W. W. Murphy will go into the run-off for sheriff with Fred K. Smith with a margin of 132 votes over W. G. Brailey, according to complete figures on the race made available Tuesday evening by a finish count at box 5. This precinct, the only one remaining to be heard from, gave Mr. Brailey 202 votes to 118 for the present sheriff. The lead built up by Murphy in other boxes, however, was too great and the final count shows him with 1,833 against 1,701 for Brailey.

Fred Smith stretched his total vote to 2,365 on the strength of his 266 votes from box 5, thus landing the place of high man.

As was expected, no relative changes were made in the standings by the results of the high school precinct. All totals were, of course, moved up but none sufficiently to cut any figure in the standings.

The final count on the county races is as follows:

Representative, Place No. 1—Swanson, 3,626; Daniels, 4,401.

Representative, Place 2—VanDeventer, 2,472; Avis, 5,283.

District Attorney—Allred, 5,206; Morrison, 2,972.

County Judge at Law—Wilson, 4,040; McFarland, 2,772; Beene, 1,347.

Constable—Windham, 1,494; Miller, 2,773; Bradford, 1,577.

In the state races, Felix D. Robertson maintained his lead over the rest of the gubernatorial field and finished up with a total of 1,964 votes. Lynch Davidson was second with 1,769 and T. W. Davidson third with 1,696. Mrs. Ferguson polled only 1,579 votes in Wichita county.

United States Senator Morris Sheppard piled up an overwhelming majority in his race for re-election, leading the field with 6,336 votes against 913 for Davis and 1,010 for Maddox.

J. D. Parnell failed to gain a majority but did have a tremendous plurality in his state senate race. The final figures were Parnell 5,097, Marshall 1,554 and Martin 1,208.

FARMER JIM IS VERY CONFIDENT

Says Mrs. Will Cop First and Run-Off By Mile

By The Associated Press.

WACO, Texas, July 29.—In a telephone interview at noon today with Former Governor Ferguson at Temple he expressed the belief that Mrs. Ferguson would win second place in the run-off campaign for governor over Lynch Davidson by a majority of between 10,000 and 15,000. "If she is in the run-off, of which I am confident," said Mr. Ferguson, "I estimate her majority in the August primary will be 118,000."

Mr. Ferguson said that he had received proffers of assistance in the run-off campaign from many sources. Senator Joe Burkett, he said, had offered to assist in anyway possible which he interpreted to mean that the senator was ready to take the stump for Mrs. Ferguson. Hal Collins of Houston, son of Senator V. A. Collins, defeated in the primary, had tendered his services for a speaking campaign.

Stone's Eye On Indian Permits

WASHINGTON, July 29. — The government today developed another phase of its effort to clear up the oil lease situation.

Attorney General Stone issued orders for the filing of a suit to cancel an oil and gas prospecting lease applying to a reservation created by executive order by the Navajo Indian nation in Southern Utah. If the government is successful in this suit, it will take similar action to invalidate more than 20 other such permits, 18 of which were granted by Former Secretary Fall of the interior department and which apply to Indian lands in a dozen different western localities.

The suit ordered filed is against E. M. Harrison, the Midwest Oil company and the Southwest Oil company and is based on an opinion recently submitted by the attorney general to the president in which he held that Mr. Fall's construction of the general leasing act of 1920 was in error when it applied the oil leasing provisions to reservations created by executive order. Mr. Fall's interpretation of the provision was given upon application for a lease by Mr. Harrison, held here to be an official of the Midwest Oil company, and under that construction of the law the other permits also were granted.

Fire Leaves Wichita Falls Family Penniless; Neighbors Take Collection

Fire, swift and all-devouring, invaded the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Aytes, 1310 Fifth street, yesterday and left the family practically destitute, according to neighbors.

Starting from an oil stove left burning in the kitchen, the flames quickly shot through the roof, and by the time fire fighting apparatus arrived the home was practically destroyed, and with it went all the family belongings which had been accumulated by great effort.

In straightened circumstances, the family moved to the little house only recently, and had made a determined effort to get ahead. The father obtained employment on local paving work, while the mother, despite the fact that she has five children aged 3, 7, 11, 13 and 15 to care for, also sought work to add to the family income. All the savings she had accumulated were burned in her purse left in the house when she fled with her children to safety outside.

Neighbors have started a collection to aid the stricken family. They are seeking clothing, bedding, household goods, and money to help make it easier for John Aytes to "come back."

Record News readers who wish to donate to the family, may do so by calling at the home of Rev. W. H. Phillips, pastor of the Church of Nazarene, 1209 Fifth, or telephone 1448, in which case the pastor will call for the supplies.

FRANKS MURDER EVIDENCE IS ALL BEFORE JUDGE

State Closes Its Side of Case and Awaits Court's Action

MAY DEMAND JURY

Introduction of Insanity Evidence Would Lead To Request

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Ills., July 29. — The state's "mountain of evidence," which Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, expects to send Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, kidnapers and slayers of Robert Franks, to the gallows, is complete, the state's attorney announced tonight. He will close his case as soon as court convenes tomorrow he said.

May Demand Jury.

If the defense attempts to introduce the testimony of any alienists as to the mental condition of the two millionaires' sons who have pleaded guilty, Mr. Crowe said he will immediately demand that a jury be called to determine whether the slayers are mentally responsible.

When court adjourned, the state's attorney had announced that he had but one more witness who would take but five minutes. This witness was to have been an assistant state's attorney who was to have testified that Loeb was crying a short time before he confessed. The evidence intended to show that at least one of the youths upon occasions was not the motionless being that each has appeared throughout much of the trial, will not be offered because the state's attorney fears he may thereby give the defense an opening to introduce testimony regarding the mental condition of the murderers.

Cites Court Ruling.

Under a ruling of the supreme court, Mr. Crowe said, if the question of the mental responsibility of a defendant is raised the court must automatically call a jury to determine whether or not the defendant is sane or insane and whether he is responsible for his crime.

Defense attorneys who have announced they intention of the placing of Dr. William A. White, celebrated alienist of Washington, D. C., on the stand as their first witness tomorrow, will encounter immediate opposition, Mr. Crowe said. The state will object to alienists giving any testimony having to do with the mental capacity of the slayers or to any degree of responsibility for the murder, he said. If the question of sanity or mental capacity is raised, the state's attorney said, it would be the duty of the court automatically to set aside the pleas of guilty entered by the college youths still in their teens and call a jury into the box to determine the issue.

OLD "JERSE" IS WORRIED ABOUT KAN. MILK WAR

By The Associated Press.

WICHITA, Kans., July 29.—Hundreds of gallons of milk were sold at two of the city's leading grocery stores today for one cent a quart as a result of a milk war.

The price-slashing began when one of the stores reduced the price of grade "A" milk from 12 to 1 cents and then kept on lowering until "Old Bossy" just about asked out when she heard it moo.

Slight rallies occurred in the late trading, however, on receipt of news that a third store, which entered the war, had dropped out of the nine-cent mark and price rose from one to two cents, where they remained for the rest of the day.

Grim Reaper and Surgeon Battle Over Local Child In New Orleans

TRAGEDY, grim, relentless, stare down the flush of hope from the faces of Paul Taylor and his young wife—far from home in the great southern metropolis—New Orleans. Helpless they were yesterday when the first attempt of a noted surgeon to save the life of their little boy had ended in failure.

The small, four-year-old son does not realize that the icy fingers of death are slowly closing his days on this earth. He only knows that there is something in his young body—a straight, brass pin—which grave men are trying to remove from his left lung. It is a thing which baffled all efforts of physicians in Wichita Falls and which now threatens to repulse some of the finest medical knowledge and skill in the land.

A telegram from the father says another desperate effort will be made Friday, when everything will be at stake.

The long trip from Wichita Falls to New Orleans was made on recommendations of doctors here. They laid the bare truth before the parents, telling them the nearest surgeon who might possibly remove the barb was at New Orleans. Without question, they set to work. The father offered to sell his car for ready cash to finance the journey. And finally they left, Sunday, one week after the probably fatal accident occurred.

The boy is standing the trip and operation bravely. Not suffering so much, but yet draws nearer the time when it may be too late. For medical belief is positive that there is no hope unless the pin is removed.

WILMINGTON, N. C., July 29.—A posse dispatched from here to Phoenix, Brunswick county, tonight upon receipt of reports of a battle between prohibition officers and bootleggers found the bodies of Deputy United States Marshall Lilie and City Prohibition Agent Leon George in their automobiles two miles from the town.

The bodies were riddled with bullets fired at close range, and George's police dog also was found dead in the car. The posse, consisting of fifty police and county officers, went armed with riot guns to meet any exigency.

The weapons of both officers were in their pockets and had not been fired. Word of the tragedy was brought to Phoenix by a negro who said he had heard 25 or 30 shots and had seen the bodies of the officers at a distance.

A search was immediately begun by the posse for the slayers and soon one hundred additional men were sent to Brunswick county to join in the hunt.

Crop Prospects Boom Clarendon Real Estate

Special to The Record News.

Boll weevil and insect damage is reported at a minimum and plants are fruiting rapidly and heavily. Some farmers in the Brice community report a half-bale crop already in evidence and the moist condition of the soil is contributing to keep the cotton blooming steadily. WIDOW SLAYING SHOWS CLUES

Relatives Predict Some Sensations; Two Held

By The Associated Press.

LAPEER, Mich., July 29.—Sensational developments within the next 24 hours in the search for the slayer of Mrs. Blanche Burke, 28-year-old widow, whose nude body was found here Sunday, were suggested as possibilities by relatives of the dead woman early today. The father and two sisters of Mrs. Burke, who have been active in the search for her slayer, refused to say what line of investigation they expected to produce the new developments.

Meanwhile county officers took into custody David L. Tiner, 48 years old, of Flint, and Kenneth Blair, 34, of Port Huron, who were arrested at Imlay City and brought here for questioning.

It was also reported that an employe in the laundry at the Michigan home and training school, a state institution for feeble minded, where Mrs. Burke was a teacher, had at one time quarreled with Mrs. Burke and was quoted as having threatened to "get her."

A coroner's jury last night brought in a verdict that the woman had come to her death "by strangulation at the hands of a person unknown." Physicians testified that the woman had not been assaulted.

BRYAN OPPOSED TO DEFENSE DAY

Charlie Says Smacks of War; Department Surprised

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska "has drawn rather extraordinary inferences from what seems to be a perfectly clear document," the war department declared today in a statement answering the governor's criticism of the "defense day" program for September 12.

Governor Bryan's statement that he does not favor any plan contemplating mobilization of the civici and industrial resources of the country or anything else that savors of a national holiday devoted to preparation for war drew the reply that such "inferences are a source of surprise to the war department."

The statement asserted that the commanding officer of the seventh corps area on May 31 reported that Governor Bryan had expressed his desire "to co-operate with the department to the fullest extent."

WOMEN'S WEAR IS AGAIN SUBJECT FOR PHILOSOPHERS

By the Associated Press.

LEMBERG, Poland, July 29.—Thirty Galician rabbis have issued a joint ban against the appearances of Jewish girls and women in sleeveless and low cut dresses. The ban was proclaimed in all the synagogues of Galicia. The rabbis declared in their statement that "this lack of morals in dress is responsible for the misfortunes that have befallen Jewry."

The Jewish press terms the action of the rabbis a slander on Jewish womanhood.

Mothers AND THEIR CHILDREN

For Long Trips

One Mother Says:

When taking a trip on a train, particularly if the journey is to be a long one, I always carry an envelope full of paper dolls. I give my children a few dolls at a time, adding to the "family" as their interest lags. If the dolls become soiled in the trip, the loss is trifling. (Copyright, 1924, Associated Editors, Inc.)

AGED MOTHER WINS BATTLE

Finally Obtains Son's Pardon After 16 Years' Fight

By the Associated Press.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 29.—An aged mother from the Tennessee mountains today won a battle that she has fought single handed against the powers of the state for the last 16 years, when her plea that her son, a prisoner in the state penitentiary here, be pardoned, was granted.

Mrs. Sam Hatfield, 63, the mother, appeared before the parole board and addressed Governor Austin Peay as "son" and the members of the parole board as "children."

Evidence Slight.

Her son, Lon Hatfield, was convicted in 1908 for the murder of a minister. The sole tangible evidence was a twenty dollar gold piece, said to have belonged to the minister which was found in Hatfield's pocket after the murder. Hatfield declared that the coin belonged to him, but the jury rejected this claim and convicted him on circumstantial evidence.

Immediately after sentence was passed on her son the mother began her battle for his freedom. She sold her little farm and during the last 16 years she made at least 50 trips to the penitentiary to present her plea to the authorities and to see her son.

Son As Present.

At last she obtained from both the trial judge and the prosecuting attorney requests that Lon Hatfield be pardoned. These requests were joined by the widow of the slain minister.

Today Mrs. Hatfield was told by Governor Peay that he would make her a Christmas present of her son.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 29.—The San Antonio LaFollette for President club last night issued a call for a mass meeting in Waco, August 12, to consider state wide action in behalf of Senator LaFollette. The call appeals to Texas voters to rally to the senator's support regardless of past political affiliation and suggests that county meetings be held August 2 to perfect county organizations and to select delegates to attend the Waco meeting. The call was signed by John P. Pfeiffer, chairman of the Bexar County LaFollette club; R. S. Marshall, secretary; John E. Elgin, Robert G. Penniger, Samuel H. Smith, Ingald Hansen and Theodore Holekamp.

FARM-LABOR NOW SHIP WITHOUT SAIL

By the Associated Press.

DALLAS, July 29.—Plans for a meeting of the Texas Farm-Labor political conference in Fort Worth in the near future to consider the democratic candidates for governor who will be in the run-off campaign are being considered. J. L. Tarpley of Celeste, chairman of the state conference held some months ago, was here today and said telegrams had been sent the executive board asking if they favored such a meeting.

HUGHES ET AL TO WORK IN BERLIN

BERLIN, July 29.—When Secretary Hughes of the United States state department arrived here on Sunday, he will be accompanied by about twenty American lawyers of the American Bar association party, who are expected to carry on work in connection with the United States mixed claims commission which is adjusting claims against Germany growing out of war damages.

Color Cut-out

Once more Betty and Billy Cut-out found themselves passing the mysterious looking cottage in which the cross old woman and the pale little girl lived. As they came near, the old woman was just going out of the house. She locked the gate carefully behind her and hobbled off toward town with her market basket.

Betty and Billy walked slowly past the place. But as they came to the house the door opened and the little girl they had seen the day before came running out. At sight of Billy and Betty she stopped shyly. "Hello," said Betty in a friendly manner, and she and Billy stopped by the gate.

The little girl came up slowly, looking about as though she expected to see the old woman come pouncing on her any minute.

Color the old woman's shawl purple and her skirt purple with tan squares. The market basket is yellow

DID YOU KNOW?

