Labor Leader Is Demanding Starring Role

Mine Chief Says His Men Should Be Represented

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—A hot exchange between Mine Union Leader John L. Lewis and CIO President Philip Murray today threw the labor-management conference into a dispute over Lewis' demand for a bigger role.

Lewis came out of the scrap with a temporary victory by obtaining delay in conference action on creation of an important executive committee pending settlement of a controversy over union representation.

Lewis Demands Places

A proposed agenda for the conference called for an eight-member committee, with four places each for labor and management. Labor's votes were to be divided equally between the AFL and CIO. Lewis demanded places on the committee for his United Mine Workers and for the railroad brotherhoods.

Murray, one-time ally of Lewis before the UMW leader broke away from the CIO, protested any changes in the committee makeup. Murray declared he had heard reports of a "veritable blitz" by Lewis to get on the conference executive committee.

Lewis jumped up and shouted that Murray's words constituted "despicable and unique German terminology."

Wants Representation

Gripping a conference table, Lewis roared that "Mr. Lewis doesn't care a tinker's malediction whether he is a member of any committee" personally. But the UMW chief made clear he wanted his mine workers represented.

Murray retorted that Lewis, from past acquaintance, knew he never employed "Hitler-like tactics." He added that he was prepared to support all recommendations of the conference rules committee and to give consideration to Lewis' position.

The fracas developed over the rules committee's recommendation that the conference arrange for an eight member executive committee as proposed.

Lewis succeeded in getting the conference to leave open this question.

Green Backs Lewis

AFL President William Green backed Lewis. Green proposed executive committee representation for the UMW and the railroad brotherhoods before the conference's second day session began.

The four places for management on the committee would be divided equally between the National Association of Manufacturers and the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Eric Johnston, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, said the question was entirely up to the labor delegates.

The first big issue confronting the committee is a decision on the CIO's demand to bring the ques-

Reds Ask Atom Secret

Molotov Says Nations Must Assume Peace

Allied Control Of Japan Also Asked By Soviet Leader

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 6 — Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov called for an Allied control of Japan in a Moscow address today and declared "there ought to be no secrecy about the subject of atomic energy."

In a broadcast address opening Russia's observance of the 28th anniversary of the Soviet revolution, Molotov asserted:

"In the treatment of the defeated we should not let ourselves be guided by our feelings, but only by the necessity to prevent a new aggression. This applies to all countries which bear the responsibility for securing peace.

Should Be No Secrecy

"We must then mention here the force of atomic energy which was experienced in the war with Japan. Nowadays there ought to be no secrecy about this subject."

This was the first time a high Soviet official had suggested that the United States and Great Britain share their practical knowledge of atomic energy as a means of warfare.

Molotov apparently was designated to make the traditional anniversary address in place of Generalissimo Stalin, who has just returned from vacation.

China Is Important

The Soviet monitor's version of Molotov's remarks concerning Japan was that the liberation of China was of the greatest importance to the world.

"It is thus clear that the Soviet Union considers most important the negotiation of control of all the Allies over Japan," he said. "In this question no satisfactory results have yet emerged, but the importance of satisfactory results is clear to all."

Molotov told a cheering crowd that, with victory in war, "now we can return to peacetime labor."

Must Stop Aggression

"Now that peace has come, every effort must be made not to permit a new aggression," Molotov said. "Formation of blocs in western Europe will not create a peaceful Europe."

The foreign commissar was quoted by the Soviet monitor as stating that the war-born British-Soviet-American coalition was being tested in peace and that the failure of the recent London conference of foreign ministers was a warning of pitfalls ahead.

"But difficulties arose before, too," he added. "The coalition, however, always found a solution

First Postwar Elections Held

(By The Associated Press)

Politicians looked to today's first postwar elections for possible clues on what portends in the 1946 congressional races and even in the 1948 presidential contest.

Most of the elections were municipal, but some had national overtones.

Seek New York Post

The situation in brief:

New York—William O'Dwyer, backed by some members of the national administration, ran on the Democratic and American Labor tickets against two opponents. They are Judge Jonah Goldstein, Republican-Liberal-Fusion candidate endorsed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey; and Newbold Morris, Republican Independent bearing a "no deal" label and supported by the retiring incumbent, Fiorello LaGuardia.

James A. Farley, former national Democratic chairman, Senator Robert Wagner (D-NY), Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace stumped for O'Dwyer. Mrs. Wendell Willkie and her late husband's 1940 campaign manager, Russell Davenport, worked for Morris.

Pearl Harbor Probe Is Claimed Halted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP) — Two Republican members of the congressional committee investigating the Pearl Harbor disaster declared today the probe "has been brought to a halt."

Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif) told the House that "a true investigation" had been stopped through adoption by the committee of a rule denying individual members full access to secret government files.

Rep. Keefe (R-Wis) arose to agree with Gearhart's remarks and to add:

"The procedure thus far clearly indicates we will get only the facts the Army and Navy wish to give us."

Tech Seeking Use Of Pantex Plant

Officials at Texas Technological college Monday were envisioning possibility of use of the vast $35,000,000 Pantex Ordnance plant, 17 miles northeast of Amarillo, as an adjunct facility of the college for vocational short course training of veterans in the immediate future as a "proving ground" for agricultural and research projects on a long-range basis after the board of directors had voted to ask the

Panhandle Leaders Enthusiastic Over Texas Tech's Plan

AMARILLO, Nov. 6. (Special)—Civic, business and educational leaders of Amarillo and the Panhandle today greeted with unanimous enthusiasm a plan approved by the directorate of Texas Technological college, Lubbock, to secure and operate the Pantex Ordnance plant as an adjunct of the institution's agriculture division.

Gene Howe, publisher of the Globe-News here and nationally known as the conductor of "The Tactless Texan" column; and Rex Baxter, executive vice-president of the chamber of commerce, both said the project "intrigues every forward looking citizen of the Panhandle and the citizenship in general sees a new era in practical education" should the Reconstruction Finance corporation make available to Texas Tech the 16,000-acre layout which, at a cost of $35,000,000, was used to produce shells for American fighting men during the war.

Both Howe and Baxter said authorities of Texas Tech would be given "100 per cent support in efforts to secure the property, and then, continued 100 per cent support in making the project work."

They pointed out that such an installation, in addition to offering educational facilities here-to-fore undreamed of by Panhandle former service men and future graduates of high schools, would "tie to Texas Tech the moral and political support of the whole North Plains whose people seek to be an integral part of the population served by the Lubbock college."

To Make Request Today

Dr. W. M. Whyburn, Tech president, announced last night that officials of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce through a board member, Chanslor Weymouth of Amarillo, had presented the proposition to the board in a meeting at Amarillo Saturday and because of lack of a quorum, no action was taken. Monday, Mark Magee of Fort Worth, a board member who was absent, sent in his telegraphic vote in favor of making the request to the RFC for the plant.

The request of the RFC for donation of the expansive 16,000-acre plant to the college "with no string attached" will be informally made by Weymouth today to be followed by a formal request accompanied by a brief outlining proposed uses by the college of the project.

Proposal that Tech take over the plant and operate it as a facility of the college was made by Weymouth to other Tech board members last week and the idea was advanced to President Whyburn and other college officials. Pioneer Farmer Dies After Heart Attack

R. H. Bates, 65, farmer in Lynn and Lubbock counties for almost 35 years, died of a heart attack about 8:30 o'clock this morning at his home eight miles southwest of Lubbock on the Brownfield highway.

Members of the family said Bates had driven to the field and had parked at the end of a row where farm hands were working. He was found slumped over the wheel of his car by C. V. Baker, an employe.

He lived in the New Home community in Lynn county for 30 years before moving to his present farm in 1942. His only son, Harvey Allen Bates, was killed in a car accident in June of 1944.

Survivors are his wife, the former Miss Grace Hester of Lubbock; one grandchild, Nelda Darlene, 21 months old; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Faye Bates; two brothers, Dick Bates of Fresno, Calif., Will Bates of Belton; a sister, Mrs. Ruby Bailey of Corpus Christi.

Confident Of Final Victory

CHUNGKING, Nov. 6 (AP) — Chinese Communists, reports from their Yenan headquarters in Shensi province said today, are proceeding "full steam ahead" with plans for all-out civil war against the central government in event current negotiations with Chungking fail.

The Communists, the reports said, envisage a 10-years' war and are confident that they can win it.

The Red leaders were reported as hoping that civil war would be unnecessary and that a settlement would give them a chance by political means for eventually attaining power.

Somebody Must Make The First Move— Strikers And Company Leaders In Greyhound Tieup Are Ready To Talk But Buses Still Idle

(By The United Press)

Striking Greyhound bus drivers and company officials had announced today that they were both ready to negotiate, but apparently waited for the other to make the first move.

A. F. Company officials in Fort Worth, headquarters for the sevenstate division of Greyhound Bus Lines, Inc., also declared themselves ready for negotiations and said they were willing to grant a pay increase, effective Oct. 1, date of the 15 per cent pay cut in drivers' wages which caused the strike.

Trade Combines Are Dissolved By MacArthur

Drastic Order Is Issued; Headache For World Looms

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Nov. 6—General MacArthur today smashed Japan's four great financial and industrial families and gave notice of his intentions to break up all such combines to "aid Japanese economic development along peaceful, democratic lines."

The Japanese government was ordered immediately to prepare to dissolve Mitsui, Mitsubishi, Sumitono and Yasuda Zaibatsu and their holding companies and to eliminate their controls of Japanese finances and industries.

Must Be Approved

MacArthur further told the government to set up a holding company liquidation association to direct the dissolution under indirect Allied control and warned that all policies and personnel must have his approval.

Along with the directive aimed at the great Zaizatsu interests with their ramifications, which spread throughout the world before the war, the supreme Allied commander said he intended to smash all such combines so as to permit "wider distribution of income and ownership of the means of production and trade in Japan and to aid the Japanese economic development along peaceful, democratic lines."

The government also was directed to take immediate steps to "terminate and prohibit Japanese participation in private international cartels or other restrictive private international contracts or arrangements."

Most Drastic Order

The sweeping order—the most drastic of all against individuals or corporations yet issued by MacArthur—means the complete retirement from Japan's business life of the four big families, Yasuda, Mitsui and Sumitomo, whose companies bear their names and

DALLAS, Nov. 6. (AP) — Jimmy Stewart, executive secretary of the Southwest conference, commenting on an editorial appearing in the Austin American which proposed that Texas Tech be admitted to the Southwest conference, said today "the history of conferences that have failed is a history of conferences that began to expand.

"The conference has been against enlargement because it is regarded as an opening wedge for eventual dissolvement. Texas Tech has turned out fine teams but there would have to be a vacancy in the conference before admission could be considered."

Cache Of Hidden Nazi Wealth Unearthed By Yanks In Japan

KARUIZAWA, Japan, Nov. 6 (U.P.) — U. S. counterintelligence agents are now making an inventory of what may be one of the largest caches of hidden Nazi wealth in Japan.

Present estimated value of the find is $500,000 or above. The treasure includes 209 silver ingots. It is understood the Nazis had planned to ship this silver to Berlin via Siberia when the Russian-German war intervened.

Cache Is Discovered

Discovery of the cache was made in the course of investigation of the Nazi espionage ring centering here. One of the prisoners inadvertently disclosed that such a hoard existed in Gumma prefecture. A small detail of counterintelligence agents was dispatched there.

At Kiryu, 30 miles south of here, these agents raided 15 large warehouses. In one warehouse $250,000 worth of German dyestuffs was found.

Our agents had long suspected that Nazi holdings were much greater than the 60,000 yen (presently about $4,000) confiscated from the party treasurer, but were greatly surprised by the extent of the treasure uncovered.

Jewelry Also Found

In addition to the bullion, there were found great quantities of jewelry, silverware, clothing, furniture and food — all apparently the property of local Nazi leaders.

No Disposition Of Territories In Agreement

Terms Branded As Harsh By Leaders Of This Country

By GRAHAM HOVEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 — The Allies made public the much-discussed Italian armistice today, spiking some old rumors but failing to clear up entirely why the terms were kept secret for 26 months.

