Frontier Days Plans Forming In Bogata

The third edition of Bogata Frontier Days, sponsored by the Bogata Area Chamber of Commerce is only 28 days away and the planning and staging ball of this annual celebration has really begun spinning. Gaylon Legate is this year's chairman and already he promises a bigger and better celebration than the two previous years.

As usual, the Frontier Days kicks off with a huge barbeque downtown, Thursday, June 22, immediately following the rodeo parade. Catered again by Ernie's of Greenville, the Chamber of Commerce expects to feed in excess of 300 this year. Tickets will be going on sale shortly so get yours early as a limited supply is available. Then at 8:30, the biggest and finest IRA Rodeo in northeast Texas gets underway at the local arena. Produced by our own Jerald Smith, there is no need to go into detail about how great a performance to expect there.

Once you've seen a Wing Rodeo Co. produced rodeo, you'll never forget the action and expert production it affords. On Friday evening, the second performance of the rodeo gets underway at 8:30 p.m. Precious few seats are available for the Friday and Saturday night performances, so you will need to get an early ticket from one of the princess candidates. Go on out to the arena early, get a com-

Public Views Sought On Resources

"Public views on the future of the conservation, protection and enhancement of Texas' soil, water, and related natural resources will be sought at a meeting to be held in the courthouse in Clarksville at 9:00 a.m., June 8, 1978". James E. Pearce, chairman of the Red River County Soil and Water Conservation District, said.

The meeting is in response to President Carter's signing of the Resources Conservation Act last November which requires an appraisal and evaluation of the state and nations' soil and water conservation program.

"The RCA act authorizes and directs the Secretary of Agriculture to develop a national soil and water conservation program in cooperation with the public, our local soil and water conservation districts, the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board, and the Soil Conservation Service," said Pearce.

"This program will establish new direction for future soil and water conservation efforts in Texas based on current soil, water, and related resource appraisals," Pearce continued. "One point I want to make clear is that districts in their 40-year history have always assisted landowners with voluntary conservation programs on their farms and ranches. We do not advocate any other approach since farm and ranch land is privately owned and that the interests and welfare of the owners must be served and that programs must be acceptable to them," Pearce added.

Actions required by the RCA act include gathering data to appraise the condition and quality of Texas and the national soil and water resources by 1979.

The act also outlines a 5-year plan for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's conservation assistance to districts and requires an evaluation of the effectiveness and progress of ongoing programs. Reports will be made to the public and Congress. "Our first meeting will primarily deal with discussions on soil and water resources in the district and how to conserve them," Pearce said. "The public will also have the opportunity to learn more about the RCA act and the mission, relationship, and responsibilities of the district and Soil Conservation Service. "I want to emphasize that a grass roots, bottom-up approach is the key to this act. Our district and Soil Conservation Service will need to identify specific resource concerns and associated problems, if any, in addition to determining the extent and severity of these problems. We urge anyone with an interest in natural resource conservation to attend and air their views," Pearce concluded.

Development Conference To Be Held In Marshall

Speaking from his Washington office, Congressman Sam B. Hall, Jr. said today that arrangements have been completed for a business development conference that will be held on Saturday, June 3, 1978, at the Marshall Civic Center, Marshall, Texas, from 8:30 a.m. until approximately 4:00 p.m. The purpose of the conference is to increase business efficiency, expand existing businesses, and encourage the establishment of new industry. In addition to bringing out the various programs now generally available from the government, it is hoped that this conference will improve business relationships with federal and state agencies and that it will tend to make government personnel less bureaucratic and more efficient. Mr. Hall further stated that the best answer to unemployment is to be found in the jobs that industry, not government, provides, and the best answer to inflation is greater and more efficient productivity per employee. The conference is intended to benefit all twenty-three counties in the first congressional district, as well as neighboring areas that have a job impact on the first district.