That Madison Square Garden convention expenses of approximately $600,000 had been paid; that after paying $205,000 to the democratic national committee more than $375,000 had been spent for the entertainment of delegates and visitors to the convention of which the city of New York appropriated $200,000 and then private contributions swelled the grand total?

That Senator Robert M. LaFollette will go to his home in Madison, which will be his base, during the closing weeks of the campaign and the senator and his aids are planning a vigorous campaign in the south as well as in the east and west?

That the American Association of Flint and Lime glass manufacturers adopted a resolution against the twentieth amendment as being against the interests of working minors? The president of the association, Calvin B. Roe of West Virginia, denounced the amendment as the offspring of socialistic legislation whose provisions would lay waste a great multitude of boys who ordinarily might be perfecting themselves in the rudiments of skillful trades with profit to themselves and to the nation?

That Mrs. William McMillam Adams, daughter of John W. Davis and now in Paris, will sail for New York within a month in order to put her shoulder to the wheel of her father's election chariot?

That a month ago Arthur W. Cuttem of Chicago predicted corn would reach a dollar a bushel before the end of July, that he persisted in this belief, that the recent jump in corn of forty cents gave Cuttem profits of between $1,500,000 and $1,800,000?

That Cuttem, who also predicted a higher price for wheat, has been one of the largest holders of futures in the Winnipeg market and has made another big killing on wheat?

That while the New York convention was on a delegate from Missouri suggested a compromise ticket—Henry Ford of Michigan and Ncholas Murray Butler of New York and the platform "Twenty-five miles to the gallon and twenty-five gallons to the mile?"

That Samuel Untermyer who went down with McAdoo and then mounted the Davis bandwagon, gave this as his reason: "Every branch of our government is fairly reeking with the taint of special privilege."

That Senator James A. Reed and Joseph Shannon and J. A. Prendergast, his Kansas City lieutenant, flooded John W. Davis with telegrams urging Davis and his running mate, Governor Bryan, to hold the ceremonies incident to their formal notification of nomination in the Kansas City convention hall, arguing that the democratic campaign should be launched there to appeal to the farmers and other discontented elements of the west?

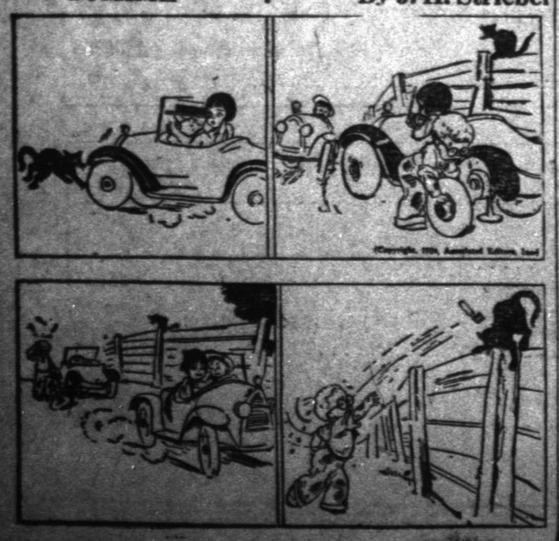

That Peter Witt of Cleveland, who invented a type of street car, which has made him independently wealthy and which is still paying him large royalties, was ambitious to be the man to run with La Follette?

That Peter Witt was the hit of the La Follette convention at Cleveland before his graduation into the ranks of after-dinner-speakers of great wealth, was a soap box orator and radical labor leader of amazing eloquence?

That the carry-over supply of American cotton on July 1st was 950,000 bales, speaking of stock in mills compared with 1,347,000 bales a year ago and that the combined stocks at mills and public warehouses aggregated 1,332,000 or a decline of 451,000 bales for the month, compared with 2,574,000 bales last July, a decrease of 742,000 bales?

That the Standard Oil company of New Jersey has an investment of ten million dollars in Roumania and that Standard Oil officials have journeyed to that country to see if their money has been well planted?

ORDER OUT THE REGULARS—THE HALF BREEDS ARE OFF THE RESERVATION

"The Woman He Desired"

Presently Desiree put down her work and came to his side, hovering round him, touching him gently, as her phantom used to when he was a small boy and unhappy.

"I feel that something is the matter," she said. "Is there nothing I can do?"

It's only business worries, little girl," he answered, watching her with tortured eyes.

Tea came—a silent meal. He looked after the girl's wants, but he forgot his own.

Soon after the meal was over he rose to go. Desiree got up also.

He took her hands, holding them for the last time.

"Good-by, my little girl," he said hoarsely.

He raised her face, with a timed, hopeful movement. But it was her hands that Wilson kissed, not her lips.

Then she heard the door close behind him.

Beneath the bandages Desiree's tears started oozing. He had gone for one long week, perhaps two, without giving her the one gift she wanted.

To Wilson, making his way out of the house, it seemed the fairy tale was ended. The dragons were slain, the ogre disposed of, but the princess would fall to the lot of another. All he had got out of the deal was poverty, and the ragged remains of a carnation.

CHAPTER XIX

Paris

At a large house in the centre of Paris a garden party was taking place. The mansion stood remote and aloff from its plebian neighbors, with shallow stone steps leading down into the screened pleasance. On one of the stone seats a girl sat, a young man beside her. He had eyes for nothing but his companion, but her gaze was fixed on a mass of blue lobelia that edged the border.

"So its true then, 'Ice Maiden,' that you turn us down at the rate of two a day?" he asked.

Hastily she walked away from him, to be pounced upon almost immediately by another of his sex, and then to be swallowed up by the crowd that surged in and out of the house, up and down in steps, and among the scattered chairs and tables.

Two months before Mrs. Green had brought the girl to Paris. Before a month had passed she and her charge were the most sought-after people in the most exclusive and aristocratic set. Desiree was the beauty and the sensation of the season—a girl who had been blind until she was 21, when she suddenly inherited both sight and money.

All sorts of romantic tales were afloat about the young and beautiful heiress—how some man met her quite by chance, a blind girl wandering about all alone in a little hamlet in the distant Maritime Alps, with a diamond necklace worth millions of francs about her neck; how he had declared she could be cured, and had taken her to a specialist; how he had sold her necklace for a fabulous sum and then disappeared.

As the girl sauntered about the garden with her small troop of admirers her thoughts were with none of them. They were of Wilson, her benefactor, who had arranged her business affairs and then disappeared.

Tired of the men who dogged her steps, presently she went into the house. However, she was not left long in peace.

Within a few minutes the door opening made her look round. On seeing who the intruder was she got up quickly. It was Bassino.

He came to her side, looking at her in a hungry, hopeless manner.

"At least it's you I want, not your money," he remarked presently.

"I know that," she answered quietly.

"Won't you let that stand in my favor?" he asked, despair and passion in his voice. "Desiree, if only you'd have me, you could wipe your feet on me for the rest of your life, and I'd reckon myself the luckiest man alive."

The passion in his voice and eyes made her move from him with a shudder.

"Oh, yes," he went on in a wild, distraught manner. "You're going to run away from me now, as you've always done since our first meeting. But before you go I want to tell you one thing. I know when I'm beat. I know when I'd done. And I'm starting back to Rio tomorrow."

A look of relief crossed Desiree's face, and Bassino was quick to see it.

"Good riddance!' Say it," he continued bitterly. "You can't hurt me more than you've done already."

His hand went to his pocket. He drew out a check representing in francs 50,000 dollars, and signed in a large, round, unformed hand "Desiree de Mailly."

He drew a match from his pocket, and, striking it, set fire to the check.

"I'm very sorry," she said,

"It's not your pity I want, but you," he started, in a wild, impassioned manner. "You, in my arms, all night, all day, Desire, if only—"

She turned quickly and fled, wanting nothing now but to get away from him, to keep out of his sight until he had really gone.

She ran toward the garden where Mrs. Green was sitting alone.

"I'm sick and tired of this endless whirl of silly society," Desiree exclaimed, "all those shallow men want is my money they don't want me."

Mrs. Green was silent.

"Bassino is perhaps the only one that isn't after my fortune," Desiree went on, but he's impossible, and he's just promised to leave me for good. I'm glad of that, anyway."

Speculatively Mrs. Green watched her, wondering if Desiree were regretting having refused John Wilson now life shown her the world's lack of sincerity.

Mrs. Green was sitting up in bed, her boudoir cap askew on her head, a breakfast tray on a little table beside her, an open letter in her hand.

As she read if a look of dismay came to her face.

"Well, I never did!" she exclaimed when the pages were finished.

"Want is it, maman? What has happened now?" Desiree asked.

The girl took the letter and read it through slowly.

It was from Mr. Green and was an urgent plea to come home at once.

The letter ended up with a frantic cry that he might as well have no wife at all as one who appeared to have made up her mind to spend the rest of her life on the continent.

By now Mrs. Green was certain that Desiree regretted not having accepted Wilson's offer, and she determined to give the girl a chance to rectifying her error.

"Why don't you come back with me, my dear, and have a look at England?" she asked.

Desiree wanted to go back with Mrs. Green, but she knew Wilson lived in the same town, and she was too proud to follow after the man who had gone away from her, so she refused and decided to go back to Nice.

Soon after her return to England Mrs. Green gave a party. Wilson was among those invited. On receiving her card he had intended to refuse; gayety and himself were very out of tune nowadays. But he had to go, drawn there by the fact that Mrs. Green had only just left Desiree.

He had not been long in the house before Mrs. Green saw him.

"I'd given you up," she said by way of greeting.

"I'm late, but I couldn't get away any sooner. How is everybody? And how did you leave Desiree?" he went on, going straight to his point, but in as casual a tone as he could muster.

"As well as if nothing had ever been the matter with her."

No doubt she enjoyed herself in Paris."

"She ought to have enjoyed herself. The men simply swarmed after her. She was the rage—the sensation. We went everywhere, to all the best people. But I never saw a girl so stand-offish with men, so particular, so scornful. 'The Ice Maiden' they called her, because she refused to melt to any one of them, and some of them were hot enough in love with her to have thawed a glacier."

"Is she as beautiful as ever?" Wilson asked, a parched note in his voice.

"Why don't you go and see for yourself?"

"I can't spare tre time,' he answered.

Mrs. Green glanced at him keenly.

All of a sudden it struck her if Wilson had ever proposed. It was not in keeping with his character to let the girl go, merely because she had refused him. He would have renewed his attack. But he always had avoided the matrimonial noose. In the eleventh hour he might have decided he preferred bachelorhood to Desiree, although Mrs. Green could not imagine any man in his senses doing such a thing.

"Can't spare the time indeed!" she said impatiently. "If you really wanted to go you could. I believe you're afraid you might fall in love with her enough to want to get married, and you're deliberately avoiding temptation."

"When the Countess Desiree marries it will be a man of her own set," he replied stiffly.

"There were plenty of her own set after her in Paris, yet she gave them all the go-by."

CHAPTER XX

For perhaps an hour longer Wilson mooned around her premises, then, feeling too much like a skeleton at the feast, he took himself and his gnawing misery back home.

So Goes It

By BURNS HEGLER

A brother paragrapher insists that only two pints are required nowadays to make a quartet. It usually doesn't require that much. But there always have been quartets that required inspiration before they could sing—or thought they could.

In days gone by—more or less frequently referred to as the good old days—don't you recall how young men used to gather in the shadow of a darkened stairway and sing "Sweet-e-t Ad-O-li-i-ine," along about midnight. It took more than two pints to make a quartet in those days.

We know a man who does all of his singing in the bathroom. It has a tendency to make him proud of his voice, even though he knows the aucoustics are really responsible for his vibrant tones.

A Wichita Falls bridegroom is said to be out gunning for the originator of the remark: "Two can live as cheaply as one." He should be reminded that the gentleman who made that statement was careful to say "COULD." Doing it is quite another matter.

One disadvantage about going to a cool climate on a vacation is that you are compelled to return.

Our idea of nothing to listen to is the telephone conversation of someone else. Especially one of those: "Guess who this is?" kind.

We gather from Senator Brookhart's remarks to the effect that he will support neither Coolidge nor La Follette that the senator expects to spend some time during the campaign looking after his own interests.

Anyhow, Messrs. Fall, Daugherty and Deboney don't appear to be taking a very active part in this year's campaign.

If the republicans could put on a winter campaign they might get away with that "Keep Cool with Coolidge slogan."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Ferguson—Over—Robertson

Editor, Record News:

History seems about to repeat itself. There will be another political race between a Ferguson and a representative of secret manipulation in politics. The noted Newspaper Editor Stead has said that the manufacture of lies to create and foster war is more important than mustard gas.

Creating the conditions that facilitates appeals to prejudice, superstition, ignorance, is analagous to the misrepresentations in secret dipolmacy that is alleged to foster strife and conflict between nations.

Resolutions adopted at most of the precinct conventions Saturday included the following:

"That the delegates from this precinct to said convention be and are hereby instructed to express to that body the deliberate views of this assembly that all persons who approve or condone the activities of secret societies in politics thereby render themselves unworthy of any honor, recognition or confidence at the hands of the democratic party."

In accordance with the above, in contest between a Ferguson and Robertson, none can favor the latter without renouncing resolution adopted Saturday at most of the precinct conventions. That resolution as to part quoted is approved by many.

THROUGH A WOMAN'S EYES

By JEAN NEWTON

ON IMAGINATION.

If when you have a grievance against your friend you should chance to look at her photograph, it will frown back at you! If then you turn to pleasant memories, the face in the picture will soften to your thoughts and seem almost to smile!

"Imagination!" you will say. But it has been said that nine-tenths of the things in life are colored by imagination. Much beauty is created by it and much ugliness springs from the same source.

If by imagination we can cause an inanimate photograph to frown, how great a part the moment's mood may play in fancied grudges and grievances! The hurts and slights must be legion that had their root and their being in our own imagination.

And it stands to reason that imagination should work both ways—that our general mood should be reflected in the attitude as in the photograph of a friend! We all know that there are people whom "you can't help liking, no matter how hard you try!" Undoubtedly it is because those people are favorably disposed, more determined to like us—and therefore are themselves liked!

But coming back to imagination—since it is so powerful to create on the faces of friends, of the world, of even a fixed photograph, a frown or a smile—what fools are we to let it work against us when it might as well bring us happiness!

More Truth Than Poetry

A SYMPTOM

I dream today of far Cathay,
And other distant places,
Where one may find a different kind
Of fashions, forms and faces.
Each ship I see calls out to me
To climb aboard and wander
To palm-grown strands and alien lands,
Behind the sunrise yonder.

Beyond my door romance no more
Awaits to lure and thrill me;
Nor woods and streams with golden dreams
Of soft enchantment fill me.
Each hill and brook, each pasture nook
And beach of shining gravel
About the farm possessed such charm,
I had no need to travel.