Released simultaneously in Washington, London and Rome, the armistice and related documents — totalling some 10,000 words—disclosed that:

Terms Were Modified

1. Exhaustive unconditional surrender terms—officially still in effect—were imposed on Italy.

2. In practice, however, the Allies never invoked some provisions and modified others substantially at frequent intervals.

3. The terms provided for no final dispositions of Italian territory or property.

Why the secrecy? Government officials explained it to reporters this way:

Military Men Objected

The State department and British foreign office had discussed publication of the terms as early as December, 1943.

At that time, Allied military officials objected. They said the Germans and Mussolini's Fascist government in northern Italy could make good propaganda use of the armistice terms, especially among the pro-Allied partisan fighters.

The officials, specifying they were not to be identified further, said the British and American governments felt after the Potsdam big three conference that a final peace treaty with Italy soon would be written.

Decided To Publish

It finally was decided to publish them after the September conference of foreign ministers, charged with drawing up a final peace settlement, ended in a stalemate in London.

Secretary of State Byrnes recently called the armistice terms "harsh and obsolete." Government officials long familiar with the documents agree.

They stress, however, that the provisions still in effect will be superseded entirely by the final peace treaty with Italy.

The original armistice, signed in

Bus Strike On In Washington

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—Thousands of Washingtonians hitch-hiked or walked to work today after Capital Trapsit company drivers left their jobs early this morning.

Many office-bound workers begged for spots in Washington's ever-crowded cabs. Others were just stranded.

Tieup Is Complete

A company official, who said the buses and street cars carry 1,500,000 fares a day, declared the tieup was complete.

The tieup developed suddenly and most of the citizenry had no inkling of the impending stoppage when they went to bed last night.

Members of the AFL union met in a burlesque house at midnight to discuss demands for increased wages. They decided to continue the all night meeting on into the day, thus leaving the public service vehicles unmanned.

Since there was no forewarning that a stoppage was imminent, many persons stood patiently at bus and street car stops during the morning, unaware that they no longer were operating.

Use Company Cars

Conciliation Service Director Edgar L. Warren assigned Commissioner Richard W. Goodrick to the transit dispute.

Some firms sent out company cars to fetch in employes.

Approximately 2,000 transit employes attended the all night meeting.

The workers are demanding a 30 cents an hour increase in the driver-operator top rate of 95 cents an hour. The company countered with an offer of 7 cents more during the life of a contract which runs to June 30.

The baby was stricken about 7 o'clock Monday night and was taken to the hospital this morning. Cause of death had not been determined early this afternoon.

Reds Plan To Get Manchuria

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Fate certainly is making poor old China run the gauntlet.

Thus far the efforts at reconciliation between the Chinese Communists and the national government have failed to disclose any avenue of escape from the horror of a civil war which in fact is already under way although there has been no formal declaration of hostilities. Hard fighting has developed along the vital rail communications of North China.

This column a week ago said that it looked as though the Chinese Communists were fighting on the conquest of northern China — where they are in greatest strength —and Manchuria. Developments strengthen that belief.

To Seize Manchuria

Indications are that the Red strategy contemplates the seizure of Manchuria, with its well developed war industries and other resources, for a powerful base from which to strike at the agricultural areas in the northern Chinese provinces of Shansi, Shensi, Shantung, Anhwei, Kiangsu and Hopei.

Were the Red armies able to consolidate this great and rich territory, the natural development would be the establishment of a Chinese Soviet state, thus splitting China in two. And one wonders whether the war would halt with this partition of the once huge China, or whether it might continue to the bloody finality which would see one side completely crushed. A fight to a finish might mean years of torture for China's five hundred millions.

Manchuria is the key to the immediate future, because of its vast resources. This country possesses one of the richest soils in the world and it is heavily cultivated. There is great mineral wealth — coal, iron, gold and manganese. There is petroleum, and lumber is an important product.

For this reason the armies of both sides are racing to gain control of the railroads running from northern China into Manchuria.

Texas Navy Ranks Fourth In The Western Hemisphere; Has Total Of 135 Vessels

BY JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Texas, which once had a Navy all its own, still has a Navy that ranks fourth in the western hemisphere.

Ray McCarley of the San Antonio Express has it all figured out. Only the U. S. A., Argentina and Brazil have larger fleets than Texas.

He works it out this way: Take all the ships in the Navy bearing Texas names, add them to one-forty-eighth of all the U. S. ships bearing just numbers and you find that Texas' Navy consists of 135 vessels, 46 of them being combat ships.

Nimitz Is Admiral

Texas, of course, couldn't finance any such deal like that. "The San Jacinto" alone cost $60,000,000 or about $10 for each man, woman and child in the Lone Star state.

Admiral Chester Nimitz, of course, is admiral of the Texas Navy. His flagship is the "Texas," sister ship of the "New York." McCarley says that by some odd quirk the "Texas" lists to port (which means to the left, you landlubber) and the "New York" lists to starboard. When the two enter port together, they look like they're leaning on each other.

But to get back to the Texas Navy.

There is the "San Jacinto," "The Texas," the mighty cruiser "Houston," the cruiser "Dallas," which is faster and bigger than the "Texas" but not so heavily armored, the "Galveston," the aircraft carrier "Ranger."

100,000 Texans Served

A total of 100,000 Texans, by Admiral Nimitz' own words, served in the Navy during World War II. That's more than enough to man the 135 vessels.

Texas shipyards built an amazing number of ships of all kinds. Airplane factories manufactured the planes to go with them. Plants scattered over the state made guns and ammunition.

Refineries produced the oil and high octane gasoline to fly them, and to fuel the boats. Textile mills made uniforms. Texas farms and ranges provided food — vegetable and beef.

The only thing Texas didn't make was the atomic bomb — but 10,000 Texans worked on the project in other sections.

On paper, Texas still has a pretty good Navy.

Amarillo Woman Is Injured In Mishap

SAN ANGELO, Nov. 6 (AP) — Mrs. R. O. Clark, 32, Amarillo, was painfully injured 10 miles south of Eden early last night when an automobile plowed into the side of the Clark car as Mr. and Mrs. Clark were endeavoring to aid a stranded motorist.

Mrs. Clark suffered several breaks in her right leg, bruises and abrasions. Clark, employed by a lumber company at Amarillo, was uninjured. Mrs. Clark was brought to a hospital here.

The Clarks were en route to their home in Amarillo after a visit to Kerrville where Mrs. Clark's father, Pat Malone, is in a hospital.

Radiotelephones To Be Available Soon

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP) — The government joined the radio industry today in predicting that the portable radiotelephone will be a reality for civilians within the next year, at a cost of from $50 to $100.

At least three manufacturers have announced plans to make available within three months sets of the type variously known by such names as "walkie-talkies" and "handie-talkies," and others. The Federal Communications commission said today that by that time it will have held hearings to establish standards and regulations.

Explosives Expert Says Disarming Atomic Bomb Couldn't Be Any Worse Than Another

KUNMING, Nov. 6. (AP) — The black-haired lieutenant shrugged his shoulders and with a disarming smile said he didn't think he would mind disarming an atomic bomb—if he had to.

"If it ever blew up the effect couldn't be any more fatal than any other explosive," said Lt. Frank R. Holley, who has disarmed just about every other type of explosive in his two years in China.

Not Too Difficult

"As a matter of fact, I don't think the mechanical principle is too difficult," added the man who has been an expert trouble shooter for the Fourteenth Air Force and the Chinese Army.

Holley has survived tinkering with bombs which snuffed out the lives of at least 20 assistants. He can still see with both eyes, although a fuse explosion last March sent 22 fragments into his right eye and 12 into his left.

Maj. Charles Eisenhower, a doctor and a nephew of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, saved Holley's eyesight then with three delicate operations within five weeks.

The Chinese have the greatest respect and admiration for Holley and have named him Hi Li, the last half of which appropriately enough means "thunder."

He Wrote Textbook

Holley wrote a textbook on bomb reconnaissance, had it translated into Chinese and now it is a basic manual for China's troops.

Holley praises the Chinese as hard workers, but he is constantly horrified by the casual way some of them treat explosives.

Holley has personally removed fuses from 500 or more bombs in airfields and destroyed towns of China.

One of the toughest, he said, was a Japanese chemical fuse with locking devices which made it difficult to take apart, but he scoffed at Japan's explosives as generally inferior stuff.

Looking back on his handiwork, Holley said he never was particularly nervous about his job.

"You had to be careful, but you couldn't be afraid," he said. "Once you were scared that was the end."

CHARGE IS FILED

DALLAS, Nov. 6 (AP) — A murder charge was filed today against Raymond D. Aydelott, 22, of Waxahachie, in connection with the death of W. B. Adams, 56, of Dallas.

Adams was hit with a baseball bat.

Nathaniel Hawthorne, while attending Bowdoin was fined 50c for playing cards for money.

MACHINES GET THUGS

PARIS, Nov. 6 (AP) — Crime detection machines costing $1,000,000 are ferreting out 100 war criminals daily from the ranks of 8,000,000 German soldiers and civilians whose descriptions are on file in the world's largest rogue's gallery.

In 1680 Sir Isaac Newton produced a model vehicle which embodied jet-propulsion principles.

NEW GIANT X-RAY
The Latest Development in 50 Years of X-Ray Research

1895—Roentgen, in Germany, discovers mysterious powerful ray, names it "X"—the unknown. One year later, W. D. Coolidge, student at M.I.T., begins experimenting with x-rays. First x-ray tubes were about 25,000 volts.

1913—Dr. W. D. Coolidge, at General Electric, invents revolutionary new x-ray tube. First reliable method of controlling x-rays. This tube was 100,000 volts.

1920—Coolidge designs a completely insulated tube and transformer for a thoroughly safe x-ray unit. The first wholly safe, convenient and adequate dental x-ray outfit came out of this.

1923—Coolidge develops a 200,000-volt "deep therapy" tube with water-cooled target. This higher voltage tube greatly reduced time required for x-ray treatments.

1933—General Electric builds multi-section tubes producing 800,000-volt x-rays. Installed in Mercy Hospital, Chicago, and Swedish Hospital, Seattle, these units have been in constant use ever since.

1940—First 1,000,000-volt unit, plus portability, making x-rays more useful to medicine and industry. Fifty-six of these units built by G-E X-Ray Corporation used in U.S. war production—even flown to England. In 1943 General Electric scientists and engineers developed the first portable 2,000,000-volt x-ray.
1945—NEW G-E 100-MILLION-VOLT "BETATRON"!
This 130-ton giant whirls electrons, tiniest parts of atoms, faster than man has ever been able to speed them before. So fast that they make the nearly 17-foot circular orbit of a doughnut-shaped vacuum tube 250,000 times in 1/240th of a second, and, striking a tungsten target, produce x-rays of 100-million-electron volts!
Dr. E. E. Charlton, left, and W. F. Westendorp, G-E scientists, designed this new machine, which generates x-rays over a thousand times as intense as the early Coolidge tube—with a wave length of 0.00025 Angstrom units, up in the cosmic ray band! These rays will penetrate a thickness of metal considerably greater than even the 2,000,000-volt x-ray unit.
But more important still may be the uses of these super x-ray machines in medical and atomic research. G. E. is making them available to medical science for experimental therapy.

New Industry

tracks is connected with a 30-inch rubber conveyor belt which carries materials to a fan-shaped concrete pyramid where five different grades of sand and gravel may be stored. The conveyor belt carries the material from the unloading pit to the top of the pyramid where it is unloaded into any desired section of the storage space.

Another conveyor belt, running from a pit beneath the storage pyramid carries any one of the five materials to a mixing bin. Ready-mix trucks can be driven under a bulk cement bin where cement and water are dumped into it and from there it can be driven under the materials bin for the additional materials.

Load In 60 Seconds

A truck, carrying two and one-half yards of concrete, can be loaded in 60 seconds and be on its way to a construction job, mixing the concrete en route. The company can mix 60 yards of concrete an hour with the five White one-ton trucks it now has in operation.

Near the materials storage pyramid and also connected with it by a conveyor belt is the tile plant, where 300 concrete building tile, five by eight by twelve inches may be manufactured an hour. The tile is equivalent in size to six ordinary building bricks and weighs 17 pounds each.

A steam curing room is to be erected adjoining the tile plant where manufactured tile may be cured by steam in eight to ten hours. Sun-cured tile requires eight to ten days for curing.

