Hatchery Begins Seventh Year Chick Production

More Than Two Thousand Dollars Is Paid Annually In Premium Prices For First Quality Eggs Produced in Donley County

The Clarendon Hatchery began operations here in the spring of 1929 with a 52,000 capacity egg incubator. The fine quality of the chicks and the fair business methods of the firm caused the business to expand to the point that the incubator capacity was increased to 156,000 in 1931.

The management has seen an ever increasing demand for the quality product, not only locally, but from surrounding states as well.

The big incubators were filled January 7th as the first run on the spring hatch. Advance orders had been received from points in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma. Orders continue to come in from distant sections, while the local demand is all that could be desired. "Quality chicks and liberal advertising has brought our thousands of repeat orders," Mr. Frank White, manager, stated Tuesday.

During all the years, or since the business was established, the actual management of the incubators has been under the supervision of Mr. Lee Mears, who had previous experience before coming here seven years ago.

Orders for chicks of twenty-two varieties are being booked. Chicks of any age may be had by the customer.

Hatching eggs come from state accredited flocks for which premium prices are paid. Local egg producers are paid an approximate annual premium of over $2,000.00 for eggs that meet the test for hatching. "Every hundred baby chicks shipped out of the county brings a dollar premium into the county," Mr. White states.

For the convenience of the customers, a full line of feeds, flower, field and garden seeds are stocked. This department of the business has shown an increase until this year the seed department stock is larger than ever before.

Visiting Relatives in East Texas This Week

Leaving today, Mrs. M. D. Hudson will visit the old home section down near Sulphur springs. Possibly this is her annual visit since she visited down there some months back.

With her are a son and daughter, Mrs. C. L. Benson and Clyde Hudson and Mrs. Clyde Hudson. Clyde has long wanted to sample a vineless punkin' yam freshly baked. He chose the champion yam and Jersey butter to make the supreme test. Perhaps he can tell the Leader family about it when he gets back.

Cobb Harris Given Fine-Jail Sentence

Pleading guilty to a charge of liquor possession for purpose of sale Monday before Judge S. W. Lowe, J. Cobb Harris was assessed a fine of $300 and a sixty-day jail term.

Judgment was stayed for sixty days to enable the accused to dispose of his skating rink and domino parlor.

Crying Need For Homes—Rooms

Almost daily inquiries are made at the Leader office for rent houses, apartments or rooms.

Small want-ads placed in the Leader get results within a few hours. Those having rental space of any kind might as well have this rent income for the price of 25 cents—a notice in the Classified Column of the Leader.

Old Boreas Howls

This part of the state has had a touch of winter this week that kept fires going and many grumbling about the brand handed out by the weather man.

Monday morning dawned serene and calm with a temperature of 53 at 8:30, but dropped to 23 within two hours.

Tuesday opened at 10 above and reached a maximum of 23 at 2 p. m.

Wednesday the thermometer stood at 17 above at 7:30.

This morning the thermometer stood at 19 with a cold wave predicted by Friday with possible snow—if the weather man has it doped out right.

President's Ball Nets $132 To Cause

Local Contributions Come Up to Standards Set In Other Communities

Manager Homer Mulkey and others interested in the crippled children's movement here are jubilant over the way citizens have rallied to a worthy cause.

"Tell the folks we certainly appreciate the way they have responded to the cause of crippled children," Mr. Mulkey stated Wednesday.

The President's Ball held at the Opera House Friday night netted well over a hundred dollars. This sum with personal contributions, brings the total up to $132 at this time.

Others have signified their intention of contributing, and Mr. Mulkey requests that such contributions be handed in as soon as possible that the remittance of thirty percent be sent to headquarters.

Seventy percent of the proceeds will be kept in Donley county for the benefit of crippled children, and the thirty percent will be sent to the Warm Springs, Georgia Foundation.

TOM E. NAYLOR RITES ARE HELD HERE SUNDAY

War Veteran Died Friday In Amarillo Hospital Of Brain Tumor

A large concourse of people from over the county gathered at the Methodist church at 2 p. m. Sunday to pay their last tributes of respect to one of Donley County's most outstanding citizens in the person of Thomas Earl Naylor.

Ill for several months, Mr. Naylor was taken to Mineral Wells, Dallas and Muskogee in search of medical assistance that might restore his health. A stay of several days in the e'teran's Hospital at Muskogee availed nothing. Mrs. Naylor, ever with him to render every service possible with a loyalty and devotion that portrayed a wonderful character, took her husband to an Amarillo hospital as a final effort in search of help.

He gradually grew worse until death came to his relief late Friday evening, the 31st. He is said to have been afflicted with a brain tumor, verified by an autopsy held by surgeons Saturday.

Mr. Naylor was a native of Donley county and grew to manhood in the Naylor community. His age at death was 41 years, 4 months and 25 days.

Church services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. E. D. Landreth, at the Methodist church with Rev. W. T. Lackey assisting. The Burial (Continued to Page 8)

Homer Glascoe Dies From Burns Received in Home

Former Bank President and Postmaster Had Led An Eventful Career in Donley County for Period of Twenty-Six Years. Funeral is Held Today.

