Bill Mabry, well known local resident and retired farmer, died suddenly at his home here last Tuesday evening at seven o'clock.

City Council Almost Holds A Rummage Sale!

It was almost a rummage sale in the office of the Stamford Production Credit Assn. one day last week, as members of the City Council of Munday met with Mayor C. R. Elliott to transact some of the city's business.

In the midst of the session, some member of the council noticed a Mexican youth examining coats, gloves and hats which members had discarded in front of the office. He'd try on gloves and hats, and give the coats a careful examination.

When someone investigated the youth's curiosity, he held up a pair of gloves and asked: "How much?" Then it dawned on the council that the youth had seen the pile of clothing and decided a rummage sale was being held.

Elliott explained to the Mexican that most of the clothing should be sold, but they belonged to the group of men in the rear of his office—and that was all they had. City business was forgotten as the councilmen had fun over the incident.

Upon hearing of the deal, a representative suggested: Why not sell the clothing—and throw in the City Council, to boot!

School Money Is Received For County

County Supt Merick McGaughey announced this week that an additional payment of $4.00 per capita in state school money was received by the common schools of Knox County recently, and has been apportioned to the schools.

Boy Scouts To Help In Local March of Dimes

With contributions coming in on the infantile paralysis drive, although slowly, the local drive is expected to reach its peak next Saturday with a "miles of dimes" display on the streets of Munday.

Lee Haymes, local chairman of the drive for funds to fight polio, announced this week that Boy Scouts will aid in the drive next Saturday. A display of the "miles of dimes" will be made on the main street, weather permitting, with contributions being accepted for this great humane cause.

"A dime won't save anyone's life, but the combined 10-cent contributions of all of us will go a long way in our battle against polio."

Mrs. D. C. Eiland will be in charge of the Scouts in this project Saturday.

Mr. Haymes explained that half of the money received locally will be reserved to be used locally, while the remainder will go into the national infantile paralysis fund. Your contribution will be appreciated—it may help to save a life.

George Beaty, who recently returned to the States after serving in Germany, came in Sunday night for a visit with his wife, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Beaty, and with other relatives. He received his discharge at Camp Fannin, Texas.

General of the Army Henry H. Arnold is another enthusiastic booster for the March of Dimes of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. "You can rest assured that the Army Air Forces will give all personnel under its jurisdiction, an opportunity to participate."

Progress Made On Plans For Calf Show February 16

Prize Money Is Being Arranged; Winners Go To District

The Knox County 4-H Club Beef Show, that is to be held at Munday on Saturday, February 16th, is making splendid progress and the livestock committee of the Chamber of Commerce in Munday are making every effort to arrange to hold the show inside a building, if weather conditions are unfavorable. Following the County Calf Show, the boys exhibiting the 10 best calves will represent Knox County in the District Show at Wichita Falls on February 27-28 and March 1st. The Local 4-H Club boys are expected to maintain their high standard and quality of calves that have been shown in previous years. The Knox County 4-H Club boys have shown the Grandchampion Calf at the District show twice within the last four years in competition with 16 other counties.

Shop Projects Are Practiced By Future Farmers

About two weeks ago, the boys of the local Future Farmers of America began their shop work under the direction of G. S. Dowell, vocational agriculture teacher, and are showing rapid progress in woodwork at the present time.

The boys have completed six hog feeders, with more under construction. These are built, put together and painted in the agriculture department. Several of the boys are building their own feeders, while some are being built for individual users, at a cost from $11.00 to $15.00, depending on the size.

Two of the boys are building mash hoppers for poultry as their projects. One of these is a hopper to be used inside, while the other is an outside hopper, with extensions being built to protect the feed from weather.

Three repair projects are also underway in the community shop. An automobile motor is being overhauled, a truck repaired and a tractor is receiving repairs.

A visit to this department will show that the Future Farmers are keeping busy, and enjoying their work and are showing progress on all projects.

Cpl. Douglas Meinzer of Beaumont has returned to the William Beaumont Hospital in El Paso, after spending a 60-day leave with his wife and other relatives and friends.

THINGS YOU'VE OUTGROWN

By Frank Sinatra

American high school students are the "kids with the sleds." You know, a kid with a sled can be the most liked or disliked in the neighborhood. It all depends on whether he shares his fun with the other kids or selfishly hides his treasure away from those less fortunate.

To the thin, ragged children overseas who survived the terrible war, many of whom saw their mothers and fathers killed, and their homes burned to the ground—Americans are "the kids with the sleds."

Not that it is sleds these war victims want. It's faded sweaters that you have replaced with bright new ones, warm socks which you have discarded, shoes which are too small, anything that you have outgrown.

If a girl fell and broke her arm, you'd stop everything and run for help, wouldn't you?

If a buddy were sick in bed, you'd certainly send him books to read, and write him a get-well letter.

If a neighbor's house burned down in the middle of the night, of course you'd offer to share your clothes until he could get more.

Well, the misfortune that has come to your friends overseas is thousands of times worse than anything that could happen in America.

We know what you teen-agers can do when you go all out on a project. You proved it by the job you did in the April nationwide Clothing Collection by which twenty-five million people overseas were clothed. But that is not enough.

