

Saudis Execute Mosque Invaders

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

VOL. 31 NO. 217 SNYDER, TEXAS (79549) WED., JAN. 9, 1980 12 PAGES 20c

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP)—The Saudi government today executed 83 militants who seized the Grand Mosque in Mecca, Islam's holiest shrine. Officials did not give the method of execution, but the traditional Saudi way is by public beheading after Friday prayers.

The Interior Ministry said the commander of the mosque attack, identified as Juseiman Bin Mohammed Bin Saif, headed the list of those executed, and that those put to death included 41 Saudis, 10 Egyptians, six South

Yemenis, three Kuwaitis and one each from North Yemen, Sudan and Iraq. The Interior Ministry said the executions were carried out in eight cities, apparently to dispel suspicions the mosque attack weakened government authority. The bulk of the attackers were said to be from a dissident Saudi tribe that opposed the monarchy.

The executions were spread out as follows: Mecca 15; Riyadh 10, seven each in Medina, Dammam, Bridah and Abha and five each in Hayil and Tabouk. The announcement said in accordance with the punishment prescribed by the Koran-Islam's holy book, and that the interior minister, Prince Nayef Bin Abdul Aziz, was ordered to carry them out by King Khaled, "following the confessions of the criminals who attacked the Grand Mosque."

It also said the executions were in accordance with an edict by Saudi religious leaders. There had been no announcement of any trial preceding the executions, but earlier announcements said a full investigation was conducted.

The Grand Mosque is inside a 38-acre compound housing the Kabaa, which Moslems believe was built by the prophet Abraham. It was seized Nov. 20 by several hundred militants led by Mohammed Bin Abdullah Al Quhitani. The government said he described himself as a "mashi," or messiah of the Shiite branch of Islam, whose appearance on earth is believed to coincide with the end of the world.

Qahitani was killed in the protracted battle that followed when Saudi troops besieged the occupied mosque in an effort to chase the militants out. Many of his followers held out for two weeks, however, fighting the Saudi troops in the tunnels under the mosque, before they were either killed or captured.

The government said Saudi forces captured 170 extremists, killed 60 others and suffered 60 killed themselves. It said four of those captured were children, and an unspecified number of others were women, and they were not to be tried.

Wednesday update

Grain Prices Plunge

CHICAGO (AP)—Prices plunged immediately as trading resumed in grain and soybean futures today, following a two-day suspension and government maneuvers to ease the impact of its grain embargo to the Soviet Union.

Traders said that 100 million bushels of corn and 30 million to 40 million bushels of wheat were offered for sale but no one was buying. Within seconds of the opening, prices fell to the maximum amounts allowed each day before trading automatically is halted in those commodities.

Railroads Propose Merger

NEW YORK (AP)—The Union Pacific and Missouri Pacific railroads, joining a merger binge brought on by the belief that energy problems will be good for the rails, have proposed a nearly $1 billion marriage that would create the nation's largest railroad.

The announcement Tuesday stunned the rail industry and seemed certain to provoke strong opposition from competing railroads, who fear the business muscle of such a line.

Nugent Makes Bid Formal

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas Railroad Commissioner Jim Nugent's official campaign began where his unofficial campaign left off—with jobs at the "Northeastern power bloc" and the former editor who wants his job. Nugent, 56, Tuesday formally announced his candidacy for the seat he now holds by appointment. Former Gov. Dolph Briscoe chose Nugent to replace Jon Newton in January 1979.

The SDN Column

The seventies produced enough warnings about possible menaces to our health that we wouldn't be surprised to hear some expert declare that "breathing may be harmful."

And, judging from the start made in the young eighties, we may indeed reach that point during this decade.

Since the new year we have received warnings that heat from fireplaces and wood-burning stoves may cause cancer, and that a hot, soaking tub bath may be lethal.

According to one expert, it could be dangerous to stand near a fireplace or wood-burning stove to warm up on a cold evening. The heat from these sources, if exposure occurs over a period of time, may cause cancer. The detailed statement which followed, however, did concede that it would take a lot of warming over a period of many years to become a hazard. (And there was no mention as to whether the conclusion was based on tests conducted with Canadian white rats).

The warning about hot-tubbing came from no less authority than the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission. According to officials of that agency, the use of hot tubs at water temperatures above the normal body temperatures can cause drowsiness which may lead to unconsciousness and subsequently result in drowning. And, they say the risk is significantly heightened if a person consumes alcoholic beverages while, or prior to soaking in hot water.

"Soaking in a hot tub with water heated to 106 degrees Fahrenheit, for example, can raise the human body temperature to the point of heat stroke (or impairment of the body's ability to regulate its internal temperatures). These conditions can be fatal, even to fully health adults."

So, as we move gingerly into the eighties, who knows how many hazards there are out there waiting to be discovered—hazards that we blithely overlooked, or even misread as being desirable in the past?

Seeks Re-Election...

Stenholm Due Here Tonight

Congressman Charles Stenholm, who announced Tuesday that he would run for a second term, will be in Snyder this evening for a public meeting.

Spokesmen in Stenholm's office said he was coming to Snyder to meet with royalty owners at 7 p.m. in the fine arts theatre at Western Texas College, and that the public is invited.

In announcing for a second term, Stenholm said the need for increased United States preparedness is the top priority in the 1980s.

He told a large group of supporters in his home town of Stamford that he is firmly committed to a stronger defense position that could "leave no doubt in any nation's mind of America's resolve to defend our hard-won freedoms. That is one of my primary goals during the next session of Congress."

Stenholm, 41, was elected to Congress following the retirement of the veteran Omar Burleson of Anson. He serves on the House Agriculture Committee and recently was named to the House Small Business Committee.

Outlining his over-all views, he said he had

CHARLES W. STENHOLM

"every confidence in our system of government and I am optimistic about the second session of the 96th Congress." He stressed the elimination of deficit spending as another primary goal and emphasized his intentions "to continue to do all that is possible to cut any unnecessary federal spending. The true test of a good Congressman, however, is knowing where to cut—knowing what is unnecessary fat and what is real muscle. In the case of national defense, we are dealing with the backbone of our country," he declared.