Grim tragedy stalked the footsteps of one of Donley county's most beloved citizens Tuesday night when he entered the bathroom of his home about 10 p. m. Practically an invalid for the past few years, and unable to call for help, only circumstances can tell of the fate that befell the aged man.

Alone in the home were Mrs. Glascoe and her aged mother, Mrs. Hastie. Becoming uneasy over the continued absence of her husband, Mrs. Glascoe went to the bathroom a few minutes later only to find her husband a flaming torch. His night clothing had evidently caught fire from the bathroom heater.

Dr. T. H. Ellis and C. J. Douglas were first to answer to the call for help and the injured man was hastily taken to Adair hospital. An examination by physicians soon disclosed his fate. Mr. Glascoe passed away about 5 a. m. Wednesday, conscious to the last and bearing the pain with that same heroic stoicism that had characterized his daily demeanor all through his long life.

Funeral services were conducted at the family home this afternoon at 2:30 by Rev. Robt. S. McKee,

LIGHT COMPANY REDUCED RATES FEBRUARY 1st

Fifth Voluntary Reduction In Rates is Made Over 10 Year Period

The West Texas Utility Company this week announced another voluntary reduction in lighting rates. This most recent reduction will apply to what is known as commercial or business lighting consumers, and will effect an average saving of 15.3 percent for all of this class of customers in Clarendon who have been using current in excess of the minimum charge.

The reduction has already gone into effect as the new rate was used in figuring the statements mailed out February 1st.

This change places the commercial lighting rate on a simple block schedule, with a very attractive lower bracket for the larger users. It is believed this new rate will prove quite an incentive for more customers to increase their lighting facilities.

Donley County is Carved From Buffalo Range '78

Early History of Donley County as Written Into the Records By B. H. White, First County Clerk, When the County Was Reorganized in April, 1882

In the extreme Northwestern part of Texas is a large area, which, from the days of the Republic, has been known as the Panhandle. It infact all of North-west Texas has been so called. The true Panhandle, however, consists of 25 counties aggregating about 24,000 square miles. It extends from the 100th Meridian on the East to New Mexico on the West, and from Oklahoma (Beaver County) (No man's land on the north to about the 34th Parallel, North Latitude on the South. By an act of the 13th Legislature, a scope of country 60 miles square was established as Wedgeworth County, so named in honor of C. Wedgeworth President of the Texas Emigration and Supply Company. In this was included the present counties, Collingsworth, Wheeler, Gray and Donley.

Subsequently by an act of the 15th Legislature, the whole of the Panhandle was sub-divided into Counties, and the law creating Wedgeworth County, was repealed. Donley County was established by this act, and named in honor of Stocton P. Donley, a distinguished Judge of the Supreme Court, and whose picture now hangs in the District Court Room. The eastern boundary of Donley County is 30 miles west of the 100th meridian. The 35th Parallel of latitude north running nearly through its center, being the same Parallel that constituted the south boundary of the State of Tennessee. Its altitude will average about 2600 feet above the sea level. The Salt Fork of the Red river runs through its center from West to East. Into this numerous streams flow from the North with only one of consequence from the South.

Better Times Are Predicted

Auto and machinery manufacturers see better times ahead, hence factories are humming. Farm machinery manufacturers claim that farmers will be unable to produce an oversupply this season due to the extreme shortage.

"Burdensome surplus of basic farm supplies on the market are the smallest in 10 years," it is announced. "Thus farm markets are better able to stand alone than in many years. Even if all restrictions on production were removed there could be no oversupply until the 1937 harvest at the earliest, and not even then in most products," a leading manufacturer states.

Auto Tags May Now Be Had At Tax Collector's

The 60-day period for purchase of new automobile license tags opened Saturday, February 1st.

The cost of automobile registrations will be the same as has been in effect for several years. Motorists are requested to bring in the 1935 registration receipt to speed up service in the tax collector's office, and avoid delay in waiting on patrons.

The 1936 tags carry the centennial colors of dark blue numbers on a cream background. This color scheme is reversed for commercial plates.

Issuance of driver's licenses which will cost the motorist nothing, is scheduled to start Feb. 14. Every motorist must have both his driving license and the 1936 tags not later than April 1.

THE COUNTRY EDITOR.

The editor of the Tonganoxie, (Kans.) Mirror recently wrote in his weekly newspaper that for better than 20 years he has watched the world go by, through the windows of country-town print shops.

"The things one sees from this vantage point would fill many books, and what one writes in that time would fill an average library. Country editors rarely get rich, but they have a mighty interesting time."

Commenting on the Kansas editor's philosophy, the Kansas City Star assails one point by mentioning that, what the country editor does NOT print would fill several libraries. The comment goes on to say that residents of the smaller communities should love their country editors for what they do not write rather than for what they write.

Country editors discard a lot of what they see and hear and print what is clean, decent and helpful—avoiding, as far as possible, utterances that tend to humiliate or wound the feelings of innocent relatives of those who occasionally transgress.

It is a glowing tribute the Star pays the rural press and one that, in the main, is not over done. The comment led off with a heading which read: "Country Editor Deserves a Halo." That decision, through innate modesty, is left to the opinion of this paper's family of readers.

