It looks as if our dear Uncle Sam is going to have to turn John L. Lewis and his miners across his knee and administer a spanking they will long remember. There is no excuse for any labor organization to strike now. It is true they may have grievances that should be settled, but a labor union has no more right to strike during war time than a group of soldiers who are not satisfied with their lot. Our armed forces have already done a lot toward winning victory, and so has labor done a good job of providing the material for the boys in the battle fields. Now is no time for either to slacken their pace. From now on our forces will need great quantities of guns, bombs, planes, ships, etc. Industry must have coal to manufacture the war goods, and so when miners quit work all down the line, even to the soldier in the trench must eventually stop for lack of material.

Wouldn't we be in a bad fix if our fighting men suddenly decided to go on strike. They have as much right to do so as the coal miners.

"Let our object be our country, our whole country, and may this country, by the blessing of God, become a vast and splendid monument, not of oppression and terror, but of wisdom, of peace, and of liberty, upon which the world shall gaze with admiration forever." Webster.

We are starting a new feature in The Mitchell County News this week, one in which all boys in the service will be interested. I am sure it is a letter to soldiers and is being written by Mrs. Roy Marshall. We hope to have the feature each week. If you appreciate it, write to Mrs. Baud and ask Mrs. Baird to add it to the column she has been writing. The column appears this week and I know you will agree with me in saying it is fine.

Canning Sugar Clarified

In order to clarify the sugar-canning program of the OPA, announcement was made today by Howard Gholson, District Director, Lubbock, concerning the use of stamps from War Ration Books. Small families who need only ten pounds of sugar for canning may take Stamps No. 15 and 16 from their War Ration Book 1 directly to their grocery stores, he said. The director pointed out that these stamps will be honored unless the Ration Book shows that sugar has already been obtained through the Local Board and both amounts will exceed 25 pounds. Otherwise, the Stamps 15 and 16 which became usable on May 23 will be good through October, 1943.

Consumers who require more than ten pounds of sugar per person for canning sugar go directly to their Local Ration Boards for the full amount, the OPA Director said. However, Gholson pointed out, extra sugar for both canning fruits and making jams and jellies must not exceed 25 pounds per person during the specified period.

The regular current ration of five pounds of sugar for a period of 2 1/2 months for table use per person will continue and is not to be confused with the canning ration, the OPA Director said. Stamp No. 12 will be of no value after May 31 and Stamp No. 13 will become valid and be good for five pounds through August 15, he said.

Recent Bride Is Honored

The home of Mrs. Buck Taylor was the scene Friday afternoon for a gift party honoring Mrs. Alvie Bennett, recent bride. The houses were decorated with cut flowers and hanging wedding bells marked the special chair for the bride.

Mrs. Taylor greeted guests and Mrs. Walker presided at the refreshment table serving cheese ritz sandwiches and punch. Mrs. Willie Taylor, sister of the bride, registered guests and gifts in the bride's book.

Mrs. K. L. Taylor gave piano selections and Mrs. F. M. Sweatt gave a comical reading, and Mrs. Bennett Blair read a poem by Edgar A. Guest. Everyone was then asked to give advice to the bride.

The bride's little nephew and niece presented the gifts. About 50 gifts were registered.

LOONEY H. D. CLUB

Interior Decoration was the principal topic of discussion when the Looney Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. E. A. Warner Tuesday, May 25. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Jackson. Minutes were read by the secretary Mrs. Warner, and a report of the Council meeting was given by Mrs. E. O. Price, Council delegate. The president selected a clothing demonstrator, Mrs. Clarence Newby, also a food demonstrator, Mrs. Clyde Hart.

Miss Vera Crippen, the home agent, led a discussion on Interior Decoration.

Punch and cookies were served to six members, two new members Mrs. Newby and Mrs. Fuller and one guest, Mrs. Grady Furrow.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Clarence Newby Thursday, June 3, at 2:30 o'clock.

Cotton Ceiling Price Avoided

Austin, Texas, June 1.—The length of time that cotton prices can be held around 21.38 cents by the sale of government-controlled cotton is problematical, Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research, declared today.

"Regardless, however," Dr. Cox declared, "one thing is certain—a permanent solution of the problem has not been found and the government must shortly face serious problems growing out of the conflict of higher prices to stimulate greater production and stabilized prices to prevent inflation."

Prices of raw cotton to date have been controlled by other than ceiling prices on the raw cotton itself, Dr. Cox pointed out. This has been possible because the production and supply of cotton available has been greater than our capacity to manufacture it in the United States and to limited foreign markets due to war.

The bottleneck of the cotton textile industry is in insufficient manufacturing capacity, Dr. Cox declared. This excess of demand for finished cotton goods over the capacity to manufacture cotton led to rapid rises in cotton goods prices and larger mill profits.

On April 8, Pres. Roosevelt issued an executive order which he designated as a "hold-the-line" order. To many this looked like a directive to put a price ceiling on raw cotton, especially in view of the fact that fine yarn spinners in particular were protesting against filling military orders for combed yarn at the prevailing ceiling prices, Dr. Cox said.

Placing of ceiling prices on raw cotton was avoided for the time being because the Commodity Credit Corporation decided to sell cotton on the basis of 21.38 cents which was the average price in the ten markets on April 7. This move on the part of the C. C. C. was designed to supply certain qualities of cotton which had become very scarce, as well as to avoid the necessity of putting ceiling prices on cotton in line with the president's "hold-the-line" order, Dr. Cox explained.

Wanda Fae Biechey of Abilene visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pichey, last Thursday.

District Court In Session

Court of the 32nd Judicial District convened Monday, May 31, for the June term with Judge A. S. Mauley on the bench.

The grand jury was sworn in Monday and remained in session for the day, returning two indictments. They recessed until later in the term. Bills were secured against Jack W. Bryant and Geo. Edward Hale, both for theft over $50. Monday June 7, is the date set for the Criminal docket to open. A petit jury has been summoned to appear at that time.

Grand jurors are C. C. Berry, foreman; Holly Jackson, Fox Castleman, L. E. Gilliam, J. M. Herrington, R. F. Fee, L. L. Thomas, S. E. Hallmark, O. C. Lucas, W. C. Henderson, Luke Finley and Joe Bennett.

According to H. A. Porco, District Clerk, there are about eight divorce cases pending on the docket, with three already having been granted. Divorces granted were Grace E. Everett vs. William J. Everett; Irene Redwine vs. Amley Gale Redwine; and William Renfro vs. Alice Renfro.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Attu Victory Brings U.S. Nearer Tokyo; Flood Damage Menaces Food Output; Labor Stirred by Lewis Bid to AFL; Churchill: 'Bomb Jap Cities to Ashes'

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the Western Newspaper Union and not necessarily of this newspaper.

