Tid Bits by HVO

THERE'S A need to know the need for more apartments in Eastland, and your opinion would be appreciated. . . . Gail the Chamber of Commerce, 629 - 2332, and let it be known if you think or know there's a need for more housing. Eastland continues to build and brighten: Seen all the beautiful work Jack Elliott's done down at Higginbotham - Bartlett? It sure looks nice on West Main. East on Main you'll see that Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown have turned a vacant building (formerly housing the House of Webster retail store) into a pretty combination meat market and home for Mrs. B's Three D Bake and Bridal Shop. A welcome addition, indeed.

STATE FAIR time always a treat for the family (even for me still on ailing ankle). Debbie Reynolds was Hollywoodish and bubbly in "Irene", another nostalgia kick. Also enjoying the show were the Don Martins and son Larry. At the many, many exhibits, couldn't help but mentally contrasting this Fair of Capitalism and seeing much contrast to the Soviet Exposition of Economic Progress in Moscow this past July. In the Fair mood, you sit on the grass with your family eating corn off the cob as rich butter runs down your chin, and laugh a lot, and look at new cars, farm equipment, livestock, home appliances, handicrafts and art, and if you have children, you take a brief fling at the carnival midway: all for fun. In Moscow, the people looked at tractors and space vehicles and walked a lot. Period. Ran into Coach Steve Wilson at the State Fair and two couples who were on the Russian trip with us. Didn't see SMU, Grambling or Cowboys but of the three, think we'd rather have seen the Grambling - Prairie View game.

UNITED FUND time just around the corner, is a time to reflect on the great programs going in Eastland. There's something for everybody. Due special recognition are the volunteers who work with the various UF agencies. Especially impressive were the some 13 who came before the UF Screening committee, explaining their programs and telling why they deserve funding. Guessing that the directors as a whole were most impressed with Mike Collin's request in behalf of Salvation Army and Eastland Welfare Association. Helped are people who need help NOW, and the SA - EWA undoubtedly do a bang up job. You can join too in thanking the UF directors who have a hard task; hearing all the good requests and then sorting and sifting and trying to decide how the money can best be divided. There's some pretty soul - searching questions every step of the way: how many people are served? What's the philosophy of your baseball program: to win games or play all the boys? These are all questions that need to be answered. In an after - session talk session, of course, the talk always gets around to: with all we've got there needs to be more activities for all youngsters especially in the summer. What's the best approach? One needs that is desperate: we've got to get a Red Cross qualified lifeguard before the Eastland pool can open. Now's the time to be worrying about it. What about a good summer recreational program in which local youngsters could participate, and maybe benefit from use of one of the three gyms at the schools, the tennis courts (which need rebuilding) and all the other recreational and development facilities that exist.

Volunteer leadership might be the key need. Perhaps an organized program in which would - be volunteers could be introduced to programs needing help, would be in order and a worthy project for some organization: a utilization of taken seminar, you might say.

In the Army, you know, you hear: "I need three volunteers. You, you and you."

Johnson, mother of the Library, to Mrs. Herman Hassell, president of the Thursday Afternoon Club, and Mrs. Dan Childress, Library Chairman, during the First Birthday Celebration Monday at Eastland Centennial Memorial Library. CARD OF THANKS

To the churches, clubs, elementary school and many friends, we would like to say thank you for the tremendous help you all have been since the loss of our home.

Just to say thank you is not near enough, but there is no other way to tell you how much each and every thing has helped.

There just isn't any way to write down how our family feels. But we can say we are very proud to live in Eastland and to know so many people who really care.

And this more than makes up for our loss.

From all of us to all of you. Thank you so very much.

HALLIBURTON IS LOOKING FOR THE UNCOMMON INDIVIDUAL— COULD IT BE YOU?

Halliburton Services is looking for ambitious individuals with these qualifications: 21 or over, in good health, high school education or the equivalent, some mechanical aptitude and the desire to get ahead in life.

We are the world's largest oil field service organization and recently the demand for our services has come close to exceeding the supply.

