Trustees approve extension of teacher contracts

Highlighting Monday night's meeting of the school board were an appeal from parents to not discontinue holding graduation for eighth grade students, acting on extending teacher contracts, and receiving word that no new textbooks may be received next year.

Following a presentation by junior high principal Randy Lovelady, that his faculty was recommending the elimination of the eighth grade graduation exercise, several parents gave their reasons why the practice should be continued.

Ultimately, the board voted unanimously to continue holding graduation exercises for those who were advancing into high school.

Lovelady told the board, "One of the first things teachers talked about when I was named principal was not having it continued.

"I feel it is best for all the kids we have in junior high school for two reasons: concerned about socioeconomic status of students; and it being a putdown for students who do not graduate."

Continuing, he said, "If you tell me I won't do this or not, I'll sleep good. But when I tell those kids they won't participate in the exercise, I won't sleep good."

"We're receptive to what the community wants us to do. The bottom line is we want to improve our school, and our only reservation is not having it because it is a tradition," Lovelady concluded.

Mrs. Gene Jordan pointed out that having an eighth grade graduation makes Iowa Park unique, and believes such activities help make the community a desirable place for families to live.

She added that the event is a "wholesome family time."

Continuing, Mrs. Jordan pointed out that this year's eighth graders were born the year House Bill 72 was adopted by the state legislature, and problems relating to schools have grown worse.

Following an executive session, closed for discussion of personnel, the following lists of professional personnel to receive contracts for the 1994-95 school year were approved:

High School - Wendell Allen, Tim Bartram, Margaret Batson, Ruby Black, Diana Collins, George Collins, Ray Dillard, Vicki Dillard, Alice Dyer, Linda Escue, Jim Gotcher, Linda Gray, Cindy Hambright, Steve Harris and Patrick Jackson.

Also, Caroline James, Jean Johnson, Terry Johnston, Tim Kaspar, Lorna Klinkerman, George Martin, Greg Miller, Eldon Patterson, Molly Phillips, Mary Riss, Earnie Reusch, Stephen Stradley, Carole Venhaus, Debi Walters and Linda Wickersham.

When the students were old enough to begin kindergarten, that was the year Iowa Park schools adopted a change in scheduling for those students from half-day all year to all-day half a year.

At least five other parents gave their observations in support of continuing the eighth grade graduation program.

Later in the meeting, the board voted approval of a textbook list that had been recommended by faculty members.

Assistant superintendent Robert Palmer explained that there was no intent to purchase all the books on the list, but that it would only serve as the list from which purchases might be made when ordering.

Though the list is for 1994 purchases, Palmer informed trustees that there likely would be none ordered, because of a lack of state funding.

He read from a bulletin that had been sent to administrators by the Texas Education Agency, which stated:

"In previous communications, districts were advised that very limited funds were expected to be available to purchase new textbooks for school year 1994-95. Districts are now advised that it is very possible that no funds will be available to purchase any textbooks adopted under Proclamation 1991 until school year 1995-96. . ."

Junior High - Charles Anderson, George Brandt, Tanya Daume, Stan Dillmon, Linda Fleming, Shelia Gholson, Kellie Gibson, Beckie Hatcher and Ed Hefti.

Also, Eddie Jones, Meredith Long, Kris Lovelady, Wendy Meadows, Shelley Merchant, Janna Monday, Sharon Pepiton, Carolyn Richter, Mozelle Sullivan, Annette Warren and Joni Woods.

Bradford Elementary - Johnna Adams, Denise Alsup, Michael Bean, Michelle Byrne, Brooks Cain, Jayna Case, Donna Chambers, Margaret Cribbs, Leslie Crumb, Valerie Dillard, Sherry Fougeron, Cheryl Frederick, Meri Guyette and Jo Ann Hale.

Also, Pam Innes, Vickie Jordan, Galyia Kasparek, Howard Klinkerman, Karen Lamberth, Beverly McClure, Willa Mitchell, Becky Moore, Becky Pedon, Keven Robertson, Judy Schneider, Susan Scott, Tamara Thompson, Arlene Welch and Jan Yeager.