Feted from one end of the country to the other for his exploits in shooting down the record number of 26 Jap planes, Marine Capt. Joseph Foss received from President Roosevelt the Congressional Medal of Honor for "outstanding heroism and courage above and beyond the call of duty." Photo shows, left to right: President Roosevelt; Mrs. Mary Foss, mother of the air hero; Captain Foss and his wife, June, adjusting the medal around his neck.

ALEUTIANS: Tokyo Gets Nearer

The Japanese government had prepared the civilian population of Nippon for the fall of Attu through the medium of a report indicating that the last defenders of the Aleutian Islands outpost were making a death stand against attacking American troops.

While the Japs were singing their Attu swan song, reports from Washington had disclosed the strategic moves that had succeeded in bottling the enemy up. Two American columns, landed on opposite sides of the island, had joined and trapped the Japs on a narrow front on the northwestern end of Attu.

Japs Warn Reds

As American air power thus moved closer to Tokyo, the Japs showed their unrest. Apparently the success of Allied bombings of Germany had stirred the Japanese government to the dangers ahead should the United Nations be permitted by Russia to use Siberian bases.

The result was a Tokyo broadcast reported by the British warning Russia that "if in the future she ever put her Siberian bases at the disposal of the United States, the Japanese army will resort to a blitzkrieg and will deal upon her the heaviest blows Russia has ever known."

AFL TO LEWIS: 'Come Back Home'

Unpredictable John L. Lewis knocked at the door of the American Federation of Labor carrying in his hand an application for the readmission of his United Mine Workers. Just eight years before he had torn the parent union asunder in the greatest labor schism in history.

That the door would be opened wide to the errant Mine Workers was evident from AFL President William Green's announcement that the federation's executive council was considering Lewis' application in an "orderly and sympathetic way." Green said he personally welcomed the miners and reminded the public that for seven or eight years he had said the latch string was out and he wanted the miners "to come back home."

What effect Lewis' move would have on the present peace negotiations between the AFL and the CIO which Lewis founded and later quit, was not immediately evident.

EUROPE: Air Blasts Continue

In the wake of ebbing flood waters that had swept disastrously through Germany's industrial Ruhr valleys from the Eder and Moehne dams, shattered by RAF bombs, American Flying Fortresses inflicted further punishment on the Nazis in attacks on submarine and shipbuilding yards at Kiel and Flensburg, 40 miles away.

Air Force communiques said the unescorted bombers had left both targets in flames and shot down many enemy fighter planes that had tried to ward them off.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

CRABS: For the first time in history the giant king crab of the Bering sea will be canned commercially by Americans, Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes announced.

GASOLINE: No extra gasoline will be available for vacation trips this year, according to an OPA ruling. Holders of B and C cards must not use them for holiday trips, the ruling stated.

FLOODS: Peril Farm Output

Ruined, crops, inundated cities, damaged homes and casualties from drownings resulted from the disastrous flood that started in Midwestern farm states and spilled south from rivers and streams flowing into the Mississippi river.

As emergency crews and troops had toiled to check the rise of flood waters and hold down damage from breaks in Mississippi river levees protecting rich farm lands and war plants, weather bureau officials attributed the flood to unprecedented May rains.

In Illinois alone the continuous rains had destroyed 100,000 acres of corn, wheat and oats. Other states reporting serious crop destruction were: Indiana, Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas and Oklahoma. The flood losses represented a critical threat to the nation's epochal wartime food production crusade. The damage resulted not only from crops already in, but from serious delays in planting corn and other vital cereal crops.

CLOTHES: May Avoid Rationing

Rationing of clothing and other textiles may be avoided as a result of plans worked out between officials of the War Production board and retail clothing dealers, it was announced in Washington.

Under the new plan the WPB will make possible increased production of more essential types of clothing and textiles. At the same time retailers have promised to revise certain practices and develop new methods designed to relieve pressure on the industry.

"We believe we can avoid clothes rationing and other textiles this winter and perhaps indefinitely, if we get adequate support from the public," said an official statement.

CHURCHILL: 'Hitler First; Japs Next'

War to the death on Japan, but defeat of Hitler first was the recipe for complete United Nations' victory prescribed by Prime Minister Winston Churchill in his historic speech before congress.

Answering congressional critics who predicted that Britain would leave the burden of defeating Japan to America, Mr. Churchill pledged the empire to war side by side with the United States "while there is still breath in our bodies and while blood flows through our veins." He promised, further, that British air power will join with American to bomb Jap cities and war industries, adding: "In ashes they must surely lie before peace comes to the world."

He defended present United Nations strategy founded on the judgment of President Roosevelt, himself and their military advisers that "while defeat of Japan would not mean the defeat of Germany, the defeat of Germany would infallibly mean the ruin of Japan."

Greater aid for both China and Russia were promised by Churchill.

GAS CRISIS: Middle West Next?

As the gasoline supply crisis mounted along the Atlantic seaboard, Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown decreed a complete ban on pleasure driving in 12 eastern states, part of another and in the District of Columbia.

The states affected by the ruling were Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia. In addition eight eastern counties in West Virginia were affected.

Previously the OPA had sought to curb nonessential driving through a voluntary "honor system."

That additional restrictions loomed ahead was indicated by Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes, who said that the East would have to cut its gasoline consumption still further and that new restrictions may be put into effect in the Middle West so that some gasoline may be diverted from there to the seaboard area.

FOOD CONFERENCE: Postwar Goals Outlined

Continuance of food rationing after the war, the creation of a global agricultural commission and the assurance that the people of the world will be better fed in the postwar period were among goals agreed upon by delegates representing the "big four" of the United Nations—the United States, Great Britain, China and Soviet Russia—attending the food conference at Hot Springs, Va.

In addition the delegates were said to be in agreement on declarations advocating continued agricultural expansion throughout the period of post-war relief, on a statement favoring the reduction of world tariffs and on educational measures to promote better nutritional goals.

Although no binding agreements linked the delegates, Paul H. Appleby, undersecretary of agriculture and acting chairman of the American delegation, said that representatives of 44 governments attending the conference had come forward with offers of co-operation.

FARM IMPLEMENTS: Bigger Output Ahead

Production of farm machinery in 1944 at an estimated rate of 80 per cent of the average annual output in the 1940-41 period, and unlimited production of repair parts was approved by the War Production board.

Release of the official order awaited completion of a farm-to-farm check being made by the War Food administration to determine specific machinery items needed by 6,000,000 farmers, Paul Henry, head of the WFA's production equipment branch, revealed.

Concentration of the farm equipment industry previously ordered in a WPB directive, is to be eliminated. Donald Nelson, WPB chairman, announced that "concentration is a dead duck." Thus large farm equipment manufacturers whose sales are over $10,000,000 are permitted to come back into production.

RUSSIANS: Reds Press Hard

Even as former Ambassador Joseph E. Davies was engaged in conferences with Russ Premier Joseph Stalin in furtherance of his second and historic mission to Moscow, Red armies were reported by the Germans to have launched major attacks on four points along a 1,100-mile section of the Eastern front from the Volkhov sector to the Kuban valley in the Caucasus.