Movement Toward Freeing Hostages

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—A top Iranian official today reported "some movement" toward freeing the American Embassy hostages, now in the 67th day of captivity, but he said their release is still weeks away.

"There is some movement," Ayatollah Mohammed Beheshti, first secretary of Iran's ruling Revolutionary Council, told American reporters at a news conference. "I am not sure if this movement will be seen in a few days, maybe it will be in a few weeks."

Baheshti, one of the most influential clergymen in this revolutionary theocracy, refused to elaborate, but said "a solution includes the possibility of a spy trial."

The students who took over the embassy Nov. 4 and Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's revolutionary regime charge that the embassy was an espionage center. The students have also said they will release their four dozen American captives only if Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi is returned to Iran for trial, and that the only person they will take orders from is Khomeini, the leader of the Iranian revolution.

Refinery Workers Walkout

HOUSTON (AP)—Refiners affected by a walkout of more than 20,000 Oil Chemical and Atomic Workers union members in Texas and Louisiana say there will be no short term effect on consumers.

The union, with more than 60,000 members nationally, stopped work Tuesday in a dispute over higher wages and an improved medical plan.

Plants in Texas and Louisiana produce seven million of the nation's daily output of 17.4 million barrels of oil.

"As far as the consumer is concerned, we would expect, certainly on the short term and possibly on the long term, that they will see no effects of this strike," said Bill Gibson, a spokesman for the Shell Oil refinery at Deer Park.

Supervisory personnel started taking control of the plants throughout the area Tuesday when the strike started and in most cases the transition was smooth.

ILA Refuses To Load Soviet Ships

NEW YORK (AP)—The International Longshoremen's Association announced today that it had ordered its members immediately to stop handling Soviet ships and Soviet cargoes in ports from Maine to Texas.

Local Office Of TEC To Remain

The Texas Employment Commission, which opened here several months ago on a trial basis, will be continued quarterly until the start of a new fiscal year when it can be funded full time.

That is the projection by staffers of the office that is ending its first three-month period.

Klan Plans Return To Seadrift

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Ku Klux Klansmen, who are demanding a federal investigation into the "crab war" slaying of a Seadrift, Texas, crabber by a Vietnamese refugee, plan to return Jan. 19 to the tense fishing village, says a KKK official.

Seadrift, torn by violence last summer, has been quiet recently, and Calhoun County Sheriff A.P. Lacy said Tuesday he is worried by the news of another possible KKK visit.

KKK Grand Klingle Gene West of San Antonio said Tuesday that about 25-30 Klansmen would go to Seadrift to press for a civil rights investigation.

"We don't have it in writing, but they've told her (Anna Carman) that we've been granted more temporary hours," said Susie Veretto, an employee of the local office. Anna Carman is supervisor of the Sweetwater and Snyder offices of the TEC.

The TEC office here opened Oct. 9, shortly after the closing of the old Snyder-Scurry County Employment Agency. If its level of business justified its continued existence, said officials at the time of the opening of the TEC office here, the agency would remain open. The office is located at 3610 College Ave.

"If we do good for one quarter," said Mrs. Veretto, "that will fund us for the next quarter."

She said that quarter by quarter approach is expected to continue until Oct. 1, the start of a new fiscal year, and then the office can be funded on a full-time basis.

Currently, added Mrs. Veretto, the office is making approximately 100 job placements per month.

The TEC performs job interviews, conducts tests for local industry, and does referral work. The office is open from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Mrs. Veretto, who will be leaving Snyder soon, said she will be replaced by Theleca Hopper. The other office worker is Debbie Early.

New Regime Killing Less

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP)—Diplomats report the new Afghan government is executing political prisoners but say it is killing less than the last government did. Meanwhile, the Moslem rebels claimed capture of a post on the Soviet border after nine days of fighting.

"We have information that executions continue," one ranking Western diplomat said. He and other sources said they were certain officials of the late President Hafizullah Amin's government were being put to death secretly and buried in mass graves on hillsides near Pul-i-Charkhi prison.

School Vote Set; Two Incumbents Bow Out

Snyder Independent School District Trustees last night extended the contract of Supt. Bill J. Hood and officially scheduled the annual trustee election for Saturday, April 5.

Two of the three members of the board whose terms expire this year immediately announced that they would not seek reelection and the other said he had not decided whether to run again.

Bill Clayton and Bill J. Voss, both of whom are completing their second, three-year terms on the board, said they would not run this year. Voss now holds Place 3 on the board, while Clayton holds Place 5.

Jerry Rice, the Place 4 trustee who is completing his first term on the board, said he had not reached a decision on whether to seek another term, but expects to do so within a few days.

Candidates may file for places on the ballot with the board secretary, E.D. Flynn, in the school administration building. The filing deadline is March 5. Candidates must file for a specific place on the board.

W.T. Falls will be the election judge and voting will be at the Snyder City Hall. Absentee voting will be conducted in the school tax office in the administration building.

Hood's contract was extended for a year, through June of 1983. The extension was granted on a 5-1 vote following a motion by Bill Seale, which was seconded by Bill Voss. Joining them in voting 10-1 the motion were Ted Crenwelge, Jerry Rice and Bill Clayton. Voting against the extension was Lillie Sullivan.

The board unanimously rejected a proposal to contract with Exertia, Inc., for a cost-effectiveness survey. The firm had proposed a survey of support services in the school system for a fee of $4,000.

A job description for the school system's reading coordinator was approved. Also approved was the resignation of Patsy Harlin, kindergarten aide at Stanfield Elementary School, and the reassignment of Gaynell Cline from a Distar II aide's position at West Elementary to the kindergarten aide's position at Stanfield.

Requests for permission to take six semester hours of college work at Texas Tech University by Mrs. Geraldine Parker and Mrs. Bobbie Box were granted.

Parent Education Program Teaches Mothering 'Art'

NEW YORK (AP)—A new program to teach "the art of mothering" is under way at the State University Hospital of Downstate Medical Center, State University of New York. Called The Parent Education Program of Brooklyn, it aims to give answers, reassurances and a pat on the back to new mothers.