I looked around my world and found,
Within my boyish vision,
Enchanted seas and haunted trees
And mounts and fields Elysian.
The winding lanes, the flowering plains
For me seemed new created,
And when the sun his course had run
My wanderlust was sated.

But now I long to hear the song
That distant seas are singing,
And turn my eyes toward foreign skies
Where strange, queer birds are winging.
The fires that burned when spring returned,
Each passing year now smoulder
And soon will die—I fancy I
Am growing somewhat older.

Intimacies

Most problems in life are problems of intimacies.

What makes marriage so difficult is that it is a great intimacy.

People are so constituted that they cannot get along very well together unless they run in certain grooves and attend certain forms.

There are very few people with whom you can be free and careless. The first thing you know there will be a blow-up.

Formality often saves the situation. For sincerity requires a sincere soul to believe it and an open mind, while anybody can get behind good manners.

It is essential that husband and wife remain polite to each other. When they cease being so marriage is in danger.

Very often the complaint that people are formal is a complaint against shyness and not against exclusiveness.

Many people are not cordial and open for the simple reason that they do not want to be hurt. They have found out by experience that most people take advantage of intimacies to annoy them. Hence they retreat behind the veil of ceremony.

There are very few people in the world with whom we want to be intimate, or can afford to be. Intimacy requires understanding and understanding requires love.

To find an understanding love that forgives all because it comprehends all is very rare. It is for this reason that we must treat everybody with uniform courtesy, for it is behind this courtesy that we find our own protection.

Intimacies are trials of the soul. Our children come to know us and our wife comes to know us as no one else does.

That is the principal reason why most people get along so ill with their families. They are compelled to be great. It does not matter so much if they are good or not.

But it is impossible to live with anyone very long on terms of great intimacy who is not great.

What Today Means To You

By MARY BLAKE LEO

Until late in the afternoon, the aspects are distinctly adverse, compelling attention only to routine duties or occupations, and special care should be devoted to health conditions. At about 4 p. m. the tension is relieved, and the aspects materially improve; so much so, in fact, that it is a favorable opportunity for putting new ideas or plans into execution. It is also a propitious occasion for affairs of the heart, and, if a proposal be made, the vibrations indicate an affirmative response.

A child born today will be physically healthy, and temperamentally vivacious and attractive. It will develop indications of indolence, and be more anxious to seek pleasure than to acquire habits of industry and careful living. It will not be very amenable to advice, and, consequently, it must be energetically and forcefully disciplined; it will have a character that will yield to superior force, but not to persuasion.

If today is your birthday, you, in spite of many attractive and compelling characteristics, are too independent and too indifferent to the advice of those who have your success and welfare at heart.

Much may be accomplished by means of individual industry and energy; it must, however, be acknowledged that the help derived from others in the journey of life is of very great importance. The poet Wordsworth has well said that "these two things, contradictory though they may seem, must go together, dependence and independence, reliance and self-reliance."

From infancy to old age, all of us are more or less indebted to others for nature and culture; the best and strongest are usually the readiest to acknowledge such help.

You cannot, unless you seek a hermit's lot, live in utter disregard of your fellow creatures, nor can you rely entirely on your own individualism. The human character is moulded by a thousand subtle influences; by friends and neighbors, by the world we live in.

You should heed more what others say, although you must necessarily be the captain of your own soul, and the active agent of your own well-being and well-ding; you could owe more to others than you do, but in the very nature of things you must be your own best helper.

Successful people born on this date are:

George W. Melville, chief engineer U. S. navy, a member of the De Long Arctic expedition.

James D. McCabe, author—his stories of the Civil war are his best writings.

Elmer R. Reynolds, ethnologist, founder of the Anthropological society of Washington.

Lettie S. Bigelow, poet and author.

James E. Kelly, engraver and sculptor, a well-known illustrator for magazines.

Henry Ford, automobile manufacturer.

English Won't Put Up With Poor Speakers

LONDON, July 28.—The art of elocution and voice production has been so neglected in the training of young clergymen, that complaints have been made to the authorities on the subject. As a result, it is planned to give these young men training in good speaking. The archbishops of York and Canterbury, in commending the scheme, say that it is intolerable that those who are to lead the worship of the congregation, and to read and preach, should be unable to speak with clearness, sympathy and reverence.

If You Would Be Happily Wedded, Don't Pick a Girl for Her Looks or Her Childish Prattle—Don't Marry a Reformer—Above All, Select a Girl With a Sense of Humor.

In picking out a wife:

Don't marry a girl just because she has a pretty face, because that is the one matrimonial bet on which you are bound to lose out eventually.

Time, ill health, children, the general wear and tear of life rob a woman of her beauty so that she who was a living picture at twenty is often a chromo at thirty and a scarecrow at forty.

You can get awfully tired of looking at any one set of features, no matter how classical their outline is, nor how well they are assembled, if they are nothing but a lovely mask, nor will you long thrill at the touch of golden tresses with a natural wave in them if they cover a dome of solid bone. Moreover, a beauty is almost self-centered in vain and accustomed to adulation, and she expects her husband to be always on his knees burning incense before her, instead of being willing to do a little business with the punk sticks herself.

Don't marry a girl who chickenpecks her family unless you want to be chicken-pecked yourself.

If Maud tells father and mother where to get off, and her little sisters and brothers stand in awe of her, be sure that the man she marries will wipe his feet on the doormat when he comes home at night and give up smoking because she does not like the odor of tobacco. Any girl who can boss her own family can terrorize a mere husband with one hand tied behind her.

Don't marry a girl who is a natural born reformer. Before you are married to her, and when you have only occasional doses of it, it may seem very sweet and sentimental to you to have a dear little saint trying to lead you up to the higher life, but after marriage it doesn't make for harmony in the home to have a critic on the hearth.

No wife is more pestilential, or gets more on her husband's nerves, than the one who was born thinking that everything that she doesn't want to do is wrong, and that it is her sacred duty to interfere in all her husband's habits and pleasures.

Don't marry a poor girl who dresses beyond her means.

The girl who is willing to let her mother work her fingers to the bone sewing for her, and run her old father in debt to provide her with finery, will have no mercy on her husband's pocketbook, and will keep his nose to the grindstone as long as he lives.

Don't marry a simple little ingenue who rolls her eyes at you, and asks you artless questions about things that any child should know.

There is something peculiarly attractive to men in female morons as long as they are eighteen and have peaches-and-cream complexions. But the trouble is that they don't stay eighteen and lose their complexions, and then they are just plain fools. Whenever a man speaks of the woman to whom he is married as his "child wife" he presents a tragedy of boredom that would draw tears of sympathy from a stone.

Don't marry a helpless little clinging vine. It may make you feel about seven feet high, and big and strong and chesty as Jim Jefferies, for some dependent little creature to flop around your neck as limply as a wet dish rag and ask you what to do and what to think, but it is only at times that a man enjoys nourishing a parasite. He doesn't want it for a steady thing.

He wants a wife who will know when to do the clinging vine act and when to have as much backbone as a telephone post. He wants a wife who will defer to him, but who will go along and run her end of the matrimonial partnership without burdening him with the details.

Don't marry a girl who thinks she is artistic and who wears sloppy, floppy clothes, and whose hair looks as if it had been combed with a vacuum cleaner.

That kind of girl will never sweep under the beds nor gather up the soiled towels in the bathroom, nor keep a house where there is any comfort and order. Beware of the girl who tells you that her soul is above the sordid material things of everyday living, as you would the leprosy.

Don't marry a girl who is temperamental.

The girl who is always flaring up and getting angry about nothing may be fun to quarrel with before you are married, but is is far from amusing to have to walk on eggs after you are married to keep from rifling a wife whose temper is set on a hair trigger and liable to explode at the slightest jostle. Every man's ideal of home is a place of peace and rest, not a battleground where he has always to keep on his fighting clothes.

Avoid also the tender, sensitive little creature who bursts into tears on every occasion, and whose delicate sensibilities are always being wounded.

There are few wives more afflicting than those who keep their feeling spread all over the place, nor is there any domestic atmosphere more depressing than that of the household which has at its head a woman who always keeps her ears turned on at the tap.

Don't marry any woman who affects to despise domesticity.

A woman may have charm and virtue in the world, but if she does not know how to get the most out of a dollar, how to set a good table and manage a house and make her family comfortable, she is a failure as a wife, and her husband will rise up and curse the day he married her.

Don't marry a woman without a sense of humor. There are so many things in married life over which a woman must either laugh or cry, and your happiness and well-being depend upon your wife having a funny bone.

If she can see that her husband is the greatest of all human jokes, she will smile at your fussy little ways and let you enjoy them in peace instead of trying to reform them, and she will smile at your peccadilloes and forgive them, instead of lambasting you for them.

Follow these don'ts, sons, and when you marry you will get the right girl, and be happy ever after.

NEW YORK, July 29.—Details of the killing of the Rev. George Douglas Byers, in charge of evangelistic work of the Presbyterian mission at Kacheka, Island of Hainan, on June 24, were received today by the board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian church.

The information contained in a letter sent by Miss Margaret M. Moninger, secretary of the Hainan mission, the day after the murder, said that the Rev. Byers and his wife and children were alone in the station when four ruffians entered the compound to carry him away. He refused to go and was shot and killed. The other members of his family were uninjured.

"This is not a general anti-foreign uprising, nor an attack on the station," Miss Moninger wrote. "It seems to be a frustrated attempt to secure ransom."

That Madison Square Garden convention expenses of approximately $600,000 had been paid; that after paying $205,000 to the democratic national committee more than $375,000 had been spent for the entertainment of delegates and visitors to the convention of which the city of New York appropriated $200,000 and then private contributions swelled the grand total?

ORDER OUT THE REGULARS—THE HALF BREEDS ARE OFF THE RESERVATION

"The Woman He Desired"

Presently Desiree put down her work and came to his side, hovering round him, touching him gently, as her phantom used to when he was a small boy and unhappy.

"I feel that something is the matter," she said. "Is there nothing I can do?"

It's only business worries, little girl," he answered, watching her with tortured eyes.

Tea came—a silent meal. He looked after the girl's wants, but he forgot his own.

Soon after the meal was over he rose to go. Desiree got up also.

He took her hands, holding them for the last time.

"Good-by, my little girl," he said hoarsely.

He raised her face, with a timed, hopeful movement. But it was her hands that Wilson kissed, not her lips. Then she heard the door close behind him.

Beneath the bandages Desiree's tears started coming. He had gone for one long week, perhaps two, without giving her the one gift she wanted.

To Wilson, making his way out of the house, it seemed the fairy tale was ended. The dragons were slain, the ogre disposed of, but the princess would fall to the lot of another. All he had got out of the deal was poverty, and the ragged remains of a carnation.

CHAPTER XIX

Paris

At a large house in the centre of Paris a garden party was taking place. The mansion stood remote and aloof from its plebian neighbors, with shallow stone steps leading down into the screened pleasance. On one of the stone seats a girl sat, a young man beside her. He had eyes for nothing but his companion, but her gaze was fixed on a mass of blue lobelia that edged the border.

"So its true then, 'Ice Maiden,' that you turn us down at the rate of two a day?" he asked.

Hastily she walked away from him, to be pounced upon almost immediately by another of his sex, and then to be swallowed up by the crowd that surged in and out of the house, up and down in steps, and among the scattered chairs and tables.

Two months before Mrs. Green had brought the girl to Paris. Before a month had passed she and her charge were the most sought-after people in the most exclusive and aristocratic set. Desiree was the beauty and the sensation of the season—a girl who had been blind until she was 21, when she suddenly inherited both sight and money.

All sorts of romantic tales were afloat about the young and beautiful heiress—how some man met her quite by chance, a blind girl wandering about all alone in a little hamlet in the distant Maritime Alps, with a diamond necklace worth millions of francs about her neck; how he had declared she could be cured, and had taken her to a specialist; how he had sold her necklace for a fabulous sum and then disappeared.

As the girl sauntered about the garden with her small troop of admirers her thoughts were with none of them. They were of Wilson, her benefactor, who had arranged her business affairs and then disappeared.

Tired of the men who dogged her steps, presently she went into the house. However, she was not left long in peace.

Within a few minutes the door opening made her look round. On seeing who the intruder was she got up quickly. It was Bassino.

He came to her side, looking at her in a hungry, hopeless manner.

"At least it's you I want, not your money," he remarked presently.

"I know that," she answered quietly.

"Won't you let that stand in my favor?" he asked, despair and passion in his voice. "Desiree, if only you'd have me, you could wipe your feet on me for the rest of your life, and I'd reckon myself the luckiest man alive."

The passion in his voice and eyes made her move from him with a shudder.

"Oh, yes," he went on in a wild, distraught manner. "you're going to run away from me now, as you've always done since our first meeting. But before you go I want to tell you one thing. I know when I'm beat. I know when I'd done. And I'm starting back to Rio tomorrow."

A look of relief crossed Desiree's face, and Bassino was quick to see it.

"Good riddance!' Say it," he continued bitterly. "You can't hurt me more than you've done already."

His hand went to his pocket. He drew out a check representing in francs 50,000 dollars, and signed in a large, round, unformed hand "Desiree de Mailly."

He drew a match from his pocket, and, striking it, set fire to the check.

"I'm very sorry," she said,

"It's not your pity I want, but you," he started, in a wild, impassioned manner. "You, in my arms, all night, all day, Desire, if only—"

She turned quickly and fled, wanting nothing now but to get away from him, to keep out of his sight until he had really gone.

She ran toward the garden where Mrs. Green was sitting alone.

"I'm sick and tired of this endless whirl of silly society," Desiree exclaimed, "all those shallow men want is my money they don't want me."

Mrs. Green was silent.

"Bassino is perhaps the only one that isn't after my fortune," Desiree went on, but he's impossible, and he's just promised to leave me for good. I'm glad of that, anyway."

Speculatively Mrs. Green watched her, wondering if Desiree were regretting having refused John Wilson now life shown her the world's lack of sincerity.

Mrs. Green was sitting up in bed, her boudoir cap askew on her head,a breakfast tray on a little table beside her, an open letter in her hand.

As she read it a look of dismay came to her face.

"Well, I never did!" she exclaimed when the pages were finished.

"Want is it, maman? What has happened now?" Desiree asked.

The girl took the letter and read it though slowly.

It was from Mr. Green and was an urgent plea to come home at once.

The letter ended up with a frantic cry that he might as well have no wife at all as one who appeared to have made up her mind to spend the rest of her life on the continent.

By now Mrs. Green was certain that Desiree regretted not having accepted Wilson's offer, and she determined to give the girl a chance to rectifying her error.

"Why don't you come back with me, my dear, and have a look at England?" she asked.

Desiree wanted to go back with Mrs. Green, but she knew Wilson lived in the same town, and she was too proud to follow after the man who had gone away from her, so she refused and decided to go back to Nice.