In the Caucasus campaign Red army troops shattered two Nazi attacks, according to a Soviet report, and blasted 14 boatloads of Nazis attempting to retreat over the Kuban river.

In the vicinity of Novorossisk, last remaining Axis bridgehead in the Caucasus, Russian forces continued their pressure, breaking up Nazi tank assaults and tightening their offensive ring around the key city.

CANNED FOODS: More for Civilians

Civilian supplies of canned fruits and vegetables will be increased by approximately 30,000,000 cases from the 1943 pack because of reduced military demands for these commodities, the War Food administration announced.

Whether the new allocation would result in a lowering of point values for canned goods was not known. Officials said this would depend on the size of the 1943 fruit and vegetable pack.

Area of U. S. Push in North Pacific

The strategic position of Attu island, in the Aleutians, where the navy landed strong forces to engage Japanese troops, is graphically shown in this official U. S. navy map. Japanese troops occupied the island about a year ago. In the upper left hand corner is a chart of the comparative distances from Attu to various points in the Pacific area.

Assembly Line in Southwestern Pacific

Mechanically minded American soldiers are taking their mass production assembly line methods with them to the Southwest Pacific. Here troops take parts of trucks, jeeps and ambulances as they come from the ships and put them through the line. One improvement on the assembly line system is their "Change over." When the boys tire of one operation, a command switches all members of the line to a new position and a new job. Left, rear running gear of a two-ton truck is assembled. Right, a cab is added to the truck and soon it will be ready for duty in a battle zone.

Maltese Tribute to Stalingrad

A stone shelter on Malta, most bombed spot on the earth, bears the name "Stalingrad." It is a tribute from Malta to the Russian city which was also rocked under Nazi mass raids, yet held out grimly to victory. Beneath Malta a great system of subterranean workshops hewn from solid rock were the battle stations of thousands of workers who made British tools of war even as Axis bombs exploded above them.

Army Officers Quartered in Metal

These metal buildings in Iran were formerly used for storing grain. Now they serve as officers' quarters for U. S. forces in that country. Three tenants standing outside of their peculiar homes are, left to right, Captains R. B. Seltzinger, Fairfield, Iowa; J. W. Cofer, Louisville, Ky.; and R. L. Clayton, Minneapolis, Minn.

Horn-blowing motorists in traffic jams giving nerves a toothache.

Tails of parked cars growing in every public building . . . Movie theaters, jukebox joints, saloons, dancehalls, giving the entertainment sector a whiff of Broadway's atmosphere. But all gaiety simmers down to a whisper at midnight . . . Uppity salons where intellectuals gather to twiddle their opinions and juggle yawns . . . The many thriving palists, astrologers and other members of the crystal-ball brigade.

Crowds waiting for tables in eateries, waiting for interviews, waiting for rooms. While natives of the Capital City wait for the war to end so that they can fit themselves into normal lives again . . . Politicos, treated like pleasant thoughts when they had power, being ignored like a cigarette butt as soon as they lose their jobs.

The sign: "Washington, The City Beautiful" . . . Twilight's velvety glow coating the city with its natural cosmetics, which most people are too busy to notice . . . The out-of-time symphony of sounds that starts in the morning, snowfalls into an avalanche by mid-day, begins to evaporate as evening piles shadows in corners and buries itself in the silence of midnight . . . The unbuttoned atmosphere of week-ends, when humans get a chance to catch their breath.

Trains coughing out mobs arriving in town, and gobbling those about to leave . . . Small patches on the seat of government eager to grab publicity (spotlight-crazy) and impress constituents back home . . . Empty chairs in the House and Senate, because legislators do most of their work in committee rooms—when they're not doing things they shouldn't be doing.

Falls with his wind-blown coiffure romping along the White House lawn—the most famous dog since Rin-Tin-Tin . . . Biggies at private parties, still nibbling on public debates between mouthfuls of food . . . The hardest worker in town—the President . . . The sour grapevine system of public servants who are always ready to pass the buck or give an excuse, instead of trying to rectify their mistakes . . . The many historical sights all over the place, making the city itself a dramatic museum.

THE STORY SO FAR: Robin Dale, a young artist, goes to Moose Bay to see his fiancée, Miss Dale. Just after he has left, the White Queen, which is an accidently killed. Learning that Miss Dale's brother, Angus, is on his way to the bay, Robin goes to Angus' fishing boat to wait for him. She falls asleep and awakes later to find the boat at sea, bound for Labrador. Angus' crew consists of Pat Donohoe and a cabin boy named Romeo. Robin and Angus are talking when another cruiser draws abreast of them. On deck is a man named Jenkins, who was a passenger on the White Queen. He raises his hat to Robin, then is gone. Now they are fishing for salmon.

CHAPTER IX

While Pat and Angus were working the easternmost pair of nets, Robin saw a large craft coming toward them from the west; and when it drew near she called Romeo on deck to see it. She thought in some surprise that he seemed uneasy at what he saw. The new boat ran past them at reduced speed; and an officer looked at them for a long time through glasses, and she realized this was some kind of Government vessel.

"It's like seeing a policeman," she decided. "When you're driving and see a uniform, you always slow down and feel guilty."

Then she saw Angus leave the net and go alongside the cutter, at anchor to receive him. Pat Donohoe returned to join her here, and as he climbed aboard, Robin said quickly: "Listen!"

The plane they had seen a while ago was returning. She heard it far away, and after a moment they saw its lights, low above the water, growing swiftly nearer, the roar of its engine loud and louder till the plane itself burst out of the purple dusk close by. Its pontoons touched; it taxied toward the coast-guard boat; they saw it moored astern.

It was dark when Angus returned. A boat from the cutter fetched him; and they were all aft to meet him. The boat rowed away; and Angus looked at them in the darkness and spoke briefly, in French. Romeo asked a question; Angus answered too casually; and Romeo and Pat went below. When they were alone, Robin asked: "What is it? What is happening?"

"What? Oh, you mean the cutter? Why, they're on patrol all the time." She smiled in the darkness at his words. "I did not press the question; I was just asking when they were un-der the water and Angus at table to-ward Romeo in the galley, Pat in the kitchen-house, she asked without a word."

"Does Mr. Jenkins know they're watching him?" She saw his eyes turn sharply toward the galley where Romeo was working. Then he looked at her again. "Miss Dale," he said, "talk can't mend a broken plate. But it can break one."

"I'm sorry," she said that there was real concern in him, doubt and uncertainty. When she woke next morning, the sun was high; and the cruiser was at anchor. She dressed and went on deck and saw that the small dinghy which they carried lashed in chocks on top of the cabin was gone, the falls dangling. She was alone. The cruiser lay in a wide shallow bay bordered by a sweep of wooded shore. In one place there were some cleared fields and a scattering of houses and a dock and warehouse. This must be Beaver River. There were small fishing craft at anchor here, sharp-stemmed, with stubby masts; there was one larger schooner; and she saw the coast guard cutter coming up from the westward.