Before they take their babies home from the hospital, mothers are visited by one of a group consisting of Laurel Whitaker, chairman of the program; Dr. Sara L. Weiss, its director and an instructor in pediatrics; and their trained volunteer workers in the program.

Once she is home with the baby, the mother is invited to call "her own" volunteer para-professional for help, advice or just support.

At the end of six weeks, mothers and their babies meet together at the hospital once a week for eight weeks. There they can ask questions, exchange experiences, and find out how others are dealing with various problems. At each meeting experts in different areas of child care lead discussions on various topics.

The keystone to the success of the program, Dr. Weiss says, is the corps of thoroughly trained volunteer workers, who stay in contact with the mothers.

LIGHT banana chiffon cake is lower in calories than many desserts.

A Light Fluffy Low-Calorie Banana Cake

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

A light, fluffy cake that is relatively low in calories is welcome in these days of thinking slim. Banana chiffon cake falls into this category — though it is admittedly 230 calories per slice.

The whole family will enjoy this treat, which keeps well in the refrigerator — if any is left over. Include a slice in a school or office lunch bag with some fruit.

BANANA CHIFFON CAKE
2½ cups sifted cake flour

¾ cup granulated sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
1½ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon allspice
¾ cup packed light brown sugar
½ cup salad oil
5 egg yolks
1-1/3 cups cold water
1-1/3 cups mashed ripe bananas (4 medium bananas)
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup egg whites (8 egg whites)
½ teaspoon cream of tartar

Sift flour, granulated sugar, baking powder, salt and allspice into mixing bowl. Stir in brown sugar.
Make well in center. Add oil, egg yolks, water, bananas and vanilla. Beat until smooth.

In large bowl, combine egg whites and cream of tartar. Beat until very stiff peaks form.

Pour egg-yolk batter over entire surface of beaten egg whites in steady stream. Fold in gently, just until blended. Pour batter into ungreased 10-inch tube pan.

Bake in 325-degree oven 55 minutes. Increase temperature to 350 degrees and bake 15 to 20 minutes longer or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Invert pan. Let cool thoroughly. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar if desired.

This kitchen-tested recipe makes 16 slices of about 230 calories each.

Opening lead ♥ A

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Without an auction, if the West hand were given to 100 players on lead against a five-diamond contract all of them would lead a high heart. However, auctions are revealing. If West had drawn the proper inference from the diagrammed auction, he would have had an excellent idea of declarer's distribution. Then he could have found the killing lead.

South's bidding shows a three-suited hand of either 4-1-4-4 or 4-0-5-4 distribution. The modern tendency when holding three four-card suits as opening bidder is to bid the suit below the singleton in order to save room in the auction. North realized after South had bid three suits that his 10 high-card points were all golden and decided to jump to the diamond game, an action that "was certainly justified."

West woodenly led his ace of hearts and the hand could no longer be defeated. He switched to a trump at the second trick, but declarer was in control. South cashed his four black suit winners and scored six more diamond tricks by a cross-ruff.

If West had led a trump at trick one, which he should have realized was the right lead from the bidding, declarer would go down. South could still ruff two of his losers in dummy. But before he could ruff his third black suit loser, he would have to lead a heart as there was no quick entry to his hand. This would give the defense the chance to lead a devastating second round of trumps. South would be stranded with the two black suit losers as well as the heart loser.

The original heart lead effectively established communication between declarer and dummy for the cross-ruff. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Family's suicide crisis

By Karen Blaker, Ph.D.

DEAR DR. BLAKER: We are writing to you because we are so upset about what happened to Dad.

About a month ago he took an overdose of pills and barely pulled through. None of us could understand why he wanted to kill himself. We still can't.

The strange thing was that it happened just when we thought things were getting better.

All of us had been fighting with him for years. Finally we got together and decided we were never going to change him and therefore might as well stop the battles.

It was a dramatic move and we all felt good. All of us, it seems, except Dad.

He became withdrawn and then one night took the pills. What happened?

DEAR READER: Posing that question to me instead of to your father suggests that your family may have some communication difficulties that had something to do with the suicidal crisis.

For example, did you tell your father about your decision not to fight anymore, thus warning him of the change? I assume not.

Neither do I get the impression that you have spoken with him about his feelings since his suicide attempt.

Many people are afraid to talk about suicide. It is a taboo topic.

The reluctance results in part from fear of saying something wrong and causing the suicidal person to go ahead with his or her plan. It also stems from anxiety about putting the idea of suicide in the person's mind when he or she may have "forgotten all about it."

The fact is that talking about suicide can prevent it. Few people kill themselves if they feel truly connected with at least one other person.

I am sending you my newsletter titled "When a Loved One Threatens Suicide." It is a useful guide for handling suicidal crises.

Other readers may order this newsletter by sending 50 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 475, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

I don't want to frighten you. But you should know that people who make a serious suicide attempt usually try again unless there is a change in the situation that made them feel so hopeless and helpless.

And each time they attempt suicide, their cry for help tends to be more desperate.

Approach the subject with your father by asking him what he was feeling and thinking the night he took the pills.

Explain that the family had just radically changed the way it related to him. Ponder with him the possibility that the sudden absence of fighting left him feeling isolated from everyone.

He may have interpreted the change as your giving up on him. You will never know unless you ask.

Write to Dr. Blaker in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 475, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Volume of mail prohibits personal replies, but questions of general interest will be discussed in future columns.

Silver Prices Shooting Picture Costs Skyward

NEW YORK (AP)—Shooting pictures is getting a lot more expensive, and rising silver prices is the reason.

Eastman Kodak Co., the world's largest film producer, says it will raise film prices by as much as 75 percent later this month to compensate for the sharp increase in silver prices.

The increase comes on top of one imposed in October and replaces one announced two weeks ago, before the latest leap in silver prices.

"What we have done is to revise the previous increases to reflect the even higher prices of silver," said Henry J. Kaska, a Kodak spokesman.

As a result of the increases, the retail price of a 12-exposure roll of Kodachrome II color print film, size 110, will rise from the current $1.86 to $2.15.

A 35mm roll of Kodachrome slide film, with 20 exposures, will rise from $4.95 to $6.20.