THE HIGH COST OF VICTORY.

War was aptly defined many years ago as "a rich man's war, and a poor man's fight." The World War was no exception. Those who create war profit from the sale of war supplies. Those who fight endure misery. The war profiteer refuses to pay income taxes, and the fighter asks for a pension after the fighting is over.

We won the war, perhaps, but we can't afford to win another one for a hundred years or more.

The alleged bonus bill is but a part of the debt yet to be paid. We will have more than a century in which to pay pensions. Those who dance must pay the fiddler. It might not have been "our" war, but we stood for the idea after profiteers flooded our nation with propaganda.

Some continue to think that we should have gotten into the fight. It should worry them less in paying the price than those who felt that we should behave, stay at home and mind our own knitting. Very few of those who endured the actual hardships of the battlefield, will tell us that we should have gone off across the ocean "with a chip on our shoulder."

At any rate, it is too late to weep over it now. We simply have to dig down and pay taxes by the billion. Nations who borrowed and never expected to pay back, are getting ready for another war. They owe us far more than has been spent during the Roosevelt administration, but the money helped war profiteers. The money spent during the past two years has gone largely to prevent millions starving to death.

If we don't want to pay the price, we can stay out of war. "Millions for defense, but not a cent for tribute." The same applies to man-power.

Chevrolet Proves Value Local Newspaper Advertising

That the automobile buying habits of a nation can be changed, and that the liberal and aggressive use of newspaper advertising is one effective way of changing them, is evident from the experience of the Chevrolet Motor Company, according to W. E. Holler, its vice president and general sales manager, who cited an array of sales records dating back to the new car announcement Nov. 2, 1935, by way of proving his point.

Although Mr. Holler's comment was occasioned by the recent used car selling achievements of Chevrolet dealers, it applies with equal force, he said, to their new car activities. The early announcement of new models, coupled with wide use of advertising pointing to the advantages of early purchase, resulted in the case of Chevrolet in a complete upset of the old order—a complete reversal of the industry's experience in the past, when November and December were two of the quietest months of the entire year.

"The Chevrolet Motor Company," said Mr. Holler, "had every reason to believe that, economic conditions being favorable the public stands as ready to buy in the fall as it does in the spring.

"In preparing for its early announcement, Chevrolet banked on its ability, by means of advertising and showings, to convince the public of the benefits it would derive by buying new cars in November and December. As we pointed out, the early buyer insures against cold-weather driving troubles, by obtaining a mechanical unit that is new throughout. Further, such an investment is sound from the economic standpoint, for the car bought in the winter remains a current model longer than the car purchased in the spring.

"That these considerations, and availability of new models for Christmas gifts, appealed strongly to the public is plain from the sales figures. November's retail sales of new units were 91,959, and December's were 80,827. These combined with a high October figure to produce a fourth-quarter total of 207,140 units—the greatest in the history of Chevrolet.

LITTLE FEET

There is no music quite so sweet As patter of a baby's feet. Who never hears along the hall The sound of tiny feet that fall Upon the floor, so soft and low As eagerly they come or go.

There is a music of the spheres Too fine to ring in mortal ears, Yet not more delicate and sweet Than pattering of baby feet; Where'er I hear that pit-a-pat Which falls upon the velvet mat, Out of my dreamy nap I start And hear the echo in my heart.

'Tis difficult to put in words The music of the summer birds, Yet far most difficult a thing—A lyric for the pattering, Here is a music telling me Of golden joys that are to be, Unheralded by horns or drums, To me a regal caller comes.

Now on my couch I lie and hear A little toddler coming near, Coming right boldly to my place To pull my hair and pat my face, Undaunted by my age or size, Nor caring that I am not wise, A visitor devoid of sham Who loves me for just what I am.

This soft low music tells to me In just a minute I shall be Made captive of a thousand charms, Held fast by chubby little arms, For there is no one upon the way Who thinks the world was made for play, Oh, where's the sound that's half so sweet As pattering of a baby's feet? —Author unknown.

THE GREAT CONTROVERSY

W. Wallace Layton, Minister Identity of the N. T. Church Article V

Paul said, "we called into the kingdom"—(I Thess. 2:12) He again said "we are called into the body" (Col. 3:15) And again he teaches that the body is the church (Col. 1:18, 24) Hence to be in the kingdom is to be in the church. The church idea presents the "called out" the "sanctified" (I Cor. 1:2,3) while the kingdom presents the "rule" and "laws", features Jesus as Lord, King, and absolute monarch.

Various figures are used to illustrate the divine institution known as the church; but they each portray some feature of the same institution. When the New Testament institution is mentioned as a builder, Jesus is the foundation; as a body, Jesus is the head; as a Kingdom, Jesus is the King and yet He is not the foundation of one church; head over another; and still King over another. Just as Jesus is set forth as a lion, lamb, rose, root, Savior, Priest, Redeemer, etc. yet but one Character set forth from different views, in order to emphasize that particular phase of His work, so also is the church viewed from different points of observation.