There are still millions of boys and girls whose sore feet are wrapped in paper because they have no shoes. They are clad in rags because they have no clothes. They sleep on straw because bedding that the enemy didn't steal was long ago made into crude clothing. When you have clothing you don't need, can you fail to give it to them?

Of course you can't, and you won't. So I call on every boy and girl in America to do everything possible to support the Victory Clothing Collection.

Be sure to enclose a friendly note in your garments, just as you would in a birthday gift.

Don't forget to tie the shoes firmly together. Every American boy and girl—make this your resolution now.

To completely outfit a boy or girl who lost everything in helping to win the war.

WILL OPA KEEP ITS WORD?

One of the last acts of the Petroleum Industry War Council disolution as a wartime advisory group to the Federal government, was approval of the following statement regarding price control on petroleum and its products:

"There is more than adequate crude oil production and refining capacity available to meet all currently indicated needs for petroleum products.

"On the basis of stated OPA policy of removing controls and letting competition regulate prices when products are in adequate supply, there is no reasonable ground for continuing to maintain price control on petroleum and its products.

"Nineteen-forty-one industry prices, which are the basis for present petroleum product price ceilings were set at a time when there was need for maximizing gasoline production. Today there is less demand for gasoline and substantially more for kerosene and various grades of fuel oil. However, the price straitjacket prevents the fluctuation of prices on various products from functioning in the normal manner to readjust product yields and meet seasonal and other fluctuations in consumer demand. Mainly as the result of this, there is a serious prospective shortage of fuel oil to meet this winter's needs.

"Supplying this winter's heavy demands for fuel oil and serving the interests of the American people in having adequate quantities of all needed products available at all points, can best be accomplished by the removal of price control on petroleum and its products. The Petroleum Industry War Council strongly urges that this be done forthwith."

—FORMULA FOR INFLATION

... As long as the Federal government continues to finance its needs by heavy borrowing, directly or indirectly from the banks, it will increase the amount of money in circulation and the amount of new bank credit. This pours a constant stream of excess purchasing power into the economy, lowers the value of the monetary unit and increases the upward pressure on prices and wages.—New York Times.

WHAT IS ADEQUATE MEDICAL CARE?

In a recent address, Dr. Roger I. Lee of Boston, President of the American Medical Association, said: "There have been many clamor shouts that medical care in the United States is inadequate. . . But as far as I know no one has attempted to redefine adequate medical care. . . ."

"In 1936 untrained investigators asked people in a house to house survey if they had medical care. If the people said 'No,' they were recorded as not having adequate medical care. Or if they didn't like their medical care or they thought it was adequate, then they were recorded as having inadequate medical care. Resulting records were broadcast all over the land and were described as indicative of a melancholy and parlous state of inadequacy of medical care and of callous neglect by the medical profession.

"More recently there have been highly colored statements regarding the large percentage of rejections for physical defects in connection with the operation of the Selective Service Act. The figures call for careful examination and considered action. Many of the defects have no relation to medical care, adequate or inadequate. Nature does not uniformly produce perfect fruit, be it babies, puppies, calves or apples. If children are very near sighted or astigmatic, adequate medical care demands glasses for the correction; but the Army or the Navy decides whether or not it wants such an individual. . . ."

Dr. Lee points out that the rapid advancement in medical science makes what might be considered adequate medical care today completely out of date and inadequate a year hence. For example, sulfa drugs, penicillin, modern obstetrics and countless other medical developments have made what some might claim adequate or inadequate method care in 1936 wholly out of date. Furthermore it is altogether probable that the average individual would be incompetent to state whether or not he had adequate medical care, due to his lack of knowledge of medical progress.

With so much ignorance on such an important subject, it is easy of politically minded reformers to propose plans for socialized medicine which are appealing in their unconscious misrepresentation to an uninformed public.

BETTER SERVICE, LOWER RATES

Under a new agreement which became effective January 1, 1946, between the nation's leading fire and marine insurance companies, specific provisions are made for prompt payment to policyholders of a wide variety of insured losses without waiting to determine which policy or insurance company may be filled liable for the whole or major portion of the loss sustained.

The agreement in effect benefits the vast majority of American families by avoiding future uncertainties as to proper settlements in the case of many normal risks, such as those to family possession temporarily away from the home premises. Such items as laundry sent out, clothing at the dry cleaners, furniture or rugs away being renovated, or radios at the repair shop have been the subjects of disputes from time to time arising in the adjustment and apportionment of losses because of overlapping coverage under two or more policies held by the customer and the service shop.

Few people are mindful of the many changes taking place constantly in the business of insurance. Many of these changes are directed toward greater efficiency and economy. This is one of the reasons why fire insurance rates have dropped so spectacularly over the past few decades, in spite of rising costs in nearly every field of activity.

"This country can support high wages and a high standard of living for all, but it can do so through increased production only and not by means of a capital levy, however cleverly concealed."—Editorial statement, New York Sun.

POLISH-BORN Waldemar and Anna Maslanka, left, arrive at a hostel for bombed-out children in Warsaw seeking clothing to replace their ragged garments. Other children eagerly await their turn, upper right, as Anna holds her new outfit just received from an UNRRA representative and Waldemar is given the first shoes he has had in six years. Completely outfitted, lower right, in clothing collected in the United National Clothing Collection last Spring, they are in high spirits—their self-respect restored. Millions overseas still are destitute. Start now collecting all the clothing, shoes and bedding you can spare. Give them to the Victory Clothing Collection for overseas relief.