Hall advised that the following state and government agencies have been invited to participate in this conference: 1) Defense Contract Administration Services Region (DCASR)

2) Department of Energy
3) General Services Administration
4) Department of Interior—Heritage and Recreational Service
5) Federal Aviation Administration
6) U.S. Department of Agriculture
7) Farmers Home Administration
8) Small Business Administration
9) Economic Development Administration
10) Texas Agricultural Commission
11) Texas Aeronautical Commission
12) OSHA-Department of Labor

Hall pointed out that this conference will specifically address the areas of government procurement, business development, and over-all economic development. The procurement and business portions are designed primarily to assist the individual businessman while the economic portion is designed to assist the various Chambers of Commerce, Councils of Governments, local government units and economic development groups in the area. There will be special seminars on the following subjects:

- 1) Government procurement
 - 2) Business assistance
 - 3) Financial assistance
 - 4) Agricultural development
 - 5) Economic development
- Anyone desiring further information about the conference should contact Congressman Hall's Washington office, telephone 202-225-3035. All are welcome.

Dallas — where city sales tax collections for the year are up 1 percent — will get a check for $1.5 million. San Antonio will get a check for $731,267, Austin will get $458,667 and Fort Worth $451,380. The local-option city sales tax is collected by merchants along with the state sales tax and rebated monthly to the cities by the Comptroller's Office.

Bogata Homecoming Date Set

The annual Bogata Homecoming will be held in the Bogata Gym from 8 to 12 p.m. Saturday, June 10, according to the Homecoming president, Robert L. Lewis. Bogata ex-students and graduates should make plans now to attend, Lewis said.

Robert Joe Vandygriff and his band, "Shades of Country" have been engaged to play from 9 p.m. until midnight. This band presents a good stage show, and you will enjoy coming to dance or just to listen to some good country music, Lewis said.

the last two years know, around noon time, both years we have had an attempted robbery. Thanks to the gallant efforts of our deputies on horseback both times, the crooks have been apprehended. This year we have been assured that another bank robbery will not take place. But if you cannot be in town all day on Saturday, for goodness sakes be there between 12 and 1 p.m. The committee is not divulging what is going to take place but it will be a lot different than the two previous years. One hint, stay back so you won't get blood on your clothing.

Auxiliary Preserving Memorial Triangle

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Bogata Veterans of Foreign Wars Post has undertaken the care and preservation of the Memorial Triangle in Bogata, according to Mrs. Burl Moore, member of the Auxiliary. The marker was erected in 1947 on property which D.T. Layton gave to the Masonic Lodge. The Lodge in turn gave the property to the Texas Highway Department.

A Bogata chapter of the American Legion Post 513 credited with buying the marker, with principal donations from Buster Smiley and an Army Chaplain from Bogata, Carroll Peaden. The Legion members poured the concrete and set the marker.

Listed on the marker are the dead from Bogata and Bogata Routes from World War I; Ethel E. Roberts, William Forester, William B. Ragan, Abner Pirtle, Wallas Day, and from World War II; J.W. Childers, William H. Forester, Eugene Garrett, William H. Bishop, James W. Thomas, Charles W. Cotton, Charles W. Allen, Donald Roach, Martin L. Johnson, Vernon A. Thornton, Marlin Humphrey, Buford E. Denny, Jack D. Gibbs, Jayser C. Caldwell, Grady Branson, J.B. Bowie, Jr., Archie G. Roberts, James R. Oppenheimer, Richard L. Williams.

The Auxiliary has had the triangle landscaped and will pay for the upkeep, Mrs. Moore said. Plans also include the updating of the marker to include the Korean and Viet Nam wars. A wreath will be placed on the marker on Memorial Day and a Memorial Service will be held at 10 a.m. at the Post Home.

FAITH WROTE THE HISTORY OF THE FLAG WE WAVE

A nation's flag is not an object of intrinsic value in itself, but the symbolic worth of that rectangle of fabric waving in the breeze is incalculable. Into the blend of colors and patterns is written the turbulent history of our nation's struggle for freedom, depicting the saga of faith, sacrifice and a determination to succeed at any cost. By attending the Church of your choice, you will learn of this faith in God and belief in the liberty of man, which is emphasized in many passages throughout the Bible. The display of the flag on special occasions should serve to remind us of our priceless heritage of freedom which we must in turn help to maintain, so the next time you see our nation's banner go by you should stop and salute it, with a grateful remembrance of its lesson in what faith and courage can accomplish.

