City Hires Sewage Propect Engineer

John D. Barton of the firm of Briggs and Barton, consulting engineers of Altus, has been hired by the City Council as an engineer on the project to improve the sewage disposal system.

Mayor John Coleman said Mr. Barton met with the council in a called session Monday night, May 22.

He will determine how much additional land is needed to make the system work efficiently; plan the oxidation pond, sometimes called a stabilization pond or lagoon; and determine whatever else will be necessary to make the system work efficiently.

Mayor Coleman said that Dr. Dale Watkins of San Antonio and Dr. Tom Hunter of San Angelo, owners of land adjacent to the sewage disposal system, have agreed to work with the city.

The engineer's fee will depend on the cost of the project, Mayor Coleman said.

The work done to improve the system will meet state specifications and bring approval by the State Health Department.

This will put the city in a position to receive a grant from the federal and state governments in the amount of 30 percent of the total cost.

The application for this was made immediately after Mr. Coleman took office in order to get it in before the deadline on the current year's program.

Methodist Women Aid School in Viet Nam

CU CHI, Vietnam.—The Vietnamese school, Xom Hue, received much needed school supplies this week from the Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church in Wellington, Texas.

Several months ago Mrs. Esta Glenn, in a letter to her nephew, Captain Alton Darryl Morris, expressed the desires of her church group to help Vietnamese school children. Capt. Morris, as the 25th Infantry Division Artillerys' civic affairs officer, suggested the great need for school supplies.

Capt. Morris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Morris.

Nothing further was mentioned on the subject until a large package arrived in the mail this week addressed to Capt. Morris . . . it was full of looseleaf notebooks and paper, pen and pencil sets, coloring books, crayons, chalk and instructions to distribute them where most needed.

With the aid of his Vietnamese interpreter, Staff Sergeant Duong Ba Nguyen, Capt. Morris surveyed all the schools in the Cu Chi area and found the Xom Hue school the most needy.

W. H. Vaughan Dies Friday of Lengthy Illness

W. H. Vaughan, a community, church and farm leader for much of the 61 years he lived in Collingsworth County, died in St. Joseph's Hospital Friday, May 19, after a lengthy illness. He had observed his 89th birthday on April 12.

Mr. Vaughan lived southeast of Wellington until he moved to town in 1960. He had retired from active farming in 1943.

Henry Vaughan was born at Cave City, Ark., and lived in Rockwall County before coming here in 1906.

A member of the Methodist Church since early in life, he was an honorary member of the official board of the First Methodist Church. When the ground breaking ceremonies were held for the new educational unit, Mr. Vaughan turned a spade of dirt as the oldest member present.

On Sept. 21, 1902, he was married to Miss Eugenia Brewer at Rockwall. She died June 29, 1952.

Youth Gets Ready for Two-Day 4-H Rodeo

Collingsworth County's first annual 4-H Club Junior Rodeo is slated for Friday and Saturday, June 2 and 3, at the VFW Rodeo Arena in Wellington.

Both performances begin at 7 p.m.

Many of the traditional rodeo contests will be featured, County Agent Sammy Helmers reported.

Preceding the performances there will be a parade in downtown Wellington Friday at 4 p.m.

The age limit for participating in the Rodeo is 18 years, and the number of entries will determine the number of go-rounds in each event.

Handsome awards will go to the winners. The all-around cowboy and cowgirl each will receive a horse cooling blanket. Belt buckles will be presented the first place winners and ribbons will go to winners through sixth place.

These awards conform with the requirements of the Texas Interscholastic League.

There are 11 events, with two, three or four age divisions in part of them.

This is an open rodeo, and boys and girls from throughout the Panhandle, Western Oklahoma and possibly other places will compete. Books will be open from Wednesday, May 31 to noon Friday, June 2.

The rodeo events listed by Helmers include:

Tie-down calf roping, 15 to 18 years; barrel racing, boys and girls, 8 years and under, 9 to 11 years, 12 to 14 years, and 15 to 18 years; also

Bareback bronc riding, 15 to 18 years;

Bronc riding and the poles, 15 to 18 years, do not count toward the selection of the best all around cowboy, Helmers said.

Governor Signs Bill for Hospital District

Governor John Connally on Monday, May 22, signed into law a bill which will authorize creation of the Collingsworth County Hospital District.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. J. M. (Red) Simpson, will allow taxpayers in the county-wide district to vote whether they want the district created and taxes levied for its operation.

The enabling legislation was requested by the Commissioners' Court.

County Judge Zook Thomas pointed out that there are no plans to call an election on the creation of a district. Such action will be taken only if it is absolutely necessary, he indicated.

"We hope St. Joseph's Hospial goes on like it is. The sisters are rendering fine service, and we have one of the best hospitals in this part of the state," Judge Thomas declared. "We hope it never becomes necessary for us to have to create a hospital district, and that the Sisters can continue with the fine service they are now rendering."

Wellington Memorial Day Services Planned

Memorial Day services will be conducted Tuesday, May 30 at 10 a.m. in the West Wellington Cemetery under the joint sponsorship of the Glynn Moore Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Frank King Post of the American Legion.

The public is invited to attend.

The Rev. Elvis Pitts, pastor of the Quail Baptist Church, will be the speaker. Riley Dunson, past commander of the American Legion, and V. K. Orr, Jr., commander of the VFW, will preside.

Graves of all veterans of all wars in each of the cemeteries of the county will be decorated with United States Flags during the day.

Members of both the Legion and VFW are asked to meet at the VFW Hall at 7 a.m. and go from there to the various cemeteries.