Kidwell Elementary - Mary Alfert, Lisa Brackeen, Lee Ann Bryant, Betty Cash, Patricia Costello, Debbie Gruber, Dianne Hefti, Lynette Husted, Vicki Johnson, Janet Martin, Kimberly Mogg, Ann Norris, Barbara Padgett, Linda Rinehart, Mary Helen Schell, and Nancy Thompson.

Also, Mary Wright, Nancy Bauer, Debbie Brandt, Jayna Case, Gayla Cleghorn, Terry Davis, Yeada Gunter, Leslie Henry, Marianne Jensen, Debbie Lytle, Gail Miller, Mickie Moody, Tracy Otto, Dorothy Palmer, Kevin Robertson, Judy Stevens, Neysia Wilson and Janet Bowling.

A field trip for third and fourth grade gifted and talented students today to Kirkpatrick Science Museum in Oklahoma City was approved. Previously announced as an over-night trip, it will be held in one day, trustees were told.

Trustees cast ballots to name Patsy Todd to the Region Nine Education Service Center board of directors, and Herschel Nipper as representative to the Wichita Appraisal Review board.

Minderman unseats Commissioner White

Iowa Parkan Mike Minderman did what most political observers said couldn't be done.

He defeated an incumbent in his bid for the Democratic party's nomination for Precinct Four county commissioner, in Tuesday's primary election.

In his first-time effort to be elected, Minderman edged Harold White Sr. by seven votes, 1,055-1,048.

The 38-year-old self-employed oilfield construction worker will now take on the Republican party candidate, Terry Loughry, in the November general election.

Minderman's victory was not realized until the final 10 boxes were counted at the county clerk's office, however.

He had trailed White 188-203 in the early voting count. In the first preliminary report of 27 boxes, White led by 61,679-618. The lead was cut to 37,789-826, when 42 boxes were counted.

There are 52 voting polls in all.

Mike Minderman

Election officials did not reveal where the locations of those final 10 boxes came from, but it is believed most were from the Electra area.

Republican Loughry was unopposed on his party's ballot.

Election officials statewide had earlier predicted a light turnout of voters for the primary. That was supported by the fact that only 1,115 early votes were counted as the Wichita County total for Democrats.

And Tuesday's cold and rainy weather conditions apparently kept many voters who may have intended to cast their ballots on election day away.

The final vote of all Democrats in the county, including early voting, was only 6,003.

Democrats from the Iowa Park area, which includes the two boxes inside the city (Precincts 32 and 33), Valley View and Chaparral Baptist Camp, totaled 403.

And only 176 Republican ballots were cast in those same precincts.

The Chaparral box was the only one in the local area where voters resided in commissioner's Precinct Four. White edged Minderman 70-69 in that box. Loughry received 18 Republican votes there.

In all, there were 5,190 registered voters in those four Iowa Park area voting precincts, but 579 total votes were counted.

The only other Iowa Parkan on the Democratic party ballot was Bill Robinson, seeking re-election as Precinct Three Justice of the Peace.

Robinson was unopposed in the election and received 264 votes.

The race for county judge was very similar to Minderman's. First-time candidate Bret Hanes almost unseated incumbent Nick Gibson.

However, Gibson won, 2,866 to 2,796.

The Republican race that likely drew the most attention of Wichita County residents was that of Wichitan Tom Haywood and Haskell's Doyle High, for 30th District state senator.

Haywood defeated High 2,818 to 695 in the county, and was expected to win the party's primary majority, and the right to once again campaign against Democrat Steve Carriker in November.

Car burglary reported

Police are investigating a reported vehicle burglary case that is believed to have happened while the owner was working.

The victim told police Sunday afternoon that when he went to his car after working at Food Depot, he discovered someone had taken possessions valued at $300.

He listed a jacket valued at $100, and 20 country and western cassette tapes valued at $10 each.

Owners of two vehicles reported vandalism caused by BB or pellet guns during the past week. A window was damaged while parked in the 900 block of Fourth Street, and another was destroyed while parked in the 800 block of North Pacific, according to the police blotter.