"Thou hast given a banner to them that fear thee, that it may be displayed because of the truth."
 —Psalms 60:4

The things that the flag stands for were created by the experiences of a great people.
 —Woodrow Wilson

TEAM ROPING is one of the events enjoyed at Sugar Hill each Tuesday and Saturday nights at 7:30. Ropers and spectators are invited to participate. (Staff Photo)

Roping Pen Open Twice A Week

Dusky dark means many things to different people. To some it means a leisure rock on the front porch while chawing and spitting. Others jawing with a neighbor over the back yard fence. In Sugar Hill, it means it is roping time at Logan's roping pen, which is managed by Gary Whitney. Team ropers come from Bogata, Mt. Pleasant, Argo, Cookville and Winstboro as well as the Sugar Hill area to practice their skills. There is a calf scramble for the kids and mama can sit back and enjoy a hamburger with all the trimmings from the concession stand while watching papa and the kids.

Whitney extends an invitation to all team ropers and spectators every Tuesday and Saturday night, beginning at 7:30.

Garden Insect Control Imperative

"A stitch in time saves nine", especially when it involves insect control in the home vegetable garden, says Bob Moody, County Agent.

To insure good yields of high quality produce, insect pests in the home garden must be controlled, emphasizes Moody. So learning about these pests will prepare you for them when they arrive on the scene.

There are more than 30 insect pests which will attack vegetables in the home garden, and these are divided into three groups.

One group includes those insects which live in the soil and attack seedlings and underground parts of plants. These include cutworms, wireworms, soil maggots and white grubs.

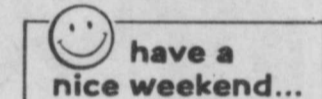

The other two groups are the sucking insects and the chewing insects.

Sucking insects damage plants by inserting their mouthparts into the plant tissue and sucking the juices from plants. Sucking insects include aphids, whiteflies, leafhoppers, squash bugs and stink bugs.

Chewing insects cause damage by actually feeding on the foliage, stems or fruits of plants. This group includes cabbage loopers, armyworms, flea beetles, grasshoppers and many others.

Home gardeners should be aware of these different types of insects and should be prepared to deal with them when infestations develop.

To control these insects, everyone is encouraged to come by or call the County Extension Office and ask for bulletin MP-1257-Vegetable Garden Insect and Their Control.

Homemakers Workshop Set

The keynote speaker of the day will be Mrs. Wanda McGowan of Longview, with musical entertainment to be provided at the luncheon.

The unique after lunch session will consist of an afternoon of leisurely browsing at the Marshall Pottery's Old World Store.

The Young Homemakers of Texas Organization is sponsored by Homemaking Education, Texas Education Agency with Mrs. Norma

Shipman as Area VI consultant. Registration fee is $4.50. All members planning to go should contact Sandra Ingram by June 1.

indeed running the turtle race. This year will be no exception. The third running of the Tortoise Preakness will bring in turtles from across the globe for the big prizes. In addition, the Frontier Days committee has once again gone to considerable trouble to enlist the established services of Barnard Farms. Clifford "Jaws" Barnard and his able trainer John "Phantom Terrapin" Parish will have the top products from their secret "turtle tunnel" for sale to the highest bidder early Saturday morning. Last year, "Little Lisa" a three year old mossback made a miserable showing and has since been put to sea, but you can be assured these two turtle wizards will come back with top turtles for the auction. ((All monies taken at the turtle auction is used for prizes during the day so if you want to be an extra part of the Frontier Days, dig deep and buy some kid an expensive turtle. The kid will be thrilled and the Chamber of Commerce will be appreciative.)

Clarksville High School Band
Denny Whitley, band director from Clarksville High School has accepted the Chamber's invitation to bring his stage band on Saturday afternoon. The plans tentatively call for the band to start playing around 3 p.m. and play as the parade passes by. The Chamber of Commerce is indeed appreciative of Mr. Whitley and his band to play and entertain the thousands of people that will be on hand at that time of the day.