Jim Lowe will be in charge of decorating the graves at Quail; Wood R. Coleman at Dozier; Charles Bradley at Plymouth; and A. J. Fires at Needwood.

Mayor John Coleman has issued a proclamation asking observance of the day and the sacrifices and heroism of men who have fought for freedom.

The proclamation does not ask business houses to close and almost all will remain open. Courthouse offices will be closed, Judge Zook Thomas said.

President Johnson has designated Memorial Day as a day of prayer for permanent peace. In designating the day, he acted in accordance with a congressional resolution adopted in 1950. He set the hour beginning in each locality at 11 a.m. as a time to unite in prayer.

Work Starts on Summer Baseball Program for City

The sports spotlight in Wellington turns to its summer youth baseball program, due to get under way in early June.

A full program will be set up, beginning with the six-year-olds in a Peewee type play, including the Youth Baseball teams and in the top bracket, Pony League teams for boys in their late teens.

Jack Neeley and Billy Moseley are co-chairmen of the program.

Organization of the boys into teams will take place Friday night, June 2 at a wiener roast and meeting to be held at Ellison Park from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Coaches, boys and parents, both the fathers and mothers, and all others who are interested in Youth Baseball are urged to attend, declared Moseley.

"That night we will see who we have to work with and the teams will be divided.

"We expect around 100 boys in the program, and so far about 75 have already signed up," he continued.

There is considerable enthusiasm, more than is usually generated so early in the summer baseball program, Moseley said.

The teams will play by Little League rules, but it will not be an official Little League organization, it was explained.

Any boy in the county who wants to play in the summer Wellington Youth Baseball program is eligible. The playing schedule has not been worked out, but plans now are for one major game each week, and there will be more out-of-town games than in the past.

Need for More Cotton in 1968 Is Possible

One of the prime topics of discussion in cotton circles today, from producers through the textile industry, is the possible need for increased cotton production in 1968.

The subject is slated for its formal treatment by producers on May 24th when American Cotton Producers Associates meet in Washington, D. C. ACPA is made up of representatives from virtually all of the national's regional and state cotton producers associations. The Rolling Plains Cotton Growers will be represented at the meeting by its president, J. B. Cooper, Jr. of Roscoe, and its Executive Vice President, Charles W. Stenholm of Stamford.

Producers naturally favor acreage and production increases, said Cooper, if they can be had without disrupting the anticipated benefits from declining surplus stocks. So their greatest concern is that the method or methods used to achieve an increase be one which will not adversely affect income, if and when such an increase is found desirable.

Under the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965, there are various routes USDA could take. It is generally accepted that an administrative revision of the rules to permit skip-row planting without penalty would bring about a larger crop as well as an improvement of overall quality, and some observers feel such a change is definitely coming.

Reducing the current 12.5 percent of allotments which producers are required to divert in order to participate in the program might also lead to greater planted acreage. But there would be no guarantee of increased plantings unless this move were coupled with a reduction in the payment for diverted acreage to make then economically attractive.

Another method which has been mentioned would be reducing the payment rate on only that acreage, between the minimum 12.5 per cent and the maximum 35 per cent, which producers may voluntarily divert. This would be a substantial blow to producer income and many believe would create serious administrative problems, especially here in the Rolling Plains.

Use WTU's budget plan for paying electric service bills. Here's how it works: WTU figures the amount of electricity your family would normally use in a year—then divides this figure by 12. You pay a budgeted even-dollar amount each month. Your service charge is reviewed monthly, and adjustment made either upward or downward if necessary to avoid any big lump payment. Like the idea? Then ask WTU for details... Reddy Kilowatt's people will be happy to plan Equal Payments for you.

Notes from Your Home Demonstration Agent

By Loleta Kees

Choose a Knife for Its Uses

Research studies show that the average homemaker uses a knife about 32 times a day.

Unless she is unusual, she is likely to use the same 3-inch paring knife to hack up a steak, slice jaggedly through a grapefruit, or peel a peach.

Choose a knife designed to do a particular job. It will cut down on work and improve the food product.

A homemaker doesn't need every type of knife that cutlery manufacturers put on the market. A basic selection of kitchen knives that will expedite the various jobs may vary from family to family.

Here are descriptions of eight basic knife types, along with information about some of the jobs they are designed to do:

1. Paring knife with a 3- or 3½-inch blade; has many uses, including peeling, paring and scraping small fruits and vegetables.

2. French chef's knife with an 8-inch blade; for dicing, chopping and mincing raw vegetables, fruits and nuts, and for carving hot roasts.

3. Carving knife, 7 -to 9-inch blade; for heavier work, such as carving beef, veal, pork roasts and other hot meats.

4. Boning knife, 5- to 6-inch blade; for cutting around bones of hams, roasts, leg of lamb and other cuts.

5. Utility knife or trimmer, 5- to 7-inch blade; for slightly heavier jobs—slicing carrots, potatoes, onions, oranges, and green peppers.

6. Narrow slicer, 8-inch blade—for slicing steak, poultry, cold processed meats, sausage and some cheese.

7. Ham slicer, 9½- or 10-inch flexible blade—for getting wafer-thin slices of ham, boneless roast, turkey breasts, cold meats and the like.