The price of silver, $6 an ounce a year ago, had risen above $18 by early last month, then soared to almost $40 after the first of the year. On Tuesday, it slipped back to $31.91 in trading on New York's Commodity Exchange. Silver is a key component of the photosensitive emulsion on film. Kodak uses 50 million ounces of silver a year.

There were no price increases for photo printing papers, which also use silver, Kaska said.

The price increases are in suggested list prices, but retailers are free to charge either higher or lower prices. They are to take effect Jan. 26.

Kodak is by far the largest producer of film and its pricing actions are often followed by smaller producers, who are also feeling the pinch from rising silver prices.

The largest price increase came in photo-typesetting papers, used by many newspapers. They rose 75 percent because they are relatively heavy users of silver, Kaska said.

The Kodak increases were disclosed to dealers on Tuesday but not publicly announced. Kaska confirmed them in response to an inquiry from a reporter.

The new price list replaces one announced Dec. 26, which also was to take effect Jan. 26. In many cases, the increases are twice as large as had been planned. Prototype-setting paper, for example, was to rise by 35 percent.

Most film bought by amateur photographers — for movies, color prints and slides, had been slated to rise by 7.5 percent. Now it will rise at least 15 percent and as much as 25 percent. Rolls of black-and-white film will rise between 25 and 35 percent, instead of 7.5 percent.

The increases are even steeper in the bulk rolls frequently bought by professional photographers. Those rolls were to have risen by 20 percent in color and 30 percent in black-and-white. The new figures are 30 percent and 50 percent.

DESEGREGATION of state universities in eight southern and border states is expected to be one of the hottest issues facing Education Secretary Shirley Hufstедler. The former judge will attempt to persuade state governors to restructure the schools so that they are no longer identifiably "white" or "black."

Says Texas Democrat...

Back To Cold War Era

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Charles Wilson says the Afghanistan situation has pushed U.S.-Soviet relations back to the Cold War era.

"I think that we just have to face it, that we're right back to 1946 and weakness on our part can only make it worse," the Texas Democrat said at a news conference.

He called for U.S. support of Afghan rebels "to the best of our ability" by supplying them with arms through the government of neighboring Pakistan.

"With their Muslim religious fanaticism, I think they're hellacious fighters," Wilson said of the rebels.

The East Texas congressman frequently has criticized U.S. foreign policy as being too passive.

At Tuesday's session in his Capitol Hill office, he said that the Soviet action would serve to "strengthen the people in the United States government who have consistently maintained that the Soviet Union was the greatest threat to freedom all over the world, including our own, and that now we're going to regard them as such a threat."

Among the other steps that Wilson said would improve U.S. military posture were:

—proceeding with the construction of a neutron bomb, a program halted by the Carter administration.

—withdrawing the block on the B1 bomber.

—making sure that China has the technological weapons it would need in a confrontation with the Soviet Union.

—installing American bases in the turbulent area, either in Kenya, Somalia or a friendly Arab nation.

increasing the Navy's shipbuilding program.

Wilson said the Soviet intervention "should prove to the pacifists in this country that when you turn the other cheek, you get two bloody cheeks."

Support Prices Of Corn, Wheat Hiked By Carter

WASHINGTON (AP)—Capping a series of actions intended to protect farmers after canceling grain sales to the Soviet Union, the Carter administration has boosted basic price supports for wheat and corn.

It also announced Tuesday changes in price formulas aimed at attracting more farmer participation in the government's grain reserve program.

Eligible wheat farmers had their supports raised to $2.50 a bushel for their 1979 crop from $2.35 previously in effect. Corn supports were boosted to $2.10 from $2 a bushel.

Rep. Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., said the increases, which were announced by the Agriculture Department, are "totally inadequate to offer farmers reasonable protection" from market price declines.

Foley said he applauded the administration's effort to help protect farmers from the effects of President Carter's action suspending huge sales of grain to the Soviets but that the effort "does not go far enough."

The National Association of Wheat Growers called the actions "inadequate" and said the remedies "fail to match the gravity" of President Carter's suspension of grain shipments.

The price support rates reflect the amount of money farmers can borrow from the government by using their crops as collateral. They have the option of repaying the loans later and selling their grain or, if prices are severely depressed, letting the government assume ownership of the commodities in lieu of repayment.

Sleep Singly But Double Their Fun

By Abigail Van Buren

1980 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: In response to JERI OUT WEST, who wondered how many couples who really love each other sleep apart. We've been married for 34 years, and for the last 17 years we have had twin beds. There is nothing like it for comfort and total relaxation. We're able to turn every which way without worrying about kicking one another, or breathing in each others' faces.

He likes the blankets on I like them off. If he has a cold, he can keep the cold germs in his own bed. And when it comes to intimacy, we manage nicely. One twin bed is big enough for both of us.

I LOVE MY HUSBAND IN ALHAMBRA

DEAR ABBY: What has sleeping got to do with lovemaking? Nothing whatsoever! If I didn't get my rest I would be a lousy lover. That's why the little woman and I sleep in separate bedrooms. She snores up a storm.

ARTHUR IN ARIZONA

DEAR ABBY: Sleeping apart is really great. I meet a lot of new girls that way.

My wife stays on her side of town, and I stay in the other 95 percent of town!

LARRY IN COLUMBUS, OHIO

DEAR ABBY: I'm 33 and my husband is 35. He's always been a very restless sleeper, and gets up several times during the night to make notes or read. (He says he gets his best thinking done at night.) The only way I can get any sleep is to sleep in another room, which I do.

Believe me, it hasn't hurt our love life. Our children are 10, 7, 6, 4, 2 and another is on the way.

SLEEPS APART BUT GETS TOGETHER

DEAR ABBY: We've been married for 37 years and love each other. For years we slept together—or, I should say, tried to sleep together. He's a big man who sleeps spread-eagled. He also snores like a sawmill. I wanted to sleep next to him because I enjoyed the closeness and pillow talk and, naturally, the lovemaking, but once he fell asleep he assumed the spread-eagle position and started to snore. I would poke him in the ribs to make him turn over, which disturbed HIS sleep. This went on for years until I decided to move in to another bedroom—the smartest move I ever made.