Three arrests were made by police.

Matthew Curt Wallace, 36, was taken into custody when police answered a 5:37 a.m. call to Colonial Apartments Friday, where another man complained of possible broken ribs.

The injured man was transported to a hospital by ambulance. Wallace was charged with Class A assault, and later released after posting bond.

Officers were called to the area of the Good and Plenty Restaurant at 3:50 p.m. Monday, where a female was reportedly dashing into the path of oncoming vehicles.

They arrested Tina Diane Roberts, 24. The charge, according to the police blotter, was failure to identify to police.

It also was learned through a computer check that Roberts had an outstanding warrant for her arrest, issued by the Wichita County Sheriff's Department, for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. She was later turned over to a county deputy.

An officer on patrol stopped Sharon Gibson Studdard, 39, on South Texowa at 12:23 p.m. Tuesday, for speeding in a school zone.

She was charged for that offense, and also held when it was determined the Department of Public Safety had a warrant for her arrest, for failure to appear.

Studdard reportedly paid the speeding fine, and a DPS trooper accepted a money order for her other fine, police reported.

Five finalists for coach

The Iowa Park school board has narrowed its list of head coach and athletic director candidates to five names.

Three of those five were here Tuesday for interviews, and the remaining two will be interviewed this evening.

The five finalists include Weldon Nelms of Wimberly, Gary Reeves of Bells, James Ivy of Sanger, Dean Bates of Floydada and Danny Stour of Alvarado.

Ivy is the only applicant who has previously been in the Iowa Park system. He previously served as an assistant coach here.

The interviews consist of sessions first with teachers, followed with questioning from board members.

The two special meetings of the board were officially posted last week, at the same time Monday night's agenda was posted.

News Briefs

Students, teachers on Spring Break

When you see a lot of school-age youth running around town and playing in yards and parks next week, don't worry about it.

They won't be playing hooky.

Iowa Park school district scheduled spring break Mar. 14-18, and all classes have been dismissed.

Half inch rain, but no snow reported

The rain and freezing temperatures that moved into the area Monday were a solid reminder to residents that spring doesn't officially arrive until Sunday, Mar. 20.

Gardeners enjoyed working in 80 degree temperature Saturday and Sunday, but they likely were hauling firewood into the house Monday and Tuesday.

The weather system did bring more moisture to the area, however. Virgil Woodfin reported an even half inch that began falling Monday and continued into Tuesday evening.

While a tornado just north of the Red River Monday evening caused concern, small hail that fell shortly before noon Tuesday at the high school was the most severe weather this area experienced.

No USDA commodities this month

There will be no USDA food commodities distributed in Iowa Park during March, according to Frances Park, local coordinator.

Only two products were available, and those will be held over for the April distribution.

People receiving aide to families with dependent children, food stamps, medical assistance only (Medicaid), or supplemental security income are automatically eligible for commodities.

Eligibility of others is determined by family size and household income.

ROLLING HOME - Terry Crenshaw didn't quite make it home from Buffalo Lake Sunday night. His vehicle left Burnett Road about a quarter of a mile north of US 287, flipped several times and wiped out a fence. He was transported by ambulance with unknown injuries.

Mrs. Matthew Hall

Pat (Mrs. Matthew) Hall said that baking cakes for weddings and other special occasions has helped her overcome shyness by making it necessary to get out and meet people.

At first, she baked special cakes for a hobby, then friends began encouraging her to bake for the public. That's how her business called "Patty Cakes" was started.

Pat and her family have lived in Iowa Park almost eight years. She graduated high school in Lebow, Kansas, and attended Emporia State University until she married Matthew, her high school sweetheart.

They have four children: Charles, 14, attends Iowa Park Junior High School; Nathan, 12, and Leah, 9, both attend Bradford Elementary, and six-year-old Bethany is a student at Kidwell Elementary. They are active in Campfire and Boy Scouts.

In addition to her cake business, Pat takes care of two children of a friend who works.

