HAMMERING—Jack Darby, a 66-year-old blacksmith, is shown here beating a super-heated grader blade into a chisel point with his trip hammer (power hammer). Most of the tongs he uses were made by his father, himself or people that have worked with him. Darby's blacksmith shop is located in the 2200 block of 24th street. (SDN Staff Photo)

Says Statements 'Insulting'...

Kremlin Attacks Reagan, Haig

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin attacked President Reagan and Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig, calling their statements on Soviet foreign policy "deliberate distortions" that are "absurd and insulting."

The official Tass news agency made the charges against Reagan Friday, the day after the president told a news conference the Soviets believe they have the "right to commit any crime, to lie, to cheat" to attain their goals.

Tass said Reagan "spoke in an unseemly manner about some insidiousness of the Soviet Union's policy which supposedly sets the aim of creating one world socialist or communist state. Such words can only mean that the people in Washington apparently cannot understand the meaning of the changes taking place in the world."

The Tass commentary also responded to Reagan's stand on "linkage" in renegotiating the SALT II treaty. Reagan said the talks must take into account Soviet actions elsewhere in the world but announced no timetable for starting them.

Tass said Reagan "obviously distorted the essence of the matter" and it was apparent Reagan considered the "main matter at these talks should be not the discussion of the terms of limiting the arms race but the linking of this problem with other, unrelated issues."

Meanwhile, Moscow TV commentator Boris Kalyagin lashed out at Haig's statement Wednesday that the Soviets foster terrorism, calling the secretary's remarks "absurd and insulting to our country."

"The Soviet Union has condemned and is condemning terrorist acts," Kalyagin said. "It is sufficient to turn the pages of our newspapers to become convinced about our sharply negative position toward acts of the so-called Red Brigades in Italy or remnants of the Baader-Meinhof group in West Germany."

He said national liberation movements are "natural allies" with communist states against "nations of the imperialist camp who try in vain to stop the international revolutionary process," and that liberation movements are different from terrorist groups.

The real terrorist governments, he said, are "decayed, reactionary regimes that remain in power with the help of American bayonets or with the financial aid of the West."

"The Soviet nation will never deny its international obligations and render aid to people who are fighting a national or social yoke," Kalyagin said, naming El Salvador, Chile and South Africa in this context.

Follows Father's Footsteps...

Blacksmith Jack Darby Finds His Trade Demands Versatility

By LOIS GLEASON

During Jack Darby's 42 years in the blacksmithing business, he's made everything from tools to spurs to ornamental porches. And he's welded everything from lawn mowers to petticoat hoops.

"I'm not a certified welder," says Darby. "I don't know exactly what that is. Mine's all been experience."

He remembers when Snyder went through the oil boom and there were 11 blacksmith shops in town and each shop worked as many men as they could find. Blacksmiths made or repaired much of the oilfield equipment at that time.

Darby's father was also a blacksmith. His shop (and later, his son's) was located across the street from where Montgomery Wards is now. That shop was torn down in 1967 during the "Sparkle City" campaign.

Although Darby worked at different jobs in his younger days, (during high school he worked at Stinson Drug) in 1939 his father gave him a half interest in the business so he went back to the blacksmith shop.

He started out welding, teaching himself from a book and, like his father, eventually built himself a reputation of being able to make or fix just about anything.

He remembers one time when a woman was going to appear in a play and the hoops on the petticoat she was to wear wouldn't stay together.

So Darby welded the hoops together. Although the job was easy enough, he had cause to regret it later.

He walked into a crowded bank one day and saw a woman he used to go to school with. He knew she would tease him so "I quick ducked into the first teller. She turned around and yelled 'You fixed any petticoats lately?' Well," says Darby, "You can just imagine how I felt then. I was so embarrassed."

Welding hoops was a fast job, but a large, ornamental porch he made one time for a special customer took several months.

Back when Darby was small, most ranches were spreads of 10 to 100 sections (a section is one square mile) and most of them had their own blacksmith shops.

A blacksmith would go to a ranch, stay several days till all the work was done, then moved on to another ranch.

They made branding irons, shod horses and fixed windmills among other things.

Darby says "Everybody now is called a rancher that's got a pick-up truck and got a bull and a couple cows and a gun rack in the back of the pick-up and a lariat rope and a goose-neck trailer.

Darby used to collect accounts for his father at the first of every month and remembers having to collect from the marshalls for having their horses shod. There weren't any sheriffs then.

"Cause they were the law, I was always afraid to collect," he admits. "But I'd collect on 'em anyway."

Darby can pick and choose his jobs now and as for horses, he says "I wouldn't shoe 'em if they gave 'em to me." He also doesn't spend much time on the oilfield business, "They expect it rain or shine and they expect it all the time."

He adds, "I can't just devote all my time to one person because I've got so many people that I work for and they don't know when they're going to break down."

Darby does do quite a bit of work for farmers out of his shop in the 2200 block of 24th street. He strengthens plow blades, makes plow points, special built trailers, and of course, repairs tools.

He says, "I do special order stuff for special people." He has made several things for his wife, including a set of bookends made out of horshoes.

One of the jobs he's working on now is a special order for bridle bits for a local judge. He is also working on a job for the city.

The SDN Column

Lt. Gov. William P. Hobby has distributed an analysis of probable redistricting situations that will exist when the final report is received on the 1980 census, and it looks as if our particular area stands a good chance of further dilution on all fronts, despite gains in the head count locally.

Scurry County was the only county showing a significant population increase in the 63rd Legislative District of Texas, according to preliminary census figures, which are the basis for Hobby's figures. Sterling County increased from 1,056 to 1,209, while the other four counties in the district had declines. Scurry County, however, increased from 15,760 to 18,176.

Declines in Howard County (from 37,796 to 33,285), Dawson County (from 16,604 to 16,194), Concho County (from 2,937 to 2,908), and Borden County (from 888 to 857), caused a decrease from 75,041 to 72,629 for the district.

The 30th State Senatorial District could be even more "out of balance" following the new census. The preliminary census report shows the district has 372,286 people now, an increase of 4,778 over 1970. But, considering the state as a whole, the ideal state senatorial district based on the new census should have a population of 458,980

So, it appears certain that our senatorial district will be expanded to include more counties.

★ ★ ★

Our 17th Congressional District possibly could get by without change, although it has less than the "ideal" number. The population of the district, which extends all the way from Big Spring to Gainesville now, shows a moderate increase from 466,432 to 503,563. But that is not as much gain as some other areas of the state have experienced in the last 10 years and the 17th is one of six districts which appear to have less than the "ideal" count of 524,160. But it might be close enough if the legislature doesn't get involved in wholesale gerrymandering when it takes up the redistricting problem.

★ ★ ★

Anyway it likely will be near the end of the session before the final census figures are released. They should be completed and in the hands of the state by now, but there have been a number of challenges. Cities and states on the losing end of the census have gone to court, some asking judges to arbitrarily order the Bureau of the Census to set their populations at higher figures. We don't understand how a judge has this power, but some of them seem to be willing to issue any kind of order these days. An order calling for a recheck, or even a complete recount might makes sense, but it is difficult to understand how a federal judge's order can instantly produce more people. If they do indeed have this power, they should be kept busy solving our energy problem. An order for a well to yield more oil or gas would come in handy these days.

Kiwanis Governor Presents Awards

Texas-Oklahoma District Kiwanis Governor Art Swanberg was the featured speaker Friday night at a banquet held at the Senior Citizens' Center.

The banquet, hosted by the Golden K Kiwanis Club of Snyder, was attended by members of the Golden K Club, the local Noon Club, and representatives from Kiwanis Clubs in Big Spring, Lamesa, Midland, Odessa, Abilene and Colorado City. Approximately 93 persons attended.

Swanberg said the local level "is where the work is being done. It is where Kiwanis really is."

He said a lot of work is being done by community Kiwanis Clubs across the country. Although some of the projects may seem small, "put yourself in the place of those who receive the help." Then the significance of the work projects will be apparent.

"You as Kiwanians are having a great impact on the world and in the communities in which you live," he said. "The great use of life is to spend it for something that outlasts it."

"Let us return to our homes," he said near the end of the banquet, "with one common resolve - to keep on helping people."

During the banquet, several presentations were made. Receiving paperweight bells were Wayne Burney of Snyder, president of the Noon Kiwanis Club, Ken McCraw of Lamesa, and Morrison Brown of Midland.

A life membership was presented to Allen Parnel of an Odessa Kiwanis Club. Swanberg also was presented a $100 check by the Kiwanis Clubs of Snyder.

Swanberg's wife, Alice, was presented an afgan made by Sis Jones of Snyder

Entertainment was provided by the J.D. Smith family. The invocation was made by Dr. Jim Tully.

Helicopter Called To Aid In Search

LAWN, Texas (AP) — Law enforcment officials have called in a helicopter and started a house-to-house search in this West Texas town in search of a man who reportedly beat a DPS trooper and took his patrol car.

"We're bringing in a helicopter," a DPS spokesman in Abilene said early today. "We feel like we got the area sealed off. We are doing a house-to-house search."

The small town is located about 25 miles south of Abilene.

Trooper Jay Moses, 31, of Coleman, was found lying alongside U.S. 283 south of Santa Anna shortly before 10 p.m. Friday night by deputies who had been sent to search for him after he failed to check with a DPS dispatcher.

His patrol car was found about two miles away. The trooper's .357 magnum service revolver was also taken.

Moses was treated at a Lawn hospital Friday night for a mild concussion and released, hosptial officials said.

Officials said they were searching for a 33-year-old man believed to be the owner of a pickup Moses had stopped shortly before the incident occurred.

A.—No. They would be used to finance construction of multi-family units only.

Jr. Livestock Association Sets Drive

The Scurry County Junior Livestock Association will begin its annual membership drive Monday.

Proceeds from the $10 membership fees will be used for prize money and other expenses in the annual Scurry County Junior Livestock Show for 4-H and FFA members in the county.

The 37th annual show is set for Feb. 18-21. This event has seen many changes in numbers and types of livestock and also in facilities, which have ranged from an outside tabernacle on Deep Creek to the modern exhibition complex at the Scurry County Colieum.

The 1981 judging will begin at 4 p. m. Thursday, Feb. 19, when swine will go into the arena. Lambs will be judged at 1:30 p. m. and steers at 7 p. m. on Friday, Feb. 20.

The show will end with the annual auction sale at 1 p. m. Saturday, Feb. 21.

WTC Enrollment Rises For Spring

Total enrollment for the 1981 spring semester at Western Texas College had passed the 1,200 mark Friday, the final day for registration.

This figures makes this spring the second largest enrollment for the second semester since the college opened. It also represents an increase over the past fall enrollment of 1,169.

The highest head count for a spring semester at WTC was 1,267 in 1979.

The proportion of part-time students to full-time students has increased from previous years, said Dr. Duance Hood, dean of student services.

Final figures on the spring enrollment will be available after the 12th day of classes on Feb. 7.

Stenholm Due Here Feb. 13

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm, who represents the 17th District of Texas, is scheduled to be in Snyder on Friday, Feb. 13.

He plans to visit with with as many constituents as possible and appearances are being planned at Western Texas College and at the Scurry County Senior Center.

Weekend update

Home Sales Down 25%

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government says sales of one-family houses fell 25 percent last year and the median sales price rose 3 percent.

The median sales price was $64,600 for the year, compared with the 1979 median of $62,900. The average price in December was $67,900.

The figures were issued by the Commerce Department and the Department of Housing and Urban Development on Friday.

Troopers Get Radar Training

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Drivers who fudge on posted speed limits will soon face increased odds of being ticketed for speeding, say law enforcement training officials at Texas A&M University.

