's permission to paper the walls. The family picked out the paper, the film crew did the work - and MGM picked up the $1,600 tab.

Hollywood had come to Spokane.

"Why Would I Lie?," a $4.5-million Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production is the first full-length motion picture with sound ever to be filmed here. It was shot at 35 locations in the city, and Spokane officials believe it will boost the city's popularity with movie-makers, increase tourist trade and bolster the town's economy.

It is estimated that the crew, Fabricator Productions, spent $2 million in the city in two months of shooting.

And Spokane residents had a good time, too. More than 4,000 people turned out for interviews when the crew did its casting for 2,000 extras. Another 4,000 showed up the day the film crew asked for volunteers to take part in a large concert crowd scene.

"The people of Spokane were marvelous, absolutely stupendous," says Bob Rooney, the film's news director.

"You'd think they had a financial interest in the movie. And, in a way, they do, because the better we look, the better Spokane looks."

Six city-owned sites were used for filming by Fabricator Productions for MGM. Fabricator gave the city a check for $1,000 and repaired the wiring in one building and made improvements to others.

The romantic comedy stars Treat Williams, who appeared in "Hair," and Lisa Eichhorn, the star of "Yanks."

There hasn't been a full length motion picture filmed in Spokane since 1914, says Jack O'Brien of the Washington State Department of Commerce and Economic Development.

"At that time, there was a company here making silent films, but the three-reelers lasted only 45 minutes.

"I don't think Spokane is ever going to be a film capital. But I do think we have a future as a location for filming movies," O'Brien says.

"When Fabricator Productions first came here in the middle of May, they made statements about things they were going to do. I took most of them with a grain of salt," O'Brien says. But he introduced producer Pancho Kohner and director Larry Peerce, who directed "Goodbye Columbus," to Spokane.

"They followed through on everything they said they were going to do, including set construction, O'Brien says.

"And there are the fringe benefits - the morale impact on the community. When a community is selected as a movie setting, it makes everybody feel good," he adds.

Spokane Mayor Ron Bair is enthusiastic about the impact the film has had on the city.

"We will actively seek as many motion pictures as we can because the industry hires local people, buys local food and uses local products.

"We are really an ideal site for the making of a motion picture. We have clean air and clean streets, a low crime rate and practically no vandalism. They (film-makers) can't find this in too many other parts of the United States."

Two crew members have purchased property here, another has just bought a home, and five others, including movie nurse Janet Garland, say they plan to move to Spokane.

"I have never been in such a congenial place. It took me less than a week to decide I wanted to live up here," Mrs. Garland says.

Newly purchased cattle should be isolated from others for 45 to 120 days, then tested to prevent the spread of brucellosis and other costly diseases.

ANIMATED YULE SPECIAL--Studious Albert Mouse inspects the working of a broken clock that was to herald Santa Claus' arrival on Christmas Eve on the animated musical special, "'Twas the Night Before Christmas," to be rebroadcast at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 8 on the CBS Television Network.

SHS Schedules Yuletide Follies

The Yuletide Follies, a drama production of Snyder High School, will be shown to the public at 8 nightly on Dec. 15, 18, and 20.

Admission is $1 for students and $2 for adults. The Follies will be presented at the SHS auditorium.

The Follies production will feature a variety of light musical acts, said high school drama director Jerry Worsham.

Included in it will be an abbreviated version of "A Christmas Carol," a Yuletide-Eve Live composed of one-liners, humor and whimsy, a Yuletide Gong Show, and a version of "The Night Before Christmas."

"It's a show for the entire family, that's one thing I'd like to get across, and it's fun," said Worsham.

"We're still trying to encourage as many little kids to come as possible," he added. "Pre-school children are free, and students are $1, all the way through college."

The production will have a cast of about 85, and will last one hour and 45 minutes. Included in that time span will be a 15-minute intermission.

Earnings Of Airlines Dip

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —Airline industry earnings in the first nine months of 1979 were down $580 million from the same period last year, despite a 13.5 percent gain in traffic, an Air Transport Association official says.

Dr. George W. James, senior vice president for economics and finance of the ATA, told a forum held here recently that the 58 percent drop in earnings from the $4.15 billion level for the first nine months of 1978 was attributed primarily to the rising costs of jet fuel.

Student Loan Applications Are Due Soon

Students interested in securing short-term loans for the spring semester at Western Texas College must make application at least two weeks prior to the beginning of the semester, Glenn Davis, Financial Aids Officer, said.

Short-term loans may be made only for tuition, fees, books, and a reasonable amount for on-campus housing. The loans will be due in 60 days or on the first day of the last month of the semester, whichever occurs first. The same schedule holds true for students on the quarter system.

Loans will be made only to students who have the financial reserve to repay the loan when it comes due.

Students who would like information about WTC's financial aids are invited to contact Davis in his office in the Administration Building on weekdays. Appointments may be made by calling the office at 573-8511, extension 204.

The spring semester at WTC will begin on Jan. 16 following registration on Jan. 14-15.

Jo Nuxhall pitched in a game for the Cincinnati Reds in 1944 at the age of 15.

Snyder Places Fifteen Athletes On Team...

Tigers Spread Through 3-3A Selections

Fifteen Snyder High School atheletes have been named to the 1979 3-AAA All-District Football Team, recently released.

The Tigers, which completed a 6-4 season, were named to eight all-district spots and seven honorable mention places.

Named to the all-district offensive squad were tackle Tommy Peek, tight end Trussell Thane, receiver Dale Jenkins and running lineman Tony Degrate, linebacker Robert Rodriquez, back Thomas Selmon, and kicker Sammy Willis.

Honorable mention went to guard Toby Neves, quarterback Mike Roemisch; running back Bobby Degrate, lineman Morris Anderson, linebacker Paul Gafford, and defensive backs Ricky Gambol and Bryant Vincent.

Loop champion San Angelo Lake View placed 17 individuals to 21 positions, on the team; 12 all-district and five honorable mention.

All-district lineman Randy Marsh was also selected as the district's best punter. Robby Cornelius was chosen as all-district linebacker and running back, and Joe Bible was an all-loop selection at defensive end and offensive tackle. The other two-way Chief player was Eddie Taunton, named all-district defensive back and honorable mention tight end.

In all, Lake View placed nine members to the all-district offense and seven to the defense, taking the center, both guards, a tackle, a receiver, quarterback, two running backs and a punter offensively, and two linemen, both ends, a linebacker and two backs on defense.

WTC Hosts Howard In Conference Tilt

Western Athletic Conference play comes to Snyder on Monday night as Western Texas College's Westerners and Dusters entertain Howard College of Big Spring at Scurry County Coliseum.

Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

The double-header gets underway at 6 p.m. when the Dusters take the floor. The men's game will be held at 8.

Coach Joe Cushing's Dusters are 9-2 on the season, and defeated McClennan College of Waco last Friday. It will be the Dusters' first conference game of the season.

The Westerners, coached by Nolan Richardson, are 10-0 on the year and 1-0 in conference play, having defeated New Mexico Military Institute 99-81 in Roswell, N.M. Thursday.

There will be a pep rally in the WTC gym at 11:15 a.m. Monday as a prelude to the WTC-Howard College games.

Girls who played Little Dribbler basketball last season are invited to be guests at the double-header. The players are to be accompanied by a parent or parents, and will sign in at the door. Recognition for the girls is planned during the evening.

Reef Meet Set Here Thursday

The twenty-fifth annual Canyon Reef Basketball Tournament will be held in Scurry County Coliseum Dec. 6, 7 and 8 and features 16 of West Texas' top teams.

Games will be held at the Coliseum and Snyder High School on the first day, Thursday. No games will be held in the evening, allowing the coliseum to stage two college contests.