8. Butcher knife, 7-inch blade—for dismembering poultry, other heavy duty jobs.

Aerosol Advice

Aerosol products are relatively safe to use if you observe a few basic rules. Here are some of the safety practices recommended:

A. Use in a well-ventilated area if there's any danger of toxic effects.

B. Don't spray warm equipment if the container warns against contact with heat.

C. Always protect your eyes and skin from the liquid contents of the container.

D. Keep containers away from direct sunlight, radiators, heaters, or other sources of heat.

E. Never puncture aerosol cans. They're pressurized and the impact could seriously injure you.

F. Be sure to empty the container thoroughly before you discard it. Don't leave it where children can get it.

G. Carefully read all the directions on every container for safe use, storage and disposal.

Sheet Sizes Change

Treating bed linens and covers with a durable press finish has resulted in several benefits besides its basic no-iron properties. Because it reduces shrinkage when laundering cotton and blended-fiber bed sheets, standard sizes are being reduced from 108 to 104 inches, and from 120 to 115 inches in queen size.

Another change is marking sheets in terms of mattress sizes instead of torn size. The new markings are expected to aid homemakers to buy durable press flat and fitted sheets more nearly scaled to the beds they cover.

Home Economics Briefs

• Washability is an important quality in a bedspread. The cotton tufted spread has an added attraction. It looks better after it's twisted. Laundering locks the tufts in place and makes them bloom. This gives better coverage and a fluffier appearance to the entire spread.

• If you want juicy grapefruit, select those which are heavy for their size, well shaped and relatively smooth with a thick skin.

• Hosiery has joined the general expansion in clothing styles. The comeback of the suit, the belt, and the print explosion, while giving the woman a busier appearance, will in no way detract from the importance of the leg as an integral part of the total look in today's fashions.

• Many tanners are producing an improved leather for shoe uppers, insoles, garments and gloves made by a USDA-developed process that makes leather resist deterioration by perspiration and chemicals. This leather resists repeated washings without becoming harsh or stiff and is ideal for golf gloves.

• Here's helpful hint borrowed from baby. If your hands become tarry or sticky, try using baby oil on stubborn spots. The oil removes most spots without irritating your skin.

• If it fits—and it does—wear either glove on either hand. A design of a manufacturer has whipped up a contemporary glove in nylon-matte jersey and each glove fits both hands. The gloves are priced "per glove", making it possible to buy a single.

• The use of sheets for window treatment, table skirts and flounces has a number of advantages. They come in an assortment of colors and patterns and they are durable and inexpensive. Also, they save you work, since at least half your hemming is already done.

• If your salad bowls are dry and rough from continuous washing, rub a little salad oil into the grain of the wood until the bowls regain their flossy finish.

Mr., Mrs. Marvin Teutsch Honored With Reception on 60th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin H. Teutsch of Dodson were honored with a reception on Sunday, May 7, to celebrate their sixtieth wedding anniversary—an event seldom observed in any community.

Their anniversary fell on May 5, and the reception was a surprise to the couple. It was planned after it was learned that their youngest son, Thomas Teutsch of Washington, D.C., would be here.

The hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Teutsch, their son and daughter-in-law.

Guests were served from a reception table laid with a white linen cloth. The wedding cake was the centerpiece, and at each side were lighted candles. A punch service at one end of the table was presided over by Miss Patricia Wilson of Wellington. At the opposite end was the silver coffee service, with Mrs. Jess Bogle pouring. Mrs. Howard Hunt served the cake.

Much symbolism was carried out in the wedding cake, made by Mrs. Floyd Teutsch. It had four layers, one for each of the honored couple's children, and at the top were a bride and groom. It was decorated with nine yellow open roses, representing the nine grandsons, and six yellow rosebuds for the granddaughters. The one white dove near the top reminded guests of their only great granddaughter.

Nancy Teutsch, a granddaughter, registered the guests. More than 100 friends called, coming from Hollis, Wellington, Lubbock, Lorenzo, Dumas, Amarillo, points in New Mexico and Dodson.

Both Mr. Teutsch, now 81 years of age, and Mrs. Teutsch, 79, were born and reared in Nacogdoches County. They were also married there.

They moved to Dodson in 1926, with their four young children. He was a carpenter and did some farming. In 1943 they moved to Texas City with their youngest son, Thomas. There Mr. Teutsch was employed in constduction work until he retired. They returned to Dodson in 1961.

Their four children are Mrs. Jim Smith of Texas City, Tucker Teutsch of Dumas, Floyd F. Teutsch of Dodson, and Thomas Teutsch of Washington, D. C. The first two could not be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Teutsch have eight grandsons, a step-grandson, six granddaughters, and one great granddaughter.

Belles Lettres Closes Year

A salad supper and book review closed the year's activities for the Belles Lettres Club Tuesday, May 23. Mrs. Coy Vaughan was hostess in her home.

Mrs. Earl Bartlett opened program for "Women of the World" by reading the poem, "St. Peter at the Gate."

She then reviewed the recently issued book, "What Happened to Amelia Earhart" by Fred Goerner.

The book is the result of six years investigation begun in 1960 by the author, a Californian. His investigation was triggered by a story from a woman who lived on the Island of Saipan, under Japanese control in 1937, the year Miss Earhart and her navigator, Fred Noonan, disappeared while on a flight over the Pacific.

Mr. Goerner takes the position that the two were spies for the United States, that their plane went down near Saipan, and that they were captured by the Japanese. The author has given a report of his findings to government officials.

Graduation Dress, Made in 1919, Serves at 1967 Commencement

When Mrs. W. W. Sugg made her daughter, Mary, her graduation dress in the spring of 1919, she didn't dream that her great granddaughter, Carolyn Kromer, would wear it 48 years later, for her own graduation from Hollis High School.