Up to the present we have been engaged in grasping a more definite acquaintance with the N. T. Church, and now we desire to turn your thoughts to the subject proper—that of identifying this institution. There are some where in the neighborhood of 175 churches in America, and it is only pertinent to ask which of these is the one body, the one church, the one family which we read about in God's word? If this question is on your heart, then you will be interested in the articles which follow, beginning next week.

Do You Ever Wonder

Whether the "Pain" Remedy You Use is SAFE? Ask Your Doctor and Find Out

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well - Being to Unknown Preparations

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN.

He will tell you that before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and, often, for the heart. Which is food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

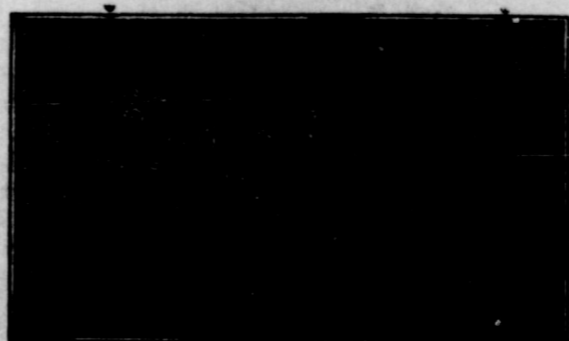

Scientists rate Bayer Aspirin among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions of users has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this.

You can get Genuine Bayer Aspirin at any drug store—simply by asking for it by its full name, BAYER ASPIRIN. Make it a point to do this—and see that you get what you want.

Big Cast Makes "Collegiate" Outstanding Musical Film; Showing February 12-13th

Production of Paramount's new musical picture, "Collegiate", proved a task of stupendous proportions, with more than 2,000 persons contributing to the film's completion and with about seventy different studio departments taking part.

"Collegiate" has more than thirty speaking parts. The cast includes Joe Penner, Jack Oakie, Ned Sparks, Frances Langford, Betty Grable and Lynne Overman. The picture opens Wednesday at the Pastime Theatre for two days.

Several hundred extras and 150 chorus girls worked in the picture. Betty Jane Cooper was brought from New York for a dance specialty. A dozen of Hollywood's more beautiful models were used in one sequence. But the majority of the workers were behind the camera, not in front of it.

The wardrobe department turned out 300 school uniforms for the girls. One-half were middie blouse and skirt combinations. The rest were more attractive "shirt-and-shorts" effects. The studio had to call in extra seamstresses to make the uniforms.

Leroy Prinz, the studio dance director, and four assistants spent two weeks rehearsing the girls in the routines they do in the picture. Miss Cooper leads the girls in two of these dance specialties.

The property department built seventy-five modernistic desks of glass and aluminum for one scene. It built a piano keyboard eighty feet long and twelve feet high for another. Every ordinary set used in the picture—interiors of various rooms—had to be built twice.

The story deals with the efforts of Penner, Oakie, Sparks and Overman to conduct a girls' school. They modernize the entire plant, including the dormitory rooms, the teachers' living quarters, classrooms and executive offices.

Mack Gordon and Harry Revel not only wrote eight different songs for the picture, but also acted in it themselves. This isn't their first appearance before the camera—they peeked in on one scene of "Sitting Pretty"—but it is the first time they have had acting parts.

Two orchestras played their songs. One was a girl band of twenty pieces. The other was the studio orchestra of thirty pieces, led by Georgie Stoll, with which Miss Langford, Miss Grable, Oakie and Penner sang their respective songs.

Much of the action was filmed on location at Canoga Park high school. The entire company was transported there daily in a fleet of cars and busses. A kitchen crew went along to prepare meals for the actors and workmen.

The property department had its worries. Among other things called for were a red lantern, a policeman's badge, two horses, a bag of sand, a scrapbook full of pictures and stories about Oakie, a dozen pictures of venerated graduating classes and sundry other little items.

EARLY HISTORY—

Stop! Look! Listen! Where will you be fifty years from now? Are you making elaborate provision for time and none for eternity? Are you toiling early and late in an effort to store away goods that your body might never hunger? That is very good. No one has ever questioned the wisdom of such a procedure. It is well to make provision for a rainy day, but what about provision for a fiery day? The rainy day may never come, but the fiery day is sure. Are not the needs of the soul as great as the body? Then why make provision for one and entirely neglect the other? To the body you give your best thought and toil six days in each week, while to the soul you give not six hours in a year. For a life that may end to-morrow, and at most must pass away in a few years, you give as much care, while for the life must abide eternally no provision is made. No risks for the body and all risks for the soul. The wise person is the one who looks after both. Give your soul a chance to feed on the things of God by attending the services of your church Sunday. You will enjoy the fellowship of your friends and form relationships that will be lasting

There are breaks and sand along the rivers and creeks but otherwise it is generally rolling prairie with a dark chocolate soil of great depth and apparently inexhaustible fertility.

At the time the act establishing and naming the counties went into effect, this portion of Texas was practically an unexplored region inhabited by hostile and aggressive Indians who subsisted on the countless buffaloes that grazed on its nutritious grasses as well as by raids on the nearest settlements.

It was a region seldom penetrated by white men other than adventurous buffalo hunters such as Emanuel Dubbs and Billie Dixon.