Action Friday, however, will run from 9 a.m. through 7:30 p.m. at the coliseum. All games Friday and Saturday will be held at SCC with the exception of several consolation games on Saturday which will be held at the high school.

Thursday's schedule at the coliseum will pit Lubbock Monterey against Sweetwater at 11 a.m., Odessa Permian against Canyon at 12:30, Abilene High versus Abernathy at 2 p.m., and defending champion Mineral Wells against Levelland at 3:30.

San Angelo High and El Paso High open Thursday's games at Snyder High School, at noon. El Paso High and Pecos vie at 1:30, followed by Snyder and Borger at 3 p.m. and Big Spring and Fort Worth Haltom at 4:30.

Winner of the Snyder-Borger contest will play a Big Spring-Haltom victor of 7:30 p.m. Friday in the coliseum. Losers will battle at 10:30 a.m. Friday, also at the coliseum.

Consolation finals will be held 4:30 p.m. Saturday, followed by a game for third place at 6, and the championship game at 8 p.m. All will be held at the coliseum.

Cagers Are Topped; Try For Third Place

PLAINVIEW - Snyder's Tigers stretched to the limit but couldn't quite overcome Lubbock Christian here Friday night. As a result, the Lubbock squad moved into championship game of the Plainview Tournament against host team Plainview, while Snyder was to fight it out for third place with Palo Duro.

"Our inexperience really hurt us," said Snyder Coach George Byerly of the 55-51 loss. "We had a good chance to win, but they made the free throws at the end and we didn't make ours."

LCHS jumped out to a 16-5 lead before Snyder rallied in the second quarter to trim the advantage to 30-28. Lubbock put up 12 third-quarter points to Snyder's 10, and the teams both tallied 13 in the final stanza.

"The transition from offense to defense was where they got us," added Byerly. "I think our not getting back to cover quickly enough was the difference in the game. We played good defense, when we forced them to set up, but their fast break was the key factor. We'll have two more shots at them, though."

Snyder will play Lubbock Christian twice in January on a home-and-home basis.

Kyle Short and Brad Richardson led the Tiger scoring with 15 and 10 points. Short finished the game with four fouls and Richardson and Eric Arnold - 8 points - fouled out mid-way through the final period, which took something away from the Snyder game.

The Tigers, 1-2, hit 21 of 55 from the field and 9 of 17 from the stripe.

Byerly's crew was to meet Palo Duro at 6:15 Saturday for third place. Plainview defeated Palo Duro here Friday 71-57.

Eagles Dominate State Ranked Haskell, 21-0

By BILL McCLELLAN

Seagraves sent Haskell's highly-touted and state-ranked Indians limping back to the reservation here Friday night, earning a Class A regional football championship in the process.

Seagraves will play New Deal, a 47-16 victor over Stratford, next week.

The Eagles, of District 5A, cashed in on an awesome running game for three touchdowns in the 21-0 victory. Coach Jim Eddins' crew got inside the Indian 10 on two other occassions, and missed a 35-yard field goal.

Haskell, ranked fourth in the state and boasting a 10-0-1 record coming into the playoff game, managed but three first downs and 113 yard total of offense against the swooping Eagles.

Meanwhile, Seagraves rushed for 368 yards and passed for 47 more in racking up win No. 12.

Seagraves' initial score climaxed a five-play, 67-yard drive, highlighted by a Ronnie Griffin 43-yard run and a Scott Middleton 31-yard scamper. Tailback Middleton raced from the 32 to the Indian 1-yard line, then crossed over on the next play to score with 1:46 left in the first period. Fullback Davis Morgan kicked the point-after.

Seagraves had reached the Haskell six yard line on its first possession of the game, after Ted Ward recovered a fumble at the Indian 44. Morgan picked up 9, 2 and 4 yards to the 29, and quarterback David Welch hit end Doug Hamilton for a first down at the 14.

Griffin plunged for six yards on the next carry, but good Indian defensive work by Bill Flanary and David Drinnon held Morgan for no gain on the next two tries. On fourth, tailback Johnny Castro got the call, but defensive back Monnie Hise shut him down after a two-yard gain and Haskell took over.

Haskell's deepest penetration - the Indian's only one past the 50-yard line, in fact - came moments afterward when, after punting, Haskell held Seagraves on a fourth and one situation at the Eagle 45. A first-down pass went nowhere for the Indians, but on second down quarterback Jim Harris picked up six. Then on third down, Harris passed complete to Joseph Browning, who pitched back to Hise. The play netted the Indians a first down at the Seagraves 10-yard line, but two tries later Hise fumbled, and Ward was there to recover it.

Seagraves' second touchdown came with 8:27 left in the half as Welch found Alfredo Serna open in the end zone from seven yards away. The 58-yard, nine-play march was highlighted by a Welch to Middleton 15-yard pass.

From that point on, Haskell managed but two first downs, and 70 yards offensively, and never crossed mid-field. The Indians completed one pass of the night, the 39-yarder down to the Seagraves 10, but tried 12 times, and were intercepted on three occassions.

Early in the second half, Seagraves witnessed its first punt of the night, a 45-yarder which put Haskell on its own 9. Three plays later, Ward came through again, picking off a Harris pass after teammate Stevie James got a hand on it; and the Eagles took over at the opponent 2-yard line.

On the first down play, Morgan crashed over his right tackle, scoring the final touchdown of the game. He also tacked on the conversion kick.

Offensively, Griffin garnered 141 yards on 23 carries, Morgan went 98 yards on 31 carries and Castro scooted 85 steps on 13 tries.

Dusters Edge McLennan; Host Howard On Monday

Coach Joe Cushing's Dusters built up a 39-26 halftime lead, then hung on despite a McLennan rally to win their ninth game of the season, 68-65.

Shari Teal led the Dusters attack with 21 points while Joyce Plagens put up 14 and Katie Fisher added 12. Linda Holubec scored 8 and Jennifer Gregg, 7.

Of the Dusters who scored, WTC hit 29 of 65 buckets from the field, 44 percent, and 10 of 15 free throw tries.

McLennan was led by Pam Green with 21 points, and Marilyn Huffman with 8.

The win bring's Western Texas' Dusters to a 9-2 season standing, prior to WFCAC conference play, which begins in Snyder on Monday.

Cushing's charges are scheduled to take on Howard College of Big Spring - one of the conference favorites - at 6 p.m. WTC's Westerners, 10-0, will also host Howard College that night, at 8. Both games will be held in Scurry County Coliseum.

Tigers Play For Regional Crown

LUBBOCK - The Snyder Tigers surged into the regional Class AAA volleyball finals here Saturday afternoon after downing Vernon, 15-3 and 15-10. They were to meet Monahans, 15-17, 15-2 victors over Lubbock Dunbar for the regional crown. Winner of the region goes to Austin to compete for the state title.

Snyder moved out ahead of Vernon, 6-2, in its second game, but seven straight points put the Tigers behind, 6-9. But then Snyder got five straight and maintained a 12-10 lead with six seconds left when Lisa Cobb hit two straight spikes to make it 15-10.

Serving points for Snyder were Kathy Northcutt, 13, Sherry Mayes and Lisa Cobb five each, Kim Harlan, Suzy Fisher, and Billie Owens, two each.

Seminole and Fabens were playing for the Class AA regional title.

Abilene High Hands Felines First Loss

SWEETWATER--Snyder girls fell to Abilene here Friday, 58-43 in round two of the Sweetwater Tournament. The Felines, now 5-1 on the season, were to play Abilene Cooper at 6:30 Saturday for third place.

Sweetwater, the host team, was to be pitted against Abilene High in the championship game.

"We just couldn't get on the boards with them," said Coach Ken Housden of the taller Abilene High team," and our outside shooting was poor. We shot 28 percent from the field."

Pam Gray led Snyder's scoring with 15 points while Brenda Anderson tacked up 10 and Jamie Hataway added 8.