Mrs. Sugg, now 91, will be watching proudly as Carolyn receives her diploma.

The dress has been worn on other occasions memorable to the family.

After her graduation, Mary Sugg put the dress away until she wore it for her wedding to Guy E. Clay in 1924.

Then in 1938, her daughter, Neva, wore it for her graduation from Wellington Junior High School, and in 1942 for her graduation from Wellington High School, at the age of 15. She wore it the third time for her marriage to J. W. Kromer of Vinson, where they have reared their own family.

The dress, which Mrs. Sugg made so painstakingly is of snow-white shadow stripe permanent finish organdy. Yards and yards of imported lace was gathered into ruffles to enhance the dress, and tiny pearl buttons extended down theback to the waist and the cumberbund—then called simply a sash.

The dress has never been altered. Each time it was worn, it seemed always to fit the young wearer, and the style is ageless.

Carolyn is blond and tall and willowy, as well as charming and talented. Her scholastic and other activities have centered in the Western Oklahoma area, for although the family often conducts business and attends church in Wellington, they are across the Oklahoma state line.

She was a top guard in conference basketball two years, at Vinson she was named All Around Girl, was a Rodeo Queen candidate and during the nine years she was a 4-H Club member she held a number of offices.

She played basketball, volleyball and engages in barrel racing at rodeos. Her hobbies are cooking, sewing, and watching her family's horses race.

She has exhibited grand champion and reserve champions in Harmon County livestock shows.

With this, she is a top scholar and has been a member of the Honor Society three years, Key Club Sweetheart, and Carnival Queen candidate.

She has received the Regent's Scholarship from Oklahoma State University, where she plans to major in Home Economics.

Mrs. Howard Frost of Wichita Falls was here Friday night to attend the graduation of her nephew, Henry Wells.

Dr. and Mrs. Ansel McDowell, Marian, Linda, Ansel III and Stewart of Perryton were here Friday to attend the graduation of her brother, Henry Wells.

Dodson American Legion Auxiliary Will Observe Poppy Day May 27

Poppy Day, to be observed in Dodson on May 27 will find members of the American Legion Auxiliary Unit at Dodson taking part in the annual program to pay tribute to America's war dead, according to Mrs. Floyd Teutsch, chairman of the Poppy Day activities.

They are a part of some 150,000 Auxiliary women from throughout the country participating in Poppy Day programs.

"Poppy Day has but one fundamental purpose — to honor those who gave their lives in defense of America," said Mrs. Teutsch. "The small red flower was adopted as a symbol of sacrifice shortly after World War I and the observance has grown into one of our most treasured traditions," the chairman pointed out.

"Wearing a poppy on this special day marks any American as one who has never forgotten the tremendous price paid for the liberty and freedom we all enjoy. Our people have always provided generous support for the Poppy Day program conducted by the Auxiliary and this year the observance gives an opportunity for new-found appreciations for the great sacrifices and accomplishments of our fighting men in Viet Nam," she added.

Some 20 million of the small red flowers are hand crafted each year by thousands of disabled veterans throughout the nation.

Seniors Receive Honors, Diplomas

Short talks by the valedictorian and co-salutatorians, music, and presentation of awards, scholarships and diplomas made up the commencement program for 57 Wellington High School graduates Friday evening, May 19.

After the invocation by Doyle Stewart, the two salutatorians spoke, with Mike Smith welcoming the friends of the graduates. Henry Wells then expressed the appreciation of the class to the faculty, parents and friends of those who were graduating.

Later Jimmy Campbell, the valedictorian, voiced for the seniors their farewell to Wellington High School and, for some, to Wellington.

A piano duet was played by Mildred Lewis and Regina Ferguson.

Louis Graham presented the school awards. Seniors who were neither absent nor tardy during the year were Becky Brewer, Sharon Daves, Dan Hatch, Henry Wells, Gary Killian, Joe Wood, Jimmy Campbell and Randy West.

Applause came with the announcement that one other senior, Sidney McGill, had a perfect attendance record during his four years of high school.

Norwood Seniors Hear State Official Tuesday

Fourteen young Samnorwood graduates were reminded by their commencement speaker that this is the time for clear-sighted realism, for great internal strength, and an understanding of the sources of that strength.

He was the Hon. Robert S. Calvert, Comptroller of the State of Texas, who addressed the group Tuesday evening, May 23.

His talk highlighted a program that also included addresses by two honor graduates and the presentation of awards and diplomas.

The Hon. Mr. Calvert said the explanation of this nation's strength, which has become so great in only 200 years, lies with the character of the people. It is most important to live a life of inner integrity and fear of God, he continued.

Accompanying the state official to Samnorwood was a former resident of the community, Dewey Young, a member of the legal staff in the comptroller's office, whose home is in Dallas.

In the salutatory address, Jay Wischkaemper welcomed those who attended the commencement. The valedictory speaker, Joe Lackey, reminded the class was saying goodbye to the school and thanked the teachers and people of the community.

Awards that the school presents were announced by Loyd Stephens, high school principal.

Students with perfect attendance for the 1966-67 school year were freshmen: Janet Christner, Kim Janes, Rita Lackey, Gene Patton and Laura Whitson; sophomores: Doug Darrow, Regina Glazner, Sandy Hankins, Gary Oldham, Max Paschall, Karen Waters and Ken Wischkaemper; juniors: Stanley Oldham and Ron Warmack; and seniors: Acie Boyd, Charlotte Conner, Sherry Kindrick, Joe Lackey, Judy Martindale and J. D. Ward.