Angus came at noon with news. "Miss Dale, that cruise boat isn't stopping here. I'd forgotten they change their route on this trip. She's going home by way of Corner Brook. Nothing's expected here for ten days, except the schooners to take the salmon. I don't know what to do with you." He said doubtfully: "There's a steamer going on to Labrador tomorrow, but that won't help you get home."

"I've certainly made a nuisance of myself. What can you do?" "We'll stop at Corner Brook ourselves within a week or so." His tone was tentative. "We're pretty far out of the world, aren't we?" "Pretty far out of your world, yes."

"No, I mean out of other people's world. My world is where I am. Wherever I am is mine. For then, it's the place I belong in." She smiled. "I don't mean to be philosophical; just practical. If you can stand being put out of your stateroom—may I go on to Corner Brook with you?" He said, coloring slowly: "I think you know I'll do anything you want. I owe you anything."

she would go on with him as far as Corner Brook was settled. An hour or two later, Romeo brought the boat to anchor near them; and at sunset they went aboard her and got under way. Pat took the wheel, and Romeo turned to in the galley. Robin, in her stateroom, heard the chatter of his activity there; and he began to sing in a rich, rather sweet tenor. When she came out into the cabin, she said to Angus: "He has a pleasant voice, hasn't he?"

Angus nodded. "Yes. Sometimes he plays the accordion and sings at the same time. I always enjoy it." The engine stopped. On any power-driven craft at sea, or on a plane in the air, the sudden silence of the motive agency is startling. Angus looked around in quick surprise; and then the door between engine room and cabin opened. Mr. Jenkins was there in the doorway. His checked suit was stained with grease, sadly rumpled and soiled. He held a pistol in his hand. Angus stood up sharply; but Mr. Jenkins said in gentle tones: "You might as well sit down, Mr. McPhail. While I explain."

When Robin saw Jenkins appear from the engine room, she had a sense of familiarity, as though all this had happened before. Even the pistol in his hand seemed to belong to her.

She spoke in quick reassurance. "Please, all that's forgotten. You were—tired, distracted." He spoke gravely. "You're . . . Well, you've a lot of steadiness, and honesty, and strength. I'm not good at putting things in words; but I want you to know that I'm glad my brother had the happiness of loving you before he died."

and be darned! But you understand, I'll jump you if I can."

"Sure, I would myself. If you do, you take your own chances. No hard feelings. That's understood." Mr. Jenkins was streaming perspiration now; but the pistol in his hand was steady and ready. "I'm a pretty good shot, McPhail. I don't want to kill you. I'm in a devil of a hole! If I have to kill you to get clear, I'll do it; but I'd rather not." He added frankly: "There's some chance I won't get away. If I'm caught, I don't want a killing proved against me."

"Naturally. You don't want to be hanged." "Right. So if I have to start shooting, I'll take a crack at your knee first. That will be just about as bad, for you, as killing you. Lots of men would as soon be dead as one-legged. It will be as bad for you, but not for me. They wouldn't hang me for shooting your leg off. See what I mean? I'm just telling you, McPhail. I have to use you and your boat, but I don't want to hurt you."

McPhail said: "What do you want?" "Why, right now, I want you and the young lady to go into the stateroom there, without any fuss. I want you to promise to stay in there with her till I tell you to come out."

He added, frowning a little at his own perplexities: "You see, McPhail, Romeo's got Pat Donohoe at the point of a gun, forward. We've got to tie him up. I shut off the engine till we could get things straight. I can take your word, but I can't take Pat's. That Irishman would swear to anything, and then kick me in the head the minute I turned my back. I'll have to see him tied up before I can be easy in my mind. Romeo can't do it alone. So I want you to go in the stateroom with Miss Dale here, and promise to stay there, both of you, till I call you out." He looked at Robin thoughtfully. "I don't want to hurt either of you," he said.

McPhail considered. "Just now, you've got the bull by the tail and can't let go. You've got me under your gun here, and Pat under Romeo's forward; but you're not getting anywhere. The boat's drifting. If we stay here long enough, the patrol boat will be back and pick us up."

"Right," Mr. Jenkins agreed. "So you'll know I'm pretty funny. You won't want to push me too far, McPhail."

"Suppose we make a bargain?" Mr. Jenkins said wearily. "Now, McPhail, you know we can't bargain. You wouldn't take my word for any promise I made. Let's just do what I say. You and Miss Dale go in the stateroom and promise to stay there while we fix Pat so he can't make trouble. We won't hurt him, you understand. Then I'll start the engine and we'll pull our freight out of here, and then we'll all calm down. I don't want anybody coming along and asking questions. Be sensible, McPhail." He added in a soothing warning: "And don't get any ideas, will you? I know you had guns aboard here; your shotgun, and Pat's rifle. But they're not where you left them. I took care of them. Don't start anything, McPhail."

"You can't hide a boat this size where a plane can't see it. You're bound to be caught. So you won't do any killing."

"Don't get me wrong, McPhail." Mr. Jenkins told him almost pleadingly. "If I can get clear away by killing you, and can't do it any other way, I'll kill you in a minute." He added simply: "But if I do kill you and Pat, I won't kill Miss Dale. You might think of that."

McPhail nodded, his lips tight. "I have thought of that. Very well, we'll go in the stateroom and stay there; but suppose I call to Pat first, tell him not to make a fuss? Will that help you?" "It just might. I won't trust him, anyway; but it may save him getting hurt." He opened the door beside him. "Go ahead," he directed. "But McPhail—be careful what you say."

Angus nodded, and he raised his voice. "Pat, can you hear me?" The big Irishman's answer from the forecastle sounded surprisingly near. "Aye, sorr."

"I'm making a deal with them, Pat," McPhail explained. "Let them tie you up. They'll be nervous and dangerous as long as you're loose. Take it easy, and do whatever they say. Nobody's going to get hurt if we keep our heads. Understand?"

"I hear what you say, sorr; but shame it is, to be sure." "We've Miss Dale to consider." Pat submitted grudgingly: "Aye, sorr, if you say so." "I do say so. Miss Dale and I have given our word to be quiet, to make no trouble. You let them tie you up."

Milk Takes Important Place in Nation's War Diet; Dairy Industry Breaks All Production Records to Meet Needs

By E. M. HARMON

Released by Western Newspaper Union. In a time when milk has become more important as a dietary factor than ever before, the U. S. dairy industry has taken a front rank in the war effort by smashing all records for production. During the first four months of this year, 37,157,000 pounds of milk were produced, 212,000,000 pounds over last year's mark for the same period.

That is enough increased production in quarts of milk to make a row of milk bottles from San Francisco to Boston by way of Chicago and back through New York City, Washington, D. C., and St. Louis to the Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico.