Texas highway patrolmen are going back to school to learn how to use radar speed-measurement equipment.

"Radar technology is an important method of making accurate speed measurements. Proper training will ensure that it is effective," said Chief Ira E. Scott, head of the Law Enforcement and Security Training Division.

Vickie Left Out Of Will

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — In a will dated eight months ago, former Texas House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. left his entire estate to his three young children and made no mention of his wife, who is charged with killing him earlier this month.

The will, filed Friday with the Liberty County clerk, placed all his property in a trust fund for Thomas Houston Daniel, 10; Franklin Baldwin Daniel, 3; and Marion Price Daniel IV, who will be 1 on Sunday.

The will was dated last May 23.

Vickie Daniel, 33, is charged with murder in the death of her husband in the couple's ranch home near Liberty on the night of Jan. 19, some 20 days after she had filed for a divorce.

Poles Urged To Compromise

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Leaders of Poland's largest independent labor union today called on members to accept a new agreement for work-free Saturdays and access to communications media, but said the compromise was not a victory because it does not provide for an independent farmers' union.

Say Texans In Poll...

Crime Biggest Problem

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texans rank the increase in crime as the state's biggest problem, pollster V. Lance Tarrance says.

Tarrance held a news conference Friday to promote his new quarterly Texas Report, a continuing survey of public opinion on state government issues. It sells for $2,500 a year.

Subscribers will include trade associations, but Tarrance said the polls should reduce lobby influence on the Legislature by sensitizing lawmakers to the attitudes of the public at large.

"It (statewide polling) really keeps everybody onto the full population's attitudes, hopes and fears rather than the pressure groups," he said.

The Texans who were polled were asked to identify the state's No. 1 problem, and 46 percent said it was the increase in crime.

But when asked what should be the chief issue before the Legislature, 35 percent said financing of education while only 10 percent said it was wiretapping, the main item in Gov. Bill Clements' anti-crime program.

Another question was, "How interested are you in state government issues affecting the state?"

Fifteen percent said they were "extremely interested," 58 percent "very interested," 23 percent "not very interested" and 5 percent "not at all."

Tarrance's poll-takers also asked whether government employees should be allowed "to join unions and to strike."

Thirty-one percent said yes, 60 percent no, 7 percent were neutral and 1 percent did not give an answer.

Fifty-four percent opposed unionization of teachers while 41 percent favored it.

Joan Whitworth, a vice president of Tarrance's firm, said the Texas Report would not be sold to state government agencies because it would become available to the general public under the Open Records Act.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Dozier

Funeral service was held Saturday afternoon at First United Methodist Church in Winters for Mary Ann (Prissy) Dozier, 49, a former Snyder resident. Mrs. Dozier died at 10:30 p.m. Thursday in West Texas Medical Center in Abilene following a brief illness.

The Rev. Bob Holloway and the Rev. David Hamblen officiated, and burial was in the Coleman Cemetery, under direction of Winters Funeral Home.

A native of Abilene, she was married on Oct. 14, 1949, in Colemen to Marvin Dozier. They moved to Snyder in 1958 and resided here until 1972 when they moved to Abilene. They moved to Winters in 1975.

Surviving are her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Max White of Odessa and Mrs. Lee Crawford of Temple, and two grandchildren.

Heather Lane

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday in the Bell-Seale Chapel for Heather Deshea Lane, 4, who died Thursday afternoon in John Sealy Hospital in Galveston.

The Rev. Melvin Ward, pastor of Union Baptist Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Hillside Memorial Gardens, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

The child had been taken to Galveston by air ambulance after she became critically ill here Tuesday.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Lane; two step-sisters, Pam and Jana Lane, both of the home; a half-sister, Lora Herring of Abilene; five half-brothers, Steve and Jeff Cliff of Abilene, Chad and Chris Welsh of Snyder and Tommy Lane of the home; the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Lane of Snyder, and the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Geneva Knox of Big Spring.

Senior Citizen Meal Slated For Thursday

Senior Citizens will meet for a covered dish supper at 6 o'clock Thursday evening in the Senior Center and are invited to remain for games following the meal.

The Senior Center, located at 2603 Avenue M, is open each weekday from 8:30-4:30 p.m. and county residents 60 years of age and older are invited to participate in its activities.

At 11:30 a.m. Tuesday, Maggie Barnes, RN, will present a program on the new Home Health Care service. Senior Citizens swim from 2:30-4:30 on Tuesday afternoons in the Western Texas College indoor pool.

Wednesday is games day in the center, with table games starting at 10 a.m. Senior Citizens also bowl at 9:15 on Wednesdays, and those interested in entering the bowling tournament being planned for March 25 are reminded that they must have bowled a minimum of six lines to qualify for trophies.

Everybody is invited to join in Friday's Sing-Along starting at 11:30 a.m. in the dining room. The Sunshine Choir will rehearse at 1 p.m. Friday.

Square dancers will swing into action at 7 p.m. Monday and the Round Dance class will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

A complete calendar of Senior Center activities is available in the Center's office, and persons wishing information may contact the office at 573-0104.

Reading Course Begins Feb. 9

Business and professional people who would like to improve their reading speed and comprehension are invited to enroll in a Reading Efficiency course slated Feb. 9-April 13 at Western Texas College.

Classes will meet in the WTC Reading Center from 7-9 p.m. on Mondays with Gerald Corkran as instructor. Fees are $20 per person plus a textbook which costs $4.15.

Persons who would like details about Reading Efficiency may contact Corkran in his office by calling 573-8511, extension 249. Students are to pre-register by calling the Continuing Education office at 573-8511, extension 240. They will register between 6:45-7 p.m. on Feb. 9 in the lobby of the Learning Resource Center and will pay fees at that time.

Bookkeeping Course Set

A 45-hour course in basic bookkeeping will be offered at Western Texas College in evening classes meeting on Tnursdays from Feb. 5-May 21.

Classes will meet from 6:30 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. Fees are $25 per person and students will need to purchase a textbook costing $13.75.

Mona Bryan will be instructor for the course. She brings to the class several years of practical experience in bookkeeping and accounting with local firms. She has designed this course to give students a working knowledge of how to set up and maintain books for their business or in other offices.

Students are asked to pre-register by calling the continuing education office at 573-8511, extension 240. Registration will be held from 6:15 p. m. to 6:30 p. m. Thursday in the lobby of the Learning Resource Center.

The chief reason why the U.S. Constitution provided for a census of the population every 10 years was to give a basis for apportionment of members of the House of Representatives among the states.

Financial & tax planning

CORPORATE LIQUIDATION
(Winding Down the Business)

Terminating the corporate form of doing business should be well planned for income tax purposes. A poorly timed sale of assets or distribution of money and property to the shareholders can cause double taxation. You could pay substantial, unnecessary taxes even on closely-held corporations.

Don't initiate sales transactions for business assets at the corporate level, nor distribute any property or money to the shareholders until a "formal plan of liquidation" has been adopted by the corporation.

The date of liquidation, the timing of the sales of assets and the dates of distribution of money or property to the shareholders should all be reviewed after full consideration for the various regulations which determine the tax consequences to both the corporation and the shareholders.

The fair market value of the assets in the corporation, as they relate to both the corporate book value and the shareholders' stock cost will, in part, determine the approach to be taken. The corporation can sell the assets and distribute the money to the shareholders or the shareholders can take the property in exchange for their shares and subsequently sell the assets at a time best suited to their personal tax return.

Since no two corporations have the same asset makeup, the determination of the best approach for liquidation must be done on a case by case basis.

To satisfy the complete liquidation provisions in the Federal Income Tax regulations, you do not necessarily have to liquidate under the state law. This allows you to protect your corporate name by keeping the charter intact while otherwise having perfected a complete liquidation for purposes of federal income taxes.

Incorporating a business is relatively simple, while the liquidation (unincorporation) can be complex and produce significant income tax problems.

Parents Cope With Prader-Willi Syndrome Child

EDINA, Minn. (AP) — Richard and Marge Wett used to lock their daughter Lisa in her room every night. If they didn't, she would get up and eat anything she could get her hands on.

It was one way the Wett family found was successful in helping 15-year-old Lisa, who was born with Prader-Willi Syndrome.

The constant desire for food is one of the more obvious symptoms of Prader-Willi Syndrome, a birth defect first described in 1956.

Prader-Willi victims, 95 percent of whom show some degree of mental retardation, have very rigid personalities. Temper tantrums and stubbornness are typical behavioral problems.

Short stature, underdeveloped genitals, lack of muscle tone, strength and coordination and a diminished sense of pain also are characteristic of the syndrome.

The Wetts knew immediately that there was something wrong with Lisa when she was born. She was a floppy baby and didn't look like her five older brothers and sisters.

Wett, a physician, says the family did not learn what Lisa's problem was until she was 11, when they read a magazine article about the Prader-Willi Syndrome.

The Young Men's Christian Association (YMCA) was founded in 1844.

Arson Dangers Cited By D. A.

District Attorney Pete Greene, citing statistics compiled by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and National Fire Protection Association and furnished to him through the Texas Prosecutors' Coordinating Council, warned everyone to be alert to the dangers of arson.

The figures show that arson kills over 1,000 in the United States each year, with thousands more being injured. Also, arson destroys more than $2 billion in property annually.

Approximately 25 percent of all building fires in the United States are believed to be intentially set, and about 40 percent of the estimated fire loss dollars paid are for arson fires.

Arson accounts for 19 percent of all fires in cities with more than 200,000 population, 14 percent in cities with 50,000 to 200,000 population, 11 percent in cities with 25,000 to 50,000 population, and 9 percent in cities with less than 25,000 people.

Nationwide, the average arson fire results in a loss of $4,400, according to the National Fire Protection Association.

"Arson is everbody's business and hurts each one of us if only through increased insurance premiums. Your help in assisting the police and sheriff's offices as well as your prosecutor's office in apprehending and convicting the arsonist is needed," said Greene.

Aikido Classes Begin Monday

Aikido classes will begin Monday night at Western Texas College following registration from 6:15 p. m. to 6:30 p. m.

Dr. Shelby Hillis and Ken Grimm will be instructors for the new series, scheduled from 6:30 p. m. to 8 p. m. on Mondays through May 11. Fees are $30 per person.

Aikido is a martial art stressing passive self-defense. Information about the course may be obtained by calling the continuing education office at 573-8511, extension 240. Students are asked to pre-register by calling the office on Monday.

ASTRO-GRAPH

Your Birthday

Bernice Bede Osol

February 1, 1981

The road ahead may be more difficult for you this coming year, but take heart. Additional responsibilities usually mean higher remuneration.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Embellishing the truth a bit might be a tempting thing to do today. However, keep in mind that words, like rubber bands, can snap back to sting you. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) This may not be the best day to get involved in a group endeavor. Everyone seems to be making promises, but no one really wants to do anything.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) An unfortunate tendency to see things as you'd like them to be rather than as they really are could cloud your judgment today. Be careful.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Unless you take time to lay out exact blueprints before tackling any projects today, you may mess things up to the point where they can't be repaired.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be skeptical today. You could fall for the old carrot-dangling-on-the-stick ploy. If you reach for it, you'll find out you get nothing for nothing.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It isn't that you lack good sense, it's more that you're overly anxious to complete something that might cause you to use bad judgment today.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) To get others to do your bidding today you could make some promises you'll later wish you hadn't made. Do things yourself, rather than giving away the store.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Normally you're very level-headed. Risky financial ventures don't intrique you. Today, however, you may allow false hopes to overrule good judgment.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Just because you may have been catered to yesterday doesn't mean the same people will jump to satisfy your needs again today. Better fend for yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your imagination is operating negatively today, so take this into consideration when molehills appear to have transformed themselves into mountains.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Caution and prudence are the watchwords for you today when dealing with unreliable acquaintances. You could be led down an expensive garden path.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Rather than maintaining the high standards important to you, you may disregard them today and use tactics you know are wrong. Don't. Your reputation is at stake.