There was one other name on the list, Danny Tate, who is finishing his last year in high school with 11 years perfect attendance during his 12 school years.

Academic recognition came next. Students who have a yearly average of B or above in every subject were Janet Christner, Ruthie Dwight, Charlotte Kincannon, Laura Whitson, Betty Brock, Gary Oldham, Ken Wischkaemper, Leatrice Adams, Suzy Bentley and Jay Wischkaemper.

Those students with a yearly average of A in every subject were Betty Coleman, Karen Waters and Joe Lackey.

Awards in dramatics went to Billie Purkey, junior, and Charlotte Conner, senior; athletics, Judy Martindale and Acie Boyd; salutatorian's award, Jay Wischkaemper; valedictorian's award, Joe Lackey.

Nelson Dwyer received two awards, the Outstanding Citizen of the Year in Samnorwood High School, and the American Legion Citizenship award.

Supt. Robert Dwight then presented, on behalf of the school, a watch to Mrs. Charley Hill, who is retiring from the faculty this year.

Diplomas were awarded by Jim Ray, president of the school board, and Mr. Dwight to Leatrice Adams, Suzy Bentley, Acie Boyd, Paul Clark, Brenda Coleman, Charlotte Conner, Calvin Kincannon, Sherry Kindrick, Brenda Pond Knoll, Joe Ray Lackey, Judy Martindale, Danny Tate, J. D. Ward and Jay Wischkaemper.

Texas Has More Home Gardens

Interest in home gardens in Texas is on the increase. Dr. John Larsen, Extension horticulturist, cites several reasons: namely, better taste and quality of vegetables produced at home but labor shortages in vegetable fields and the trend to mechanized harvesting are big factors, he adds. Machines work best on vegetables which are to be canned or frozen. Home gardens are coming back as a source of garden fresh vegetables.

Memorial Day Will Remind of Those Who Served This Nation

With the United States again engaged in a costly war, we will pause Tuesday, May 30, to pay tribute to men who have died in all wars.

Here, we will honor men who served from the Civil War through World War II. We have been fortunate in the Viet Nam conflict.

Memorial Day observances will be 100 years old next year, the first having been ordered by General John A. Logan of the Grand Army of the Republic in May 1868. Its purpose was to strew flowers and otherwise decorate the graves of comrades who died in defense of their country.

For many years after the Civil War, the GAR in the North and the Confederate Veterans in the South were in charge of Memorial Day observances in their communities. The older of our citizens can still remember these grand old men who felt so deeply for their cause.

When these organizations became unable to carry on actively, the American Legion pledged to help perpetuate the annual observance of Memorial Day. The Veterans of Foreign Wars has joined in.

This year, as in past years, these organizations will see that a flag is placed on the grave of each man who served this nation in war. The rest of us can honor them in our hearts.

OTHER EDITORS SAY . . .

'Trouble' by Any Other Name Would

What's in a name?

A lot, apparently.

At least there seems to be a growing conviction that one way to meet a problem is to call it something else.

Escalation, for example. A bad word. So you never, never escalate a war. You merely throw in more men, more guns, more planes, endure more casualities — and have "action over and above" what you have had.

And a depression. You just never have one or even talk of one. You merely have "adjustments" in the economy. Or "business fluctuation," or slight slumps or slumpettes. Or even a minirecession. But never a depression. (Of course, if you lose your job during a nondepression, it's sometimes hard to tell the difference between a non and the real thing. But someone believes the voters can.)

And "temporary." It's a problem-shifter too. It's mod for the good old pain-soother, "This'll only hurt a minute."

So we have "temporary" boosts in the national debt ceiling. And "temporary" taxes. You should live so long as these.

But, so far, no one has come up with a nickname for trouble. Or a way to stay out of it, whether it's called. He's the genius we're looking for!

State Capital NEWS

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN.—Final minutes are ticking away in the biennial legislative game of "beat the clock."

Obviously, the wind-up of the 60th session will be a cliff-hanger.

As lawmakers move toward the May 29 finish line, the major jobs they came to Austin to accomplish remain unfinished.

—THE BUDGET. It went to conference committee, following an unsuccessful attempt by Gov. John Connally and Speaker Ben Barnes to sell the Senate on accepting the House appropriations bill without the traditional conference to adjust differences. House Bill calls for $448,300,000 in general revenue; Senate Bill, $437,700,000.

—REDISTRICTING. A Senate Congressional Redistricting Bill would save all incumbent congressmen the agony of having to run against a colleague. But the House Judicial Districts Committee has drawn different lines. So this issue must go to conference committee for the 11th hour compromise. State House of Representatives districts also must be redrawn. But the Senate has little interest in that. Judicial redistricting appears to be impossibly snarled once more.

—SCHOOL TEACHER PAY. Both houses agree that there must be a raise. Major problem is to determine the amount.

Although revenue in sight from the Comptroller's last official estimate won't cover the budgets drawn by either house, plus a teacher pay raise of the magnitude sought, legislative leaders still insist adjustments will make the money possible without a tax bill.

Speculation is widespread that the lawmakers can't finish the job on schedule but top leaders are hopeful they can avoid a special session by covering the clock for a few days.

DRIVERS LICENSING CHANGE DUE

Major change in Texas drivers license laws have been approved by both houses.

Bill increases minimum age for license from 15 to 16 for those who complete approved driver training courses and to 15 for those without such training. Hardship licenses are permitted for 15-year-olds when there is a licensed adult driver in the front seat. Motor scooter and motorcycle operators must be at least 15, and for commercial licenses, 17.