Texas And Her Annexation

By Dr. E. C. Barker, Professor of American History, The University of Texas

TYLER URGES ACTION

Tyler and his advisers believed sincerely that there was danger of losing Texas. The fear of British designs was very real, and he did not wait for the incoming administration to take action. In his message of December 3, 1844, he reviewed the history of Texas to show that it was actually independent and that there was no obstacle in international law to annexation. The chief argument against ratification of the treaty, he said, had been that "the question of annexation had not been submitted to the ordeal of public opinion in the United States." That objection no longer existed. "The great popular election which has just been terminated afforded the best opportunity of ascertaining the will of the states and the people upon it. . . the decision of the people and the states. . . has been decisively manifested. The question of annexation has been presented nakedly to their consideration. . . A controlling majority of the people and a large majority of the states have declared in favor of immediate annexation. . . It is the will of both the people and the states that Texas shall be annexed to the Union promptly and immediately."

Of course, we know that interpretation of election returns is notoriously equivocal. Probably no single issue is ever presented "nakedly" to the voters, as Tyler asserted. Many who voted the democratic ticket were indifferent to Texas, many favored annexation, and others voted in spite of the platform. Tyler was correct, however, in his assumption that the voters clearly understood that Democratic victory would hasten annexation.

Likens Dimes Drive to War on Axis

General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower endorses the March of Dimes, conducted January 14-31 by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis as a "fitting tribute" to the memory of Franklin D. Roosevelt. General Eisenhower said:

"There will be no question of the response from every American who understands the urgency of the appeal. In our country infantile paralysis remains as one of the scourges that we must strive to eliminate, and I am certain that the fighting services and all veterans and civilians will unite in helping to defeat this enemy just as they did in gaining the victory over the Axis in the field."

were ready to act. First and last, eight or ten bills were introduced proposing annexation or varying terms. One resolution proposed to incorporate the defeated treaty into an act of Congress and admit Texas as a territory. Another proposed to annex Texas directly as a state. The proposal passed the House of Representatives. The Senate made various amendments. One amendment, offered by Benton of Missouri, gave the President the option of proceeding to annex Texas directly with its consent, or of offering to negotiate a new treaty, a procedure which might enable Texas to obtain advantages not specified in the original resolution, but which, at the same time would expose annexation again to the hazard of ratification by the Senate. The House accepted the Senate amendment. Which alternative would the President adopt?

Texas Colleges Plan For Future Building Program

Austin.—A $15,000,000 building and development program for the University of Texas and A. and M. College was planned recently at a joint meeting of the administration and governing boards of the two schools.

In addition, the group made a pledge to assist other state-supported colleges in securing adequate buildings. A central committee was organized, and given authority to extend assistance to other schools. Those asked to serve on the committee were D. K. Woodward, Jr. of Dallas, Chairman of the University of Texas Board of Regents; Acting President T. S. Painter of the University; Gibb Gilchrist, president of A. & M., and John Newton of Beaumont, member of the A. & M. board of directors. A fifth member will be chosen later.

A six-member committee was authorized to study education for Texas negroes, and the responsibilities of the two institutions in this regard.

The program, said chairman Woodward, is based on the realization that education must be qualitative, not quantitative, and that the University and A. & M. should cooperate, rather than compete, in so far as academic efforts are concerned.

"If it is adequately to serve the entire state, the cooperation should be extended to other state supported institutions of higher learning," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Roberson and Mrs. Joe Roberson of Vera were business visitors here last Monday.

Joe L. Ferguson, Area Cattleman, Dies January 16

Joe Lee Ferguson, pioneer cattleman and sheep raiser of Haskell County, died Wednesday morning, January 16, at the home of his daughter, Miss Anne Kate Ferguson of Alpine, after an illness of about a year. He was 81 years of age and one of the first settlers of this area.

A colorful character in this section since 1880, he was a brother of the late Jim Ferguson, dynamic figure in Texas politics for a quarter of a century. Ferguson settled in the northeast part of Haskell County and was engaged in raising cattle and sheep for many years.

Funeral services were held at the First Methodist Church in Haskell at three o'clock Friday afternoon.

In an interview about ten years ago, Ferguson told of hunting wild game in this section in the early days when there were many panthers, deer, antelope, turkey, and wolves. Hunters in these days prized highly their best dogs which were used to track down the animals, while the hunter rode on horseback. One ferocious battle between a big wolf and Ferguson's hounds was described in the Saturday Evening Post by I. Z. Black, former Haskell newspaperman. Ferguson was an early trail driver, taking cattle as far south as Mexico and as far north as Kansas.