To Double Size

The company plans to double the size of the tile plant by January 1.

In addition to an office and warehouse for the storage of building materials, the tile plant and storage pyramid, the company also plans the erection of a garage for storing and servicing of trucks.

The 1,500-foot storage trackage is long enough to care for 15 cars of materials, while the storage pyramid has space for 1,500 yards of materials.

The concrete fence posts, which the firm will manufacture, will be seven feet long of re-inforced material and six inches at the base, narrowing to four inches at the top.

The company's headquarters are in Fort Worth. Tom E. Poppelwell is president of the firm and J. J. Randol is vice president. The firm will employ from 15 to 20 persons here when peak production is reached.

Plans For City Taxes Studied

AUSTIN, Nov. 6. (U.P.)—City sales taxes, city income taxes and other devices to get money out of the taxpayers' pockets into city coffers were in the air as the 33rd annual convention of the League of Texas Municipalities opened here today.

The "more money" discussions were held at sessions of affiliated city employe groups which opened their deliberations yesterday afternoon.

W. S. Curlee, Fort Worth tax assessor, said a one per cent city income tax would give his city $800,000 a year to spend; Dallas, $1,300,000 and Houston $1,900,000.

Views Are Presented

The municipal sales tax idea was put forward by a visitor from Chicago — Carl H. Chatters of the National Association of Municipal Finance Officers. Chatters also presented his views at today's opening session of the league.

Various sub-associations named officers at their pre-convention meetings.

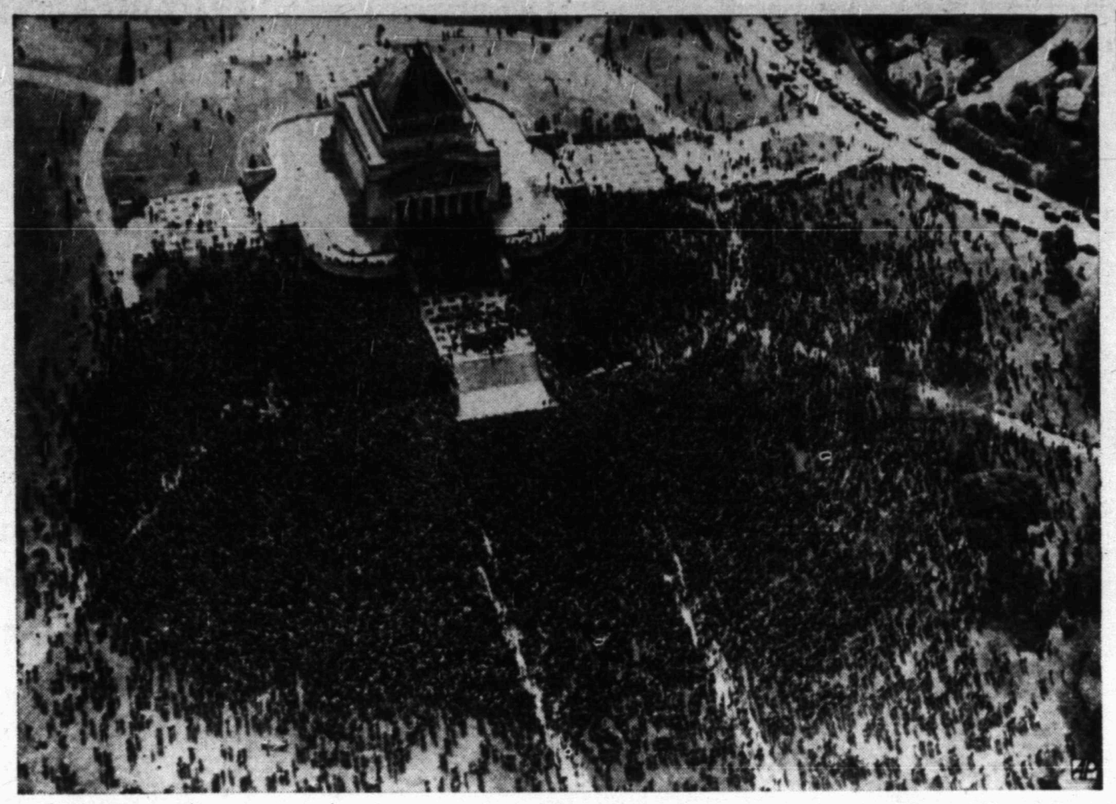

Gus J. Jud, Galveston, will head the tax assessing officers; J. D. Huffman jr., Austin, the finance officers; W. A. Tatum, Beaumont, the city attorneys, and S. R. Smith, Livingston, the municipal utilities section.

A combination invitation from lower Rio Grande cities for the 1946 convention of the league is to be presented Wednesday.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6 (AP) — An air official last night predicted safe air travel to Europe at speeds approaching 400 miles an hour for as little as a hundred dollars each way "not many months from now."

John C. Tire Theft Ring Is Believed Shattered

HOUSTON, Nov. 6. (U.P.) — Officials today held a 29-year-old man who they said systematically trained juveniles to steal auto tires.

Sheriff Neal Polk said four boys, arrested for the theft of four stolen cars and 14 tires, told him they had just joined the theft ring and their instruction had just started.

The youths said Albert Benton, ex-convict, taught them to go to a theater and loiter about as people parked their cars. Once the driver was inside the theater, two of the boys would go to the car, pick the lock and drive off.

They were taught to drive the cars to an isolated spot and strip them of tires, radios and accessories.

Deputies expected to recover at least 50 tires and several more stolen cars. They will question the juveniles and Benton about the profits from the sale of cars and tires.

Ultimatum For Ford Strikers

WINDSOR, Ont. Nov. 6 (U.P.)—A warning that "military force" would be used to remove a barricade of automobiles, busses and trucks thrown around strikebound Ford of Canada plants was issued today to 20,000 CIO Ford strikers and sympathizers by the Windsor city council.

The council, after an extraordinary closed session last night, instructed Mayor Arthur J. Reaume to convey the warning to officials of local 200 of the United Auto Workers (CIO) as government officials sought to settle the increasingly critical two months old strike.

Mandate Is Given

Reaume who has consistently backed the Ford strikers during the stalemated walkout, said he had been given a mandate by the council. He said that the provincial troops whose arrival in Windsor led to a sudden spread of the walkout throughout Windsor factories would be used if the UAW local failed to remove its two-mile long barricade of commandeered vehicles.

Reaume did not indicate whether any deadline had been set by the council for removal of the barricades.

As the tension mounted anew, the city awaited a conference promised by Humphrey Mitchell, Canadian labor minister, who flew here hurriedly from Ottawa last night. Mitchell said he and other government officials would meet with union leaders and Ford representatives today.

Hidden Wealth

Even some of the loyal party members are shocked by the extent of Franz Josef Spahn's double-dealing and the venalty of others in the German embassy and party hierarchy.

They had been taxed heavily to provide Spahn a home in the extensive embassy compound. Spahn's house cost approximately 130,000 yen or about $30,000 at the exchange rate prevailing in the war. This 11-room house was furnished in the costliest style. It was the headquarters from which Spahn ruled the entire German colony in Japan, and with an iron hand. The house is now in custody of occupation authorities while "Herr Spam," as the GI's call him, is in jail.

Food Stores Hidden

Disclosures of large food stores hidden away is even more infuriating to the ordinary Germans because throughout the war they were handed out meager rations to supplement Japanese haigyu (600 grams of rice daily).

They had long suspected the embassy and party officials were living luxuriously. They tell how the mistress of one high gestapo official boasted of 60 pairs of shoes at a time when shoes on the black market were selling at 600 to 1000 yen a pair. They also complain that embassy officials were able to buy food supplies without going to the black market, thus paying about a ninth of what the remainder of the colony was forced to pay.

Optimist Club Will Sponsor Programs

Plans were announced today for the Optimist club's sponsoring of ticket sales for a double entertainment Nov. 29 when the organization brings "Cover Girl Review" with Paul Neilson, his Studebaker orchestra and company to the Lubbock High school auditorium for a floor show followed by a dance at Lubbock hotel ballroom. Admission to both will be gained from the purchase of one ticket from Optimist club members.

The announcement was made at the regular luncheon meeting of the club at Lubbock hotel. Proceeds from the review and dance will go for the organization's youth work at Junior Optimist club.

He also pointed out the debt we owe to the United Nations and said, "No individual nation can rise by itself or fall by itself. If we are to rise, we must bring other nations up with us, through the fundamentals of Christian education."

Appearing with Rev. Brewer was Ross O. Spears, singer, who led old-fashioned group singing. Prior to the program, Rev. Jimmy Bell, of Clovis, N. M., here under sponsorship of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, made an announcement regarding the youth rallies which he will conduct.

Dutch Offers Are Revealed

BATAVIA, Nov. 6. (AP)—The government of the Netherlands East Indies, trying to restore order in this land wracked by a struggle for independence, made public today a plan for "rapid development of Indonesia as a partner in a kingdom which will be constructed to guarantee the self-respect of all member-peoples."

H. J. Van Mook, acting governor general of the Indies, who released the program, disclosed that it had been presented more than a week ago to Indonesian nationalist leaders as a basis for settlement of their demands. He expressed his hope for a speedy return of order to Java so that a round table conference might be convened to discuss all aspects of his proposals.

Tension Growing

His statement was issued in an atmosphere of growing tension, emphasized by a new outbreak of street fighting in Batavia between Indonesian extremist and Dutch troops.

Indonesian leaders were reported to have urged Van Mook not to release the document, fearing that his proposals which are far short of their demands—would only increase the gulf between their people and the Dutch.

In essence, Van Mook's statement was a reiteration of previous Dutch offers to grant the Indonesians self government and independence within the limits of a Dutch commonwealth, but it was reinforced by assurances of racial equality and full partnership with the Netherlands.

Headache Is Expected

The breaking up of Japan's fabulous houses of industry was expected to create an international financial headache in the question of how to dispose of thousands of shares of stock held by American and other foreign firms.

Supreme Allied headquarters issued a survey revealing widespread ramifications in the prewar tieup between Japan's "big four" industrial empires and firms throughout the world.

The survey said that American corporate big names such as Westinghouse, Tidewater Associated Oil Co., International Telephone and Telegraph, Aluminum Co. of America and Libby-Owens Ford had business links with such houses as Mitsubishi and Mitsui. All of their stock holdings and unsettled debts pose a huge problem.

There also was a close relationship between the powerful "big five" banks and American banking institutions from coast to coast.

Honest Man Gives $1 To Burial Fund

HOUSTON, Nov. 6. (U.P.) — An honest man today gave the police burial fund a dollar.

A. M. Gilliam, of Jasper, was given an overtime parking ticket when in Houston recently. He didn't have time to go to court so when he got home he mailed a dollar bill.

Police Chief Percy Heard said such honesty should be rewarded so he returned it.

Today the dollar bill was back on the chief's desk with a note from Gilliam saying:

"Since I don't have to pay the fine, how about adding this dollar to your police burial fund?"

Greyhound Strike

not been publicly told.

"The way things stand now, after our pay cut, we are grossing the same amount of pay for the same trips as we did in 1939 and working an average of an hour more," C. L. Zinn, a Greyhound driver for eighteen years, charged. He said the pay cut will cost him between $45 and $50 per month.

Same Rate As 1939

A. L. Johnson, driver for the company for twelve years, said drivers now are getting 4.25 cents a mile—the same rate paid in 1939.

"But we are having to work an average of an extra hour on each trip to get the same amount of pay — not counting deductions. When the war started," he explained, "a 35-mile-per hour speed stipulation added around two hours to each schedule. Now with the war over and the 35-mile limit out, only one of the two hours added to the average trip has been cut off," he added.

There had been no picketing or violence of any kind in Dallas since the strike began at midnight Sunday.

Meanwhile, travel bureaus, railroads, interurban lines and other bus lines were doing a brisk business.

No Violence Seen

In Houston no violence or picketing was in evidence. Travel bureaus were doing a booming business, with four feeder lines operating from the sidewalk in front of the bus depot. Railway officials announced that many cases their lines parallel those of Greyhound and they can easily handle the 900 to 1,000 passengers daily without trouble.