CATHY OUT WEST

DEAR ABBY: I am 92 and my wife is in her 70s (she doesn't like to tell her exact age). We have been married for 47 years and have had our separate bedrooms for the last 35 years. But that doesn't mean we don't share the same bed at least part of the night or day.

Every morning about 4:30 or 5 a.m. my wife comes into my bedroom and crawls into bed with me. We do our cuddling and lovemaking for about an hour and then she goes back to her own bedroom.

NO NAMES IN FLORIDA

DEAR ABBY: Thank heavens for JERI's letter. I thought I was the only person who can't sleep in the same bed with someone else. When my wife and I are houseguests and the guest room has a double bed, I take my pillow and sleep on the floor.

My wife sleeps diagonally across the bed, changes positions every five minutes, hogs the blanket and kicks like a kangaroo.

I love her but I just can't sleep with her. No name, please, as I am well known in town.

"THE JUDGE"

DEAR ABBY: JERI OUT WEST should buy a king-sized bed. She'll never know there's anybody else in the same bed. I married an athletic sleeper. I used to spend my nights getting out one side and walking around the bed to get in the other side. I hardly ever got a good night's sleep. Seven years ago I discovered the king-sized bed, and am sorry I didn't discover it 28 years sooner.

Bert Not Hurting For Work

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Bert Parks, America's first cause celebre of the 1980s, says his career is zooming since he was fired as host of the Miss America Pageant.

"My God, man, I thought here you were with another job offer and I was going to have to turn you down," the 65-year-old Parks said when he answered the telephone at his Hollywood, Fla., home.

Meanwhile, Albert A. Marks Jr., the pageant chief who canned Parks, says he is considering four men to sing "There She Is" to the next Miss America in September. He refused to identify the prospects, but ruled out a number of possible hosts whose names have been making the rounds.

Parks said Tuesday that job offers have been "unbelievable" since Marks announced he had not been invited back for his 26th consecutive pageant. Marks, himself 67, said the 59-year-old beauty contest dismissed Parks because it wanted a more youthful image.

CBS Wins Week's Ratings Race

NEW YORK (AP)—CBS, banking once again on a strong Sunday night lineup, won the networks' weekly ratings competition and edged even closer to front-running ABC in their race for first place for the season to date.

CBS' success in the week ending Jan. 6 came with help from the pro football playoffs—or without it.

Ratings on prime-time programs are determined by the A.C. Nielsen Co., but the networks themselves figure the weekly averages.

For the most recent week, CBS and NBC included in the ratings the tail end of CBS' broadcast of the National Football Conference playoff game between Los Angeles and Tampa Bay, as well as the post-game show, while ABC chose to ignore the sports programming.

CBS, in any case, finished the week with a rating of 20.2 to 19.7 for runnerup NBC. ABC's rating ranged from 18.8—CBS' figure—to 19.1—ABC's.

The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 20.2 percent of the homes in the country with television were tuned to CBS.

The rating for the football post-game show, No. 1 for the week with the runnerup portion of game second, was 35.5, with "60 Minutes" third at 32.5.

It was CBS' third No. 1 finish in a row, and the network's sixth in the last eight weeks. NBC finished second for the first time since the week ending Nov. 25.

Both CBS and NBC maintain ABC's lead for the season so far is two-tenths of a ratings point—19.3 to 19.1—ABC says the margin is greater, 19.4 to 18.9. NBC's best effort for the week was the Orange Bowl football game between Oklahoma and Florida State, eighth in the ratings, though the 19th place finish for the three-hour premiere of its newest dramatic series, "Skag."

Here are the week's 10 highest-rated shows:

NFL Championship Post-Game, with a rating of 35.5 representing 27.1 million homes, NFL Championship Game, 33.3 or 25.4 million, "60 Minutes," 32.5 or 24.8 million, "Dallas," 27 or 20.6 million, and "Alice," 26 or 19.8 million, all CBS. "Eight is Enough," 25.8 or 19.7 million, ABC, "Dukes of Hazzard," 25.7 or 19.6 million, CBS, Orange Bowl, 25.1 or 19.2 million, NBC, and "Three's Company," 24.7 or 18.8 million, and "Mork and Mindy," 24.3 or 18.3 million, both ABC.

The next 10 programs: "Benson," ABC; "The Jeffersons," CBS; "Fantasy Island," ABC, and "Knots Landing," CBS, tie; "Barney Miller," ABC; "Taxi," ABC, tie; "Real People," NBC, tie; "Charlie's Angels," ABC, and "Skag," NBC, tie, and "Sinatra: The First 40 Years," NBC.

was encouraging to the No. 3 network.

CBS scored, meanwhile, with a new series of its own, "Knots Landing." The initial episode in the series, a spinoff from CBS' successful "Dallas," was 14th in the ratings.

Here are the week's 10 highest-rated shows:

NFL Championship Post-Game, with a rating of 35.5 representing 27.1 million homes, NFL Championship Game, 33.3 or 25.4 million, "60 Minutes," 32.5 or 24.8 million, "Dallas," 27 or 20.6 million, and "Alice," 26 or 19.8 million, all CBS. Mondale Courts Hispanics' Support

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The Carter-Mondale campaign forces very much want to impress South Texas thousands of Mexican-American voters in 1980.

Vice President Walter Mondale didn't hurt anything Tuesday with heaps of praise for the area's ranking Hispanic political leader and the announcement of an $18.8 million federal grant earmarked for San Antonio's huge Hispanic community.

Mondale came here to keynote a fund-raising, testimonial luncheon for U.S. Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Texas, a staunch Carter supporter.

He took the opportunity to announce what he said was one of the Carter administration's largest Urban Development Action Grants. He then praised some of Carter's economic accomplishments to the crowd of about 2,000 Gonzalez supporters.

The grant is aimed at revitalizing a predominantly Mexican-American neighborhood near downtown San Antonio. Mondale explained that the city would use the funds to buy 100 acres and lease the land to a private Hispanic developer. That would create some 1,700 new jobs, he added.

The vice president then defended the timing of the announcement after a reporter said critics might claim the incumbent administration is using such grants to secure political support.