Born on August 14, 1864, Mr. Ferguson lived in Bell County in his early life. He had little to do with politics himself, other than supporting his famous brother-governor, who preceded him in death several years ago. Another brother, Alva Ferguson of Bell County, also died a number of years ago. Mrs. F. M. Morton, late sister of Ferguson, lived in Haskell about forty years.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Joe Lee Ferguson of Haskell; two sons, Joe Lee Ferguson, Jr., of Weibert and Jim Ferguson of Haskell; two daughters, Mrs. Anne Kate Ferguson and Mrs. Fritz Devenport, both of Alpine, and a brother, Alex Ferguson of Sherman.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

DICK: "I wonder how the distillers feel about that new movie built around an alcoholic."

OLD JUDGE: "It's funny you asked that, Dick... I was just reading a piece about it."

DICK: "What did it say?"

OLD JUDGE: "A very sensible statement. It said the beverage distillers are fully aware of this problem and are cooperating in every way possible to help solve it. The alcoholic is to the beverage distilling industry what the reckless driver is to the automobile industry. There is nothing wrong with the automobile, but in the hands of a man who doesn't know how to drive it or is reckless, it becomes a menace. Likewise, it's not the use but the abuse of alcoholic beverages that causes trouble."

DICK: "Wonder why it is most men can drink moderately and others can't?"

OLD JUDGE: "Intensive research at a great university has shown that most excessive drinkers are really sick people. They are suffering from some physical, social or emotional upset. And great strides have been made in developing clinical methods of helping these unfortunate people."

New Planes Offer Higher Speed

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The air traveler in the immediate post-war days will enjoy greater speed, comfort, and service than he has ever experienced. And there will be seats for five times as many passengers as the airlines of the United States can now carry.

Wide variety of accommodations features the 1946-plane fleet which the airlines will have in service as soon as peace permits, according to a poll of the carrier's plans, made by the Air Transport Association of America. With cruising speeds of over 300 miles an hour incorporated in many of the new models, the time for crossing the continent will be cut to at least 9 hours as compared with the 12-14 hour schedules now being regularly flown.

The types of plane will vary, depending on the volume of traffic, length of route, and nature of the territory. There will be five main categories: Short feeder; short trunk line; long-range trunk line; cross continent non-stop; and international or overseas.

The passenger on fairly short hops of 125 to 225 miles, which will become increasingly popular, may principally expect greater speed, more comfortable appointments, and trolley car schedules without advance reservations. The passenger on long flights within the United States and overseas will find himself riding in planes bigger and more luxurious than he has ever had the opportunity to use.

For the longest overnight trips there will be various combinations of staterooms, berths, and reclining seats with opportunity for the traveler to choose varying accommodations to suit his pocketbook.

There will be plenty of elbow room with space for leg stretching in lounges and snack recesses. There will be separate rest rooms for men and women.

There will be pressurized cabins to maintain low altitude conditions at "over the weather" heights, together with air conditioning and thermostat controlled heating.

FEDERAL LAND BANK LOANS....

What does a Land Bank loan cost? What does low cost mean to the borrower? Its complete price the farmer or rancher pays for his long-term credit... the cost of his trip toward debt-free ownership.

The supreme cost all borrowers want to avoid is the loss of one's property... one's home. Assurance that Land Bank Loans are not "overloaned" and that proper collection policies will be followed are a protection against such a catastrophe.

Some other factors that determine the worth as well as the cost of Land Bank loan services are the value of having a low rate of interest tied down, no renewals, a loan that can be repaid from earnings... and the right to pay off in part or in full at any time with funds from any source without penalties or restrictions.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

by
BOYCE HOUSE

The philosophy of this letter, written by Abraham Lincoln to a kinsman, is still timely:

"Your request for $80 I do not think it best to comply with now. At the various times when I have helped you a little, you have said to me, 'We can get along very well now,' but in a short time I find you in the same difficulty again. Now this can only happen by some defect in your conduct. What that defect is, I think I know. You are not lazy, still you are an idler. I doubt whether, since I saw you, you have done a good whole day's work in any one day.

"You do not very much dislike to work and still you do not work much, merely because it does not seem to you that you could get much for it. This habit of uselessly wasting time is the whole difficulty and is vastly important to you and still more so to your children, that you should break the habit. It is more important to them because they have longer to live, and can keep out of an idle habit before they are in it, easier than they can get out after they are in.

"You are now in need of some money; and what I propose is that you shall go to work, 'tooth and nail,' for somebody who will give you money for it. Let father and your boys take charge of your things at home, prepare for a crop, and make a crop, and you go to work for the best money wages, or in discharge of any debt you owe, that you can get; and, to secure

POLL TAXES ARE DUE IN JANUARY

Poll taxes for 1946—those permits which entitle one to vote in the various 1946 elections—should be paid before February 1, 1946.

This is a regular election year, and as voters of the county everyone should be interested in whom they elect to the various offices in the primaries. It is likely that other elections will be held during the year.

Pay your poll taxes this month and have a voice in the elections of your precinct, county and state!

you a fair reward for your labor. I now promise you, that for every dollar you will, between this and the first of May get for your own labor, either in money or as your own indebtedness, I will then give you one other dollar.

"By this, if you hire yourself at $10 a month, you will get 10 more, making $20 a month for your work. In this I do not mean you shall go off to St. Louis, or to lead mines, or the gold mines in California, but I mean for you to go at it for the best wages you can get close to home in Coles County. Now, if you will do this, you will soon be out of debt, and, what is better, you will have a habit that will keep you from getting in debt again. But if I should now clear you out of debt, next year you would be just as deep in as ever.