Present licenses will be replaced by a plastic card with a color photograph of the driver. New ones will be good for four instead of two years and will cost $6 instead of $3. Drivers may be required to take a new competency examination when they apply for a new license. However, re-examination is not compulsory, as proposed in the original bill.

License suspension period for violations was increased from six to 12 months for the first offense and from 12 to 18 months for repeat offenses, subject to the court's discretion. Driving while license is suspended will be punishable by fines up to $500 and a maximum of six months in jail.

HORSE RACING

Voters will be given an opportunity to express their opinion on whether Texas should legalize horse-race betting, if the House agrees with the Senate to put the question on the ballot in the Democratic and Republican primaries next May.

Senate passed the bill by Sen. V. E. Berry of San Antonio, long an advocate of horse-race betting, and sent it to the House for concurrence. Actually the bill, as passed by the Senate, would not require the parties to put the question on the ballot but would permit and encourage them to.

AIR BASE PURCHASED APPROVED

Both houses have agreed that James Connally Air Force Base at Waco should be purchased by the state for $5,200,000. The 2,100-acre base with 1,141 buildings now is under lease for a state vocational and technical training institute.

Money for its purchase is expected to be written into the final version of the 1968 appropriations bill.

ELECTION CODE CLEANED UP

Although the Legislature approved general terms of a major election code overhaul, the two houses differed over provision to permit counties to employ low-cost electronic vote recording-counting devices.

Senate struck the electronic machine section from the original bill, but the House put it back in and return amended measure to the Senate.

Major features of the redrawn code will standardize the ballot form; change city election dates to the first Saturday in April; raise maximum pay for election judges and clerks to $1.25 an hour; permit new state residents to vote in presidential elections before they have resided in Texas a year; allow consolidation of election precincts for minor elections; and substitute senatorial district conventions for county conventions in counties having multiple districts extending beyond their own boundaries.

PROPERTY TAX VOTE SET

State of Texas will wipe out 37 cents of the 47 cents per $100 property tax by 1977 if Texas voters give their approval at a constitutional amendment election in November, 1968.

Proposed amendment received the necessary two-thirds ote in both houses for submission. This even though opponents warned that the $48,000,000 in lost revenue will have to be made up from other tax sources — and that local governmental units will snap up the additional leeway on property taxes.

State levy on property would begin declining in 1969. Remaining 10 cents of the present tax would be retained for college building purposes.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

It says in the papers that a new drug called Haloperedol has been invented which will stop the taker thereof from using smutty words.

But my with-in neighbor says it's sad that this discovery did not get made back when society was still trying to clean up its language instead of adapting itself to the vulgar words in same.

Says now the inventor of this anti-filth drug had betted throw it away and burn the recipe, before our mod Supreme Court orders him busted out of the Great Society for trying to put a damper on Free Speech.

It was sort of revealed in the news the other day that some people suspected of heckling the Patriotism March in New York City got more or less tarred and feathered.

Some folks claimed the victims of this messy event were not really peace demonstrator type Vietniks but just happened to be accoutered like same.

My anti-beat neighbor says the image he also gets from the papers and TV is that the protest-prone scrub citizens mostly wear long hair, beards and slovenly attire, and anybody not wishing to identify with this slobhood hadn't ought to wear the badge.

Our State Department sent a real stern apology for being in the way of Russian destroyers which bumped one of ours a couple of times in the Sea of Japan the other day.

My psychedizzy neighbor says the Reds must be mighty frustrated, trying to find some way to convince us that they don't love us.

And he expects that if the Russians ever lob an A bomb into Washington, our commiewooers clique will insist on sending Moscow a check to pay for their trouble.

It's reported to the hoi polloi that while doing a bit of watchdogging, a Congressman Hall noticed the Federals spending $121,000 to study why people say "ain't".

Rep. Hall seems to think this is a heap of money to be pooped off on useless knowledge, but it's actually less than 30 seconds of Federal intake, and only about one U.S. per capita's income for life.

Seems pointless to worry about "ain't", though, right when considerable literature is busy infiltrating into cultured speech a lot of other four-letter words which ain't as elegant as "ain't".

Winter Kill Causes Damage to Ash Trees in Wellington

By Sammy Helmers
County Agent

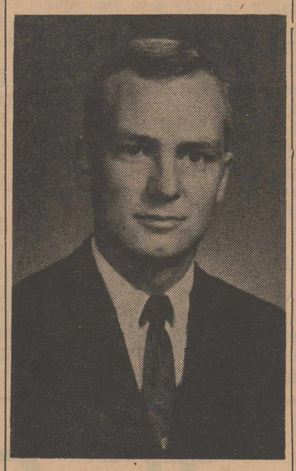

It has been called to my attention by Deskins Wells that a large percent of the white and green ash trees grown in Wellington yards are dying back at the tip end of the branches.

I have made several stops to inspect some of the trees and I have come to the conclusion that most of the damage is caused by winter kill.

The tips of the branches are being killed by frost, causing a rosette appearance. The new growth is "bunchy" because the die-back has forced growth further back down the limb, much like pruning would. This "bunchy" growth finally causes the tree to lose all of its ornamental value.

I saw one ash tree which was 25 feet tall and the longest lateral limb on it was about four feet.

This situation can be prevented by fertilization in the spring and fall and a regular watering schedule during the winter months. If you keep your trees in a healthy condition you won't have trouble fron winter-kill.

Agent Outlines Ant Control

Ants are becoming a nuisance in homes and lawns in many sections of the county. These pests can effectively be controlled through the use of recommended insecticides, advises County Agent Sammy Helmers.

