Carter Staff To Get Raise

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter will give his staff a pay raise that in some cases could reach nearly 29 per cent, following the example set by Congress and the federal agencies, a White House aide says.

A White House spokesman said no final decision has been made on whether the White House staff should be given the same raises other high-level government employes got, but the White House source said the only major question remaining is how large the increase will be.

Congress last month gave itself a $12,900 raise, boosting annual salaries from $44,000 to $57,500. At the same time, top officials in the federal bureaucracy also were given pay increases.

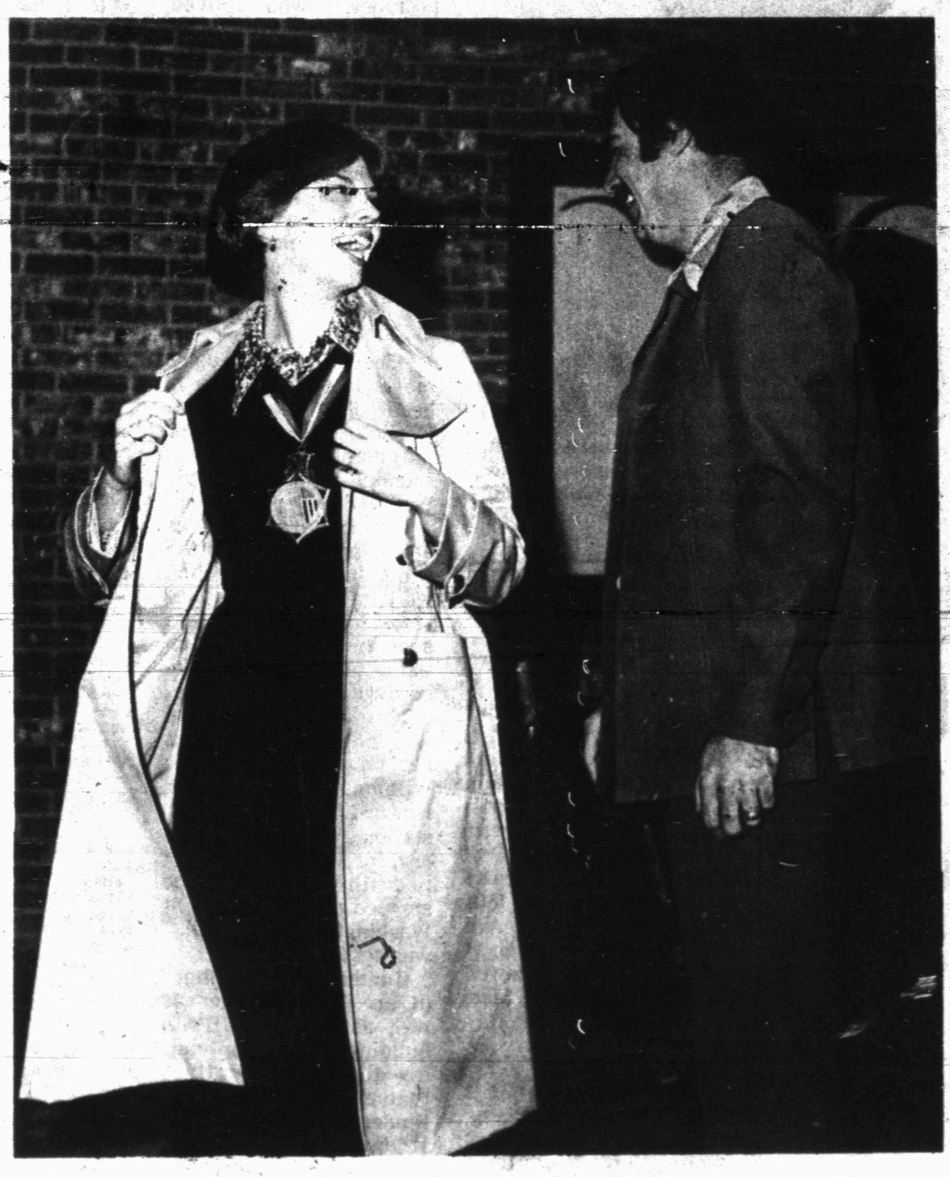

Giving his staff a pay raise could be a difficult political decision for Carter, who campaigned on a platform of economy and efficiency.

Assistant White House Press secretary Rex Granum said Sunday night that senior staff members were studying the issue and would make their recommendations to the President later this week. He said Carter would act on those recommendations sometime next week.

Carter planned today to watch the swearing-in of Paul Warnke as director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, meet with his Cabinet and talk separately with Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kreisky and West German Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher.

Warnke's nomination provoked a long and bitter fight in the Senate, which finally approved him for the post last week.

Tonight Carter planned to attend a special briefing on energy issues that his top energy adviser, James Schlesinger, was giving for Cabinet and senior White House staff members and their spouses.

BY TEAMSTERS' MANAGER

Changes Vowed In Pension Plan

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The manager of the Teamsters Union's Central States Pension Fund promised changes in the plan today against a backdrop of the government's forced ouster of the fund's principal trustees.

Daniel A. Shannon, executive director of the Chicago-based fund, told congressional investigators he will propose new rules next week "that will guarantee the solvency of the fund." He indicated the changes were prompted by recent actuarial reports which questioned the fund's ability to pay benefits to retirees over the long-term future.

These changes, he said, will make benefits proportionate to years of service. Under current rules, retirees with 30 years' service got the same monthly benefits - $550 - as those with 20 or 25 years.

Shannon testified before a House Ways and Means oversight subcommittee which opened hearings into the government's enforcement of the 1974 pension reform law.

The hearings followed Sunday's announcement by the Labor Department that teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons and three other officials have agreed to resign as trustees of the fund by April 30 and turn over control of its $1.4-billion assests to independent, professional investment experts.

However, government attorneys said they are pursuing their investigation of the fund, one of the nation's largest private pension plans, to determine if past loan practices warrant civil or criminal action.

Shannon said the fund has always been willing to cooperate with the government. "I believe you will find that the Central States Pension Fund presently exercises a high degree of care in the investment and protection of fund assets," he asserted.

However, he conceded that "in some areas the fund may have fallen behind somewhat" as far as modernizing its facilities and operations to meet new legal requirements. He compared the fund to a "ma and pa grocery store that suddenly expanded into a nation-wide chain."

During the fund's 22-year history, he said the fund has paid out more than $1.43 billion in benefits to 122,888 members.

While he said the fund is subjected to much criticism particularly over real estate investment in Las Vegas and southern California, he contended that its 5.42 per cent rate of return on investments last year was higher than the average rate of return from most major pension plans.

Shannon's defense of the fund was disputed by some individual teamsters who told the subcommittee they were cheated out of their pensions.

Hospital Is Overflowing

Cogdell Memorial Hospital was overflowing with patients again today, a situation that has become common in recent months.

Cy Miller, hospital administrator, reported that 93 patients were receiving treatment in the hospital this morning. The hospital has 85 beds available in regular facilities, and when the patient load exceeds that figure, beds are temporarily screened off in hallways.

A large number of respiratory illnesses in the wake of recent sandstorms had been reported.

French Leftists Win

PARIS (AP) -France's left wing has won its biggest election victory since World War II, underscoring the strong possibility that the Socialist-Communist alliance will win the National Assembly elections next year.

In nationwide municipal elections Sunday, leftists won control of nearly four times as many cities as the Gaullists and supporters of President valery Giscard d'Estaing won.

Agence France-Presse, the French news agency, said city councils were elected by majorities in 156 of the 221 cities of more than 30,000 population, leaving 65 to be decided in run-off elections next Sunday.

Of the 156 decided, AFP said 116 went to the Communist-Socialist alliance and three to other leftists, while the Gaullists won 14, Giscard d'Estaing's Independent Republicans and the Centrists each took six, and other tickets favorable to the Gaullist-Centrist-Giscardist majority that controls the National Assembly got eight.

Snow Melting

Warm weather returned to the western Plains today, melting some of the snow piled up by a blizzard that paralyzed the area over the weekend and took 16 lives.

Crews in Kansas, Colorado and Nebraska began on Sunday to open highways clogged by snow that piled into drifts up to 15 feet high in some areas and to restore downed power lines.

Peace Prospects Dim

CAIRO (AP) — Prospects for Arab-Israeli peace negotiations looked less favorable today following hardening of both the Palestinian and Israeli positions. The Palestinian movement's policy-making body refused to drop the destruction of Israel as a national goal and will not discuss links with Jordan until after a Palestinian state is created, a spokesman said. Meanwhile, Premier Yitzhak Rabin said Israel won't give up as much territory as the United States wants it to and "will not return to the lines that existed before the 1967 war."

Texas Jobless Rate Up

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — There were 308,000 Texans unsuccessfully looking for work at mid-January, the Texas employment Commission reported today.

"Employees released from jobs deleted at the end of the Christmas season contributed to a rise in unemployment in January," the TEC said.

The report said the unemployment figure for January was 13,900 above December but 10,900 below that for January a year ago.

The statewide unemployment rate for January was 5.6 per cent of the work force, compared to 5.3 for December and 6 per cent a year ago.

SHE TRAVELS A LOT

Miss Teenage America Says Small Town 'Fun'

Miss Teenage America 1977, Rebecca Ann Reid, made a stopover visit in Snyder and before leaving this morning, hosted a brief press conference at the Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Reid, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Pat Reid, arrived in Snyder Sunday. During their stay in the city, they were the guests of the First Baptist Church. Becky spoke at the evening service at the church yesterday.

On hand for her visit to the chamber of commerce this morning, were members of the local news media, the Gold Coaters, members of the Chamber's Board of Directors, Western Texas College, Chamber manager Bill Henry and office employes of the Chamber.

Miss Reid, a comely 5-foot, 7-inch, 120 pound beauty from Dallas, said she liked Snyder and the warm response she received from the town. "I really like Snyder," she said. "It's fun being in a small town."

Miss Reid won the Miss Teenage America contest last November in Tulsa, Okla. Since then, she said, she has traveled over the country. "And that's a full time job," she pointed out.

Surprisingly, when the 17-year-old was asked her opinion of beauty contests, she replied, "I don't know. I've never been involved in one."

She explained that competition in the Miss Teenage America contest was based primarily on scholastic achievement. Miss Reid pointed out that she

Senate OKs Land Tax Proposals

AUSTIN (AP)-Senators passed 25-3 and sent to the House today a proposed constitutional amendment that would let agricultural land be taxed on productivity instead of market value.

An amendment that would have limited the appraisal benefit to small farms and ranches failed 14-16.

"This is a speculator's bill of rights," protested Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, who offered the amendment. "It would give benefits to the large corporations and the big timber interests."

Doggett said his amendment would have put the amendment in line with a legislative bill already passed by the House to limit benefits to natural persons, small corporations and trusts.

Ceremony Set At Varsity Square

Plans are taking shape for an official groundbreaking ceremony Friday at the site of the Varsity Square Shopping Center, Chamber of Commerce officials reported this morning.

A program for a morning ceremony at the site is being worked out.

Officials of major stores to be located in the new shopping center are scheduled to be here for the event. Chamber officials said they had received confirmation that both TG&Y Stores and Safeway will be represented at the event. Also present will be representatives of the developers and public officials, civic leaders and other guests.

Work has been underway for several weeks at the shopping center site, located at College Avenue and 30th St. The construction work is due to be completed this summer.

TG&Y and Safeway will have the two large stores in the center, with several smaller tenants yet to be announced.

Mrs. Gilliam Dies Sunday

Funeral arrangements were pending this morning at the Bell-Seale Funeral Home for Mrs. Opal Gilliam, 76, who died at 11:40 p.m. Sunday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

A native of Rains County, she had lived here since 1949. She was married in 1937 at Greenville to Paul Gilliam, who survives; three sons, J. T. Linebaugh of Houston, Gene Linebaugh of Snyder and Bob Paul Gilliam of Fort Worth; a sister, Mrs. Ruby McTaggart of Grand Saline; and eight grandchildren.