February 2, 1981

This coming year you will have opportunities to work out to successful conclusions several ventures which you've been unable to conquer in the past. Finish the old before starting the new.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Normally you're a gregarious and friendly type, but today you could step out of character and be a trifle too withdrawn and moody. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Progress will be made in your newest area of concern today because you are able to see things realistically and act on them in a practical manner.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It will be important today to feel your work has been appreciated, so anyone who pays you a compliment will rate high in your book.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Although you project a philosophical attitude, you are still quite serious-minded about any involvements today. Pragmatism will take precedence over all other methods.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your strong suit today is in areas where you can be helpful in some manner, or where you share a joint involvement. Your pep primes the engines.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your need for companionship is likely to be accentuated today, but you must pick the right sort to pal around with. The wrong type will contribute to your malaise.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Adhere to your industrious urges today, rather than your playful ones. Doing something worthwhile adds to your sense of well-being.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Even though it's early in the week, select activities today that give you fun and relaxation. Breaking up dull routine is its own reward.

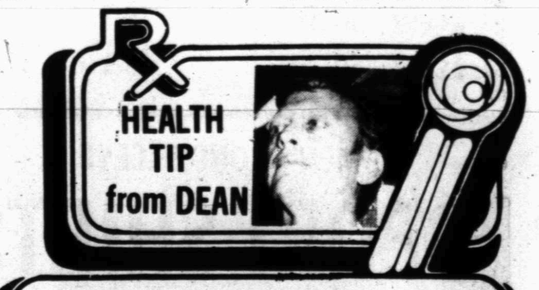

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You won't welcome challenges today, but you might even surprise yourself as to how well you perform when you are put to the test.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Being anchored in one spot today could cause you to become moody and irritable. Arrange your schedule so that you're free to move around a bit.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you apply yourself, you have the ability today to take situations which appear to be of small promise and turn them into something more hopeful.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) The ability to function independently will be important to you today, so try not to let others put you in a position where you can't call your own shots.

Dear Abby

Decorator's Discount Doesn't Come Cheap

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1981 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am a female interior decorator in business for myself. About three months ago I made a contract to decorate a suite of offices for a very attractive unattached male. While working on this job, I started dating my client, which was against my policy, but I was strongly attracted to him and enjoyed his company immensely, so I made an exception. Now find myself in a very precarious position.

My first contract with him is completed, and he has asked me to do another decorating job for him. (His summer place.) But he wants a 40 percent discount, instead of the 15 percent discount I customarily allow repeat customers, friends, etc.

I would like to continue dating this man as well as maintain a business relationship with him. How do I separate business from pleasure without jeopardizing one or the other?

BUSINESS WOMAN

DEAR WOMAN: Having already mixed business with pleasure, you're on the spot. If you don't give him the 40 percent discount, you can kiss his friendship, as well as his future business, goodbye.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am 24 and have been married for seven years. We have three children. My husband is a responsible, hard-working man who works the swing shift all the time. (He likes it.) He also works weekends every chance he gets. If he's not working on weekends, he looks for spare jobs, and when he's not working, he's too tired for anything else.

We have no friends and he doesn't care to go anywhere. We are well-off financially because he has no hobbies, goes nowhere and saves his money.

Abby, there must be more to life than this. I am lonely and bored. I'm not asking for an exciting or glamorous life, but I'd like to have some friends over occasionally, or go dancing once in a while. (He danced some before we were married.)

I love my family very much, but does married life have to be so dull? He used to be alive once. He's only 25. What should I do?

MISSING SOMETHING

DEAR MISSING: One of the things you're missing is communication with your husband. You must have had something in common or you wouldn't have married each other. Let him know how you feel, and begin by inviting one couple to your home or out for dinner. It's usually up to the wife to make social contacts. Instead of bemoaning the dullness of your life, do something to liven it up. It's your move.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: What does one do when he sees a fellow employee robbing the company blind and getting away with it? The person doing the stealing happens to be my supervisor.

Almost all my co-workers here are aware of what's going on, but they're too afraid of losing their jobs to do anything about it. It has been the topic of conversation among us for a long time, but frankly, Abby, we are stumped. Any suggestions from you or others who have had to handle a similar problem?

BITTER

DEAR BITTER: The thief should be confronted by a solid front of all who know that he's been "stealing the company blind." Either tell him face-to-face or write him a letter advising him that you are aware of his unethical practices, and warn him that if it isn't discontinued at once, the boss shall be informed. And if he doesn't straighten up, the boss should be informed.

(P.S. If anyone out there knows a better solution, I welcome it.)

Ector Pops Felines, 63-60

ODESSA – Odessa Ector's varsity Eaglettes ripped off 22 first-period points and added 19 in the second stanza, then hung on to defeat Snyder High School here Friday, 63-60 in District 2-AAAA action.

Snyder, paced by Pam Perceval's 19 points, rallied back to outscore the hosts 33-22 in the second half, but fell short.

"We're having a hard time getting started. I'm not sure what's the matter," said Coach Ken Housden, whose 12-10 Felines stay on the road to try Lamesa on Tuesday. "Ector had a lot to do with it. They hit five straight shots to start the ballgame and none of them were inside. We really didn't play that bad a ballgame, considering."

Snyder was hampered by a stomach virus which sidelined four players on the team most of the week and took its toll by gametime.

Natalie Carter and Pam Alexander began to drop the curtains on Snyder early as Ector pushed out to a 22-17 lead. The Eaglettes added nine points in the second quarter, 19-10, to go up 41-27 at halftime.

Snyder, bouyed by Perceval, Michelle Townsel and Tracy O'Day, came back in the second half to out-point Ector 16-11 in the third quarter and 17-11 in the fourth.

Townsel hit for 13 points while O'Day added 12. LaDonna Halford and Pam Gray basketed 6 apiece.

The loss puts Snyder at 8-4 overall in district play; 7-1 in Round One and 1-3 in Round Two. Tuesday's game at Lamesa begins at 8.

Carter's 29 was game-high. Alexander notched 14 for Ector.

In earlier action, Snyder junior varsity extended its season record to 15-5 with a 45-41 victory over the hosts. Penny Wolfe ripped the cords for 15 points and Tonya Mitchell added 9.

Snyder gained momentum by racing out to a 15-2 first quarter lead. Ector cut the totals to 28-22 at halftime, then to 32-31 at the start of the fourth quarter. Snyder sacked up 13 points in the final period and allowed Ector only 10 to make the difference.

Snyder JV Tumbles To Odessa, 57-44

Ector junior varsity ended a six-game Snyder winning streak here Friday, exiting the Cats 57-44.

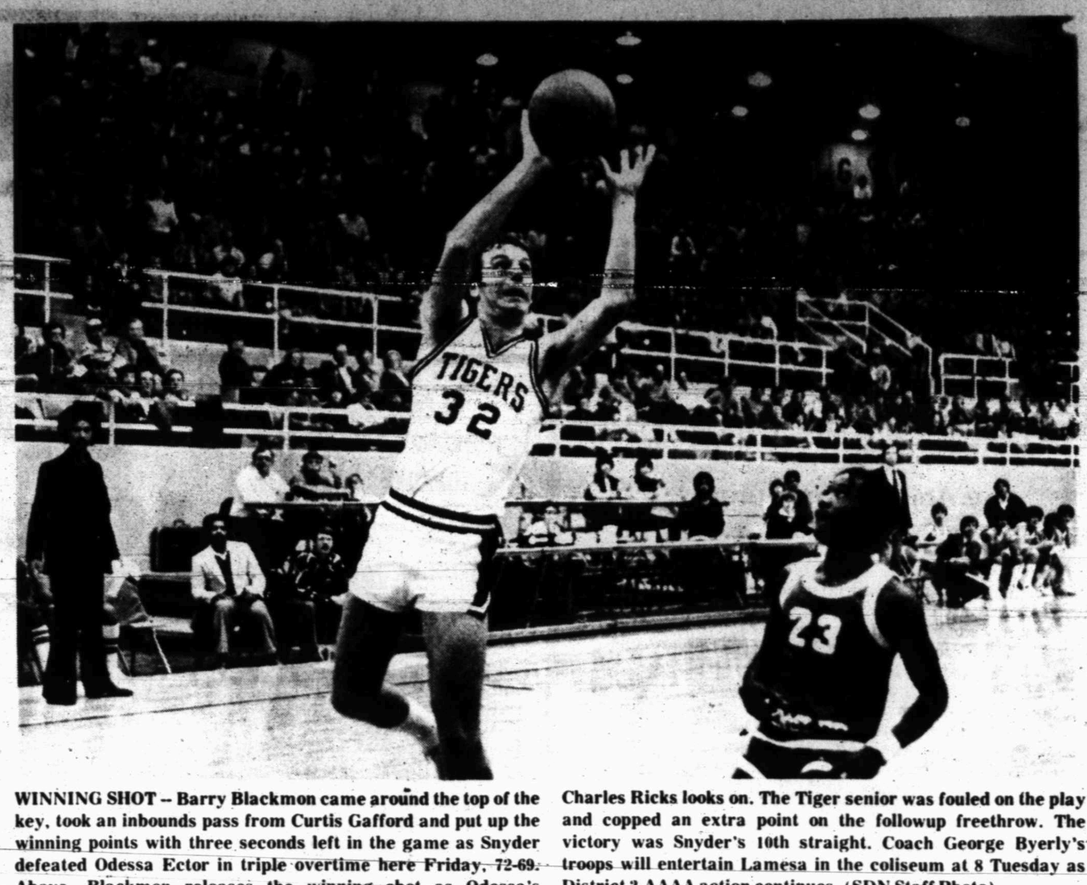

The Eagles went ahead by eight points, 16-8 in the first quarter and though Snyder trimmed it to a 29-24 halftime story, Ector won the third and fourth quarters as well.

Raymond Jeffery led Snyder point-wise with 10. Tommy Gressett and Mark Shaw added 8 each. T. Montgomery led the Eagles with 13.

WINNING SHOT -- Barry Blackmon came around the top of the key, took an inbounds pass from Curtis Gafford and put up the winning points with three seconds left in the game as Snyder defeated Odessa Ector in triple overtime here Friday, 72-69. Above, Blackmon releases the winning shot as Odessa's Charles Ricks looks on. The Tiger senior was fouled on the play and copped an extra point on the followup freethrow. The victory was Snyder's 10th straight. Coach George Byerly's troops will entertain Lamesa in the coliseum at 8 Tuesday as District 2-AAAA action continues. (SDN Staff Photo)

Tigers Chalk 10th Straight...

Eagles Defeated In Triple Overtime

By BILL MCCLELLAN

Like something out of a Walt Disney script, Coach George Byerly's Tigers have risen from the bottomless depths to earn fame and maybe fortune, too. At one time dragging a 3-12 record around, the Tigers reached a major pinnacle in their goal of a District 2-AAAA championship here Friday night as they ousted Odessa Ector in triple overtime, 72-69.

The victory, Snyder's 10th straight, puts Byerly's bunch over the 500 mark at 13-12 and gives them a 1-0 start in Round Two of district roundball competition. Ector and Snyder tied for the Round One crown with identical 7-1 records.

That the game went into three overtimes was no surprise to the estimated 1,000 fans in attendance. The teams locked totals eight times in regulation and three times in the extra periods before Snyder's Barry Blackmon took an inbounds pass from Curtis Gafford, swung up the side of the key and looped in the winning points.