Twain Replies

Mark Twain once debated the question of polygamy with a mormon friend. The discussion became heated and the Mormon asked: "Can you tell me a single passage from the Bible which forbids polygamy?" "Certainly," Twain replied, "No man can serve two masters."

Shriners

Shrine units from Texarkana and Dallas have accepted the invitation from the Bogata Area Chamber of Commerce and the Bogata Rodeo Association to come to Bogata during the Saturday festivities. For the past two years, we have been privileged to have the mustang patrol from Texarkana. These 20 little cars in our parade have been the highlight of the parade each year, and we are pleased to have them back again this year. In addition, the Clown Patrol is some 20 clowns who will spend most of the day in town exciting the kids and adults alike. They will also march in the parade. The Black Horse Patrol have appeared in some of the biggest rodeos in the country and we are honored to have them come to our town. They will be in the Saturday afternoon parade and perform at the rodeo that night. The Horse Patrol will bring a child from the Scottish-Rite Crippled Childrens Hospital with them, and anyone wishing to donate to the Home will have an opportunity to do so at the Rodeo on Saturday night.

Concession Stands

The different concession stands operated by various civic and church groups in Bogata during the Frontier Days are a big part of the activities. Many, many people come to town on Saturday morning for the pancake breakfast and then do not go back home until after the 4 p.m. parade. During the day, many hundreds of sandwiches, cookies, cakes and cold drinks will be downed during the usual hot temperature. Many thanks go out to the different groups that miss part of the activities to help their organization raise money for needed causes. As in the past, any civic, church or other non-profit organization from Bogata or the surrounding area that wishes to have a concession stand need only ask and they will be assigned a booth.

Entries Invited

If you know of any group, organization or person interested in entering the Frontier Days Parade, please notify Jim Wood. The parade is open to anyone to enter and we would be pleased to have as many groups or clubs as possible participate. It is not necessary that the group walk the entire route, but we would like for them to be in the parade when it passes the trailer downtown.

The Sheriff's Department is receiving many complaints and some criticism from Bogata, Detroit, Bagwell, Woodland, Annona and Avery, concerning the disturbance being created late at night by hot rodding of automobiles. We are unable to see any good that can come of parents allowing their youngsters to remain on the streets after midnight. Very few of the youngsters cause any trouble, but they provide an audience for the few who must show out. If parents do not help us in this respect, this Department is too small and Red River County too large for us to completely curtail these incidents.

4-H Health Program Stresses Prevention

When it comes to health, the old adage still holds true that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Eating a variety of wholesome and nutritious foods, getting enough exercise, and scheduling regular physical, dental and eye check-ups are all good ways to guard against potential health problems.

Encouraging young people to practice preventive measures is one of the major objectives of the 4-H health program, points out Wilma Hall, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Beginning this year, Kraft Inc. teams up with Eli Lilly and Co. to co-sponsor the national 4-H health program, which offers 4-H members practical educational experiences that focus on the physical, nutritional, intellectual, emotional and social aspects of good health.

Under the supervision of the Cooperative Extension Service, 4-H members 9-19 can participate in projects and activities that help them develop healthy living patterns and identify and meet individual and community health needs.

They also learn to share their knowledge and skills with others, notes Ms. Hall. For example, one of last year's national health winners, Gwen Ledbetter, 17, of Monroe, N.C., held a countywide drive to collect 500 pairs of used eyeglasses for low-income persons in Haiti. Gwen also saw the need to teach elementary school children in her community about dental hygiene. She designed a coloring book called "Adventures in Growing" that illustrated correct toothbrushing methods. She used crossword puzzles to get her message across to older students.

This year seven national winners in the 4-H health program will receive $1,000 scholarships and will be honored at the National 4-H Congress in Chicago. One program member in each state will attend the Congress on an expense paid trip, and four members per county can earn medals of honor.

In addition, ten 4-H clubs per state and four clubs per county can win certificates of recognition for outstanding health programs.