RSVP Funds Get County's Approval

Scurry County Commissioners this morning approved an allocation of $3,500 for the Retired Senior Volunteer Program here.

The county had approved its budget for the year before the RSVP request was received, and today's action means that the county will continue to provide local support for the program along with Western Texas College and the City of Snyder.

The RSVP program has a budget this year of $30,872. A federal grant takes care of 70 per cent of the budget or a total of $20,575. Local agencies provide the remaining 30 per cent.

Western Texas College provides $4,357, Scurry County provides $3,500 and the City of Snyder provides $2,500.

The RSVP program is operated by WTC and offices are maintained on the college campus.

NO. 1 GRASS TEAM--Snyder High School's grass judging team took first place honors, as did livestock, beef and swine teams in competition over the weekend in San Angelo. Don Richardson, left, was high individual in grass judging, scoring 400 of a possible 400 points, while Lesa Minyard, holding the trophy, was 9th high, and John Richardson, right, was fourth high. Theft, Mishaps Keep Police Busy

City police were kept busy over the weekend investigating a theft and four minor traffic accidents.

Ken Brumbelow of 2308 41st St. told officers that a citizen's band radio antenna had been taken from his vehicle sometime between 8:30 p.m. Friday and 8:45 a.m. Saturday. The antenna, he told officers, was valued at approximately $14.

A minor traffic accident occurred Saturday at 10:38 a.m. on the Camp Springs Road. Involved in the mishap were a 1971 Chevrolet driven by Jo Ann Doan of Snyder and a 1973 Ford driven by David Lynn Spann of Irving.

The 2400 block of 30th St. was the scene of a minor two-vehicle collision at 10:55 a.m. Saturday. A 1968 GMC driven by John Loyola was in collision with a 1970 Chevrolet driven by Billy Joe Price.

A 1972 Chevrolet pickup driven by Horace Walker collided with a parked 1966 Ford owned by James Ainsworth. The mishap occurred at 2:17 p.m. Saturday in the 300 block of 36th St.

The last mishap investigated by officers was a hit-and-run that occurred in the 2500 block of Ave. R. and was reported at 3 a.m. Sunday. A parked 1977 Mercury owned by Donald Culp of Hermleigh had been struck by another vehicle which left the scene of the accident. Only minor damages were reported to the Culp vehicle.

In other police activity, Bill Lyon advised officers Sunday afternoon that his son's bicycle, which had been reported stolen Feb. 22, had been found in the 2200 block of 45th St.

Compromise Malpractice Bill Okayed

AUSTIN (AP)--A "Compromise" medical malpractice insurance bill, with support from most affected groups -- except doctors -- was approved today by the House State Affairs Committee.

It now goes to the floor for debate, probably this week.

Attempts to delay action, even until tonight, were withdrawn after Committee Chairman Tom Uher, D-Bay City, said that any delay "would play into the hands of defeating the legislation."

Key provisions would:

-Place a $500,000 ceiling on malpractice judgments--except for actual medical and custodial care costs.

-Require all medical malpractice suits to go before screening panels consisting of three physicians before they can be tried. The panels' findings would not be submitted as evidence in court, but the intent is to discourage the filing of suits that could not be won.

-Require that all malpractice suits be filed within two years of the date of the alleged negligent acts. Present law requires the victim to file within two years after discovery of the medical injury.

Spanish Airliner Hijacked

MADRID, Spain (AP)--A gunman brandishing a pistol and a rifle commandeered a Spanish airliner shortly after it took off today from Barcelona with 37 persons aboard and ordered it to fly to the Ivory Coast in West Africa, a spokesman for Iberia Air Lines said.

The spokesman said the Boeing 727 with 30 passengers and a crew of seven, made a refueling stop in Algiers before resuming the trip to Abidjan, capital of the former French colony.

The airliner had been on a flight to Palma on the Mediterranean island of Mallorca.

The hijacker, identified only as an Italian named Zossi, ordered the plane to refuel in Oman, Algeria, but the destination was switched because the airport lacked enough fuel.

Firemen Called

Snyder firemen were dispatched to a minor kitchen fire Sunday evening.

Firemen reported that a pan of grease had caught afire in the kitchen of the 202 38th St. home of B. W. Pruitt.

Reduced Pot Penalties Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP)--A top federal law enforcement official warned today that reduction of criminal penalties for possession of marijuana may promote more smuggling of the drug into this country.

"Without the threat of criminal prosecution, many who formerly feared involvement with marijuana may now become involved, U.S. Customs Commissioner Vernon D. Acree said.

He testifed before the House Special Committee on Narcotics as it opened three days of hearings on the issue of decriminalizing the possession of marijuana. Other witnesses scheduled to appear during the hearings include law enforcement officials, medical specialists and officials from two states, California and Oregon, which have decriminalized casual use of marijuana.

Acree urged that "the impact upon the federal border enforcement effort be carefully weighed" before any legislation is enacted.

In opening the hearings, Chairman Wolff, D-N.Y., cautioned witnesses against "an inconclusive debate" on questions as "Whether marijuana is more or less harmful than alcohol.

"No drug use is or should be condoned or promoted by this committee," Wolff said. "The issue here is reduction of penalty, not promotion of use, even though some may logically content that increased use could be the natural result of decriminalization."

Wolff said the committee will examine the costs and benefits of decriminalization "and the effect on the states of any serious movement toward decriminalization by the federal government."

In addition to Oregon and California, the states of Minnesota, South Dakota, Colorado, Vermont and Main have moved in the direction of decriminalizing marijuana use in recent years.

Bills that would restore a ban on importation of Rhodesian chrome are before the House and Senate. The House could reach a vote late today. The Senate is not expected to decide the issue until later in the week.

does not wear a crown, long a symbol of beauty queen contests, but instead, a medallion.

Miss Reid continued by saying that she is a member of a talented students program at W. T. White High School in Dallas and finished her courses at the school last fall. She is a candidate for a May graduation from the school.

Being Miss Teenage America for a year, she said, will keep her busy until the spring semester of 1978, when she will enter college. Miss Reid said she plans to attend either Southern Methodist University or Baylor. She said she is considering a major in telecommunications.

Reminiscing a bit, Becky said she initially had some apprehensions about entering the Miss Teenage America contest. She said she sent in her applicaton on the last day possible to enter the event and only did that after praying and beseeching God for guidance in the matter.

Miss Reid came to Snyder from a visit in Marshall. Following the press conference this morning, she and her mother were taken to Lubbock by Jerry Neill, of the First Baptist Church. From the Lubbock airport, she will return to Dallas. Her next speaking engagement is at Ennis and from there she will go to St. Louis, Mo.

Memories Fresh And Painful For Hostages

WASHINGTON (AP) – The memories remain fresh and painful for the hostages who lived through the siege of Washington and for those who were close to the man who was killed when he stepped unaware into the violence.

Men and women kept as hostages of Hanafi Moslem gunmen at B'nai B'rith International Center and those who narowly escaped--recalled on Sunday their agonizing experiences.

"They said, 'If you don't move fast we'll take a head off,'" said Rae Ehrlich, a secretary, of the gunmen's orders in the roundup of hostages last Wednesday.

The hostages told of being forced to lie in the white dust of construction work, of seeing a gun butt smashing through a glass door, of being stacked on top of other hostages like cordwood.

Their relief at survival was tinged with sadness for one who died, Maurice Williams, a reporter for Howard University's radio station, WHUR. The funeral for Williams, 24, shot to death Wednesday as he stepped off an elevator at Washington's city hall, was set for today.

Gunmen seized hostages at an Islamic center as well as the B'nai B'rith building and city hall during the terrorist attack that ended with the surrender of 12 Hanafis early Friday.

Several of the more than 100 hostages held by six gunmen at the B'nai B'rith center returned there Sunday to inventory the damage--blood-splattered hall, broken windows, kicked-in doors and bullet-riddled walls.

Hank Siegel, a hostage with a heart condition, said he had a difficult time breathing Wednesday night and asked to have his hands tied in front of him, rather than behind his back.

Siegel said the Hanafi leader, Hamaas Abdul Khaalis, walked in and demanded: "Why is this man getting special treatment?"

After telling him of the problem, Siegel said he received this response: "'You're not going to die on me are you?...Allah says live by the sword and die by the sword. Let me make it quick and clean for you.'"

"If I had given him another answer, he would have killed me...I had no doubt he was serious," Siegel said.

The gunmen listed as one of their demands the closing of the motion picture "Mohammad, Messenger of God."

The film was stopped in Los Angeles and New York, but showings resumed the day after the siege ended. In New York, theater patrons were searched and security was tight at Sunday's showings.

Washington Mayor Walter Washington and other officials said they were worried about the film being shown again. "This is endangering lives at a very critical period. I'm deeply concerned about it," the mayor said through a spokesman.

D. C. City Council Chairman Sterling Tucker said he was trying--so far unsuccessfully--to have the film shut down.

"I believe it would be a serious error to show the film at this time, said Tucker, "This could cause trouble, create uneasiness."

Jim: "We covered mistakes last week. How about correct bids and plays this week?"

Oswald: "Here's one on the bidding to start with. South opens one spade and it is up to North to choose between a one-notrump and a two-spade response. With eight high-card points, he is too strong to pass."

Jim: "The correct response is a raise to two spades. North has 4-3-3-3, the flattest possible distribution. He has three of his partner's suit headed by the ace and two other suits are completely unstopped."

Oswald: "South has 14 high-card points and a singleton to make his hand worth 16. The spade raise increases its value and he can afford to go right to game. A heart lead would hold him to four. The diamond lead allows him to draw trumps; discard his heart on dummy's fourth diamond and make an overtrick.

Jim: "North and South might get to game after a notrump response. South would definitely bid two spades and North might decide to go to three. Take away his jack of diamonds and he would surely pass at two yet the combined hands would still belong in game."

Fireman's Auxiliary Meets

The Snyder Fireman's Auxiliary held its regular monthly meeting March 3 at the Central Fire Station.

Dave Smelser from the Snyder Jaycees presented a slide presentation of "Energy for Living." He stated that in the past our energy for living came from wood, wind, water and animals; while today it comes from steam, coal, oil and electricity. In the future we look toward solar and nuclear energy.

He stated that the United States with six per cent of the world's population used 42 per cent of the total energy. America became great because of cheap energy and labor, but we used too much, to long, and paid to little for it. It was noted that in the future we must learn to conserve and value our energy sources.

Althea Wood announced that the date for the district convention at Throckmorton had been changed to April 16.

Thank you cards were read from Joy Early, Ilene Newton and the Buford Thornton family.

Refreshments were served by Debra Beal and Carol Kozelsky.

Frances Williams, Joy Early and Ann Wright are on fire call for March.

Mrs. Trudeau Is Home Again

OTTAWA (AP)-- Margaret Trudeau is home again.

The 28-year-old wife of Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau slipped quietly into town Saturday night after a widely publicized weekend with the Rolling Stones rock group in Toronto, followed by a trip to New York, where the Stones went after their Toronto concert.

Whether she joined her husband at a private dinner for the British Prime Minister and Mrs. James Callaghan was a matter the prime minister's office refused to discuss over the weekend.

Her only companion on the Air Canada flight to the Canadian capital was a blonde woman, who was not identified.

Chili con carne fans are always thinking up new toppings for the dish. One good chili cook, who makes the dish extremely hot and spicy, serves it with a bowl of yogurt for those eaters who want to dim some of the "fire."

Our invitation to you...

DR. DANIEL W. FOSTER

The Colorado Medical Society will have its regular monthly meeting at the Scurry County Coliseum, March 17. The speaker will be Dr. Dan Foster, nationally known endocrinologist.