Chlordane and dieldrin are among the most effective insecticides for ant control. They may be applied along window and door sills, foundation cracks, baseboards and other possible runways for ants.

Effective control, in most instances, depends upon locating and destroying nests and thoroughly treating the area. Nests may be found behind walls, in closets, in furniture and other dark undisturbed places, says the county agent. Inside the home, ants can be controlled by applying 2/3 percent chlordane or 0.5 percent dieldrin household sprays. These materials may also be applied with a brush. Repeat application as needed.

Outside the home, apply a band of insecticide dust or spray the foundation wall and treat all nests in the yard for outside control, 10 percent chlordane, 2 percent dieldrin or 5 percent Heptachlar dusts are effective. Granular formulations and sprays or these materials are also available and are convenient to use, says the county agent.

Be sure and follow the directions given on the label of the insecticide container because pets and humans can be affected, cautions Helmers.

Detailed information on controlling household insects is available for the asking at his office, he said.

"Disaster Reelif" Provision of Cotton Program Explained

LUBBOCK.—It now appears that cotton producers in some sections of the Plains this year may be forced by weather conditions to avail themselves of the "disaster relief" provisions of the current cotton program.

Under certain circumstances these provisions permit farmers to plant certain other crops on acreage intended for cotton production.

They apply when a farmer, after an "honest and workmanlike" effort, is unable to get or unable to keep a stand of cotton early enough in the season to allow for the expectation of a crop. Under these conditions the producer may apply to the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Office for permission to plant certain other crops on the acreage intended for cotton.

With ASCS approval soybeans or other crops on which no marketing quotas or voluntary acreage reduction programs are in effect may be planted, harvested and sold on cotton land without loss of cotton price support and diversion payments.

The date after which a producer will not be expected to plant or replant cotton is left to the discretion of each individual ASCS county committee and will vary from one geographical location to another.

It is also the responsibility of the county committee to determine whether an honest and workmanlike effort has been made to plant and grow cotton.

Walter Wells, Lubbock County ASCS office manager, says the important thing for growers to remember is that an application must be made to the county office prior to planting another income crop on cotton land. Otherwise, both price support and diversion payment may be denied.

New Look in Food Types Since 1950

COLLEGE STATION.— The food store of even 10 or 15 years ago would look antiquated beside those of today. The numbers and kinds of food available in retail food stores have changed greatly even in that relatively short length of time, reminds Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist with Texas A&M University.

New items have ranged from TV dinners introduced several years ago, to breakfast cereals packed with dried fruit, and, of course, a host of diet foods.

Some new items simply involve restyling of an old product or bringing it out in a new package.

Many products are developed to meet changing needs of consumers as families become smaller, the age of homemakers changes, residential locations change, and the homemakers work away from home.

Increased knowledge of nutrition and a strong emphasis on health have influenced the foods industries, and disposable incomes have increased so that the average family can spend more for foods.

Changing consumers are probably the more important factor behind new product development, says Mrs. Clyatt. As consumers purchase a new product the second and third time, they are telling the manufacturer they like it. In that way consumers cast votes for products on retail store shelves.

Seniors Visit Six Flags for Class Trip

Members of the graduating class of Wellington high school visited Six Flags Over Texas at Arlington for their class trip Friday and Saturday, May 12 and 13.

Leaving Wellington at 5:30 a.m. Friday, they traveled in two buses. They stopped at a roadside park for lunch, prepared for them by women of the Woman's Society of Christian Service and Wesleyan Service Guild of First Methodist Church.

An hour of swimming at Western Hill Motel in Euliss, where they stayed, preceded their trip to Six Flags.

They returned Saturday, stopping an hour and a half in Wichita Falls for the students to spend as they wished.

Approximately 50 members of the class made the trip, along with their sponsors, Miss Jolene Groves, Mrs. Bernice Welch, Louis Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Denzil Lacy and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Clement.

During the swimming hour the group was visited by a number of former Wellington high school students now living in that area.

TRAVEL MATERIAL

A record of 4,000,000 pieces of travel materials were distributed by the Travel and Information Division of the Texas Highway Department during 1966. Of this total, 2,000,000 were published by the Texas Highway Department and the remainder provided by chambers of commerce and allied groups.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

A loud stillness settled on our block last Sunday. For the first time since 1892 the Baptists were not meeting in the familiar red and white building at the corner of 11th Street and East Avenue. The bustling activity that characterized the block and those adjoining each Sunday failed to appear at the accustomed hour and the quietness hovering over the houses and the lack of movement in the street seemed strange.

No cars started parking at an early hour in the morning and the shouts and laughter of the children gathering for Sunday School no longer filled the morning air. Our block is composed mainly of Baptists and the same is true practically of the block south of us. None of the stately ladies who habitually walk to church were out for their Sunday promenade and the comely lassies in their lovely dresses did not appear. It was as if our entire block had been moved to another part of town.

For seventy-five years a Baptist church has stood in that exact location. It is a place of hallowed memories to thousands, a place of joy and sorrow, the site of weddings, christenings, reunions asd funerals. Now this historic building will come tumbling down in a pile of dust and rubbish and the beautiful old structure which seemed like a living thing will be no more. Its death is the stuff of sadness.

The home gardening season is in full sway says the American Medical Association as it offers a page full of useful information on how to prevent injuries and infections; but the authoritative AMA offers no advice on the hundreds of little irritations that confront the gardener as the season progresses. We will mention the sound advice of the AMA on how to keep your health, which is the true gardener's last worry until he is flat on his back.