So we've set up a training program lasting about eight months to train capable people to work as oil well cementers, one of the basic oil field services required by oil and gas producers. When you complete this training you are assigned to Halliburton locations either in the U.S. or foreign countries.

During the classroom training you receive excellent pay as well as all lodging, meals and transportation. After completing training and starting as a cementer, you'll get a salary increase and moving costs to your new location.

If you go abroad you'll also get living and family housing allowances and a differential pay increase. There are important tax advantages, too.

Our work is truly unusual. Every assignment is different. A cementer works outside with big, high-powered equipment. The responsibility is yours.

If you're interested, Halliburton Services representatives are interviewing from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday and Sunday, October 12 and 13 at the Ramada Inn, 701 South Loop at U.S. 281 southeast of Stephenville, telephone (817) 965-5001. Appointments are not necessary and your family is welcome. Contact Bill Fuller at the Ramada Inn's Banquet Room. We can arrange interviews at other hours, too. Or write us at Duncan.

Kids like animals and they get the opportunity to have fun with them while learning about their care and feeding through two 4-H programs. In the national 4-H dog care and training program, sponsored by Purina Dog Foods Groups, Ralston Purina Company, youths learn all about caring for their canine friends. Meanwhile, 4-H's who want to learn more about animal care and health can do so through the national 4-H veterinary science program, sponsored by The Upjohn Company.

MILTON KELLNER
Asst. County Agent

4-H today is somewhat like all other organizations in the United States in that it is growing and changing all of the time. It has developed into a multi-interest organization to meet the interests of every kid between the ages of 9 and 19. 4-H projects now include more than just the traditional feeding of livestock or clothing or foods projects. Now it includes descriptions, ranging from veterinary science to rocketry, and anything in between. Of course it still includes all of the traditional projects too, and some of them are quite interesting. You should try one.

4-H is also a lot of fun. It is kids getting together and doing the things that interest them. There are parties and field days, along with camps during the summer and numerous trips that are available under the 4-H program. Projects can be conducted by groups, or you can have an individual project which is yours personally.

October 6 through 13 is National 4-H Week, and there is no better time than right now to contact your local 4-H club leader or your County Extension Agent to find out when the next meeting is in your town. Join up and join in on the fun that other kids in town are now enjoying. 4-H is open to everyone between the ages of 9 and 19, and everyone is welcome regardless of race, creed, color, or national origin. Find out what the 4-H clubs are doing in your town and join in the fun.

Angus Association To Meet

The Leon Valley Angus Association will meet Oct. 14 in Stephenville at the Holiday Inn Cafe at 7:30. The Leon Valley Association is one of several area associations in Texas. Regulation Announced

Students who receive more than half of their support from a household which is ineligible for the food stamp program would also be ineligible for food stamps under a proposed regulation announced today by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The proposed rule applies to any student, age 18 or over, who attends an educational institution beyond high school and is claimed as a tax dependent by an ineligible household (i.e. receives over half his support from that household). It applies only to the individual who is claimed as a tax dependent; other members of the student's household can receive food stamps if they are otherwise eligible. The individual would also have an opportunity to prove that he does not receive over half his support from an ineligible household.

The proposed regulations are scheduled for publication in the Federal Register of September 16. Written comments should be sent to P. Royal Shipp, Acting Director, Food Stamp Division, Food and Nutrition Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. Comments must be received by October 16 and will be open to public inspection.

PROCLAMATION BY THE COUNTY JUDGE OF EASTLAND COUNTY

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME:

I, Scott Bailey, County Judge of Eastland County, do hereby declare the week of October 6 - 12, 1974, as FIRE PREVENTION WEEK in Eastland County, for the following reasons:

WHEREAS, according to the National Fire Protection Association - FIRE'S DAILY TOLL "...every single day in the U.S. is an average of 35 lives, 1,541 homes, 299 apartments, 61 school and college buildings, 111 churches, 22 hospitals and nursing homes, 92 farm buildings, 131 industrial plants, and 270 stores, restaurants, and office buildings.