Awards are arranged by the National 4-H Council, a non-profit educational organization serving 4-H, and are donated by Kraft, Inc. and Eli Lilly and Co. All awards winners are chosen by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Alamo Switchgrass Planted

C.O. and Tommy Welch recently planted about 15 acres of Alamo switchgrass on their ranch five miles west of Clarksville. The grass is now coming up and promising a good stand.

Alamo switchgrass is the newest grass variety to be selected, named, and released for public use by the USDA Soil Conservation Service.

Charles VanDeaver, district conservationist for SCS at Clarksville, said the native strain was selected and tested to fill a need for use in range seedings or tame pasture plantings in the central and southern parts of the state.

"Other strains now available from commercial sources are adapted only to the northern parts of Texas," VanDeaver said. "If you plant available varieties in Central Texas or in South Texas, the plants either won't grow or they will die after a few years."

"So livestock producers in the southern two-thirds of the state have desperately needed a dependable strain of switchgrass for use in range and pasture plantings," VanDeaver continued. "It looks as if Alamo will fill that need."

The plant's primary area of adaptability for range and pasture plantings is in Central and South Texas where average annual rainfall amounts to 25 inches or more.

VanDeaver also said that the grass has proven to be extremely useful for preventing shoreline erosion when planted on earthen dams.

Dawn Stephenson, daughter of Fred and Camilla Stephenson of West Yellowstone, Montana won first place in the Smokie Bear Woodsy Owl environmental poster contest. The state wide contest was sponsored by the National Council of State Garden Clubs. The Forrest Service, the U.S. Dept. of

Circle III UMW Meets

Mrs. G.H. McCluer was hostess Wednesday morning when Circle III, United Methodist Women, met at the home of Mary Lassiter for a covered dish luncheon, following the Bible study. Young Homemakers Meet

The Rivercrest chapter of Young Homemakers of Texas met May 16, 1978, at the Rivercrest High School. After a salad supper, the area meeting was discussed and plans were made to attend. The following officers were installed for the coming year. President, Sandra Ingram; 1st vice president, Debbie Hare; 2nd vice president, Debbie Hudson; and Patty Kuhl; secretary-treasurer, Kay Brooks; and reporter, Nancy O'Brien. Gifts were presented to the sponsors. Mrs. Anita Stubblefield and Mrs. Bonnie Gage. The door prize was won by Debbie Hare. Ten members attended.

The April meeting was held in Talco at the home of Mrs. Carol Jean Leake where she demonstrated the microwave oven. Seven members attended.

The newly named variety is a native, warm season bunch grass that grows three to seven-foot high. The original plant from which the strain originated was found growing on the north bank of the Frio River near Three Rivers in 1964 by Laramie E. McEntire, who was then an SCS range conservationist. McEntire is now district conservationist for SCS at Canadian. Recognizing that the robust plant had superior growth characteristics, McEntire dug the plant, transplanted it in his yard at George West, and nurtured it.

When the plant produced seed, McEntire sent them to the SCS plant materials center at Knox City where more than one thousand different plants are grown and evaluated each year. During the initial evaluation, the new strain showed good seedling vigor as well as excellent forage and seed production qualities. The strain appeared so promising that it was moved to an isolated block for continued growth and seed production.

Alamo switchgrass is so genetically oriented to the South Texas climate that it greened up earlier than commercial strains at Knox City and produced seed two months later. These traits add up to a longer period of forage use during the year. Some 900 pounds of foundation seed was planted

Swimmer Becomes Inspiration For Young and Old

At 72, Mrs. Trudy Murdock of Corpus Christi, Texas is still in the swim of things, to say the least. After a hiatus of 35 years, she has picked up swimming again, attending classes at Del Mar College in Corpus Christi.

"I've always loved swimming and now I have the time to really get into it," Mrs. Murdock told a writer from the National Council on the Aging.

Swimming every other day for 45 minutes a day, Mrs. Murdock has become such a good swimmer that her instructor has often asked her to demonstrate different types of strokes for the students.

As the oldest and one of the best students in the class, Mrs. Murdock has become an inspiration for the young as well as the older students.