Matthew's work as service technician for Washex takes him all over the world, requiring him to be away from home quite often. Pat said that her family is very close-knit, and spending time together is important. They like to swim, camp, picnic, or other activities that get them out into the sunshine. They also like to travel, and last summer, went to Hawaii.

They are members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in Wichita Falls, where Matthew is an elder. Pat is leader for the Young Women's organization for 12-17 year olds, and directs the girl's camp in the summertime. Also, once a month, she teaches a home management class.

Pat credits her mother and mother-in-law with teaching her to cook. She plans menus, a month at a time, in order to have more versatile meals, and places them on a bulletin board. Pat says this saves money, cuts down on shopping time, and attracts input from the children who give their ideas on items to be added to the menus.

Pat said that her husband eats so much "heavy" food while traveling, that she tries to plan lighter menus when he is home.

Schools say 'can do' to aluminum recycling

As of Sept. 1, 1993, all Texas schools have another reason to consider aluminum recycling. A new state law requires schools to set up recycling programs.

The law requires schools to recycle - at a minimum - aluminum, corrugated cardboard, high grade office paper, aseptic drink boxes, steel containers and milk and juice cartons. The law also requires schools to give preference in purchasing products made of recycled materials.

Schools appear to be particularly attracted to aluminum can recycling both for its ease of handling and for the money that can be earned. Aluminum is typically higher in value than most other commonly recycled materials.

Many schools in Texas are ahead of the law and have been recycling for years. Such is the case with Kate Burgess Elementary School in Wichita Falls.

Teacher Robin Pinkman of Kamay has coordinated an aluminum can recycling effort with his sixth grade science class for the past nine years. This year's class earned about $100 which will be donated to the Wichita Falls Humane Society to support the care of injured or orphaned animals.

Pinkman makes recycling a hands-on component of his environmental curriculum, using it to illustrate points on resource use and conservation. His students seem to learn well from the experience.

For more information on setting up a school aluminum recycling program, call 322-2080. For more information on the state's new school recycling law, school officials can call Brian Noble, recycling specialist with the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission in Austin, at 512/908-6780.

As I See It... By Bob Hamilton

How does one catch a common cold?

Yeah, I've read that it can come from shaking hands with someone who has it, or having them breath on you, or drinking after someone. The list goes on and on.

Among those other causes on that list is exposing yourself to bad weather, especially cold, chilly winds.

So, how do you explain my cold, which began Friday afternoon, as nice as it was out of doors, while playing golf.

There certainly was no chilly breeze, I didn't drink anything after someone else, none of those with whom I played had a cold, and I didn't shake anyone's hand.

But, late that afternoon, there it was. Boooooom!

Deep in my chest . . . no temperature, thank goodness . . . but a cough that comes from deep in my chest.

And it persists at this writing on Wednesday afternoon.

I get on these coughing jags while in public, and it's almost embarrassing.

No, I shouldn't even say almost.

My cough is so loud, and long-lasting, that people look at me like I was hollaring with all my might.

Makes me want to crawl under a table or something.

But I don't guess I should complain too much about it. At least it's not gotten me down, forcing me to go to bed and all that kinda stuff.

If you're in an area near me, and you hear a horrible noise, I'm really not suffering.

But you can't tell by the sound.

Letters to the Editor

'Matter of priorities'

Reply to your: AS I SEE IT: dated 2-17-94

Must anyone with a difference of opinion have a label? Experts! Couldn't you perceive as criticism be viewed as care and concern? It would seem the more people who talked and thought about problem solving, the better Iowa Park could become.

People rarely offer themselves up as a candidate for School Board or City Council because they have a lot of free time. Whatever their motives are each has their own personnel agenda. For some, recognition, for others power or authority and some a genuine belief that they can make a difference. Whatever, it obviously isn't the worst fate known to man, because they rarely ever run just once.

We are not all equally blessed with leadership abilities some honestly haven't the free time. Some of us can only pay our taxes and make observations. Others donate volunteer time in other areas. Surely each person's efforts have value to the community. I would think you are most blessed of all for you can vote your conscience & have the expertise to express your position clearly, and unlimited print at your disposal.