In other words, more than 26,000,000 dairy cows on American farms are greatly exceeding last year's record-breaking production. With the single exception of April of this year milk production each month has been higher every month than for the corresponding month of the previous year since January, 1940. In January, 1943, production was 47,000,000 pounds over January of last year and 1,246,000,000 pounds over the average for January in the years of 1935 to 1939. In February, 1943, these 26,000,000 cows produced 53,000,000 pounds more milk than in February of 1942, and in March production exceeded that of March last year by 133,000,000 pounds. Due largely to the lateness of the season this year April production is 60,000,000 pounds below last year but is still 1,317,000,000 pounds above the average for the years 1935 to 1939.

Hard Work Does Job

But don't get the impression that these record-breaking yields are being easily accomplished. Labor and equipment shortages are making what is always hard work even more difficult. On the one and a quarter million dairy farms of the nation these producers, their wives, daughters and small children are toiling long hours to take the places of the big brothers and hired hands who have gone to war. On more than 3,000,000 other farms, where a few cows are kept as a sideline, equal efforts are being made.

Always important to health and well-being of the nation, milk and its products become doubly so during the war emergency. The master menus of the army call for fresh fluid milk every day and for butter at every meal. They call for frequent servings of cheese, ice cream and other dairy products. Field rations are made up very largely of milk in concentrated forms.

Executives and managers of factories and offices are coming to realize the part that diet plays in efficiency of workers and to insist on a greater utilization of milk and its products. In many cases by simply installing a mid-meal milk service, accident rates have been reduced as much as 30 per cent and the amount of work per employee materially increased.

The nutrition program of the National Dairy Council is of fundamental importance in developing this national health consciousness. Born of research discoveries which pointed to the place of dairy products in correcting some of the nutritional deficiencies of the first World War, this program is now in its 25th year. For nearly a quarter of a century the Dairy Council has spearheaded a nutrition education program in the schools and among the more than 3,000,000 doctors, nurses, dentists, dietitians, teachers and other opinion-forming leaders who largely determine the food habits of the nation. It is fitting that the results of these efforts should come to their maximum fruition during this emergency period when such information is so much needed to achieve war efficiency.

That the lessons on the value of dairy products to human health are being learned is shown by the fact that total consumption of all dairy products in milk equivalent rose from 806 pounds per person in 1935 to 1939 to 825 pounds per person per year in 1941 and from that to 854 pounds per person in 1942. Consumption of fluid milk and cream per capita rose from 328 pounds in 1935-

535,000,000 pounds of butter a year. Almost 11,250,000,000 pounds of milk are required to make that much butter, or more than 30,000,000 pounds of milk a day. Stated differently, the milk that is required every day to make butter for government needs would fill a train of 37,500-pound capacity tank cars, 5.3 miles long.

But that is only a part of the government needs for lend lease and for the army. Fifty per cent of all the American cheddar cheese is being called for by the government for wartime needs. It is anticipated that this will amount to about 375,000,000 pounds of cheese this year. Another 4,000,000,000 pounds of milk are needed to make this cheese. That is 11,000,000 pounds of milk a day. If we were to take an average farm from the one and a quarter million dairy farms of the United States and ask that they produce enough milk to meet the government's cheese needs for the war emergency for one day, it would take that farm 120 years to do so.

U. S. to Increase Purchases

During the period of heavy production beginning May 1, the government is requiring that the amount of butter to be set aside for lend-lease and the fighting forces be increased from 30 to 50 per cent. Likewise, the cheddar cheese required for these purposes is increased from 50 per cent to 70 per cent. However, it is assumed that this is done to get the bulk of the government needs while supplies are the largest and thus leave fairly uniform amounts for civilians throughout the year. It is not anticipated that the total governmental needs will exceed 30 per cent of the butter and 50 per cent of the cheddar cheese for the entire year.

Evaporated milk is being called for by the armed forces to the extent of 20,000,000 cases a year. That calls for 2,000,000,000 pounds.

In addition fresh fluid milk is on the army master menus every day, and ice cream is served from 8 to 12 times a month. Milk is also served frequently in cocoa and various other forms.

Of defatted milk powder there is practically no limit to the needs of the government, both for the fighting forces and for lend lease. Manufacturers are required to sell 90 per cent of all their "spray process" milk powder to the government. Many of them dispose of all of it in that way. Altogether about 611,000,000 pounds of defatted milk powder was made last year from about 7½ billion pounds of skim milk. Probably another 2,000,000,000 pounds of defatted milk powder could be made if the price were high enough to encourage diverting it from livestock feed and if milk drying machinery could be made available.

In spite of every effort along the production line it will not be possible to provide civilians with all of the dairy products they want. Ice cream production has been reduced to 65 per cent of that made last year, in order to make the additional milk solids available for our fighting forces. That means there will only be 8.5 quarts per civilian this year as compared with 13 quarts last year. After the necessary butter has been set aside for army and lend lease needs there will only be about 12 pounds each for civilians this year compared with 17 pounds in former years. Taking out the army requirements for cheddar cheese, civilians will probably have to reduce their cheese consumption from 6.5 pounds last year to less than 5 pounds this year.

These curtailments represent a distinct sacrifice on the part of consumers.

Large Herd of Reindeer in Alaska to Supply Meat

Ten thousand reindeer are to contribute a million and a half pounds of meat to Uncle Sam's dining tables.

Reindeer breeding in Alaska has been so successful that on Nunivak island a herd of 200, released at the close of World War I, now is a hundred times as large. Since Nunivak can pasture only 10,000 animals, the surplus will be butchered at roundup time next fall. Military and civilian menus from Alaska to Florida will include this venison. This is the second time in half a century that reindeer have helped out in a food shortage, says the National Geographic society. By 1891, whalers had depleted the walrus, seal, and whale, the main source of food and clothing in the Arctic. The government stepped in to avert a famine. Sixteen reindeer were imported from Siberia to Teller on Seward peninsula—Alaska's westernmost point. Laplanders were brought over from northern Scandinavia to instruct natives in the care of the animals. Thus a major Arctic industry was born. Today, to some 15,000 Aleut, Eskimo, and Indian natives of Alaska, reindeer are important as a source of food and clothing. The sinews are used as thread; adult hides become sleeping bags; fawn skins, parkas and underwear. The antlers show up as knife handles.

Letter To Service Men

By Mrs. Roy Baird

Hello Soldier:

Is writing letters classed as work or a pleasant pastime? Of course you will say it all depends on whom the letter is to. But we will all agree that we would get a unanimous vote when it comes to receiving them although we did hear someone say one time they liked the one page letter best and never over two, but then this person was a very jittery type and we believe he just couldn't be still long enough to read a longer letter. Anyway we are going to try to have a letter to you soldiers in our paper each week and shall attempt to keep you informed about the local happenings of your home town as well as passing on bits of news that reach us concerning you boys in service. The Mitchell County News will be glad to receive letters from you boys and shall be glad to print them in full or use excerpts in our weekly letter to pass on your news to your buddies as there are many of you boys who are on our mailing list. News? Oh, yes that's the purpose of this letter isn't it?