"I refuse to be bound by a rule that says we can only announce bad news," Mondale said. "The grant has been in the process for some time. I'm absolutely certain that if those that criticize us ever get in the White House, they'll do exactly the same thing."

Mondale also said the Carter administration helped create thousands of other jobs. Since Carter took office, new jobs have been created for 38,000 San Antonians, 718,000 Texans and a total of 9,000,000 Americans, the vice president said.

He then pointed out that Carter had trimmed a $67 billion budget deficit by more than half.

Local political leaders considered Mondale's visit the informal-kickoff for the Carter-Mondale campaign in South Texas. The trip was paid for by Gonzalez campaign funds.

Campaign strategists for both Carter and his chief Democratic challenger, Sen. Edward Kennedy, say they consider South Texas's Hispanic vote to be crucial in 1980 as it proved to be in 1976.

Gonzalez had invited Carter to the luncheon, but the president has refused to campaign outside Washington during the crises in Iran and Afghanistan.

Mondale harshly condemned Iran for holding American hostages and the Soviet Union for its "brutal invasion" of Afghanistan.

"We demand and we expect the return of those hostages unharmed, now," he said.

"We are determined the Soviet Union will pay a price for what they did in Afghanistan," Mondale added, recounting Carter's freeze on grain and other exports to the Soviets.

Mondale also pledged that American farmers will not be unfairly burdened by the freeze.

Frankincense was popular with the ancient Romans. They used it in religious ceremonies and burned it in funeral pyres.

The Roman writer Pliny the Elder reported that a whole year's production of Arabian frankincense was used at the cremation of Poppaea, wife of the Emperor Nero.

Why have cataract surgery?

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have a cataract in my right eye. I have been to two doctors and the first one said it was in my right eye and then my left eye. So I went to another doctor. He wants to take the cataract from the right eye.

Dr. Lamb, I can see pretty good, I take care of my house and garden and cut the grass. Everything the good Lord put in me I still have. I appreciate your opinion very much.

DEAR READER—I wish I could give you an answer that would apply specifically to your case. Unfortunately, the decision of whether a person has to have an operation for cataracts depends upon a good eye examination. If you're not completely satisfied with the information you've gotten, I would suggest that you go see another ophthalmologist.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 13-6, Your Cataracts Are Coming. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

This issue of The Health Letter will explain to you what cataracts are and some of the factors that go into deciding whether a person needs to have surgery or not. I appreciate the point of view that you have taken that you may not live a lot longer anyway. However, who can tell? You may be one of those people who will live to 100. One of the important criteria for deciding whether a person needs cataract surgery is how well he can see.

It is important to maintain your sight as you get older because the ability to see and read enables you to keep on using your mind. If a person is deprived of input to his brain because of poor hearing and because of poor vision, pretty soon his brain doesn't function as well as it should. That's really the cause of some of the mental changes in people who are called senile. They've been neglected and the use of their brains has been neglected because their hearing and their sight haven't been taken care of properly.

Now I realize that not everyone's eyes can be kept perfect and certainly not their hearing, but it's important to not neglect those disorders that can be corrected.

And it's equally important not to do procedures that don't need to be done. Many people who have small immature cataracts and can see quite well go for years without needing any surgery at all.

There is also a lot of good news for people with cataracts. If that is the only major thing wrong with the eyes, modern surgery and contact lenses really make it possible to have rather good vision. It is no longer necessary to go around with thick-lensed cataract glasses the rest of one's life or to have your visual world distorted with such glasses. Most people can wear contact lenses and do just fine.

Felines Lead, Then... Eagle Rally Stops Snyder

Lubbock Christian High School's Barbara Baker bagged two free throws with 1:15 to play here last night, giving the Eagles a 42-39 victory over Coach Ken Housden's Snyder Felines.

The Felines, now 11-6 on the season, had several last-minute opportunities to put points on the board, but each effort fell short. Snyder plays the host role again Friday, this time entertaining Lamesa at 8 p.m. in Scurry County Coliseum as District 3-AAA wars begin.

In an earlier game here Tuesday, Snyder junior varsity girls ripped Lubbock Christian 56-34. Snyder jumped out to a 12-5 lead in the early going, but the Eagles rallied to trim the margin to 21-18 by halftime. The game stayed that way throughout, with the Tigers taking a three-to-seven point lead, only to see it vanish moments later.

With less than two minutes showing on the clock, Lubbock Christian's Shelly Gore basketed a pair of free throws to give the visitors a 40-39 edge. With 1:15 remaining, a foul charged to Pam Gray put Baker on the charity stripe and she made both ends of the one-and-one situation to put the Eagles in front 42-39.

Lubbock Christian utilized an effective press in the final minute of the game, which served to hurt the cold-shooting Felines even more. But with 35 seconds left, Gore committed her fifth foul, sending Cindy Sewell to the line. Sewell, normally a sharp shooter and consistently one of Snyder's better defensive players, couldn't connect with the shot, but teammate Brenda Anderson managed to pull down the rebound. Kim Harlin kept Snyder in the game with only a few ticks left on the clock as she knocked away a would-be layup by LCHS's Karen Logan, but when the Tigers got the ball back seconds later Lubbock held, and there was no time to score. Anderson, who led Snyder with 18 points in the game, was the only Feline who scored in the final period. She basketed six points in a quarter which saw Snyder shoot in the below freezing range.

Susan Speice led the Eagles with 14 points. Snyder hit only three of 12 free throw shots (25 percent), many of which were front ends of one-and-one situations. Lubbock meanwhile, was 14 of 23 (61 percent). Earlier, Michell Townsel and Kelly Jones racked up 22 and 16 points respectively to aid Snyder junior varsity in a 56-34 victory. The Felines enjoyed a 25-18 halftime lead, then outscored the Eagles 16-2 in the third quarter to tuck away their tenth victory in 11 outings.

WTC Resumes Cage Play Thursday Night

By BILL MCLELLAN
BIG SPRING—Western Texas College's Westerners, ranked No. 1 among the nation's Juco basketball teams, will be gunning for an unprecedented fourth straight championship as the annual ABC Classic gets underway here Thursday.