K. Hubbard led Abilene with 20 points. Washington had 19 and Graff, 14.

Both teams scored 28 points in the second half of the contest, but AHS tallied 16 points in the second quarter while Snyder notched only 4, making thue difference.

Housden's Felines are to host Big Spring at Snyder High School Dec. 4.

SNYDER FARM & RANCH
NOW CARRIES
LIQUID FEED

Snyder Farm & Ranch is now handling Purina Checker-LIX liquid range supplements. Snyder Farm & Ranch will place feeders and service them so that feed is always before your cattle. Liquid supplements are competitive with dry feeds and offer customer convenience at reduced feed handling and storage cost. Liquid feed works exceptionally well on stalk fields or where adequate dry roughage is available.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY C

WHY STRUGGLE TO GET TO THE TOP IN SOMEONE ELSE'S BUSINESS WHEN YOU CAN START AT THE TOP IN YOUR OWN?
If you have the required investment of $9,975.00, you can have your own highly successful business.

TWO BOOMING INDUSTRIES COMBINED INTO ONE
You will have income from two different sources, not just one. You will manufacture demand items for Banks, Savings & Loan Associations, Hospitals, Schools, Shopping Centers, Office Buildings, Retail Stores, Tourist Industry, Professional Buildings, Factories, Apartment Buildings, Motels, Restaurants, City County, State and U.S. Agencies and other businesses too numerous to mention.
We personally install the machinery and equipment for both industries at your location. You will be thoroughly and expertly trained in both phases of factory operations (we guarantee your complete satisfaction).
The marketing of your products will be handled by company established sales outlets (no selling by you is necessary).
You will have a protected territory and each state will have a limited number of our factory operations — so be one of the first applicants in your area — act now — an unheard of opportunity to be in an exclusive business for yourself. Achieve total financial independence and become one of the top money makers in your area.

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

SECTION B, SUN., DEC. 2, 1979

Nuptial Rites Read

Miss Sonja Leah Everton became the bride of Bobby Dwayne Hanks in a double ring ceremony Nov. 9 in the chapel of the First Baptist Church. Parents of the couple are Mrs. Ray Everton, Henry Clay Everton and Mrs. Dorothy Hanks, and S.R. Hanks, all of Snyder.

Rev. Ken Andress, pastor of the church officiated at the 7 p.m. wedding. The altar area was decorated with three candelabra featuring white tapers and trimmed with greenery.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was attired in a formal gown of white silk organza and imported Chantilly lace. The fitted bodice featured a sheer round yoke edged with a ruffle of chantilly lace. The yoke rose into a high Victorian collar featuring a lace ruffle. The full sheer lace sleeves were gathered into long cuffs edged with ruffles of the same material. The empire waist was accented with a scalloped lace band.

Her full skirt fell into three tiers each edged with a ruffle of sheer organza and gathered Chantilly lace. These tiers were swept up in the back and trimmed with a satin bow and streamers. The chapel length train was trimmed with ruffles like those on the skirt tiers. She wore a white derby with French Veiling in front. The back of the hat featured a large double bow of French veiling and scalloped organiza.

The bride carried a crescent shaped bouquet of miniature white and apricot carnations, white baby's breath and white streamers, tied with love knots.

In keeping with tradition, the bride carried pennies minted in the years of their births for something old. Something new was emerald earrings, gift from the groom, and her gown. Something borrowed was a ring from the groom's niece, Kathy Hanks, which she carried in a pocket on her blue garter, a gift from the groom's sister, Susan Hanks.

Debra Dyer, of San Marcos, was maid of honor. She was attired in a mint green Victorian gown of polyester crepe. It featured a square yoke with a lace overlay edged with ruffling. The long straight sleeves were edged with ruffling like that around the yoke. The full skirt fell into a deep ruffled flounce. She carried a nosegay of bronze mums, miniature apricot carnations and white baby's breath, tied with deep green ribbons.

Bridesmaids Linda Tabb, of McCamey, and Malinda Yancy, of Lampasas, wore gowns and carried flowers indentical to that of the maid of honor.

The groom wore a beige tuxedo accented with brown lapels and strips on the legs of the trousers and a white ruffled shirt. Gary Miller served as best man. He wore a tuxedo featuring a beige jacket, and dark trousers and vest. Richard Hanks, brother of the groom, and Ronny Hines served as groomsmen. They wore tuxedoes like the best man. Their boutonnieres were of apricot carnations and greenery. The father of the bride wore an identical tuxedo and boutonniere.

The mother of the bride wore a floor length gown of silver-gray quiana and the groom's mother wore a blue gown accented with silver trimming. They wore corsages of white carnations woven with mint green ribbons.

Ushers were Richard and James Hanks, brothers of the groom.

When the bride reached the altar, Gary Miller, accompanied by Judy Neill, sang "There Is Love."

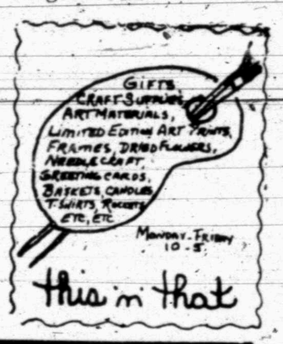

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the parlor and garden room of the church. The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth. The three tiered white wedding cake, designed by Juanita Raburn, was decorated with white roses, mint green leaves and piping. It was topped with two satin bells in a pearl heart. Green punch was served from crystal bowls. The groom's table, covered with a brown eyelet cloth, offered German chocolate cakes, made by Marta Hanks, sister-in-law of the couple. Mrs. Richard Hanks, Miss Susan Hanks, Mrs. Ronnie Hines, Mrs. Wayland Walton, and Mrs. Barbara Denson served the cakes and punch.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hanks left for a honeymoon trip to Lubbock. For the trip the bride choose a teal blue quiana dress accented with a white lace collar and cuffs.

A rehearsal dinner was given by Mrs. Dorthey Hanks on Thursday night at K-Bob's Steak House.

The couple are at home in Ira. The bridegroom, a graduate of Snyder High School, is attending WTC and is employed by Hanks Oil Field Service of Ira. The bride is a graduate of SHS and Southwest Texas State University. She is an employee of the Snyder Independent School District and K-Bob's.

Spoon Creek in Montana flows into Tin Cup Creek, while Dirty Devil River runs along the Arizona-Utah border near Bright Angel Creek.

50th ANNIVERSARY-Mr. and Mrs. Earl McDow will observe their 50th Wedding Anniversary on December 5. They were married in Abilene, in 1929. Fannielwood McDow was reared in Anson, and Earl McDow is a life-time Scurry County resident. They have one daughter, Mrs. Franklin (Elois) Pruitt, 2212 41st, and four grandchildren, Mrs. Gaylon Boyd, 3010 38th, Mrs. Mike Kerley of Lubbock, Kyle and Kevin Pruitt and two great-grandchildren. The McDows reside southeast of Snyder where he is engaged in stock farming. They are members of the 37th. St. Church of Christ where he serves as an elder. No formal celebration will be held at this time due to illness. The Pruitts, left, are shown on their wedding day.

East Elementary Parents To Meet

Delbert Downing, Snyder's versatile after-dinner speaker, will focus his unique brand of wit on the subjects of Children and Christmas, when he speaks Dec. 3 at East Elementary School. As the featured guest for the East Elementary School Parent and Teachers Association meeting, Downing brings his own heritage from a rural elementary school to share with today's parents. Sometimes called a humorist, and sometimes a philosopher, Downing refers to himself as a "country talker."

His confidence in America, in his fellowman, and in today's youth is stimulating. Parents and friends of school children from all districts of Snyder are invited to this meeting, which begins at 7 p.m. Monday in the East Elementary auditorium. Refreshments will be served afterwards in the cafeteria.