Soon after her return to England Mrs. Green gave a party. Wilson was among those invited. On receiving her card he had intended to refuse; gayety and himself were very out of tune nowadays. But he had to go, drawn there by the fact that Mrs. Green had only just left Desiree.

He had not been long in the house before Mrs. Green saw him.

"I'd given you up," she said by way of greeting.

"I'm late, but I couldn't get away any sooner. How is everybody? And how did you leave Desiree?" he went on, going straight to his point, but in as casual a tone as he could muster.

"As well as if nothing had ever been the matter with her."

No doubt she enjoyed herself in Paris."

"She ought to have enjoyed herself. The men simply swarmed after her. She was the rage—the sensation. We went everywhere, to all the best people. But I never saw a girl so stand-offish with men, so particular, so scornful. 'The Ice Maiden' they called her, because she refused to melt to any one of them, and some of them were hot enough in love with her to have thawed a glacier."

"Is she as beautiful as ever?" Wilson asked, a parched note in his voice.

"Why don't you go and see for yourself?"

"I can't space tre time,' he answered.

Mrs. Green glanced at him keenly.

All of a sudden it struck her if Wilson had ever proposed. It was not in keeping with his character to let the girl go, merely because she had refused him. He would have renewed his attack. But he always had avoided the matrimonial noose. In the eleventh hour he might have decided he preferred bachelorhood to Desiree, although Mrs. Green could not imagine any man in his senses doing such a thing.

"Can't spare the time indeed!" she said impatiently. "If you really wanted to go you could. I believe you're afraid you might fall in love with her enough to want to get married, and you're deliberately avoiding temptation."

"When the Countess Desiree marries it will be a man of her own set," he replied stiffly.

"There were plenty of her own set after her in Paris, yet she gave them all the go-by."

CHAPTER XX

For perhaps an hour longer Wilson mooned around her premises, then, feeling too much like a skeleton at the feast, he took himself and his gnawing misery back home.

So Goes It

By BURNS HEGLER

A brother paragrapher insists that only two pints are required nowadays to make a quartet. It usually doesn't require that much. But there always have been quartets that required inspiration before they could sing—or thought they could.

In days gone by—more or less frequently referred to as the good old days—don't you recall how young men used to gather in the shadow of a darkened stairway and sing "Sweet Ad-O-li-i-ine," along about midnight. It took more than two pints to make a quartet in those days.

We know a man who does all of his singing in the bathroom. It has a tendency to make him proud of his voice, even though he knows the aucoustics are really responsible for his vibrant tones.

A Wichita Falls bridegroom is said to be out gunning for the originator of the remark: "Two can live as cheaply as one." He should be reminded that the gentleman who made that statement was careful to say "COULD." Doing it is quite another matter.

One disadvantage about going to a cool climate on a vacation is that you are compelled to return.

Our idea of nothing to listen to is the telephone conversation of someone else. Especially one of those: "Guess who this is?" kind.

We gather from Senator Brookhart's remarks to the effect that he will support neither Coolidge nor La Follette that the senator expects to spend some time during the campaign looking after his own interests.

Anyhow, Messrs. Fall, Daugherty and Dehoney don't appear to be taking a very active part in this year's campaign.

If the republicans could put on a winter campaign they might get away with that "Keep Cool with Coolidge slogan."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Ferguson—Over—Robertson

Editor, Record News:

History seems about to repeat itself. There will be another political race between a Ferguson and a representative of secret manipulation in politics. The noted Newspaper Editor Stead has said that the manufacture of lies to create and foster war is more important than mustard gas.

Creating the conditions that facilitates appeals to prejudice, superstition, ignorance, is analagous to the misrepresentations in secret dipolmacy that is alleged to foster strife and conflict between nations.

Resolutions adopted at most of the precinct conventions Saturday included the following:

"That the delegates from this precinct to said convention be and are hereby instructed to express to that body the deliberate views of this assembly that all persons who approve or condone the activities of secret societies in politics thereby render themselves unworthy of any honor, recognition or confidence at the hands of the democratic party."

In accordance with the above, in contest between a Ferguson and Robertson, none can favor the latter without renouncing resolution adopted Saturday at most of the precinct conventions. That resolution as to part quoted is approved by many.

THROUGH A WOMAN'S EYES

By JEAN NEWTON

ON IMAGINATION.

If when you have a grievance against your friend you should chance to look at her photograph, it will frown back at you! If then you turn to pleasant memories, the face in the picture will soften to your thoughts and seem almost to smile!

"Imagination!" you will say. But it has been said that nine-tenths of the things in life are colored by imagination. Much beauty is created by it and much ugliness springs from the same source.

If by imagination we can cause an inanimate photograph to frown, how great a part the moment's mood may play in fancied grudges and grievances! The hurts and slights must be legion that had their root and their being in our own imagination.

And it stands to reason that imagination should work both ways—that our general mood should be reflected in the attitude as in the photograph of a friend! We all know that there are people whom "you can't help liking, no matter how hard you try!" Undoubtedly it is because those people are favorably disposed, more determined to like us—and therefore are themselves liked!

But coming back to imagination—since it is so powerful to create on the faces of friends, of the world, of even a fixed photograph, a frown or a smile—what fools are we to let it work against us when it might as well bring us happiness!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

A SYMPTOM

I dream today of far Cathay,
And other distant places,
Where one may find a different kind
Of fashions, forms and faces.
Each ship I see calls out to me
To climb aboard and wander
To palm-grown strands and alien lands,
Behind the sunrise yonder.

Beyond my door romance no more
Awaits to lure and thrill me;
Nor woods and streams with golden dreams
Of soft enchantment fill me.
Each hill and brook, each pasture nook
And beach of shining gravel
About the farm possessed such charm,
I had no need to travel.

I looked around my world and found,
Within my boyish vision,
Enchanted seas and haunted trees
And mounts and fields Elysian.
The winding lanes, the flowering plains
For me seemed new created,
And when the sun his course had run
My wanderlust was sated.

But now I long to hear the song
That distant seas are singing,
And turn my eyes toward foreign skies
Where strange, queer birds are winging.
The fires that burned when spring returned,
Each passing year now smoulder
And soon will die—I fancy I
Am growing somewhat older.

Intimacies

Most problems in life are problems of intimacies.

What makes marriage so difficult is that it is a great intimacy.

People are so constituted that they cannot get along very well together unless they run in certain grooves and attend certain forms.

There are very few people with whom you can be free and careless. The first thing you know there will be a blow-up.

Formality often saves the situation. For sincerity requires a sincere soul to believe it and an open mind, while anybody can get behind good manners.

It is essential that husband and wife remain polite to each other. When they cease being so marriage is in danger.

Very often the complaint that people are formal is a complaint against shyness and not against exclusiveness.

Many people are not cordial and open for the simple reason that they do not want to be hurt. They have found out by experience that most people take advantage of intimacies to annoy them. Hence they retreat behind the veil of ceremony.

There are very few people in the world with whom we want to be intimate, or can afford to be. Intimacy requires understanding and understanding requires love.

To find an understanding love that forgives all because it comprehends all is very rare. It is for this reason that we must treat everybody with uniform courtesy, for it is behind this courtesy that we find our own protection.

Intimacies are trials of the soul. Our children come to know us and our wife comes to know us as no one else does.

That is the principal reason why most people get along so ill with their families. They are compelled to be great. It does not matter so much if they are good or not.

But it is impossible to live with anyone very long on terms of great intimacy who is not great.

What Today Means To You

By MARY BLAKE LEO

Until late in the afternoon, the aspects are distinctly adverse, counseling attention only to routine duties or occupations, and special care should be devoted to health conditions. At about 4 p. m. the tension is relieved, and the aspects materially improve; so much so, in fact, that it is a favorable opportunity for putting new ideas or plans into execution. It is also a propitious occasion for affairs of the heart, and, if a proposal be made, the vibrations indicate an affirmative response.

A child born today will be physically healthy, and temperamentally vivacious and attractive. It will develop indications of indolence, and be more anxious to seek pleasure than to acquire habits of industry and careful living. It will not be very amenable to advice, and, consequently, it must be energetically and forcefully disciplined; it will have a character that will yield to superior force, but not to persuasion.

If today is your birthday, you, in spite of many attractive and compelling characteristics, are too independent and too indifferent to the advice of those who have your success and welfare at heart.

Much may be accomplished by means of individual industry and energy; it must, however, be acknowledged that the help derived from others in the journey of life is of very great importance. The poet Wordsworth has well said that "these two things, contradictory though they may seem, must go together, dependence and independence, reliance and self-reliance."

From infancy to old age, all of us are more or less indebted to others for nature and culture; the best and strongest are usually the readiest to acknowledge such help.

You cannot, unless you seek a hermit's lot, live in utter disregard of your fellow creatures, nor can you rely entirely on your own individualism. The human character is moulded by a thousand subtle influences; by friends and neighbors, by the world we live in.

You should heed more what others say, although you must necessarily be the captain of your own soul, and the active agent of your own well-being and well-ding; you could owe more to others than you do, but in the very nature of things you must be your own best helper.

Successful people born on this date are:

George W. Melville, chief engineer U. S. navy, a member of the De Long Arctic expedition.

James D. McCabe, author—his stories of the Civil war are his best writings.

Elmer R. Reynolds, ethnologist, founder of the Anthropological society of Washington.

Lettie S. Bigelow, poet and author.

James E. Kelly, engraver and sculptor, a well-known illustrator for magazines.

Henry Ford, automobile manufacturer.

English Won't Put Up With Poor Speakers

LONDON, July 28.—The art of elocution and voice production has been so neglected in the training of young clergymen, that complaints have been made to the authorities on the subject. As a result, it is planned to give these young men training in good speaking. The archbishops of York and Canterbury, in commending the scheme, say that it is intolerable that those who are to lead the worship of the congregation, and to read and preach, should be unable to speak with clearness, sympathy and reverence.

Dorothy Dix

If You Would Be Happily Wedded, Don't Pick a Girl for Her Looks or Her Childish Prattle—Don't Marry a Reformer—Above All, Select a Girl With a Sense of Humor.

In picking out a wife:

Don't marry a girl just because she has a pretty face, because that is the one matrimonial bet on which you are bound to lose out eventually.

Time, ill health, children, the general wear and tear of life rob a woman of her beauty so that she who was a living picture at twenty is often a chromo at thirty and a scarecrow at forty.

You can get awfully tired of looking at any one set of features, no matter how classical their outline is, nor how well they are assembled, if they are nothing but a lovely mask, nor will you long thrill at the touch of golden tresses with a natural wave in them if they cover a dome of solid bone. Moreover, a beauty is almost self-centered in vain and accustomed to adulation, and she expects her husband to be always on his knees burning incense before her, instead of being willing to do a little business with the punk sticks herself.

Don't marry a girl who chicken-pecks her family unless you want to be chicken-pecked yourself.

If Maud tells father and mother where to get off, and her little sisters and brothers stand in awe of her, be sure that the man she marries will wipe his feet on the doormat when he comes home at night and give up smoking because she does not like the odor of tobacco. Any girl who can boss her own family can terrorize a mere husband with one hand tied behind her.

Don't marry a girl who is a natural born reformer. Before you are married to her, and when you have only occasional doses of it, it may seem very sweet and sentimental to you to have a dear little saint trying to lead you up to the higher life, but after marriage it doesn't make for harmony in the home to have a critic on the hearth.

No wife is more pestilential, or gets more on her husband's nerves, than the one who was born thinking that everything that she doesn't want to do is wrong, and that it is her sacred duty to interfere in all her husband's habits and pleasures.

Don't marry a poor girl who dresses beyond her means.

The girl who is willing to let her mother work her fingers to the bone sewing for her, and run her old father in debt to provide her with finery, will have no mercy on her husband's pocketbook, and will keep his nose to the grindstone as long as he lives.

Don't marry a simple little ingenue who rolls her eyes at you, and asks you artless questions about things that any child should know.

There is something peculiarly attractive to men in female morons as long as they are eighteen and have peaches-and-cream complexions. But the trouble is that they don't stay eighteen and lose their complexions, and then they are just plain fools. Whenever a man speaks of the woman to whom he is married as his "child wife" he presents a tragedy of boredom that would draw tears of sympathy from a stone.

Don't marry a helpless little clinging vine. It may make you feel about seven feet high, and big and strong and chesty as Jim Jefferies, for some dependent little creature to flop around your neck as limply as a wet dish rag and ask you what to do and what to think, but it is only at times that a man enjoys nourishing a parasite. He doesn't want it for a steady thing.

He wants a wife who will know when to do the clinging vine act and when to have as much backbone as a telephone post. He wants a wife who will defer to him, but who will go along and run her end of the matrimonial partnership without burdening him with the details.

Don't marry a girl who thinks she is artistic and who wears sloppy, floppy clothes, and whose hair looks as if it had been combed with a vacuum cleaner.

That kind of girl will never sweep under the beds nor gather up the soiled towels in the bathroom, nor keep a house where there is any comfort and order. Beware of the girl who tells you that her soul is above the sorbid material things of everyday living, as you would the leprosy.

Don't marry a girl who is temperamental.

The girl who is always flaring up and getting angry about nothing may be fun to quarrel with before you are married, but is is far from amusing to have to walk on eggs after you are married to keep from rifling a wife whose temper is set on a hair trigger and liable to explode at the slightest jostle. Every man's ideal of home is a place of peace and rest, not a battleground where he has always to keep on his fighting clothes.

Avoid also the tender, sensitive little creature who bursts into tears on every occasion, and whose delicate sensibilities are always being wounded.

There are few wives more afflicting than those who keep their feelings spread all over the place, nor is there any domestic atmosphere more depressing than that of the household which has at its head a woman who always keeps her ears turned on at the tap.

Don't marry any woman who affects to despise domesticity.

A woman may have charm and virtue in the world, but if she does not know how to get the most out of a dollar, how to set a good table and manage a house and make her family comfortable, she is a failure as a wife, and her husband will rise up and curse the day he married her.

Don't marry a woman without a sense of humor. There are so many things in married life over which a woman must either laugh or cry, and your happiness and well-being depend upon your wife having a funny bone.

If she can see that her husband is the greatest of all human jokes, she will smile at your fussy little ways and let you enjoy them in peace instead of trying to reform them, and she will smile at your peccadilloes and forgive them, instead of lambasting you for them.

Follow these don'ts, sons, and when you marry you will get the right girl, and be happy ever after.

Jap Missionary Killing By Thugs

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 29.—Details of the killing of the Rev. George Douglas Byers, in charge of evangelistic work of the Presbyterian mission at Kacheka, Island of Hainan, on June 24, were received today by the board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian church.

The information contained in a letter sent by Miss Margaret M. Monginger, secretary of the Hainan mission, the day after the murder, said that the Rev. Byers and his wife and children were alone in the station when four ruffians entered the compound to carry him away. He refused to go and was shot and killed. The other members of his family were uninjured.