The squads were locked at the end of the third period, 53-53, and the contest went into overtime No. 1 when Tony Gamble's 30-footer bounded from the rim with one second left in the game and the score tied at 61-61.

Odessa got the opening tip in the three-minute period and worked the clock until 11 seconds were showing. A strategy session on the sidelines elected Kevin Butler as the clutch man for the Eagles, but his shot also bounded from the rim and a second overtime became necessary.

Snyder went ahead 63-61 when Blackmon stuck up two points on a rebound, but quick-handed Freddie Pierce managed a steal and a score moments later to tie the game again. Pierce put the Eagles in front on a pair of charity shots with 1:25 left and back-to-back Tiger turnovers gave the visitors the ball with only 14 ticks remaining.

But Disney stories have a way of keeping the hero off balance until almost too late, and such was the case with Snyder. The Tiger press took effect immediately as Gafford flicked the ball from Pierce on the bring-down, then sailed it to John Wilson waiting under the basket. Wilson's bucket tied the game, but the drama wasn't over yet.

With several seconds remaining, Ector's Gambel hustled back down court. His 20-footer bounded from the rim, but Butler was there for the rebound. He grabbed the ball, put it up, and...

"I was sure that was it," said a weak-kneed Coach Byerly later. "I saw him go up with that followup shot and I started to turn around to go shake hands with the (Ector) coach. I just knew that was it."

...the ball rolled completely over the rim and fell off. Bring on overtime No. 3.

It was Snyder up by four in the early going of the third extra period. Kris Seale bucketed a shot underneath, and with 2:08 left Wilson notched a pair of freethrows, 69-65.

Pierce wasn't to let it remain that way. The 5-9 guard was off and running on a steal by Gamble, and he laid the ball up and in to whittle away two points. A missed freethrow by Gafford with 1:23 left made the fans anxious, but Butler quieted them down when he stuck up his own rebound to tie the score at 69-69 with 30 seconds left. Snyder ran the clock to four seconds and called timeout.

"I said I called that play earlier this week and everybody called me a liar," said Coach Byerly of Eric Arnold's buzzer shot that got Snyder past Andrews on Tuesday. "So I won't say either way this time. I'll the people figure it out for themselves."

The well-designed play worked nicely as Blackmon looped around towards the top of the key and picked up a teammate to screen his defender. Gafford made the inbounds pass as the senior broke into the open just inside the top of the key. Blackmon caught it and flipped it in for the winning points. A foul on the play put him at the line for extra icing.

Snyder had a chance to possibly break the game open midway through the second quarter when Seale, Wilson and Arnold combined for 10 unanswered points. The action pulled Snyder from a 28-26 deficit to a 36-28 lead. Although the Tigers kept it in the four-to-six point margin for a while, Ector battled back to tie the game again.

Likewise, Gamble almost turned the tide for Odessa in the third period as he hit his team's first 10 points for a brief 51-47 Ector lead.

Gambel's 30 points - mostly garnered from the 20-30 foot range - led for both teams. Teammates Butler and Pierce had 14 and 12 each.

"I can't give Ector enough credit," said Byerly. "Gamble was phenomenal and Butler is such a great shot blocker that he intimidated us some underneath. Overall I thought we did a good job rebounding, but we let down at times, too. I thought when we got that lead (second quarter), we had a chance to go up by 12 points or so. But we started running with them and got messed up."

Three Tigers landed in the doubles, led by Seale's 18. Arnold added 17 and Blackmon hit for 14. Gafford and Wilson pitched in for 9 and 8 respectively; D.W. Lofton came off the bench for an important four points; and James Caldwell completed the scoring with two.

Westerners Try NMMI Monday

ROSWELL, NM -- Western Texas College's Westerners hope to snap a three-game losing streak Monday when they take on New Mexico Military Institute here at 8 p.m. If so, it would be WTC's first road victory of the season.

Western Texas lost Thursday, 60-59, to South Plains on a buzzer shot. The loss jeopardized the Westerners' chances of making this year's Region V Tournament, but another defeat here Monday would almost certainly put them out of the running. Mathmatically WTC would remain in the chase, but the Westerners must still face the top three teams in the conference, Howard County, Frank Phillips and Midland.

Coach Larry Dunaway's bunch is 13-8 on the season and 4-6 in conference play. New Mexico Military, beaten 84-51 by Frank Phillips on Thursday, is 1-9 in WJCAC action.

Men's standings show Howard, FPC and Midland locked at 8-2 each, while South Plains is 6-4, New Mexico Junior College is 5-5, Amarillo and Odessa are 3-6 each, WTC is 4-6, Clarendon is 3-7 and NMMI is 1-9.

Midland, Odessa Sack Local Cage Twosome

Snyder sophomore and freshmen squads took a tumble Friday. The ninth grade Black team, playing in a Midland Tournament, fell to Midland Purple 70-56, while the sophomore squad lost to Odessa High here, 39-36.

Norman Malone scored 14 points and Jerry Comstock and Marcus McGlouthlin added 9 each for Snyder Black. Midland Purple garnered an 18-11 lead in the first period and made it 42-31 at halftime. Snyder pulled within two at 56-54, but dropped back as the hosts won the final quarter 16-9.

David Nicholson's 13 points led the Snyder sophomores in a game at the coliseum Friday. Snyder led by a point at the first quarter, 6-5, but dropped the lead at halftime as Odessa went up, 17-14. The visitor's lead was trimmed to 25-24 at the start of the fourth quarter, but Snyder was unable to pull off a victory.

Snyder Black will play Monday here against Colorado City. The sophomores meet Aspermont at 2:30 Thursday in the Jayton JV Tournament.

Mitchell New Addition To NBA All-Star Lineup

RICHFIELD, Ohio (AP) - Mike Mitchell's name is familiar to those who must guard him in the National Basketball Association, but word of his talents has not spread far beyond that elite group.

So his selection to the East squad for the 31st annnual NBA All-Star Game Sunday is all the more rewarding for the star of the unheralded Cleveland Cavaliers.

"I had kind of put it out of my head and was looking forward to watching the game from the stands," said Mitchell, the league's 10th-leading scorer at 23.7 points per game.

NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien on Thursday informed Mitchell by phone that he would replace Atlanta's Dan Roundfield on the East roster. Roundfield, voted to the starting unit in fan balloting, is suffering from calcium deposits in his right leg and cannot play.

Many Cleveland fans felt he belonged on the All-Star team all along, and indeed his poor showing in the original fan balloting was one of several indiscretions that have led some players and coaches to question letting fans pick the starting teams.

The problem is most evident on the East unit, where apparent ballot stuffing in Atlanta and Chicago gave the Hawks and Bulls two players each among the starting five - although neither team is playing over .500 ball.

"I think if the fans thought about what this means to the players before they stuffed the ballot box, they might vote not because of loyalty but because of who deserves it," said Philadelphia's Billy Cunningham, coach of the East team for the third time in four years.

In addition to Roundfield, Atlanta is represented by guard Eddie Johnson. From the Bulls, center Artis Gilmore and guard Reggie Theus will be starting.

Philadelphia's Julius Erving, the top vote-getter among fans, rounds out the East starting team and will be appearing in his fifth straight NBA classic.

It was not known if Mitchell would replace Roundfield as a starter, although a more likely choice would be Boston's Larry Bird, one of six reserves chosen for the team in a vote by the coaches.

"He's too good a player not to be in the top five," said Milwaukee Buck Marques Johnson, another of the East's subs. "I really feel he was robbed."

Boston is the most heavily represented team in the East, with center Robert Parish and guard Nate Archibald joining Bird.

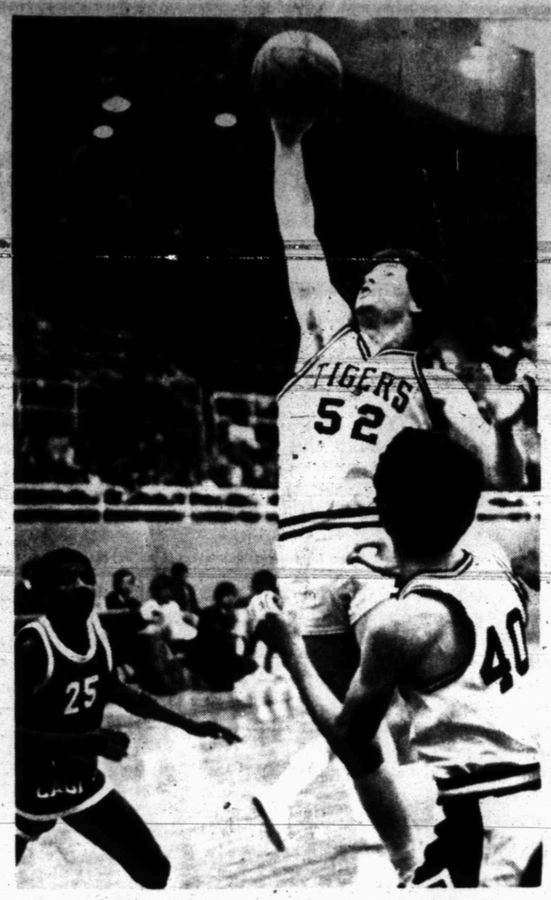

Bobby Jones of Philadelphia and New York's Michael Ray Richardson round out the East unit, which holds a 19-11 edge in the All-Star series.

The favored West squad, coached by John MacLeod of the Phoenix Suns, is led by Los Angeles Lakers center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar.

Utah's Adrian Dantley, the league's top scorer, and Walter Davis of Phoenix will pair off at the forward spots.

George Gervin of San Antonio, who scored 34 points to lead the East to victory in last year's game, will this season share backcourt duties for the West with Paul Westphal of Seattle.

Two of Davis' teammates - Dennis Johnson and Leonard "Truck" Robinson - were added to the West team by the coaches. The other reserves include centers Jack Sikma of Seattle and Moses Malone of Houston, Los Angeles forward Jamaal Wilkes and guard Otis Birdsong of Kansas City.

REBOUND -- Snyder hit the boards well Friday night, a factor which helped the Tigers get past rival Odessa Ector here, 72-69. Above, Curtis Gafford goes high to snare an offensive rebound while teammate D.W. Lofton waits under the basket. Shown for Ector is Tony Gamble, who bombed in 30 points for the Eagles. First Match Sunday For New Gun Club

The newly formed Canyon Gun club will have their first match today (Sunday) at their shooting range by the Northeast Community Center.

The match is for 22 pistols and rifles. There will be two classes in the rifle division: scope and iron sight and there will be silhouette and paper target shooting.

The public is invited to attend and fees for participation are $3 for members and $4 for non-members.

The range is located six miles out on the Camp Springs Road. Turn left at the Northeast Community Center and the range will be one quarter mile to the right. Signs will mark the way. The match will only be postponed in the event of rain or snow.

In the future, the club plans to have matches with more sophisticated weaponry according to Calvin Goebel, club vice-president.

Officers for the 55 member gun club were elected during their regular meeting Tuesday. Ted Floyd was elected president; Mr. Goebel, vice-president; Riley Sterling, secretary; Rick McCarty, treasurer. Range officers are Kenny Wood and Larry Schwarz.

Regular meetings are on the fourth Tuesday of each month. New members are welcome and may join by paying a $20 fee.

The Canyon Gun Club is affiliated with the National Rifle Assbciation.

CONCENTRATION -- Snyder's Kris Seale leaps over Freddy Pierce of Odessa Ector to score two of his 18 points as the Tigers defeated the Eagles in triple overtime Friday night, 72-69. (SDN Staff Photo)

HONOLULU (AP) — A month into 1981, the National Football League officially closes out the long 1980 season Sunday with the Pro Bowl.