WHEREAS fire claimed an estimated 11,900 lives and over $3.1 billion in losses last year as a result of ordinary human carelessness - a failure to observe basic safety precautions;

WHEREAS every year about half of America's destructive fires occur in towns under 10,000 population; and

WHEREAS we feel that rural America should be specifically included in FIRE PREVENTION WEEK, October 6 - 12, 1974, we urge all rural citizens of this county to be especially careful in using liquified petroleum gas, gasoline and other petroleum products, electrical appliances, as well as oil or gas fired space heating systems; and

WHEREAS consideration should be given to protecting all farm buildings from lightning damage, that all trash is burned in an approved manner, that all heating systems are in proper working order, and that good housekeeping is practiced not only during FIRE PREVENTION WEEK, but 365 days of the year because too often people are the "THINGS THAT BURN"; and

WHEREAS the Eastland County Farm Bureau, in conjunction with all fire departments in the county have worked together to emphasize fire prevention and protection in rural areas as well as in our cities and towns;

THEREFORE, I urge all citizens of Eastland County to join hands in recognizing this special period by working together fifty two weeks a year to more fully realize the benefits of FIRE PREVENTION WEEK.

PG PARENTS STRONGLY CAUTIONED

County Judge Scott Bailey joins with Eastland County Farm Bureau President Jack Cozart, and Fire Chief C.W. Guthery of Cisco to proclaim the week of October 6 - 12 as Rural Fire Prevention Week in Eastland County.

Judge Bailey urged all rural citizens to be especially fire safety minded during the week and every week. "Utmost care should be used in handling all petroleum products", said the Judge. He further stated that "all buildings should be properly protected from lightning and fire hazards should be removed."

Chief Guthery urged all individuals to check their homes for fire hazards. "Many home fires are caused by faulty wiring, overloaded circuits, circuits over - fused or pennies behind fuses and appliances not properly grounded," said the Chief.

"Rural fires usually are three to six times as destructive as city fires", he added, "because of the time involved in getting to the fire."

The Chief further stated that "last year home fires killed at least 6,650 people or over half of the approximately 11,900 lives lost."

"Children are fire's victims about 30 percent of the time. Some 3,570 youngsters age 15 and under perish from fire each year. And 25 percent or more of these tragedies take place when children are alone or without proper supervision", the Chief said.

"The total bill for U.S. fires in 1973 are over $3.1 billion, so be extremely careful not only during Fire Prevention Week, but 365 days a year", the Chief said.

Farm Bureau president Jack Cozart for Eastland County noted that "the Texas Farm Bureau has been active in promoting fire prevention by sponsoring more than 200 graphic fire demonstrations to schools annually, by offering fire extinguishers to members at reduced rates, sponsoring some 100 volunteer firemen to the Firemen's Training School each year, as well as paying a fire department $75 for answering fire calls when they fight fires involving Farm Bureau insured property."

Angry Cattlemen's Group Organizing To Attack Prices

GOLIAD--A group of angry cattle raisers in this South Texas area are organizing to bring the cattlemen's plight to the attention of the country and to bring pressure through political channels to turn the situation around. Number one target is beef imports.

T.A. Cunningham, Goliad rancher, and president of the Independent Cattlemen's Assn. says the group has signed 30,000 members in its first three weeks. These are largely in South Texas, but he says the movement is rapidly spreading into other parts of the state, including the hill country of West Texas and the Ennis area near Dallas.

"They have dumped foreign meat onto our market that was already crowded, and they're about to break every rancher in the country", he declares. "We don't want to cut the imports down; we want to stop them entirely."

He indicates that the new association plans to seek out friends wherever it can find them in political circles, and point out those politicians who won't go along.

"We figure with enough strength we can get it done."

He says he is not criticizing existing livestock organizations and hope to work with them. However, he feels that if enough had been done in the marketing field, "we wouldn't be selling two-bit calves."