"This is not a general anti-foreign uprising, nor an attack on the station," Miss Monlinger wrote. "It seems to be a frustrated attempt to secure ransom."

Mrs. Williams refused and her son, Leslie, came to her defense. When he drew a revolver one of the intruders knocked it from his hand and another whipped out a revolver and shot the woman. The men then fled.

Spudders Rained Out In Final Buff Game

TANNER AND CREW INVADE GALVESTON FOR TWO TILTS

Homelings Jump Buffs For 4 to 2 Lead In First Inning But Deluge Stops Chance To Win.

HOUSTON, July 29.—Rain in the first inning of the scheduled Wichita Falls-Houston game, the third and final of the series, forced the calling of the contest.

After the one inning of play the score stood at 4 to 2 in favor of the visiting team. Osborn and Smith were the battery for the Spudders; Kircher and McCurdy for Houston. Kircher gave way for Morris in the first inning after two runs had been scored and the bases were full.

Kircher Wild.

The Spudders four runs were scored on two hits, two walks, two hit batsmen and a sacrifice fly. Fitzgerald singled past second. Coombs walked. Smith sacrificed, pitcher to second, the latter covering first. Weis was hit by a pitched ball, filling the bases. Turgeon walked, forcing in Fitzgerald. Callaghan was hit by a pitched ball, forcing Coombs across. Morris began pitching for Houston. Locker singled to center, scoring Weis. Whitfiled to left and Turgeon scored after the catch. Osborn fanned.

After there were two out in Houston's half of the inning, two runs were scored, but a sudden cloudburst stopped the contest. Compton fouled out to Locker. McCarty singled to right. Monroe was called out on strikes. Gainer was safe when Turgeon spilled his roller. McDonald doubled to left, scoring McCarty and Gainer. With one strike on Hafey the game was called on account of rain by Umpire Miller.

Then Shreveport.

The Spudders will open hostilities in Galveston this afternoon in the first of a two-game series. Manager Tanner will more than likely start Bob Osborn back on the mound again today. Galveston is at present riding in the cellar position, and if for no other reason should prove fairly easy pickings for the homelings.

After the Galveston series, the Spudders will invade Shreveport for a quartet, returning to the home lot next Tuesday with the Fort Worth Panthers.

On the present road trip, the Tannermen have lost two games to Dallas, two out of three to San Antonio, two out of three to Beaumont, two out of two to Houston, but have six more contests as yet to play before returning to Wichita Falls.

SHREVEPORT MOUNTS SAN ANTONIO 6 TO 2

TWO BOYS INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Special to The Record News.

OLNEY, July 29.—Two boys were seriously injured here Sunday afternoon when a Ford car ran into a motorcycle that the boys were pushing down the street. One of the boys, Grace Wilborn, sustained a broken leg and was badly bruised. He was taken to the Hamilton sanitarium. Ray Smith, his companion, was taken to his home where he is suffering from severe bruises and shock. The full extent of their injuries has not been determined. The Wilborn boy, who is apparently the most seriously hurt, was pinned beneath the motorcycle.

Fifteen Players Left in 13th Annual Southwestern Tennis Tournament

DALLAS, Texas, July 29.—Seeded players in both the singles and doubles survived the early rounds of play in the thirteenth annual Southwestern Tennis tournament today on the courts of the Dallas Lawn Tennis club.

John Barr, youthful Dallas ace, who holds the Southwestern doubles title with Levin Jester, arrived from Wisconsin where he competed in the finals there Saturday. Barr played three matches Tuesday, disposing of his first and second round singles opponents and winning his first doubles match.

With the completion of the second round singles, competition gets under way in earnest Wednesday. Of the more than 50 starters in the tournament, the 16 players reaching the third round represent good tennis all up and down the line. Only 15 are left to play Wednesday, as the present champion, Levin Jester, eliminated his third round opponent, Pat Daugherty, Rice institute freshman, in straight sets.

Bradley Hogue of Dallas, former southwestern singles and doubles champion, will meet Roger Stone of Oklahoma City, both having disposed of Dallas opponents today in straight sets. Henry Lawrence of Fort Worth will be pitted against the veteran of the Dallas lawn tennis courts, Witcher Settles. Both had hard matches today, Lawrence defeating F. V. Lawney, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, and Settle besting Carl Hilliard, whose stroke was slightly off his stride, 6-3, 3-6, 6-0. Ben Parks, stellar racquet man from Oklahoma City, a seeded player in the tourney, will meet Albert Reed of Waco.

BLONDY CROSS

Well, Spudders didn't get beat yesterday.

Two victories to date on the present road jaunt isn't very sweet music, but outside of the two Dallas fiascos last week Bud and his proteges have been playing 'em close to the hilt.

There is still a slim chance to break nearly even for the trip. Two games yet in Galveston, and four in Shreveport. Lost eight out of the last 10. Four were extra-inning tilts, and two others were mighty close games.

There is still talk of organizing a boxing commission locally. Several of the more rabid fans are discussing the matter and expect very soon to come forward with plans for such an organization. Probably hear more of it the latter part of the week.

The big object of the commission to be, as we understand it, is to insure as far as possible fast fights, and decisions of a more correct nature than has been the custom heretofore.

Wichita Falls tennis enthusiasts, or rather several of them, believe it a good idea to throw open the annual all-city net tournament to entries from Henrietta, Burkburnett, Electra, Iowa Park, and in short all of the towns in territory near Wichita Falls.

Say these netmen, the competition will be merrier, the tournament will be placed on a bigger and better status, and play will not necessarily have to be for the present trophy, but there can be an added cup for tennis players living away from Wichita Falls to compete for. In fact, there would be no damage done in allowing out-of-town players to battle for the cup which is now put up annually by Landon Hill.

TRAMMEL EXPECTS TO STOP RAY MAYWOOD BEFORE ALLOTTED TIME

Denton Doesn't Believe His Bout Will Go Limit—Monte May Be Added to Program.

Cauliflower row broke loose anew Tuesday, and the bulk of the Thursday legion card jerked off several heated hours of training in the legion hall.

The only boxers of the program not present yesterday was wee Dickie Dixon of Fort Worth who is billed for eight rounds with Tabby Levine of Wichita Falls in the final tilt of the evening. Dixon is expected in town some time today, said Promoter Wofford yesterday.

It has been decided to lengthen the Rich-Denton bout from ten rounds to 12. This scrap comes next to the final event of the card.

Trammel Says O. K.

The Trammel-Maywood go is to be over the eight-round route. Trammel declared yesterday that he would not need that many cantos to prove his supremacy over the local boxer who has twice battled him to a draw. Duke is in the best of condition, and expects to get rid of Maywood in short order.

Should Maywood lose the bout it will go hard with him, for Ray is now a family man. The glovester ventured into the realms of matrimony just last week, so he will be fighting for house and home tomorrow night, so to speak.

Denton O. K., Too.

There are strong possibilities of Wildcat Monte being added to the program if a suitable opponent can be located in time. Monte is in well nigh perfect condition, and is ready to go at a moment's notice.

Rich also is in good shape, probably the best condition of his career. The Denton-Rich affair will be a slam-bang battle, and there will be a knockout, say both boxers.

Superior Elects to Follow Magnolia Prices As Basis For Purchases

FOLLOWS CUT OF SATURDAY

Action Similar to Earlier Move of Texhoma, American and Others

The Superior Oil Producing company has notified its customers that in the future they will use the posted prices of the Magnolia Petroleum company as a basis for their purchases in this district. Letters to this effect were received by the producers of the Burkburnett district selling to the Superior yesterday, the letters being as of July 26, the date of the Magnolia's last and most recent cut of 25 cents for high gravity crude.

The company declares that in line with their policy of taking all the oil and not prorating and paying for the entire amount run they will, beginning on the morning of July 26, 7 a. m., until further notice follow the postings of the Magnolia Petroleum company, purchasing oil of 33 degrees gravity and above at $1.25 per barrel. It is further stated that this company will follow these postings whether they be up or down.

It is understood that the Superior purchases something in the neighborhood of 1500 barrels a day of Burkburnett crude.

The action of this company is in line with that of other local companies, notably the Texhoma Oil and Refining company and the American Refining company, who early in the summer notified their customers that purchases on open division order would be paid for on the basis of Magnolia prices until further notice.

The action of the Magnolia Petroleum company in keeping below other posted prices affects in itself about 1300 barrels of Wichita district crude. With the independent refiners and purchasers that follow their schedule, however, the amount of oil that is purchased with Magnolia postings as a basis reaches a much higher figure and the real importance of a Magnolia cut can be seen.

Lone Star Oil Syndicate Gets Swastika Well

The Lone Star Oil Syndicate has completed their No 1, J. T. Richardson, in the northeast corner of the Swastika field, and have a 40-50 barrel well, it is reported, from 4 1-2 feet of sand at 1,347-1,351 1-2 feet.

The well is located in the ten acre lease of the Lone Star Oil syndicate lease situated in the northeast corner of block 15, J. T. Richardson land, south Anderson ranch sub-division, south Archer county.

The completion lines up a stretch of territory in that section which hitherto had been only semi-proven.

American Ref. Co. Estimates Loss at $8,000

Loss from the explosion of a gasoline tank at the American Refining company's gasoline plant in the northwest field near Burkburnett Sunday was stated at the local offices of the company yesterday to be not more than $8,000, according to their final estimates. Within four hours after the explosion new connections had been made and gas turned to the nearby McMann plant for extraction of gasoline content, so that actual waste for the disablement of the plant amounted to very little.

All of the machinery of the plant was not destroyed, as believed at first, and preparations are being made to reconstruct the plant entirely. It has not been determined how the tank exploded, but it is stated that there was not more than 6,000 gallons of casinghead gasoline in the tank.

ALFORD STARTS UP AGAIN, ANDERSON

Alford and others have started up again after being shut down for several days on their test in block 35, J. L. Wichita Pipeline Co. Finishes Line To Waite Phillips Well and Runs Oil

Construction of this line has taken just about a week, actual work starting last Tuesday, a week ago. The well has been standardized and should be pumped regularly now.

NEW CARSON CO. WELL FINISHED

American Refining Company Well Should Go On Swab Today

The American Refining company has completed its No. 1, Burnett, in the Carson county oil fields near Panhandle, and will place on the swab as soon as pipeline connections are completed, probably today. The hole is standing practically full of oil from 14 feet of sand with the bottom of the hole at about 2,900 feet. Tankage has been erected and there should be no delay in making a produber from the well as soon as connections are fininshed. The well will be thoroughly cleaned out first and then swabbed.

The well is a direct offset to the Texas company's No. 1 Burnett, best producer in the field. The American Refining company has a total of 800 acres of leases in the immediate vicinity of the well, all either proven or partially proven.

The Plains Pipe Line company will handle the oil, taking it to its loading rack at Panhandle, from where it is shipped to Amarillo to be taken care of by the Amarillo Refining company.

The No. 2 well of the American Refining company on this land is also nearing completion and should reach the sand in a few days.

SOILS AND SOIL PHYSICS.

Acid Soils Illustrative of Toxic Conditions.

In recent articles we have been discussing the toxic substance thrown off by the roots of plants. This is a matter related closely to the subject of soil fertilization and we will make use of a certain familiar examples to make plainer some of the points to be brought out.

To illustrate something of the effect of fertilizers in connection with soil toxins and the effect they have on them let us take acid soils. Not because acid soil is filled with plant toxins such as we are discussing but bceause it will give an example of how fertilizers act.

Wherever there is an excess of vegetable matter in the soil and but little lime present then through the action of soil bacteria there is caused a condition known as acid soil.

An acid soil is one in which there is an excess amount of nitric acid. This nitric acid has been produced through the action of soil bacteria and other agencies from the excess of vegetable matter present.

Acid soils are poor soils for most farm crops. Some crops will not grow at all, others only indifferently. The soverign remedy for acid soils is lime. Lime reacts chemically with nitric acid and changes it to another form entirely different in its action towards plants.

In other words lime acts on acid soils as a purifier of the soil by either changing or removing the poison which in this case is nitric acid. It is illustrative of the way fertilizers act on plant toxins in the soil.

Coolidge Told Of Okla. Klan Fight

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Senator Harreld of Oklahoma visited the White House today preparatory to returning home and told President Coolidge that a ku klux klan fight was developing in the republican senatorial fight in Oklahoma as well as in the democratic ranks. He added, however, that this would not interrupt the administration's campaign there and predicted President Coolidge would retain the majority of 25,000 polled by Harding in 1920.

Renewed indications were given that Mr. Coolidge would steer clear of sectional and factional disputes in the campaign.

NEW ORLEANS, July 29.—The cotton market was reactionary today and the trend of prices downward. The decline in the face of continued hot and dry weather in the west was due partly to more favorable advices from the eastern half of the belt, evidence of an early movement in volume both from southern Texas and the lower Mississippi valley and a consequent increase in hedge selling as well as to a private condition average by a prominent authority of 70.5, or two points improvement since the last government report. October after opening 17 points down, experienced a slight rally to 28.51 but gradually declined with occasional fair rallies until the month traded as low as 27.98 during the afternoon, or 64 points down. All active months rallied moderately in the final few minutes of the session on short covering and the close showed net losses for the day of 36 to 43 points.

The weather map showed practically no rain in the belt and the temperature record pointed to continuance of the hot wave in the west. In Texas, 29 stations out of the 36 reporting showed temperatures of 100 to 106 degrees. Two first Mississippi bales of new cotton arrived here, one selling at 40 1-4 cents a pound and the other at 35 cents.

PIERCE BLAZE AT FT. WORTH COSTLY

By The Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, July 29.—Loss in the Pierce Oil corporation refinery fire here last night will reach $50,-000. One tank containing 2000 barrels of oil was destroyed.

MONEY At Work

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

What does it cost to retail?

The cost of retailing takes a good part of the money you spend. When you go into a store you must pay for the time of the clerk who waits upon you, something toward the rent of the building, something toward advertising, for the paper or container used to wrap your purchase and numerous other items of expense.

About eighteen cents out of each dollar you spend in a grocery store goes to meet expenses and about twenty eight cents in a shoe store. Jewelry stores are much more expensive to operate, requiring about forty cents. Men's clothing stores keep about twenty cents out of each dollar to go toward expenses and it costs a similar amount to sell meat. Retailing drugs is somewhat more expensive, amounting to about twenty eight per cent of sales.

RAIN IN CANADA LOWERS WHEAT

But Corn and Rye Hit New High Mark For Season

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 29—Profit taking sales here, together with rain in Canada, pulled down the wheat market today and gave a severe jolt to buyers of other grains. Nevertheless the highest price yet this season were reached for both corn and rye and also for hogs and provisions. Wheat closed nervous 1-4 cent to 1 3-4 cent net lower, September 1.32 3-4 to 1.33 and December 1.35 3-4 to 1.35 7-8, with corn unchanged to 1 1-4 up, oats unchanged to 3-4 cents down and provisions at 12 to 52 cents advance.