To The Citizenship of The 100th Judicial District of Texas

By this announcement, I desire to submit my candidacy for the nomination to the office of District Judge for the 100th Judicial District of Texas, subject to the Democratic Primary to be held in July of this year. In placing my candidacy before the Citizenship of this district, I do so with a full appreciation of the responsibilities connected with this important office.

It is through this court that the greater part of the civil rights of the citizenship must be adjudicated, and a redress for their wrongs established. It is here that the most important part of our criminal laws are to be enforced. This being true, I feel it necessary and required of me, at this time, to submit the matters touching on my qualifications for the office, and my attitude in connection with the carrying out of the purpose for which this court was established.

I have been a member of the Texas Bar for Thirty Years and have been actively engaged in the practice of the law for this period of time and during the last twenty four years I have resided in this District at Memphis, Hall County, Texas, where the principal part of my service in the practice of the Law has been rendered. This being true and a goodly number of the citizenship of this District having had observation and contact with such service, I deem it of no value to give further reference.

If it should be the will of the citizenship of this District to show me the favor of electing me to this office, I promise every effort will be made to carry out the purposes for which the District Court was established. Having in mind at all times that it is the duty of a District Judge in acting on matters that come before him as such, to have the law uppermost in his mind as his rule and guide; and do this free from bias or prejudice, uninfluenced by any other motives than to make every honest effort to apply the law to the end that all men may find themselves equal before the law as intended.

I am a firm believer in the enforcement of all of our criminal laws. A lack of enforcement of some of such laws, regardless of the magnitude of the offense condemned by the law, has the tendency to bring about a disregard for other laws. There are abundant reasons why our laws should be enforced for the protection of the social as well as the material welfare of the State, and one last reason that I should add, and that is, they should be obeyed because it is the Law.

I fully understand that the District Judge is not an executive officer, but a judicial one. That it is his duty to judge the law and not to execute it. That duty is on others. However, there are powers vested in the District Court, when properly used, that can greatly assist the executive officers in bringing about a more full, fair and complete enforcement of the law. These powers I will always stand ready to use, when necessary, and in doing so will recognize that the law was made for its observance as much for the officers selected to administer the law, as it was made for its observance by the masses; and that it should be observed by such officers in the enforcement thereof.

Second only to the duty of the District Judge to do all that is in his power to so administer the affairs of the Court to see that a fair and impartial trial is had of the cases filed and submitted to said court, is the one of economy. Every effort should be made to promptly dispose of the cases pending, avoiding unnecessary delays, which are costly; and in every way possible take such action in the interest of economy in the administration of the duties of the Court as should be found proper. This I shall do, if intrusted with the office.

Before the Primary in July, I shall make an active campaign and will make every effort to see personally as many of the voters of the District as it will be possible for me to do. However, in the mean time I will be pleased that a careful consideration on the part of the citizenship be given my candidacy and that after making such investigation, as may be desired on the part of the voters, I would greatly appreciate your support.

Resp. Submitted,
 A. S. MOSS.

AT FIRST METHODIST CHURCH
 SERVICES AT 10:50 a. m. and 5:00 p. m. SUNDAY

A large congregation came Sunday afternoon at five o'clock to attend the first of the Family Circle Services, and it was good to see so many of the families coming to church together. Next Sunday afternoon we expect still a larger congregation and we hope that even more of the families will be in attendance and sit together. There will be splendid congregational singing led by the young people's choir and orchestra, special music, and the sermon by the pastor. You'll enjoy this friendly hour of worship.

Other services of the day will be as usual. Regardless of the weather our building will be warm throughout, and you will be comfortable. Come to Sunday School at 9:45, and be with us in our morning worship at 10:50. E. D. Landreth, pastor.

W. B. Haile is Candidate For City Commission

The Leader carries the announcement this week of Mr. W. B. Haile for the office of City Commissioner of Clarendon. Mr. Haile becomes a candidate upon the insistence of his friends and neighbors.

A resident of Northwest Texas for 45 years, Mr. Haile has been a resident taxpayer in Clarendon since 1919. His friends and supporters believe that, due to his thorough knowledge of conditions in our section, he will be amply qualified to conduct the office in an able manner if he has the approval of a majority.

He makes no promises other than "to do the right thing" if elected.

A NATIONAL YOUTH MESSAGE

A letter from Lyndon B. Johnson, Director for Texas National Youth Administration says: "We have a message that is of vital importance to all agencies working with youth. We are calling upon you directly to use every means in your power, through bulletin boards, signs, newspaper articles, radio, meetings, personal contacts to get to the eligible youth in your community the following message: The National Youth Administration has half a million dollars to spend in the State of Texas on projects that will give employment to youth from relief or WPA families, that will provide job training and these projects, when completed will be of use to all youth in a community. These youth may earn from $1 to $4 per day, depending upon their skill and the wage scale in the county in which they are employed. A youth may work only 46 hours each month on these part-time NYA projects, but by using three or four groups, a project may be operated continuously.

In order to be eligible these youth must be certified by the caseworker of the Texas Relief Commission, and must also be registered with the National Re-employment Service or the Texas State Employment Service."