"We are waiting for the company to make a move and have no pickets out," C. E. Ellis, chairman of the Houston sub-local 1313 said. "We are also awaiting further orders from Fort Worth," he added.

The union is asking a one-cent-a-mile increase in drivers' pay. Present rate is 4½ cents a mile. The company had withdrawn a 15 per cent increase granted by the War Labor board to compensate for longer hours caused by the wartime slow-down of schedules.

Influenza Epidemic Feared In Houston

"It is starting early," he said, "and generally an early start means a late ending and lots of cases."

Looks Like Farmer Will Get Last Laugh On Soldiers Who Ate His Watermelons

WINONA, Tex., Nov. 6. (U.P.)—It began to look today like Rastus L. Davis, Winona farmer, was going to get the last laugh on the soldiers who ate his watermelons.

A bill is on its way through the dignified chambers of the Congress of the United States to pay Davis for the loss of 300 watermelons.

Without a word against it, the bill to pay Davis $100 for the melons taken by soldiers from Camp Fannin—just 500 yards from the watermelon patch—went through the House of Representatives yesterday and was sent to the Senate, where no senatorial barrier to its passage was expected.

Taken By Army

Stated as only a congressman would state it, a report from the House claims committee explained that "the melons appear to have been taken surreptitiously, and evidence as to who took them is circumstantial, but nevertheless rather conclusive that they were taken by Army personnel."

Davis' patch was raided in the heat of the summer, just when his melons had ripened to their most delicious state.

Successor To Pat Hurley Faces Most Dubious Course In China

By PARKER LA MOORE
Scripps Howard Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Whoever succeeds Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley as U. S. ambassador to China will have difficulty in determining American policy there.

Our policy has not been defined since the Japanese surrender.

Even during the war it was a subject of constant controversy.

President Roosevelt sent General Hurley to China as his special representative late in 1944. General Hurley carried instructions to support the central government, to uphold the leadership of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, and to harmonize differences between the American and Chinese authorities in Chungking.

Was Critical Period

In China the envoy found our diplomatic and military representatives preparing to ditch Chiang and his administration and throw our support to the Chinese Communists at Yenan.

It was a critical period in the war, with Chiang's armies in retreat and his government on the point of collapse.

General Hurley quickly discovered that the State department had not interpreted the president's instructions in the same way he had. His troubles began in the U. S. embassy at Chungking.

Our experts on China there, headed by George Atcheson, jr., John Davis and John S. Service, had been responsible for previous policy, and their views remained unaltered. They had no faith in Chiang, held we were "backing the wrong horse in China," that diplomatic and military considerations dictated supporting the Chinese Reds.

Position Weakened

The divided house in the American embassy became known to everyone in Chungking, weakening our position there. Enroute to China, General Hurley had stopped in Moscow and received assurances that Soviet Russia would support us in unification of China under Chiang's leadership. The career men in the embassy, however, took the position that friendly relations could not be established between the Soviets and Chiang's regime until Chiang had settled the Chinese Communist problem.

Subsequent signing of the Russian-Chinese amity pact proved the experts mistaken, but meanwhile Ambassador Hurley had had to pay a second visit to Moscow for reassurances on this point. He also visited London and won British support for the unification plan.

Remained Unreconciled

Even with Britain and Russia in General Hurley's corner on the issue, a most vocal element in our State department remained unreconciled. This element was largely made up of persons who had opposed his policy in China and who had been recalled to Washington. Here they had been placed in State department positions where they could influence, if not dictate, official instructions to General Hurley. He was kept under a constant bombardment of warnings and admonitions.

On one occasion he received instructions indicating we might withdraw our support from Chiang and recognize the Communists. That same week the U. S. treasury advanced $200,000,000 in gold to Chiang's government.

Notwithstanding conflicting instructions, General Hurley followed his initial orders to the letter. His primary object was to keep the Chinese armies in the field. Moreover, he wasn't afraid of his job, for the resignation he had submitted to President Truman had been refused.

But the American policy in China became, to all practical purposes, a Hurley policy as he went along. A new man at his post, who would be uninclined to taking the bit in his teeth and going ahead, faces a dubious, uncharted course in China.

Tech Seeking Pantex Plant

Spiller of Jacksboro visited the giant plant.

Over the week-end, Tech officials hurriedly drafted tentative plans for use of the project should the RFC accede to the Tech request. The plans included the possibility of its most immediate use in connection with the training of veterans, particularly those who want special short term courses not now offered by the college in specialized phases of agriculture, not leading to a degree.

Facilities Available

For example, a veteran might desire a year or a two-year course in dairying in its applied phases, or a similar course in animal husbandry, plant industry, the poultry field or any other phases of agricultural work. On the broad expanse of the project, facilities could be arranged for the instruction of these fields in a practical manner and at the same time the veteran might be earning a livelihood from the work.

On the expansive project, there are 414 buildings with 1,428,420 square feet of floor space in buildings of all sizes and shapes, divided into twelve zones. All buildings in each zone are connected with covered wide passageways so that operations could be carried on under cover at all times.

Housing Problem Solved

Housing of the veterans would be a simple process since there are housing facilities for approximately 800 people on the project including 19 three-bed-room residences, an apartment building and a barracks for single students. The plant also has a large administration building comprising 43,000 square feet with a large cafeteria in the administrative zone and a similar cafeteria serving each zone.

The question of revenues for maintenance of the project has also been temporarily considered by Tech officials. They believe these could be obtained from several sources.

Could Lease Some of Land

One could be through the leasing of a portion of the land, say, 10,000 acres for farming or cattle-raising operations. Another source of revenue could be from the operation of the various agricultural projects on the land such as dairying, cattle raising and poultry demonstrations.

Salvage of a portion of the buildings and equipment would provide hundreds of thousands of dollars which could be used for maintenance and operation.

These sources, coupled with necessary state appropriations, would be ample to provide for operation of the project for years to come, officials believe.

The project, four miles by seven miles, formerly consisted of wheat and grazing lands before being confiscated by the government in 1942 as a site for the huge shell and bomb-loading layout. On its 16,031.9 acres, besides the labrynth of 414 structures, are approximately 400 concrete 'igloos' for the storage of TNT, which might be utilized for storage of ensilage, or other feeds.

Plenty Of Railroad

The project is served by 36 miles of railroad spur track from the Santa Fe and Rock Island railroads with tracks running into some of the buildings where boxcars could be loaded. The plant has an extensive water system with five wells and ample storage. It also has a water softener plant. It has its own sewage disposal plant and system.

A well-equipped machine shop would provide a laboratory for students in agricultural engineering projects and because the buildings are all connected with steam, air, vacuum and electrical lines, facilities would be available for almost any type of research work in engineering.

The sewage disposal plant would provide for a laboratory for student seeking training in this phase of work.

Would Not Affect Tech

Use of the plant for the training of veterans in specialized short courses would of necessity require that the Veterans administration furnish the college with certain groups of students seeking training in the various fields. If this was done, the college could employ additional teachers to carry on the various projects.

Use of the plant as a training area for veterans or as an "interneship" facility for graduate students in agriculture, engineering and research would be "over and above our normal offering of courses to students," Dr. Whyburn emphasized last night and would in no way affect the present administration of the college proper.

Offers Chance For Research

As a long-range possibility the plant might be adopted for agricultural uses of additional forms. It might enable the college to expand agricultural operations on a broad scale. Its grazing land would offer possibilities for additional beef cattle feeding research. Its wheat land could be used for plant industry work.

A student might take three years of class work at the college and his senior year at the project or better still for years at Tech and his "interneship" at the project in practical application of what he had learned in the classroom. He could spend vacation months there.

The possibility of setting up laboratories for work in advanced levels of various phases of engineering such as petroleum, was also advanced by Dr. Whyburn as one of the uses of a zone or zones of the project.

"No Strings" Attached

"All this would have to be mapped out by technicians, should the plant suddenly be dumped into our laps," Dr. Whyburn said. "Of course, the plant is a long ways from being actually available to Tech. The board agreed to give the 'go ahead' signal for the request to see if the plant could be made available to Tech on terms that can be accepted, and these include the fact that no money will be paid for the project, and that there shall be 'no strings' attached to its operation.

"If the project is something with which Tech can do a better job for the student seeking educational training, the college is definitely interested," Dr Whyburn added. "We are always interested in any proposal which has the possibility of providing additional facilities for increasing our service to the people of the state."

Amarillo Officials Enthusiastic

Amarillo officials were enthusiastic over the proposal, Lewis Lordyke, staff member of the Amarillo Globe-News, said over long-distance telephone last night.

For several weeks, a committee of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce has been making a study of the plant and the feasibility of its adoption to peace-time use. Numerous officials of large concerns have made surveys of the project to determine if it could be used for various purposes.

Salvage of the buildings, facilities and equipment on the project would entail "nearly as much expense as it was to build the plant itself," an Amarillo man said last night. This means that virtual abandonment of the project in its entirety by the government is a foregone conclusion. Its disposition has been a constant worry to Amarilloans since end of hostilities.

Plan Is Not Unusual

Dr Whyburn pointed out last night that operation of projects far removed from campuses by colleges and universities is not uncommon in the U. S., citing the projects operated by the University of California in various sections of the state.

He envisioned, "off-the-record" the possibility of the use of the airplane in transportating students to the project on week-ends for practical laboratory application of their book learning.

Labor Parley Is In Dispute

tion of wages before the conference. Opposition has been expressed by both management and AFL groups to conference consideration of wages.

Seven-Point Agenda

This would restrict the business of the conference to the seven-point agenda already prepared; that is, to a search for specific ways and means of settling labor disputes without a rash of reconversion-obstructing work stoppages.

President Truman, in opening the meeting yesterday, declared that "the whole system of private enterprise" depended on the finding of such methods. He did not mention wages.

Chief items on today's program were the appointment of several committees to do the spadework on each topic of the conference agenda, and two and one-half hours of "general discussion."

Lewis Is Silent

John L. Lewis, who sat silent yesterday as the lone delegate of the unaffiliated United Mine Workers, would not tell reporters his stand on the wage question. He has not been invited to a place on the powerful executive committee, and he said he was undecided whether to speak on the conference floor today.

CIO President Philip Murray yesterday declared that the country faces a "major collapse in labor-management relations" because of industry's reluctance to negotiate on labor's demand for restoration of the loss in wartime take-home pay.

Could Raise Wages

Secretary of Commerce Wallace also hammered on the wage issue. He reported there were clear indications that basic wage rates could be raised substantially in many industries without increasing prices generally and without impairing industry's profit position.

William Green, AFL president who spoke late yesterday, said that inclusion of wages, full employment and legislative matters on the agenda "would make failure of the conference a foregone conclusion."

NAM President Ira Mosher told the conference that industry's delegates came completely committed to "the principle of free collective bargaining despite our serious misgivings as to the manner in which it is being practiced."

Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach scolded both labor and management for practices he said contributed to bad labor relations.

War In China

activity of United States forces in China.

Despute Continuing

The dispute continued despite official denials of an earlier communist charge that U. S. Marines had gone into action in the undeclared war in North China.

Sun Fo, president of the Chungking legislative yuan, entered the controversy. He said at a press conference that there was no basic difference between Russia and the United States, the only difference lying in their methods.

"There is no condition under which Russia and America would go to war," he said. "There was no war between tsarist Russia and republican America in the past, to say nothing of the present."

Not Influencing Relations

Shao Li Tse, former ambassador to Russia now conducting negotiations with the Communists, said the Chinese situation was "not influencing Chinese-Russian relations."

The New China Daily, organ of Communist headquarters here, published an article headed "The United States must immediately halt participation in the civil war in China." It said:

"For the sake not only of China but of the United States, recent operations of U. S. forces in China must change immediately. The United States must drastically halt participation in the civil war to protect the interests of the Chinese people, respect Chinese sovereignty, and guard the friendship of the Chinese and American people.

Only Way To Assure Peace

"Only by such a determined change can the peace of East Asia be assured."

The central government's army organ Sao Tang Pao said under the caption, "you cannot insult our American ally":

"Aren't these Communist efforts made in vain? The whole world understands American foreign policy. All Chinese people know right from wrong.