Corn showed more stubborn strength than other grains, but during much of the days was evidently responsive to wheat weakness. Warmer weather favorable for corn growth acted only as a handicap for higher price enthusiast although several national advances in hog values was generally regarded as likely to bring about feeding demand for corn.

Oats were relatively weak owing mainly to immense sales by houses that recently have been giving the market its best support.

Fort Worth Live Stock Market Is Very Satisfactory

By The Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, July 29.—Except for a slow, indifferent market on beef steers, the cattle trade was very satisfactory today. Cows were purchased at an advance of 15 to 25 cents, and on heifers, yearlings and bulls the trend was a fully steady affair. Calves changed hands at prices that were steady. Receipts were estimated at 3,000 head of cattle and 1,-000 calves.

Steers were barely steady. Most of the run went at 5.00@6.00.

Consignments of cow and mixed stock sold very readily at the advance, the bulk of fat cows clearing at 3.25@3.50, with some at 4.00@4.15. Cutters brought 2.00@2.50 and canners were taken at 1.50@1.75. Heifers and yearlings sold around 3.50@5.25. Bulls brought 3.25@4.00.

Consignment of stockers were disposed of at unchanged rates.

Packers were unwilling to grant any advances in prices for hogs but shippers were active and purchased most of the hogs trucked to market at rates that were 35 to 40 cents higher. They paid 10.75 for several drafts, a new top for the year, but the big packers stopped at 10.55.

Receipts amount to 850 head, bulk sales made a range of 10.00@10.50.

Pigs sold to the usual broad demand the market showing a strong to 25 cent higher trend, the best grades going at 8.00@8.25.

Steady trade conditions were noted in the sheep house. Receipts were estimated at 500 head, practically the entire supply arriving by truck.

Wife of "Yeast King" Divorced

By The Associated Press.

PARIS, July 29.—A divorce on grounds of abandonment today was granted to Mrs. Laura G. Hyland Hemingway Fleischmann, wife of Julius Fleichmann, former mayor of Cincinnati.

A fortnight ago Mr. Fleischmann, America's "yeast king," admitted that his wife was suing for divorce in the Paris courts. While the terms of the decree were not made known Mr. Fleischmann refused to discuss them, it is understood that they included the settlement of $5,000,000 on Mrs. Fleischmann.

Dudley Field Malone, counsel for Fleischmann, said that Mr. and Mrs. Fleischmann had been separated for over a year, that they parted with the friendliest feeling toward each other and that the only cause for divorce was incompatibility.

Mr. and Mrs. Fleischmann were married in 1920. Both had been married previously and divorced.

NEW YORK, July 29. — Stock prices moved upward today in impressive fashion until just before the close of market when heavy profit taking, apparently based on the fear that the extra dividend of fifty cents on U. S. Steel common might be maintained, caused rather general recession from the high levels, giving final quotations an irregular appearance.

Directors of the U. S. Steel corporation, meeting after the market closed declared an extra of 50c for the third successive quarter, in addition to the regular dividend of $1.25 on the common, and reported total earnings of $41,381,039, or about $6,-000,000 above earlier estimates of conservative observers. Chairman Gary also predicted good business this fall and reported "considerable improvement" in orders received since July 1.

U. S. Steel common touched 104 5-8, a new high on the current movement in the early afternoon, and then reacted to 103 1-4 for a net loss of 3-4 on the day. All the independent steels also closed fractionally lower after having shown net gains of a point or more early in the day.

Some irregularity developed the opening, but within 15 minutes rails, public utilities and industrials were moving upward almost in unison. Trading became more active as the session progressed with the day's sales exceeding one and one quarter million shares, making it one of the most active sessions this year.

Increased public interest in the market is indicated by the fact that brokers' loans have increased about $5,000,000 in the last six weeks, bringing the total to around $1,330,000,000.

Grain Letter

W. N. Graham of Wichita Falls, yesterday received the following from Clement Curtis & Co.:

CHICAGO, July 29.—Wheat: There was no pronounced buying movement today and many longs were inclined to take profits, as crop news, both in the United States and Canada was generally favorable. Reports of the presence of black rust continue but positive evidence of damage is lacking. A decline of about 2 cents induced renewed buying, enough to sustain the market at the moderate decline. The most bullish influence was a report of favorable progress of the reporation conference which helped both wheat and stocks. Bradstreet visible statement was construed as bullish showing a decrease of 4,255,-000 bushels compared with a decrease of 855,000 year ago. New York reported a fairly good export business.

Corn: The rapid advance of the past weeks in the face of favorable weather for growing corn has inclined some to caution, with less activity and some profit taking, prices sagged moderately. Country offerings to arrive are light. Notwithstanding the favorable weather the belief is general that a short crop is almost inevitable and that high prices will prevail next year, market closed steady with little change.

Oats: Market was two sided. Selling was mostly profit taking. Country offering to arrive are increasing. Prices are a shade easier.

Spudders Rained Out In Final Buff Game

TANNER AND CREW INVADE GALVESTON FOR TWO TILTS

Homelings Jump Buffs For 4 to 2 Lead In First Inning But Deluge Stops Chance To Win.

HOUSTON, July 29.—Rain in the first inning of the scheduled Wichita Falls-Houston game, the third and final of the series, forced the calling of the contest.

After the one inning of play the score stood at 4 to 2 in favor of the visiting team. Osborn and Smith were the battery for the Spudders; Kircher and McCurdy for Houston. Kircher gave way for Morris in the first inning after two runs had been scored and the bases were full.

Kircher Wild.

The Spudders four runs were scored on two hits, two walks, two hit batsmen and a sacrifice fly. Fitzgerald singled past second. Coombs walked. Smith sacrificed, pitcher to second, the latter covering first. Weis was hit by a pitched ball, filling the bases. Turgeon walked, forcing in Fitzgerald. Callaghan was hit by a pitched ball, forcing Coombs across. Morris began pitching for Houston. Locker singled to center, scoring Weis. Whit flied to left and Turgeon scored after the catch. Osborn fanned.

After there were two out in Houston's half of the inning, two runs were scored, but a sudden cloudburst stopped the contest. Compton fouled out to Locker. McCarty singled to right. Monroe was called out on strikes. Gainer was safe when Turgeon spilled his roller. McDonald doubled to left, scoring McCarty and Gainer. With one strike on Hafey the game was called on account of rain by Umpire Miller.

Then Shreveport.

The Spudders will open hostilities in Galveston this afternoon in the first of a two-game series. Manager Tanner will more than likely start Bob Osborn back on the mound again today. Galveston is at present riding in the cellar position, and if for no other reason should prove fairly easy pickings for the homelings.

After the Galveston series, the Spudders will invade Shreveport for a quartet, returning to the home lot next Tuesday with the Fort Worth Panthers.

On the present road trip, the Tannermen have lost two games to Dallas, two out of three to San Antonio, two out of three to Beaumont, two out of two to Houston, but have six more contests as yet to play before returning to Wichita Falls.

SHREVEPORT MOUNTS SAN ANTONIO 6 TO 2

Fifteen Players Left in 13th Annual Southwestern Tennis Tournament

DALLAS, Texas, July 29.—Seeded players in both the singles and doubles survived the early rounds of play in the thirteenth annual Southwestern Tennis tournament today on the courts of the Dallas Lawn Tennis club.

John Barr, youthful Dallas ace, who holds the Southwestern doubles title with Levin Jester, arrived from Wisconsin where he competed in the finals there Saturday. Barr played three matches Tuesday, disposing of his first and second round singles opponents and winning his first doubles match.

With the completion of the second round singles, competition gets under way in earnest Wednesday. Of the more than 50 starters in the tournament, the 16 players reaching the third round represent good tennis all up and down the line. Only 15 are left to play Wednesday, as the present champion, Levin Jester, eliminated his third round opponent, Pat Daugherty, Rice institute freshman, in straight sets.

Bradley Hogue of Dallas, former southwestern singles and doubles champion, will meet Roger Stone of Oklahoma City, both having disposed of Dallas opponents today in straight sets. Henry Lawrence of Fort Worth will be pitted against the veteran of the Dallas lawn tennis courts, Witcher Settles. Both had hard matches today, Lawrence defeating F. V. Lawney, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, and Settle besting Carl Hilliard, whose stroke was slightly off his stride, 6-3, 3-6, 6-0. Ben Parks, stellar racquet man from Oklahoma City, a seeded player in the tourney, will meet Albert Reed of Waco.

BLONDY CROSS

Well, Spudders didn't get beat yesterday.

Two victories to date on the present road jaunt isn't very sweet music, but outside of the two Dallas fiascos last week Bud and his proteges have been playing 'em close to the hilt.

There is still a slim chance to break nearly even for the trip. Two games yet in Galveston, and four in Shreveport. Lost eight out of the last 10. Four were extra-inning tilts, and two others were mighty close games.

There is still talk of organizing a boxing commission locally. Several of the more rabid fans are discussing the matter and expect very soon to come forward with plans for such an organization. Probably hear more of it the latter part of the week.

The big object of the commission to be, as we understand it, is to insure as far as possible fast fights, and decisions of a more correct nature than has been the custom heretofore.

Wichita Falls tennis enthusiasts, or rather several of them, believe it a good idea to throw open the annual all-city net tournament to entries from Henrietta, Burkburnett, Electra, Iowa Park, and in short all of the towns in territory near Wichita Falls.

Say these netmen, the competition will be merrier, the tournament will be placed on a bigger and better status, and play will not necessarily have to be for the present trophy, but there can be an added cup for tennis players living away from Wichita Falls to compete for. In fact, there would be no damage done in allowing out-of-town players to battle for the cup which is now put up annually by Landon Hill.

Win Streak Of Thurston Smashed, 9-4

CHICAGO, July 29.—The streak of Pitcher Hollis Thurston, of consecutive wins was broken today when New York defeated Chicago 9 to 4, in the final game of the series. Babe Ruth's homer, his 32nd of the season, with two men on base in the fifth inning, sewed up the game for the Yankees.

TRAMMEL EXPECTS TO STOP RAY MAYWOOD BEFORE ALLOTTED TIME

Denton Doesn't Believe His Bout Will Go Limit—Monte May Be Added to Program.

Cauliflower row broke loose anew Tuesday, and the bulk of the Thursday legion card jerked off several heated hours of training in the legion hall.

The only boxers of the program not present yesterday was wee Dickie Dixon of Fort Worth who is billed for eight rounds with Tabby Levine of Wichita Falls in the final tilt of the evening. Dixon is expected in town some time today, said Promoter Wofford yesterday.

It has been decided to lengthen the Rich-Denton bout from ten rounds to 12. This scrap comes next to the final event of the card.

Trammel Says O. K.

The Trammel-Maywood go is to be over the eight-round route. Trammel declared yesterday that he would not need that many cantos to prove his supremacy over the local boxer who has twice battled him to a draw. Duke is in the best of condition, and expects to get rid of Maywood in short order.

Should Maywood lose the bout it will go hard with him, for Ray is now a family man. The glovester ventured into the realms of matrimony just last week, so he will be fighting for house and home tomorrow night, so to speak.

Denton O. K., Too.

There are strong possibilities of Wildcat Monte being added to the program if a suitable opponent can be located in time. Monte is in well nigh perfect condition, and is ready to go at a moment's notice.

Rich also is in good shape, probably the best condition of his career. The Denton-Rich affair will be a slam-bang battle, and there will be a knockout, say both boxers.

Superior Elects to Follow Magnolia Prices As Basis For Purchases

FOLLOWS CUT OF SATURDAY

Action Similar to Earlier Move of Texhoma, American and Others

The Superior Oil Producing company has notified its customers that in the future they will use the posted prices of the Magnolia Petroleum company as a basis for their purchases in this district. Letters to this effect were received by the producers of the Burkburnett district selling to the Superior yesterday, the letters being as of July 26, the date of the Magnolia's last and most recent cut of 25 cents for high gravity crude.

The company declares that in line with their policy of taking all the oil and not prorating and paying for the entire amount run they will, beginning on the morning of July 26, 7 a. m., until further notice follow the postings of the Magnolia Petroleum company, purchasing oil of 33 degrees gravity and above at $1.25 per barrel. It is further stated that this company will follow these postings whether they be up or down.

It is understood that the Superior purchases something in the neighborhood of 1800 barrels a day of Burkburnett crude.

The action of this company is in line with that of other local companies, notably the Texhoma Oil and Refining company and the American Refining company, who early in the summer notified their customers that purchases on open division order would be paid for on the basis of Magnolia prices until further notice.

The action of the Magnolia Petroleum company in keeping below other posted prices affects in itself about 1300 barrels of Wichita district crude. With the independent refiners and purchasers that follow their schedule, however, the amount of oil that is purchased with Magnolia postings as a basis reaches a much higher figure and the real importance of a Magnolia cut can be seen.

Lone Star Oil Syndicate Gets Swastika Well

The Lone Star Oil Syndicate has completed their No. 1, J. T. Richardson, in the northeast corner of the Swastika field, and have a 40-50 barrel well, it is reported, from 4 1-2 feet of sand at 1,347-1,351 1-2 feet.

The well is located in the ten acre lease of the Lone Star Oil syndicate lease situated in the northeast corner of block 15, J. T. Richardson land, south Anderson ranch sub-division, south Archer county.

The completion lines up a stretch of territory in that section which hitherto had been only semi-proven.

American Ref. Co. Estimates Loss at $8,000

Loss from the explosion of a gasoline tank at the American Refining company's gasoline plant in the northwest field near Burkburnett Sunday was stated at the local offices of the company yesterday to be not more than $8,000, according to their final estimates. Within four hours after the explosion new connections had been made and gas turned to the nearby McMann plant for extraction of gasoline content, so that actual waste for the disablement of the plant amounted to very little.

All of the machinery of the plant was not destroyed, as believed at first, and preparations are being made to reconstruct the plant entirely. It has not been determined how the tank exploded, but it is stated that there was not more than 6,000 gallons of casinghead gasoline in the tank.

ALFORD STARTS UP AGAIN, ANDERSON

Allford and others have started up again after being shut down for several days on their test in block 35, J. L. Anderson land, Clark and Plumb sub-division, block 4, southeast of the old Ladd and Hanon-Mahlstead and Mook well in block 90. It is expected to reach the 900-foot sand found in that well within the next few days.

RILEY SETTING 8-INCH AT 670

OLNEY, July 28.—In survey 1,469, abstract 895, Zuster land, Rile et al are setting eight inch casing at 670 feet. This is two and a half miles north of the Peter et al test near Jean, which encountered an oil sand on the Simms farm, survey 620, at 705 feet.