Mr. Johnson says there are youth available for these projects.

and that the money given this State by Washington should, and can be put to serve a useful purpose.

Stainless Steel Discs—this amazing improvement in cream separators is another triumph for McCormick-Deering. Here is a cream separator that brings to your milk room the same positive assurance of cleanliness, sanitation, and safety that you demand of kitchen equipment.

Stainless Steel Discs are absolutely rustproof. They are made of tough, strong, closely grained metal that will stay the same for years—there is no soft coating to wear away. As a result, the bowl in the McCormick-Deering will remain in balance a great deal longer than one having ordinary tinned carbon-steel discs.

INTERESTING FACTS REGARDING TEXAS HISTORY IN AN EARLY EXCITING EPOCH

Towering above the elite of the "men of destiny" who carved the republic of Texas from the crumbling granite of the Spanish empire stands a forgotten man—Felipe Endique Neri, known as the Baron of Bastrop. Documents in the Bexar Archives of The University of Texas present the Baron of Bastrop as the man who made the colonization project of the Austin gentlemen possible. Without his aid Texas would not have been colonized during the Spanish regime. Supplementary documents from sources other than the Bexar Archives reveal this man as a wandering refugee, a daring dreamer, a constant failure, yet an unselfish, persevering, and noble creature.

A refugee from Holland, he arrived in Ouachita in September, 1795. His commanding figure and facility of language gave him easy access to Coronado, Spanish governor of Louisiana. After a brief and bold series of interviews and proposals, the Baron had persuaded the Spanish governor to enter into a colonization contract with him. By the terms of this contract five hundred families were to be brought into the province of Louisiana by the Baron. Twelve leagues of land were granted him for the colony. The settlers were to be given supplies by the government for six months. He was given the privilege of building flour mills, and a right of way 36 feet wide and 400 miles long. The Baron went to work diligently and in a few months had secured about one hundred settlers. For a great number of reasons, difficult to explain, his venture soon proved to be a complete failure. Wheat could not be raised in that region. The immigrants proved to be untrustworthy. And, worst of all, the king in 1801 disapproved of the project.

Disappointed, but not embittered by his failure, the Baron followed the Spanish flag into Texas after the transfer of Louisiana to the United States in 1803. On September 1, 1805, he set out from Nacogoches and arrived in San Antonio a few weeks later.

His dream of starting a colonization project had not died with his failure in Louisiana. On September 29, 1805, he asked permission of the commandant general to settle in Texas and to bring immigrants into the province. On October 18, 1805, he was given the right to settle and "to establish himself in this province on the lands and rivers between the Trinity and this capitol, with a colony of seventy or one hundred families and the Choctaw Indians, faithful defenders of the Spanish dominions." The Baron had also applied for permission to take five hundred horses to Louisiana, but this petition was denied. As his first attempt, this colonizing scheme was never realized. He could not induce immigrants to come to Texas, and the Choctaw Indians preferred American to Spanish trading regulations.

On December 19, 1806, the Baron applied for permission to establish a warehouse in which he could sell goods to the Indians at New Orleans prices. The commandant general refused to grant his request.

His next move was to engage in freighting supplies from Monterey, and other points, for the army post in San Antonio.

Slowly but surely the old Baron was gaining the confidence of the Spanish government. In 1809 nearly all foreigners were expelled from Texas because of the disturbance created by Napoleon Bonaparte in Spain. The Baron of Bastrop had been under strict surveillance for a long time, but his conduct had been such that he was never molested. By 1816 the Spanish government had become so well convinced of the good character of the Baron that Mariano Varela, acting governor, appointed him official interpreter and confidential agent for sounding out other foreigners. Between the years 1807 and 1820 very little has been recorded of the activity of Don Felipe Neri, but it may be assumed that he remained in good standing with the Spanish government since his name never appears in any court record. By the year 1820 he was well established as official translator and interpreter, with the additional honor of being second alcaide of San Antonio. It was during the last month in this same year that a momentous chance meeting occurred in the town square of San Antonio.

On the afternoon of December 23, 1820, Moses Austin arrived in San Antonio. Without the loss of time, he appeared before Governor Antonio Martinez and set forth his colonizing scheme. The kindly but quick tempered Spaniard listened impatiently to the impertinent foreigner for a few minutes and then ordered him to leave the province as quickly as possible. Weary, dejected, and disappointed Moses Austin was slowly walking towards his pack mules in the square when a tall and dignified old man approached him. Although 23 years had elapsed since their chance meeting in a tavern in New Orleans, the two old men at once recognized each other. Moses set forth his plans to the Baron. The Baron immediately invited him to partake of the frugal hospitality of his lonely home. On a rough-hewn and shaking table, straining their fading eyes by the light of an old Spanish candle, the two old kindred spirits tenderly prepared their plans and maps—the swaddling clothes of the vigorous State of Texas.

This was the third and last colonizing scheme of the old Baron. It was not his own creation, but it was his ever-present dream. On December 29, 1820, Bastrop presented Austin's colonization plan to Don Antonio Martinez. The Spaniard liked the plan and forwarded it to the commandant general with his recommendation for approval. And the story of the colonization of Texas from then on is well known.