"It's a fun game and it's a game where pride is the motivation," said Houston running back Earl Campbell, who'll spearhead a potent AFC offense.

"It's a low-key game as far as the preparation is concerned," said Atlanta and NFC Coach Leeman Bennett. "But it's not low key after the opening kickoff."

Bennett's squad will be headed by Chicago running back Walter Payton and Atlanta quarterback Steve Bartkowski. The NFC defensive lineup includes Tampa Bay's Lee Roy Selmon, Detroit's Al Bakar, and Randy White and Bob Breunig of Dallas.

In addition to stopping league-leading rusher Campbell, the NFC defense will have to worry about the air attack provided by the NFL's top passer, Brian Sipe of Cleveland.

With Stanley Morgan of New England and San Diego's John Jefferson at wide receivers and the Chargers' Kellen Winslow at tight end, the AFC also has a formidable group of receivers.

The AFC defense features Lester Hayes and Ted Hendricks of Super Bowl champion Oakland, with tackles Gary Johnson and Louie Kelcher among eight San Diego players on the AFC squad.

The nationally televised game before an expected sellout crowd of 49,800 at Aloha Stadium begins at 4 p.m., EST.

Although the AFC has been dominant in recent Super Bowls, the NFC has clouded the "which conference is better?" question by winning five of the last six Pro Bowls.

"I don't understand it," said Bennett, "but I hope it continues one more time."

Both Bennett and his AFC counterpart, Sam Rutigliano of Cleveland, said they've grown a little spoiled during the week leading up to the game.

"It makes my mouth water to watch all these guys," said Bennett. "I'd love to take all of them back to Atlanta with me.

"It's very definitely a game our players want to win," he continued. "Pride is an amazing thing."

"It's a great educational experience," said the Browns coach. "The players here are the pro-types of the very best at their positions in the game; so it gives you an idea of what to look for for your own team.

"I think it's good that I have six months before we start again; I'd probably expect too much of some of my players after watching these guys."

CARD OF THANKS 060

I WISH to thank my many friends for the cards, letters, food, flowers and your prayers during my illness. Especially want to thank Dr. Wiman and nurses who did everything that could be done to make my hospital stay easier. May God bless and keep you in his loving care.

Winnie Garner

LOVE IS a gift, take it, let it grow. Love is a sign we should wear, let it show. Love is an act, do it, let it go. This is what Snyder did for us. We take this opportunity to say Thanks to everyone, who shared with us during the brief illness and death of our Mother, Grandmother and Great-grandmother, Mrs. Gertrude Malone. Your prayers and concern, food and all you gave. A special thanks to Dr. Pierce and the hospital staff on Medical One and Two in emergency and student nurses and others. To the employer of this group for your patience and all of our friends. Thank you, you, you and you!!!. Bless you and yours.

AlphaStudy Club Campaigns For A Sparkling Community

LITTER—This scene behind a local supermarket is one the Alpha Study Club is trying to eradicate during their "Put the Sparkle Back into Sparkle City" drive.

As a part of the "Keep America Beautiful" effort, the Alpha Study Club wants to launch a drive in Snyder to "Put the Sparkle back into the Sparkle City" by cleaning up the litter on the streets, on vacant lots and on personal property.

The plan is to clean up and then educate the citizens to keep the community clean by not throwing litter down.

The kick-off date is Feb. 14 when there will be a ceremony at City Hall at 10 a.m.

The club says that a recent publication reveals that each individual in the United States produces five pounds of waste daily through air and water pollution and five more pounds of solid waste.

This means 360 million tons of municipal and industrial wastes yearly. Add waste from mining and agriculture and it totals three and one half tons of solid waste annually. The cost is said to be four billion dollars annually.

Americans total only seven per cent of the world's population but produces 50 per cent of waste in the world.

A recent book on pollution calls man "the dirty animal," because, he says, we not only produce waste but we also strew it all over the country instead of making it inconspicuous as other animals do.

Pledging their support in the clean-up effort are the schools, WTC, the city manager, the mayor, Chamber of Commerce, the county commissioners, service clubs, the radio station, the newspaper, women's clubs, Scouts, Boy's Club, county demonstration agent, local businesses, and citizens.

The club asked the community to please take pride in Snyder and help put the sparkle back into the sparkle city.

Unclear defensive signals

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Defensive signals are given by the card led, by the card played to the trick and by discards. The card led tells partner about your probable holding in the suit. Thus, an honor or high-spot card lead either indicates that you are leading a short suit or have a certain high-card combination in that suit.

Your partner should be able to tell from the bidding, his look at dummy and his own holding in the suit just which it is.

A low-card lead is usually a fourth best from four or more or the third best of exactly three.

There is confusion and lots of disagreement here among experts. Way, way back, if you were going to have to lead a three-card suit you simply led the top. Usually you were leading your partner's suit, but occasionally you were striking out on your own. Then, as time went by, it became customary to lead low from such holdings as A 8 3, K 7 4, Q 5 2. Then J 7 3 and even 10 6 4 were added for good reason and finally we got down to the lead from three small as the third best.

This last has never reached total acceptance. There are those who still lead high from 9 6 4, 8 5 4, etc., and there are the MUD players who lead the middle card from three and then play up or down later as they think best. Even more complicated are those who lead whichever of the three cards looks best to them at the time.

All this looks rather complicated, and it is. The modern convention card has space for opening leads and the one from x x x may well be marked to show top or bottom with top more likely or bottom more likely, to show middle, to show any one or any two as possibilities. This will be confusing for you to play against.

You have one consolation. It is equally confusing for your opponents who are leading against you.

CAR Society Visits Museum

The Anne Pettus Shelburne Society Children of the American Revolution met Jan. 21 at the City-County Pioneer Museum in Sweetwater.

The museum is the partially restored home built in 1906 by pioneer citizens, the late Judge and Mrs. R.A. Ragland, and is a Texas Historic Landmark.

The Indian artifacts, arrowheads, including the Montgomery Memorial Collection and the historical significance of these Indians to our area were discussed by the museum curator.

Mr. Montgomery found most of these arrowheads near Sylvester in Fisher County and the C.A.R. members were acquainted with the family and the area.

Indian studies is a major emphasis of C.A.R.

The tour of the four-story museum exhibited furnishings of the early settlers, the Myres Saddle Shop, early manyscripts and documents, an early beauty shop, including an early permanent wave machine, the furnishings from the 32nd district courtroom of the old Nolan County Courthouse, farm and ranch equipment, photographs from 1876, gun collection, antique glass, dishes, furniture, period costumes, toys, dolls, musical instruments, a pioneer schoolroom, the WASP at Avenger Field during World War II and the Bicentennial Art Collection.

Members touring the museum were Joe Mike Sparks, Tony Gruben, Lyle Hale, Conrad Hamric, Mrs. Lawrence Wayne Sparks (visitor parent) and Mrs. Rudy V. Hamric, senior society president.

Indoor Plant Needs Differ

STREAMWOOD, Ill. (AP) — Indoor plants require various amounts of sunlight and water, amounts which can be easily determined by sight.

Use color-coded pots for the plants, say the makers of Garden Scene planterware.

Their suggestion is for "yellow" to indicate the plant needs a lot of sunlight, "green" when it needs water more often than "red," which uses less water.

For plants that can thrive in shaded light, a "brown" pot will do.

Run a piece of waxed paper over your iron to clean it and make it slide more easily.

If the backs of your thighs could use some firming, try this exercise. Lie back, resting on your elbows, and point your toes. Keeping left leg outstretched on the floor, bring up right leg, pulling knee as close to your nose as you can. Then straighten leg, still keeping it close to your face. Lower and repeat with left leg. Do this eight times each side.

Mr. Wiggin's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Welden Wiggins of Ira. The couple plan to be married Feb. 14 at Woodrow Baptist Church. Ms. Burkett is a graduate of Cooper High School and Mr. Wiggins is a graduate of Ira High School and of Texas Tech.

HERMLEIGH NEWS

By ADALA DRENNAN

To all the former hostages, "Welcome Home" and God Bless each of you.

Kevin Mayhew has resigned the pastorate of the Church of Christ and he and his family have moved to Bartlesville, Okla. Randy Gray will move here next month to fill the pulpit.

Mr. Carl Martin is in the Medical Plaza at Fort Worth, after having undergone surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Jackson and A.B. Conner of Ropesville spent Friday with the Osman Jackson's.

Kent and Dorothy Sprague hosted a dinner party recently for California and area relatives. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Stan Mark and Mrs. Nell Allen of Escondido, Calif., Mrs. Irene Nottingham of Madline, Calif., Mrs. Lois Carlile, Mrs. Jessie Grizzle and Mrs. Grace Bryant of Ira. Also, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wiggins and Hazel Bruns of Snyder.

Joel Roemisch and Brenda Lee of Weatherford visited his parents recently.

Jimmy Don Lloyd, son of Mrs. Leta Lloyd and the late Raymond Lloyd, had surgery last Friday. He is recuperating satisfactorily.

Mrs. Ruth Morgan of Beaumont, Calif spent two days last week with Mrs. Rachel Lassiter and Adala Drennan. She lived next door to Mrs. Lassiter when both lived in Sweetwater. Incidentally, she is a cousin to Alice Lon, who was a former Champaign Lady on the Lawrence Welk TV Show.

Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Hart of Medford, Ariz., were recent visitors of Mrs. Leta Lloyd.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wall of Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. Grover Wall attended the funeral service of their cousin, Mrs. Wayne Landrum of Mt. Pleasant last week.

Rev. and Mrs. Abe Hester, formerly of Okla., have recently purchased the Rex Glass home and moved here. Welcome to Hermleigh.

The Canasta Club met last Thursday with all members attending with the exception of two. Mrs. Oma Houston and Mrs. Verda Johnson won high scores.

The Needlecraft Club met last Wednesday with seven members attending. Mrs. Dorthy Martin presented each member with a "Quilter's Quarter," designed by Cath Heslin and copyrighted in 1979 with patent pending. The members were delighted with these very useful items and will put them to good use.

Mr. Elza Haynes, brother of M.J. Haynes of Burleson, passed away last Sunday after a lengthy illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay (Kayla) Richburg and Quincy Richburg spent the week-end with the Herman Richburg's, and Mrs. Carrie Lou McQuaid.

Mrs. Glenn Roberson of Venita, Okla., daughter of Mrs. Clovis Robinson of Snyder, had surgery recently but is doing nicely now.

The Methodist men of this area, which includes those from Fluvanna, Dunn, Ira, Snyder and Hermleigh met at 7 p.m. on Monday at the Hermleigh Community Center for their quarterly meeting.

A delicious supper was served by the ladies from the Hermleigh Methodist Church, after which an interesting program was enjoyed by a group from WTC. Thirty-one attended.

Rev. and Mrs. Claude Nixon visited in Sonora Sunday with their daughter Wanda, who is a teacher in the school system there. They also visited with Mrs. Vertna Lee, a former resident of Hermleigh, who has been dismissed from the hospital from a fall and is now back in the Lillian Hudspeth Nursing Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Reeves visited with their son Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fritz and family Sunday.

Millions Spent On Diet Products

The American Medical Association estimates that Americans spend $100 million a year on fraudulent diet products.

Additional millions are spent annually on wafers, pills and other products that have little or no permanent effect on appetite or weight though they are not fraudulent in the legal sense.

Researcher Finds Old Manuscripts Dating Back From Great Depression

NEW YORK (AP) — The manuscripts had been decaying for 40 years in an airless room in the Library of Congress, unread, uncataloged, essentially forgotten.