The three-day, four-team, Olympic-style tourney opens at 7 p.m. as the Westerners take on host Howard County College, followed by Midland College versus South Plains College at 9. All four teams are members of the Western Athletic Conference, however, the tourney will have no bearing on WJAC standings. Tickets for the classic, held at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum, are $3 each night or $7 for the entire meet. Feature game of the classic will be the 7 p.m.

contest Friday when Western Texas takes on No. 12-ranked Midland College. Both teams are 14-0 on the season and 5-0 in conference play. The Westerners have to be considered tournament favorites, but Coach Nolan Richardson warned against overconfidence. "I hate to start off the year with a bunch of excuses," he said, "but we've got too many guys with problems." Then there is the problem of not having all the guys. "Well, Ronald Portee and Franklin Bennett got snowed in at Virginia and won't get back until tomorrow (Tuesday) and Freddie Davis had a mixup with flights and he's in Dallas right now, so we've been working out with less than a full crew," he relayed earlier this week. As if that weren't enough, David Brown suffered an eye injury in practice. Paul Pressey hurt an ankle, and Donald Warren has apparently come down with one of those nagging illnesses that loves to plague basketball teams. "We're definitely not going to be ready for the classic," he warned. "We haven't had a good workout yet, and since we have to play in just a few days, there's no way we're going to be ready. Hopefully we can play ourselves into shape." Well, is doing that well in the non-conference tournament really important then, Coach? "Every game is important," stressed Richardson. "If you play as a winner then you take every game as important as you can. We've got 18 ball games left, something like that, and hopefully we'll play each game one at a time, as if it were a national championship game. I realize we can't play every game that way because you are going to have your ups and

Tigers Squeak Past LCHS

It wasn't easy and it wasn't beautiful, but Snyder's Tigers evened things up here last night. With two seconds remaining, in overtime, floor captain Kyle Short tucked in the top end of a one-and-one free shot. The 5-10 senior missed the second effort, but it really didn't matter. The single point was enough to give Snyder a 56-55 victory over Lubbock Christian High School and put the Tigers at 500 with the Eagles which had defeated Snyder earlier in the season.

Going into the game, Lubbock Christian remained as the only opponent which had beaten Snyder this season and had not also lost to the Tigers. With the victory, the Tigers stand with an impressive 15-4 record and will travel to Abilene Christian High School on Friday for their next outing.

Snyder junior varsity also nailed down a victory over LCHS last night, winning 63-26.

The Tigers fell behind 10-8 in the first quarter of play last night, but jumped back to lead by as much as 10 points in the early third period. They held a 37-32 lead going into the fourth quarter.

Strong play by Lubbock's Bill McConnell, who scored 13 of his 17 points in the final stanza, kept the Tigers from blowing the game open. McConnell hit the first two buckets of the fourth period to trim Snyder's advantage to 37-36, and he later tied the game at 41-41 with just over five minutes left.

Brad Richardson collected a pair of charity shots as Snyder took a brief 51-48 lead with 2:13 to go, but McConnell again found his way inside the Tiger defenses and cut the margin to a single point. Tim Perrin tied the game at 51-51 after Richardson was called for a technical - batting the ball when it was out of bounds - and with 1:31 left in the game, McConnell gave Lubbock Christian a 53-51 lead. McConnell might have done more damage to the Tiger five had he not fouled out with 1:11 left in the contest. His foul sent Eric Arnold to the line, who hit the top of a bonus situation and Lubbock's lead to 53-52.

Both teams lost chances to score in the final minute - including trips to the free stripe, but Snyder got the final opportunity. Short took an outside shot with four seconds showing on the clock. It bounced off the rim, and in the ensuing fight for the rebound officials whistled Lubbock's Todd Towns for a foul.

The Eagle mistake was to put the game into overtime as Snyder's Barry Blackmon coolly breezed in the front half of a one-and-one shot to tie the contest at 53-53.

Snyder scored first in the three-minute extra period as Blackmon stuck up a rebound. Pat Phelan then knotted the game at 55-55 with just 25 seconds left and it appeared that a double-overtime game was in order.

But with two seconds left Lubbock Christian made its second biggest mistake - Perrin fouled. The miscue sent Short to the line, who ripped the net for Snyder's winning point.

Blackmon served as a clutch figure for the Tigers, accounting for 15 points and as many rebounds. Richardson led the scoring with 16 points, and Short had 10.

McConnell's 17 was game-high, while teammate Bowe added 13.

Earlier in the evening, Nolan Richardson shoveled in 23 points. Mark Shaw added 11 and Keith Wallace notched 10 as nine Tigers scored in giving the local JV a 63-26 victory over Lubbock.

Snyder had the contest under control from the start, going in front 15-4 after eight minutes and out-pointing the Eagles 15-2 in the fourth.

Aggies Grab SWC Summit

By The Associated Press
Texas Tech held the league's second leading scorer to 2 points, but that wasn't enough in the Red Raiders' battle with Texas A&M for the undisputed Southwest Conference basketball lead.

The Aggies grabbed a slim lead, went into a delay game and got 6-for-6 free throw shooting from senior David Britton and 17-for-19 at the line from the team as a whole to hold off Tech 63-60 Tuesday night.

The win, which came despite the bad night by top scorer Vernon Smith, put the Aggies alone atop the standings with a 3-0 record. Texas A&M got good inside play from 6-11 sophomore Rudy Woods for the second game in a row.

In other games Tuesday night, Scott Hastings 23 points gave Arkansas a 70-58 victory over Texas Christian. Brad Branson poured in 25 points and SMU made 32 free throws in a narrow 78-72 decision over Baylor, and John Danks' torrid early shooting pushed Texas to a 99-73 rout of Houston.

The Aggies, the only home team to win Tuesday, are alone at 3-0, although Arkansas is also unbeaten at 2-0. Texas and Texas Tech are 2-1. Rice 1-1, Houston and SMU 1-2, Baylor 0-2 and TCU 0-3.

Texas Tech coach Gerald Myers was pleased the Raiders were able to shut down Smith, who was averaging 18.2 points a game.