Dora Fern Warrick was noting the decline of the goathead pest in the Wellington area due to the goathead destroying insect that was introduced by agricultural scientists into the Panhandle some years ago. I agreed: but I could not refrain from observing that, once a man by his efforts or some beneficent influence had overcome one aggravation, nature seemed to have a way of introducing another.

Last year Mrs. Howard Riggs gave me a fern that will withstand the winter in this climate and multiplies well in semi-shade and full sun if the soil is kept damp. At the same time I planted other ferns bought from northern nurseries. In the midst of the ferns and other evergreen vines and plants appeared one with an appealing leaf structure that grew like a cuckoo bird's fledgling in another bird's nest. I petted the plant and marveled at the beautiful geometric pattern of its leaves. In the fall the lovely invader showed its true colors. I brushed by and my trouser leg was filled with a multitude of notched darts, black as night and as hard as hickory with a feathery fluff on the end which contained the seed to be transported by man and beast.

Dora Fern smiled when she heard the description, but it was not a smile of elation or optimism. It bordered on resignation or determination as if a person had been reminded of bad news. That type of thistle is new here, she said. "Lewis Morris has them by the hundreds on his front lawn." Fair warning Brother Morris, you have trouble at home as well as in the cotton patch.

Sammy Helmers has ruled that the dead limbs on the ash trees is winter kill due to lack of moisture and is not a disease. Zinc sulphate will help if the trees get enough water especially in winter; but lack of zinc is not the cause of the dead limbs. He has an article in another part of the paper.

Add L. W. Hartman to the list of smokers who have been quit for a long time. He says he had to get rid of the habit on account of what it was doing to his heart and arteries. Also add the name of Mrs. Mary Ann Lowe as the first woman to mention the fact that she stopped smoking months ago. Her children were the deciding factor in the case of the energetic Mary Ann.

Any of you other ladies care to step up to the mourner's bench? Smoking is not regarded as a sin; but it ain't pretty either.

ting out LP gas fires, and during a demonstration, a 6,000 gallon transport tank of LP gas and a 500 gallon house tank were lighted and extinguished.

In general this included placing a fog spray to cover firemen who go in to cut off the fuel supply, Owens explained.

Owens said he plans to take other firemen next year.

Men in Service

USS McKEAN.—A task force of U.S. ships has been visiting the "down under" continent of Australia commemorating the battle of the Coral Sea, where 25 years ago U.S. and Australian navies turned back a Japanese invasion armada that planned to occupy Port Moresby and then invade Australia.

Fireman Apprentice Joel W. Johnson, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joel F. Johnson of Wellington took part in the celebration there, as a crewman aboard the Seventh Fleet destroyer USS McKean.

The battle took place in the Coral Sea in May of 1942 as a Japanese fleet pushed hard for control of Australia and the many islands in that southerly area. Despite heavy losses for American and Australian forces, the air-sea attack was stopped and that part of the world remained free and strong.

While in port, his ship held "open house" for the many visiting Australians who came to see the task force of ships now involved in another struggle in Southeast Asia.

medical supplies, transportation of doctors and nurses, or filling similar needs.

Anyone interested in joining the CAP may contact Jerry Nix, Cliff Hartman, David Baumgardner or Cecil Masten, who have membership applications.

Women as well as men are needed in the organization, said Hartman. While men most often serve as pilots, there is a need for observers, and those who handle supplies and operations.

Fifteen members are needed for a squadron.

Anyone 18 years and up is eligible for membership and no physical examination is required.

The school is regularly sponsored by the men of the 7th Battalion, 11th Artillery.

Following the distribution of the supplies, Miss Le Thi Huong, head teacher, wrote to the service guild extending her thanks on behalf of the students.

In a letter to Mrs. Glenn, Capt. Morris said:

"I distributed the school supplies that you sent me to the elementary school students in the small hamlet of Xom Hue (pronounced Zom Way) the first of this month. I picked the school because it is perhaps the smallest school in the poorest hamlet of all of Tan An Hoi village. The hamlet is sort of 'out of the way,' is not too secure, and, consequently, is easily neglected by the local Vietnamese officials. I take as much aid and assistance to Xom Hue as I can, and soon, perhaps, it will be noticed and assisted more by the local government.

"The children were very, very proud of the gifts that you sent. They are very solemn and respectful while receiving a gift, but after they sit down they are just like any excited kids the world over. They smile at each other, jabber excitedly about the gifts, and act as though they can't wait to get into the crayons, coloring books etc.

"It would amaze you to see how very intelligent these small children are, and how much these students and teachers are doing with such meager resources. Evidently the problem is universal, because here also the teachers are severely underpaid and school facilities are totally inadequate.

"You notice in the enclosed letter of thanks that the Vietnamese officials in the schools are doing something they have never done before—they are soliciting help. Heretofore, they have accepted aid graciously but have been too 'proud' to ask for it. Now, however, they realize that the future of free South Vietnam lies in the hands of the young people. To handle this responsibility, they must be well educated. This calls for drastic measures, that is, asking for assistance."

This is a translation of the letter from the head teacher to the Wesleyan Service Guild:

"The Xom Hue school was very honored to receive the school supplies offered to the Vietnamese students from the Wesleyan Service Guild, First Methodist Church, Wellington, Texas.

"After receiving these gifts, we have a reflection that you are very kind to the Vietnamese students. Holding these gifts, our students were very happy and proud ,and we know that the gifts are very useful and valuable to the poor students."