STUDENTS: WORK SMARTER, NOT HARDER

Students, work smarter, not harder.

Start by setting your goals, then decide the important steps in reaching those goals.

Finally, make a schedule for your activities.

All this is called "time management."

When you learn how to manage your time, you have a valuable tool -- or skill -- that will last a lifetime.

Time is valuable.

Getting in control of your time -- and staying in control -- is even more valuable.

Making effective use of your time is the most valuable.

"Time management" will let you have a smoother day or week. It will let you get more work done, and it will keep you from having to "make up for lost time" later.

SET YOUR GOALS

When you start to set goals, decide what you want to accomplish in the next week, month or year.

Write all these goals down on paper -- to remind yourself of them.

STEPS TO REACH THEM

Once you decide on goals, it's easier to plan ways to reach them.

Map out a plan for using your time.

Remember that small things do count -- if they help you reach goals or if they keep you from reaching them.

For example, a student will graduate because of each small day of hard work and studying, rather than just by hoping for a diploma or degree.

MAKE A SCHEDULE

Make a schedule that will help you get more things done -- without rushing or staying up late at night.

Set limits for talking on the telephone, for eating, for watching television and other such activities.

Place a high value on activities that will help you reach your goals.

But, at the same time, remember to plan time for recreation -- and remember to have some "unplanned" time each day. Everyone needs some free time.

HAVE STUDY PLACE

Have a place to study -- away from noise and interruptions.

This will help you use your time better.

A clean desk or table will cut down on distractions as you study.

Also, put necessary equipment within reach -- to save time.

ENJOY YOUR PLAN

Once you've learned to get in control of your time -- and stay there, we promise you'll find it much easier to reach more and more goals.

You'll enjoy the "journey toward those goals," too -- and that's as important as reaching them.

BRIDGE

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

South's six-spade bid was optimistic to say the least. He seldom opened a spade with less than five cards in the suit and had only 13 high card points.

Still as he explained later on, he did think that the ace-king-queen at the top made his spades the equivalent of a five-carder. He also explained that he was sure his partner was void of hearts in the manner of a cat that has just eaten the canary.

If West had led a club, we fear that South would not have been gloating.

Instead, he would have been explaining that there was no reason to set his opponents when he could go down at a contract of his own.

West did open the king of hearts. South ruffed in dummy and noted that if trumps broke he would take all the tricks. Then he stopped to see if he could handle a 4-1 break and saw that he could.

He led a trump from dummy at trick two and played his six. West was in with his eight and could do nothing to ruin South's parade.

He did lead another heart. South ruffed with dummy's next to last trump, drew trumps and eventually got to discard his last two hearts and his two small clubs on dummy's diamonds.

(SDN Staff Photos)

BEST OF SHOWS-Four 4-Hers won Best of Show awards at the annual Food Show. They are Cliff Price, best chef; Jody Gilbert, rookie; Janna Tate, top gourmet; and Edward Rios, honorary.

Awards Go To 4-H Group

FOODS-SEASONED WITH FUN

The Scurry County 4-Hers held their annual Food Show recently in the Scurry County Senior Citizens cafeteria. There were 21 Scurry County 4-Hers entering foods in the Side Dish, Main Dish, Breads and Desserts, and Snacks and Beverages Divisions. Seven seniors, ages 14 to 19, completed and 14 juniors, ages 9 to 13.

Prizes of burger makers, cutting boards, and rosettes were presented to the winners of each division. The prizes were sponsored by the Snyder Lion's Club, and Midwest Electric Cooperative. The eight division winners who will represent Scurry County in District 2 competition on Saturday, Dec. 1 are

Juniors:

Side Dish - Jayna Gilbert; Snacks & Beverages - Cindy Tolbert; Breads & Desserts - Teresa Sauceda and Main Dish - Kevin Tate.

Senior:

Main Dish - Connie Essery; Side Dish - Judy Irwin; Breads & Desserts - Rosemary Rios; and Snacks & Beverages - Isabel Rios.

Awards presented for Best of Show categories were: Best Chef - Cliff Price; Top Gourmet - Janna Tate; Rookie (1st year in Food Show) - Jody Gilbert and Honorary (4-Her) - Edward Rios.

The Food Show gives county 4-Hers a chance to show off the knowledge they have learned concerning food safety, nutrition, food storage, food buying, and food preparation. This year's theme, "Seasoned with Fun," created a lot of fun for 4-Hers other than the previous mentioned winners. They are Mavis Browning, Dolly Riggins, Carmen Rios, David Trevey, Laura Cheyne, Letha Baldwin, Trina Baldwin, Simon Sauceda and Belia Rocha.

Yule Light Display Too Big For City

BLUE CREEK, Ohio (AP)-For Carl Rudd, Christmas in Dayton was always the brighest of holidays. But with 10 children and 25,000 Christmas lights, he needed a bigger place, so he moved to the country.

"This year, the display is going to be the biggest in the world," said Rudd, 50, who manages a campground in Lebanon.

"We want to tell the real story of Christ," he said. There is a collection box, but visitors are not asked to contribute.

"I'll never charge nothin' as long as I'm alive," he said.

PLANS WEDDING-Rhonda Renee Newton and Robbie Dale Gattis make plans for a Jan. 4 wedding to be held in Odessa.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Ray Newton of Odessa announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Rhonda Renee, to Robbie Dale Gattis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Gattis of Morton.

The couple plans a Jan. 4 wedding at 7 p.m. in the Sherwood Baptist Church, Odessa, with Rev. Lenard Hartley, pastor of the church officiating.

The bride-elect is a 1977 graduate of Permian High School where she was active in the student council and varsity tennis. She is a 1979 graduate of South Plains College, Levelland, where she served in the student senate and varsity tennis team. She now attends North Texas State University, Denton where she is a member of the varsity tennis team and is a P.E. major.

The future bridegroom is a 1977 graduate of Morton High School where he participated in football, basketball, track and band. He also attended Lubbock Christian College and is now attending NTU.

Miss Newton is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. E.P. Rainwater and Mrs. G.A. Newton of Snyder. Gattis is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Pierce and Mr. and Mrs. D.T. Pierce of Snyder.

HERBICIDES REQUIRE CAREFUL USE

Fertilizer and weed killer combinations are designed to appeal to the inherent lazy streak present in almost all home gardeners. The idea of fertilizing the lawn and killing the weeds all in one application is difficult to resist.

Weed killers when used properly can be great time-savers and eliminate a lot of back-breaking work. However, they must be used according to the directions given on the container if they are to be effective and not endanger valuable plants in the landscape.

The same chemicals that will kill the weeds are freqently harmful to the trees, shrubs and vines used in the landscape. Since tree roots invade the lawn area and usually extend beyond the branch spread it is difficult to apply a fertilizer-herbicide to the lawn area without danger of damage to the desirable plants in the lawn.

All too often the time to apply fertilizer is not the correct time for effective weed control. Each type of herbicide must be used at specific rates and at a certain critical time to be effective for killing weeds.

While fertilizer should be applied at the recommended rate, there is usually little harm if the homeowner fails to calibrate his distributor correctly and makes a slightly heavier application. If herbicides are contained in the mixture, this error can be very damaging to the desirable vegetation. Another difficulty which frequently arises is the part of a sack of the mixture left over after the lawn has been fertilized. Frequently this is left in the garage or tool shed until fertilizer is needed for a flower garden or rose bed. The fact that the fertilizer contains a herbicide is forgotten, and irreparable damage is done to a favorite beauty spot in the garden.

Many of the more popular landscape trees including oaks, mulberry, sycamore, and others are highly susceptible to weed killers. When contemplating the use of a herbicide or herbicide and fertilizer mixture, always read all of the precautions given on the label. The information contained on the label was developed through expensive research and the manufacturer provides this information for your protection.