EAGLE CREEK CO. HAS DIFFICULTY IN GETTING GOOD SEAT

OLNEY, July 29.—The Eagle Creek company on the Cheeves tract, block 1, southeast of the Knight-Hines-Panhandle well on the Ragle pool is underreaming preparatory to setting casing. The first attempt to set casing proved unsuccessful and underreaming was necessary in order to seat properly.

SHAMROCK SETS CASING ON TWO

The Shamrock Oil company has reached the sand and is setting casing on their No's 5 and 6, Campbell Banking company land, Swastika, depth on the No. 5 being give as between 1,328 and 1,329 feet, and on No. 6, as arpund 1,332 feet.

Wichita Pipeline Co. Finishes Line To Waite Phillips Well and Runs Oil

Swastika Line Nearing Completion With Pipe Nearly All Laid

The Wichita Pipeline company finished its two-inch line from the Waite Phillips well on the Wilson land, Horrits survey, southeast of the Sunshine pool, Monday, and ran the first oil from the well over the two-inch line and into the main Swastika line under construction, yesterday, emptying a 250-barrel storage tank on the lease.

Construction of this line has taken just about a week, actual work starting last Tuesday, a week ago. The well has been standardized and should be pumped regularly now.

The Wichita Pipeline company expects to be through laying pipe on their line to Swastika by Friday and to be able to run oil immediately after. The Waite Phillips pipe line connects with the main carrier in block 150, Mrs. J. Turbeville land, Robert Carson survey, abstract 5.

NEW CARSON CO. WELL FINISHED

American Refining Company Well Should Go On Swab Today

The American Refining company has completed its No. 1, Burnett, in the Carson county oil fields near Panhandle, and will place on the swab as soon as pipeline connections are completed, probably today. The hole is standing practically full of oil from 14 feet of sand with the bottom of the hole at about 2,990 feet. Tankage has been erected and there should be no delay in making a producer from the well as soon as connections are fininshed. The well will be thoroughly cleaned out first and then swabbed.

The well is a direct offset to the Texas company's No. 1 Burnett, best producer in the field. The American Refining company has a total of 800 acres of leases in the immediate vicinity of the well, all either proven or partially proven.

The Plains Pipe Line company will handle the oil, taking it to its loading rack at Panhandle, from where it is shipped to Amarillo to be taken care of by the Amarillo Refining company.

The No. 2 well of the American Refining company on this land is also nearing completion and should reach the sand in a few days.

Texas Co. No. 1 Orton, 20-Bbl. Well

The Texas company has placed their No. 1, B. Orton on the pump in the 1,780 foot sand after deepening from the 1,580 foot pay and have about a twenty-barrel well. Actual guage showed 68 barrels for the first twelve hours and output at the rate of about 20 barrels a day thereafter. Sand depth is 1,787-94 feet.

The Texhoma is drilling about 1,100 feet down in their No. 6, Kemp and Kempner, north of the Panhandle No. 3, Orton, big producer from the 1,787 foot sand.

BOWEN AND ROSS BELOW 900 FEET

Bowen and Ross are drilling below 900 feet on their test south and east of the Cumley-Callendar-Stump well on the Stone land, Parker county school lands, Clay county.

SUNSHINE AT 1,724 FT. IN LIME, DUNDEE

The Sunshine Oil and Refining company is drilling past 1,724 feet on their test west of Dundee in Archer county, and are still in line. Location of the test is near the southwest corner of the northeast quarter of section 5, H. Reilly survey, abstract 209, Archer county.

REX CANNON ET AL ABANDON TEST ON ANNIE P. JACKSON

SOILS AND SOIL PHYSICS.

Acid Soils Illustrative of Toxic Conditions.

In recent articles we have been discussing the toxic substance thrown off by the roots of plants. This is a matter related closely to the subject of soil fertilization and we will make use of a certain familiar examples to make plainer some of the points to be brought out.

To illustrate something of the effect of fertilizers in connection with soil toxins and the effect they have on them let us take acid soils. Not because acid soil is filled with plant toxins such as we are discussing but because it will give an example of how fertilizers act.

Wherever there is an excess of vegetable matter in the soil and but little lime present then through the action of soil bacteria there is caused a condition known as acid soil.

An acid soil is one in which there is an excess amount of nitric acid. This nitric acid has been produced through the action of soil bacteria and other agencies from the excess of vegetable matter present.

Acid soils are poor soils for most farm crops. Some crops will not grow at all, others only indifferently. The soverign remedy for acid soils is line. Lime reacts chemically with nitric acid and changes it to another form entirely different in its action towards plants.

In other words lime acts on acid soils as a purifier of the soil by either changing or removing the poison which in this case is nitric acid. It is illustrative of the way fertilizers act on plant toxins in the soil.

BOYS IN TEXAS MURDER SIGHTED

Wanted For Slaying of Muskogee Deputy Near Ft. Worth

By the Associated Press.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 29. — Police and sheriff's forces in towns about Little Rock were asked today to watch for two men traveling in a racer-type automobile believed to be A. B. and Will Lawrence, wanted in Texas to answer to a charge of murder for the slaying of Joe Morgan, a deputy sheriff, near Fort Worth, on June 16. The two men exchanged shots with city detectives here last night, but outdistanced their pursuers.

One of the fugitives is believed to have been wounded. The shooting occurred on a downtown thoroughfare. The men were armed with pistols and a rifle. Neither of the two officers who exchanged shots with the men was wounded.

Coolidge Told Of Okla. Klan Fight

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Senator Harreld of Oklahoma visited the White House today preparatory to returning home and told President Coolidge that a ku klux klan fight was developing in the republican senatorial fight in Oklahoma as well as in the democratic ranks. He added, however, that this would not interrupt the administration's campaign there and predicted President Coolidge would retain the majority of 25,000 polled by Harding in 1920.

Renewed indications were given that Mr. Coolidge would steer clear of sectional and factional disputes in the campaign.

NEW ORLEANS, July 29.—The cotton market was reactionary today and the trend of prices downward. The decline in the face of continued hot and dry weather in the west was due partly to more favorable advices from the eastern half of the belt, evidence of an early movement in volume both from southern Texas and the lower Mississippi valley and a consequent increase in hedge selling as well as to a private condition average by a prominent authority of 70.5, or two points improvement since the last government report. October after opening 17 points down, experienced a slight rally to 28.51 but gradually declined with occasional fair rallies until the month traded as low as 27.98 during the afternoon, or 64 points down. All active months rallied moderately in the final few minutes of the session on short covering and the close showed net losses for the day of 36 to 43 points.

The weather map showed practically no rain in the belt and the temperature record pointed to continuance of the hot wave in the west. In Texas, 29 stations out of the 36 reporting showed temperatures of 100 to 106 degrees. Two first Mississippi bales of new cotton arrived here, one selling at 40 1-4 cents a pound and the other at 35 cents.

PIERCE BLAZE AT FT. WORTH COSTLY

By The Associated Press

FORT WORTH, July 29.—Loss in the Pierce Oil corporation refinery fire here last night will reach $50,000. One tank containing 2000 barrels of oil was destroyed.

MONEY At Work

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

What does it cost to retail?

The cost of retailing takes a good part of the money you spend. When you go into a store you must pay for the time of the clerk who waits upon you, something toward the rent of the building, something toward advertising for the paper or container used to wrap your purchase and numerous other items of expense.

About eighteen cents out of each dollar you spend in a grocery store goes to meet expenses and about twenty eight cents in a shoe store. Jewelry stores are much more expensive to operate, requiring about forty cents. Men's clothing stores keep about twenty cents out of each dollar to go toward expenses and it costs a similar amount to sell meat. Retailing drugs is somewhat more expensive amounting to about twenty eight per cent of sales.

RAIN IN CANADA LOWERS WHEAT

But Corn and Rye Hit New High Mark For Season

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 29.—Profit taking sales here, together with rain in Canada, pulled down the wheat market today and gave a severe jolt to buyers of other grains. Nevertheless the highest price yet this season were reached for both corn and rye and also for hogs and provisions. Wheat closed nervous 1-4 cent to 1 3-4 cent net lower, September 1.32 3-4 to 1.33 and December 1.35 3-4 to 1.35 7-8 with corn unchanged to 1 1-4 up, oats unchanged to 3-4 cents down and provisions at 12 to 52 cents advance.

Corn showed more stubborn strength than other grains, but during much of the days was evidently responsive to wheat weakness. Warmer weather favorable for corn growth acted only as a handicap for higher price enthusiast although sensational advances in hog values was generally regarded as likely to bring about feeding demand for corn.

Oats were relatively week owing mainly to immense sales by houses that recently have been giving the market its best support.

Arbuckle Wins Own K-C Case

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, July 29.—Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, former screen actor, appeared in the upper house of the city council here last night where a resolution was pending in protest against his appearance at a Kansas City theatre. He was granted the privilege of the floor, pleaded his own case and won.

The resolution stated that the churches and women's clubs were opposed to his appearance here in person or in pictures and asked the council to back up these interests in a protest against his showing here.

Fort Worth Live Stock Market Is Very Satisfactory

By The Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, July 29.—Except for a slow, indifferent market on beef steers, the cattle trade was very satisfactory today. Cows were purchased at an advance of 15 to 25 cents, and on heifers, yearlings and bulls the trend was a fully steady affair. Calves changed hands at prices that were steady. Receipts were estimated at 3,000 head of cattle and 1,000 calves.

Steers were barely steady. Most of the run went at 5.00@6.00.

Consignments of cow and mixed stock sold very readily at the advance, the bulk of fat cows clearing at 3.25@3.50, with some at 4.00@4.15. Cutters brought 2.00@2.50 and canners were taken at 1.50@1.75. Heifers and yearlings sold around 3.50@5.25. Bulls brought 3.25@4.00.

Consignment of stockers were disposed of at unchanged rates.

Packers were unwilling to grant any advances in prices for hogs but shippers were active and purchased most of the hogs trucked to market at rates that were 35 to 40 cents higher. They paid 10.75 for several drafts, a new top for the year, but the big packers stopped at 10.35.

Receipts amount to 850 head, bulk sales made a range of 10.00@10.50.

Pigs sold to the usual broad demand the market showing a strong to 25 cent higher trend, the best grades going at 8.00@8.25.

Steady trade conditions were noted in the sheep house. Receipts were estimated at 500 head, practically the entire supply arriving by truck.

Wife of "Yeast King" Divorced

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, July 29.—A divorce on grounds of abandonment today was granted to Mrs. Laura G. Hyland Hemingway Fleischmann, wife of Julius Fleischmann, former mayor of Cincinnati.

A fortnight ago Mr. Fleischmann, America's "yeast king," admitted that his wife was suing for divorce in the Paris courts. While the terms of the decree were not made known Mr. Fleischmann refused to discuss them, it is understood that they included the settlement of $5,000,000 on Mrs Fleischmann.

Dudley Field Malone, counsel for Fleischmann, said that Mr and Mrs Fleischmann had been separated for over a year, that they parted with the friendliest feeling toward each other and that the only cause for divorce was incompatibility.

Mr and Mrs. Fleischmann were married in 1920. Both had been married previously and divorced.

Total stocq sales 1,276,500 shares.

NEW YORK, July 29. — Stock prices moved upward today in impressive fashion until just before the close of market when heavy profit taking, apparently based on the fear that the extra dividend of fifty cents on U. S. Steel common might be maintained, caused rather general recession from the high levels, giving final quotations an irregular appearance.

Directors of the U. S. Steel corporation, meeting after the market closed declared an extra of 50c for the third successive quarter, in addition to the regular dividend of $1.25 on the common, and reported total earnings of $41,381,039, or about $6,000,000 above earlier estimates of conservative observers. Chairman Gary also predicted good business this fall and reported "considerable improvement" in orders received since July 1.

U. S. Steel common touched 104 5-8, a new high on the current movement in the early afternoon, and then reacted to 103 1-4 for a net loss of 3-4 on the day. All the independent steels also closed fractionally lower after having shown net gains of a point or more early in the day.

Some irregularity developed in the opening but within 15 minutes rails, public utilities and industrials were moving upward almost in unison. Trading became more active as the session progressed with the day's sales exceeding one and one quarter million shares, making it one of the most active sessions this year.

Increased public interest in the market is indicated by the fact that brokers' loans have increased about $5,000,000 in the last six weeks, bringing the total to around $1,530,000,000.

Grain Letter

W. N. Graham of Wichita Falls, yesterday received the following from Clement Curtis & Co.:

CHICAGO, July 29.—Wheat: There was no pronounced buying movement today and many longs were inclined to take profits, as crop news, both in the United States and Canada was generally favorable. Reports of the presence of black rust continue but positive evidence of damage is lacking. A decline of about 2 cents induced renewed buying, enough to sustain the market at the moderate decline. The most bullish influence was a report of favorable progress of the reporation conference which helped both wheat and stocks. Bradstreet visible statement was construed as bullish showing a decrease of 4,253,000 bushels compared with a decrease of 855,000 year ago. New York reported a fairly good export business.

Corn: The rapid advance of the past weeks in the face of favorable weather for growing corn has inclined some to caution, with less activity and some profit taking, prices sagged moderately. Country offerings to arrive are light. Notwithstanding the favorable weather the belief is general that a short crop is almost inevitable and that high prices will prevail next year, market closed steady with little change.

Oats: Market was two sided, Selling was mostly profit taking. Country offering to arrive are increasing. Prices are a shade easier.

Billy Whiskers

By FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY.

The next morning Mr. Roland took Stubby away out into the country with him in his auto, and Nellie carried Button over to her friend's to show her the big, fine cat she had found out on the rocks. Consequently Billy was left alone to amuse himself as best he could.

He wandered around for a while and at last went down to the lake and took a swim, coming out as clean and white as a fresh bale of cotton. Then not knowing what to do with himself, he decided to go up into the town and see how it looked to him. Not being a very large town, he had no difficulty in locating the main street and then the largest church, the movie theatre and the schoolhouse. As he walked down the street, he stopped to help himself to a peach here and a plum there at the different fruit stands, as well as to several bunches of asparagus and a peck or two of green peas that he saw in baskets outside the grocery stores.

When he reached the schoolhouse he found it was recess time and all the children were out in the yard playing tag, leap frog, crack-the-whip and such games as children always play at school. Billy stood watching them for some time and as they seemed to be having such great fun, he thought he would go in and join in a game of pussy-wants-a-corner he saw four or five girls and boys playing. Much to the surprise of this group, the first thing they knew a big, white goat was running from tree to tree to get an empty corner just as they were doing. At first they were so astonished that they stopped playing, but soon they went on as Billy kept running from tree to tree, frisking his little paint brush of a tail and kicking up his legs with glee. You remember he had lost part of his tail in France in the war where it was blown off by a bomb which sent him flying up in the air.