"We were able to play good defense on them for a while, but it caught up with us. They were just too tough for us inside. We made a lot of mistakes. They controlled the ball real well and handled the ball real well," Myers observed.

Texas welcomed back George Turner, a 6-1 freshman from Hitchcock who quit the team after getting criticism from Longhorn coach Abe Lemons and teammates after a low-scoring performance in a loss to Texas Tech last Thursday in the Super Drum.

AIWA Fuming, But...

NCAA Makes History

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - The National Collegiate Athletic Association concluded its 74th annual convention Tuesday, a day early and on what many delegates felt was a "momentous and historic" note - possibly opening the door for the embrace of women's athletics.

Despite the threat of a lawsuit and strong resistance from many of its most powerful members, the convention voted to sponsor women's championships in five sports in Division II and III, the lower divisions.

Beginning in 1981, the 282 Division II and 180 Division III NCAA members will offer championships in women's basketball, field hockey, swimming, tennis and volleyball.

"This is a momentous decision, a historic decision," said one delegate. The next step, many believe, will be the inclusion of women's sports in Division I, the Notre Dames, Oklahoma's, Southern Cal's and Alabama's of the college sports world.

However, the venerable, male-dominated NCAA may have a fight on its hands. The Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW) threatened in a telegram last weekend to take legal action if the NCAA adopted women's championships. And many delegates seemed in sympathy. Gail Fullerton, president of San Jose State University, a Division I school, said the action Tuesday could "sound the death knell for the AIAW."

In other notable developments Tuesday, the convention narrowly rejected a proposal to force Division I basketball schools without football programs to sponsor eight sports.

Tightened recruiting restrictions in football and basketball.

Adopted a resolution to support any decision President Carter might make to boycott the 1980 Moscow Olympics because of the Russian invasion of Afghanistan.

The resolution was submitted by Robert Sweet, president of Rhode Island University and unanimously adopted as the convention's final act. Sweet said the resolution was prompted in part by remarks Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, made in an Associated Press story Sunday.

Sweet acknowledged the NCAA is aware of the "major sacrifice" a boycott would cause American athletes who have been preparing for the games for years. "But athletes," he said, "more than any others, must understand the importance of self-sacrifice for the greater good."

After much emotional debate on the women's issues, the proposals carried in both divisions by greater than expected.

The threat to the AIAW is financial. Using money from its richly successful basketball tournament, the NCAA pays all team expenses, including a per diem stipend, for all championship events. The AIAW does not.

Westerners Not Ready?

downs, but it's important to look at it that way.

"If a young man is really thinking, he'll want to go out there and do his best. Last year we went to the national tournament partly because the guys thought, 'Hey, they did it last year and we want to do it too.'"

It takes dedication. "If these kids have any kind of dedication they'll want to go back and do even better. They'll want to do better than last year's team and the team before that. I'm really proud of these guys and what they've done so far," he praised. "We're ranked No. 1 and I think the kids deserve it. They've played well and worked hard to get where they are. But there's a long way to go. Hopefully we can get back in the groove now and get back to work."

The Westerners have already worked over two of the three opponents they'll face here. In a conference game earlier this season WTC dropped Howard County 121-98. In non-conference play they stopped South Plains College 117-74.

Friday's second game features Howard College against South Plains at 9, while Saturday Howard takes on Midland at 7, followed by WTC versus South Plains at 9.

Traffic Deaths, Dope Top List

AUSTIN (AP)—Col. Jim Adams, new chief of the Texas Department of Public Safety, says his two most immediate concerns are curbing organized drug traffic and reducing highway deaths.

Adams, 53, the first lawyer to head the DPS, said in an interview his plans also include stepped-up legal training for troopers and investigators.

"I hate to see a good case built up and then lost because of a faulty search warrant. One of my freaky buttons is to make sure our people know the law," he said.

Adams, former No. 2 man in the FBI, became chief of the DPS on Jan. 1, the day after former director Wilson Speer retired.

His office decor includes autographed pictures of former President Gerald Ford, GOP presidential hopeful George Bush and former Attorney General Griffin Bell. Hanging on the paneled wall is his license to practice law before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Adams said he still is working out detailed priorities for his administration but drugs and traffic deaths are the top two problems on his mind at the moment.

Small Surplus In Treasury At End Of Two Year Period

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas will end the current two-year business period in the black but there won't be much left over for increased spending by the 1981 Legislature, Comptroller Bob Bullock says.

Increased oil and gas revenue will be offset by declines in other state tax revenues, Bullock warned Tuesday in a new estimate of state revenues for the two years ending Aug. 31, 1981.

"Texas will stay afloat, but we'll see the waves lapping at the sides of the ship of state," Bullock said in comment on his latest estimate of the state's money outlook for the next two years.

Bullock commented after a long conference with Gov. Bill Clements and his budget staff.

In mid-December, Clements said he expected the 1981 Legislature to have a surplus of "several hundred million dollars" that could be distributed as tax relief.

Bullock said Tuesday that his updated revenue estimate shows the state could end its two-year budget period with a "surplus" of $124 million "plus perhaps another $200 million that the Legislature has already approved but has not yet been spent."

"It may be little more than wishful thinking to hope the state agencies won't spend it," Bullock said. "Agencies in times past have not spent some of the monies given them but this time around they are pinched by inflation and may well spend every dime the Legislature approved."

Bullock said skyrocketing oil production taxes, natural gas production taxes and lubricant sales taxes will bring in $641.5 million more than the $2.3 billion previously estimated.

However, he said, court decisions and troubles in the economy will cost the state about $336.2 million in reduced income from other taxes and revenue sources.

Soap Thief Makes A Clean Getaway

A clean getaway was made by a soap thief who broke into a storeroom at Adams' Laundry, police reports show.

Reports indicate the culprit made off with 204 boxes of soap valued at $41. The incident was reported to police Tuesday morning by Don Adams, laundry owner. Taking the report was officer Don Cheek.

Last night, police received a report of two small caliber bullet holes that were found in a pickup owned by Guy Allen. The case was worked as a criminal mischief. The incident was reported at 9:20 p.m. to Sgt. Ed Covington.

Police officers also reported they are dropping investigation of the report-