Remember, weeds in a lawn are usually an indication of poor management practices. Through proper fertilization, correct mowing practices, adequate moisture, and good soil drainage, the grass will be vigorous enough to crowd out the weeds.

In those areas beneath trees where excessive shade weakens the grass and is invaded by weeds, the use of herbicides is extremely risky. It is better to replace the grass with a shade-tolerant ground cover such as English Ivy.

Remember, when using any type of pesticide, it is the misuse of these materials that usually cause problems.

REHEARSING DRAMA-Rita Black, Susan Minor, and Lori Sealy rehearse a scene from "Sing Us A True Song", one of the dramas to be presented in the Dinner Theater at the First Baptist Church. Performances are Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, December 5-7 at 7 p.m. Two dramas, preceded by dinner music featuring "Power and Light Company" will provide an evening full of Christmas entertainment. The cost is $3.00, and includes a turkey dinner with all the trimmings. Call 573-2631 for reservations.

Exports Of Textiles Up

NEW YORK (AP)—According to the American Textile Manufacturers Institute, the value of American textiles and apparel sold abroad during the first eight months of 1979 showed an increase of 47 percent over the same period last year.

It said the United States expected to sell more than $4 billion worth of textile goods abroad this year, as compared with less than $3 billion worth in 1978.

From 1935 through 1978, no purely defensive player won college football's Heisman Award.

Opposites That Don't Attract...

Archie Bunker Finds New Foil In Partner

LOS ANGELES (AP)-If it's true that opposites attract, no one's told that to Archie Bunker and his new partner, Murray Klein.

They're co-owners of a bar-and-grill on CBS-TV's "Archie Bunker's Place." joined in a prickly partnership of dispensing booze, food and clashing opinions. It's doubtful they could even agree on the time of day.

The departure of Rob Reiner, Sally Struthers and Jean Stapleton from "All in the Family" left Carroll O'Connor's finely-honed curmudgeon with no ready target. Enter Martin Balsam as Murray Klein to counter Archie's outrageous rhetoric in "Archie Bunker's Place."

"Carroll called me at home in New York and said they were changing the show," says Balsam. "He said he needed a partner and asked me if I'd do it. I said, 'What do you want me to do?' He said, 'We'll agree to disagree on everything.'"

O'Connor, who has breathed fire and brimstone into Archie Bunker for the past 10 seasons, says he wrote the part, the character and the story.

"When I got it all together it struck me that Marty Balsam was the only actor for it," he said. "Other people told me I couldn't get him, that he lived in New York and did plays and only comes out here when he makes a movie. But, he was an old friend of mine and I figured even if he turned it down he'd be glad to be asked."

O'Connor's timing was fortutious. Balsam, an Oscar, Tony and Obie award-winner, had spent much of his career refusing to commit himself to a series.

"Once, many years ago, I was tempted," Balsam recalled. "But I let it go by. I didn't want to get involved with something that seemed successful. I said, what if this thing goes on for years? It was more fun being a free-lance actor.

"I've always avoided being pinned down to one character. People told me I'd make so much money in a series. I did all right."

"Archie Bunker's Place" also added actress-comedienne Anne Meara to the cast, as a wisecrasking cook. Daniele Brisebois, who plays the waif Archie and Edith took in, has remained with the show.

"All in the Family" was the ratings champ for several years, and even now in its new format it's still near the top of the A.C. Nielsen list. The show is in a neck-and-neck race with ABC's "Mork and Mindy," and is the anchor for CBS' dominance of Sunday night.

Miss Stapleton has returned several times this season as Edith, and the entire old cast got together for a Thanksgiving reunion.

Balsam says, "I feel I've made the right decision. I'm having a very good time."

Balsam made his acting debut in 1941 in "The Play's the Thing." After World War II, he returned to the stage and made his film debut in 1954 in "On the Waterfront." He won an Oscar as best supporting actor for "A Thousand Clowns" in 1965, a Tony for "You Know I can't Hear You When the Water's Running" in 1967 and an Obie for "Cold Storage" in 1978.

Gasohol was sold by nearly 2,300 service stations in the Midwest in the 1930s.

ASTRO-GRAPH

Bernice Bede Osol — Your Birthday

This coming year you're likely to be luckier than usual in dealing with persons who have influence and clout. There's a strong possibility they'll be helpful to you in many important ways.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's best to focus in on one major goal today rather than to spread your forces thin. Too many irons in the fire could prove counter-productive. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the romance department in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Devote as much time as possible today to things which you enjoy doing. Shelve your mundane cares. If they should pop into your mind, dismiss them quickly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your family and those for whom you are responsible should receive prime consideration today. Keep outside interests in second place.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) In negotiating any agreements today, be careful that you don't put yourself in a position where you'll have to bargain from your weaknesses instead of your strengths.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Taking your opportunities for granted today will provide you with only a portion of their potential. Utilize to the fullest the breaks coming your way.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your luck is rather unusual today in that enterprises in which you engage with friends should turn out fortunately. However, things which smack of speculation could be bummers.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It's smart to seek wise counsel, but also put credence in your own hunches and judgments. Between the two you'll get the right answers.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Enjoy your pals for the right reasons today, but don't try to involve them in your ambitious or material plans. Save such proposals for another time.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) This is one of those strange days where you could be very wise and prudent in certain areas, foolish and extravagant in others. Strive for balance.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It's important today to have the courage of your convictions. If you believe what you're doing is right, don't cave in to pressure just to appease another.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You may experience a rather strong temptation today to reveal something told to you in strict confidence. Be a person of your word.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Try not to be too self-serving today in things which you do where all are supposed to share in the benefits. Seek what's due you, but no more.

December 3, 1979

This coming year important goals can be realized if you don't take things for granted. Even if something is handed to you, be sure you make the most of it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Believing you have all the answers concerning an important decision could get you off in a wrong direction today. You might lose out entirely. Get expert advice. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y.,N.Y., 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

CAPRICORN (DEC. 22-Jan. 19) Bluffs won't work today. If you don't have the competency to perform the tasks at hand, you had better seek help from someone who does.

AQUARIUS (JAN. 20-Feb. 19) Trying to play the big-shot role today could prove more expensive than you bargained for. Just be yourself and others will still be impressed.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You may make an important judgment today based upon information from one who really doesn't know what he or she is talking about. Take care.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Today you have a tendency to look for an easy out by promising things you say you'll do later. In the long run it'll be better to do what's necessary now.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're not the shrewd buyer you usually are. Today you could easily be talked into purchasing merchandise of inferior quality.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't assume others are as sincere as you are about keeping their promises. It isn't necessarily so. Get anything important to you in writing.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Today you're apt to rely more heavily on your feelings and intuition than you should. This could get you into trouble. Bank only on facts.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're not likely to be moderate or prudent today regarding your social interests. Waste or overindulgence could quickly gain the upper hand.

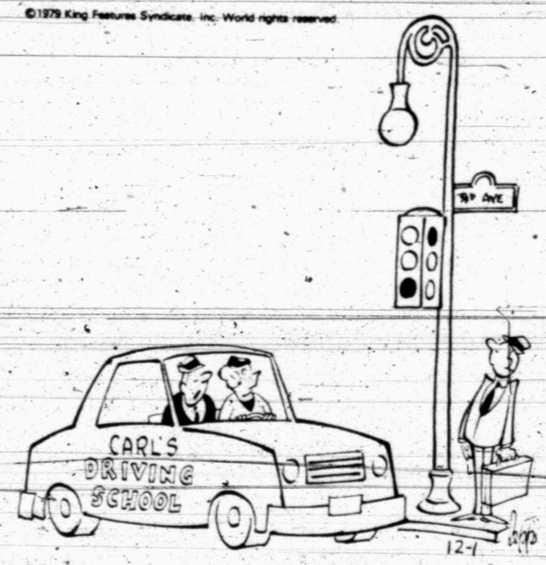

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Take extra care today to make certain you don't do anything to reflect on your honor or reputation. It would be difficult to regain your good status.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't try to cover up or rationalize your mistakes. You have everything to lose, nothing to gain, by taking a stand on a hopeless position.