"You say you would almost give your place in heaven for $70 or $80. Then you value your place in heaven very cheap, for I am sure you can, with the offer I make, get the $70 or $80 for four or five months' work. You say if I will furnish you the money, you will deed me the land and, if you don't pay the money back, you will deliver possession. Nonsense! If you can't now live with the land, how will you then live without it?

"You have always been kind to me and I do not mean to be unkind to you. On the contrary, if you will but follow my advice, you will find it worth more than 80 times $80 to you."

"HOW TO SAVE MONEY ON YOUR ELECTRIC BILL"

by
Phineas Q. Twitch, Eminent Economist

Dr. Twitch

- 1 Disconnect your electric door-bell. What if your friends and neighbors do bruise their knuckles knocking! You'll save a penny a month. Naturally, a penny saved is a penny earned. In only eleven years (at compound interest) you'll earn enough to buy another door-bell for the back door so you can save TWICE as much by not using it!
- 2 Sell your vacuum cleaner and beat your rugs by hand. The money you get for your old machine will buy several sturdy beaters and an ample supply of liniment. Then, every time you beat ten large rugs, you'll save a whole penny.
- 3 Turn off your radio during "The Electric Hour" on Sunday afternoon. Of course, you'll miss Nelson Eddy and his guest stars and Robert Armstrong's Orchestra, but you'll save a sixth of a penny every time you do it. In a year, that's nearly 9c. And there's no music so pleasant as those coppers clinking in your pocket!

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 19.—As this is being written the threat of a steel strike still hangs like a cloud over the nation. No method of settling industrial labor disputes has yet been found. If the United Steel Workers strike it will bog down all steel production in America. If the strike continues for long it will practically paralyze our reconversion program since some steel goes into nearly every item of hardware.

The steel industry is a gigantic industrial monopoly. The 750,000 steel workers are strongly organized in the CIO and constitute a labor monopoly. Thus the consumer will suffer between the squeeze of powerful industrial monopoly on one hand and powerful organized labor monopoly on the other. In this particular case as in most of the other strikes now plaguing the nation, the union has a contract to work under certain conditions for certain wages for a certain length of time and are striking in violation of contract. The United Steel Workers contract does not expire until next October. However, the union will strike in violation of its contract, and under existing laws will suffer no penalties. Labor unions should be liable under contracts just as are individuals and corporations.

Cotton Ceilings

The Department of Agriculture and the Office of Price Administration are now threatening to put a ceiling price on the 1946 crop of raw cotton. This would be an absurd, unreasonable, and harmful. There is no more than 10 cents worth of raw cotton in a man's shirt, and no more than 25 cents worth of raw cotton in the usual cotton dress. The laundryman gets more out of one washing of a cotton garment than the farmer gets for the cotton in the garment. It has been shown that the price a farmer receives for a pound of cotton reflects the wage per hour he receives for producing such cotton. In other words, if a farmer gets 24 cents a pound for cotton, it means that he receives only 24 cents per hour for his toil in its production. Many of those now wanting to put a ceiling on the cotton farmers are strongly recommending a minimum wage of 65 cents per hour for industrial labor, this 65 cents per hour to be increased within two years to 75 cents per hour.

Again, we are asked to extend price control on scarce commodities goods. In his recent speech, the President gave a logical reason for this, saying the price should be held down until there was an adequate supply of the commodities and thus prevent inflation. There is no shortage of cotton. The Commodity Credit Corporation now holds around 5,000,000 bales and it is estimated that we have on hand roughly 20,000,000 bales in excess of what can be processed in the next two years. A policy of putting a price ceiling on a commodity of which we have a surplus and for which producers receive less than 25 cents per hour for their labor is certainly the rankest injustice and is not consistent with any philosophy of theory of price control. The ceiling which O. P. A. threatens to put on the 1946 cotton, with the advice and consent of the Secretary of Agriculture, is 24.09 cents per pound gross weight, for 15/16 inch middling white and extra white cotton.

The present threat of these ceilings is running the price of cotton down. If cotton price ceilings are imposed the farmer will receive much less for his '46 crop than he even received for his '45 crop. Under the '45 price many cotton farmers little more than broke even and many others actually lost money. Labor represents about 70 per cent of the cost of cotton production. The farmer wage rate, or what it cost the farmer to employ labor was in October 1945 about three-and-a-half times what it cost him to hire labor during the period 1909 to 1914, and nearly three times the rate on January 1, 1941. The period 1909 to 1914 is the price period used in figuring parity on agricultural commodities.

On Wednesday of this week more than a hundred of us members of Congress met to protest this threatened action. As this letter is written a committee has just finished meeting with officials of the Department of Agriculture and OPA to discuss this matter; no results have yet been obtained.

During the years 1933 to 1942 we averaged 35,000,000 acres per year in cotton. In 1945 only 17,000,000 acres were planted in cotton. Much cotton land is now being abandoned. If price ceilings are imposed on cotton, more cotton farmers will move into town with many evil results including aggravation of the universal housing shortage. There are many empty houses in the county at this time but none in the towns.

Certainly this exceedingly harmful governmental action should be prevented.