"The Communists' attempt to deal a blow to Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, commander of American forces in China and damage the confidence of a part of the American people in their government.

"The Communists also are anxious to create a split between America and Russia. We cannot but ask public opinion to beware of the inaccurate reporting of the New China Daily."

Must Remove Hirohito

Sun Fo, at his press conference, said Emperor Hirohito must be removed from his position of leadership in Japan under Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

"During the confusion of war," he said, "the emperor was retained under conditions to use him to facilitate the Japanese surrender. Now that the war is over, the retention of the emperor is sowing seeds of future disasters."

He said China and Russia have common interests, and added:

"Russia is not objecting to American control of Japan, but only worrying about the possibility that one individual like MacArthur might prove insufficient to uproot Japanese Fascism and thus make it possible for Japan to rise again to disturb the peace of the world."

Ta Kung Pao said the Chinese Army left Kowloon on Oct. 26 aboard 22 U. S. transport ships escorted by three cruisers and six destroyers. The Army landed at Chingwangtao Oct. 31.

The Army newspaper said the 52nd Army from Indo-China arrived at Yingkow Nov. 4.

MONTGOMERY WARD

Story Of Savagery In Manila Related

(By The United Press)

MANILA, Nov. 6 — Witnesses ranging from an 11-year old girl to an Army major told today how the Japanese burned alive, decapitated, bayonetted and otherwise tortured to death 4,000 civilians in the Intramuros—Manila's ancient walled city — last February.

Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, on trial for his life for responsibility for these and other mass murders totalling in the tens of thousands, doodled with a pencil and avoided the eyes of witnesses as the recital of his forces' unparalleled savagery went through its eighth day.

Thousands Imprisoned

A Spanish Catholic priest testified that the Japanese also imprisoned 6,000 men, women and children in St. Augustine's church, then raped the women in the priests' rooms and slew hundreds of the men.

Eleven year old Rosalinda Andoy, pretty in her freshly-pressed pink dress, took the witness stand and told between sobs how she was orphaned in the Intramuros massacre.

"My father was killed by the Japs," she said, barely able to hold back the tears. "My mother is no more. She was bayonetted to death beside me. I was bayonetted 38 times."

Showed Scarred Arms

At the request of the prosecutor, she showed a horribly-scarred arm.

"The Japs jabbed me 10 times there," she said.

The crowded courtroom was silent. Yamashita looked the other way.

Then Rosalinda pulled up her pink dress. Long bayonet scars criss-crossed her abdomen and chest. Spectators dabbed at their eyes.

Nursing Sister Nelly De Jesus Virate said she saw the Japanese take two Filipino attendants from a hospital, strip them naked and tie them to a post in a burning building. They were burned to death.

Luis Gallent said the Japanese crowded civilian men into Fort Santiago 60 to 80 to a cell, poured gasoline everywhere and set the building on fire.

Only Two Escaped

"The heat was terrible," he said. "Only two escaped from my cell by the window. Machine guns had been set up outside the building to shoot any who got out.

"I fled through a garage, however. A body fell on me and fractured my back as I was crawling through the garage, but I dived into the Pasig river and swam to safety."

Another witness said 300 men in Fort Santiago were lined up and divided indiscriminately into two groups. One group returned to their cells, but the other prisoners were beheaded.

Heads Rolling On Ground

"I saw close to 100 or 150 heads rolling on the ground," he said.

Maj. Frank J. Middleburg, of Cincinnati, O., testified he found the bodies of 300 civilians who had been starved to death in a cell of the Fort Santiago dungeon.

Defense cross-examination scored only once during the parade of witnesses. Then Yamashita's court-appointed counsel succeeded in raising a doubt that all the civilians burned to death in Fort Santiago had been killed by the Japanese.

1st Lt. Frank J. Shilder of Great Bend, Kan., conceded under cross examination troops poured gasoline into Fort Santiago and set it afire with flame throwers in an effort to burn out the Japanese during the final stages of the battle for Manila.

Jaywalker Gives Up; Cop Is More Than A Match For Him

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 6. (U.P.) —Police Patrolman Charley Ford was in the process of reprimanding a jaywalker who ignored the traffic lights and started across a street.

The behumbled pedestrian tapped his ear, indicating that he was deaf.

Ford held up one hand and wiggled his fingers, as though he were talking sign language.

"Okay," said the jaywalker. "You've got me. I can't talk sign language."

"Neither can I," Ford retorted. "Now run along and watch those lights."

Medical Men Want Release

BY FRANK ASTON
Scripps-Howard Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—Army medical men and their wives want service doctors and dentists released quickly, according to letters they are writing to Scripps-Howard newspapers. Their pleas were written after Scripps-Howard newspapers published a series showing how the Army and Navy are holding medical men in service.

Here are excerpts from letters:

Are Treated Unfairly

"If the doctors represented a big bloc of votes they would be coddled like the labor unions instead of treated so unfairly."

"Have the refugee doctors fulfilled the same strict license and specialists requirements which our own have to meet to practice? Their offices sprang up on every corner in our community — New York, of course. They coined money during the war. Why can't they be sent to take care of the armies of occupation?"

"I know people who have been postponing surgical work waiting for the return of their doctors in whom they have confidence. They feel they want to live up to the patriotism of their doctors who sacrificed enormously."

Reasons They Give

"I am convinced that the reason so many doctors are utilized for such an operation (duty in separation centers) is that their commanding officer has a much better chance for promotion if he is commanding a large staff. He therefore makes the best possible case he can for maintaining or even increasing the number of men who report to him."

"I'd like to remind you that dentists in uniform are in the same boat as the physicians are. But because they're a minority group in the services they seem to be the 'forgotten men.' I'm married to an Army dentist who has been in the Pacific theater — much too long."

Let Younger Men Do It

"My husband, a medical officer, has been in the Army three years and overseas 19 months. My husband and all the other officers will not be home before late spring or early summer. Why can't younger medical men be sent overseas and let these older men who have been in service and spent so much time in that hot, dirty, diseased country, come home?"

"Why can't the Army employ civilian doctors to examine the men being discharged the same as they did at the induction centers? That woud give the men now in service a chance to get out."

"My husband was certainly more essential to his community than he has been to the Army. He has not done one bit of constructive work since entering the Army. About a month ago he was assigned to a demobilization center and he now has the dubious distinction of using a stethoscope."

In China paper money is used in denominations from five cents to $500.

Wainwright Thinks Filipinos Want To Stick By America

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 6. (U.P.) — Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, hero of Bataan and Corregidor, said last night that he did not believe the Filipino people were anxious to gain independence from this country.

Wainwright, speaking at an American Legion dinner, at which he was guest of honor, spoke fondly of the Filipinos.

"Now is the time for us to support the Filipino people," he said. "They're 100 per cent loyal to us. They're just as good Americans as you or I."

In answer to a question of whether the Filipinos wanted their independence now, the general said:

"In my opinion, they don't want their independence. They don't want to be separated from the United States."

Wainwright said that Japanese war criminals should be treated in accordance with international law. They should be tried, he said, and if guilty, made to "pay the complete sacrifice."

"Do you mean by shooting or by hanging," he was asked.

"Shooting's too damn good for them," Wainwright replied. "Hang 'em."

It is now possible to photograph a projectile boring through a steel plate. Millionth-of-a-second X-ray photographs prove that a 20-millimeter projectile swells to twice its normal diameter, bursts and disintegrates while boring through the plate. Photographs are made possible by an electronic tube developed by Dr. Charles M. Slack, assistant director of research for the Westinghouse Lamp division.

Crimson Tide And St. Mary's Gain

Army And Notre Dame Still One-Two For Nation; Columbia Moves Into First Ten

BY MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—Alabama's Big Red Elephants and St. Mary's Pre-Flight teen-agers have zoomed into higher positions in the ratings of the first ten college football elevens as the result of their latest impressive triumphs.

Alabama, fourth a week ago and almost a cinch to maintain their unbeaten and untied record, jumped into third ahead of Navy following the Crimson Tide's 60-19 massacre of Kentucky and the Tar's second narrow squeak in a row, a 6-6 tie with Notre Dame.

Gaels Are Fifth

The Gaels from California proved their class Saturday in walloping Southern California 26-0 and sports writers the country over, voting in the Associated Press' weekly poll, showered enough ballots on Jimmy Phelan's gridders to boost them into fifth place. The all-conquering Gaels were rated eighth last week.

Army and Notre Dame still ran one-two in the balloting but the Irish had a narrow edge over Alabama.

Of the 101 votes cast, Army received 86 first place nominations and 982 points, based on ten for first, nine for second, etc. Notre Dame collected three top votes and 804 points while Alabama garnered four first placers and 799 points. Navy got three first place votes and 702 points. St. Mary's was honored with two top bids and 486 points and sixth place Indiana was the recipient of the three other No. 1 votes and 445 points. The rest of the top ten was made up of Michigan, Ohio State, Pennsylvania and Columbia in order.

Columbia's First Trip

It was Columbia's first trip into the first ten and Oklahoma's Aggies, idle last Saturday, made room for the Lions by dropping from ninth to eleventh.

Three of the big contests next Saturday match members of football's aristocracy. Army plays Notre Dame at the Yankee stadium, Navy opposes Michigan in Baltimore and Columbia and Pennsylvania will battle it out for Ivy league honors in Philadelphia.

The leading teams:

Army (86)	982
Notre Dame (3)	804
Alabama (4)	799
Navy (3)	702
St. Mary's (2)	486
Indiana (3)	445
Michigan	346
Ohio State	280
Pennsylvania	218
Columbia	167

Second ten: 11, Oklahoma A. & M. 109; 12, Purdue 99; 13, Holy Cross 62; 14, Louisiana State 42; 15, Virginia 24; 16, Duke 18; 17, Texas 15; 18, Washington 7; 19, Tulsa 6; 20, Minnesota 5.

Honorable mention: Penn State 3; Mississippi State, North Carolina State, Wake Forest, and Southern California all 2 each; Tulane, Georgia, North Carolina, Temple all 1 each.

Smith Leading Ground Gainer

(By The Associated Press)

Freshman Preston Smith made 49 yards against Arkansas last week to keep well in front of the pack in Southwest conference football ground gaining.

Smith now has 550 yards net on 113 carries—52 yards ahead of Sammie Pierce of Baylor who has made 498 on 67 carries.

Rob Goode, Smith's backfield mate, and John Hoffman of Arkansas are tied for third with 401 yards each.

Joslin Is Ahead

Leon Joslin, Texas Christian's freshman passing star, went farther ahead last week as he whipped up 105 yards on seven completions against Oklahoma. Joslin now has 604 yards on 38 connections out of 71 attempts.

Jack Price of Baylor is second with 407 yards on 35 completions in 63 throws and Dave Moon of Southern Methodist is third with 390 on 16 completions in 48 attempts.

Texas continues to pace the teams on offense. The Longhorns have 1982 yards in seven games with 1163 rushing and 819 passing. Baylor is second with 1780 yards — 1235 running and 545 in the air. Texas A. and M. is third with 1310 and 377 for a total of 1687.

Baylor Tops Defensively

Defensively Baylor is tops, having allowed only 893 yards in seven games — an average of 127.5. The Bears lead in defense against rushing, giving up only 91.9 yards per game. Texas A. and M. has the best defensive record against passing, allowing only 14 completions out of 61 attempts for 224 yards.

The A. and M.-Arkansas game last week set some sort of ground-gaining record. A. and M. made 393 rushing and Arkansas 190—and there was just one pass completed — Arkansas getting it for 0 yards.

Howard Maley of Southern Methodist continues to lead the punters with an average of 40 yards.

Big Football Weekend Set

Top Tests Slated For Local Clubs

The biggest football weekend of the season is just ahead for Lubbock fans, and also the last weekend of home football, as both the Lubbock Westerners on Friday, and the Texas Tech Red Raiders on Saturday face top tests for the season.

The Westerners are the first to swing into action, playing the powerful Pampa Harvesters at Tech stadium Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The Red Raiders final game at home for the year, and homecoming game, will be played Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on the same gridiron against the Texas Christian university Horned Frogs.

Tickets Going Fast

E. J. "Pinkey" Lowrey, athletic director of Lubbock schools, issued the warning Monday night that tickets for the Pampa game were going fast, and urged fans to make their reservations early as the indications mount for a sellout crowd.