In an effort on the part of the County Medical Society to bring up-to-date and valid information to the citizens its serves, the society has obtained this outstanding speaker and doctor. The meeting will be open to local citizens interested in scientific medicine. Dr. Foster will speak on hypoglycemia, low blood sugar, fatigue and related glandular disorders. A question and answer period will follow the presentation, and anyone attending is cordially invited to ask questions that might be of interest to them.

The presentation will be in Dining Room A of the Scurry County Coliseum at 8 p.m.

Dr. Foster and Dr. John O'Banion, president of the Colorado Basin Medical Society, were in post-graduate training together, and have been friends since those days. Dr. O'Banion became a certified specialist in surgery and Dr. Foster a certified specialist in internal medicine.

Your interest and participation is most cordially invited. A few of Dr. Foster's achievements are described below:

Dr. Daniel W. Foster is professor of internal medicine at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School. He received the M. D. degree from Southwestern in 1955, graduating with the highest academic record of the class. Prior to joining the faculty he was a member of the research staff of the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Maryland. In addition to teaching, Dr. Foster carries on an active research program with emphasis on biochemical mechanisms in diabetes.

He is a member of Sigma Xi and Alpha Omega Alpha, the honorary scientific and medical societies. He is a former chairman of the Metabolism Study Section of the National Institutes of Health and is a member of the American Society of Biological Chemists, the American Society for Clinical Investigation, the Association of American Physicians, the American Diabetes Association, the American Federation for Clinical Research and the Southern Society of Clinical Investigation. He is Senior Attending Physician at Parkland Memorial Hospital and Consulting Physician to the Presbyterian and Veteran's Administration Hospitals of Dallas. He is Associate Editor of the Journal of Clinical Investigation and a member of the Editorial Board of Metabolism, Clinical and Experimental.

Dr. Foster is a ruling elder of the First Presbyterian Church of Dallas where he teaches in the church school. He was formerly chairman of the Dallas Urban Council of the Presbytery of Northeast Texas, responsible for the experimental ministries of the Presbytery. He is past Moderator of the Presbytery of Northeast Texas and from 1969-72 was a trustee of the Board of Education of the Dallas Independent School District. He is the host of "M.D.", a weekly live television show on Channel 13, the public television station of Dallas. Dr. Foster is married and the father of three sons.

ROUNDTRIPPER—Ricky Beard crosses the plate after rounding the bases Saturday on one of his two home runs. His two blasts and another roundtripper by Dray Sikes propelled the Tigers to a 15-4 victory over Odessa High. A number of Tigers head back to the dugout after congratulating Beard on his home-run, but Coach Albert Lewis (looking over Beard's shoulder) and David Lee are waiting to shake his hand as Webster, the Odessa catcher, agonizes over the situation. Coach's Prayers Plus Tyler Propel Detroit

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Dick Vitale did some praying when his Detroit basketball team fell behind in the second half.

"I reached into my pocket and pulled this up," said Vitale, displaying a card dedicated to St. Jude, patron saint of hopeless causes.

It might have helped - but it did not hurt Vitale to have Terry Tyler in the middle, either.

The big man scored 29 points and played a dominating inside game, leading the Titans to a 93-76 victory over Middle Tennessee in the first round of the NCAA's Mideast Regionals Sunday at Baton Rouge, La.

The victory set up an intrastate match in the Mideast Regional semifinals Thursday night at Lexington, Ky. Detroit will play top-ranked Michigan, a 92-81 winner over Holy Cross in a Mideast first-round game at Bloomington, Ind.

Syracuse and North Carolina-Charlotte earned berths in the other Mideast semifinal game with victories Sunday. Syracuse, the nation's No. 10 team, defeated No. 7 Tennessee 93-88 in overtime at Baton Rouge and North Carolina-Charlotte whipped Central Michigan 91-86 in overtime at Bloomington.

As a result of action Saturday, these semifinal pairings were established for the other NCAA regional playoffs:

East - Kentucky vs. VMI and Notre Dame vs. North Carolina at College Park, Md.

West - UCLA vs. Idaho State and Utah vs. Nevada-Las Vegas at Provo, Utah.

Midwest - Marquette vs. Kansas State and Southern Illinois vs. Wake Forest at Oklahoma City.

Kentucky, the nation's No. 6 team, routed Princeton 72-58; VMI beat Duquesne 73-66; No. 15 Notre Dame turned back Hofstra 90-83, and No. 6 North Carolina trimmed Purdue 69-66 in the East's first-round games Saturday.

UCLA, ranked No. 2, outscored No. 14 Louisville 87-79; Idaho State beat Long Beach State 83-72; No. 19 Utah eliminated St. John's 72-68, and No. 5 Nevada-Las Vegas blasted No. 3 San Francisco 121-95 in West first-rounders.

In the Midwest Saturday, No. 16 Marquette downed No. 11 Cincinnati 66-61; Kansas State ousted No. 13 Providence 87-80; and Southern Illinois defeated No. 20 Arizona 81-77, and Wake Forest upset No. 8 Arkansas 86-80.

Detroit lost a 14-point lead midway through the game before making a comeback behind Tyler. The Titans led 44-30 with 4:05 left in the first half. But Middle Tennessee rallied, and six minutes into the second half, went ahead 54-52.

But Tyler led Detroit on an eight-point streak, giving the Titans a lead they never lost.

Rickey Green, recovering from a hip injury, scored a career-high 35 points, handed out nine assists and made three steals, leading Michigan's victory. The Wolverines, who trailed by one point at halftime, broke open the nationally televised game with about five minutes remaining, scoring eight straight points for an 80-70 advantage.

Bengals, Odessa Divide Doublebill

The Snyder High School baseball team turned its heavy artillery loose on Odessa High here Saturday afternoon to blast the Bronchos, 15-4, in the first game of a doubleheader, but their big bats were silenced in the nightcap as Odessa's Cantrell set them down with two hits to take a 3-0 decision.

The doubleheader left the Bengals with a 5-2 season record, and they have won two of three from the Bronchos.

Three home runs, two by Ricky Beard and one by Dray Sikes, caved in the Bronchos in Saturday's opener. The roundtrippers enabled Beard and Sikes to drive in five runs apiece as the Tigers broke it open in the third inning. Beard connected on his first roundtripper in the third and it found Alvin Ollison and Bobby Doe both on base, each having collected a single.

Scott Crenwelge led off the fourth with a two-bagger, and the Tigers proceeded to parade four runs across as the Bronchos then committed three errors and Doe rapped out another single. Beard and Sikes both got home runs in the sixth as the Tigers capped off their attack with a six-run splurge.

Darrell Lester and David Lee combined to pitch a nine-hitter, while the Tigers raked Odessa's Sullenger for 13 hits, including four for extra bases.

In the second game, Cantrell allowed the Tigers only two hits. The Bronchos, meanwhile, scored once in the sixth and twice in the seventh to put the game away. The Odessans got seven hits off Beard.

Next action for the varsity Tigers will be in the Monahans Tournament, which opens Thursday.

The junior varsity will go to Big Spring for an encounter at 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Girls Track Teams Place High In Meets

The Snyder varsity girls track team placed 4th Saturday in the Lake View meet at San Angelo, after the freshmen had placed second with 99 points.

The varsity girls mile relay team composed of Tanya Boydstun, Demetra Cobb, Carrie Taylor and Glenda Vaughan finished first, and the 440-relay team of Sarah Fagin, Cobb, Cindy Koonsman and Linnell Selmon was second.

The 880-relay team of Boydstun, Karen Littlepage, Koonsman and Cobb finished 4th while Taylor and Vaughn finished 4th and 5th, respectively in the 440 yard dash. Fagin was 4th in the 80-yard hurdles and Suzanne Fisher was 4th in the mile run.

San Angelo Central was the top team with 100 points, Colorado City had 60, Rotan 59, Snyder 58, Lake View 57, Monahans 53, Fort Stockton 48, Robert Lee 46, Eola 13, Paint Rock and Ballinger 10 each, Jayton and Kermit 4 each, Roby 2, and Sonora and Christoval failed to score.

The freshmen girls scored 99 points, with the 1320 relay team of Tana Barrett, Lisa Sterling, Dametra Cobb and Becky Bigham placing 1st. Cobb won the 100 yard dash and Sterling finished third, while Barrett was second in the 80-yard hurdles and second in the high jump. Jamie Hataway was 6th in the 330, while Sterling placed third in the 220 and Cobb was second in the 60 yard dash.

Suzanne Fisher was first in the 660, Cobb was third the long jump, Sterling was third in the triple jump and Sherry Steward was first in the discus.

Edison of San Angelo won the meet with 128, with Lake View finishing with 120, Snyder 99, San Angelo Lee 98, San Angelo Glenn 37 and Brownwood 31.

Mickey Lolich won three World Series games for the Detroit Tigers in 1968.

SHS Boys Thinlies Place 2nd

The Snyder High School track team scored 91 points to finish second in the Lake View meet Saturday at San Angelo. Fort Stockton won the meet with 115 points.

Tim Falls ran the high hurdles in 14.9 to take first place in that event, while Joe Garza placed first in the 880-yard run with 2:02, and Randy Courtney picked up another first place for the Bengals with a leap of 6 feet even in the high jump.

Falls was second in the 330-yard hurdles, with 41.5 and Brad Browning was second in the high jump at 5-8.

The sprint relay team of Richard Crayton, Ronnie Hines, Falls and Ronnie Collins placed fourth, and Ricky Fritz was third in the 440 yard dash with a time of 53.1 and Johnny Velasquez was fourth at 53.6. Hines was fifth in the 220 at 23.5 and Collins was sixth at 23.6.

Steven Fisher was fifth and Del Vickers sixth in the mile run, as both were clocked at 5:00.9, and the mile relay team of Velasquez, Garza, Tom Luera and Fritz placed fourth.

Ricky Rice placed third in the pole vault with a leap of 12-6, and Brad Browning was fourth at 12-0. Doyle Browning was third in the broad jump at 21-0, and Jeff Terry was fifth in the high hurdles.

The Tigers will host the Canyon Reef Relays this weekend.

The 1976 American League champion Yankees failed to hit one pinch home run. But their pinch hitters batted .297 with 30 hits in 101 chances. They drove in 20 runs.

Snyder High School's tennis team placed second in the eight-team tournament held in Sweetwater Friday and Saturday, March 11-12. Sweetwater was first with 101 points; Snyder, 91; Brownwood, 81; Colorado City, 62; Abilene JV, 59; Rotan, 40; Lakeview, 38; Coleman, 31.

Snyder girls did more than their share in contributing 49 of the 91 points with Margaret Womack placing first in girls' singles and Jana Wesson, fourth. Donna McGee and Shelley Grosshans placed fifth in girls' doubles. Jeff Scannichio and Zane Sterling were runners-up in the boys' doubles division while Stan Pavlik placed eighth and Mike Greenfield, fifth in boys' singles. Results involving Snyder players were:

Girls' Singles: Margaret defeated Yvonne Cabellero, Lakeview, 6-0, 6-0; won over Carol Byrd, Rotan, 6-3, 6-0; defeated Sylvia Layfield, Sweetwater, 6-2, 6-2; defeated Donna Boyer, Sweetwater in the finals, 6-2, 6-2. Jana defeated Lana Jones, Lakeview, 6-0, 6-4; won over Cindy Williams, Rotan, 6-1, 6-0, and lost to Donna Boyer, Sweetwater, 6-3, 6-3, and Sylvia Layfield, 6-2, 6-3, for fourth.

Girls' Doubles: McGee and Grosshans lost to Deansman and Arnold, Brownwood, DePew, Abilene JV, 6-2, 6-4; on over Stewart and Robertson, Brownwood, 6-4, 6-3. Valerie Wilson and Norma Garcia lost in lthe first round to Nini and Templeton, and Gonzales, Abilene JV, 6-1, 2-6, 6-3 before losing to Sparks and Williams, Rotan, in the consolation finals, 6-2, 6-3.