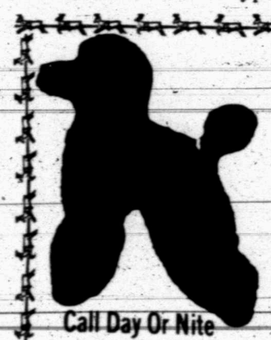

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If your material affairs appear complex and jumbled at present, look about you. Someone you're involved with might be responsible.

Awards Made At Pack 36 Session

Cub Scout Pack 36 held its November pack meeting at East Elementary Cafeteria. The theme for November was Knights of Yore. The theme was carried out in a skit put on by Den 3, and the song presented by Dec. 2. Den 4 had the flag ceremony, Den 1 handled the cake raffle, and the Webelo Den had made a teeterboard game for the pack and was in charge of the game for the evening.

Scout officials reported that awards presented were: Bobcat pins and badges to Robert Thamez and Dewayne Clinkinbeard of Den 1, Brian McArthur of Den 2, and Ricky Elam and Jimmy Rodriguez of Den 3.

Other awards presented were: Den 1, Scott Lanier, bear badge and gold arrow point; Gary Gunset, silver arrow point. Den 3, Tim Beauchamp, wolf badge; David Stewart, wolf badge. Den 4, Jon Dereoun, gold arrow point; Paul Marble, two silver arrow points; Daniel McVey, wolf badge; Nolan Treadway, gold arrow point and two silver arrow points.

From the Webelo Den were: Darin Clawson, artist activity badge, athlete activity badge, outsdoorsman activity badge, sportsman activity badge, and traveler activity badge; Bradley Grambrell, bear gold arrow point and athlete activity badge; Brandy Hendricks, athlete activity badge; Brett Morton, athlete activity badge; Douglas Vest, athlete activity badge; Craig Watkins, athlete activity badge; John Zalman, one year pin.

The scouts of Pack 36 are collecting aluminum cans, and Den 2 had collected and brought in the most cans for November. Thev were awarded the prize for the month, said scout officials.

34.6 Million On Social Security

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some 34.6 million Americans collected Social Security benefits in 1978, the American Council of Life Insurance notes.

The council says this was up 500,000 -- or 1.5 percent -- from a year earlier.

The cost of these benefits rose 9.8 percent, it says, as benefits topped $92.8 billion in 1978, up from $84.6 billion in 1977. A major reason for the increase is the cost-of-living escalator built into the Social Security program that adjusts benefits upward to keep pace with inflation.

At Colonial Hill...

Two Performances Of 'The Banquet' Slated

The Master's Players, the adult drama team of Colonial Hill Baptist Church under the direction of Jan McCathern, will present "The Banquet," by Mike McAlister, tonight and Monday night at 7.

Tonight's performance will be presented in the church auditorium and admission is free.

Monday's performance will be presented as a dinner theatre event and will be held in the fellowship hall of Colonial Hill Baptist Church.

Snyder area senior citizens will be special guests for the Monday night performance and their tickets will be priced at $1.50 each. Other tickets are priced at $2.50 each for adults and $1.50 for children. Reservations must be made by noon Sunday for the dinner theater.

"The play is an allegory of Jesus' parable in Luke 14 about a banquet," Mrs. McCathern explained. "In an allegory, the playwright uses typical characters to portray his meaning. This script has a tremendous message."

Characters in the play are D.V. Merritt Jr. as Mr. Charles; Terry Rumpff, Jason; Ellen Rumpff, Jason's wife, Sarah; Jene Steakley, a leader in the town; Lanny Covey and Dusti Murphy, Don Stacy and Belynda Crow, local couples of the town.

Mrs. McCathern serves as narrator, and Todd Fritz is in charge of lighting and sound.

"The play is in a modern setting and therefore we plan to perform it in some area churches in January and February," said Mrs. McCathern.

ISSUING INVITATIONS-Mr. Charles, played by D.V. Merritt Jr., left, gives Jason (Terry Rumpff) and Sarah (Ellen Rumpff) the list of people invited to his banquet in this scene from the allegory, "The Banquet," being presented Sunday and Monday nights by the Master's Players of Colonial Hill Baptist Church.

too much protection

History records that in the first half of the last century American clipper ships navigated the world, aggressively seeking out new markets. The American clippers were the fastest vessels on the ocean. They were built by a thriving domestic shipbuilding industry that produced high quality ships at the lowest price anywhere. That's history.

The American maritime industry has been declining for a century. In the heyday of the clippers 76 percent of America's trade was carried on domestically-owned merchant ships. That figure dropped to a dismal 10 percent immediately prior to the First World War. Domestic shipbuilders fared no better. The Second World War came along just in time to save the American shipbuilding industry from oblivion. It was a temporary rescue.

Today the American maritime industry is one of this nation's sick enterprises. For decades domestic consumers have subsidized the American merchant marine with cargo-preference laws. Shipyards get direct subsidies - $1.7 billion since 1970 - and they are still going broke. Recent congressional hearings disclosed that only eight out of 26 American shipyards will be in business by 1985 if the current trend continues.

One of the interesting aspects of the merchant marine's decline is that the more the government tries to help, the further the industry falls behind its competitors. The federal government tries to protect the domestic industry by requiring certain goods to be shipped on American-built and American-owned vessels, but the decline continues. It has always been hard for the government to realize that protecting American companies from competition is not a way to improve the quality of domestic producers. The subsidy program and the cargo-preference laws have cost the American people an enormous sum of money, yet they have failed to halt the chronic decline of domestic shipbuilding and merchant marine industries.

The government's cure may be the cause for the continued illness of the industry. When a company is protected from overseas competition there is less incentive to hold down cost and maintain quality. Labor unions are aware of this when they negotiate with an employer. Increased costs have made domestic shipyards two to three times as expensive as foreign yards. In Korea, for example, a ship costing $80 million in the United States can be built for $30 million and in half the time. Tis is not due to the inherent laziness of the American worker, instead it is due to the protected nature of the industry.

deadline unneeded

Fifty-four Congressman are clamoring for President Jimmy Carter to set a deadline in the Iranian crisis. Thev want the president to fix a timetable that would call for U.S. military action if the hostages in Tehran are not released by a certain date.

It is a course that is tempting, but we believe they are wrong. In the first place, we are not dealing with rational people over there. Indeed, there are indications that those holding the hostages have put themselves in conflict with anything resembling humanitarianism or civilization. In other words, as the president implied in his news conference Wednesday night, they are acting like barbarians.

Moreover, when you are operating from a position of strength, there is no need to set deadlines. In fact, anything that might keep the Iranians guessing may well work to our advantage, and there is no need to telegraph our punches.

This is no time for diplomacy of the Cassius Clay or Thomas Henderson type. It is a time for carefully calculated effort to resolve the crisis. Our schedule for exercising any options should be our own business.

my turn

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Many of the very same kids who don't believe in Santa Claus grow up and bet on horses."

It wasn't long ago that employees who were late for work feared the pink slip.

Flat tires, non-ringing alarm clocks, non-starting engines, train delays, late buses and bad weather, all received the blame for peoples' tardiness.

These excuses were necessary because employers expected their workers to be on time. After all, it's only fair that in order to receive a full day's pay, one must put in a full day's work.

But labor unions have changed all that.

A recent wire service report that the contract negotiations between officials of Deere and Co., in Moline, Ill. and their 31,000 employees, members of the United Auto Workers have hit a snag.

It seems that a disagreement has developed between company officials and the local union in the area of paid time off.