EASTLAND MEMO:

The Weaver Finch, or English Sparrow is commonly called a House Sparrow. He has been called many other names ranging from endearing ones to others not very complimentary. The name "House Sparrow" is derived from the birds abundance, and well being mostly around houses, and buildings.

In 1850 eight pairs were brought from England, and released from cages in Brooklyn, but they did not survive. Sparrows released later did survive, and were an attractive addition to the concrete, and brick urban areas of the northeast. These cities with little greenery or pastoral scenes do still enjoy the fellowship of the House Sparrows. Those folks that released the immigrant sparrows envisioned them controlling canker worms, Japanese beetles and other leaf eating insects.

These House Sparrows are the only birds credited with utilizing the railroads, in part, to settle over America. They did ride the rails to the various parts of the country. The House Sparrow showed up lastly in San Diego, California, in 1913. Through the present, House Sparrows have become common not only all over the U.S., but in Canada, Mexico, and other countries.

You can hardly miss identifying the House Sparrow with his black bib and bill and white cheeks. I do believe that the male is one of the most distinctively marked of all birds. The female is dull resembling many sparrows, but to identify her, she has an unstreaked dingy breast, a bold buffy eye line, along with a streaked back. Young House Sparrows are dull and dingy also. A monotonous, musical chirping is the House Sparrow's trade mark sound, and a tree full of them can really produce an ear full. As the Weaver Finch name would indicate, the House Sparrow is not a Sparrow at all, but belongs to the Finch family. Of the 263 species of the finch family, only two breed in North America. Many of our native Sparrows, although looking like the House Sparrow, have distinctive, different markings, and many have beautiful songs. To view all sparrows including the House Sparrow, in one large look - alike group is a mistake, and future articles will be devoted to a few of the more attractive, and interesting native Sparrows that are seen around the Eastland area. Whether Finch or Sparrow, when the snow is on the ground, they are a friendly, and warm study while eating and moving about.

A deeper study of the House Sparrow will be the nature of our next article. By the way, when does the scissortail head south? Another item: We have not seen a hummingbird since October 2.

Weldon Owens Salutes Cornelius Plant

ED. NOTE: The followings is reprinted from the Dallas Times Herald of last week: Taste of Dallas, that annual eatfest sponsored by Dallas Restaurant Association members for charity, is indirectly associated with one of the most remarkable men in West Texas. Although he is not a restaurateur, he has become eminent in the production of an important part of the food service industry—the menu. His name is Victor Cornelius, and it was not the designing and printing of bills of fare that launched the unusual career of this Eastland native, but printed cardboard theater programs on the side of napkin holders! Cornelius' association with those in food service actually began during the depression. And the menu idea was far removed from any plans he had at that time. The real mother lode that was to give him the idea that would make his fortune was a common juke box. He already had established a giant printing industry for a town the size of Eastland when I

Hearing On New Trail Considered

A hearing is scheduled in 91st District Court Friday to consider motions for a new trial for former Eastland Justice of the Peace Wells Dalton, it has been reported.

Mr. Dalton received a five year unprobated sentence, Aug. 28, and his attorney, Bill B. Hart, has filed motion asking the new trial, citing some eleven points, one of which is the fact, the motion states, that the trial for Dalton was "pushed ahead of over 300 other criminal cases on the docket."

A 91st District Court jury Monday sentenced Dalton to two years in prison. Dalton pleaded "no contest" Monday morning to a charge that he had misappropriated a $55 fine Nov. 18 while acting in his capacity as Precinct 1 Justice of the Peace.

The penalty range considered was two to 10 years in prison, and the jury deliberated 45 minutes before reaching a decision.

District Attorney Ed Paynter of Abilene prosecuted.

Paynter said Monday that it is likely Dalton will stand trial on at least a few of those other felony indictments.

learned the juke box story. Pollianna and I were shopping for a certain kind of printing press (second hand, naturally, because our expenses had disqualified us from instituting a budget). Cornelius was replacing one that we needed and we bought it.