We also, hope some awakened & alert candidates will register, who want Iowa Park to keep growing instead of just keeping on. Voters should go and observe their city officials before they vote and ask how candidates stand on important issues. There is surely more here to be concerned about than a golf course, and I golf - It is a matter of PRIORITIES.

Vern Mikkelsen

Compliments trustees

Dear Editor,

We'd like to praise the school boards decision to uphold eighth grade graduation. Also, to inform other parents of the integrity and genuineness of each board member. Each showed an interest in our children.

We had never met Martha Dudley until last night. She impressed us with her views on the values of family and education going hand and hand.

Sheri Kennedy's compassion for the feelings of those who may have to go through eighth grade again and those who go to ninth grade was genuine. Her heart for their hearts was moving.

Dennis Yeager's concern for the future graduates achievements was evident. He listened with full attention to each parent as they spoke. His ability to focus on our children's future is a must as a leader.

Wendal House, last but with full impact reminded us that Iowa Park is unique. Our school is unique because we don't do what everybody else does. In fact there are children who want to be identified with IPJH because of graduation tradition.

The other board members, Max Henderson, Randy Catlin, Keith Fisher all showed the utmost concern for our children. They showed gratitude toward the teachers and principal. However, their terms are secure for now. Martha Dudley, Sheri Kennedy, Dennis Yeager and Wendal House are open for re-election. Our children's future can change with a stroke of a pencil if you don't take time to know your child's "best friends" and make your own decision about them. Thank you, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Johnson

UMW discusses Women of Africa

The Susannah Wesley Fellowship of United Methodist Women met Tuesday morning in the home of Avis Wilson with Reba Snow as co-hosts.

Plans were finalized for taking cupcakes to Heritage Manor April 1 for the residents' Easter party.

Thought for the day was a poem by Helen Steiner Rice entitled, "Each Spring God Renews His Promise."

Nete Williams gave the program on social issues titled, "You Are Set Free!"

She encouraged all United Methodist Women to stand up and be in solidarity with the Women of Africa and all over the world as they seek to be free of customs and traditions which oppress them.

According to African culture all of the property that a husband and wife have worked for during their marriage is given to the husband's family when he dies.

His wife, children and all major property is passed to his brother, the wife and children being treated as property. This is just one of many traditions the women are trying to change.

Others present for the meeting were Hilda Thompson, Gerry Thurlio, Leverne Owens, Patsy Todd, Marcella Childers, Betty Dyer, Jo Gilbert and Kay Cole.

Letters to Editor policy explained

The Leader receives numerous letters which cannot, for one reason or another, be published.

Letters will not be printed unless they are signed. A typed name will not do. And, for the sake of verification, the writer's telephone should be included.

Should the writer not wish his/her name printed, it will be omitted upon request. However, the letter will be kept on file to be read upon request.

Letters also must be free of libel. If not, they will not be published, because we will not edit their content.

Corrections will not be made if they change the message in any way, but will be edited to enhance their content.

In letters supporting political candidates or issues, the Leader reserves the right to limit their lengths.

We encourage your Letters to the Editor, and offer the paper as your forum for discussions of ideas and observations.

Stock show ends tonight

Tonight's judging will be the second and final phase of this year's annual Iowa Park Junior Livestock Show, held at the school agriculture barn on East Ruby.

Starting at 6 p.m., placings of broilers, turkey hens, turkey toms and market swine will be made, in that order.

Most of the entries will then be taken to the Wichita County Junior Livestock Show, at the 4-H Barn in Wichita Falls.

The county show gets underway Friday, continues through Saturday and Sunday, and will climax with the premium sale Monday evening.

Turkeys and broilers will be judged tomorrow in Wichita Falls; lambs, barrows and rabbits Saturday, and goats and steers Sunday.

Prior to the premium auction, the public will be fed chili and beans at the show barn, by the Iowa Park Mule-Skinners, the same organization that purchases the trophies for the local show awards.