Doyle Jones, who served a number of months in the European Theater, came in several days ago for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Jones. He has received his discharge.

Moffett Explains Amendment For Soldier Voting

The Munday Times has received the following communication from State Senator, George Moffett, of this district concerning the much discussed soldier voting amendment, to the state constitution of which Senator Moffett is the author. His statement follows:

"About 40 years ago, the people of Texas, by a substantial majority, voted for an amendment to the state constitution which levied a poll tax as a prerequisite for voting. Most of the money derived went to the public schools. At that time, persons in the army or navy could not vote in this state. Sentiment has changed, and in August, 1945, the people by a heavy majority, adopted another amendment to the constitution provides that persons in the armed services of the United States, in time of war, may vote without paying a poll tax, while still in the service, and for 18 months after being honorably discharged therefrom, provided they are otherwise qualified as to age, residence, etc. Therefore, all that a Texas veteran now has to do, if he is of legal age is to go to the polls in his home precinct and ask for a ballot. If he is a stranger to the election judge, the latter may require, if he so desires, that the prospective voter an affidavit as to age, residence, and military service. This is nothing new, as the law has authorized it for many years, where a person has lost his poll tax receipt.

There's nothing complicated about this amendment. It says that an individual now in the service or recently discharged therefrom, can vote without a poll tax receipt, if he is otherwise a qualified voter. The idea of a special exemption certificate was discarded by the Legislature because the four million boys still in the service, who will be back by July, are now scattered all over the world. It would be most inconvenient for them to secure such exemption certificate before the deadline arrives on February 1."

RETURNS TO STATES

How Well Has General Electric Met These Objectives?

HIGHER WAGES

Here's how General Electric's increased production and efficiency have affected G-E workers. Average hourly earnings for men, not including overtime pay, have gone up as follows:

1936	$.73
1937	.81
1938	.87
1939	.86
1940	.85
1941	.89
1942	.96
1943	1.05
1944	1.09
1945 (Sept.)	1.09

Overtime pay gave G-E workers more on top of this. G.E. has made jobs for nearly three times as many, 61,781 worked for G.E. nine years ago. In 1945 an average of 145,000 had jobs at G.E. and at much higher pay.

LOWER PRICES

G.E. has an obligation to a second group of people—the public. The public wants improved products at fair prices.

"More goods for more people at less cost"—G.E.'s goal—is not a part-time assignment. It is a job for management and worker alike if G.E. is to keep growing, keep raising wages, keep making more jobs for more workers.

A few figures show typical price decreases:

Refrigerator
1935	$199.00
1941	129.95
Lamp
1935	.15
1945	.10
(PLUS TAX)
Transformer
1935	76.32
1941	69.30
Motor
1935	12.80
1941	8.50
Radio
1935	47.50
1941	27.95

FAIR PROFITS

G. E. during the war earned 4.7% on each dollar of sales. Of this, 4.1% was paid to its more than 200,000 stockholders and the remaining six-tenths of a cent on each dollar was retained in the business to assist in carrying on and expanding its operations.

All money earned over this 4.7% was turned back to the U. S. Government. G-E cost-saving methods had made war goods for less money than the Government expected.

These dividends have been declared per share of common stock since 1936:

1936	$1.50
1937	2.20
1938	.90
1939	1.40
1940	1.84
1941	1.75
1942	1.40
1943	1.40
1944	1.40
1945	1.60

GENERAL ELECTRIC'S OBJECTIVE has been to keep prices moving downward, keep wages going up, and to earn a fair profit. This calls for volume production, more efficient work and methods. With the help of every single employee, General Electric believes it can show our country, as it did in wartime, an example of American enterprise at its best.

says Lucile King, County Home Demonstration Agent for Knox County.

Our program of work for 1945 was adopted to fit the needs of the farm women and girls to help the war effort. Our club goal was to follow the demonstrations pledge. Our first item was National Defense, to produce food, feed, and fiber, interior home improvement, exterior home improvement, clothing, to increase production of milk, eggs, poultry, gardens, cereals, and conservation, co-operative buying and any other items which might pertain to the National Welfare. Regular demonstrations were given on millinery, making of hot tamales, making adspreads, of looper clips, cotton bagging and sugar sacks, stenciling, food preservation, food preparation, producing quality foods, clothing, crocheting, knitting, making dress forms, slip covering, upholstering, kitchen improvement, Christmas gifts, refinishing furniture, making marshmallows, getting rid of household pests, machine and spoilage clothes.

The 4-H Club girls program consisted of regular demonstrations on knitting, crocheting, selection of garden seed, adapted to Knox County, making banana bread, millinery, freeing victory gardens from insect pests, refinishing furniture, rag making, cleaning sweaters with glue, flame proofing materials and treating peach trees for borers and Christmas gifts and making Christmas cards.

In carrying out this program, Lucile King, home demonstration agent, devoted 173 days to adult work, 116 days to 4-H Club work, made 270 home and demonstrator calls; had 560 office calls, 101 telephone calls, prepared 85 news items, distributed 2194 farm and home bulletins, held 23 training meetings for adults with 678 attending, held 2 training meetings for 4-H club girls with 25 girls attending, gave 93 method demonstrations to adults with 1236 attending and 73 method demonstrations to 4-H Club members with 1,739 attending, made talks on Production needs at 9 Farm meetings with 354 attending, attended 7 training and district meetings out of the county and traveled 9695 miles.