But an energetic young researcher found the voices and feelings of the survivors of the Great Depression were still alive as she pored over them. Listen to an auctioneer tell about a colleague: "Herbert Baker had the prettiest, softest voice, clear as a bell, and his lower jaw would be going like a sewing machine."

A prospector from Oregon: "They'd call us hoboes now, but in them days we was known as Overland Johns, and by God, I knew every creek and cow between here and Mexico and right back up to Alaska."

These are but two of the 80 voices in a new book entitled "First Person America." The voices are those of ordinary people, people with no claim to fame, just folk who worked in the quarries of Barre, Vt., and knew the dust would get them in the end; a man who smuggled liquor from Cuba to Key West, but was too smart ever to smuggle people.

They were all collected four decades ago as part of the Federal Writers' Project, a New Deal program that almost moved into oblivion. Five years ago, Ann Banks began wading through the 150,000 pages of manuscripts that no one had ever read in their entirety. She found 10,000 first-person accounts of life as it was and as it was remembered, the genre which today would be called "oral history." She selected 80 for her book, published by Knopf.

The Federal Writers' Project employed about 6,500 writers at its peak and paid them about $20 a week, a subsistence wage during the Depression.

Recent college graduates, former newspapermen, clerks, out-of-work teachers and people who just felt the muse all ended up in the project.

The Federal Writers' Project was best known for a series of guidebooks to states. But the political clime of the day even had its effect on this seemingly harmless project.

The man who wrote the guide book for Florida, Stetson Kennedy, wanted to write more of how people lived, what the quality of life was really like amidst the orange groves, the cattle ranches, the boom towns of the Gold Coast. The man in charge was more interested in a treatise on palm trees.

"Both sides compromised," says Ms. Banks. "I'm sure Stetson Kennedy wasn't completely satisfied with it, but on the other hand it shows it was written with a great deal more sensitivity than a Chamber of Commerce account."

SPEAK AT ABWA—Bob Leamons, left, and David McCurry recently presented a program on alcohol and drug abuse to the American Business Women's Association. They showed a film titled "A Time For Decision."

In resolving conflict, the idea is not to begin with agreement but to end with it, reminds Diane Welch, a family life education specialist. Mrs. Welch is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Deadline Is Nearing For Cooking Contest

Among your family's treasured recipes there my be a chicken dish which could become the $10,000 top winner in the 1981 National Chicken Cooking Contest.

Last year, Sheila Hoban of the District of Columbia started with "Aunt Mae's special way of cooking chicken," made a few improvisions of her own, entered the contest and won the 1980 cook-off.

The entry period is now open for the 1981 contest. To enter, mail your recipe before the April 1 deadline with your name, address and telephone number on each to: Chicken Contest, Box 28158 Central Station, Washington, DC 20005.

Entry blanks are not required but for full details you can obtain one by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to the above address.

A finalist from each state and the District of Columbia will be chosen to cook it out for a total of $20,000 in prizes on July 29, in Ocean City, MD. The five top winners will be selected by a panel of food experts.

According to the National Broiler Council, contest sponsor, entries will be judged on four equal points: taste, appearance, simplicity and appeal.

Recipes should be written for approximately four servings and the only required ingredient is chicken— whole or any part or parts.

The chicken cooking contest dates back to 1949. The cook-off this year will return to the Delmarva Peninsula, where it all began more than three decades ago.

ABWA Hears Drug Program

Bob Leamons and David McCurry, with the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Services located in the Coliseum annex, spoke to The American Business Women's Association at their meeting Jan. 22 at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

Leamons and McCurry showed a film titled "A Time For Decision," about an alcoholic and talked about the effects of alcoholism. For information on this topic, call 573-3770. All calls are strictly confidential.

Genetha Payne, an employee at Furr's supermarket was the vocational speaker for the evening.

Leona Wiggins presided over the business meeting when attendance pins were presented.

Club members voted to sponsor the "Little Miss Pageant" which is scheduled for May. 2.

Inez Teaff was hostess for the meeting.

Maxie McNew was presented with a 17 year pin and Pat Snider was given a 4 year pin.

Receiving 3 year pins were Verne Beasley, Ruby Deavers, Carol Young and Barbara York. Receiving 2 year pins were Grace Bryant, Mary Faver, Barbara Scrivner and Inez Teaff.

One year pins were presented to Mary Hall, Fay Layne, Genetha Payne and Wanda Thorpe.

GET BEST BUY FOR MONEY SPENT ON CLOTHING: Ask some questions to get the best buy for money spent on clothes.

These questions can help both men and women get the most for their clothing dollars:

STYLE

Ask yourself about style.

Is it flattering? Is it a fashion that will last several seasons? Will it fit your lifestyle?

Is it a flattering color? Will it add to the wardrobe plan?

COMFORT, FIT

Ask yourself if the garment is comfortable on. Does it wrinkle or bind? Are any alterations needed, and if so, can they be done?

QUALITY

Check the quality of the garment.

Is the fabric on the grain? Is it well-made inside? Do the plaids or stripes match?

Is it suitable for the planned use? Does the fabric resist wrinkling?

Is the manufacturer reputable? Does the store have a reputation for good service?

CARE COSTS

The cost of care affects the garment's cost. Are the care labe! instructions clearly stated? Is the care required compatible with your time and budget?

BUDGET

Ask if you can afford this garment. Will you wear it enough to justify cost?

APPEAL

Look closely at the appeal of the garment.

Is this a planned addition to the wardrobe? Should you buy it now?

If the garment is on sale, ask yourself if you would have paid the full price for it.

If you can answer "Yes" to most of these questions, you're probably making a wise choice.

All friends and relatives of the McDonalds are invited to share in the 50th celebration.

Computers Sprout Ears

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Some computers now have "ears" to go with their brains.

A demonstration by Honeywell scientists at the annual Human Factors Society Convention here recently showed how voice recognition works and how much time is saved through its use.

A company expert gave verbal orders to a computer which then followed instructions to check subordinates' schedules and arrange meetings. The company has been working in speech technology for about two years.

Companies Who Help Build Wardrobes Give Women Advice On Career Dressing

NEW YORK (AP) — "My wife needs help," pleads the voice over the telephone. "But don't tell her I gave you her number. Just contact her."

Sound like a call for psychiatric help?

Susan McCone of Jonal Associates, a firm that promises to revamp women's wardrobes, says she receives such calls frequently from men concerned with the appearance of their wives and female employees.

At least four such companies have sprung up around New York, aimed mainly at ladies with at least $1,000 to spend on "power dressing."

These companies say how you look can influence, to a greater or lesser degree, whether you get the job, the promotion, the contract.

Their owners share a classic, quiet taste and try to eliminate, in varying degrees, the dowdiness and severity that sometimes marks the professional woman.

Miss McCone, who gave up a six-year career in law to form Jonal, attributes her company's success to the absence of a dress code for executive women.

"There are no clearly established formulas, like the gray pinstriped suit for men," she says.

Susan Dresner of Successful Ways and Means recommends that women dress for one position ahead of the one they hold.

Miss Dresner, 36, says her previous jobs in publishing and banking gave her the knowledge to launch her company several months ago.

Emily Cho, who runs Images, has been in business for 10 years. She sees "a tremendous need" for the service as women enter the job market in greater numbers than ever.

"Women have pressures they never had before," she said. "They're very confused about the question of professionalness versus femininity... To be as efficient as men and as sexy as models, plus look young. It's a hopeless task."

They all deny they're in the business of selling good taste, and they maintain there's no one correct look.

However, each has a personal peeve with American style.

Miss Cho, an elegantly polished woman of Chinese birth, feels the most common mistake is to buy clothes that look stupendous on tall, lithe models but that are unflattering to the larger-hipped figure.

Brigitte Nioche of Total Image Plus cites color coordination.

"I see women on the bus with six or seven different colors. It's worse in winter, when there's more to wear, she says."

Miss Dresner criticizes the "mass merchandising of designer lines" which she says makes it difficult to dress distinctively and recommends small boutiques and better-made imported things."

SDN Women's Section Publication Policies

The Snyder Daily News women's section welcomes wedding, anniversary, engagement, shower and club stories.

Wedding stories submitted for publication should be no more than 500 words in length, and should be submitted no later than three weeks following the ceremony. Pictures should be black and white glossy prints, preferrably 5x7 inch size. If a different size or color print is all that is available, we will make every effort to use it, provided it is a good sharp photograph.

Wedding stories and pictures must be submitted by noon on Wednesday for publication in the following Sunday's issue.

Engagement pictures are accepted, and must be submitted at least four weeks prior to the wedding. A 5x7 size is preferred, but others can be used if they are clear and sharp. Both the bride-elect and prospective bridegroom may be in the picture. The engagement picture must be submitted by noon on Wednesday to be published in the following Sunday's paper.

Birthday stories and pictures are published only for those 80 years old and older.

Wedding anniversary pictures are published for the 50th anniversary and for subsequent years only. If receptions or parties are given for those married less than 50 years, a story will be accepted. Anniversary pictures must be submitted by the hosts. Deadline for anniversary stories is also Wednesday.

Bridal shower pictures may be taken by SDN photographers by appointment. Appointments must be made at least one day in advance. Hostesses for the event should have all information available at the time the picture is taken to use in connection with the picture.

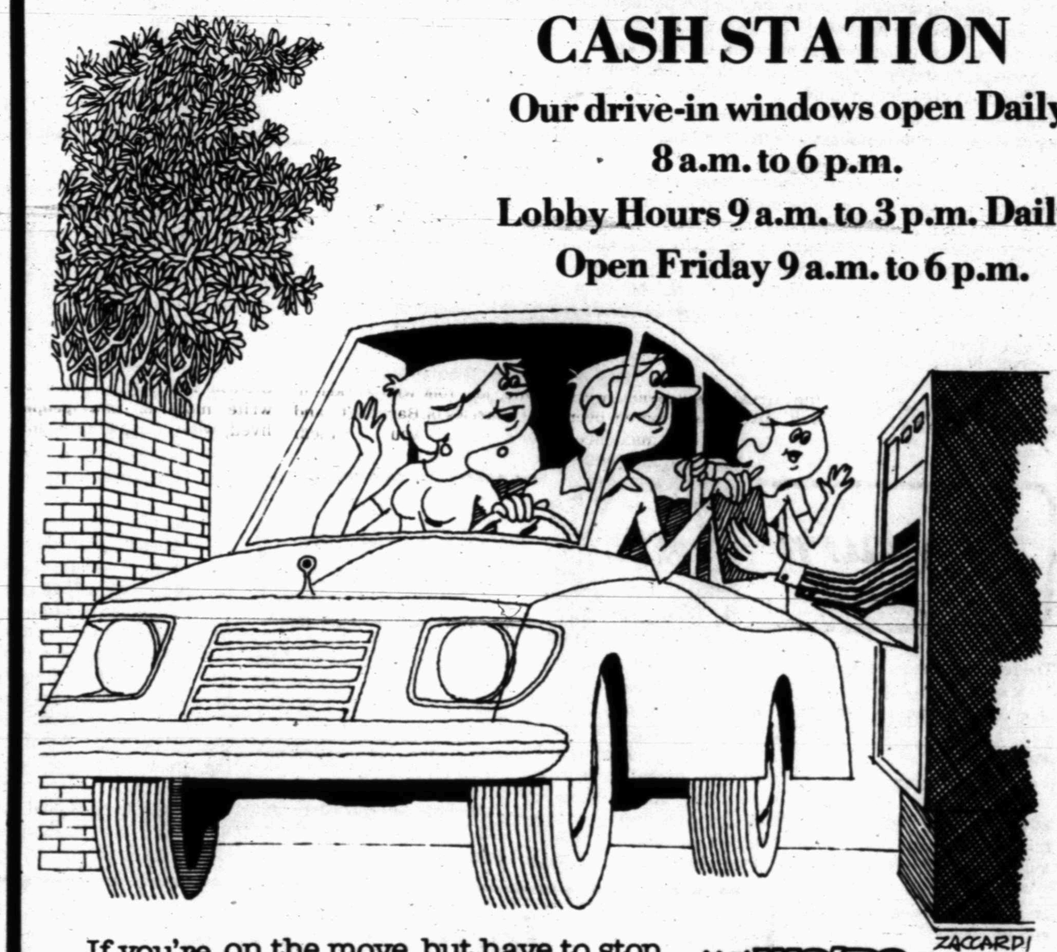

The Snyder Daily news does not take pictures at baby showers, but will use pictures submitted by hostesses or honorees brought in within one week after the event.

soaking days fading

We would never go so far as to say "there should be a law against it," but Texas is progressing backward.