Usually most of the credit for the success of colonization is given to Austin. It should, nevertheless, be recalled that the Spanish governor approved the plan only because of Bastrop's influence. One should also remember that Bastrop always served as intermediary between the colonists and the Spanish and Mexican government officials. On July 16, 1823, Bastrop was appointed commissioner of Austin's colony. On August 3, 1824 Stephen F. Austin and the Baron of Bastrop were at the house of Sylvanus Castleman, near the present town of Columbus, and there issued land titles to the colonists. On August 4, 1823, Bastrop conferred the title of lieutenant colonel on Stephen F. Austin. In 1824 Bastrop was elected elector of the colonists to the Assembly in Bexar. On May 10, 1824, Bastrop was elected representative for Texas to the Coahuila and Texas legislature. The Baron, as the representative of the Americans especially, worked unceasingly for religious toleration, and for the admission of slavery. He favored the establishment of a primary school in San Antonio, the establishment of a seaport at Galveston, the appointment of a political chief for Texas, and the establishment of a uniform colonization law. Many of these ideas he succeeded in carrying out in spite of much opposition.

The arduous tasks of the colonists finally took their toll on the old man, now over 80 years of age. On January 3, 1827, he became ill and left the legislative halls of Saltillo, never to return. On February 23, 1827, the noble and unselfish old man took his last breath.

The man was gone but his body and his memory remained. In his carefully written will he listed much property in land and personal goods. When a check was made, however, it was found that the only worldly possession he really owned was a small rock house and a lot in San Antonio. He had left no funds even for his burial. He had not accumulated enough funds for the purchase of one suit of clothes.

Some of his friends took up a collection and obtained a fine suit of clothes in which to bury him. While the solemn and dignified ceremonies were being held, a curious and depraved Mexican was hovering about the funeral home. His mind and heart were not touched by the solemnity of the occasion, but his greedy eye was caught by the fine quality of the clothes holding the body of the deceased Baron. The legend continues, taking the Mexican to the grave of the Baron of Bastrop at midnight. With cowardly yet feverish thrusts of the shovel, the thief dug up the coffin of the old Baron. He proceeded to disrobe the massive frame, and seemed to be succeeding when, unexpectedly, a heavy arm fell on his neck. The Baron's spirit evidently had revolted at the sacrilegious theft. The Mexican fled in terror and confessed his sin to the nearest priest. The following day at midnight, the priest was again called upon to administer another sacrament to the deprived one: this time it was the sacrament of extreme unction.

When a foreigner could elicit praise from a Spanish official, no one has reason to suspect the least trace of dishonesty or rascality in that foreigner. Therefore, there is no more fitting epilogue to a sketch of the Baron of Bastrop than a translation of an original note, written by a Spanish dignitary, found in the Bexar Archives of The University of Texas:

"The Baron of Bastrop, native of Holland, has been under the protection of the Spanish government for 27 years. He has spent seventeen years in the province of Texas. He has always observed an irreproachable conduct; he has performed an infinite number of acts of kindness towards these settlers; and he has served in many capacities, requiring the strictest confidence, for this government. Inasmuch as he has sworn allegiance to the independence of the Mexican empire, I consider him worthy of the utmost consideration of the nation. In witness whereof I have given this signed statement in the capital of Bexar on the thirtieth day of January, 1822."

Districts Must Provide Pension Offices

Orville S. Carpenter, state auditor, who will become pension director, has stated that no rent money will be available for district pension offices, known as regional offices.

Twenty regional offices will be established in the state, he says, and no sub-offices in each county as was thought to be the plan at first. Regional representatives will be kept "on the move" and see applicants in each section of their respective districts.

The law goes into effect February 14th. Applicants will be notified of where to obtain application blanks in each county.

There's nothing like a child's cold to upset a young mother.

- 1. By stimulation through the skin, like a poultice or plaster - 2. By inhalation of its penetrating medicated vapors, released by body heat and breathed in direct to inflamed air-passages.

Continuing through the night, this combined vapor-poultice action loosens phlegm - soothes irritated membranes - eases difficult breathing - helps break congestion.

Government Costs and the H. C. L.

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN National Chairman Sentinels of the Republic

With the next session of Congress only a few weeks away there has been a cheering revival of discussion on methods of checking waste and extravagance in our government.

A group of Representatives, news dispatches report, will study the entire Federal picture with the idea of determining why expenses should mount so swiftly. The question is where to begin.

Well, they might look at the growing list of Federal agencies—and the huge payrolls thus created for American workers to meet. These have been expanding for years at a much faster rate than our population.

Since 1900 the population of the United States has increased about 60 per cent. During that period the number of Federal jobs increased not 60, but 350 per cent.

Since June 30, 1933, the population has increased a little over 1 per cent. During the brief period between then and June 30, 1935, the number of Federal jobs increased not 1, but 25 per cent.

No wonder these are boom days in Washington.

No wonder the capital is congested with jobholders, recruited by scores of job-creating commissions whose payrolls and other expenditures are paid by the people through taxes which boost the cost of food and shelter and clothing and everything else we use.