An orchard improvement program was begun in 1945. Fourteen hundred grape cuttings of nine different varieties were distributed among the club women at Home Demonstrations Clubs and to farmers and farm women that attended the educational meetings held during the month of January.

Home Improvement program was begun in 1943 and carried over in 1944 and again in 1945. One hundred and fifty five pieces of furniture were refinished, 48 chairs re-seated; 17 chairs and divans were upholstered; 27 slip covers made; 15 families added built in cabinets in their kitchens and 2 added refrigerators. Ten bedspreads and 16 pairs of curtains were made from cotton bagging. Others would have been made had the women been able to secure the bagging. Twenty looper clip bedspreads, three bath rugs and three bath room sets and a number of hot dishes mats have been made from the looper clips. A bedspread can be made from these at a cost of $1.25 each.

Co-Operative Buying
Co-operative buying was begun in 1943, and was carried over into 1944 and again in 1945.

The following things have been purchased through the marketing committee: pineapple, jar lifters, looper clips, stencil paints, hickory bark, scrap-o-leather, and books. Two hundred and ninety three and one half dozen Sugarloaf were ordered. 341 families were benefited by co-operative buying. Of this number 204 families receiving pineapple were non-club members. There were approximately 10,548 pints of pineapple and 5,269 pints of pineapple juice canned. The women figured they saved the County $1,066.94 and 527,400 blue points on pineapple. Seven hundred and sixty six families were helped as a result of cooperative buying of various things during 1945.

Food Preparation
Twenty three demonstrations were given during the 12 months on food preparation to the women and girls. The demonstrations consisted of making hot tamales, making marshmallows and banana bread. Approximately 500 people attended these demonstrations. 500 recipes were distributed and the agent has calls every few days for these recipes.

Food Preservation
Ten demonstrations were given on preparing food for the frozen food locker and producing quality canned foods.

As a result of the demonstration there were 11,250 quarts fruit canned, 12,750 quarts vegetables canned, 3,176 quarts meat canned and 900 quarts fruit frozen, 1,000 quarts vegetables frozen and 998 pounds meat. The 4-H Club girls reported 1,226 quarts fruit, 1,157 quarts vegetables canned and 259 pounds meat put in frozen food lockers.

Clothing

Nine hundred and eleven women and girls attended the demonstrations given on clothing and handwork during 1945. The following phase of clothing were studied: millinery; collars, bags, and dummies; cleaning sweaters with glue; cleaning and blocking men's hats; flame proofing materials; dyeing and dyeing; cleaning and adjusting sewing machines, making dress forms, knitting and crocheting. Two hundred and forty five hats were reported made at the club meetings. 25 leather jackets and 15 bags were made of scrap leather. The women reported making 3948 garments, 73 purses, 37 bonnets, 2421 other articles; 1862 garments cleaned at home; 17 closets built; 24 closets remodeled, 8 hat stands made; 26 shoe racks made, 25 sewing machines cleaned and 127 garments dyed by women and one dress form made.

The 4-H club girls reported knitting 50 foot warmers, making 75 lapel ornaments, made 21 hats; 235 garments, 184 garments remodeled, 6 purses, 200 other articles; 2 closets built, 15 closets remodeled and 49 garments dyed.

One demonstration team was trained to give a demonstration on making cosmetics. Betty Jo Barnett and Sue Moorhouse were the girls who made the demonstration team. The demonstration was given at the 4-H Encampment held at Seymour, Texas, in July.

The girls 4-H clubs throughout the county have some member that have done some outstanding work in 1945. Ninety eight girls won special achievement awards. Jeanette Bock of Vera 4-H Club was selected as the Knox County Gold Star Girl. Paula Jean Allen also of Vera was selected as the scholarship contestant of the county and also for the district. Faye Ryder of Gilliland 4-H club has been selected as the Contestant for scholarship contestant to represent Knox County in the District.

The most outstanding thing done in the Home Demonstration Council in 1945 was that of establishing a Knox County Home Demonstration Memorial Free Library as a memorial to the boys and girls that served their country's call in Knox County. The goal for the year was set to have 500 books in the library and now they have a librarian Bryson Laird is the librarian and the library will be open every Friday from 1:00 till 5:00 p. m. We urge everyone when in Benjamin, on Friday to visit the library. While the program of work for 1945 was quite interesting we think we have one much more interesting planned for 1946 and also very practical.

Good Planting Seed For Cotton May Be Scarce

Dallas.—Immediate steps to insure supplies of good planting seed, needed to plant the increased cotton acreage established as Texas' goal for 1946, were urged today by the Texas Cotton Production Committee.

"More seed will be needed to plant this increased acreage," the Committee pointed out, "but the volume and quality of seed available were reduced by the short 19-45 cotton crop."

"Businessmen can render a valuable service to farmers and their communities by assisting in obtaining quality seed from reliable sources, and in seeing that seed is tested for germination."

Treating planting seed according to recommendations of the Texas Experiment Station and Extension Service also is especially important this season, the Committee added.