Boys' Singles: Stan Pavlik lost to Gary Scanlon, Abilene JV, in the first round, 6-2, 6-1; received a bye over Nicky Christian, Coleman; lost to Terry Culbertson, Colorado City, 5-7, 5-7; defeated Bret Headrick, Sweetwater, 6-2, 6-2. Greenfield won by default over Tim Walker, Coleman, in the first round and lost to Ivory Johnson, Colorado City, 6-2, 6-2, in the second round. Mike then won over Pepe Diaz, Lakeview, 6-3, 6-2, and Woody Sandlin, Brownwood, 2-6, 6-2, 6-4, for 11 points for the Snyder team.

Boys' Doubles: Marcus Anderson and Jay Wesson won their first match over Walker and Coleman, Coleman, 6-4, 6-4 and then lost to the eventual champions, Craig Carter and Chop Love, Colorado City, 2-6, 1-6. Marcus and Jay then won over Hobbs and Petty, Brownwood, 6-2, 4-6, 6-0, and Alvarez and Franco, Colorado City, 6-1, 6-4, for another 11 points for Snyder. Scannicchio and Sterling defeated Riveria and Rohlas, Abilene JV, 6-0, 7-5; defeated Alvarez and Franco, Colorado City, 6-0, 6-2; defeated Ezell and Smith, Sweetwater, 6-0, 6-0; lost in the finals to Love and Carter, Colorado City, 5-7, 1-6.

WTC Golfers Are 6th In Tournament

Western Texas College golfers finished 6th in a filed of 11 teams in the 12th annual New Mexico State University golf Tournament which was completed Saturday at Las Cruces.

The Westerners finished with a total of 805 strokes, which put them behind New Mexico U., New Mexico Junior College, Midland College, and the host New Mexico State Aggies.

Following WTC were United States U., International, Tulsa University, West Texas State University, New Mexico Military Institute, and North Dakota University, which withdrew due to bad weather which halted play at 9 holes on the opening day of the tournament Thursday. Winds up to 70 miles per hour raked the course the second day of the tournament. Play was concluded on Saturday in good weather, however.

WTC individual scores: Brown McCrory 42-78-79--199; Ronald Koerth 43-76-81--200; Donnie Loerwald 40-83-78--201; Chris Brown 46-79-80--205; Dave Foster 46-76-86--208; Terry Kendrick 46-82-81--209.

Coach Bob O'Day said it was the worst golf the WTC team has played in a tournament in five years.

"I'm glad it wasn't a conference tournament," O'Day declared. "We had too many 3-putts and penalty strokes and our play was very inconsistent. I hope we bounce back after the spring holidays. Two teams from our conference played well in the tournament---New Mexico Junior College and Midland College."

SHS Golfers Finish Sixth At Andrews

The Snyder High Golf Team finished 6th in a 13-team tournament Saturday at Andrews, but Coach Geral Mac Greene noted improvement in the team's play.

"We played better than we have all season," said Greene.

Fort Stockton won the 36-hole tournament with a total of 594, followed by Pecos with 603, Kermit 614; Andrews "A" Team 630, Snyder 641, Levelland 649, Monahans 652, Seminole 657, Lamesa 666, Andrews "B" Team 681, Colorado City 692 and Andrews "C" Team 747.

Dennis Gary had rounds of 80 and 79 for a total of 159 to lead the Snyder team. Benney Parnell went 82-79—161. Lance McMillan 80-82—162; Mike O'Day 78-85—163 and Clint Baack 85-81—166.

The Tigers will be in their first district match of the season this weekend at Sweetwater. Four teams are competing for the District 3-AAA golf crown this year. They are Snyder, Sweetwater, Brownfield and Lamesa.

Yankee left fielder Roy White batted .320 left-handed and .248 right-handed in 1976. His overall average was .286 for 156 games.

Tennis Team Has Busy Week

The Snyder High School Tennis team has a busy week ahead.

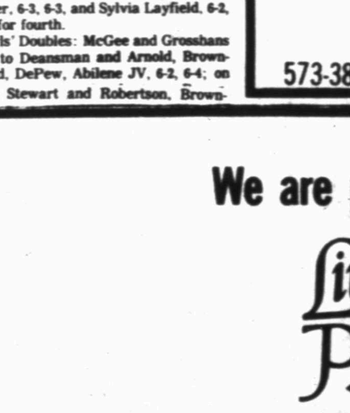

The team will be in Lubbock tomorrow for a district match with Lubbock Dunbar.

On Friday and Saturday, the varsity team will participate in the Andrews Tournament. In addition, the freshmen are scheduled for a duel match Thursday afternoon at Forsan.

WHILE DOMINATING PHOENIX AND ARIZONA

Report Says Goldwaters, Friend Condoned Crime

By The Associated Press

Published accounts of reports by a group of investigative journalists say U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater, his brother and a close friend have dominated Phoenix and Arizona for nearly 30 years "while condoning the presence of organized crime through friendships and business alliances with mob figures."

The Indianapolis Star and the Miami Herald, in Monday editions on sale Sunday night, carried stories based on copyright articles by 36 reporters and editors who spent six months in Arizona following the murder of reporter Don Bolles of the Arizona Republic.

Both the Star and the Herald participated in the project sponsored by the Investigative Reporters and Editors, Inc. The reports in the Monday papers were the second in a series designed to span 23 days.

According to the published accounts, the reporters said that the senator, his brother Robert, a businessman who controls the Goldwater family mercantile business, and Harry Rosenzweig, former Republican state chairman, "achieved national prominence ... after growing in a web of relationships in Arizona, Nevada and California with important lieutenants of underworld financier Meyer Lansky."

The Republican senator, reached at his Washington home Sunday night, said of the story: "I don't want to comment until I've had a chance to see it." He said his hometown paper, the Arizodna Republic, was not carrying the report.

The Republic did not carry the Sunday or Monday installments of the series, but said it might carry some of the reports later.

Goldwater said he had not seen his brother Robert since Christmas. He declined to answer questions about specifics in the published accounts. "It may be the world's biggest lawsuit so I'd be very careful," he said.

Robert Goldwater could not immediately be reached for comment on the stories appearing in Monday papers. In a letter dated March 8 and sent to the attorneys for the Investigative reporters and Editors, Goldwater disputed and denied several allegations he said were put forward by members of the team who questioned him on what they called "investigational hypotheses."

Rosenzweig also could not be reached for comment. His wife, telephoned at their Arizona home, said of the series: "We haven't seen it." She asked for specifics of the articles and said much of the information had already been published some time ago.

The Monday published articles said Rosenzweig confirmed on the rcord that he had received a $5,000 contribution, which he put into Barry Goldwater's first Senate campaign in 1952, from the late Willie Bioff, described by the reporters as a racketeer. "This was in addition to the $1,200 Bioff gave directly to Goldwater earlier," the stories said.

The stories said Sen. Goldwater refused to be interviewed. They said both Robert Goldwater and Rosenzweig were interviewed with their attorneys present.

Among other highlights of the story as presented in the Herald and the Star:

-Barry Goldwater was friendly with Gus Greenbaum, described as a Lansky lieutenant, and Greenbaum - now dead - "was host to the Goldwater brothers when he operated the mob-dominated Flamingo and Riviera hotel-casinos in Las Vegas. After Greenbaum was murdered, Rosenzweig served as an unpaid appraiser for his estate along with an officer of the Valley National Bank of Phoenix." The accounts said that the bank, of which Robert Goldwater is a director, loaned money to help finance the Flamingo. They also said Sen. Goldwater attended Greenbaums funeral.

Greenbaum was described as having run organized crime's gambling wire service in Phoenix before he went to Las Vegas.

According to the published accounts, Robert Goldwater told the IRE team that he did not believe he knew Greenbaum before he went to Las Vegas and denied knowing about the Valley National loans to the Flamingo.

-Clarence "Mike" Newman took over the gambling operation in Phoenix when Greenbaum left. "A sizeable share of his operation was catering to a clique of prominent businessmen who could plunk $15,000 on a sports wager ... The businessmen bettors included Bob Goldwater," the accounts said. Rosenzweig and Sen. Goldwater intervened with Federal Judge David Ling to get a lighter sentence for Newman after he pleaded guilty to failure to purchase a federal gambling stamp. "Rosenzweig ... confirmed that he and the senator intervened for Newman. He said then-Gov. Paul Fannin and the late Stephen Langmade, state Democratic chairman, also interceded," said the published accounts of the IRE report. The accounts said the reporters also learned that the senator telephoned U.S. authorities in an effort to have Newman, who died last year, imprisoned close to his home in Arizona rather than in Texas as originally planned. "Newman ended up serving his term in prison in Florence, Ariz."

-Robert Goldwater had links with Moe Dalitz, described as a mobster. The reporters said "a Goldwater Department Store was installed exclusively in his Dalitz' Desert Inn."

Webb Joins Gen. Crude's Snyder Staff

Robert L. Draper, vice president for production of General Crude Oil Co., has announced the addition of Jerry Don Webb to the production staff.

Webb will assume the title and responsibilities of District Engineer of the Snyder District. His area of responsibilities includes production activities in West Texas and the Rocky Mountains.

Webb received the bachelor of science degree in petroleum engineering from the University of Houston in 1959 and has 18 years of experience in the oil industry, which includes engineering activities in West Texas, Colorado and Oklahoma.

KNOW YOUR FOOD

The best of us can sometimes use help in calculating the number of servings to expect from a pound of fresh vegetables or the canned, frozen or dried varieties. The following table can guide you in your mathematical computations. Do file it as a handy reference! In this listing, a serving is a half-cup. Granted, it's not always possible to buy the exact amount you'll eat but with a little ingenuity, you can use any leftovers in an interesting way. For example, some leftover swiss chard, cabbage and celery combine well with minced hard-cooked eggs to bake in a cheese sauce with croutons.

BACKING SUPERKIDS—Teens Aid Retarded (TARS) has pledged support to the Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes in their Superkids project to fight lung disease. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller, TARS advisors, and Teresa Walker, TARs Hike-Bike chairman display a superkids banner.

TARS Support Superkid Project

Several representatives of the Teens Aid Retarded (TARS) have volunteered their time and energy to help with the Superkids project of Snyder Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller are advisors for the TARS. They reported that they are interested in physical fitness and believe keeping in shape in good insurance against lung disease.

"We have planned activities once a month for our 'R's' and a lot of these activites are exercise-oriented," they said. "The 'R's' also are interested in the Superkids events since they participate in a similar competition in the Special Olympics.

They urged participation in the Superkids project, either as contestants or spectators.

"Let's all join the Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes and help our children learn the value of physical fitness and at the same time raise money to fight an enemy--lung disease," said the TARS spokesmen.

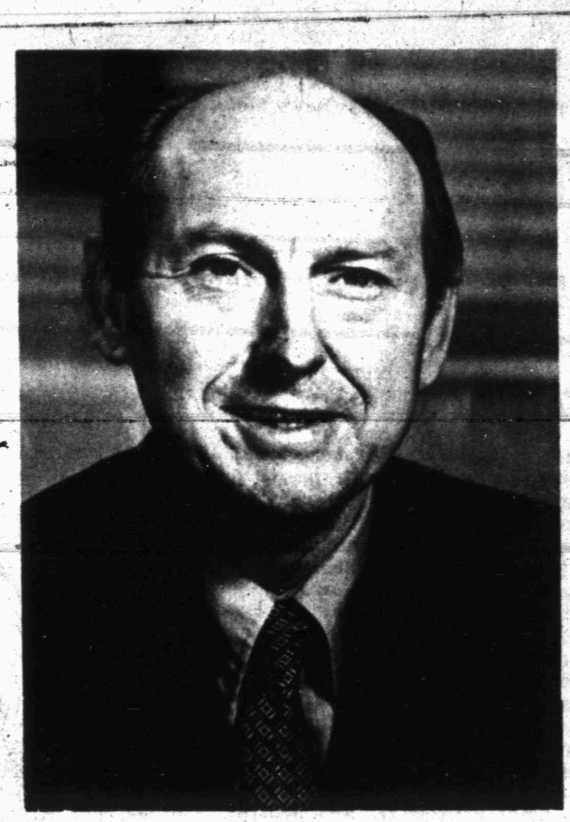

Solar Energy Is Topic For SPE

"Energy Directly From the Sun--Now or Tomor--row?" will be the topic discussed by J. S. McNeil, Jr., President of Mobil Tyco Solar Energy Corp. in Waltham, Mass., and a 1976-77 Distinguished Lecturer for the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME. at the March meeting of the Snyder Section of spe. The meeting is scheduled for Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at the Snyder Country Club.