Processed Foods—Blue stamps G, H, J remain valid through June 7. K, L, M become valid May 24.

More Canning Food for Civilians—Civilians will gain 30 million cases of canned fruits and vegetables as a result of reduced government requirements. The reductions are mainly for corn, peas, spinach, tomatoes, snap beans, fruit cocktail, sweet cherries, peaches, pineapple, and pineapple juice. Since the 1943 production is not known, current point values for these items will not be immediately affected.

A serviceman, on a leave of absence of at least 3 days hereafter, will be provided, with a complete application form for obtaining rationed food before he leaves camp. He will give the application to the person who provides his meals, who will submit it to the local board for food certificates within fifteen days after the furlough ends.

Price Support for Butter—Dairy farmers have been assured that wholesale prices of butter will continue to be supported at a level equivalent to 40 cents a pound, Chicago basis, until June 30, 1944, by the War Food Administration. The support was pledged last December at the time farmers were called upon to meet 1943 production goals.

AN ELDERLY gentleman of Celtic antecedents didn't feel just right. He decided that possibly something was wrong with him. He went to a physician and described his symptoms.

"How many drinks do you take in the course of a day?" inquired the practitioner.

"Oh, maybe eighteen or twenty, sometimes more, sometimes less. Generally more—if I kin git thim."

"How many cigars?"

"Oh, maybe ten or fifteen, and a few pipes full of tobacco before I go to bed."

"Well, what time do you go to bed?"

"Niver before two o'clock in the mawnin'."

"I don't think you need medicine for what ails you," said the doctor. "What you need is something else. You will cut out drinking entirely. Smoke one cigar after each meal and a pipe before you go to bed. And be in bed by nine o'clock every night."

Without a word the patient arose, reached for his hat and started to leave the room.

"By the way, haven't you forgotten something?" asked the medical man.

"I think not. I didn't bring me umbrella wid me. What wud I be forgetting?"

"Payment for my advice."

"I ain't going to take your ——— advice."

OUR BOYS IN SERVICE

William G. Hestes, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hestes of Lorraine, Texas, was commissioned today, May 26, 1943 as Second Lieutenant, Army of the United States, upon graduation from the Transportation Corps Officer Candidate School at State College, Miss. This school is located on the campus of Mississippi State College.

The Transportation Corps Officer Candidate School is the only officer candidate school in the United States training prospective transportation officers. Lieutenant Hestes has been ordered to active duty in the newly organized Transportation Corps of the Army of the United States.

New Orleans,
May 21, 1943

To the Civilian Population:
I am writing this letter in the hopes that it may increase the sale for War Bonds and Stamps.

You don't realize how badly we need the sales increased of War Bonds and Stamps, and you will never know until you can go through what we do. And there are plenty who will never have to do it. Even the boys in the service are buying bonds and stamps on what little they have to spare. They understand how badly we need them. You (the people I'm speaking of) don't hardly realize there is a war. You don't think that we could easily be attacked.

There are submarines right here in our back yards and this people don't even know it, but we do. Our Coast Guard boat is sinking them all the time but you never hear of it.

We have to guard against landing of troops with billy clubs. We can't have rifle target practice, we have to save what we have for emergency. We drill with wooden rifles, can't get the real rifle.

Once while on a man hunt, practically all we had was sticks. Wouldn't you enjoy hunting an armed man with sticks.

The people like to have their fun, but there will be plenty time for that after we have won the war. But give it a thought: if we lose the war. You think there isn't a chance, but don't be overconfident. The boys can do it with material, and not only that. Every War Bond and Stamp is a stronger defense for the peace of our country.

You can't have any idea what peace really is until you have seen for yourself the hardships Norway, and English people, and the rest of the conquered countries are suffering. We see all kinds of sailors. There was one British sailor who was about to go crazy, he couldn't sit still. His home (undefended) was bombed and his mother, father and little sister, or the whole family, were killed, helpless. And there are Norwegian sailors who can't even go home. Where they dock is a military secret. You should see the surprised faces of the foreign sailors when they land here and see all kinds of food just setting out where it can be seen. The boys of the United States are willing to risk their lives to secure peace for you. Can't you do a very small part to help arm the boys so they will be capable of defending themselves.

You may not have a son who may have to go, but think of the mother and fathers with all their sons gone, and the ones who have lost all their sons in action.

You would be surprised if you only knew the situation right here on the home front. We know plenty but aren't allowed to tell. You don't read everything in the papers.

I won't say we can't whip them over here, because we can. But you had better wake up or it may be tough. Think of the boys who are fighting hard and dying just for you. Couldn't you do a little for them?

You are trying a very large part of the future that will never be regretted and will be wonderfully appreciated by the boys of the United States armed forces.

If by any chance you could trade places with the soldier sailor or marine the sale of bonds would be doubled.

Sew-On Chair Covers In the Smart Cottons

SEW-ON covers of chintz or other smart cottons are always neat and trim and, since the pieces are all sewn to the old upholstery of the chair with rather long stitches, it is not difficult to remove the cover for washing or cleaning. If washed at home it is much easier to handle separate pieces than an entire slip cover.

A sew-on cover should be pinned with a 4-inch tuck-in around the spring seat and 1-inch seam allowances. Use tailor's chalk to mark stitching lines and indicate pieces to have welting stitched to edges. Here, welting is used for the side seams of the inside center back section; across the front of the seat; for the top and bottom of the outside; and all around the front of the arm sections. The sketch shows how welting and un-welting pieces are sewn in place.

NOTE—The new BOOK 16 of the series of booklets offered with these articles gives other valuable pointers on making both sew-on covers and removable slip covers. BOOK 9 gives directions for repairing the springs of chairs before covering them. BOOKS 9 and 10 are 15 cents each. Send your order to:

Kidneys Must Work Well

For You To Feel Well
24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, seamy or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at night, swelling.

Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulates the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence.

At all drug stores.

MEETING WITH THE PRESIDENT

Certain senators who have been working backstage for a streamlined "war cabinet" got some interesting ammunition when they cross-examined one of the President's close associates at a closed-door committee meeting.

They learned that cabinet meetings, except for an increase in the number of participants, still are being conducted on an informal, crack-barrel basis, with no plan or system.

The weekly meetings are conducted without an agenda. Cabinet officers and agency heads never know what will be discussed from week to week, frequently come unprepared for policy questions that affect them.

Senators who have been digging into the matter feel that the White House secretariat should contact department and agency heads several days before a cabinet meeting to learn what problems they want to discuss with the President. On the basis of this, as well as matters the President himself intends to bring up, an advance memorandum could be prepared and distributed before the meeting.

Besides regular cabinet officers, there are usually a dozen other top government officials at White House sessions, including Harry Hopkins, Manpower Chief Paul McNutt, WPB Chief Donald Nelson, Farm Czar Chester Davis, Economic Stabilizer James Byrnes, Admiral William D. Leahy.