Morley Jennings, athletic director at Texas Tech, has already hung up the "standing room only" sign over the door of the Tech athletic office, and is making frantic searches for additional seats that might be erected in Tech stadium.

With this the picture today, the indications are that Lubbock will turn out the two greatest football crowds of the season in one big weekend, the last fling of the season for the home town fans.

Teams In Top Shape

Coach Dixie White announced Monday night that there were no injuries to his club in the rugged 20-0 victory over the Brownfield Cubs last week, and that his team will be in top shape for the scrap here Friday afternoon.

"There were no NEW injuries," was the way Coach Dell Morgan summed up the condition of the Texas Tech Red Raiders, after their hard battle last Saturday afternoon at Houston with the powerful Owls of Rice Institute, won by the Owls, 13-0.

White gave the Westerners only a limbering up workout Monday, and nothing was done in the way of hard work, but indicated there would be plenty of it before the week was over.

Raiders Start Work

Morgan was not as inclined to take it easy, and the Red Raiders saw plenty of action Monday as Coach Dell Morgan worked them on passing, both offensive and defensive.

"We are going to be facing one of the greatest passing teams in the nation Saturday afternoon, and we want to be ready for them," was Morgan's comments.

As schoolboy football swings into the last month of the conference play, two of the District 1-AA elevens remain in the state's thinning ranks of undefeated, untied teams, and one of these is the Pampa Harvesters. Plainview is the other perfect record team in the race.

The team coming to town on Saturday to play the Red Raiders will be a team now holding a three-way tie for the top rung in the Southwest Conference, and paced by the passing star, Leon Joslin, will carry on the string of tough tests for the Red Raiders, which seem to grow tougher with each passing week.

There is no argument that this week will offer the most colorful weekend of football staged in Tech stadium this season.

Isbell Said To Be Best Of All Passers

CHICAGO, Nov. 6. (U.P.)—Coach Earl (Curly) Lambeau of the Green Bay Packers added new fuel to one of football's old arguments today when he named Cecil Isbell, Purdue head coach, as the game's greatest all-time passer.

"Isbell was a master at any range, short, medium or long ones," Lambeau said. "He could throw soft passes, bullet ones or feathery lobs."

"He's the best with Sid Luckman of the Bears a close second and Sammy Baugh a long third."

Luckman is just about as good, Lambeau said, but not quite as versatile while Baugh doesn't toss the long ones to compare with Isbell.

Changes Made In Schoolboy Rankings

Lufkin Falls From First Spot; Highland Park And Wichita Go Up; Amarillo Is Ranked Sixth

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

DALLAS, Nov. 6. — There have been some changes made in schoolboy rankings. They may not be for the best but then, who knows what is best the way things are going?

Lufkin, our No. 1 of last week, beat Goose Creek 7-6. Goose Creek, consistently in everyone's first ten all season, then proceeded to fall before Port Arthur, rated twenty-second, 6-2. Galveston, ranked twentieth, beat Port Arthur. Cleburne, rated sixteenth, lost to unranked Temple by a touchdown. And so on—

Anybody want to buy a slightly used rating system cheap?

Back To Old Standbys

Well, nothing to do but go back to our old standbys out at Highland Park (Dallas). Here's the first ten this week—repeat, this week:

1. Highland Park.
2. Wichita Falls.
3. Waco.
4. Odessa.
5. Lufkin.
6. Amarillo.
7. Paris.
8. Brownsville.
9. Pampa.
10. Galveston.

The second ten: Plainview, Milby (Houston), Marshall, Brownwood, Breckenridge, Crozier Tech (Dallas), Austin, Port Arthur, Goose Creek, Jefferson (San Antonio).

The third ten: San Jacinto (Houston) San Angelo, Brackenridge (San Antonio), Austin (El Paso), Paschel (Fort Worth), Sweetwater, Vernon, Sunset (Dallas), Temple, Cleburne.

West Texas Gas Is Ahead In Bowling

West Texas Gas company bowlers moved two games into the lead in the City League race Monday night at the Plamor alleys by winning two out of the three over runnerup Hub Laundry in the crucial series between the two leaders.

Birdseye Food turned in the only clean sweep, taking three in a row from Meads Bakery. S. and Q. Clothiers won two from the Jaycees and Armour's took two from the Lions club as these three winners moved into a three-way tie for third place.

In spite of his team's losses, scoring honors of the night went to Blankenship of Meads Bakery, who topped the field with 573 pins, and a best single game of 225 pins, but oould not overcome the 2352 total rolled by the Birdseye team.

Altman Is Favored To Retain Crown

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 6. (U.P.)—Texas Middleweight Champion Paul Altman was favored to retain his title tonight against Tony Elizondo.

The young challenger, from Yoakum and Corpus Christi, was conceded to be a dangerous hitter but was believed too inexperienced to lift the Houston champion's crown.

Other bouts on the card headlined by the 10-round championship fight:

Ramon Alva of San Antonio vs. Kid Pancho of Monterrey, Mex., eight rounds; Mickey McCoy of Fort Worth vs. Nash Ortiz of Victoria, six rounds; and Julion Cerna of Nuevo Laredo, Mex., and Bill Dearing of Oklahoma City, six rounds.

Mullins Is Selected Santa Clara Coach

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6. (AP)—The last major football coaching post in the San Francisco bay region has been filled by the appointment of Laurence A. (Moon) Mullins as head grid mentor at the University of Santa Clara.

The 37-year-old former Notre Dame backfield star will assume his new duties Dec. 1. He is now a Navy lieutenant commander at Corpus Christi, Texas, where he is in charge of the physical training program and coaches the Navy Air station football team.

His selection was announced yesterday by the Rev. Father William C. Gianera, S. J., president of the university.

Change In Date For Grid Tilt Revealed

District 5-A grid fans will have to wait for three weeks to know who will wear the crown in their family feud following a change in the date for the important battle of undefeated, untied grid giants of the race, the Littlefield Wildcats and Sudan Hornets. The game was scheduled for next Friday at Sudan.

But a revamping of the schedules of three schools in the district has moved the game to the afternoon of Nov. 22 at Sudan as one of the holiday features in West Texas football.

The change of the schedule, also leaves the two contending schools with only one more tuneup battle before the big clash. But one of these games will be a district game, and brings the third team into the shift of the schedules.

Sudan was scheduled to play Olton on Nov. 22, at Sudan. This game was moved up to Nov. 16, and will be played in Sudan as the final barrier before the big battle.

Littlefield is booked on Nov. 16 with the Lubbock B team, with the Westerner bench warmers offering the last tuneup of that powerful grid offensive that has been sweeping through West Texas for two seasons.

Efforts are being made to prepare the Sudan field for taking care of the greatest crowd in the school's grid history for the championship game on Turkey day.

Hogan Favorite In North-South Open

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 6. (U.P.)—Ben Hogan, fresh from his triumph in the Richmond Open and playing over a familiar course, was favored today as a field of 160 teed off in the opening round of the $5,000 North and South open golf tournament.

Hogan, of Hersney, Pa., set the record for the No. 2 Pinehurst course at 271—17 under par—in winning the tourney in 1942. He is at the top of his game now after his four-stroke victory at Richmond.

Dick Metz, second at Richmond, Sam Snead, Tommy Armour, Jimmy Hines, Jimmy Thompson, Gene Sarazen, Vic Ghezzi and three Turnesa brothers—Joe, Mike and Phil—were expected to be Hogan's chief competition. Neither Byron Nelson nor Harold McSpaden entered the meet.

DOWN in Sunny San Antonio, preparatory to reporting to Randolph Field for "separating," "churning," or whatever the Army does to guys getting out, is Lt. Col. Byron W. Goulding who, for nearly four years, has been about as much of a civilian citizen of Lubbock as an Army man.

Colonel Goulding came to Lubbock Army Air Field with the original cadre of officers from Brooks Field and has been here throughout the war. His record of promotions testifies to his worth to the Army Air Forces; his worth to the civilian population of Lubbock as a sort of official and unofficial contact man between the uniformed and un-uniformed people here is widely known in business and civic circles.

The truth is, Colonel Goulding has been more valuable than any other Army man stationed here in the matter of keeping civilian and Army relations on an even keel and in promoting and maintaining co-operation and understanding between the two groups.

As a poor, but honest, first lieutenant, Colonel Goulding was LAAF's first public relations officer.

Although a minor portion of his service here was spent in that category, he has, in fact, been LAAF's public relations man in the station's dealing with the civilian population throughout the whole war period.

When the newspapers, the radio station, the chamber of commerce, the civic clubs, or even individual civilians, have wanted information or special co-operation from LAAF it has been axiomatic to "get in touch with By Goulding."

His varied and important services in this regard have been so numerous that it is impossible to total them. His contribution to good relations between town and Army has been so great as to be incalculable.

WHILE steadily climbing the military ladder and serving various important staff capacities at LAAF, Colonel Goulding has never lost the "civilian touch." In civic and social affairs, he and his charming wife have been as indigenous to the civilian life here as they have to the Army life. It isn't strange to contemplate, because the fact is Colonel and Mrs. Goulding have lived in Lubbock longer than any other one place since their marriage less than a decade ago. Lubbock is more "home" to them than anywhere else — including their earlier places of residence, Omaha and Beatrice, Neb., respectively.

The Gouldings will be back within two weeks — he in a loud convertible, no doubt — to spend a few days saying "goodbye." Then they will his away to New York where the colonel will pick up where he left off in Kansas City years ago as a salesman for a food concern.

The Goldings say they never will forget their days in Lubbock, their friends and happy associations. It's a cinch they never will be forgotten by Lubbockites who have taken due note of their contributions to living during the war years here.

That Man on Avenue Q says the most deplorable thing in the world is most of us is the poor taste of people who can't see things the way we do.

* * *

We see by the papers where they have manufactured a new type airplane that will travel 500 miles per hour.

Is there any place in this world worth going to in such a hurry?

The overwhelming majority of the American people, we believe, would support the Truman administration's proposal of a generous wage increase to civil service employes of the federal government, IF the proposal carried with it a guarantee that the taxpayer would get value received for the investment.

As long as the government continues to employ more people than actually needs, there will be and should be — considerable opposition to hiking the cost of operations.

The raw truth is, the federal government has been the worst disorder of manpower throughout the war years. It employs more people than it needs to do the work in scores of agencies and bureaus. It has followed the good political, but poor business, policy of subsidizing as many voters as possible for the administration in power, of course, with the "Tammany Hall on a nation-wide basis" policy of successive administrations since 1933.

If the Truman administration will put government employment on a business basis, and workers individually can be paid more money, yet, in the aggregate, the taxpayer will save money. Furthermore, the government will get more efficient service; there will be less bungling and fumbling and paper rustling.

The average American with good judgment can look over a few Washington bureaus at any time he so chooses and immediately see the lost motion involved. And since we have had here so many varieties of federal offices, the average Lubbockite has not found it necessary to go to Washington to discover that there is a wide margin between public and private business efficiency in the matter of manpower and its production.

It is not logical — and it is morally dishonest — for the federal government to employ more workers than all the 48 states combined, plus all municipal and county employes in the land, as well. And whether high officialdom realizes the fact, or not, the people of the country are well aware of this fact.

* * *

THE American people believe in decent wages, not only for workers in private fields but for the workers in government, as well.

But they dislike feather-bedding, over-employment, loafing-for-pay and inefficiency whenever and wherever they observe it, and especially in instances where they are paying the bill.

This is natural, because the economic stature of the U. S. has been built upon hard work, both mental and physical, on the part of the rank and file of Americans and those who do not sew or spin have never been held in high regard by a nation of do-ers.

If the administration wants to put over its wage increase program for federal workers, it must show where the public's business will benefit.

And if and when the public payrolls are trimmed, the administration can best prove its sincerity by firing the thousands of governmental press agents installed throughout Washington and the entire nation in accordance with the best European tradition of hidden censorship and making the taxpayer foot the bill for propaganda material aimed at keeping one segment of one political party in power.

It's no wonder the South American political situation seems to go in an endless circle.

After all, down there it's one revolution after another!