In his speech, McNeil will examine the long-range role of solar energy and other alternate energy resources in the presently petroleum-dominated energy picture. He will discuss in detail the intensity and variability of sunshine and the efficiency of its collection for low grade, high grade heat, and electricity. McNeil also will review the problems, applications, and dprospects for lowering the cost of solar technology.

A graduate of the U. of Texas with a PhD in chemical engineering, McNeil joined Mobil in 1949 and was involved for many years in oil recovery technology He coauthored the industry's first publications on design methods for fireflooding before joining Mobile Tyco, McNiel was manager of Mobil's Exploration and Production Research Division at the Field Research Lab in Dallas. Mobil Tyco Solar Energy Corp. is a joint venture company between Mobil Oil Corp. and Tyco Laboratories, Inc., which was organized in late 1974 to develop and commercialize solar photovoltaics using a new silicon crystal growth process.

The Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME is an international technical and professional organization for engineers, scientists, and managers in the exploration, drilling, and production phases of the petroleum and natural gas industries. SPE has more than 25,000 members located in major oil producing areas of the world.

Tom T. Hall Turns Teacher

By JOE EDWARDS
Associated Press Writer

MURFREESBORO, Tenn. (AP) — Singer-songwriter Tom T. Hall, known as "The Storyteller," can now be called "The Professor."

Hall, who wrote "Harper Valley P.T.A.", "Old Dogs, Children and Watermelon Wine" and "I Love," just finished teaching a songwriting course at Middle Tennessee State University.

For the 50 lucky students, it was like taking dancing lessons from Fred Astaire. School officials reported overflow enrollment.

"I'm a little nervous," Hall said the first night he taught the course. "My wife cautioned me about one thing - no cussin'."

Hall, who has written a book about songwriting, came prepared to teach. He used notes on index cards for reference and had large, poster-like paper with songs written on them for students to analyze. And, of course, he brought his guitar to help him sing occasionally.

He passed out lead sheets and reserved time at the end of class for questions. After class was dismissed, he was surrounded by students who wanted to chat with him and ask further questions.

He shocked the class with his first example of a well-written song. Instead of a country classic, Hall cited "Jingle Bells."

"'Jingle Bells' is a phenomenon in songwriting," he said. "It's beautiful with a beautiful title."

He said the writer of "Jingle Bells" knew his subject - a principle of songwriting.

"He talks about a one-horse open sleigh, not a two-horse open sleigh. He talks about going over the fields, not over the roads.

"Write what you know about. Don't try and kid anybody about what you're writing about. My songs don't have 'darling' in them because if I came in and said it, my wife would wonder what I'd been up to."

Songwriting shouldn't be restricted to professionals, he said.

"Songwriting is one of the greatest hobbies in the world. My doctor writes songs for his kids and they love them.

"Music is one of the few central pleasures in which there is no sin involved. We have a word for too much food - gluttony. But you never hear that there's too much music.

"What would be a birthday be without a song?" he asked the students who paid $30 for the non-credit course.

He offered this advice: "Call on your basic instincts and emotions to write songs. You have to apply yourself and search your mind. You have to work. You can't just wait for lightning to strike.

"People have a sixth or seventh sense. They know when a song is right. You can't just sit down and write a bunch of words."

Hall, who has written 1,000 songs, emphasized repeatedly that knowing how to read music is not necessary.

Chief Neblett In Exercises

Navy Senior Chief Electronics Technician Robert P. Neblett, son of Mr. and Mrs. R.F. Neblett of Hermleigh, was a member of a naval task group which participated in training exercises near Brindisi, Italy.

He is serving as a crew member aboard the amphibious assault ship USS Guam, homeported in Norfolk, Va.

He and his shipmates also had the opportunity to visit Mobasa, Kenya; Alexandria, Egypt; Naples, Itlay; Barcelona, Spain, and they are scheduled to visit Cannes, France. Chief Neblett's wife, Mariann, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L.M. Reeves of Hermleigh.

some reasons why

Like a needle on a broken record, the national debate for several months has been stuck on the subject of creating jobs to help solve our unemployment problems. There is nothing wrong with this. It is the positive approach.

But while accenting the positive has its virtues it has tended to make us forget the negative: Some basic, untreated causes of unemployment.

The new 95th Congress can do something about these root causes of unemployment, since they stem from federal laws that legislate or mandate wages higher than the market will bear.

In an excellent little book, Dr. William H. Peterson, who teaches business philosophy at Campbell College, Buies Creek, N.C., discusses these laws, as well as the overall necessity to free up funds for capital investment as a means of creating jobs.

His book, "Who is the Real Employer? - The True Source of Jobs," has just been published by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. It underscores the fact that consumers are the ultimate source of jobs because they decide what goods or services produced by working Americans that will buy. In today's job market, says Dr. Peterson, we suffer from wage unemployment. Some labor is overpriced.

"Wage inflexibility means workers and business can't get together on terms satisfactory to the consumer," Dr. Peterson writes in the book.

He cites an impressive list of federal laws that attempt to legislate wages for the private sector. These include:

Minimum wage laws that price unskilled labor, particularly teen-agers and blacks, out of the market.

Labor relations laws that grant excessive powers to unions, encouraging strikes. Thirty-one states, for example, pay unemployment compensation benefits to strikers.

Certain featherbedding practices protected by federal laws which reduce productivity and inflate wages.

Welfare laws that deter many from taking jobs. Food Stamps, Medicaid and housing subsidies all make welfare more attractive.

Payments running as high as $165 a week in unemployment compensation.

Full employment laws that force government into deficit-financing, thereby helping to fuel inflation.

Dr. Peterson's analysis is more than borne out by the actual experience of the British people in recent years. Beseiged by the host of economic problems which has become a fixture in British life, Britain's Labor Prime Minister, James Callaghan, told his Labor party colleagues in a speech last year:

"We must ask ourselves unflinchingly, what is the cause of high unemployment? Quite simply and unequivocably it is caused by paying ourselves more than the value of what we produce. This... is an absolute fact of life, which no government, be it left or right, can alter... We used to think you could just spend your way out of a recession and increase employment by cutting taxes and boosting government spending. I tell you in all candor that option no longer exists, and that insofar as it ever did exist, it worked by injecting inflation into the economy. And each time that happened the average level of unemployment has risen. Higher inflation, followed by higher unemployment. That is the history of the last 20 years."

"Ask him if he'd float a loan."

growing older

by harold blumenfeld

There are now 30 million Americans over 60. And many in their 50s will soon be joining the "older generation" making a formidable group of many millions.

Retirement for them means leaving "the rat race." Their life style can be happy or beset by what seem like insurmountable problems.

Affluence or financial independence can help but does not necessarily make for a happy life. A feeling of rejection, of not being a useful citizen, can be demoralizing. But this need not be so. One can do volunteer work, develop hobbies, make oneself useful in the community. In other words, happiness can simply mean becoming involved.

There are many government and private programs to help and provide interests for older people but unless you know about them, you can't take advantage of them.

Washington, particularly the U.S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), is trying to coordinate existing community services, establish new services where gaps exist and set up guidelines to help people reach them. Free booklets are available on request, or information can be obtained by phone. If you don't find either "Area Agency on Aging" or "Information and Referral" listed in your telephone directory, ask your information operator for the agency that serves older people in you community.

The people who staff the information and referral service can tell you how to find out about local programs that might interest or benefit you. If you have a special problem for which you would like help, they will refer you to the proper place or service.

These cover a wide spectrum of concern and interests and include senior centers and clubs, United Way Agencies, religious organizations, public health and welfare departments. District offices of the Social Security Administration are also sources of information and service. Press and radio "action" or "hot" lines and consumer organizations can also be helpful.

Retirement, unless you are exceptionally fortunate, usually means a diminution of income, which can cause grave problems. Big Government often seems like a big, cold, unfeeling colossus but it does have a heart. Since 1974, the Supplemental Security Income Program (SSI) has been in effect. If you cannot get by on your Social Security payments, you may be eligible for this program which Social Security administers for blind, disabled and older people who have little or no other resources.

Some communities have special services which may not be available in other places. For instance, in the area in which I live, which is South Florida, a taxi service for disabled or older people can be obtained for $1.00 a ride to and from a doctor's office or even to get to one's work. Appointments must be made in advance. Considering the high price of even the shortest taxi ride, this is indeed a bargain.

Senior citizen groups are also provided with buses to get to a particular destination as part of one of their programs at little or no charge. These arrangements, as well, have to be made in advance since there are only a limited number of such buses available. If there is no such service in your community, pressure on the proper authorities might provide them.

There is a public service commercial heard on our local radio and probably in other localities as well. It urges the older American to "get off your rocker," to seek out opportunities and to make for a better and happier life.

New service manager at Snyder Motor Co. is Keith Maxwell, who came to Snyder from Cleburne, according to owner Truett Bryan.

Skip Burcham, salesman for Nalco Chemical, recently returned from a fishing trip at Port Aransas where he caught an impressive 51-pound sea bass.

Pat Patterson, owner of Snyder Drug, returned from Dallas last week full of stories. He recalled that when sugar went up a few years ago, he always liked to offer coffee to folks who drank theirs black. Now, with the price of coffee steadily going up, Patterson mused that he's relieved when coffee drinkers help fill their cups with sugar.

Wilson Motor Co. is celebrating its 20th anniversary in Snyder with a customer appreciation sale. Bill Wilson Jr. came to Snyder in 1957 when he bought the business. He started in the auto business in Haskell in 1945.

Saturday Sizzlers continue to be a popular item among Snyder area shoppers. Hundreds of entries are turned in each week from folks hoping to win $50 in Merchant Money, good at any of the participating stores.

John Reed, manager of Clark Lumber, has been making the stock show rounds and he recently returned from Houston.

The public is invited to a meeting of the Colorado Basin Medical Society at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Scurry County Coliseum. Featured speaker will be Dr. Daniel W. Foster whose topic will be Hypoglycemia.

Construction continues to boom in Snyder. Line and Line Oil Co. is building an office building for General Crude in north Snyder. Also there was an announcement of an apartment project on 37th St.

In addition, work continues on the Varsity Squares Shopping Center and the groundbreaking ceremonies are planned this week. Despite the weather, some work has begun on the addition to West Texas State Bank.

Also announced last week was a new building for Teal Carpets, to be located on the Big Spring Highway near the Cogdell Center entrance.

Work began early last week on the exterior to the First Federal Savings and Loan. With new signs on the square are the Boren and West Insurance Agency and the Four Seasons Hallmark store, located on the south side of the square.

Mel Gilbert and company were busy moving last Thursday into the new SCAT office just across from the chamber of commerce.

Other anniversaries of businesses here in Snyder include Buccaneer Stamp Center 1957; Holder Construction Co. 1950; C. E. letters to editor

To The Daily News:

Omar Burleson, our congressman for the 17th District, is always alert to the needs of his constituents. Recently he introduced legislation to exempt farmers, ranchers, and conservation contractors from the highway use tax. Every citizen will benefit in lower production costs.