Time was when disputes between departments and agencies were ironed out at a cabinet meeting, but not now. Even disputes affecting major military and domestic policies are passed over. Favorite trick of department heads, who have a ticklish matter on their minds, is to wait until the meeting is finished, then pass a note to the President stating their particular problem, with a request for a private audience.

FOUR GERMANS WATCH U. S. A.
There are four Germans who know the United States better than any others. Where they are now reveals what importance Hitler attaches to the United States and its influence on the neutral countries.

All four Germans are located in neutral capitals where they watch American and keep their eyes on news of U. S. diplomatic and military maneuvers, and contact American influence.

There are the four German experts on the U. S. A.
Franz von Papen, German military attaché in Washington during the last war when he engineered plans to blow up the Welland canal and brain-trusted various other sabotage.

Hans Heinrich Dieckhoff, ex-ambassador to Washington and one of the most skillful to be stationed here in years.

Kurt Sell, correspondent of the official German News Agency DNB, long stationed in Washington when he was generally popular. Unofficially he acted frequently for the German Embassy.

In Europe these four are now stationed as follows: Von Papen in Turkey; Dieckhoff in Spain; Thomsen in Sweden; and Sell in Portugal. These are countries which, if they moved their neutral position one way or the other, might decide the fate of the war.

DEFEAT IN BURMA
Recent events in Burma unfortunately have pretty much punctured the one-time world-beating reputation of Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, supreme commander in the India-Burma theater.

The Japs are reported to have only about 50,000 men in Burma. How many the British have in the entire India area is a military secret but it can't be less than a million. However, there is one factor mitigating the otherwise dismal fiasco of General Wavell—most of his army is Indian.

Indian troops have fought well in other wars, but not in this one. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, vitally interested in reopening the Burma road, recently has hinted at the reason.

Would it not be better, he tactfully suggested, to settle India's political problems rather than lose China? In other words, Indian troops with no independence to look forward to, are not going to fight their best.

CAPITAL CHAFF
Generals Giraud and DeGaulle are going to unite on at least one thing—an ultimatum to Admiral Robert of Martinique that he resign. WFB's Ex-Vice Chairman Ferd Eberstadt says: "Before I came to Washington my crowd in Long Island hated Ickes, and I was provincial enough to agree with them. But I have found that he is one of the best executives in Washington and one of the few who always keeps his word. When he promises to do a thing, he does it."

PETER COMFORTS PERSECUTED CHRISTIANS

LESSON TEXT—I Peter 3:13-17; 4:12-16; 5:6-10.
GOLDEN TEXT—For it is better, if the will of God be so, that ye suffer for well-doing, than for evil-doing.—I Peter 3:17.

What shall we do? Where shall we turn? Is there no help for us? Such are the natural and understandable cries of those who bear the heavy heartbreak of persecution. God's Word has the answer for the beginning of the Christian's problem.

Peter is especially the apostle of comfort, and the position now before us is rich in helpful instruction. His word to persecuted people is fivefold.

I. Do Not Be Afraid—Christ Is Lord (3:13-17).

By doing good the Christian will escape much suffering (v. 13), but if even then it comes, he is not to be afraid (v. 14). He is to sanctify Christ in his heart, that is, fully recognize the holiness of Christ and all that He is and can do for him. This is to be done in his heart. That means the exercise of full faith in Christ the Lord as the indwelling Presence. Who then can be afraid?

Note that this is not just a subjective spiritual exercise for his own enjoyment—it will show in his "good manner of life in Christ" which will put his persecutors "to shame" (v. 16). How effectively that has worked only recently in Germany, Norway and elsewhere.

II. Do Not Be Surprised—the Enemy Will Attack (4:12, 13).

Surprise attack is effective. Remember Pearl Harbor! Satan is an expert in strategy, and is eager to keep Christians in an easy and comfortable mood, so that he may strike a vicious blow when it is not expected. We best prepare to meet him when we recognize that persecution and suffering will come.

We are to bear in mind that it is not some "strange thing" which has happened; we who suffer as Christians are "partakers of Christ's sufferings." Joy and glory are ahead.

III. Do Not Be Ashamed—Your Suffer for Christ (4:14-16).

Sadness and depression rest upon the one who suffers for his own evil deeds, but those who suffer for Christ's sake may be ever rejoicing. Can you not see that "the spirit of glory and the Spirit of God" are resting (v. 14) even now on some who sit in prisons and concentration camps? What a glorious picture of His grace!

It is proper to observe here that the believer is not to be guilty of that which justly brings the law's condemnation (v. 15). Do not fail to note the last of the list of crimes—"meddler in other men's matters." Has not just that caused endless trouble in the church, and harmed its testimony before the world? Let's quit meddling!

IV. Do Not Worry—He Careth for You (5:6, 7).

Worry! Worry! How it does crowd itself into our thinking. Yes, we know we are Christians, that we are unjustly accused or persecuted, that we are suffering for Christ's sake. That's all true, but how is it all coming out? What about my family? Will they harm my children? If I do survive will I be able to start life anew? And so on—questions without end; and soon comes the corroding touch of worry.

What shall we do? The answer is plain. Cast all your care on Christ—"He careth for you" (v. 7). That takes an act of faith just as it does to become a Christian in the first place, but it works.

The cure for all anxiety is right there—but it can only be reached by the path of humility. "Humble yourselves" (v. 6). There is the gateway to comfort, and to true exaltation in God's own good time (cf. Jas. 4:10).

V. Do Not Waver—God Is Your Strength (5:8-10).

Steady, perfected, established in Christ, sure of his eternal destiny and with the eyes of faith seeing the glory to come—such is the man who is ready and able to meet the devil when, like a roaring lion, he seeks to disturb and devour God's people. The believer should be ready and equipped.

That does not mean that the Christian sits with his hands folded waiting in a fatalistic way for the inevitable to happen. Never! He is "on the alert" with his spiritual ears attuned to hear the approach of the enemy's "bombers." He is "sober and watchful" against the "roaring lion" (v. 8).

Satan is unusually busy in our day. Alert Christian people see his deadly onslaughts on their brethren, which are possibly more severe now than for many years. He is seeking to break them down physically, mentally and spiritually, to make them fearful, to make them timid about work for Christ, to limit their usefulness, and to steal from them their victorious assurance. He is busy—let us be alert against him.

Size 12 (30) requires, with short sleeves, 3 1/2 yards 35 or 38-inch material. 4 yards 38-inch material. 4 1/2 yard contrast for collar. 1 1/2 yards machine made ruffling.

Gas for Flying Fortress

A fully loaded Flying Fortress uses as much gasoline in an hour as Mr. and Mrs. America's auto does in six months.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Considering cost of oil, gas, tires and upkeep, it is estimated that the cost of driving the average car for 1000 miles at 45 miles per hour is $22.03. At 25 mph the cost is cut to $14.38 and at 35 mph it is held to $17.66.