"Many people are always talking about improving their minds, which is great," said Mrs. Murdock, "but they forget about their physical well-being."

Mrs. Murdock attributes her good health and a youthful appearance (she looks 50) to exercise and the right foods. "I don't eat greasy foods, and for me French fries don't even exist," she said.

Mrs. Murdock has just reached the 50 mile mark in her swimming class. Charting her swims daily, she reached her goal at the end of last semester. That doesn't mean she's quitting: Trudy is now working up to 100 miles.

Before moving to Texas, Mrs. Murdock worked for 30 years in Washington, D.C. as a secretary and administrative assistant in the Social Security Administration Department. In 1950, she was sent to Japan, where she dealt with civilian personnel working for the army.

With a laugh, Mrs. Murdock recalled the ordeal she and her fellow passengers endured on their way to Japan. "They loaded a bunch of us on a ship with 10 bunks to a room for a 14 day trip," she said. "I was the only one who didn't get seasick."

When Mrs. Murdock returned to Washington, she took a position as administrative assistant at the National Council on the Aging. Six years ago, she returned temporarily to Corpus Christi to care for her granddaughter, after her daughter-in-law became ill. "I would like to go back to work in Washington," said Mrs. Murdock, "but for the time being I'll make do with swimming. I can think of worse ways to spend my time. Can't you?"

OLD FRIENDS-NEW FRIENDS—Fred Rogers' new weekly half-hour television series on your local public broadcasting station depicts how people of various age groups live and grow with one another. Each of seven shows in the series deals with the impact of one person of whatever age in relation to another, his family, or a broader community, and how each benefits one from the other.

Please share your comments with the producer: Fred Rogers, 4802 5th Avenue, Pittsburgh, PA 15213.

Q: Is it against the law in Texas to blink your headlights to warn oncoming motorists of speed traps?

A: Probably not. However, there is a section in Texas law which prohibits flashing lights on any automobile with exception of emergency vehicles. It also is illegal for a truck or automobile to use its turn signals to tell someone behind them it is clear to pass.

Q: I have been married for two years. I have been living in and making the mortgage payments on my wife's home ever since we got married. There have been no changes made in the deed. In the event of death or divorce, will I be able to recover my investment in the house?

A: Under Texas community property laws, you would have a right to one-half of the payments you paid on the house since you and your wife were married. Since your wife owned the house before you were married, you have no right to the house. If your wife dies leaving no will, you would automatically receive your one-half interest in the community estate and, if she had children, they would receive the other half.

Q: Our local school board is attempting to pass a bond package. Can they lawfully use local tax funds to pay for a "bond pusher" to promote the bonds?

A: Under the Texas Appropriations Act, political and legislative influence is prohibited. Article Five, Section Four of the act states that "no monies appropriated by this act regardless of their source or character, shall be used for influencing the outcome of any election, or the passage or defeat of any legislative measure." This section includes all school districts which receive state support.

Q: Isn't it the law that every residence is supposed to have a mail box in front of the house? What will be done if there is no box?

A: U.S. Postal regulations require that a mail box be either attached to the house or placed at the curb in front of the house. Whether the mail box should be attached to the house or placed at the curb depends on the type of delivery service your neighborhood receives. If you do not have a mail box in front of your residence, the post office will not deliver your mail.

Q: I operate a small distributorship and my question involves sales taxes. When I buy from the wholesaler, I have been paying the sales tax to him. When I sell my goods to the public, should I collect the sales tax?

A: Yes. The theory behind the sales tax is that it should be paid by the ultimate consumer, not the retailer. To avoid paying sales tax to the wholesaler, you need to issue a resale certificate to him. If you have collected sales tax and also paid the tax to the wholesaler, you can claim a credit on your sales tax return which is required by the State Comptroller's office.

KRUEGER OF TEXAS

By U. S. Representative Bob Krueger

BUDGET CUT ESSENTIAL

WASHINGTON—"Why doesn't someone in Washington stand up and take the lead?"