Presently all the children had stopped their games to watch Billy play pussy-wants-a-corner. He was just beginning to grow tired of the sport when the school bell pealed out that recess was over and all the children ran to form in line to march back to their rooms. Each room had a separate line of its own. When Billy saw this, he too went and stood in line. As he knew nothing about the different rooms, he selected a line in which stood a pretty little girl with yellow hair hanging in long braids down her back. She was the last one in the line, and being very busy talking to the little girl just in front of her, she did not notice that any one was standing behind her.

"Her hair looks just like straw. It is just the color of it," thought Billy. "I wonder if it tastes like it too." And thereupon he began to chew the end of one of her braids.

(Tomorrow we shall find out how the little girl likes it.)

And We Thought Of Balm In Giliad

By the Associated Press.

CEDAR POINT, Ohio, July 29.—Men's apparel, plaid this year, is going to be more so next year, according to delegates attending the annual sessions of the Merchant Tailors Designers' association.

The designers who are applying their ingenuity to style for the spring and summer of 1925 say that the average man has never looked with favor on the "finshy make-up."

They declare that the thing that is causing the most worry at the present time is the outing and particularly the golfing costumes.

"We have gone the limit in the matter of the golfing outfit," said John R. Aikens of Detroit. "A new idea in the golf suit line excites much interest among the designers who have about worn themselves out thinking up this, that and the other thing."

JAP WRECK LIST VICTIMS LARGE

By The Associated Press.

TOKIO, July 29.—Although a few more passengers and members of the crew of the steamer Tairei maru, wrecked off the northeast coast of Hikkaido Island, have landed from life boats, 102 passengers and 52 of the crew still are missing and are believed to have been drowned.

It has been established that the disaster was due to a collision with the freighter Shimpo Maru, the Tairei sinking in 20 minutes. The Shimpo Maru was damaged but was able to proceed.

WALTON SUBJECT FOR EGG CURE

By The Associated Press.

MUSKOGEE, Okla., July 29.—While addressing a large crowd in a park here last night in the interest of his candidacy for the democratic senatorial nomination J. C. Walton, deposed governor, was made the target for several eggs hurled by a small boy. None of the eggs struck Walton, although one of them hit the speaker's stand and spattered over several spectators.

Walton severely scored the ku klux klan in his speech and charged that organization with being responsible for the boy's prank. He interceded in behalf of the boy when several members of the crowd seized him.

Gold Production in U. S. Shows Continued Decrease

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July.—Canada by 1926 will displace the United States as second among the gold producing countries of the world, in the opinion of Louis D. Huntoon, New York mining engineer and a former professor of mining and metallurgy at Yale university. Canada is now third Africa ranking first.

Mr. Huntoon, after a prolonged study of the Dominion's gold districts, reports his conclusions in the official journal of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers. Canada's output of gold is increasing rapidly, he says, while in the United States since 1915 there has been a rapid decline.

HOW IT STARTED

The Inch, the Foot and the Yard.

The basis of all measurement was a man's foot. But it is a far cry from that primitive foot to the exact standards of measurement in use today. For centuries measurement was more or less arbitrary although efforts were constantly being made throughout Europe during the middle ages for standardization at least in the various countries.

An example of the clumsy methods through which our various units, finally evolved, is in the following quotation from Koebel's work on surveying, which describes the making of the foot length in Germany in the sixteenth century.

"To find the length of a rood in the right and lawful way, and according to scientific usage, you shall do as follows: Stand at the door of a church on a Sunday and bid sixteen men to stop, tall ones and small ones, as they happen to pass out when the service is finished; then make them put their left feet, one behind the other, and the length thus obtained shall be a right and lawful rood to measure and survey the land with, and the sixteenth part of it shall be a right and lawful foot."

The yard was established in England by Henry I as the distance from the point of his nose to the end of his thumb—a method which is still emulated by dressmakers lacking a yardstick. The word "yard" we have from the old "gyrdan" which measured the girth of the body.

As to other measuring units taken from parts of the body we have the old fathom (from faethm, the embrace), which is the length of both arms from tip to tip—the hand for four inches, and the middle finger for an eighth of a yard. "Inch" comes to us from the Anglo-Saxon "ynce" from the Latin "uncia," meaning one-twelfth of a foot.

At one time in England parliament seriously established standards of length and weight according to the grains of wheat or barley. And few people realize that shoes are still numbered according to the length of a grain of barley in a system of numeration by thirteens!

Burial Rites For Catholic Dean

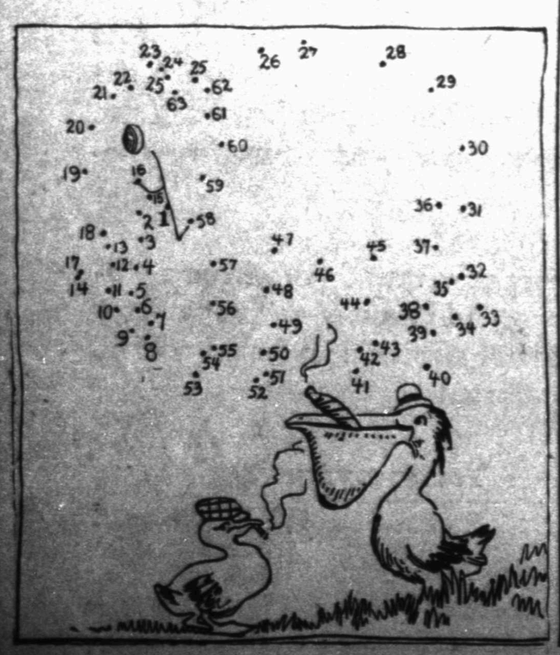

By the Associated Press.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 29.—Church dignitaries from a number of states were gathered here today for the final funeral services over the body of Right Rev. Leo Haid, vicar apostolic of North Carolina, titular bishop of Messen and dean of the Catholic heirarchy in the United States, who died Thursday in Belmont cathedral abbey where he had served as abbot since 1885.

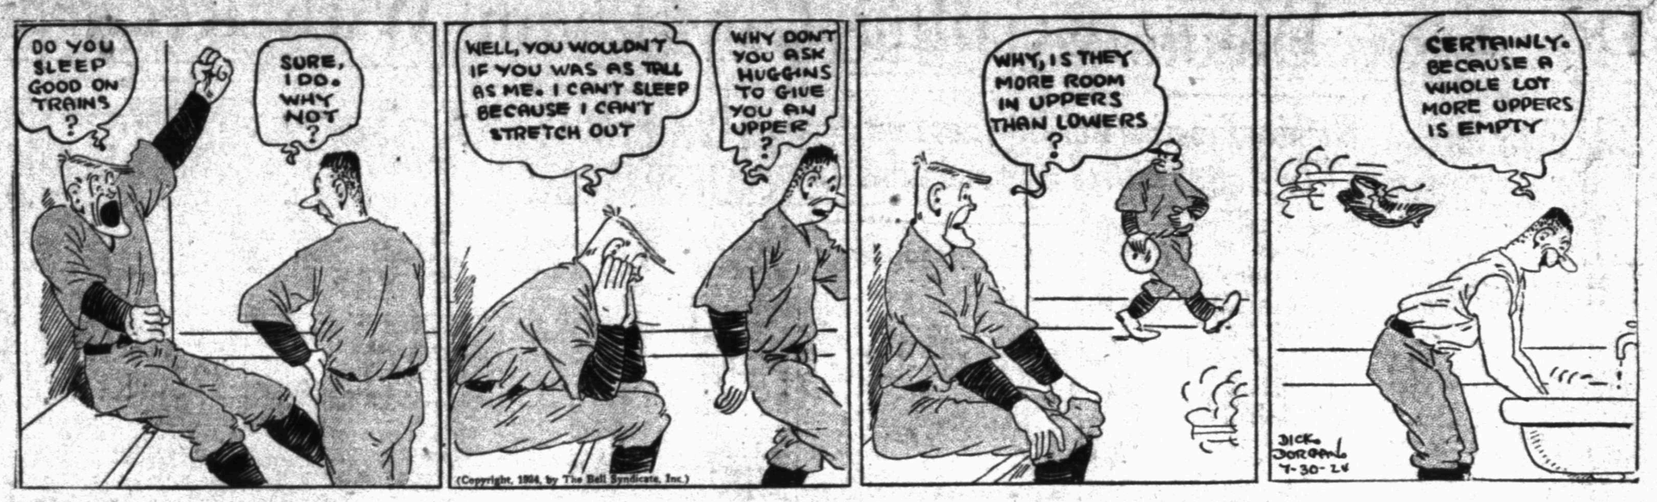

The cathedral which has been the scene of his labors for many years and where his body has rested in state for three days became the scene of the impressive public funeral rites, preceding simpler ceremonies in the presence only of relatives and church dignitaries in the monastic ceremony nearby.

Acting Chairman Hatchitt Calls Convention Saturday

Official call for the Wichita county democratic convention, to be held at the court house Saturday, was issued Tuesday by J. B. Hatchitt, acting chairman of the democratic executive committee.

The call is as follows:

As acting county chairman of the democratic executive committee of Wichita county, I hereby call attention of Article 3134, Chap. 10, Title 49 of the revised statutes of Texas, (Vernon 1920) which requires each political party to hold its county convention on the first Saturday after each primary election day.

The county convention for the democratic party will be held at the county court house in Wichita Falls on Saturday, August 2, at 2 p. m.

This assembly will elect one delegate to the state and several district conventions for each 300 votes, or major fraction thereof, cast for the party's nominee for governor in Wichita county at the last preceding election.

The county convention will be composed of the delegates elected in the various voting precincts last Saturday at the mass convention there held.

J. B. HATCHITT,
Acting chairman of the democratic executive committee for Wichita county, Texas.

FOLKS SEARCH FOR COOLNESS

Business Depression To One Side; Wichita Deserted

Despite reports of business depression, as many people are traveling this summer as they did last summer, according to local railroad officials. All during the present summer business has been as good as that of last summer and as many people are hunting cooler climates as they did last summer, an official said Tuesday.

People from Wichita Falls are buying tickets to Colorado, California, Galveston, and other places to escape the warmest part of the summer in Wichita Falls. Some few are going to Canada in an effort to find a cool place—and a cool drink. Every train that passes through Wichita Falls has a capacity crowd on it and the majority of these people are those that are taking a vacation and are not on business.

Although many people are traveling, officials are of the opinion that the traffic in August will be heavier than any other month. August is the warmest month of the year in this part of the country and for that reason many people delay their trips until that month. Many who have children make arrangements to leave Wichita Falls about the first of August, spend a month in a cooler climate and then back to Wichita Falls for the opening of school.

BUILDING CODE MAY BE FOUGHT

Threatening Gestures From Contractors Already Seen

The possibility of some amendments to the city building code has been suggested by court action involving various local contractors lately, and while no definite action has yet been decided upon, it is understood that the council will in the near future be asked to modify some of the provisions of the code.

A few contractors who have been arrested and fined on charges of violating provisions of the code are understood to believe that the acts they are charged with having violated are unfair and unnecessary.

For this reason, it is reported, they will seek a modification of the provisions.

IF SICK TODAY! TAKE NO CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Straightens You Up Better Than Salivating, Dangerous Calomel and Doesn't Upset You—Don't Lose a Day's Work. Read Guarantee

I discovered a vegetable compound that does the work of dangerous, sickening calomel and I want every reader of this paper to buy a bottle for a few cents and if it doesn't straighten you up better and quicker than salivating calomel. Just go back to the store and get your money back.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your thirty feet of bowels of the sour bile and constipation poison which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable.

I guarantee that one spoonful of this harmless liquid liver medicine will relieve the headache, biliousness, coated tongue, ague, malaria, sour stomach or any other distress caused by a torpid liver as quickly as a dose of vile, nauseating calomel, besides it will not make you sick or keep you from a day's work.

Calomel is poison—it's mercury—it attacks the bones often causing rheumatism. Calomel is dangerous. It sickens—while my Dodson's Liver Tone is safe, pleasant and harmless. Eat anything afterwards, because it can not salivate. Give it to the children because it doesn't upset the stomach or shock the liver. Take a spoonful tonight and wake up feeling fine and ready for a full day's work. Adv.

River Flushed of Stagnation Following Dry Spell

A plea to the local irrigation officials last week has resulted in a flushing out of the Wichita river and consequent relief for residents along the banks, who for the past few weeks have been suffering considerably from stench and fumes brought about by low water stagnation. At the request of Mayor Collier, the irrigation officers have opened the flood gates of Lake Kemp and Tuesday afternoon a foot or more of water was flowing through the channel.

The low water stagnation has been an annual summer complaint heretofore, but with plenty of water available in Lake Kemp it is now believed the river can be flushed out sufficiently often to do away with this condition. By merely filling the channel with water, the refuse, rubbish and trash that accumulates and rots in low places of the bed are washed away.

The irrigation officials have promised to furnish enough water at all times to keep the channel clear, it is understood.

Lion and Shepherd Story Is Put To Shame In Faith City

The sun was shining again for a ragged urchin Tuesday afternoon when a copious flow of tears touched the heart of a local dentist and a troublesome tooth was yanked out of the suffering patient's head.

Seated on the curb at the corner of Eighth and Scott, the youngster attracted instant and considerable attention early Tuesday afternoon when he began to wail with such vim that it could be heard half-a-block away. Several men stopped to see why all the commotion, and the first man to ask the question happened to be a dentist.

The boy pointed to a swollen jaw and told a mournful tale of a tooth that wouldn't quit aching.

"Well, just come up here with me a minute and we'll fix that," he was told.

Ten minutes later the kid crawled out of the dentist's chair, his face all in smiles.

Business Depression To One Side; Wichita Deserted

Despite reports of business depression, as many people are traveling this summer as they did last summer, according to local railroad officials. Lion and Shepherd Story Is Put To Shame In Faith City

The sun was shining again for a ragged urchin Tuesday afternoon when a copious flow of tears touched the heart of a local dentist and a troublesome tooth was yanked out of the suffering patient's head.

Seated on the curb at the corner of Eighth and Scott, the youngster attracted instant and considerable attention early Tuesday afternoon when he began to wail with such vim that it could be heard half-a-block away. Several men stopped to see why all the commotion, and the first man to ask the question happened to be a dentist.

The boy pointed to a swollen jaw and told a mournful tale of a tooth that wouldn't quit aching.

"Well, just come up here with me a minute and we'll fix that," he was told.

Ten minutes later the kid crawled out of the dentist's chair, his face all in smiles.

Eczema!

When hot weather is causing those "broken out" or inflamed places to itch so bad you want to scratch the skin off, is the best time to prove that—will heal the congested skin and allow the acid poisons to pass on out, instead of gathering and irritating everything.

They are sold by all dealers in liberal 25c and 50c packages. The 50c size ointment contains three times as much as the 25c size.