At present, Deere gives its workers an "earned bonus hour." Under this program employees can earn an hour and a half of paid time off each week in which they are not absent from work or are not late for work.

As incredible as it seems, employer-employee relations have come full circle. Rather than getting the heave-ho for being late, workers are now being rewarded if they are on time. Tardiness means nothing more than losing some extra time off with pay. The union wants more paid time off for being on time for work -- therefore the strike is on.

The company offered a 17 percent increase, but the union rejected the offer. No wonder things cost what they do today.

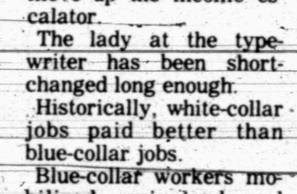

The word "diamond" comes from the ancient Greek word "adamas," meaning unconquerable.

commentary

donald f. graff

Jaywalking will not ordinarily get you deported.

Not, that is, unless you happen to be an Iranian student.

Just ask Mohammed Hemmatipour. On his way to pick up some hamburger for dinner the other night, he stepped off a Washington curb into the path of a patrol car. A mistake, certainly, but not his big one. That was being in possession of a student visa that had expired in September.

As a result, he immediately became the front-running candidate to be the first deportee under the dragnet thrown out by the government in response to the occupation of the U.S. embassy in Tehran.

Now, however, if the American Civil Liberties Union has its way. It is challenging the inquiry into the status of Iranian students in the United States on behalf of all 500,000-plus of them, Hemmatipour included.

The ACLU has no argument with the government's authority to scrutinize foreign students or to deport any whose papers are not in order, only with its singling out the Iranians alone in this instance. In so doing, in the ACLU view, it is being selective and discriminatory.

It is the sort of distinction that to the ACLU is elemental justice but that to much of the public may appear as obstructionist nitpicking. And it is on an issue so emotionally charged that the ACLU may become the focus of the wrath of that public.

Considering the consequences of the last such display of wrath, it's a wonder the ACLU is in any shape to take on the case of the Iranians.

Its long court defense of the right of American Nazis to march in the overwhelmingly Jewish community of Skokie, Ill., was one of the most bruising battles in the history of the organization, and not only because it relies so heavily itself on Jewish support. If there ever was an unpopular cause in the public at large, that was it. And while the ACLU won its points in court, it lost something like half its members and was forced to the wall financially in the process.

It now reports that it has recovered much of the lost ground, although far from all. Even had it not, the Iranian students represent the sort of basic question of the right way and the wrong way to conduct a free society that it would have been incapable of resisting had it meant selling off the office furniture to pursue it.

So it is again wading into the fray, again taking a position contrary to inflamed majority opinion and indifferent to the wrath it consequently draws upon itself.

It is the sort of behavior that requires thick skins and something even more serviceable.

Firm convictions.

Iranian students in the United States may be the current focus of attention, but they are far from alone.

Current foreign enrollment in American institutions, according to the reckoning of the Institute of International Education in New York, totals some 264,000. Iranians are by far the largest single national contingent, but still represent less than a fifth of the total. In second place is Taiwan, with 14,000 students of record.

The United States has been a particular favorite of Third World youth studying abroad because of its leading international position and because in recent years it has invited them.

With declining enrollments posing financial problems for many American schools, foreign students have become increasingly desirable -- particularly those from Iran and other oil-rich countries. Not only have they been welcomed by admissions offices, but they have been actively recruited.

Iranians alone, according to a Washington Post report, comprise almost a third of the student body of one California institution. The Immigration and Naturalization Service found others were sending signed but blank acceptances to recruiters abroad.

If these students have now become a problem, we would appear to have done more than a little in bringing it on ourselves.

women move up

It is a cruel irony that Americans think nothing of paying an entertainer a million dollars for five weeks in Las Vegas -- yet they expect preachers, teachers and doctors to work for nothing.

During the decade which begins in just a few weeks, white-collar workingwomen are going to move up the income escalator.

The lady at the typewriter has been short-changed long enough.

Historically, white-collar jobs paid better than blue-collar jobs.

Blue-collar workers mobilized, unionized and moved themselves up the income ladder to where now it is the white-collar worker whose income lags behind, especially female clerical workers and particularly "secretaries."

Up to now the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission has focused its efforts on seeking more and better jobs for women and blacks.

But the average secretary still averages half the income of the average plumber.

Management consultant Graef Crystal believes the law of supply and demand will take care of secretaries. Already, because there are not enough of them, their pay scales are improving.

The EEOC, however, preferring government regulation, is contemplating replacing its "equal pay for equal work" formula with an effort to legislate "equal pay for work of comparable worth."

This gets complicated. Who is to ascertain the comparable worth of the secretary and the steamfitter?

Nurses recently sued the city of Denver, protesting that city plumbers were better paid -- and they lost.

So if government tries to move further into the standardization of wages, the only certain result will be another avalanche of paper and another crescendo of court-choking litigation.

Graef Crystal says trying to establish criteria for what constitutes "equal worth" is like trying to determine the relative values of the works of Beethoven and Shakespeare, Aristotle and Florence Nightingale.

Let me say this about secretaries.

I do not know any administrator in politics or education or industry whose output could not be enhanced with more -- and more efficient -- secretarial assistance.

We are not talking here about stenographers and file clerks who tend these days to categorize themselves as "secretaries." We are talking about the "secretary secretaries" -- by now by some called "administrative assistants" -- who manage the complex decision-making and detail of a modern office and the diverse obligations, commitments and interests of his or her executive superior.

Some business course graduates expect to start as an executive secretary; he or she should instead be willing to understudy a good one for enough years to learn her way into that exclusive club.

Those who will -- will be rewarded.

As the Sixties demanded engineers and the Seventies rewarded them, the Seventies demand secretaries and the Eighties will reward them.

Without further government interference.

Slave House Now Attracts Tourists

GOREE, Senegal (AP)— Plastic bottles, driftwood and assorted trash clutter the tiny rocky beach from which thousands of Africans began the harrowing journey into slavery in the Western Hemisphere.

The beach, only a few feet wide at high tide, is reached through a small door in the foot-thick walls of the House of Slaves, the warehouse-like building where captives from throughout West Africa were assembled for shipment between 1536 and 1848.

Today the house is a tourist attraction, and urchins jostle each other to guide visitors through the 8-by 8-foot sandfloored cells where their ancestors were once jammed while waiting for the westward-bound slave ships.

Located about three miles off the West African coast, just off Dakar, the capital of Senegal, Goree was settled by the Portuguese, the Dutch and the French in rapid succession during the 16th century, and became a slave trading center in 1536 when slavers realized the island's escape-proof character.

There are no exact figures on how many African men, women and children passed through the Slave House and similar buildings before abolition of the trade in 1848, and before the last shipment of "African immigrant workers" in 1862.

Jo Indiaye, a veteran of World War II combat in Asia who serves as curator for the House of Slaves, claims that 20 million passed through the island, and that more than 100,000 were sent across the ocean in 1845-1846. However, these figures do not stand up to scrutiny when compared with the list of slave-ship sailings displayed in the building.

'Model Mother' Jumps Pedestal

By Abigail Van Buren

1979 by Chicago Tribune N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My mother, who is 50, has always been a model mother—until now. She and my father were divorced three years ago. Mom and I recently moved to California where we share an apartment. Now I'm suddenly finding out some things about her I never knew before.

She has been getting frequent telephone calls from a man who lives in the Middle East. She tells me he is coming to the States next month and she plans to meet him in New York! I started asking questions and learned that she had known this man for 10 years.

Now, I ask you, is this the way for a respectable 50-year-old woman to act? It's really changed the way I feel about my mother, Abby. But if you say it's all right, I'll accept your decision.

Let me know soon. I am building some bad feelings for a person for whom I've always had a lot of respect.

TORN IN CALIF.