Malaya and the Netherlands Indies were the only sources of natural rubber in the world which had been successfully exploited to an important extent prior to the present war.

Rubber and gas rationing did not drastically cut motor truck operations last year. Official figures show that during 1942 trucks hauled an estimated 46 billion ton miles of freight on main rural highways, compared with 46.7 billion in the more normal 1940.

Household Hints

Unightly scratches on dark-colored furniture may be covered by wrapping a swab of cotton on a toothpick and dipping in iodine. Apply to the scratches and when dry rub with furniture polish.

When soil in which house plants are potted becomes more like clay than loam it may be lightened by adding sand to it. Plants grow best in this kind of soil.

After you have removed old wallpaper, wash the walls with warm water to remove the old paste. Rinse slightly and let the walls dry perfectly before putting on the new paper. This extra work pays.

Do not throw away used wax jelly tumbler covers. Wash in cold water and dry them and place in an empty tin can. When the can is filled, they should be melted together to form a cake and covered. Thus, they will be kept fresh and as good as ever for next season's jars.

Ground or chopped meat needs much colder storage and keeps a shorter time than other meat.

Use a toothbrush for polishing silverware. It is especially good for the fork tines and engraved handles.

To tightly fasten corks in bottles, boil the corks for five minutes to soften them and then, while hot press them into the bottles. When cool the seal will be perfect.

A small window may be made to look larger by setting the curtain rods beyond the casing on each side and using draperies of a material heavy enough so that casings will not be seen through material.

Rinse in cold water or wipe off with a damp cloth all your meats, vegetables and fruits, as soon as possible after they are delivered. Canned goods and bottles of milk should be wiped off before they are stored in the refrigerator or cupboard.

What is the most welcome gift you can send to a man in the service? Well, surveys among service men themselves show that one of the favorite packages from home are cigarettes. And first choice among men in all the services is Camel, based on the actual sales records in Post Exchanges and Canteens. Though there are now Post Office restrictions on packages to overseas Army men, you can still send Camels to soldiers in the U. S., and to Sailors, Marines, and Coast Guardsmen wherever they are.—Adv.

Largest Bible Weighs Over Half Ton; of Wood

I wonder if it is mere coincidence that the largest Bible in the world was made by a carpenter?

Aided by his wife, he constructed it at Los Angeles, and the job took them two years exactly.

This gigantic volume measures 43 1/2 inches by 34 inches and is 34 inches thick.

Weighing 1,094 pounds—approximately half a ton—when open it spans 8 feet 2 inches, has 32 separate sections, and contains 8,048 pages.

And it was all done on a hand stamping machine!

Baptist Church Notes

"Honor all men. Love the Brotherhood. Fear God. Honor the King." was the golden text in our Sunday School lesson Sunday, with the lesson on "The Christian as a Citizen." The Christian should place duty to God above all other things. A good Christian is always a law abiding citizen. Jesus said "Render unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's." Matt. 22: 21.

Sunday morning our pastor took his text from the 14th chapter of Romans, using the 7th verse as his subject, "For none of us liveth to himself and no man dieth to himself." Everyone has a good or bad influence for others. If we are Christians God grant that we may be Christ like as the word "Christian" means. We should love as Christ loved. He told us to love our enemies. We can't love their ways sometimes but we should love them because they were made in God's image and we should pray for their salvation. We should not judge for the God says "Vengeance is mine, I will repay, saith the Lord."

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Linker and children Lita Pearl and Bobbie joined our church by letter from Snyder and Mary Frances Cope came with her letter from the University church at Abilene. Our church notes last week went out in too late for publication. We stated that Mrs. Payne joined our church by letter from Buford and Don Narrell came for baptism, and in the evening baptism service, Billy Jean Stewart, Truman Nix, Oren Richardson and Don Narrell were baptised.

In the evening service Bro. Polnac brought a wonderful message when he preached on "No Room for Jesus." Sinners give many reasons for not accepting Jesus, ignorance, neglect, etc. but all who have heard the way to Jesus preached and refuse to accept him do so willfully. They are not willing to forsake their sins and the pleasures of this world. The world says, "there is no pleasure in being a Christian." But there is a joy unspeakable in serving Jesus and to know this joy one must experience it in their own hearts. Jesus said "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest." But one must come to Him. God never forces himself on anyone. The door of one's heart must be opened from within with the forsaking of sin and trusting faith in Jesus to cleanse from all sin. He has already paid the price. There is nothing we can do to deserve salvation or to work to win salvation. Trust him for salvation and then trust him to lead and direct in our lives. There are no hard tasks for God. He can do all things.

WE CAN DO THE JOB

Mitchell County News

Methodist Church

In the reconstruction days of the post war period, Christianity and the forces for remoulding the state of the minds of the Axis nations there will be a certain native source from which Christianity can draw help and influence. Many have feared Russia but we mentioned last week certain native agencies there that are still living, seeking to re-establish Christianity there.

In Japan there are some submerged Christian agencies that are living as best they can awaiting the days of Christianization. There are several vigorous Women's Movements which are even challenging the present regime and procedure in the nation. Mrs. Ketoko Hani, editor of one of Japan's leading magazines for women, Fuyin No Tomo, and principal of a modern school for girls in the suburbs of Tokyo, is one such leader.

Another vigorous Christian Women's Movement is the Japanese W. C. T. U. with 17 branches. In fighting Japan's "white slave" traffic, in efforts for temperance, and more recently in the endeavor to prevent the government's manufacture and sale of a special brand of cigarettes for women, or peace activities, and in the struggle for better education, the Japanese W. C. T. U. is rapidly assuming moral leadership.

All these conditions in other warring nations should be fuel on the missionary spirit of the churches of this nation and stimulus to be better ready for the days after.

Last Sunday was Memorial day and we had a different sermon to most such sermons and a good crowd, yet it all was in the line of the day. Where were the "G" Sunday night?

Be with us next Sunday or rather be with yourself and your own church.

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

THERE is a story about a guy that wanted to quit drinking, even if it cost him his standing at the Country Club. He went to a doctor, and the doc says, "Why, I ain't sure that I know how to cure you, because I ain't ever had a complaint like this before. But I've heard that you can make grub do instead of booze. When you feel like taking a big shot of liquor, take something to eat instead. Whenever you want booze, eat. Try it, and see if it works. but don't come back and tell me. Nobody else will ever want to be cured."

So the guy tried it, and sure enough, it worked. He got so he was an awful eater, and he would ask for food at terrible times of the day and night, and embarrass everybody he was with. He might be riding along the road in his car and the couple in the back seat making whoopee, and he'd stop at a house and run in and ask the lady to please give him a sandwich. Well, one time he happened to see a man fall out of a window and get killed. He turned to a cop and yelled, "Ain't it awful! Get me porterhouse steak right quick!" (American News Features, Inc.)