DEAR Anonymous U. S. Army Nurse Who Thinks That Yanks Are Lousy Lovers:

MILLETT

You complain that American men have been spoiled by their successes in Europe — "where chewing gum has supplanted conversation and cholate bars have superseded a build-up." You say they are due for an awakening when they get home.

Perhaps we women here at home had better warn you that the American men who stayed home are spoiled, too.

True, they haven't found chocolate bars and chewing gum more persuasive than a build-up.

But they've been getting by with murder.

Old boys who had been overlooked for years found they were being fought over during war years, when lonely girls were plentiful and men were scarce.

Foreign women didn't spoil the men who stayed home. But the gals the Yanks left behind them did the spoiling.

So don't be too sure the Yanks will get their come-uppance when they get back home. They're going to look good to the girls after the men they have had to put up with. And likely as not, those unconventional Yanks will find they don't have to talk much at home, either.

WAKE UP, PLEASE

IT is painful to have to send you such bad tidings. But it's the straight dope. If you were dreaming of America as a place where women are still fought for and cherished—you have just been dreaming.

So, hurry home. But don't expect much. Not if you don't want to be disappointed.

Today's Journal Editorial

A MORAL ABOUT SPEED

Nearly everybody, having partaken too freely of rich food, has had the harrowing, dream-world experience of being chased by a bounding bear. This includes the Germans, only it was real stuff to them.

Despite the exertion of every muscle, you seemed never to get anywhere; your legs responded as if you were running through a lake of cold molasses. And, all the time, the bear was eating up the ground so close that his hot breath played a requiem up and down your spine.

Nature has a way, like the old movie cavalry, of coming to your aid just in the nick of time, jerking you back into sweet consciousness. It is a good thing that Nature comes through, for you would never get away, even on a dry track.

You cannot outrun a bear, proclaims the Science Digest. A bear, in pretty good wind, can hit a clip of 28 miles an hour, while man, properly scared, might run, at the most, 22.8 miles an hour, the magazine points out.

Even so, the bear relatively is a slowpoke in the animal kingdom. Take the cheetah. He is the "runningest" animal. A member of the feline family and about the size of a leopard, he is capable of attaining up to 70 miles an hour—and without a smidge of tear-drop designing.

Deer, horses, jack rabbits, kangaroos, foxes, elephants, rhinoceros, buffalo and chipmunks are all faster than the bear, and man. Deer are the second fleetest animals, certain types being able to travel a mile a minute.

The moral, if there is any, would seem to be never get mixed up with anything that has two more legs than you.

SWARTHMORE, Penn. — It's a sure sign of age when you revisit the haunts of your boyhood. But I have been doing just that, and having a glorious time.

I have been re-examining every tree where I ever carved my initials, every bush where I found a bird-nest, the old grapevine where we swung out over Crum creek, the little stream where we used to catch garter snakes to bring out of shoe boxes during dull moments in Sunday school.

PEARSON

Some of the trees are gone now, and I couldn't find my initials on those which remained. And Doggie stream, where we caught snakes, is now lined with lovely lawns sloping down from affluent houses; with duck ponds and white painted fences, where used to be thickets so dense and wild that I once found a lot of silver plate hidden in a hollow log, apparently by a burglar who hadn't time to get away with his loot.

Ogden's spring house, where Doggie stream begins, and where we used to catch frogs and pick water-cress, was locked today — the first time I have seen it locked in 30 years. And the watering trough outside, where horses stopped for a drink before going into town, has disappeared.

The dirt road which used to be a sea of mud beside the spring, is now macadamized, and all the stone carriage houses, where those who could afford them kept their horses, have been turned into garages or modernized apartments.

SKUNKS IN WASHINGTON

I WALKED on, beyond the spring, beyond the cow pasture on the edge of Baltimore pike, now studded with very prim and proper houses, on out to Lownes' run and the open fields and woods where we used to hunt.

There, under a ledge of the stream, I found the same spot where once we had caught a mink. A mink caught within 11 miles of Philadelphia. It is hard to believe, but there, one day in February, we found the bank of the stream literally chewed to pieces where the mink, caught in our trap, had struggled but lost the battle. It was dead and frozen when we arrived.

Today, in the autumn sunshine, the bank of the stream was just the same, except that now, more than 30 years later, it bore no scars of battle.

Most of the time, however, we were not lucky enough to catch mink. We trapped skunk. We shipped the skins to Funsten brothers in St. Louis and one winter we managed to make $15. In those days it seemed like a lot of money.

I got so I could skin a skunk before breakfast, and although I used the cook's perfume to counteract the odor, my mother, a most patient woman, sometimes complained about it. I never was quite sure whether it was the perfume from the skunk or the cook she disliked most.

Once, also, with the help of my father's razor, I amputated the vital organs of a skunk, put them in a shaving-soap box and thence behind the radiator in the classroom of an unpopular English teacher. It broke up all classes in that room for the day.

The teacher's name was Truman—as far as I know, no relation to the present incumbent of the White House.

Critics who write me today complaining about my man-handling of the king's English will, I trust, now be more sympathetic.

In Washington it has been a matter of some debate as to whether I was still hunting skunks or whether I, in turn, should be hunted. To the latter school of thought belongs my gracious ex-mother-in-law, Mrs. Eleanor Patterson.

PROGRESS INVADES

TODAY an electric railway runs through our old trapping grounds, connecting Philadelphia with its suburbs. I remember how valiantly and persistently our trapping club fought that unwanted invader of our primitive countryside. When the surveyors for the electric line laid out their stakes, we pulled up every one of them. Time after time they resurveyed that line, only to wake up next morning to find their stakes gone.

But it was no use. Twelve-year-old boys could not stop modern progress.

Today I passed the grey-stone residence now used to house the president of Swarthmore college. It looked stern, sedate and solemn. But I remember the day when rank weeds grew on its deserted lawn, dense bushes surrounded it, a Robin Hood band, in which I played Little John, crept in and out of its broken windows.

Came the day when Robin Hood's "headquarters" found itself squarely in the path of modern civilization. The college purchased the old mansion and started to install new windows, electricity, and a furnace. Again we did our best to block the creeping paralysis of progress. Every weekend we ripped out the electric wiring, and hid the carpenters' tools. But it did no good. How could 12-year-olds fight the adult machinery of a college? We lost.

And every time the college now approaches me as one of its notorious if not distinguished alumni, and asks me to add to its endowment fund, I always figure, as I write a check, that I'm helping to pay for that electric-wiring I ripped out of the president's mansion.

PEARSON AND PROGRESS

SO despite all I could do to prevent it, the town of Swathmore today is one of the most modern and beautiful I have ever seen. Its streets are better; its lawns are more beautiful; its schools are better equipped; its children better educated; and its people more intelligent. Finally, they don't have the pungent odor of a certain woodland animal wafting over the town from the Pearson woodshed on winter mornings.

Yes, the town is improved a lot—despite all I could do to stop it. Which only goes to show that you can't halt progress. You can't prevent the development of atomic energy, whether in the U.S.A. or the U.S.S.R. and you can't win wars with great masses of old-fashioned foot soldiers.

Mobilizing big conscript armies to put in the path of modern science is like a 12-year-old boy pulling up surveyor's stakes to prevent the building of an electric railway.

It was the professors who turned the tide of this war—professors plus the factories which produced the airplanes, the tanks, the artillery, the ships, the radar and the atom bombs. We had big armies in 1942. But they were fighting bare-handed or with out-of date tanks, guns and airplanes—until the factories and the professors and the industrial geniuses of the nation got going.

Many soldiers were trained and sent overseas in less than three months in this war. But it takes years to train scientists and skilled mechanics.

So, as I sit up here, away from the confusion of Washington, where you see the trees as well as the leaves, I am convinced that we can't go backward to the type of Army that bogged France down; but rather we must go forward to more education, more science, more understanding of international problems. For the first time in history we are up against the inescapable fact that we must work at peace as hard as we have worked at war.

We may not want to admit the need and benefits of progress, but if we are to save the world it has got to come.

"Try And Stop Me"
By Bennett Cerf

A NAVY J. G., home on leave, took his little daughter on a shopping tour. In a crowded department-store elevator, a stout party gave the J. G. an outraged look, and smacked him squarely in the face.

The J. G. compressed his lips, and said nothing. As they emerged on the ground floor, his daughter said, "I hated that woman, too, papa. She stepped on my foot, so I pinched her good!"

PAUL Whiteman, the famous band leader, never could see why some people thought he was fat—even when he tipped the scales at something in the neighborhood of 250. He likes to tell the story of the really stout party who made a million dollars without budging from his comfortable couch. A visitor found him one day wearing a bathrobe with enormous checks, and a number sewed on to each check. "What's the idea of those numbers?" he inquired. "Watch me," said the Croesus. He summoned his butler, yawned, and ordered, "Jeeves, scratch Number 23!"

THEN there's the composer who was questioning his son about his history lesson one day. "Was it interesting?" he asked. "I'll say!" declared the boy. "We heard all about Nebacadenza!"

Disabled Vet Gets Help From Public

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 6 (U.P.) —The financial worries of Oklahoma's worst disabled soldier of World War II, Sgt. Elmer Morriss of Ringling—were over today for a long time to come.

Sponsors of a campaign to raise a $25,000 trust fund for the plucky young soldier and his wife reported donations now totaled $25,720.

Morriss lost both legs, one arm, one eye and part of his other hand in a land mine explosion during the battle of the bulge in Belgium last December.

Today's Thought

Thine own wickedness shall correct thee, and they backslidings shall reprove thee; know therefore and see that it is an evil thing and bitter, that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, and that my fear is not in thee, saith the Lord God of hosts. — Jeremiah 2:19.

Warnings Of Possible Race War In Future Are Heard

Pacific Nations Look To U. S. For Leadership

By MARQUIS CHILDS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—It is a kind of ostrichism to suggest that American labels should be taken off lend-lease weapons that may or may not be used in the present civil war in the Dutch East Indies.

No lend-lease weapons have gone to the Dutch in the Pacific since the fall of the Netherlands Indies early in the war. The only exception might be a trickle which went in to the underground during the Japanese occupation.

CHILDS

What is happening in Java and in French Indo-China is a flare-up of the fire that has been burning fiercely since long before the war. This manifestation of the passionate desire of yellow and brown peoples for independence is no new thing.

It cannot be written off as an aftermath of Japanese propaganda during the occupation. The Japs exploited it for their own purposes, albeit clumsily, since their own stupidities and cruelties were so obvious. And if we give them a chance, they will exploit it again.

Look To The U. S.

These people look to the United States for leadership. Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, resident commissioner of the Philippines, made that clear in a remarkable article in Collier's recently.

"Essentially," Romulo wrote, "the problem of the Pacific represents the race problem of the world. Ignore it, sidestep it, neglect it, and the next war will be a race war. But to work out a new pattern for the Pacific we need, not the Dutch approach, not the British approach, or any other approach except the human approach; and certainly we Filipinos have ample evidence to convince us the United States employs that approach."

Certainly we have made mistakes in the Philippines, grievous mistakes. We seem to have made serious errors since the liberation of the islnads.

BUT they have not obscured the fact that long ago we set a date for independence and have continued ever since to work toward that date. This fact shines out like a light throughout Asia.

In the State department, at certain levels, anyway, they have been trying for more than a year to anticipate the kind of trouble that is happening in the Netherlands Indies and in Indo-China today. They wanted to be prepared to bring together the colonial government, or their representatives, and the nationalist leaders who would inevitably rise with liberation.

Confidential information out of Java indicates that the nationalist leader Soekarno has a genuine popular following. Inadequate and distorted news accounts have failed to give a true picture of what is happening there.

Source Of Embarrassment

For the British it is a source of acute embarrassment. Because the Dutch have no forces available, the responsibility for "keeping order" has fallen on the British, who have taken Indian troops in to suppress or at least to control the Indonesian nationals. This has provoked a furious storm of protest from the press in India. And now a British general has been killed, further complicating a troubled situation.

While the Dutch at first indicated they would not treat with Soekarno, they have now modified this stand. The pressure of popular support has apparently made it necessary to negotiate with him.

In French Indo-China, fierce guerrilla warfare continues. It is directed not against the occupying British, but against the French; and if the latter return in force, there is likely to be the kind of resistance that cannot be ignored in the world's headlines.