DEAR TORN: Don't jump to conclusions. And don't judge your mother until you have walked in her moccasins for three years. Better make that 10!

DEAR ABBY: I'm astonished that you and your other readers seem to be so completely uninformed on why women knit, crochet and do needlepoint.

The reason is obvious. It gives them something to think about while they're talking.

ED IN SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR ED: Men also do needlework. Case in point: YOU appear to be quite handy with the needle. Does the same hold true for men?

DEAR ABBY: Diane, our 21-year-old daughter, phoned last week to inform us that she and her boyfriend have decided to get married. In closing the conversation, she said, "When can we pick out my wedding dress, Mom? You're supposed to pay for it, aren't you?"

Abby, what are the obligations of the bride's parents, when the bride and groom have been living together openly for over a year?

My husband and I never approved of that setup, but we accepted it since she was of age and we had no choice. Our family and friends were aware of our daughter's lifestyle; we made no effort to hide it, although we weren't exactly proud of it.

Now that the wedding date has been set, Diane expects a lovely church wedding with all the trimmings—at our expense.

Both Diane and her boyfriend work, have cars and a fairly nice apartment. I know they have nothing saved because I've had to help Diane out when emergencies and unexpected bills popped up.

My husband is a kind and generous man who will go along with my decision. My question: Under the circumstances, are we obligated to foot the bill for the kind of wedding our daughter wants?

WITHHOLD MY NAME

DEAR WITHHOLD: No. Your obligations to Diane ceased when she became of age. Do only that which will give YOU pleasure.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SHOULD I GIVE IN?": Your question can best be answered by something I came across today:

"When I met him, I liked him.
When I liked him, I loved him.
When I loved him, I let him.
When I let him, I lost him."

Rivals Give American Gymnasts High Rating

By DAVE MINTHORN
Associated Press Writer

BONN, West Germany (AP)-Soviet and Japanese men and Russian and Romanian women are favored to win most of the gold medals at the 1979 World Gymnastics Championships Dec. 3-9 in Fort Worth.

But European experts also rate the host Americans gold medal contenders in several men's and women's apparatus events.

And American men led by superstar Kurt Thomas also are regarded as potential bronze medal winners in the team competition, European forecasters say.

"We know our European rivals quite well, but the big unknown factor of the championships are the U.S. gymnasts competing at home," said Czechoslovakian coach Miloslav Netusil.

"We have a good chance of winning gold medals," declared U.S. women's coach Linda Mulvihill. "We want to be in the top three. We won't set our goals for less."

Teams from 33 nations have entered the competition at Tarrant County Convention Center in Fort Worth, the first time the event has been staged outside Europe in its 76-year history.

All of the East bloc's greatest stars will be on hand for the meet being used for the first time to choose the 12 best men's and women's teams to compete at the 1980 Moscow Olympics.

Several days before the start, a spokeswoman for West Germany's Gymnastics Federation rated the U.S. men's team the third strongest squad behind the defending champion Japanese and Soviets.

China, East Germany, Hungary and West Germany followed in that order.

In women's team competition, she said, the defending champion Soviets and the Romanians appear to be on a par, followed by East Germany, China and the United States.

Returning to defend all-around titles earned at the 1978 world championships in Strasbourg, France, are Russians Nikolai Andrianov and Elena Moukhina.

Japan, the defending men's team champion, will be led by Erizo Kenmotsu and Shigeru Kasamatsu. Kenmotsu finished second behind Andriancy in all-around category at Strasbourg.

The Soviet women beat Romania for the team title last year, and swept the top three places in the all-round competition with Moukhina, Nelli Kim and Natalia Shaposhnikova.

Nadia Comaneci of Romania, star of the 1976 Montreal Olympics, will be back to defend her title in the balance beam and lead her teams's bid to unseat the Soviet women. Romania was runnerup in team last year.

The rivalry between the Soviet and Romanian women is the most intense in the sport. The Romanians walked out of the 1977 European championships in Prague after claiming that judges were tampering with points and favoring the Russians.

European observers believe the Fort Worth championships are likely to influence the outcome of the Moscow competition, since Olympic judges tend to reward athletes who have proven themselves in world championships.

American stars Kurt Thomas and Marcia Fredericks are medal candidates at both events after upsetting East bloc rivals last year to win the floor exercises and uneven parallel bars, the first gold medals ever won by Americans at the world championships.

Also contributing to the American breakthrough were Kathy Johnson's bronze medal in floor exercise and Bart Johnson's fifth place in parallel bars.

The U.S. men's team finished fourth, just behind the bronze medalist East Germans, and the American women were fifth, behind Hungary and the third-place East Germans.

Gymnastics competition goes back more than 2,000 years to Ancient Greece, where athletes displayed their skills at the Olympic competitions. Contests were also held in Ancient Rome, but the sport died out in the Middle Ages.

German educator Friedrich Ludwig Jahn Reestablished gymnastics by founding gym clubs called Turnverein throughout Germany in the 1820s and 1830s. He invented much of the equipment, including parallel bars, horizontal bars, rings and horse.

The sport spread around the world in the 19th Century, and the first U.S. gym club was founded in 1850. Gymnastics was one of the original seven competitions at the first modern Olympics in Athens in 1896.

The first world championships were held in 1903 in Antwerp, Belgium.

Since the end of World War II, meets have been held at four-year intervals in non-Olympic years. Among the hosts were: Varna, Bulgaria, in 1974; Lubliyana, Yugoslavia, 1970; Dortmund, West Germany, 1966; and Prague, Czechoslovakia, 1962.

With the sport enjoying huge popularity, the world federation decided to hold the championships every two years beginning this year.

Sensation of cramps

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Six months ago I had my uterus removed because it was infected. Is it possible that I might have monthly cramps as if I still had a uterus and was having periods? I discussed this with my doctor and he said it's impossible. But every month I have severe cramps. I'm 35 years old and in good health otherwise.

DEAR READER — My first reaction is to say no. My second reaction is to remember that people can have a phantom limb. That means that after you've had a leg amputated, for example, you may still have the sensation of having a leg. So I wouldn't entirely rule out the possibility but I would say it's most unlikely.

You might still have some increased circulation or engorgement with blood in the pelvic areas even though you've had the uterus removed and that might contribute to the sensation. After all, unless he also removed the ovaries, which I doubt at your age unless they were diseased, you still have the normal hormone cycle and are still ovulating.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 27-year-old woman. Eight years ago after my first child I had a bladder infection. I was never bothered with it again until two years ago. Since then I have had it six times. I drink a lot of fluids. The last two times I had it within 24 hours of having intercourse. What can I do to prevent this and what causes it?

DEAR READER — I hate to tell you this but the immediate cause is probably intercourse. Many young women who have recurrent urinary tract infections develop these shortly after sexual activity. This occurs so frequently in young women during their honeymoon that it's sometimes given a special term, "honeymoon cystitis." The young woman who doesn't know this may think that her husband has given her a bad disease. This may cause the marriage to get off to a rocky start.

The problem is that the urethra that drains the bladder in the female is very short. Bacteria at the opening of the vagina gain easy access to the bladder and set up the infection.

In most instances the proper treatment is the use of antibiotics once the infection has occurred. Many antibiotics are much more highly concentrated in the urine than they are in the bloodstream. This helps to treat the urinary tract infection without overloading the body.

With this thought in mind, many specialists in urinary tract infections advise women who have recurrent urinary tract infections following sexual activity to use antibiotics to prevent the infection. The usual advice is, immediately after sexual activity, to empty the bladder totally and drink a lot of water plus take your antibiotic. Usually one antibiotic pill immediately after intercourse is effective in preventing the urinary tract infection.

Discuss this with your doctor and if he thinks you're having enough trouble to warrant it, he could prescribe an antibiotic for you.

URINARY TRACT infections are one of many causes for backaches.