This question, put to me by a man from Comfort writing to express his feelings about the urgent need to stop inflation, echoes the sentiments of hundreds more Texans whose letters pour into my office daily.

Last week in Washington, I introduced an amendment which would have cut federal spending by two per cent in all but three important budget categories: national defense spending, agriculture and veterans' benefits.

The amendment would have decreased the federal budget, and therefore the federal deficit, by $7 billion. It would have helped halt inflation by curbing government spending and the expansion of the federal bureaucracy.

And, combined with a realistic, across-the-board tax cut, it would have stimulated growth and development in the private, rather than public sectors.

Perhaps most importantly, passage of the amendment would have indicated to not only the American people, but to our friends in other countries, that Congress is willing to work toward a strong, sound economy.

Unfortunately, my amendment was defeated, and the House approved a $500.9 billion budget. And strangely enough, many of the congressmen who voted against decreasing the deficit, said they did so because people will suffer if government programs do not increase.

It is very clear to me from my mail, phone calls and personal visits, that the people of Texas and the rest of the nation want less, rather than more federal spending.

The people continue to reiterate the same statement: "Look, Government, you don't have to spend so much of our money for us, we can spend it on our own."

Their feelings are easily understood when you examine the case of one man from Richardson, whose story is not unique. This man's income increased by 248 per cent during the past 10 years while his federal income taxes skyrocketed by 387 per cent during the same length of time. It is obvious why he wants less government spending and more money channeled into private-sector development.

Of course responsibility dictates that not all federal programs can be cut. A strong national defense, a service which only the federal government can adequately provide, is essential—and my amendment would not have allowed cuts in that area.

It would also have excluded agriculture and veterans' benefits from the across-the-board cut. Congress has a responsibility to determine national priorities—and recent events indicate that federal aid to farmers should not fall on the chopping block at this time. Our responsibility to those who have served their country in a defense capacity is a long-standing obligation and one which I also felt should not be included in the decreases.

But overall, by making more efficient those programs already in existence, Congress could have approved my amendment and had sufficient funds to provide the services necessary to run this country.

To my colleagues who said people will suffer if government programs do not increase, I can only say this:

Millions of Americans like the man in Richardson are already suffering unfairly because the government bureaucracy is out of control and over-funded, and they are picking up the tab for it.

Common sense tells us that this country should not spend more than it makes. I, for one, will not ask our citizens for more than they can give.

Today's Youth

BY PATRICK DUDGEON

Dangerous Trend

Youngsters today should take heed and avoid a disturbing trend among teens—gambling. Both the National Council on Compulsive Gambling and Gamblers Anonymous claim that the expanding chain of legalized gambling stretching across the United States is impelling more young people to gamble.

Gamblers Anonymous (GA) reports that it is uncommon now to have individuals as young as 14 show up at meetings for help in overcoming a habit of gambling. GA reports there are at least four million compulsive gamblers of all ages in this country though those are teenagers are not available. But the average age of GA members has declined over the past few years. And it is feared high school students are increasingly placing bets at off-track betting parlors and in lotteries across the country. Don't be one of these foolish young gamblers. The trail can only lead to travail and there are plenty of natural highs available for today's youth. Don't waste your younger years throwing away money you don't have. Gamblers don't win; it's only a matter of how much they can afford to lose.

The Good Word from the Bible

... a weekly inspirational message for today's life-styles...

Judge not, that ye be not judged. For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged; and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again.
St. Matthew 7:1-2

These are words spoken by Jesus to the disciples. They were for them, as now for us, words to live by.

Too many times, we are guilty of bad judgment. We prejudice an individual because someone tells us something about them. We criticize some action or some person without benefits of facts.

Judge not, lest you be judged. Isn't this just another way of stating the golden rule? Do unto others as you wish them to do unto you. It is a good and wise manner of living.

The young bully is slow to challenge the lad he knows will strike back. We think twice before violating the law because there is the possibility of punishment or penalty.

Let us always think twice before we sit in judgment of our fellow man.

Mrs. John Callan

Callan-Hughes Exchange Vows

The wedding vows of Verna Hughes and John Callan, both of Dallas, were solemnized May 19 at the Dallas Civic Garden Center at Fair Park.