NEWS FROM THE HALLS OF THE HAWKS

BRADFORD

Support project

To celebrate the 100th day of school on January 26, students brought pennies to school to buy engraved bricks and support beautification projects in Iowa Park.

Third grade students brought enough for each class to purchase a brick, and the fourth and fifth grade students will purchase a brick for each grade and use the rest of their money for other worthy projects.

Breakfast Club

A Breakfast Club, to encourage students to start their day with a good breakfast, has been started by Mrs. Reck, manager of Bradford cafeteria.

Students who leave very early or whose parents must leave for work before the kids catch the bus sometimes don't take time for a good breakfast.

Now, for 75-cents a day, students can enjoy a good breakfast in the school cafeteria. Students on the lunch program are also encouraged to participate.

Reading is rewarding

Bradford students have been participating in several reading programs this year, and their efforts have been paying off.

Mrs. Byrne's class had 100 percent participation in the Book-It program, so they had a pizza party. Pizza Hut is a sponsor and students who read at least 600 pages are rewarded with free pizza.

The World Book program helps buy encyclopedias for classrooms, and two third grade classes were able to get a set of World Book Encyclopedias.

Seventy fifth grade students read at least 600 pages during the last six weeks, and were rewarded with a pizza party.

Another program, Read for Success, enables students to get free tickets to Six Flags.

KIDWELL

Teacher of the Week

Mrs. Debbie Brandt, second grade teacher, has been named Kidwell's

Teacher of the Week.

She has taught a total of 11 years, four years as a first grade teacher, and the past seven in second grade.

Born in Mineral Well, Mrs. Brandt graduated high school in Coleman. She received a bachelor of science degree at Tarleton State Univ. in Stephenville, and her masters in education at Midwestern State Univ.

She and her husband, George, have two daughters, Amber, 14 years old, and Ashley, 10.

Mrs. Brandt said she enjoys going to arts and crafts shows, painting, swimming, reading and going to livestock shows.

Book-It! goals met

Book-It! goals in Mmes. Moody's Padgett's, Wright's second grade classes were met, earning the classes Pizza Parties at Pizza Hut.

Brittany Panter and Whitney Cole tied for the most books read in Mrs. Moody's class.

Mrs. Padgett's class exceeded their goal for the five month period, reading a total of 1,435 books. Korey Reece read the most books, followed by Shannon Costello, Valine Hyde, Jessie Freeman and Alex Ress.

Mrs. Wright's class read 1,703 books during the five month period. Chris Waldrop read the most books during the program, totaling 466 books, followed by Barrett Smith, 361 books; Jennifer Hambright, 187 books.

Classes make "Stone Soup"

Mrs. Padgett's and Mrs. Moody's reading classes have enjoyed an enrichment activity to complement the unit's theme, "Helping Hands."

The classes performed a "readers' theater" of the Russian version of the well-known folk tale "Stone Soup." Each student then helped in preparing "stone soup" in class by choosing a stone, washing it, and providing the various ingredients for the soup. Students observed that with each shared ingredient the soup became tastier.

Finally, the students enjoyed a bowl of the delicious "stone soup."

This unit emphasizes the importance of sharing something special or giving help when it is needed.

Pre-registration

Kidwell is now pre-registering children who will be three-to-five years old on or before Sept. 1, 1994 to aid in planning the total school program.

Those whose children fall in this age group should call Kidwell Elementary, 592-4322, to receive a pre-registration form.

Time for Fun 'N Fitness

Collection envelopes for Fun 'N Fitness will be sent home this week with Kidwell students.

Students will have until March 24 to collect money and return the envelopes.

Prizes for Fun 'N Fitness this year by money collected include $10, Fun 'N Fitness T-Shirt; $30, basketball; $60, Hawk sports bag; $90, Iowa Park Swimming Pool membership; $120, in-line skates. A bicycle will be the top prize.

Money collected for Fun 'N Fitness is used by Kidwell PTA to purchase such items as computer, playground and gymnasium equipment.

Spring Break

Don't try to drop the kids off at school Monday - no one will be there.