AS Sumner Welles pointed out recently, the tragedy is that the United Nations organization was not ready to meet this situation. It is not only, so far as the immediate issue is concerned, too late, but on the score of trusteeships and colonialism it is also too little. Partly on the insistence of the American delegation, the trusteeship provisions of the charter were watered down.

All indications are, however, that American prestige in the Pacific is still high. We should be able to help negotiate an orderly transition between colonialism and independence.

CARELESS GUESTS

SALT LAKE CITY.—Stealing her portable radio wasn't the only reason burglars roused the ire of Mrs. Grace Irvine.

She reported to police that the burglars also left her bathroom in a deplorable condition. They not only misplaced a bottle of cologne but they left a ring in the bathtub.

JOY

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. — Coach Tony Valdez was the only casualty when his team beat the cross-town rivals.

He rushed jubilantly into the gym, bumped into an iron post and broke a rib.

PENANCE

CHICAGO. — Mrs. Ruth Brovan, 33, agreed to patch her husband's trousers—and thereby patched her marital troubles.

Before Superior Judge Edwin A. Robson, Mrs. Brovan agreed to sew back the one leg each, she had snipped off six pairs of trousers—snipped off, she told the court in a separate maintenance suit, to prevent husband Herbert from going out with another woman.

The suit was dropped, and Judge Robson told Mrs. Brovan's attorney, Charles Cooley, "you've done a fine job of reconciling this couple, and I'm going to enter a $75 fee order for you."

HAD IT COMING

OAKLAND, Calif. — Two perspiring men walked off the hot streets into a tavern. One of them ordered a beer.

When the bartender, Frank Souza, rang up the 10 cent sale, they pulled guns and robbed the till of $200.

As they turned to leave, the one who ordered the beer stopped to quaff it.

His companion admonished him to get going.

"What's your hurry," he snapped. "I paid for it, didn't I?"

NON-FISH BAIT

CHICAGO, (AP)—Firearms seized by police from prisoners were headed today for the bottom of Lake Michigan in the first mass disposal of weapons since the start of the war.

About 4,000 guns, various types of side arms, rifles and shotguns, will be loaded on a tug, taken out five miles in the lake and dumped.

FIRST AID

CHICAGO. — Two women spied John Bogar, 3, who was amusing himself and shrieked.

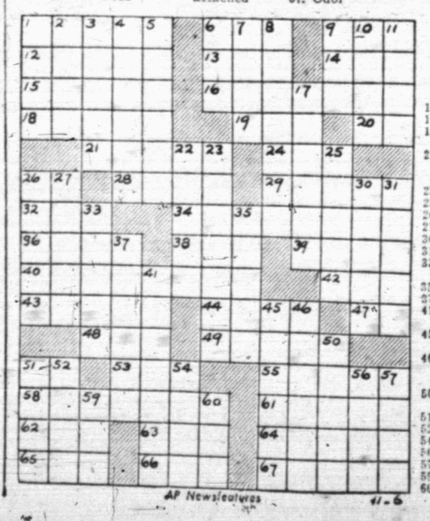

One said to police "there's a little boy on fire! The other swept him into her arms crying "there's a child here who's badly hurt!"

Police recommended turpentine to remove the red paint with which Johnny had been amusing himself.

November 19, 1945, for furnishing all necessary materials, equipment, superintendance and labor for constructing a Sanitary Sewer Interceptor, for the City of Lubbock, owner, Lubbock, Texas.

Bidders must submit Cashiers or Certified Check issued by a bank satisfactory to the owner, for 5% of the amount of the base bid, payable without recourse to the order of the City of Lubbock, or a Proposal Bond in the sum of the same amount, from a reliable Surety Company, as a guaranty that Bidder will enter into contract and execute bond and guaranty in the forms provided within ten (10) days after notice of award of contract to him. Bids without required check or Proposal Bond will not be considered.

The Successful Bidder must furnish bond on the attached form in the amount of 100% of contract price from a Surety Company holding a permit from the State of Texas to act as Surety, or other Surety or Sureties acceptable to the OWNER.

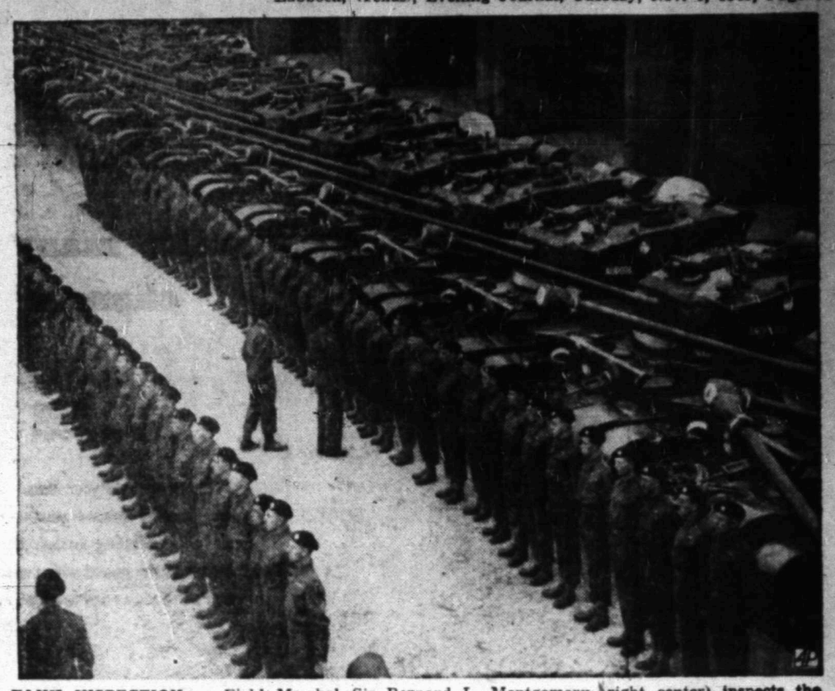

All unit prices must be stated in both script and figures. The owner reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive formalities. Bidders are expected to inspect the site of the work and to inform themselves regarding the local conditions and conditions under which the work is to be done. Attention is called to the provisions of the Acts of the 43rd Legislature of the State of Texas, Page 91, Chapter 45 (Article No. 5159A Civil Statues 1925) concerning the wage scale and payment of prevailing wages established by the Owner. Said scale of prevailing minimum wage is set forth in the specifications.

Labor-Management Meeting Is Opening At Critical Period

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 — The labor-management conference, in its second day, comes at a critical time in American life.

Some real and lasting good may come of it. Or it may break up in bitterness. No one is predicting a howling success for it.

Fred C. Smith, the conference publicity director, already has cautioned reporters not "to expect too much from the conference."

President Truman called the conference in an effort to get labor and management to work out some way of settling their disputes more peacefully and reasonably than in the past.

May Last Weeks

It may last for weeks. Thirty-six representatives of labor and industry—18 from each—are at the conference.

They will run the show, make their own decisions. The government will not try to tell them what to do.

The 18 labor men do not see eye-to-eye on all their problems. Nor do the 18 industry men agree fully.

This shows some of the difficulty in getting agreement among the 36 representatives on far-reaching solutions for their headaches.

Yet this conference is being held at a time when the country is trying to shift over soundly to peacetime living.

There is deep need now for high employment and full production to get the country launched on prosperous years.

Future Of Country At Stake

Wide labor troubles in the next six months—with plant shutdowns, strikes and unemployment—might change the future of this country and the rest of the world which is banking on American production and prosperity.

Strikes have piled up in the past few months. Not a single major dispute over wages has been settled. And two huge potential strikes—in the auto and steel industries—hang fire as the conference opens.

If the conference falls and there is real domestic labor strike Congress may step in through impatience or under pressure of public opinion.

Neither labor nor industry is anxious for congressional action.

The conference will talk about —may be suggest—machinery for settling disputes between workers and employes. But the kind of machinery is one of the big conference questions.

Giant Celebration Slated In Russia

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMS
Scripps-Howard Foreign Editor

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—Tomorrow is the 28th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution, birthday of the Soviet union, today one of the two most powerful nations on earth.

The day will be celebrated in grandoise style in Moscow's Red square. Top Soviet officials, probably including Generalissimo Stalin, will review a parade from Lenin's tomb. All of which is as natural as our celebrating July 4th.

Soviet Season In U. S.

During November in the United States there will be observed a sort of Soviet season, with Soviet exhibitions, seminars, lectures, plays and mass meetings of an "educational" nature.

Which true friends of the Russian people in this country regard as all to the good—as far as it goes. It is a truism that without the cooperation of Russia and the United States, the United Nations organization will be ineffectual. All hope for a lasting peace will be a delusion.

But it is also axiomatic that understanding is a two-way street. It is not sufficient that Americans should understand the Russians. The Russians must also understand the Americans. And that is something which seems to have escaped the Kremlin.

Open To Russians

Over here, we have pro-Soviet demonstrations, in season and out. We put on pro-Soviet plays, publish pro-Soviet books, print pro-Soviet newspapers and magazines. Our pulpits and platforms welcome pro-Soviet propagandists. Our schools and colleges; our labor unions and civic societies; our city, county, state and federal governments; our publications and our radio studios, all are open to Communists, both Russian and native.

Soviet newspaper correspondents can enter the United States freely. They can board any bus, train or plane at will. No passports or special visas are required to visit or reside in any American locality. No official cicerones are required when they talk with people, high or low, official or non-official. And they can write what they please, on any subject they please, and cable it back to Russia without censorship.

Americans Are Taboo

In contrast one will look in vain for anything resembling a pro-American season in the Soviet union. No group of Soviet citizens could hold mass meetings in Moscow and sing the praises of American ideology. No Russian could publish a capilist daily, criticize the Soviet system and laud the land of free enterprise. Not and get away with it. He would be purged before he could say Jack Robinson.

American correspondents in Russia for the most part live cooped up in Moscow. The range of what they can write is pitifully narraw, and even that is subject to the strictest censorship.

Last week the Anglo-American press corps in Moscow petitioned Foreign Commissar Molotov for more freedom. Soviet control, they pointed out, is so tight that their labors are wellnigh futile. They requested, therefore, that they be given news communication facilities such as Soviet correspondents are provided with in Britain and America. Mr. Molotov's reply was short and snappy. The petition, he said in effect, was not worth answering.

All the mass meetings and goodwill efforts in the world will not bring Soviet - American understanding if the gestures are confined to one side. The United States is holding out a hand. Russia must hold out hers. Opening up a two-way news channel between the two countries would be a start in the right direction but only a start. Yet today even that preliminary seems as far off as ever.

And this, American friends of the Russians are saying, is more than a pity: It is a great tragedy.

Japs Are Arrested For Burning Fliers

SHANGHAI, Nov. 4 (Delayed) (AP) — The Army disclosed today that nine Japanese soldiers and a civilian had been arrested and charged with cremating three American fliers after parading them through the streets of Hankow last Dec. 16 and beating them into insensibility.

Maj. Willis A. West, Portland, Ore., who made the announcement, said there was some doubt whether the Americans were dead when cremated.

The atrocity first was reported two weeks ago, but the victims' names never have been announced. They were on a Superfortress that crashed near Hankow, central Chinese city.

British People Given Warning

LONDON, Nov. 6. (AP)—Home Secretary James Chuter Eden today warned the British people against believing that they never again would be subject to air attack, and urged that the nation's wartime civil defense organization be kept up to date to meet any future needs.

He asked the House of Commons t support a bill which would suspend, rather than repeal, Britain's civil defense acts of 1937 and 1939. The home secretary declared it was necessary to study the need for modifications to meet requirements "should the country be again attacked by air.

Warning Is Heeded

Heeding his warning, the lawmakers passed the measure on second reading without a dissenting voice.

Eden spoke a short time after Laborite Tom Stokes demanded that "representations" be made to Russia against a reported plan to expel 4,500,000 Germans from the Russian occupation zone of Germany into the British zone. Hector McNeil, parliamentary secretary of state for foreign affairs, said the government had no knowledge of the reported plan, but that it had "called for an immediate report."

Earlier a British business leader declared that Germany now has "three times more machinery than she had in 1929 . . . and it would not take her very long to get ready for any new adventure she may care to embark upon."