Seed treatment that controls disease helps to assure better stands of cotton and reduce the amount of planting seed required; and Texas Experiment Station tests have resulted in increases in cotton yields per acre ranging up to an average of 25 per cent at some Stations. Most favorable results came from planting delinted seed, treated with a fungicide.

"Good seed, properly treated, will pay Texas cotton growers big dividends in 1946. This offers one of the best opportunities for increasing the yield, per acre. Both higher yields and more acres are needed to supply cottonseed feed products, cottonseed oil, cotton fiber and other products," the Committee's statement said.

Meat Curing Is Taught Local Club People

Three hundred and sixty seven 4-H Club boys and girls and their adult sponsors attended the "Killing and Curing" and "Pork on Parade" demonstrations which were held by the County Extension Agents, R. O. Dunkle and Lucile King in nine different communities of Knox County last week.

These demonstrations were given to bring out some of the very important points in killing, curing and preparing meat for home use. The County Agent, R. O. Dunkle gave a very interesting discussion and demonstration in the preparation of getting ready for the day that the hogs are to be killed. The first point, which is very necessary is that the hog should be kept off feed for 24 hours prior to killing. As hogs starved for 24 hours will bleed much better than when left on feed. The second point, do not overheat the hog before killing, and to stick the hog with a knife rather than by shooting. This method of killing, according to the meat specialist of A and M. College will cause the hog to bleed from a pint to a quart more than when shot and stuck. Other important points are 1. Proper temperature of scalding water, 2. Cutting meat up after it has chilled, 3. placing in the salt cure with flesh side up, and 4. leaving each piece in the salt cure 2 days per lb. on hams and shoulders and 1 day per lb. for the bacon. The meat is then removed from the salt, and when the last piece comes out of the cure all the meat is soaked in luke warm water from 1 to 3 days. Then, if desired the meat can be smoked in a wooden barrel as was demonstrated to the 4-H club members from a period of from 18 to 24 hours, using green mesquite for the wood.

In illustrating this demonstration a ham that had been cured and smoked according to the procedure was shown to all boys and girls. Miss Lucile King, County Home Demonstration Agent, then followed this "Killing and Curing" demonstration by showing the proper method of roasting the half ham. She explained that the meat should be roasted in an open pan using a rack to hold the meat off the bottom of the pan, and that the meat should be roasted at a low temperature for a period of 90 minutes to the pound of meat. The ham used for this demonstration, weighed 8 pounds and was cooked 4 hours. Thirty minutes before the ham was roasted the outer rind was removed and the ham was scored making a diamond shaped design and with in each diamond was placed a small clove. Miss King used the following mixture of 1 teaspoon mustard and 1 cup of brown sugar to cover the ham before placing it back in the oven, for the required 30 minutes period. After roasting the ham it was placed on a platter and garnished it with home canned pears, cherries and carrot tops, which made it most attractive. Miss King also prepared a fruit cup, using oranges and seeded grapes, and garnished with Ligustrum leaves.

Each boy and girl who witnessed the demonstration expressed themselves as wanting to sample the very appetizing meat and fruit cup display.

Sheriff L. C. Floyd of Benjamin was a business visitor here last Tuesday.

The program will consist of songs by the ACC a Cappella chorus; prayers by James F. Cox, president meritor of ACC; and Paul C. Witt, head of the science department of ACC; reading by Major Landon Hill, former student in ACC; and addressed by Chaplain Jack Fogarty, returned veteran now enrolled in ACC, and President Don H. DEMONSTRATES DAD'S PRODUCT

Miss Katherine Stevens of Macon, Miss., easily lifts a roll of the light, flame-proof cotton insulation recently installed in her family's plantation home to protect it from heat and cold. Her father, Boswell Stevens, chairman of the Mississippi Marketing Commission and vice president of the Mississippi Farm Bureau, expects insulation to become a primary outlet for the nation's cotton crop. Light weight, ease of installation, and unsurpassed insulating efficiency already have brought the new product to twelfth place among all of cotton's industrial uses.

Cotton Crop Insurance Now Is Under Way

COLLEGE STATION.—The 1946 crop insurance program got underway this week in the Rio Grande Valley where the deadline for taking out insurance on this year's crop is set for February 15.

As cotton-planting time moves north, Federal Crop Insurance Corporation sales agents and ACA committeemen will launch sales campaigns in other sections of the State. Donald L. Cothran, State Crop Insurance Director, has announced. Texas is divided into five areas with different sign-up deadlines because of the wide variance in times for planting.

Cothran emphasized that the farmer who wants to take out insurance should sign his application either before he plants or before the deadline for his area, whichever is earlier. The insurance covers all unavoidable risks, such as drought, flood, excessive rain, disease and insects, but does not insure against failure to plant in accordance with good farming practices or avoidable losses resulting from mismanagement or negligence.

Money collected by the corporation as premiums is used only to pay loss claims, since all administrative expenses of program are paid by the FCIC which is supported by Congressional appropriations, the insurance official declared.

In 1945 the program got off to a late start because it was not authorized by Congress until December, but still insurance was in force on 45,908 cotton farms in the state. Participation in the program is expected to be much greater this year.