Well, not at the moment, but sure as the sun shines and the people keep acomin', we may be heading back in the direction from which we came, before the 21st century arrives.

Fact is, by that time, the year 2000 A.D., we may be known as the Bathless Texans.

It all started with progress, back yonder in some long time ago in the history of Texas when folks began aspiring to own bathrooms.

For a while, the bathrooms were mostly for the affluent. And then the middle folks got to be copycats, and in time the poor folks, too. Why shucks, it has got to be that just about all Texans now have a bathroom.

And therein lies our troubles.

Back there before everybody had a bathroom, a Texan could get by socially by just dusting himself off. The bathroom put a new light on the matter, and it came to pass that it wasn't quite the "in" thing to do, to dust off oneself.

As bathing in one's own bathroom caught on, folks began to use water like it was going out of style. The more water they used, the more the parts of the bathroom fixtures wore out. We are now in an era when just about every living adult Texan knows exactly what to do about fixing the bathroom plumbing.

But, alas, that era is about to come to an end. Trouble is, we bragged too much about our sunshine. Now folks from all over want to come to Texas and soak up our sunshine. But there is a real problem in the making. They can come down here to soak up our sunshine, but there may not be any water to speak of to soak in.

That's the problem.

It is, indeed, quite distressing that all of us Texans who have become experts in fixing our own plumbing may have the beauty of our skill wasted on real desert air. A bathroom is not a bathroom unless there is water to make it "run.".

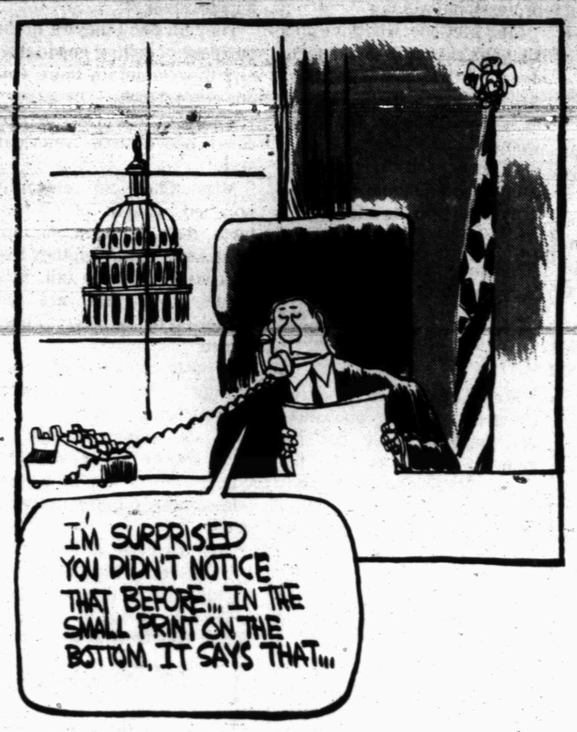

We have it straight from the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station news department that we may be the Bathless Texans in the year 2000. The Aggie folks didn't say it just that way, for they are real polite and speak in nicer terms, we reckon.

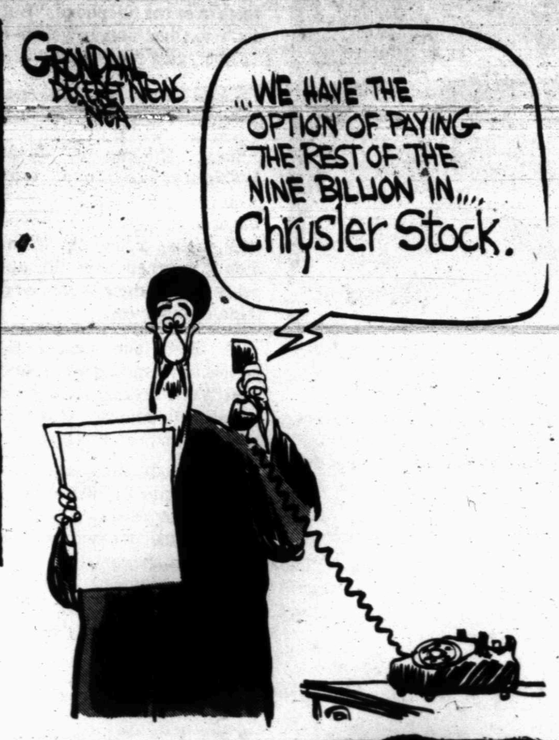

However, the report from College Station is that more people are placing greater pressure on the Texas water supply. Migration of people into the Sunbelt and drought are putting pressure on, and the forecast was that the spigot will run dry, unless replenished to meet the growing demand.

It's hard to think in terms of water without thinking of water pressure, but the pressure being discussed is sort of a reverse thing. If it keeps up, there won't be enough water to go around.

At a meeting of scientists in College Station the other day Robert Van Dyke, director of San Antonio's city water board said Texas is not a water surplus state, and that it is fast coming to the point of using all its water, "and we aren't going to have enough."

Seriously, we give you the above in lighter vein to help pillow the jolt of learning we are about to run dry. And not so seriously, when bathrooms do go out of style, what are all of us built-in plumbers going to do with our expertise?

I think it's time we all stopped picking on the post office.

We've all done it. It's a cheap shot. And it's time we really addressed ourselves to the problems of the Postal Service and the options left to us. The simple fact is people are writing more letters than the post office can deliver.

The answer? We've got to stop writing like this. I have three children who not only anticipated the postal problems, but did something about it. During the years when they were in college, they limited their correspondence to three letters a year: (a) legal action by the university; (b) legal action by the bank; (c) annual begging and whimpering. We could all help by following their example and writing only when we have something to say.

Pride must be restored to postmen for what they are delivering. I mean it. The quality of mail has been going downhill for some time now. How do you think mailmen feel walking 50 miles a day to put a bundle of mail in your hands and having you stand there in front of them dropping "The Truss Digest" in the trash and complaining about the rest?

I firmly believe that mail addressed to "Occupant" should be kept at the post office and if people want it they have to show three ID's and certification of sanity.

Abolish postcards from vacationers. This consitutes a large chunk of mail and people who are up to their ashes in snow do not want to hear from someone in Tahiti whose tan line is beginning to fade.

Let's stop giving the post office a bad time. If the ZIP code helps them hold postal rates down, let's give it a shot. This summer business leaders will be advised to add four more digits to the five-digit ZIP code we now have.

I say let's get rid of names altogether and go for the numbers. From here on in, you can call me 555852553. I've been called worse.

Besides, having no name will solve once and for all the forms we fill out that give you 1—16 of an inch-line to fill in your name and complete address.

And finally, let's get realistic about the postal rituals. Let's do away with all those funny little stamps they bounce on ink pads and stamp on letters and packages: "Fragile, Hand Stamp, This Side Up, Handle With Care, Certified, Insured, Rush." They don't mean anything anyway. They're just for show.

And grow up, America, there is no phone at the post office. You've always known that. It's time to stop telling yourself that there is someone on another line dispensing information. It just rings to indulge you.

We play ball with the post office and who knows...maybe someday they'll put the drive-in mailboxes on the driver's side of the car.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—In the background loomed the majestic Capitol building, in front were the towering platforms occupied by the news media — and in the middle stood a lone man, dwarfed by the massive structures.

The man was Ronald Reagan, the occasion was his inauguration as president of the United States, and the physical setting bespoke more about the challenges he now faces than all of the words uttered on that historic day.

It is perhaps symbolic that the disproportionately large structures dominating the event are identified with two powerful institutions that can be especially crucial to the success of any presidency — the Congress and the press.

The awesome scale of the podium, the broadcast booths and the Capitol also symbolically suggested that anyone who holds the modern presidency may be doomed to be overwhelmed not only by the ceremonial aspects of the office but by its responsibilities and burdens as well.

Reagan's inaugural address was disappointingly similar to the hundreds of campaign speeches he made throughout 1980. His address to last year's Republican National Convention was far superior to the inaugural presentation.

Probably the most revealing line in the new president's speech was his attempt to reduce the public's expectations of his new administration's accomplishments: "Progress will be slow — measured in inches and feet, not miles — but we will progress."

The gap between Reagan's formula for success — more patriotism and less goverment — and his ability to attain his goals was vividly illustrated by the social events in the days immediately before his ascendancy to the presidency.

There were scores of successful parties to celebrate the event — but none of them was sponsored by the semi-official bureaucracy operating on Reagan's behalf, the Presidential Inaugural Committee.

Confirming Reagan's longstanding claim that private enterprise often operates far more effectively than government, the most lavish, joyous parties were thrown by politicians, friends of the Reagans, corporations, new organizations, law firms and trade associations.

For instance, Americans for Change, an independent political-action committee that supported Reagan during the 1980 campaign, offered high rollers a package of six glamourous events at a cost of more than $2,000 per person.

Those who could afford that price were elaborately entertained at events such as a cocktail party at the Georgetown home of Sen. John W. Warner, R-Va., and his wife, actress Elizabeth Taylor. At the same time, the committee generated a $300,000 profit to finance future political operations.

In contrast with such voluntary efforts, the quasi-governmental inaugural committee barely averted disaster when it grossly miscalculatd the number of people necessary to fill its events, then showered Mailgrams and telephone invitations upon thousands of others only one week before the inauguration.

An overworked, largely volunteer staff was unable to efficiently process those last-minute reservations, producing angry customers who traveled here from throughout the country only to find that promised tickets weren't available.

Even those who gained admission to the official functions had to cope with long lines, overcrowded rooms and a lack of any form of personalized service.

For example, more than 15,000 people were charged to attend a "reception" for Vice President George Bush that resembled an old-fashioned cattle drive rather than a social event. At precise 12-minute intervals, 1,500 people were herded into a room to hear a brief pep talk from Bush, then implored to "move out quickly" so another group could be summonded.

"I'm sure there must have been a better way, but we couldn't think of one," said an apologetic Bush. Both he and Reagan should know that the "better way" involves operating on a more modest human scale.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "It's always easy to see both sides of an issue we are not particularly concerned about."

If you think consistent advertising and public relations dosen't pay, one might consider the following.

Why is it that Betty Crocker seems so real and yet never gets any older?

According to researchers, Betty Crocker recently received her sixth facelift. She is 59 and dosen't look a day over 37. But she isn't real and never was.

She is what they call a corporate trace character, like Aunt Jemima, Ronald McDonald and the Morton Salt umbrella girl. Ms. Crocker (it's never been established whether she is married) is known by more than 90 percent of Americans.

Her picture or name adorns 140 General Mills products. All total, their sales exceed $500 million a year. And more than 45 million Betty Crocker cookbooks have been sold.

The newest Betty Crocker replaced the 1972 model and will gradually be put on product packages over the next few months.

She'll look a bit more informal, however. The last few had looked as if she were dressed in her Sunday best and had just come from the beauty parlor.