Spring break begins Monday, with no school scheduled the entire week.

BARBARA PADGETT RECEIVES AWARD
... from school board President Keith Fisher.

Padgett 'Elementary Teacher of the Year'

Ethyle Kidwell Elementary teacher Barbara Padgett was recognized by the Iowa Park school board Monday night as the district's 'Elementary Teacher of the Year.'

Mrs. Padgett came to Iowa Park as Barbara Spraggins, to accept her first teaching assignment after graduating from Henderson State Univ. in Arkadelphia, Ark.

Her first assignment was second grade. In the next 11 years she taught special education, third through eighth grade.

During this time, she taught on the Bradford, Junior High and Valley View campuses, as well as Kidwell, under the leadership of four superintendents and six principals.

"I can't begin to tell you what an honor it is to receive this recognition," she told the trustees following the presentation.

"I feel that Iowa Park has the finest, most talented and dedicated teachers of any school district in America. To have those educators choose me is a very humbling experience."

"I am only a representative of these outstanding educators, certainly not the best. I would like to see each of these deserving teachers have an opportunity to be recognized for their contribution to the youth of our town.

"I have had so many wonderful experiences during my 24 years in education. During my beginning years, I was truly fortunate to have taught with many wonderful experienced teachers who were willing to help the 'new kid' by sharing their time, wisdom, and materials."

"Teaching is a unique profession. Teachers want to do their very best to help their students and this is the perfect catalyst for collaboration and sharing. Now I find the teachers who are new to this profession to be such an inspiration with their fresh ideas and enthusiasm."

"This is why I always enjoy the student teachers who have been assigned to my classes."

"In retrospect, I believe Mr. John Sibley, my very first principal, was my finest encourager. He taught me so many things, but most of all, he taught me to stay abreast of all the latest in the educational field. He is a fine educator and a wonderful friend."

Mrs. Padgett, and her husband David, have a son, John David, who is a freshman at Midwestern State Univ.

City okays computer purchase

The city council, in a called meeting Monday night, approved purchase of a new computer hard drive system.

The present system was seriously damaged in a recent lightning storm, and because even more problems with the equipment could develop, aldermen declared an emergency to enable prompt replacement.

A bid of $19,976 received from CPS, Inc. was accepted.

By declaring an emergency situation, time-consuming advertising and opening of bids will be shortcut, Administrator Mike Price explained.

Actually, only one item was to have been on the meeting's agenda, before the computer situation was added.

That was to hold the third of three required hearings on the annexation of a tract in Quail Valley Estates, enabling the third hearing to be held within the prescribed period mandated by the state, Price said.

The final hearing will be next Monday.

Council sets public hearing

Next Monday's regularly-scheduled meeting of the city council will begin a new series of public hearings on annexing additional property into the city.

The council received a request to annex a tract adjoining the city limits in the southeast part of town. Three such hearings on each annexation are now required by law.

Aldermen will decide whether to authorize the mayor to enter into a contractual agreement with Governmental Service Agency for professional services for the 1993 Texas Community Development Program Project.

A resolution will be considered, to designate April as Fair Housing Month and supporting fair housing activities within the city.

Administrator Mike Price will discuss consideration of adopting a curfew ordinance.

Regional powerlifting meet is here Saturday

Iowa Park will be represented by six athletes in Saturday's Region Six Powerlifting Meet.

To begin about 8:30 a.m., the meet will be held in the main gymnasium at Iowa Park High School. Admission will be free of charge.

Because the region reaches as far south as the Dallas and Fort Worth area, it is referred to as the "Metroplex Region."

This will be the first regional meet held in Iowa Park, and Hawk powerlifting coach Steve Stewart is the chairman.

Though a junior, Philip House is in his third year of competition. He has the fifth-best total lift among qualifiers in the 220-pound class with a 1,230.

Two Hawks are in their second years of competition. Shane Bagley has the fourth-best lift among 132-pound qualifiers with 850, while Jason Maxwell, competing in the 165-pound class, has the region's sixth-best of 1,085.