During the 94th Congress he was successful in passing a law increasing the estate exemption. This was the first change since 1942 and insures that small estates will not be forced to sell when the owners die to pay taxes.

In 1967 Omar Burleson voted against establishing the Kappel Commission which recommended raises to governmental officials without Congressional vote. He opposed the most recent 29 per cent increase in pay.

Omar Burleson once chaired the House administration Committee which Mr. Hays of Ohio made rather famous in recent months. When Mr. Burleson was chairman there were 8 employees and there was never any criticism or improper use of funds. Under Mr. Hays, 220 people were on the payroll.

Many other examples could be cited of a dedicated man serving consistently through the years for good government and sound fiscal policies.

In these days when some must be apologetic or defensive regarding their elected officials, we can be proud of our representative in Washington.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — No one paid much attention last year when candidate Jimmy Carter repeatedly deplored the "steady erosion and weakening" of the American family and promised action to reverse that trend if elected.

It sounded like more of the old apple-pie-and-motherhood rhetoric so common to political campaigns, mere lip service to the virtues and verities of yesteryear.

But once again, the pundits and political pros underestimated Carter's seriousness of purpose. The new president has wasted no time in launching his promised effort to develop a "strong pro-family policy."

As Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, he chose his campaign advisor on family policy - former Lyndon Johnson aide Joseph Califano, who was recruited by Vice President Walter F. Mondale, long the leading congressional advocate of programs to assist families.

To obtain expert advice and build public support for greater government involvement in the family sphere, Carter has scheduled a full-scale White House Conference on the Family for late next year, allocating $3 million for the project in his very first budget.

And to demonstrate his concern in the meantime, the president has sought more than $1 billion in additional HEW spending above the amounts alloeated by his predecessor for programs specifically targeted on children and their families.

There is extra money to upgrade federally supported day care centers, train more family doctors, detect and treat the health problems of poor children, improve foster care and adoption programs, increase parental involvement in Head Start and to help middle-income families meet soaring college tuition costs, to name just a few of the programs Carter wants to beef up.

"We have placed special emphasis on the needs of the children of America - our most precious national asset and our best investment in the future," Califano told a House committee last week.

Until the White House Conference on the Family is held, Carter probably will not seek any major new legislation on the subject. He remembers what happened to Mondale when the vice president championed a sweeping child and family services bill in Congress a few years ago.

The initial version of the Mondale measure, the most comprehensive legislative proposal ever crafted in the family services field, was passed by Congress but vetoed by Richard Nixon, who complained of the cost of its day care provisions and charged that it would bring unwise government intrustion into family life.

When Mondale and Rep. John Brademas, D-Ind., introduced a somewhat more modest version a couple of years ago, they ran into one of the most astounding grass roots opposition campaigns - based almost entirely on anonymous, totally misleading flyers - ever to hit Congress.

House members and senators were inundated with letters from parents fearful that the bill would dilute their authority over their children and put the government into collective child-rearing schemes.

It would have done no such thing, as it happens, but the public reaction was so hysterical that the measure was quietly shelved and Mondale, its chief architect, never mentioned the word "family" throughout his vice presidential campaign.

The vice president learned an important political lesson from the experience, one which Carter has clearly absorbed as well.

Americans are indeed concerned about skyrocketing divorce rates, soaring juvenile delinquency, inadequate child care facilities and all the other problems afflicting families today. But they want help, not interference, from the government in coping with their problems.

The White House Conference on the Family should permit a much-needed national discussion of just what the government can realistically do to strengthen family life in this country without encroaching upon the most personal and private relationships which can exist between individuals.

Michael Moriarty Back In Sports For TV Role

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Michael Moriarty played a baseball pitcher in "Bang the Drum Slowly," a Marine brig officer in "The Last Detail" and a cop in "Report to the Commissioner." Now he's back in sports.

He checks in Wednesday in a CBS movie, "The Deadliest Season," cast as a pro hockey player known as an "enforcer," a chap who smites opponents much more vigorously than do his teammates.

It's his first TV shot, he says, since 1973, when he played Jim O'Connor, a gentleman caller, in a made-for-ABC version of Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie."

But this doesn't mean he prefers movie work to TV labors.

"No, in fact the last flick I did was two years ago, so there's no greater prejudice" - he started laughing - "in either area."

Moriarty, 35, of Detroit, and grandson of a former Detroit Tigers third baseman, makes no bones about the fact his main bag is the theater, not the movie or television hustle.

This came during a phone chat from New York. He was asked if the networks ever suggested he try a series. He said they had, that his reply had been thanks but no thanks. But a qualification has since been added.

"I know now what I want to do with the next 15-20 years of my life, and that's to build a theater in New York," said the actor, educated at Dartmouth and the London Academy of Music and Dramatic Arts.

"I want to start a theater company and I want to be an actor-manager. And if, in order to support me while I build my theater - which is only a dream now - if I had to take a series, I don't think I'd turn it down.

"I don't particularly want to do one, because I don't think I'd be very good in a series. But who knows?"

Moriarty, who drew rave reviews for his acting in "Find Your Way Home" on Broadway several years ago, already has picked a name, a somewhat improbable one, for his acting company: Potter's Field.

He said the troupe he has in mind would feature works by "known and unknown playwrights with known and unknown actors," but he doesn't think he'll be able to get in under way for at least two years.

"It's going to take that long to work up a number of directions, but that's my dream. I'm not in a hurry about it."

Moriarty, who says he'd continue film and TV work even after he established his acting troupe, was advised - no doubt needlessly - the odds against success of such a venture in New York are a bit large.

"I understand, but it's my life, I feel, and the best parts of my life have always been long shots," he replied. "And when I take 'em big changes from my guts I've always won."

Roundup Cuts Snake Population

SWEETWATER, Tex. (AP) — The population of this West Texas city over the weekend swelled by one half but the size of the rattlesnake population decreased - by about 6,300 pounds to be exact.

Approximately 6,000 persons poured into town for the 19th annual Sweetwater rattlesnake roundup to participate in the ritual of man against rattlers.

Armed with long poles and burlap bags, hundreds of hunters scoured the landscape for the reptiles.

And in Mulberry Canyon south of nearby Merkel, Don Wilson scored the biggest coup when he cornered and captured the biggest monster, one that stretched over 64 inches.

Investment Leaves IBM Shareholders Richer

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The IBM shopping spree in the stock market has left its shareholders about $2 billion richer than they were on February 22, an amount that should make them reasonably happy.

This is but one consequence of the decision by the big computer maker to invest in itself - an "attractive investment," it said at the time - even while some analysts were suggesting it might be overpriced.

There are many other consequences too, and lessons to be learned also, most obvious being the lesson that money talks. IBM had more than $6 billion of liquid funds, $1.54 billion of them available to buy its stock.

At the time it made its decision to buy up to 5.5 million of its shares at $280, versus a market price at the time of $270.125 a share, there was said to be a large overhang of stock for sale.

The word around the Street was that many of the big institutions, the mutual and pension funds among them, felt they owned too much of IBM. They wanted to sell, it was said.

At any rate, the shares of International Business Machines seemed to have stalled in the $270 area. When the price would edge a bit higher, the sellers would appear, and down it would go again.

With all that cash available, and believing that its shares not only were worth $270 but a lot more, the company made its offer of $280 a share for up to 5.5 million shares. It would eliminate the overhang..

The results were a bit surprisisng. Almost immediately some of the portfolio mangers who had been bearish became less certain of their identity. Soon they were pawing the ground; they had become bulls.

If IBM is willing to buy at $280, they reasoned, then it must believe its shares are worth a lot more than that, perhaps $300 or more. And who should know better than IBM, which has that prized commodity, inside information?

The shares, which began rising immediately after the release of the news, approached and even exceeded the $280 mark when the tender offer was scheduled to expire March 8. Then IBM extended the offer two more days.

When the extension ended, the company still had sopped up only 2,546,000 shares, far short of its minimum goal of at least 4 million shares, and less than one-half the 5.5 million it reserved the right to buy.

With the offer closed, shares continued to rise, reaching $284.50 at the completion of trading Thursday. They fell a bit on Friday, finishing the week at $283.25.

In the thinking of many analysts, $280 is now the base for IBM shares. Rather than this being an upper limit, a sell price, as many investors seemed to think a few weeks ago, it is now felt to be an area of support, a price at which to buy.

This isn't to say it will remain that, because market psychology is ever changing. But at about $2 billion more than on Feb. 22, IBM shares look a lot healthier and promising.

Remarkable what money can accomplish.

Dangers of vitamin A

DEAR DR. LAMB — I've recently heard of a new treatment for acne which has to do with large doses of vitamin A. If you know anything of this treatment, I would appreciate information about its effectiveness and safety.

DEAR READER — BEWARE! Many teenagers hear that large doses of vitamin A will help their acne and begin taking it on their own. In large amounts vitamin A can be toxic. It can cause your hair to fall out, cause undesirable skin changes and in children can cause an accumulation of fluid in the central nervous system — causing pressure on the brain with findings that resemble a brain tumor.

There is no evidence at all that taking any more than the normal daily amount of vitamin A you should get in a well balanced diet will help acne problems. A number of years ago it was wrongly thought it would help, but the treatment for acne has greatly improved since then. I am sending you The Health Letter number 8-2, Acne Can Be Treated, to give you up-to-date information. Others who want this information can send 50 cents, with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Vitamin A acid is used on the surface of the skin in modern treatment. This is not the same thing as vitamin A in pills that you swallow. The acid helps the skin to peel and in so doing improves the normal drainage of the sebaceous (oil) glands in your skin. It is very effective but has to be used under a doctor's supervision to be sure it is done right, in the right case, and in such a way that it is not harmful to the patient.

DEAR DR. LAMB — When I was a young girl my first husband gave me syphilis. I took treatments until we got a negative test. That was before pencillin. My doctor told me to have a blood test every year for the rest of my life.

After 20 years of negative tests I got a positive test. The doctor gave me penicillin shots, then my test was negative.

Now I go to another doctor and he tells me I don't need to take blood tests. He doesn't understand why the other doctor gave the last shots. Please help me.

DEAR READER — I shouldn't think you have anything to worry about. You must have been treated the first time before 1943 as that was when penicillin treatment for syphilis first began. The old treatment of arsenicals and bismuth left a great deal to be desired.

It is standard practice to treat a patient who has had a history of old treatment even without a slightly positive test as, if it were a new case of syphilis. Your doctor was right in testing you and right in re-treating you, this time with penicillin.

Now that you have had adequate re-treatment, assuming your tests and examination are all negative, you should not require further treatment or expect any difficulties from the old infection.

Incidentally you would not have been contagious all these years so you could not have transmitted the disease to anyone else.

Blizzard Mementoes 'Hot' Items In Buffalo

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) --Mementoes of the "Blizzard of '77" are hot items in Buffalo stores these days.

Some residents probably would like to forget what weathermen have termed the worst winter in 107 years. But a lot of others would not, say salesmen whose business has snowballed.

Big sellers include T-shirts, jewelry and "Certificates of Survival" emblazoned with "The Blizzard of '77."

The reference is the Jan. 28 storm that paralyzed the area for days. Schools closed; dozens died from the storm-related problems; an estimated $60 million was lost in business and wages. President Carter later declared seven New York counties a disaster area.

Louis Berger, president of a speciality store, said he thought people were buying the mementos because they "Don't want to forget the warmth" of the efforts in coping with storm-related problems.

His store offers a 14-karat gold snow shovel charm engraved with "Blizzard of '77."

The price is $50.

"It has been the most successful, and that's as much as I'll say," Berger said.

The "Certificates of Survival" is available for $1. It indicates that the owner "has overcome, surmounted and otherwise survived what shall, heretofore, be known as the Great Blizzard of '77."

Bob Deshecker, a record department manager at one department store, said the certificates were in demand but that T-shirts at $4 were selling even faster.