No wonder, with this constant drain on his production and his earnings, the average citizen continues to worry over what headline writers call the H. C. L.

Today, the High Cost of Living and the High Cost of Government are closely related. What the people—and the politicians—must realize is that one way to reduce the first is to deflate the second.

A Prairie Sunset—Betty John Goldston.

There's a Home in Texas—Lucille Goldston, Mary Sue Stone, accompanied by Mrs. J. B. Millsap.

A Texas Ranger's Song—Calvin Holland.

When the Bloom is on the Sage—Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Millsap, accompanied by Jimmie Roy.

The Literary Society elected new officers as is the custom to elect every 3 months. Mrs. Nels Robinson was elected president, Mrs. J. B. Millsap vice president, Mrs. J. C. Longan secretary-treasurer; the program committee: Mrs. F. O. Naylor, Mrs. Gus Williams and Mrs. John Goldston.

The Midway Literary Society met last Friday evening. A Texas program was presented by the school children, and Mr. and Mrs. Millsap. It showed a lot of work and was highly enjoyed.

It was decided to have the next program on the 22nd of Feb. in the form of a banquet.

life it will probably be of importance to them as feeders. Since we have a good ranching county it is proper that we have a stock show of our own.

Something like seven calves will go on feed this month to be shown at the Texas Centennial in Dallas this next November. With one year's experience the boys who feed the calves for the Centennial should make a good showing next fall in Dallas.

The Donley county Fat stock show will be held in Clarendon on the Seventh of March at the Harry Blair Horse Barns. It is through the courtesy of Mr. Blair that we are allowed to have this stock in his barns out of the weather. Mr. Blair will hold his regular sale on the same date of the calf show at his barns.

All people in the county are urged to come to the stock show and encourage the boys and urge them to help make the show a better success next year. The premium money on the calves will be as large and maybe larger next year.

The following business men have made it possible for the premiums to be paid the boys on the calves: HEDLEY—Security State Bank, M. Grocery Store, M&M Dry Goods Co., Barnes & Hastings, Chunn and Boston, Westberry Gin Co., Farmers Gin, Watson Bros. Dry Goods Co., Moreman Hwd. Co., B. & E. JACK B. DEAHL ANNOUNCES FOR DISTRICT OFFICE

Jack B. Deahl of Collingsworth County has authorized the announcement of his candidacy for the office of district attorney of the 100th Judicial District, subject to the action of the Democratic primary.

Jack B. Deahl, who is county attorney of Collingsworth County, at this time, was reared on a farm near the present town of Dodsonville. His folks were pioneer residents of that community having come to this section of Texas in 1886. He is a Grandson of the late George W. Deahl, who was a commissioner of Childress County at the time that Collingsworth County was created.

After attending a rural school in the Arlie community, Mr. Deahl continued his education at Dodsonville and at Childress, graduating from the Childress High School in 1920. He attended Texas Military College at Terrell for two years.

After that he taught school at Kirkland where he earned money to help pay his way through the

JACK B. DEAHL

University. He received his law degree from the University of Oklahoma in 1926 and was admitted to the bar of Texas in 1927.

Upon locating in Wellington Mr. Deahl engaged in the practice of law until 1932 at which time he was elected county attorney. The efficiency and fairness with which he conducted the affairs of this office is best shown by the simple fact that he was elected without opposition for his second term. He has won the approval of his home people, by the fairness as well as the diligence with which he handled the cases that came before his office.

If elected Mr. Deahl promises to devote his utmost effort to the fulfillment of the duties of the office he seeks. "Justice for all the people, and enforcement of the laws under the statutes and the constitution will be my primary purpose," he declared. "The creation of a record, as your district attorney," he said, "will be a secondary matter. Today when grave changes confront our community and our country, when many of our people survey the future with uncertainty, it is no time for any official of any public office to regard his duty with smug satisfaction and devote his thought to his own advancement. It is high time that all public officials should regard themselves as public servants, and to realize that the welfare of all the people must be considered if our present forms of government are to fulfill the mission for which our forefathers designed them. With this in mind, I will devote my sincere efforts toward filling the clearly defined work of your district attorney. I will try each case on its own merits, and remembering that I am representing the people of the whole district, I will conduct it to the bitter end. There will be no evasion, no favoritism, and the under privileged and the over privileged will be held to one standard—and that is the law of the State of Texas under the constitution.

"If a man who believes sincerely that he can render you this type of service as district attorney meets with your approval, then I will greatly appreciate your vote and your consideration of my candidacy.

T. W. Smith, who has been seriously ill at Panhandle, is reported much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Teer announce the birth of a daughter Sunday night. The handsome little lady has been given the name of Dorothy Dell.

vocal melody, then you will enjoy this entire program.

The purpose of such a meeting ranks high in importance; that of learning more about using our voices in bringing out the melody of the songs. The beauty of every assembly of worship centers in the song service, and the beauty of the song service depends on the ability of the participants.

It is therefore a program of learning rather than a program of entertainment, although much joy may be found even by those who take no part.

Remember the time and the place, and be there by all means. The place is in the Church of Christ auditorium, Clarendon, and the time will be at three o'clock (3:00) on Sunday afternoon, February 9th.