The other four Hawks qualified for the region are in their first year of powerlifting competition. They are: Troy Radford, 181 class, fourth best qualifier with a 1,175; Justin Gafford, 242 class, sixth best qualifier with a 1,105; Dale Lindgren, 132 class, ninth best qualifier with a 805, and Jose Dominguez, 165 class, 10th best qualifier with a 1,030.

Four athletes competing Saturday are likely candidates to reach the state meet.

The 198-pound class has two qualifiers who are among the state's best this season. Jeremiah Mask of Bishop Lynch has a 1,450 this season, and Decatur's Josh Purdy has a 1,405.

Neighboring Nocona has four athletes who are among the region's best. Randy Rozzell has one of the state's best in the 165-pound class, with a 1,275. Other Indians qualified, their class and best total lifts, include: Beau Kidwell, 148, 1,120; Michael Pendergraft, 132, 1,055, and Cody Beckham, 242, 1,425.

Pendergraft was a 1993 state qualifier and holds the state record in the dead lift event.

Bishop Lynch has two others who qualified for the regional. Tony Parillo has a 1,335 in the 220 class, and superheavyweight Dan Davis' best total was a 1,335.

Three other top qualifiers for the meet include: Chad Pippin, 114 class, Saint Jo, 790; Jason Wade, 123 class, Bowie, 1,010, and Jeremy Greenway, 181, Aubrey, 1,275.

Wade, like Pendergraft, was a 1993 state meet qualifier.

Other IPHS athletes who competed in powerlifting this season, but did not qualify for the regional, included (class and individual standings in the region): Jackie Miller, 132, 18; Chris Norris, 132, 22; Danny Payton, 148, 17; Mike Frazier, 148, 20; Chad Simpson, 165, 13; Mike Seigler, 220, 16; Tyson Spruiell, 242, 12; Willie Wahl, 242, 18, and Keith Hoover, super heavyweight, 15.

Dusti Welch recognized

Iowa Park sophomore Dusti Welch was among four players who were unanimous selections to the District 4-AAA All District team.

She was joined by Trish Weatherly of Bowie, Malinda Fullerton of Vernon and Misty Helvey of Graham.

Other selections were Shalon Taylor and Julie Carstens of Breckenridge, Leslie Reed and Misty Martin of Graham, Jayla Scruggs of Bowie and Kami Littlecreek of Vernon.

Co-Most Valuable Player selections were Rene Hanebutt of Bowie and Kasie Berend of Graham, while Molly Schur of Vernon received the Sophomore of the Year recognition.

Graham's Jimmy Hagon was named Coach of the Year.

Rev. Joel Watson and Family

Madagascar missionary featured guest speaker

Rev. Joel Watson, Assemblies of God missionary to Madagascar, will be the featured guest speaker at First Assembly of God, 200 S. Yosemite, Sunday, according to Rev. Charles Hensley, pastor.

The public is invited to attend the Watsons' special missions service at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Slightly smaller than the state of Texas, Madagascar is the world's fourth largest island and lies off the southeast coast of Africa in the Indian Ocean.

Although considered part of Africa, the population of about 12 million is made up primarily of 18 Malayan-Indonesian tribes with only a small minority of African ancestry.

The island was a French protectorate and then a colony from 1885 until independence was established in 1960. French and Malagasy are both official languages.

With nearly half of the population adhering to traditional animist religions, and a sizeable Islamic minority, the people of Madagascar are in need of a clear presentation of the gospel, Watson says.

Thousands of people have heard the gospel in Good News Crusades and Bibles are distributed in the schools. And Assemblies of God clinic treats 3,600 patients annually. The Bible school in the capital city of Antananarivo has a steady enrollment of about 40 students.

Missionaries to Africa since 1984, they first ministered in Kinshasa, Zaire, at the Assemblies of God Bible school. They also participated in extension training at the East Africa School of Theology (EAST) in Nairobi, Kenya. They have continued to pursue an outreach through ministerial education at the Bible school in Antananarivo.

The Watsons are preparing to return to Madagascar for their second term of service in that region.