"I sell them to the whole spectrum of people," Deshecker said of the shirts. "Like to the couple who bought two for themselves and two to take their grandchildren when they go down to Florida."

He added that he thought "Blizzard" products were outselling last year's Bicentennial mementos.

More than 3,000 T-shirts reading "I survived the Blizzard of '77" were sold in under three weeks at four J. C. Penney stores in the area, said Paul Grzybowski, a store merchandiser.

Another department store carries sweatshirts for $8 and sterling silver snowflakes with '77 on them for $8.50. Also available are $2.50 mugs, decorated with facts about the storm.

HONOR WHERE HONOR is due, economically speaking, is the reason for this monument in Aarhus, Denmark, under the scrutiny of a party of young Danes. The city fathers acknowledged the heavy contribution of bacon and ham exports to Denmark's balance of payments with a monument of the country's most successful animal - the pig.

AT AIRPORT
Job Hard To Catalogue

ADDISON, Tex. (AP) — Bill Beaty's work at the Addison Airport north of Dallas is appreciated even if the airport manager doesn't know exactly what his duties are.

What Beaty does is keep an eye out for smuggling activities at the airport. The facility has been plagued with thefts of airplanes for use in drug smuggling from Mexico.

While denying that he is an "undercover" officer, Beaty's appearance can't be catalogued easily.

"Some days I come out and I'm dressed in an Exxon suit with combat boots," Beaty said. "The next day I may be driving a Cadillac and wearing a $100 suit."

Beaty works under a grant of $30,000 to the City of Addison from the Texas Criminal Justice Council. He reports only to police Lt. Jim Gould and works no set hours.

Routine police work is performed independently. "If it's drugs or smuggling, I call the office and tell them what's going on," Beaty said.

Kenneth Kilgore is the airport manager, and said although doesn't know what Beaty does all day, they've met and conferred several times.

Beaty said wearing a uniform would hinder his work. Dressing the way he does, "I can pull up in the parking lot, sit here, read a magazine, light up a cigarette...and they (would-be smugglers) will do it right in front of me," he said.

Sometimes, Beaty's anonymity is also a hindrance.

He once took off in his car down a runway after a suspect. Airport employes chased him down. "I had to identify myself," Beaty said. After that experience, he met with airport personnel to show himself and explain his mission.

Beaty said "The department's really come a long way. The year I came here 1975 there had been 10 felony arrests for the year. There were 40 last month."

3 From Scurry On Honor Roll

SAN MARCOS---Three Scurry County students are among 3,377 whose fall semester grades earned them places on the dean's honor roll at Southwest Texas State University. To make the regular honor roll, a student must be enrolled for a minimum of 12 semester hours of course work, excluding physical education activities, and achieve at least an overall "B" average.

Scurry County students on the regular honor roll are Angelina Amato, Ira; Sonja Everton, 3110 Avenue C, Snyder; and Emmalie Sleeper, 3011 42nd Street, Snyder.

Tasteless TV Ads Not For Mixed Crowd

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I see that you've launched a campaign to get rid of "offensive" TV commercials. You told your readers to write to the heads of the networks, and to boycott the products whose TV commercials offend you. You insist that if enough people protest in this manner, offensive commercials will be driven off the air.

According to you, ads for Kotex, Tampons and douches, plus aids for hemorrhoids and diarrhea are "offensive."

Why pick on TV? Why not extend your crusade to cleaning up newspaper ads, too? Is it because newspapers publish "Dear Abby" and provide your bread and butter, and TV does not?

Just where do you draw the line, Abby?

CURIOUS IN CHICAGO

DEAR CURIOUS: I draw the line when while entertaining my rabbi, my father-in-law and my teenage nephew, the TV is turned on and suddenly we are informed that a new disposable douche now comes premeasured and in two lovely fragrances!

Had I read this ad in a newspaper it would not have been offensive. But to hear it in the presence of the aforementioned company is an embarrassment that I certainly would have avoided—given a choice.

DEAR ABBY: Is there some gracious way I can encourage my daughter-in-law to invite us for dinner?

My son has been married for three and a half years and we have never been invited to their house for dinner. She has been to my home for all holidays, and drops in right at dinnertime several times a month. So obviously she is willing to eat with me—but just at my house.

My feelings have really been hurt when I hear that they have entertained their friends, my other son and his family, and my daughter and her friend for dinner.

Should I say something to my son? I am really surprised at him because we've always been a very close family.

They both read your column, so maybe they will read this and get the idea. Please don't mention my name or town. Oh, her folks have never been invited, either. Thank you.

HURT

DEAR HURT: There is no gracious way to invite yourself to anyone's home for dinner. No, I wouldn't mention it to my son if I were you. He knows. And I'd rather stay home than ask to be invited.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a senior in high school, and my problem is my best friend's brother. (I'll call him Tom.) There's nothing wrong with Tom and there's nothing wrong with me, but my friend has been pushing her brother on me, and he's getting too serious.

In the first place he's too old for me. I know most girls my age think it's cool to date older guys, but I don't. Tom just got out of the Navy, and he's pretty wild. I went out with him a few times, and now he acts like he owns me.

Tom's sister has been doing all she can to build up this thing between her brother and me.

Is there some way I can discourage Tom without getting my best friend mad at me? She thinks her brother is tops. Maybe he is, but his kisses are too mushy and he's too fast for me. Thanks.

HANGING LOOSE

DEAR HANGING: The direct approach is the best one. Tell Tom you like him as a friend, but that's all. And if he can't accept that, quit dating him. And if his sister gets "mad" at you, get yourself another best friend.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Fake Bomb Used In Dallas Robbery

DALLAS (AP)--A mystery bandit used a fake bomb and a telephone call to obtain an undetermined amount of cash from a Dallas grocery store Sunday night.

Officers said John Day, 32, an employe of a Safeway store in Northeast Dallas, received a telephone call from a man who said his wife had left her purse in a shopping cart in the store. Day said that while the man waited on the telephone, he went out of his office and found a tote bag in a shopping cart.

He said he returned to the office, told the man he had found the purse. The caller told Day to open the bag. Inside, Day found a red light gleaming atop what appeared to be several sticks of dynamite wired into a bundle.

Day said the man told him it was a remote control bomb and threatened to set it off unless Day took the bomb out of the bag and put money from the safe inside the bag and leave it outside the store near a trash can.

Day said he complied and then called police. When officers arrived, they found the bag of money missing. Bomb squad officers said the "remote control bomb" turned out to be a phony.

Fire Claims Six Nationals

NACOGDOCHES, (AP)- Six Mexican nationals died early today when fire swept through their mobile home near this Southeast Texas town, according to fire officials.

Assistant Nacogdoches County Fire Marshal Jeff Gason said the cause of the blaze is under investigation.

Justice of the Peace Ocie Westmoreland identified the victim as Simon Benagas, 36, four of his children and an unidentified person. The children were identified as Gregoria Benagas, 2, Maria Benagas, 9, Manuel Benagas, 6, and one-year-old Lanada Benagas.

Taken to a Nacogdoches hospital for treatment of burns were Mrs. Maria Benagas, 26, and Candida Benagas, 9.

Longfellow's "spreading chestnut tree" wasn't a chestnut at all, says National Geographic. It was really a false or horse chestnut.

"YOU'RE A FAILURE."

NOW AND THEN YOU MAY FEEL THAT WAY. THE ALARM GOES OFF IN THE MORNING AND YOU WONDER WHY YOU SHOULD GET UP AT ALL. YOU WORK HARD, BUT WONDER IF IT'S WORTH IT.

Perhaps by the world's standards you're a success. But even money, a career and a good home can't get rid of that vague emptiness you feel inside. You either don't have any goals, or the goals you set for yourself just don't satisfy you once you've achieved them.

Join the crowd. Countless people feel the same way you do. Some try to fill the void with drugs or by drinking. Others bury themselves in good causes. Many find a temporary peace, but few find lasting fulfillment.

THOSE who do find contentment, do so only when they stop looking for it... and simply accept the love Jesus Christ has always had for them.

People who do that are living proof that Jesus Christ is the one person who can give your life meaning and direction. That He meant what He said when He promised, "I am come that you might have life, and have it more abundantly."

They are living proof that every person is unique. And every life has a special purpose. They are living proof that Jesus Christ is real... and alive today.

IF you would like to know more about people who are living proof, if you need more information, or have made a decision to accept Jesus Christ, there are people nearby ready to share that with you. Please let them know.

It's easier to keep going when you know where you're going, and why.

More information is available through a Southern Baptist Church near you. Or, write Living Proof, Box 1000, Dallas, Texas 75221.

☐ Please tell me more about people who are living proof that Jesus Christ is a real person, with real solutions for today's problems.

☐ I am now trusting Jesus Christ to change my life.

☐ I would like to reaffirm a prior commitment I made to Jesus Christ.

☐ I need more information. Please get back to me.

Exports More Important To American Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Exports of livestock and animal products, particularly hides, are becoming increasingly important to American farmers, the Agriculture Department said today.

The steady gain in livestock exports also is helping offset the perennial worry that farmers, especially cattlemen, have about meat imports from Australia, New Zealand and other countries.

About $1.9 billion worth of livestock and their products will be exported this fiscal year which will end next Sept. 30, up from $1.85 billion in 1975-76, the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said.

Imports of livestock, processed meat and fresh, chilled or frozen meat are projected at around $2 billion, practically the same as in the 1975-76 fiscal year.

The report was written by K. Suzanne Early, a foreign commodity analyst in the USDA agency. It was in a weekly issue of "Foreign Agriculture."

While much of the imported volume is meat for American consumer tables, most of the exports are items foreign countries use to make other products. For example, cattle hides, inedible tallow and furskins are leaders.

Exports of so-called variety meats such as livers, tongues and tripe also are important and help add to foreign consumers' menus.

Over-all, the U.S. exports about 40 per cent of its hides and skins, 45 per cent of the animal fat and about 10 per cent of the variety meat produced annually.

The United States not only is the world's largest producer of beef and veal but is the biggest importer. As an exporter of beef and veal, however, the United States is a minor leaguer.

Miss Early said that only about two-tenths of 1 per cent of U.S. beef production is exported, mainly to Canada and the Caribbean countries. There are hopeful signs that this can be increased, she said.

Weed May Be Source Of Food

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Research Council says a variety of water weeds, many of them considered troublesome, are a potential source of food and income for poor countries.

In a recent report, the council said the weeds block canals and irrigation ditches, interfere with hydroelectric output, hinder boat traffic and interfere with fishing.

"These water hyacinths, hydrilla and papyrus plants should be viewed as productive crops that require no tillage, fertilizer, seed or cultivation," the report said.

"These weeds could be harvested and converted for use as animal feed, human food, fertilizer, paper or even as a source for energy."

Thus, the council report said, more effort should be made to find ways to make water weeds of more use.

"For decades, these weeds have withstood destruction by fire, machines and chemicals," the council said. "The time has come to let these ubiquitous, troublesome weeds provide their own solution by turning them to productive use."

Confiscated Magazines Disappear

RUSTON, La. (AP) — The Lincoln Parish sheriff apparently can't keep track of the girlie magazines he confiscated from local store shelves.

First, 71 magazines turned up missing from the sheriff's office when Assistant District Attorney Joe Bleich ordered deputies to return the surplus magazines of the 890 issues they confiscated.

Bleich said he only needed 21 issues, but when deputies brought the rest back to stores, they ended up 71 short.

A convenience store clerk said the sheriffs' office ended up paying $113 for the missing issues.

"Maybe some deputy took them home to read," Bleich suggested. "I really don't know."

Then, a few days before Bleich was scheduled to go to court to argue that the 21 magazines were obscene, the sheriffs' office found there were only 19 issues of the evidence.

Deputies dispatched to re-purchase the issues said "Genesis" and "Gent" had been sold out in Ruston.