Dr. C.E. Colton, pastor of Royal Haven Baptist Church in Dallas, performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob F. Reinhardt of Dallas, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Clara Morris of Bogata. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John F. Callan, Jr. of Dallas.

For her wedding, the bride wore a sleeveless, long white dress made of eyelet. The empire waist was adorned with a white satin ribbon. The scoop neck was edged with a lace ruffle. She carried a bouquet made of white and yellow daisies, yellow rose buds, and white baby breath.

Mrs. Jack Wilson of Lewisville was matron of honor, and Mike Windsor of Irving was best man.

The groom's son, Joe Callan, was ringbearer, and Stephanie Wilson was flower girl.

Steve Wright presented selections on the guitar, "Soft Twelfth of Never" and "Evergreen".

Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was held at Great Indoors, 5728 East Lovett Lane.

Hee Haw Show Is Success

By Ina L. White
In my opinion, those who missed the fun-filled Hee Haw Show, presented by the Bogata Junior High students Monday evening, May 22, at the Bogata school gym under the direction of Mrs. Neva Oats, missed a good show indeed!

was excellent and much praise should also go to these fine young men for their talented abilities with bass guitar, drums, lead guitars and banjo.

Certainly credit should be given to Mrs. Neva Oats, a musically artistic and gifted teacher, for her tremendous skill and efforts to bring forth the talent and abilities of her students.

Thank you, Mrs. Oats and Bogata Junior High students for a very entertaining evening. Your talent and hard work were again apparent and your Hee Haw presentation another success.

Shower Held

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Smith recently lost everything in their home when it burned. The Rev. David Griffin states his congregation will bring kitchen utensils and other items to church Sunday morning, or they can be left at any time and others are invited to participate.

A volleyball game for the benefit of the couple will be held later, sponsored by the churches.

Highway Department Lets Contract

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation has recently let a contract for asphaltic concrete pavement. The total length of the project is 1.213 miles with an estimated cost of $56,391.03.

The proposed number of working days for completion of the project is thirty (30) days.

The limits of this project are from 0.1 mile west of State 37 to Walnut Street and from Walnut Street to Travis Street in Clarksville.

Work will begin in approximately four (4) to six (6) weeks with present plans to place barricades May 15, 1978. The contractor is Bi-Co Pavers, Inc., from Dallas, Texas.

At a pre-construction meeting, representatives of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation explained that certain hazards to the traveling public would be prevalent on this project during the process of construction.

Adequate barricades, warning signs and lights will be prominently displayed by the contractor but motorists should be extremely cautious in driving through the construction area.

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, the contractor, and law enforcement agencies appeal to motorists to obey all barricades, warning signs and exercise caution in traveling through the construction area.

Digital Switching

We're using it to hold the line on higher phone rates.

Every dollar we can shave off our operating expenses is a dollar that helps us delay the need for rate increases. Our objective, of course, is to hold the line on operating costs without reducing the quality of your telephone service.

Sometimes this requires Continental to invest huge sums of money in technological advancements that, in the long run, save money. Digital switching is one of these advancements.

Digital switching equipment not only helps us control costs with reduced maintenance requirements, but also provides better noise levels and faster service when you dial a number.

It handles more calls with fewer trunk lines, yet occupies about 80% less floor space than conventional equipment.

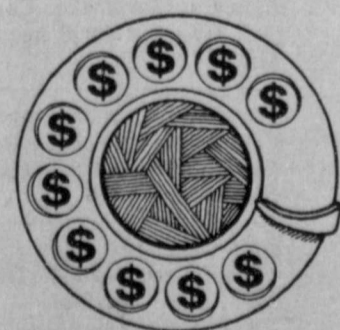

Installed in areas where fast growth is expected, the new equipment will let us meet the growth without the expense of building new facilities.

Because the rates you pay for telephone service are based on our costs of doing business throughout our system, digital switching works in your behalf wherever we install it.

It's one of the ways we're doing our best to do more for you.