By that time...he had taught himself the art of painting signs, adding his inventive inclinations in letters and colors, and had worked his way through high school by painting signs.

The story begins with one lone juke box that he purchased with the idea of changing records on it periodically. From Eastland he went to Breckenridge. Then half a dozen other towns were included on his route in an effort to place the box in a restaurant.

Not one restaurateur would lend an ear.

He hauled it all the way back to Eastland and finally convinced one proprietor of its prospects. Soon, he had more music machines scattered over the area, and all were doing well except one. This was the time that Cornelius describes as "the birth of the boom."

He printed some cards upon which were printed the names of the juke box tunes and the correspondent numbers. Soon, this particular spot was the most profitable of all.

"I got to thinking," he said. "This same idea might work getting people into the picture shows. So I had just 100 made up and offered the manager free use of the idea for a full year—everytime he changed programs for the coming month at the theater, I changed the cards and placed them in the napkin holders."

"Before the year was up, it was already obvious that they were causing conversation with groups sitting at the counter drinking coffee or eating, and publicizing good movies that were scheduled at that theatre. This started showing up at the boxoffice," he added.

Within a few months, theaters in every state in the union were contacted, and orders began to pour in. More artists were hired and more equipment was added and paper products were rolling in by the carload. There were 30 employees and a year's postage bill was $15,000, far greater than that of any other industry in the area.

Years later, Cornelius foresaw the handwriting on the napkin holders, so to speak. Drastic transitions in the theater industry and methods of advertising and publicity were consigning his creation to oblivion. That's when he began to switch for the change. Restaurant menus were a continuing order. Wear, tear, loss and souvenirs.

Thus, Victor Cornelius menus were born. Today, in a constantly changing galaxy of colors, custom tailored art work and often elaborately tasseled, they are shipped all over the nation.

Emergency Loans Available

Emergency Loans Available from Farmers Home:

Farmers and ranchers in Eastland county, who sustained production losses as a result of damages and losses caused by prolonged drought from July 26, 1973 through August 22, 1974, may be eligible to receive an emergency loan from the Farmers Home Administration, County Judge Scott Cailey has announced.

Those who have not received an emergency loan to assist them in recovering from their loss may apply for such a loan at the Farmers Home Administration county office at 312 Eastland National Bank Bldg., Eastland, Texas, before close of business on December 2, 1974, for physical losses and July 7, 1975 for production losses.

These loan applications will be taken under the terms of a new law (P.L. 93-237) enacted January 2, 1974. Individual examination will be made of each application to determine date of the disaster occurrence and emergency loan benefits for which the applicant is eligible.

Loans based on qualifying production losses may include funds to reimburse applicants for production expenses which went into damaged or destroyed crop and livestock enterprises, but not to produce new crops during 1975. Payment terms depend on the purposes for which the loan is used and the applicant's payment ability. No loan may exceed the actual loss sustained. The interest rate for these loans is 5 percent and there will be no principal cancellation. These loans must be secured by crops, livestock, farm machinery, or real estate.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER
By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

"Oh, lady, it's no use!" cried an alcoholic. "Don't ask me to sign a pledge. I'd go right out and break it. I don't need something to keep. I need something to keep me." But it is not "something." It is Someone—the Lord. Exclaimed a believer in Psalm 119:117, "Hold Thou me up," and "I may be safe?" Oh, no. "Hold Thou me up, and I shall be safe."

For how long? For ever. No believer would question the power of God to keep him safe for five minutes. But He who can keep him safe for five minutes can keep him safe for sixty. And He who can keep him safe for an hour can keep him safe for twenty-four. And He who can keep him safe for one day can keep him safe every day.

God's power is limitless. He is able to do far more than we can ever ask or even dream of. God is the God whose grace no man has ever exhausted, and on whom no claim can ever be too much.

He who held Daniel safe in the lion's den, and Joseph safe in the seducer's home, is able to hold you safe wherever you are—if you trust Him.