We have contended on several occasions that the federal government is just too big, the right hand not knowing what the left hand is doing.

Apparently the situation is no better and even the left thumb is not aware of what the left hand is doing.

A case in point is the congressional staff and the story that occurred soon after the November elections.

As a result of the elections, Democratic ghosts will be haunting the halls of congress as 27 incumbent Democrats went down in defeat.

But there is still another ghost according to House telephone operators. Telephone operators recently called Rep. Andy Jacobs of Indiana to see if the congressman was still alive.

This was a result of Jacobs' staffers response to calls. His office personnel answer the phone by naming only the state and the district--the policy used when a member dies in office.

Jacobs confirmed his existence for the puzzled operators.

Foy Richey, a Church of Christ minister and chaplain at Big Spring State Hospital, was guest speaker at a meeting here in which pastoral counseling centers was discussed.

Lyle Deffebach of Snyder was presented the rare 50-year service pin at the annual banquet of the Buffalo Trail Council, Boy Scouts of America, in Odessa.

Long distance telephone service in Snyder and over much of West Texas was knocked out when a car hit a Lone Star Gas Co. pipeline at Roscoe. Escaping gas burst into flames and burned a utility pole, which supported a big phone cable.

10 YEARS AGO

Six experts participated in a panel discussion at the Scurry County Coliseum as Snyder observed "Drug Information Day."

Gov. Preston Smith announced appointment of Lealand W. (Pete) Greene as District Attorney for the 132nd Judicial District. He succeeded Tommie Mills, who had resigned the post.

County commissioners approved a request for a blinker light at the RS&P crossing of the Brick Plant Road.

15 YEARS AGO

Buford Browning, county school supetintendent, presided over a meeting at Lamar Junior High School where plans were discussed for setting up a committee of 20 to 30 persons to coordinate activities here concerned with the Economic Opportunity Act.

Nearly 6,000 Scurry Countians qualified themselves as voters by paying their poll taxes before the Jan. 31 deadline, Don Adams, county tax assessor-collector, announced.

Chamber of Commerce Manager Jim Heath and Bobby McCormick attended the 12th annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce Industrial Conference in Wichita Falls.

20 YEARS AGO

Snyder voters turned out in record numbers to soundly defeat two proposed amendments to the city charter. A proposal to replace the council-manager form of government with a council-mayor form went down by a vote of 1504 to 558, and a proposal to prohibit annexation of land without approval of a majority of land owners was defeated by a vote of 1337 to 721.

Burglars took four cartons of cigarettes, 18 Timex watches and 20 knives from the Jones Grocery at Hermleigh.

Burglars also took $130 from the Village Restaurant in Snyder.

Poll tax payments and exemptions in Scurry County totalled 5,225.

25 YEARS AGO

Postmaster Dawson Moreland reported that Postal receipts here totalled $11,170.76 in January, a new record for the month.

A suspect was arrested by city police in connection with the robbery of the Glendon Harold Biddle Premier service station in the 3700 block of Big Spring Highway.

Cogdell Memorial Hospital admitted its 4,000th patient as it marked its second anniversary. The 4000th patient was Vickie Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Richardson.

Assistant district Boy Scout Commissioners attending a meeting at the Village Restaurant were W. W. Grief, Fred Davis, Royce Burrows, Wayne Stephens, Harold Lacik, Truman Black, John Tom Merritt, Forrest Beavers and C. B. Morrow.

30 YEARS AGO

Sheriff Lloyd Merritt and E. A. Nelson, special agent for Santa Fe Railway Co., were investigating two attempts to derail Santa Fe trains here.

A low reading of three degrees below zero was recorded in Snyder on Feb. 1, as the biggest storm of winter gripped West Texas.

Bill Brown received a certificate from Kiwanis International for his work as 1950 president of the Kiwanis Club of Snyder.

Mrs. Charles Miller was elected 1951 president of the Scurry County Girl Scout Council. Mrs. Bob Dupree was named vice president, Mrs. Noel Banks secretary, and Mrs. Ben Pennington treasurer.

Survival for seniors

The 50,000 senior citizens of California's Ventura County are lucky to have Aging Commissioner Tony Lamb on their side. Here are reports on just two of Lamb's recent initiatives:

His "Survivalmobile" program offers transportation to seniors who are too sick or too frail to get to a bus stop, wait for a bus to arrive and ride in it comfortably. The service is free to those who must visit hospitals or doctors.

More than 20,000 seniors made use of this service during its first three years of operation. Program volunteers have driven more than 250,000 miles at a cost to the county of about $1 a ride.

Lamb's second program is the "Senior Survival Emergency Fund," which is financed entirely through contributions.

When Ventura County seniors need emergency cash, they can call or visit Lamb's office to get the money with no questions asked and no papers to sign.

Typical was the sobbing woman who recently came to Lamb's office.

"I'm living without heat, without food, without the medication I need," she told him. "I am being evicted from my apartment for non-payment of rent."

"Tears came to my eyes," writes Lamb. "I've experienced this kind of situation many times.

"My tears, however, were tears of happiness. God and the good people who participate and donate to my work help us to do what no government agency has succeeded in doing.

"My only sorrow is that seniors in other parts of the country do not have a similar fund."

Lamb literally took to the road to get the fund going.

First he incorporated a private, non-profit organization so that all donations would be tax deductible.

Then he went to the high schools. The students raised $700 for the fund.

He went to the senior clubs. They came through with $500.

He involved Rotary and most of the other service organizations. Some clubs and centers agreed to donate a sum of money every month.

Lamb even contributed all of his earnings from speeches.

A land developer gave $5,000. Lamb showed the check to his competitor, who instantly came up with $500.

He received $1,000 from a bank and pulled the same trick. He got $5,000 from the second bank.

The employees' association of a large corporation sent $562 that they had intended to spend on Christmas cards.

Since 1976, every graduating class at the county's four high schools has sent anywhere from $200 to $500.

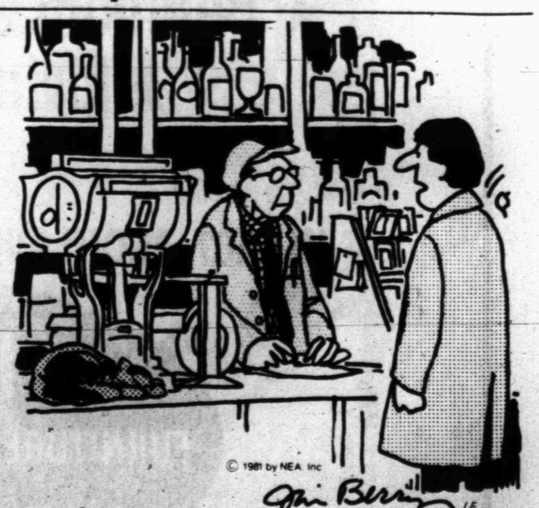

More than half of those who received assistance from the fund have paid the money back. Of the $26,668 disbursed since 1976, says Lamb, $18,000 was returned when the finances of the recipients improved.

At this writing, the fund has $41,475.

Want more details? Write to Tony Lamb, 3161 Loma Vista Road, Ventura County, Calif. 93003. Then present the idea to your city or county office on the aging.

Reagan Likes His Job, So Far

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Well," said President Reagan, "all right."

That was the reply when Reagan was asked how he likes his new job. He also confided to the visiting congressman who asked that he was "gradually getting over a little homesickness."

The new president has had little time to be homesick.

In one seven-hour stretch last week, Reagan posed for photographs with members of his Cabinet and their families, met with economic advisers, had lunch with the vice president, held a staff meeting, met with five powerful congressmen in four separate sessions, and then sat down in the Oval Office with representatives of anti-abortion organizations.

The friendly banter about adjusting to the job, the pace that is particularly hectic after his leisurely pre-inauguration days in California, and a flurry of announcements by Reagan's aides are tailor-made to convey a sense that a new administration, run by a man with a folksy manner, is taking charge.

But they do not answer questions about how much Reagan, who gets out of bed at 8 a.m. — about three hours later than his predecessor — is getting done.

Slowly, the heavy, ornate desk in front of the Oval Office windows is filling up. Gone is the sign that read "The Buck Stops Here," Jimmy Carter's homage to Harry S. Truman.

Instead, one recent morning the desk was decorated with an ornate bowl, a folder marked "The President," and two morning newspapers.

On a shelf under the bullet-proof windows are pictures of the Reagan family and a headshot of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

A corridor near the president's office has been nearly covered with pictures of a smiling, relaxed Reagan, many taken at his California ranch. They went up on the wall within minutes of his taking office. Newer photographs of his inauguration went up within two days.

With a flourish of publicity, Reagan has signed orders freezing government hiring. He named Vice President George Bush to chair a presidential task force charged with ferreting out unnecessary federal regulations.

Those were the headlines. The details are yet to come.

Exactly what would be accomplished by the hiring freeze, where the impact would be felt, was unclear. Bush's colleagues on the "regulatory relief" task force were not announced. Its goals were made clear in some tough talk by the president. Precisely what it would accomplish was not.

To cut down the federal deficit, he told government bureaucrats not to redecorate their offices, to reduce the use of consultants, to reduce travel. The anticipated deficit in the budget submitted by the Carter administration for fiscal 1982 will be $27.5 billion. The economy moves Reagan announced would save an estimated $300 million.

The first postage stamp was issued in Britain in 1840.

Repairing stretched muscles

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 39-year-old female. I'm separated from my present husband but plan to marry again when my divorce is final. I have one child and had a rough time during delivery. I know I'm not the only woman who has ever had stitches and am wondering if there is an operation that can make the vagina smaller. My next husband thinks I'm too big and I need to do something about it if possible.

DEAR READER — And you won't be the first woman to have reconstructive surgery if you go through with it. The operation is rather common. The vagina is a muscular tube and there isn't any way a baby can pass through it without really stretching things. To avoid a tear of pelvic muscles, the doctor often has to make an incision (which is then sutured after delivery) just before the head passes through the outlet.

The stretched muscles do return to a more normal state after delivery but it is fair to say they are never quite the same. The same stretching can contribute to weakened muscles that permit the bladder to rupture through the front wall of the vagina, the rectum through the back wall and the uterus to slip down as seen in a prolapsed uterus.

All of these conditions, when they are significant, require surgery to correct, just as the torn and stretched muscles associated with a hernia anywhere else.

The repair of the vaginal muscular tube in such situations and the problems of such ruptures is discussed in greater detail in The Health Letter number 14-12, Hysterectomy, Cystocele and Rectocele, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

You should talk to your doctor about it. He may not want to do too much at this time if you are planning on having more children with your next husband. Another birth would probably cause more stretching. Most doctors prefer to wait until after a woman has completed having children before doing surgery, unless of course the amount of stretching is sufficient to cause problems in normal functions.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am trying to put on weight and I have, but I can't get my legs from the knee to the toes to gain a pound. Please let me know if there are any special vitamins or anything I can do to help my legs fill out.

DEAR READER — Vitamins are wonderful if you need them but they are not going to do a thing for your legs. People do inherit certain physical characteristics. We can do something about some of them; even if you have an inherited tendency to have thin legs you can increase the size of the muscles at least somewhat.

You do that with exercises. You might want to start with using your own body weight. Stand by the wall and steady yourself with your hand. Now stand on one foot and raise yourself up on your toes. Repeat about 10 times. Switch and do the other leg. If you can't do this with one foot, use both feet on the floor to start your program. Don't overdo it or you will have very sore calf muscles.

If that doesn't get you started, you may want to go to a health club with resistance exercise machines you can use for more vigorous workouts for your lower leg muscles. It is the exercise that will do the job for you.