Sheriff George Simonton had to borrow the two copies from the nearby Caddo Parish sheriff so the Ruston case could be prosecuted.

As it turned out, Bleich and district attorneys across the state had their obscenity cases delayed until the Louisiana Supreme Court can review constitutional arguments. Bleich is hoping that in the meantime, his evidence will stay put in the Lincoln Parish sheriffs' office.

TV Firm Pays Fine For Man

SYDNEY (AP)— Australian television has paid a $100 fine levied against a man who threw a placard at Queen Elizabeth II to publicize his view that Australia should become a republic.

David Roy Hughes, 29, a chemist, elected to take a 20-day jail sentence rather than pay the fine after pleading guilty to a charge of offensive behavior in Sydney's Royal Botanic Gardens on Sunday.

A spokesman for the queen said the sign missed the British monarch.

"I knew it was soft cardboard and could not possibly hurt her," Hughes told the court. "I was motivated by the belief that an independent republic should be created soon."

The magistrate said the incident had embarrassed Australia and he ordered the defendant to pay a fine of $100 or spend 20 days in jail.

"I will not pay the fine," Hughes replied. "I will go to jail."

It was not explained why the television company paid his fine.

The queen was in Sydney on a three-week Australian visit marking the 25th year of her reign.

Anesthesia was first used in an operation by Dr. Crawford Long in 1842.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Stifle a tendency to be generous to the wrong people today. Recall the Biblical story about casting your pearls before swine.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't bank on your luck to carry you over the rough spots today. Hard work is what's called for.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You prize your opinions too highly today. Don't defend the indefensible.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be protective of your resources today, and also don't jeopardize something belonging to another. Your judgment isn't too nifty in either case.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be your own person today. You could hop on someone else's bandwagon with costly results.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Although you're not a good team player today, it's not all your fault. Others could throw monkey wrenches into the machinery.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Spending dollars won't chase your doldrums today. Seek something inspirational. You can't buy your way out of the blues.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Even though you think what you're doing today will benefit all, don't make decisions without the consent of the family.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Stick to the facts in all cases today, even if they're painful and you fear their impact.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Friends could come to you to bail them out of foolish financial scrapes. Keep your eyes wide open to avoid embarrassment.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Reserve a little time for yourself to handle important personal business today. Associates will be demanding, and you'll lose out otherwise.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be realistic regarding what you can expect from others today. If you're overly optimistic, you'll be disappointed.

Texas Counts Violent Deaths

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents claimed ten lives, two persons died in shootings and one man burned to death in a fire at his home as at least 13 persons died violently in Texas during the weekend.

The violent death count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The deaths include:

Mrs. Elizabeth Jackson of Wichita Falls died Sunday after a motor home in which she was a passenger left U.S. 287 and overturned near Wichita Falls.

A San Angelo man was shot to death after a fight at a pecan company Saturday. Police said Floyd Johnson, 63, was shot by the business owner after Johnson struck another employe. The employe was hospitalized and no charges were filed.

Three Houston residents died Saturday when a pickup truck sideswiped an automobile in which the three were riding. They were identified as Velma Kimble, 48, Robert Randel Kimble, about 60, and Rodrick Kimble, 3.

A Houston man was shot to death Friday night during a dispute at a Houston lounge. He was identified as Ramon Medina, 36.

Willie Sparks of Nacogdoches died Saturday when his truck ran off the road on U.S. 69 near Lufkin and struck a tree.

Victorino Villanueva, 24, of Moscow, Tex., died Friday night when he was thrown from his auto and pinned beneath it.

Julie Beth Key of Austin died Saturday when a pickup ran off of Texas 71 east of Austin.

A Ft. Hood soldier from New Orleans died early Saturday in a two-vehicle accident near Copperas Cove. He was identified as Luis J. Martinez, 27.

An undentified young girl died Friday night when a truck overturned on U.S. 283 in Shackleford County.

Kenneth Owen, 16, of Arlington, died Friday night when his motorcycle struck a car at Arlington.

A house fire at Wichita Falls early Saturday claimed the life of Kenneth Gaunt, 28, of Wichita Falls.

College Entrance Tests Are Important In Brazil

By SERGIO LEITAO

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — If you are a Brazilian and you speak English well enough to know that "nonsense" implies "foolishness," then you have a solid chance of going to university.

Meanings of words and phrases in foreign languages are among the thousands of answers students are being asked to give in this year's "vestibular," a massive, week-long battery of tests for admission to Brazilian universities.

In Portuguese-speaking Brazil, passing the vestibular is the basic requirement for entering a university. Unlike in the United States, high school grades, teacher recommendations and college interviews count for little or nothing as credit for college-bound Brazilians.

Recently, more than 1 million Brazilian secondary school graduates sat down for the gruelling, make-it-or-break-it exams. About two thirds were expected to fail the complex, multiple-choice-question tests administered in high school gyms, public libraries and even sports arenas.

For those who pass the exams and enter universities, admission is free at the government-owned universities. But the course could be highly expensive for those who pass the test in privately-owned universities.

In the Gama Filho University in Rio de Janeiro, for instance, the medical and engineering courses could cost as much as U.S. $120 a month.

Ministry of education statistics presented by a member of congress last year revealed that the military-dominated government decreased the percentage of funds for education from 11.07 per cent of the budget to 4.95 per cent in 1974. The budget has drawn criticism from some faculty members and opposition congressmen who claim the regime is stressing technical training at the expense of broader education.

Other critics say exams like the vestibular, with narrow selection criteria, deny students the broader chance afforded by essays, interviews and recommendations as entrance procedures.

Basin's Rig Count Dips

A total of 287 rotary drilling rigs were in operation the past week in the Permian Basin of West Texas and New Mexico, according to the Reed Drilling Equipment's weekly survey.

This is a decrease of two from the previous week. However, the past week's total is 63 more than the 224 rigs working in the Basin at this time a year ago.

Pecos County had the biggest number of rigs running, with 27. Eddy County, N.M., had 25, and Lea County, N.M., had 24.

Scurry County, with five rigs making hole, had a gain of one from the previous week. Other area counties had the following totals for the past week and the week before, in order: Borden 1 and 3; Dawson 3 and 3; Fisher 2 and 2; Garza 7 and 4; Howard 4 and 5; Kent 2 and 1; Mitchell 4 and 3; Nolan 2 and 2; Stonewall 3 and 4.

Broiler Exports Set New High

WASHINGTON (AP) — Exports of broiler chickens soared to a record of 287.4 million pounds last year, more than double the 1975 volume of 137.7 million pounds, according to the Agriculture Department.

The 1976 shipments outpaced the previous mark of 172.6 million pounds in 1962. Iraq was the leading buyer of U.S. broilers with more than 62 million pounds, followed by Japan, Hong Kong, Jamaica, Canada, Singapore and Mexico.

Consumers Face Higher Food Costs, Shortages

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Federal and state officials are measuring the impact of the West Coast drought and Florida frost on the nation's food bill. But consumers already are paying the price for bad winter weather, and more discouraging news lies ahead.

"There will undoubtedly be a shortage in canned fruit and vegetables and the retail side will be feeling it late this year and throughout 1978," said Robert Gibson, president of the California Canners and Growers Association and president of the National Canners Association.

Gibson was quoted by Supermarket News, a trade publication, as saying: "There is every indication of extremely curtailed production this year."

The U.S. Department of Agriculture index for vegetables was 30 per cent higher in January than in December. The USDA said that prices paid to growers for fresh vegetables are likely to remain high through April and warned of "firm to moderately high prices" for most processed vegetables during the first half of 1977.

Frost in Florida cut the citrus crop, although it is still expected to be a record. Wet weather in the Rio Grande Valley in Texas interfered with carrot planting, sharply boosting the cost of that vegetable.

Industry experts differ about the supply situation and the extent of price hikes, but they all agree that consumers face bigger bills.

Don Hodgson, a produce expert for the Independent Grocers' Alliance in California, said he expected adequate amounts of most products. But he said the frequent canned goods specials of last year would disappear.

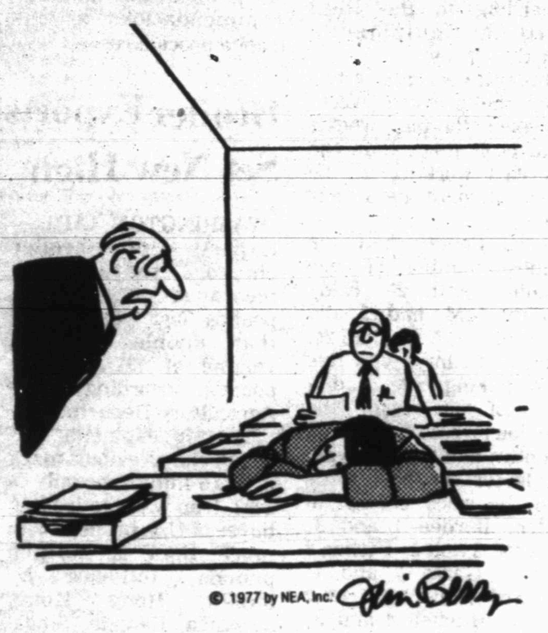

Hodgson said it was too early to tell exactly what would happen as a result of the drought. "It's still kind of anybody's guess," he added.

He noted, however, that lack of water for irrigation in California would cut sharply into the number of acres planted with tomatoes, meaning that whole peeled and stewed tomatoes may still be in short supply in some areas. California produces 85 per cent of the nation's tomatoes.

Federal and state authorties have been monitoring the drought situation. California officials held a two-day conference on the drought last week and Ron Robie, director of the State Department of Water Resources, warned that everyone will be affected "by less agricultural production, higher food prices, energy shortage problems and the general economic problems the drought will cause."

Hodgson and other industry spokesmen said canned goods have been a bargain in recent years. They said prices may increase, even if supplies are adequate, in order to offset losses of recent years.

Mud Daubers Due In Luckenbach

LUCKENBACH, Tex. (AP)– San Juan Capistrano can keep its swallows. Luckenbach has the mud dauber?

What's a mud dauber?

A Texas size wasp-like insect that makes its nest out of mud and buzzes throughout most of the state in early spring.

Luckenbach, the state's first official non-Bicentennial city, Pop. 3, is preparing to welcome the mud daubers back on March 19.

Any similarity between the Luckenbach spring rite and the arrival of the birds at San Juan Capistrano is not merely a coincidence, but a parody.

It is all part of the legacy of the late Hondo Crouch, a Texas Hill country rancher with a sense of humor who bought Luckenbach-a grocery store, a dance hall, one parking meter and the ruins of a livery stable and a cotton gin-several years ago.

Hondo, who died last September, organized the first non-Bicentennial fair in the nation last year to select the most tasteless Bicentennial souvenirs on the market. A red, white and blue coffin won the award.

As part of the celebration on March 19, the organizers of the event have offered manufacturers of Bicentennial souvenirs "one more chance to rip off the public," by selling their red, white and blue leftovers.

"We have had calls from some who said they will be there," said Jack Harmon, chairman of "Mud Daubers Return to Luckenbach Day."

The only condition, he said is that they donate 10 per cent of the profits to the Hondo Crouch "I told you so" fund.

Last year nearly 10,000 people gathered at Luckenbach, about 60 miles north of San Antonio near the LBJ ranch.

Organizers had invited Billy Carter to attend as Mayor for the Day and offered him "all the beer he can drink."

"But we never could locate him," Hartman said, "so we withdrew the invitation. We had another unsigned telegram from the White House which said, 'understand you have invited Billy...Why not the best?"

Hartman said a highlight will be a Mud Daubers Return song contest.

The first entry says in part:

"Life since they left
Hasn't been worth a durn
But things will get better
When the Mud Daubers return."

There are no awards for the winner. The loser gets a trip to Buffalo, N. Y., in January, Hartman said.
